

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson — Follow

Quite so. Sadly the anecdotal evidence on cannabis and violence is all-too-easy to find, like this fine young man in Texas who got "super high as fuck" and (allegedly) best his six-month-old son nearly to death. Just more drug-induced joy, amirite, @drcarlhart?

AT&T 1:01 PM 43%

Tweet

Bertha madras
@madras_bertha

Replying to @melrod42 @AlexBerenson and 3 others

Actually NASEM report not needed for Berenson's book because evidence relating marijuana to psychosis is copious and many articles reported in high quality journals. Evidence on violence is thinner, as Berenson states this frankly and openly be "high that day" and "super high as fuck," and could not remember when it happened, states the affidavit.

He added that the child had been "fussy" lately because the boy was teething. He and Valdez hardly slept that night because the child woke them up at 1 a.m., 3 a.m. and 5 a.m., according to court documents.

Valdez confirmed that her son had trouble sleeping because he was teething. She also confirmed that she and Garza were in the living room and left their child alone in their bedroom. But she put pillows around the child so that he would not roll off the bed, according to the affidavit.

10:06 AM - 15 May 2019

4 Retweets 14 Likes

12 4 14

This Tweet is unavailable.

magic isn't real @grimandthejc · 15 May 2019
And what about all the people that commit crimes while sober?

But I guess those aren't good for cherry-picked statistics.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to @kneupperwriter

Yeah, he gave her a second bong hit. The stuff was laced with a known psychomimetic called THC. Nothing else. The police tested both it and her.

10:42 AM - 15 May 2019

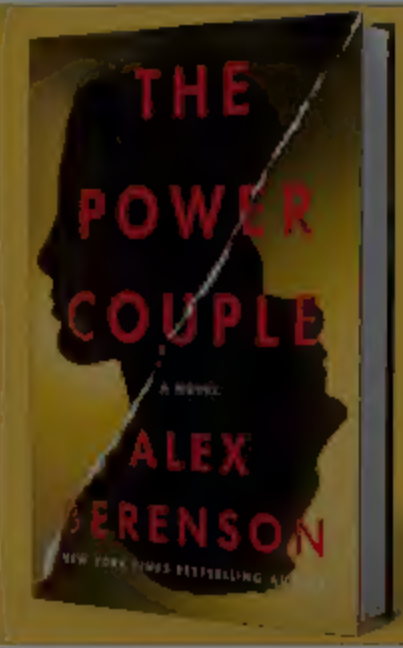
2

Kevin Kneupper @kneupperwriter · 15 May 2019

Replying to @AlexBerenson

If she lied to the police about being given an intense second drug and testing proved that, why would we trust her testimony about her supposed psychotic episode from a bong hit?

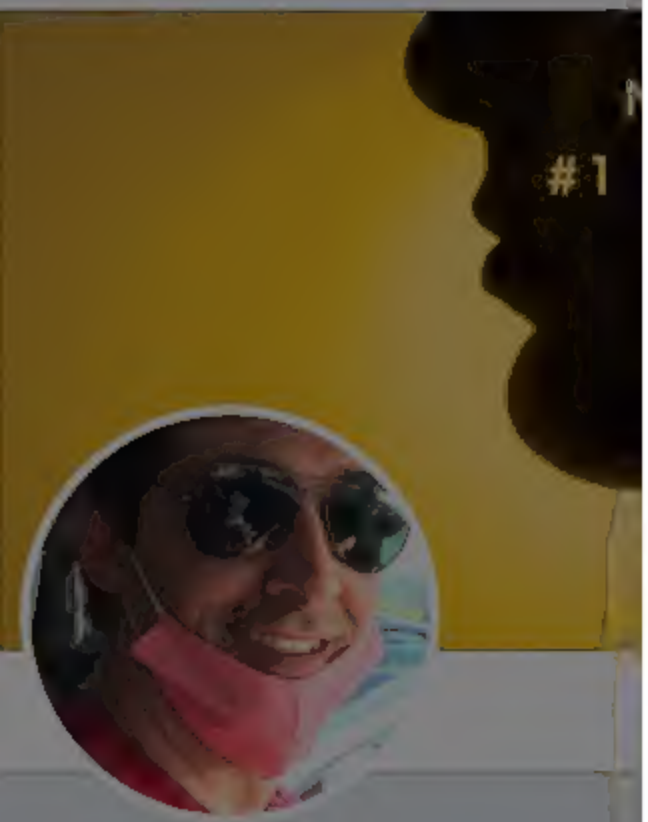
1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 May 2019

Oh just stop. She stabbed him, her dog, and then tried to slit her own throat. No history of violence. She didn't try to escape. And cannabis psychosis is voluntary intoxication - not a criminal defense. She has no reason to lie. She'd be better off saying almost anything else.

1



Show replies

Show more replies

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Bertha - I just don't see how they can do this. Where's the equipoise? If they were studying against an active comparator like Zofran, maybe. But the study is essentially against placebo, so what does it hope to prove? That cannabis isn't dangerous to the fetus?

4 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson Follow

Replying to @AlexBerenson @madras_bertha and 3 others

2/ Unfortunately for the researchers, there is now a larger and very well designed study showing harm - and not to the mother but to the fetus, which CANNOT consent, period (and cannot really benefit either). In what world is that ethical?

6:20 PM - 14 May 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

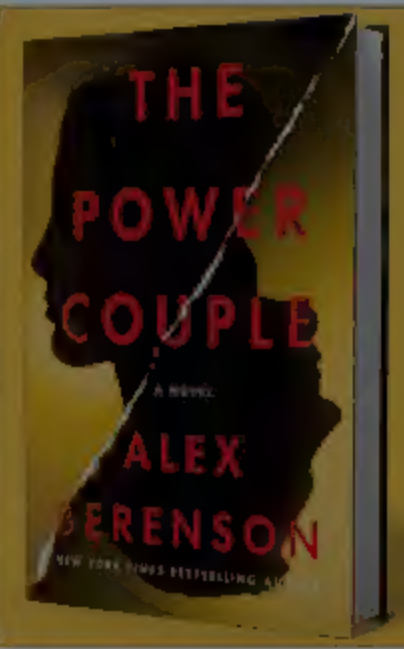
6 1 5

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 14 May 2019

Replying to @AlexBerenson @madras_bertha and 3 others

Researchers induce clients with misleading info and $300. "When the morning sickness starts to kick in, you might start to wonder: is using marijuana to alleviate nausea safe for your baby? Unfortunately, no one knows the answer. " #DrMengele depts.washington.edu/klab/infoMM.ht...

2 1



Matt Elrod 🇨🇦 @melrod42 · 14 May 2019

"There is an urgent need for well-controlled studies in humans and preclinical models on THC as a developmental neurotoxicant. Until more information is available, pregnant women should not assume that using cannabis during pregnancy is safe."
sciencedirect.com/science/articl...

1 5

Show replies

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

@LNseven5. Some studies ask for packaging so they can analyze amount of THC/CBD; NIDA has supported similar research on other drugs for years, using "convenience samples"; drug not administered by investigators. NIDA has ethics protocol but haven't read it in over 5 years.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to @madras_bertha @LNseven5 and 3 others

I know NIDA has funded other studies but those came before the early ABCD findings. Seems as though those change the risk-benefit calculus sharply. It is hard to see how any study that doesn't have an explicit goal of reducing use in pregnant women would be ethical.

4:29 AM - 15 May 2019

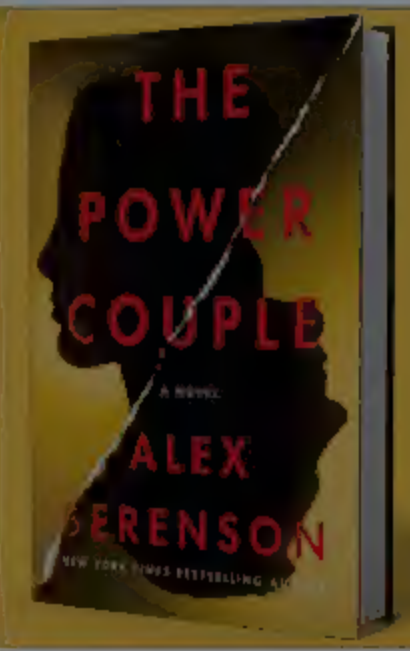
2 Likes

3 2

Renee M Johnson, PhD, MPH @renee_m_johnson · 15 May 2019

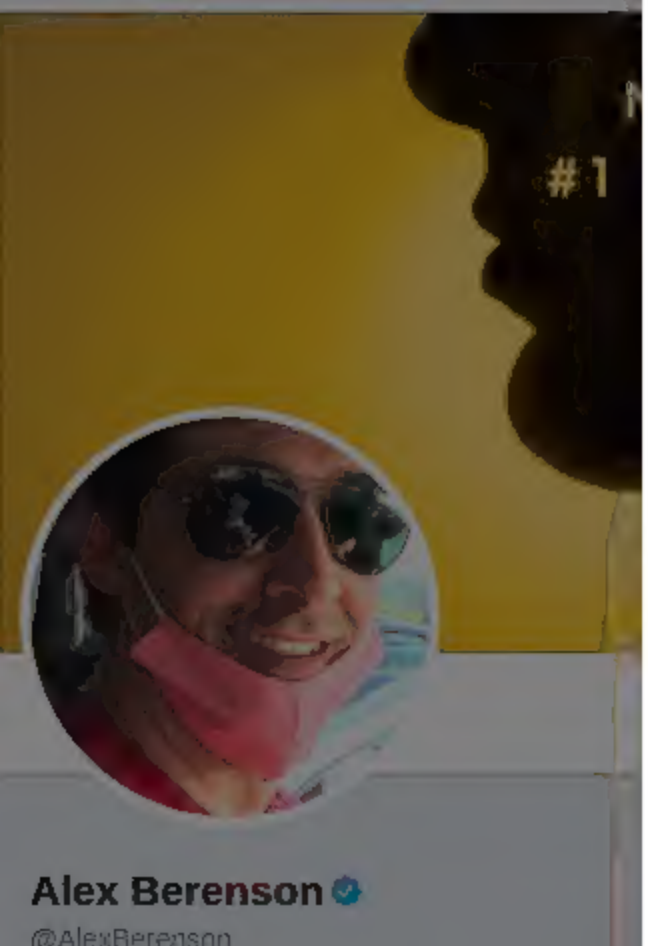
Replying to @AlexBerenson @madras_bertha and 4 others

In utero exposure to alcohol and tobacco are much worse than exposure to marijuana, opioids, and cocaine. The best thing we can do for babies is support moms, with SUD treatment and other resources; address partner violence, racism, & poverty.



1

Bertha madras @madras_bertha · 15 May 2019



Replying to @AlexBerenson @LNseven5 and 3 others

Effects on developing fetus depend on dose and frequency of drug use, polypharmacy. A woman who consumes 20 drinks/day (yes) is more likely to deliver an FAS child.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ Further, the cheery title of the study - "Moms and Marijuana" - and the lead researcher's odd comment that drugs approved for prenatal morning symptoms have not been rigorously tested but "it's marijuana that has the negative connotation" suggest bias.

1 2 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

3/ @UW should cancel this study immediately or explain in detail why it can continue despite this paper:

2:20 PM - 14 May 2019

5 Retweets 15 Likes

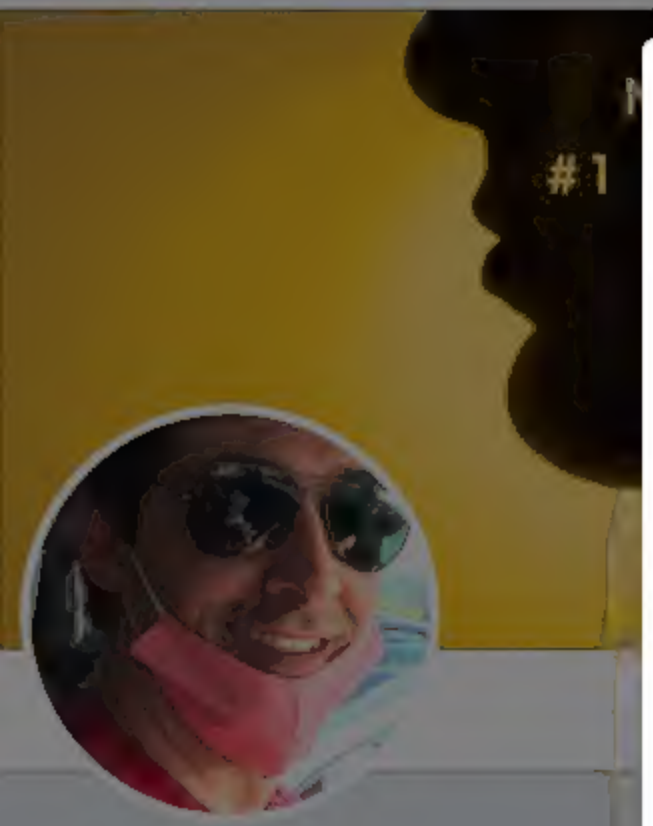
2 5 15

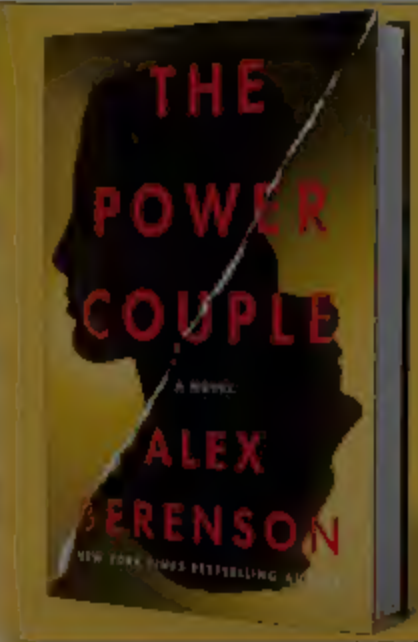


Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 14 May 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson @UW
2019 THC rides on the coattails of 1960's "It's Just Marijuana" bias.

1

Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 14 May 2019
Again.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Hey @momsmarijuana - as you offer to pay expectant mothers to use cannabis, will you be informing them of the research findings in @JAMAPsych showing that prenatal maternal cannabis use is linked to psychotic symptoms in kids? Asking for a friend from Tuskegee.

5:06 PM - 14 May 2019

11 Retweets 35 Likes

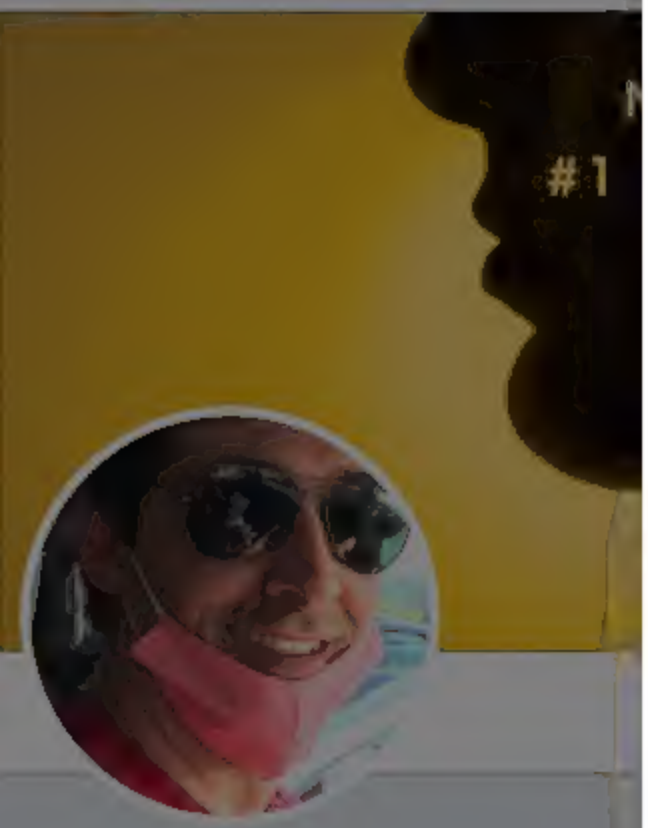
13 11 35

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 14 May 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson @MomsMarijuana @JAMAPsych
The researchers intend to pay pregnant women who use cannabis to participate in a study, not to pay pregnant women to use cannabis. Spot the difference?

3 8

christy brown @mystocean · 14 May 2019
People will do strange things to get paid.



1

Show replies

Bertha madras @madras_bertha · 14 May 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson @MomsMarijuana @JAMAPsych
Any woman contemplating marijuana use during pregnancy should reject it. 1. It is harmful to developing human fetus. 2. endocannabinoids are critical for brain development - THC interferes with processes. 3. Marijuana belongs in the DNUIP (do not use if pregnant)

2 3 9

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Devil is in detailed protocol. If NIDA funded, easy to at least access abstract. Do they recruit pregnant women using marijuana? recruit pregnant women with pay incentives if use marijuana during pregnancy? Does incentive payment encourage use during pregnancy? Verifiable?

3 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson Follow

Replying to @madras_bertha @melrod42 and 2 others

Bertha - I just don't see how they can do this. Where's the equipoise? If they were studying against an active comparator like Zofran, maybe. But the study is essentially against placebo, so what does it hope to prove? That cannabis isn't dangerous to the fetus?

6:15 PM - 14 May 2019

2 Likes

4 2

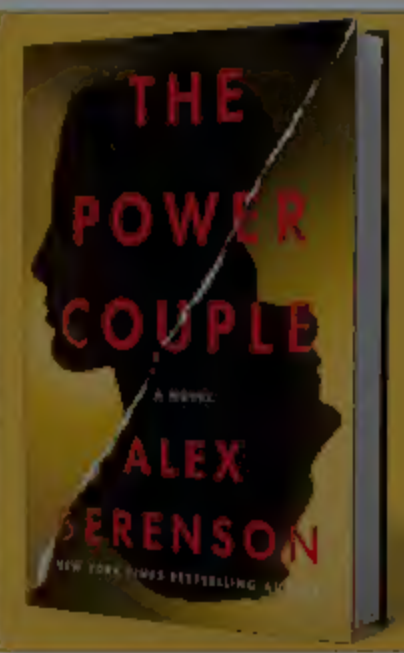
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 14 May 2019

Replying to @AlexBerenson @madras_bertha and 2 others

"Researchers will analyze the MRI images and behavioral data to discern whether differences exist among babies that were and were not exposed to cannabis."

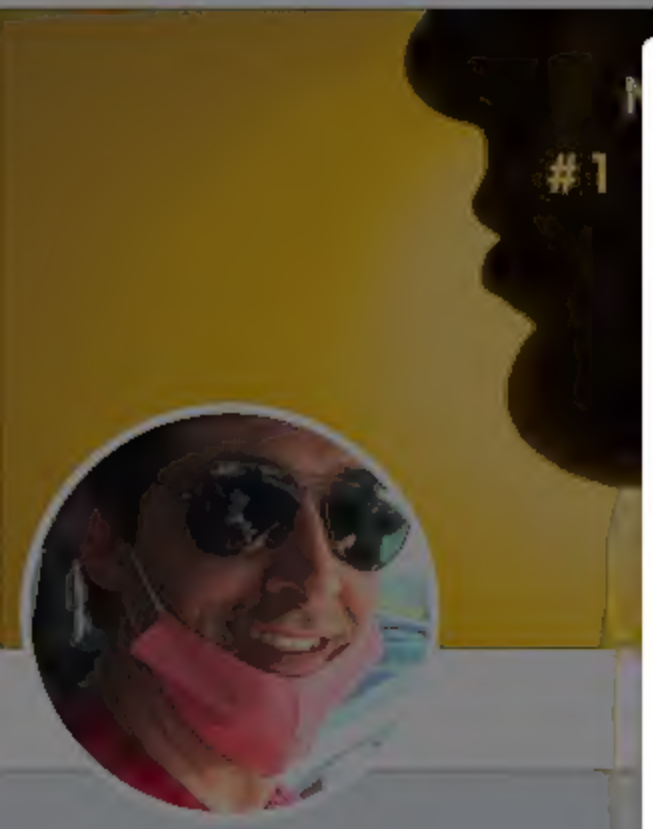
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 May 2019

Replying to @AlexBerenson @madras_bertha and 3 others

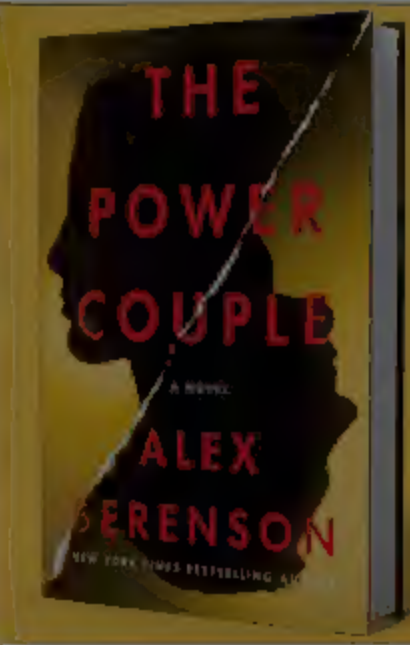


2/ Unfortunately for the researchers, there is now a larger and very well designed study showing harm - and not to the mother but to the fetus, which CANNOT consent, period (and cannot really benefit either). In what world is that ethical?

6 1 5



Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 14 May 2019



Researchers induce clients with misleading info and $300. "When the morning sickness starts to kick in, you might start to wonder: is using marijuana to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson Follow

1/ Given the report from the ABCD study published in @JAMAPsych in March - linking prenatal cannabis use with psychosis symptoms in children - I don't understand how @UW can okay a study paying pregnant women to use cannabis. It seems unethical at best...

2:15 PM - 14 May 2019

10 Retweets 25 Likes

7 10 25

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 May 2019

2/ Further, the cheery title of the study - "Moms and Marijuana" - and the lead researcher's odd comment that drugs approved for prenatal morning symptoms have not been rigorously tested but "it's marijuana that has the negative

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

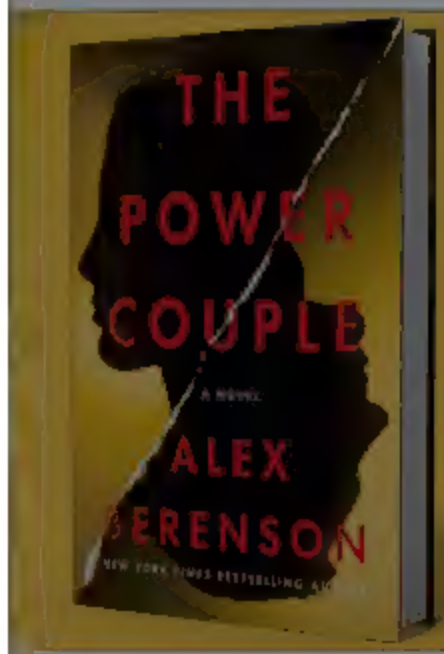
Joined November 2009

7 10 25

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Follow

2/ Further, the cheery title of the study - "Moms and Marijuana" - and the lead researcher's odd comment that drugs approved for prenatal morning symptoms have not been rigorously tested but "it's marijuana that has the negative connotation" suggest bias.



2:18 PM - 14 May 2019

2 Retweets 11 Likes

1 2 11

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 May 2019

3/ @UW should cancel this study immediately or explain in detail why it can continue despite this paper:

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

David Simon @AoDespair · 14 May 2019

I'll bite, Justin: The very structure of the attributed quote is one reason why many journalists, even when in possession of greater narratives than novels, do not deliver literature. Lose more quotes, imply obvious attributions and in more intimate language write a real story.

> Justin Fenton @justin_fenton
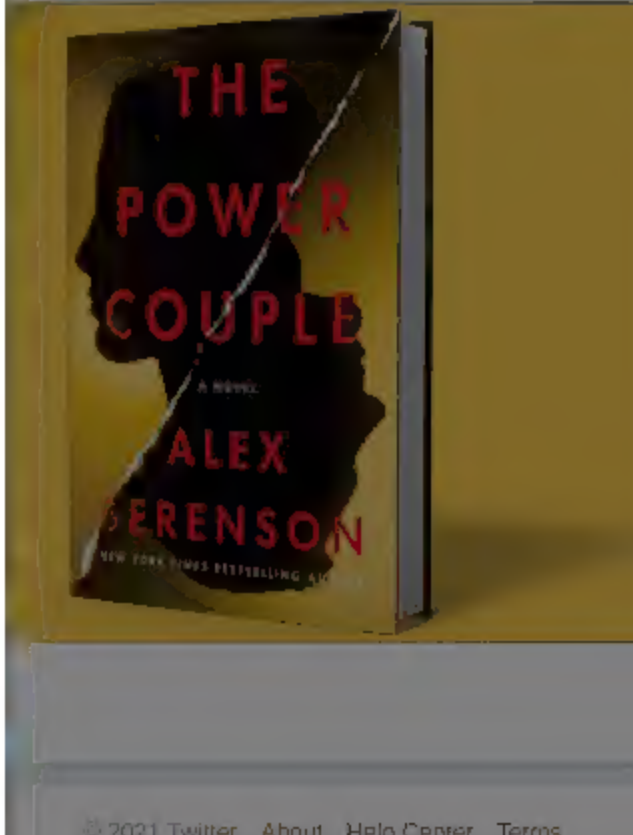
> I hate paring down quotes. I love quotes. More quotes. Let people talk in their own voice. I meet much resistance here.
> Show this thread

4 15 117

Alex Berenson Follow
@AlexBerenson

Replying to @AoDespair @damiencave

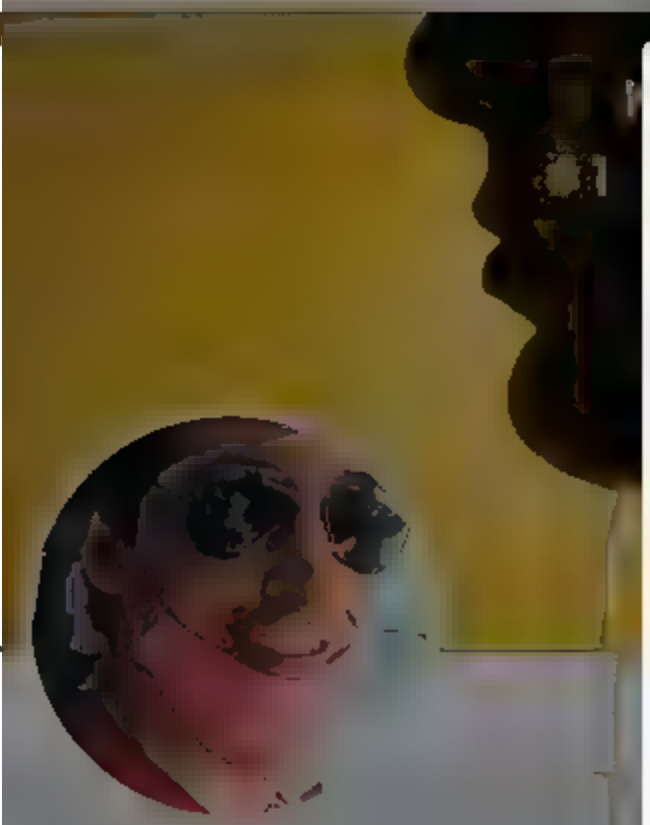
Super-strange to hear this coming from a guy whose business is storytelling through dialogue. You can write a great novel lots of ways but if you don't know how people talk you don't have a script...



4:29 AM - 14 May 2019

1 1

David Simon @AoDespair · 14 May 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson @damiencave

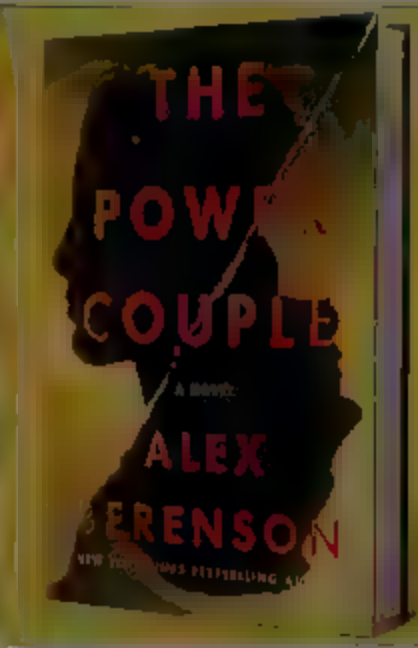


You've not read carefully enough. Go back two tweets. Observed dialogue between people? Quote the hell out of it. That's real people in the world, being. Quotes delivered to reporters. That's the opposite. It's dead weight. Use the facts only.

10

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

FWIW doesn't sound like legalization is exactly firing on all cylinders in IL either... 18 days left to pass a bill and the advocates can't even decide what's in it.

google.com/amp/s/www.chic ...

8:08 PM - 13 May 2019

1 Retweet 11 Likes

4 1 11

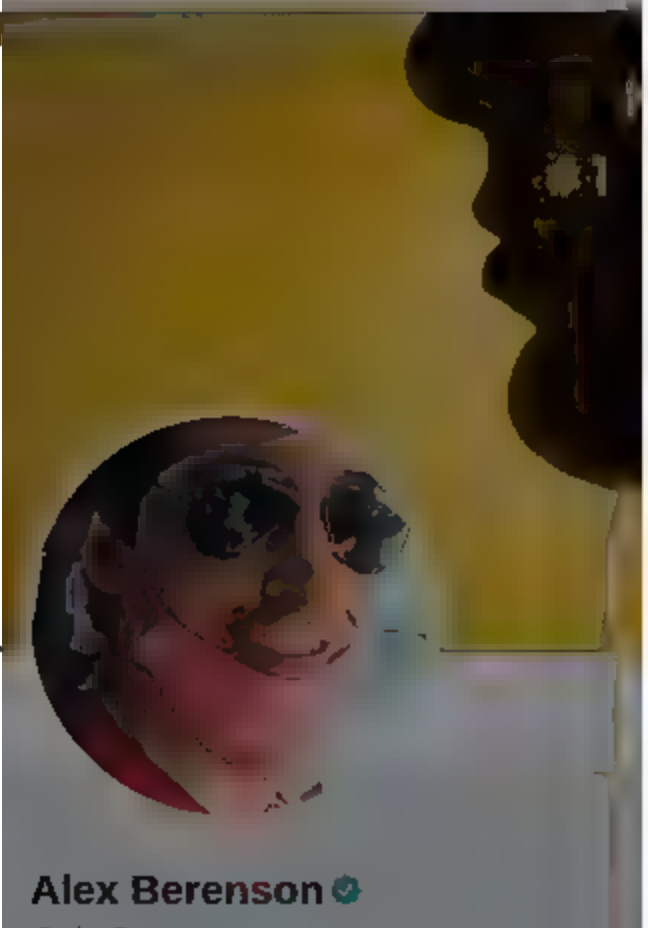
Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 14 May 2019

Replying to

Sen Steans and Rep Cassidy represent the most foolish way to introduce legislation —doing zero research on why people may oppose it. So they listened to lobbyists who tripped them up. 60 in House say slow down.

1 1

Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 14 May 2019



Replying to

Something ironic about pot advocates being unable to get their shit together.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ Third, somewhat surprisingly, even blue-state legislatures are choking on the issue. I can only guess that the opinions of police officers and physicians still matter, a little, and that the weak tax revenue has left some pols unconvinced legal cannabis is worth the trouble..

8 9 28

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ So even if a Democrat wins, legalization isn't certain - and Biden, the front-runner, clearly doesn't support it. And time is against the legalizers. With every new study, with every terrible cannabis psychosis case, the truth claws its way back a bit more. We will see...

6:53 PM - 13 May 2019

5 Retweets 18 Likes

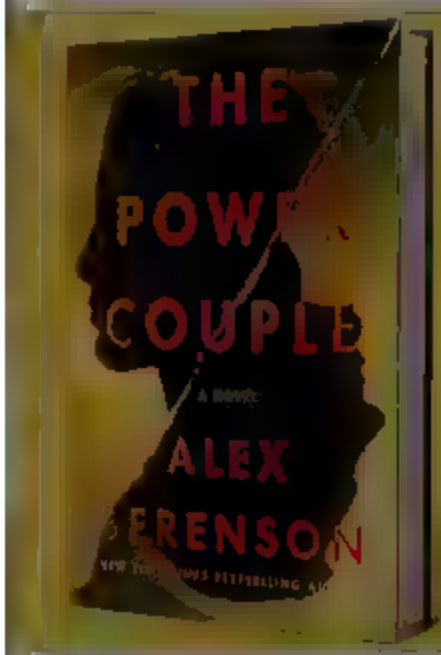
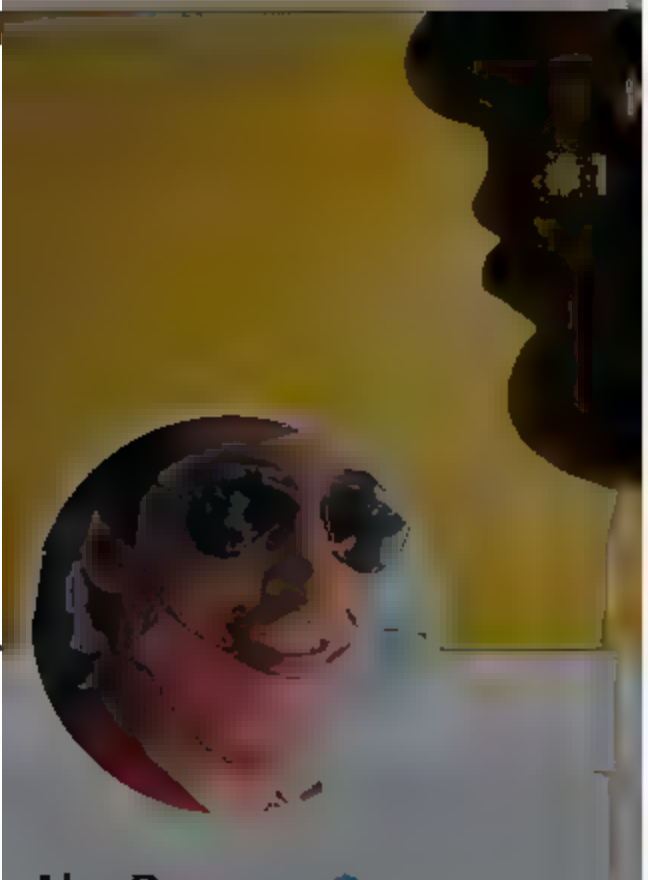
7 5 18



This Tweet is unavailable.

Karina @kmbarrett09 · 13 May 2019
While recreational use is an issue I still think it has medicinal value. There have been a variety of studies showing that it's use for several different diseases/illness' have a positive result.



1

Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 13 May 2019
Replying to
And also states will go to a citizen vote like Jersey. So there is a much better chance for more states. So that effects the neighbors when they see people drive we read how people drive from Albany to mass. To purchase tested legal products.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

There are signs that pro-legalization momentum is slowing in Canada as well and part of it might be that when the implications of total legalization became clearer, support waned. Also, PM Justin Trudeau provided much of the impetus and he's become an embarrassment of late.

1 1

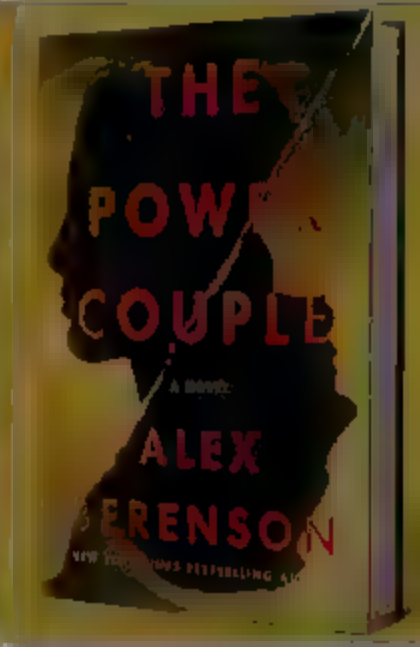
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Interesting - are there polls showing this? Or some other data? Or just your sense?

7:51 PM - 13 May 2019

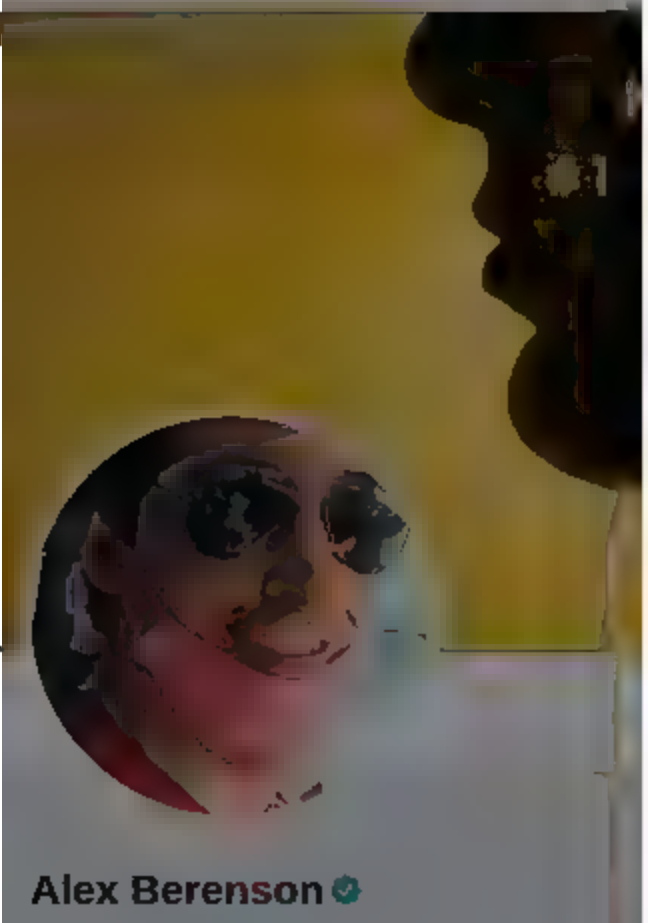
3



Greg Tolan @Greg_Tolan · 13 May 2019

Replying to

Both, but I can state categorically that some municipalities don't want the dispensaries in their neighborhoods and are enacting bylaws to block them. This is a recent Toronto Star piece that discusses some of the slowing support:



Greg Tolan @Greg_Tolan · 13 May 2019

Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ I have said all year that full recreational legalization is likely after 2020 - ie above 50 percent. I'm no longer sure. First, the odds of a Dem victory are falling as the economy gains and the Dems tack left. Second, the problems in the legalized states are growing...

9 22 47

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Not just the staggering violent crime numbers, but the driving deaths, which are easier to understand, the homeless crisis in Seattle, and the fact that tax revenues are way short in CA. At some point even the most ideologically biased media can't ignore reality...

6:48 PM - 13 May 2019

11 Retweets 27 Likes

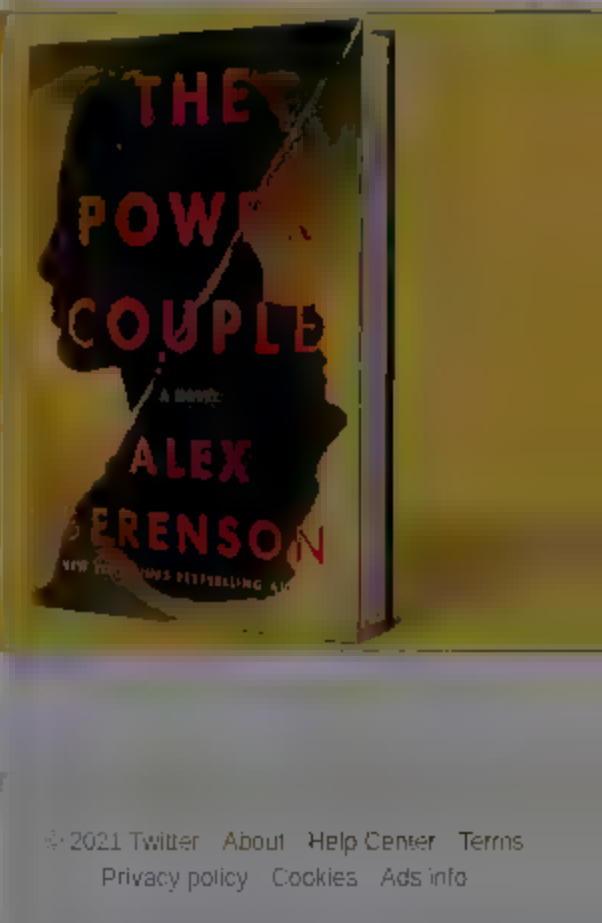
6 11 27

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

3/ Third, somewhat surprisingly, even blue-state legislatures are choking on the issue. I can only guess that the opinions of police officers and physicians still matter, a little, and that the weak tax revenue has left some pols unconvinced legal cannabis is worth the trouble..

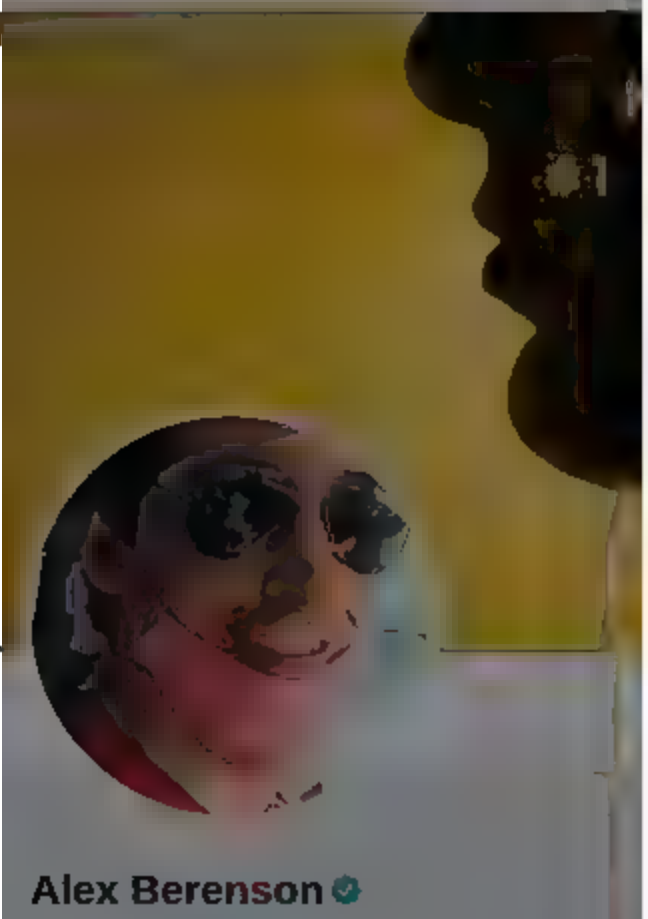
8 9 28

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019



4/ So even if a Democrat wins, legalization isn't certain - and Biden, the front-runner, clearly doesn't support it. And time is against the legalizers. With every new study, with every terrible cannabis psychosis case, the truth claws its way back a bit more. We will see...

7 5 18



B-SDL @HoopDreams444 · 13 May 2019

Replying to this guy man.....

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ Not just the staggering violent crime numbers, but the driving deaths, which are easier to understand, the homeless crisis in Seattle, and the fact that tax revenues are way short in CA. At some point even the most ideologically biased media can't ignore reality...

6 11 27

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ Third, somewhat surprisingly, even blue-state legislatures are choking on the issue. I can only guess that the opinions of police officers and physicians still matter, a little, and that the weak tax revenue has left some pols unconvinced legal cannabis is worth the trouble..

6:49 PM - 13 May 2019

9 Retweets 28 Likes

8 9 28

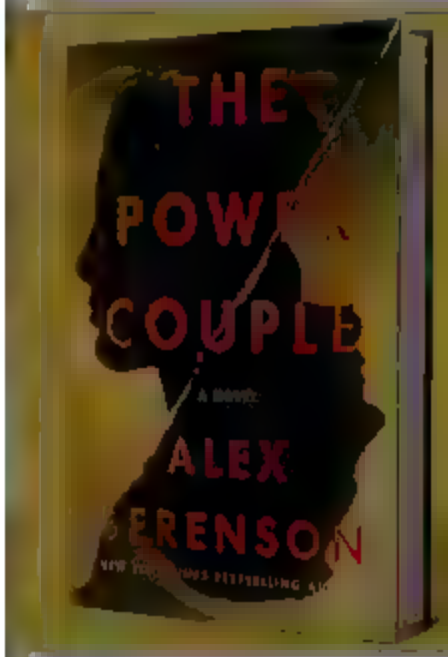
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

4/ So even if a Democrat wins, legalization isn't certain - and Biden, the front-runner, clearly doesn't support it. And time is against the legalizers. With every new study, with every terrible cannabis psychosis case, the truth claws its way back a bit more. We will see...

7 5 18

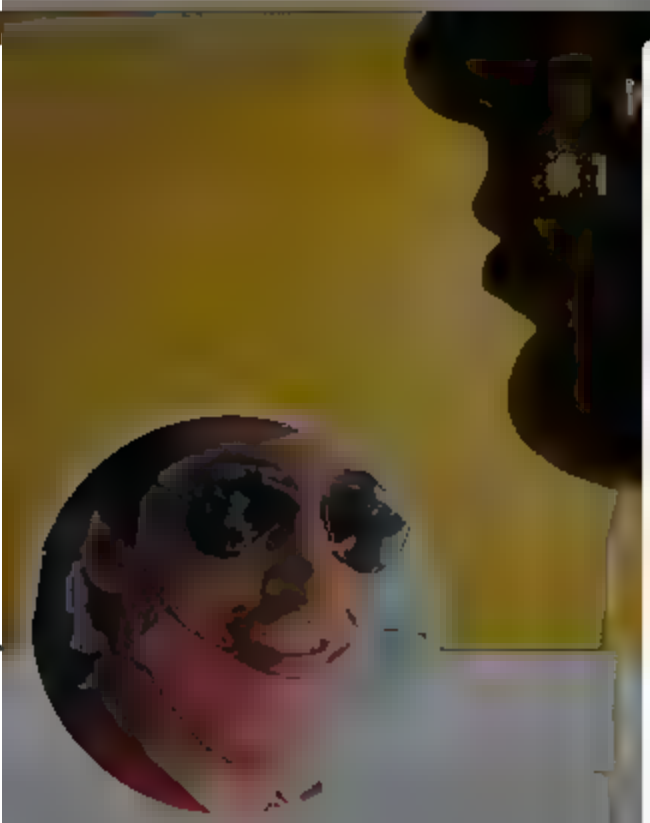
Ryan @ryaneagle42 · 13 May 2019

Replying to [illegible]



Thanks Alex. Keep on Truckin'. When the powers that be want to propel a Narrative it's overbearing. But facts & Truth will always win. Just takes time.

1 2



SuperSync @supersync · 13 May 2019

Replying to [illegible]

How many overdoses compared to alcohol, cocaine, oxy, or heroine? Yeah it isn't much of a revenue source, but it beats the hell out of jailing stoners who are

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

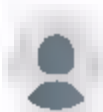
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I wonder what changed this year?



1:58 PM - 13 May 2019

7 Retweets 19 Likes

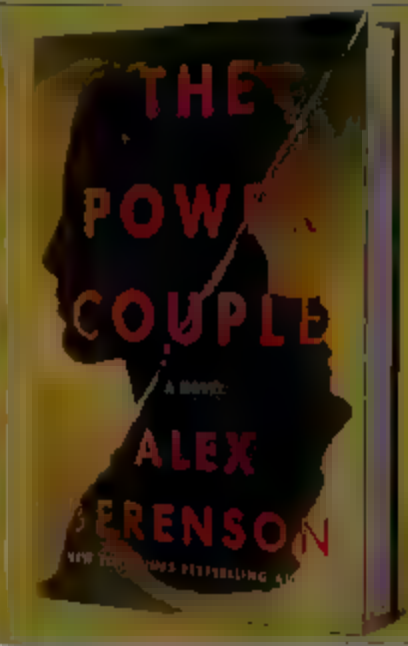
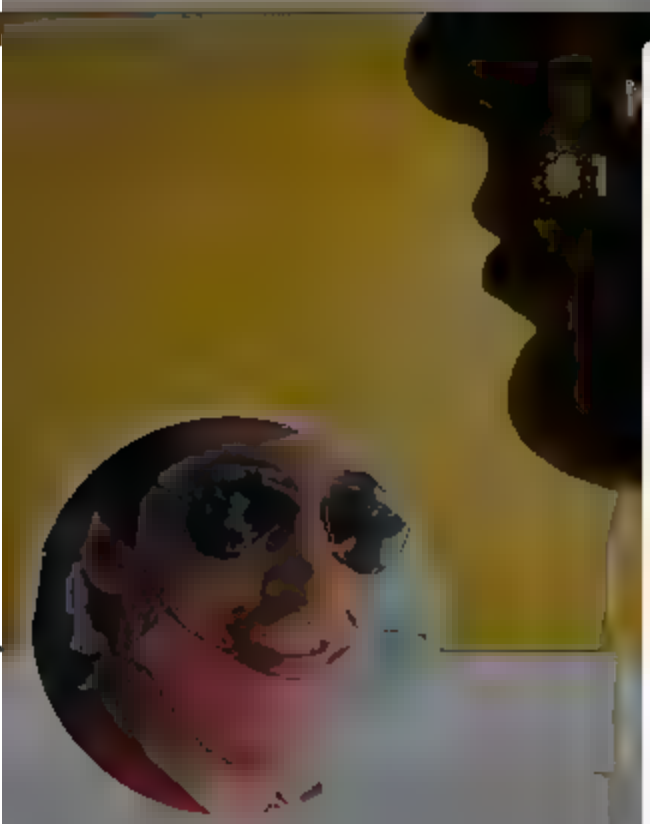
7 7 19



This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.



Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 13 May 2019

Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ I have said all year that full recreational legalization is likely after 2020 - ie above 50 percent. I'm no longer sure. First, the odds of a Dem victory are falling as the economy gains and the Dems tack left. Second, the problems in the legalized states are growing...

6:45 PM - 13 May 2019

22 Retweets 47 Likes

9 22 47

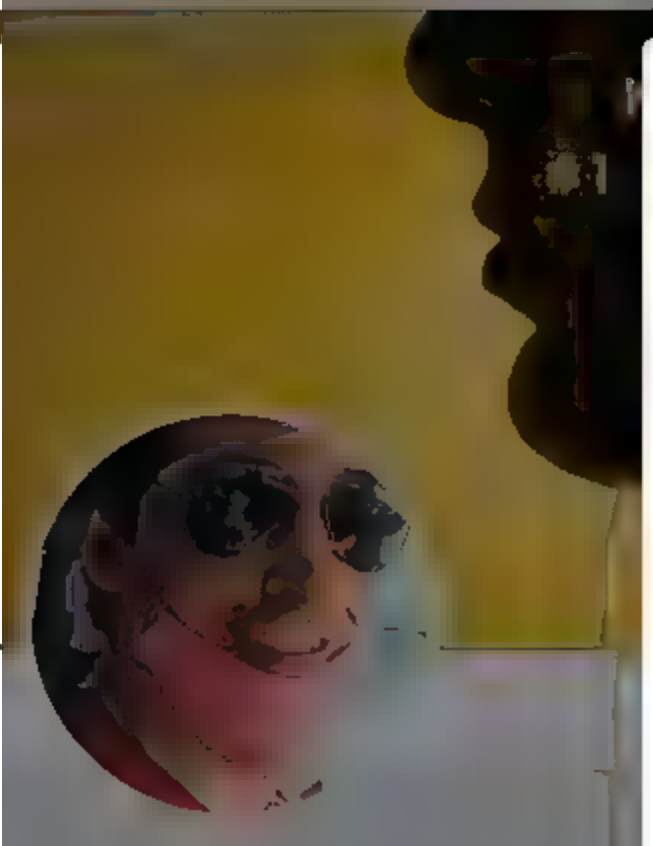
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

2/ Not just the staggering violent crime numbers, but the driving deaths, which are easier to understand, the homeless crisis in Seattle, and the fact that tax revenues are way short in CA. At some point even the most ideologically biased media can't ignore reality...

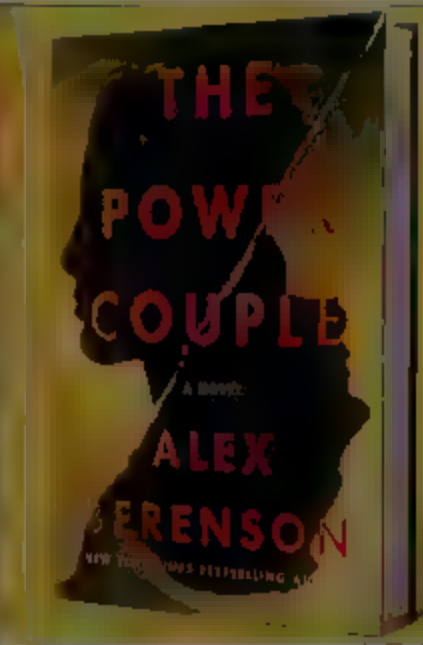
6 11 27

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

3/ Third, somewhat surprisingly, even blue-state legislatures are choking on the issue. I can only guess that the opinions of police officers and physicians still matter, a little, and that the weak tax revenue has left some pols unconvinced legal cannabis is worth the trouble..



8 9 28



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

4/ So even if a Democrat wins, legalization isn't certain - and Biden, the front-runner, clearly doesn't support it. And time is against the legalizers. With every new study, with every terrible cannabis psychosis case, the truth claws its way back a bit more. We will see...

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Random question now that I finally caught up on #GOTS8E5 - has it not been pointed out that the white horse, beyond being a reference to Death, is a clear hat-tip to Guernica? Not that Benioff and Weiss are comparing themselves to Picasso or anything...

2:54 PM - 13 May 2019

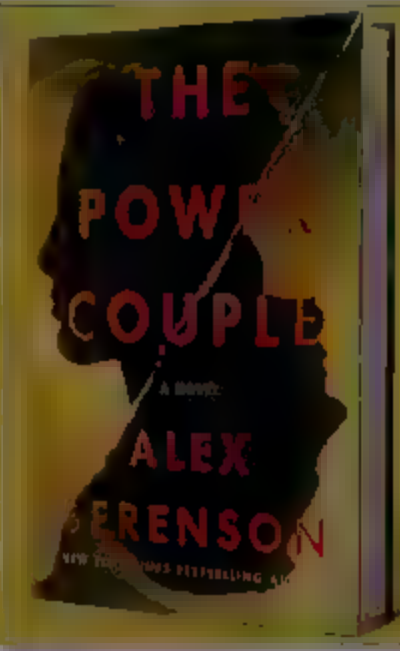
4 Likes

1 4

David Rowe @dvdrowe · 14 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
At least it must be nice to sit back and have you and your wife watch a show that hasn't ripped you off... :-)

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

1/ Meanwhile, at my old employer, as Wil Hylton tries to explain the brutal assault his cousin inflicted on him three years ago in this much-discussed [illegible] piece, neither he nor [illegible] seem to realize the details scream cannabis psychosis:

[illegible]

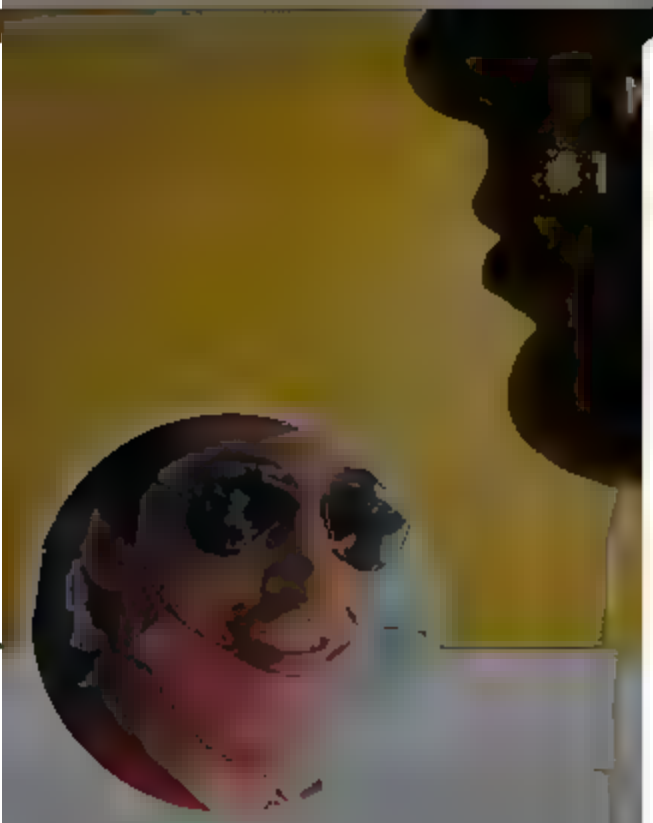
7 6 14

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

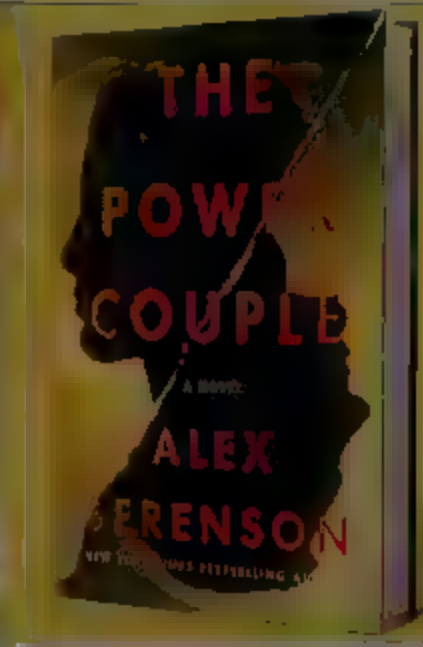
2/ Hylton refers to his cousin's use: over and over "He always wanted to smoke a bowl... We rolled joints and smoked them... he had been caught up in an investigation of soldiers selling hashish..." and describes his cousin's slow mental decline, along with worsening paranoia...

1 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



[illegible]



3/ He says cousin was a bully and heavy drinker in adolescence - but this attack occurred decades later, and not in the context of an alcohol-fueled fight but a paranoid episode which his cousin acknowledged even at the time: "I think I'm losing it."

1:48 PM - 13 May 2019

6 Likes

6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

1/ Another fun fact about the Bryn Spejcher case - a first-degree murder case involving two successful young people that happened all of 40 miles up the 101 from downtown Los Angeles: as far as I can tell, the [illegible] has not written a single word about it. Not one.

1 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Guess what else the [illegible] doesn't see fit to cover?

Man, just cause you're paranoid doesn't mean they're not ignoring you...

12:53 PM - 13 May 2019

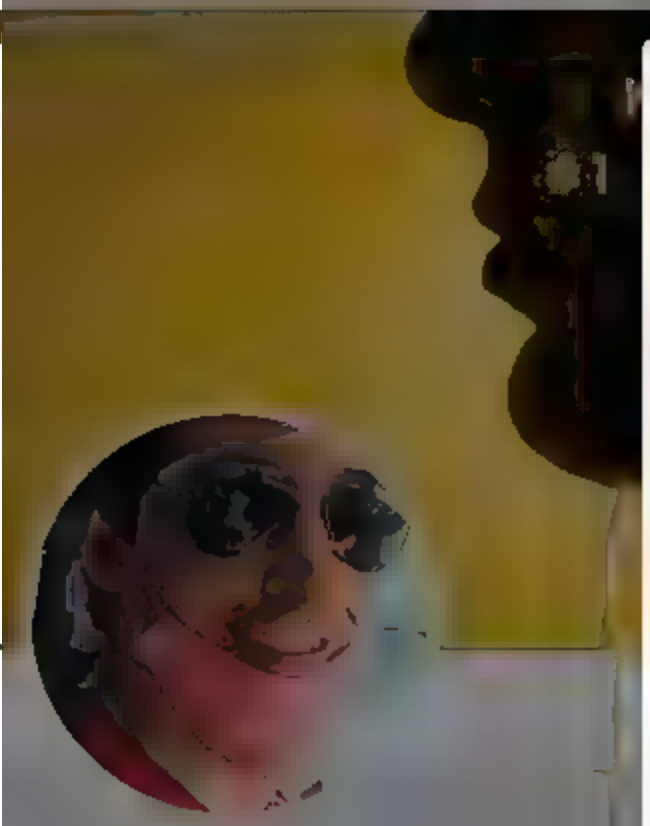
7 Likes

1 7

The Zodiac Thriller @jnaugy · 13 May 2019

Replying to [illegible]

I love how you went on Rogan's podcast and pretended not to be a antipot zealot because you knew Rogan would have handled you soundly.



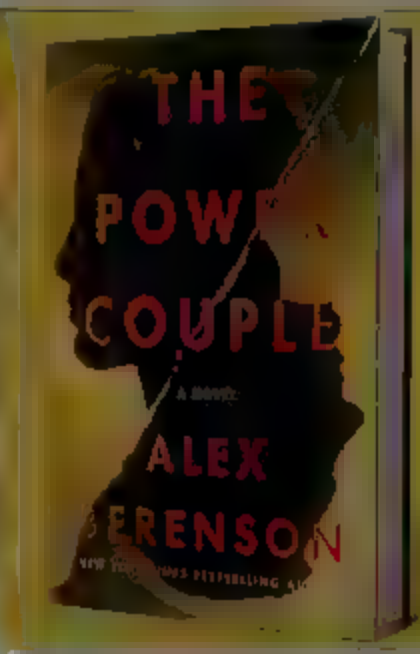
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Following

1/ Meanwhile, at my old employer; as Wil Hylton tries to explain the brutal assault his cousin inflicted on him three years ago in this much-discussed @NYTmag piece, neither he nor @jakesilverstein seem to realize the details scream cannabis psychosis: nytimes.com/2019/05/08/mag …

1:42 PM - 13 May 2019

6 Retweets 14 Likes

7 6 14

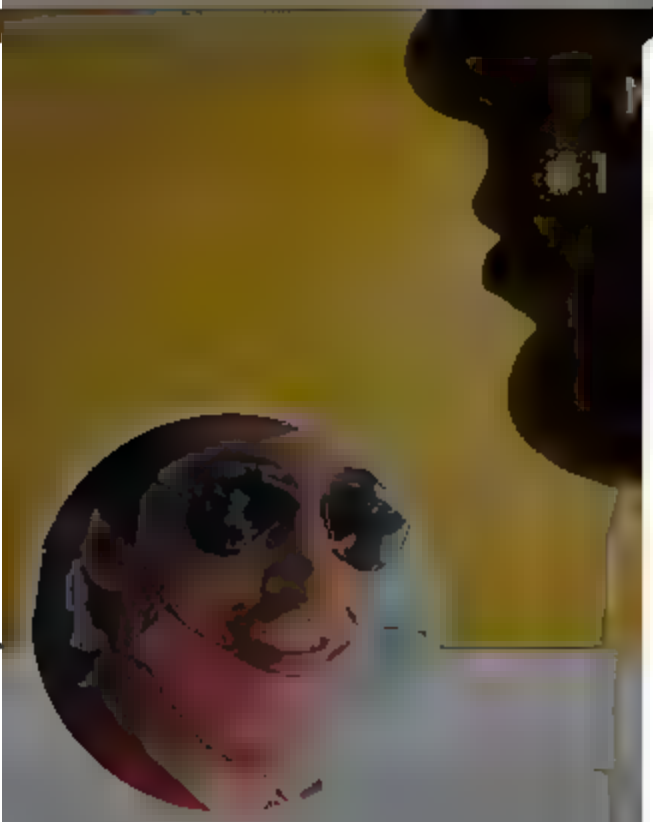
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

2/ Hylton refers to his cousin's use: over and over "He always wanted to smoke a bowl... We rolled joints and smoked them... he had been caught up in an investigation of soldiers selling hashish..." and describes his cousin's slow mental decline, along with worsening paranoia...

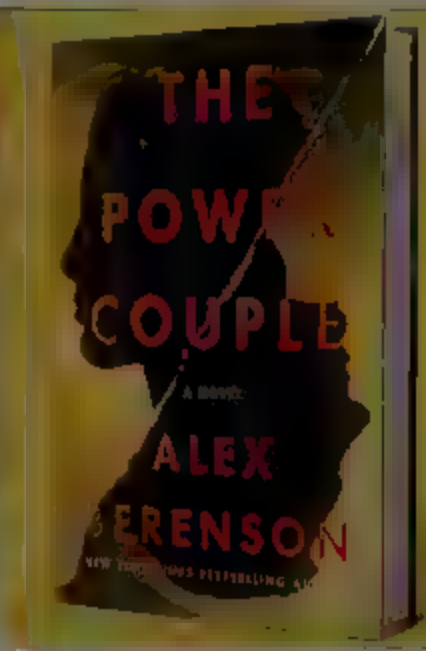
1 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

3/ He says cousin was a bully and heavy drinker in adolescence - but this attack occurred decades later, and not in the context of an alcohol-fueled fight but a paranoid episode which his cousin acknowledged even at the time: "I think I'm losing it."



6



Nicon @Nemopunk15 · 13 May 2019

Replying to [illegible]

Alex. You're gift is just amazing. What other mental illnesses can you diagnose from individual new clippings?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Anna Myers @annaonprivacy · 13 May 2019

"He always wanted to smoke a bowl"..."My cousin is not schizophrenic. He wasn't "hearing voices." The best explanation that anyone has given me is that he simply snapped. My cousin says that he had no idea he would attack me until he did."

1

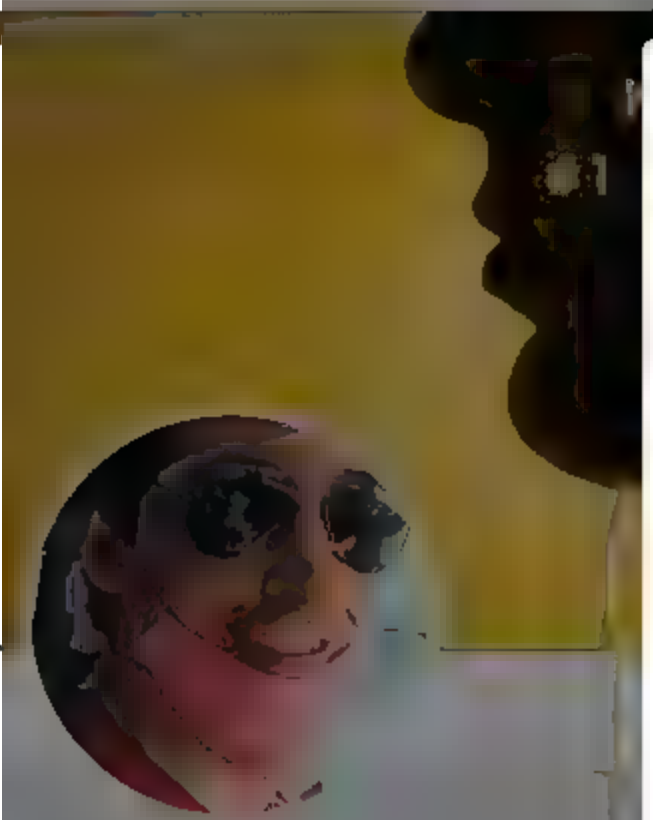
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

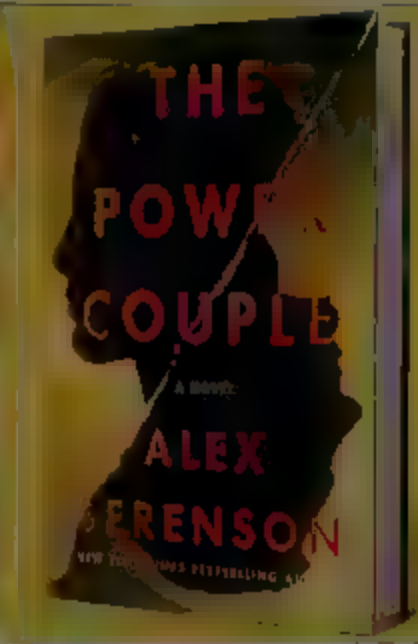
Anna - thanks! I haven't read this piece yet, but I keep hearing I should. As with this case, the cannabis connection is so often hiding in plain sight...

12:21 PM - 13 May 2019

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ Another fun fact about the Bryn Spejcher case - a first-degree murder case involving two successful young people that happened all of 40 miles up the 101 from downtown Los Angeles: as far as I can tell, the @latimes has not written a single word about it. Not one.

12:52 PM - 13 May 2019

8 Likes

1 8

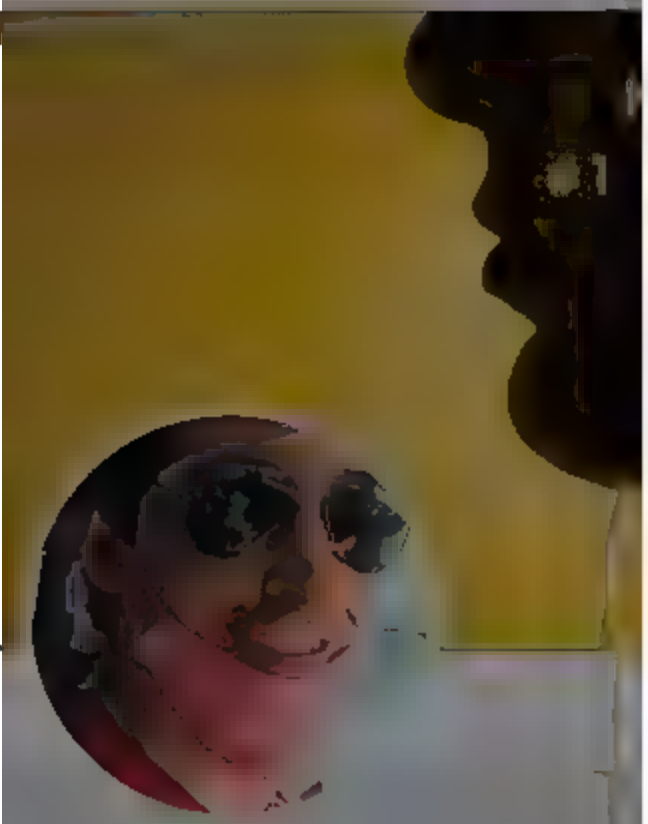
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019
2/ Guess what else the [illegible] doesn't see fit to cover?

Man, just cause you're paranoid doesn't mean they're not ignoring you...

1 7

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

SPEJCHER PRELIMINARY HEARING

| May 09, 2019

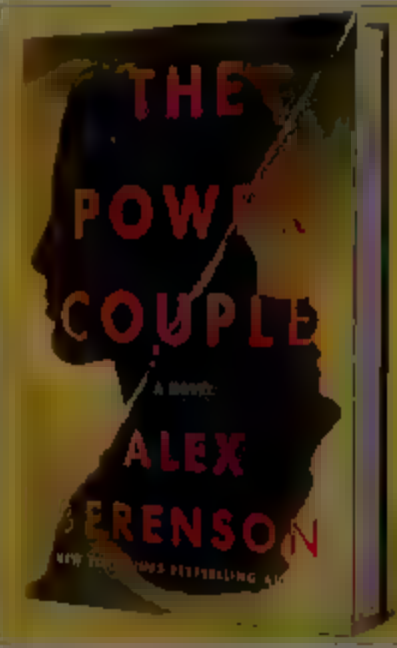
By Becca Whitnall
becca@theacorn.com

7 6 19

This Tweet is unavailable.

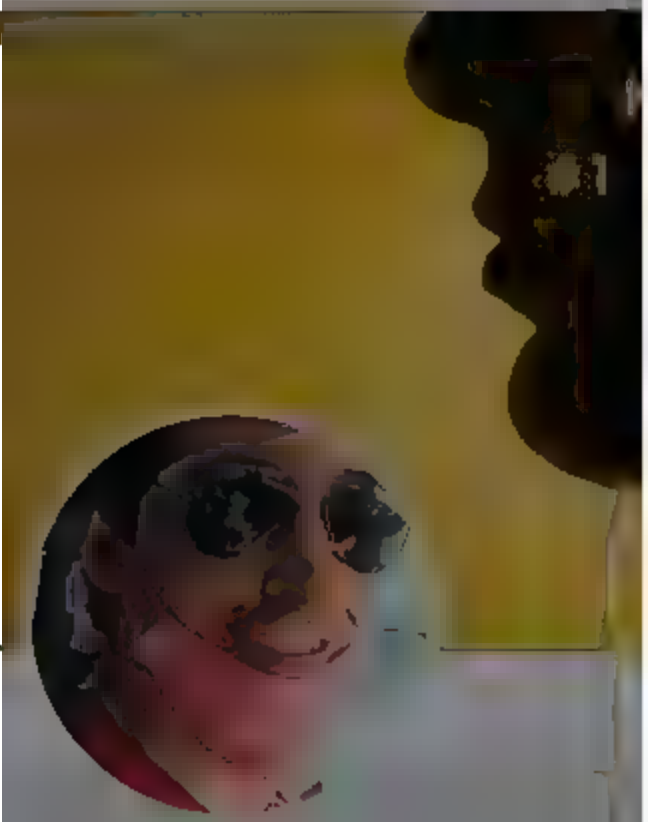
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

"Blood tests on Spejcher revealed the presence of marijuana only, said Scott Colley, a forensic scientist with the sheriff 's crime lab."



11:34 AM - 13 May 2019

2 Likes



2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 7 27

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Know why I can find 3 cases this obvious in 3 hours? Because they're everywhere. Only surprise on this one: @bostonglobe - which has ignored Tell Your Children (the fact it sells coverage to the cannabis industry is pure coincidence) let a reference to marijuana slip through.

11:32 AM - 13 May 2019

4 Retweets 20 Likes

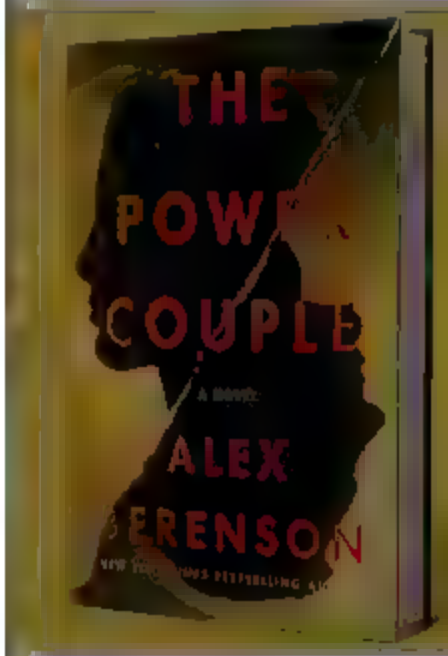
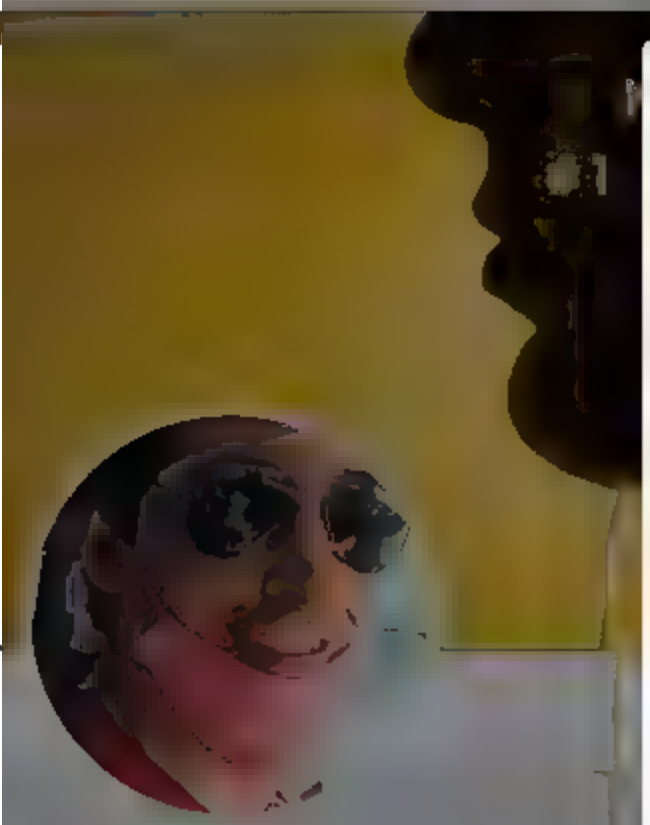
4 4 20



Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 13 May 2019
Replying to
Cannabis fosters empathy. Empathy causes altruism. Get it right Lil Anslinger.

1



Darren Allen @TheRealKSPFoot · 13 May 2019
Wow "Lil' Anslinger", that's original. He must've read your book

1

TheresaH2012 @TheresaH2012 · 13 May 2019
Replying to
As soon as I heard about this tragedy the first thing I thought of is, "I bet he uses MARIJUANA". And then I read the article and there it was in print: "Jordan, who

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

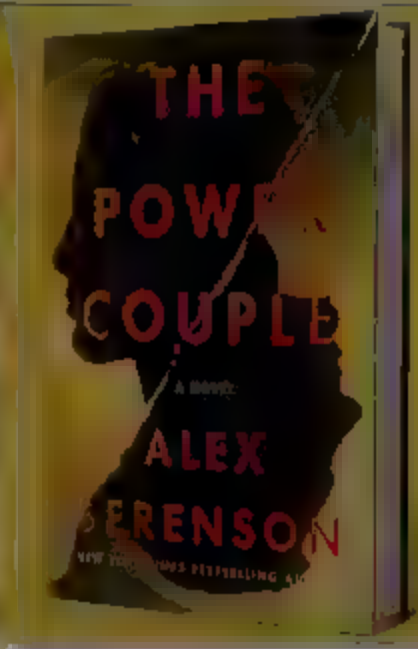
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Back on the Appalachian Trail, a gentleman who calls himself "Sovereign" was arrested last month after menacing hikers while high. He was released. On Friday he (allegedly) went further.

Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence...



11:29 AM - 13 May 2019

7 Retweets 27 Likes

3 7 27

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 May 2019

2/ Know why I can find 3 cases this obvious in 3 hours? Because they're

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

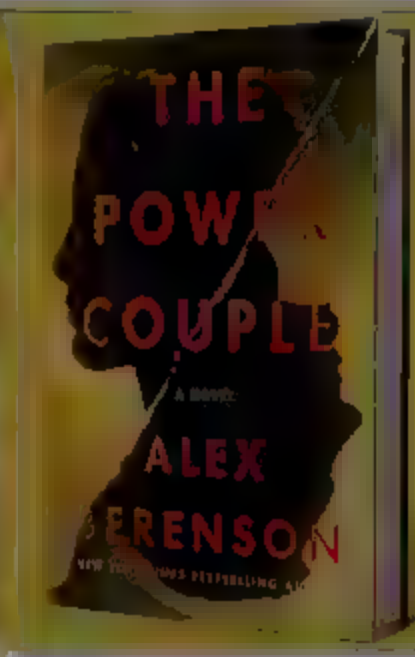
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Back in Wisconsin, we need more @washingtonpost subscriptions for these three, who failed to get the memo on cannabis-impaired parenting. Can you help, @AdamBKushner?



10:42 AM - 13 May 2019

2 Retweets 8 Likes

2 8

This Tweet is unavailable.

SpiffyWolf @spiffyw · 13 May 2019
There was no "pot induced" abuse just because he emptied the bong.
Whatever "dabs" are ... unless they were spiked with something. I wonder if he

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Darren Allen @TheRealKSPFoot · 13 May 2019
I'd say the Potties are gonna call you bad names, but that's a hard case to ignore. Well, for sensible, non-users that don't make $ on it or that aren't addicted that is.

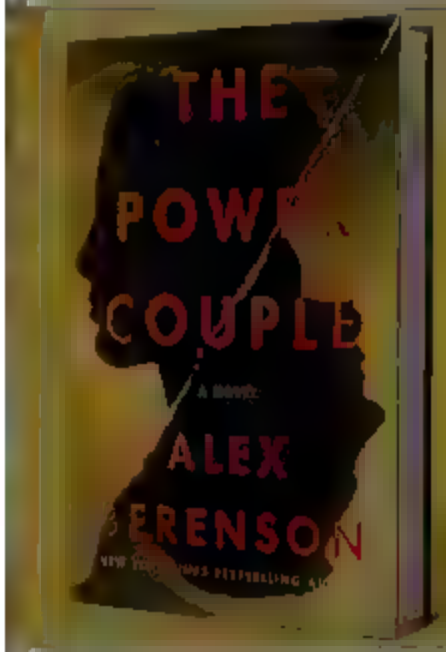
2 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

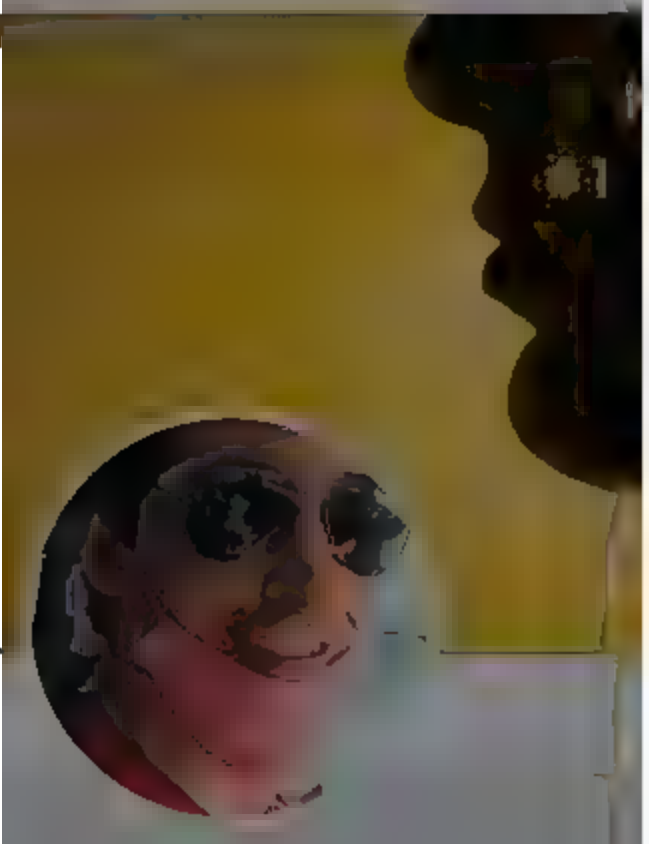
Yes, the attempts to explain this one away will be especially pathetic. I suspect the smarter heads will just ignore it.

9:55 AM - 13 May 2019



3 Likes

1 3



This Tweet is unavailable.

Darryl Rodgers @JDRodgers61 · 13 May 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

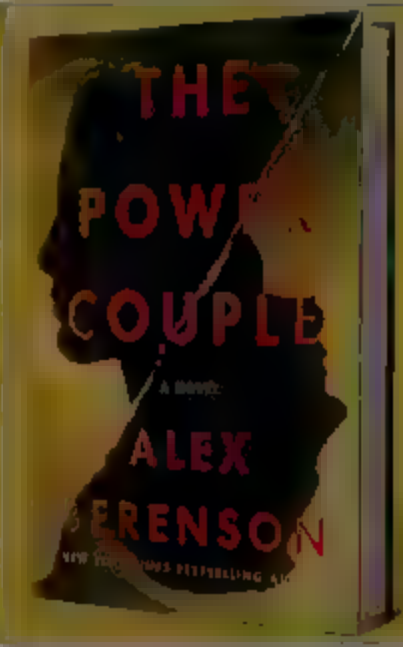
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Bryn Spejcher, 27: no criminal history. Had a PhD and a dog. Smoked a bong with the guy she was dating. Then (allegedly) stabbed him 108 times because the voices told her to. No other drugs in her system. Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.

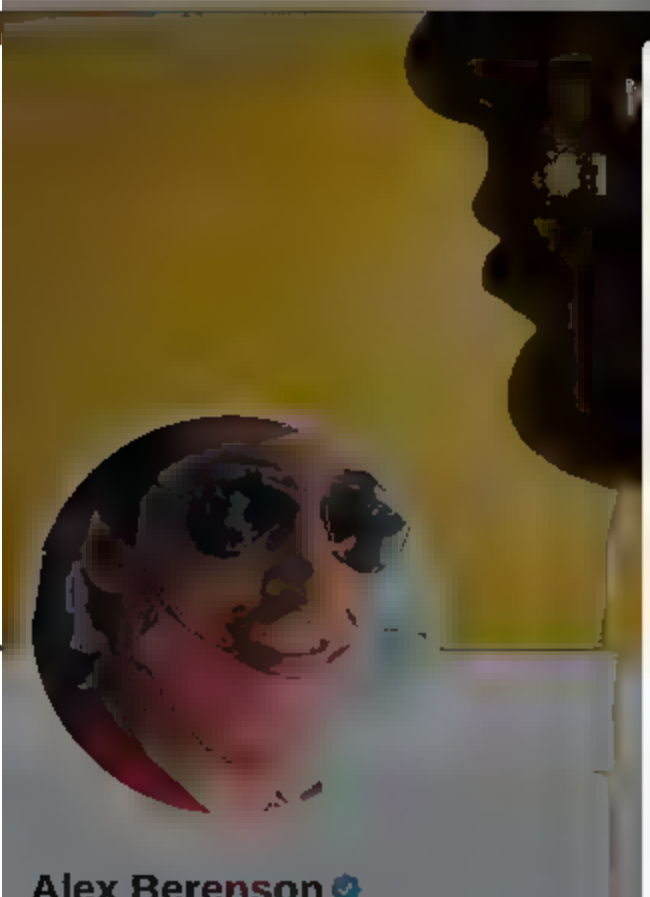
told cops that bong hits led to violent episode

SPEJCHER PRELIMINARY HEARING



| May 09, 2019

By Becca Whitnall
becca@theacorn.com



9:47 AM - 13 May 2019

6 Retweets 19 Likes

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

California, 2018: possibly the most obvious case of cannabis-induced psychotic murder I've ever seen. And spare me the fact she'd had a drink or two several hours before. The time frame here could not be clearer.

8:14 AM - 13 May 2019

10 Retweets 27 Likes

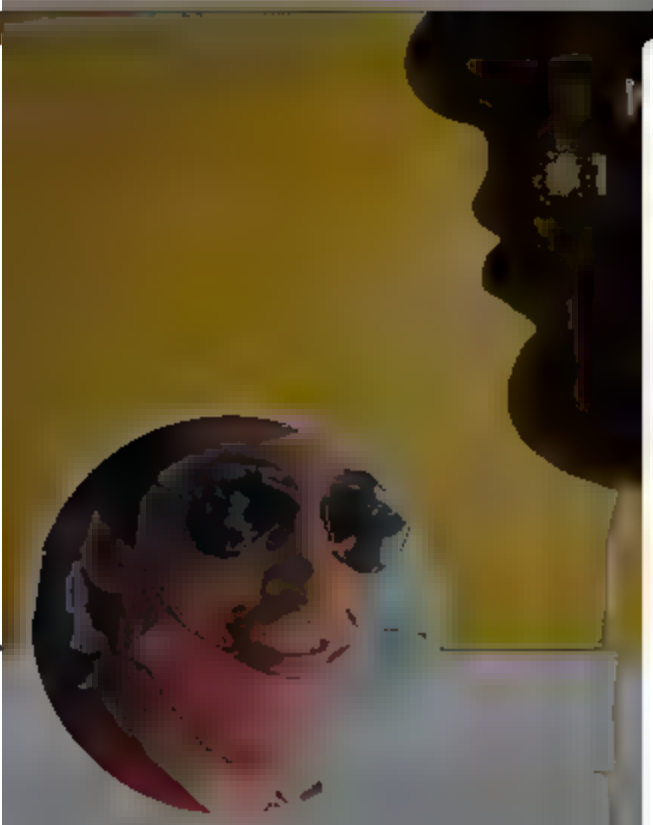
15 10 27



Twas4kids @twas4kids · 13 May 2019

Replying to

need to follow this case - her defense - maybe like the man in Canada with a baseball bat attack he will plead not guilty due to temporary insanity - and not knowing the drug marijuana could impact his behavior such.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

So the Sacklers can't get invited to Fifth Avenue dinner parties. Cue the world's smallest violin. You hear it, @_AdamBierman_ @peterthiel and the rest of Psychosis Inc.? You will soon enough.

5:58 PM - 11 May 2019

2 Retweets 16 Likes

5 2 16

Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 11 May 2019

Replying to [redacted]

What is he on. Does anyone understand this jumble?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5 2 16

Hedgefun @Hedgefun1 · 12 May 2019

Looks like the sacklers are friends with your fellow prohibitionist Kevin sabet and Sam

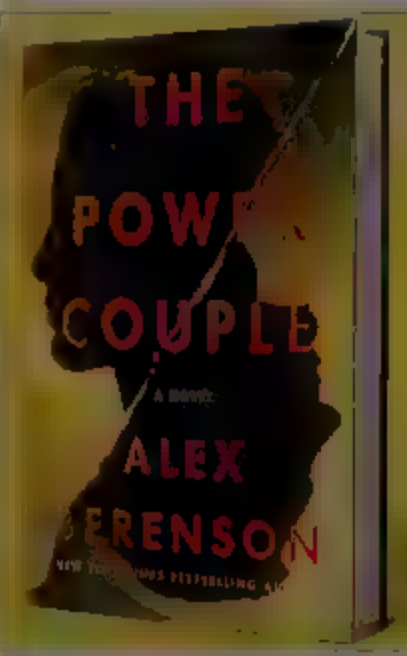
3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

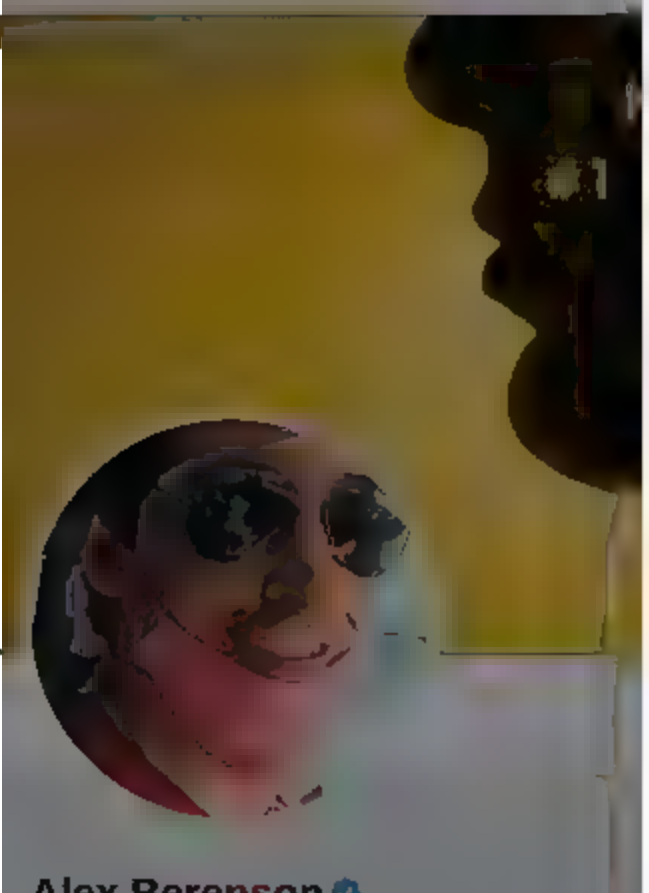
I don't speak for @KevinSabet - or vice-versa - but he is welcome to speak for himself on this issue. I'm not a prohibitionist, btw. Not a leftist or a rightist. Just a realist.



4:46 PM - 12 May 2019

4 Likes

1 4



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

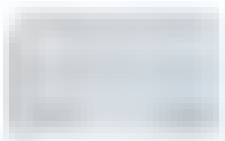
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Those were the days, @rodboydilm. But back then the lies were just about finances, not deaths. Fun fact for Psychosis Inc execs and the academics who love them - the CEO and CFO of CA wound up in prison. Like I said, I've always been lucky in my enemies. (RT for correct picture.)

AT&T LTE 2:08 PM 40%

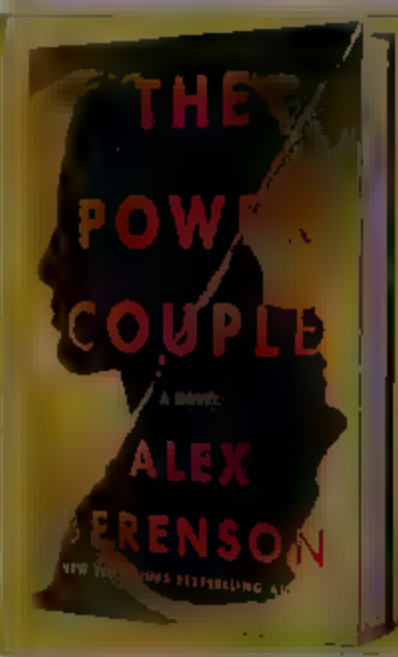


Tweet

Roddy Boyd
@RodBoydILM

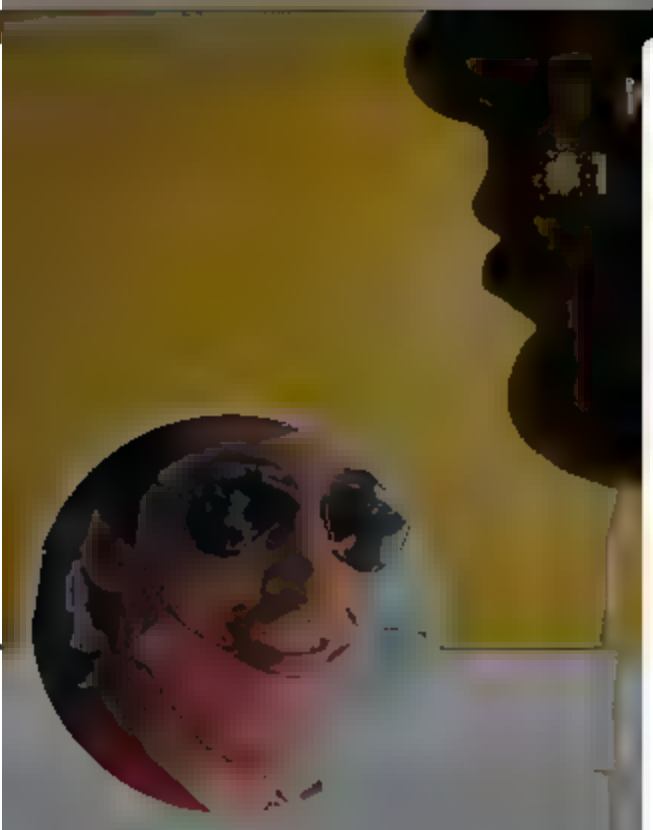
Replying to @KeyserSozeBro1

My man @KeyserSozeBro1 bringing the Institutional memory!



A hat tip to friend @AlexBerenson who drove a stake into their "pro-forma" accounting BS in 2001

More Than One Way of Looking at Software Maker's Earnings

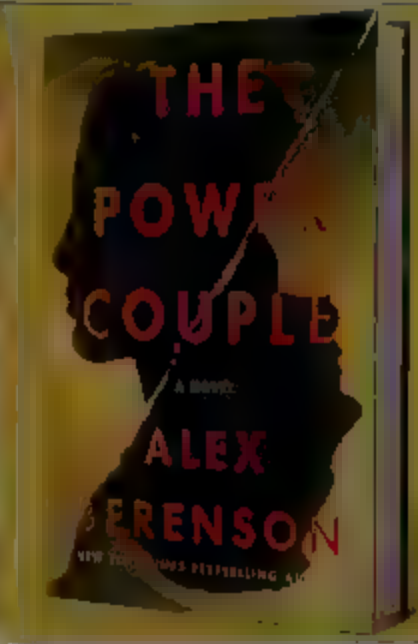


11:54 AM - 11 May 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I want to believe that academics and physicians like @AllenFrancesMD who trumpet cannabis as a solution for the opioid epidemic just don't understand the data (as obvious as it is). The alternative - that they are deliberately misleading people - is too depressing to contemplate.

6:23 PM - 10 May 2019

8 Retweets 28 Likes

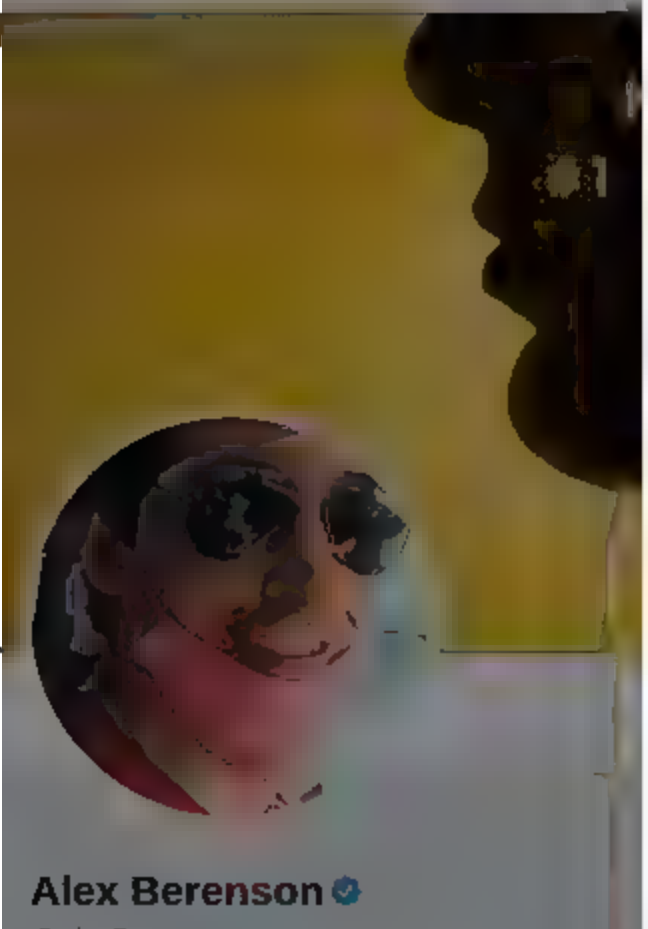
13 8 28

Faded @Aldridge25 · 10 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Then stop using 13 studies out of 3,000 to conclude your "evidence based facts" for a narrative you wish to push to sell books. The very few sheep who follow you are too lazy to find the information oncannabis. People can research the plant and figure out what it is without you.

1 6



Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 10 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Alex, Lil Anslinger, is flustered bcause his marijuana=psychosis&violence scam has been discredited by the published data. So he's scuttering around seeking any point of prevaricated/slanted data he can exploit2make his deceit seem2have any substance at all. Failing! Fade away

3

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 10 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Can you quote Dr. Frances trumpeting "cannabis as a solution for the opioid

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Joe Pierre @psychunseen

The confirmation bias about #marijuana comes from both sides. People who like to 6 3 10

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ And worse, overdose deaths have actually risen faster than the national rate in CA and other states that have fully recreationally legalized. This myth has to die. Before more people do.

6:07 PM - 10 May 2019

7 Retweets 16 Likes

8 7 16

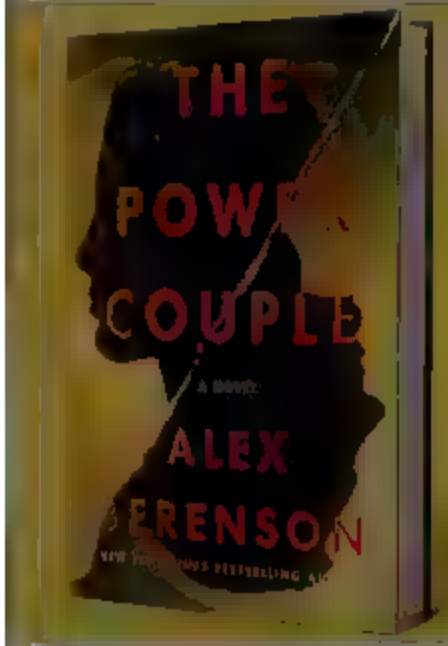
Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 11 May 2019

Replying to

Denial is a symptom of addiction.

Kinda makes one wonder.

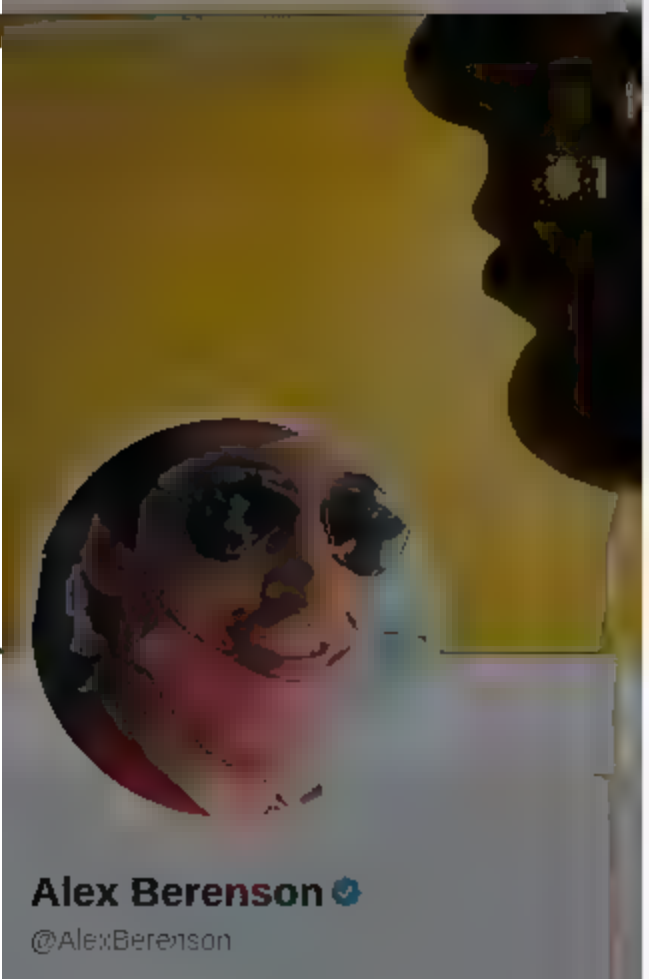
2



bruce banner5280 @brucebanner5280 · 11 May 2019

Replying to

Citation please



The media could not be played.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

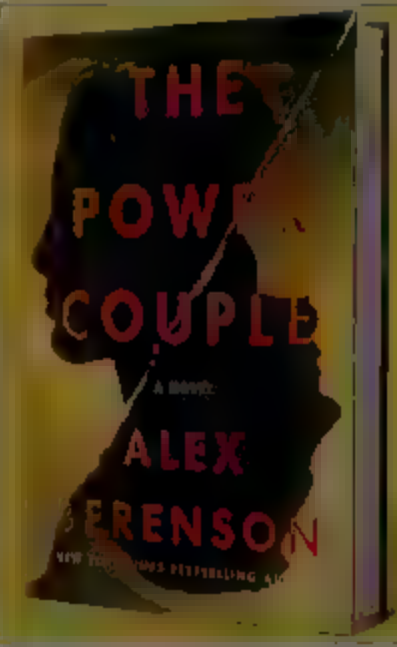
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ So @KennNHumphreys is too polite to say so, but I'm not: @AlienFrancesMD does not know what he's talking about. Kinda shocking from the guy who edited the DSM-IV, but facts are facts. The updated data shows no relationship between MMJ laws and opioid deaths...



> 1 finding conclusively settles all the heated controversy re risk/benefit of #marijuana.
>
> States that legalize pot experoence quick/dramatic drop in OD deaths.
>
> Pot isnt completely safe, but its by far the lesser evil- lots less dangerous than alcohol/scrip #opioids/street drugs.
>
> Joe Pierre @psychunseen
> The confirmation bias about #marijuana comes from both sides. People who like to

6:05 PM - 10 May 2019

3 Retweets 10 Likes

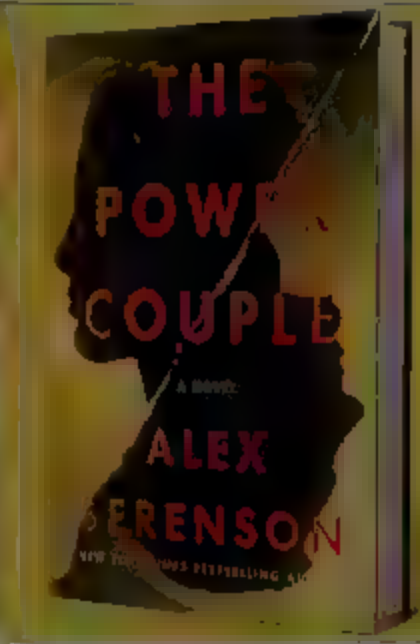
6 3 10

Have an account? Log in

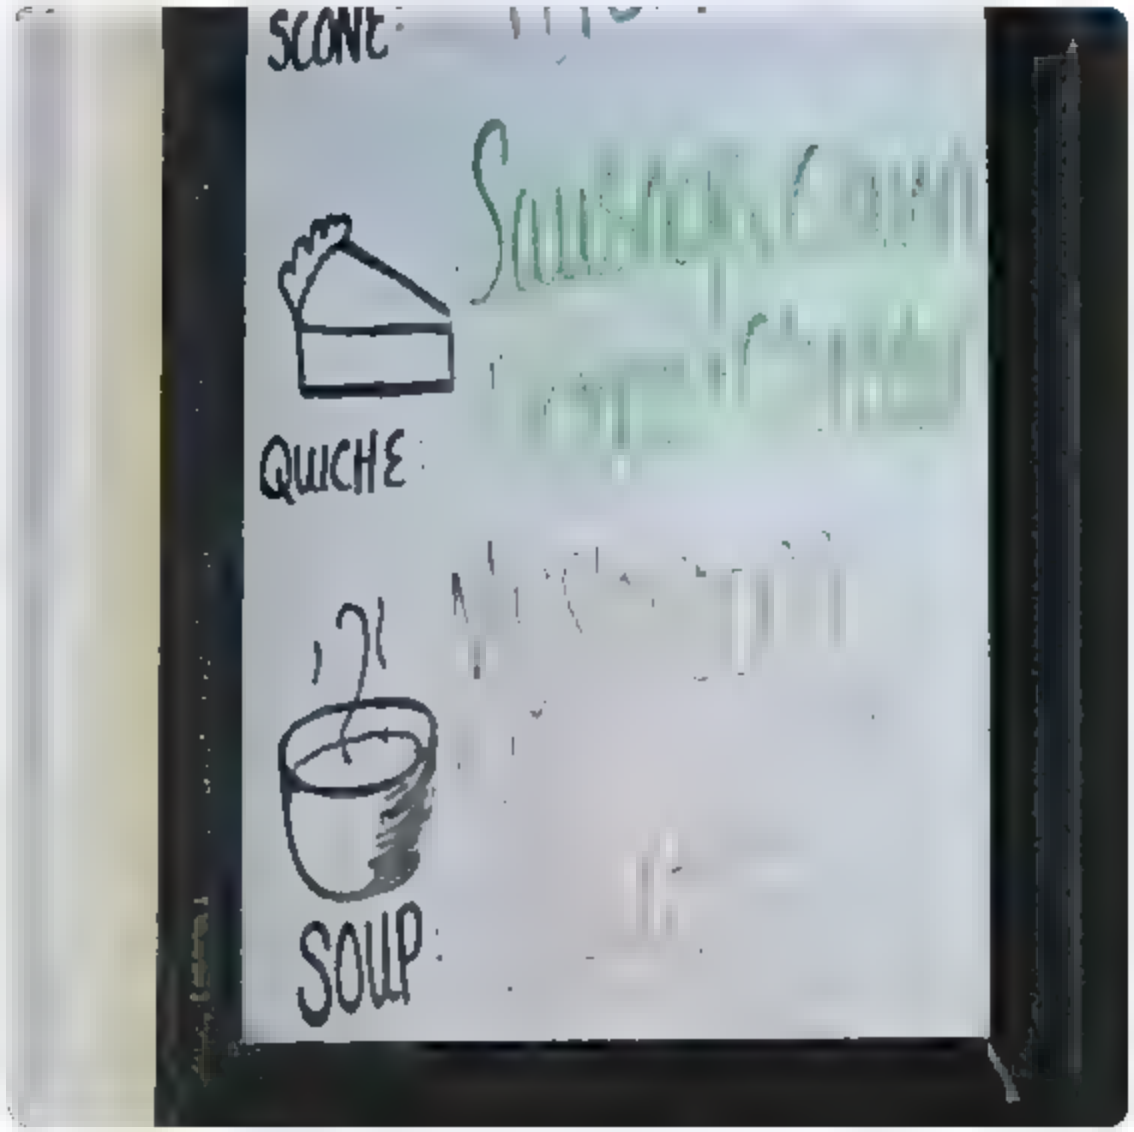
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

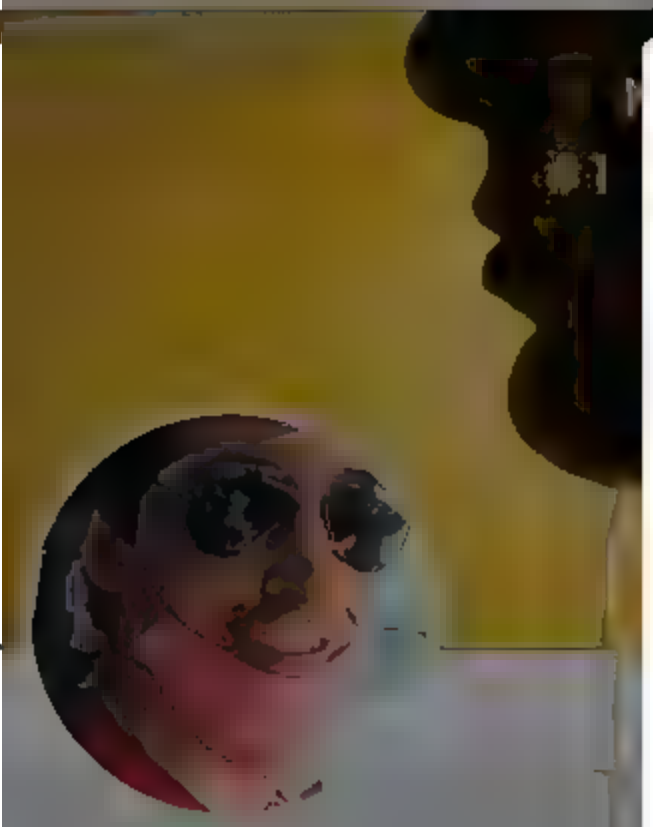
New York



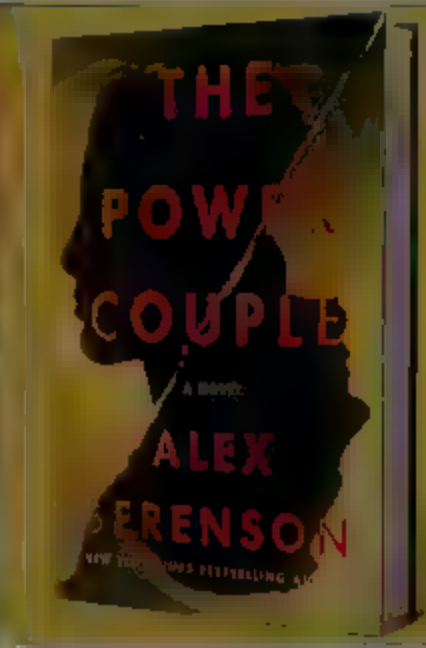
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Apparently the kitchen is a bit short on mushrooms today...



7:10 AM - 9 May 2019

2 Retweets 11 Likes

1 2 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

1/ My best NY celebrity story is less than a week old; I get on the 4 at 59th. It's midday, not too crowded. A guy in a newsboy cap and sunglasses is sitting across from me, reading his iPad. As the train stops at 86th, a man getting off says to the seated guy, "Huge fan..."

5:55 PM - 8 May 2019

1 Like

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 May 2019

Replying to

2/ Nothing more. And the seated guy barely even nods. But I look again. And the guy looks like... I peek at the iPad, and on it is a script. Watermarked "Neil Patrick Harris." An A-lister on the train, bothering no one, bothered by no one. That's NY celebrity.

1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 May 2019

1/ My best NY celebrity story is less than a week old; I get on the 4 at 59th. It's midday, not too crowded. A guy in a newsboy cap and sunglasses is sitting across from me, reading his iPad. As the train stops at 86th, a man getting off says to the seated guy, "Huge fan..."

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

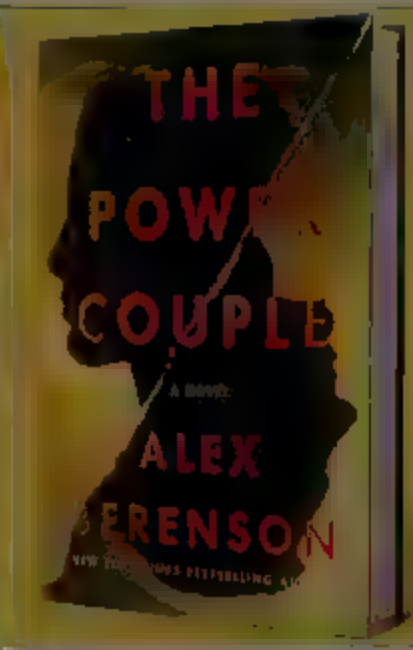
2/ Nothing more. And the seated guy barely even nods. But I look again. And the guy looks like... @ActuallyNPH. I peek at the iPad, and on it is a script. Watermarked "Neil Patrick Harris." An A-lister on the train, bothering no one, bothered by no one. That's NY celebrity.

6:01 PM - 8 May 2019

3 Likes

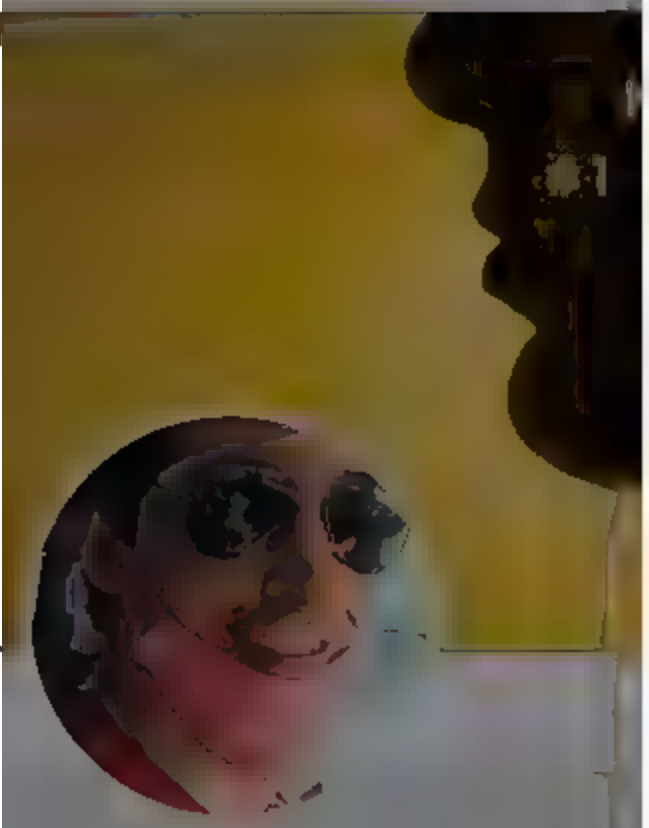
1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

GuruAnaerobic @GuruAnaerobic · 8 May 2019
Good piece. Do you think cannabis legalisation decreases one type of criminal activity (related to illegal market) but replaces with another?

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to

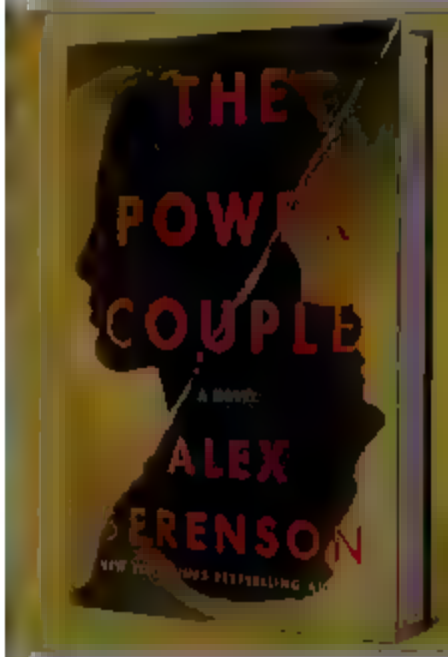
I don't think it's clear that legalization cuts black-market activity at all. In high-regulation, high-tax states like CA, the illicit market is still far larger than the legal market. And even in states like OR, where legal cannabis is cheap, the black market is robust.

2:45 PM - 8 May 2019

2 Likes

7 2

GuruAnaerobic @GuruAnaerobic · 8 May 2019
Replying to
That's what I've argued but I have no proof. In the UK duty is high on cigarettes- you think the same dynamics?



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 May 2019
I don't know the cigarette market particularly well - my sense is that most people buy cigarettes through licensed retailers so the illicit trade would occur at the distribution level (and be easier to police). Many cannabis users are happy to buy directly from illicit dealers.

1 2

Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 8 May 2019
Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't regulation, high-tax states like CA, the illicit market is still far larger than the legal market. And even in states like OR, where legal cannabis is cheap, the black market is robust.

New York

Joined November 2009

7 2

GuruAnaerobic @GuruAnaerobic · 8 May 2019

That's what I've argued but I have no proof. In the UK duty is high on cigarettes- you think the same dynamics?

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

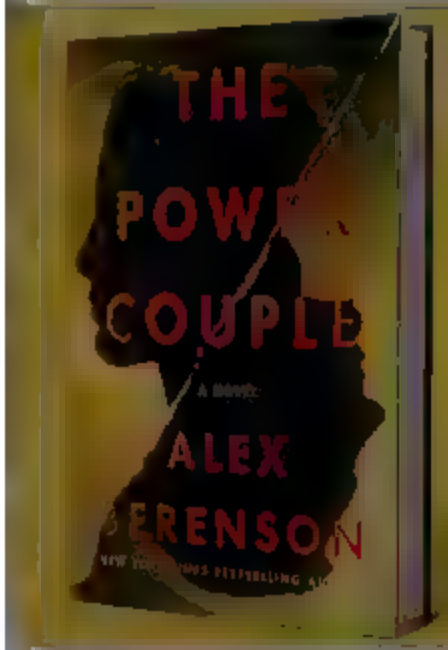
Replying to

I don't know the cigarette market particularly well - my sense is that most people buy cigarettes through licensed retailers so the illicit trade would occur at the distribution level (and be easier to police). Many cannabis users are happy to buy directly from illicit dealers.

2:51 PM · 8 May 2019

2 Likes

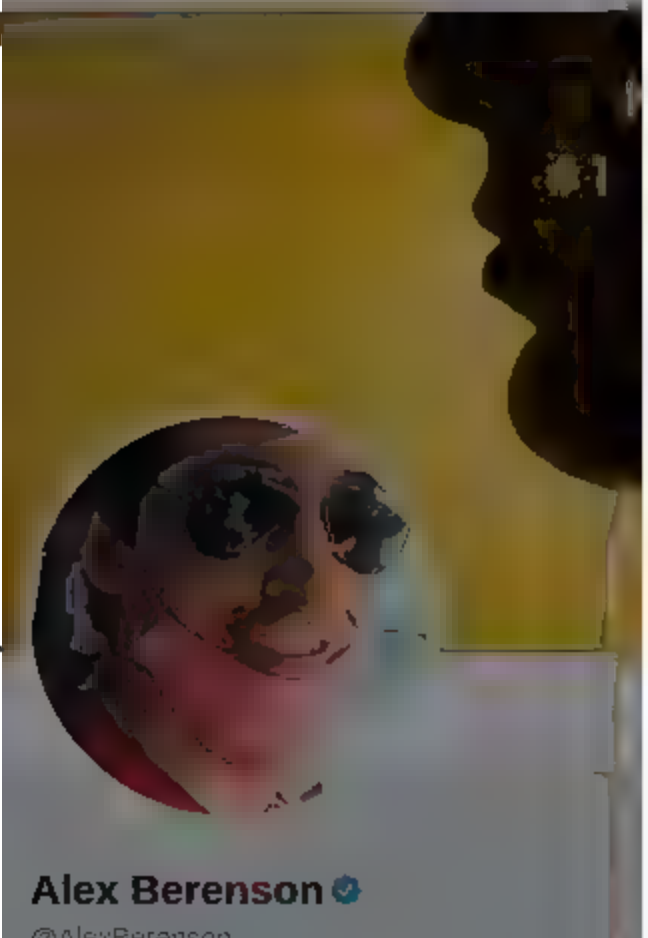
1 2



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 9 May 2019

Replying to

1



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

GuruAnaerobic @GuruAnaerobic · 8 May 2019
Good piece. Do you think cannabis legalisation decreases one type of criminal activity (related to illegal market) but replaces with another?

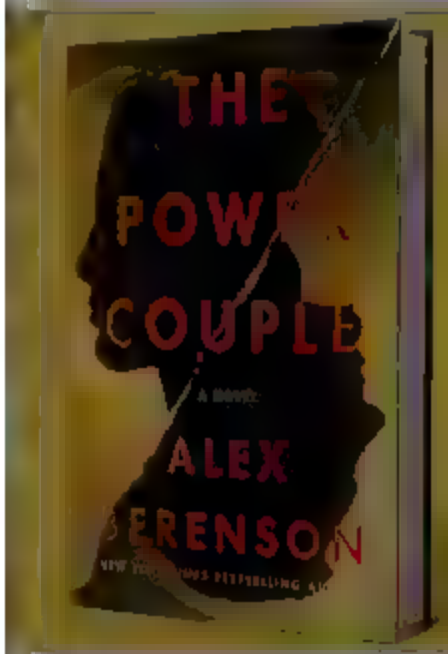
2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

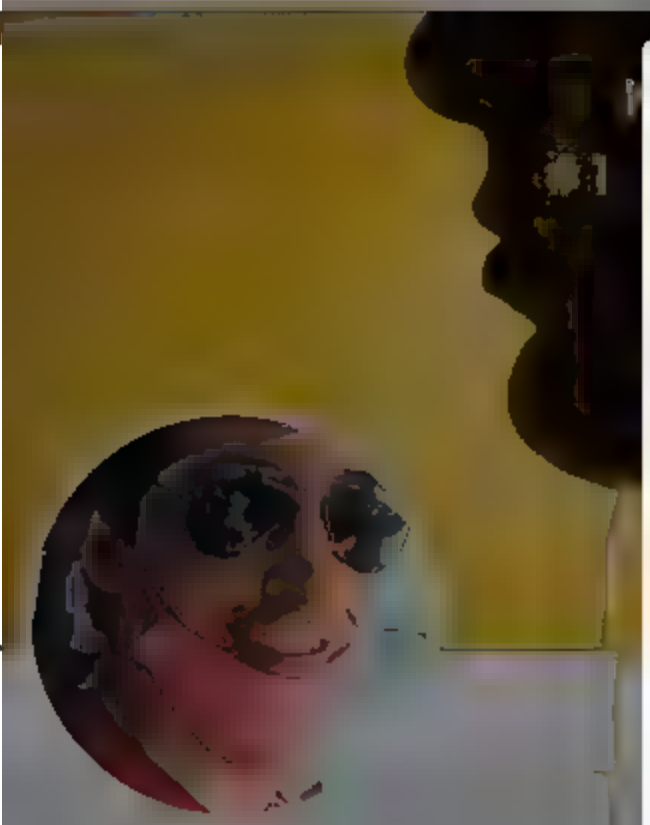
What is clear is that the legalized states have the highest use; given the psychomimetic effects of the drug and the link between psychosis and violence, it is not surprising violent crime is rising, even if we cannot yet say with certainty legalization has driven the rise.

2:48 PM - 8 May 2019



1 Like

7 1



GuruAnaerobic @GuruAnaerobic · 8 May 2019
Replying to
I believe that legalisation grows the market. Can't see why it wouldn't

GuruAnaerobic @GuruAnaerobic · 8 May 2019
Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Hey @mtaibi - I couldn't help thinking of you as I wrote this piece, which could have been called "How to Make Bad Numbers Vanish: An Academic's Guide"...

6:37 AM - 8 May 2019

21 Retweets 71 Likes

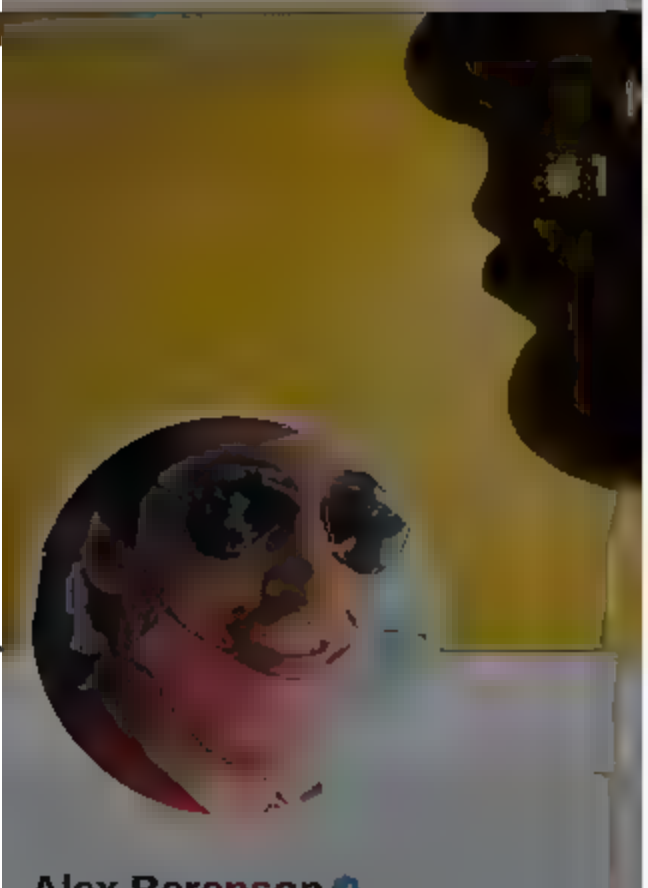
10 21 71

radstrider @radstrider · 8 May 2019
Replying to



Careful what you wish for!

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 7 May 2019
He's found me out. Tajikistan owns me.

This Tweet is unavailable.

3 9

Mark Groubert @lordbuckly · 7 May 2019
It's amazing how much shit your book has kicked up.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to

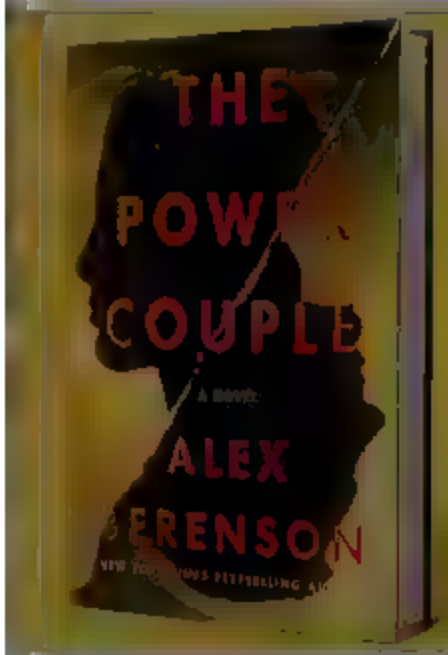
The truth has a way of doing that

9:20 AM - 7 May 2019

2 Likes

1 2

This Tweet is unavailable.

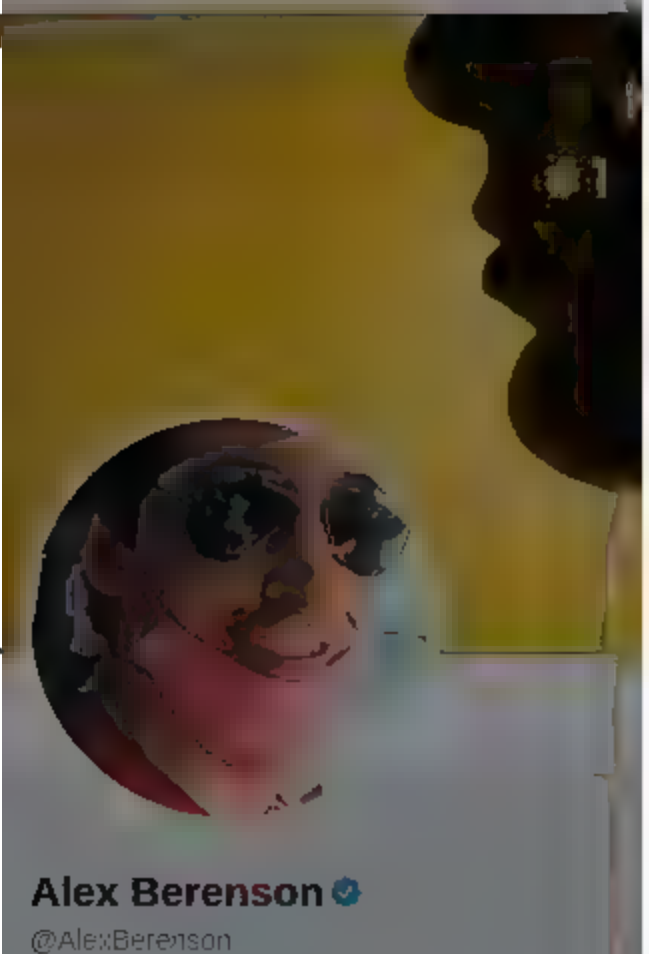


Mark Groubert @lordbuckly · 7 May 2019
Put down the bong and just walk away....

1

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

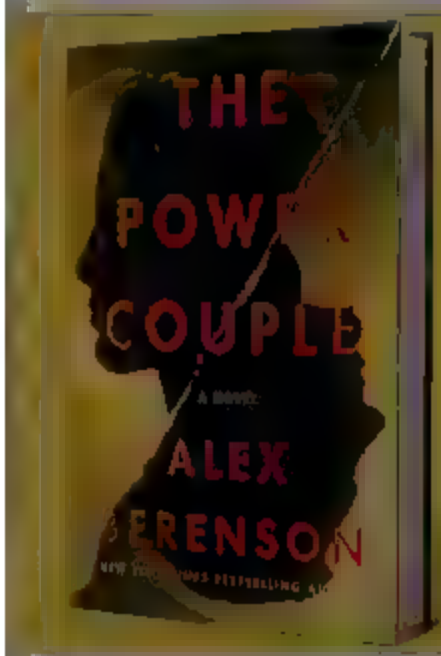


Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Thanks to "Goy Division/Jew Order" for giving me the chance to remind everyone that if you mention my children, you've proved himself an asshole and will be blocked.

AT&T LTE 11:26 AM 54%

Tweet

18 5 16

Goy Division/Jew Order
@ben_geier

Replying to @AlexBerenson and @GermanLopez

I'm going to tell your children to smoke that loud.

5/7/19, 11:23 AM

1 Retweet 1 Like

8:29 AM - 7 May 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I'm glad Bobby appreciates my work!

> Bobby Lewis @revrlewis
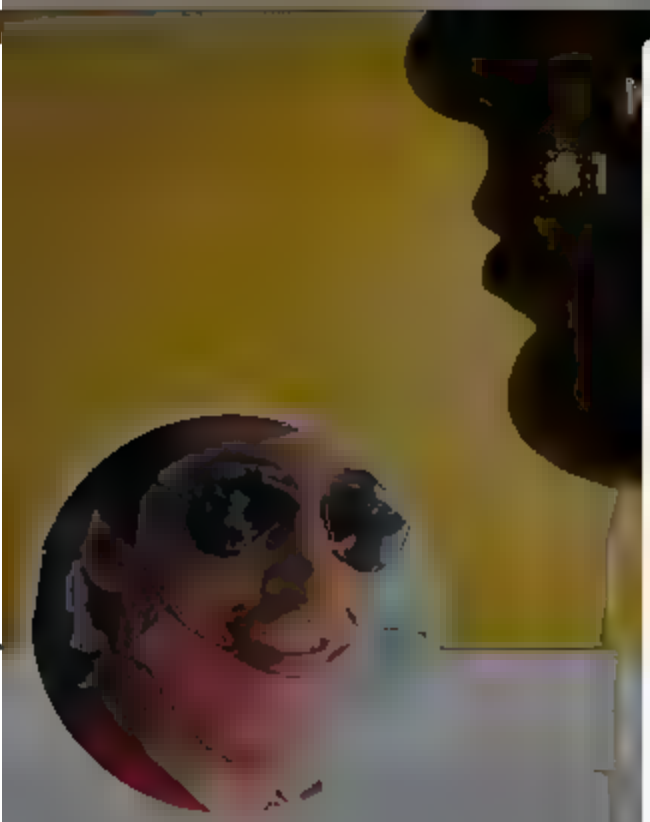
> Fox News is crawling with dishonest hacks, but this Alex Berenson guy -- not yet a contributor, but a somewhat frequent guest – is in a league of his own.
> Show this thread

4:59 AM - 7 May 2019

5 Likes

2 5



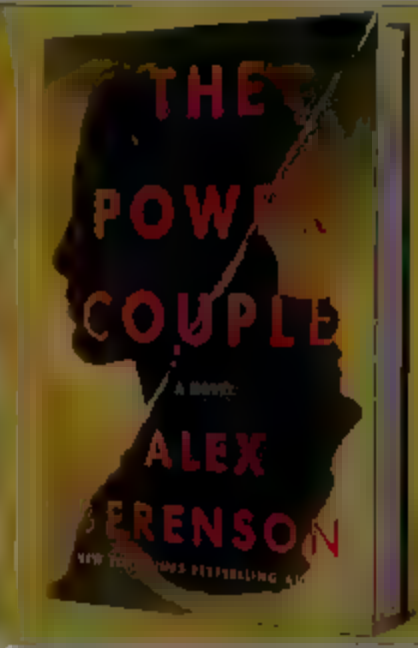
Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 7 May 2019

Replying to

Extreme stress or trauma, results of sexual assaults, see rape culture. Effects of increase porn watching from very early ages, single parent families, economic stress. No just blame cannabis.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

In today's edition of clever comebacks I've definitely never, ever heard before:
"Now do alcohol"
"Pot never killed anyone"
"Reefer Madness"
"Who's paying you?"
And my fave, the granddaddy of 'em all...
"Correlation is not causation!"

7:18 PM - 6 May 2019

9 Retweets 44 Likes

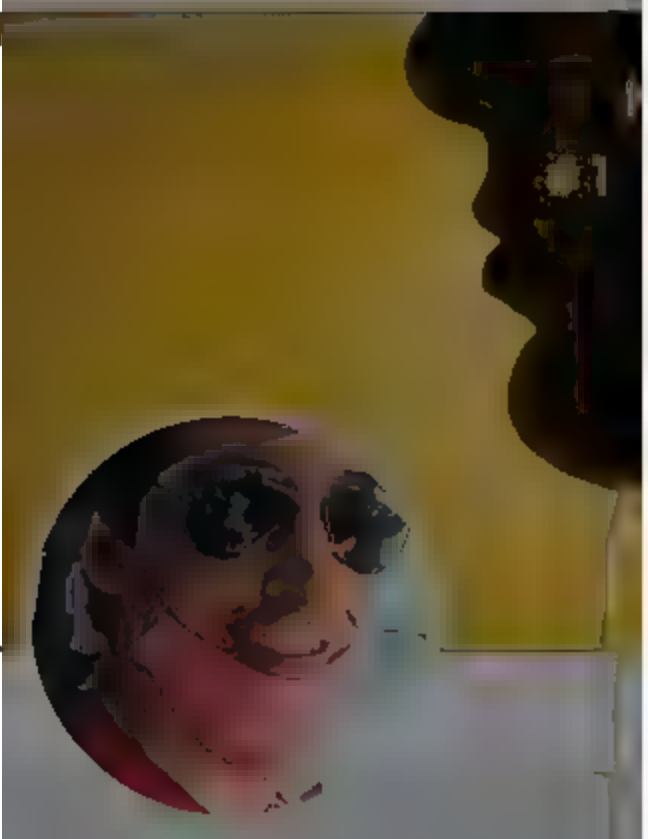
16 9 44

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 6 May 2019
Replying to

You forgot, "now tell me again why my dad should die from prescription opiates because the medical marijuana that works for him will make him go psychotic and commit acts of violence." Probably because it is kinda long, I suppose.

1 10

Carol P Jones @CarolCCarroll · 6 May 2019
Replying to



After reading your book I dumped my "medicine" and am letting my card lapse.

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 6 May 2019
Replying to

What fun!

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 5 May 2019
I promised you an answer and I will get it to you. Been a bit busy (see previous tweet). I think this is an interesting case.

1

Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 5 May 2019
I didn't see that. Mazel tov on your new addition and we 100% agree on the anti-vaxxers.

So there's that!

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 6 May 2019
1/ Hah, yes, we have that! So. I promised you an answer and here it goes. I will try not to drone on. In fact, I'm beat, so I'm just going to cut to the chase. I think you have a technical winner (as, technically, someone did find an absurdly minor error in the book in Feb.)...

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 6 May 2019
2/ There are a lot of reasons that chart doesn't tell the whole story (especially the SAMHSA data), and I suspect that a lot has changed in the last 18 months with the rise of Juul, but 19% in 2017 is less than 20% in 2013, and it is a primary source, so $200 to the ACLU it is...

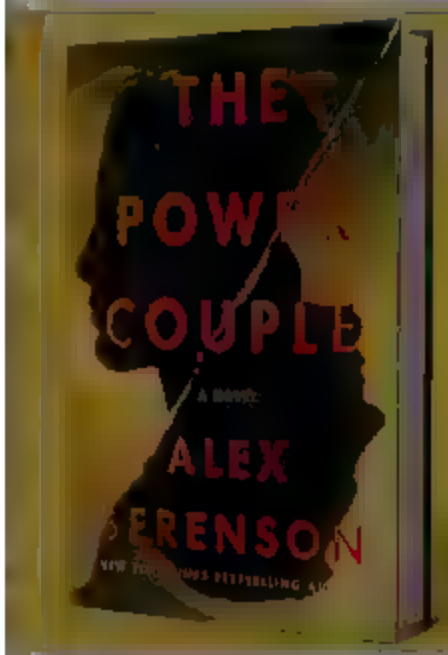
1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [illegible]

3/ Congrats on finding something. I was pretty sure no one would be able to win.

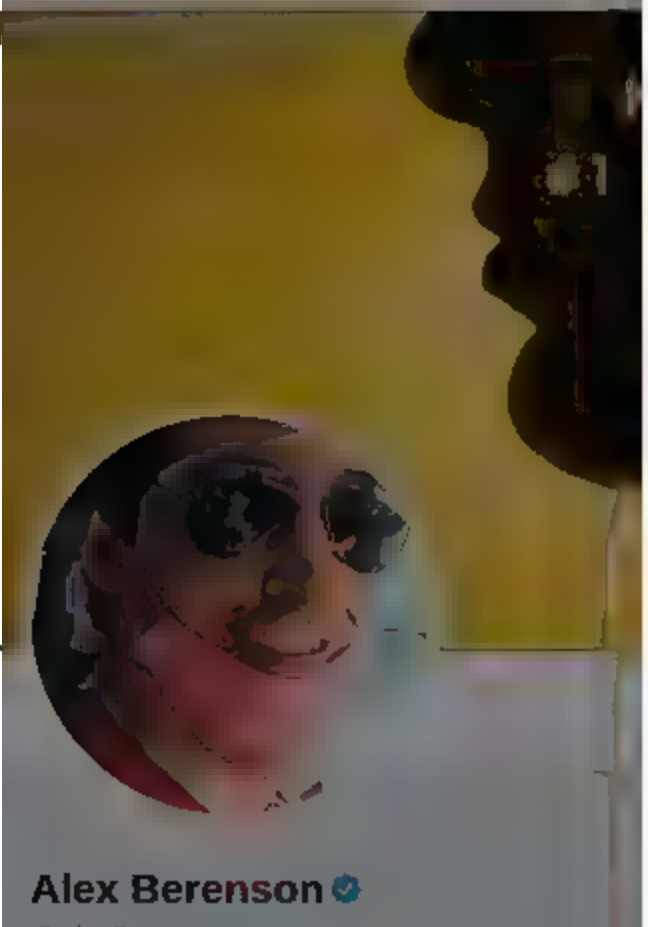


6:26 PM - 6 May 2019

1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

So there's that!

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 6 May 2019

1/ Hah, yes, we have that! So. I promised you an answer and here it goes. I will try not to drone on. In fact, I'm beat, so I'm just going to cut to the chase. I think you have a technical winner (as, technically, someone did find an absurdly minor error in the book in Feb.)...

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

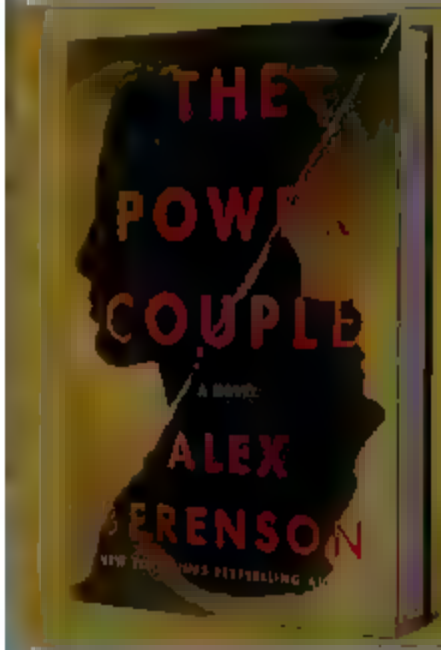
Follow

Replying to

2/ There are a lot of reasons that chart doesn't tell the whole story (especially the SAMHSA data), and I suspect that a lot has changed in the last 18 months with the rise of Juul, but 19% in 2017 is less than 20% in 2013, and it is a primary source, so $200 to the ACLU it is...

6:25 PM - 6 May 2019

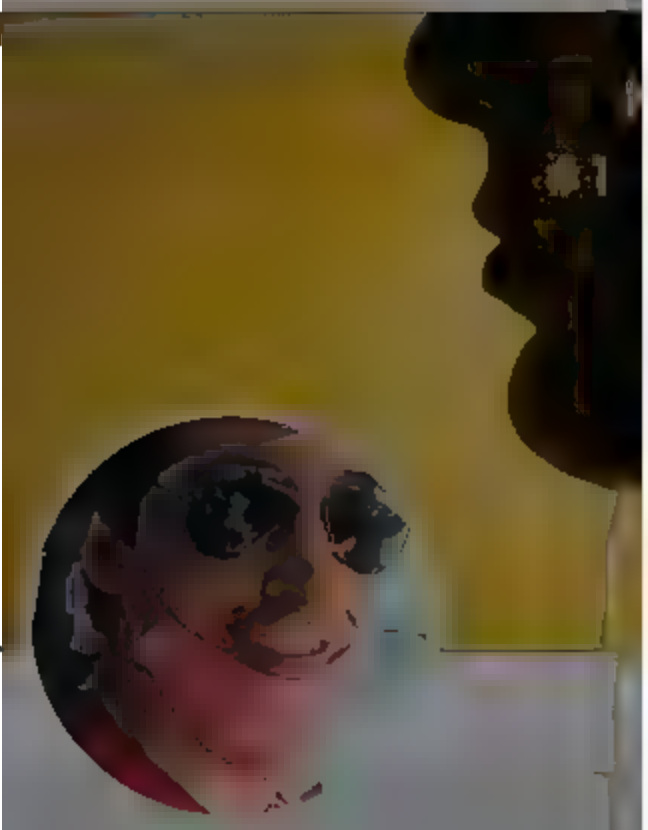
1 Like



1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 6 May 2019

Replying to



3/ Congrats on finding something. I was pretty sure no one would be able to win.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

I didn't see that. Mazel tov on your new addition and we 100% agree on the anti-vaxxers.

So there's that!

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

1/ Hah, yes, we have that! So. I promised you an answer and here it goes. I will try not to drone on. In fact, I'm beat, so I'm just going to cut to the chase. I think you have a technical winner (as, technically, someone did find an absurdly minor error in the book in Feb.)...

6:23 PM - 6 May 2019

1 Like

2 1

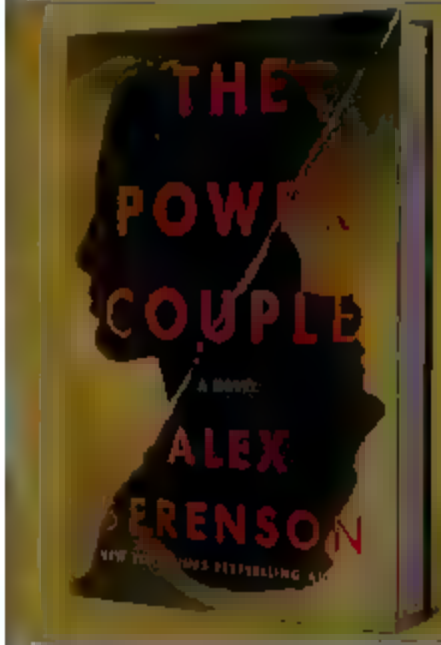
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 6 May 2019

Replying to

2/ There are a lot of reasons that chart doesn't tell the whole story (especially the SAMHSA data), and I suspect that a lot has changed in the last 18 months with the rise of Juul, but 19% in 2017 is less than 20% in 2013, and it is a primary source, so $200 to the ACLU it is...

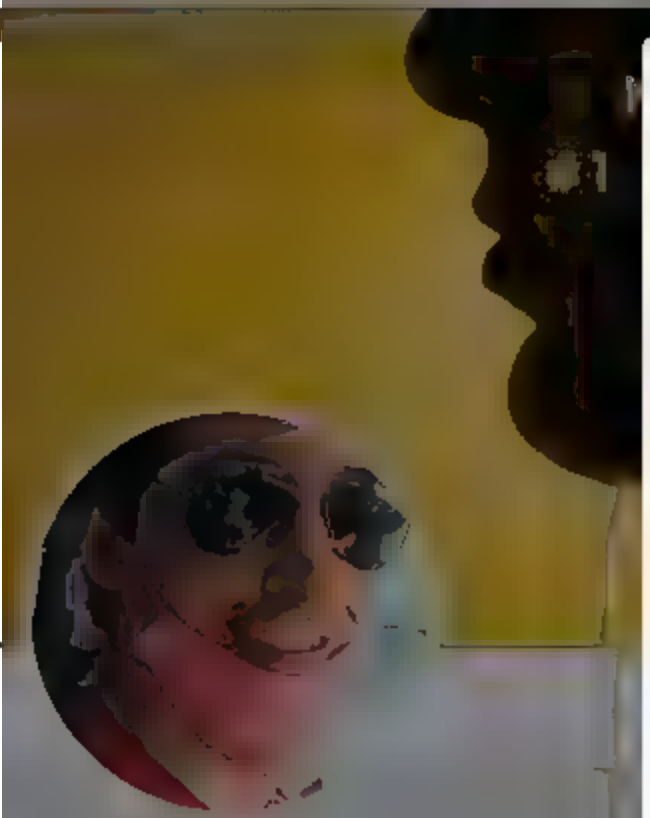
1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 6 May 2019



3/ Congrats on finding something. I was pretty sure no one would be able to win.

1

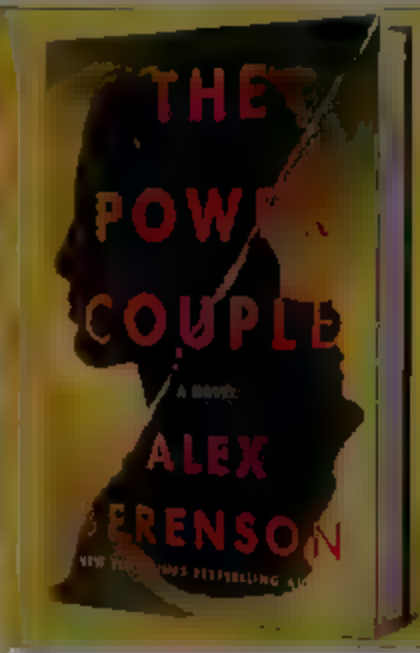


Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 6 May 2019

Replying to

Thanks for the response, Alex. And thanks for being a good sport about it.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Here's what I know: Insys was a dirty company when @zivacooper took its money, and its problems were no secret. No one has to take money from dirty companies. Doing so is a choice, and anyone who wants to judge her criticism of Tell Your Children should know it. @crimferret

Replying to @AlexBerenson and @zivacooper

So she earned grant money to conduct research where her methods used are openly and clearly published and capable of being replicated...

Your post simply shows you do not understand how research grants (or peer reviewed research in general) work...

5/6/19, 6:19 PM

1 Like

company putting profits above patients

Dina Gusovsky @DinaGusovsky

Published 10:13 AM ET Wed, 4 Nov 2015

Updated 2:13 PM ET Tue, 16 Aug 2016

CNBC.com

5:54 PM - 6 May 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

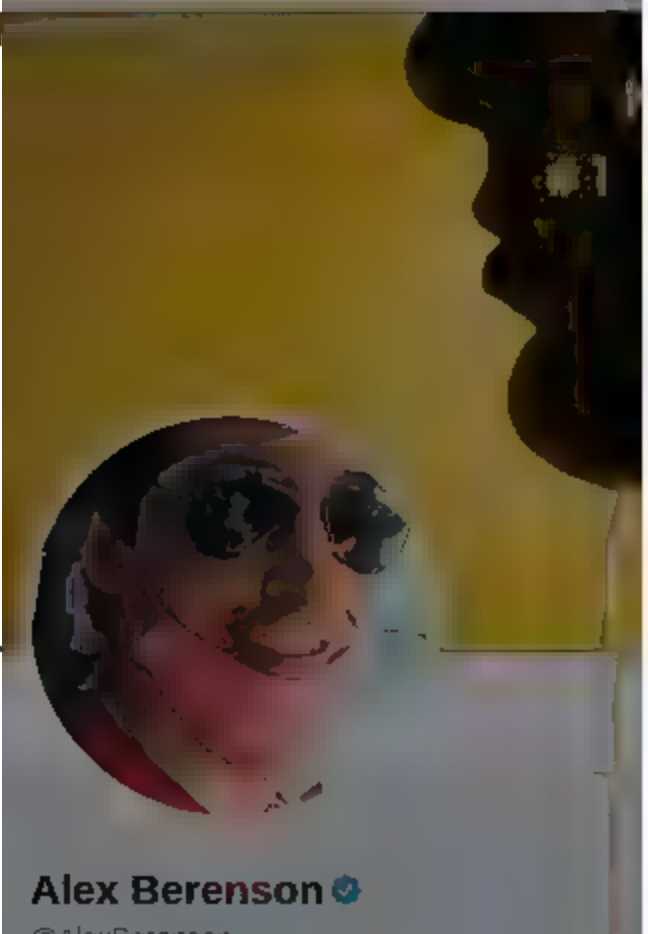
4 2 3



ADAW @ADAWnews · 6 May 2019

Replying to [redacted]

What? [redacted] is one of the best researchers in the field. You can promote your book but stop tramping on others in the process.

3

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't cannabis legalization by 2025 or so. He's slow - it took him seven years of covering opioids to figure out maybe legalizing heroin wasn't the best idea - but he learns.

New York

Joined November 2009

1 10

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

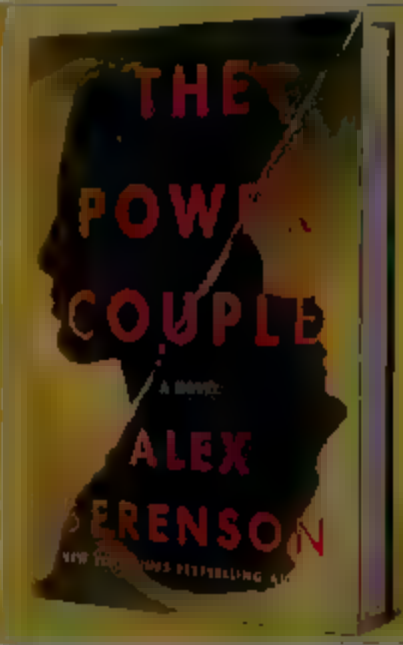
Follow

Replying to

Oh, @germanlopez is very open-minded and up for debate. As when he proudly referred in a tweet he has now deleted to his "takedown" of my book - and discouraged anyone from reading it.

german lopez "very bad" berenson

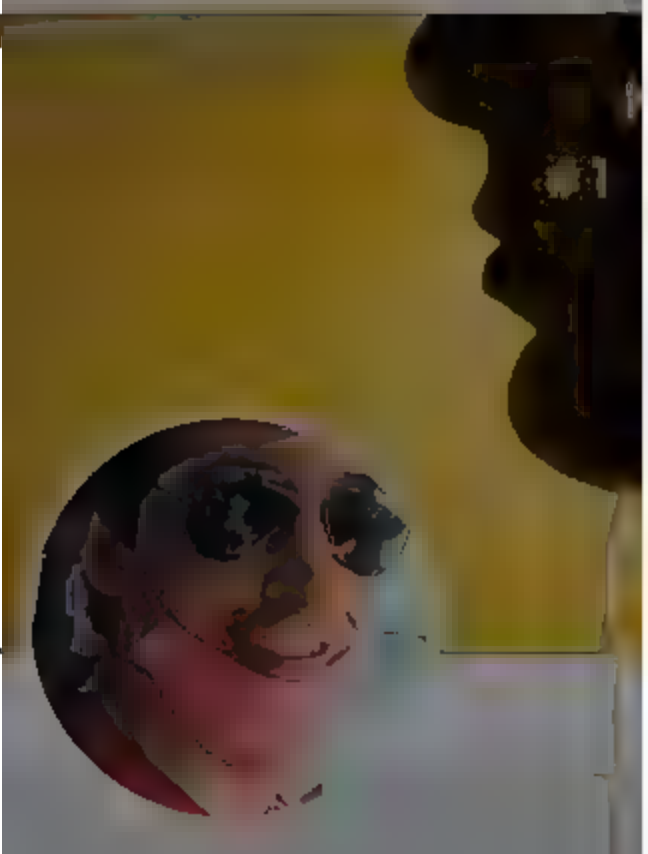
german lopez "very bad" berenson



ALL IMAGES NEWS VIDEOS MAPS SHOPI

German Lopez on Twitter: "The sloppy reporting around Alex Berenson's bad marijuana book is ...
Twitter › germanrlopez › status

Jan 31, 2019 · ... criminal justice, guns, and drugs. Email me at german@vox.com. .... link to Tweet; Embed Tweet. Here's my takedown of Berenson's very bad ...



German Lopez on Twitter: "I took an in-depth look

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Adam Feuerstein @adamfeuerstein · 5 May 2019
Does anyone else feel a lack of enthusiasm for GoT now that the big battle is over? I feel like whatever happens from this point forward is going to be a letdown.

37 2 47

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

I warned this was inevitable last week:

Tweets Tweets & replies Media Likes

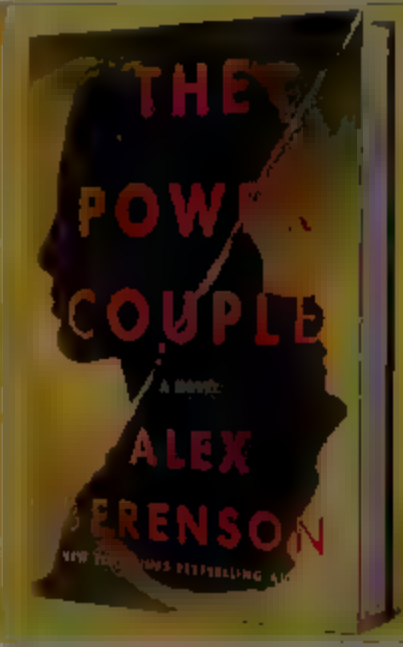
3

Show this thread

Alex Berenson @AlexBere... · 4/29/19
2/ It is precisely because the army of the dead is so overwhelming - and so empty - that the show couldn't end with this episode. The writers were right to recognize that fact, even if everything from this point forward will feel like a bit of an anti-climax.

3 2

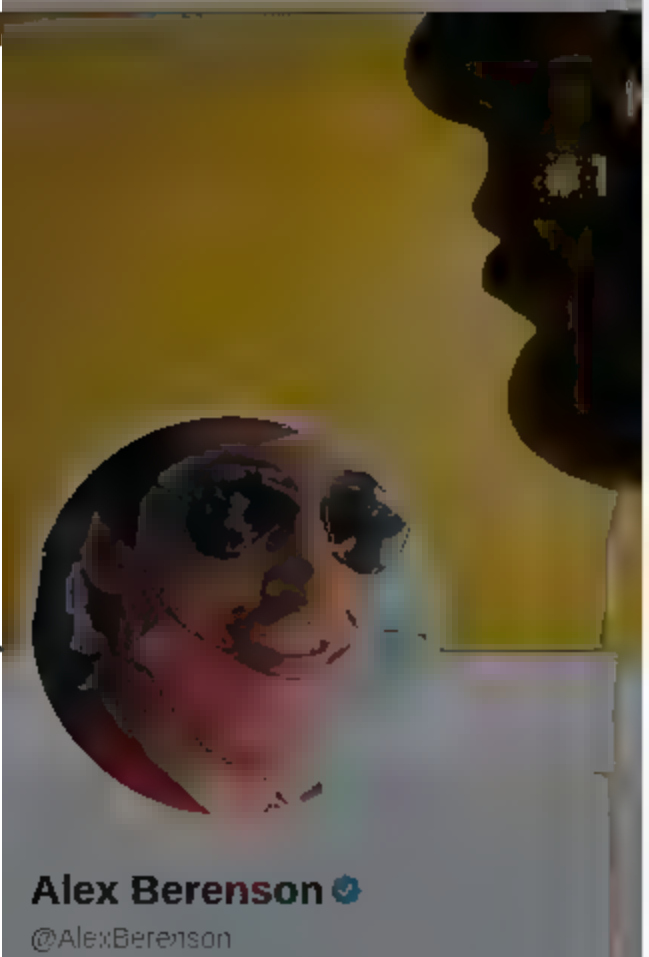
Show this thread



Alex Berenson @AlexBere... · 4/29/19
1/ Since I know y'all are desperate for my thoughts on screenwriting and #GOT ; that episode was fascinating on a couple

6:47 AM - 6 May 2019

1 Like



1 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

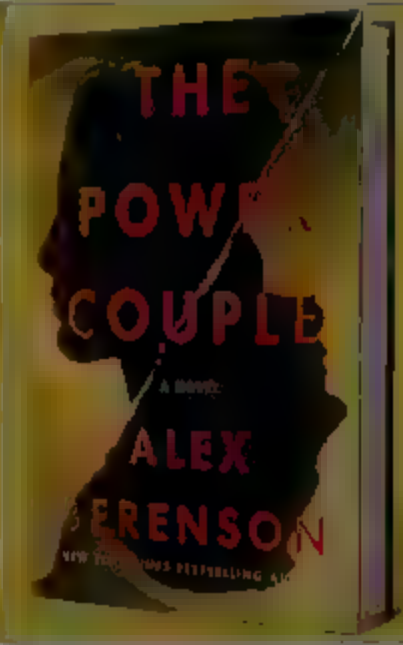
(Retweeting with correct Twitter handle): Figure @germanrlopez will see the real dangers of cannabis legalization by 2025 or so. He's slow - it took him seven years of covering opioids to realize maybe legalizing heroin wasn't the best idea - but he learns.

AT&T LTE 3:48 PM 36%

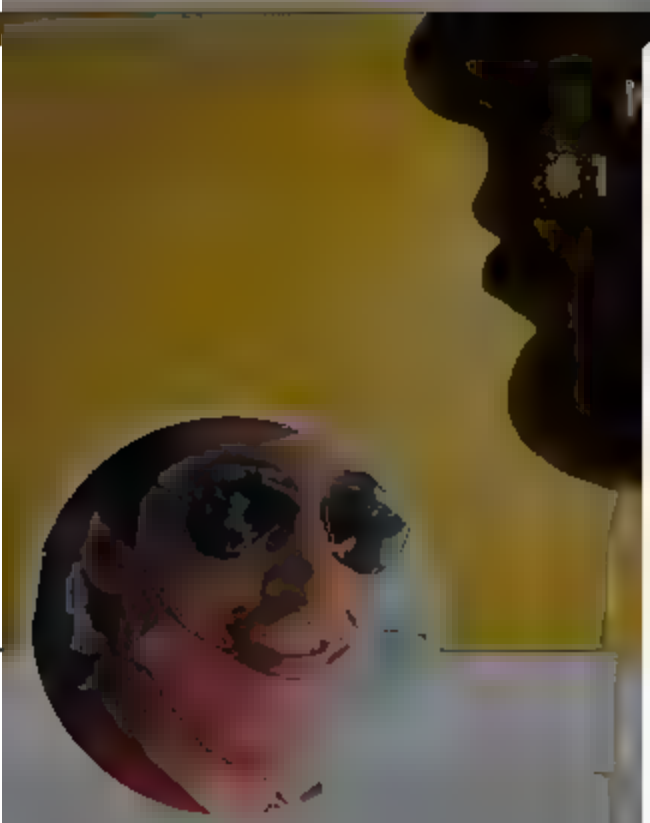
Tweet

Keith Humphreys Retweeted

German Lopez
@germanrlopez



I used to support legalizing all drugs. Then the opioid epidemic happened.



11:49 AM - 6 May 2019

4 Retweets 7 Likes

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

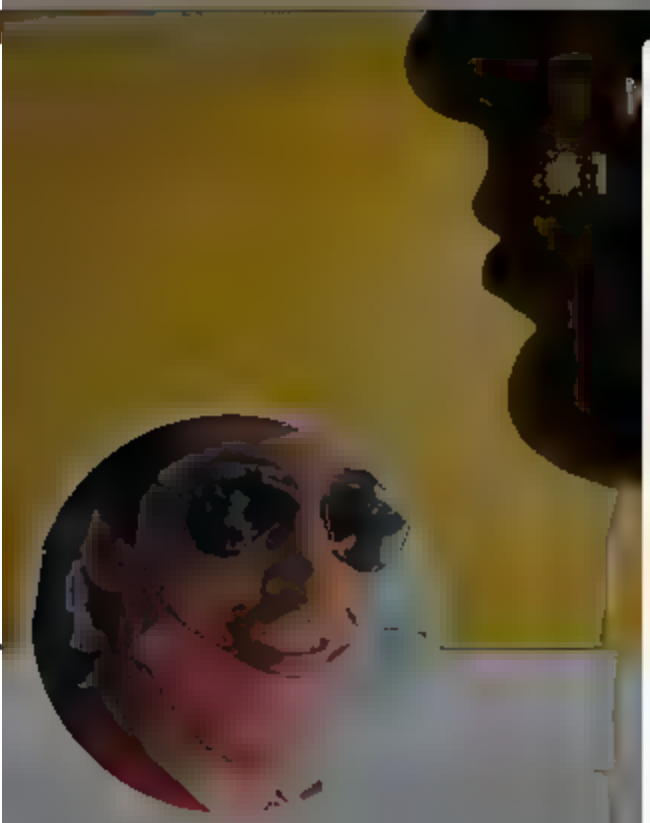
Ward Harkavy @WHarkavy · 6 May 2019
Do u have a financial relationship with anti-cannabis or tobacco it health orgs?

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
Doubling my offer to $200 for any positive finding about health or safety post-legalization. Come on, that's five ounces in Oregon. You can do it! (I shouldn't have to say this, but apparently I do - falling arrests for cannabis…

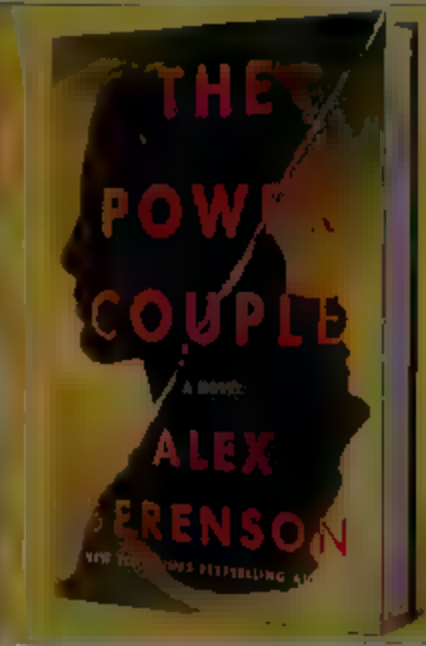
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



I do not, thanks for asking.



12:59 PM - 6 May 2019

5 Likes

5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

This five-star review - from someone who favors legalization! - neatly sums up with cannabis advocates and the journo-children who work with them hate Tell Your Children so much and are so desperate to snuff it out...

Verified Purchase

I was never a fan of the marijuana promoters, and I never wanted anything to do with marijuana myself. However, I did generally believe that the drug is safe (or at least no more dangerous than alcohol). I did not, however, buy into the idea that marijuana has medicinal purposes. This never made sense to me – mind altering substances can't be good for you.

I have long supported legalization for two reasons: I did not believe that banning the substance was practical (like alcohol prohibition) and I believed that people have a right to put harmful substances in their bodies.

Even after reading this book, I still believe those two things. This book has, however, certainly made me rethink my legalization support (even though I think I still fall in the pro-legalization camp, mostly for the practicality concerns).

(like alcohol prohibition) and I believed that people have a right to put harmful substances in their bodies.

Even after reading this book, I still believe those two things. This book has, however, certainly made me rethink my legalization support (even though I think I still fall in the pro-legalization camp, mostly for the practicality concerns).

Even though Berenson has not (yet, at least) convinced me to oppose legalization, he has left no doubt in my mind that marijuana is a substance with no medical benefits, actively harmful to human health, and almost certainly leads to violent crime. This book is a wholesale dismantling of the arguments in favor of marijuana use. Marijuana users are likely to despise this book. The reason is that Berenson tells the truth about their intoxicant of choice - it is dangerous, not just to themselves, but also those around them.

10:14 AM - 5 May 2019

4 Retweets 14 Likes

4 4 14

Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 5 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
With with can't follow. We don't want to be arrested if u don't mind

1

Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 5 May 2019
Alex books that people should suffer and die for his fake motived. And we are the

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

crime."

I'm no fan of pro-cannabis zealots, but this seems to nicely define the anti-cannabis zealot position.

1 4

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Why? The same could probably be said about alcohol (its CV benefits notwithstanding) but people who say so aren't called anti-alcohol zealots. Correctly defining a drug's harms is the opposite of zealotry...

11:40 AM - 5 May 2019

1 Like

4 1

Dr. Jonathan N. Stea ✓ @jonathanstea · 5 May 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Because all 3 claims are positioned as categorical truths when in fact the reality is much more complex; to the extent that all 3 claims are false. It presents as messaging with an agenda rather than an honest description of a complicated topic.

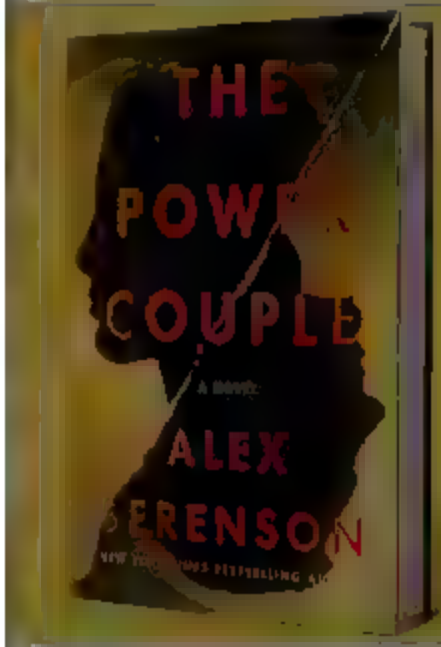
1 1

This Tweet is unavailable.

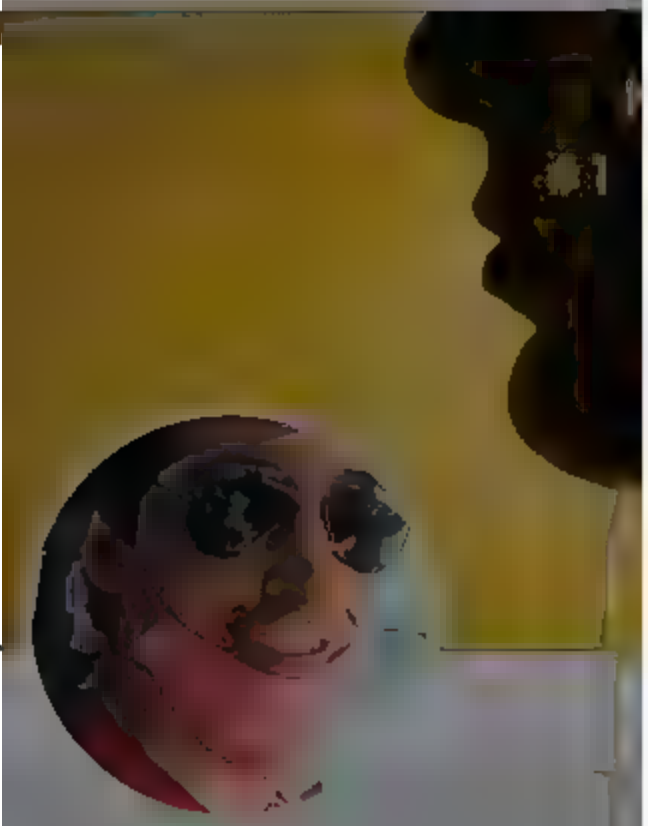
Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 5 May 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Medical benefits documented. Science isnt something you excel at is it?



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 4 May 2019
Non-MJ arrest story even more complicated because of how legalization may attract new people to area AND how police change behaviors when the can no longer arrest (and stop and search and detail) based only on claim they smell MJ.

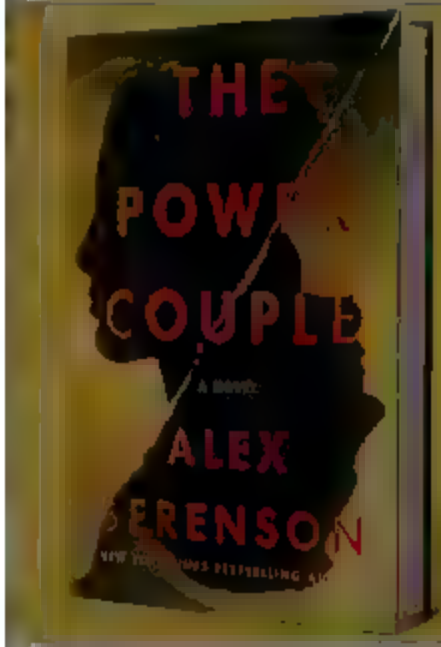
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

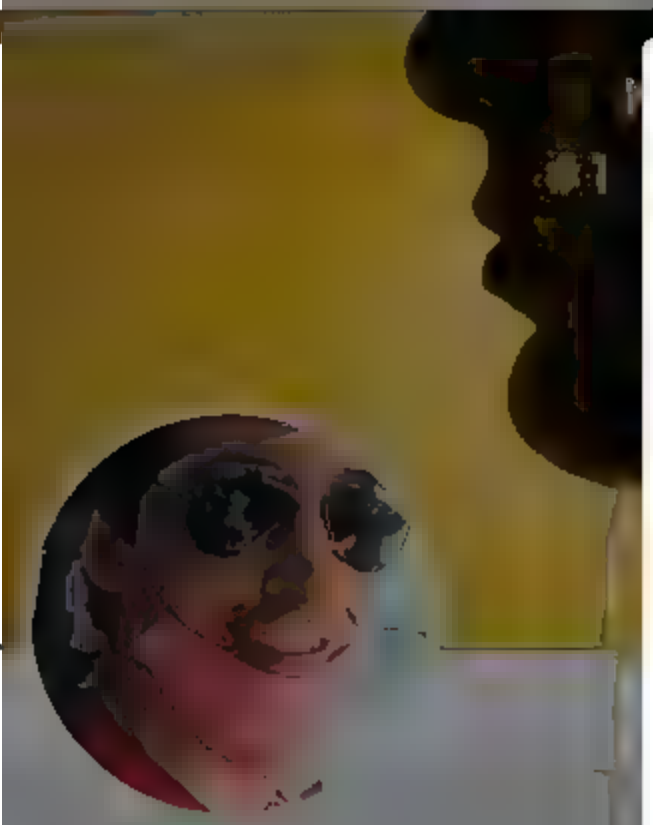
So - tell me if I'm wrong - but what I'm hearing is that yes MJ arrests go down but broad disparities do not change and in fact differences in remaining MJ arrests increase. Which suggests that whatever legalization may be, it isn't much of a fix for the criminal justice system.

3:01 PM - 4 May 2019



2 Likes

1 2

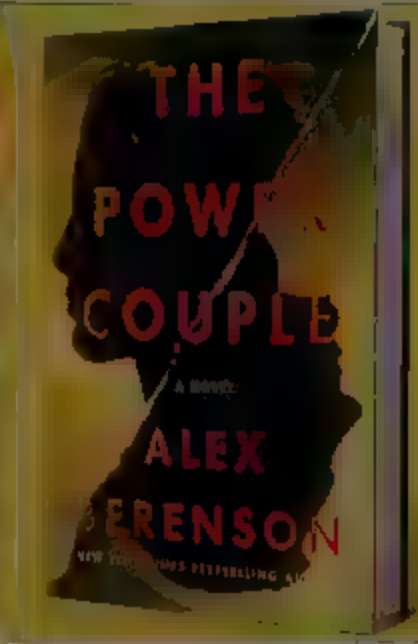


Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 4 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Not a complete fix, but an important improvement. And anyone who faults legalization without acknowledging importance of this improvement is telling incomplete story. And all should seek to improve the improvement. That cops are biggest fans of criminalization is telling....

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Another reason to dislike anti-vaxxers, as if you needed one: thanks to the measles outbreak they've caused, the hospital where my wife is delivering is not letting children visit, which means our kids won't get to see their sister for the first days of her life. Thanks, idiots.

7:41 AM - 5 May 2019

5 Retweets 47 Likes

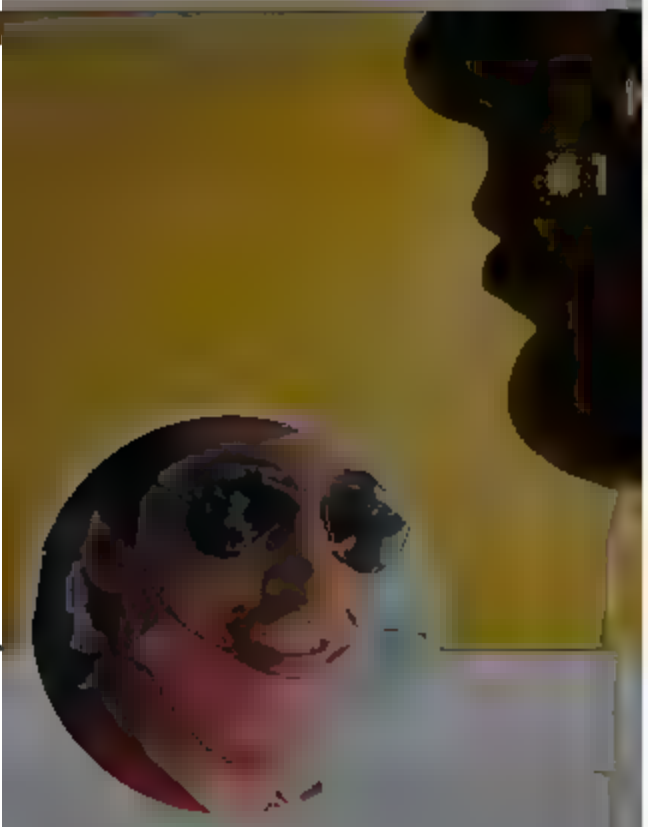
10 5 47

guess my pronouns @horseshowgrad · 5 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
That's terrible.....wonder if you could show proof of a positive titer if they would let your kids visit.

Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 5 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Yes, we all have difficulty with people who distort science and produce a biased viewpoint. Tends to cause real damage to people. Maybe look in a mirror.



8

Reignbow Novelties @ReignbowTracer · 5 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Congratulations on the Blessed Birth of your baby!

Trace Johnson @tjohnnyj · 5 May 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 5 May 2019
Like most things, there are better and worse ways to do marijuana law reform. As a social scientist and a lawyer, I think we should use the data that we have, all of it, to inform our policy choices. I hope that we agree on this.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

I promised you an answer and I will get it to you. Been a bit busy (see previous tweet). I think this is an interesting case.

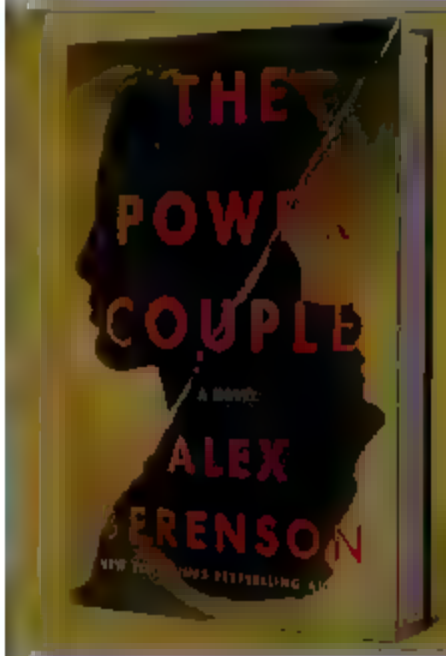
9:30 AM - 5 May 2019

1

Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 5 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I didn't see that. Mazel tov on your new addition and we 100% agree on the anti-vaxxers.

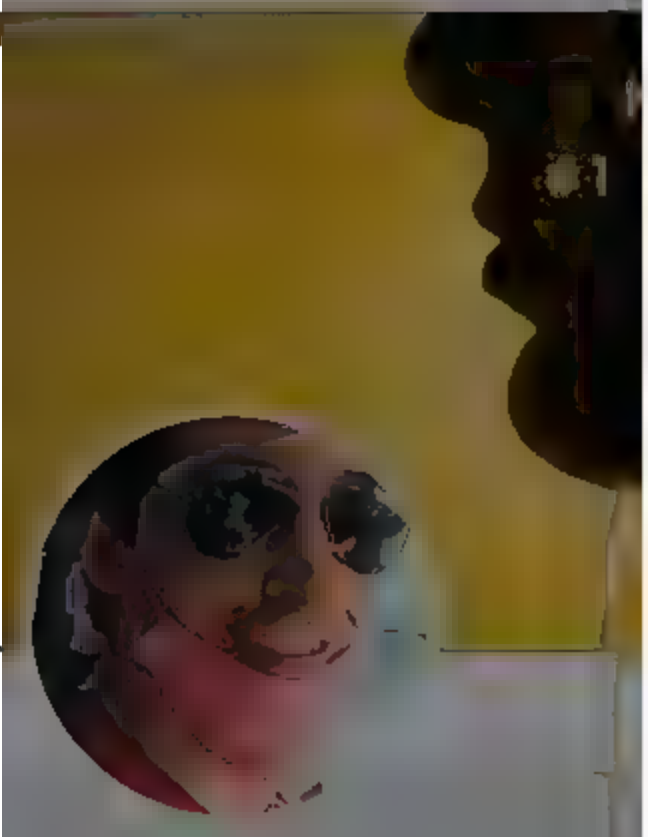
So there's that!

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 6 May 2019
1/ Hah, yes, we have that! So. I promised you an answer and here it goes. I will try not to drone on. In fact, I'm beat, so I'm just going to cut to the chase. I think you have a technical winner (as, technically, someone did find an absurdly minor error in the book in Feb.)...

2 1



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

feeding the never ending debate on the good and bad of the most popular recreational drug in the world.
A "must" read for everyone that can read or listen...I highly recommend the audio version

6 people found this helpful

Helpful Report

2

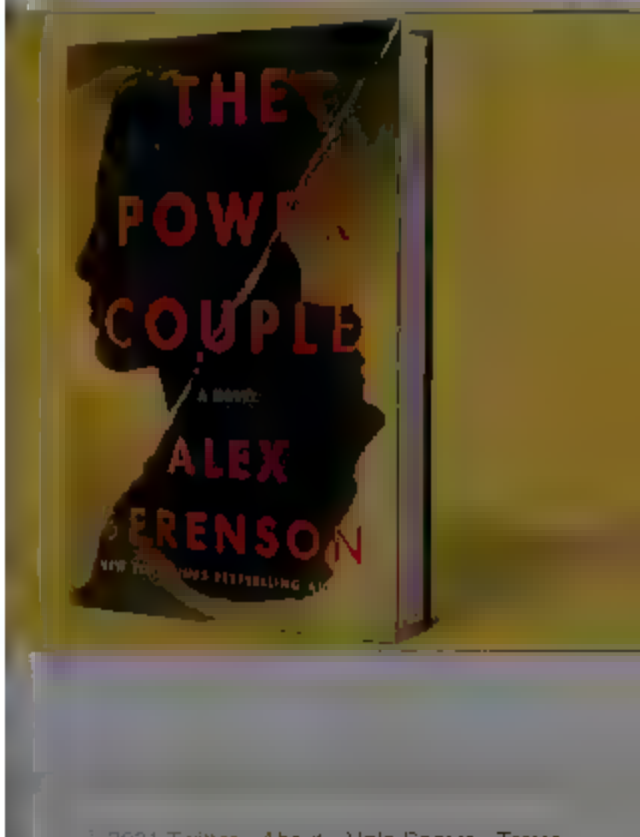
Charles Finch @CharlesFinch · 4 May 2019
Wow, Marta da Forti on Amazon thinks that? Game change.

We're both Yale guys, this is a drag. Then again Crichton went to Harvard and became a climate change denier. So it goes.

1

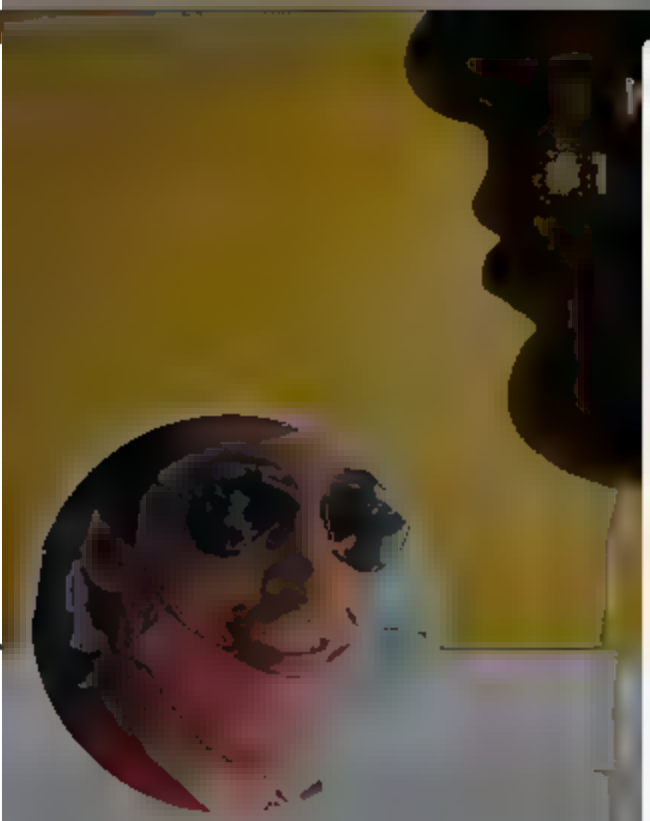
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

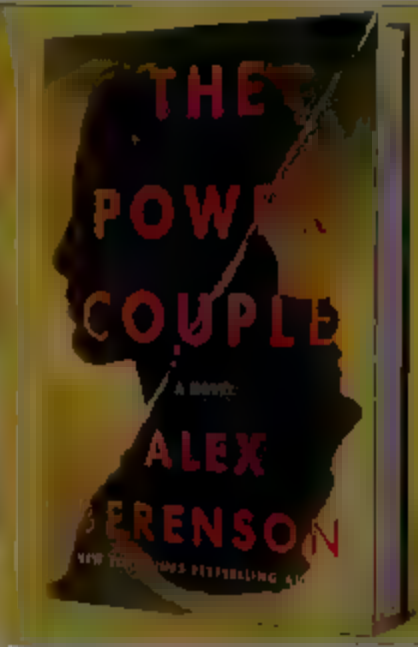


I'll take tweets that haven't aged well (immediately!) for $600, Alex

1:50 PM - 4 May 2019



1



Charles Finch @CharlesFinch · 4 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I'll take joke formats used exclusively by the congenitally non-humorous for etc

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Time to update the cannabis advocacy dictionary:
"Psuedoscience" = "science I don't like."
"Cherry-picking" = "data I don't like."
"Sensationalist" = "true."
"Fear-mongering" = "true and scary."
"Misleading" = "so true I can't even say inaccurate."

2:57 PM - 4 May 2019

14 Retweets 50 Likes

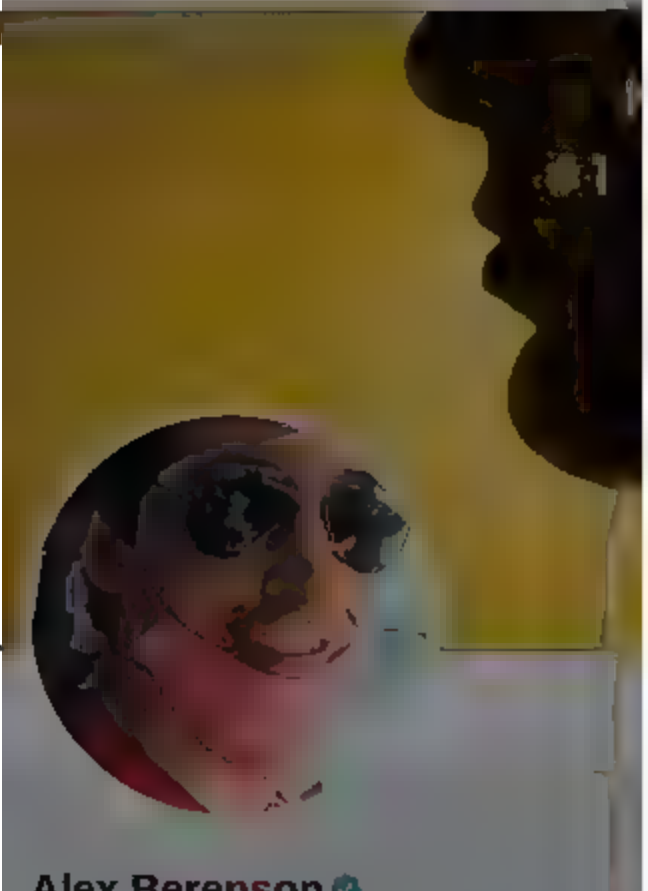
12 14 50



Nicon @Nemopunk15 · 4 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Thanks for pointing out once again that you can't quite follow the conversation at hand.

Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 4 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Violence is also more prevalent in poverty homes single mom. The sad thing is Alex wastes millions that could be spent helping the most vulnerable.

1

Man_on_a_farm @gulliver_trevor · 5 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Some examples of these in the field in a letter signed by 75 clinicians and scientists:
"Berenson cherry-picks data."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

the most popular recreational drug in the world.
A "must" read for everyone that can read or listen...I highly recommend the audio version

6 people found this helpful

Helpful Report

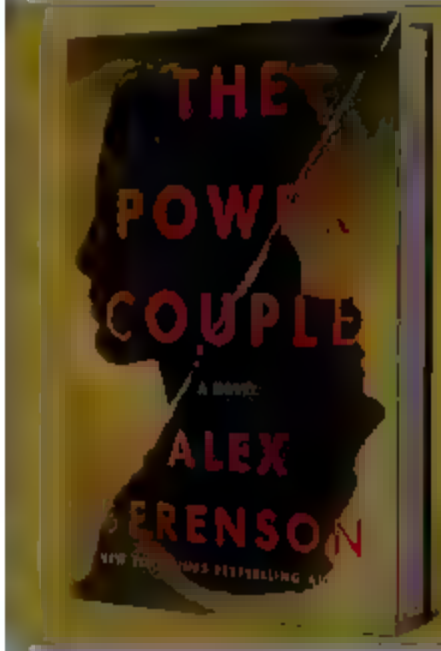
2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

In case you don't know who Dr. Di Forti is, here's a hint:

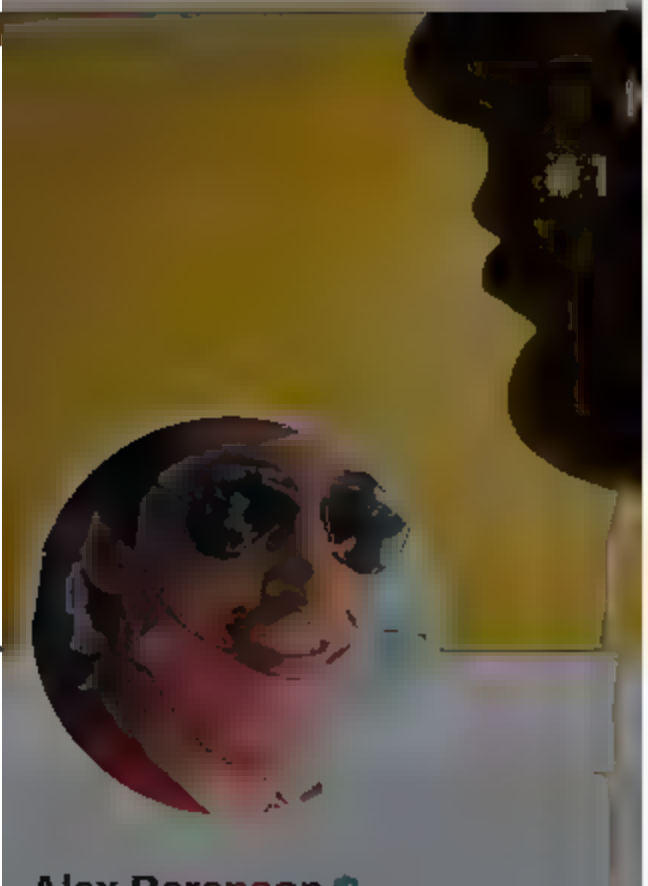
1:46 PM - 4 May 2019



1

Charles Finch @CharlesFinch · 4 May 2019

Replying to



The article (and all reasonable people) stipulate a link between certain specific kinds of cannabis use and psychosis. All broader claims are alarmist pseudoscience

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 May 2019

Nice to see the spirit of independent intellectual inquiry is alive and well. I suppose taking the 15 minutes required to read the introduction so you can judge it for yourself would be too tough...

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

True story, Charles. Dr. Nora Volkow and I are speaking together next month at an event on cannabis and mental illness in Boston. So you can believe "Zachwritesstuff," or the director of @ridanews. Totes your call. You might want to check out this review too.

‹ Tell Your Children: The Truth About Marijuana, Me...

Marta Di Forti

☆☆☆☆☆ Outstanding and engaging narrative

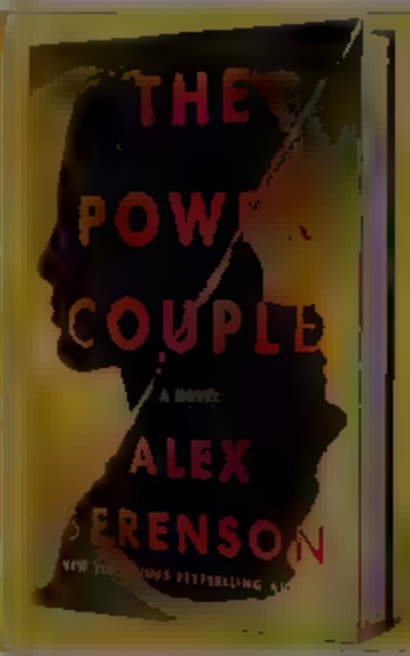
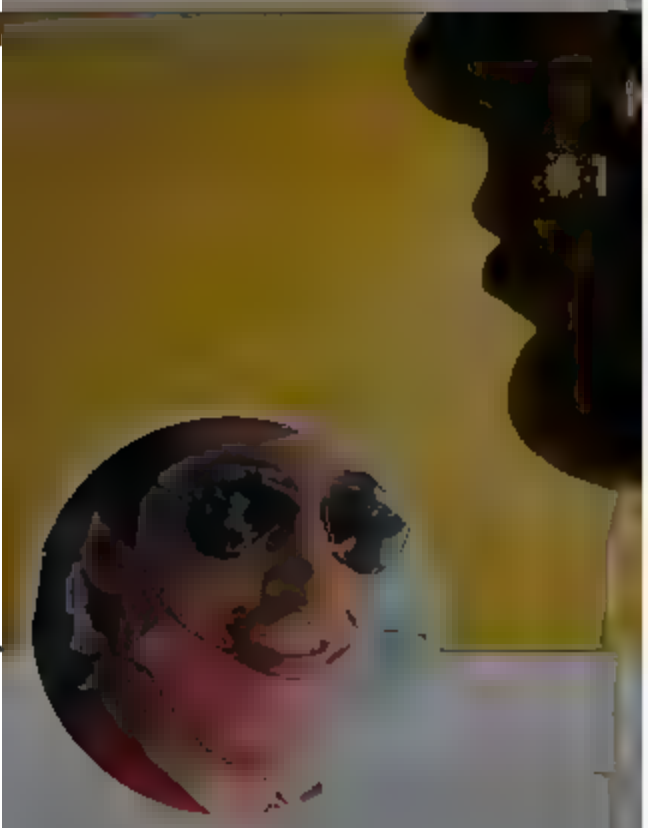
18 January 2019



Verified Purchase

This books is a rare and compelling combination of journalistic rigor, elegant writing and engaging style. A unique appraisal of the sociological and scientific facts feeding the never ending debate on the good and bad of the most popular recreational drug in the world.
A "must" read for everyone that can read or listen...I highly recommend the audio version

6 people found this helpful



Helpful Report

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Yes, but follow-on impact of reduced arrests (and employment/tax revenue) need to be in any serious cost/benefit analysis — as does assessment whether decrim delivers benefits at less cost than legalization. But ignoring profound harms of racialized arrests is very problemic

1 1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

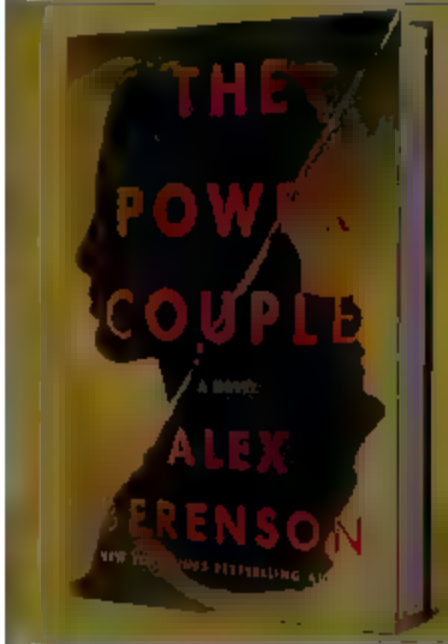
Replying to

Serious question (and I'm not baiting, I have a guess but don't know the answer) - have the legalized states seen any meaningful overall change in racial disparities in arrests or in their overall non-marijuana arrest rates (relative to the the rest of the US)?

6:31 AM - 4 May 2019

1

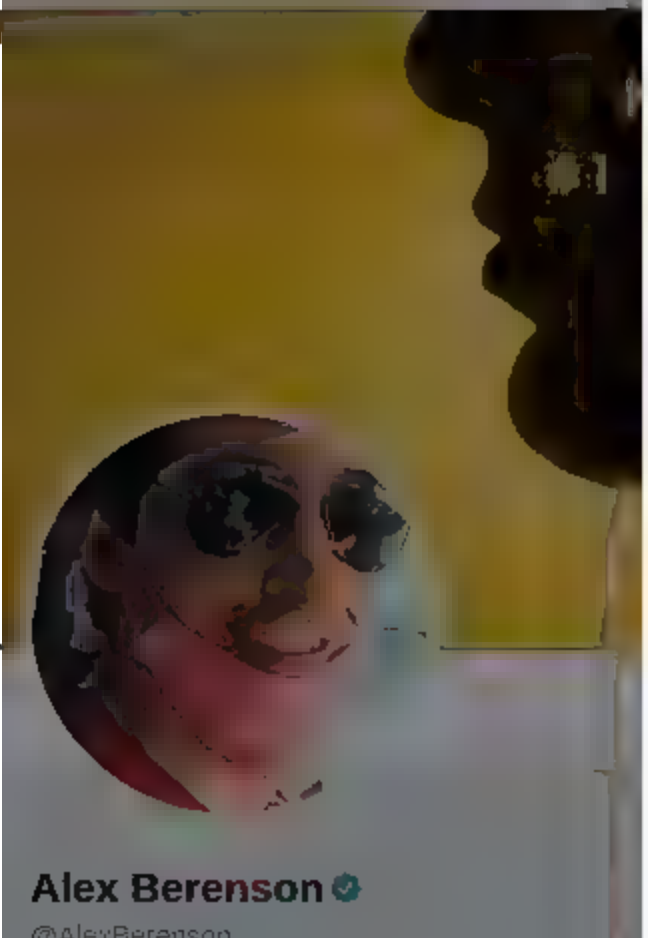
Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 4 May 2019
Replying to



Generally, MJ arrests go down for all after legalization but whites benefit most. So, disparity in MJ arrests persists (and may get worse), but every group benefits from fewer arrests. Racialized patterns even worse in some decrim settings, but data limited/dynamic.

1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 4 May 2019
Non-MJ arrest story even more complicated because of how legalization may attract new people to area AND how police change behaviors when the can no longer arrest (and stop and search and detail) based only on claim they smell MJ.



1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Charles Finch @CharlesFinch · 4 May 2019
Pass

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Nice to see the spirit of independent intellectual inquiry is alive and well. I suppose taking the 15 minutes required to read the introduction so you can judge it for yourself would be too tough...

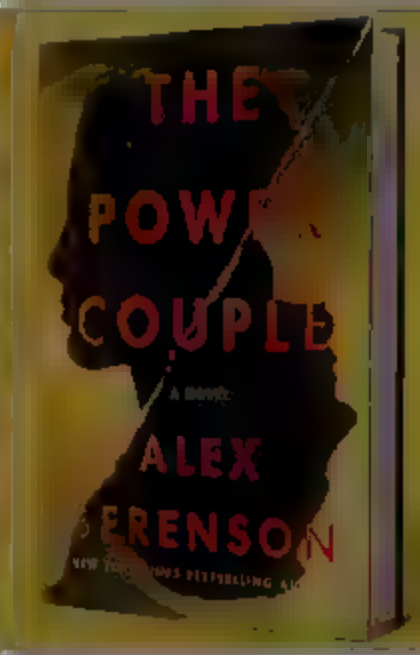
1:34 PM · 4 May 2019

1 Like

2 1

Charles Finch @CharlesFinch · 4 May 2019
Replying to
Reading discredited pseudoscience is not intellectual inquiry. This is the kind of foggy logic that sent you down this path. Turn back.

3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 May 2019
Replying to
True story, Charles. Dr. Nora Volkow and I are speaking together next month at an event on cannabis and mental illness in Boston. So you can believe "Zachwritesstuff," or the director of . Totes your call. You might want to check out this review too.

‹ Tell Your Children: The Truth About Marijuana, Me...

Marta Di Forti

☆☆☆☆☆ Outstanding and engaging narrative

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ To claim ending arrests is a positive is reductive; we could end arrests for murder by legalizing that too. (No, I'm NOT saying cannabis use is murder, merely that to claim that ending arrests is necessarily positive is silly. Ending arrests is the point of legalization...)

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

2/ The follow-on impacts are how we should judge its impact. Plus we could reduce arrests nearly as sharply (as you know, legalization doesn't fully end arrests) with decriminalization.

6:00 AM - 4 May 2019

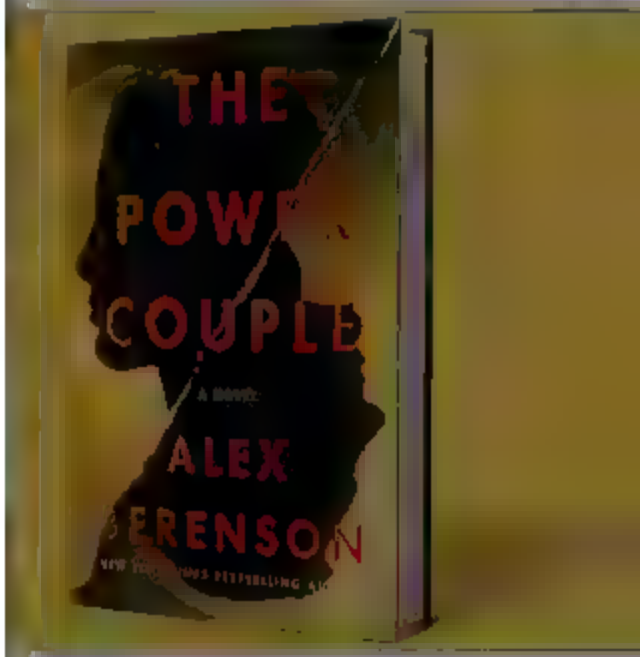
1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 4 May 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Yes, but follow-on impact of reduced arrests (and employment/tax revenue) need to be in any serious cost/benefit analysis — as does assessment whether decrim delivers benefits at less cost than legalization. But ignoring profound harms of racialized arrests is very problemic

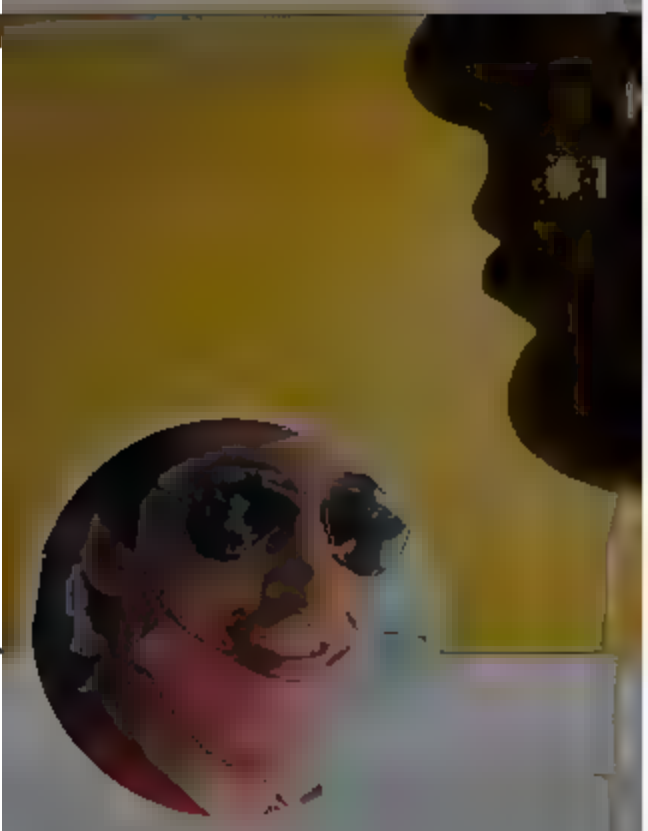
1 1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 May 2019

Serious question (and I'm not baiting, I have a guess but don't know the answer) - have the legalized states seen any meaningful overall change in racial disparities in arrests or in their overall non-marijuana arrest rates (relative to the the rest of the US)?

1



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 May 2019
Why stop at 23%? Go with 85! It sounds even more impressive and is just as accurate.

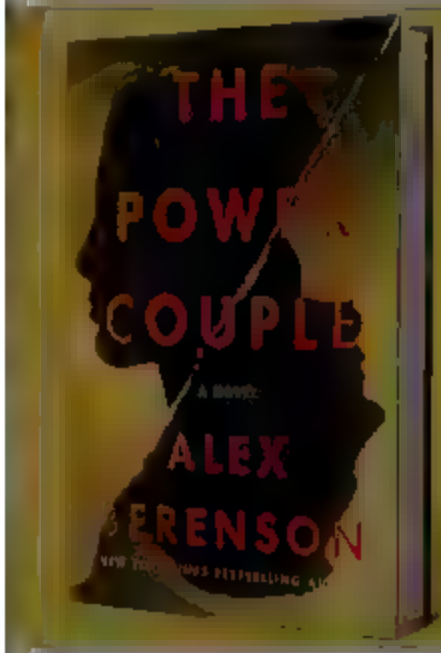
2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

And btw - very sorry to hear about your daughter. But her cancer has nothing to do with cannabis legalization. If someone's told you otherwise, they've lied to you.

4:05 PM - 3 May 2019



1

Jordan Scharphorn @SharpGoBlue · 4 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Its a real number... Also I never said her cancer had anything to do with marijuana... Why would assume that? = laws and death certificate data in all 50 states between the years of 1999 and 2010. During that time, only 13 states had medical marijuana laws in place. Researchers quickly noticed that the rates of fatal opioid overdoses were significantly lower in states that had legalized medical marijuana. In 2010 alone, states with legalized medical marijuana saw approximately 1,700 fewer opiate-related overdose deaths.

"We found there was about a 25 percent lower rate of prescription painkiller overdose

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 4 May 2019
It would be like saying show me benefits of raising the speed limit, but people getting places faster does not count.

2 1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

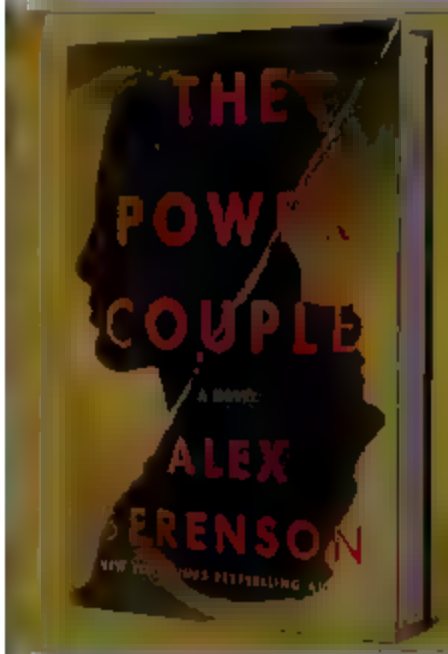
1/ To claim ending arrests is a positive is reductive; we could end arrests for murder by legalizing that too. (No, I'm NOT saying cannabis use is murder, merely that to claim that ending arrests is necessarily positive is silly. Ending arrests is the point of legalization...)

5:58 AM - 4 May 2019

3

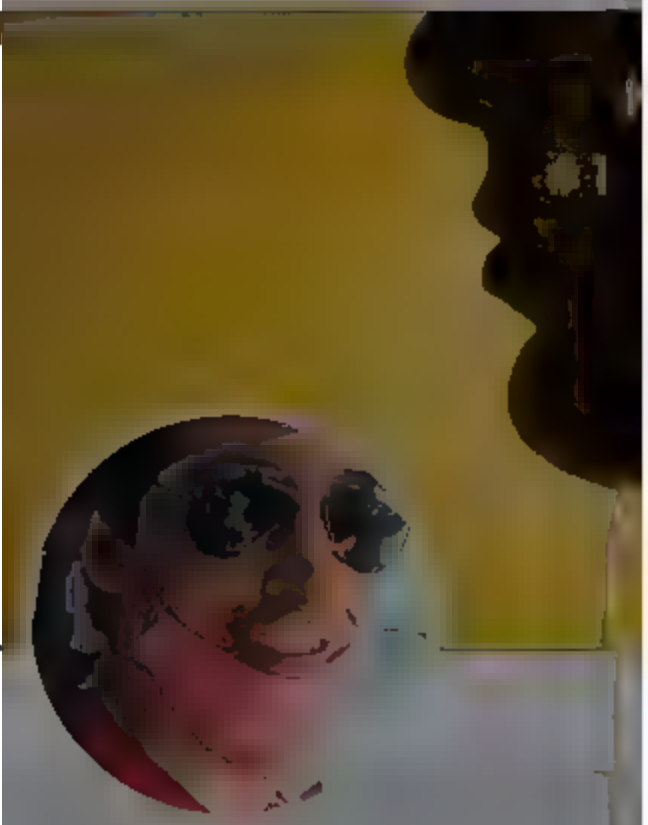
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 May 2019
Replying to

2/ The follow-on impacts are how we should judge its impact. Plus we could reduce arrests nearly as sharply (as you know, legalization doesn't fully end arrests) with decriminalization.



1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 4 May 2019
Yes, but follow-on impact of reduced arrests (and employment/tax revenue) need to be in any serious cost/benefit analysis — as does assessment whether decrim delivers benefits at less cost than legalization. But ignoring profound harms of racialized arrests is very problemic



1 1 1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 4 May 2019
Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

An interesting point here - I think this is a marginal case but worthy of discussion for reasons I promise to explain in a bit...

11:15 AM - 3 May 2019

2

Larry Roberts @LJRoberts73 · 3 May 2019
Replying to Pay da man

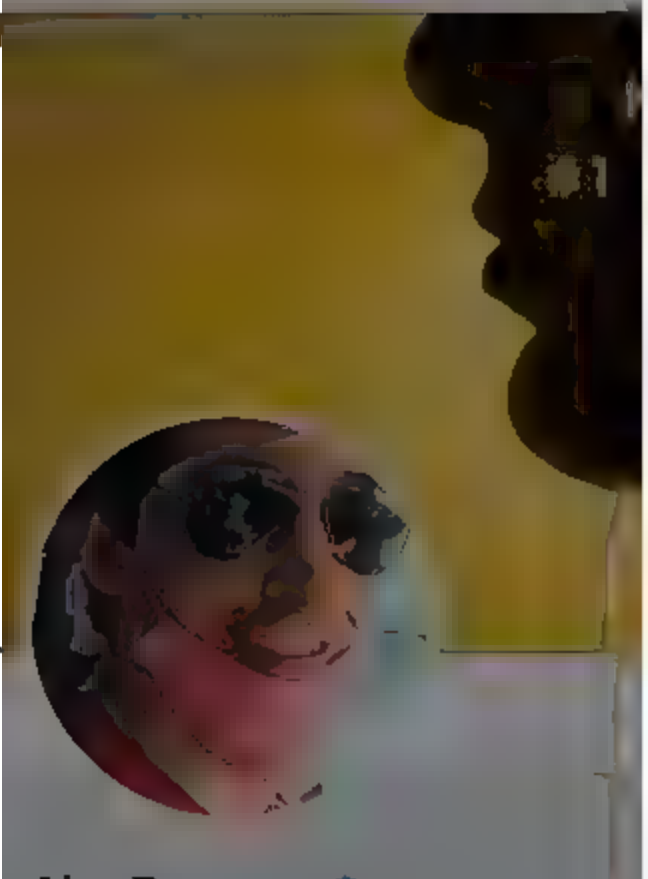
6

Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 5 May 2019
Replying to

Hi, Alex.

It's been a couple of days, and I feel like you owe the ACLU of Colorado $200.



Here's a link to the donation page.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Please donate the money Alex's Lemonade Stand, a charity helping the children and families affected by rare childhood cancers. They've been great with my daughter in our fight against hepatoblastoma.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

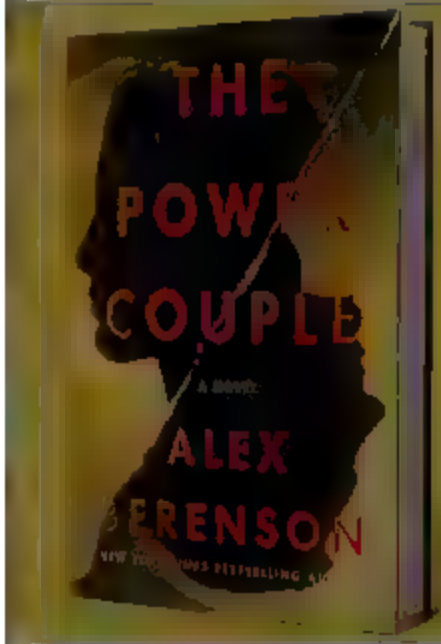
Why stop at 23%? Go with 85! It sounds even more impressive and is just as accurate.

4:03 PM - 3 May 2019

2

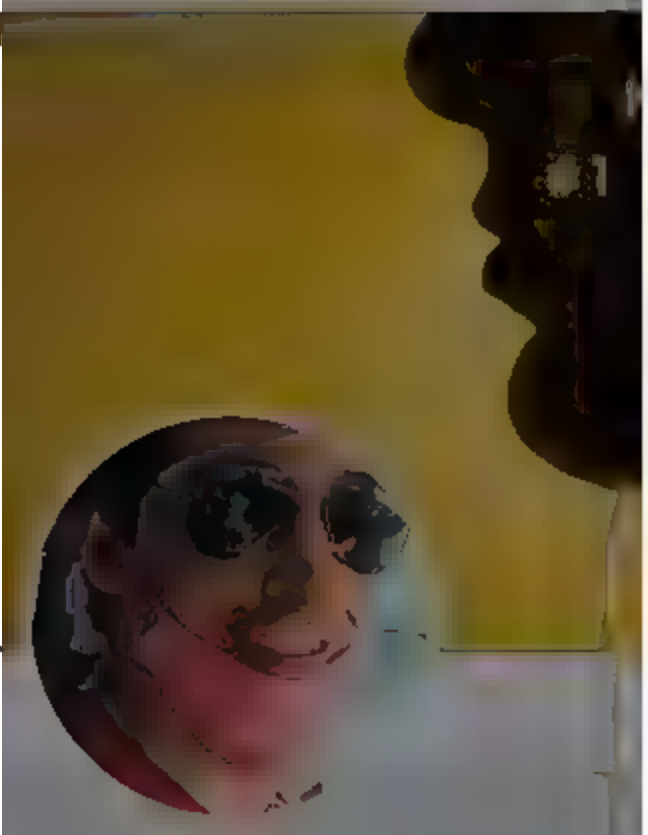
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 May 2019

Replying to



And btw - very sorry to hear about your daughter. But her cancer has nothing to do with cannabis legalization. If someone's told you otherwise, they've lied to you.

1



Jordan Scharphorn @SharpGoBlue · 4 May 2019

Its a real number... Also I never said her cancer had anything to do with marijuana... Why would assume that? = > laws and death certificate data in all 50 states between the years of 1999 and 2010. During that time, only 13 states had medical marijuana laws in place. Researchers quickly noticed that the rates of fatal opioid overdoses were significantly lower in states that had legalized medical marijuana. In 2010 alone, states with legalized medical marijuana saw approximately 1,700 fewer opiate-related overdose deaths.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

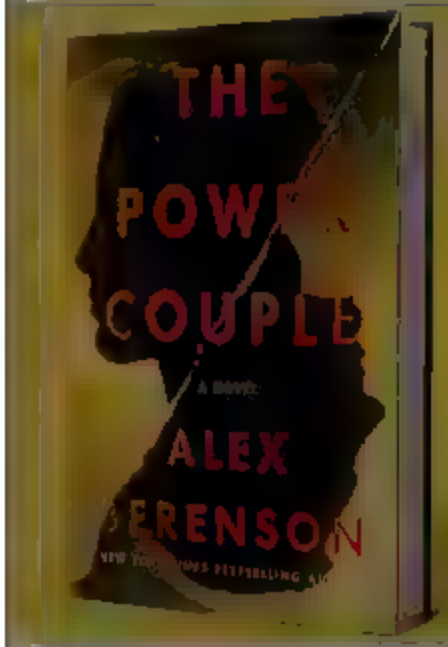
2 2 11

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

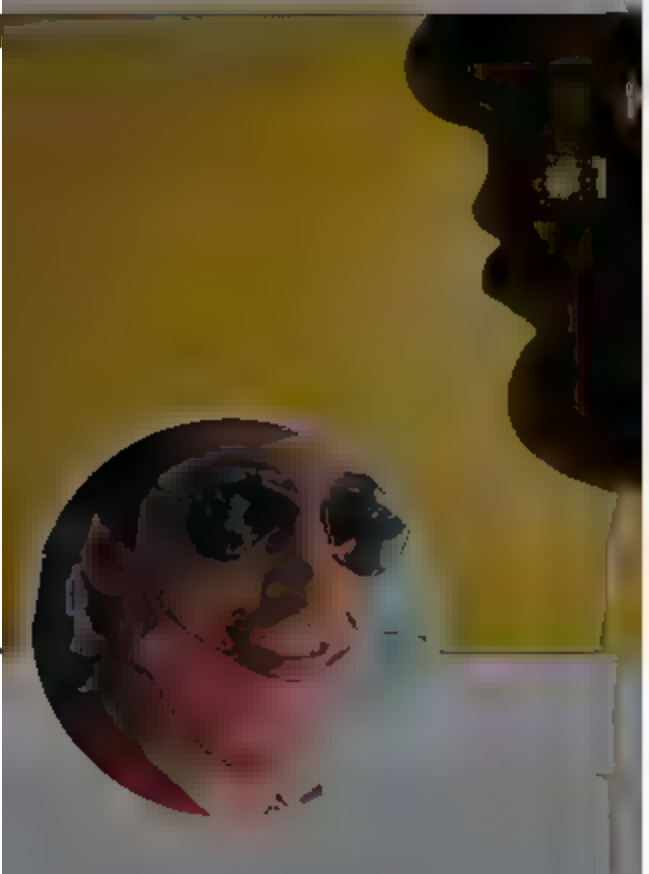
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Happy to have Simon & Schuster send a copy.



8:07 PM - 2 May 2019

1



Russell Roberts @EconTalker · 3 May 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Please send me a digital copy at russroberts at gmail dot com.

2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

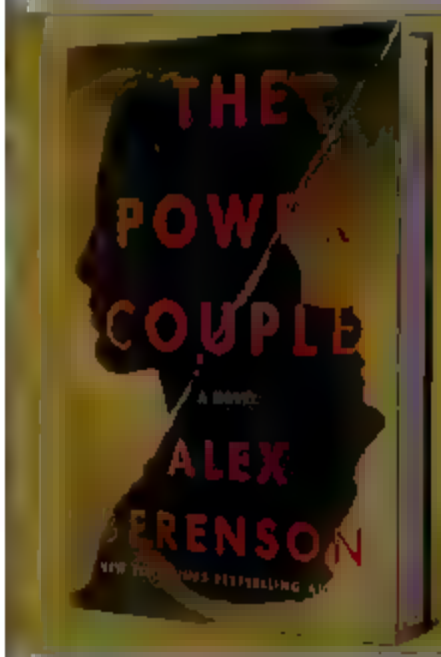
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

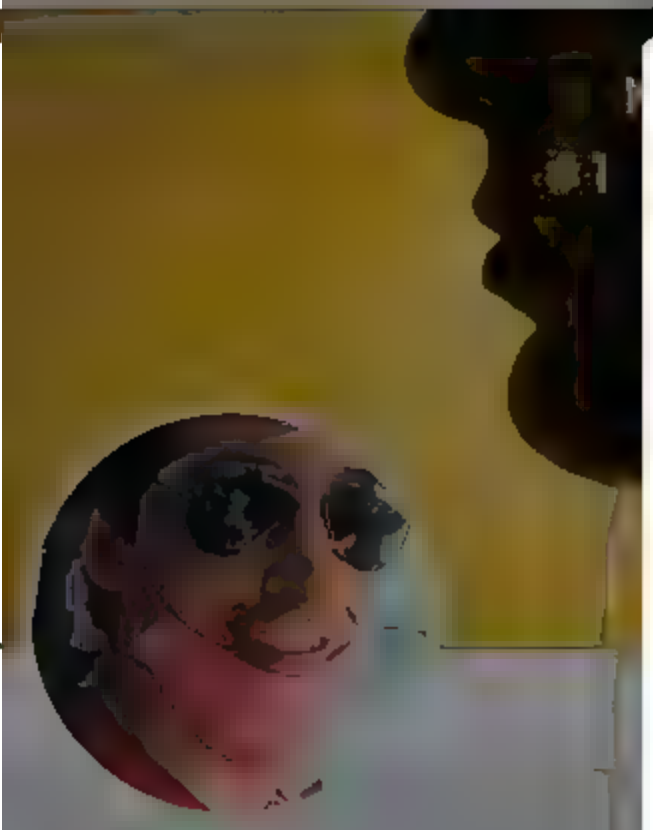
Doubling my offer to $200 for any positive finding about health or safety post-legalization. Come on, that's five ounces in Oregon. You can do it! (I shouldn't have to say this, but apparently I do - falling arrests for cannabis possession obviously don't count.)

Tweet

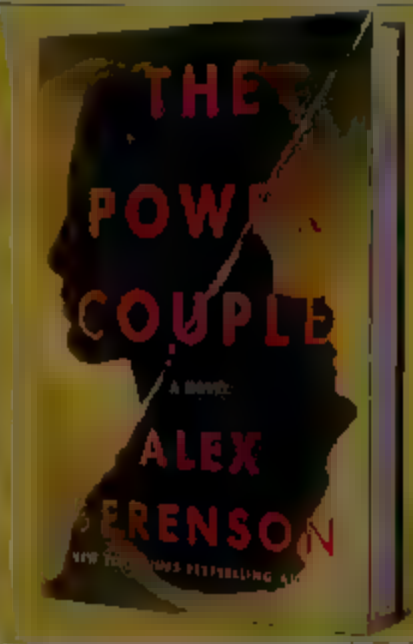


Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Contest time. I will donate $100 to the favorite charity of the first person to find a positive statistic related to health or safety post-legalization. To be clear: SECONDARY SOURCES SUCH AS RESEARCH PAPERS THAT CLAIM IMPROVEMENTS DON'T COUNT. The data has to be primary source.



5/2/19, 9:56 AM



7:25 AM - 3 May 2019

6 Retweets 14 Likes

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Jesse Eisinger @eisingerj · 2 May 2019

Can someone help me find a single verifiable assertion in this Corporate Jargon Jello Salad?

> Intuit @Intuit
>
> Replying to @xzr56 @JustinElliott and 3 others
>
> As a founding member of the Free File Alliance, we're committed to IRS Free File's shared goals of growing the program and providing more free tax filings to those that need it most. intuit.me/2PRFNfz

4 1 9

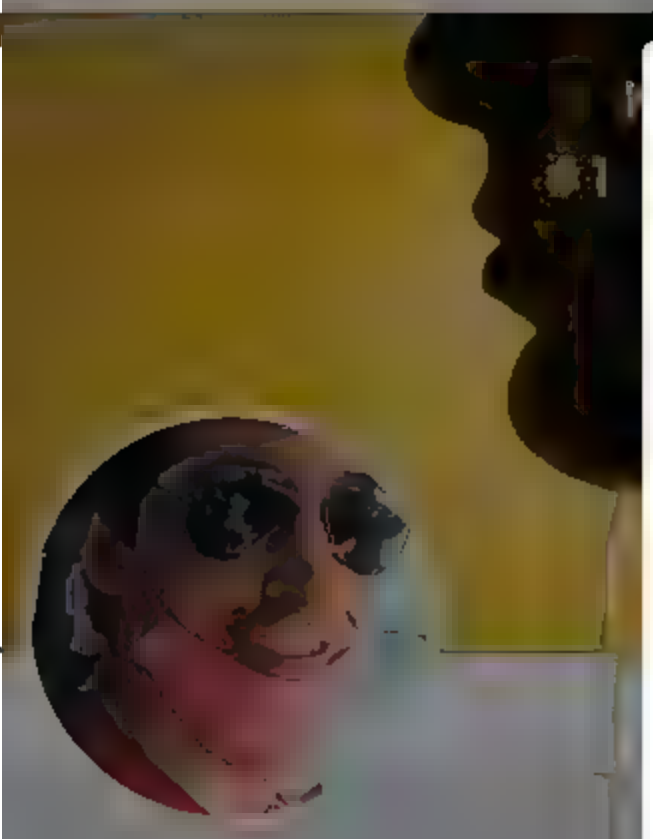
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

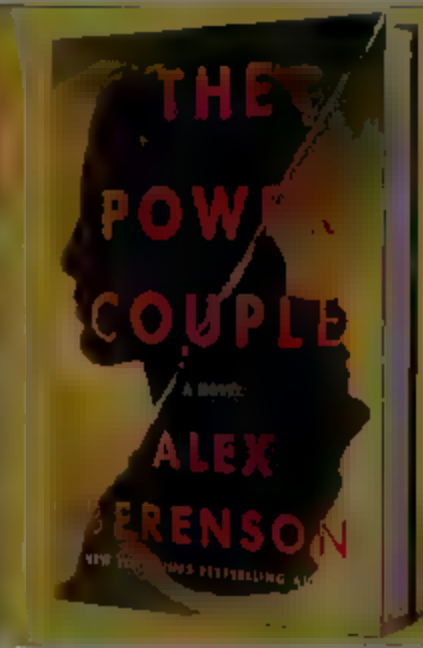
"Those that need it most" suggests they'll be all in favor of free filing. With a reasonable income limitation. Like $500 taxable income a year.

5:13 AM - 3 May 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Jeez, cook one meal and nobody calls you a chef but take a lousy hundred and fifty K from the fentanyl lollipop company and you never hear the end of it...

7:41 PM - 2 May 2019

1 Retweet 7 Likes

1 1 7

redted72 @aa1987na · 2 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Hehehehe

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

unsurprisingly, he never mentions that. What's it like to be on the same side as the most evil and sick people in the 4 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ If only my good friend @ZivKoopen could say the same...

ucla.academia.edu

	Award
2010	American College of Neuropsychopharmacology Trav
2011	NIDA Early Career Investigator Award to participate i
	Addiction Research," a NIDA-sponsored annual meeti
2014	Drug and Alcohol Dependence Editorial Fellowship
2015	National Hispanic Science Network on Drug Abuse Si
	Development Travel Fellowship
2016	National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Me
	Appointment to the Committee on the Health Consequ
2018	National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Me and Entertainment Exchange, Directors Retreat. One chosen by the NASEM to meet with 12 elite Hollywood provide insight into the most timely scientific topics

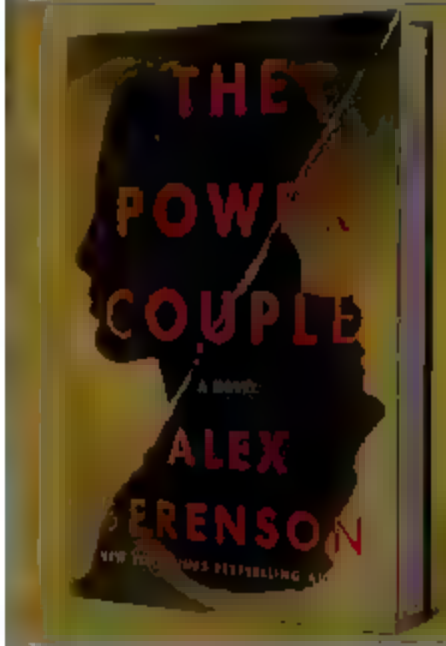
RESEARCH GRANTS AND FELLOWSHIPS RECEIVED:

Present Support:



2014 – 2019	Pharmacotherapies for Cannabis Use Disorder
	(U54 DA037842)
	Role: Investigator (Overall PI: Dr. Levin, Project PI: D
	Annual direct support: $291,036
2015 - 2018	Pilot study: Effect of nabilone on trauma-related cue r users with PTSD
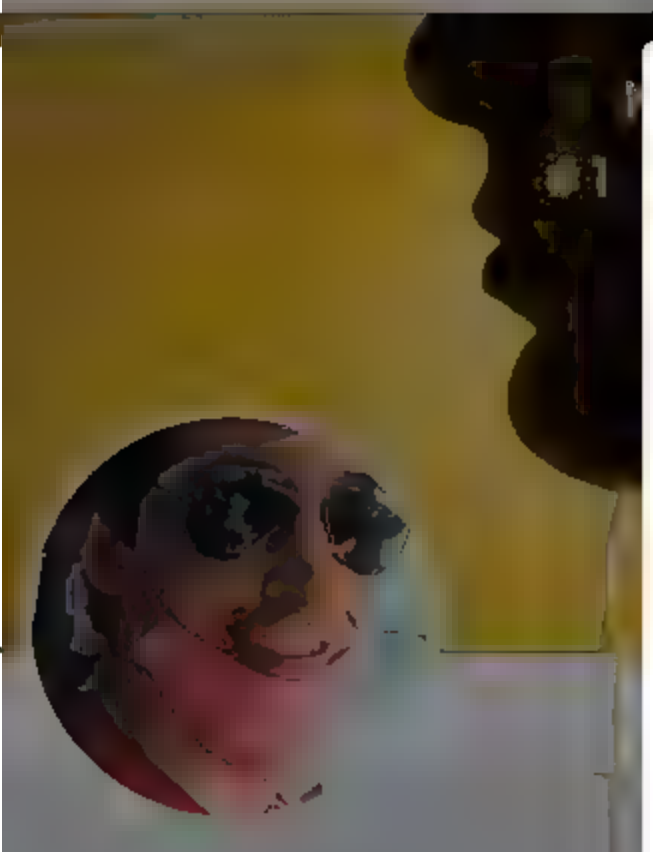
	(U54 DA037842)
	Role: Principal Investigator (Overall U54 PI: Dr. Levi
	Total direct support: $40,000
2015 - 2018	Characterization of the analgesic effects of oral cannal

5:37 PM - 2 May 2019

7 Likes

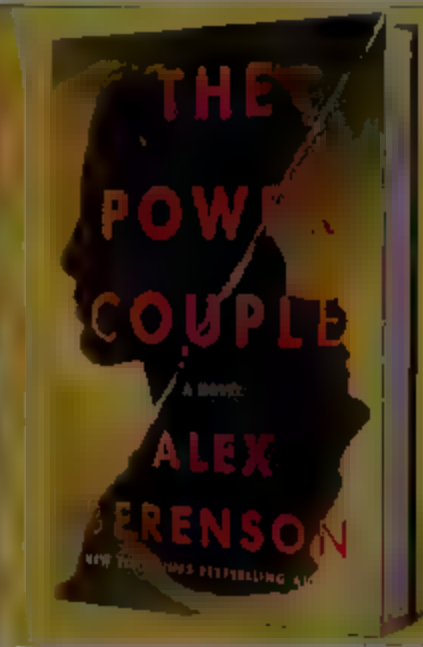


6 7

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 2 May 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

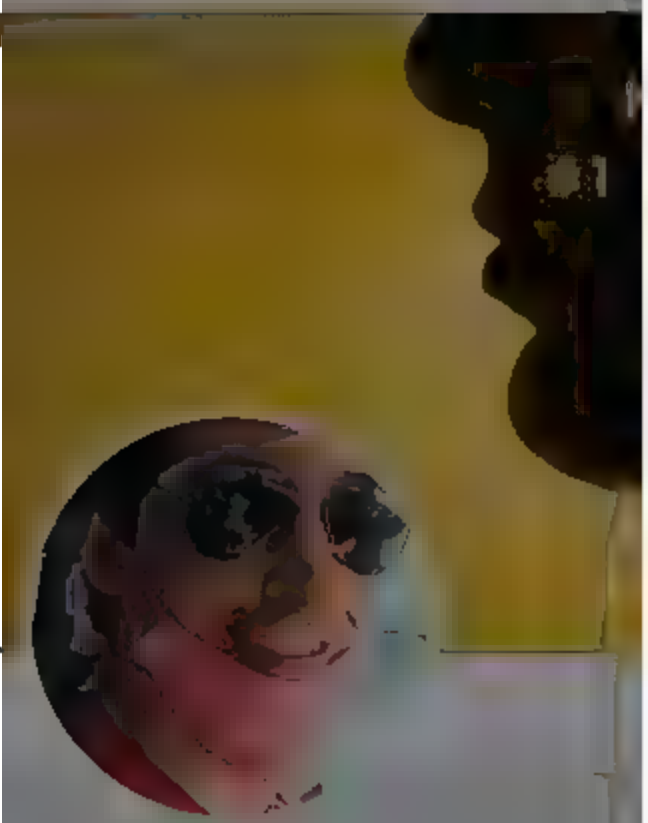
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

1/ You know who has two thumbs and has never taken a dime from Insys or any drug company? This guy!

More replies

This Tweet is not available because you've muted the person who sent it. View



Mad Dom 1989 @MadDom19891 · 48m
Replying to @AlexBerenson
Yes, beware of companies making opioids, they're fighting against legalization. They donate money to causes that Alex supports, unsurprisingly, he never mentions that. What's it like to be on the same side as the most evil and sick people in the

5:36 PM - 2 May 2019

6 Likes

4 6

Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 2 May 2019
2/ If only my good friend could say the same...

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

leveling off.

2

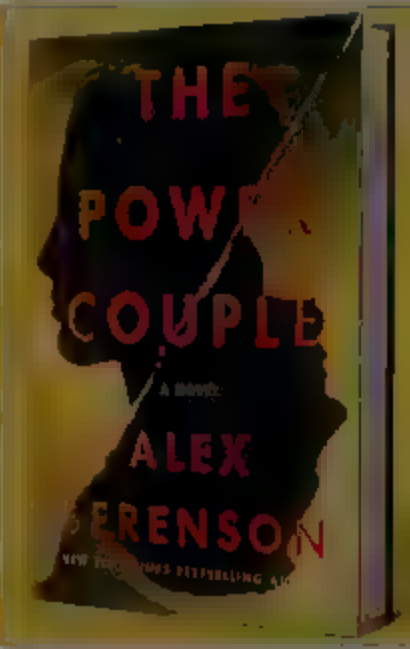
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Erm. Per the chart, overdose deaths are up about 25% in Denver since legal dispensaries began to open on 1/1/2014. Can't call that a positive statistic.

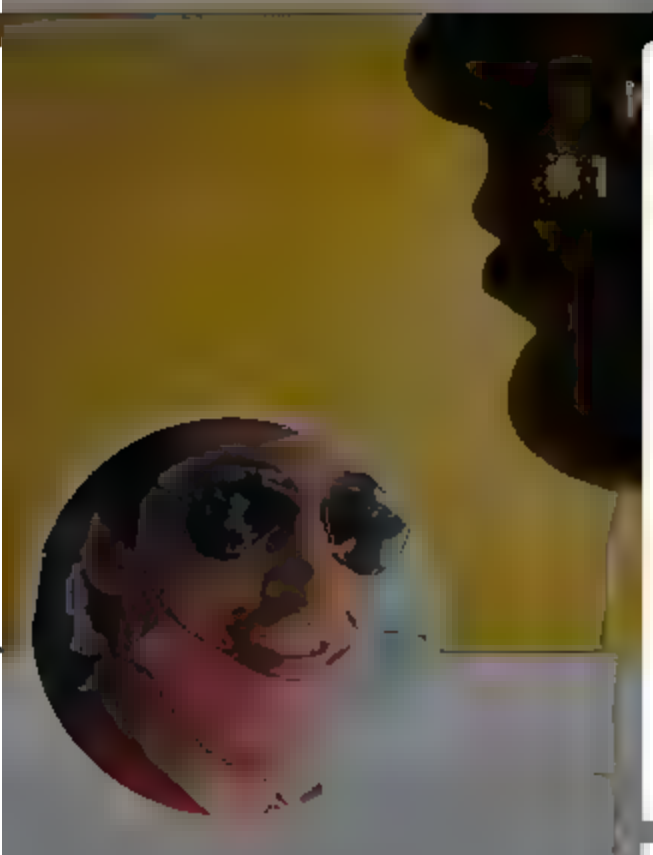
5:08 PM - 2 May 2019

3 Likes

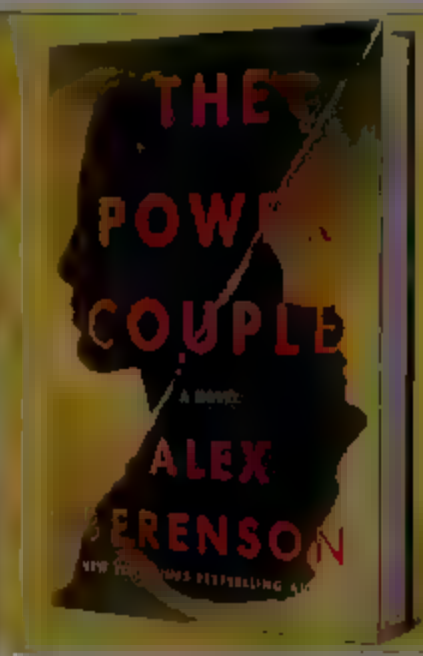


2 3

Protect NY @NyHealthy · 2 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Oh. Never mind.



1



Gothic Prophet @gothicprophet · 3 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Per the chart, there are no Cannabis deaths

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Cannabis executives beware

> U.S. Attorney MA ✓ @DMAnews1
> John Kapoor - guilty
> Show this thread

4:41 PM - 2 May 2019

1 Retweet 8 Likes

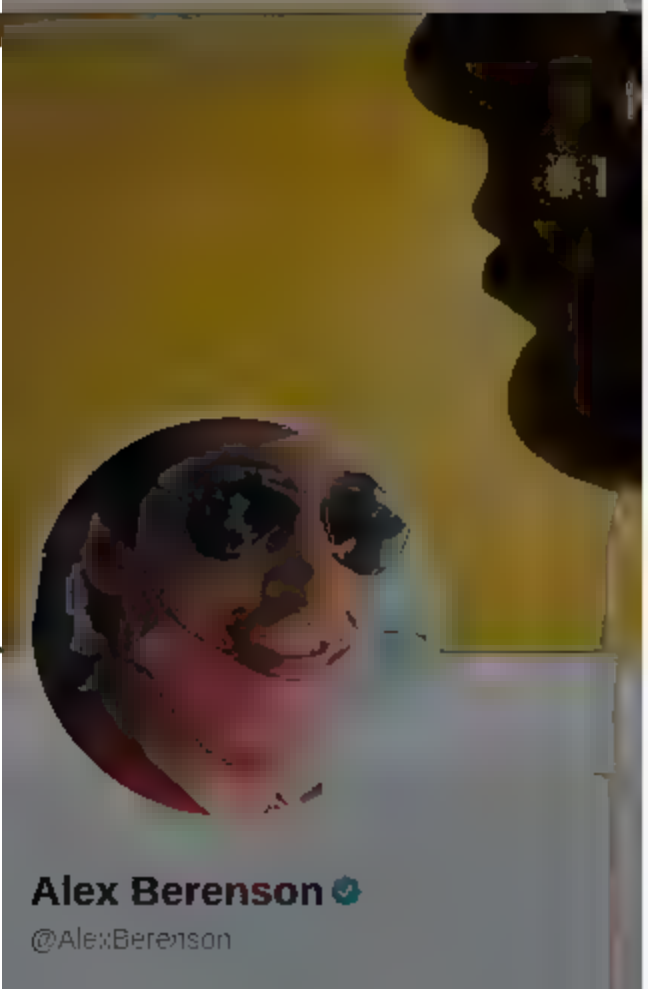
2 1 8

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

positive statistic related to health or safety post-legalization. To be clear: SECONDARY SOURCES SUCH AS RESEARCH PAPERS THAT CLAIM IMPROVEMENTS DON'T COUNT. The data has to be primary source.

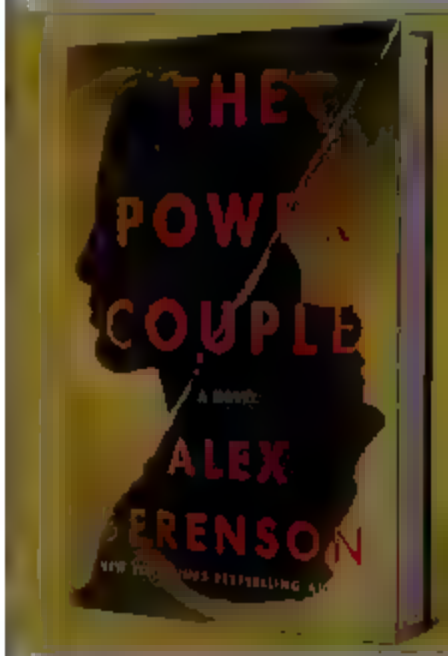
10 2 13

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.

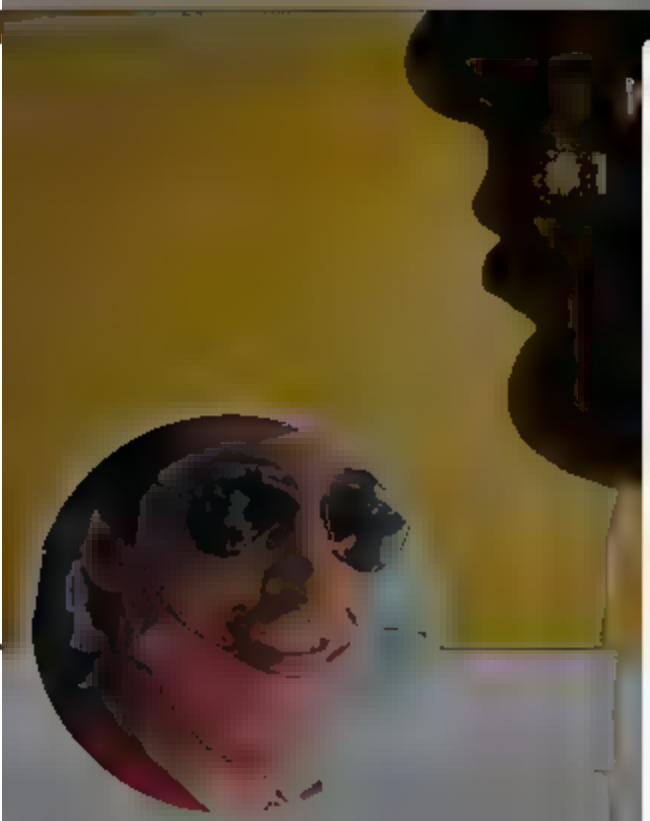
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

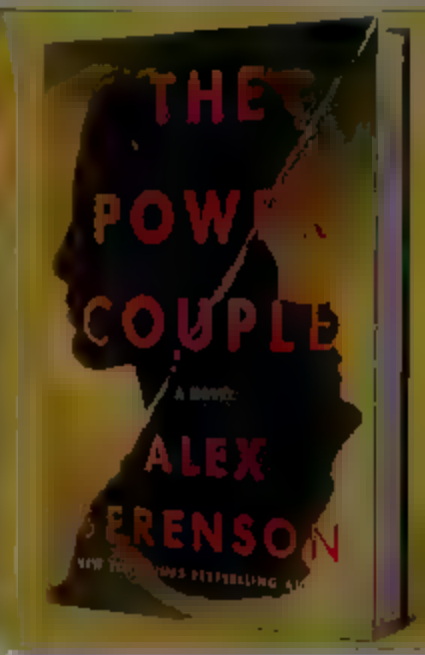


The number of daily/near-daily drinkers has risen nationally in the last 15 years even as the number of daily/near-daily cannabis users has tripled. Either heavy alcohol users are using both together or we have created a new group of cannabis users.

3:57 PM - 2 May 2019



3 Likes



3

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Is that @adambierman - which happens to be the name of a CEO of a publicly traded company with a (for now) $1 billion-plus market cap - taking time from his busy day to "like" a troll's "go fuck yourself" tweet to me? Sure looks that way. Hi, Adam!

Liked

Carlito @CarlitoYggdrasil 37m
Hey Alex, go fuck yourself.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Turns out the only thing more annoying than cannabis trolls filling my timeline is cannabis trolls filling my timeline in Swedish. Stum. Stum, I say!
>
> Berätta för dina barn...

Adam Bierman
@adambierman Follows you

12:53 PM - 2 May 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

5 2 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

12 1 19

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

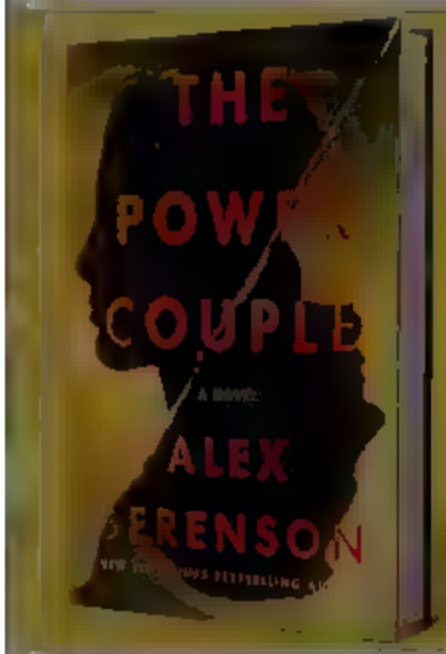
seems some are...

11:47 AM - 2 May 2019

1

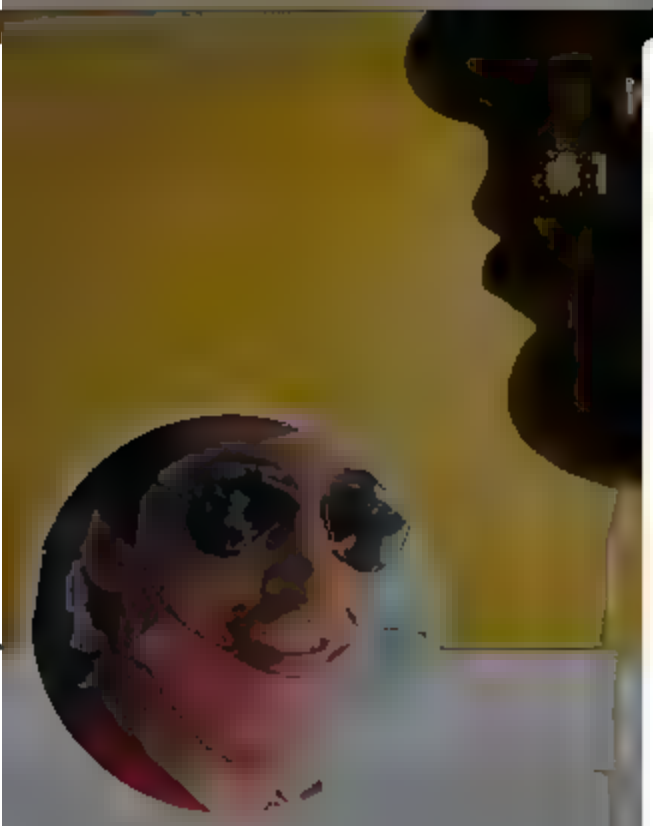
This Tweet is unavailable.

mcdan_21 @21Mcdan · 2 May 2019
Is that so? Here's a nice source of information, from february 2019, with [redacted] president Lennart Karlsson, sitting quietly whilst being absolutely whipped by experts. Don't worry, I'll for sure tell everyone about your refurbished Gore-files.



This media may contain sensitive material. [redacted] View

1 1 14

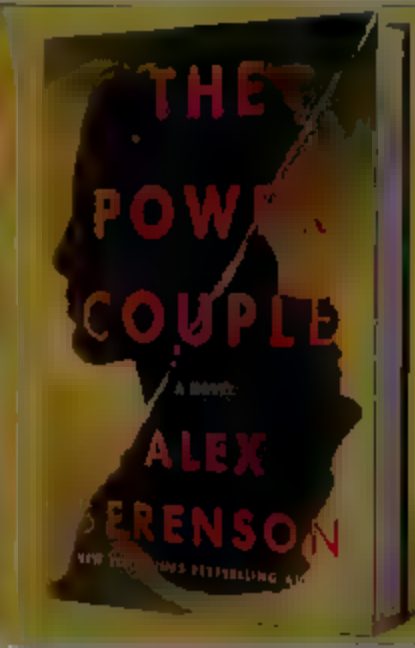


[redacted]

Cannabis Knowledge @Canna_Knowledge · 2 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Everyone who has read about it, and doesn't have their livelyhood connected to the criminalization, but unfortunately that number isn't high.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Contest time. I will donate $100 to the favorite charity of the first person to find a positive statistic related to health or safety post-legalization. To be clear: SECONDARY SOURCES SUCH AS RESEARCH PAPERS THAT CLAIM IMPROVEMENTS DON'T COUNT. The data has to be primary source.

6:56 AM - 2 May 2019

2 Retweets 13 Likes

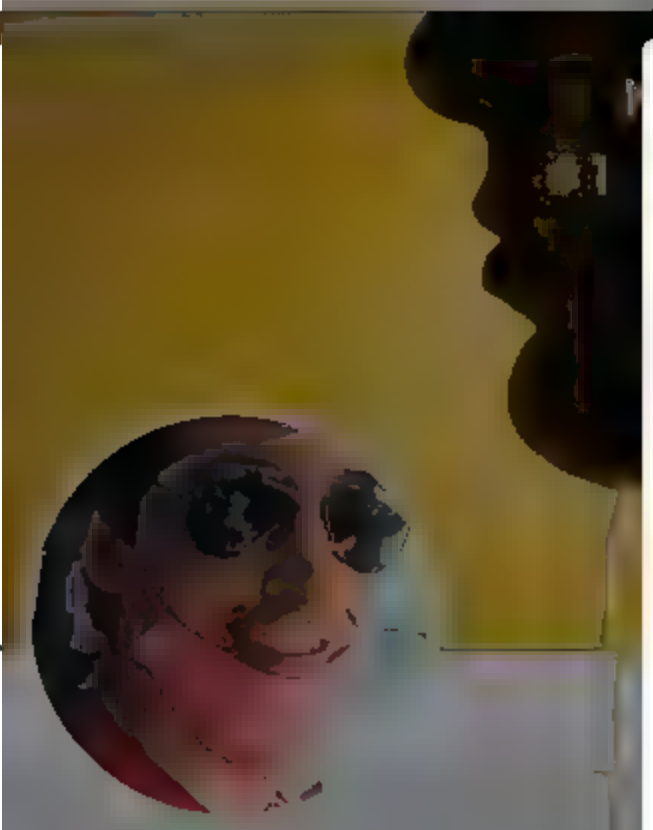
10 2 13

JT_in_LA @JT_in_LA · 2 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Man a hundred bucks. Way to step up there. Guess bashing marijuana isn't paying the bills anymore.



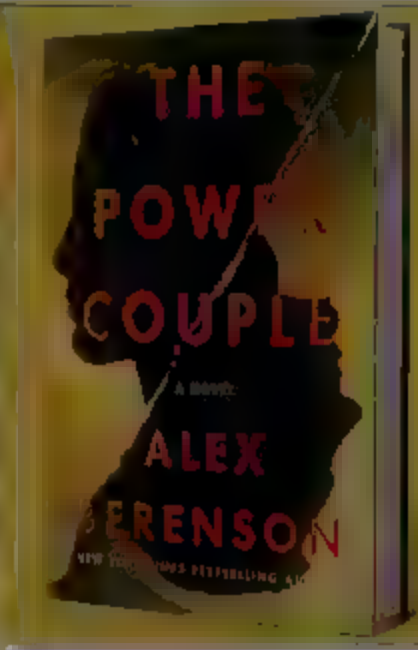
1

ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 2 May 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Can't wait to hear from @MarkARKleiman I asked him for any positive public health outcomes from Colorado post legalization but didn't hear back. Maybe your incentive will be the charm!

1

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Turns out the only thing more annoying than cannabis trolls filling my timeline is cannabis trolls filling my timeline in Swedish. Stum. Stum, I say!

Berätta för dina barn...

11:37 AM - 2 May 2019

1 Retweet 19 Likes

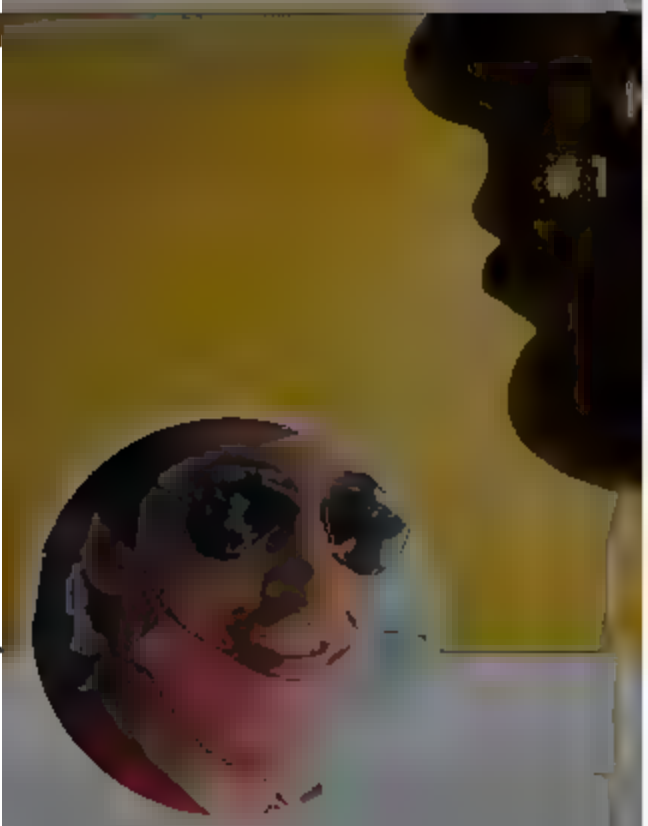
12 1 19

Andy Schwarz @andyhre · 2 May 2019
Replying to
I bet if they added an air horn it'd be even more annoying.

1 1



This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 May 2019
seems some are...

1

infinite rest @wyspace · 2 May 2019
Replying to
You invited people to reply bro.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

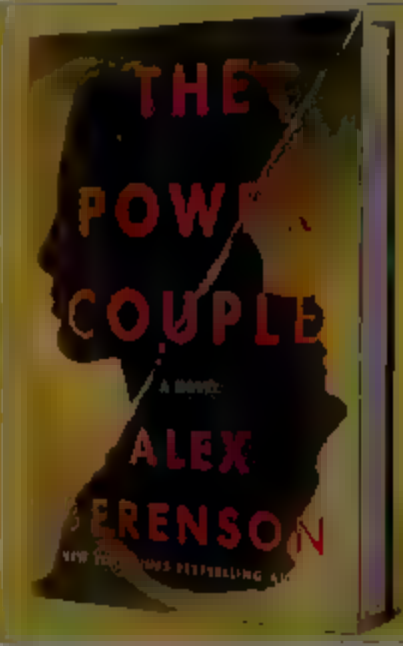
New York

Joined November 2009

11 7 40

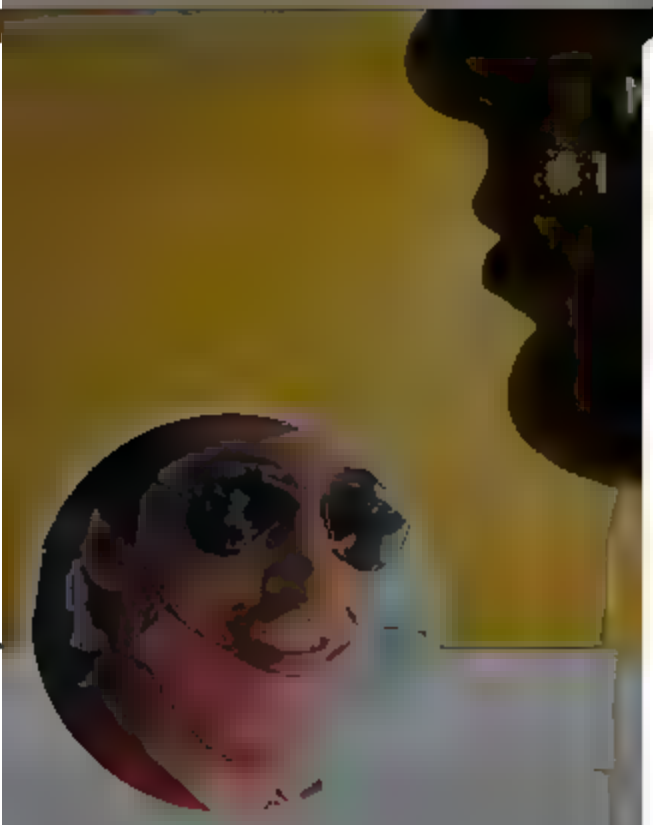
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

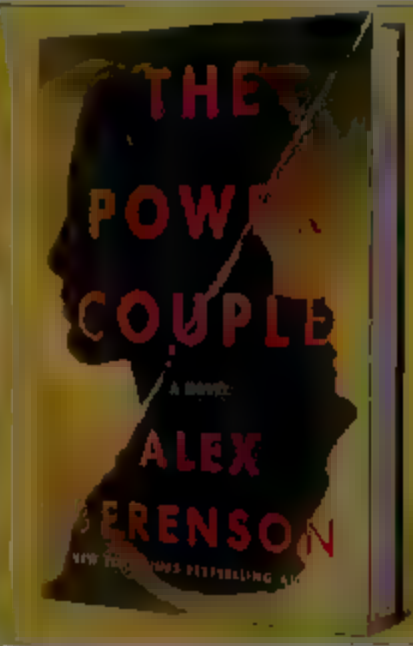


And in this interview last week he essentially argues that cocaine is not addictive and says he's planning to move somewhere he can use drugs without legal concerns.

ketamine. But while he continues to advocate for common-sense, evidence-based drug reform, Hart's vision of the future isn't particularly sunny.



"Ideally, we would have a wide range of psychoactive substances available for purchase," he says. "So that adults could buy them from stores that are regulated. Where there's quality control. I don't know if that will happen in the United States in my lifetime, so I'm making plans to move somewhere that has at least decriminalized drugs. I have no interest in staying in a country where I can't get the psychoactive substances I like to have. I'm a neuropsychopharmacologist. I've given out



1:09 PM - 1 May 2019

3 Retweets 13 Likes

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

David Leonhardt @DLeonhardt · 1 May 2019
I think you missed the joke.

> Dan McLaughlin @baseballcrank
> There are Takes, and then there's "don't trust this guy because he went to the same prominent Manhattan high school as one other bad person." twitter.com/DLeonhardt/sta…

2 2 27

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

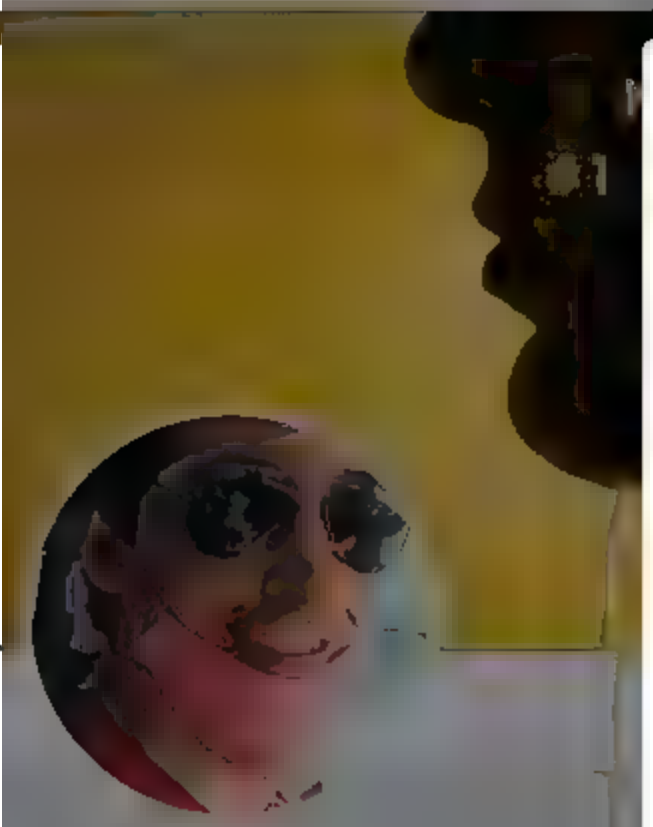
That Horace Mann is in the Bronx?

6:34 PM - 1 May 2019

2 Likes

1 2

Jacob Buchdahl @JBuchdahl · 1 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I guess HM isn't sufficiently prominent



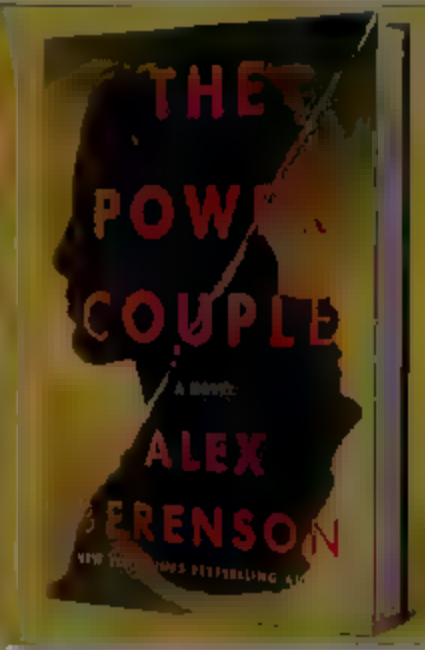
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Thrilled to report that Tell Your Children has now sold more than 20,000 copies at retail! (Not counting many thousands of bulk sales, library purchases, etc.) Thanks to everyone out there who spread the word. Sooner or later the truth always wins. #pushback

11:43 AM - 1 May 2019

7 Retweets 44 Likes

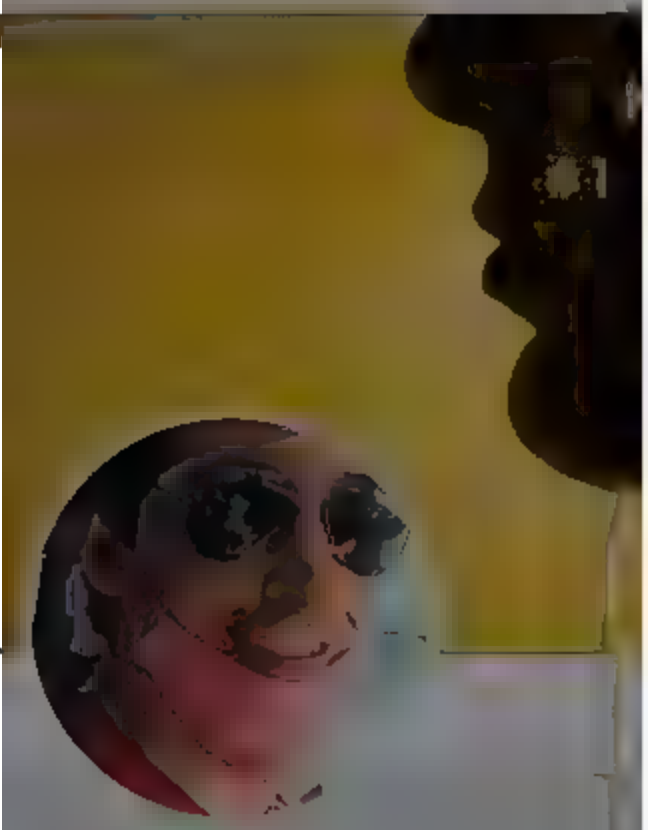
12 7 44



PediPsych @pedipsych · 1 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Congrats! Quite an achievement.

1

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 1 May 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You might get caught up to my book sales. Keep plugging. Of course, science affirms my premise while repudiating yours, so theres that.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2. Citing increases is fine but that's not how we evaluate policy. The question is what happens when you control for secular trends? Did those states OD rate/ opioid prescription rate increase less than it would have otherwise. That's what we should be looking for...

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

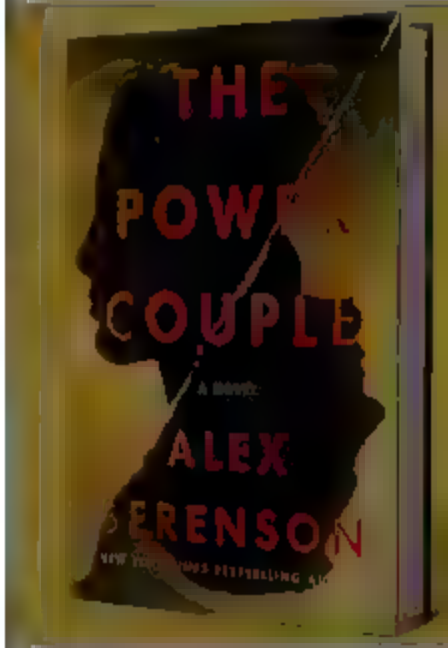
So here's how this goes. Krasner says something untrue. I tell you it's untrue. You ask me to prove it. I prove it. Instead of admitting you were wrong, you don't. I'm so bored of arguing with people who can't admit the truth.

4:49 PM - 30 Apr 2019

1

Abraham Gutman @abgutman · 30 Apr 2019

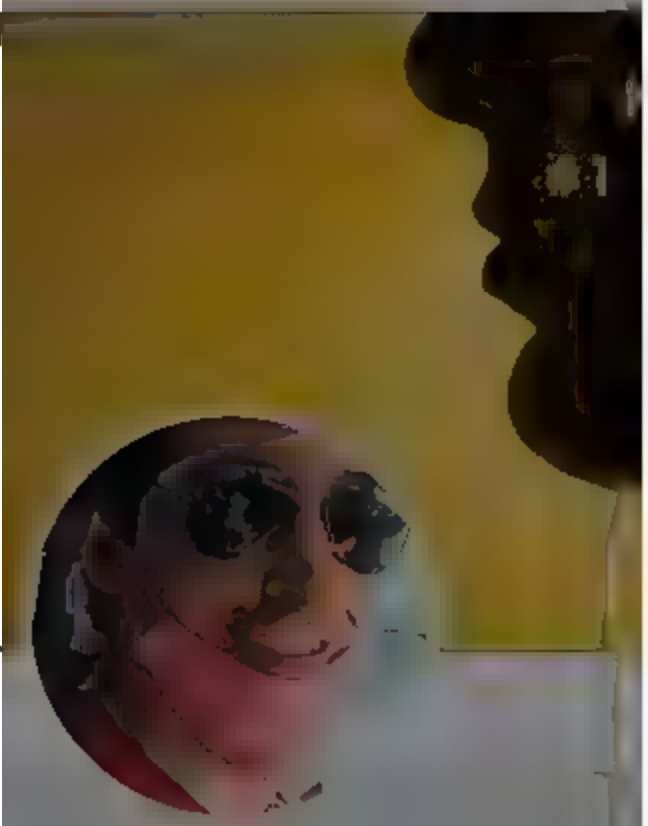
Replying to



Alex, I thought we are having a conversation. Due respect, you didn't "prove" anything. You said that it's untrue again, and I countered — what's not legitimate about that? Just like I shouldn't take Krasner's word for it, I shouldn't take yours. Show your work like everyone.

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 30 Apr 2019



I am tired of talking to people who don't respect the truth. Krasner said legalization lowers opioid deaths. You backed him. CDC data shows the reverse. More people are dying. To lie over that is not just bad public policy. It is dishonoring the dead. There's nothing else to say.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex, I thought we are having a conversation. Due respect, you didn't "prove" anything. You said that it's untrue again, and I countered — what's not legitimate about that? Just like I shouldn't take Krasner's word for it, I shouldn't take yours. Show your work like everyone.

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

I am tired of talking to people who don't respect the truth. Krasner said legalization lowers opioid deaths. You backed him. CDC data shows the reverse. More people are dying. To lie over that is not just bad public policy. It is dishonoring the dead. There's nothing else to say.

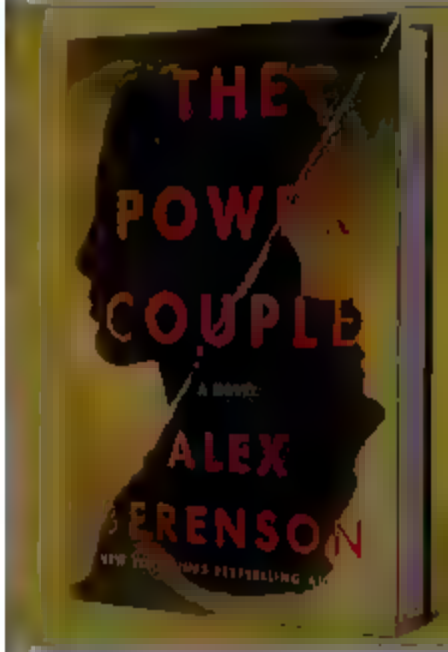
5:02 PM - 30 Apr 2019

1

Abraham Gutman @abgutman · 30 Apr 2019

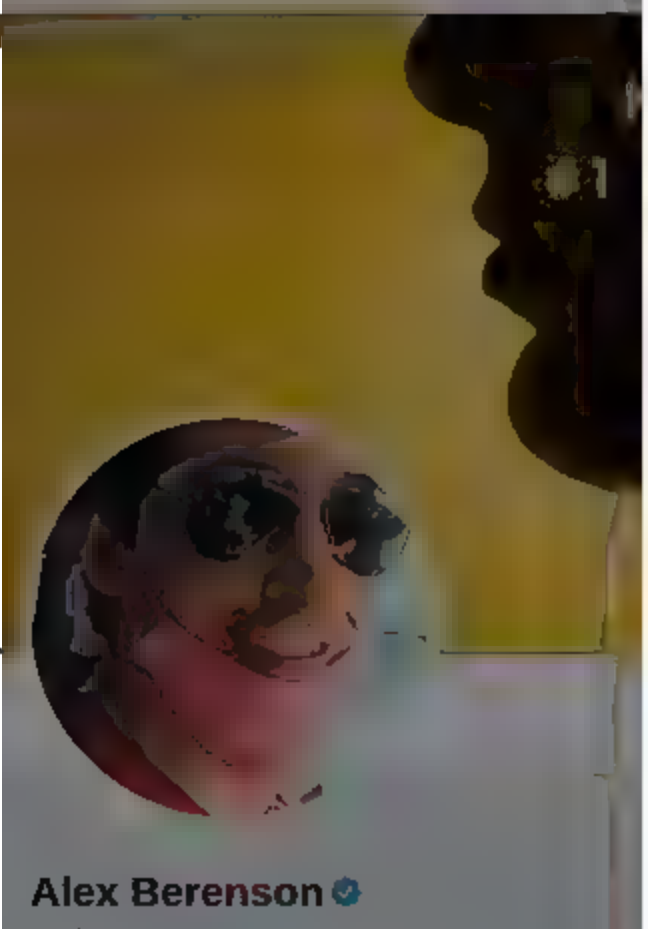
Replying to

You chose to become an anti-cannabis evangelist, now you are upset when people have questions. The link to CDC doesn't prove your point. I'm sorry. Show me a study that associates legalization to increased OD or prescription. "Alex said so" isn't correction worthy.



1

Abraham Gutman @abgutman · 30 Apr 2019



Also you don't know me or my life and shame of you for saying that by wanting to take time to explore the truth and data I disrespect people who died of overdose. I've been nothing but respectful to you and engaging. You are frustrated? Log off and take it on someone else.

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

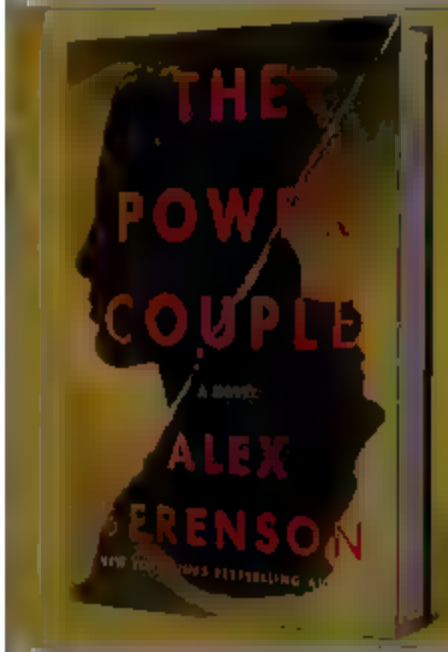
mechanism. The key feature of a medical marijuana law that facilitates a reduction in overdose death rates is a relatively liberal allowance for dispensaries. As states have become more stringent in their regulation of dispensaries, the protective value generally has fallen. These findings suggest that broader access to medical marijuana facilitates substitution of marijuana for powerful and addictive opioids.

2 13

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 30 Apr 2019

Okay, let's go through this on a couple of levels. 1) Krasner said "legalization." That term is generally used to mean full recreational legalization - not medical marijuana laws. (And in fact PA already has an MMJ law - if that's all Krasner wants he doesn't need to ask.)

3



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

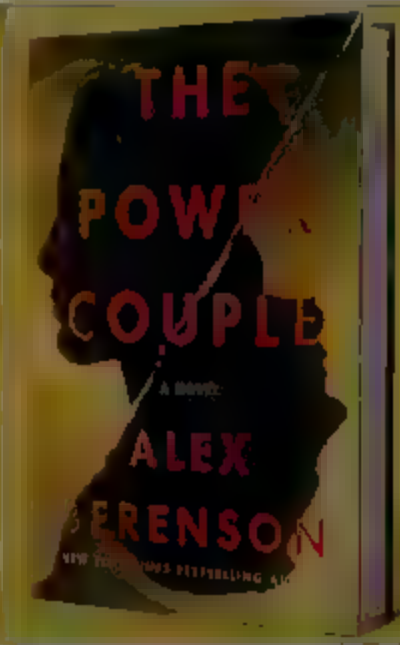
Replying to

3) Don't believe me? cdc.gov/nchs/nvss/vsrr . . . This stuff is too important to guess about. Or be wrong. Now we can talk about MMJ laws - as I do in the book - and the math is a little more complex, but the claim that deaths are down at all is just as untrue.

3:52 PM - 30 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

So Larry Krasner - the @phladao - goes before the PA legislature and says - falsely - that opioid deaths have fallen in states that have legalized cannabis. Either he doesn't know the truth, or he's lying intentionally. Either way, why doesn't @phillyinquirer call him out?

> Philadelphia has the largest number of opioid-related deaths in the United States, with more than 1,000 per year. The number of opioid deaths in Philadelphia is four times the city's homicide rate. Krasner told the House and Senate that cannabis is an effective treatment for opioids.
>
> "I have a problem in Philadelphia, and that problem is we have a terrible situation with opioids, and so does Allegheny County, among others. It is a terrible situation. I need to have marijuana readily available in order to reduce the number of fatal overdoses. We have almost four fatal overdoses a day," stated Philadelphia District Attorney Larry Krasner.
>
> Krasner wants prosecutors to take an intelligent approach to cannabis regulation. He believes that using

1:08 PM - 30 Apr 2019

5 Retweets 16 Likes

marijuana law that facilitates a reduction in overdose death rates is a relatively liberal allowance for dispensaries. As states have become more stringent in their regulation of dispensaries, the protective value generally has fallen. These findings suggest that broader access to medical marijuana facilitates substitution of marijuana for powerful and addictive opioids.

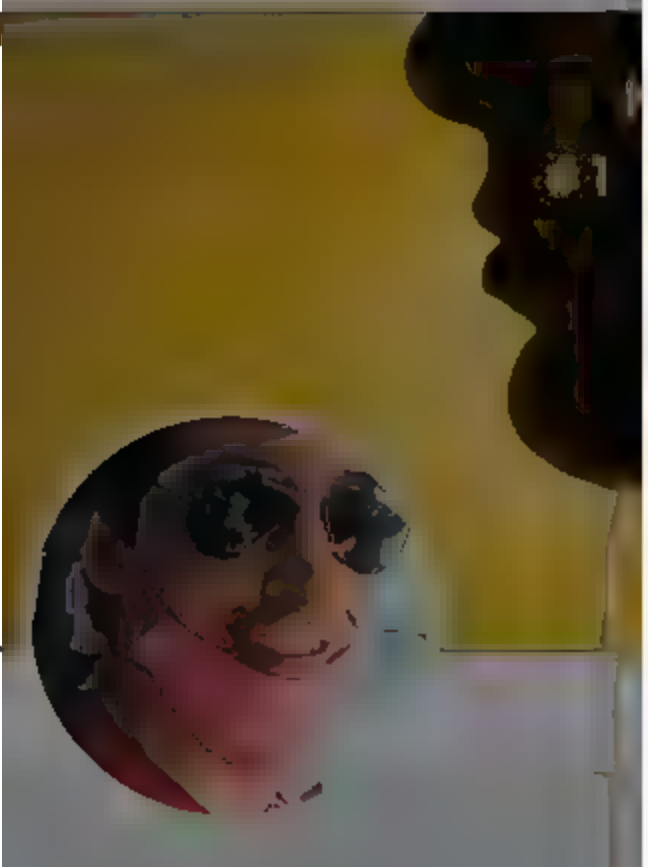
2 13

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 30 Apr 2019

Okay, let's go through this on a couple of levels. 1) Krasner said "legalization." That term is generally used to mean full recreational legalization - not medical marijuana laws. (And in fact PA already has an MMJ law - if that's all Krasner wants he doesn't need to ask.)

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



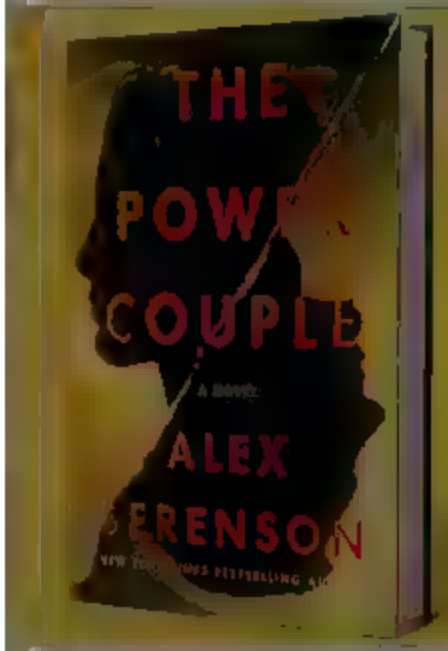
Replying to

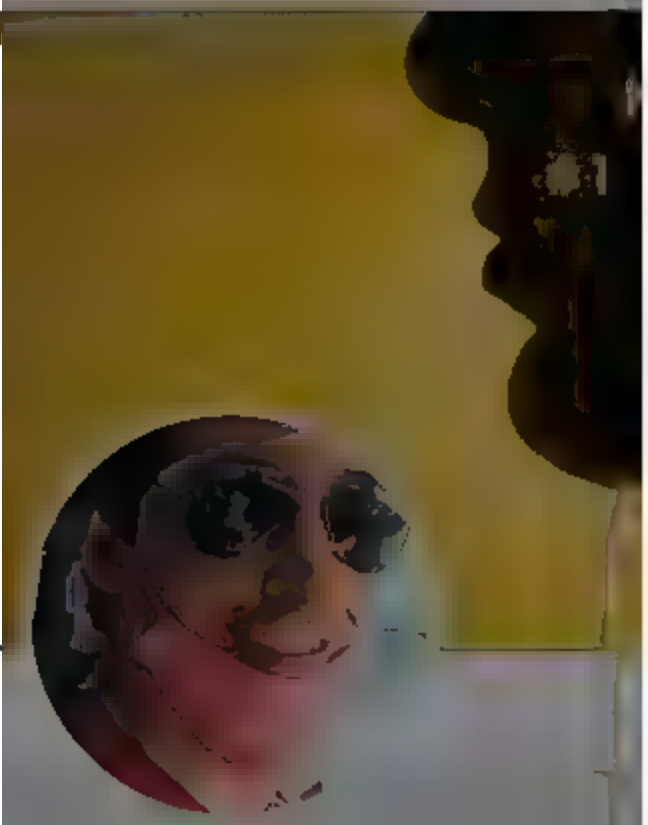
2) So let's look at states that have full recreational. Deaths are up since legalization in CO. Up in WA. Up in OR. Up in CA (since 1/1/2018) even though deaths actually fell nationally. Ditto ME. And MA. And NV. Is the picture clear? They're up everywhere (except AK).

3:48 PM - 30 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info





Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

to medical marijuana facilitates substitution of marijuana for powerful and addictive opioids.

2 13

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Okay, let's go through this on a couple of levels. 1) Krasner said "legalization." That term is generally used to mean full recreational legalization - not medical marijuana laws. (And in fact PA already has an MMJ law - if that's all Krasner wants he doesn't need to ask.)

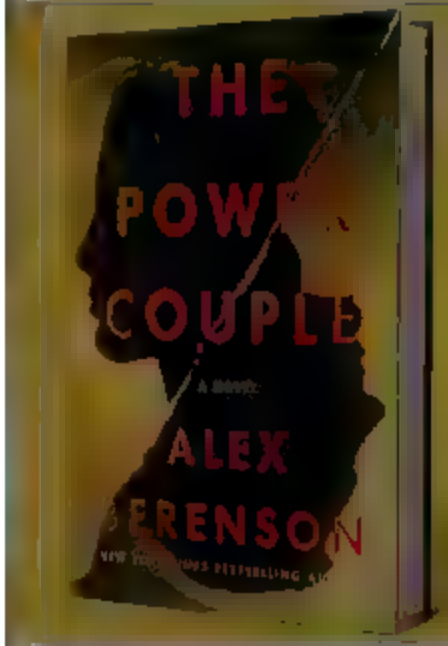
3:42 PM - 30 Apr 2019

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 30 Apr 2019

Replying to

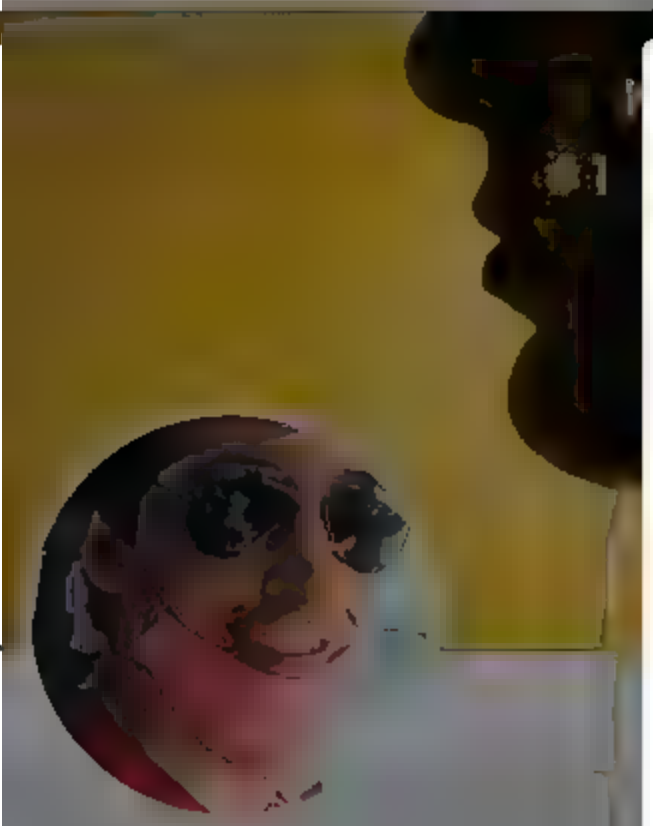
2) So let's look at states that have full recreational. Deaths are up since legalization in CO. Up in WA. Up in OR. Up in CA (since 1/1/2018) even though deaths actually fell nationally. Ditto ME. And MA. And NV. Is the picture clear? They're up everywhere (except AK).



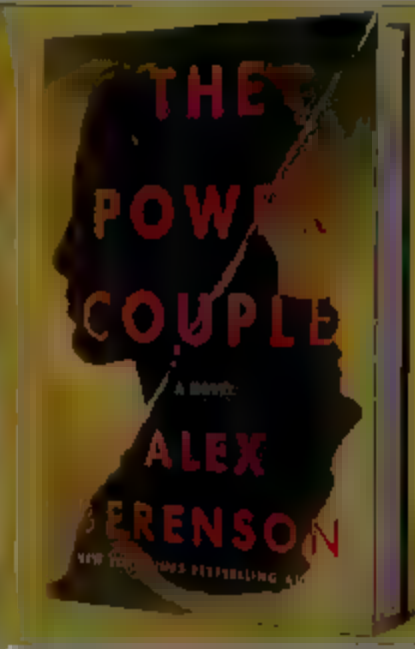
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 30 Apr 2019

Replying to

3) Don't believe me? . This stuff is too important to guess about. Or be wrong. Now we can talk about MMJ laws - as I do in the book - and the math is a little more complex, but the claim that deaths are down at all is just as untrue.



Abraham Gutman @abgutman · 30 Apr 2019



Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Best line In this: "He began personally experimenting with pot... but didn't like the unpredictability of the experience." I'll bet. I'd ask how he lives with himself - at least the tobacco execs had the guts to smoke - but I can guess. google.com/amp/amp.timein

7:36 PM - 29 Apr 2019

10 Retweets 24 Likes

11 10 24

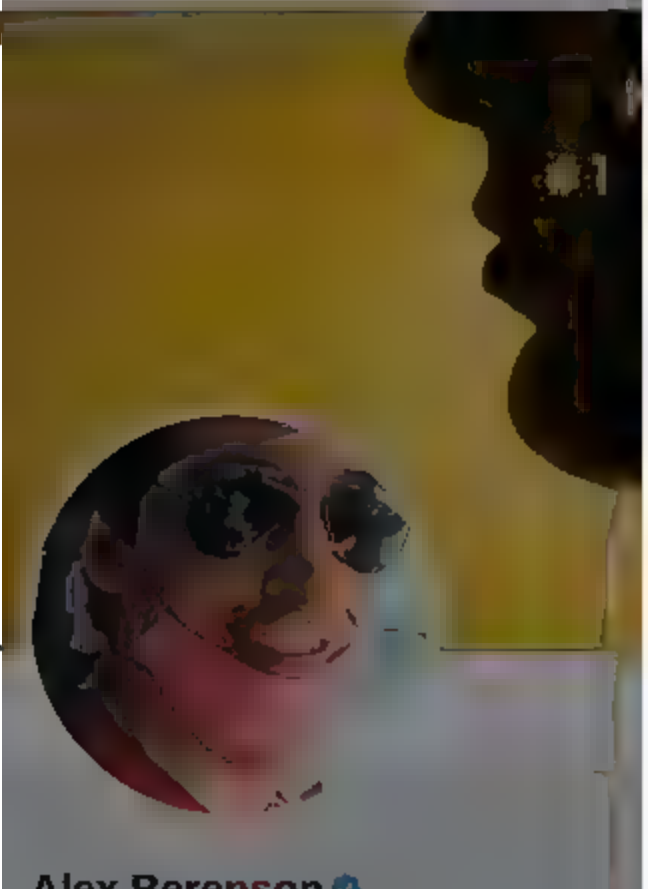
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 29 Apr 2019
Replying to

Many people don't enjoy cannabis, which is one reason usage rates remain low. I expect he lives with himself the same way Hostess execs who don't eat Twinkies and GM execs who drive a Mercedes cope.

2 1

mitonga @mito88 · 29 Apr 2019
"Winners don't use drugs"

I believe that is the messagr Fortune is conveying.



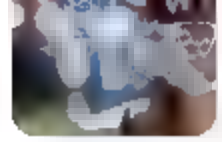
1

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 30 Apr 2019
Replying to

See Alex that is how it works, people try marijuana, some dont like it &do not repeat. U dont see them visiting violence upon people as per your "premise." Keep tap dancing Lil Anslinger. Personallyl prefer those who appreciate cannabis 2b the 1s who establish the legal market.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

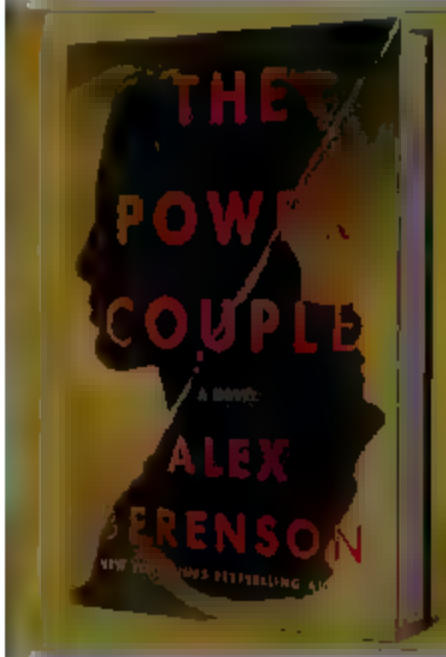
Joined November 2009

was associated with an increased risk of developing depression (OR =1.37), exhibiting suicidal ideation (OR= 1.5), and attempting suicide (OR= 3.46) in young...

7 7 54

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



There are many. Tell Your Children examines them, and even since the book came out more have appeared. Here's one from last month showing that use in pregnancy leads to more symptoms of psychosis among children.

8:40 AM - 30 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 11 Likes

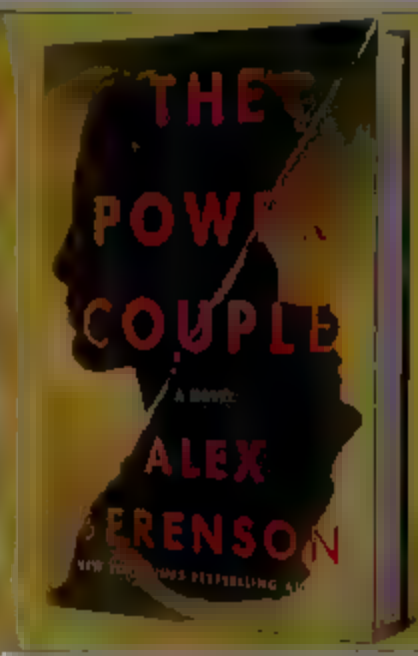
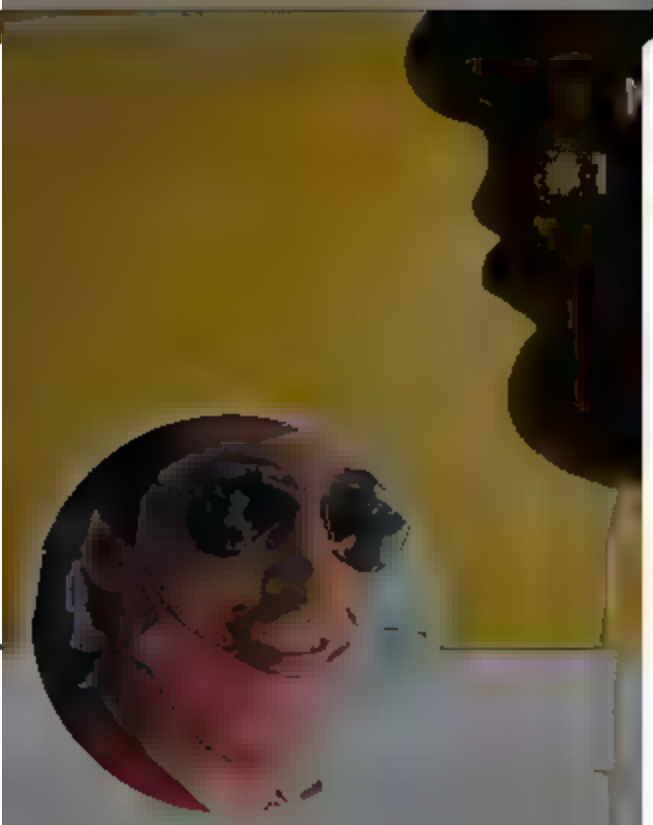
2 2 11



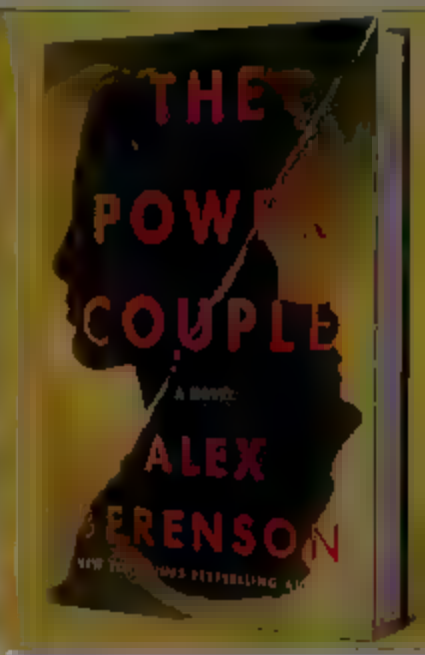
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 30 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Todd Pruzan @toddpruzan · 29 Apr 2019

I haven't watched a single moment of "Game of Thrones" and I have no idea what in the name of fuck any of you are talking about

5 1 11

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Arya: almost a casino in Vegas. Jon Snow: popular at Studio 54. Samwell Tarly: a refugee from Dickens. The Lannisters: AAA-rated. The Fist of The First Men: You don't want to know. The three-eyed raven: the ultimate Webcam. Any other questions?

5:58 PM · 29 Apr 2019

2 Likes

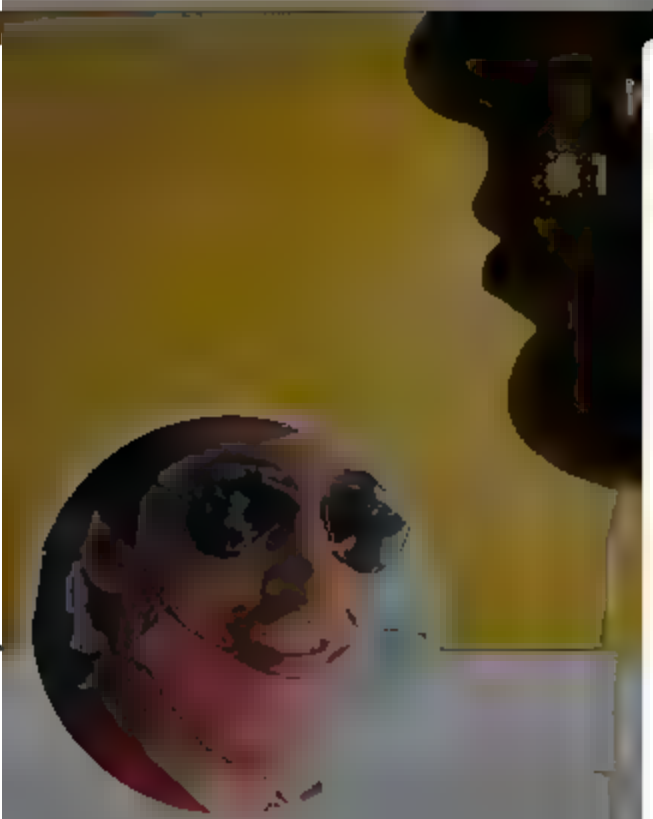
1 2

Todd Pruzan @toddpruzan · 29 Apr 2019

Replying to [redacted]

No more questions! Suddenly everything is clear!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

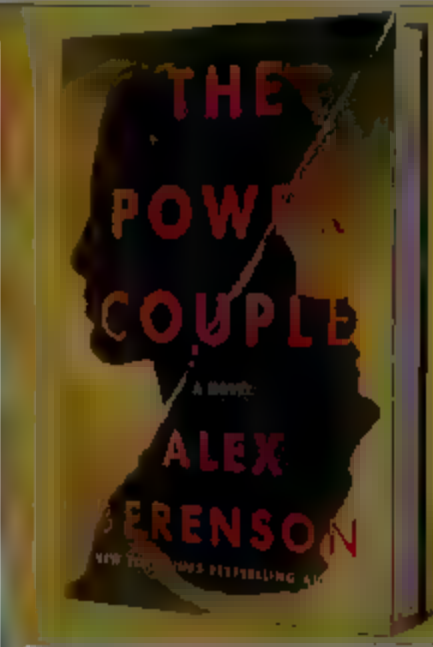
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

To be clear: even dangerous and addictive chemicals can have medical uses. No one would dispute giving fentanyl to late-stage cancer patients. That's not what @drcarlhart said, though. He said a society that doesn't agree drug use "overwhelmingly brings ppl joy" is "sick."

12:15 PM - 29 Apr 2019

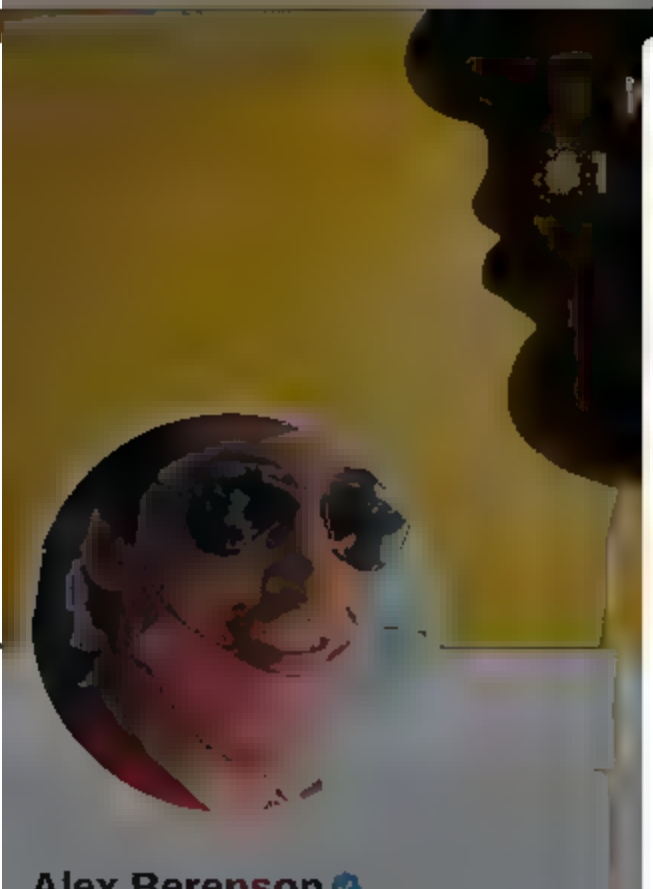
17 Likes

8 17



Rae @FiatLuxGenesis · 29 Apr 2019
Replying to
A society that is a slave to pleasure is on the verge of collapse. History proves it.

2 1



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 29 Apr 2019
FYI, hedonism isn't one of the factors leading to societal collapse that Jared Diamond identified in his book on the subject. He pins the blame on environmental degradation, climate change, elite detachment and national isolation, among other factors.

1

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 29 Apr 2019
Replying to
Oh grow up! U R like an overexcited little boy who doesnt understand what the adults in the room r discussing but thinks it involves his childish fantasies. You keep getting rupudiated &doubling down on your denialism&attacking the

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

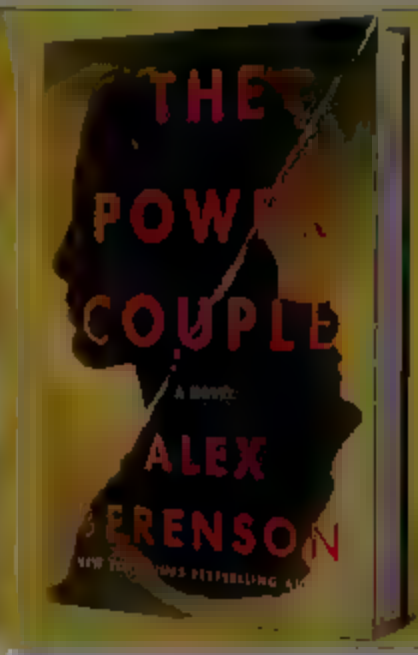
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

"Why are you acting crazy?" Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. (I won't tell @dicarlhart if you don't.)



4:07 PM - 29 Apr 2019

10 Retweets 25 Likes

9 10 25

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Apr 2019

1/ Since I know y'all are desperate for my thoughts on screenwriting and [illegible]; that episode was fascinating on a couple of levels. First, the narrative arc of the show wanted to build to a climax between the humans and the dead; but the emotional arc of the show didn't...

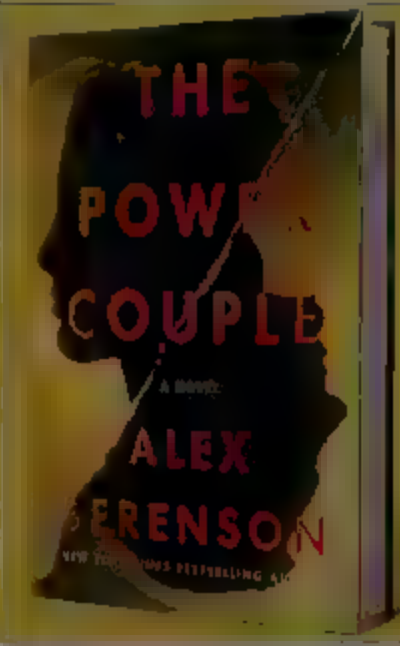
1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Apr 2019

2/ It is precisely because the army of the dead is so overwhelming - and so empty - that the show couldn't end with this episode. The writers were right to recognize that fact, even if everything from this point forward will feel like a bit of an anti-climax.

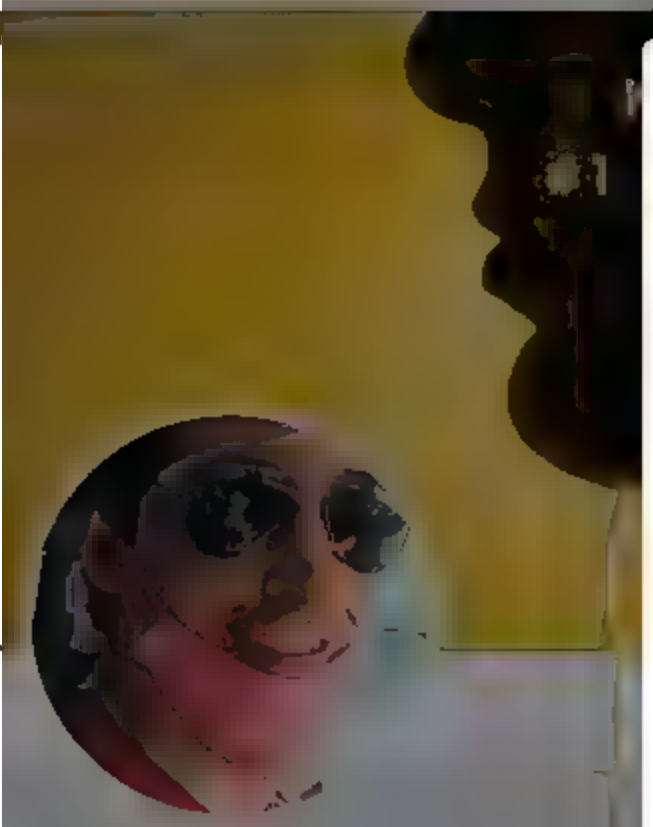
3 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Follow

3/ The episode was a masterclass in allowing emotion and action to overwhelm logic - in the best possible way. What we saw made no sense, but it followed the conventions of Screenwriting 101 - take your heroes to the brink, then past it, extinguish all hope. And it was riveting.

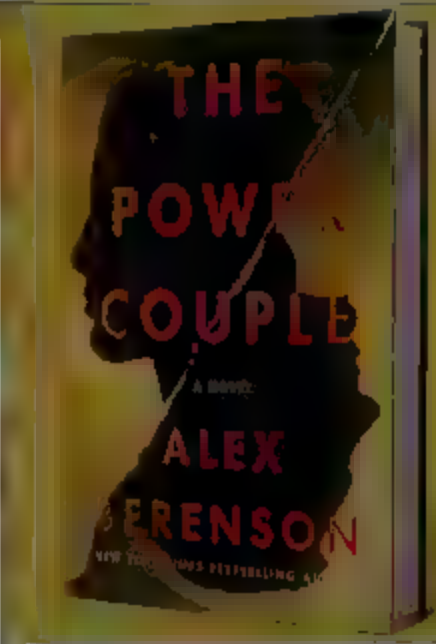


6:30 AM - 29 Apr 2019

3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Since I know y'all are desperate for my thoughts on screenwriting and #GOT; that episode was fascinating on a couple of levels. First, the narrative arc of the show wanted to build to a climax between the humans and the dead; but the emotional arc of the show didn't...

6:25 AM - 29 Apr 2019

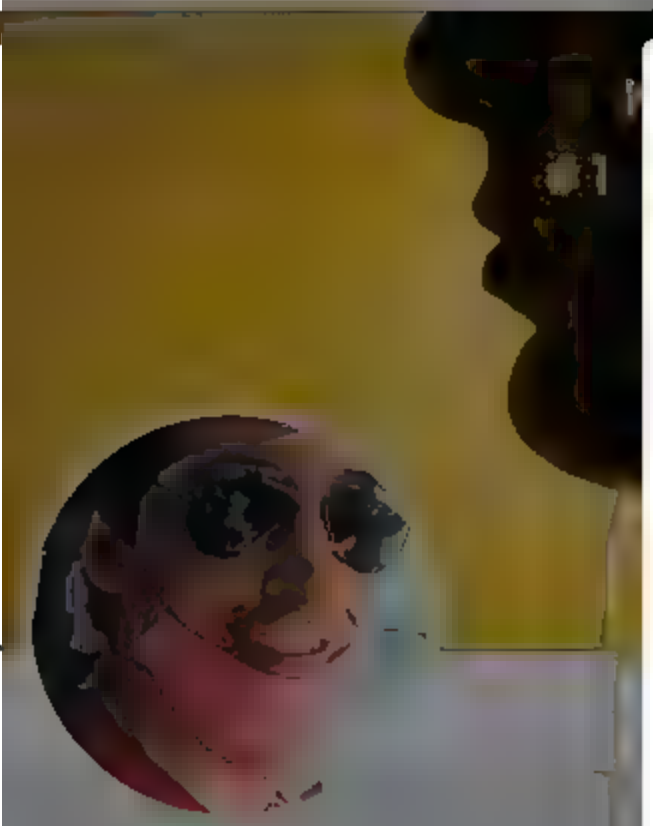
2 Likes

1 2

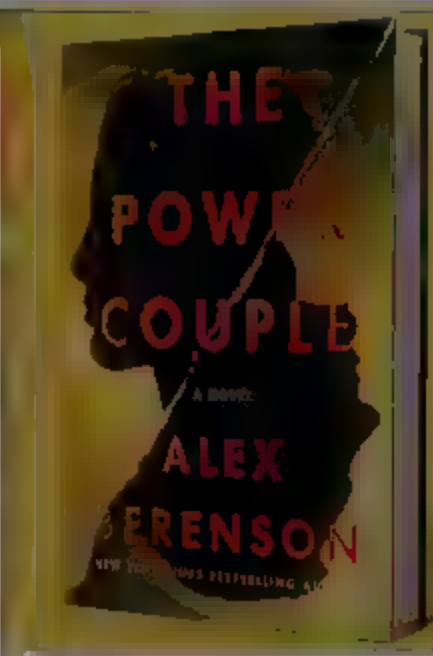
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Apr 2019

2/ It is precisely because the army of the dead is so overwhelming - and so empty - that the show couldn't end with this episode. The writers were right to recognize that fact, even if everything from this point forward will feel like a bit of an anti-climax.

3 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Apr 2019



3/ The episode was a masterclass in allowing emotion and action to overwhelm logic - in the best possible way. What we saw made no sense, but it followed the conventions of Screenwriting 101 - take your heroes to the brink, then past it, extinguish all hope. And it was riveting.

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

So I'm guessing they all just head south and beg Cersei for forgiveness now that their armies are completely decimated? And she grants it? #GOT 806: Happily Ever After.

8:34 PM - 28 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

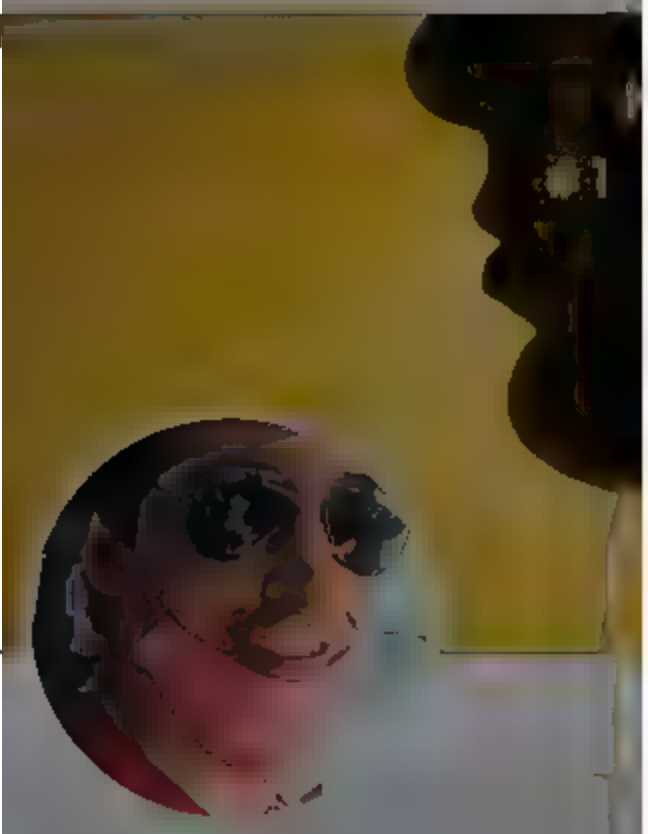
4 2 7

Kathryn Cantrell @tnbchick · 28 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
And how does Dani's hair stay so perfectly coiffed?

1



Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 29 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I am not begging anyone for anything.

Billy Bob @Endthelobbie · 30 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Bran is clearly more powerful than the show has lead us to believe so far. Not only can he see the future, I'm guessing they've left out a few details.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Since I know y'all are desperate for my thoughts on screenwriting and [illegible] that episode was fascinating on a couple of levels. First, the narrative arc of the show wanted to build to a climax between the humans and the dead; but the emotional arc of the show didn't...

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ It is precisely because the army of the dead is so overwhelming - and so empty - that the show couldn't end with this episode. The writers were right to recognize that fact, even if everything from this point forward will feel like a bit of an anti-climax.

6:28 AM - 29 Apr 2019

2 Likes

3 2

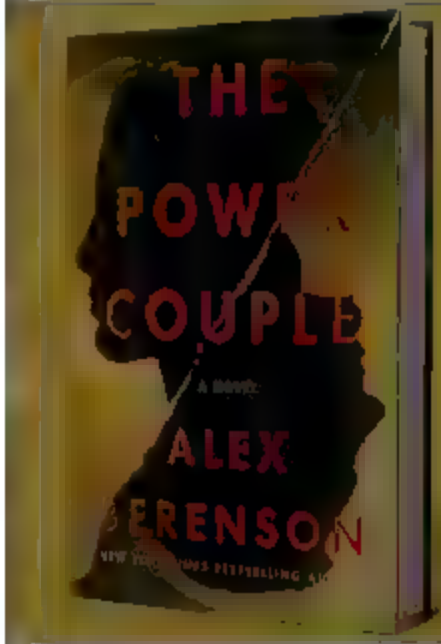
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Apr 2019

3/ The episode was a masterclass in allowing emotion and action to overwhelm logic - in the best possible way. What we saw made no sense, but it followed the conventions of Screenwriting 101 - take your heroes to the brink, then past it, extinguish all hope. And it was riveting.

3

david szafranski @DavidEPSF · 29 Apr 2019

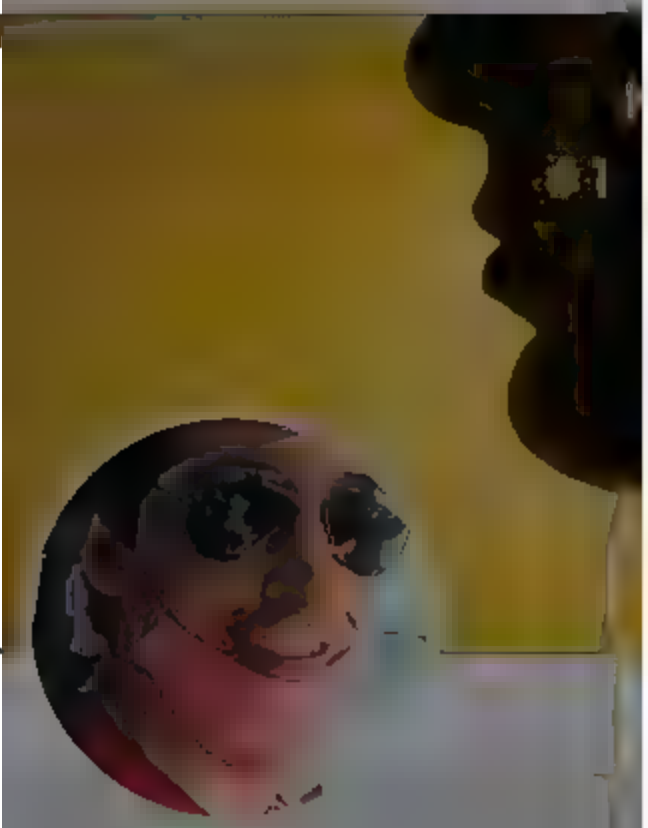
Replying to [illegible]



Can you imagine how much better that episode would have been if you were [illegible]? Joking of course

craig geller @kevinblah · 29 Apr 2019

Replying to [illegible]



Anti-climax? I think you're underestimating the writers, and at this point, we should give them the benefit of the doubt.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019

3/ Sometimes more aggressive "drug philosophers" will go further, and say that drugs are morally neutral - neither inherently good nor evil. Thus the government should not discourage their use...

1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

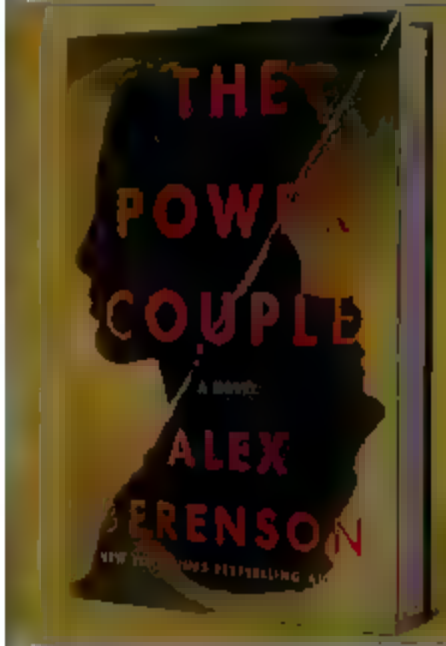
4/ But as far as I know, no one whose voice has any weight in this discussion has ever said publicly that drug use "overwhelmingly brings ppl joy" and "inspires us to treat others more humanely" - as Dr. Hart did publicly earlier this month.

1:27 PM - 28 Apr 2019

4 Likes

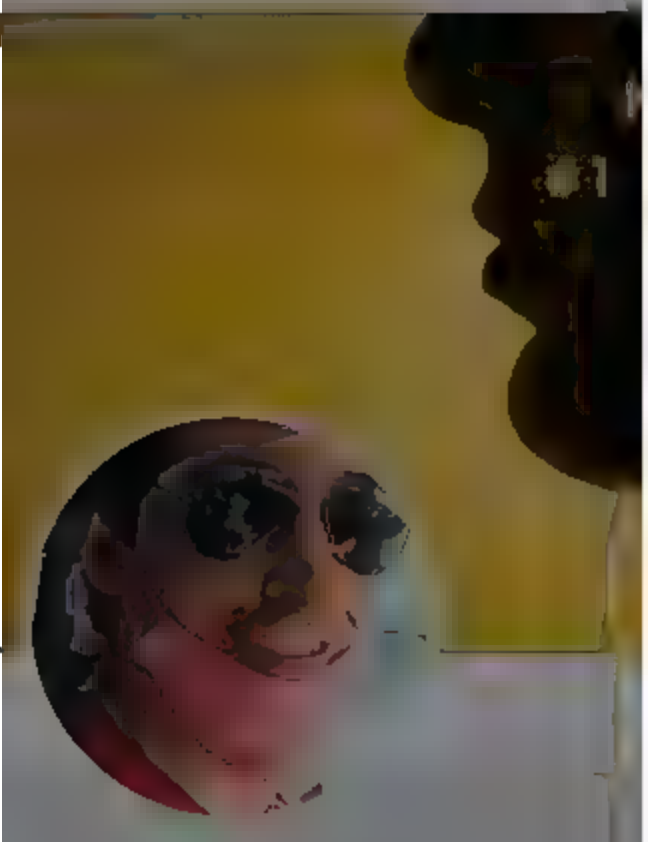
4 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019



5/ [illegible] didn't specify what drugs he meant - would he include fentanyl as a drug that overwhelmingly brings joy, or methamphetamine as one that inspires our humanity? But the plain meaning of his words is that we should not discourage drug use...

3 8 23



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019

6/ It is not a problem to be managed, or even a morally neutral issue. We as a society are missing the opportunity to promote joy through drug use. We must do more! (Though I do wonder what the families of the 70,000 US overdose victims in 2018 would make of that effort.)

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019

2/ Typically the DPA and similar organizations argue that although drug use may be harmful, efforts to reduce use are often even more harmful and should be scaled back or reduced. Drugs aren't the problem, the War on Drugs is, etc...

4 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ Sometimes more aggressive "drug philosophers" will go further, and say that drugs are morally neutral - neither inherently good nor evil. Thus the government should not discourage their use...

1:22 PM - 28 Apr 2019

4 Likes

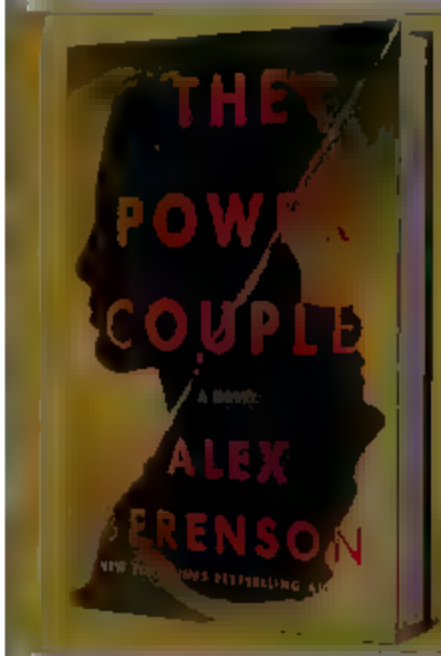
1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019

4/ But as far as I know, no one whose voice has any weight in this discussion has ever said publicly that drug use "overwhelmingly brings ppl joy" and "inspires us to treat others more humanely" - as Dr. Hart did publicly earlier this month.

4 4

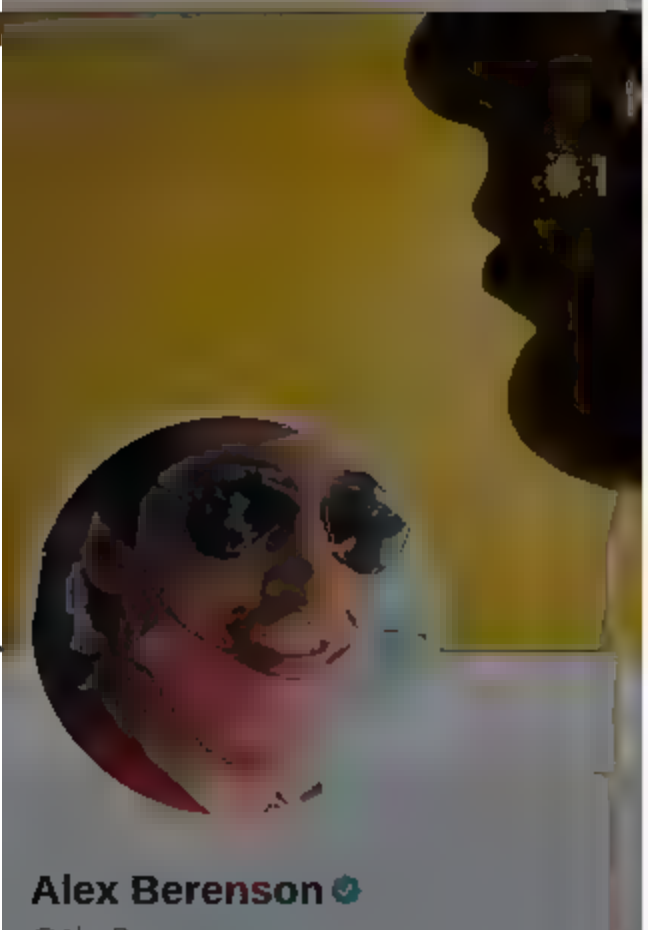
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019



5/ [illegible] didn't specify what drugs he meant - would he include fentanyl as a drug that overwhelmingly brings joy, or methamphetamine as one that inspires our humanity? But the plain meaning of his words is that we should not discourage drug use...

3 8 23

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019



6/ It is not a problem to be managed, or even a morally neutral issue. We as a society are missing the opportunity to promote joy through drug use. We must do more! (Though I do wonder what the families of the 70,000 US overdose victims in 2018 would make of that effort.)

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Circling back to the astonishing open advocacy of drug use from [redacted]. Dr. Hart is critical in drug policy circles; he is chair of psychology at [redacted] and until recently was on the board of the [redacted], the leading advocate for US cannabis legalization...

2 9 36

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Typically the DPA and similar organizations argue that although drug use may be harmful, efforts to reduce use are often even more harmful and should be scaled back or reduced. Drugs aren't the problem, the War on Drugs is, etc...

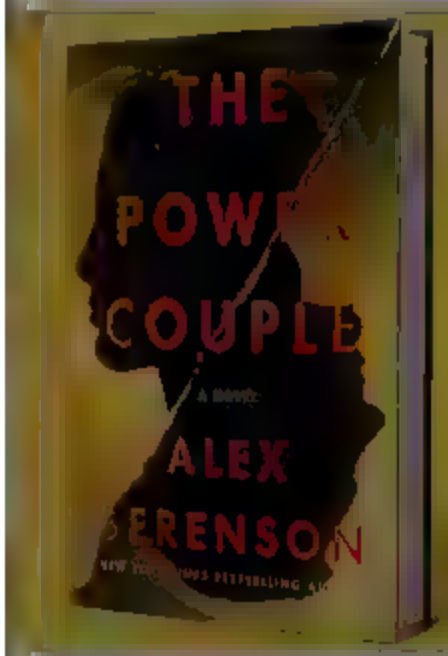
1:20 PM - 28 Apr 2019

5 Likes

4 5

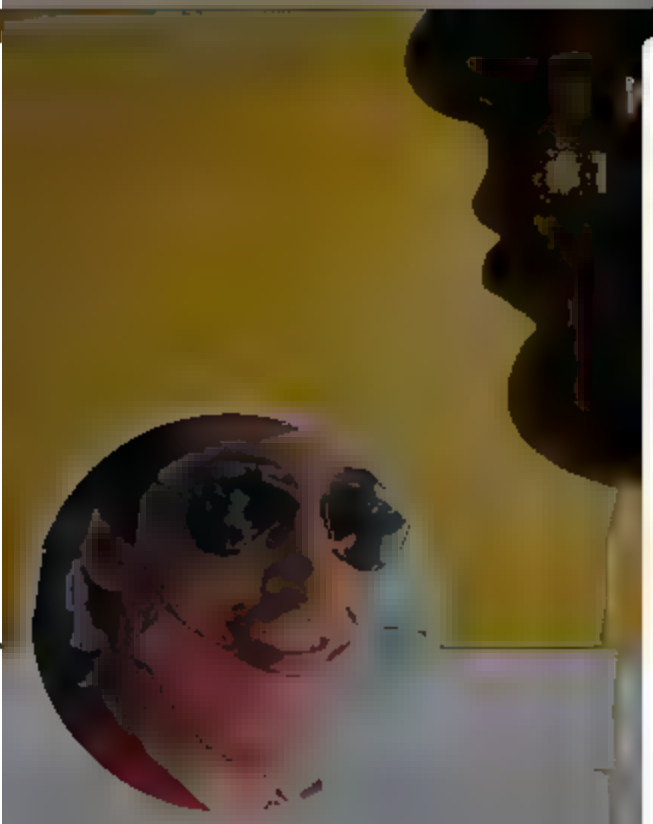
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019
3/ Sometimes more aggressive "drug philosophers" will go further, and say that drugs are morally neutral - neither inherently good nor evil. Thus the government should not discourage their use...

1 4

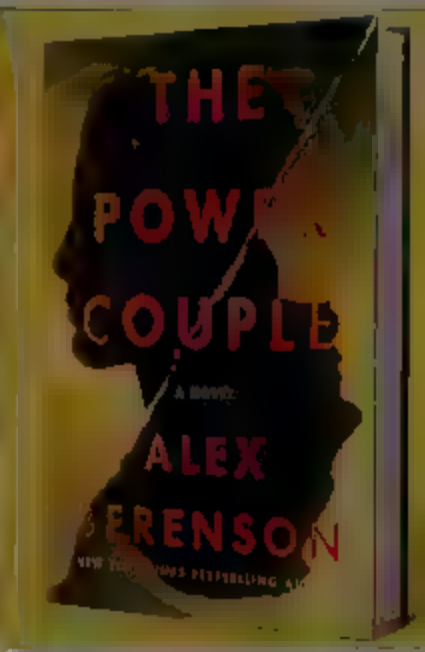


Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019
4/ But as far as I know, no one whose voice has any weight in this discussion has ever said publicly that drug use "overwhelmingly brings ppl joy" and "inspires us to treat others more humanely" - as Dr. Hart did publicly earlier this month.

4 4



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Apr 2019
5/ [redacted] didn't specify what drugs he meant - would he include fentanyl as a drug that overwhelmingly brings joy, or methamphetamine as one that inspires our humanity? But the plain meaning of his words is that we should not discourage drug use...



3 8 23

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

The usual @columbia brigade hasn't shown up to defend @drcarlhart this morning - is it possible the idiocy of his comment that drug use "enhances empathy" has embarrassed even them?

8:56 AM - 27 Apr 2019

15 Likes

9 15

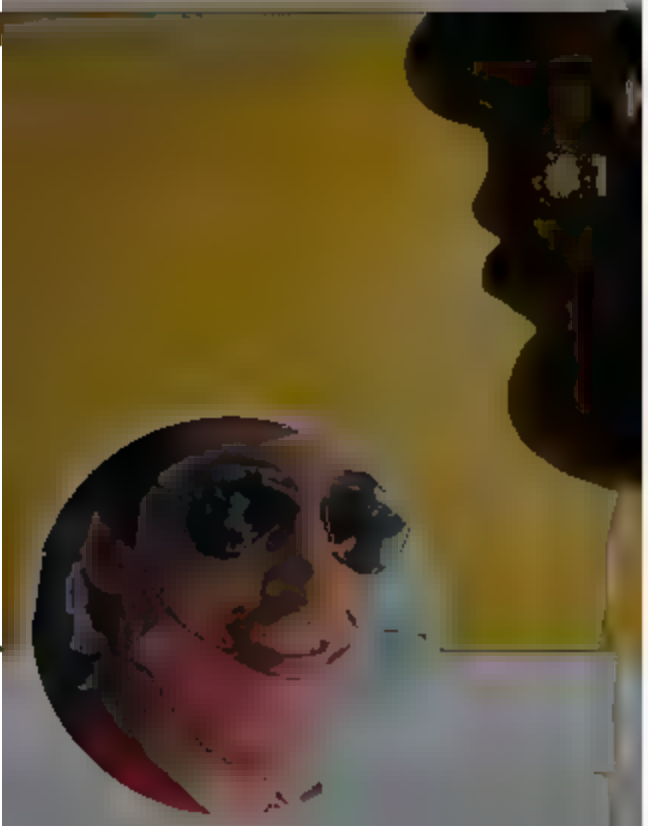
Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 27 Apr 2019
Replying to

One statement from any academic is never going to encompass an entire population. For many people responsible drug use can enhance empathy.

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 27 Apr 2019
Replying to

If your lack of drug use and demonstration of empathy is offered as the counterfactual to prove the point, I think is onto something.

1



Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 27 Apr 2019
Replying to

Your desperation at being taken seriously by some1outside the prohibition profiteering &irrational paranoia world is peaking. Your assertions have been repudiated by experts so u lash out n a desperate pique. 420 didnt conform2your hopes&dreams4mass violence did it? Keep tapping

2

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 27 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't hide. It's not really about "harm reduction" or social justice or any pretense of minimizing use. Because drugs are good, "overwhelmingly bring ppl joy," and encourage empathy.

New York

Joined November 2009

Dr. Carl Hart

Tweets Tweets & replies Media Likes

Carl Hart @drcarlhart · 4/8/19
It goes without saying that 45 has serious issues. But, something is very wrong with a society that blames such pathology on drugs that overwhelmingly brings ppl joy, enhances empathy, and inspires us to treat others more humanely. That's a sick society.

> Claude Taylor @TrueFactsStateo
> Is the president having a series of mini strokes? (TIA) is it chronic drug use? Dementia? Why wouldn't a patient presenting like this be given a full neurological exam? twitter.com/TrueFactsState...

10 7 66

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Apr 2019
Is [redacted] comfortable having the chair of its psychiatry dept actively encourage - for example - fentanyl and cocaine use on the grounds they bring "joy?" Apparently so. Because [redacted] makes no distinction among drugs here.

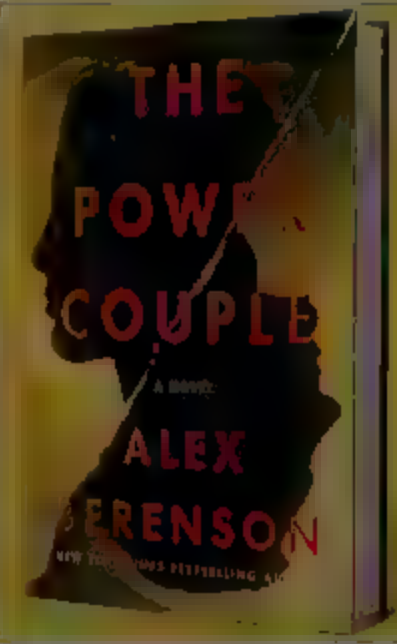
6 4 18

radstrider @radstrider · 26 Apr 2019
He's the head of psychology dept no? Big difference

1

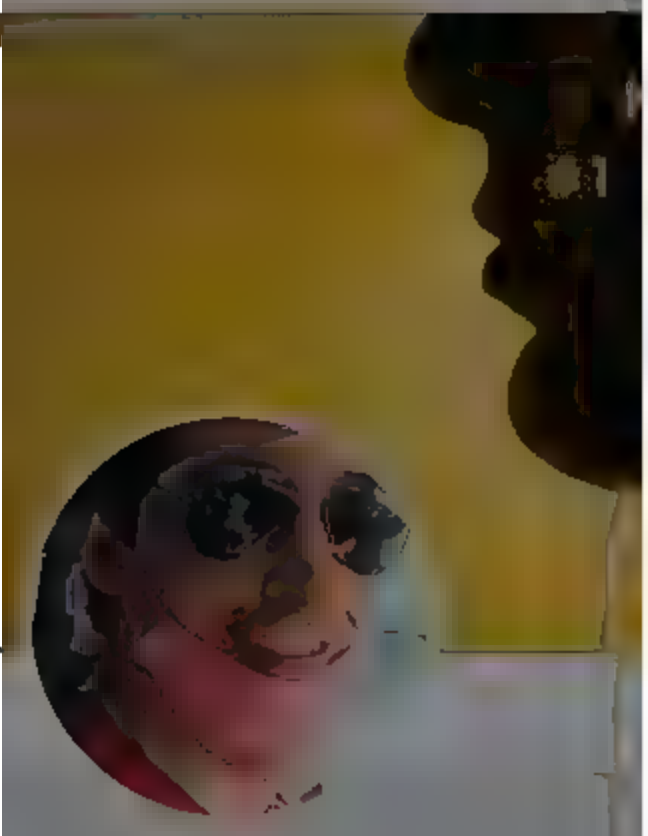
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Following



Replying to [redacted]

Sorry, chair of psychology, but Ziff professor of psychology (in psychiatry). Sloppy of me.



5:06 PM - 26 Apr 2019

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

is the president having a series of mini strokes? (HA) Is it chronic drug use? Dementia? Why wouldn't a patient presenting like this be given a full neurological exam? twitter.com/TrueFactsState...

10 7 66

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Apr 2019

Is [redacted] comfortable having the chair of its psychiatry dept actively encourage - for example - fentanyl and cocaine use on the grounds they bring "joy?" Apparently so. Because [redacted] makes no distinction among drugs here.

6 4 18

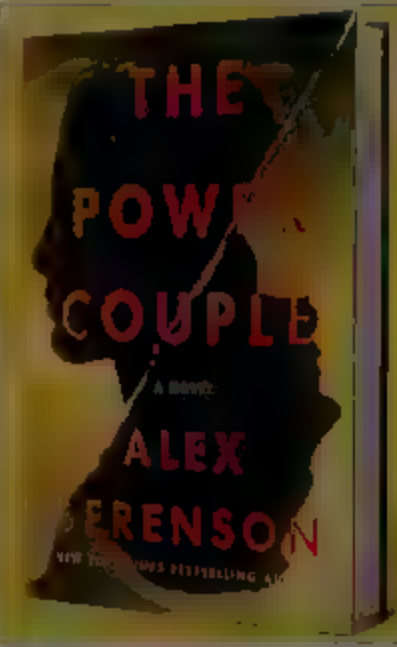
Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 26 Apr 2019

Psychology not psychiatry. Jeffrey A. Lieberman, MD chair of Psychiatry at Columbia P&S would never say that.

1 1

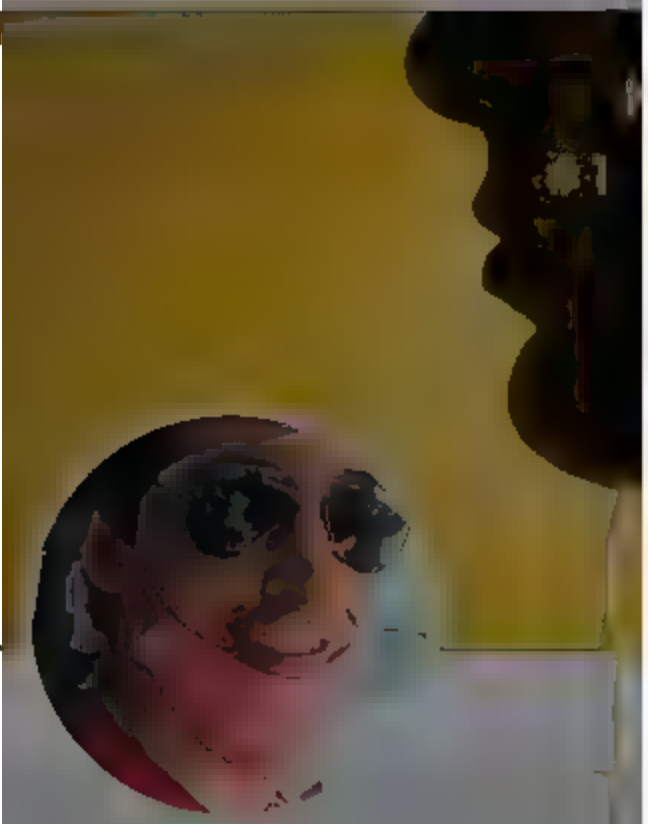
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]



Yes - I know better, too. I interviewed Dr. Lieberman when I was at the Times... I think I was sloppy bc the open advocacy for use shocked me. Like a dealer promising, you gotta try this. You'll love it. Except no dealer would have the guts to claim drugs increase empathy.

7:00 PM - 26 Apr 2019



2 Likes

1 2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

presenting like this be given a full neurological exam?
twitter.com/TrueFactsSlate...

10 7 66

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Is @Columbia comfortable having the chair of its psychiatry dept actively encourage - for example - fentanyl and cocaine use on the grounds they bring "joy?" Apparently so. Because @drcarlhart makes no distinction among drugs here.

5:00 PM - 26 Apr 2019

4 Retweets 18 Likes

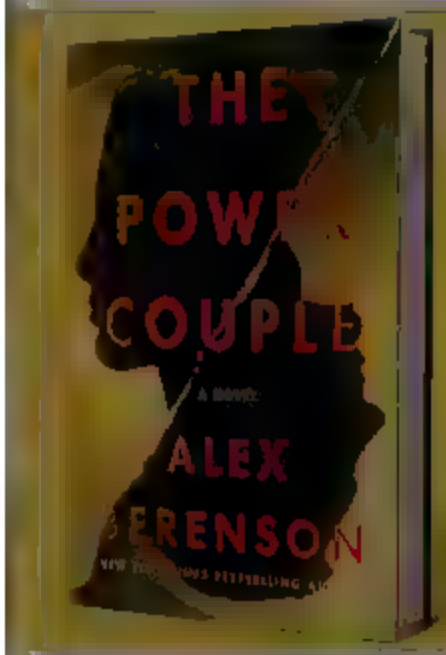
6 4 18

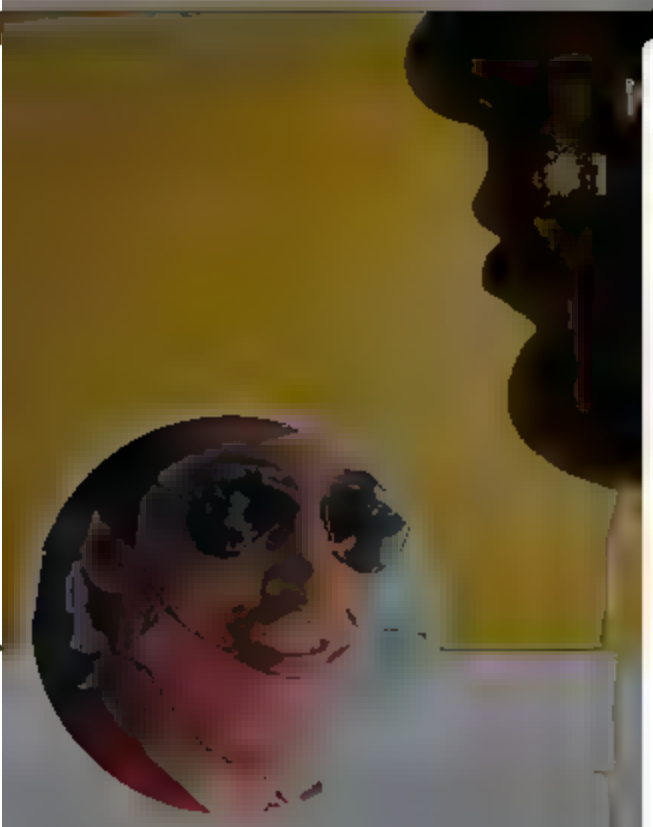
radstrider @radstrider · 26 Apr 2019
Replying to
He's the head of psychology dept no? Big difference

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Apr 2019
Sorry, chair of psychology, but Ziff professor of psychology (in psychiatry). Sloppy of me.

1



Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 26 Apr 2019
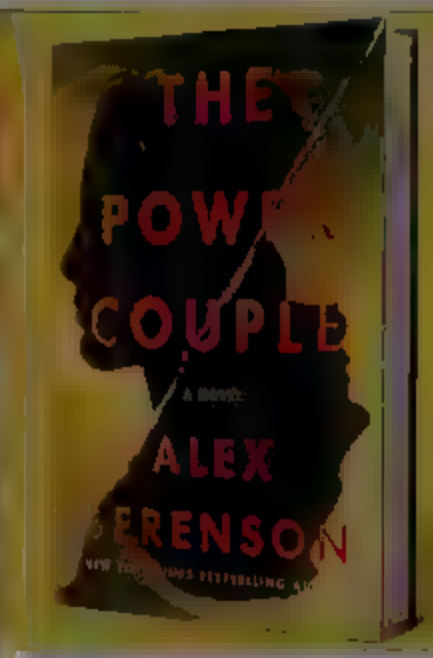
Replying to Psychology not psychiatry. Jeffrey A. Lieberman, MD chair of Psychiatry at Columbia P&S would never say that.



1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I've said it before: If you're in the cannabis lobby, Tell Your Children isn't the problem. The truth is the problem. Five major papers on cannabis and mental health since January. There's no drug stronger than denial, but reality always wins.

2:04 PM - 26 Apr 2019

12 Retweets 51 Likes

9 12 51

Bolo @Sagenhaft · 26 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
There's truth to what you say, but a couple of things bothered me on the [redacted] podcast
1. (Most important) You lost the argument when you said cannabis is a gateway drug, with such confidence and smugness, when in fact you don't know that 100%, and I'm sure about that 100%

1 1

Bolo @Sagenhaft · 26 Apr 2019
2. Here's a screenshot from the study you cited in your earlier tweet. It does not 100% back up your wild claims of violence or anything else you've said in those 3h on the show severe mental illness.

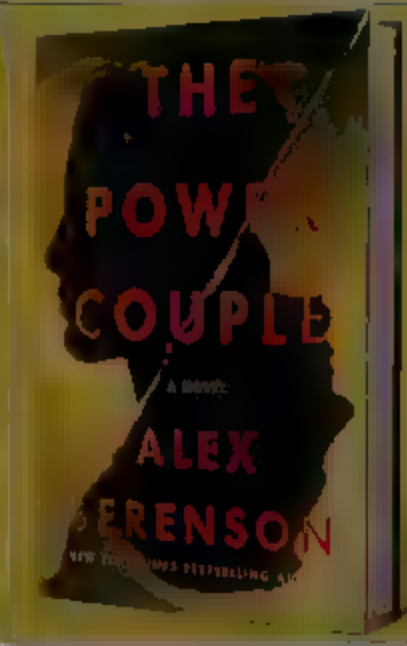
- The association was higher for cannabis misuse in comparison to cannabis use.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Apr 2019

If you haven't noticed, cannabis advocates lie. Not once in a while. All the time. And that's - well, that's no surprise. Politicians lie. Businesses lie. I don't expect more from advocates. The problem isn't that they lie; it's that reporters don't question those lies.

68 97 409

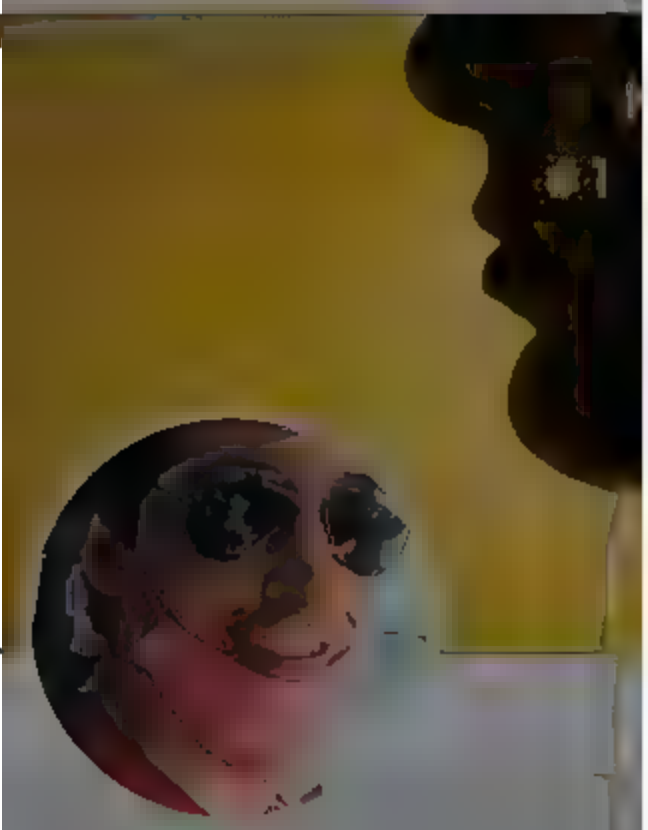
Greg Courter @Grinner6 · 26 Apr 2019

I'm not sure reporters question anything anymore. Hell they probably believe Wikipedia. Particularly the newly minted ones.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow



Replying to [redacted]

Lol. That reminds me. The cannabis elves have been at work on my Wikipedia page. I guess I should be flattered.

9:51 AM - 26 Apr 2019

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

If your case is so strong, why must you exaggerate it all the time? Pot, meet kettle.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> If you haven't noticed, cannabis advocates lie. Not once in a while. All the time. And that's - well, that's no surprise. Politicians lie. Businesses lie. I don't expect more from advocates. The problem isn't that they lie; it's that reporters don't question those lies.

1

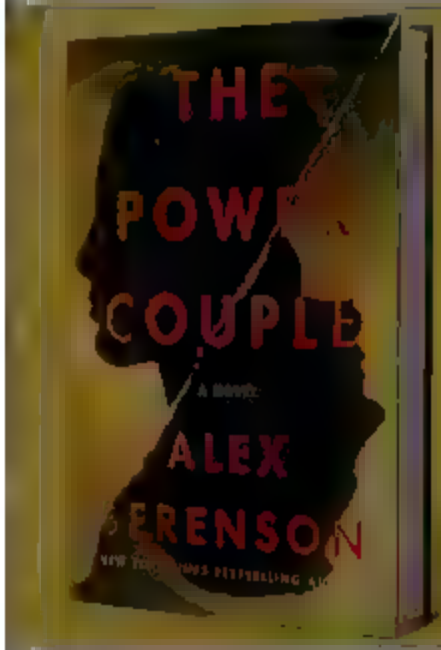
Matt Jenkins @jenxmatt · 26 Apr 2019
You don't even tell the truth about what your screen shot says. "Use" = 2X, only "misuse" + "use" = 3X. Also, the findings were based on 12 studies that were eligible for the meta-analysis (ie the other 2,437 weren't analyzed), and they did not adjust for confounding factors.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

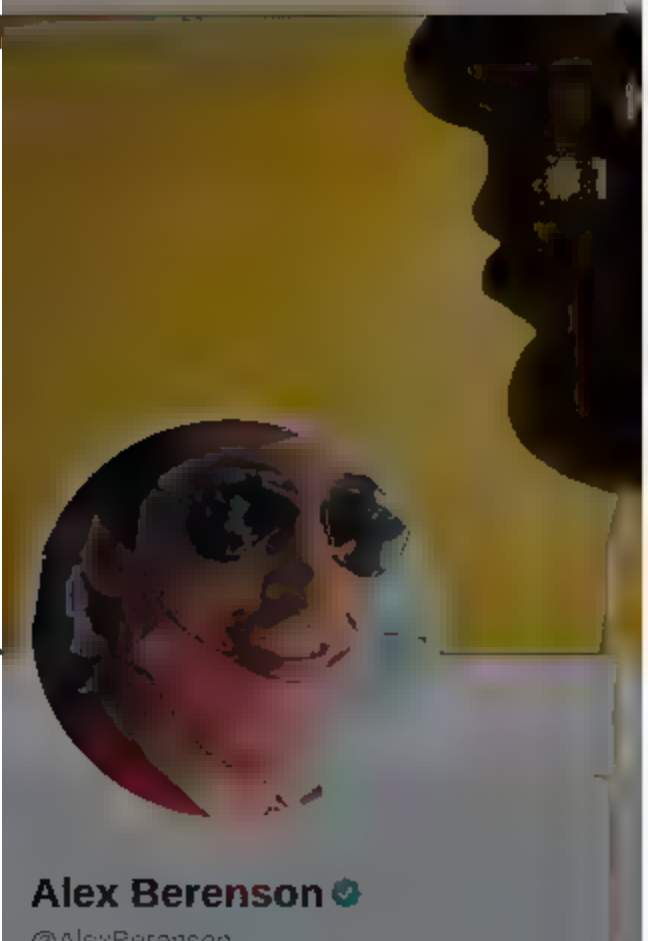
Replying to [redacted]



Ahh, you caught me! Or not. All use includes misuse. The topline finding was 3x. Thanks for your thoughtful contribution, though.

10:46 AM - 26 Apr 2019

1



Matt Jenkins @jenxmatt · 26 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Yes, and you said "all use," or not. And you didn't mislead people with the "2,500 papers" number, or not.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

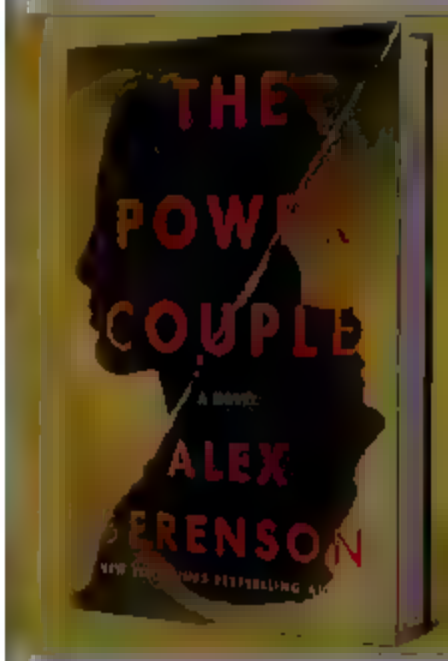
New York

Joined November 2009

1/ This just in: Reefer Madness is real. The first-ever meta-analysis of cannabis use and violence in the mentally ill has just been published in Psychiatry Research. Based on 12 studies, the researchers found cannabis use was linked to a 3x risk of violence...

74 111 224

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

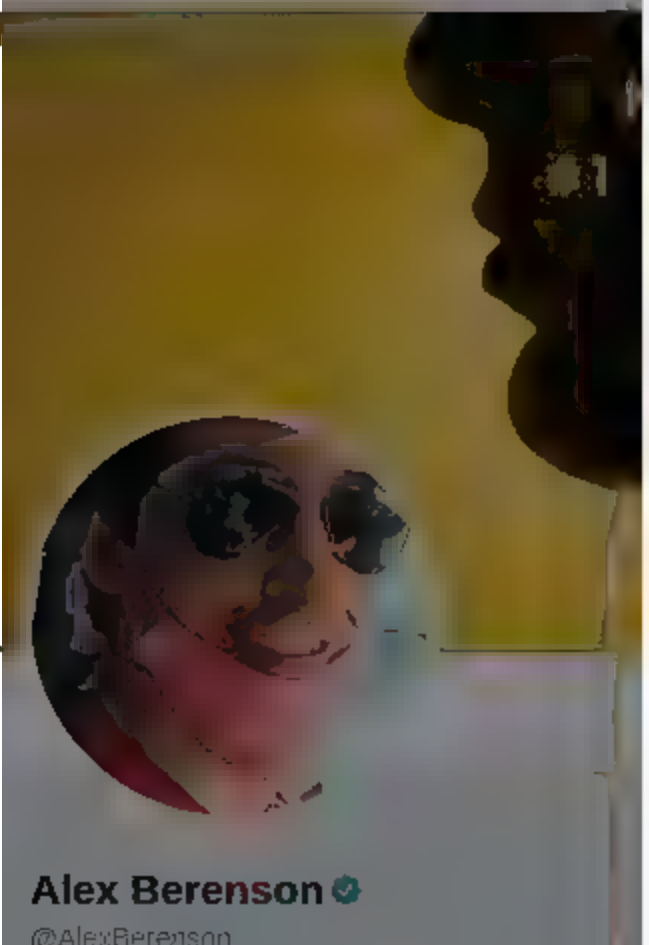


2/ And heavy use to a six-fold risk of violence. The researchers screened almost 2500 papers. "These findings are clinically relevant for violence prevention," they concluded. But, please, keep pretending that Tell Your Children "cherry-picks" or misunderstands the science.

Of the potential 2449 articles that were screened for eligibility, 12 studies were analyzed using a random-effect meta-analysis. Results showed a moderate association between cannabis use and violence (OR = 3.02, CI = 2.01–4.54, $p = 0.0001$). The association was significantly higher when comparing cannabis misuse (OR = 5.8, CI = 3.27–10.28, $p = 0.0001$) to cannabis use (OR = 2.04, CI = 1.36–3.05, $p = 0.001$).

Conclusion

These findings are clinically relevant for violence prevention/management and highlight the necessity of further investigations with methodologically-sound studies. Thus, longitudinal studies adjusting for important confounding factors (i.e., psychopathic traits and stimulant use) are warranted.

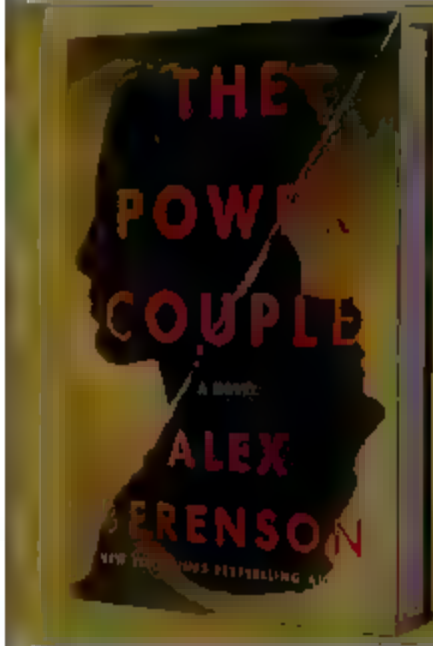


Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

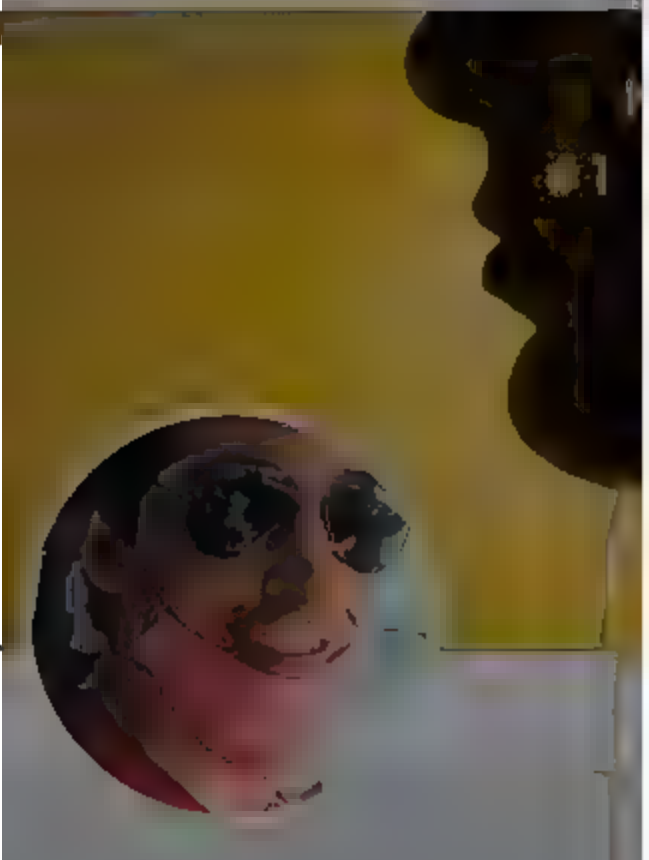
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

So weird that @tuffgong75 says "cannabis" when he means "CBD, a non-intoxicating compound in cannabis that has deliberately been bred out of the plant recreational users smoke to get high." Easy mistake, I guess - the industry makes it all the time.

Replying to @AlexBerenson and @mhschweich



The risks??? Dude, their kids would be dead without it. It was literally a last resort for some of these kids. Charlotte Figi was about to be sent to hospice care before her life was saved by cannabis.

4/25/19, 6:07 PM

3:36 PM - 25 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 11 Likes

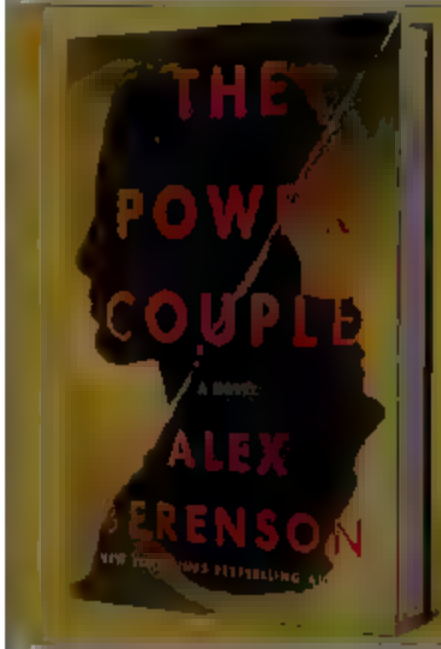
Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 24 Apr 2019

The State of Alabama wants to approve the use of cannabis for the treatment of schizophrenia (SB236, p 15). I'm not the only psychiatrist/scientist to say that's a really, REALLY bad idea.

9 11 33

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Does it also authorize cigarettes for lung cancer?

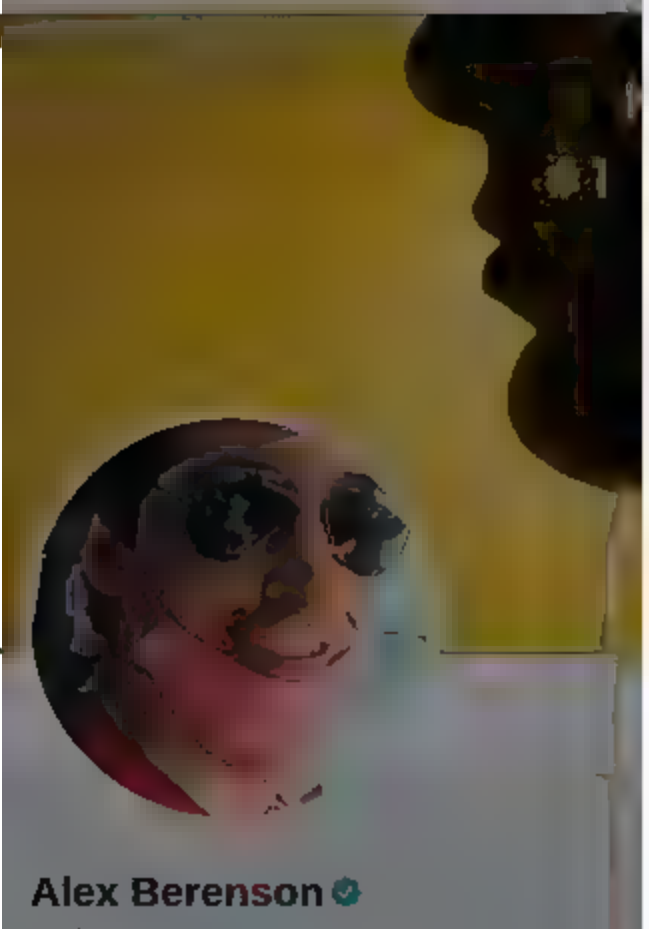
6:12 PM - 24 Apr 2019

12 Likes

2 12

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 24 Apr 2019

Replying to



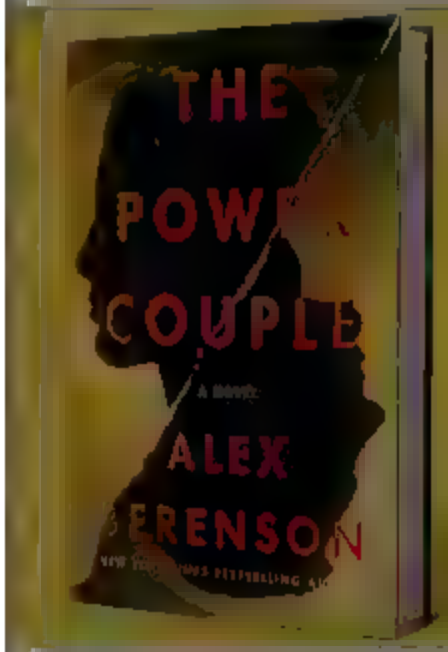
Altogether, the State of Alabama wants to approve cannabis as a medicine for 33 diseases... including psoriasis.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

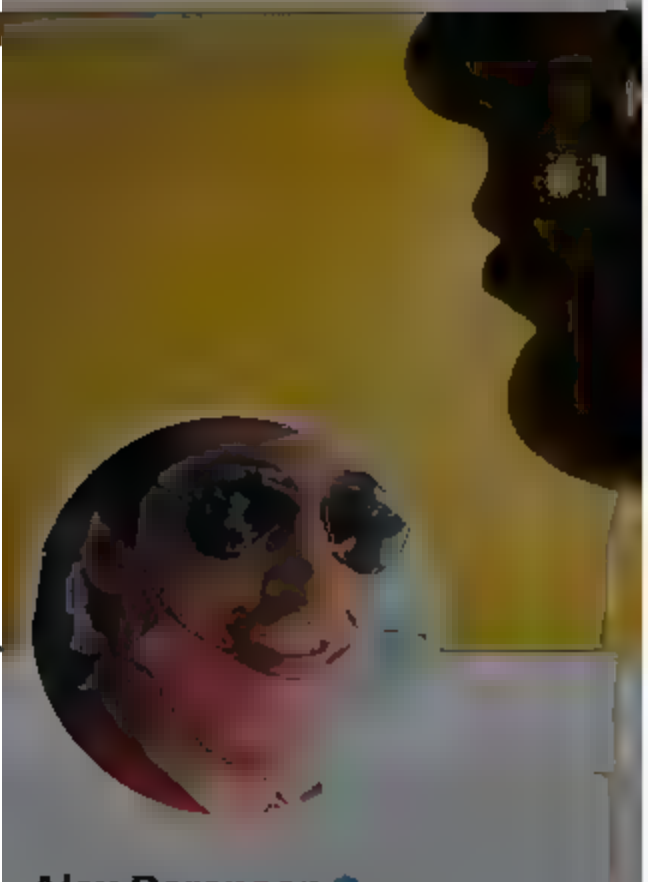
Sure, @mhschweich, I'll talk to parents using THC to treat kids with epilepsy. They should know the risks they're running. Meantime, I'll hook you up with families and users who have suffered cannabis psychosis. (But I bet you know a bunch already. Occupational hazard, amirite?)

●●○○○ AT&T LTE 4:06 PM 48%

Tweet

4 3 3

Matthew Schweich
@mhschweich



Replying to @learnaboutsam and @AlexBerenson

I'd like to watch @AlexBerenson tell the parents of a child with epilepsy, for whom all other medicines have not worked and for whom cannabis has significantly reduced seizures, that their decision is "ridiculous." But would he have the courage to do so? I

1:17 PM - 25 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 14 Likes

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

If anybody would know, you would. Have you heard if Alex Berenson is working on a new John Wells book?

1 1

The Real Book Spy @TheRealBookSpy · 23 Apr 2019
Indeed, should be out next year!

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Apr 2019
Ahh no. My next novel is a standalone...

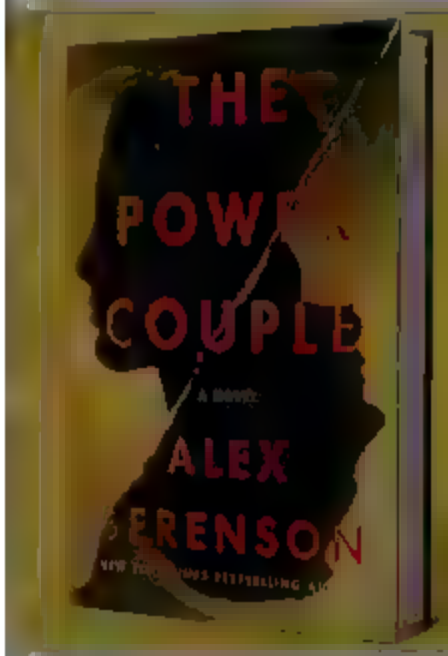
2 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Bad intel

1:26 PM - 23 Apr 2019



1 Like

1 1

The Real Book Spy @TheRealBookSpy · 23 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Actually, I just went back to my email and turns out, I was totally wrong. It actually said "Wells might return after the pot book and another book... so 2020? 2021?" That's my bad. I should have double-checked [redacted]

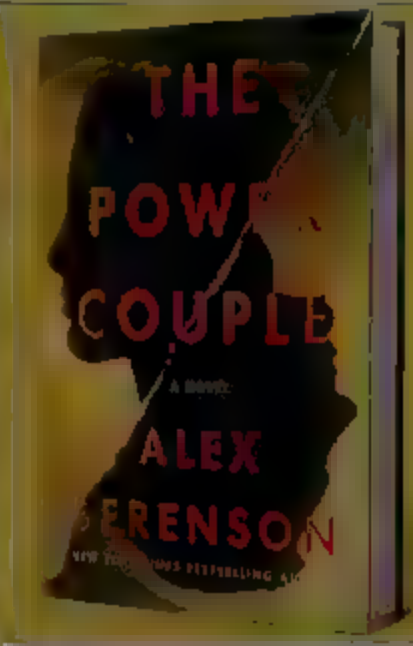
1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Apr 2019
... and then we invaded Iraq

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Brent Huiberts @happywarlock · 23 Apr 2019
[illegible] If anybody would know, you would. Have you heard if Alex Berenson is working on a new John Wells book?

1 1

The Real Book Spy @TheRealBookSpy · 23 Apr 2019
Indeed, should be out next year!

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Apr 2019
Ahh no. My next novel is a standalone...

2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Apr 2019
Bad intel

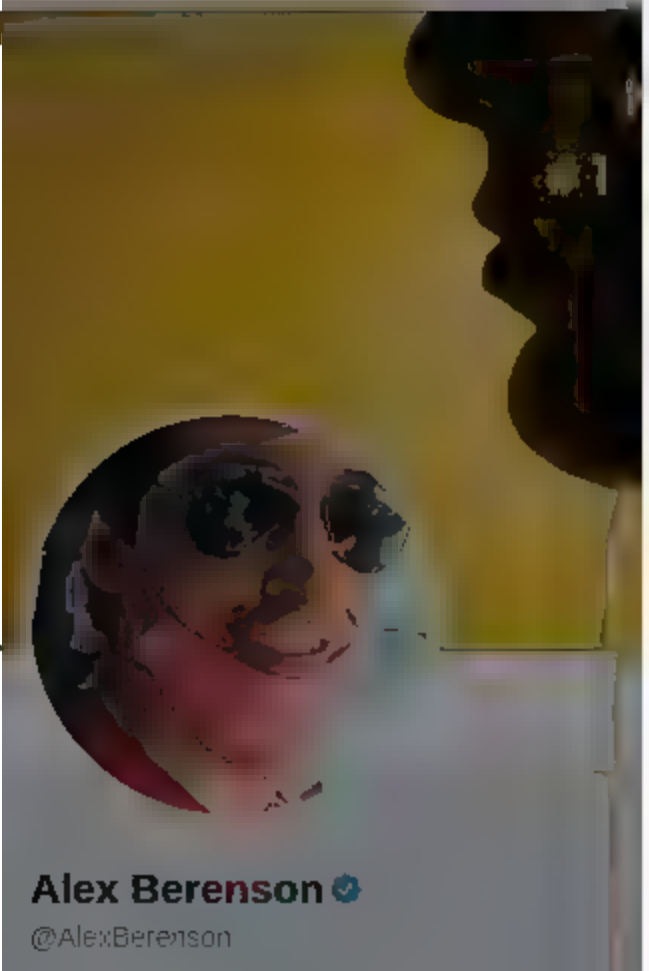
1 1

The Real Book Spy @TheRealBookSpy · 23 Apr 2019
Actually, I just went back to my email and turns out, I was totally wrong. It actually said "Wells might return after the pot book and another book... so 2020? 2021?" That's my bad. I should have double-checked [illegible]

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible]



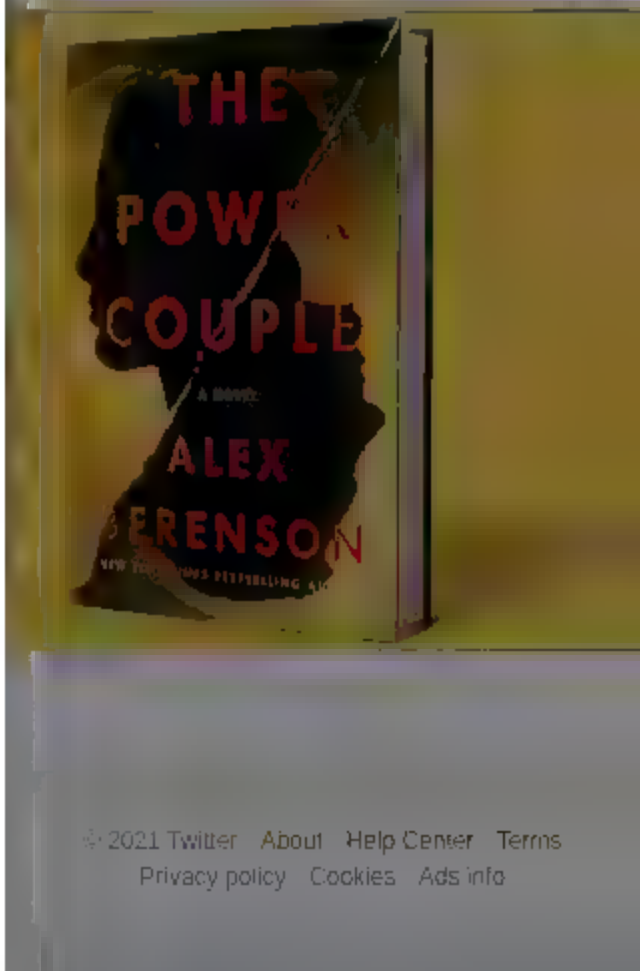
... and then we invaded Iraq

1:36 PM - 23 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Very excited to announce this event on cannabis and mental health with Drs. Nora Volkow of @NIDAnews and Eden Evins - two seriously talented and hard-working physicians. It'll be an honor to share the stage with them.

SAVE THE DATE

Wednesday, June 5, 2019, 11:30am - 2pm
John F. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum
Columbia Point, Boston, MA

Marijuana: Addiction, Mental Health and Policy – Advances in Research
What have we learned in the past 5 years?

A Luncheon Event Featuring

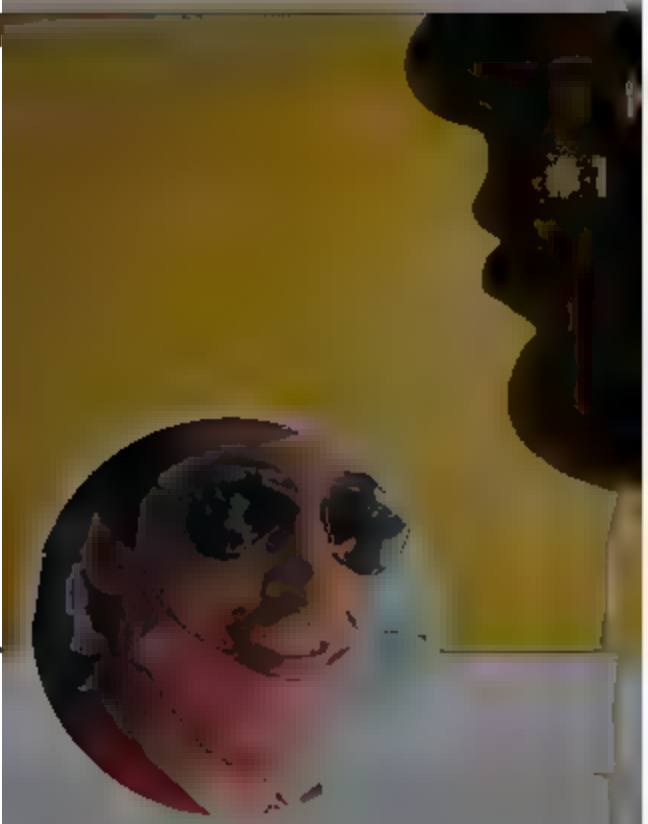
Alex Berenson, Author of Tell Your Children: the Truth about Marijuana, Mental Illness, and Violence – An award-winning author and former New York Times reporter reveals the link between marijuana use and mental illness, specifically psychosis and a suspected connection to violence — research the media has ignored as the United States rushes to legalize cannabis.

Dr. Nora Volkow, Director of the National Institute On Drug Abuse at the National Institutes of Health – A review of the research findings and advancements made since her Boston keynote appearance in 2014.

Dr. A. Eden Evins, Founding Director of the Massachusetts General Hospital Center for Addiction Medicine and Professor of Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School – What clinicians and scientists are learning and seeing locally on the marijuana – psychosis link.

Will Jones III Washington DC Fire-fighter, Founder of Two Is Enough (TIE DC), advancing addiction prevention and representing SAM Smart Approaches to Marijuana – Data and research findings impacting the African American community.

Who should attend?



Medical, health and mental health professionals, community leaders – elected and appointed, public health policy makers, youth, parents, business community, education professionals, youth-serving organizations, law enforcement agencies, faith communities, civic and volunteer groups, healthcare professionals, agencies with expertise in substance abuse, young adults and college administrators, and anyone with an interest in community health and healthy development of youth.

6:13 AM - 24 Apr 2019

5 Retweets 26 Likes

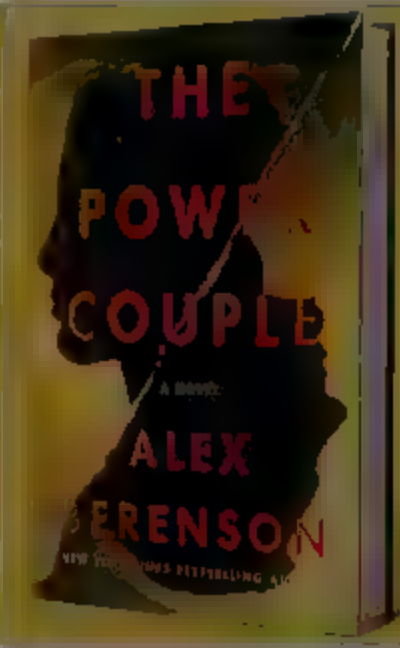
Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

9 22 29

Judy Margulies @judymdotcom · 23 Apr 2019
Might you give me a reference for the $35.00 figure?

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to

Here's $40. A couple of days ago someone posted on Twitter a photo of a sign from Oregon advertising $35 ounces, though I can't find it now. Deflation is definitely alive and well in the cannabis business.

1:23 PM · 23 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 2 Likes

3 2 2

Judy Margulies @judymdotcom · 23 Apr 2019
Replying to
I shared with Vermont. Legislature is close on sending a commercial industry bill to Governor. Calls to legislators before final movement are needed.

connor @moshwangles · 27 Apr 2019
Replying to
Ya it can be that low here, but that doesn't really mean people are smoking that much more. Also Ozs that low are low quality and not smoked as much

Challenger @PulseAwakening · 27 Apr 2019
Replying to
Shit son that is what an 8th costs up here in Canadia.

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 1

The Real Book Spy @TheRealBookSpy · 23 Apr 2019
Indeed, should be out next year!

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Ahh no. My next novel is a standalone...

1:26 PM · 23 Apr 2019

3 Likes

2 3

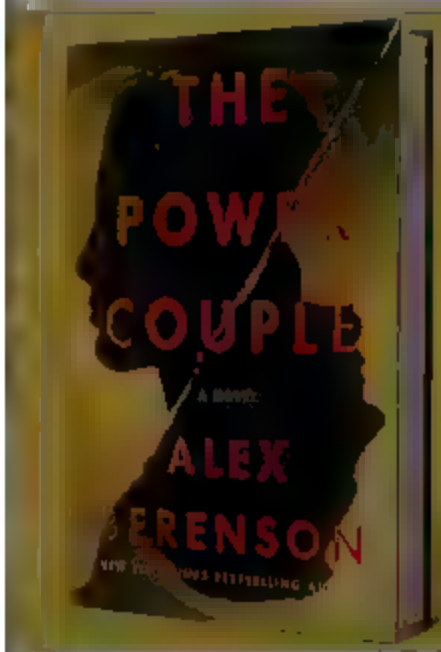
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Apr 2019
Replying to

Bad intel

1 1

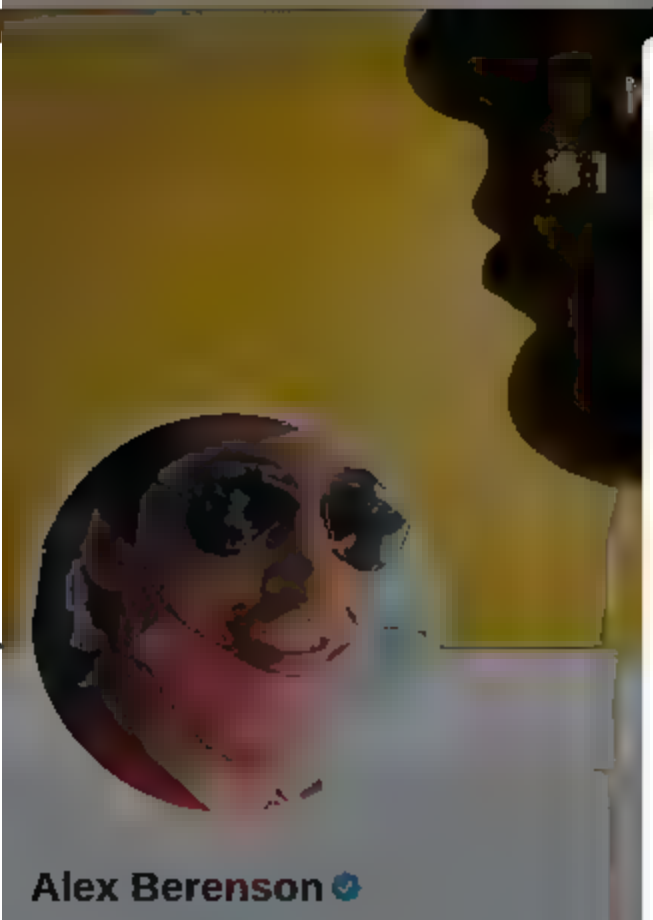
The Real Book Spy @TheRealBookSpy · 23 Apr 2019
Actually, I just went back to my email and turns out, I was totally wrong. It actually said "Wells might return after the pot book and another book... so 2020? 2021?" That's my bad. I should have double-checked

1 2

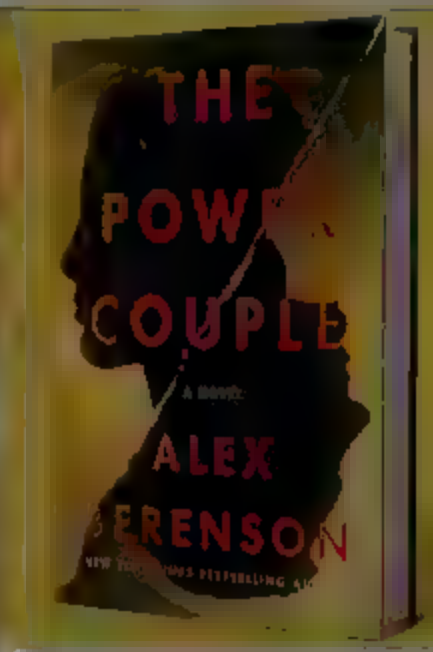


The Real Book Spy @TheRealBookSpy · 23 Apr 2019
Replying to

Wait, really? I thought a certain publisher told me Wells was back next year? I mean, its been a while . . . But that's shocking!



1 1



Julie Proctor @JulieCProctor17 · 23 Apr 2019
Bummer. I miss Wells

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

This is a fascinating tidbit - especially if trends in other high-use/legal states are similar. An ounce of legal cannabis in Oregon can now be had for $35 - there's no way that isn't terrible for mental health.

> KTVZ NewsChannel 21 ✓ @KTVZ
> Oregon set a record in 2018 for the number of criminal defendants who are so mentally ill they cannot stand trial. ktvz.com/news/oregon-se…

12:43 PM - 23 Apr 2019

22 Retweets 29 Likes

9 22 29

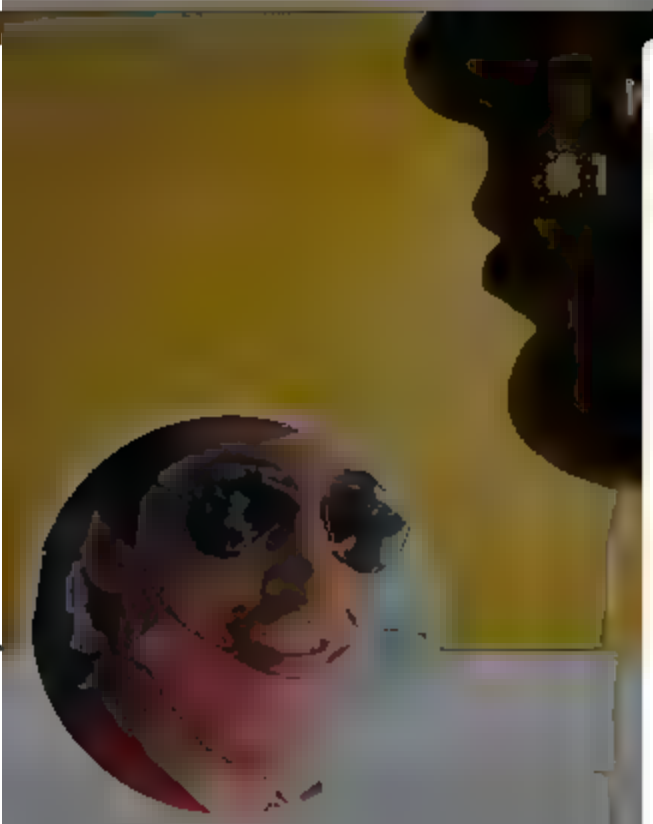
Judy Margulies @judymdotcom · 23 Apr 2019
Replying to
Might you give me a reference for the $35.00 figure?

1

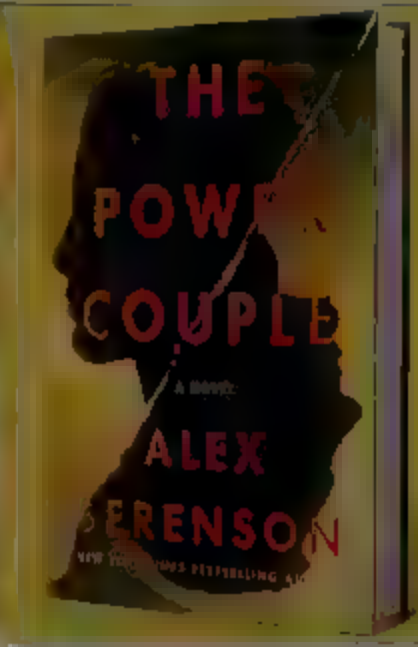
Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 23 Apr 2019
Here's $40. A couple of days ago someone posted on Twitter a photo of a sign from Oregon advertising $35 ounces, though I can't find it now. Deflation is definitely alive and well in the cannabis business.

3 2 2

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 23 Apr 2019
Replying to



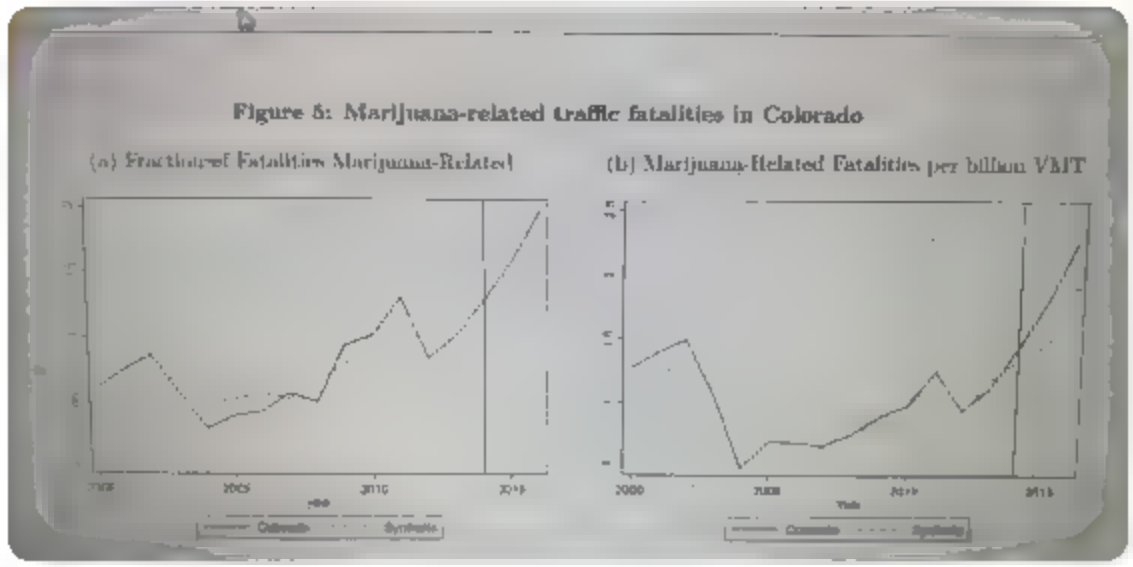
Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

If it isn't clear at this point: @berconomics isn't arguing so loudly because I've said anything inaccurate. He's arguing because I haven't. He never did answer my question. (And I doubt he will.) But, really, these charts tell the tale. Until next time:

2:01 PM - 22 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

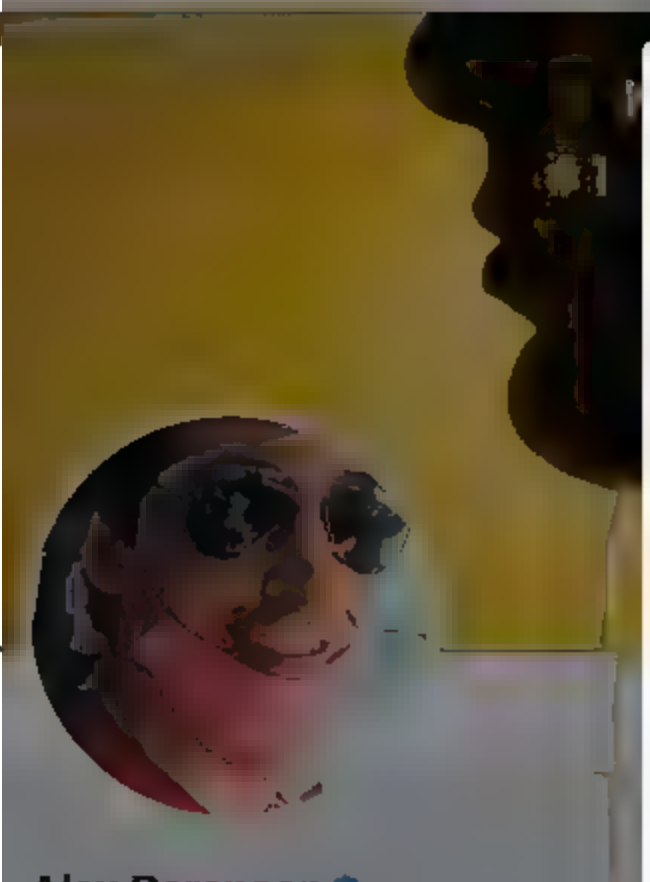
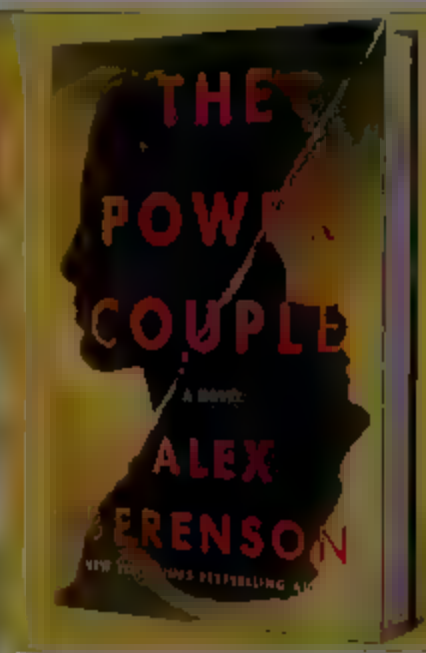
2 2 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

So @DanaRohrabacher dislikes Tell Your Children almost as much as @germanrlopez. Must be doing something right. I've always been lucky in my enemies.

8:47 PM - 22 Apr 2019

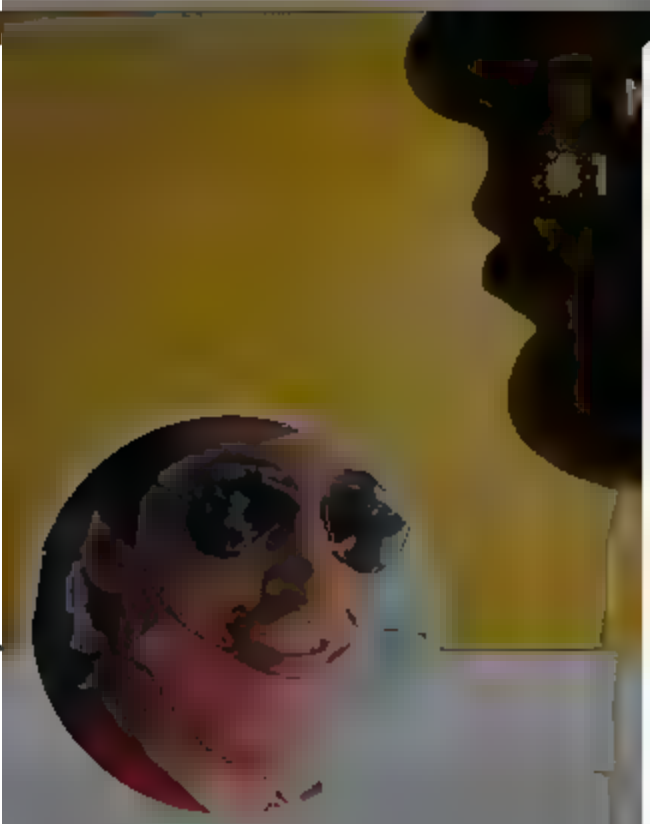
4 Likes

5 4

This Tweet is unavailable.

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 23 Apr 2019
The sad prohibitionists cant answer the science that show cannabis dials down prodisease influences. Lil Anslinger Alex Berenson keeps trolling 4 harms but science isnt cooperating.

The TERFeling Singalberries @Ragnarogatory · 23 Apr 2019
Replying to
How about your allies? This anti-LGBT hate group in NJ is glad to be on your side.



This Tweet is unavailable.

2

The TERFeling Singalberries @Ragnarogatory · 23 Apr 2019

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

To be clear: federal data on drug use by drivers in accidents is incomplete, at best. But that fact has nothing to do with the way [redacted] presented his finding. He claimed he could explain away the topline numbers showing a huge increase in THC-linked driving deaths...

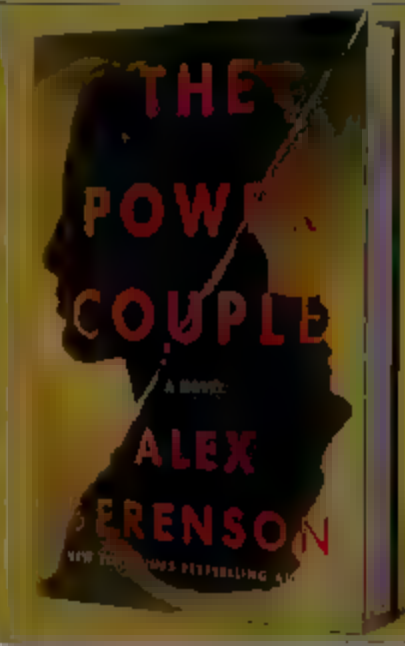
3 2 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

When in reality his paper showed EXACTLY THE OPPOSITE. It showed a large gap remained even after he had massaged the data. He did something similar with the violence data (though there he went further and used the wrong dataset).

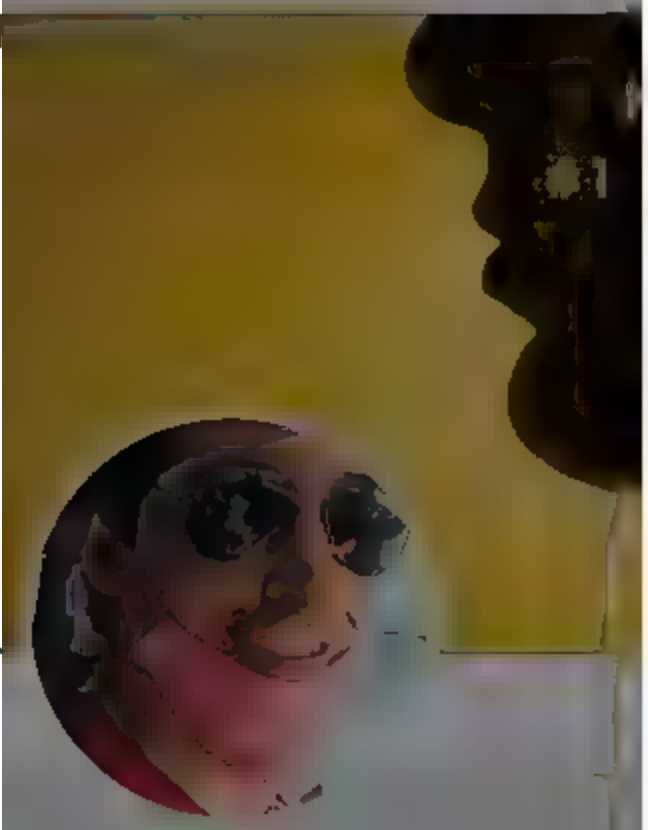
1 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Follow

Ben can do what he likes. The problem comes when cannabis journalists who want to discredit Tell Your Children pretend that his papers and graphs are more accurate than the book's hard numbers. (And the fact that these are not just statistical quirks - they are very real deaths.)



1:26 PM - 22 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

2 1 6

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

To be clear, we observe a large fraction of the increase in the estimated counterfactuals, and we cannot reject the Ho that ALL of the increase would be expected in the actual counterfactual. You don't like the precision in our language but that's language SCIENCE uses.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Super-simple question, Ben. I'm a simple guy, I like simple questions. Why didn't you include the "actual counterfactual" figure for the synthetic comparator to Colorado in your 42-page paper? That was the whole point of the paper, right?

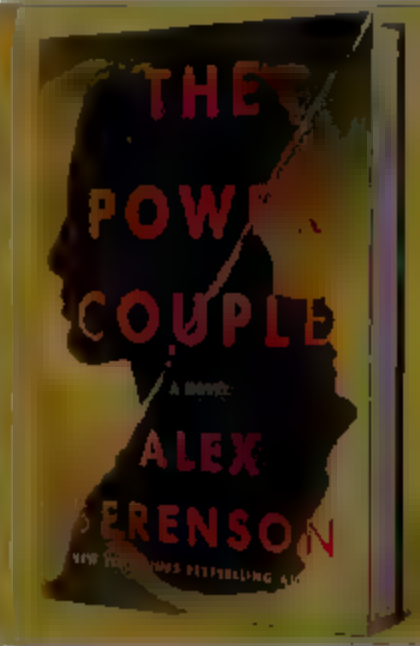
1:31 PM - 22 Apr 2019

3

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 22 Apr 2019
Replying to

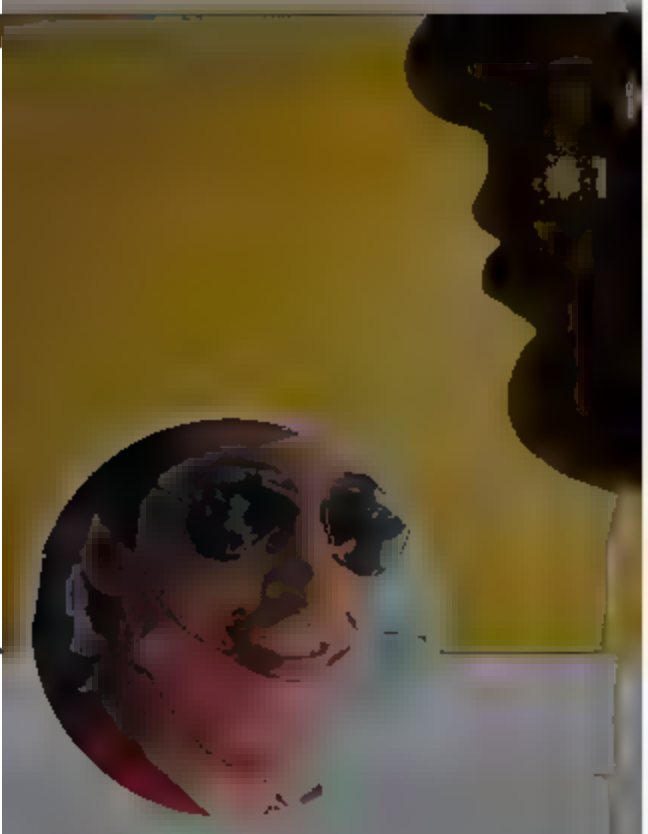
Here's the thing. WE NEVER KNOW ACTUAL COUNTERFACTUALS. To know what what have happened without legalization you need a time machine or a portals to alternate dimensions. You can assume a counterfactual (what you do with the whole US).

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
So you just made up all the numbers in the chart on page 28, Ben? Because those suggest you had "actual counterfactuals" to plug in. I'd have a lot (okay, a little) more respect for you if you just admitted the, erm, actual non-counterfactual facts.

3



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 22 Apr 2019
Replying to

You can estimate one using past data and weights. But you never know what

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Here's the thing. WE NEVER KNOW ACTUAL COUNTERFACTUALS. To know what what have happened without legalization you need a time machine or a portals to alternate dimensions. You can assume a counterfactual (what you do with the whole US).

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

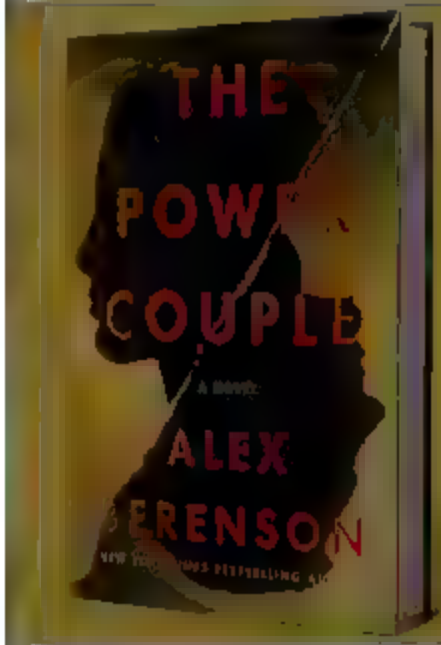
So you just made up all the numbers in the chart on page 28, Ben? Because those suggest you had "actual counterfactuals" to plug in. I'd have a lot (okay, a little) more respect for you if you just admitted the, erm, actual non-counterfactual facts.

1:50 PM - 22 Apr 2019

3

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 22 Apr 2019

Replying to

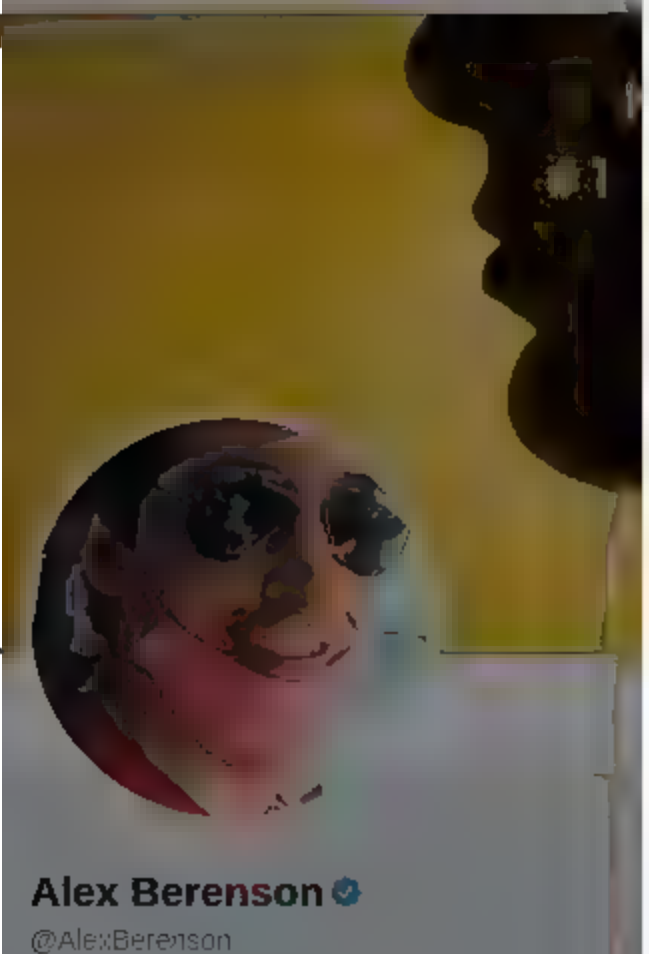


At this point, you are trying to split hairs about something you clearly don't understand. So I'm going to teach. My silence is just that I'm teaching, not that I'm admitting anything. Maybe you should join our class remotely. Its about counterfactuals.

3

Timandjerry @Timandjerry420 · 23 Apr 2019

Replying to

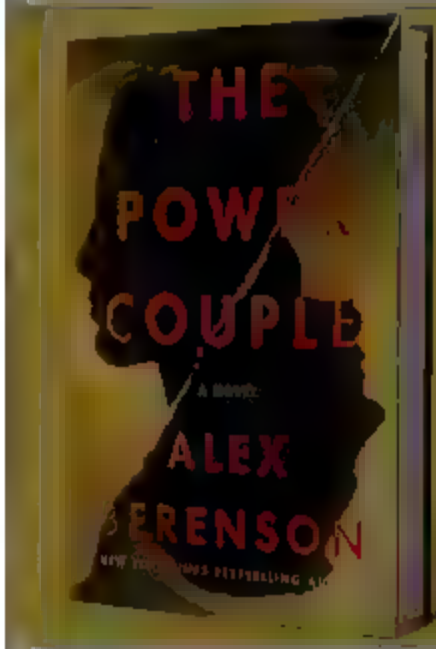


What's your obsession with about man? Little envious that he actually understands how science works?
No need to make such a fool of yourself, there's a reason people spend a lot of time and even whole careers on that stuff. Stick to your trade or do your homework.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

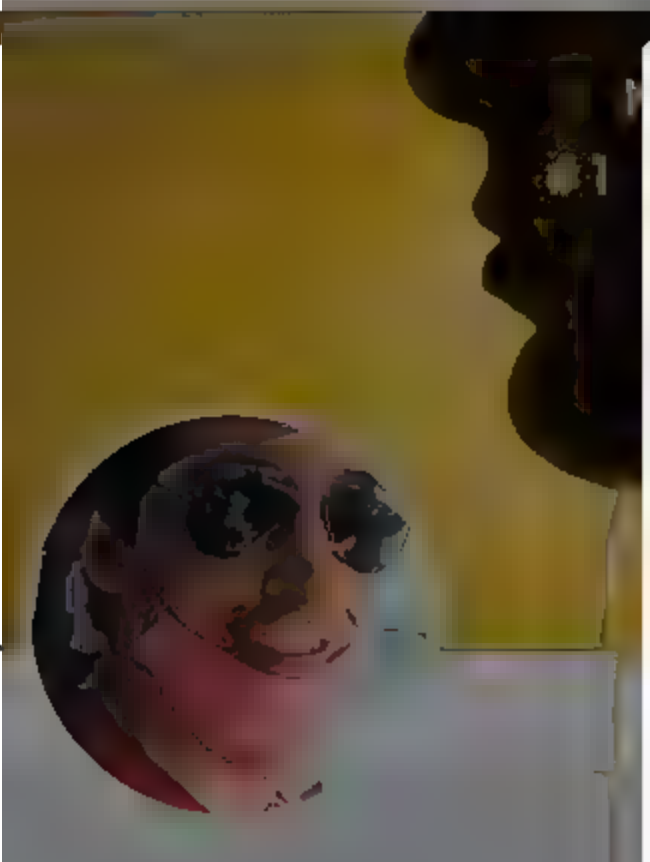
Thanks @IdreesCrawley - hope you find Tell Your Children interesting, @IsmailRoyer. The psychiatric risks of cannabis hit every race and religion.

●●●○○ AT&T LTE 4:06 PM 86%

Tweet

2 1 16

Idrees Siddique Crawley
@IdreesCrawley



Replying to @IsmailRoyer

Disagree. I think it should carry time, but not years. I grew up around users and have seen the damage it causes, although let the supporters tell it, there are no negatives. Have you read the book Tell Your Children by Alex Berenson? Great book brother

1:11 PM - 22 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

1 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

To be clear: federal data on drug use by drivers in accidents is incomplete, at best. But that fact has nothing to do with the way [redacted] presented his finding. He claimed he could explain away the topline numbers showing a huge increase in THC-linked driving deaths...

3 2 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

When in reality his paper showed EXACTLY THE OPPOSITE. It showed a large gap remained even after he had massaged the data. He did something similar with the violence data (though there he went further and used the wrong dataset).

1:20 PM - 22 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

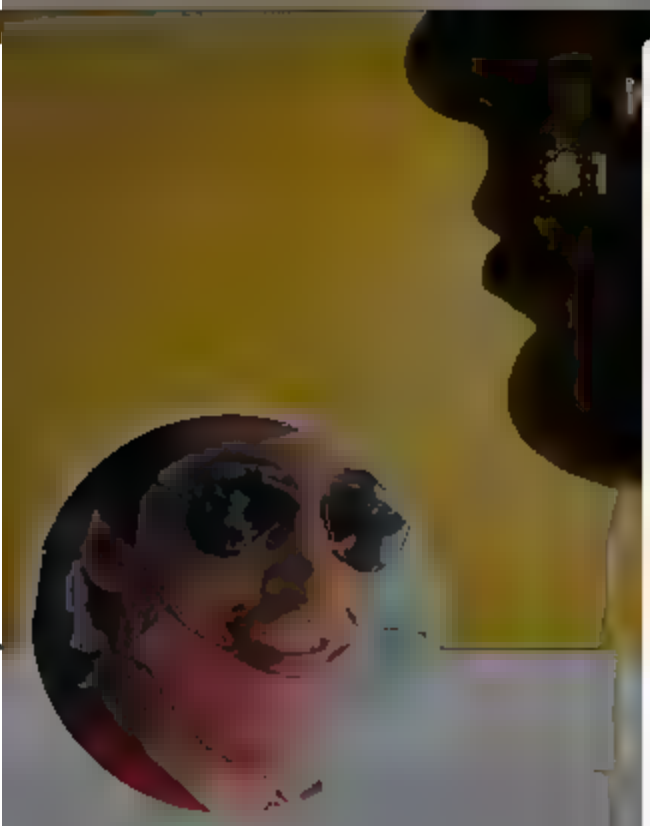
1 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

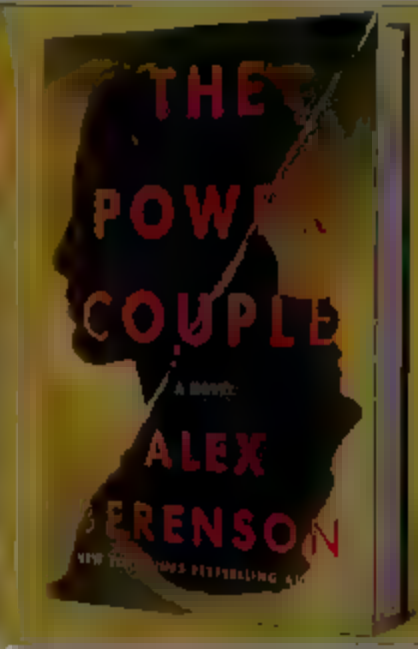


Ben can do what he likes. The problem comes when cannabis journalists who want to discredit Tell Your Children pretend that his papers and graphs are more accurate than the book's hard numbers. (And the fact that these are not just statistical quirks - they are very real deaths.)

2 1 6

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

To be clear: federal data on drug use by drivers in accidents is incomplete, at best. But that fact has nothing to do with the way @benconomics presented his finding. He claimed he could explain away the topline numbers showing a huge increase in THC-linked driving deaths...

1:18 PM - 22 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 5 Likes

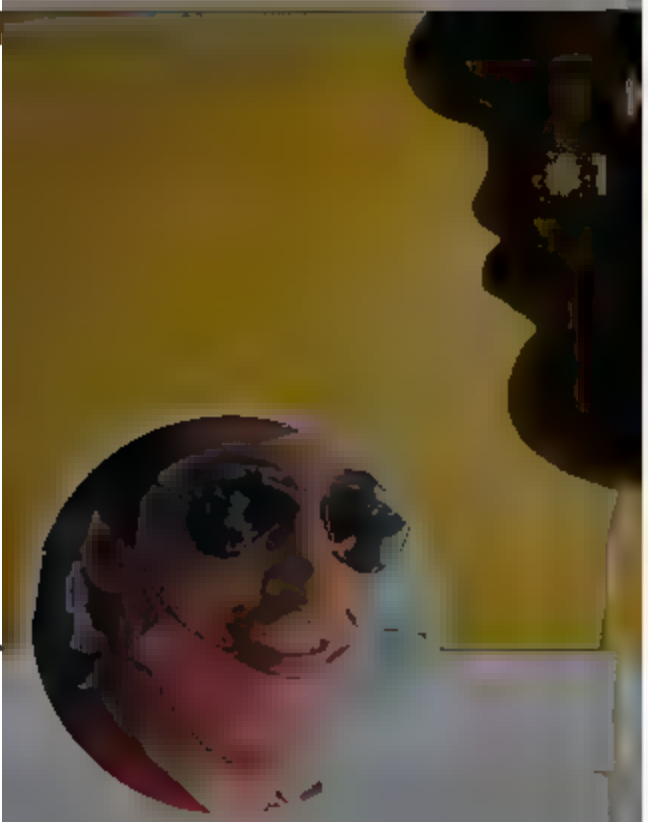
3 2 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
When in reality his paper showed EXACTLY THE OPPOSITE. It showed a large gap remained even after he had massaged the data. He did something similar with the violence data (though there he went further and used the wrong dataset).



1 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
Ben can do what he likes. The problem comes when cannabis journalists who want to discredit Tell Your Children pretend that his papers and graphs are more accurate than the book's hard numbers. (And the fact that these are not just statistical quirks - they are very real deaths.)

2 1 6

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 22 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
To be clear, we observe a large fraction of the increase in the estimated counterfactuals, and we cannot reject the Ho that ALL of the increase would be

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

60 percent of this increase [in THC-associated deaths] is caused by the legalization."
You read that right. Ben's himself found THC-linked deaths would have risen half as fast if CO hadn't legalized.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

18/ What? How can a doubling in the rate of increase be "similar?" Well, because Ben only had a couple of years of data, the statistical errors around the estimates were large, so he couldn't rule out that the huge rise in Colorado was due to chance.

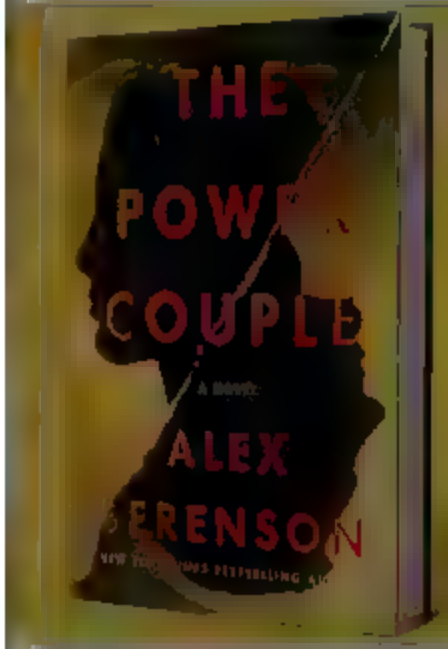
10:11 AM - 22 Apr 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

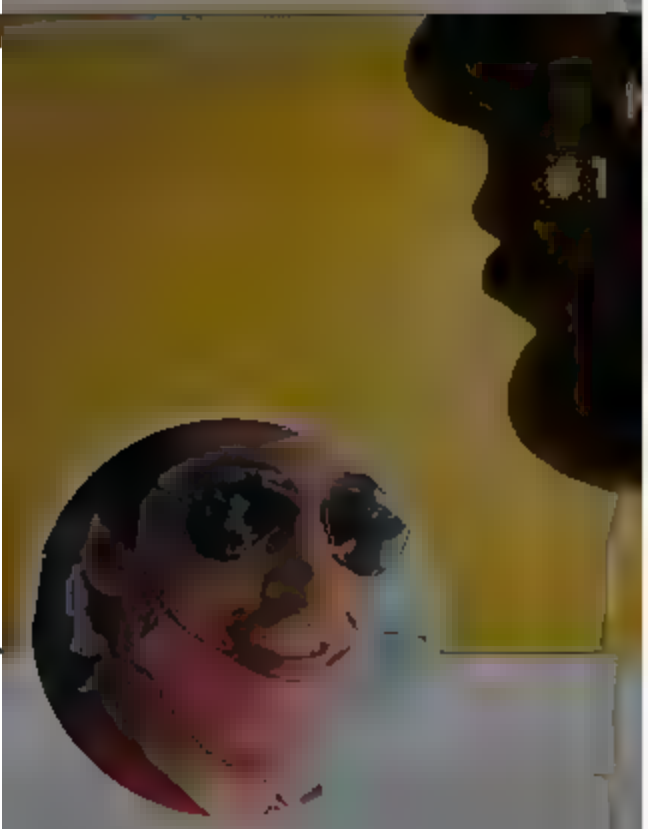
19/ But that doesn't mean that the difference WAS due to chance. An honest interpretation of these findings would be, there's a bad trend in Colorado, and even when we correct using statistical tools, it remains large. More data might confirm it.

1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

20/ Instead, Ben danced between the statistical raindrops to call the findings "similar" – and thus misled anyone who didn't comb through the paper to see what he actually found. Why? Only he knows.



Over to you, Ben.

15 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

legalization."
You read that right. Ben's himself found THC-linked deaths would have risen half as fast if CO hadn't legalized.

1 1

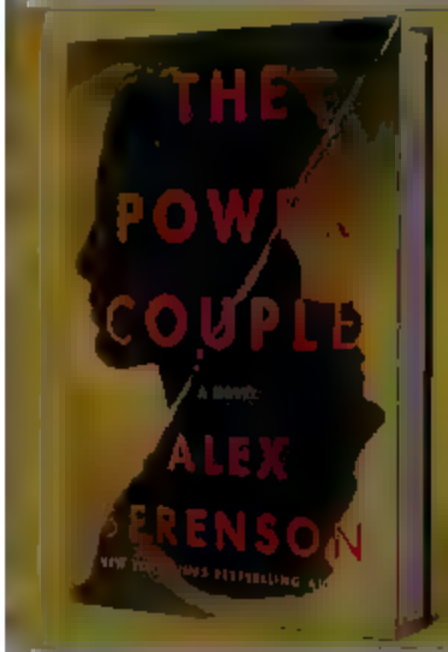
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
18/ What? How can a doubling in the rate of increase be "similar?" Well, because Ben only had a couple of years of data, the statistical errors around the estimates were large, so he couldn't rule out that the huge rise in Colorado was due to chance.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

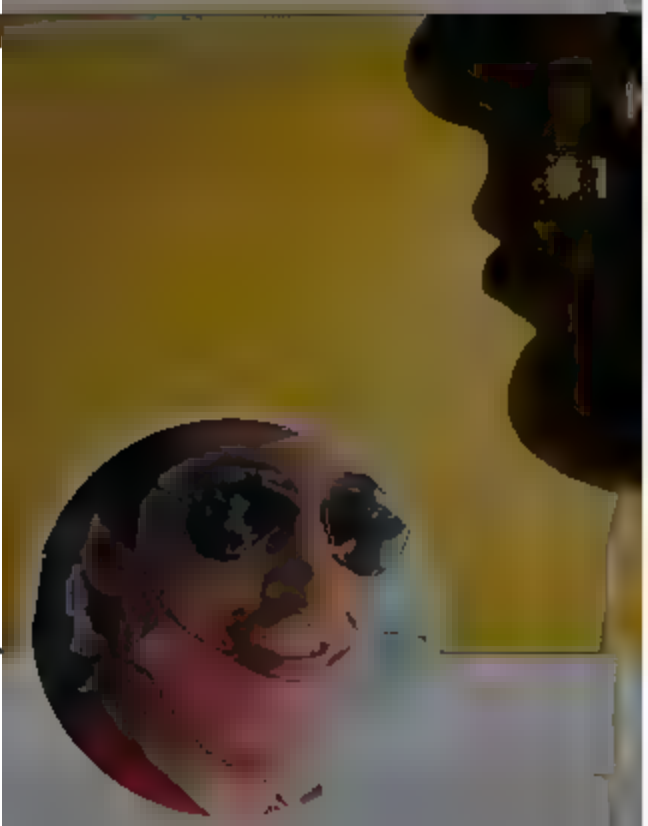
19/ But that doesn't mean that the difference WAS due to chance. An honest interpretation of these findings would be, there's a bad trend in Colorado, and even when we correct using statistical tools, it remains large. More data might confirm it.

10:13 AM - 22 Apr 2019



1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
20/ Instead, Ben danced between the statistical raindrops to call the findings "similar" – and thus misled anyone who didn't comb through the paper to see what he actually found. Why? Only he knows.

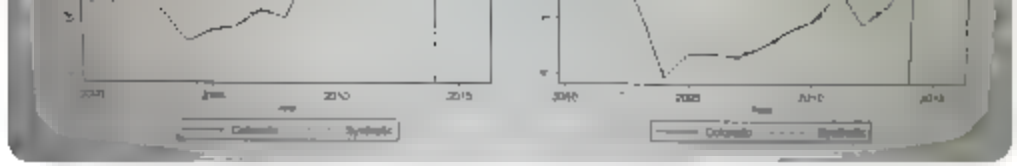


Over to you, Ben.

15 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

39 45 108

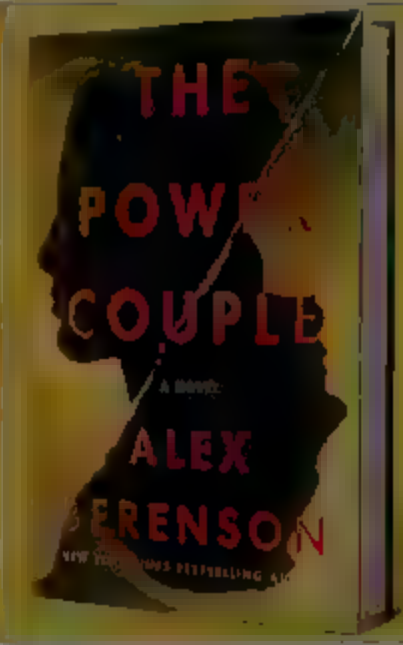
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

17/ The other clue is on page 11 - where Ben wrote that his work suggests "45 to 60 percent of this increase [in THC-associated deaths] is caused by the legalization."
You read that right. Ben's himself found THC-linked deaths would have risen half as fast if CO hadn't legalized.

10:11 AM - 22 Apr 2019

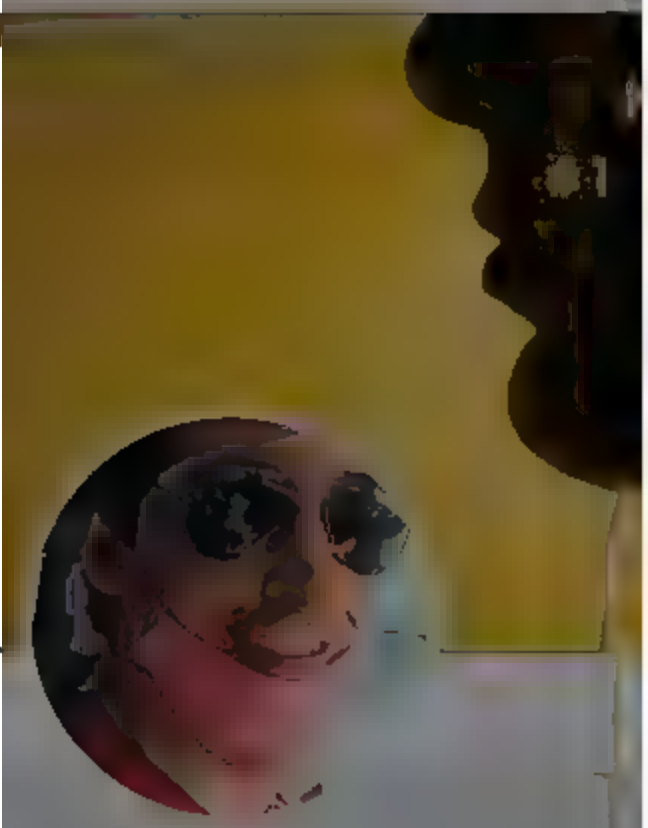
1 Like

1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
18/ What? How can a doubling in the rate of increase be "similar?" Well, because Ben only had a couple of years of data, the statistical errors around the estimates were large, so he couldn't rule out that the huge rise in Colorado was due to chance.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
19/ But that doesn't mean that the difference WAS due to chance. An honest interpretation of these findings would be, there's a bad trend in Colorado, and even when we correct using statistical tools, it remains large. More data might confirm it.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
20/ Instead, Ben danced between the statistical raindrops to call the findings "similar" – and thus misled anyone who didn't comb through the paper to see

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

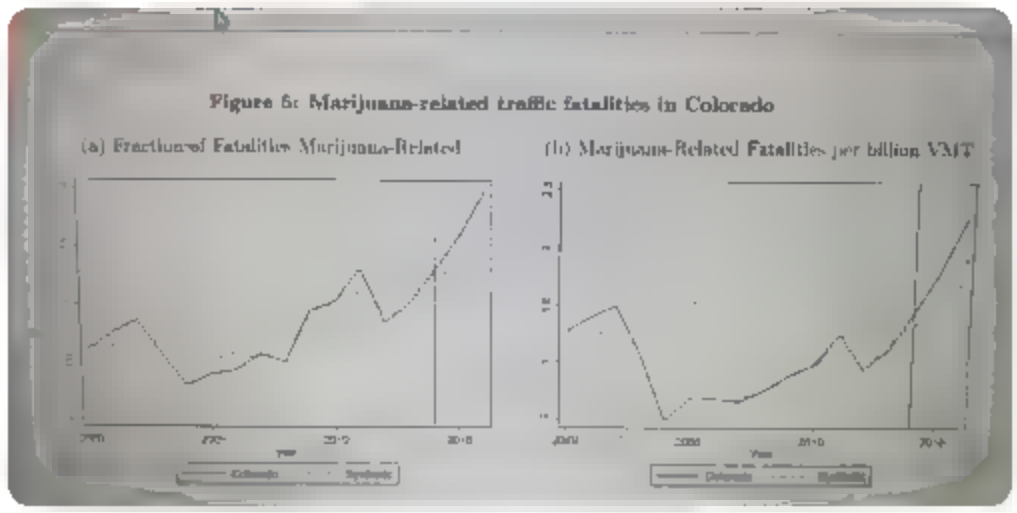
New York

Joined November 2009

14/ Luckily, Ben does give us two clues to his actual results. One comes on page 28, Figure 5(a), which includes a chart showing what fraction of fatalities were cannabis-related in Colorado versus the "synthetic comparator." As we know, CO nearly doubled from 2013 to 2016.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



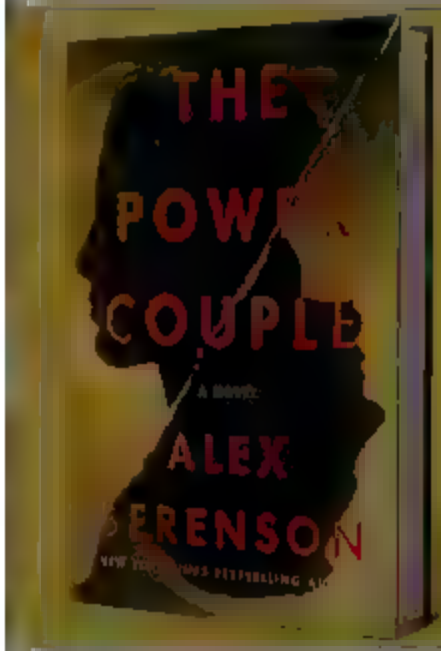
15/ The synthetic? Not so much. The two lines – which move in lockstep before 2013 (as they were designed to do) – break apart afterwards. It looks like THC-related deaths in the comparator rose about 40 percent after 2013 – less than half as much as they rose in the real CO.

10:08 AM - 22 Apr 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

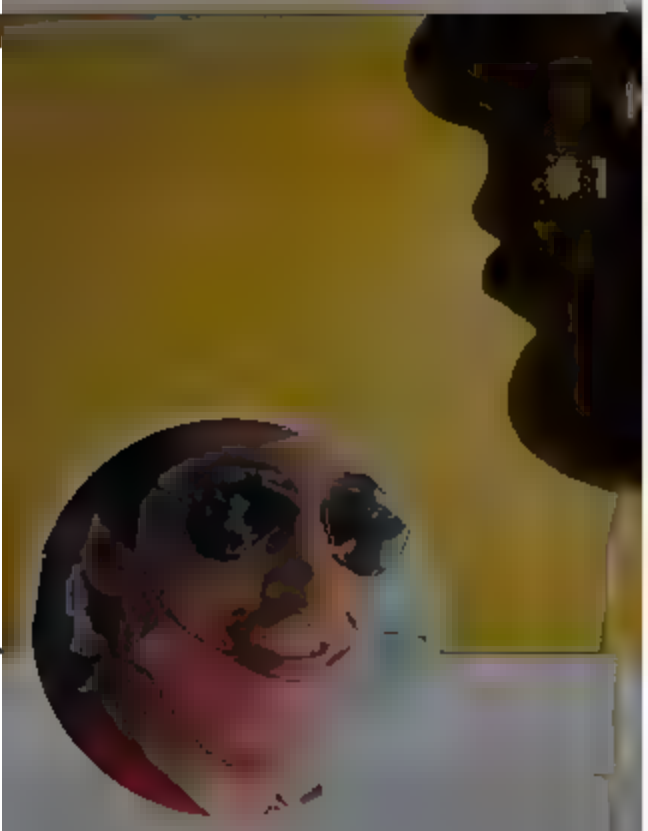
Judge for yourself:



39 45 108

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

17/ The other clue is on page 11 - where Ben wrote that his work suggests "45 to 60 percent of this increase [in THC-associated deaths] is caused by the legalization."



You read that right. Ben's himself found THC-linked deaths would have risen half

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

13/ But somehow, nowhere in that pile of facts is the ONE figure you might expect: how much THC-associated driving deaths rose post-2013 in his comparator, the one that is supposed to match Colorado as closely as possible. It's nowhere, and believe me, I looked.

3

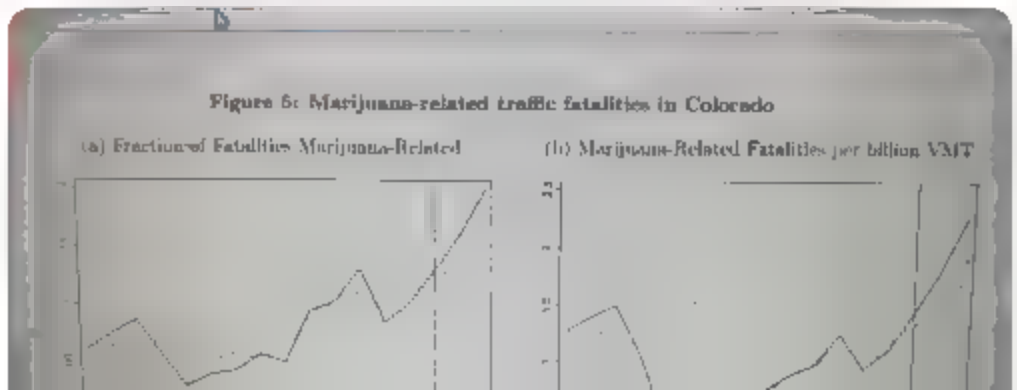
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

14/ Luckily, Ben does give us two clues to his actual results. One comes on page 28, Figure 5(a), which includes a chart showing what fraction of fatalities were cannabis-related in Colorado versus the "synthetic comparator." As we know, CO nearly doubled from 2013 to 2016.

10:07 AM - 22 Apr 2019

1 Retweet

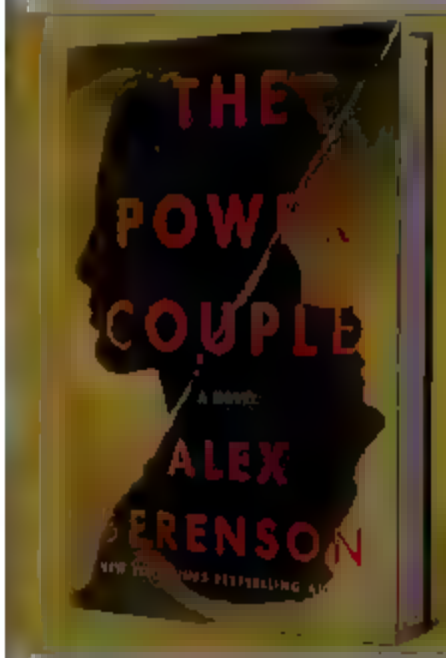
1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

15/ The synthetic? Not so much. The two lines – which move in lockstep before 2013 (as they were designed to do) – break apart afterwards. It looks like THC-related deaths in the comparator rose about 40 percent after 2013 – less than half as much as they rose in the real CO.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

Judge for yourself:

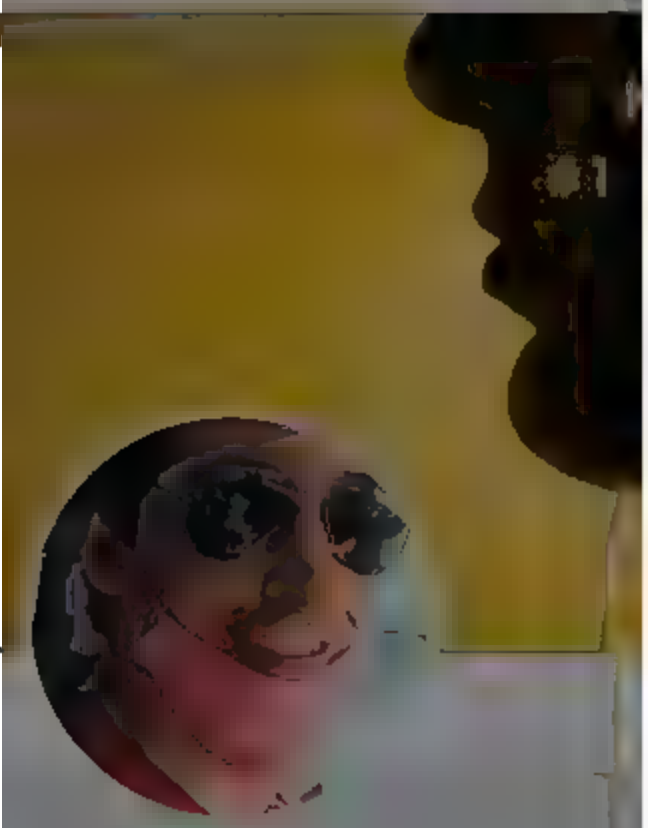


Figure 5: Marijuana-related traffic fatalities in Colorado

(a) Fractional Fatalities Marijuana-Related

(b) Marijuana-Related Fatalities per billion VMT

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Only that's not exactly what Ben actually found. He went to the trouble of creating these "synthetic" states – and writing a 43-page paper filled with charts and tables.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

13/ But somehow, nowhere in that pile of facts is the ONE figure you might expect: how much THC-associated driving deaths rose post-2013 in his comparator, the one that is supposed to match Colorado as closely as possible. It's nowhere, and believe me, I looked.

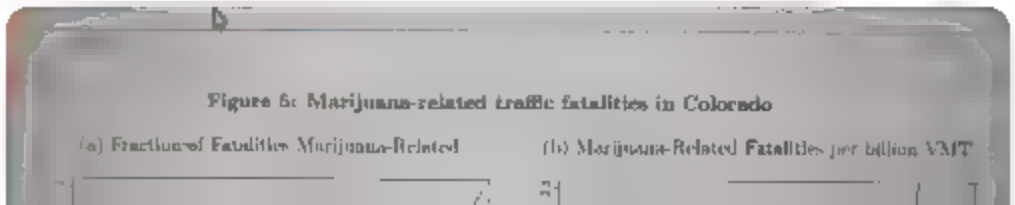
10:04 AM - 22 Apr 2019

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

14/ Luckily, Ben does give us two clues to his actual results. One comes on page 28, Figure 5(a), which includes a chart showing what fraction of fatalities were cannabis-related in Colorado versus the "synthetic comparator." As we know, CO nearly doubled from 2013 to 2016.

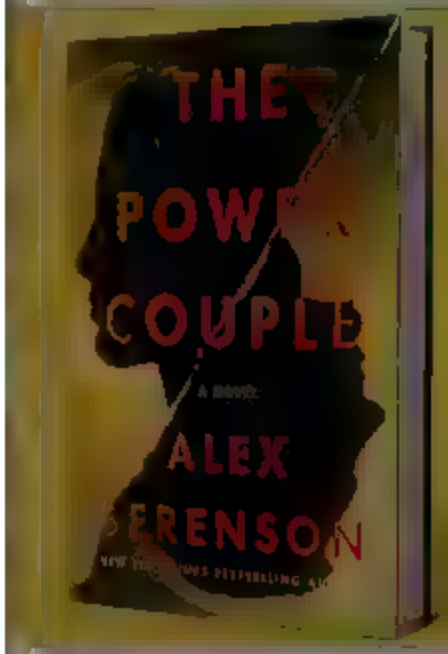
1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

15/ The synthetic? Not so much. The two lines – which move in lockstep before 2013 (as they were designed to do) – break apart afterwards. It looks like THC-related deaths in the comparator rose about 40 percent after 2013 – less than half as much as they rose in the real CO.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

Judge for yourself:

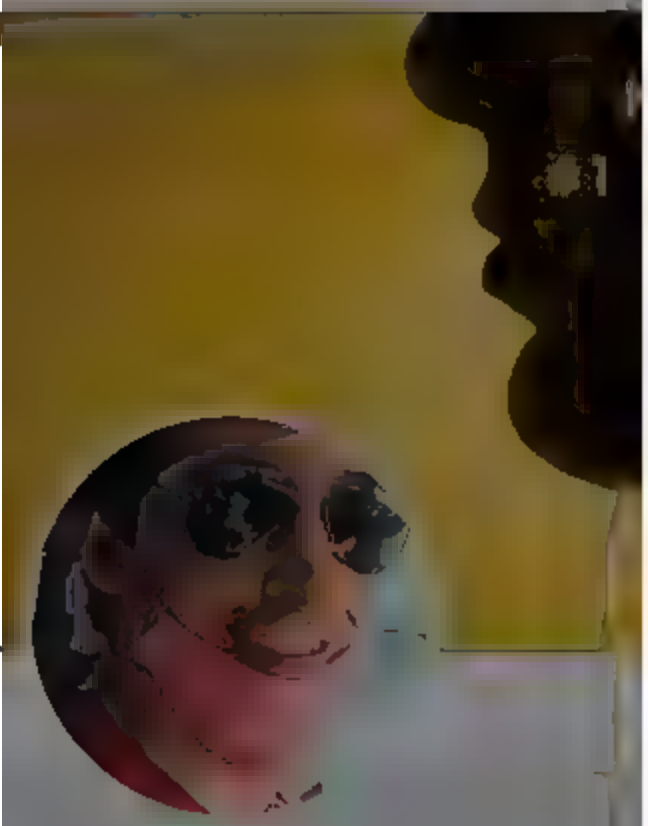


Figure 5: Marijuana-related traffic fatalities in Colorado

(a) Fraction of Fatalities Marijuana-Related

(b) Marijuana-Related Fatalities per billion VMT

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

11/ "We find the synthetic control groups saw similar increases [in marijuana-related fatality rates] despite not legalizing recreational marijuana," he wrote. Quoted in an article, Hansen went further, calling the changes in the real states and his comparators "very similar."

1

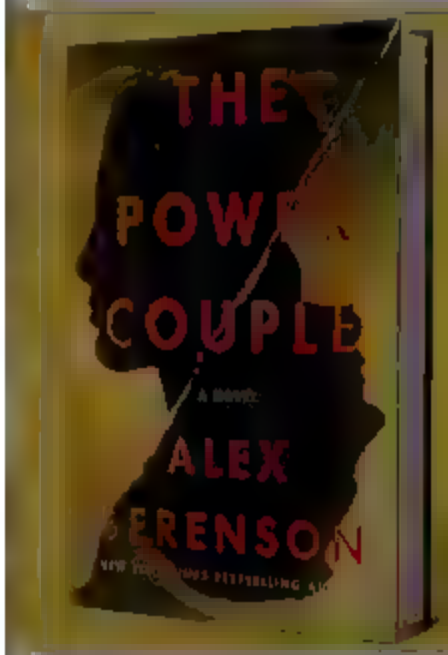
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

12/ In other words: nothing to see here. No need to worry. The deaths would have happened anyway.

Only that's not exactly what Ben actually found. He went to the trouble of creating these "synthetic" states – and writing a 43-page paper filled with charts and tables.

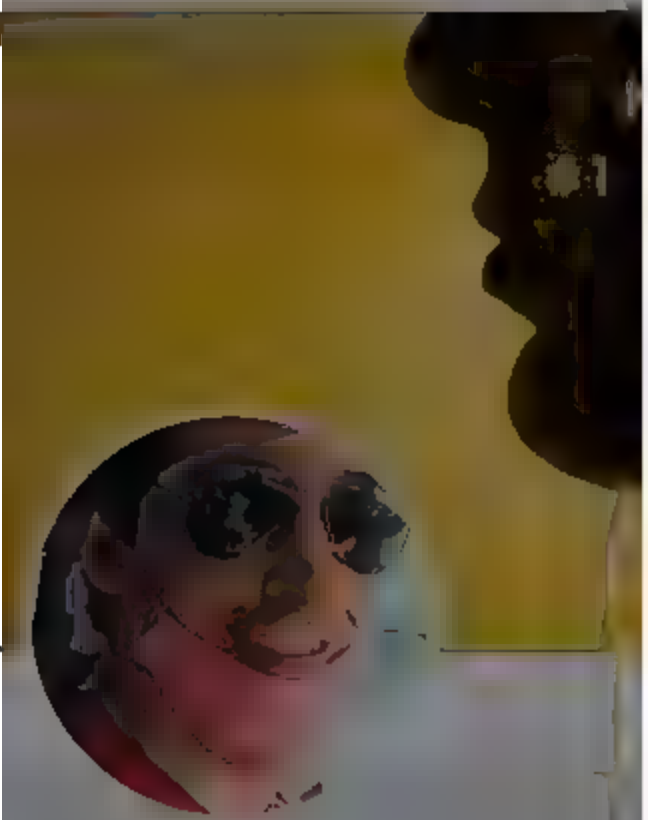
10:03 AM - 22 Apr 2019

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
13/ But somehow, nowhere in that pile of facts is the ONE figure you might expect: how much THC-associated driving deaths rose post-2013 in his comparator, the one that is supposed to match Colorado as closely as possible. It's nowhere, and believe me, I looked.

3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
14/ Luckily, Ben does give us two clues to his actual results. One comes on page 28, Figure 5(a), which includes a chart showing what fraction of fatalities were cannabis-related in Colorado versus the "synthetic comparator." As we know, CO nearly doubled from 2013 to 2016.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
15/ The synthetic? Not so much. The two lines – which move in lockstep before 2013 (as they were designed to do) – break apart afterwards. It looks like THC-related deaths in the comparator rose about 40 percent after 2013 – less than

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

10/ But put that issue aside for now, and take Ben's paper at face value. Once Ben reanalyzed the data, he found the most troubling finding – that legalized produced a marked increase in THC-associated deaths in Colorado – wasn't real.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

11/ "We find the synthetic control groups saw similar increases [in marijuana-related fatality rates] despite not legalizing recreational marijuana," he wrote. Quoted in an article, Hansen went further, calling the changes in the real states and his comparators "very similar."

10:02 AM - 22 Apr 2019

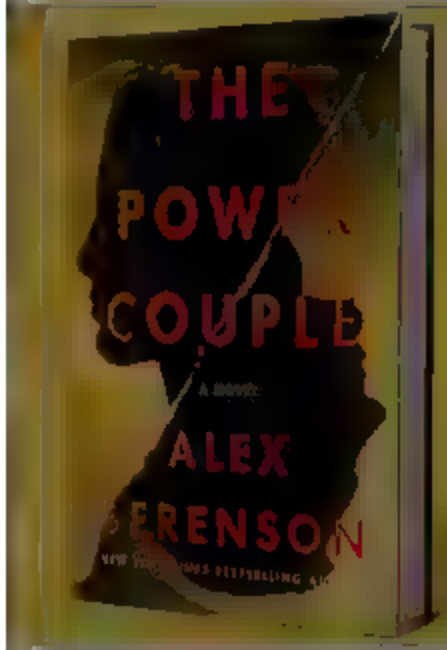
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

12/ In other words: nothing to see here. No need to worry. The deaths would have happened anyway.

Only that's not exactly what Ben actually found. He went to the trouble of creating these "synthetic" states – and writing a 43-page paper filled with charts and tables.

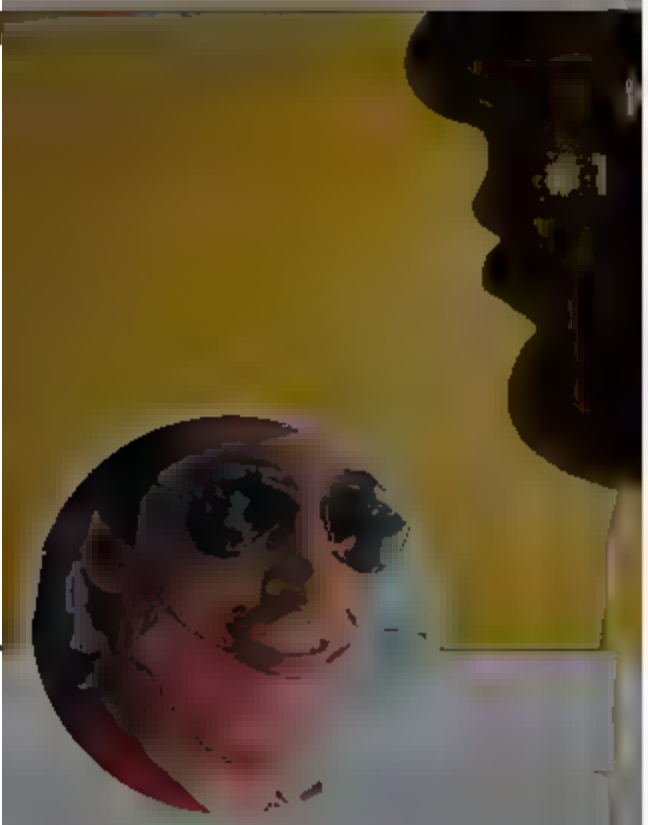
1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

13/ But somehow, nowhere in that pile of facts is the ONE figure you might expect: how much THC-associated driving deaths rose post-2013 in his comparator, the one that is supposed to match Colorado as closely as possible. It's nowhere, and believe me, I looked.

3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

14/ Luckily, Ben does give us two clues to his actual results. One comes on page 28, Figure 5(a), which includes a chart showing what fraction of fatalities were cannabis-related in Colorado versus the "synthetic comparator." As we know, CO

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

9/ This approach offers the kind of pseudo-precision that [illegible] rails against. For reasons I'll explain another time, it is unnecessary and problematic in many cases, including this one; simply comparing the actual states to the actual United States generally works better.

3 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

10/ But put that issue aside for now, and take Ben's paper at face value. Once Ben reanalyzed the data, he found the most troubling finding – that legalized produced a marked increase in THC-associated deaths in Colorado – wasn't real.

10:00 AM - 22 Apr 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

11/ "We find the synthetic control groups saw similar increases [in marijuana-related fatality rates] despite not legalizing recreational marijuana," he wrote. Quoted in an article, Hansen went further, calling the changes in the real states and his comparators "very similar."

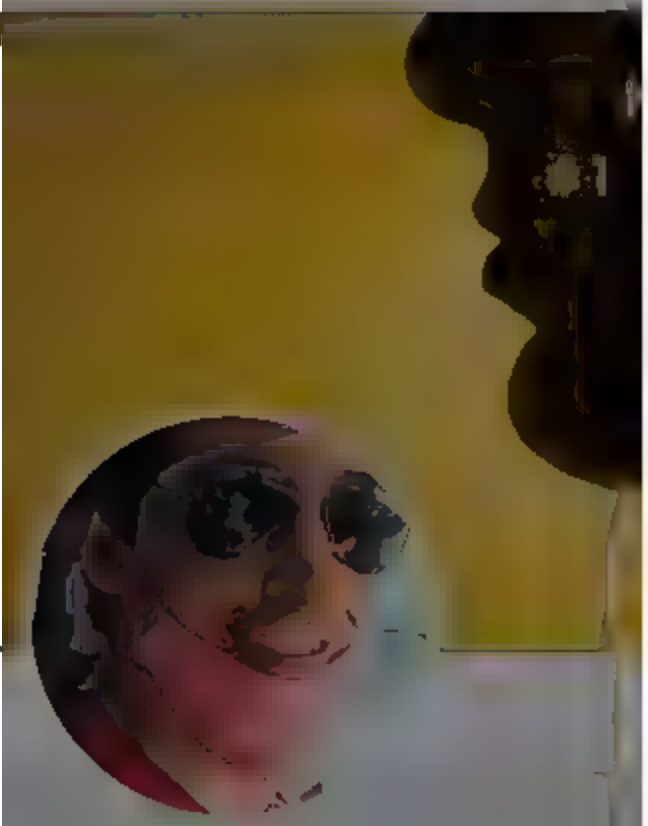
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

12/ In other words: nothing to see here. No need to worry. The deaths would have happened anyway.

Only that's not exactly what Ben actually found. He went to the trouble of creating these "synthetic" states – and writing a 43-page paper filled with charts and tables.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

13/ But somehow, nowhere in that pile of facts is the ONE figure you might expect: how much THC-associated driving deaths rose post-2013 in his comparator, the one that is supposed to match Colorado as closely as possible. It's nowhere, and believe me, I looked.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

8/ A 9x higher change in CO sounds like cause for concern. But Ben reanalyzed the data by creating a "synthetic comparator" that supposedly matched Colorado's results before legalization, then checking whether the state and "synthetic comparator" diverged after legalization.

4

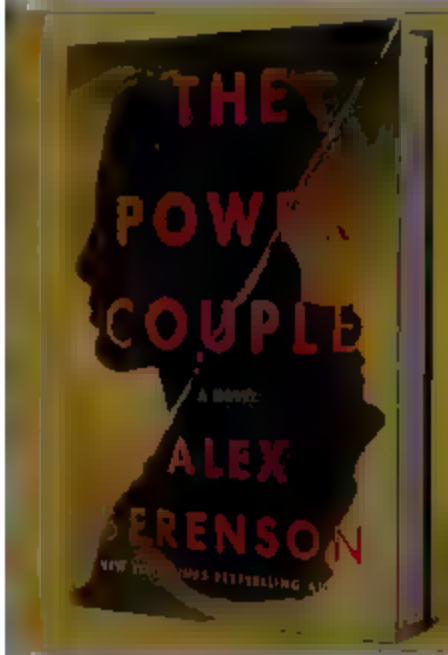
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

9/ This approach offers the kind of pseudo-precision that @nassimtaleb rails against. For reasons I'll explain another time, it is unnecessary and problematic in many cases, including this one; simply comparing the actual states to the actual United States generally works better.

9:59 AM - 22 Apr 2019

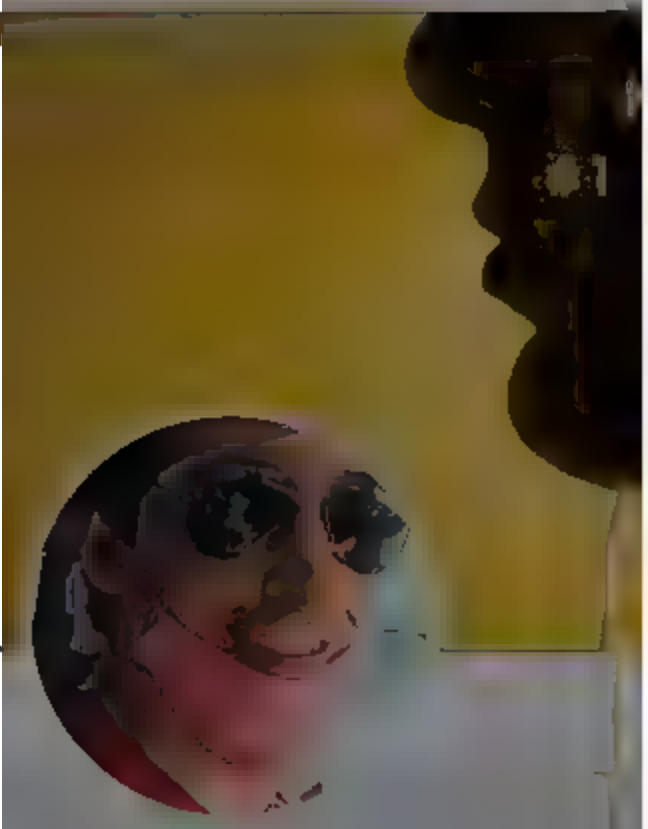
3 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
10/ But put that issue aside for now, and take Ben's paper at face value. Once Ben reanalyzed the data, he found the most troubling finding – that legalized produced a marked increase in THC-associated deaths in Colorado – wasn't real.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
11/ "We find the synthetic control groups saw similar increases [in marijuana-related fatality rates] despite not legalizing recreational marijuana," he wrote. Quoted in an article, Hansen went further, calling the changes in the real states and his comparators "very similar."



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
12/ In other words: nothing to see here. No need to worry. The deaths would have happened anyway.

Only that's not exactly what Ben actually found. He went to the trouble of creating these "synthetic" states – and writing a 43-page paper filled with charts

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

7/ If you're slightly confused by this way of presenting the facts, I understand. In plain English, in 2013, about one in eight Colorado fatal crashes involved a driver who had THC in his blood. By 2016, that number was nearer one in five. Meanwhile, the US increase was only 10%.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

8/ A 9x higher change in CO sounds like cause for concern. But Ben reanalyzed the data by creating a "synthetic comparator" that supposedly matched Colorado's results before legalization, then checking whether the state and "synthetic comparator" diverged after legalization.

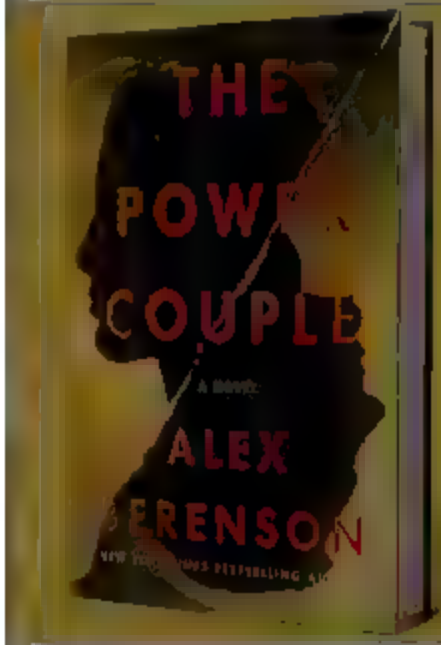
9:59 AM - 22 Apr 2019

4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

9/ This approach offers the kind of pseudo-precision that [illegible] rails against. For reasons I'll explain another time, it is unnecessary and problematic in many cases, including this one; simply comparing the actual states to the actual United States generally works better.

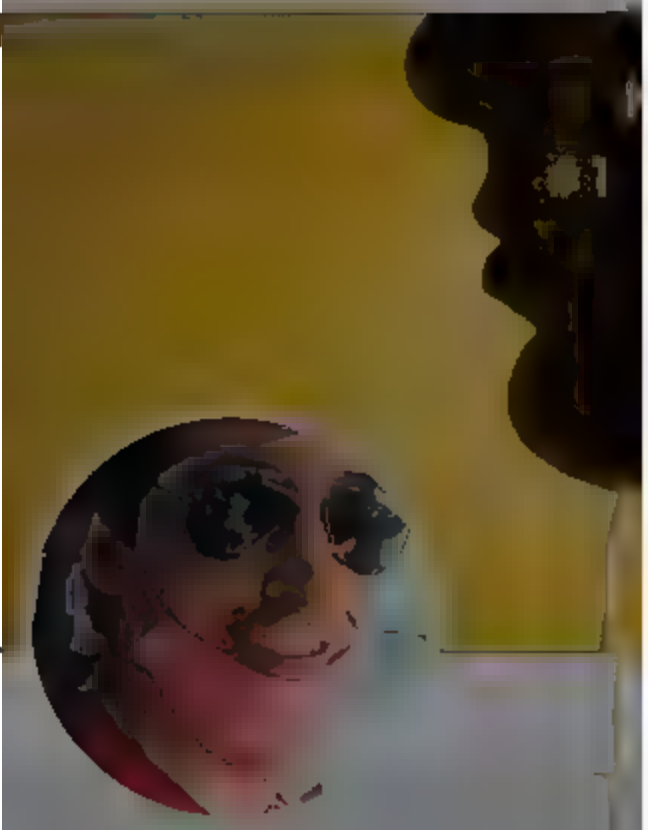
3 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

10/ But put that issue aside for now, and take Ben's paper at face value. Once Ben reanalyzed the data, he found the most troubling finding – that legalized produced a marked increase in THC-associated deaths in Colorado – wasn't real.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

11/ "We find the synthetic control groups saw similar increases [in marijuana-related fatality rates] despite not legalizing recreational marijuana," he wrote. Quoted in an article, Hansen went further, calling the changes in the real states and his comparators "very similar."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5/ But in reality, driving deaths are soaring in the first states to legalize recreationally (from <1300 in '13 to >1800 last year). Many of those drivers were using cannabis. In CO, fatal crashes in which cannabinoids were found in a driver's blood went from 58 to 137 in 2017.

2 3 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

6/ Sounds bad. But in a 2018 paper, Ben looked at crash data from Colorado (and Washington) from 2013 to 2016. He noted that the percentage of fatal accidents where a driver had THC in his or her blood rose 92 percent in Colorado relative to overall fatal accidents.

9:57 AM - 22 Apr 2019

2 1

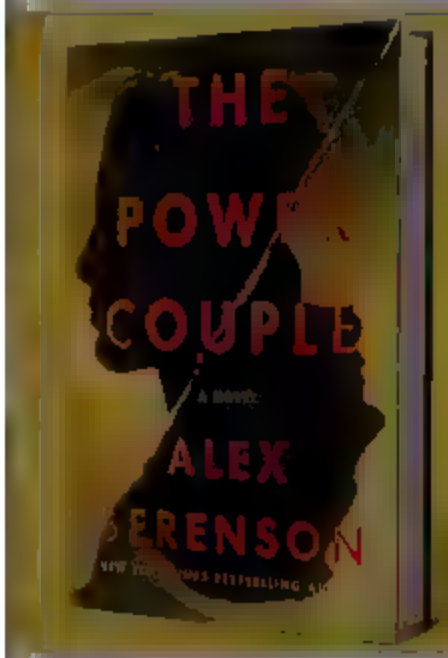
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

7/ If you're slightly confused by this way of presenting the facts, I understand. In plain English, in 2013, about one in eight Colorado fatal crashes involved a driver who had THC in his blood. By 2016, that number was nearer one in five. Meanwhile, the US increase was only 10%.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

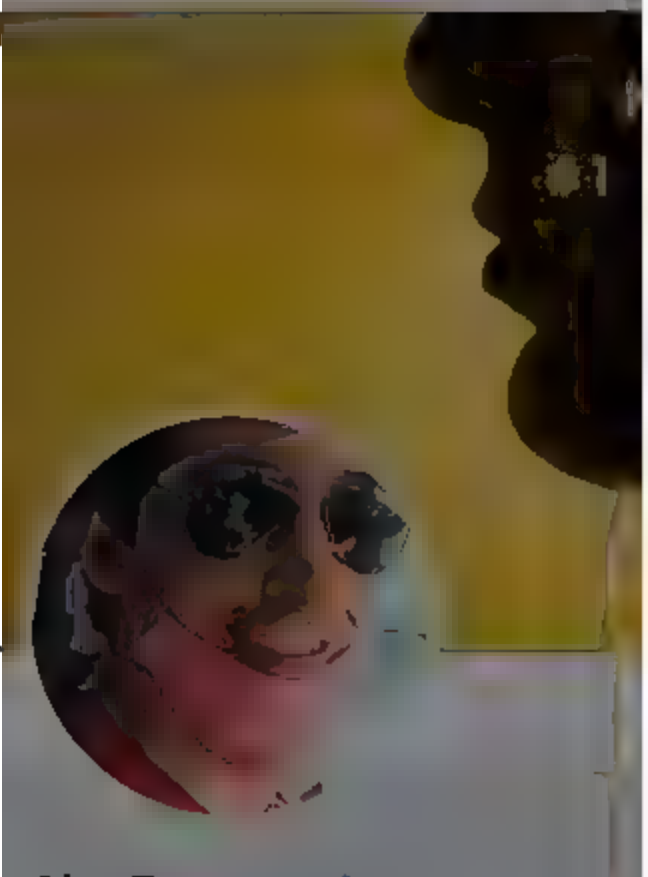
8/ A 9x higher change in CO sounds like cause for concern. But Ben reanalyzed the data by creating a "synthetic comparator" that supposedly matched Colorado's results before legalization, then checking whether the state and "synthetic comparator" diverged after legalization.



4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

9/ This approach offers the kind of pseudo-precision that [illegible] rails against. For reasons I'll explain another time, it is unnecessary and problematic in many cases, including this one; simply comparing the actual states to the actual United States generally works better.



3 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

6/ Sounds bad. But in a 2018 paper, Ben looked at crash data from Colorado (and Washington) from 2013 to 2016. He noted that the percentage of fatal accidents where a driver had THC in his or her blood rose 92 percent in Colorado relative to overall fatal accidents.

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

7/ If you're slightly confused by this way of presenting the facts, I understand. In plain English, in 2013, about one in eight Colorado fatal crashes involved a driver who had THC in his blood. By 2016, that number was nearer one in five. Meanwhile, the US increase was only 10%.

9:58 AM - 22 Apr 2019

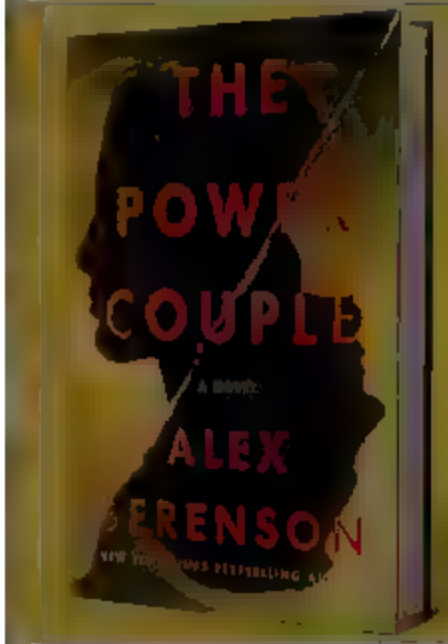
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

8/ A 9x higher change in CO sounds like cause for concern. But Ben reanalyzed the data by creating a "synthetic comparator" that supposedly matched Colorado's results before legalization, then checking whether the state and "synthetic comparator" diverged after legalization.

4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

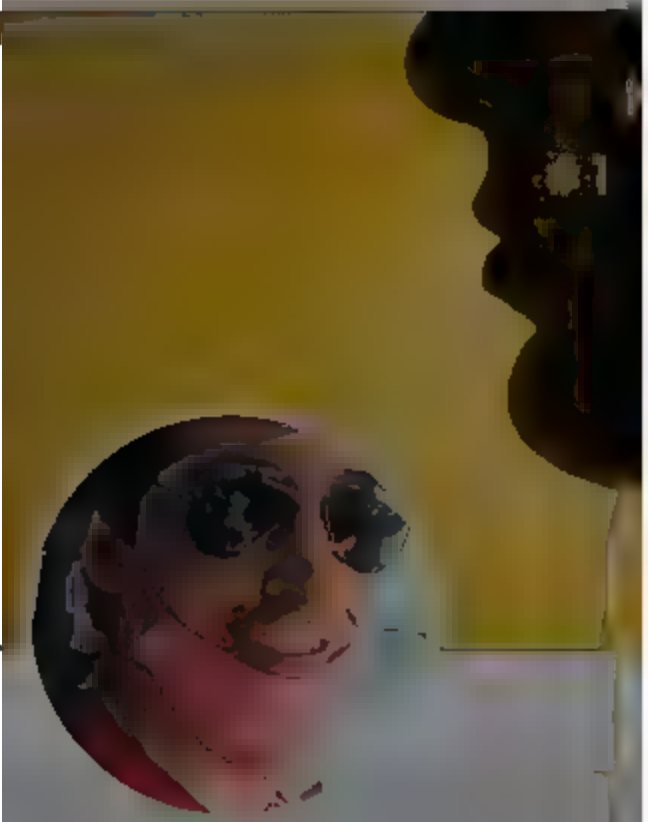


9/ This approach offers the kind of pseudo-precision that [illegible] rails against. For reasons I'll explain another time, it is unnecessary and problematic in many cases, including this one; simply comparing the actual states to the actual United States generally works better.

3 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

10/ But put that issue aside for now, and take Ben's paper at face value. Once Ben reanalyzed the data, he found the most troubling finding – that legalized produced a marked increase in THC-associated deaths in Colorado – wasn't real.



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4/ The background: Cannabis advocates often argue marijuana doesn't impair driving badly - certainly not nearly as badly as alcohol. Thus legalization shouldn't increase road deaths; in the most optimistic version of the story, it might reduce them by reducing drunk driving.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

5/ But in reality, driving deaths are soaring in the first states to legalize recreationally (from <1300 in '13 to >1800 last year). Many of those drivers were using cannabis. In CO, fatal crashes in which cannabinoids were found in a driver's blood went from 58 to 137 in 2017.

9:55 AM - 22 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 1 Like

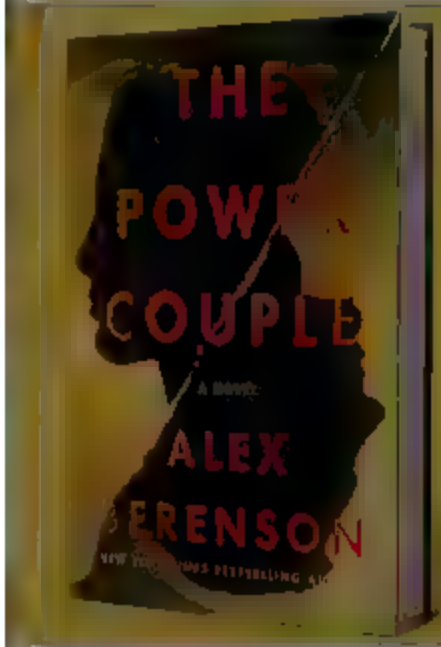
2 3 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

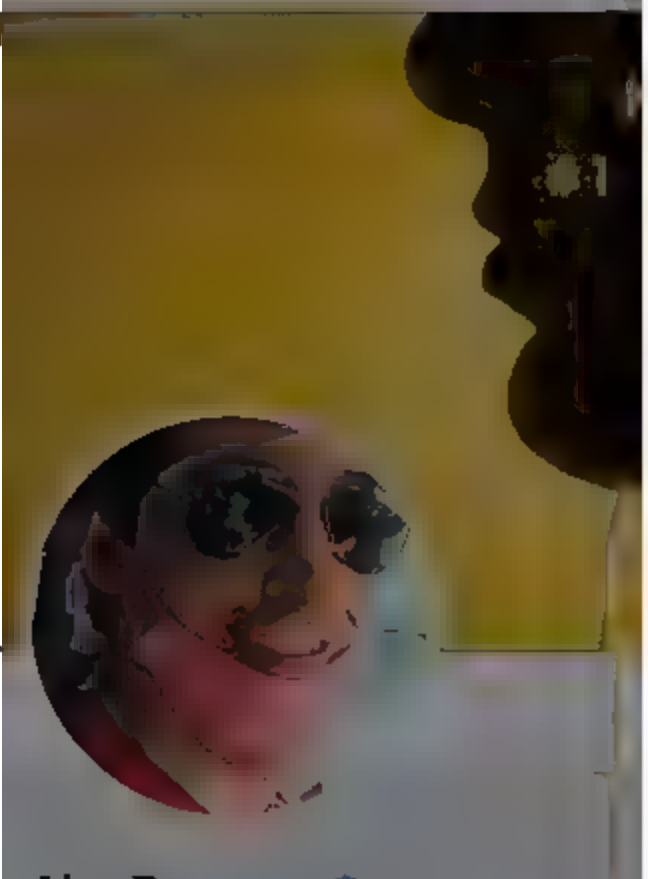
6/ Sounds bad. But in a 2018 paper, Ben looked at crash data from Colorado (and Washington) from 2013 to 2016. He noted that the percentage of fatal accidents where a driver had THC in his or her blood rose 92 percent in Colorado relative to overall fatal accidents.

2 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

7/ If you're slightly confused by this way of presenting the facts, I understand. In plain English, in 2013, about one in eight Colorado fatal crashes involved a driver who had THC in his blood. By 2016, that number was nearer one in five. Meanwhile, the US increase was only 10%.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

8/ A 9x higher change in CO sounds like cause for concern. But Ben reanalyzed the data by creating a "synthetic comparator" that supposedly matched

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
3/ Anyway, here's the problem with the paper. Sorry for the length.

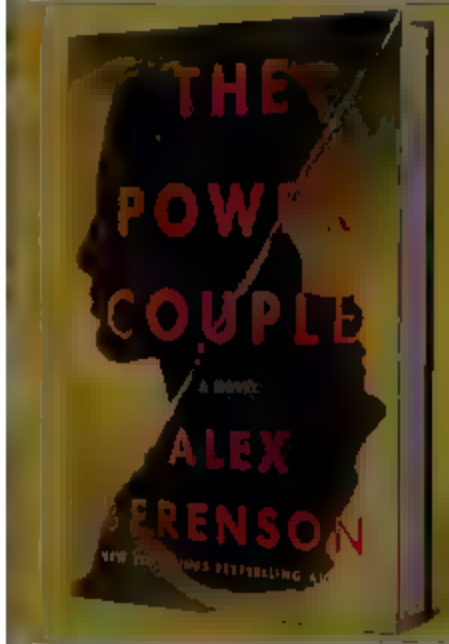
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ The background: Cannabis advocates often argue marijuana doesn't impair driving badly - certainly not nearly as badly as alcohol. Thus legalization shouldn't increase road deaths; in the most optimistic version of the story, it might reduce them by reducing drunk driving.

9:52 AM - 22 Apr 2019

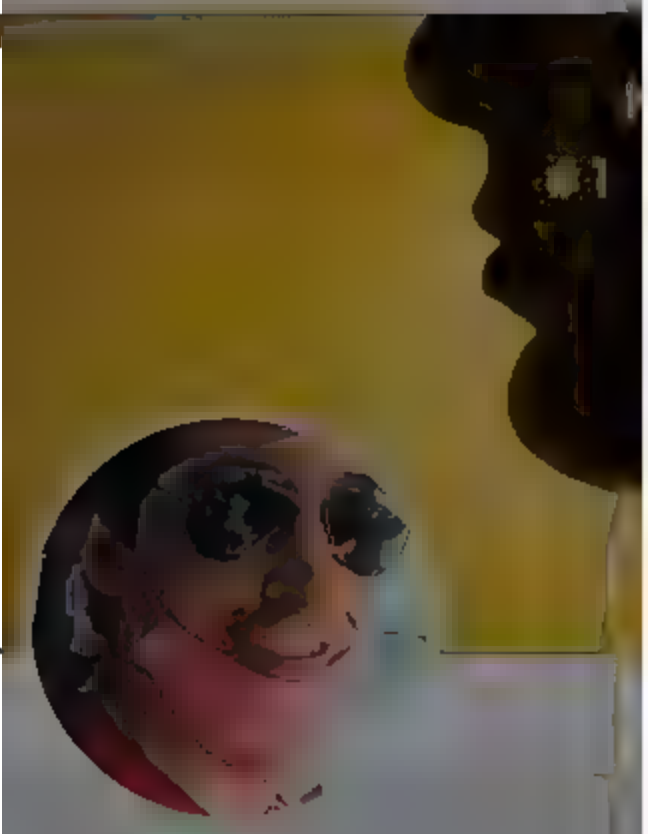
1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
5/ But in reality, driving deaths are soaring in the first states to legalize recreationally (from <1300 in '13 to >1800 last year). Many of those drivers were using cannabis. In CO, fatal crashes in which cannabinoids were found in a driver's blood went from 58 to 137 in 2017.

2 3 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
6/ Sounds bad. But in a 2018 paper, Ben looked at crash data from Colorado (and Washington) from 2013 to 2016. He noted that the percentage of fatal accidents where a driver had THC in his or her blood rose 92 percent in Colorado relative to overall fatal accidents.



2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019
7/ If you're slightly confused by this way of presenting the facts, I understand. In plain English, in 2013, about one in eight Colorado fatal crashes involved a driver who had THC in his blood. By 2016, that number was nearer one in five. Meanwhile, the US increase was only 10%.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

1/ Okay, [redacted] asked me to "enlighten" him about the serious problems with his 2018 paper on cannabis and driving. A strange request, as he must know exactly the elisions he used to present his findings.

2 2 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ They are of a piece with his use of the wrong dataset in his comments about violent crime post-legalization. Taken together, they paint the picture of someone who - for whatever reason - puts a thumb on the scale when he presents data about cannabis.

9:51 AM - 22 Apr 2019

1 Like

2 1

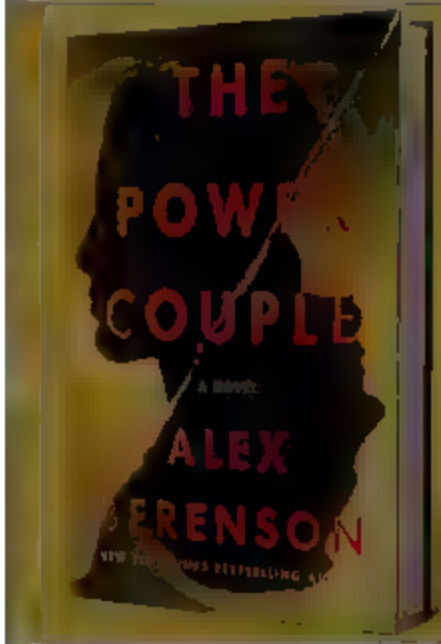
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

3/ Anyway, here's the problem with the paper. Sorry for the length.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

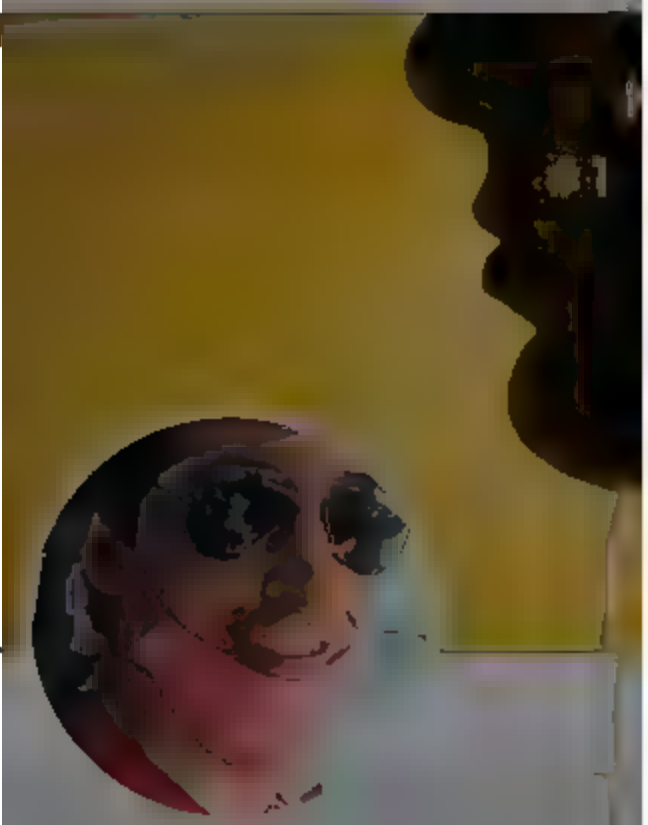
4/ The background: Cannabis advocates often argue marijuana doesn't impair driving badly - certainly not nearly as badly as alcohol. Thus legalization shouldn't increase road deaths; in the most optimistic version of the story, it might reduce them by reducing drunk driving.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

5/ But in reality, driving deaths are soaring in the first states to legalize recreationally (from <1300 in '13 to >1800 last year). Many of those drivers were using cannabis. In CO, fatal crashes in which cannabinoids were found in a driver's blood went from 58 to 137 in 2017.



2 3 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ They are of a piece with his use of the wrong dataset in his comments about violent crime post-legalization. Taken together, they paint the picture of someone who - for whatever reason - puts a thumb on the scale when he presents data about cannabis.

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ Anyway, here's the problem with the paper. Sorry for the length.

9:51 AM - 22 Apr 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

4/ The background: Cannabis advocates often argue marijuana doesn't impair driving badly - certainly not nearly as badly as alcohol. Thus legalization shouldn't increase road deaths; in the most optimistic version of the story, it might reduce them by reducing drunk driving.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

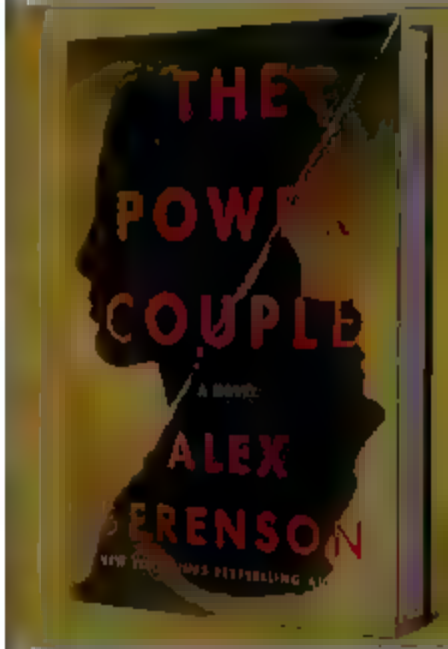
5/ But in reality, driving deaths are soaring in the first states to legalize recreationally (from <1300 in '13 to >1800 last year). Many of those drivers were using cannabis. In CO, fatal crashes in which cannabinoids were found in a driver's blood went from 58 to 137 in 2017.

2 3 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

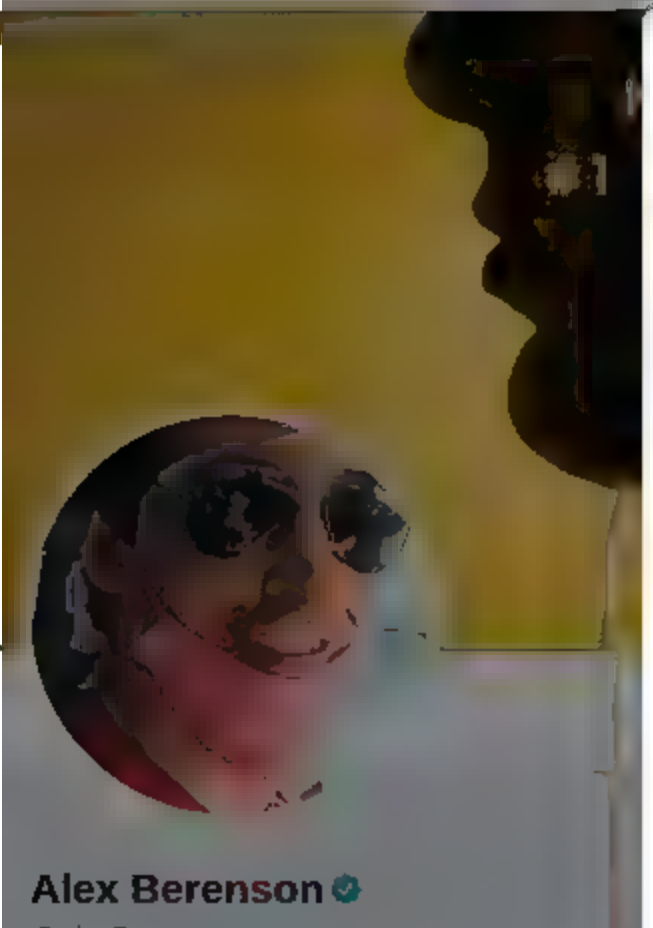
6/ Sounds bad. But in a 2018 paper, Ben looked at crash data from Colorado (and Washington) from 2013 to 2016. He noted that the percentage of fatal accidents where a driver had THC in his or her blood rose 92 percent in Colorado relative to overall fatal accidents.

2 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

7/ If you're slightly confused by this way of presenting the facts, I understand. In plain English, in 2013, about one in eight Colorado fatal crashes involved a driver who had THC in his blood. By 2016, that number was nearer one in five. Meanwhile, the US increase was only 10%.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

In (possibly) non-cannabis related news: if I were a $tsla shareholder, this wouldn't concern me at all...

685 1,627 22.3K

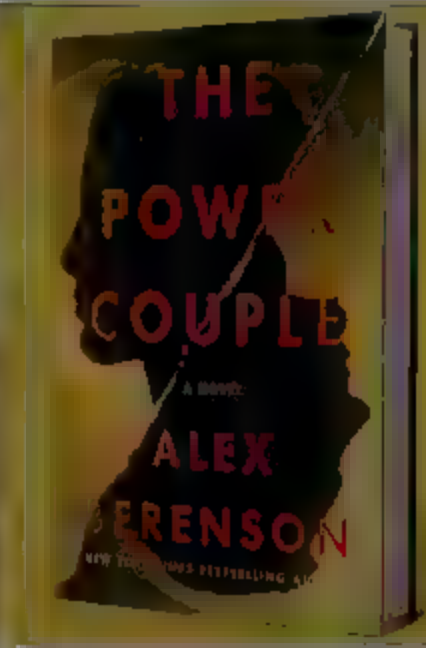
Elon Musk @elonmusk · 7h
The Internet is insane

5,431 32K 187K

Elon Musk @elonmusk · 1d
[?] FTW

2,138 5,590 81.8K

Show this thread



Elon Musk @elonmusk · 1d
Bach is killing it on YouTube

> Elon Musk @elonmusk
> Tesla Sentry Mode will play Bach's Toccata and Fugue during a robbery (and keep Summer safe) > m.youtube.com/watch?v=ho9rZj...

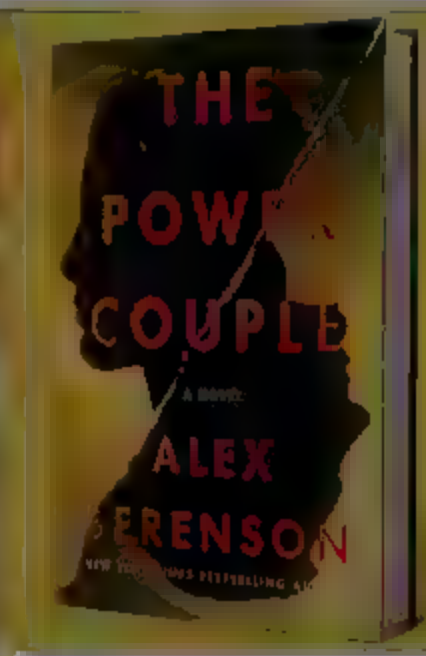
4:59 AM - 21 Apr 2019



3 Likes

4 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Okay, @benecunomics asked me to "enlighten" him about the serious problems with his 2018 paper on cannabis and driving. A strange request, as he must know exactly the elisions he used to present his findings.

9:50 AM - 22 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

2 2 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

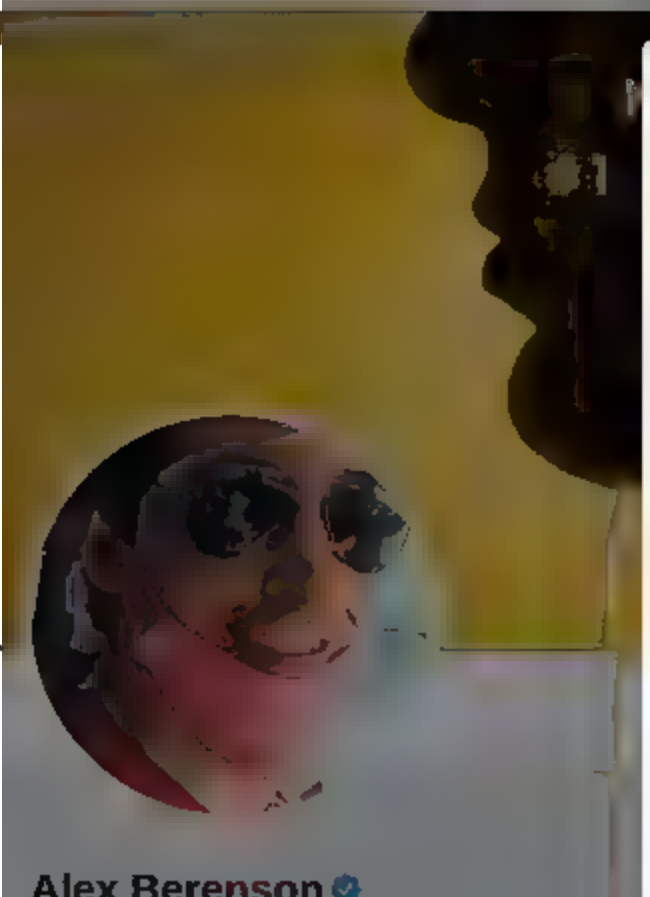
2/ They are of a piece with his use of the wrong dataset in his comments about violent crime post-legalization. Taken together, they paint the picture of someone who - for whatever reason - puts a thumb on the scale when he presents data about cannabis.

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

3/ Anyway, here's the problem with the paper. Sorry for the length.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

4/ The background: Cannabis advocates often argue marijuana doesn't impair driving badly - certainly not nearly as badly as alcohol. Thus legalization shouldn't increase road deaths; in the most optimistic version of the story, it might reduce them by reducing drunk driving.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Apr 2019

5/ But in reality, driving deaths are soaring in the first states to legalize recreationally (from <1300 in '13 to >1800 last year). Many of those drivers were using cannabis. In CO, fatal crashes in which cannabinoids were found in a

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I guess now I don't have to hear anymore about how cannabis can't possibly cause violence because eighty-six people gathered for Hempidiocy 2100 in Des Moines and everyone was so mellow, dude. Happy 420!

5:03 PM - 20 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

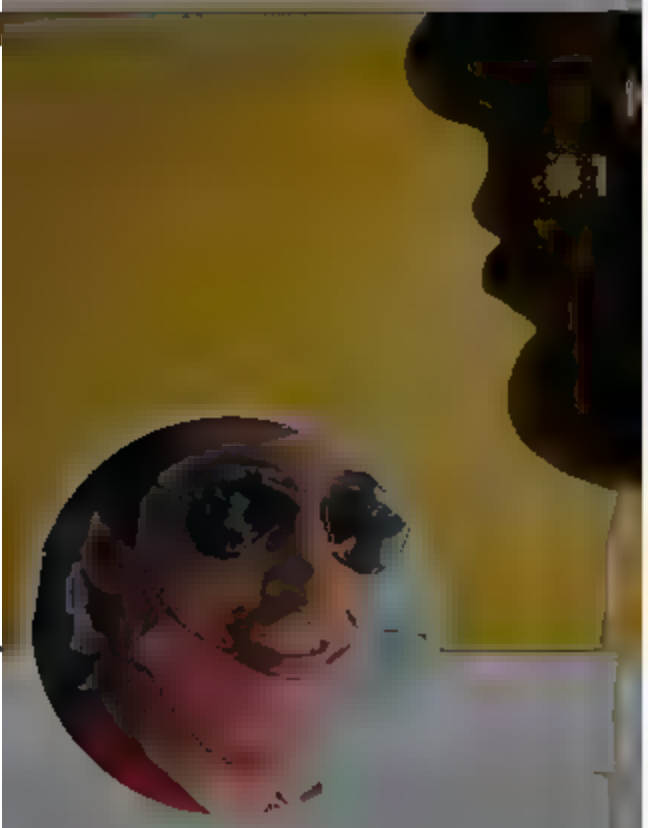
12 2 7

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 20 Apr 2019



Replying to

Lil Anslinger Berenson is scouring the media &praying for some association he can tap dance w/in order to try2 gin up support4his discredited assertions.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

prescience of psychosis among users.

Do you think a medicine with these kinds of side effects should be sold OTC? Or at all?

3 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Kevin - forget it. The guy thinks THC extract can cure cancer because of "a lot of anecdotal evidence" and that 30 years of peer-reviewed, published scientific evidence on the psychiatric risks of cannabis is "wrong." You will get nowhere. He is firmly in the magic plant camp.

4:16 AM - 21 Apr 2019

1 Like

4 1

Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 21 Apr 2019
Replying to Ah.

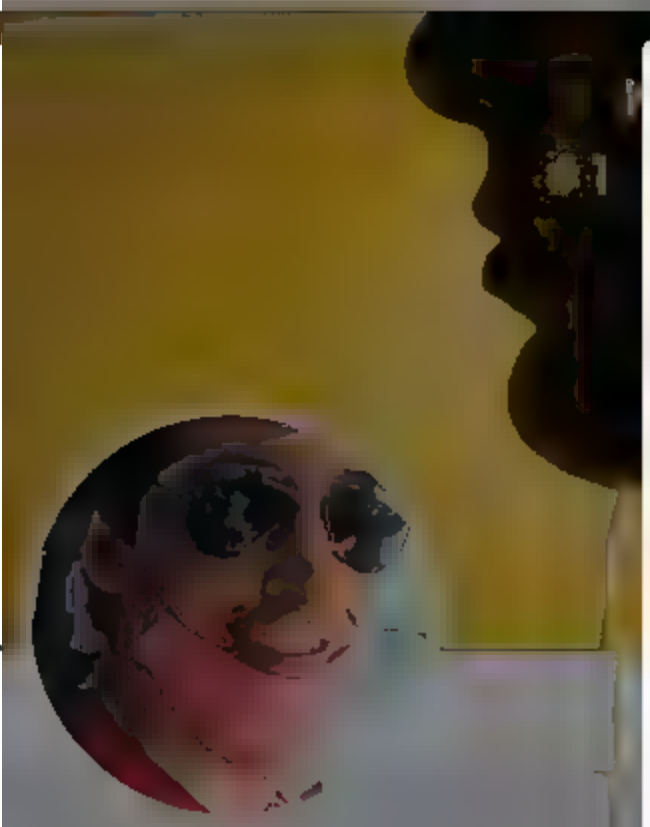
BTW

1

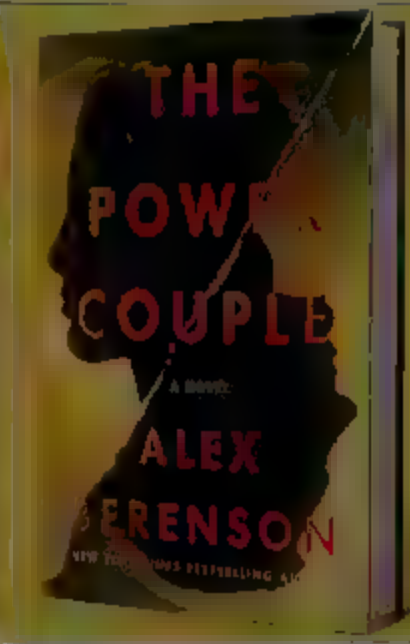


Carving Cannabis @JamesSeldon · 21 Apr 2019
Ah but let's ignore America's VISIBLE sugar addiction. If we want to talk about harm and health care costs sugar is really quite a danger. Look at obesity levels, diabetics and cancers stemming from sugary diets. But that probably doesn't fit your dialogue very well.

2 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ In 2013, Colorado and the other early legalization states had fewer than 1300 traffic deaths. In 2018 they had more than 1800. Why haven't you heard the truth? Maybe for the same reason you haven't heard that violent crime has soared in the first four...

12:05 PM - 20 Apr 2019

10 Retweets 29 Likes

8 10 29

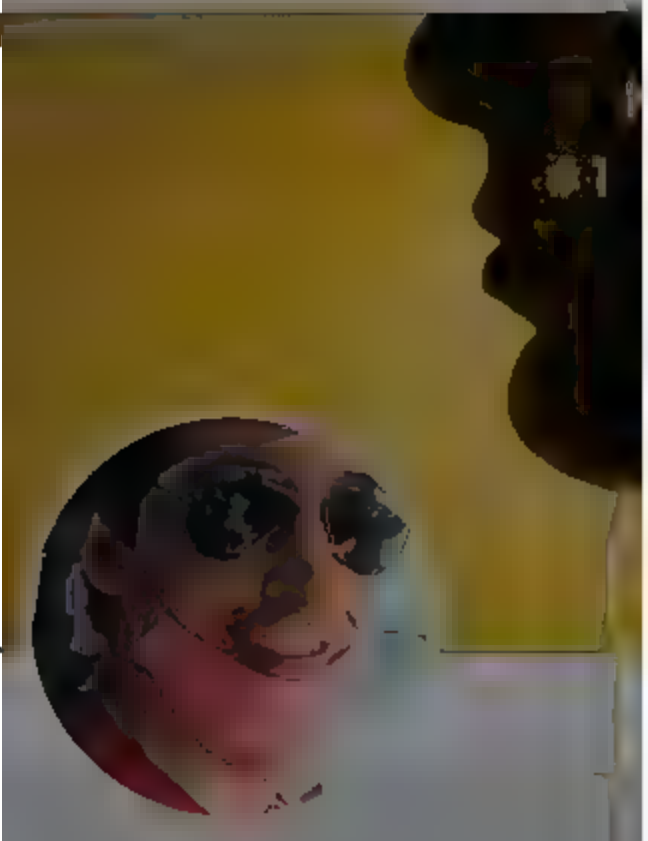
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Apr 2019

2/ Many newspapers in legalized states depend on cannabis advertising, sell coverage to the industry, or both. And bad news is bad for the industry. Just another place where correlation does not prove causation, am I right?

5 6 23

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 20 Apr 2019

Replying to



Maybe you can explain how Oregon has had a lower increase in crash rates since legalization than Idaho next door. And, on a per capita basis, fewer crashes than Idaho every year the past four years.

CRASHES	Idaho	Year Change	Oregon	Year Change
2014	22,134		51,244
2015	24,018	+8.5%	55,156	+7.6%
2016	25,328	+5.5%	60,053	+8.9%
2017	25,851	+2.1%	57,726	-3.9%
	Four Years:	+16.8%	Four Years:	+12.6%

1 3 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ In 2013, Colorado and the other early legalization states had fewer than 1300 traffic deaths. In 2018 they had more than 1800. Why haven't you heard the truth? Maybe for the same reason you haven't heard that violent crime has soared in the first four...

8 10 29

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Many newspapers in legalized states depend on cannabis advertising, sell coverage to the industry, or both. And bad news is bad for the industry. Just another place where correlation does not prove causation, am I right?

12:08 PM - 20 Apr 2019

6 Retweets 23 Likes

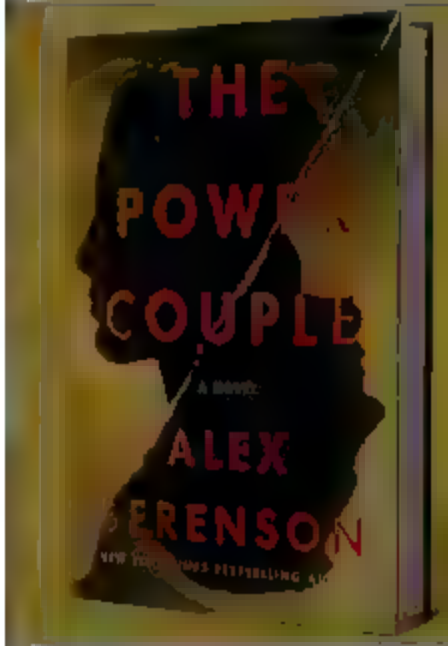
5 6 23

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 20 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
No. You are never right. Denver TV stations don't depend on weed advertising, yet they also aren't trumpeting your scaremongering.

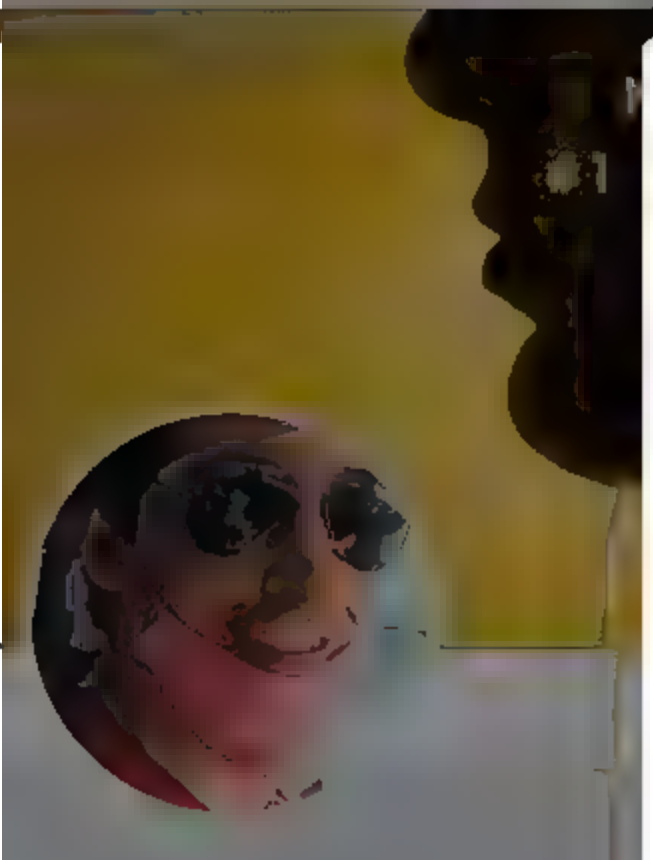
1 4

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 20 Apr 2019
Newspapers do.



1

Nicon @Nemopunk15 · 20 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
So what's your predicted body count for today's festivities? Between the driving deaths, the cannabis induced psychosis murders and suicides and all the OD's the number has to be...

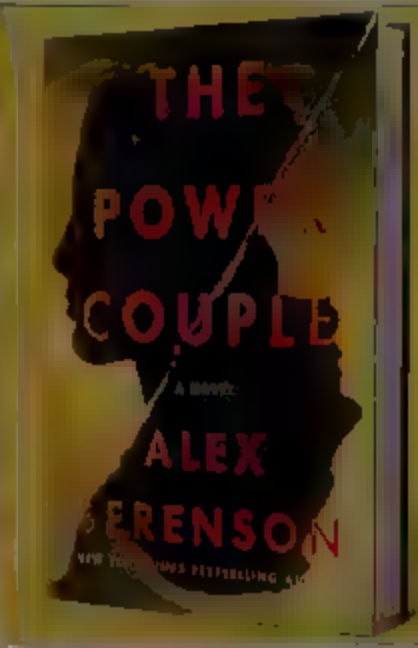


1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 20 Apr 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Apr 2019

1: Happy 4/20. If you're wondering why the cops are warning about driving high, you might be surprised to learn that driving deaths in the first four states to legalize are up nearly 40% since recreational dispensaries opened. That is - you guessed it - far worse than the nation.

10 22 44

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ A better way to consider the question is the rate of deaths per vehicle mile traveled - which accounts for population and driving growth. But those numbers are even worse - fatalities per VMT have risen at 2.5 to 3x the national change since legalization in CO/OR/WA...

7:29 AM - 20 Apr 2019

5 Retweets 15 Likes

2 5 15

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Apr 2019

3/ That's about 150 extra deaths a year in those three states alone - the equivalent of a Max 8. So enjoy that blunt. (And please don't point me to [redacted]: 2018 paper on this issue; it is so flawed as to be meaningless. I haven't decided whether to deal with it separately.)

3 2 13

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Apr 2019

2/ A better way to consider the question is the rate of deaths per vehicle mile traveled - which accounts for population and driving growth. But those numbers are even worse - fatalities per VMT have risen at 2.5 to 3x the national change since legalization in CO/OR/WA...

2 5 15

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ That's about 150 extra deaths a year in those three states alone - the equivalent of a Max 8. So enjoy that blunt. (And please don't point me to @benconomics 2018 paper on this issue; it is so flawed as to be meaningless. I haven't decided whether to deal with it separately.)

7:39 AM - 20 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 13 Likes

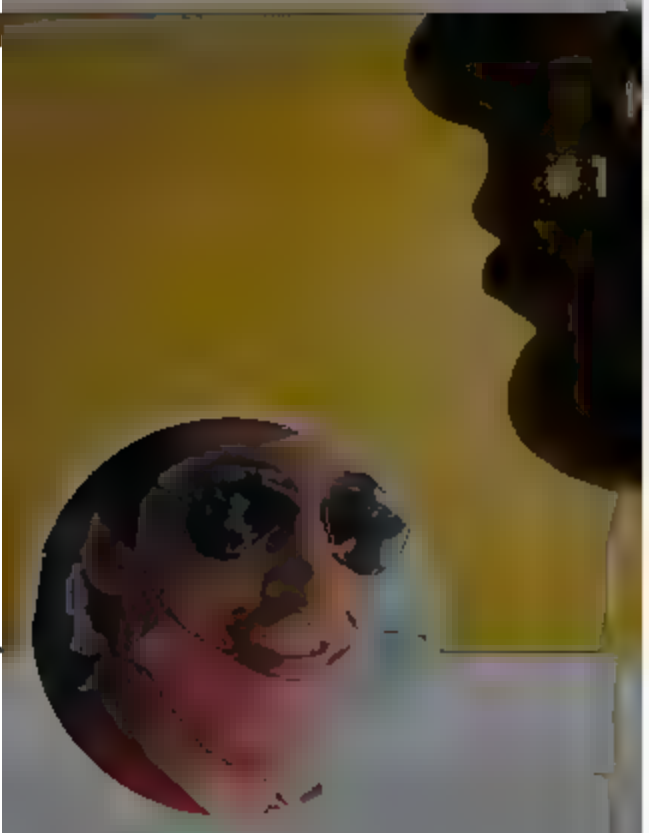
3 2 13

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 20 Apr 2019



Replying to

Oh please enlighten us all? FYI, know traffic accidents have long been known to procyclical ( ). The recent increase in traffic accidents is largely to be expected given both the increase in VMT, and the the increase in vehicle weight (new SUVs, trucks, etc..)

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

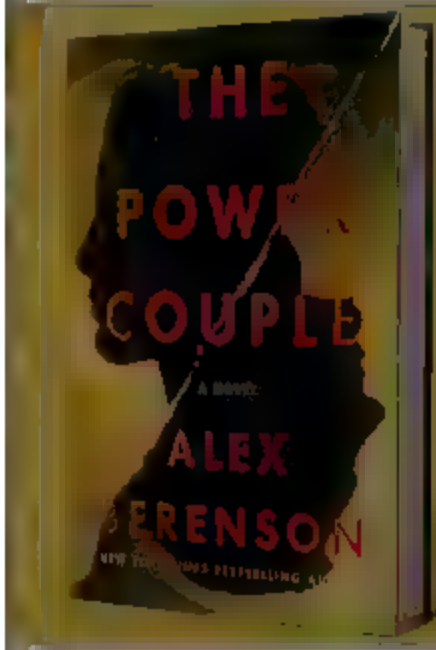
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Today, from a forensic psychiatrist (identifying details redacted). Make no mistake, legalization will be a full-employment act for these folks. (And yes, I happily provided the data sources.)

Request for data



Dr. [redacted]
to me
7 hours ago Details

Hi Alex.
Just finished 'Tell your children' and also read some of the scathing reviews. I noted however that those reviews attacked your interpretations, never the data.
I'm a forensic psychiatrist of some [redacted] years [redacted] I think from at least twenty years ago I started giving evidence in murder cases regarding the mistake of treating current cannabis like 60's cannabis [redacted]
Currently I have two cases of cannabis - psychosis - homicide.
Anyhow, the major disappointment in reading your book

5:01 PM - 19 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 9 Likes

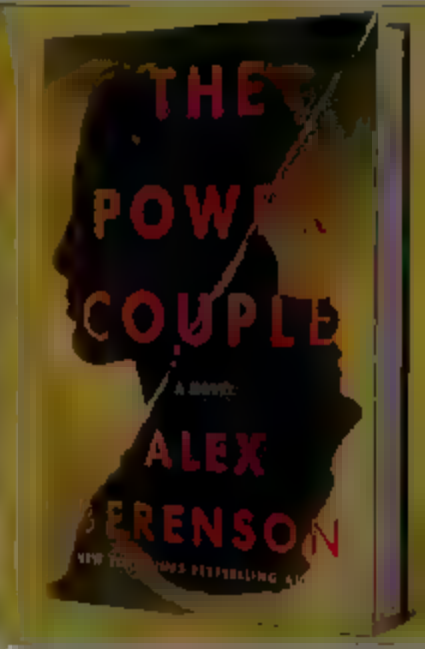
3 3 9

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1: Happy 4/20. If you're wondering why the cops are warning about driving high, you might be surprised to learn that driving deaths in the first four states to legalize are up nearly 40% since recreational dispensaries opened. That is - you guessed it - far worse than the nation.

7:25 AM - 20 Apr 2019

22 Retweets 44 Likes

10 22 44

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Apr 2019
2/ A better way to consider the question is the rate of deaths per vehicle mile traveled - which accounts for population and driving growth. But those numbers are even worse - fatalities per VMT have risen at 2.5 to 3x the national change since legalization in CO/OR/WA...

2 5 15

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Apr 2019
3/ That's about 150 extra deaths a year in those three states alone - the equivalent of a Max 8. So enjoy that blunt. (And please don't point me to [illegible] 2018 paper on this issue; it is so flawed as to be meaningless. I haven't decided whether to deal with it separately.)

3 2 13

Chris @SJU56321 · 20 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Wow

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Hey, friends. I have a super-good idea. I'm going to start a "Center For Medical Tobacco Research." I'll test smoked tobacco and nicotine against placebo in tons of short-term studies for every possible indication. By pure chance, it will work in some...

Show this thread

3 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Funny you should mention that:

google.com/amp/s/www.nyt ...

2:56 PM - 19 Apr 2019

2 Likes

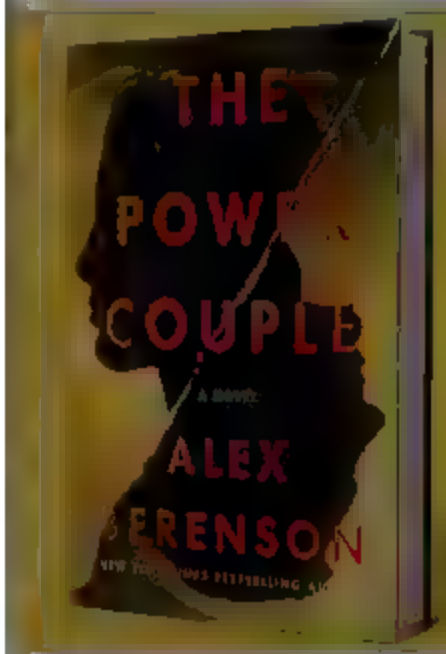
1 2

ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 19 Apr 2019

Replying to

Oh my! Can't believe the alcohol industry would deceive! Except always.

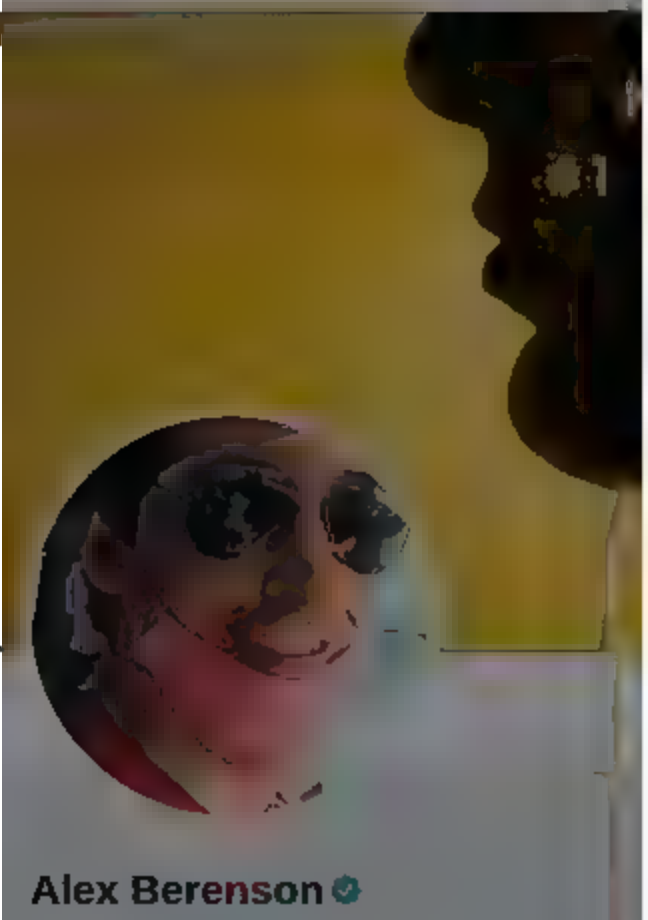
1



Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 19 Apr 2019

This is one I find suspect. "people who said they drank more than eight cups a day were less likely to die, on average, than non-drinkers."

2 1



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ Now - and here's the genius part! - I will insist that those trials prove now and for all eternity that tobacco is medicine. And I'll run ad campaigns to convince folks to bypass the normal FDA approval process and okay it on that basis - even for kids!

2 1 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ Brilliant, I know. But I mean, no one could possibly bite on this scam, right? And even Altria couldn't be this cynical, right?

5:20 AM - 19 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 18 Likes

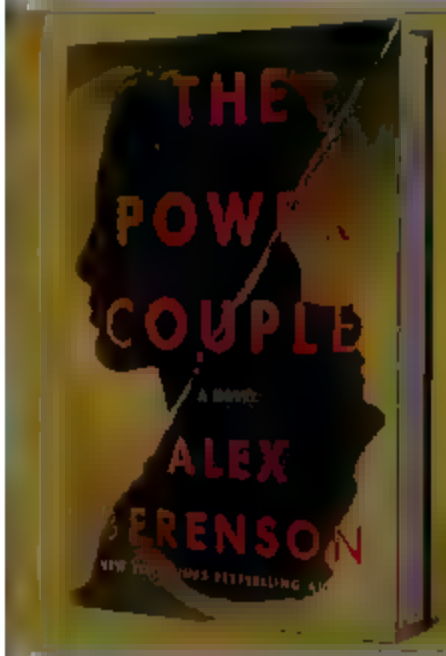
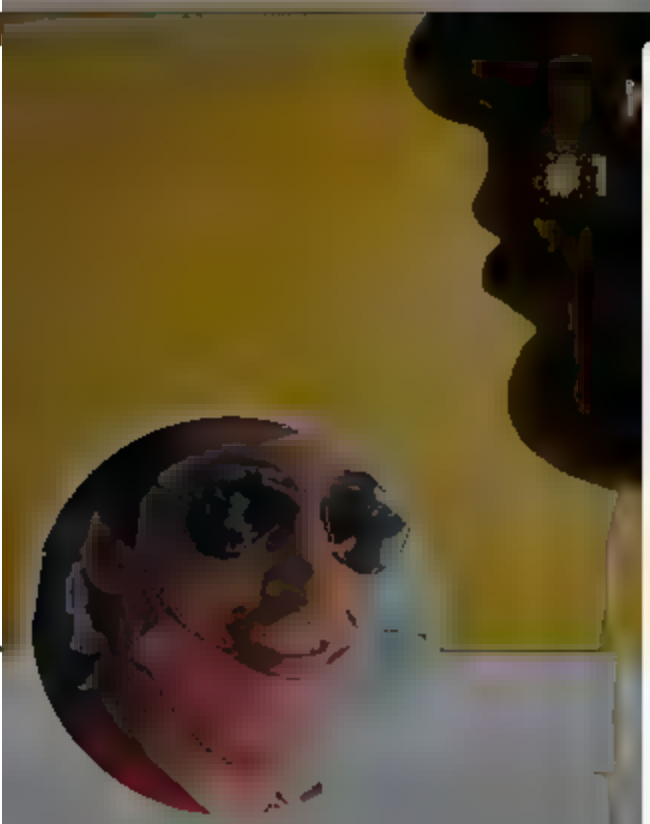
7 1 18

Mark Groubert @lordbuckly · 19 Apr 2019
Replying to

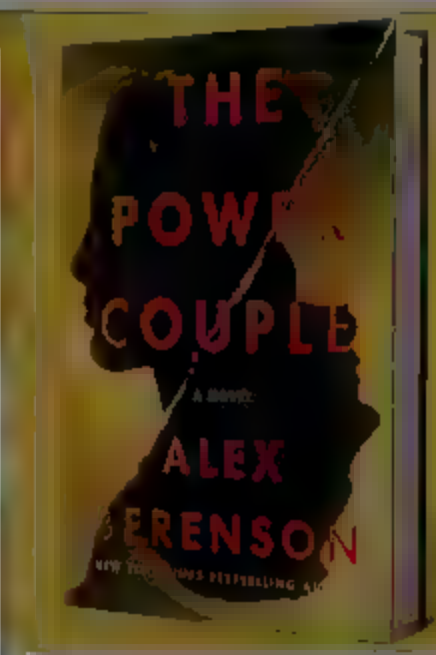


Loved your book, man. Fantastic.

Hotel @Hotel25360678 · 19 Apr 2019
Replying to



Alex loves to inflict suffering on people to further his cause. That's some damn sickness. People suffering chemo can eat he doesn't want that. Maybe he's a nutritionist.



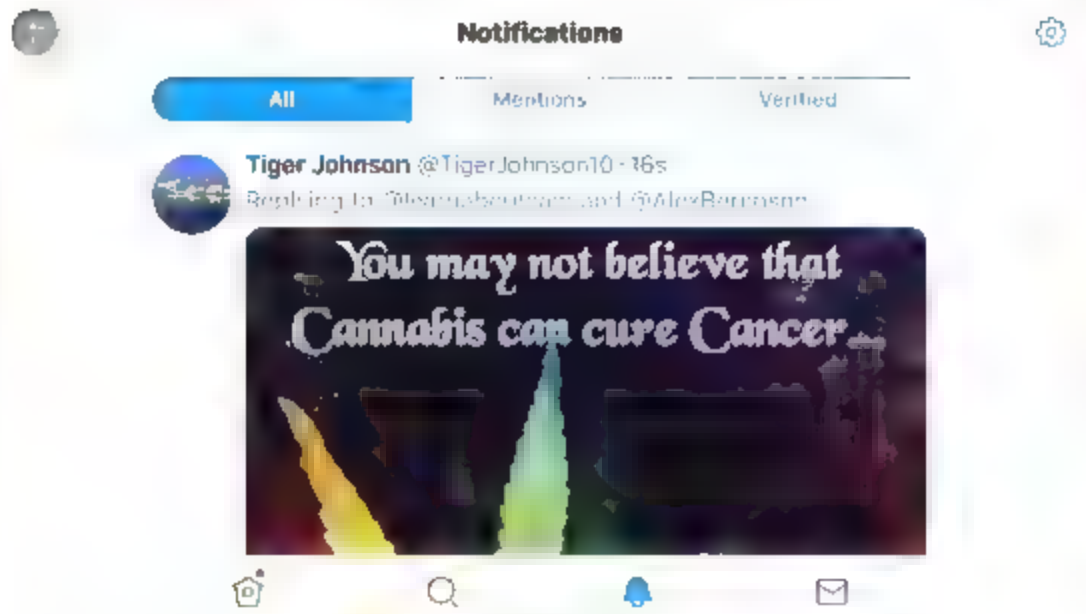
Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 19 Apr 2019
Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I'm gonna stop you right there...

9:41 AM - 19 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 14 Likes

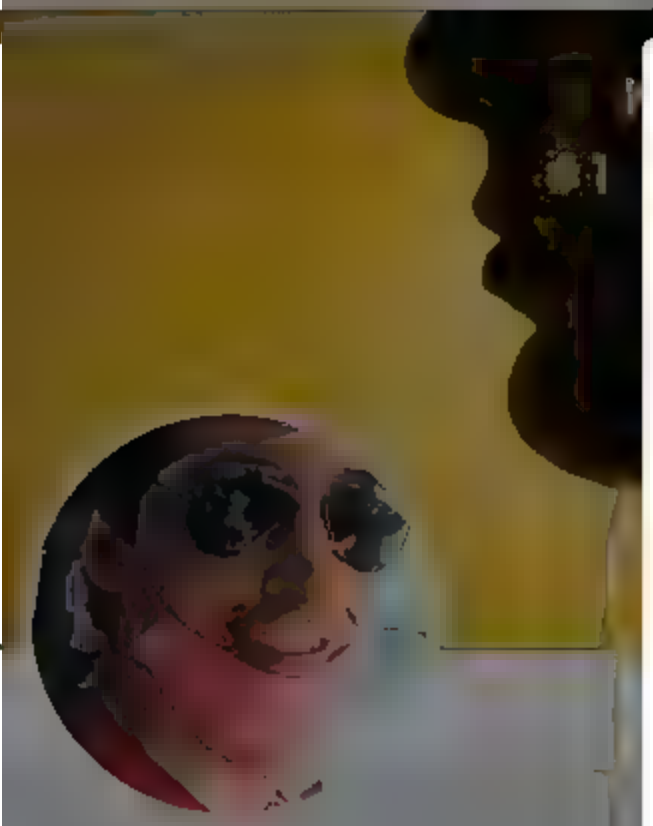
9 1 14



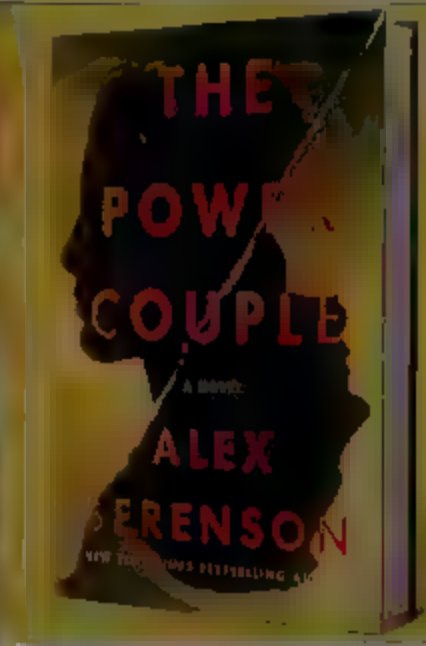
'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 19 Apr 2019
Replying to

My partner was diagnosed with stage 3 renal cell carcinoma in 2015. After using full-extract cannabis oil only she became cancer-free in 2017. Could be coincidence, but if you believe a toker going psycho proves your point, I'll say my lover beating cancer proves mine.

1 1 9

christy brown @mystocean · 19 Apr 2019
Dennis Peron father of medical marijuana dies of lung cancer proves that cannabis does not cure cancer.

1 1



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Hey, friends. I have a super-good idea. I'm going to start a "Center For Medical Tobacco Research." I'll test smoked tobacco and nicotine against placebo in tons of short-term studies for every possible indication. By pure chance, it will work in some...

5:14 AM - 19 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 22 Likes

7 3 22

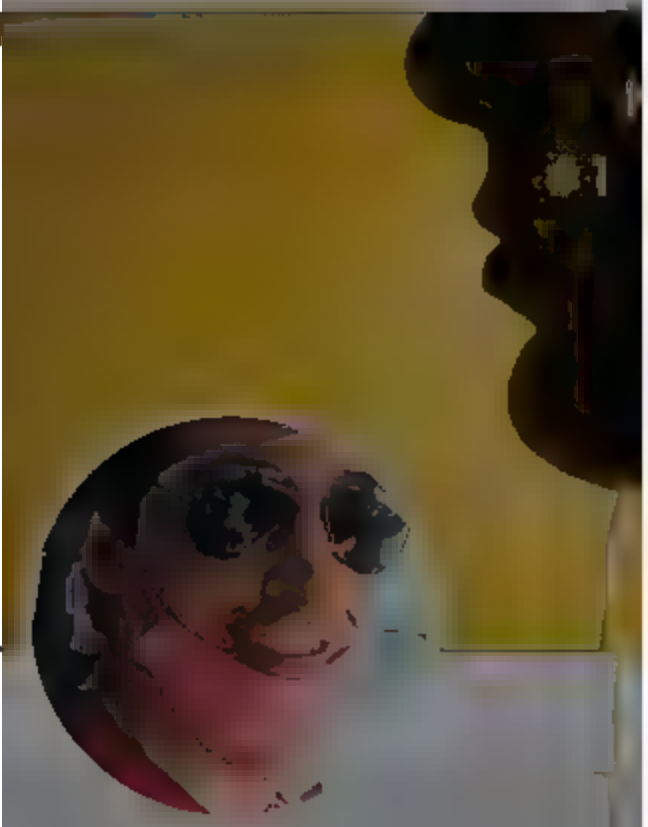
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Apr 2019

2/ Then I'll focus on psychiatric conditions like mild depression and ADHD. Tobacco is a stimulant - it is practically certain to work in two-week (and possibly longer) trials for those problems...

2 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Apr 2019

3/ Now - and here's the genius part! - I will insist that those trials prove now and for all eternity that tobacco is medicine. And I'll run ad campaigns to convince folks to bypass the normal FDA approval process and okay it on that basis - even for kids!



2 1 11

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Apr 2019

4/ Brilliant, I know. But I mean, no one could possibly bite on this scam, right? And even Altria couldn't be this cynical, right?

7 1 18

Adam Bierman @adambierman · 19 Apr 2019

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Apr 2019
2/ Then I'll focus on psychiatric conditions like mild depression and ADHD. Tobacco is a stimulant - it is practically certain to work in two-week (and possibly longer) trials for those problems...

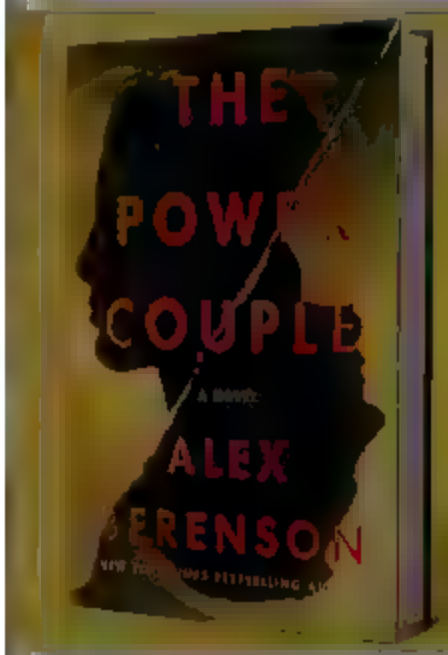
2 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ Now - and here's the genius part! - I will insist that those trials prove now and for all eternity that tobacco is medicine. And I'll run ad campaigns to convince folks to bypass the normal FDA approval process and okay it on that basis - even for kids!

5:18 AM - 19 Apr 2019

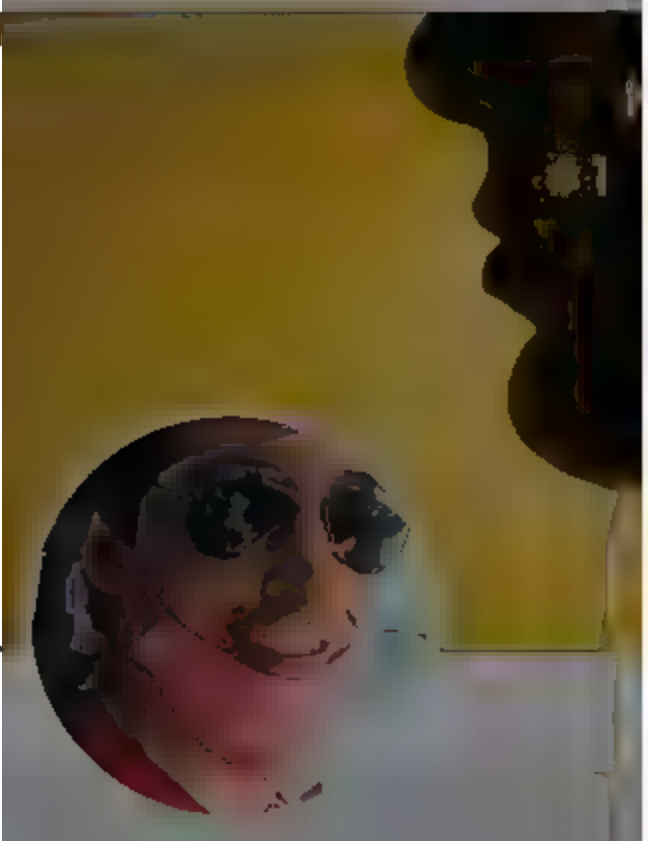
1 Retweet 11 Likes



2 1 11

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Apr 2019
4/ Brilliant, I know. But I mean, no one could possibly bite on this scam, right? And even Altria couldn't be this cynical, right?

7 1 18



Darren Allen @TheRealKSPFoot · 19 Apr 2019
Replying to
I love how you poke the Pro-Pot Bear!! Keep it up! They don't like being exposed.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Hey, friends. I have a super-good idea. I'm going to start a "Center For Medical Tobacco Research." I'll test smoked tobacco and nicotine against placebo in tons of short-term studies for every possible indication. By pure chance, it will work in some...

7 3 22

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Then I'll focus on psychiatric conditions like mild depression and ADHD. Tobacco is a stimulant - it is practically certain to work in two-week (and possibly longer) trials for those problems...

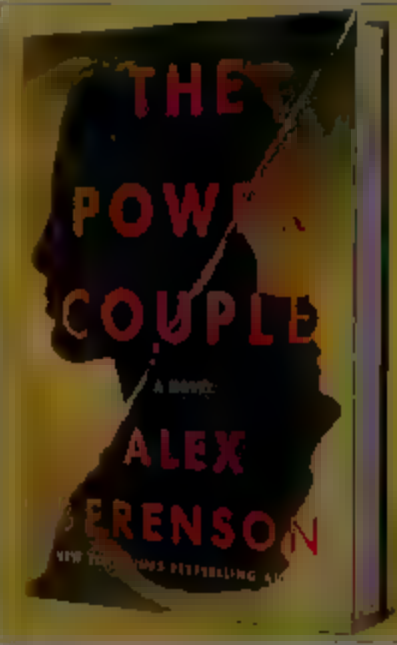
5:16 AM - 19 Apr 2019

6 Likes

2 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Apr 2019
3/ Now - and here's the genius part - I will insist that those trials prove now and for all eternity that tobacco is medicine. And I'll run ad campaigns to convince folks to bypass the normal FDA approval process and okay it on that basis - even for kids!

2 1 11



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Apr 2019
4/ Brilliant, I know. But I mean, no one could possibly bite on this scam, right? And even Altria couldn't be this cynical, right?

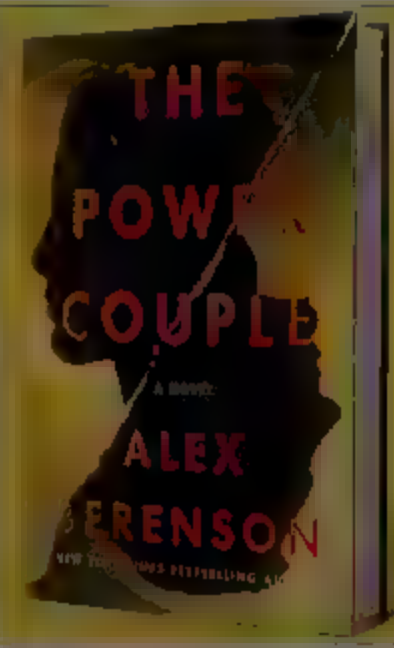
7 1 18

Matthew Betley @MatthewBetley · 19 Apr 2019
Replying to
I just need to know right now if this thread is going to be 420 tweets long.

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

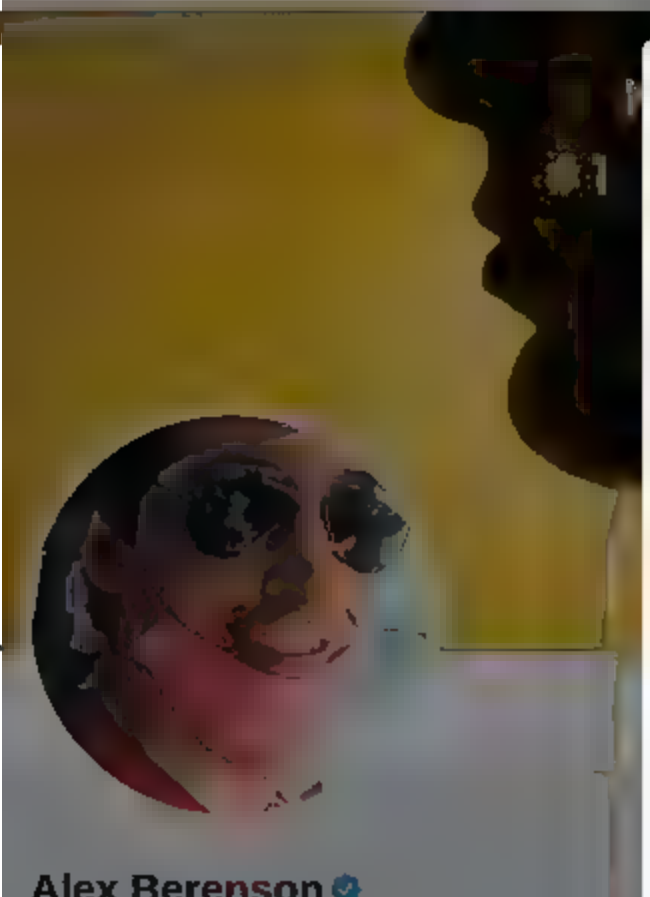
New York

Joined November 2009

Jesse Eisinger @eisingerj · 18 Apr 2019
Savvy media reporter @Sarahlellison decides to get a scoop on National No Collusion Day:

1 2 10

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted]

Sarah's on the Natalee Holloway case?

5:08 AM - 19 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Can't make it up. "America's Medical Marijuana Doctor" just lost his license. Apparently he broke the first rule of drug dealers everywhere: don't hit your own supply. Oh, it's medicine! Very special medicine.

2:44 PM - 18 Apr 2019

5 Retweets 21 Likes

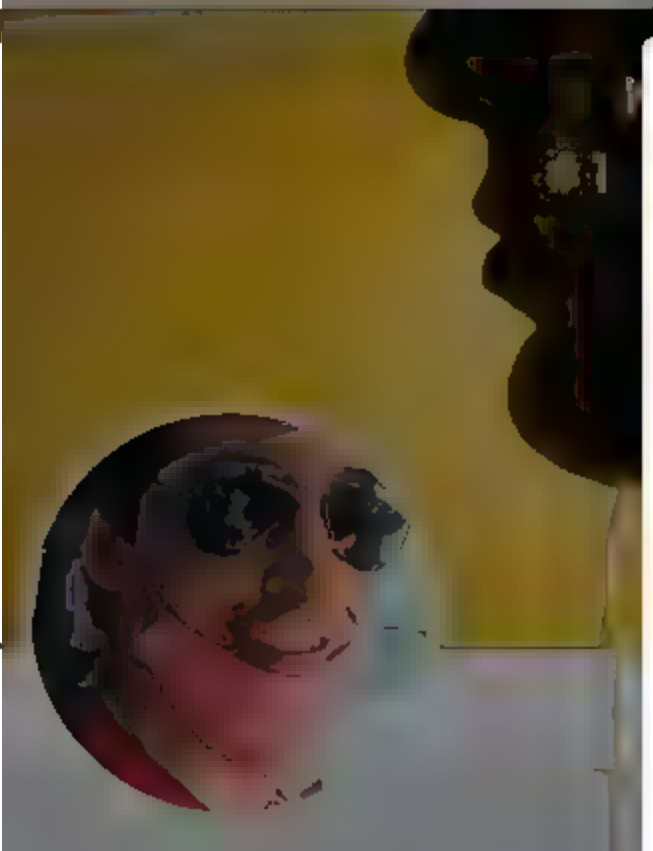
5 5 21

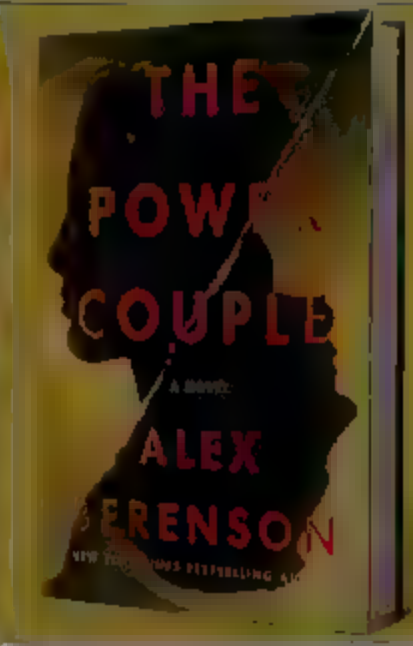


'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 18 Apr 2019

Replying to

The guy has a medical marijuana card for PTSD. Is he supposed to not use the medicine he legally qualified for?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

On @foxnews: Cannabis is dangerous. The President didn't collide with Russia. The economy is pretty good, but the border is a disaster. Hmm...

2:13 PM - 18 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 9 Likes

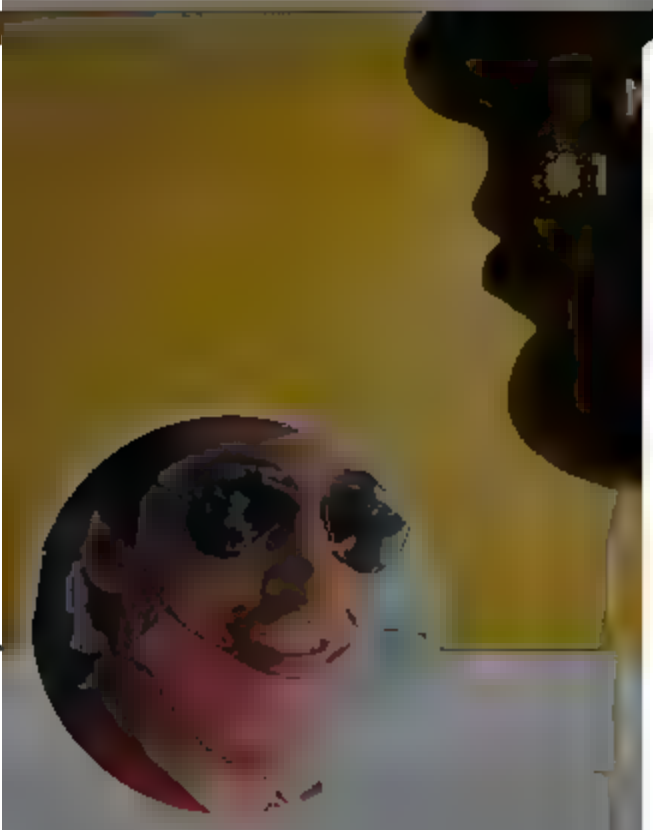
7 3 9

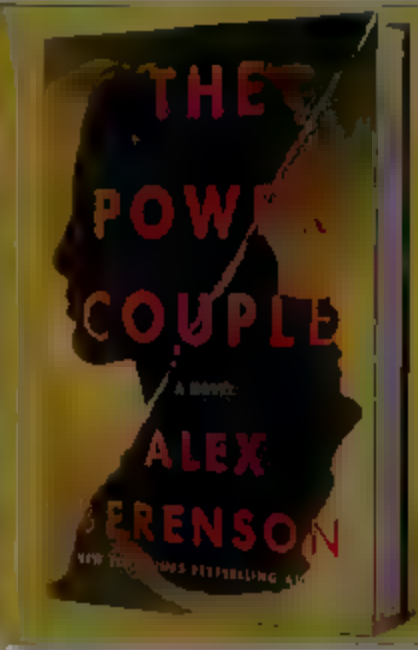
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 18 Apr 2019
Collide or collude! Thanks autocorrect. I can't have been the only one that happened to today.

1 6

This Tweet is unavailable.



Tintin Quarantino @W00H0O · 18 Apr 2019
Make America Pangaea Again



1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 18 Apr 2019
Replying to
"The Fox News effect is a correlation. It doesn't prove that watching Fox News causes people to be ill-informed."

2

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 18 Apr 2019
Replying to
Cannabis has far greater positive impact on human physiology than negative. Nearly each month more data accrues on how marijuana use effectively dials

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 18 Apr 2019
On [redacted] Cannabis is dangerous. The President didn't collide with Russia. The economy is pretty good, but the border is a disaster. Hmm,..

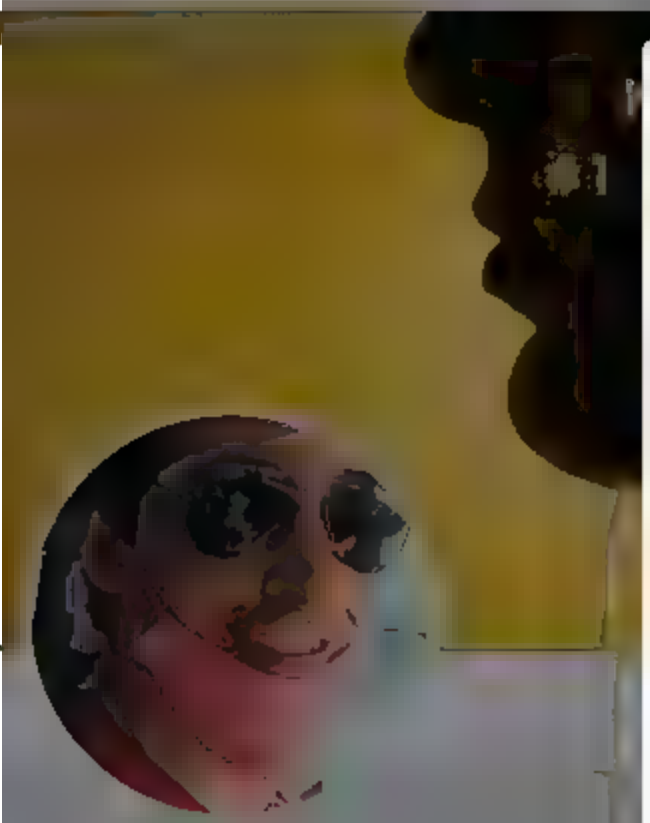
7 3 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

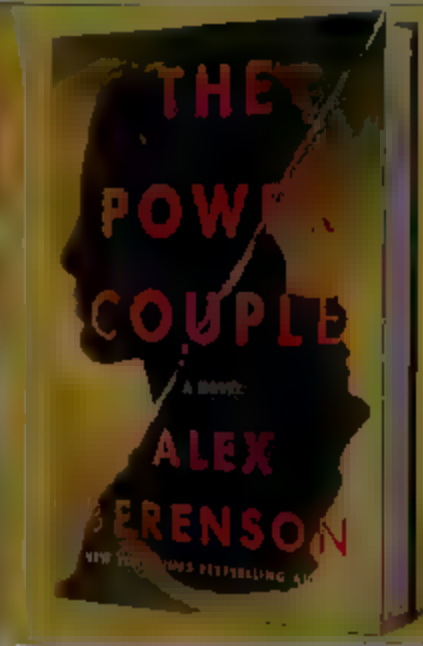
Collide or collude! Thanks autocorrect. I can't have been the only one that happened to today.

2:18 PM - 18 Apr 2019

6 Likes



1 6



ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 18 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Glad that the President didn't collide or collude with Russia!

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. Comic relief division.
google.com/amp/s/www.nyng...

7:35 AM - 18 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 9 Likes

7 2 9

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 18 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Why do so many of these people with psychosis run around naked?

1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 18 Apr 2019
I have to admit I wonder the same. Here's a not-at-all funny case from California. If I had no resource constraints I would chase down the tox screens on all of these. As it is, no charges are likely to be filed, and we will probably hear nothing more. [redacted]

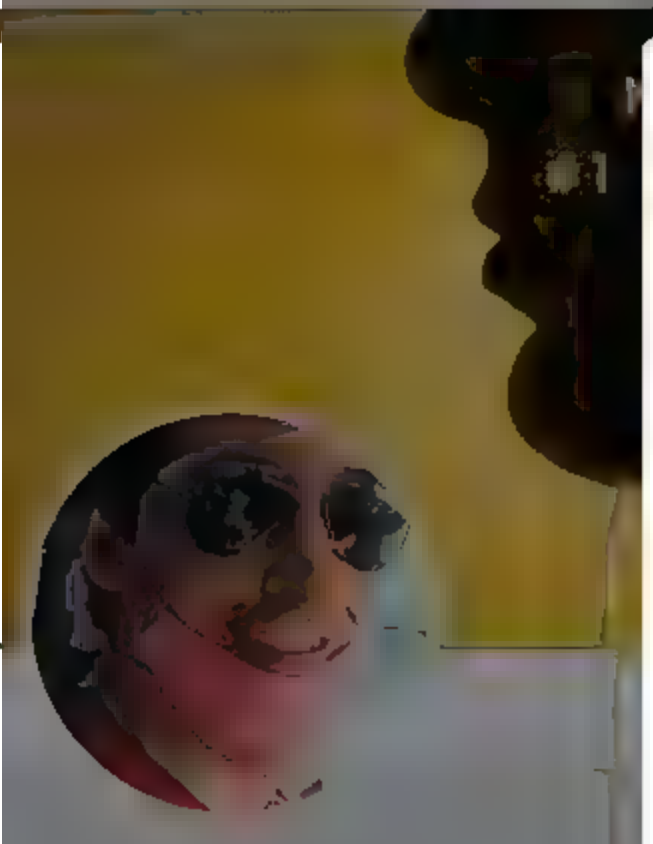
2 4

[redacted]

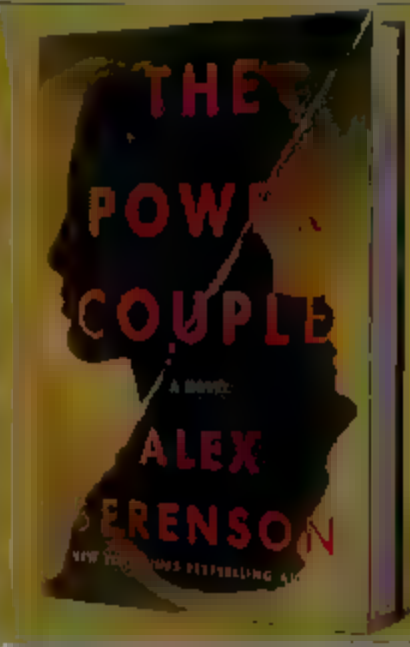
'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 18 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Marijuana. The drug so powerful that even attempting to rob a store that sells it can be used to blame marijuana on psychosis.

2

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 18 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
[redacted] I think Berenson should b referred to as Lil Anslinger. Marijuana seems to be causing irrational cognition in Alex, amazingly without him using it. So many people who have not used cannabis get psychotic



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 18 Apr 2019
Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. Comic relief division.

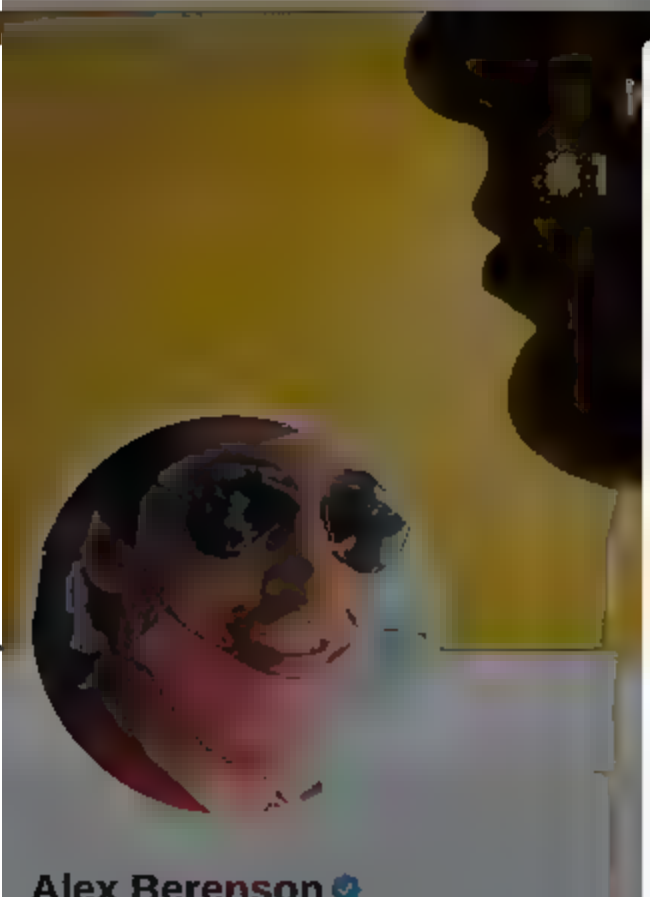
7 2 9

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 18 Apr 2019
Why do so many of these people with psychosis run around naked?

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



I have to admit I wonder the same. Here's a not-at-all funny case from California. If I had no resource constraints I would chase down the tox screens on all of these. As it is, no charges are likely to be filed, and we will probably hear nothing more.
sacbee.com/news/state/ca! ..

7:45 AM - 18 Apr 2019

4 Likes

2 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

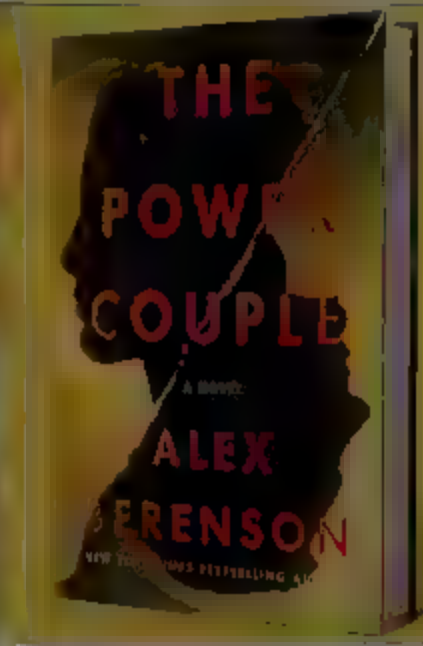
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

And for all those academics and journo-advocates who whine that my appearances on @foxnews somehow discredit the science behind Tell Your Children:

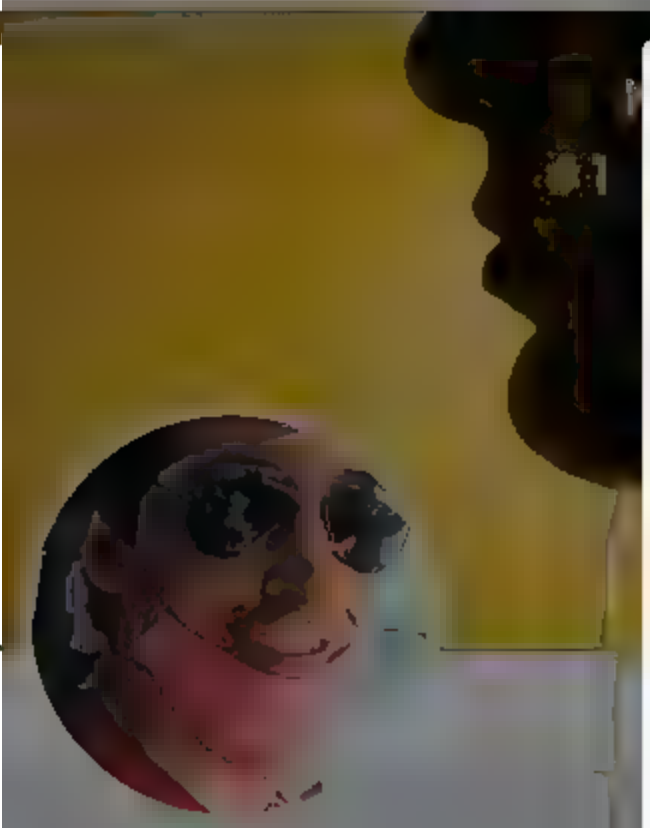
6:10 AM - 18 Apr 2019

5 Likes

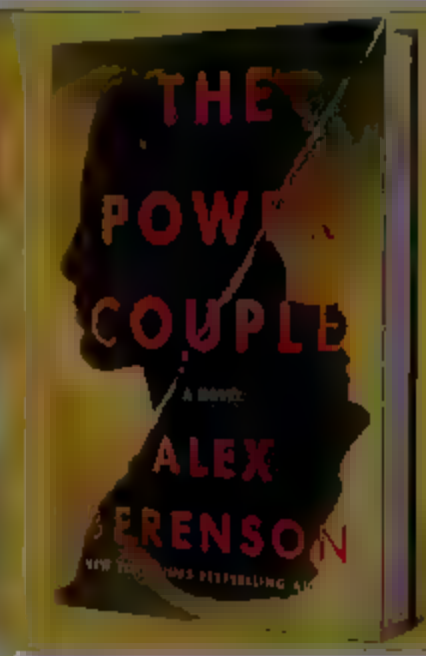


6 5

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 18 Apr 2019



Replying to



I seen you on C-Span and I want to thank you for writing this book. It explains why so many bad things have happened in my life. I would like to know if man that threw boy over railing at MOA was a pot smoker.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

This first-rate op-ed explains - with many links so anyone interested can judge the original research - just how strong the science linking cannabis and psychosis has become. baltimoresun.com/news/opinion/o

5:33 AM - 18 Apr 2019

23 Retweets 43 Likes

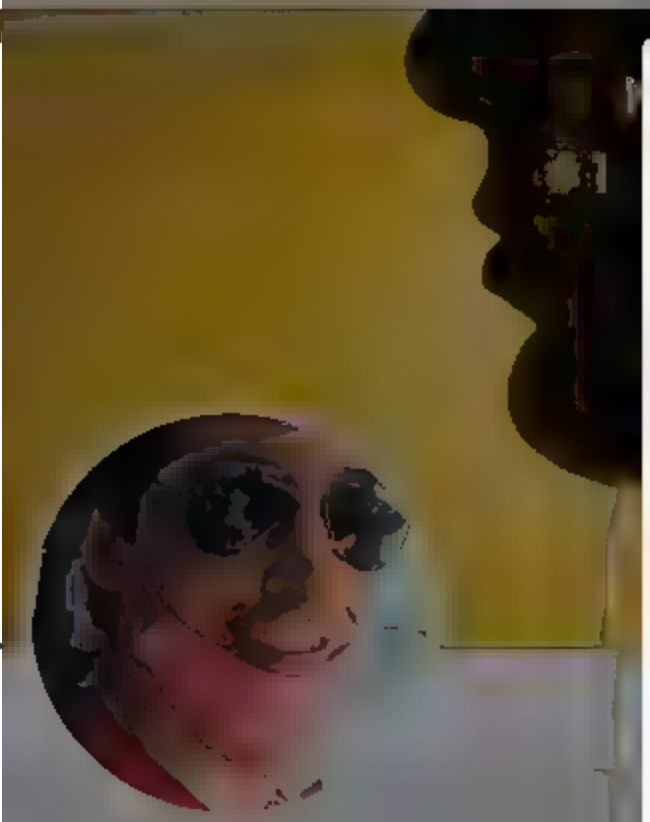
10 23 43



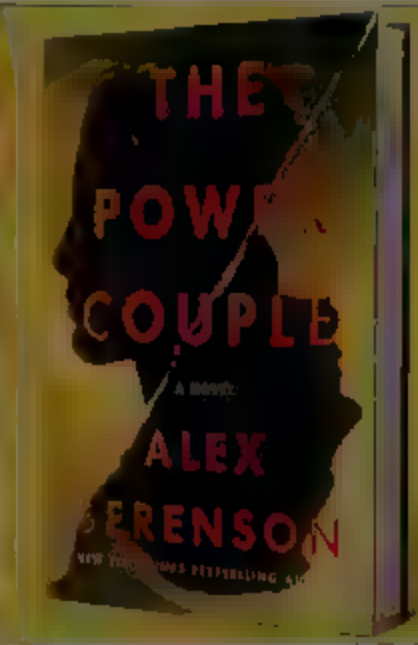
Nicholas Chamberas @NICKBKNYUSA · 18 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
This is really just scandalous. So much evidence is there but public officials have already "spent" the tax revenues that are going to be generated by legalizing marijuana. The impending health catastrophe is an afterthought.

1 3

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 18 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
If pot was as linked to violence, psychosis, disease, addiction, mayhem, and death as alcohol, maybe Alex wouldn't pick on it so much.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

The users know. So glad she had the courage to assess what her use was doing to her - and the strength to tell her story.

[redacted]

I just finished reading your latest book, Tell Your Children, and I just wanted to say thank you for getting this out there at the exact time I needed to read it! I have been a pothead since high school (I'm now [redacted] most recently smoking all day every day for the past few years since I stopped breastfeeding my third child. I struggled with trying to quit but was always able to rationalize my usage because it was 'all natural' or 'helped me calm down, be a better/fun mom', etc but as of late, I was starting to feel more and more anxious every time I smoked. I thought it was due to my internal conflict of being a Christian woman who depended more on this substance than God and so I decided to give marijuana up for Lent but always in the back of my mind knew I would start up again after Easter. My husband, who is a [redacted] has been working with a pushed them over the edge'...in other words, that could never happen to me. But then I came across your book the other day and read it immediately, and it changed my way of thinking about this drug. I am happy to say I now have NO desire to resume my old ways. Your book illustrated that HEALTHY people with no prior signs of psych issues had also experienced temporary psychosis and that shook me to my core. (I am a former [redacted] myself so the data from these studies really drove the points home). It was exactly what I needed to open my eyes to the fact that ANYONE is at risk, including me...or perhaps ESPECIALLY me, since I was always smoking the strongest strains in extremely high quantities. I am SO thankful that I never experienced a psychotic break due to my addiction but perhaps it was only a matter of time. Thankfully your book came at the perfect time for me to accept that marijuana DOES come with major risks and that I don't want to risk my mental health anymore! Your book gave me the push I

3:48 PM - 17 Apr 2019

4 Retweets 20 Likes

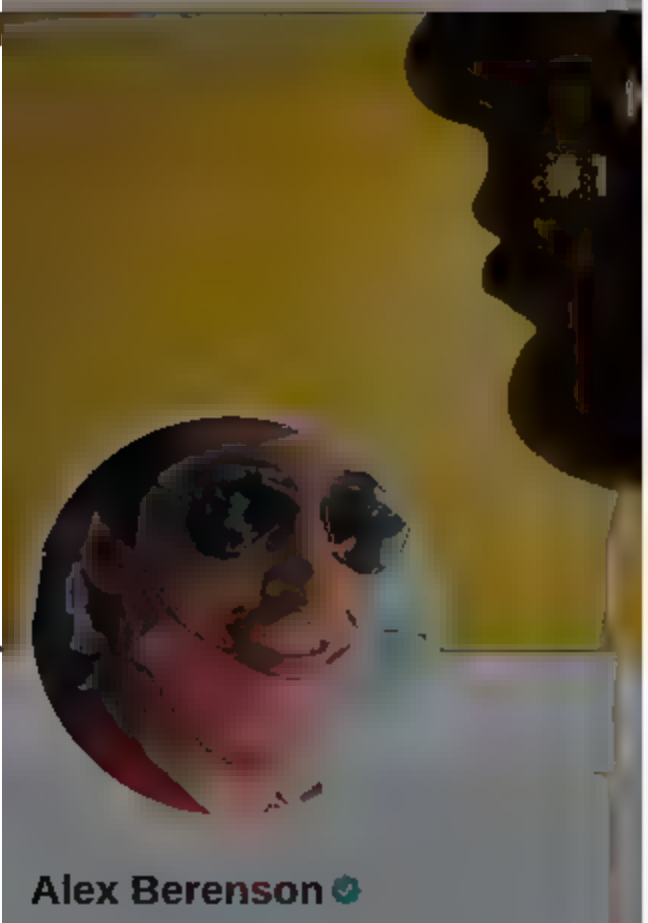
8 4 20



Bruce Conners @bconners · 17 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Lots of science going on here for sure.

1 3

eksogen @eksogenisk · 18 Apr 2019
"No science whatsoever as far as I can see either, Bruce"
What is not ironic is these hacks spreading the baseless lie that there are evidence for cannabis use creating new permanent instances of schizophrenia and psychosis without hereditary vulnerability by genes being present

1

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

to [redacted] for explaining the science around cannabis and opioids so clearly.

[redacted]

4 7 13

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ Worth noting that based on the emails I've received, many older Democrats have seen their kids (or their kids' friends) progress from cannabis to opioids; they seem far more suspicious of marijuana than the polls indicate. (I know, sampling error is big in this case.)

1:52 PM - 17 Apr 2019

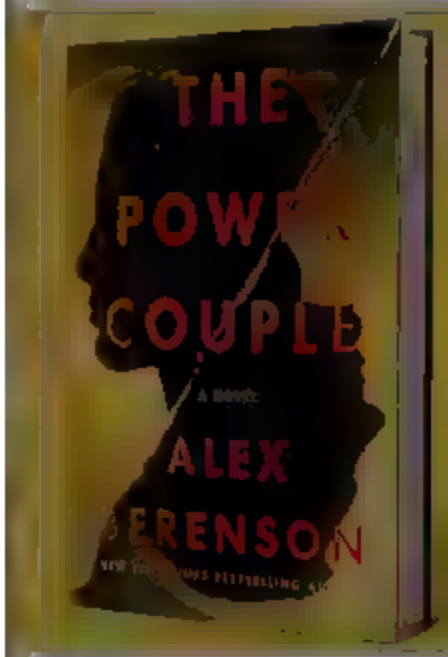
1 Retweet 9 Likes

5 1 9

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 17 Apr 2019

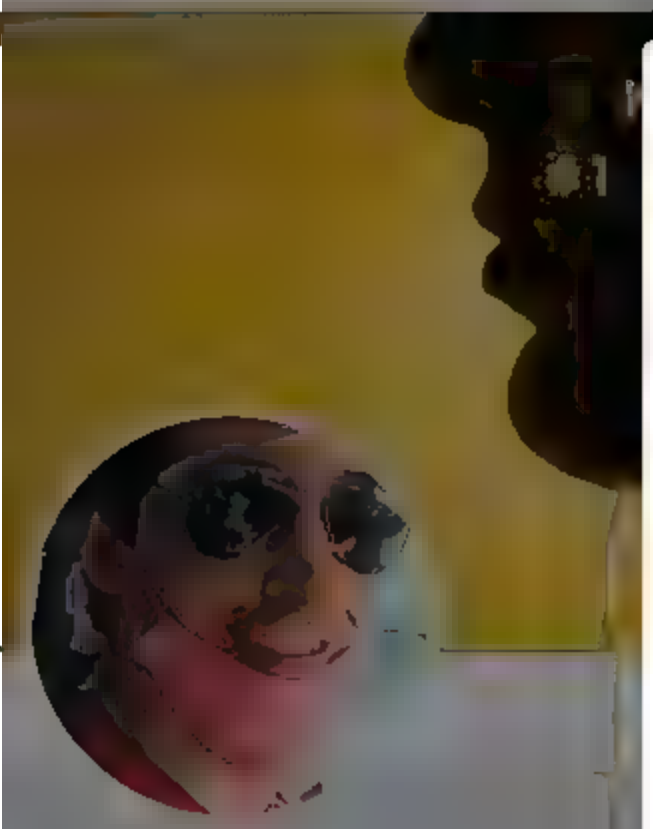
Replying to [redacted]

Alex, just so you don't misunderstand me: I am very pro-cannabis but am not diminishing it's pharmacological and socio-political power. I can discuss drug effects, drug policy, and drug research. But I am an adult and the importance of responsible use cannot be diminished either.



Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 17 Apr 2019

Replying to [redacted]

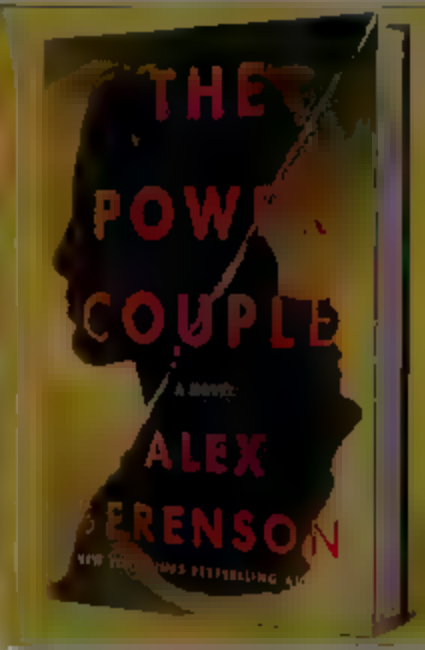


I also worked in a private psychiatric hospital for 4 years while in grad school in behavioral neuroscience. I saw an early glimpse of what you call "Big Psychosis Inc." Maybe a Gen X version of "Cuckoo's Nest." Wanna talk detox? "recovery"? NA? 12 step? white chip? rock bottom?

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 17 Apr 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just catching up on this, but it appears that @JoeBiden is going to be the science-based Democratic presidential candidate on cannabis issues; and kudos to @madras_bertha for explaining the science around cannabis and opioids so clearly.

marijuanamoment.net/joe-biden-appr…

1:49 PM - 17 Apr 2019

7 Retweets 13 Likes

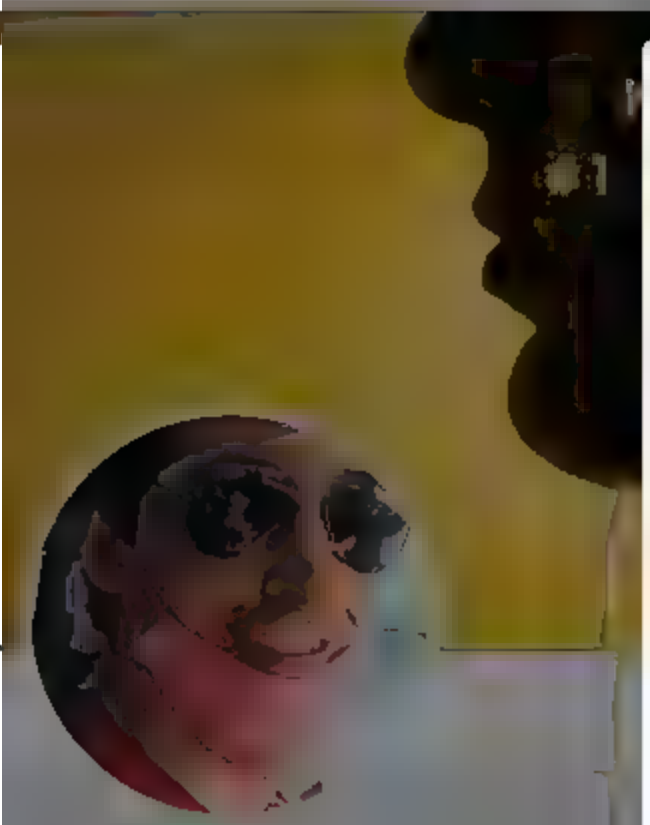
4 7 13

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Apr 2019

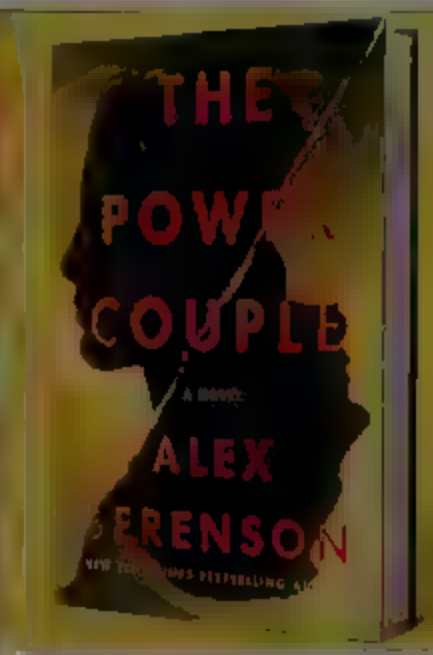
2/ Worth noting that based on the emails I've received, many older Democrats have seen their kids (or their kids' friends) progress from cannabis to opioids; they seem far more suspicious of marijuana than the polls indicate. (I know, sampling error is big in this case.)

5 1 9

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 17 Apr 2019



Replying to



Madras is a coward who blocks anyone who challenges her distortions with hard peer-reviewed scientific data. She cannot deal with facts just propaganda. She is a sadly failed voice of intolerance.

1 2

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 17 Apr 2019

Then why did her testimony in front of the Judge Kimberly Mueller in the eastern district of CA stand up against about 50 people testifying that marijuana should

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Thanks @pistoleraprod for pointing me to your 2013 article in which Uruguayan officials promised cannabis legalization would "prevent violence." How's that been working out?

around in a VW-Käfer bug and donates most of his income to charity, making him "the world's poorest president," or its most generous, depending on your perspective.

The motivation behind the reform is to combat abuse of pasta base, a type of crack. "We want to separate those that smoke marijuana from those that smoke pasta base," said congressman Felipe Michelini, a member of Mujica's Frente Amplio (Broad Front), which controls both houses of parliament. By cutting out criminal dealers, Michelini hopes to prevent marijuana users buying pasta base, "something that's more addictive."

11:30 AM - 17 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

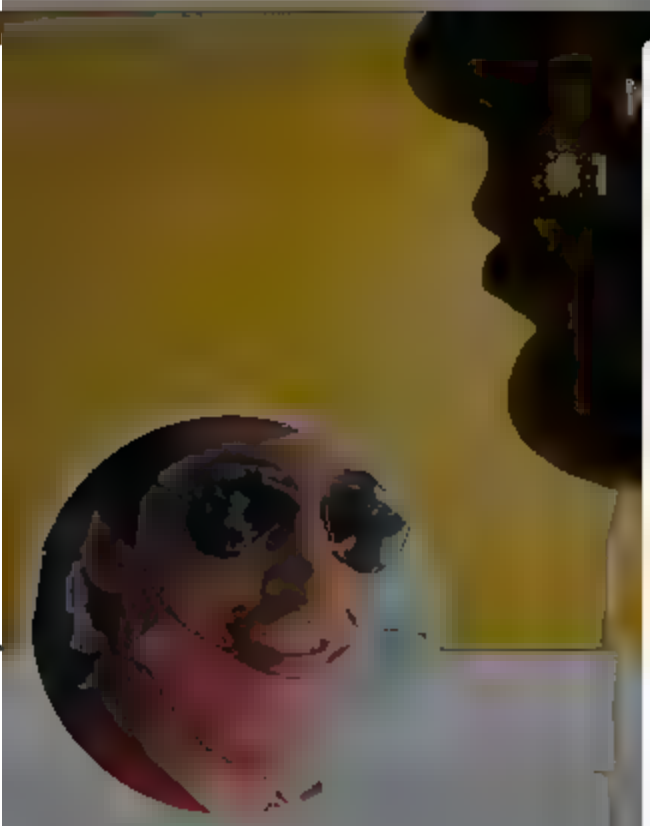
2 2 3

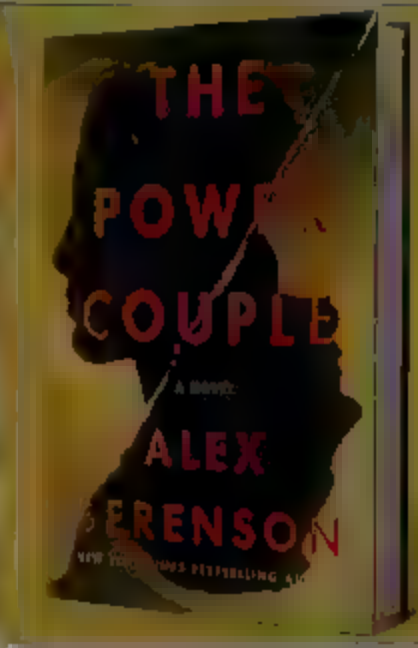
Michelle García @pistoleraprod · 17 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]

Understanding benefits from context of that time, hence the piece. You obviously have reached a conclusion. Anyone truly interested would look at the indicators that fuel org. crime and violence which have been largely absent in Uruguay. As you know having been to Uruguay, right

1



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

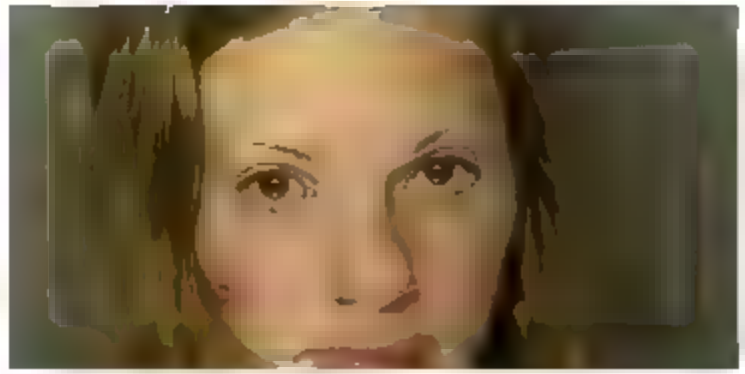
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York



Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, in South Carolina, we need a Gofundme to get Rebecca Silver a subscription to @washingtonpost - she doesn't seem to know that being high makes her a better caregiver.

WBRC

Report: Woman burns father with Hot Pocket, chokes child

Rebecca Elizabeth Silver (Source: JRLDC)

By Nick Doria | April 16, 2019 at 10:09 AM CDT - Updated April 16 at 1:45 PM

Incident on Palm Road and spoke to Silver's mother, who said they had just arrived for a family vacation, according to an Horry County police report. An 11-year-old girl reportedly told the grandmother that [illegible] was smoking marijuana while driving.

Police say an argument ensued and Silver walked outside, where the grandmother found her smoking marijuana again.

and began seizing at the 11-year-old, according to the report. Authorities say she then approached the child and began pushing and hitting her. The child tried to push her off, but Silver reportedly sat on her back and pinned her down.

She then allegedly grabbed the 11-year-old by the throat, and "squeezed so hard it stopped her airway for 5-10 seconds," the report states.

Police say Silver's mother heard the commotion and tried to intervene, but the suspect reportedly slapped her in the face and started attacking her. Silver then struck a 10-year-old boy as he tried to push her off the grandmother, according to police.

Silver eventually went back to the Hot Pocket and

11:50 AM - 17 Apr 2019

6 Retweets 11 Likes

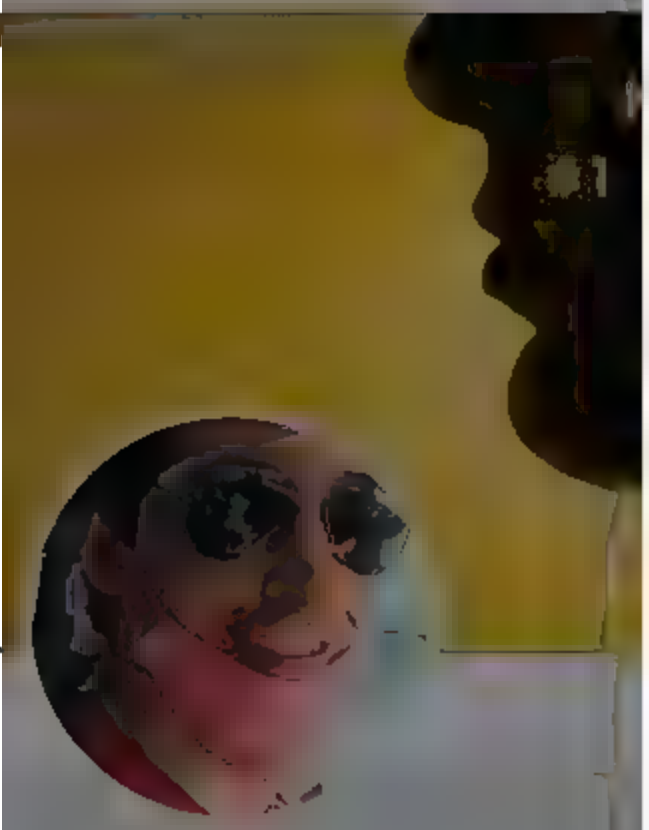
2 6 11



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Apr 2019

Replying to [redacted]

We need to get you a subscription to the Journal of the American Statistical Association. A reminder that cannabis remains prohibited in South Carolina, but apparently that didn't help

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

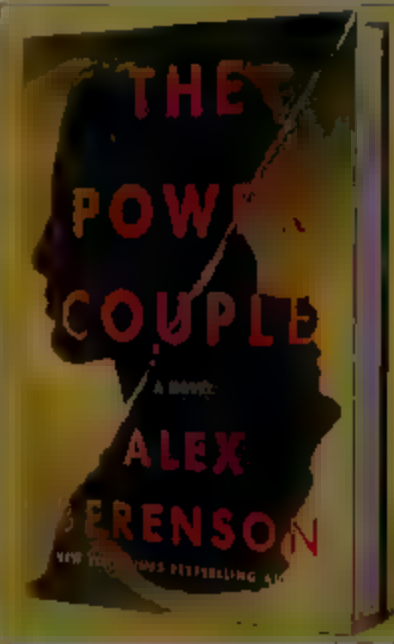
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Follow

In many cases they have not read the book. In others, they have a review essentially pre-written. It is no accident that the reviewers/interviewers who engage the book seriously - @gladwell @bostonjonas @smencimer - to name three - are not pre-existing cannabis advocates.



@PoppotGroup

> It's actually a book that explains the studies and the "research" about marijuana. But then the reviewers don't like that research, so they attack the book.
>
> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
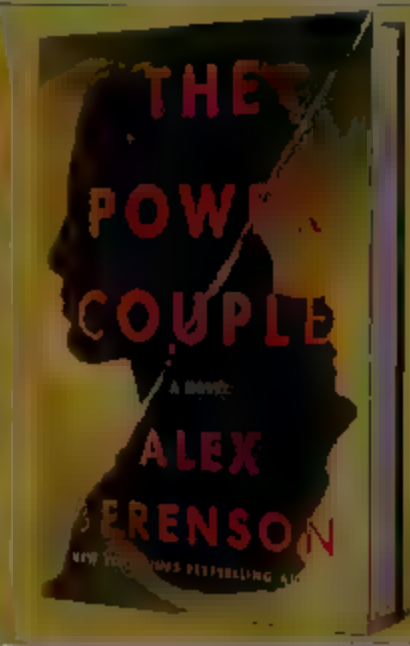
>
> 3/ In this context, "sensationalist" means: TYC gives me a sensation I dislike. It makes me fear my feelings about cannabis are wrong, and maybe Big Marijuana cannot be trusted to be honest about its drug. And, in...
>
> Show this thread

8:34 PM - 16 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 9 Likes

Have an account? Log in



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Search Twitter

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Seriously, @google? As a friend just told me, "Someone at Google is jerking you around."

alex berenson marijuana

alex berenson marijuana

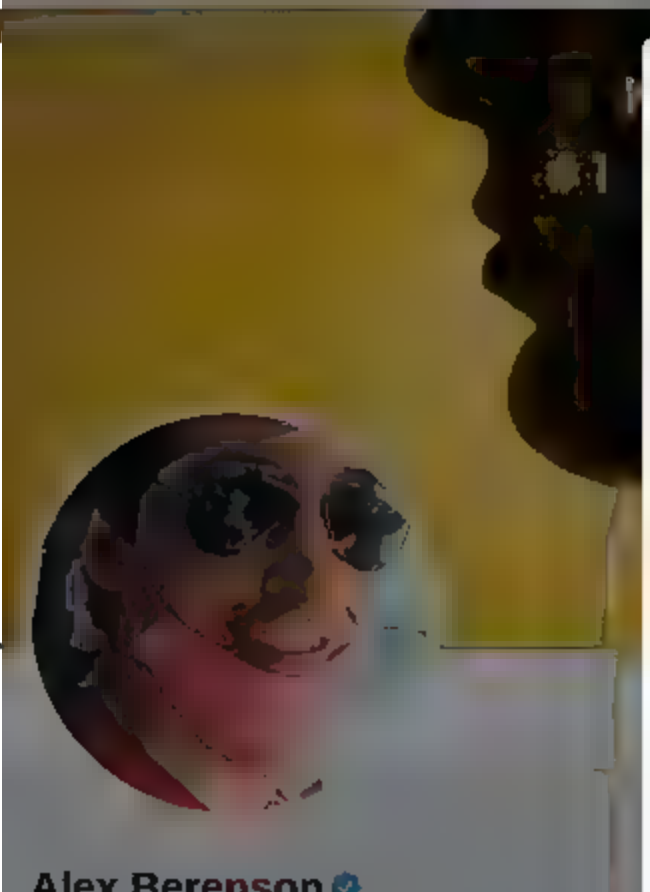
ALL NEWS SHOPPING IMAGES VIDEOS M

Tell Your Children: The Truth About Marijuana, Mental Illness, and Violence

Follow

Book by Alex Berenson

OVERVIEW GET BOOK REVIEWS MORE BY AUTHOR

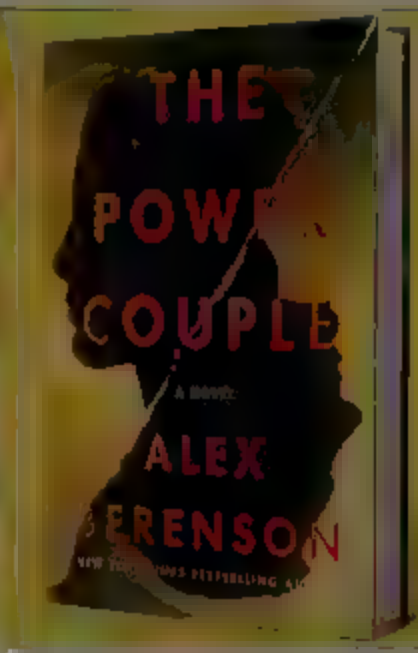


Book preview
30/272 pages available

11:58 AM - 16 Apr 2019

12 Likes

8 12



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

A reminder: Uruguay began the legal recreational sale of cannabis in July 2017. Murders rose 45 percent in 2018. Coincidence, no doubt.

1:34 PM - 16 Apr 2019

11 Retweets 28 Likes

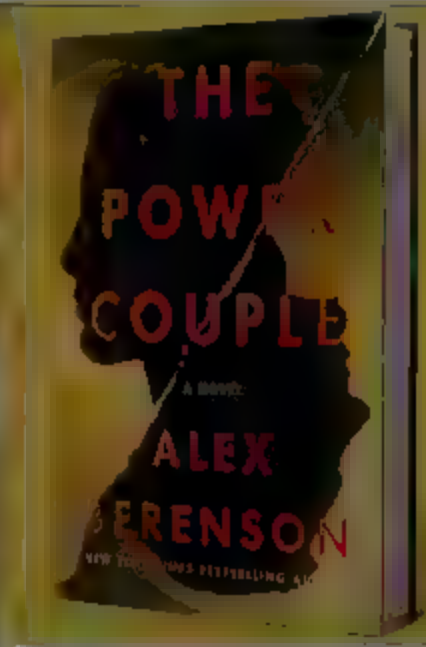
12 11 28



Matthew Meyer @MatthewDSMeyer · 16 Apr 2019

Replying to

El País thinks there's a link, but not because of your Anslinger Ax Murder Hypothesis: rather, because the illegal drug gangs are fighting to control a shrinking pie as legalization works.

1 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

BTW: It is ironic that the people attacking TYC for getting attention are doing so at outlets that won't cover it; doubly ironic that they would have been hard-pressed to get space in those outlets otherwise... criticizing the book has become a cottage industry. You're welcome!

7:52 AM - 16 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

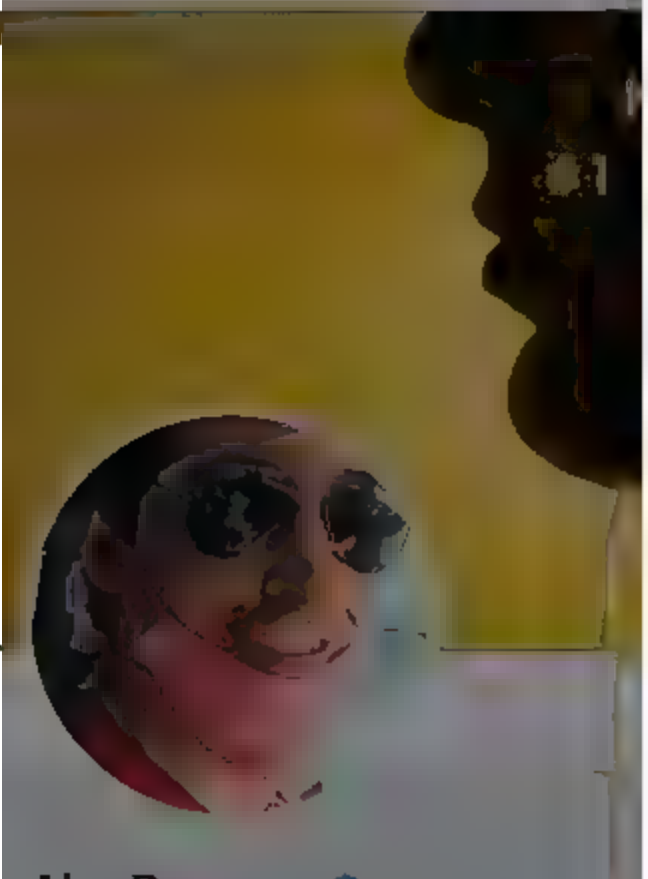
3 2 7

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 16 Apr 2019



Replying to

Contrary to your perceptions, there has never been a shortage of activists, journalists and government officials eager to exaggerate and sensationalize the health risks of cannabis. Indeed, it wasn't that long ago that cannabis law reform advocates were a radical fringe.

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019

3/ In this context, "sensationalist" means: TYC gives me a sensation I dislike. It makes me fear my feelings about cannabis are wrong, and maybe Big Marijuana cannot be trusted to be honest about its drug. And, indeed, the piece (inevitably!) ends with a call for more research...

2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019

4/ More research? Sure. Let's research cannabis and mental illness - and crime, driving, parenting, and birth defects. And cannabis as medicine too. But while we are, let's not forget what the science already tells us:
Cannabis causes psychosis. And psychosis causes violence...

4 1 3

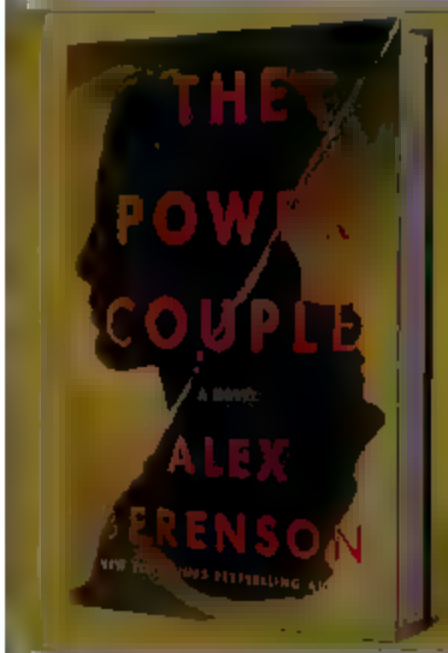
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019

5/ Final thought. The [illegible] must think Tell Your Children is pretty important; it has published two pieces that attack the book from cannabis advocates. But it hasn't asked its own reviewers – who presumably would be more neutral – to review the book...

2 1 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

6/ Nor has it asked me to respond. I guess that's what I should expect, considering that I plan to keep hitting Post for encouraging cannabis-impaired parenting until it acknowledges how unbelievably stupid that promotion has been.



7:41 AM - 16 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 9 Likes

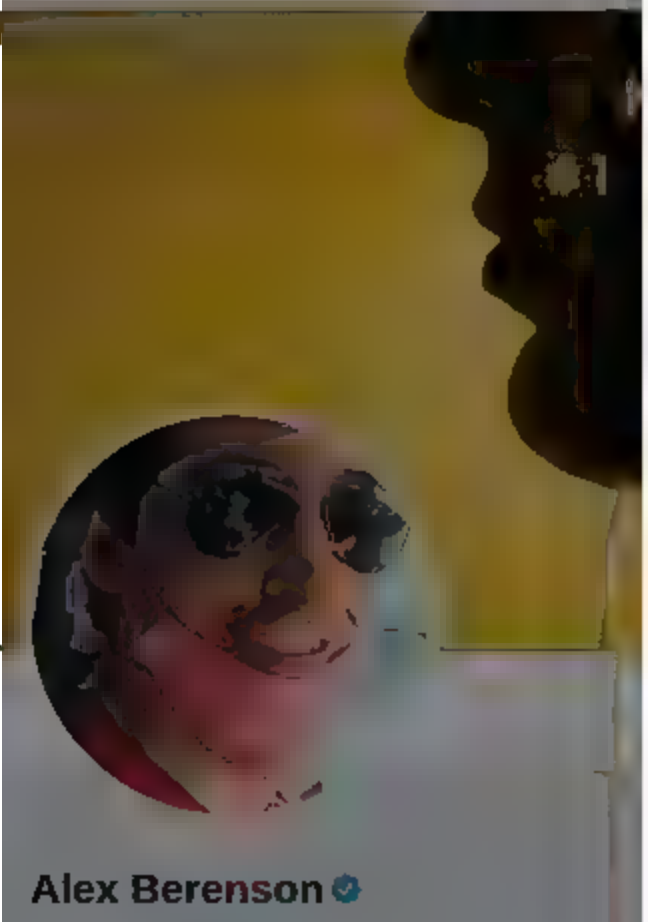
1 9



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4/ More research? Sure. Let's research cannabis and mental illness - and crime, driving, parenting, and birth defects. And cannabis as medicine too. But while we are, let's not forget what the science already tells us:
Cannabis causes psychosis. And psychosis causes violence...

4 1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

5/ Final thought. The @washingtonpost must think Tell Your Children is pretty important; it has published two pieces that attack the book from cannabis advocates. But it hasn't asked its own reviewers – who presumably would be more neutral – to review the book...

7:41 AM - 16 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 9 Likes

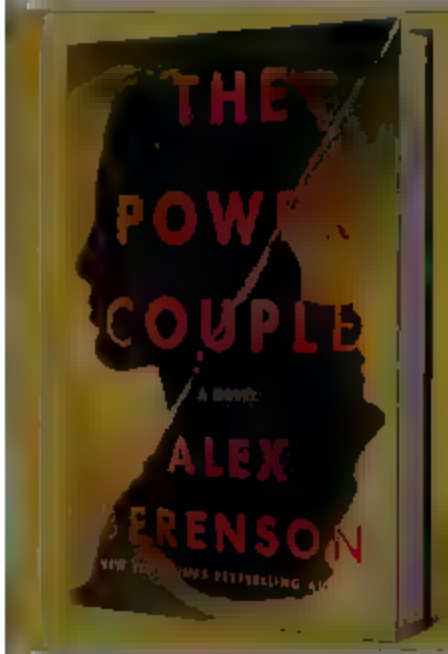
2 1 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019

6/ Nor has it asked me to respond. I guess that's what I should expect, considering that I plan to keep hitting Post for encouraging cannabis-impaired parenting until it acknowledges how unbelievably stupid that promotion has been.

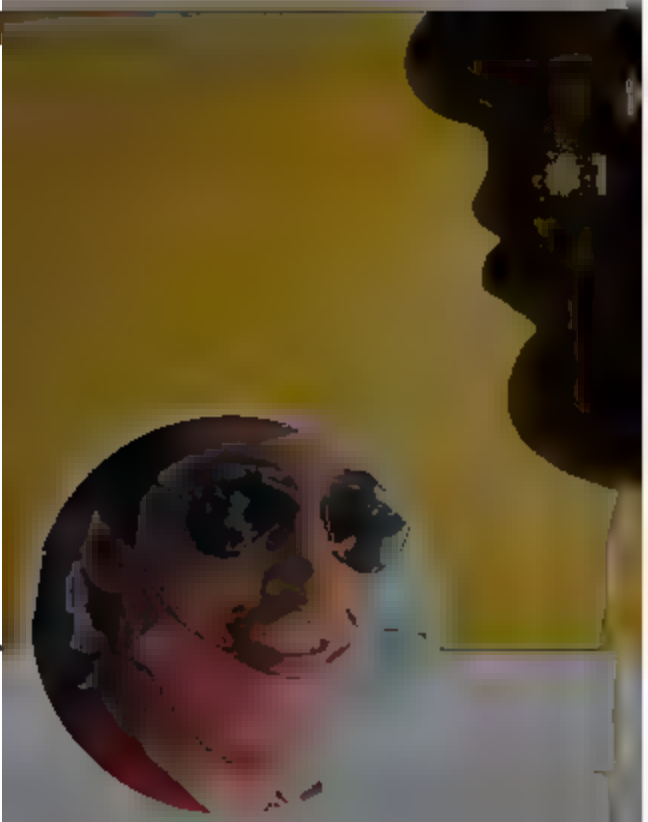


1 9

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 16 Apr 2019

Replying to

Dufton and Richert must think your book is symbolic of one side of a polarized debate that is fomenting a moral panic, distorting public understanding and impeding policies based on economics, science, public health and safety, compassion and human rights.



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ "Sensationalist": such an odd complaint. Reporting can be true and sensationalist at once; see John Hersey, Hiroshima. A writer who can't produce sensation with his words has failed; we are outraged at Harvey Weinstein, thrilled for the firefighters who saved Notre Dame...

2 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ In this context, "sensationalist" means: TYC gives me a sensation I dislike. It makes me fear my feelings about cannabis are wrong, and maybe Big Marijuana cannot be trusted to be honest about its drug. And, indeed, the piece (inevitably!) ends with a call for more research...

7:38 AM - 16 Apr 2019

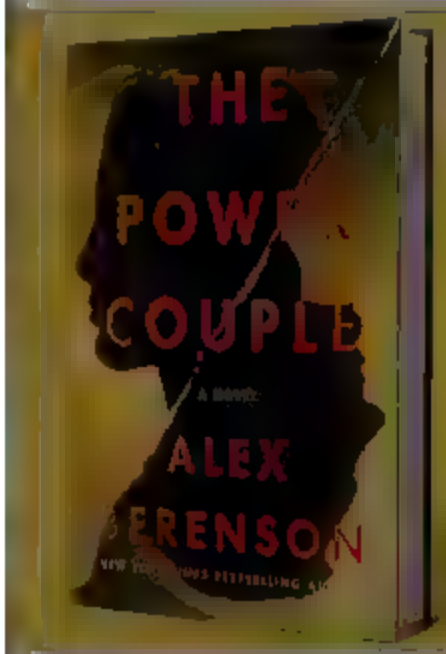
3 Likes

2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019

4/ More research? Sure. Let's research cannabis and mental illness - and crime, driving, parenting, and birth defects. And cannabis as medicine too. But while we are, let's not forget what the science already tells us:
Cannabis causes psychosis. And psychosis causes violence...

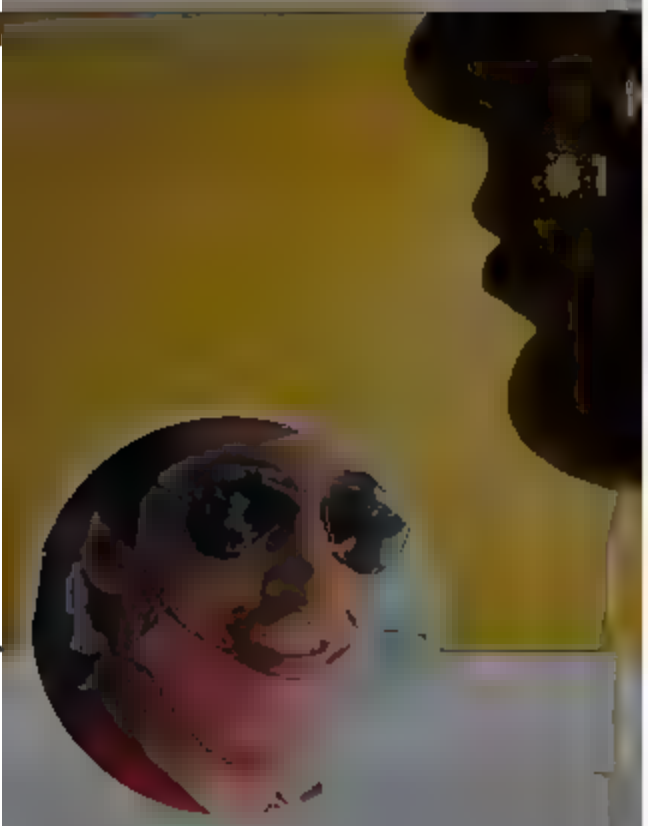
4 1 3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019

5/ Final thought. The must think Tell Your Children is pretty important; it has published two pieces that attack the book from cannabis advocates. But it hasn't asked its own reviewers – who presumably would be more neutral – to review the book...

2 1 9



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019

6/ Nor has it asked me to respond. I guess that's what I should expect, considering that I plan to keep hitting Post for encouraging cannabis-impaired

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ In this context, "sensationalist" means: TYC gives me a sensation I dislike. It makes me fear my feelings about cannabis are wrong, and maybe Big Marijuana cannot be trusted to be honest about its drug. And, indeed, the piece (inevitably!) ends with a call for more research...

2 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ More research? Sure. Let's research cannabis and mental illness - and crime, driving, parenting, and birth defects. And cannabis as medicine too. But while we are, let's not forget what the science already tells us:
Cannabis causes psychosis. And psychosis causes violence...

7:39 AM - 16 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

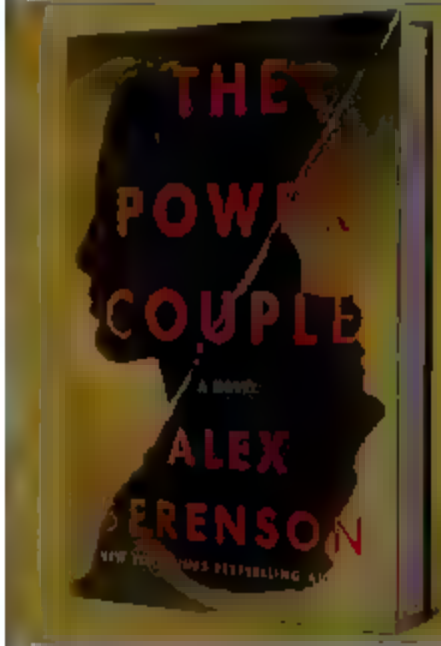
4 1 3

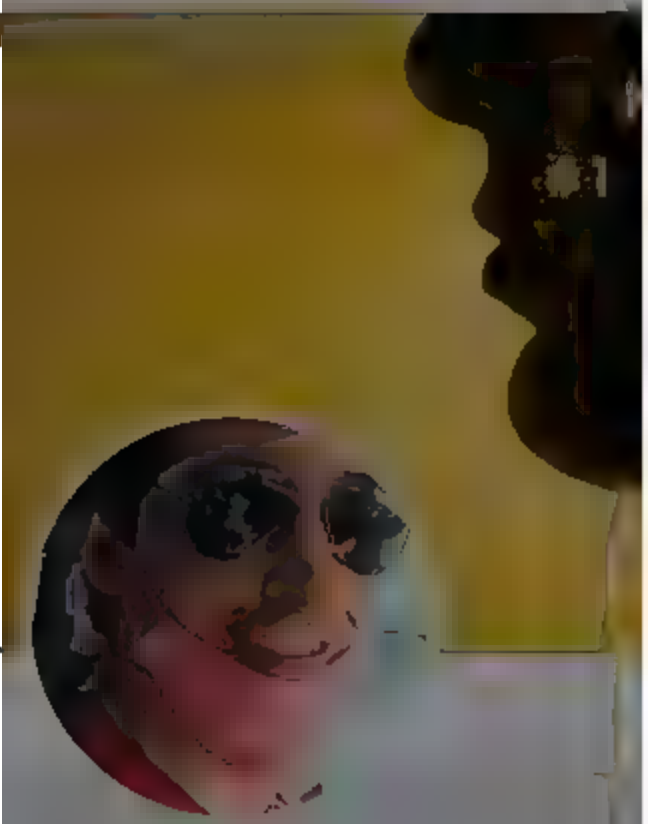
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019
5/ Final thought. The [illegible] must think Tell Your Children is pretty important; it has published two pieces that attack the book from cannabis advocates. But it hasn't asked its own reviewers – who presumably would be more neutral – to review the book...



2 1 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019
6/ Nor has it asked me to respond. I guess that's what I should expect, considering that I plan to keep hitting Post for encouraging cannabis-impaired parenting until it acknowledges how unbelievably stupid that promotion has been.

1 9



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 16 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Ahh, [redacted] and [redacted] - whom I like - get all twisted up writing about Tell Your Children for the WaPo: [redacted]
Note: they DON'T say TYC is inaccurate or misquotes evidence. They can't. They know it isn't. Instead they say it is "sensationalist..."

6 1 10

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ "Sensationalist": such an odd complaint. Reporting can be true and sensationalist at once; see John Hersey, Hiroshima. A writer who can't produce sensation with his words has failed; we are outraged at Harvey Weinstein, thrilled for the firefighters who saved Notre Dame...

7:37 AM - 16 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

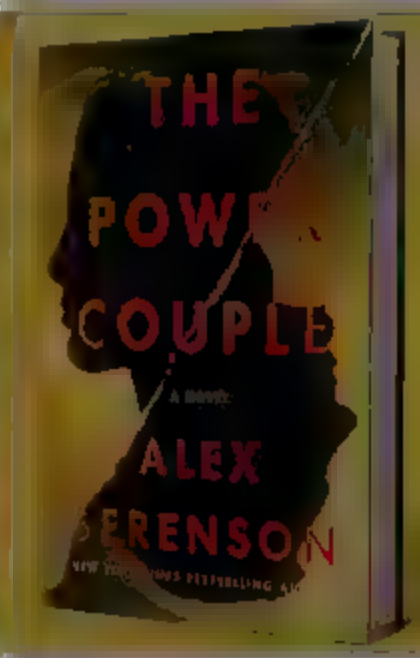
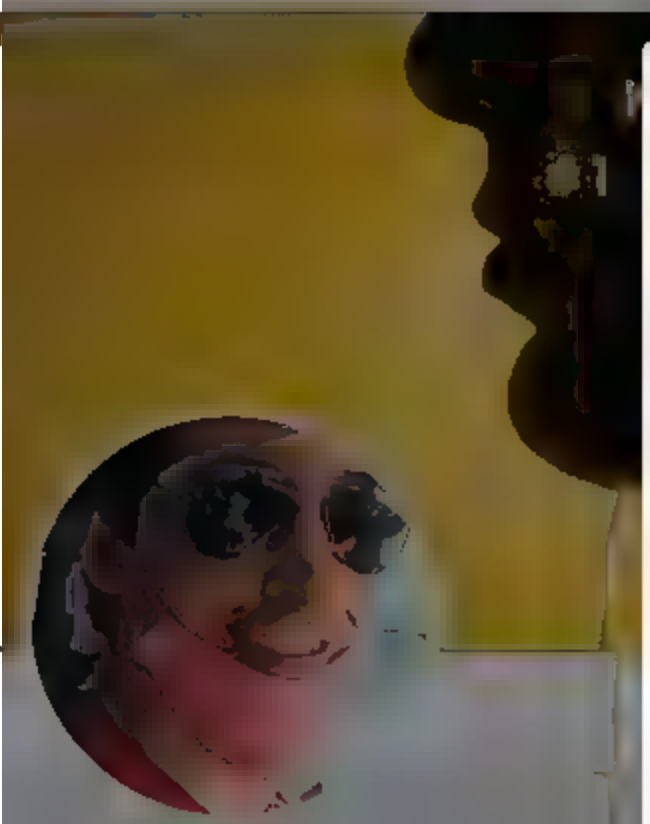
2 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019
3/ In this context, "sensationalist" means: TYC gives me a sensation I dislike. It makes me fear my feelings about cannabis are wrong, and maybe Big Marijuana cannot be trusted to be honest about its drug. And, indeed, the piece (inevitably!) ends with a call for more research...

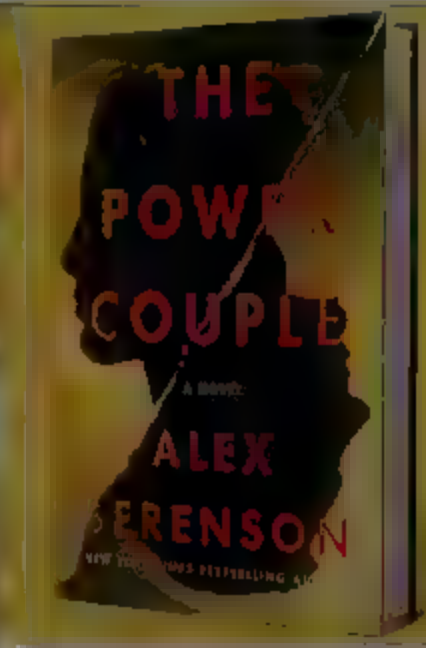


2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019
4/ More research? Sure. Let's research cannabis and mental illness - and crime, driving, parenting, and birth defects. And cannabis as medicine too. But while we are, let's not forget what the science already tells us:
Cannabis causes psychosis. And psychosis causes violence...



4 1 3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019
5/ Final thought. The [redacted] must think Tell Your Children is pretty important; it has published two pieces that attack the book from cannabis

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Ahh, @lucrichert and @emily_dufton - whom I like - get all twisted up writing about Tell Your Children for the WaPo: washingtonpost.com/outlook/2019/0 .. Note: they DON'T say TYC is inaccurate or misquotes evidence. They can't. They know it isn't. Instead they say it is "sensationalist..."

7:35 AM - 16 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 10 Likes

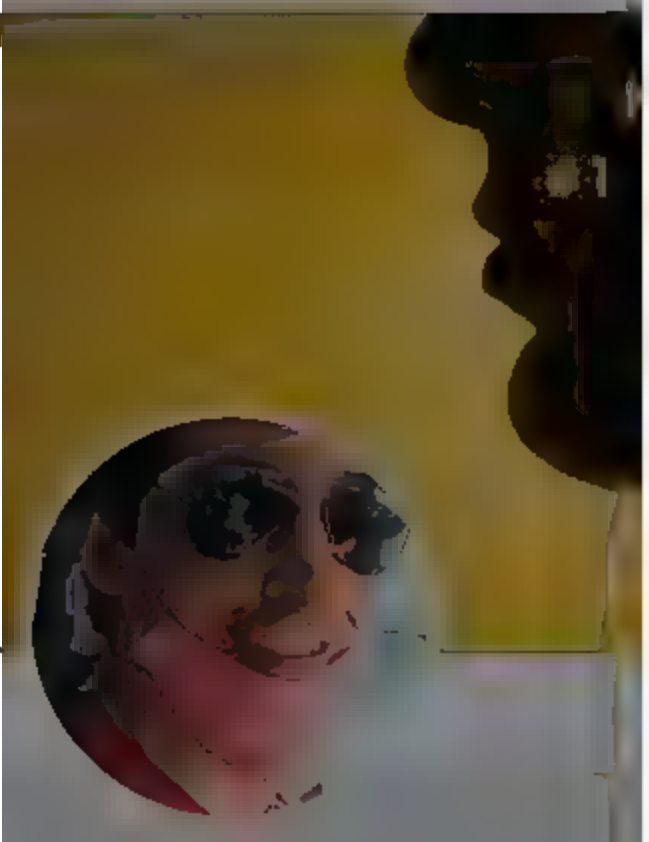
6 1 10

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019
2/ "Sensationalist": such an odd complaint. Reporting can be true and sensationalist at once; see John Hersey, Hiroshima. A writer who can't produce sensation with his words has failed; we are outraged at Harvey Weinstein, thrilled for the firefighters who saved Notre Dame...



2 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019
3/ In this context, "sensationalist" means: TYC gives me a sensation I dislike. It makes me fear my feelings about cannabis are wrong, and maybe Big Marijuana cannot be trusted to be honest about its drug. And, indeed, the piece (inevitably!) ends with a call for more research...

2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Apr 2019
4/ More research? Sure. Let's research cannabis and mental illness - and crime, driving, parenting, and birth defects. And cannabis as medicine too. But while we are, let's not forget what the science already tells us:
Cannabis causes psychosis. And psychosis causes violence...

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

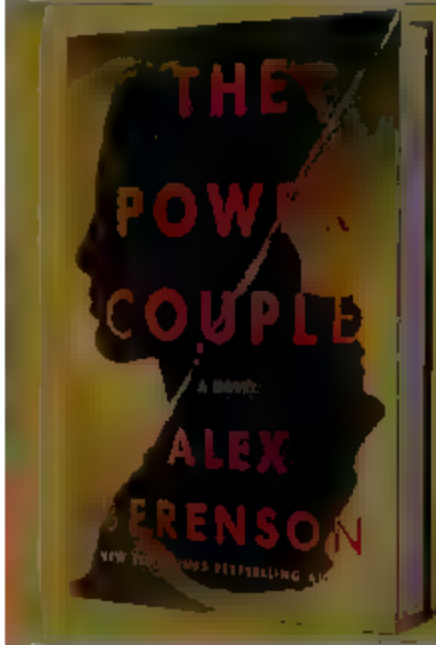
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



If you missed this two months back... seemed like a good moment to repost it. More true now than ever, and not just about Tell Your Children:

> So many lessons since January; one is about the state of modern media. I understand now there's a whole group of reporters - mostly men, mostly under 35 - who came of age on Twitter, where snark and hot takes are the coin of the realm. They rarely leave their desks. They prefer Internet searches to original reporting. They think they're independent, rebellious, and intellectually honest but really they're all reading from the same ideological playbook; they're a less cool version of the Williamsburg hipsters who are so tiresomely the same.
>
> Most of all they don't know what they don't know, or how the world really works; they've never been investigative reporters, and they pretend not to care about money. So they don't know that companies (or academics!) will lie - to their faces and with conviction - about almost anything

5:40 AM - 16 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 16 Likes

4 3 15

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

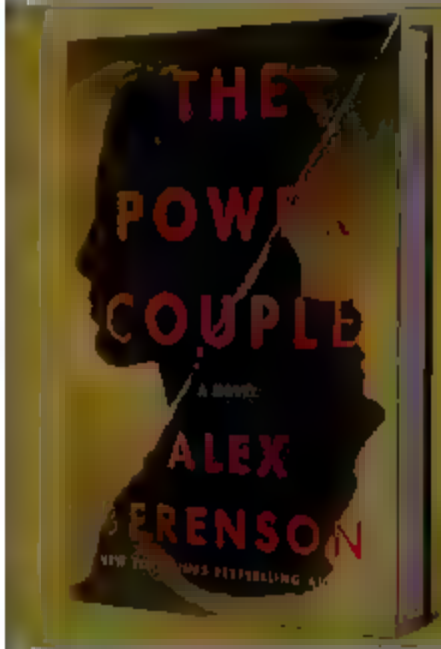
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019

3/ And given figures from Seattle and other big WA cities, it is quite likely that the gap actually continued to increase in 2018. In fact, here's a reputable source reporting that King County homicides rose another 5% last year.

1 1 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



4/ Which raises the question if yesterday's piece by Dale and Ruibin should have been headlined, "Who ya gonna believe, us or your lying reporters?" @gladwell

10:18 AM - 15 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

1 4

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019

So we're clear: insult me, fine. Lie about the book, fine. (You're probably muted, but what you don't know...) Mention my kids or my wife's brother, blocked. I know a bunch of you long-term users have APD, but try to hide it, okay? It doesn't do your cause any good.

9 1 29

Scott Lewis @MarijuanaNC · 15 Apr 2019

Im a pro-pot guy, but it is disgusting to attack your family.
I sill think you're wrong about cannabis, but that's a different story.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

Thanks for that. Truly.

5:39 PM - 15 Apr 2019

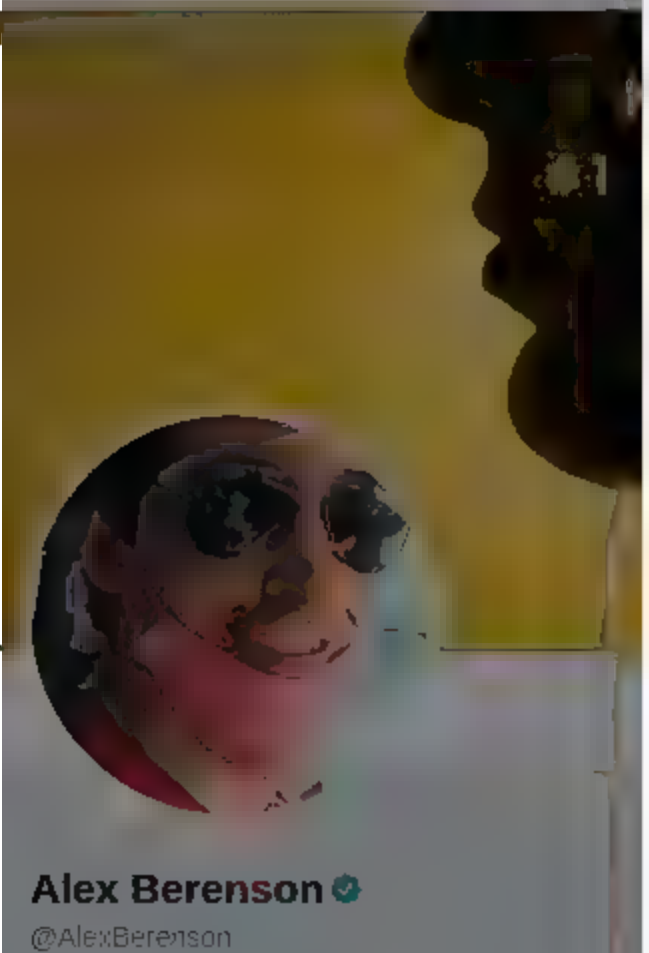
2 Likes

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



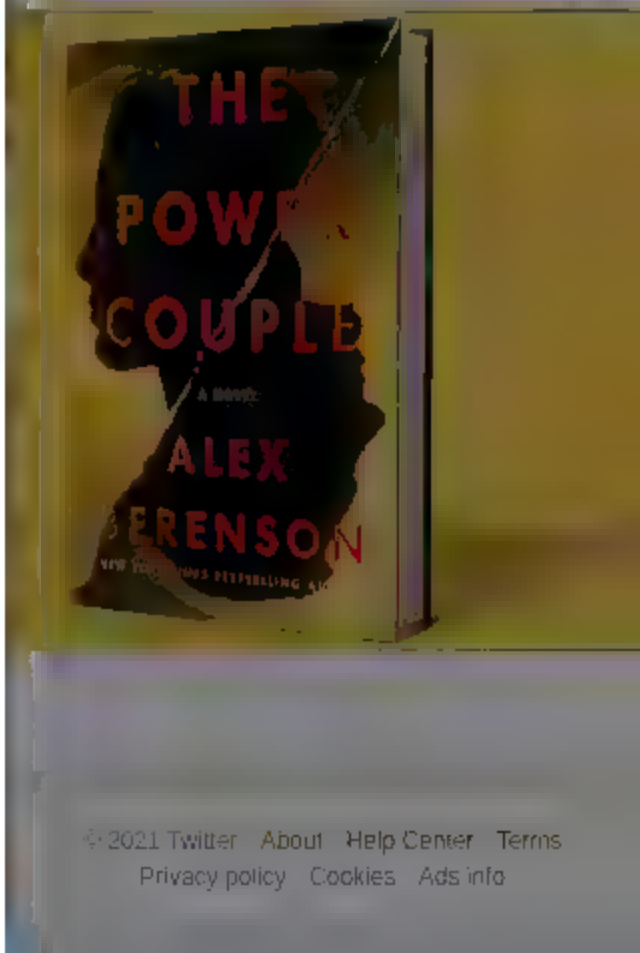
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

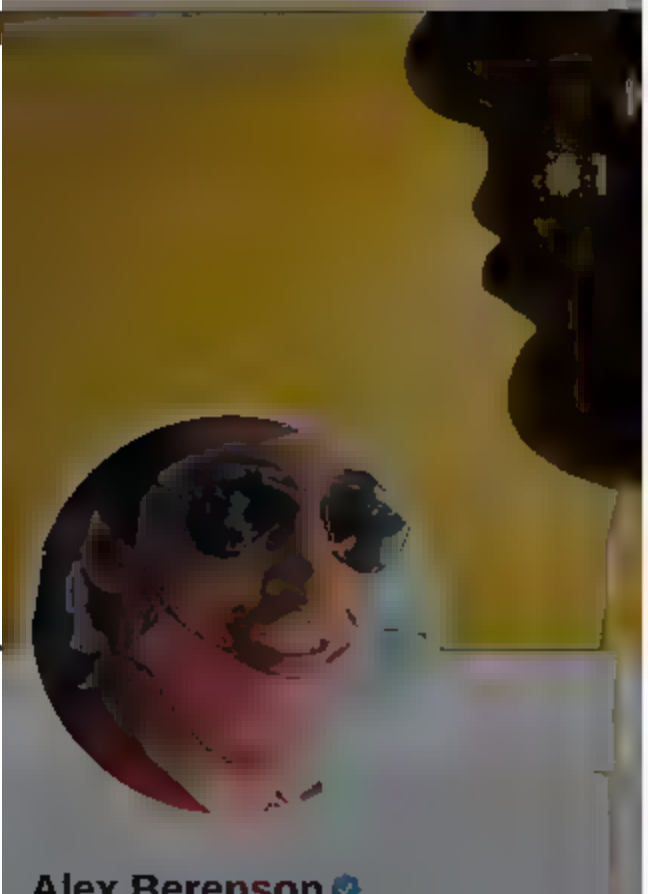
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Following

Funny not funny to see this - I talked to a friend today, a very smart investor, and he reminded me that Psychosis Inc. views cannabis as an 11-figure gold mine. I focus on intellectual incompetence and ideologically driven dishonesty, but greed is an equally important driver...



Replying to @AlexBerenson @LNseven5 and @nntaleb any Canadian university - where the marijuana industry have handed out money for bs research - oh yes as they did in Australia. ... where are the results - all we see is the headlines that say they are studying benefits of pot - all very dubious .

4/15/19, 9:03 PM

6:16 PM - 15 Apr 2019

4 Retweets 15 Likes

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

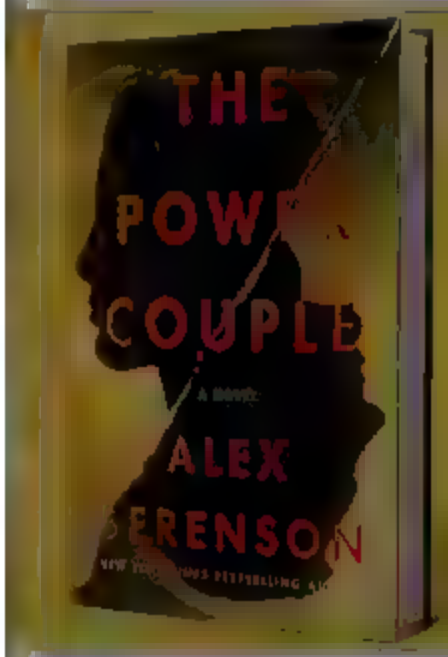
Joined November 2009

2/ Because - as I have done repeatedly - I am happy to provide the links to the FBI UCR data showing that murders and aggravated assaults rose more quickly in Washington (on a per-capita basis) than in the US as a whole after the opening of recreational dispensaries in 2014.

2 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ And given figures from Seattle and other big WA cities, it is quite likely that the gap actually continued to increase in 2018. In fact, here's a reputable source reporting that King County homicides rose another 5% last year.



10:15 AM - 15 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

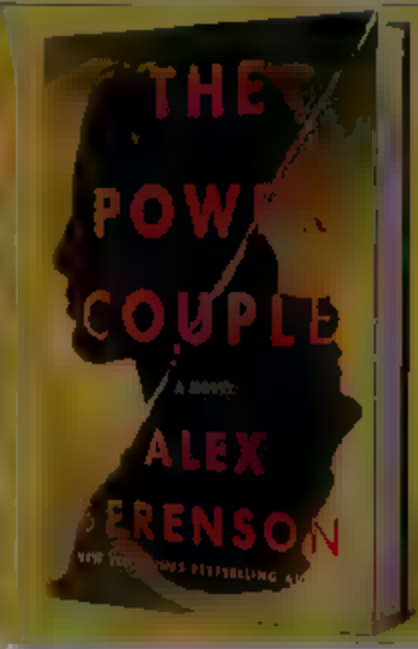
1 1 6



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019

4/ Which raises the question if yesterday's piece by Dale and Ruibin should have been headlined, "Who ya gonna believe, us or your lying reporters?"

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Hey @SeaTimesOpinion - do you plan to ask Dale Willits and Ruibin Lu to provide actual evidence for their claim that Tell Your Children is wrong, rather than just mentioning "research" that they do not link to or describe in any detail?

10:12 AM - 15 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 9 Likes

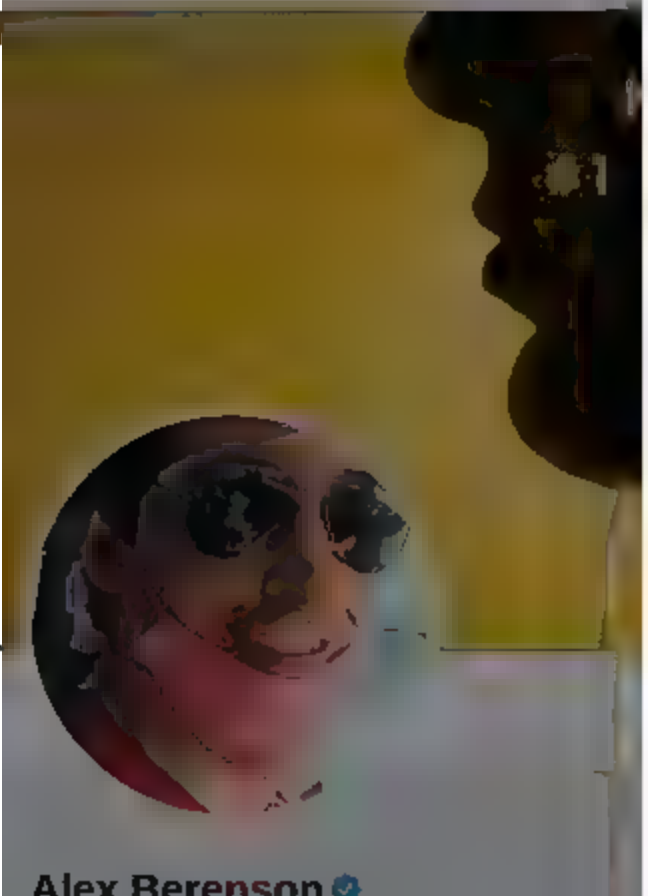
2 3 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019



2/ Because - as I have done repeatedly - I am happy to provide the links to the FBI UCR data showing that murders and aggravated assaults rose more quickly in Washington (on a per-capita basis) than in the US as a whole after the opening of recreational dispensaries in 2014.

2 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019

3/ And given figures from Seattle and other big WA cities, it is quite likely that the gap actually continued to increase in 2018. In fact, here's a reputable source reporting that King County homicides rose another 5% last year.

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019

1/ Hey [redacted] - do you plan to ask Dale Willits and Ruibin Lu to provide actual evidence for their claim that Tell Your Children is wrong, rather than just mentioning "research" that they do not link to or describe in any detail?

2 3 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

[redacted]

2/ Because - as I have done repeatedly - I am happy to provide the links to the FBI UCR data showing that murders and aggravated assaults rose more quickly in Washington (on a per-capita basis) than in the US as a whole after the opening of recreational dispensaries in 2014.

10:13 AM - 15 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

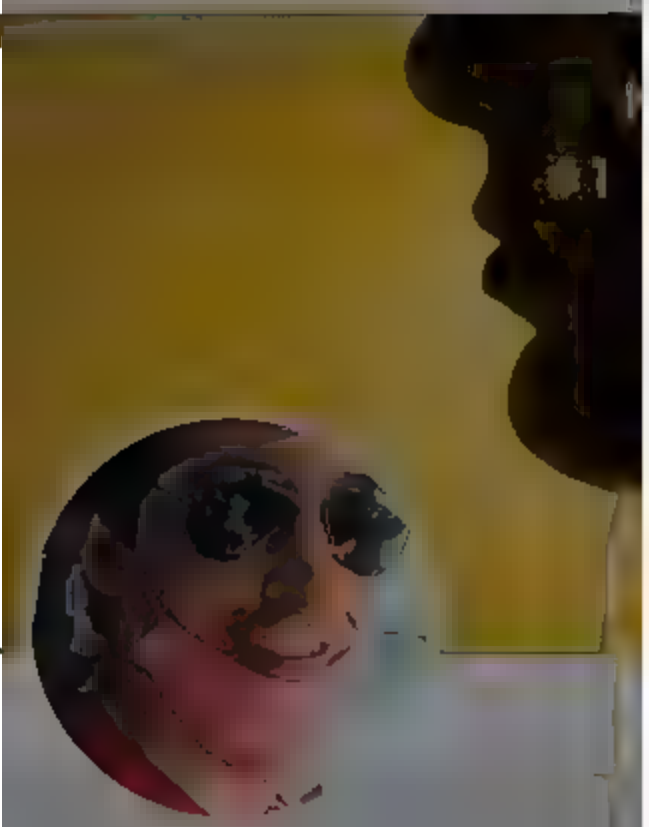
2 1 4



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019

3/ And given figures from Seattle and other big WA cities, it is quite likely that the gap actually continued to increase in 2018. In fact, here's a reputable source reporting that King County homicides rose another 5% last year.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

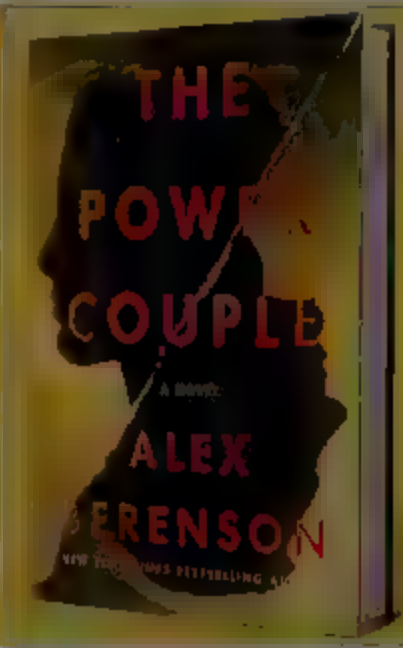
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019

1/ Meantime, from the Dept. of Real Science - this paper draws on the National Survey on Drug Use and Health to show that "loose medical" cannabis states and states with lots of cannabis use had significantly more serious mental illness than other states:

4 4 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



2/ Not surprisingly, @_cingraham and the rest of the cannabis journalist advocacy community ignored it. Remember: cannabis goooooood!

8:40 AM - 15 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

1 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I'm looking for a PhD program in Oddly Constructed and Pointlessly Complicated Social Science Research, with a concentration in Poorly Hidden Ideological Bias. Can anyone help? @nntaleb

9:32 AM - 15 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 12 Likes

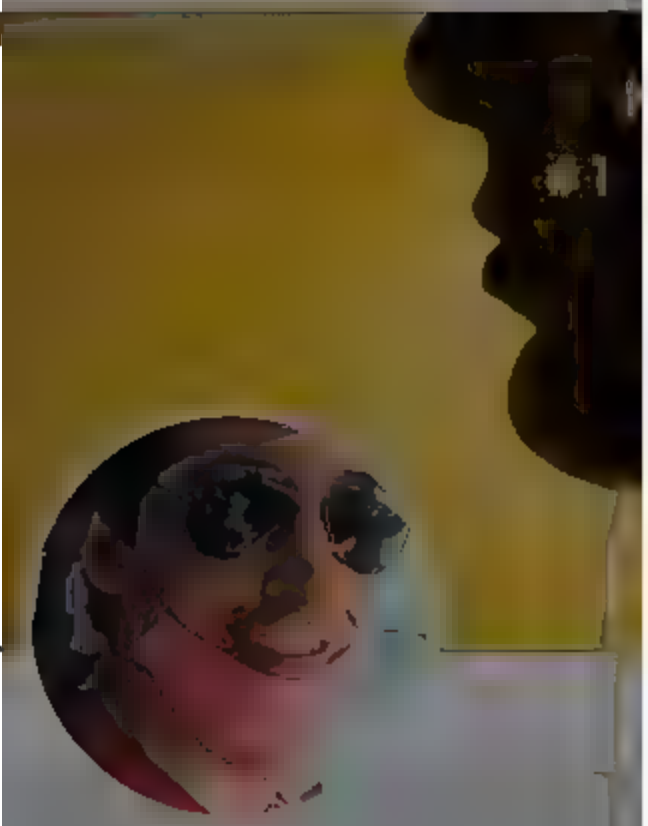
7 1 12



Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 15 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Tip: Add 'for profit' to your search filter. Always research the faculty publications in any program you consider, or critique, lets discuss some. Despite weaknesses in social science, you would learn a lot with some dedicated MS/PhD study. But I'd suggest public health, epi, MSW

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 15 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I think u earned it already. U can b a professor n that regard.

Kim Candise @KimCandise · 15 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Of course, Publish whoever pays you or perish...

Twas4kids @twas4kids · 15 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
any Canadian university - where the marijuana industry have handed out money

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Does anyone dispute we'd benefit from much more and more sophisticated research on impact of marijuana reforms on crime, punishment and policing? Snark is distracting; need for much deeper research (and feds' failings here) should be consensus call among all following issue

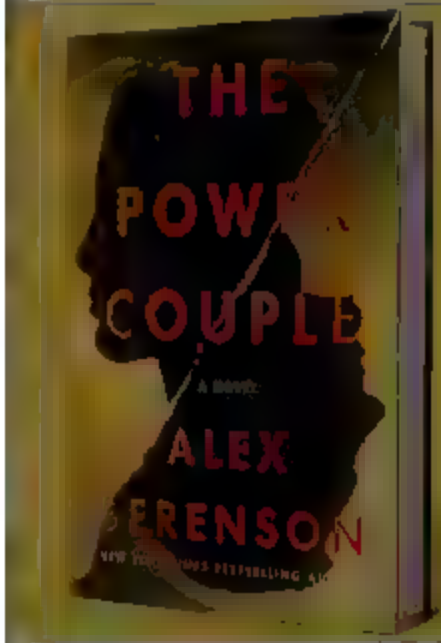
1 1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

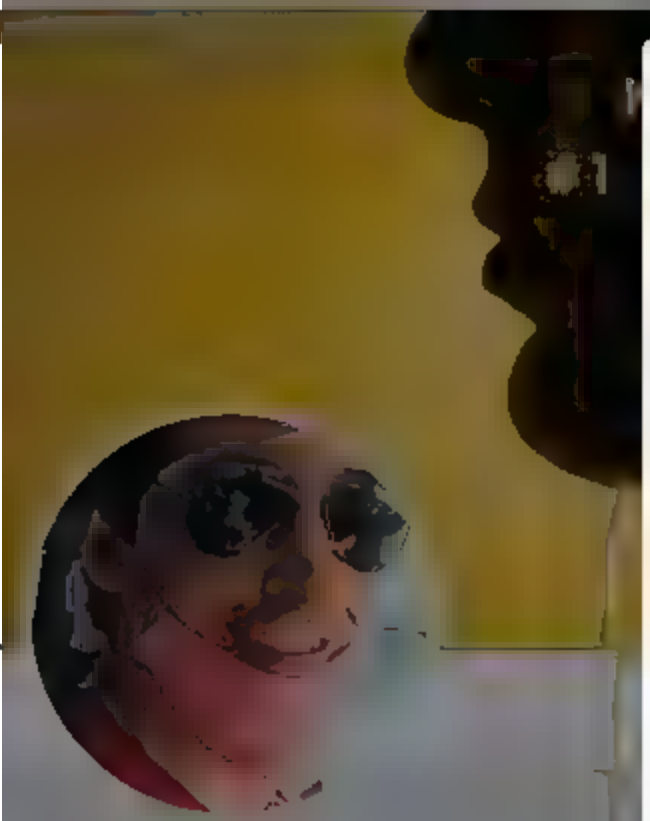
We surely would. Unfortunately given the almost unbelievably poor quality (and visible ideological bias) of much of the research that has so far been conducted into cannabis's impacts on driving and crime, we're gonna need a bigger boat, with some new researchers.

9:16 AM - 15 Apr 2019



1 Like

2 1



Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 15 Apr 2019

Replying to

And a lot more funding from a lot more captains should result in more folks pulling research oars in bigger and different boats. We need a wide diversity of folks exploring a wide diversity of empirical questions on these important topics.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Gladwell is so smart. I put myself through a nine-part Twitter analysis to prove these guys are wrong - he blows them up with surgical precision in one-one hundredth the time.

> Malcolm Gladwell @Gladwell
> Researchers call for money to "refute the erroneous conclusion drawn by Berenson and Gladwell" on the dangers of pot. Huh. So that's how science works? seattletimes.com/opinion/fund-l...

7:29 AM - 15 Apr 2019

4 Retweets 9 Likes

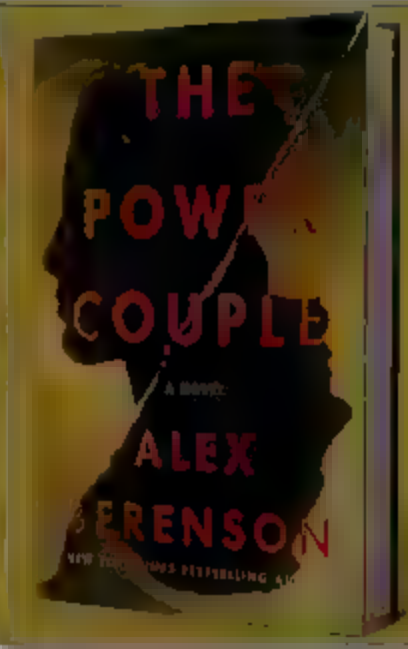
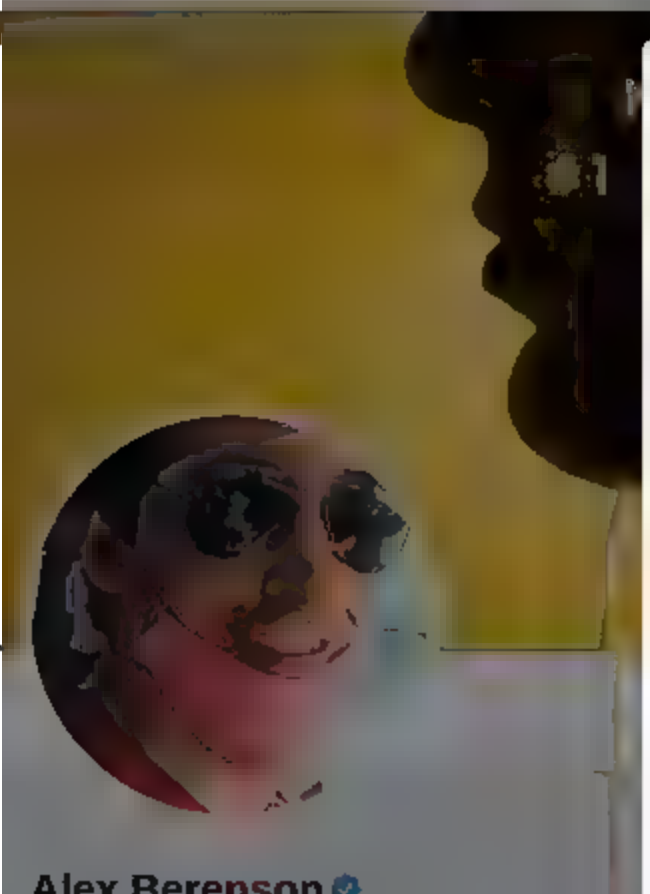
5 4 9



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 15 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Nice quote mining. "If we had not done this research, we would not be able to confidently refute Berenson's conclusions, and Gladwell's citation of them, with facts."

1

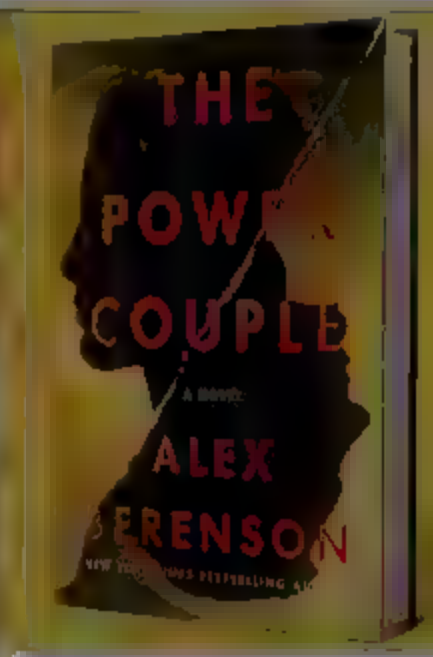


Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 15 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Does anyone dispute we'd benefit from much more and more sophisticated research on impact of marijuana reforms on crime, punishment and policing? Snark is distracting; need for much deeper research (and feds' failings here) should be consensus call among all following issue

1 1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019
We surely would. Unfortunately given the almost unbelievably poor quality (and visible ideological bias) of much of the research that has so far been conducted

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Meantime, from the Dept. of Real Science - this paper draws on the National Survey on Drug Use and Health to show that "loose medical" cannabis states and states with lots of cannabis use had significantly more serious mental illness than other states:

8:39 AM - 15 Apr 2019

4 Retweets 11 Likes

4 4 11

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Apr 2019

2/ Not surprisingly, and the rest of the cannabis journalist advocacy community ignored it. Remember: cannabis goooooood!

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

8/ I don't even know what. Can these two even believe what they're spinning? For the nth time: we don't know yet that cannabis legalization has caused the increase in violent crime in the legalized states; but crime has risen. To claim otherwise is simply untrue...

2 2 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

9/ I'm sorry if I sound tired. I am. I am tired of having to argue with people who think that having letters after their names means that they can get away with publishing nonsense - and with the media outlets that aid and abet them.

Your faithful correspondent, etc, etc...

8:33 PM - 14 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 33 Likes

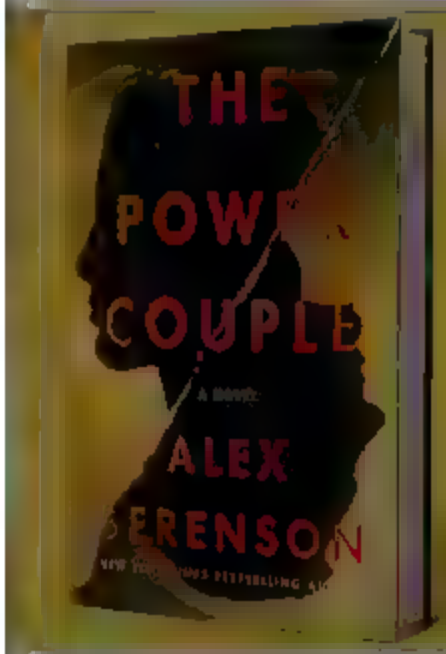
8 1 33

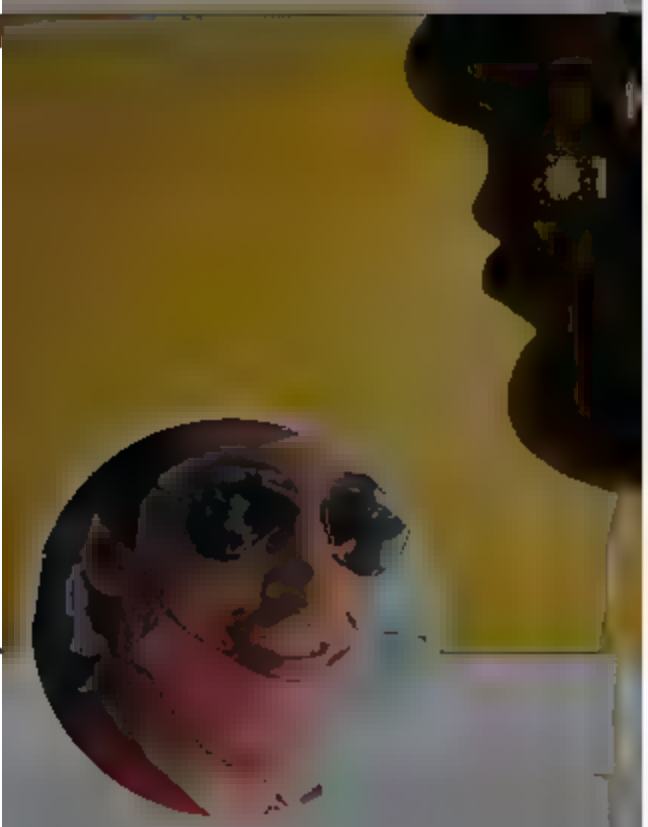
Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to

Alex. I understand how you feel. I am tired of talking to deaf years. Now they want to say this cures cancer. It takes all the ambitions out of people and makes the get violent. I have watch this drug turn people that I once loved to something I was terrified of.



2 3

Joseph Drum @JDrum84 · 15 Apr 2019
There's no evidence it "cures" cancer, just like there's no evidence that is "causes" violence.



Pierre Andersson @pierrea · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to

Thanks for your patience and perseverance. Your voice is very much needed

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
7/ Obviously, this is at best a shortsighted way to look at law enforcement, which may be why the paper has been cited only three times. But to use it in an effort to refute the plain fact that murders and aggravated assaults have soared in the legalized states since 2013 is...

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

8/ I don't even know what. Can these two even believe what they're spinning? For the nth time: we don't know yet that cannabis legalization has caused the increase in violent crime in the legalized states; but crime has risen. To claim otherwise is simply untrue...

8:31 PM - 14 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

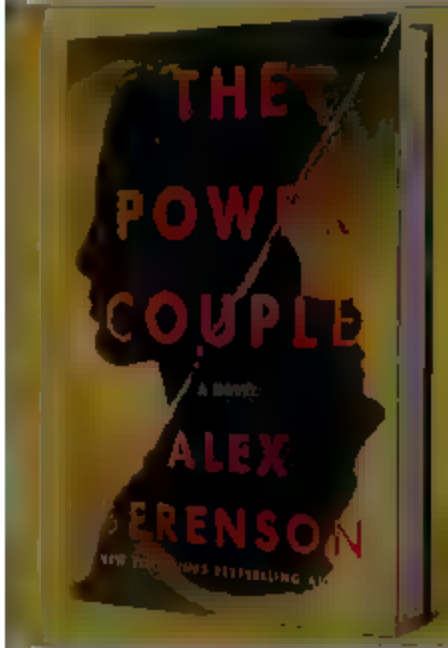
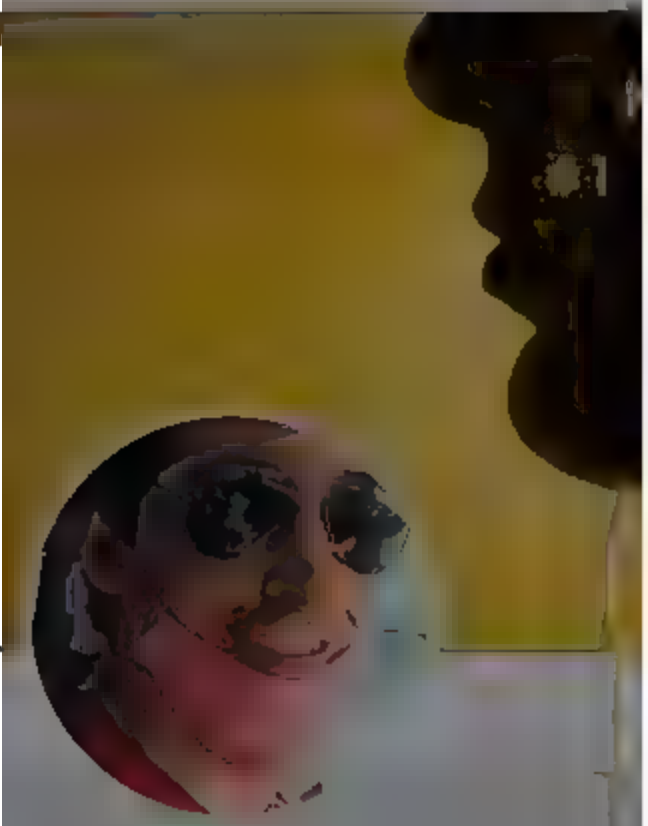
2 2 7



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
9/ I'm sorry if I sound tired. I am. I am tired of having to argue with people who think that having letters after their names means that they can get away with publishing nonsense - and with the media outlets that aid and abet them.

Your faithful correspondent, etc, etc...



8 1 33

Show additional replies, including those that may contain offensive content Show

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

6/ In other words, if murders doubled from 100 to 200 in Washington the year after legalization, but the police solved 50 of those murders the first year and 110 the second, this paper would find that legalization had actually made the state safer...

2 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

7/ Obviously, this is at best a shortsighted way to look at law enforcement, which may be why the paper has been cited only three times. But to use it in an effort to refute the plain fact that murders and aggravated assaults have soared in the legalized states since 2013 is…

8:30 PM - 14 Apr 2019

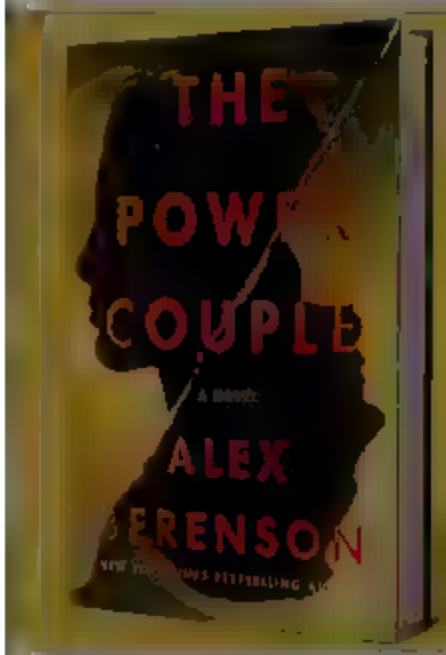
2 Likes

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019

8/ I don't even know what. Can these two even believe what they're spinning? For the nth time: we don't know yet that cannabis legalization has caused the increase in violent crime in the legalized states; but crime has risen. To claim otherwise is simply untrue...

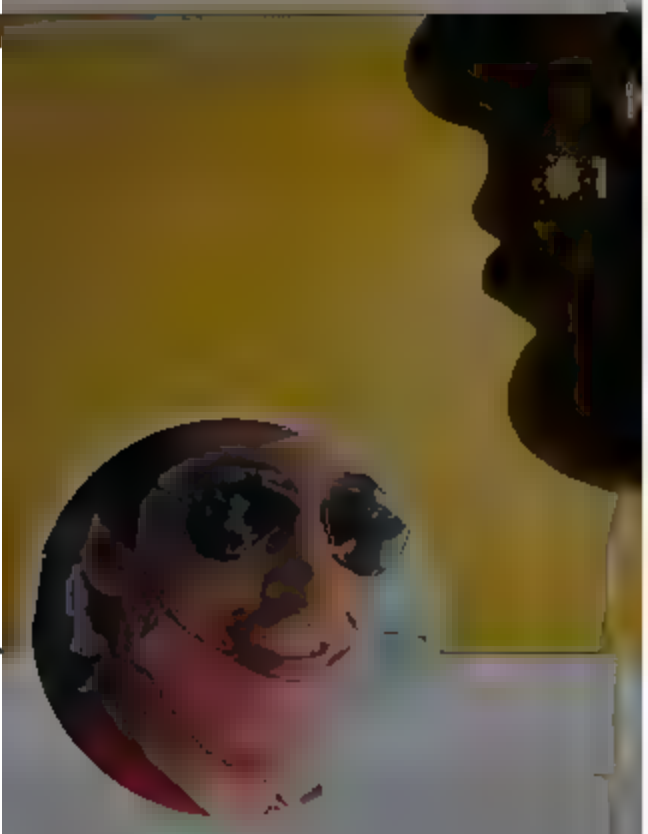
2 2 7



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019

9/ I'm sorry if I sound tired. I am. I am tired of having to argue with people who think that having letters after their names means that they can get away with publishing nonsense - and with the media outlets that aid and abet them.

Your faithful correspondent, etc, etc…



8 1 33

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Erm. What?
Forget that this "robust and in-depth" research only goes through 2015 or that it centers on property crime. It focuses ONLY on how likely police were to solve crimes - not how many crimes were committed...

1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

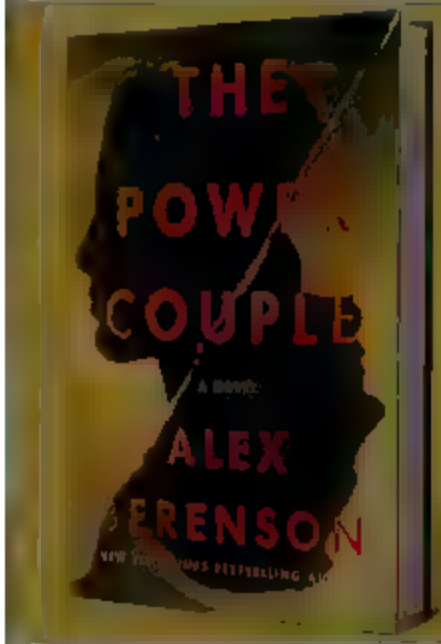
6/ In other words, if murders doubled from 100 to 200 in Washington the year after legalization, but the police solved 50 of those murders the first year and 110 the second, this paper would find that legalization had actually made the state safer...

8:29 PM - 14 Apr 2019

3 Likes

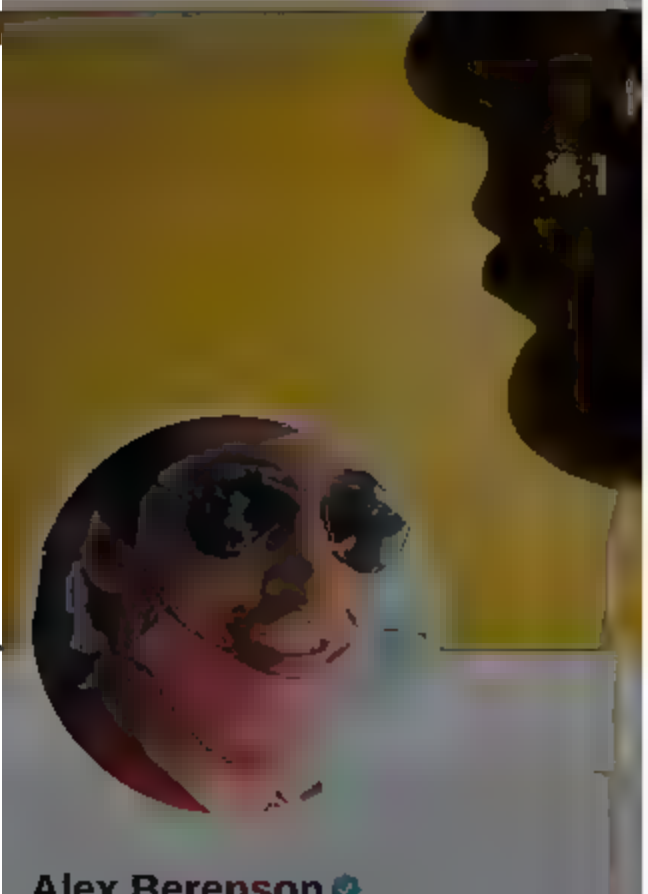
2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
7/ Obviously, this is at best a shortsighted way to look at law enforcement, which may be why the paper has been cited only three times. But to use it in an effort to refute the plain fact that murders and aggravated assaults have soared in the legalized states since 2013 is...



1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
8/ I don't even know what. Can these two even believe what they're spinning? For the nth time: we don't know yet that cannabis legalization has caused the increase in violent crime in the legalized states; but crime has risen. To claim otherwise is simply untrue...



2 2 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
9/ I'm sorry if I sound tired. I am. I am tired of having to argue with people who think that having letters after their names means that they can get away with publishing nonsense - and with the media outlets that aid and abet them.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

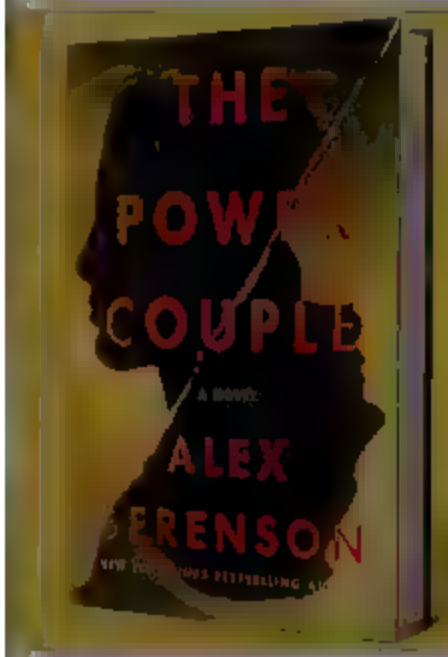
New York

Joined November 2009

3/ In Sunday's piece, Dale Willits and Ruibin Lu refer to research they helped perform to provide "one of the most robust and in-depth looks at crime after legalization." Said research enabled them to "refute Berenson's conclusions, and Gladwell's citation of them, with facts."

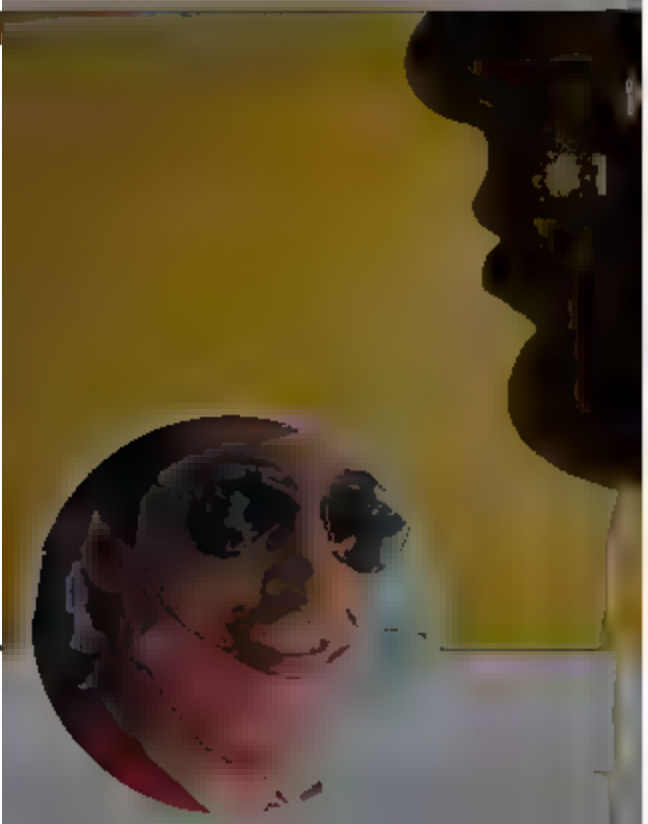
1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



4/ Except. The actual research is not provided in the piece (first clue). They worked together on only one published paper, per Google Scholar. Neither has published other work about marijuana. So I must assume this is the "robust and in-depth" research:

8:26 PM - 14 Apr 2019



4 Likes

1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
5/ "Marijuana legalization and crime clearance rates."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 4

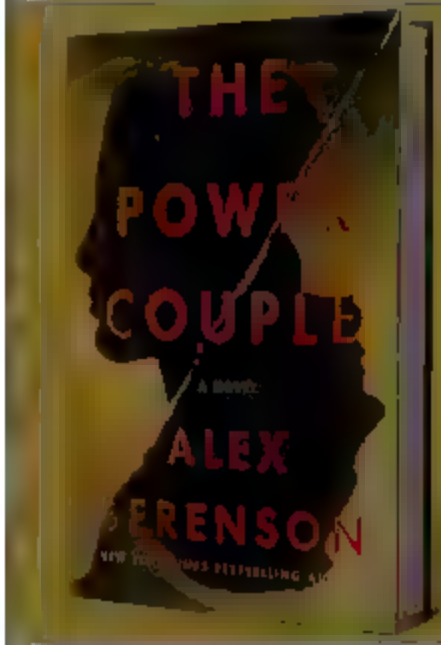
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

5/ "Marijuana legalization and crime clearance rates."
Erm. What?
Forget that this "robust and in-depth" research only goes through 2015 or that it centers on property crime. It focuses ONLY on how likely police were to solve crimes - not how many crimes were committed...

8:28 PM - 14 Apr 2019

3 Likes

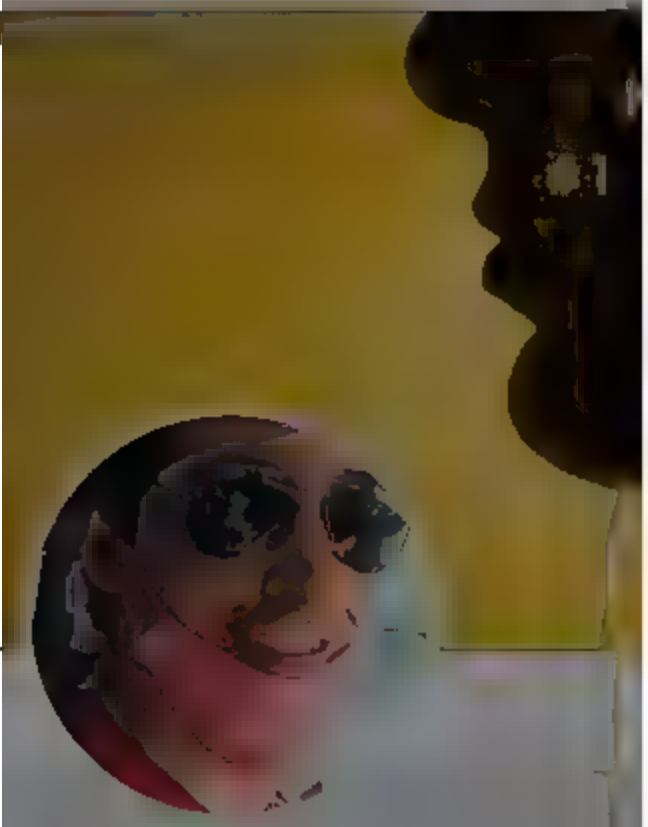
1 3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
6/ In other words, if murders doubled from 100 to 200 in Washington the year after legalization, but the police solved 50 of those murders the first year and 110 the second, this paper would find that legalization had actually made the state safer...

2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
7/ Obviously, this is at best a shortsighted way to look at law enforcement, which may be why the paper has been cited only three times. But to use it in an effort to refute the plain fact that murders and aggravated assaults have soared in the legalized states since 2013 is...



1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ But if I don't, the usual journo-advocates will inevitably link to it as "proof" that my figures on violent crime in the legalized states – which come directly from FBI data – are somehow wrong. And people who haven't read the book will believe them. So here goes...

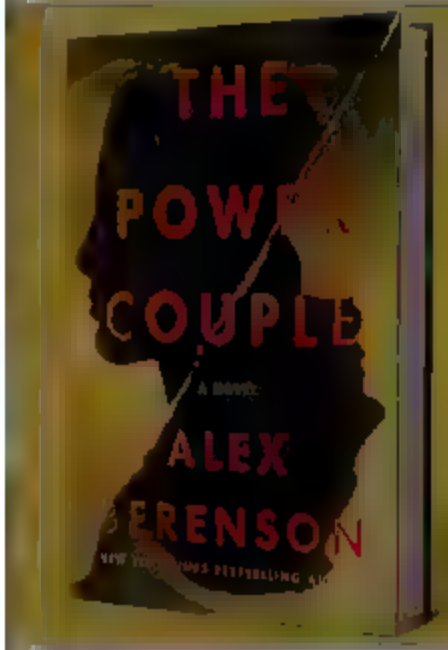
1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

3/ In Sunday's piece, Dale Willits and Ruibin Lu refer to research they helped perform to provide "one of the most robust and in-depth looks at crime after legalization." Said research enabled them to "refute Berenson's conclusions, and Gladwell's citation of them, with facts."

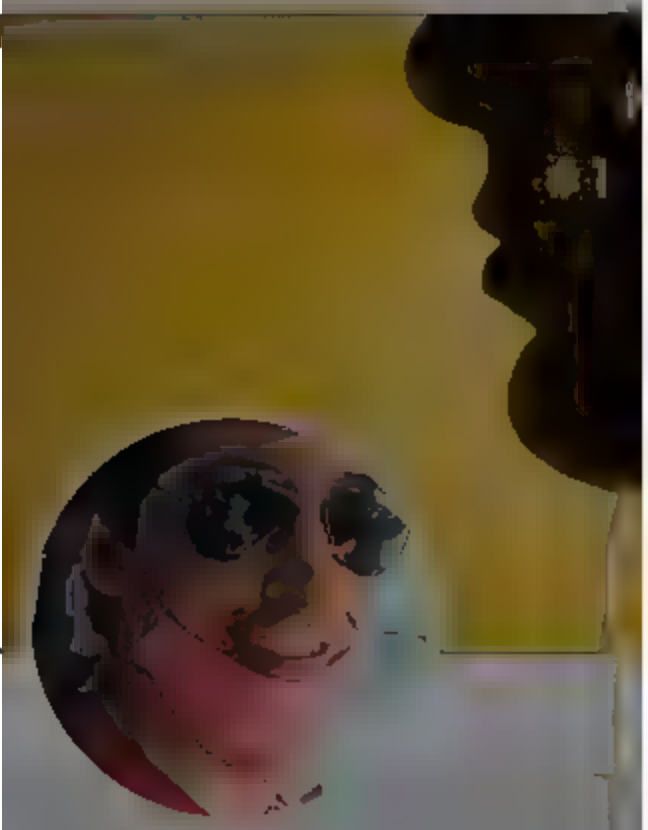
8:23 PM - 14 Apr 2019



2 Likes

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019



4/ Except. The actual research is not provided in the piece (first clue). They worked together on only one published paper, per Google Scholar. Neither has published other work about marijuana. So I must assume this is the "robust and in-depth" research:

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Here were go again. Today [redacted] ran a nonsensical piece by two assistant professors attacking Tell Your Children (and [redacted]'s [redacted] piece). This particular would-be takedown is so obviously wrong that I probably shouldn't waste the time writing about it...

4 3 15

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson [redacted]

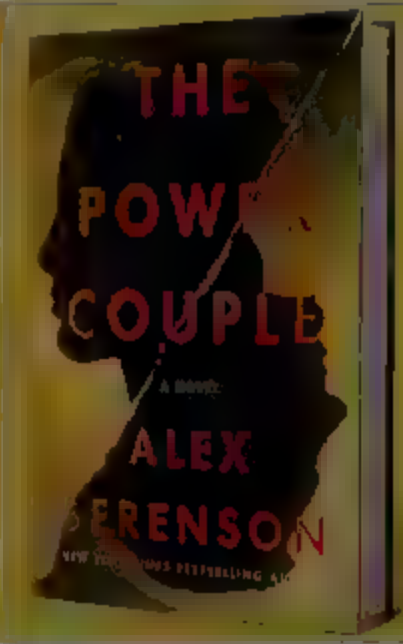
2/ But if I don't, the usual journo-advocates will inevitably link to it as "proof" that my figures on violent crime in the legalized states – which come directly from FBI data – are somehow wrong. And people who haven't read the book will believe them. So here goes...

8:22 PM - 14 Apr 2019

2 Likes

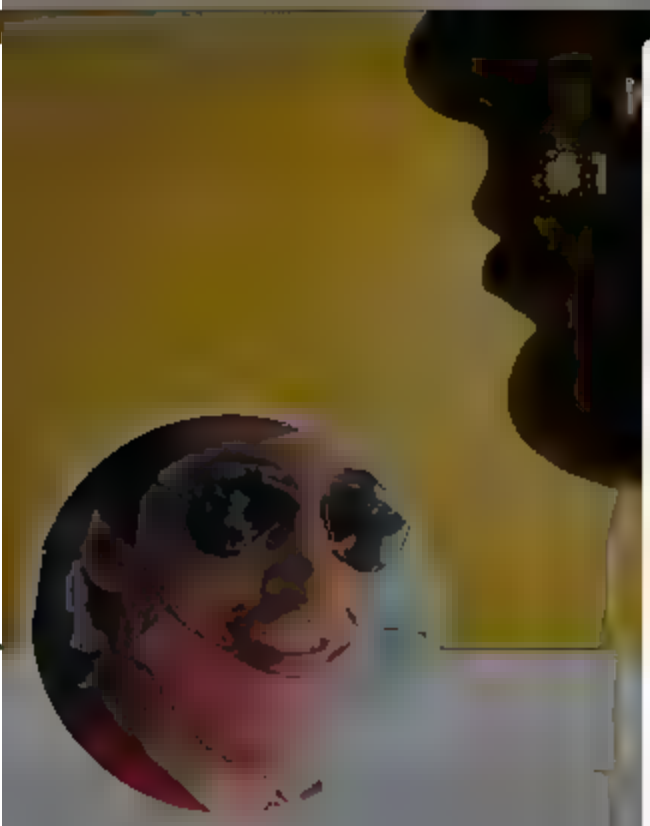
1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019



3/ In Sunday's piece, Dale Willits and Ruibin Lu refer to research they helped perform to provide "one of the most robust and in-depth looks at crime after legalization." Said research enabled them to "refute Berenson's conclusions, and Gladwell's citation of them, with facts."

1 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019

4/ Except. The actual research is not provided in the piece (first clue). They worked together on only one published paper, per Google Scholar. Neither has published other work about marijuana. So I must assume this is the "robust and in-depth" research:

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Here were go again. Today @seattletimes ran a nonsensical piece by two assistant professors attacking Tell Your Children (and @gladwell's @newyorker piece). This particular would-be takedown is so obviously wrong that I probably shouldn't waste the time writing about it...

8:22 PM - 14 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 16 Likes

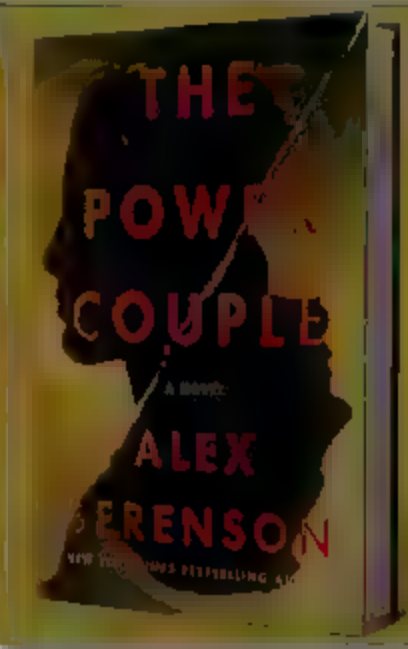
4 3 16

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019

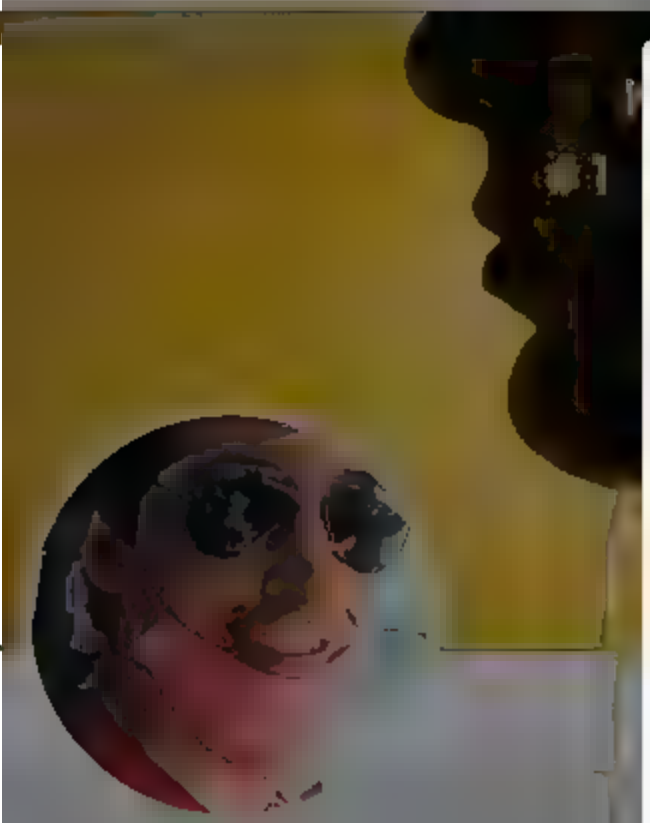
2/ But if I don't, the usual journo-advocates will inevitably link to it as "proof" that my figures on violent crime in the legalized states – which come directly from FBI data – are somehow wrong. And people who haven't read the book will believe them. So here goes...

1 2

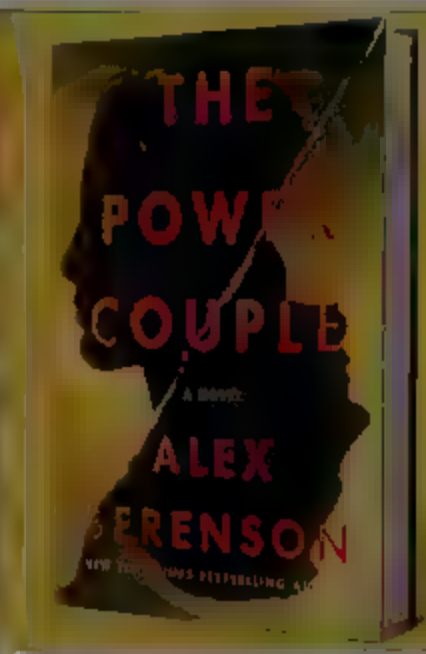


Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019

3/ In Sunday's piece, Dale Willits and Ruibin Lu refer to research they helped perform to provide "one of the most robust and in-depth looks at crime after legalization." Said research enabled them to "refute Berenson's conclusions, and Gladwell's citation of them, with facts."



1 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019

4/ Except. The actual research is not provided in the piece (first clue). They worked together on only one published paper, per Google Scholar. Neither has published other work about marijuana. So I must assume this is the "robust and in-depth" research:

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

So we're clear: insult me, fine. Lie about the book, fine. (You're probably muted, but what you don't know...) Mention my kids or my wife's brother, blocked. I know a bunch of you long-term users have APD, but try to hide it, okay? It doesn't do your cause any good.

1:50 PM - 14 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 29 Likes

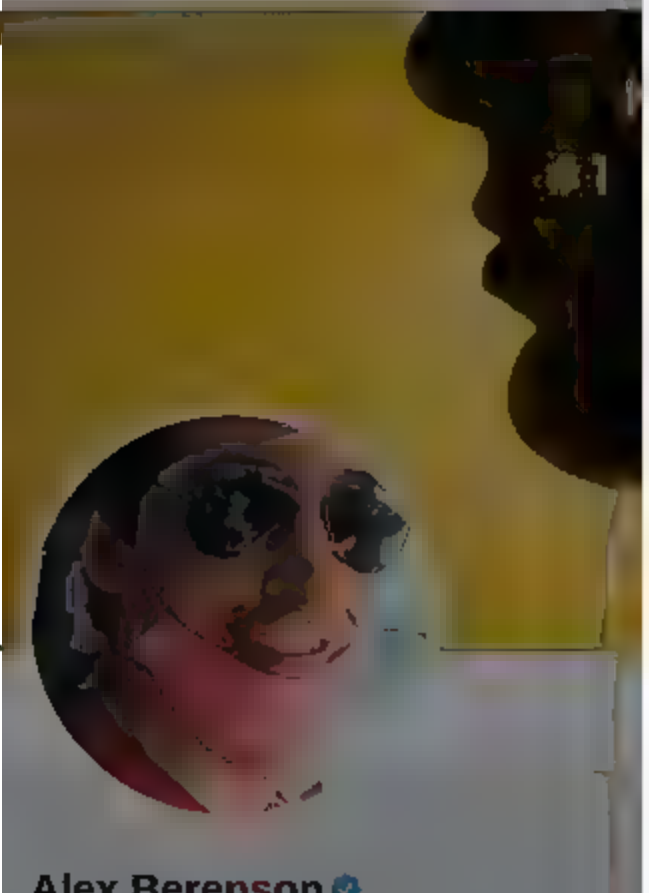
9 1 29

Faded @Aldridge25 · 14 Apr 2019

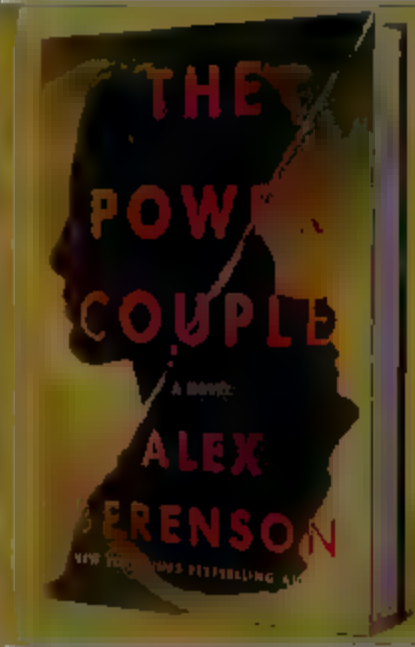


Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Wait. What? Correlation does not prove causation all by itself? Why did no one ever tell me this before? Mind blown, @proprovoker, mind blown. This changes everything.

AT&T LTE 5:19 PM 17%

Tweet

Thought Provoker
@proprovoker

Replying to @AlexBerenson

You ever hear an old saying "correlation doesn't equal causation"?

4/14/19, 5:13 PM

2 Retweets 1 Like

This Tweet is not available because . . .

2:22 PM - 14 Apr 2019

9 Likes

3 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I wrote about the unkept promises of cannabis legalization in California for @DanielMorain and @CALmatters - hope lots of CA papers pick it up, since @latimes has ignored Tell Your Children (and I mean completely - they've pretended it doesn't exist). google.com/amp/s/calmatte . . .

10:05 AM - 14 Apr 2019

7 Retweets 17 Likes

5 7 17

Bruce Conners @bconners · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
The LA Times has been living with legal cannabis for more than 20 years. They know more about it than you do. Your inability to comprehend that people who have spent more time with cannabis than you might understand it better is pretty amazing.

1 4

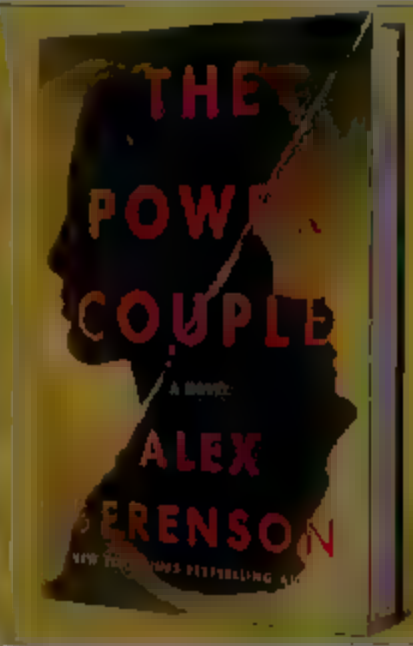
Bruce Conners @bconners · 14 Apr 2019
"All the experts are wrong and I'm right" is a compelling argument but I'm not sure it is gaining traction with serious people. Fox And Friends love you but is that what will make your mama proud Al? Ann Coulter gave you a pat on the back and you feel good about that?

1 3

[redacted]

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Apr 2019
I wrote about the unkept promises of cannabis legalization in California for [illegible] and [illegible] - hope lots of CA papers pick it up, since [illegible] has ignored Tell Your Children (and I mean completely - they've pretended it doesn't exist). [illegible]

5 7 17

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 14 Apr 2019
the unkept promises lie. Here's a promise, if you use heroin there is a good chance you will die. How come no one in your illustrious family knew that?
I knew that and i am not even 10 % as smart as Jackie. Did you give him his first joint? Or did Jackie give her brother 1st puff

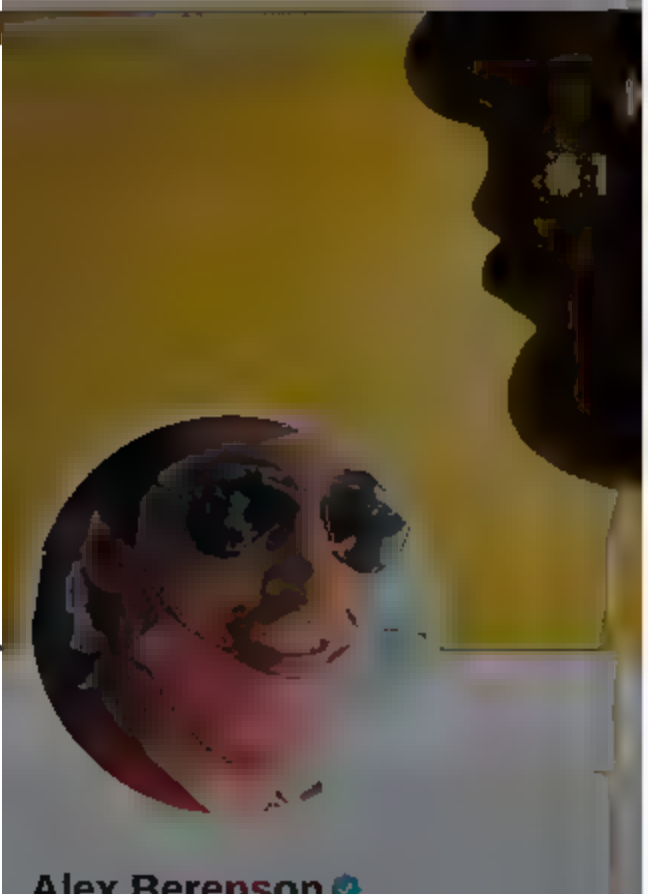
1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 14 Apr 2019
Cheap shot, aiming quite low, Bevtor.

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible] and 3 others



I don't block people. Except the real assholes.

12:01 PM - 14 Apr 2019

1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 14 Apr 2019
Cheap shot, aiming quite low, Bevtor.

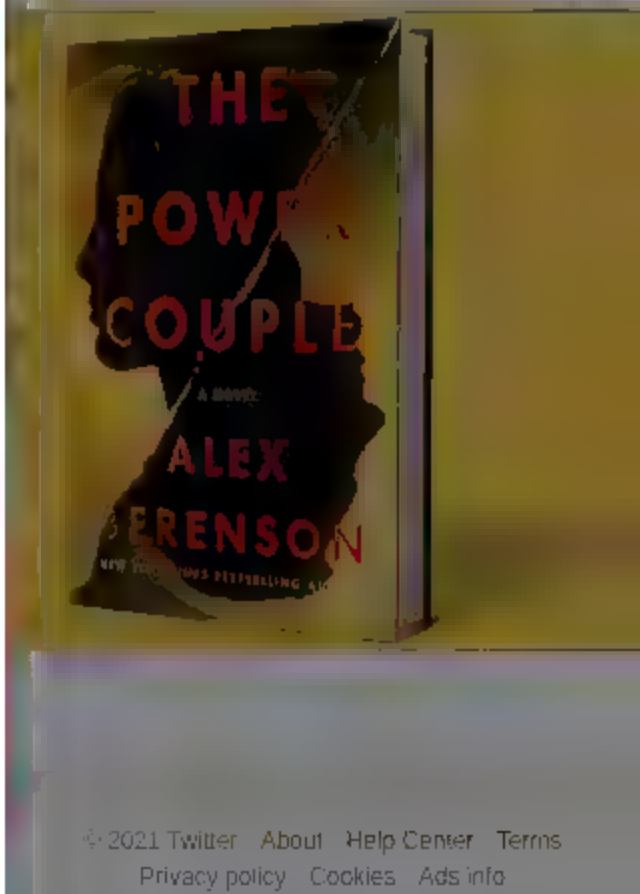
3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Blocked

Bevtor
@Bevtor1



@Bevtor1 is blocked

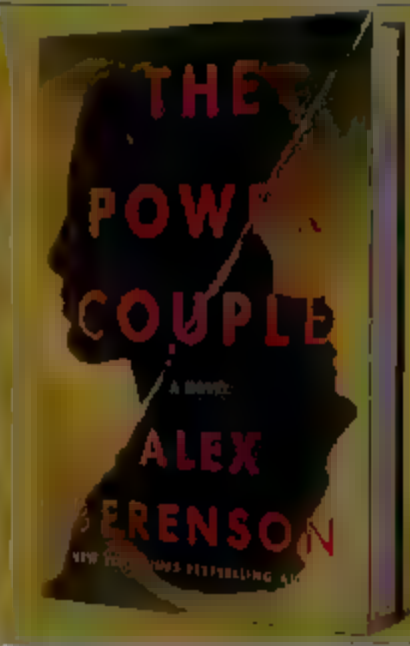
Are you sure you want to view these Tweets?
Viewing Tweets won't unblock @Bevtor1.

[redacted]

12:02 PM - 14 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

18 months ago #TigerWoods was done and cannabis legalization was a lock. As my dad says, that's why they run the race...

12:00 PM - 14 Apr 2019

9 Retweets 45 Likes

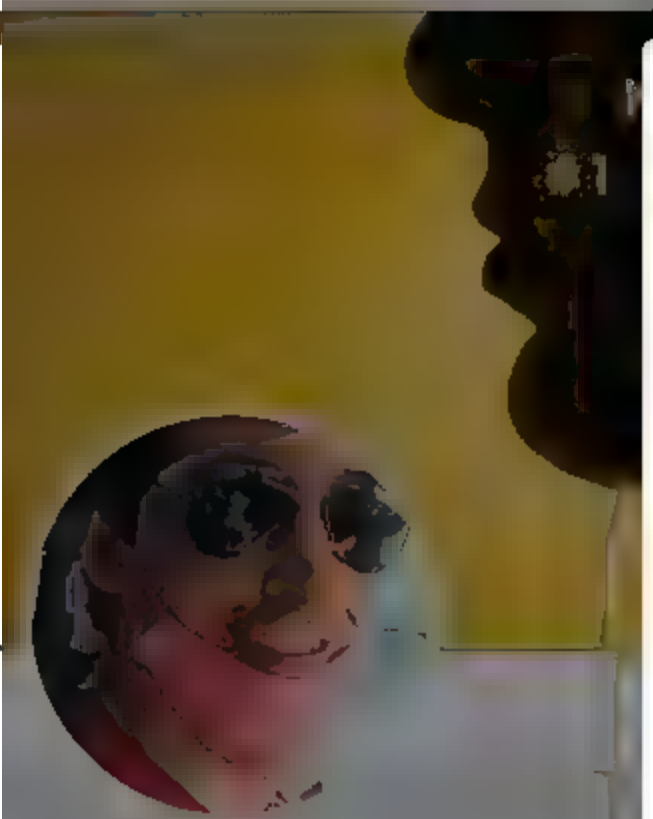
8 9 45

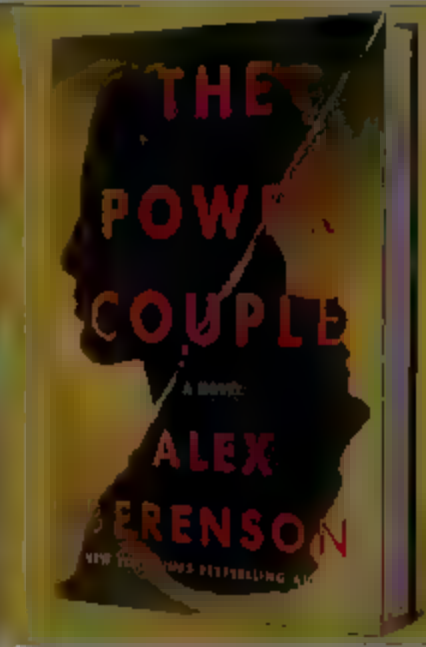
Faded @Aldridge25 · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Always using anything to further your agenda. The people have seen the real truth and it will prevail. Keep pushing those fiction novels though.

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
18 months ago cannabis legalization was legal in my state (OR) and 7 others & 1 district.

Today, it's still legal here, and we added 2 states (MI, VT) and 2 territories (GM, NM).



You're exceptionally bad at this. And I'm smoking homegrown right now.



8

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
The Hall of Fame for Illogical Associations has a new nominee. You r nominated in the category of Desperation Ninny. Congratulations!

The Ellison in the Room @therealtje · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Last week I was on @foxandfriends talking about how cannabis advocates try to confuse people about the difference between THC and CBD. Today I was on again and got to hear it for myself - as an advocate claimed marijuana is sold "at Rite Aid." She knows very well that's untrue...

4:59 AM - 14 Apr 2019

6 Retweets 38 Likes

9 6 38

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I went to CVS and Walgreens after the news items said CBD only. I asked to buy thc and I bought some with thc and some CBD only. Good catch.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
People are so stupid they can't comprehend the difference between the 2, so we must uphold the anslinger Nixon ban.

Tex1 @Texlyn82 · 14 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
[redacted] I was fascinated by how she was an example of the long term effects of cannabis. Not being ugly but her speech and responses were example of slowing of information reaching motor neurons via synapses. Evident delay in speech pattern.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

on its own merits, but I guess you'd say the same then, too, about the

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 Apr 2019

Michael - welcome to my world. The cannabis lobby doesn't want debate or discussion of these issues. It simply wants to bury them - and it has learned that its most effective tactic is to mock anyone who raises them.

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

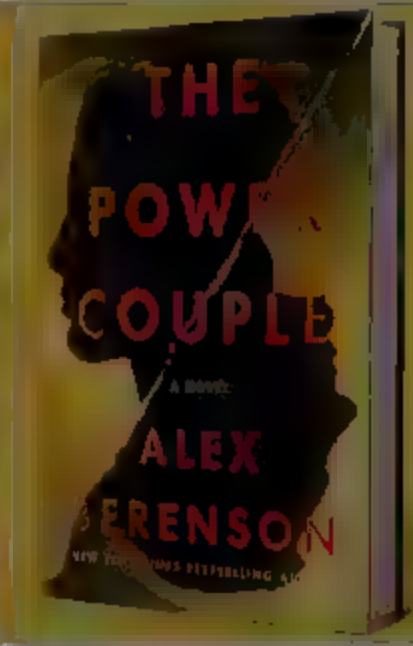
Follow

Replying to and 2 others

What's strange is not that people with a financial interest in this drug or a personal interest in using it lie so blatantly about the state of the science; what's strange is that supposedly independent journalists let themselves be used this way. Thanks for letting me speak.

10:58 AM - 13 Apr 2019

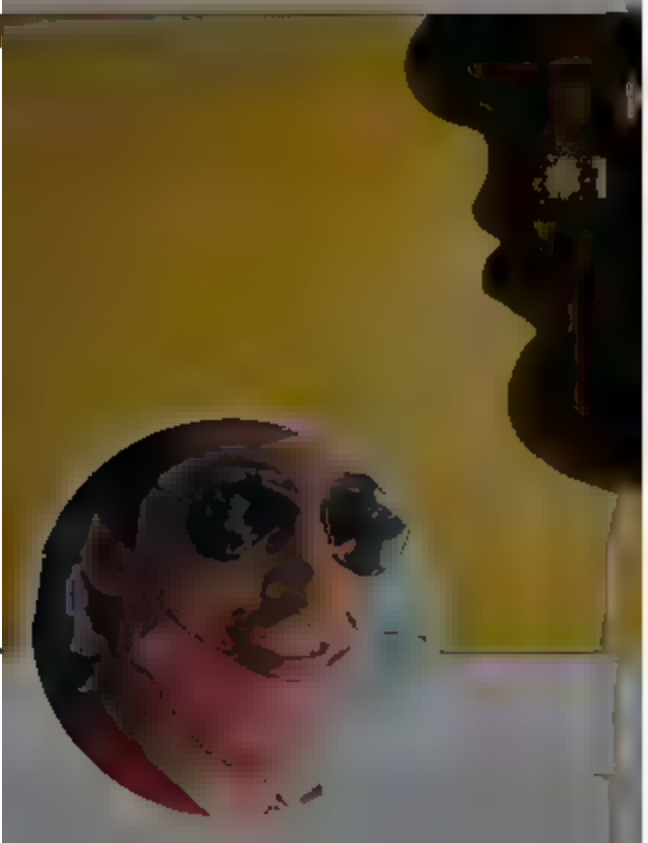
1



Bruce Conners @bconners · 13 Apr 2019

Replying to and 2 others

And you wouldn't lie about the science to sell books or anything, right? Authors write books for fun and public good and not for the cash, right?
The scientists have also been trying to tell you nothing gets safer when it is illegal. And nobody is stopping you from speaking.



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

What is wrong with letting people hear about this issue, read the background we provide, and then Q&A with author? I can defend our publishing of an interview on its own merits, but I guess you'd say the same then, too, about the

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Michael - welcome to my world. The cannabis lobby doesn't want debate or discussion of these issues. It simply wants to bury them - and it has learned that its most effective tactic is to mock anyone who raises them.

10:56 AM - 13 Apr 2019

2 Likes

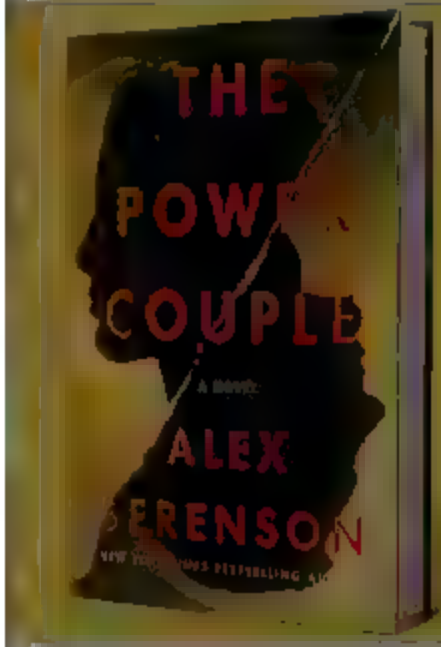
2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 Apr 2019

Replying to and 2 others

What's strange is not that people with a financial interest in this drug or a personal interest in using it lie so blatantly about the state of the science; what's strange is that supposedly independent journalists let themselves be used this way. Thanks for letting me speak.

1



Bruce Conners @bconners · 13 Apr 2019

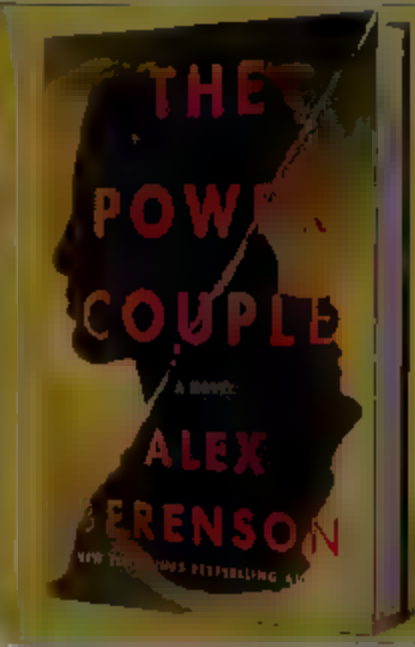
And you wouldn't lie about the science to sell books or anything, right? Authors write books for fun and public good and not for the cash, right?
The scientists have also been trying to tell you nothing gets safer when it is illegal. And nobody is stopping you from speaking.

1

This Tweet is unavailable.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Matthew Meyer @MatthewDSMeyer · 11 Apr 2019

[redacted] seems not to understand that you're supposed to divide folks like MARK from more radical legalizers, not give them reason to band together. And he seems unaware that people will ask where he, too, gets financial and logistical support. [redacted]

This Tweet is unavailable.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

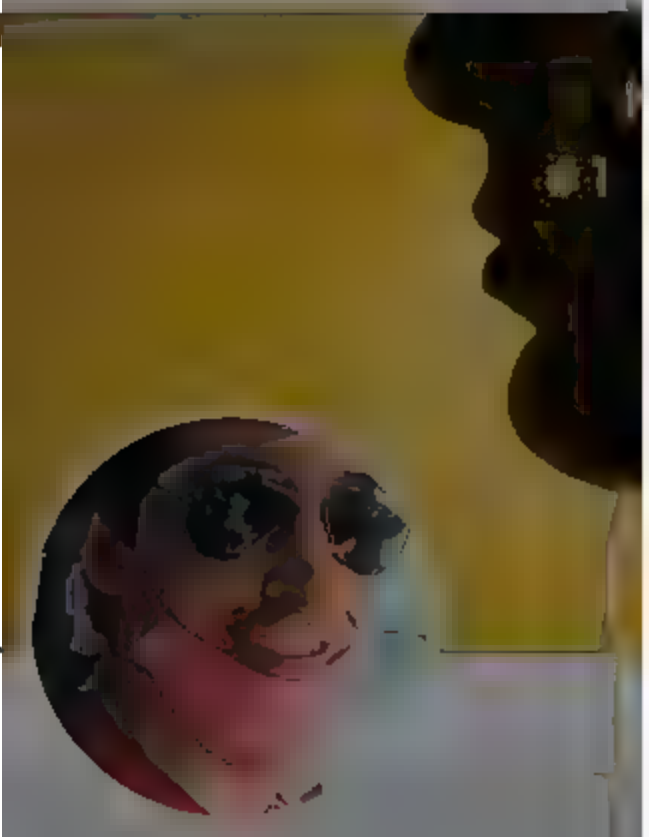
Replying to [redacted]

Are you asking where I get financial and logistical support? Please, do.

7:07 AM - 11 Apr 2019

2

David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 11 Apr 2019



Replying to [redacted]

Uhh, book sales? Duh.

[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

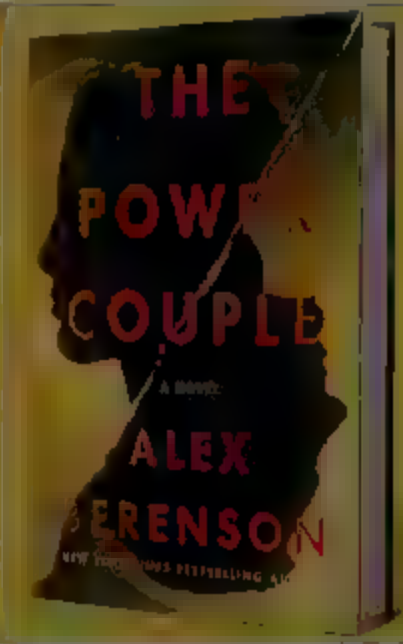
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I love this guy. He's not just "18 points above genius IQ." He's 18+! haven't seen this much misplaced intellectual confidence since @MarkARKleiman.

> @AlexBerenson Granted,I'm 18+ points above genius IQ,but,how is it that I know more about literally everything, than you know about #cannabis? Despite that, you write entire books on the subject.
> You sir,are either deranged or a MASSIVE liar. It's ridiculous how wrong you are.



4/10/19, 5:07 AM from Clovis, CA

7:00 AM - 10 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 19 Likes

5 2 19

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Looking forward to talking cannabis and legalization with @WBZNightside in just a couple of minutes...

6:00 PM - 9 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 5 Likes

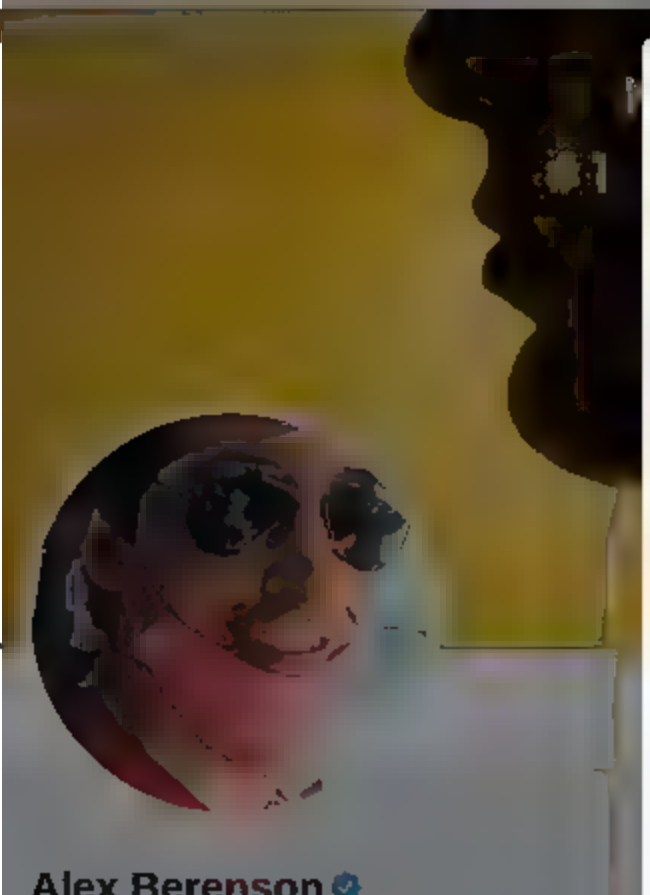
4 2 5

This Tweet is unavailable.



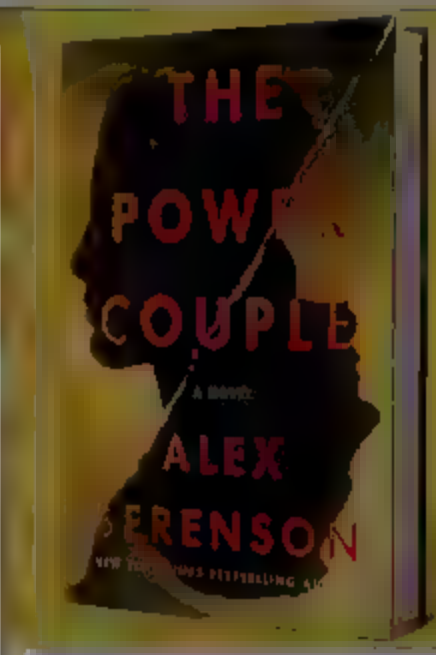
Mario Shumway @ShumwaySpeaks · 12 Apr 2019
Obviously well. He's shilling away at top speed

1

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 13 Apr 2019
Replying to
Marijuana is the

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, in Britain, Alex Traykov made a fake emergency call to police, then created an actual emergency by stabbing four officers who responded. You'll never guess what drug he was using.

9:16 AM - 10 Apr 2019

7 Retweets 13 Likes

10 7 13

Twas4kids @twas4kids · 10 Apr 2019
Replying to

Home About

Search Twitter

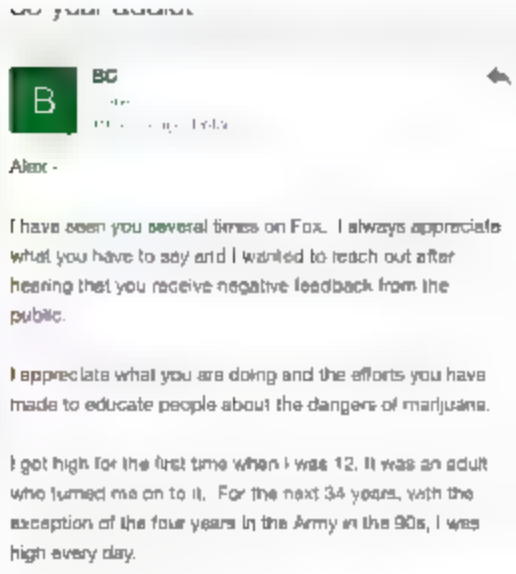
Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

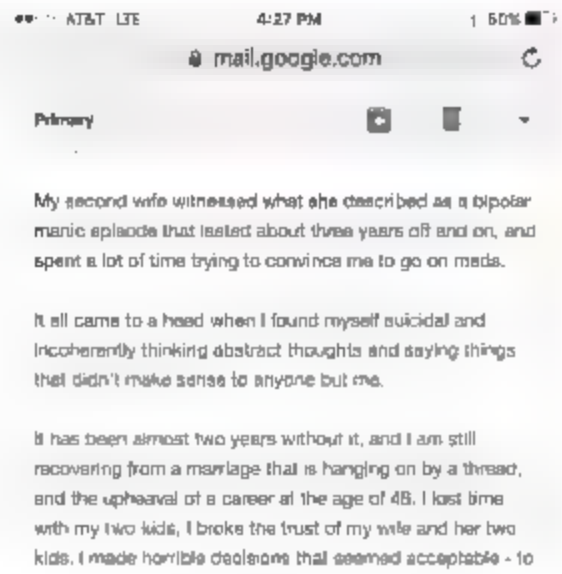


Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓

@AlexBerenson

No one knows the truth of Tell Your Children better than users:



BC

Alex -

I have seen you several times on Fox. I always appreciate what you have to say and I wanted to reach out after hearing that you receive negative feedback from the public.

I appreciate what you are doing and the efforts you have made to educate people about the dangers of marijuana.

I got high for the first time when I was 12. It was an adult who turned me on to it. For the next 34 years, with the exception of the four years in the Army in the 90s, I was high every day.

AT&T LTE 4:27 PM 60%

mail.google.com

Primary

My second wife witnessed what she described as a bipolar manic episode that lasted about three years off and on, and spent a lot of time trying to convince me to go on meds.

It all came to a head when I found myself suicidal and incoherently thinking abstract thoughts and saying things that didn't make sense to anyone but me.

It has been almost two years without it, and I am still recovering from a marriage that is hanging on by a thread, and the upheaval of a career at the age of 48. I lost time with my two kids, I broke the trust of my wife and her two kids. I made horrible decisions that seemed acceptable - to

1:33 PM - 9 Apr 2019

9 Retweets 24 Likes

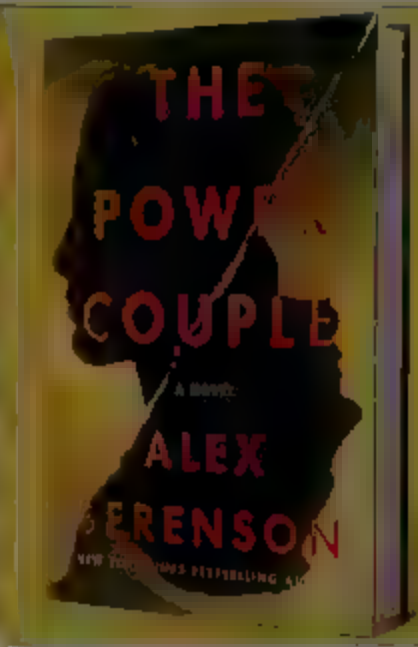
6 9 24

Bruce Conners @bconners · 9 Apr 2019

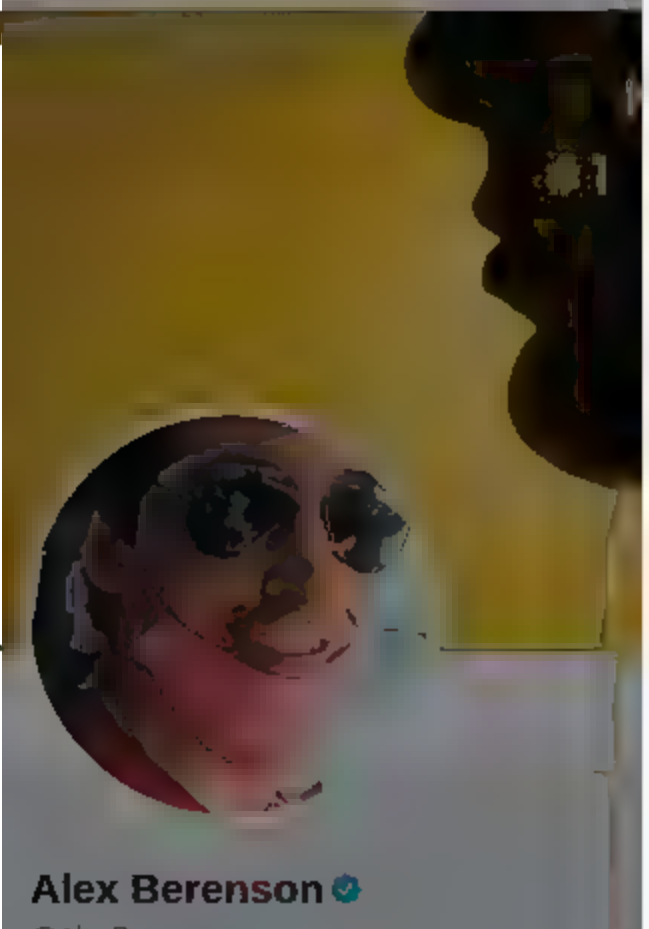
Replying to [redacted]



I quit drinking beer after 20 years but I didn't expect a medal for it. I also realize it was my problem and not somebody else's. Millions of people use beer consequence free. Some people can't handle it. They are not a reason to make it illegal and thus more dangerous.

2 3

Bruce Conners @bconners · 9 Apr 2019

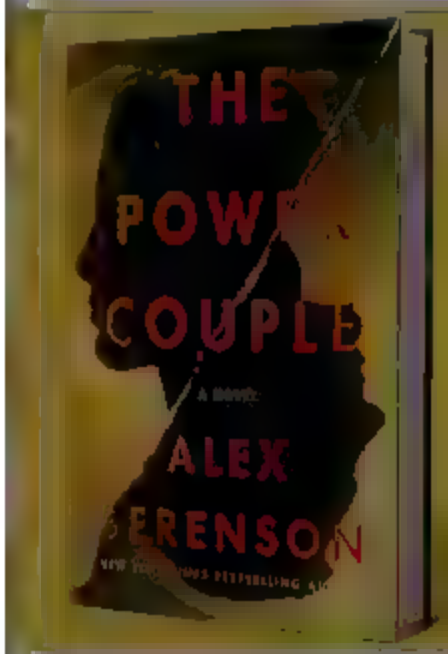


I also don't blame the beer. Blaming alcohol for my pre-existing mental health issues would have been counter producticve. This guy got off the weed but quite obviously still has lots of problems. Smoking weed 20 hours a day doesn't work. I've tried it. This dude needs a shrink.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

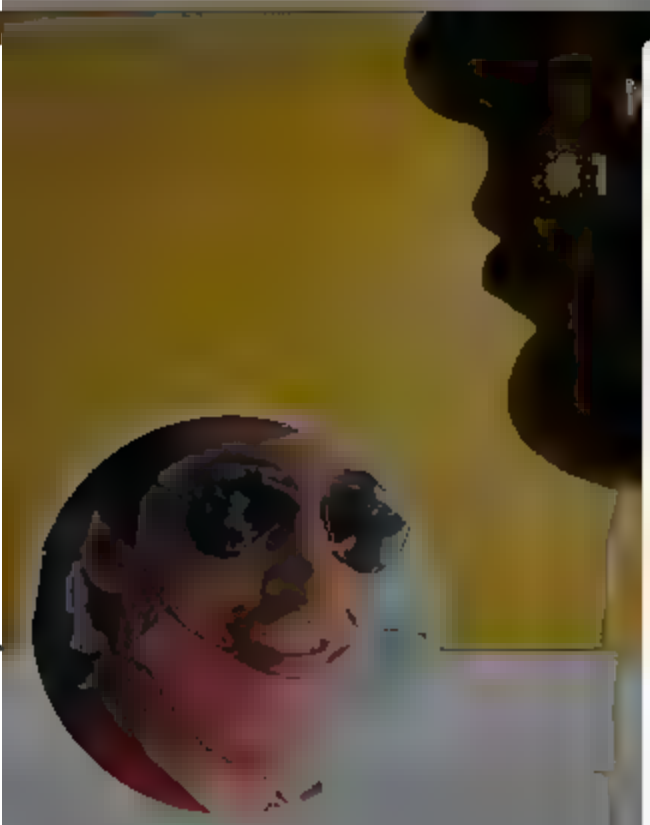
Hi @tomangell! Let's see: in the last week, interviews with @BrianLehrer @WGNMorningNews @MonsaLeeCNBC @TuckerCarlson. Guess my tour wasn't entirely over in January. And, oh yeah, this morning the book is at 33 on Amazon. I'll take "Tweets That Haven't Aged Well" for $400.

mobile.twitter.com

Search Twitter

Log in Sign up

Tom Angell
@tomangell



Guys, we don't need any more Alex Berenson takedowns at this point, aight? He's been exposed and his PR tour is already over. Stop feeding him attention.

7:33 PM · Jan 28, 2019 · TweetDeck

10 Retweets 59 Likes

4:34 AM - 9 Apr 2019

6 Retweets 35 Likes

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

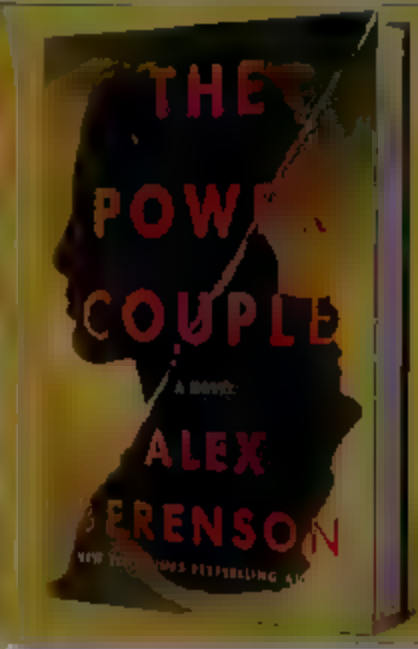
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Just a couple of non-violent buddies nonviolently getting high and watching movies until one nonviolently (allegedly) shot the other until the gun was empty.



Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.

1:20 PM - 8 Apr 2019

22 Retweets 36 Likes

11 22 36

Tor Salomonsen @2rsie · 8 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Are you confusing psychosis with psychopathy?
Most people with psychosis are more likely to harm themselves than others.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Jesse Eisinger @eisingerj · 8 Apr 2019

Trumpian.*

*Another ring and all is forgiven.

> Rob Demovsky @RobDemovsky
> Aaron Rodgers on the @BleacherReport story: "This was a smear attack by a writer looking to advanced his career talking with mostly irrelevant, bitter players who all have an agenda whether they're advancing their own careers or just trying to stir old stuff up."

2 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

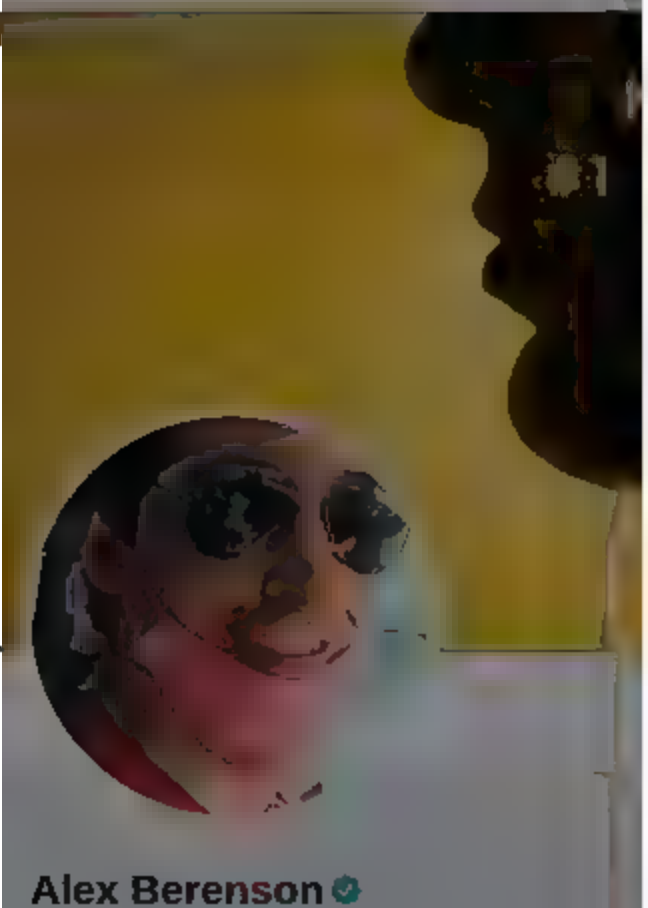
Replying to [redacted]

It's not like his family hates him or anything...

3:18 PM - 8 Apr 2019

1 Like

1 1



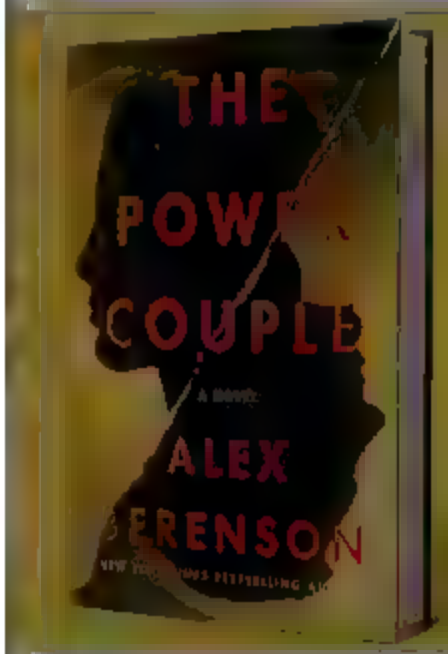
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Wow. This guy. Here he is saying in all apparent seriousness that his job is "much, much harder" than an MDs. You're cute, Mark.

12:04 PM - 8 Apr 2019

2

Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 8 Apr 2019
Replying to
You two really don't like each other. I bet if you shared a joint and talked you'd probably be friends.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019
I'm gonna predict that wouldn't work

1

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 8 Apr 2019
Replying to
It is harder than writing pulp fiction, though.

This Tweet is unavailable.

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 8 Apr 2019
Have you ever tried writing a successful novel? I admit what I do is easier than you both. I stand on the shoulders of giants, My Rx's were tested & even then I wait a year before trying a new one. If I screw up, only one affected. If public policy goes wrong, millions harmed.

research in other policy areas as well."

1

This Tweet is unavailable.

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 8 Apr 2019

In medicine, new drugs (policies) not released without scads of double-blind, randomized, controlled trials. Unfortunately, that's impractical for social scientists who have it harder. Even smartest policy maker relies on opinion- wishful thinking. Unintended consequences abound.

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

Wow. This guy. Here he is saying in all apparent seriousness that his job is "much, much harder" than an MDs. You're cute, Mark.

2

Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 8 Apr 2019

You two really don't like each other. I bet if you shared a joint and talked you'd probably be friends.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

I'm gonna predict that wouldn't work

12:23 PM - 8 Apr 2019

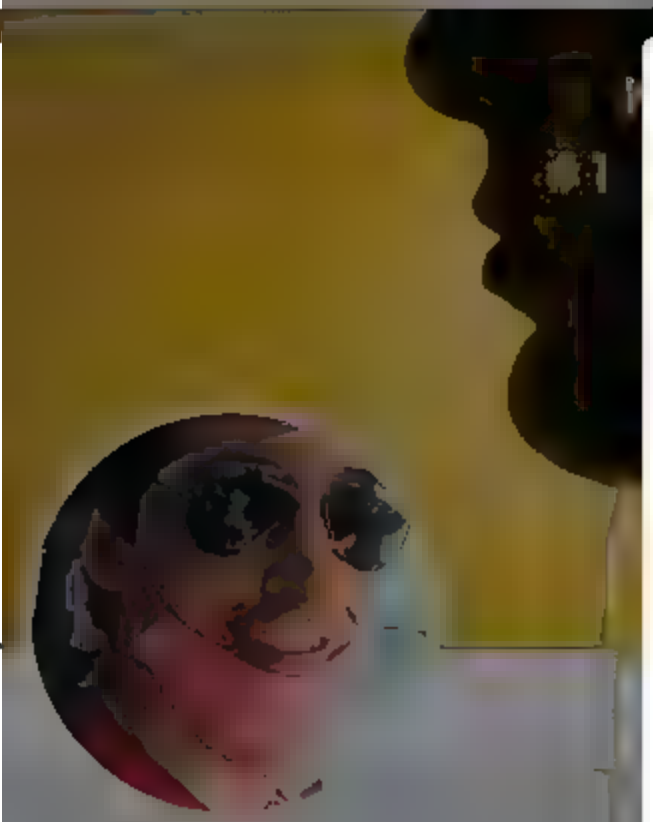
1 Like

1

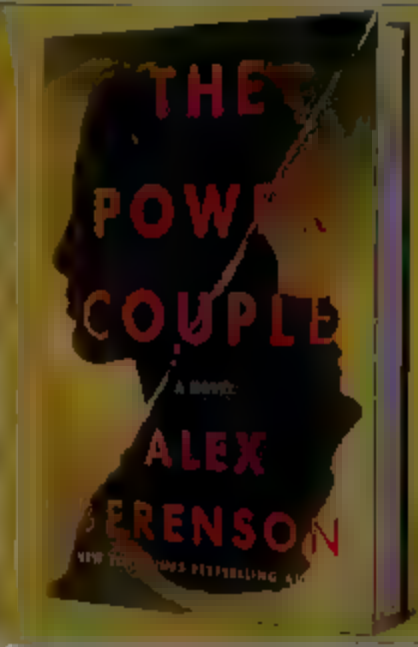
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

30 minutes until @NORML executive director #erikaltieri and I debate cannabis and legalization at Nassau Community College! Should be interesting...

9:05 AM - 8 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 24 Likes

9 3 24

Alexander MacNeill @cannabalex · 8 Apr 2019
Replying to Live stream?
1 1

Todd Scattini (TheHempColonel) @toddscattini · 8 Apr 2019
Yes, please! Live stream!

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 8 Apr 2019
Replying to
Yes, like any sensationalist presentation of gore files by a thriller novelist using anecdotes to frighten people into maintaining the imprisonment of disproportionately black and brown people who use a houseplant is interesting.
1 2

Clif Deuvall @CDeuvall · 8 Apr 2019
Replying to
Alex is just an Anslinger knockoff, and just pushing rhetoric for the sake of spreading fear and hate.. 💔
1

Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 9 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4: You also call for limits on marketing, but note in passing that the Supreme Court probably won't accept those (liquor and online betting ads are now seen on many/most sports telecasts). So, again, your proposed solutions do nothing to end the harm of legalization...

2 2 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

5/ Which is real. Legalization - no matter how anyone dresses it up - sends the message that the drug is safe. And that message - along with the inevitable price declines - will encourage use.

4:31 AM - 8 Apr 2019

5 Retweets 18 Likes

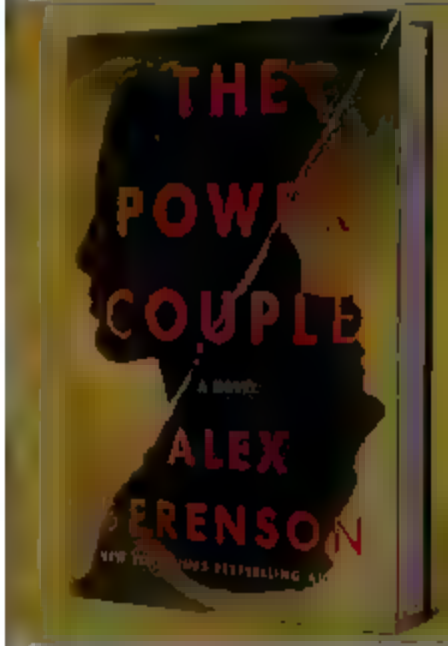
9 5 18

Axl Rosè @pissflapzs · 8 Apr 2019
Replying to

The Portuguese model invested the money it used to spend on policing into education and employment opportunities. Legalisation should come with education campaigns about the dangers of cannabis and harm minimisation strategies. Prohibition is a lost cause

1 6

christy brown @mystocean · 8 Apr 2019
Portugal did not legalize. It decriminalized. Selling is atill illegal.



1

Alexander MacNeill @cannabalex · 8 Apr 2019
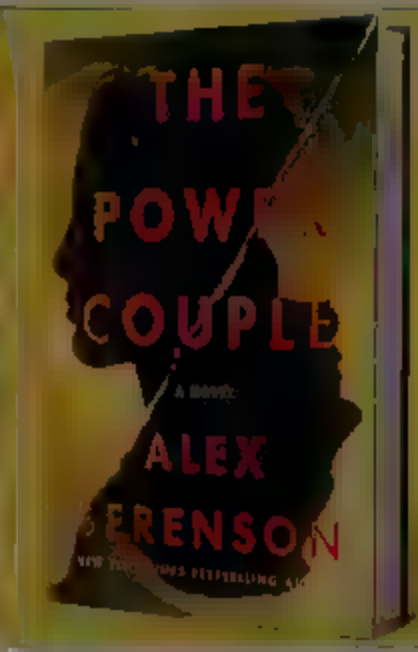
Replying to hit the nail on the head. Sure legalization and regulation of substances will be mistaken for a safety stamp by many. This misinterpretation doesn't change we're trying to make things safer

1

Have an account? Log in

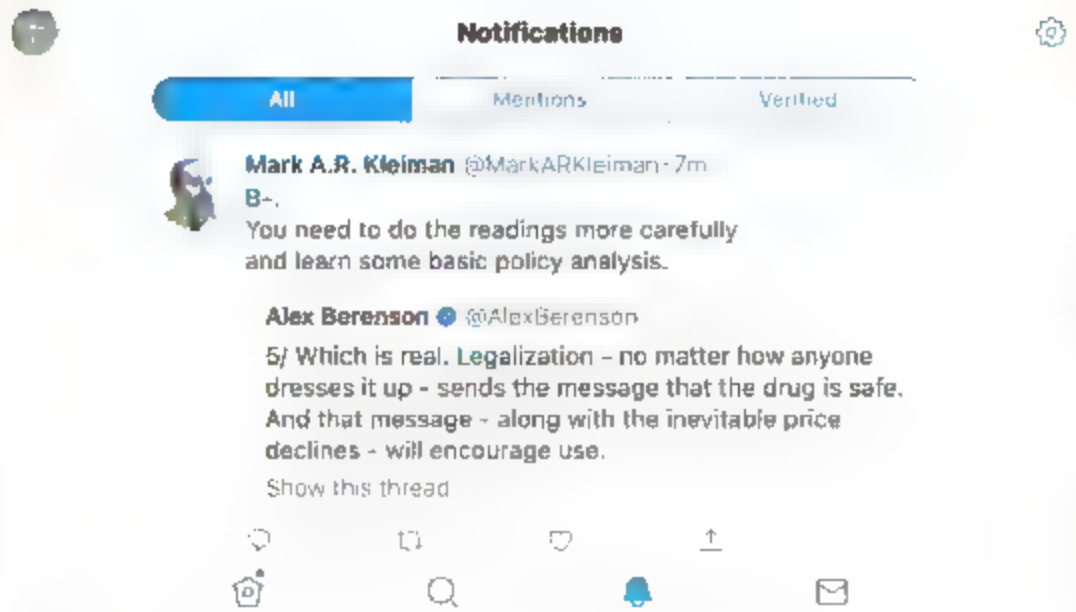
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

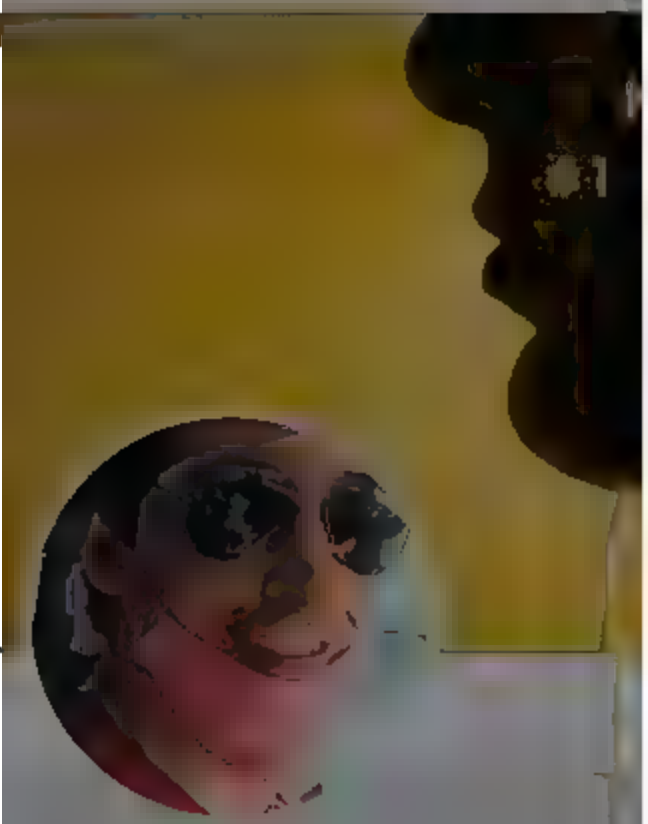


Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Reporters have a name for this sort of blithe refusal to engage with the facts: the non-denial denial. I'd say I expect more from @MarkARKleiman, self-styled policy genius, but at this point I don't.



5:07 AM - 8 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 13 Likes

4 3 13

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 8 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
It always amazes me that policy analysts think they can correctly predict the results of their policies. To quote Michael Crichton, "Just as we have double-blinded research to determine drug efficacy, we must institute double-blinded research in other policy areas as well."

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ And lower prices will drive up use. True. Your solution is a $50/gram tax on THC. That figure equals into $1400/ounce of pure THC, or about $280/ounce for standard 20% flower. In what world is that tax rate viable? As you note, in Oregon, legal ounces are as low as $40/ounce.

1 2 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ Thus your solution is the worst of all worlds - it will lead to a high-cost and uncompetitive legal market that can survive only by recruiting new users, without touching the violent illicit market (except when the legal dispensaries begin to insist on enforcement against it).

4:25 AM - 8 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 9 Likes

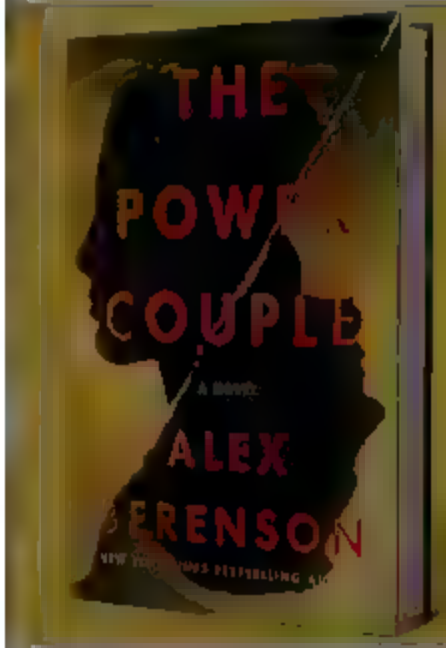
1 2 9

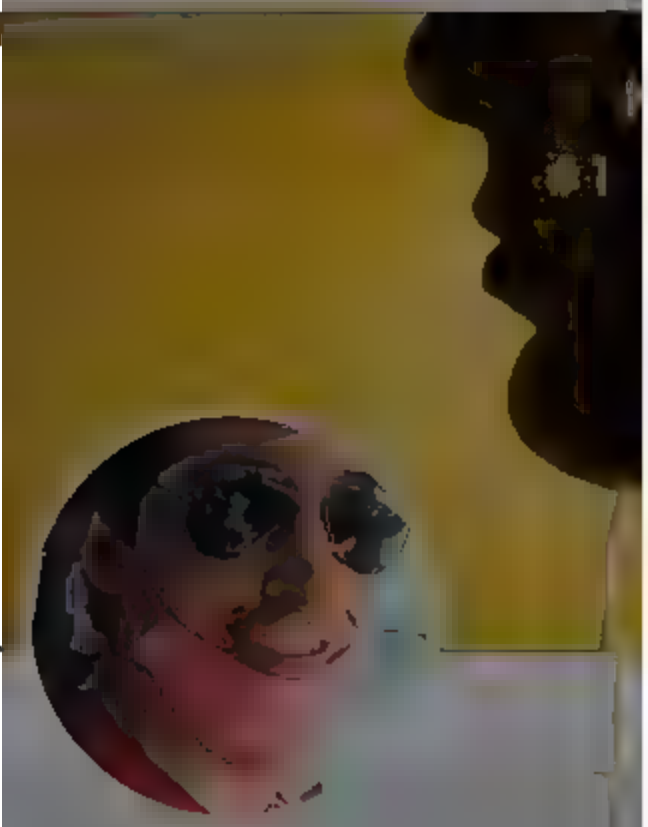
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

4: You also call for limits on marketing, but note in passing that the Supreme Court probably won't accept those (liquor and online betting ads are now seen on many/most sports telecasts). So, again, your proposed solutions do nothing to end the harm of legalization...



2 2 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019



5/ Which is real. Legalization - no matter how anyone dresses it up - sends the message that the drug is safe. And that message - along with the inevitable price declines - will encourage use.

9 5 18

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ Thus your solution is the worst of all worlds - it will lead to a high-cost and uncompetitive legal market that can survive only by recruiting new users, without touching the violent illicit market (except when the legal dispensaries begin to insist on enforcement against it).

1 2 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4: You also call for limits on marketing, but note in passing that the Supreme Court probably won't accept those (liquor and online betting ads are now seen on many/most sports telecasts). So, again, your proposed solutions do nothing to end the harm of legalization...

4:29 AM - 8 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 8 Likes

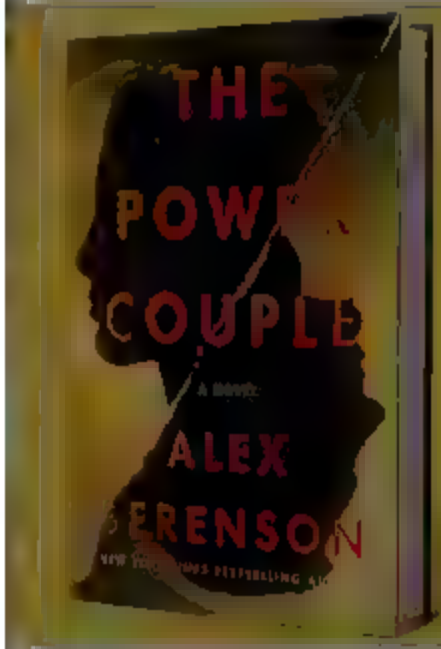
2 2 8

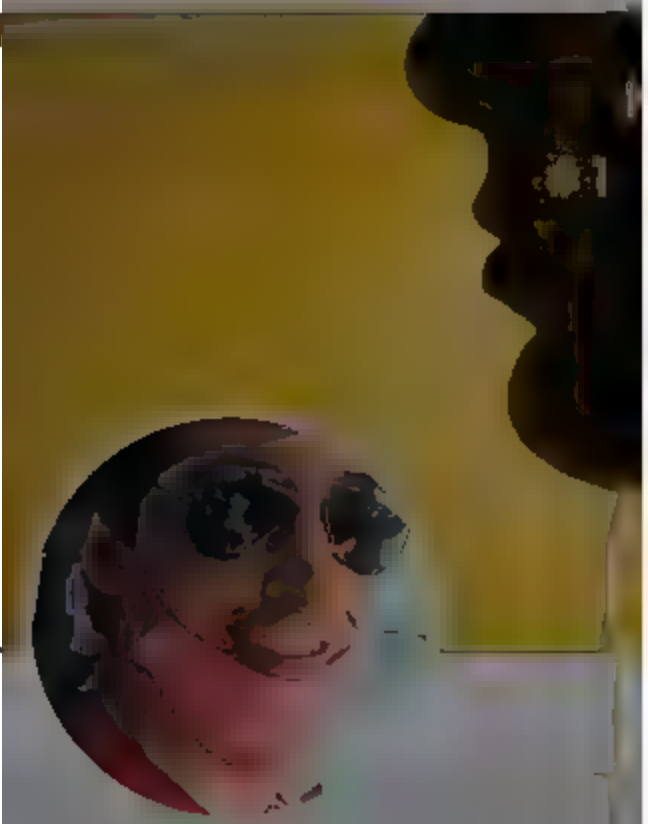
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

5/ Which is real. Legalization - no matter how anyone dresses it up - sends the message that the drug is safe. And that message - along with the inevitable price declines - will encourage use.



9 5 18

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 8 Apr 2019



Replying to [illegible]

Again we allow for responsible adult behavior. I see gambling posters on the train. I don't feel the need to do what the ad says. I do gamble on some playoff games a few times a year. Let people live anyone?

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Okay @MarkARKleiman - you asked me for a substantive critique of your new piece. Fair enough. On the conflict side - you still have never fully disclosed your/BOTEC's clients. But put that aside. You note in the piece that prices will (and have) plunge under legalization...

1 2 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ And lower prices will drive up use. True. Your solution is a $50/gram tax on THC. That figure equals into $1400/ounce of pure THC, or about $280/ounce for standard 20% flower. In what world is that tax rate viable? As you note, in Oregon, legal ounces are as low as $40/ounce.

4:23 AM - 8 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 9 Likes

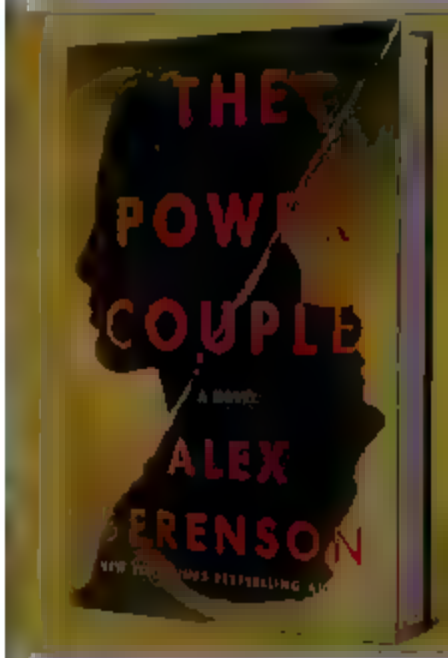
1 2 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

3/ Thus your solution is the worst of all worlds - it will lead to a high-cost and uncompetitive legal market that can survive only by recruiting new users, without touching the violent illicit market (except when the legal dispensaries begin to insist on enforcement against it).

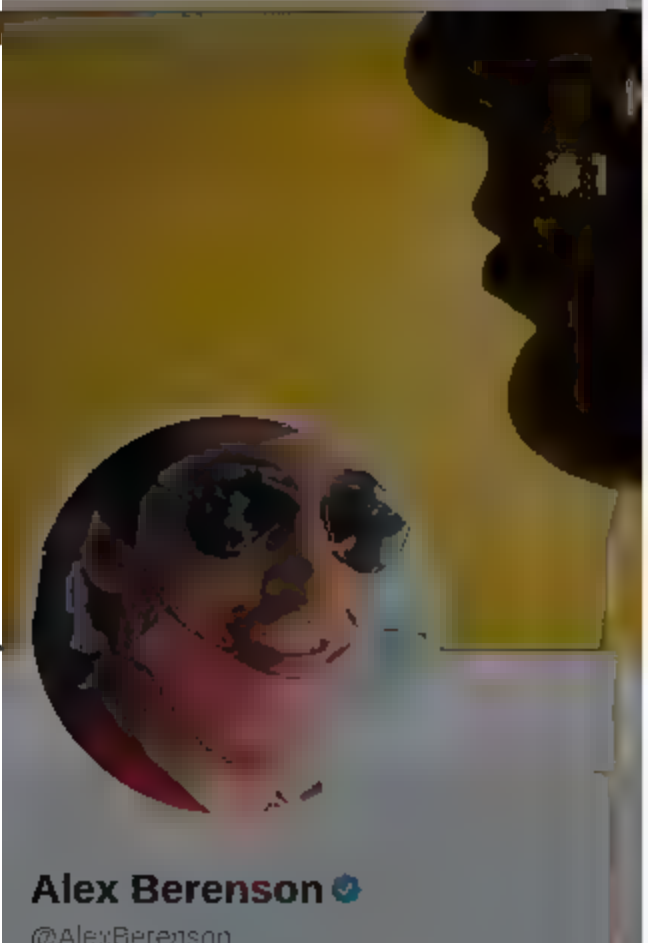
1 2 9



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

4: You also call for limits on marketing, but note in passing that the Supreme Court probably won't accept those (liquor and online betting ads are now seen on many/most sports telecasts). So, again, your proposed solutions do nothing to end the harm of legalization...

2 2 8



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

5/ Which is real. Legalization - no matter how anyone dresses it up - sends the message that the drug is safe. And that message - along with the inevitable price

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

6 12 25

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

ICYMI: I explored some of Mark's potential conflicts of interest - along with the way he downplays the psychosis risks of cannabis - back in February.

6:03 PM - 7 Apr 2019

7 Retweets 15 Likes

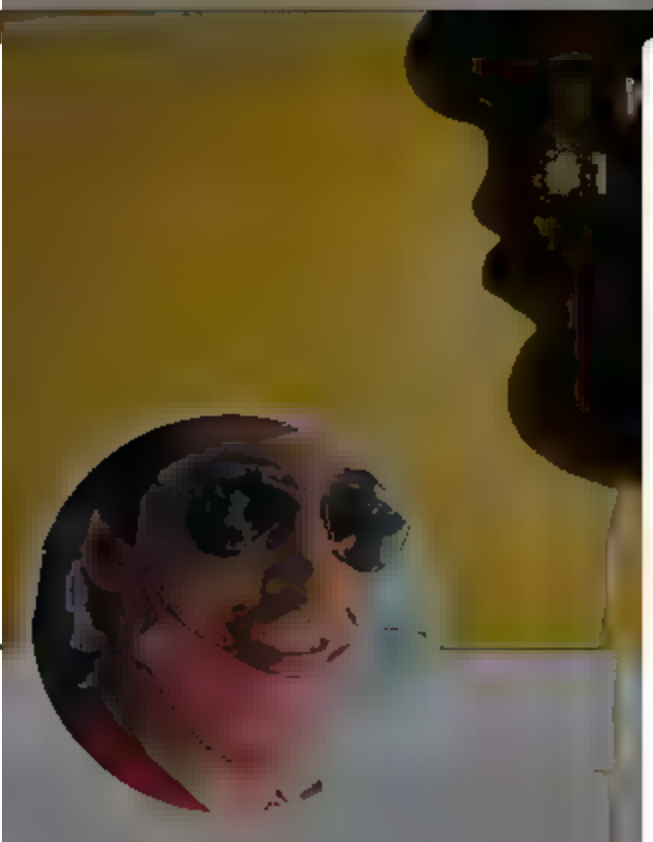
3 7 15

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 8 Apr 2019

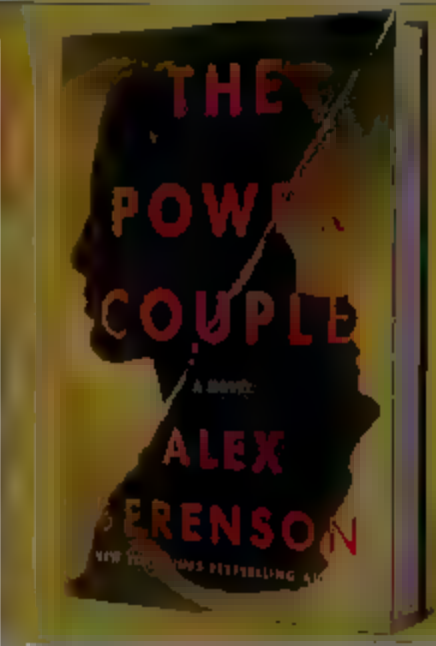


Replying to

No one downplays risks but intelligent people indeed the majority have concluded that banning is counter productive practically & morally. The majority are moderate in behavior.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Okay @MarkARKleiman - you asked me for a substantive critique of your new piece. Fair enough. On the conflict side - you still have never fully disclosed your/BOTEC's clients. But put that aside. You note in the piece that prices will (and have) plunge under legalization...

4:17 AM - 8 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 11 Likes

1 2 11

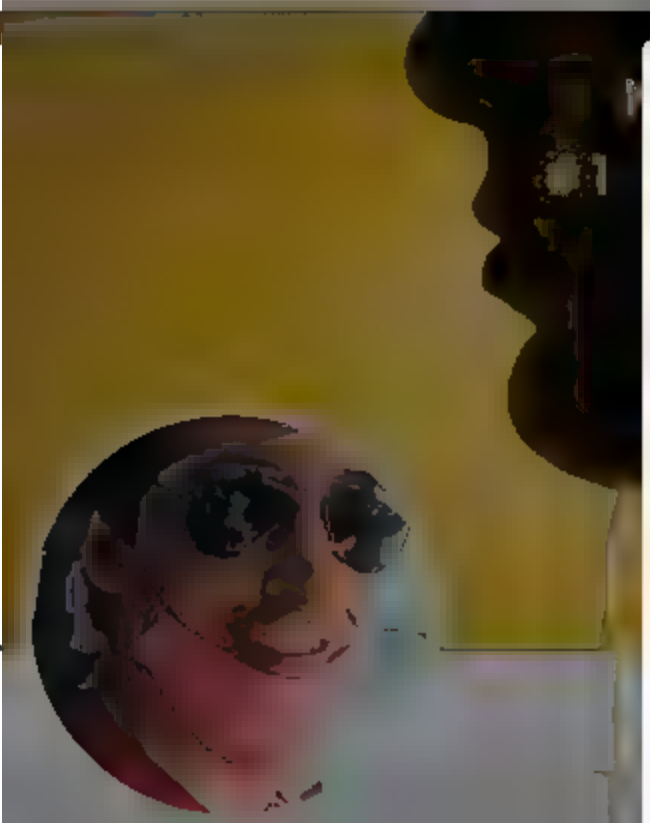
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

2/ And lower prices will drive up use. True. Your solution is a $50/gram tax on THC. That figure equals into $1400/ounce of pure THC, or about $280/ounce for standard 20% flower. In what world is that tax rate viable? As you note, in Oregon, legal ounces are as low as $40/ounce.

1 2 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

3/ Thus your solution is the worst of all worlds - it will lead to a high-cost and uncompetitive legal market that can survive only by recruiting new users, without touching the violent illicit market (except when the legal dispensaries begin to insist on enforcement against it).



1 2 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Apr 2019

4: You also call for limits on marketing, but note in passing that the Supreme Court probably won't accept those (liquor and online betting ads are now seen on many/most sports telecasts). So, again, your proposed solutions do nothing to end the harm of legalization...

2 2 8

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

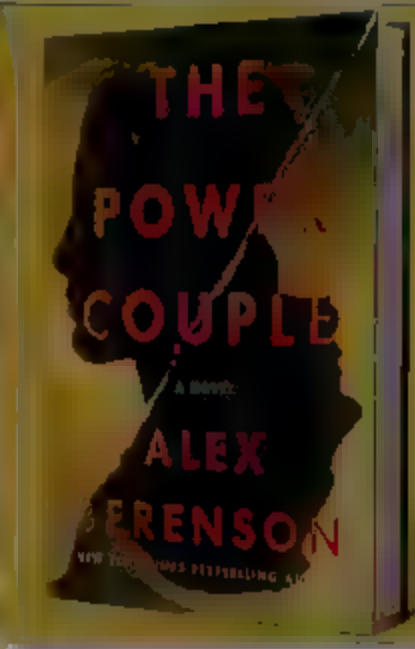
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Just in: another piece from @MarkARKleiman in which he sadly, sadly concludes full cannabis legalization is the only way to go. Just one question, Mark: did your employers at Altria - who made a $1.8B cannabis investment last year - approve this message?

5:54 PM - 7 Apr 2019

12 Retweets 25 Likes

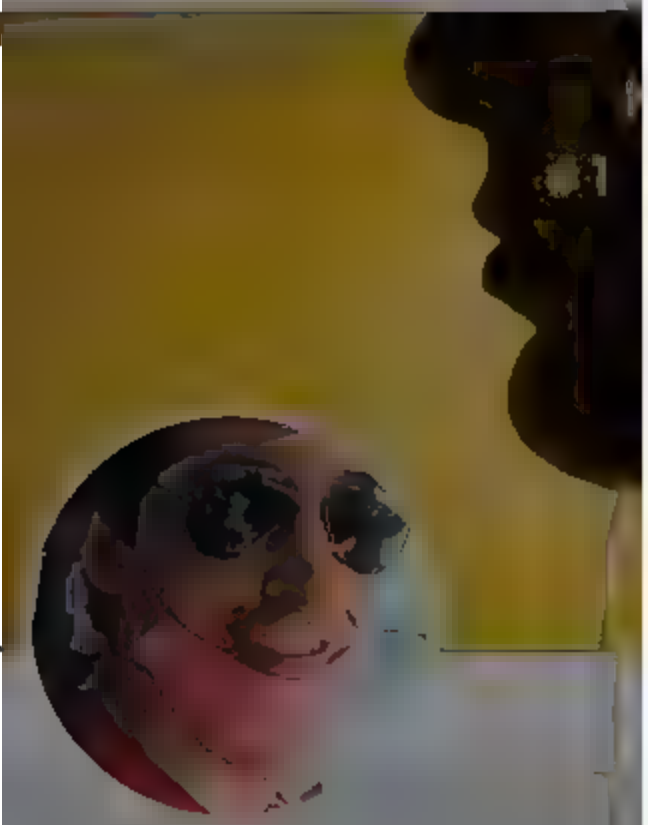
6 12 25



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 7 Apr 2019
ICYMI: I explored some of Mark's potential conflicts of interest - along with the

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

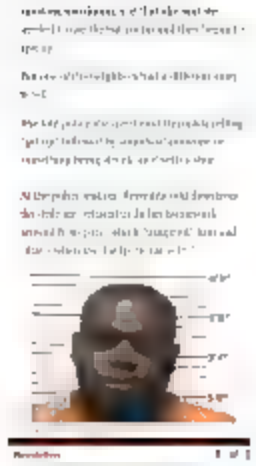
Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



5-year-old girl to death

BY MATTHEW REISEN AND ELISE KAPLAN / JOURNAL STAFF WRITERS

Published: Friday, April 5th, 2019 at 11:57am

Updated: Saturday, April 6th, 2019 at 7:32am

2 3 14

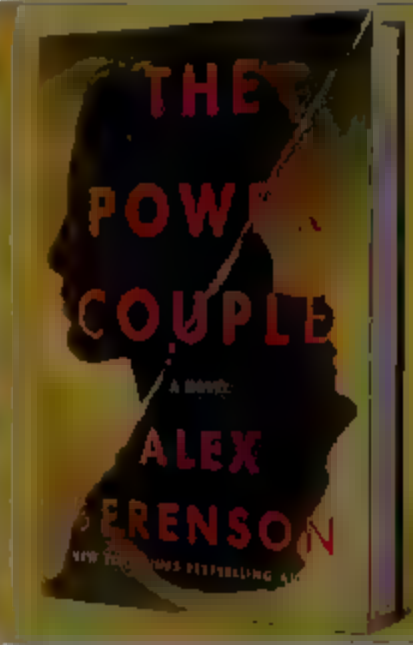
Rae @FiatLuxGenesis · 7 Apr 2019

I work on an inpatient psych unit that only cares for those with schizophrenia--- it's amazing and horrifying what I see. We have an impending catastrophe on our hands. The Europeans are discovering this as well. If you think the mental health system is overwhelmed now, just wait

2 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Follow



Replying to

I'd love to talk to you - email me at alexberensonauthor@gmail.com if you're interested.

3:52 PM - 7 Apr 2019

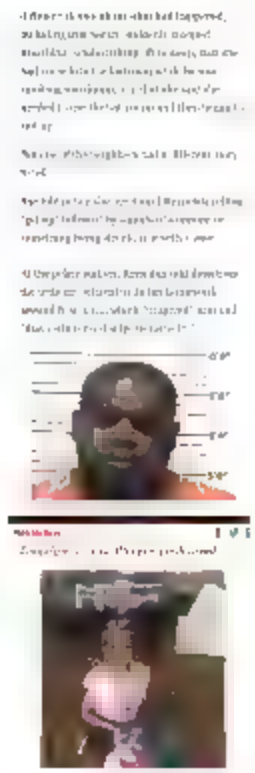
2 Likes

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Who wants to get Brandon Reynolds a [redacted] subscription? Another dad who just didn't know getting high would make him a better parent. It's funny - and by funny I mean horrifying and not funny at all - how these cases come up all the time.



Father accused of beating 5-year-old girl to death

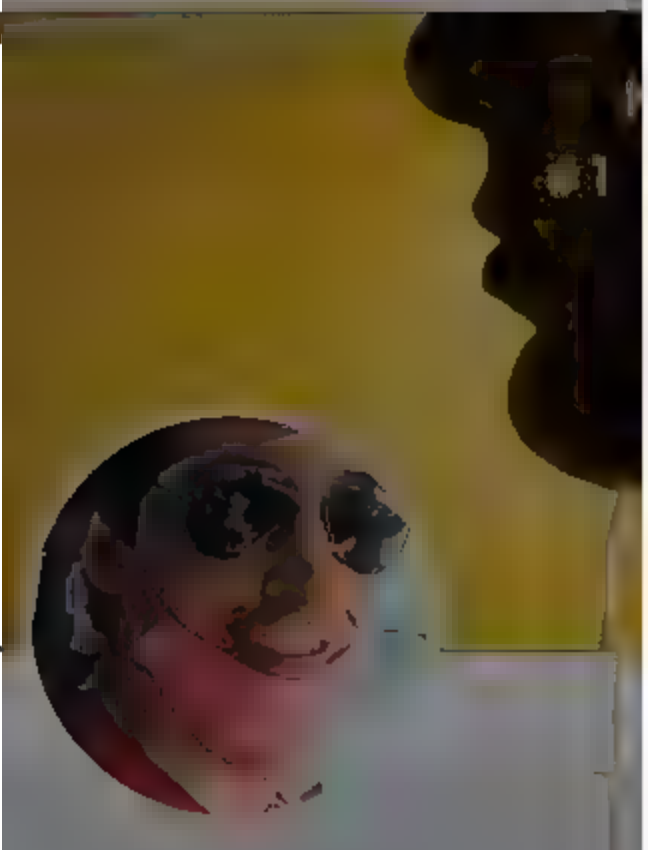
BY MATTHEW REISEN AND ELISE KAPLAN / JOURNAL STAFF WRITERS

Published: Friday, April 5th, 2019 at 11:57am

Updated: Saturday, April 6th, 2019 at 7:32am

2 3 14

This Tweet is unavailable.



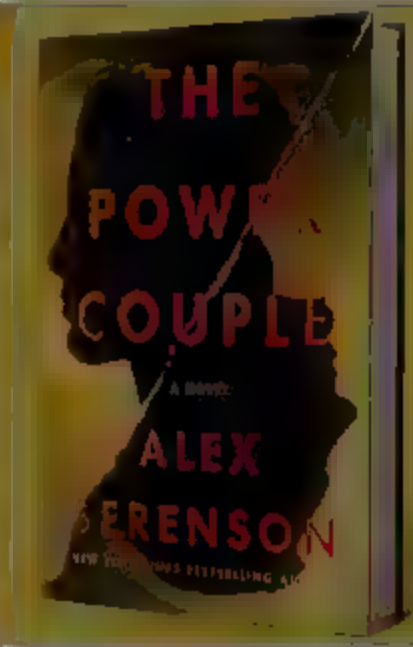
Alex Berenson [redacted]
@AlexBerenson

Two felons. Exactly whom we should be trusting for medical advice.

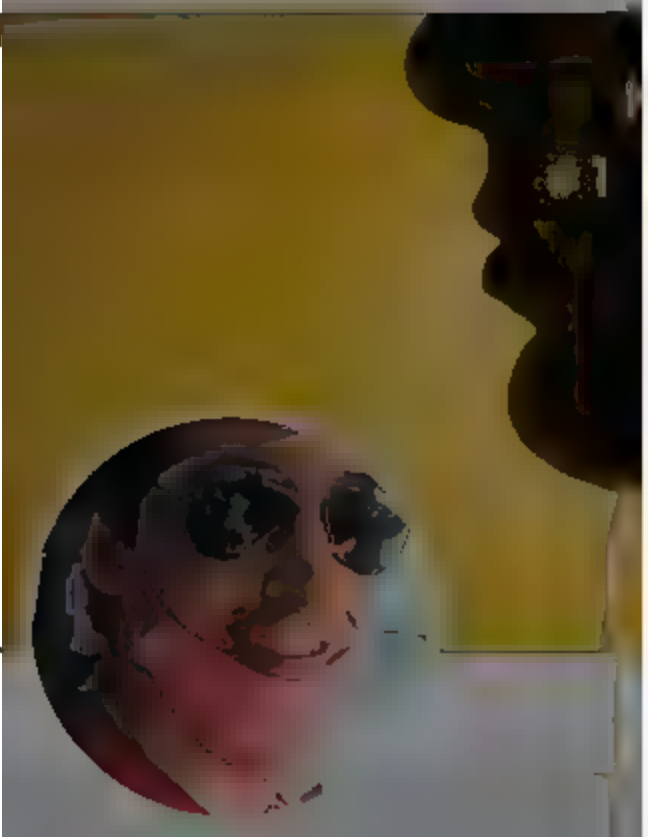
3:25 PM - 7 Apr 2019

3 Likes

1 3



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

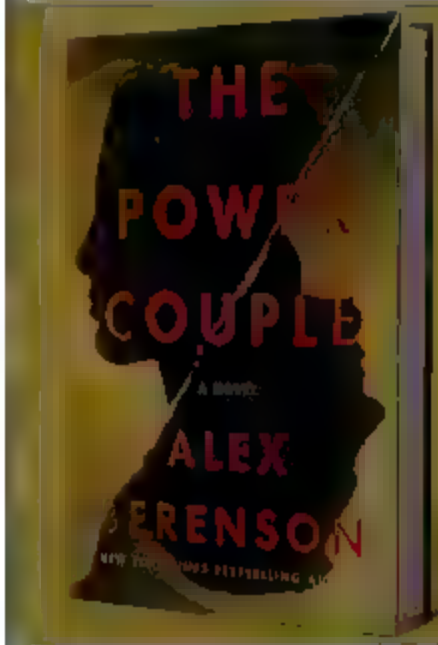
Joined November 2009

the boy did not play the sport; something was clearly awry. Singer smoothed it over, but the whole incident enraged Sloane: "The more I think about this, it is outrageous! They have no business or legal right considering all the students privacy issues to be calling and challenging/question [my son's] application," he wrote to Singer.

There are several instances of college

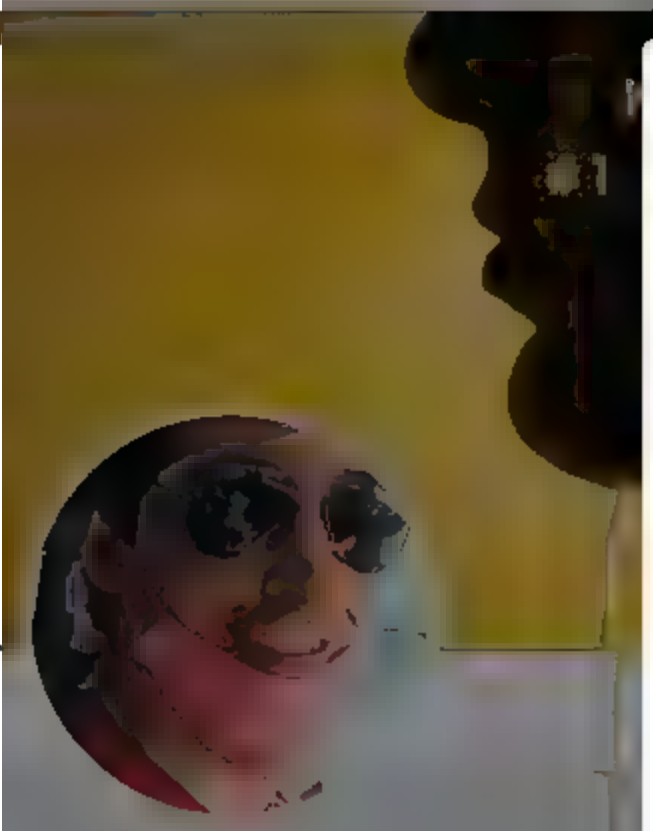
2 4 17

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

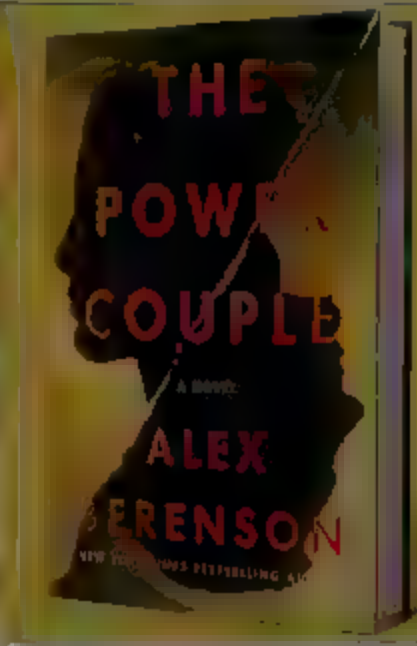


Replying to

Great piece - but I disagree with Caitlin on one point. Given the massive levels of wealth in these families, this panic was less about practical consequences for their kids of being at the "wrong" school and more about pure status-consciousness for themselves.



10:58 AM - 6 Apr 2019



3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

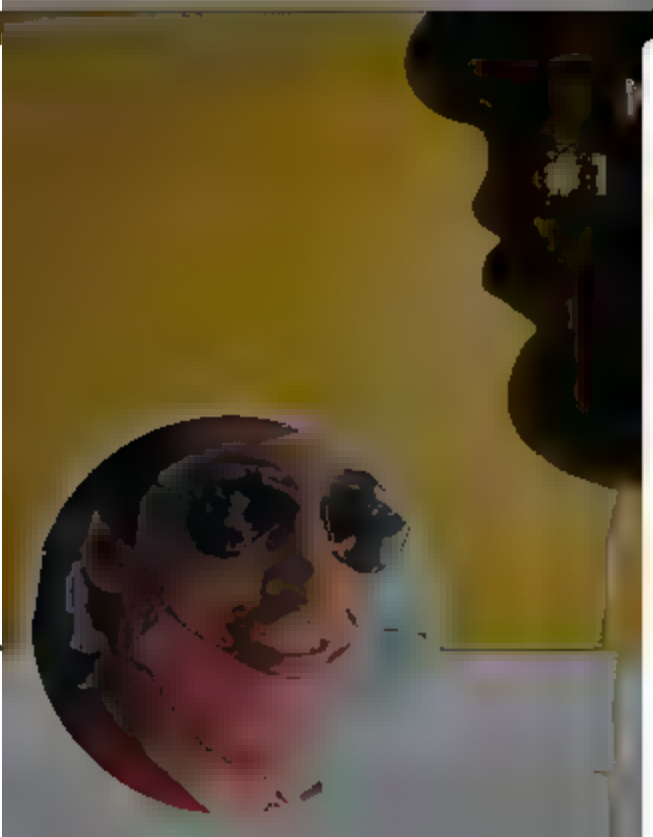
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I guess technically the crowd-funded movie should be not "Tobacco Madness" but "Tobacco Metastasis." "Look, little Jimmy smoked and now he's coughing blood!" "That's nothing. The doctor cut out Janey's whole lower jaw!" "Those evil cigarette companies!" Who's with me? @anncoulter



7:19 AM - 5 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 8 Likes

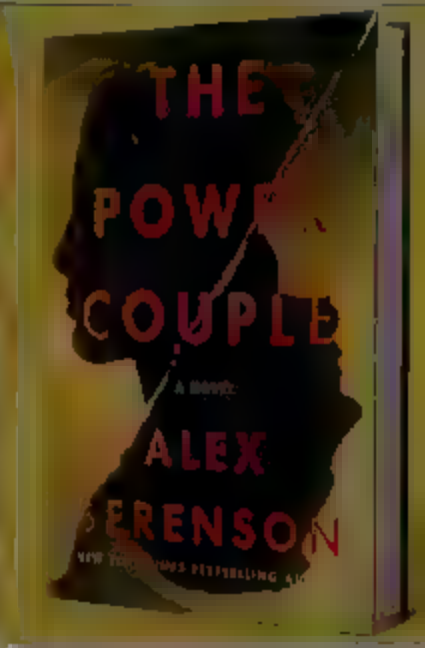
3 3 8

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

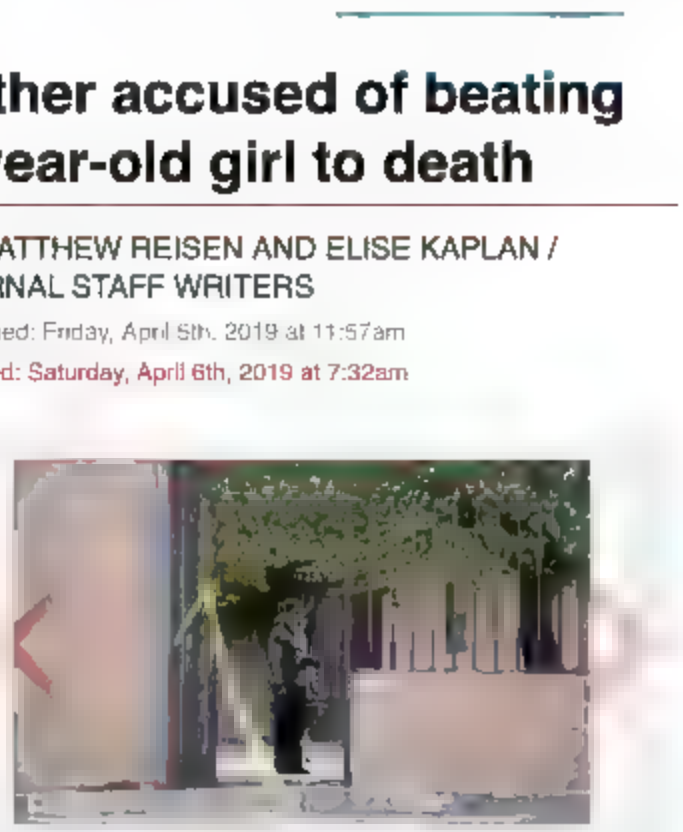
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

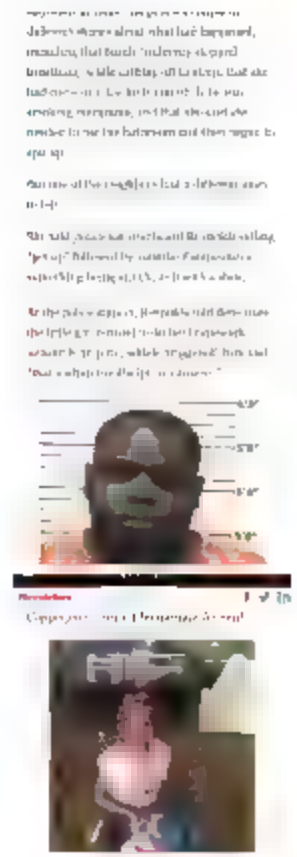


Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Who wants to get Brandon Reynolds a @washingtonpost subscription? Another dad who just didn't know getting high would make him a better parent. It's funny - and by funny I mean horrifying and not funny at all - how these cases come up all the time.

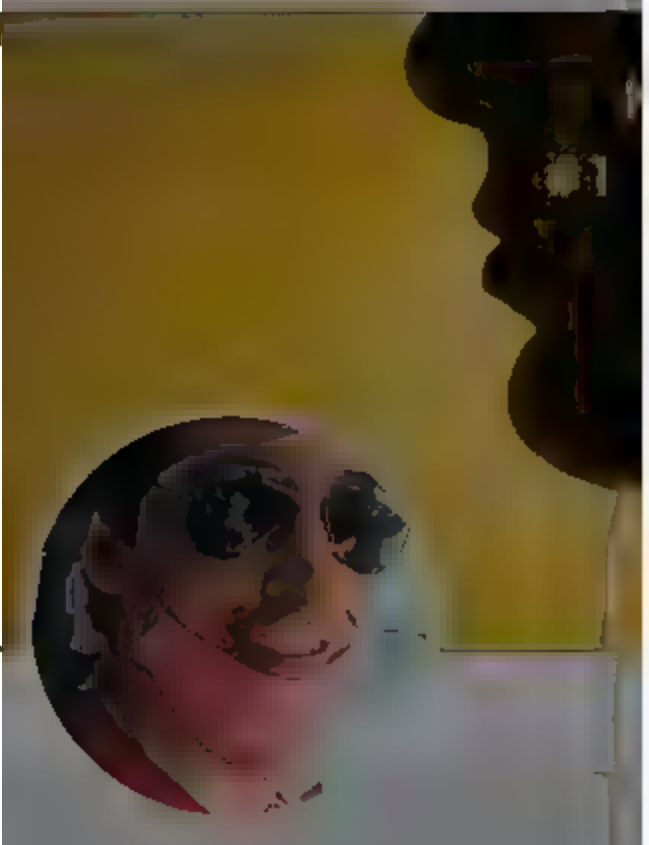


Father accused of beating 5-year-old girl to death

BY MATTHEW REISEN AND ELISE KAPLAN / JOURNAL STAFF WRITERS

Published: Friday, April 5th, 2019 at 11:57am

Updated: Saturday, April 6th, 2019 at 7:32am



3:14 PM - 7 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 14 Likes

2 3 14

Rae @FiatLuxGenesis · 7 Apr 2019

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

7 5 7

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Yeah, you know what I think is in horrible taste? Telling the parents of children - especially young children - that using a recreational intoxicant is a good idea. And until @washingtonpost acknowledges that reality, I am going to keep making the "joke."

2:37 PM - 4 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

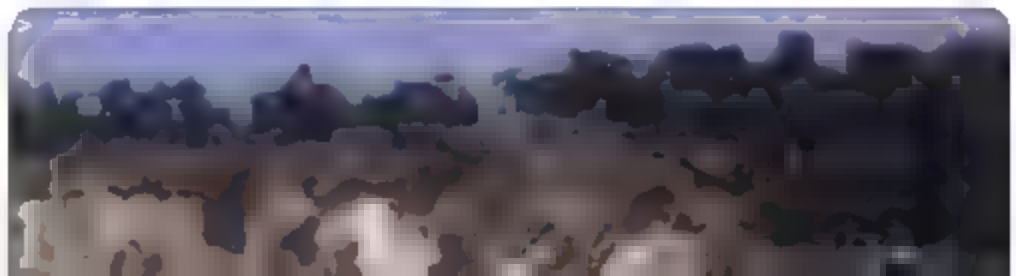
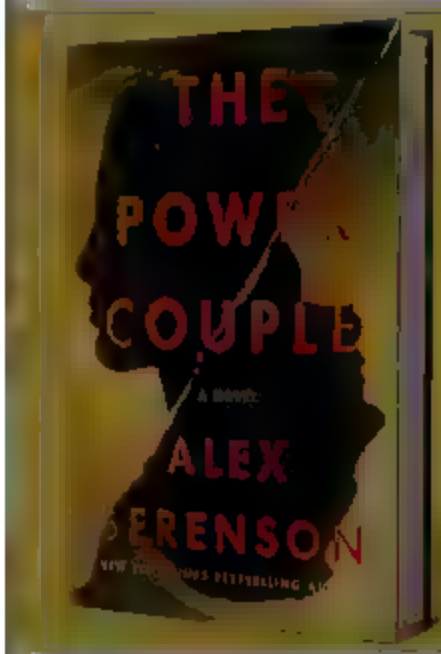
3 1 2

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 4 Apr 2019



Replying to

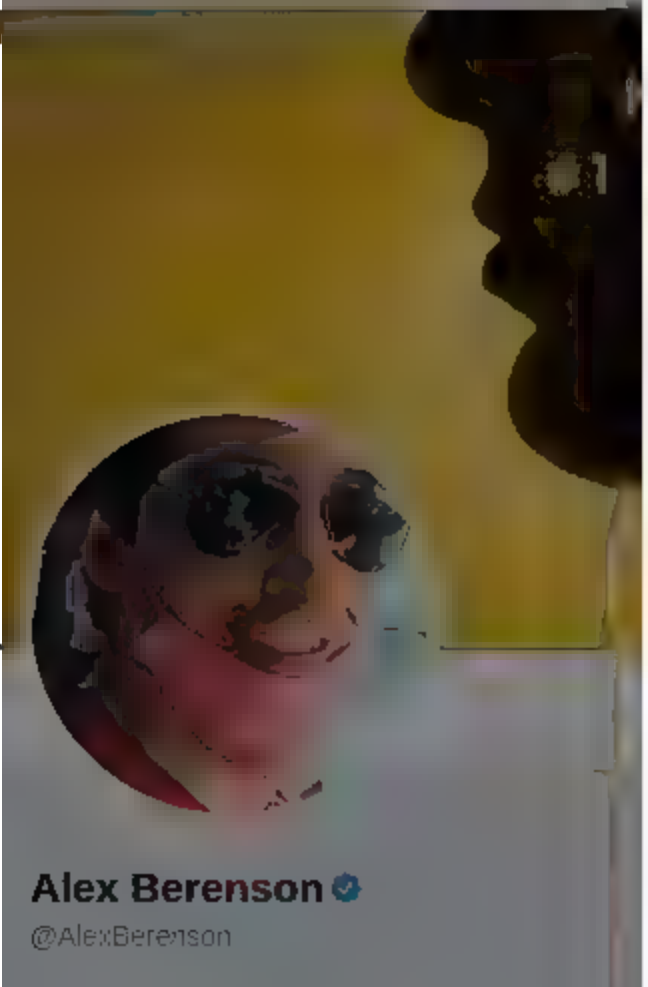


What's worse, the mainstream media publishes testimonials from people who are pleased with their automobiles that fail to acknowledge that driving is dangerous.

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 4 Apr 2019

Replying to

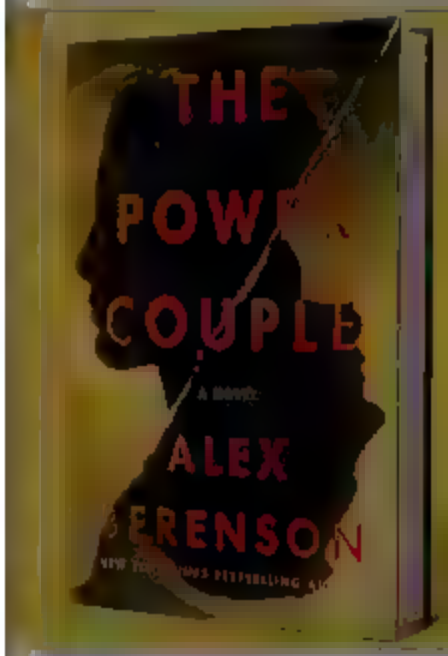
What? I'm sorry, I couldn't hear you over the sound of my TV turned up loud for The Hoda & Kathie Lee Mid-Morning Mommy Chardonnay Fest, brought to you by One of The Big Mainstream Broadcast Networks.



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

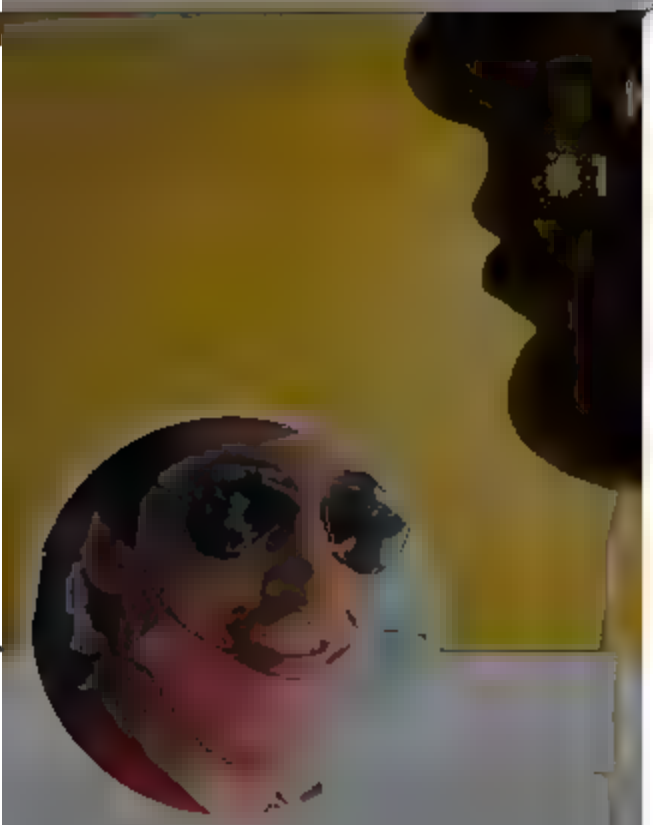
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Can someone please get Vaughn Brock a subscription to [redacted]? Last week, he (allegedly) killed his toddler while high and then left the boy's body in a washing machine. If only he had known cannabis helps parenting.

7 5 7



This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Because I don't care who doesn't like it. I don't care who finds it provocative. I care about the figures that show the caregivers of dead children are far more likely to use cannabis than any other drug - or alcohol.

2:39 PM - 4 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

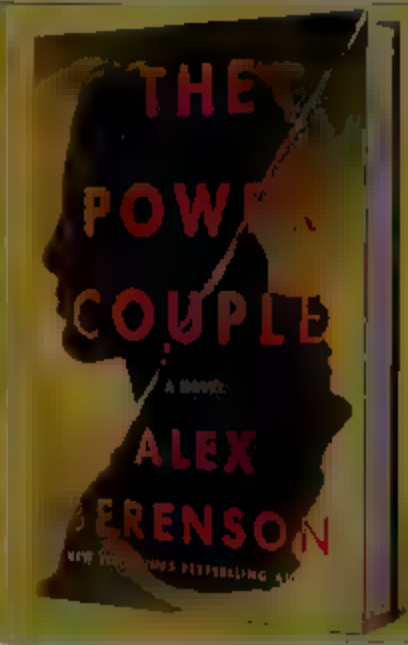
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

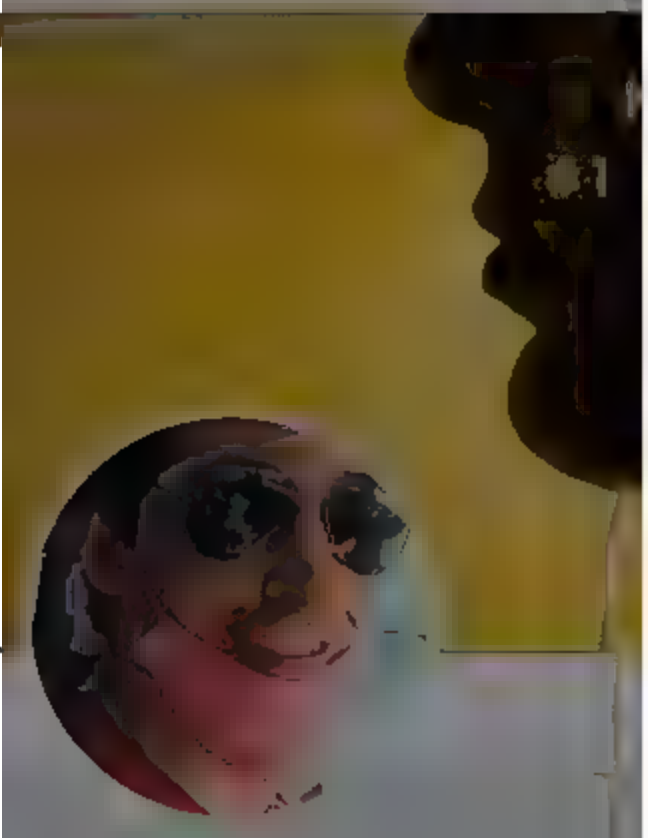
Ahh, @isaacampos: Another academic whose idea of debate is telling me what I can and cannot say.



> And, finally, until you've taken the time to actually read my work, or learned something about Mexican history, or had something peer reviewed, please stop suggesting that I don't understand my own evidence. Thanks.
>
> 4/4/19, 8:39 AM

1 Like

6:42 AM - 4 Apr 2019



4 Likes

9 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

had something peer reviewed, please stop suggesting that I don't understand my own evidence. Thanks.

4/4/19, 8:39 AM

1 Like

9 4

Logical Thinker @LogicalThinke16 · 4 Apr 2019

You tagged the wrong [redacted] effectively preventing a rebuttal. Sorry Isaac if I'm just empowing a bully pundent.

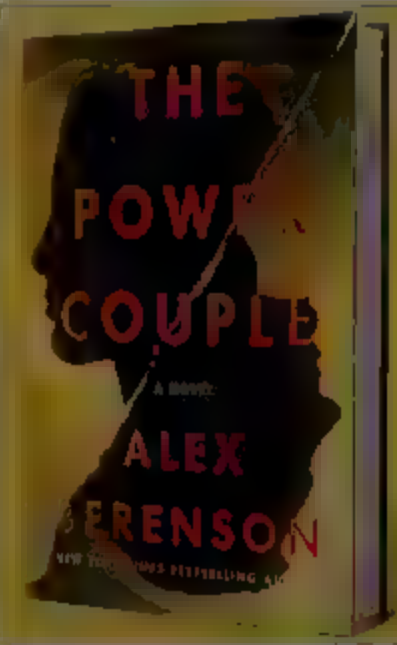
1

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

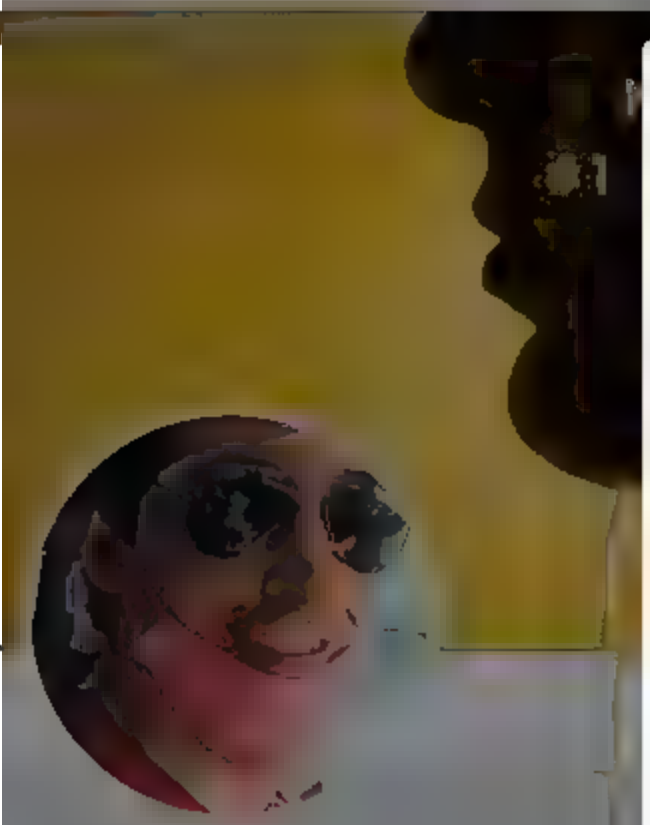
Following

Replying to [redacted]



Ahh, my mistake. And sorry to whoever the other Isaac Campos is!

9:02 AM - 4 Apr 2019



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

If they are as reported, I strongly suspect the tox findings in the Lisinicchia case (the limousine driver who killed 19 people and himself in a crash last October) will mark the end of legalization in NY this year - and maybe for years to come.

5:25 AM - 4 Apr 2019

4 Retweets 14 Likes

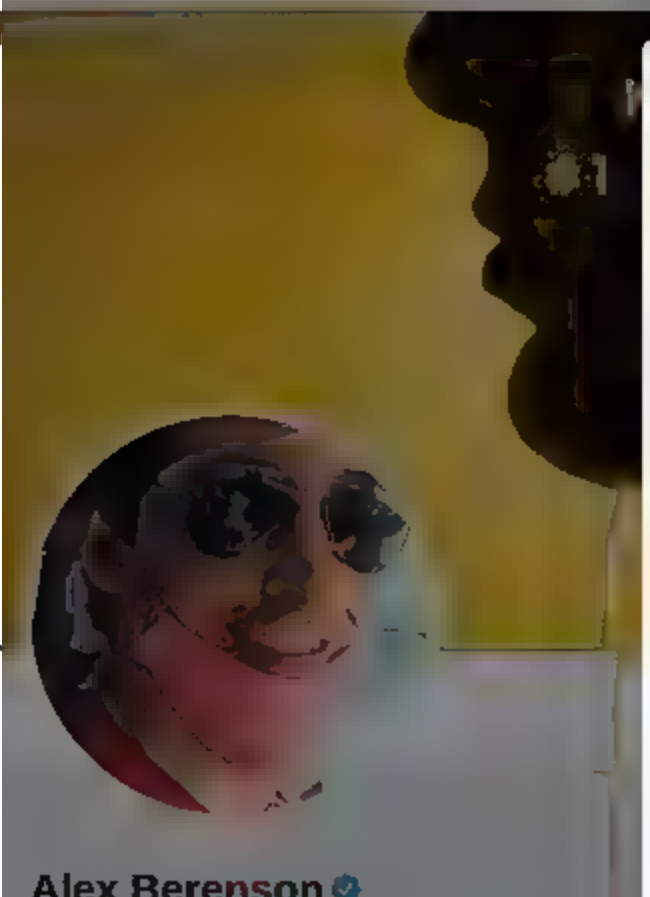
9 4 14



William Farlinger @WilliamFarling4 · 4 Apr 2019

Replying to

I know people of been driving all their life with THC and they don't have a ticket you got dummies what can I say it's like drinking dips

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

As NY legislators consider cannabis legalization, they may want to remember this case - one of the deadliest traffic accidents in the state's history. 20 people died.

2:57 AM - 4 Apr 2019

6 Retweets 26 Likes

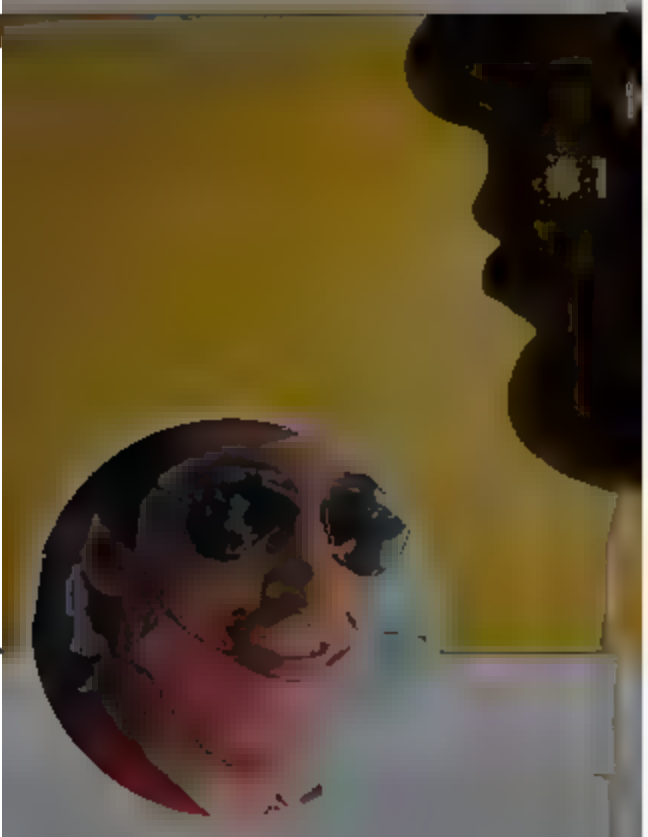
8 6 26

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 4 Apr 2019

Replying to



Please provide a report on whether any driver's caused an accident with alcohol in their system. I can't find any info on that. We need the consummate professional to inform on this.

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Christopher Medina-Kirchner @ChrisMedinaK · 3 Apr 2019
Show me the dose-response data for an association between cannabis use and psychotic symptoms. I'll wait.

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

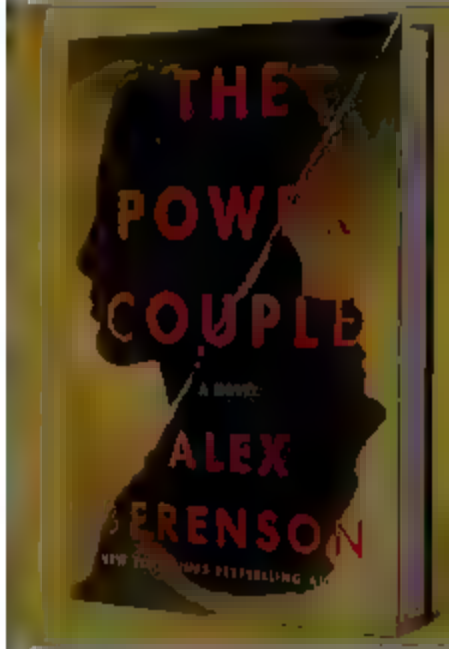
Do you want to show him the 1987 Lancet paper or should I? I can understand why he missed it - it's not like it's a seminal work that's been cited over 1,000 times or anything.

3:59 PM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Like

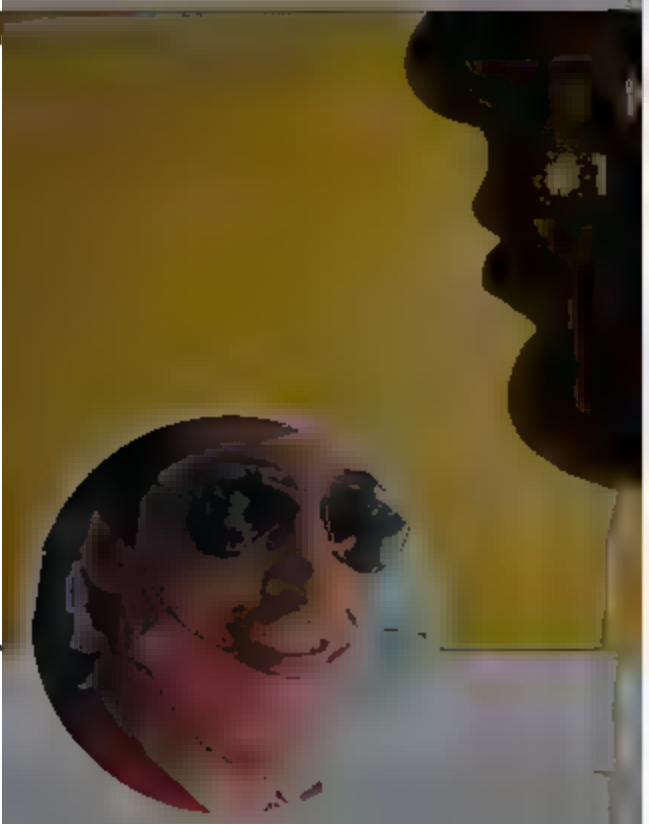
2 1

Callum @calturner23 · 3 Apr 2019
Replying to
I'm sure he's aware of and just being obtuse. I just don't understand how any rational, sensible person would seek to belittle the correlation between a psychoactive substance and mental illness. Particularly where young people and kids are more at risk.



1

Christopher Medina-Kirchner @ChrisMedinaK · 3 Apr 2019
Cat ownership is also correlated with schizophrenia. Please don't belittle that correlation.

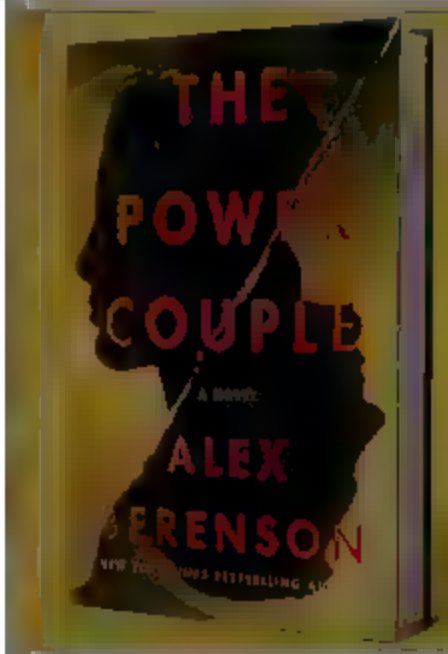


1

Christopher Medina-Kirchner @ChrisMedinaK · 3 Apr 2019
Replying to
I'm sorry I forgot you're a novelist and not a scientist. Dose-response has a specific meaning in pharmacology. I've attached an image to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 3 Apr 2019

While it is true that many states classify seemingly non-violent crimes (burglary, drug crimes) as "violent," the claim that 55% of ppl are in prison for violence comes from the BJS—which DOES NOT do this.

2 9 29

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

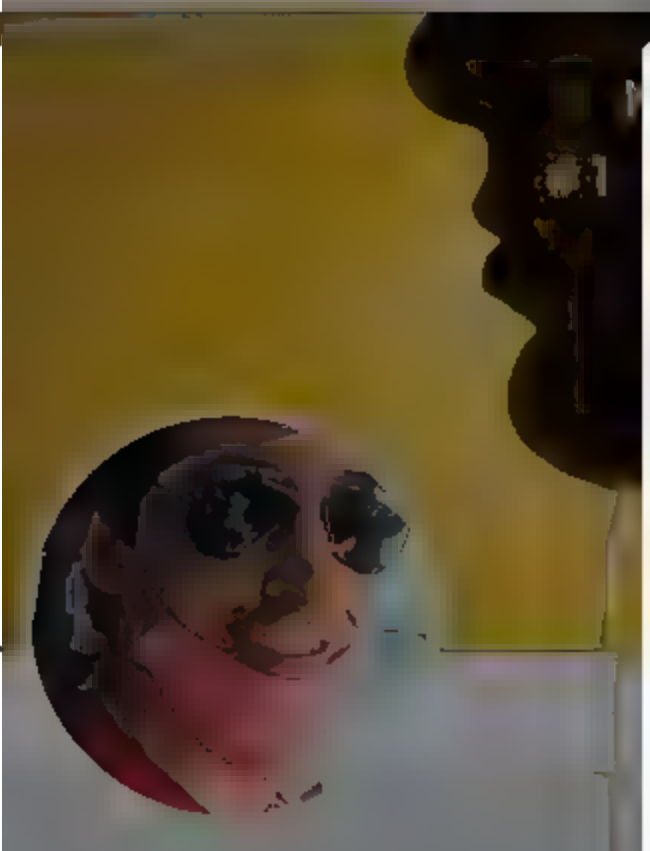
Replying to

I disagree with John Pfaff on the solution here - or whether the issue of incarcerating violent people is a problem in need of solution at all - but I applaud him for speaking bluntly about the truth of who is actually in prison...

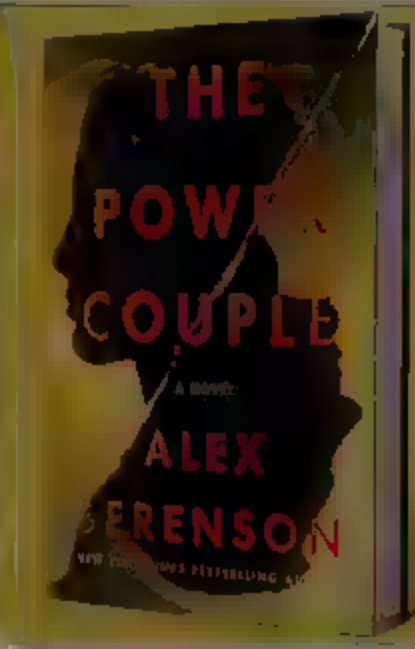
2:49 PM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Like

1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019



Replying to

It is too bad his colleagues on the academic left generally try to obfuscate this and other unpleasantries (by claiming, for example, that the prisons are filled with people incarcerated for cannabis-related offenses - a demonstrably untrue statement).

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 3 Apr 2019

While it is true that many states classify seemingly non-violent crimes (burglary, drug crimes) as "violent," the claim that 55% of ppl are in prison for violence comes from the BJS—which DOES NOT do this.

2 9 29

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019

I disagree with John Pfaff on the solution here - or whether the issue of incarcerating violent people is a problem in need of solution at all - but I applaud him for speaking bluntly about the truth of who is actually in prison...

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

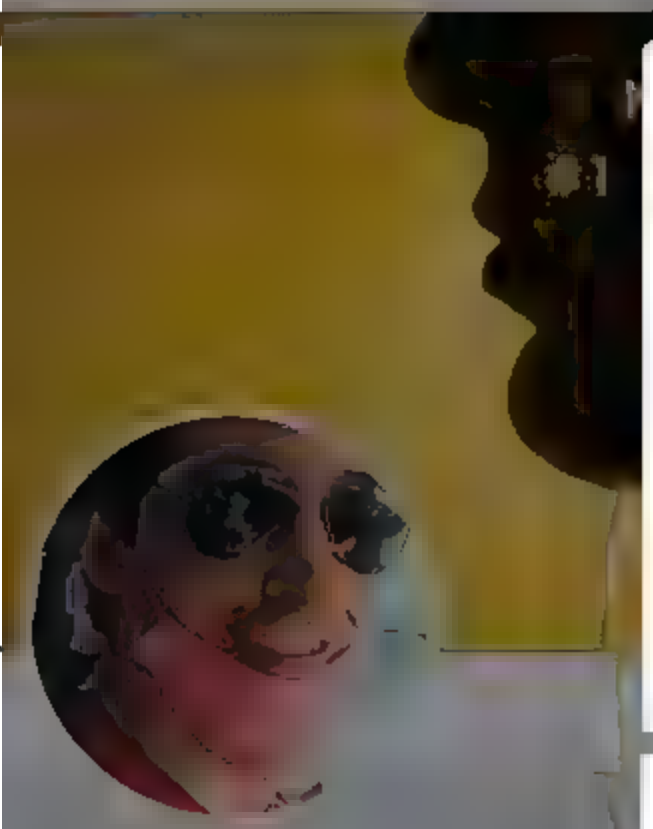
Replying to

It is too bad his colleagues on the academic left generally try to obfuscate this and other unpleasantries (by claiming, for example, that the prisons are filled with people incarcerated for cannabis-related offenses - a demonstrably untrue statement).

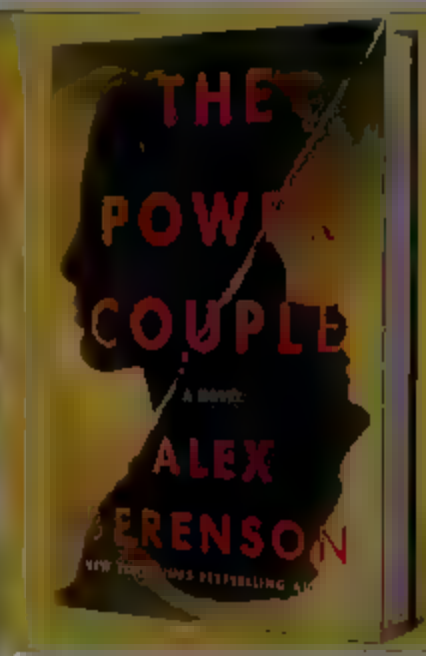
2:51 PM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Like

1



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

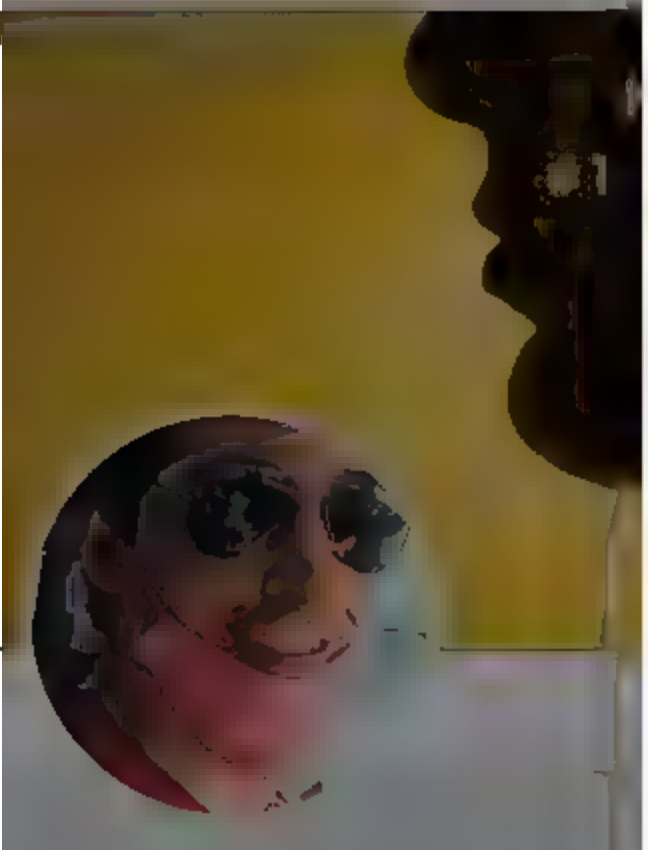
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Wait, now Zach is too young to write a fair story? Maybe it's time for you to stop defending him...

1:25 PM - 3 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

show

8 2 9

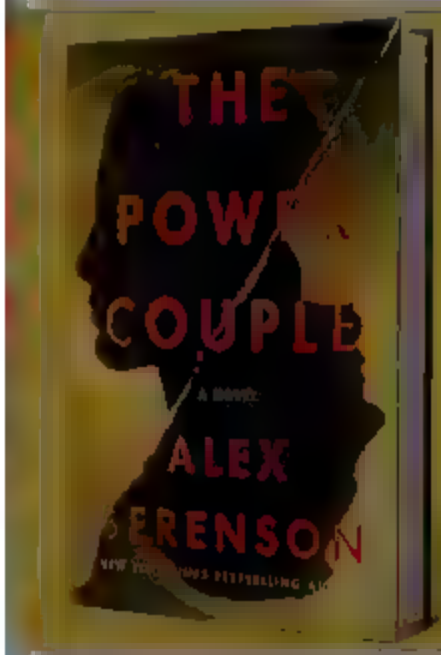
david szafranski @DavidEPSF · 3 Apr 2019
Do you lose the moral high ground when you bait the people who don't agree with you with? It feels petty and you don't need to be petty.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

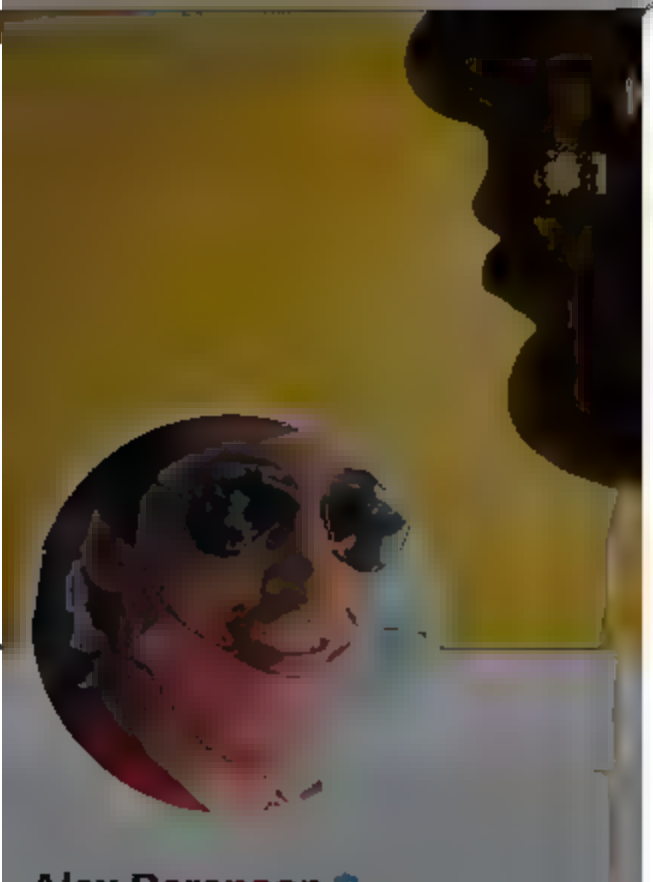
Replying to

Fair question. Here's the way I see it: they have the elite media, the money, and most of the social (key word) science academy. All I have is 6,000 followers - and the truth. If baiting them helps spread the truth, fantastic. It's a force multiplier.



1:39 PM - 3 Apr 2019

2 Likes



1 2

david szafranski @DavidEPSF · 3 Apr 2019
Replying to
I'll accept that answer. You seem to be getting a lot more press recently but that is just my impression

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

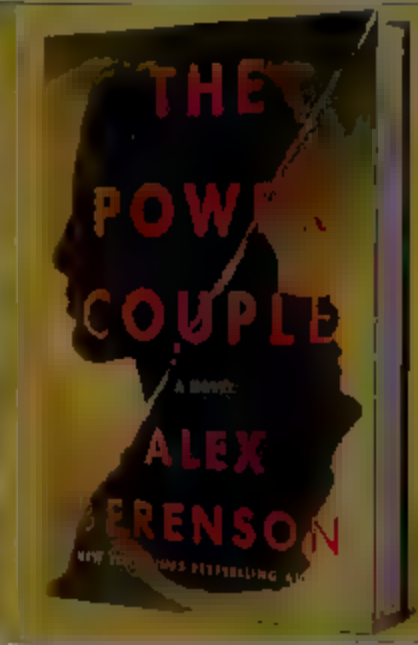
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hey, @ZachWritesStuff - remind me again why your forthcoming article about Tell Your Children in @newrepublic will not be biased?

Poppotorg Group liked a reply to you

This is outrageous. No serious journalist would write an article entitled, "How alcohol can actually make you a better parent." Marijuana is a recreational drug. Using marijuana doesn't make you a better parent. It makes you a drug user.



Zachary Siegel liked a reply to you

Hey! So sorry we missed you. You were so sloppy that Brian did our work for us. He caught you himself so we didn't need to call in. Thanks for making it easy for him! 💚

12:53 PM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

1 1 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 3 Apr 2019
The guy who screen-shotted my inquiry and called me an idiot wants to engage me in a discussion about objectivity.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
Hey, @ZachWritesStuff - remind me again why your forthcoming article about Tell Your Children in @newrepublic will not be biased?

9 2 28

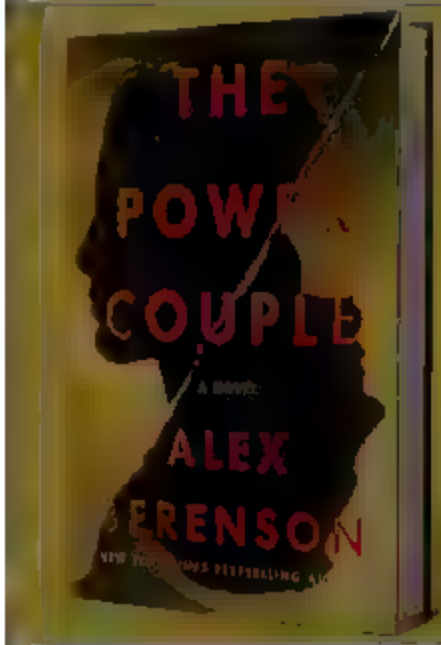
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

I'm not writing about you.

1:15 PM - 3 Apr 2019

1



This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
It is weird, isn't? Not just that I worked there but that my investigations led to multiple criminal indictments and convictions of corporations and executives. I guess I must have paid off a bunch of US attorneys too.

Show additional replies, including those that may contain offensive content Show

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

@newrepublic will not be biased?

9 2 28

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
I'm not writing about you.

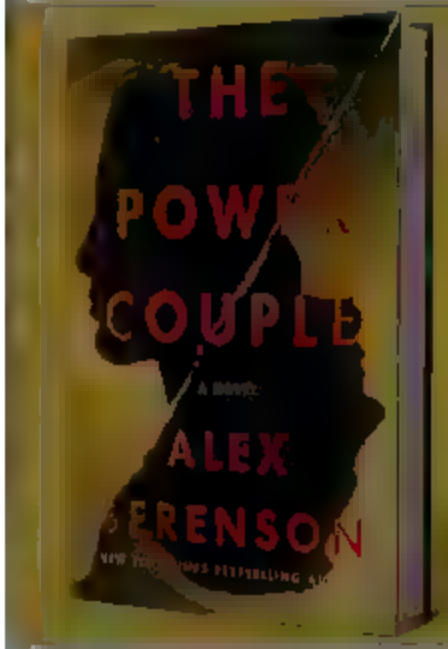
1

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

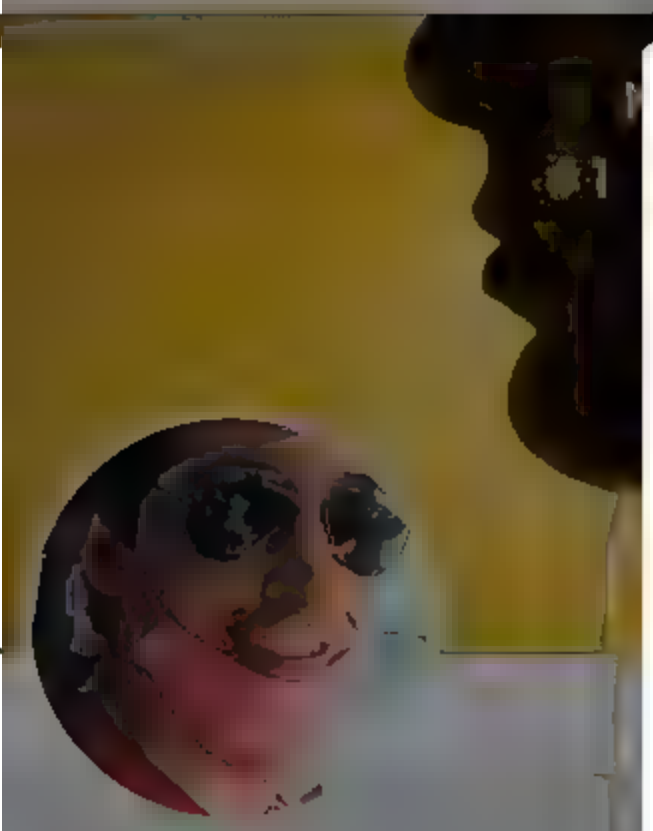
Follow

It is weird, isn't? Not just that I worked there but that my investigations led to multiple criminal indictments and convictions of corporations and executives. I guess I must have paid off a bunch of US attorneys too.

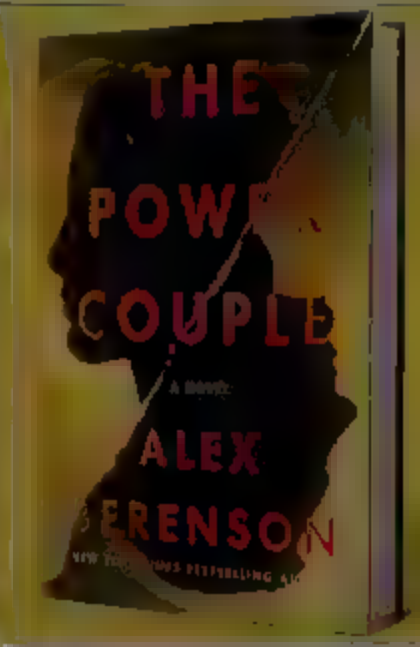


1:22 PM - 3 Apr 2019

This Tweet is unavailable.



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
Hey, [redacted], apparently your Pulitzer-prize winning work is entirely wrong and white-collar crime cases are a dime a dozen. This doesn't rise to lol



[redacted]

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 3 Apr 2019

The guy who screen-shotted my inquiry and called me an idiot wants to engage me in a discussion about objectivity.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Hey, @ZachWritesStuff - remind me again why your forthcoming article about Tell Your Children in @newrepublic will not be biased?

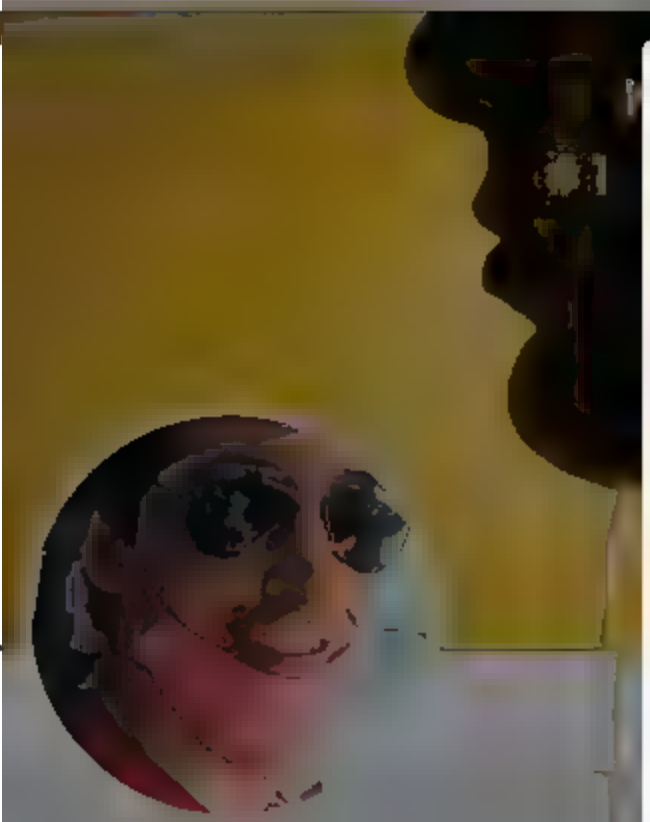
9 2 28

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

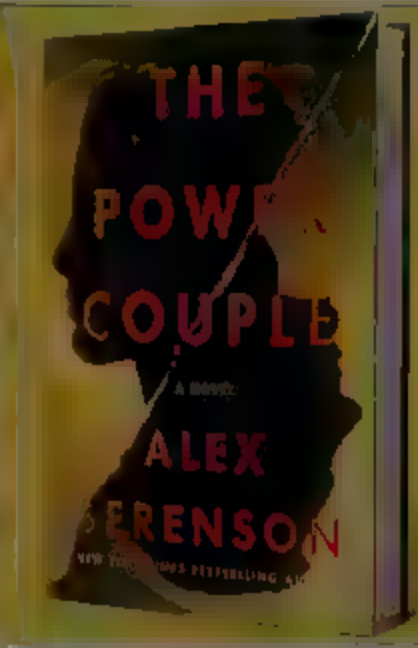
Replying to [illegible]

Maybe one of your editors can explain to you why that distinction is important.

1:16 PM - 3 Apr 2019



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Seems like a good time to repost what @isaac_campos wrote about marijuana, psychosis, and violence in his own book:

psychotomimetic symptoms."

Page 97: A chart showing that references to marijuana's effects in the Mexican press overwhelmingly mentioned violence and "madness."

Page 98: "More commonly, marijuana madness involved smokers who experienced an 'access [sic] of delirium and then performed a sudden and irrational act of violence.'"

Pages 98–102: Many specific descriptions of violence in the press.

Page 102: "In short, marijuana was overwhelmingly associated with violence and madness during this period, and reports of its effects often contained quite sensational and bloody detail."

"Camp...

Page 121: "The discourse around marijuana did stand out in that it was almost universally negative [compared to alcohol]. Within published sources, there were no defenders of its recreational use..."

Page 155: "We've already seen that cannabis can produce psychotomimetic effects and that, given the right 'set' and 'setting,' it is not impossible for it to have triggered violence in the past... little distinguished lower- and upper-class opinion on this weed and its effects, suggesting that, indeed, marijuana at some times probably contributed to violent episodes and 'mad' behavior." (NOTE: That's Campos's own language - he isn't attributing it to anyone.)

Page 180: "There were simply too many reports, from too many different sources, with virtually no counterdiscourse, to believe they were all fabricated... ultimately, reality [my

9:41 AM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 7 Likes

1 7

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

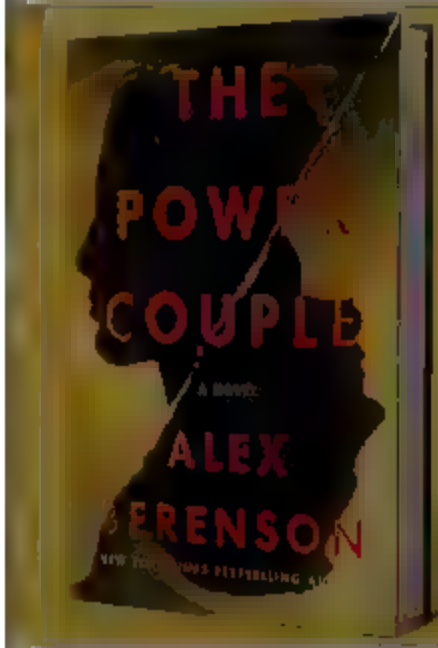
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

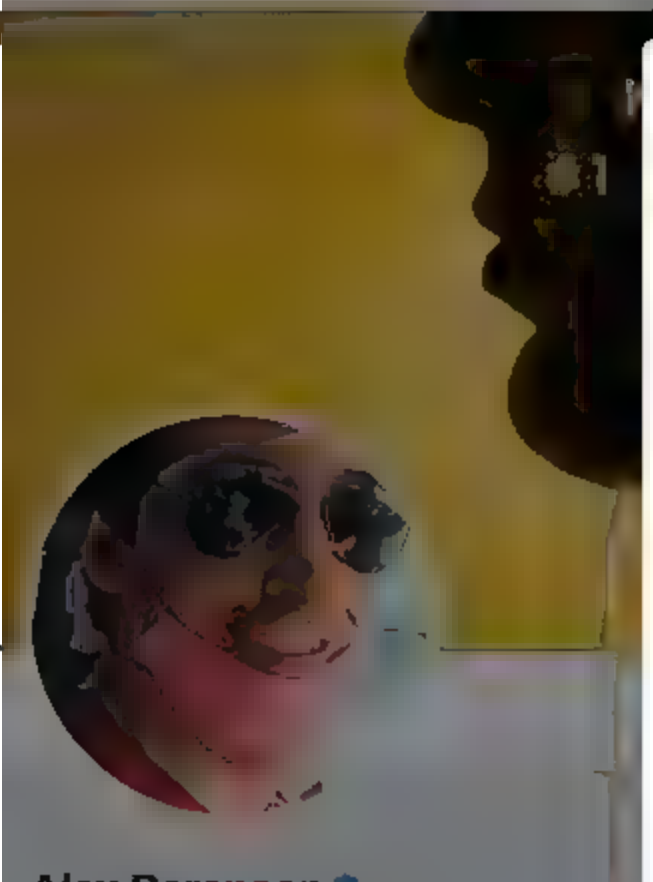
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

How'd that work out for you, @MyHarmReduction? Weirdly, despite the "mobilization," the calls were all from ordinary listeners who had seen cannabis psychosis themselves. Reality has a strange way of getting the last word.



> DRUG POLICY NERDS CALL TO ACTION- Berenson will be on @BrianLehrer within the next hour. Who is ready to tune in and CALL in with me?!?! Legalizing marijuana in NY and elsewhere will NOT increase psychosis-



11:53 AM - 3 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 9 Likes

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

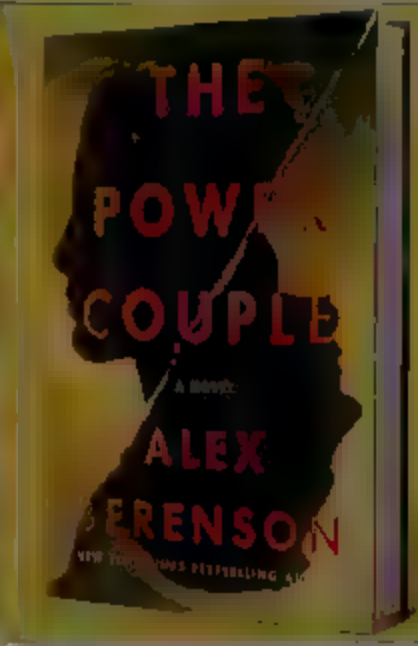
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I love it when people accuse me of misrepresenting their exact words.

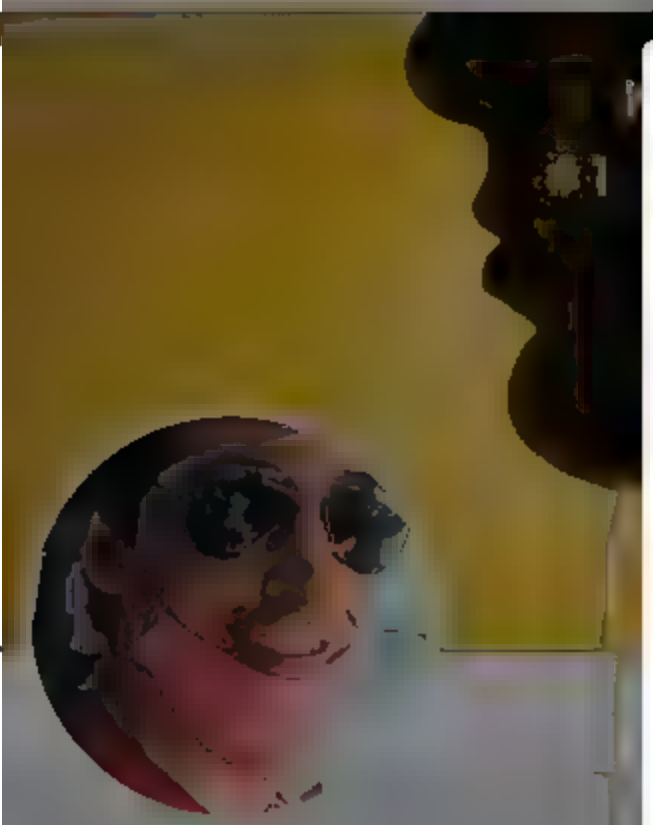
9:42 AM - 3 Apr 2019

3 Likes



1 3

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 3 Apr 2019



Replying to

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

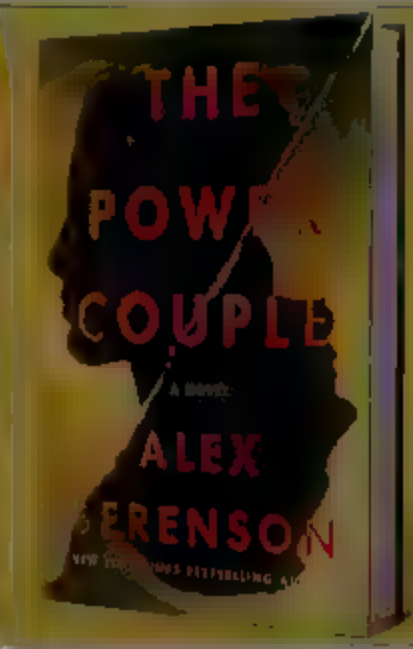
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Thanks @BrianLehrer for having me on! So cool to hear that iconic voice in person. Btw - I know several other listeners were trying to get on to tell their cannabis psychosis stories - I am sorry we didn't have time for all of you.



9:07 AM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 9 Likes

1 1 9

infinite rest @wyspace · 3 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Did you like up the calls? How do you know this?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

wrong. The total amount of the fraud is important; but the TARGET is as or more important.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019

2/ In other words, a $1000 million CDO sold to sophisticated investors (who presumably can and should be able to protect themselves) should be viewed differently than a $10 million Ponzi scheme targeted at wealthy individuals...

2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019

3/ And that in turn is less damaging (though the numbers are larger) than a $100,000 scheme that clears out a widow's bank account. I am not sure exactly how to define the targets, but intuitively I think there's truth here. What say you?

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

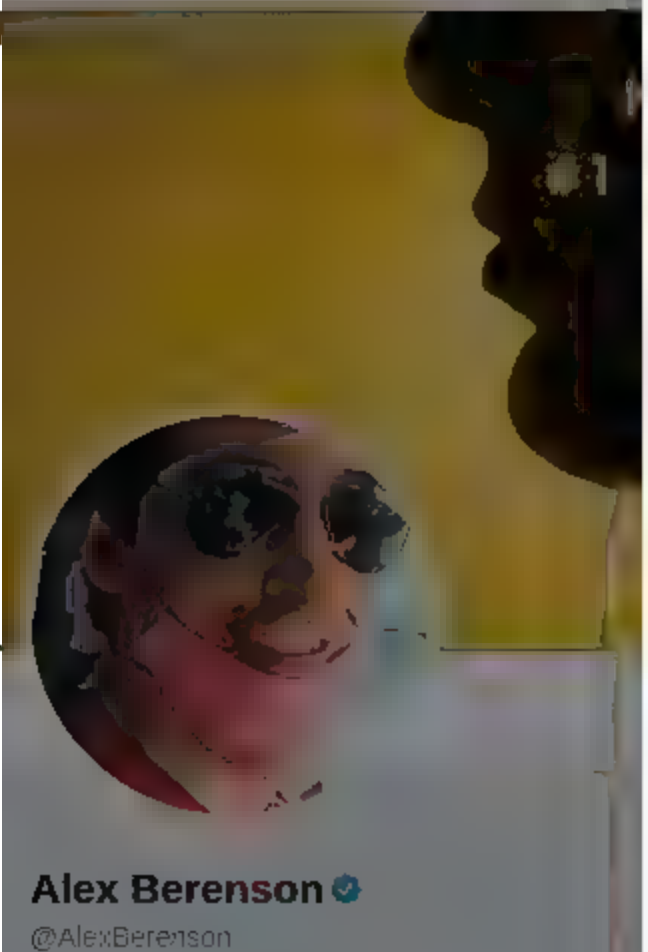
4/ Meant to @edsinger @jnshursky on this...

7:35 AM - 3 Apr 2019

2

Felix Salmon @felixsalmon · 3 Apr 2019

Replying to



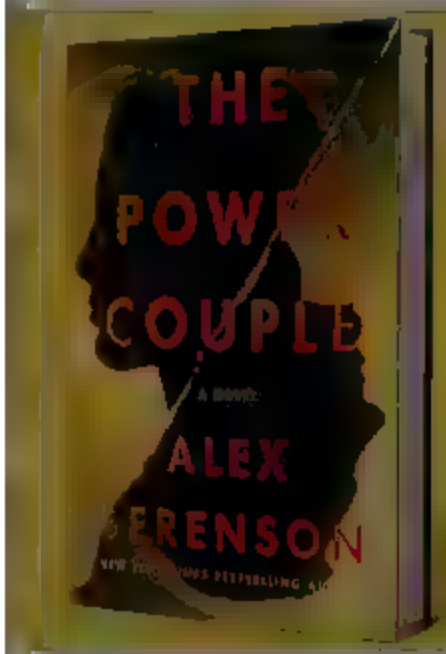
Not to mention , who wrote about this yesterday

craig geller @kevinblah · 3 Apr 2019

Replying to

It's like you're TRYING to hurt them.

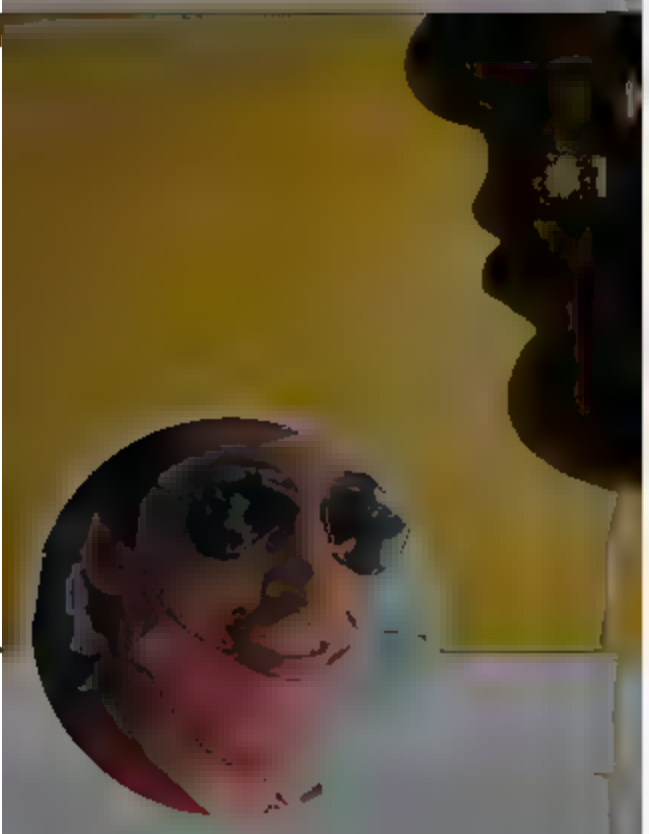
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

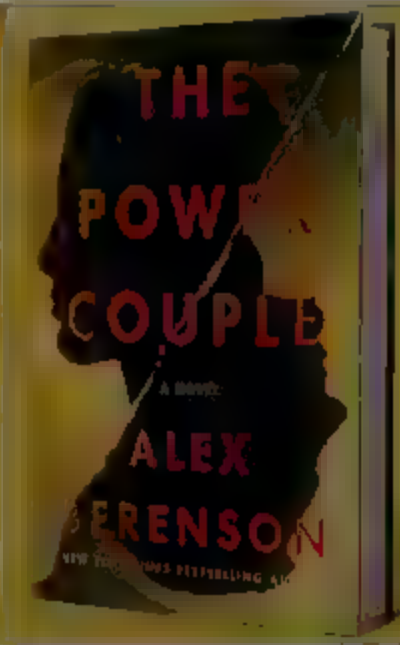


Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

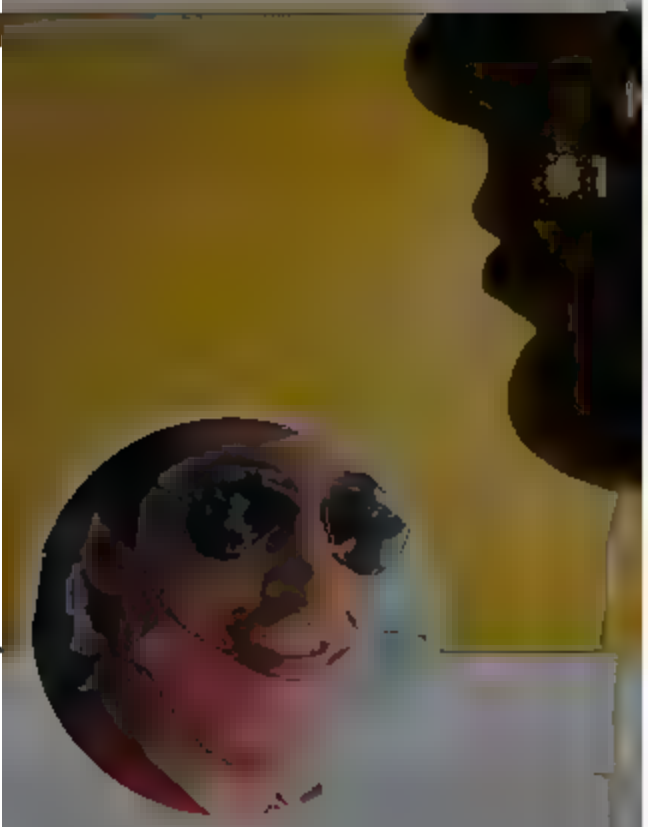
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hi @drcarlhart! Any thoughts on the peer-reviewed papers linking cannabis use to psychosis, prodromal psychotic symptoms, and ER admissions that have appeared in the weeks since your oped in The Guardian? If you haven't seen them I'm happy to send links. Anything for science!

> You had @drcarlhart yesterday, you have this guy on today in some attempt to what, cover all views? Can they be well informed views? At least when it's to do with science and research? Hart was a good get. This guy... No. Not good Lehrer. @drcarlhart save this interview?

2 1



Carl Hart
@drcarlhart

Follow

Chair, Dept. of Psychology @Columbia University; Author HIGH PRICE, winner of the 2014 PEN/E. O. Wilson Literary Science Writing Award.

8:46 AM - 3 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 9 Likes

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

wrong. The total amount of the fraud is important; but the TARGET is as or more important.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019

2/ In other words, a $1000 million CDO sold to sophisticated investors (who presumably can and should be able to protect themselves) should be viewed differently than a $10 million Ponzi scheme targeted at wealthy individuals...

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

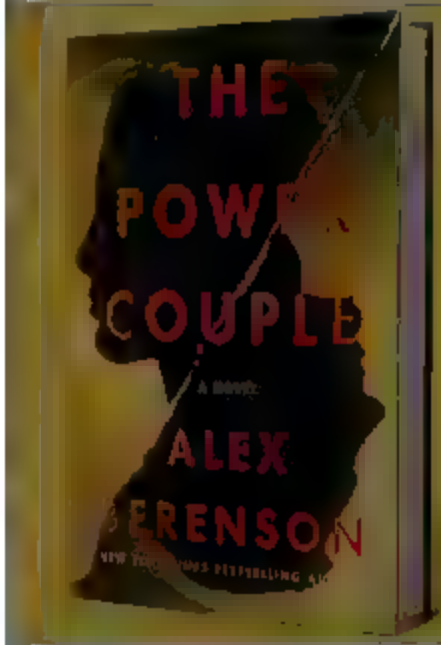
Follow

3/ And that in turn is less damaging (though the numbers are larger) than a $100,000 scheme that clears out a widow's bank account. I am not sure exactly how to define the targets, but intuitively I think there's truth here. What say you?

7:34 AM - 3 Apr 2019

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019

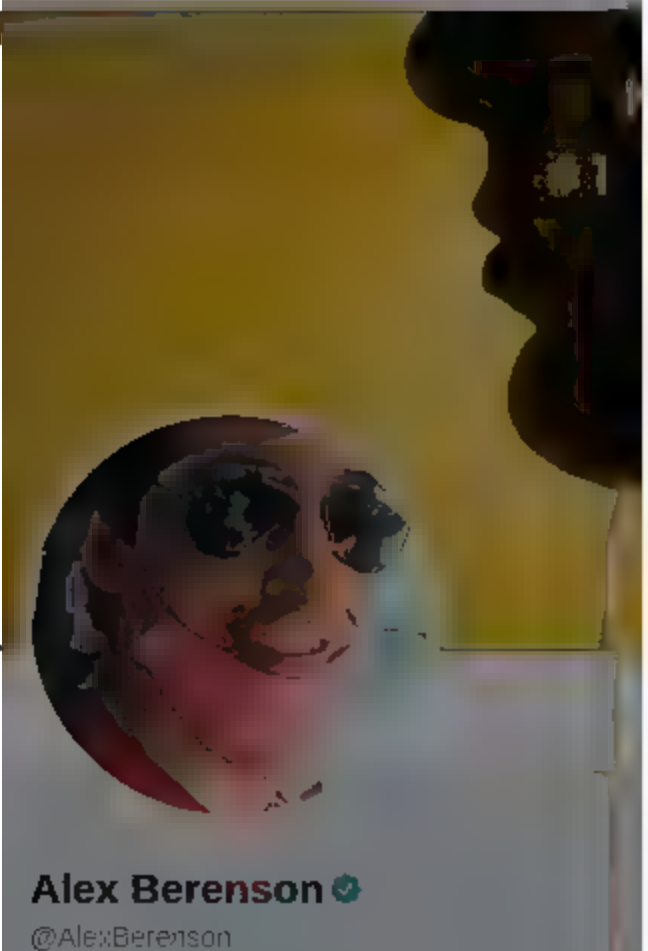


4/ Meant to [illegible] on this...

2

Justin Rood @JustinRood · 3 Apr 2019

Replying to [illegible]



How are you measuring damage? Those CDOs were the vehicles that brought us to a global economic crisis.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

[illegible], of course. But here's [illegible]:

6 9 17

Robert Fortescue @goonerll · 3 Apr 2019

What are the statistics on marijuana and child deaths?

1 3

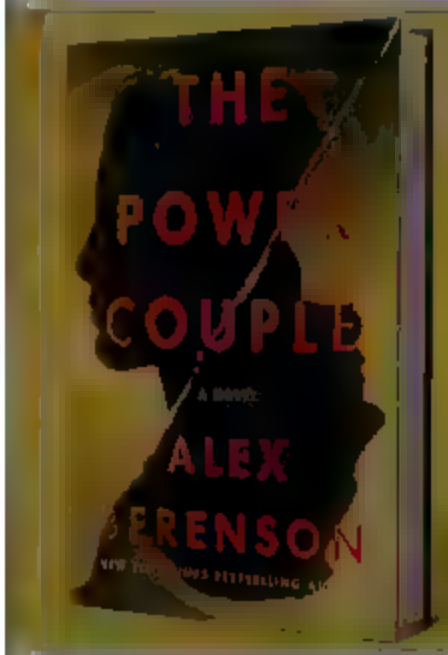
Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [illegible]

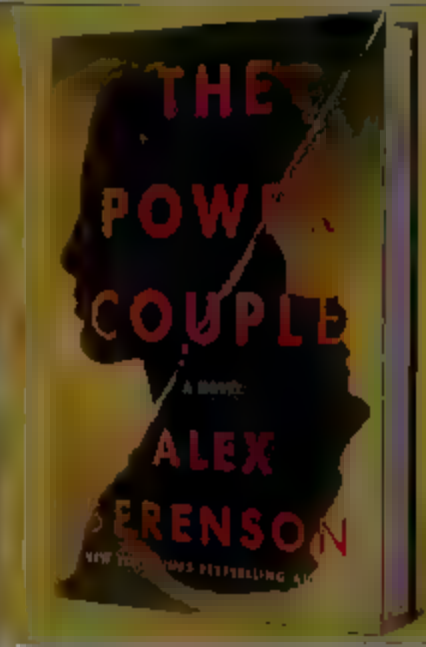
Awesome and thoughtful question! You might consider looking immediately to the left of this text for a hint at the answer.



6:30 AM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Like

1 1



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Non-cannabis thought (I know, not what you're here for): it is not that while-collar sentences are too long or too short, but the way we calculate them is wrong. The total amount of the fraud is important; but the TARGET is as or more important.

7:30 AM - 3 Apr 2019

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019

2/ In other words, a $1000 million CDO sold to sophisticated investors (who presumably can and should be able to protect themselves) should be viewed differently than a $10 million Ponzi scheme targeted at wealthy individuals...

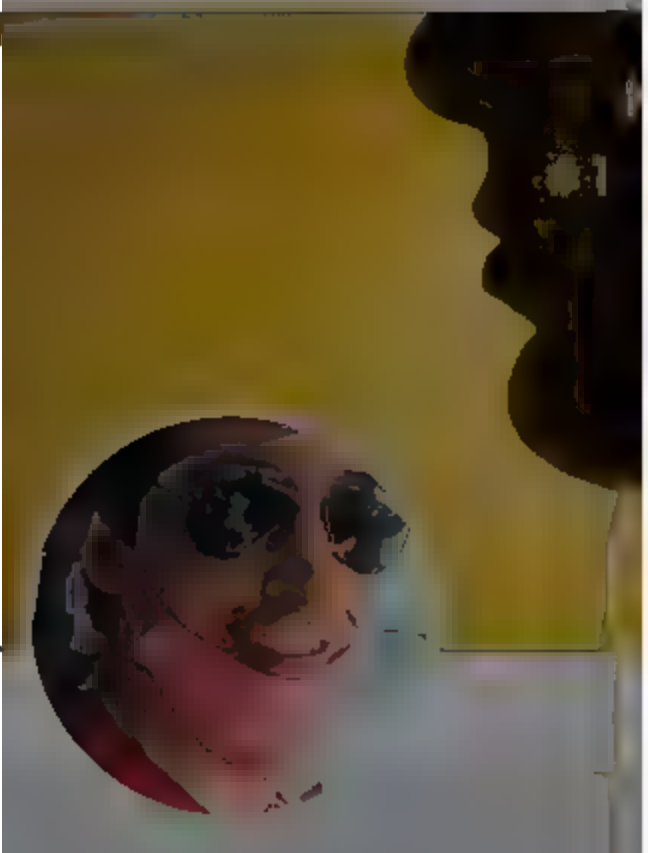
2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019

3/ And that in turn is less damaging (though the numbers are larger) than a $100,000 scheme that clears out a widow's bank account. I am not sure exactly how to define the targets, but intuitively I think there's truth here. What say you?

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019



4/ Meant to [illegible] on this...

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Non-cannabis thought (I know, not what you're here for): it is not that while-collar sentences are too long or too short, but the way we calculate them is wrong. The total amount of the fraud is important; but the TARGET is as or more important.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

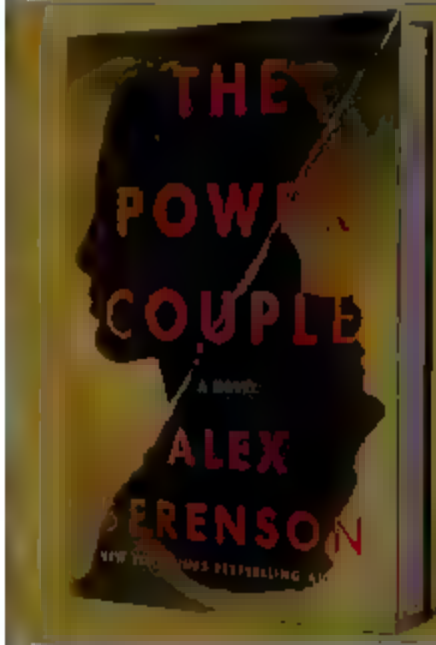
2/ In other words, a $1000 million CDO sold to sophisticated investors (who presumably can and should be able to protect themselves) should be viewed differently than a $10 million Ponzi scheme targeted at wealthy individuals...

7:32 AM - 3 Apr 2019

2 Likes

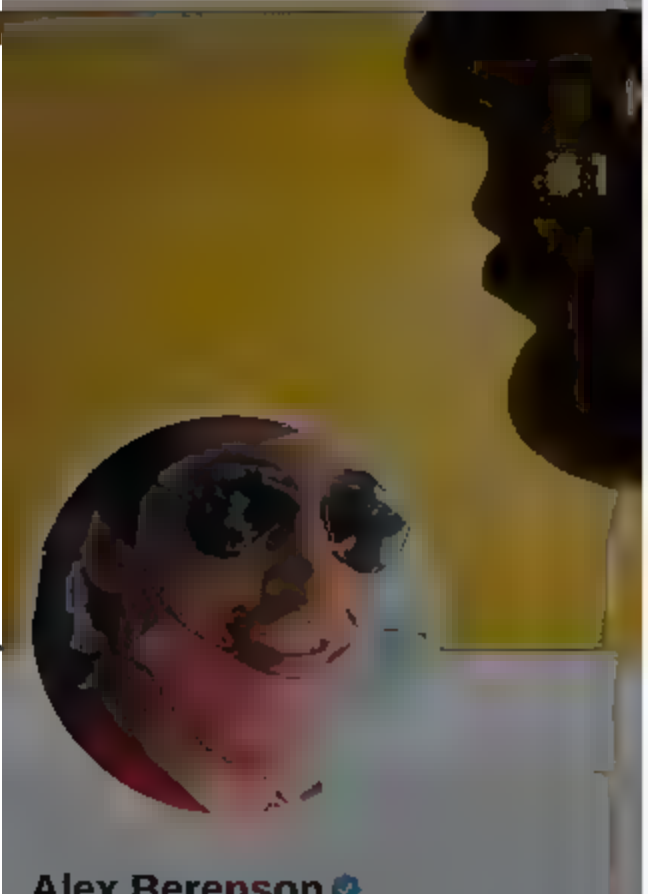
2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
3/ And that in turn is less damaging (though the numbers are larger) than a $100,000 scheme that clears out a widow's bank account. I am not sure exactly how to define the targets, but intuitively I think there's truth here. What say you?



2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
4/ Meant to [illegible] on this...



2

yoleven @outfielding · 3 Apr 2019
Replying to [illegible]
1000 million = 1 billion FYI

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

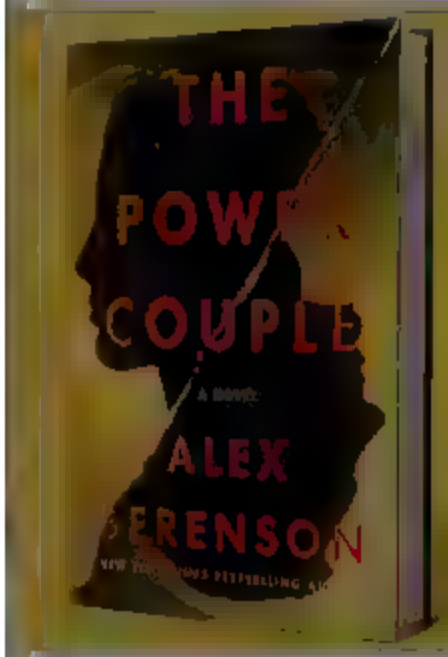
New York

Joined November 2009

1 1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow



6/ and I will leave you with this @TODAYshow gem - but feel free to add your own:

6:29 AM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 1 3

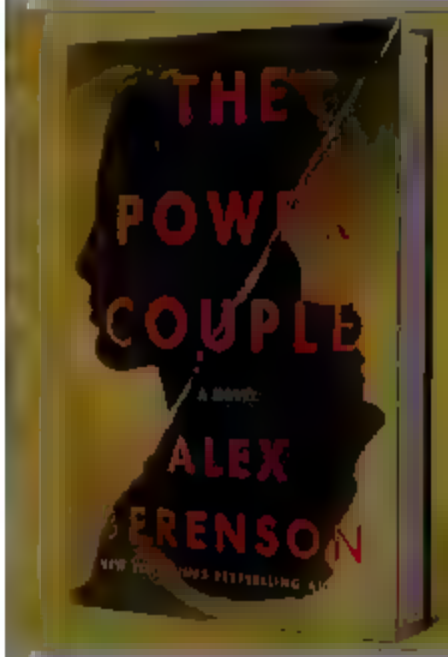
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
4/ and [redacted]

2 2 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

[redacted]

5/ and @[redacted]:



6:26 AM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

1 1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
6/ and I will leave you with this [redacted] gem - but feel free to add your own:

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

4/ and @TheAtlantic:
google.com/amp/s/amp.the...

6:24 AM - 3 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

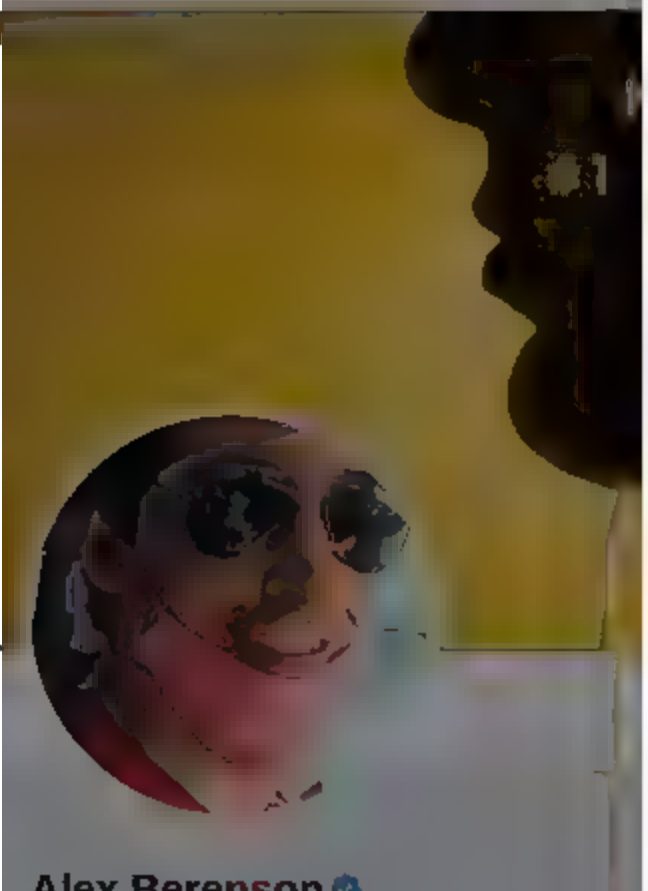
2 2 3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
5/ and [illegible]:

1 1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
6/ and I will leave you with this [illegible] gem - but feel free to add your own:

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

3/ and my old employer (!):

6:22 AM - 3 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

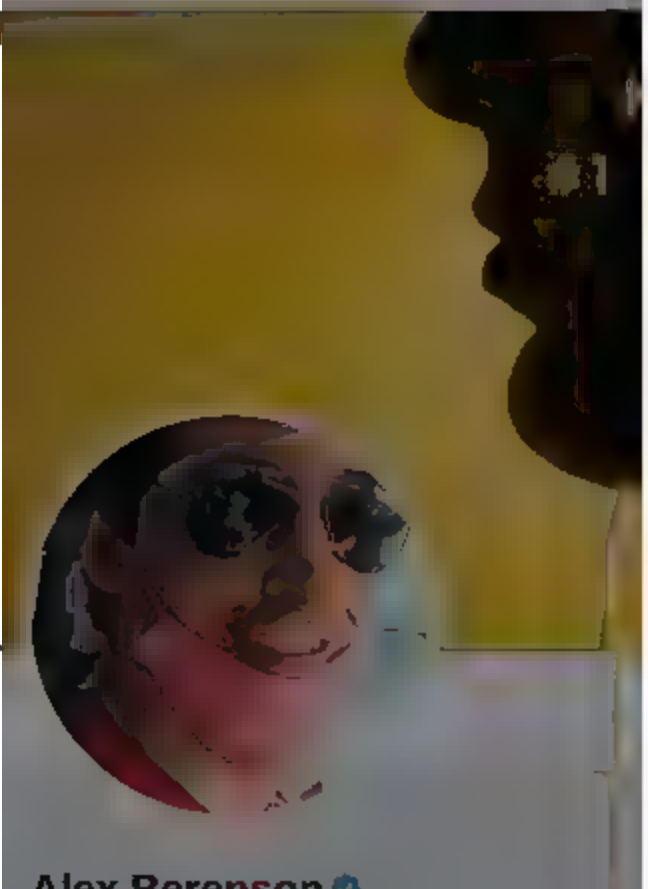
1 1 3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
4/ and

2 2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
5/ and

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

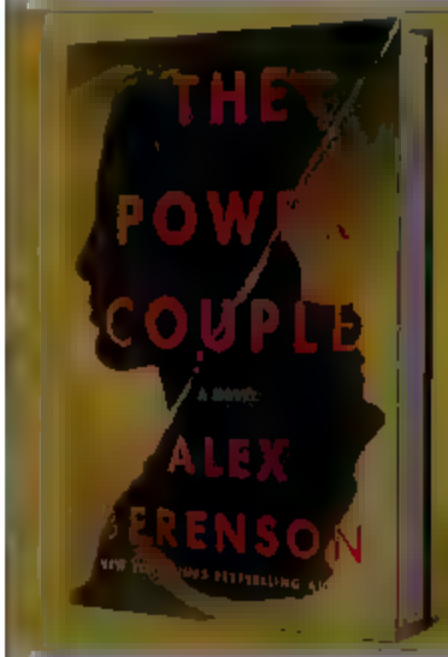
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

6 9 17

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



2/ and @FatherlyHQ

6:21 AM - 3 Apr 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

1 2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
3/ and my old employer (!):

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

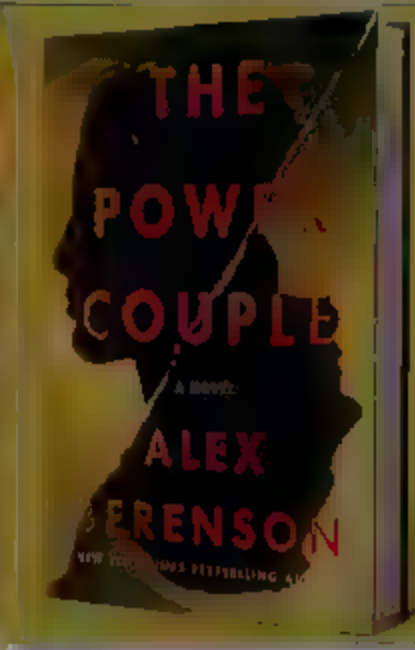
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



1/ Given the statistics on marijuana and child deaths, I think it's past time to call out news outlets that have advocated for cannabis-impaired parenting. We know about @washingtonpost, of course. But here's @NYDailyNews:

6:18 AM - 3 Apr 2019

9 Retweets 17 Likes

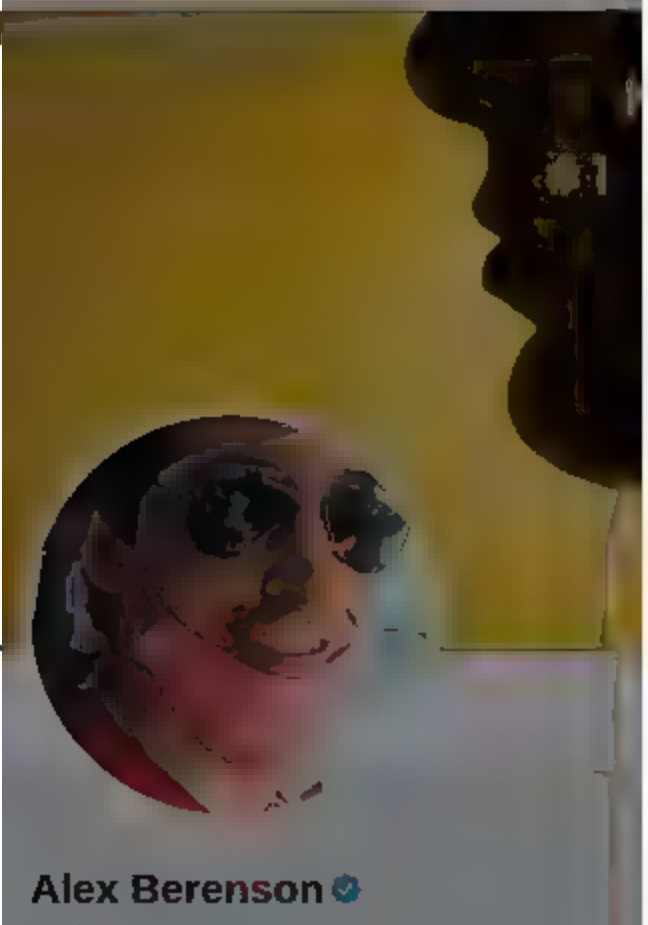
6 9 17



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Apr 2019
2/ and

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4 3 16

Marc Cohodes @AlderLaneeggs · 2 Apr 2019

You look good Alex

1

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Replying to

That's cause I have the truth on my side

4:08 PM - 2 Apr 2019

2 Likes

2 2

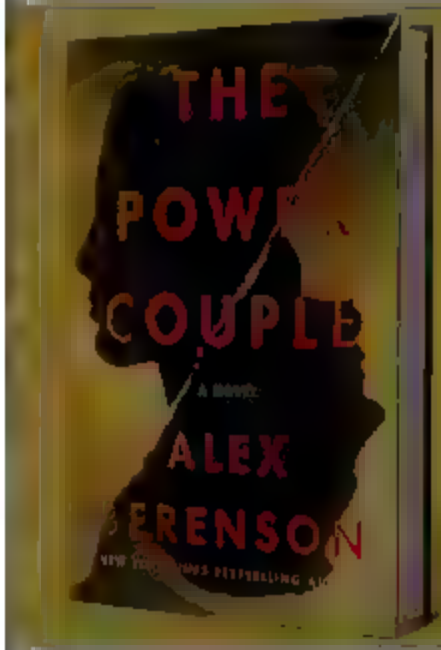
Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 2 Apr 2019

Replying to and 2 others

Whose truth? The funders behind Kevin, big rehab. Oh no, not one penny of profit, sure, tell her how you stopped legalization in Jersey maybe she will be nice.

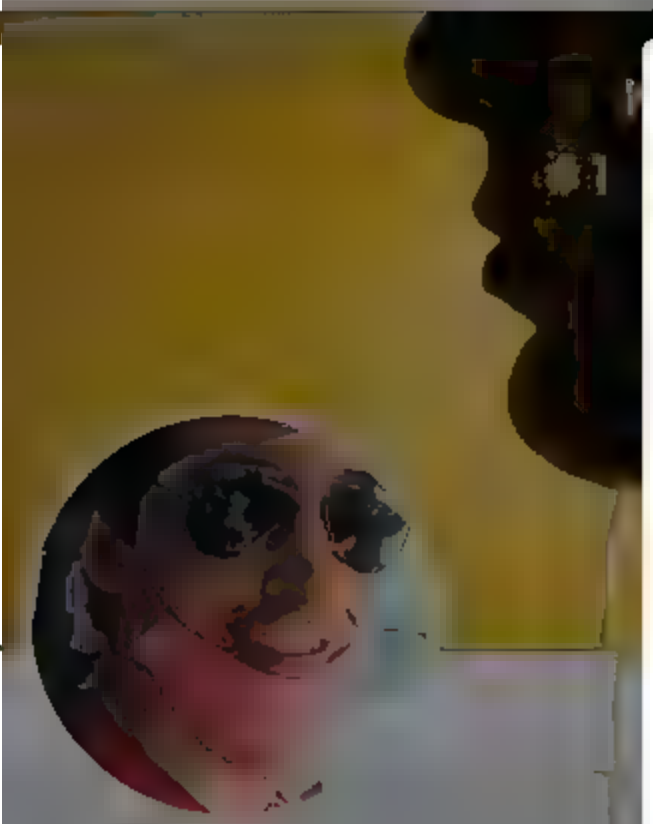
Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 2 Apr 2019

Replying to and 2 others

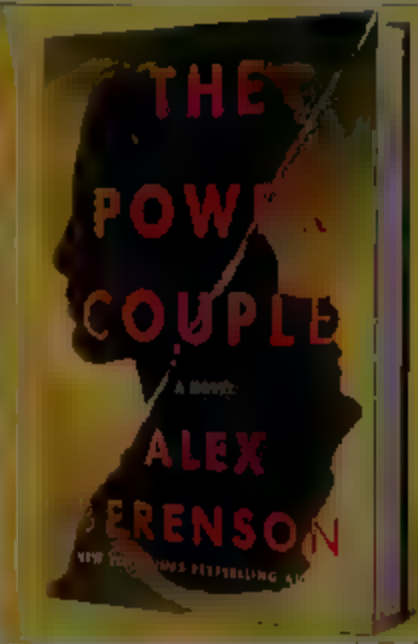


So you don't even want medical cannabis. What truth are you pushing? Deliberately causing harm to people because OMG someone might sneak in and get some Cannabis. Talk about psychosis.

1 1



Darryl Rodgers @JDRodgers61 · 3 Apr 2019



That's because there's no such thing as medical cannabis. That is an oxymoron, sort of like good poison, or intelligent potheads. Medicine goes through clinical trials. Medicine is dispensed in doses and not by high school dropout potheads.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Thanks @MelissaLeeCNBC #fastmoney for having me on to talk about @sharonepeoples and cannabis legalization!
cnbc.com/video/2019/04/...

3:58 PM - 2 Apr 2019

3 Retweets 16 Likes

4 3 16

Marc Cohodes @AlderLaneeggs · 2 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You look good Alex

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Apr 2019
That's cause I have the truth on my side

2 2

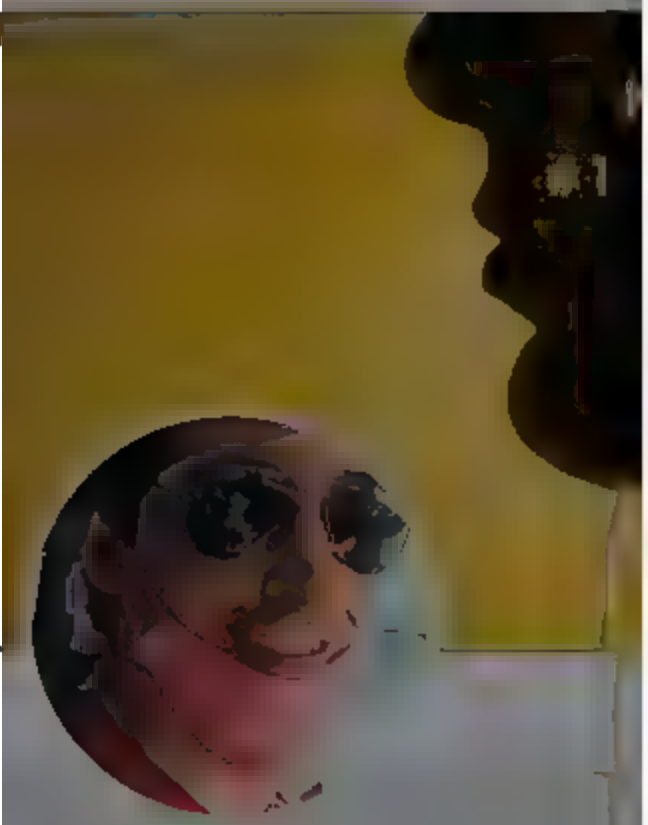
[redacted]

Act Vigor @enlightenedwan · 2 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Hahah...they embarrassed you at the end. Nice work looking like a reefer madness clown

1 2

Nick @Ufc26 · 3 Apr 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Alex, where can I find your article on Medmen?

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Frank Conte @EBDotCom · 2 Apr 2019
Was 'Reefer Madness' right? [redacted] Hey [redacted], this interview with [redacted] is worth a read! MaryJane is not as harmless as you think!

2

stephaniemdavis @StephanieMDavis · 2 Apr 2019
The THC is more lethal today than in the past.
Read the studies associating it and psychotic violence.

1

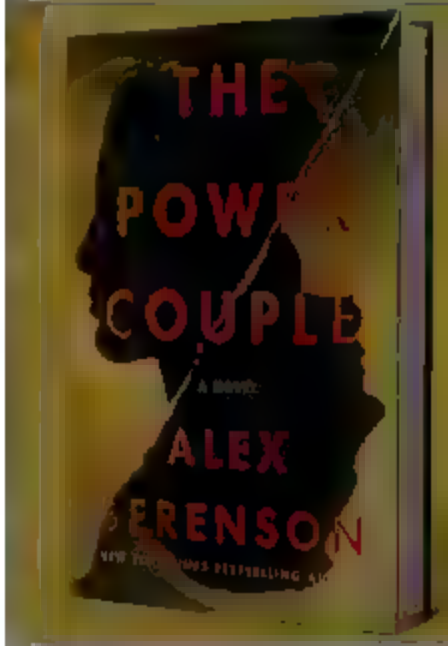
This Tweet is unavailable.

stephaniemdavis @StephanieMDavis · 2 Apr 2019
Statistically speaking, not sure I concur [redacted] is [redacted]. Regardless, the correlations here are alarming and worthy of discussion and education.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

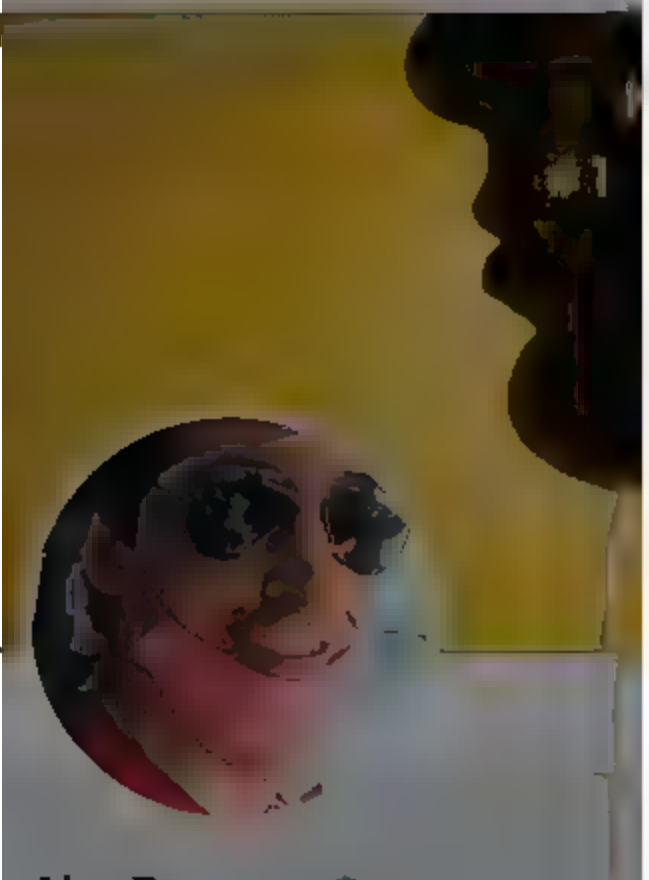


Thank you. I agree completely; one does not have to be 100 percent convinced at this point to be very worried about the fact that so many studies and so much real-world data all point the same way.

But the cannabis community just wants to scream Reefer Madness.

11:18 AM - 2 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

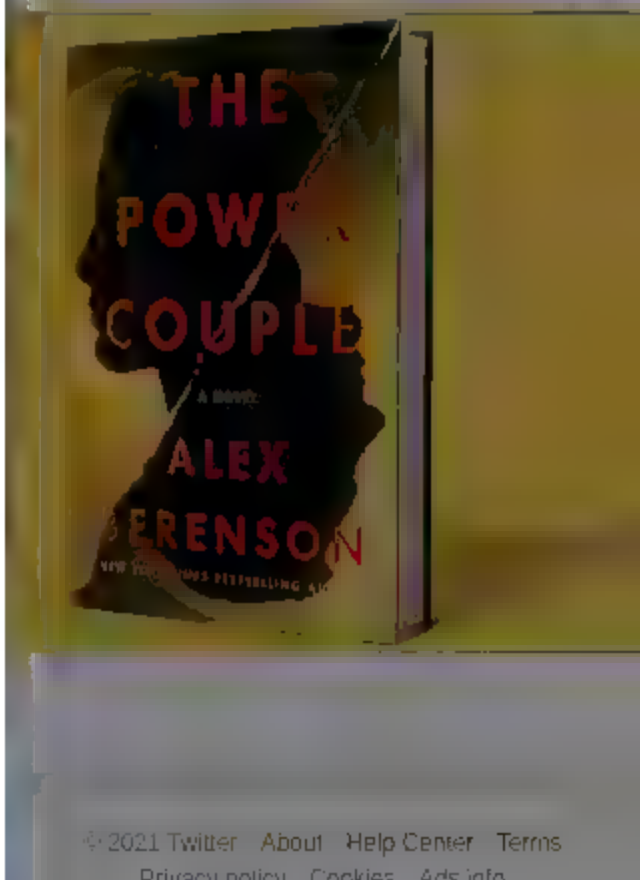


Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Good one, @donnyshell! Farting in Humboldt, murders in Colorado Springs - it is hard to keep track. If only Colorado legalized these unregulated dispensaries wouldn't be a problem! gazette.com/news/colorado- ...

AT&T LTE 8:45 PM 45%

Tweet

Dennis Romero @dennisjromero · 2h
MedMen's financial troubles are a warning for the marijuana industry cnbc.com/2019/03/28/med...

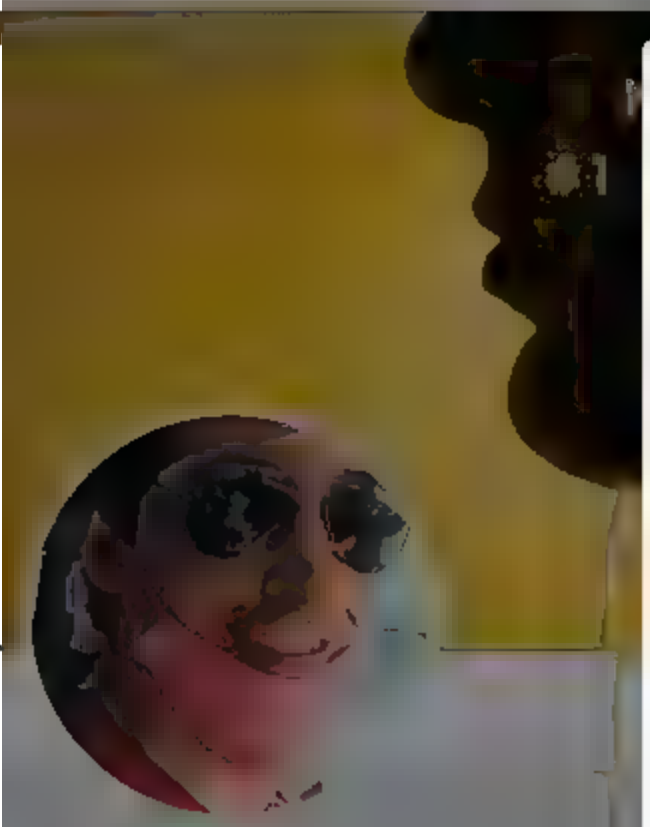
2 3 3

Donnell Alexander
@donnyshell



Replying to @dennisjromero

An @AlexBerenson special. He's in charge of all negative things that happen in the cannabis sphere. Hey,

5:54 PM - 1 Apr 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

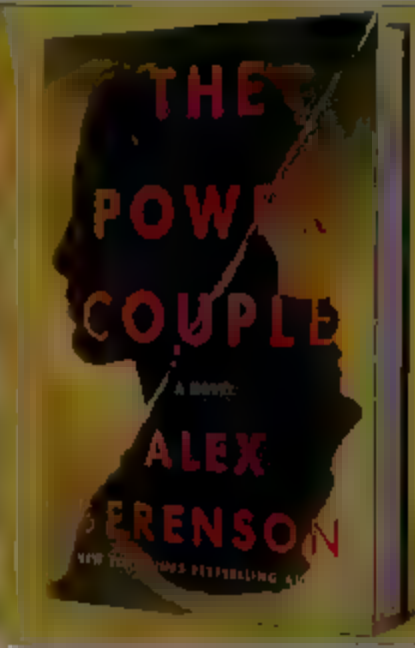
2 1 2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Following

And now for something not that's not April Fool's: answers for @ZachWritesStuff. Cannabis friendly journalists have a habit of ignoring my answers to their questions (though Zach says he won't), so I just figured I'd put these out for everyone to see misinterprets their work. Have you made an effort to understand their perspectives? Do you maintain that they have it all wrong?

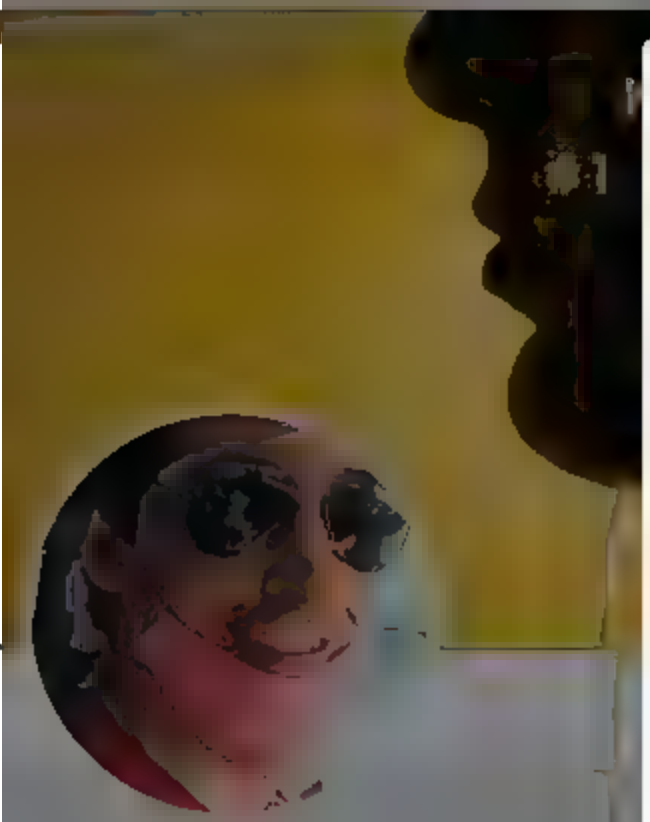
I do not cite Dr. Cooper's work in the book. I quote the National Academy of Medicine report from January 2017, which found that "cannabis use is likely to increase the risk of developing schizophrenia and other psychoses; the higher the use, the greater the risk."

Dr. Cooper is one of 16 committee members who worked with a paid staff to create and write the report. Since the publication of my book, she has disavowed the plain language of that conclusion and instead focused on other, secondary findings and caveats in the report. To my knowledge, none of the other 15 members of the committee have backed her criticism of my book.
I would also note that the Cannabis Research Initiative, where Dr. Cooper works, solicits money



1:57 PM - 1 Apr 2019

5 Retweets 16 Likes

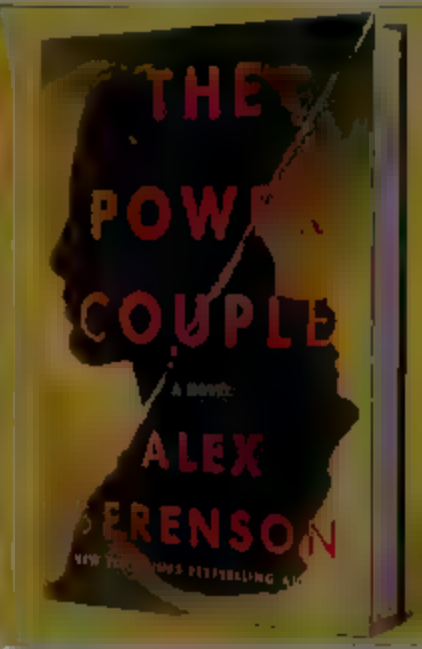
5 5 16

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 1 Apr 2019



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Just FYI, @ZachWritesStuff, here are some of the many places in his book where Isaac Campos explicitly links cannabis, mental illness, and violence:

psychotomimetic symptoms."

Page 97: A chart showing that references to marijuana's effects in the Mexican press overwhelmingly mentioned violence and "madness."

Page 98: "More commonly, marijuana madness involved smokers who experienced an 'access [sic] of delirium and then performed a sudden and irrational act of violence.'"

Pages 98–102: Many specific descriptions of violence in the press.

Page 102: "In short, marijuana was overwhelmingly associated with violence and madness during this period, and reports of its effects often contained quite sensational and bloody detail."

"Camp...

Page 121: "The discourse around marijuana did stand out in that it was almost universally negative [compared to alcohol]. Within published sources, there were no defenders of its recreational use..."

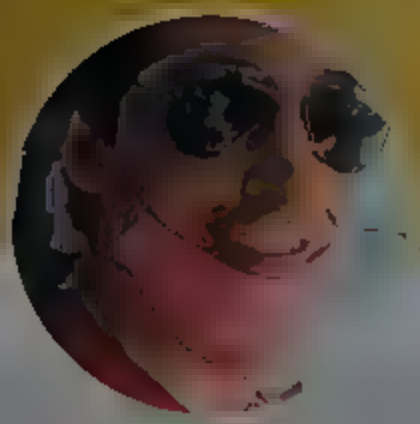
Page 155: "We've already seen that cannabis can produce psychotomimetic effects and that, given the right 'set and 'setting,' it is not impossible for it to have triggered violence in the past... little distinguished lower- and upper-class opinion on this weed and its effects, suggesting that, indeed, marijuana at some times probably contributed to violent episodes and 'mad' behavior." (NOTE: That's Campos's own language - he isn't attributing it to anyone.)

Page 180: "There were simply too many reports, from too many different sources, with virtually no counterdiscourse, to believe they were all fabricated... ultimately, reality [my

2:13 PM - 1 Apr 2019

5 Likes

2 5



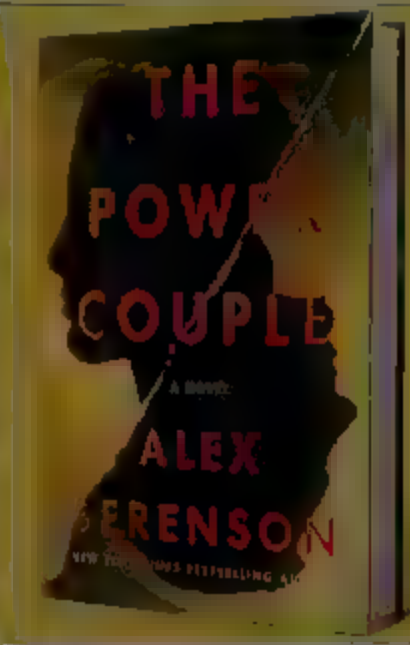
yoleven @outfielding · 2 Apr 2019

Replying to

Oh, I get it, reefer madness!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 31 Mar 2019

Okay, I was trying to hold on a little longer, but the guilt has gotten to me, I can't wait even until the morning. Time I admit the truth. Tell Your Children is a lie. I made up the studies. Every last one, Cannabis is completely safe. I did it for the money. I'm so very sorry.

11 2 21

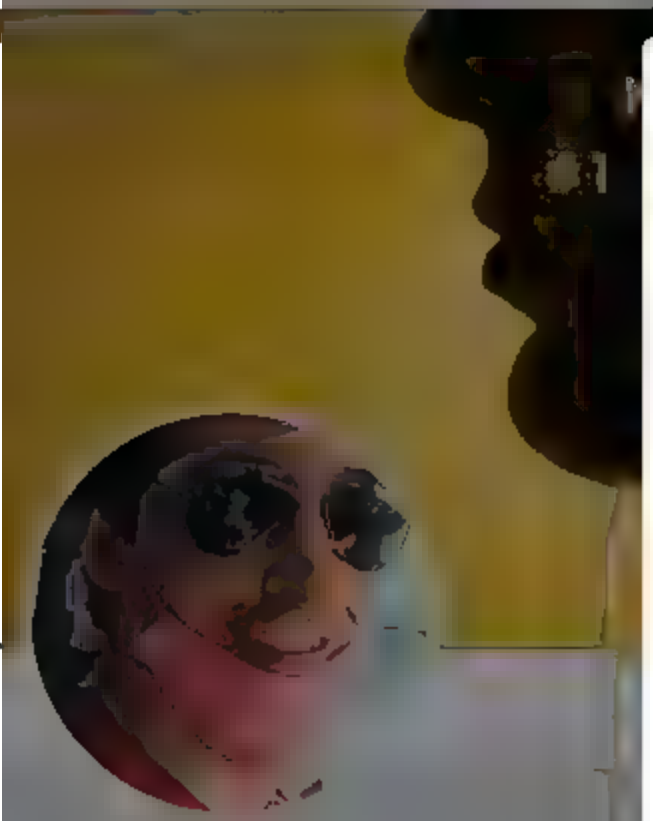
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 31 Mar 2019

Also... before you get too excited... please check your calendars.

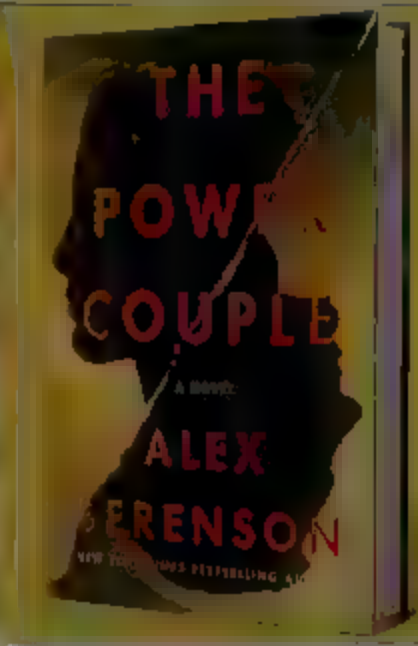
3 14

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



It's April 1 somewhere...



5:44 PM - 31 Mar 2019

3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

This just in: following quiet lobbying from cannabis companies, Illinois has added "really needing to get high" to the list of approved medical conditions. More to come...

5:38 AM - 1 Apr 2019

4 Retweets 9 Likes

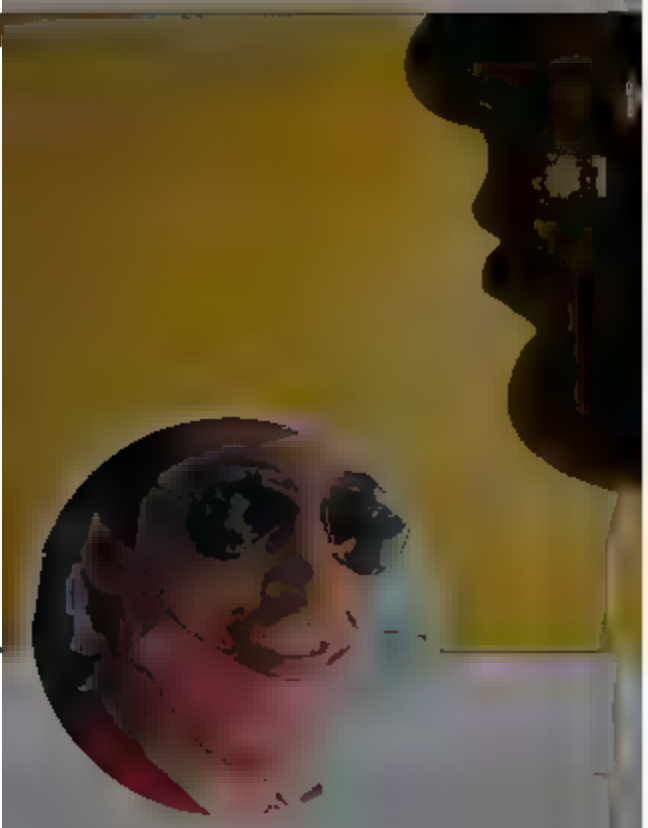
5 4 9

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 1 Apr 2019
Replying to
?????

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Okay, I was trying to hold on a little longer, but the guilt has gotten to me. I can't wait even until the morning. Time I admit the truth. Tell Your Children is a lie. I made up the studies. Every last one. Cannabis is completely safe. I did it for the money. I'm so very sorry.

11 2 21

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Also... before you get too excited... please check your calendars.

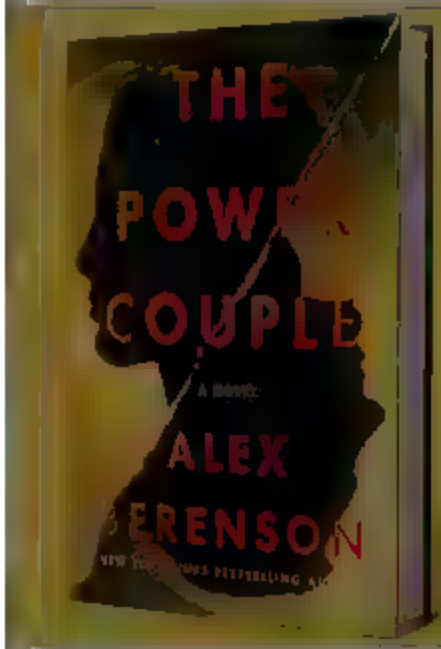
5:41 PM - 31 Mar 2019

14 Likes

3 14

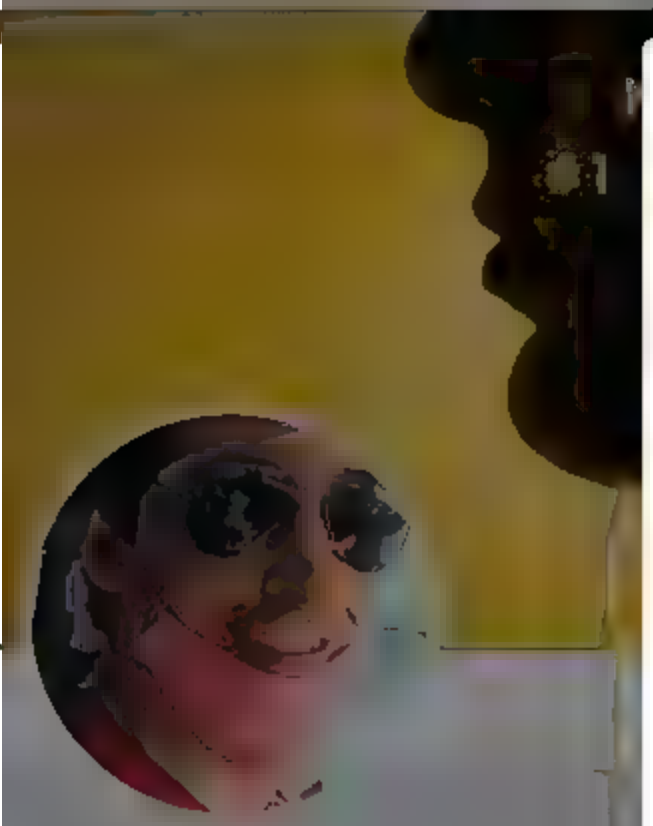
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 31 Mar 2019
It's April 1 somewhere...



3

Alexander MacNeill @cannabalex · 31 Mar 2019
Replying to
Gah, you got me! It's Sunday! Damn

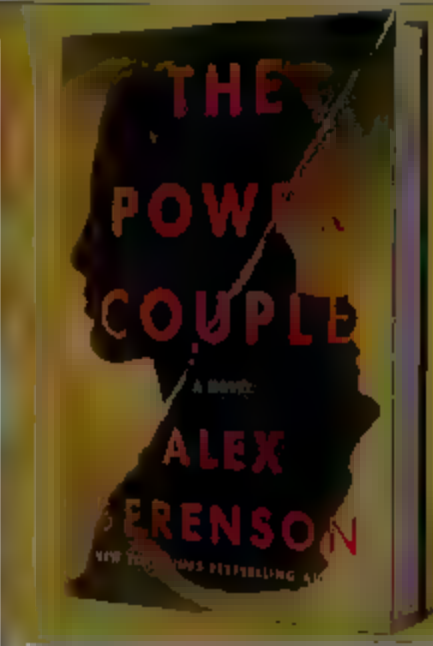


The Ellison in the Room @therealtje · 1 Apr 2019
Replying to
Ahh I see what you did there. You actually wanted to tell the truth for once so you hide it in plain sight with this "early" April fools joke. I'm glad your conscience is speaking to you.

ya boy Deej @deejtweetsgood · 1 Apr 2019
Replying to
This ... isn't how pranks work.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Okay, I was trying to hold on a little longer, but the guilt has gotten to me. I can't wait even until the morning. Time I admit the truth. Tell Your Children is a lie. I made up the studies. Every last one. Cannabis is completely safe. I did it for the money. I'm so very sorry.

5:38 PM - 31 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 21 Likes

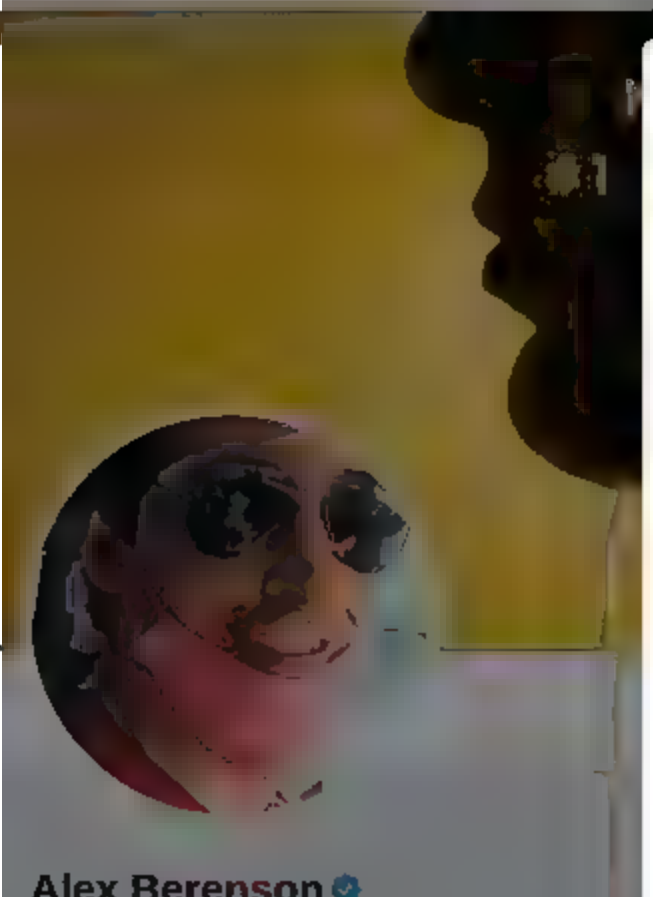
11 2 21

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 31 Mar 2019
Also... before you get too excited... please check your calendars.



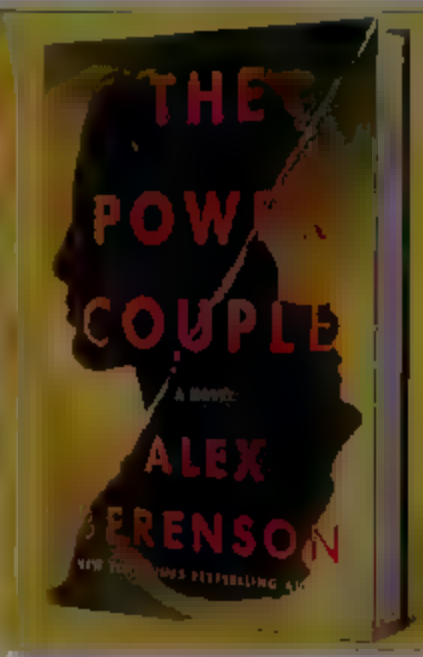
3 14

Chardell @chardellw4 · 31 Mar 2019
Replying to
You're a bit early

tim miller @kertime · 31 Mar 2019
Replying to
Ha! Got me, still Fool's Eve here in Honolulu

Drew @Drew38857993 · 1 Apr 2019
Replying to
The JOKE is you. This tweet (not on April 1st) is probably how you feel but you finally found an angle where uneducated people actually listen to you & felt

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hey, guess what the NY budget deal is missing? Yep, legal cannabis. So far in 2019: voted down in Hawaii, New Mexico, Minnesota, and Montana. Failed in NJ. Circling the drain in NY. But it passed in... checks notes... erm... nowhere.
@marijuanamoment

10:39 AM - 31 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 29 Likes

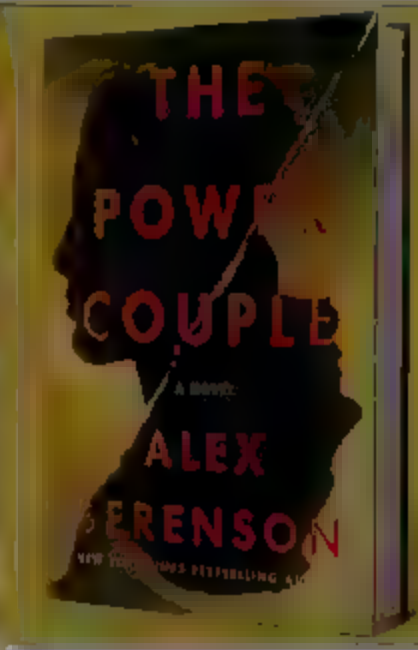
9 4 29

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 31 Mar 2019
Replying to

So, let's see, legal marijuana by initiative in CO, WA, OR, AK, DC, CA, NV, MA,



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Following

A must-read interview with @mtaibbi on the media's failures on the Trump/Russia story. I confess: now that I have seen the absurd way the center-left elite media cover cannabis - and lived through their refusal to rethink their biases - I am more open to these critiques.

11:01 AM - 31 Mar 2019

8 Retweets 31 Likes

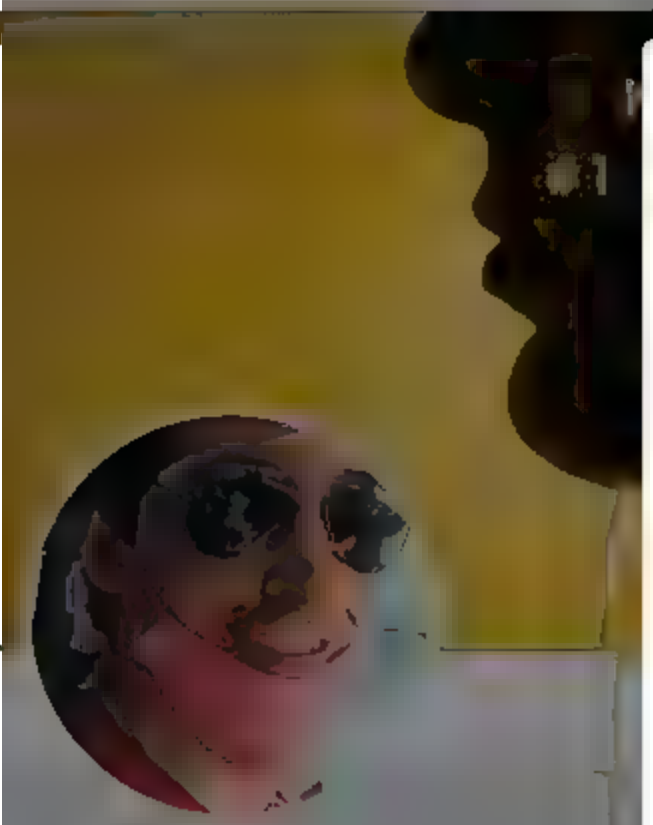
14 8 31

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 31 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

"There is much to be said in favor of modern journalism. By giving us the opinions of the uneducated, it keeps us in touch with the ignorance of the community." - Oscar Wilde



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 31 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

You're okay with the conservative media's cannabis coverage?

"Berenson, to put it bluntly, is not particularly skilled when it comes to evaluating such evidence."

"I can't recommend you read Tell Your Children."

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Great point, @DanaLarsen - so glad you're making the point that cannabis-impaired driving causes accidents and deaths every day, not just on April 20th!

9:28 AM - 31 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 7 Likes

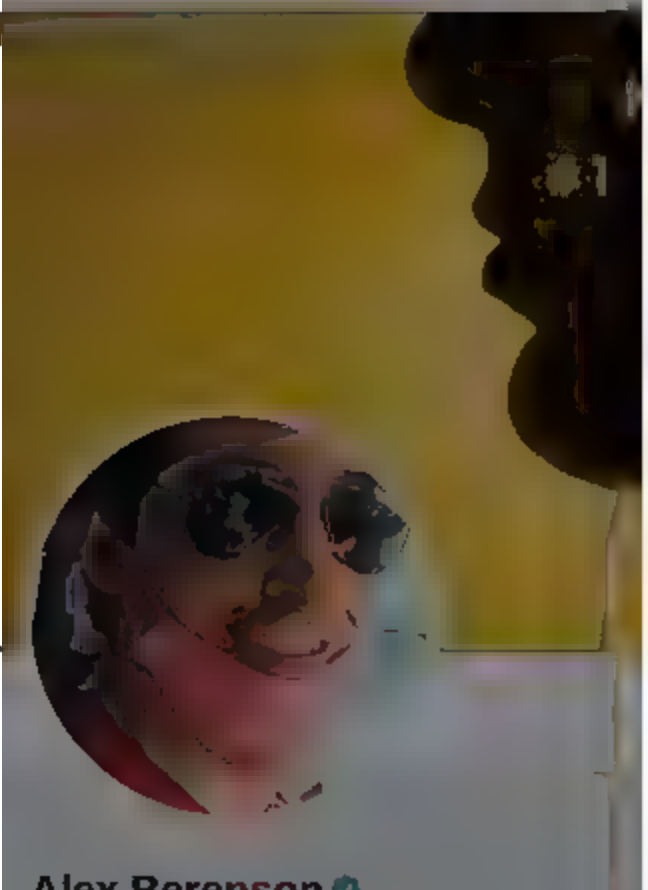
5 1 7

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 31 Mar 2019
Replying to



DUI is illegal regardless of cannabis laws. On average, cannabis is about as impairing as a .01 BAC. In contrast to alcohol, cannabis consumers tend to overestimate how impaired they are and either refrain from driving or compensate by driving more defensively.

2 3

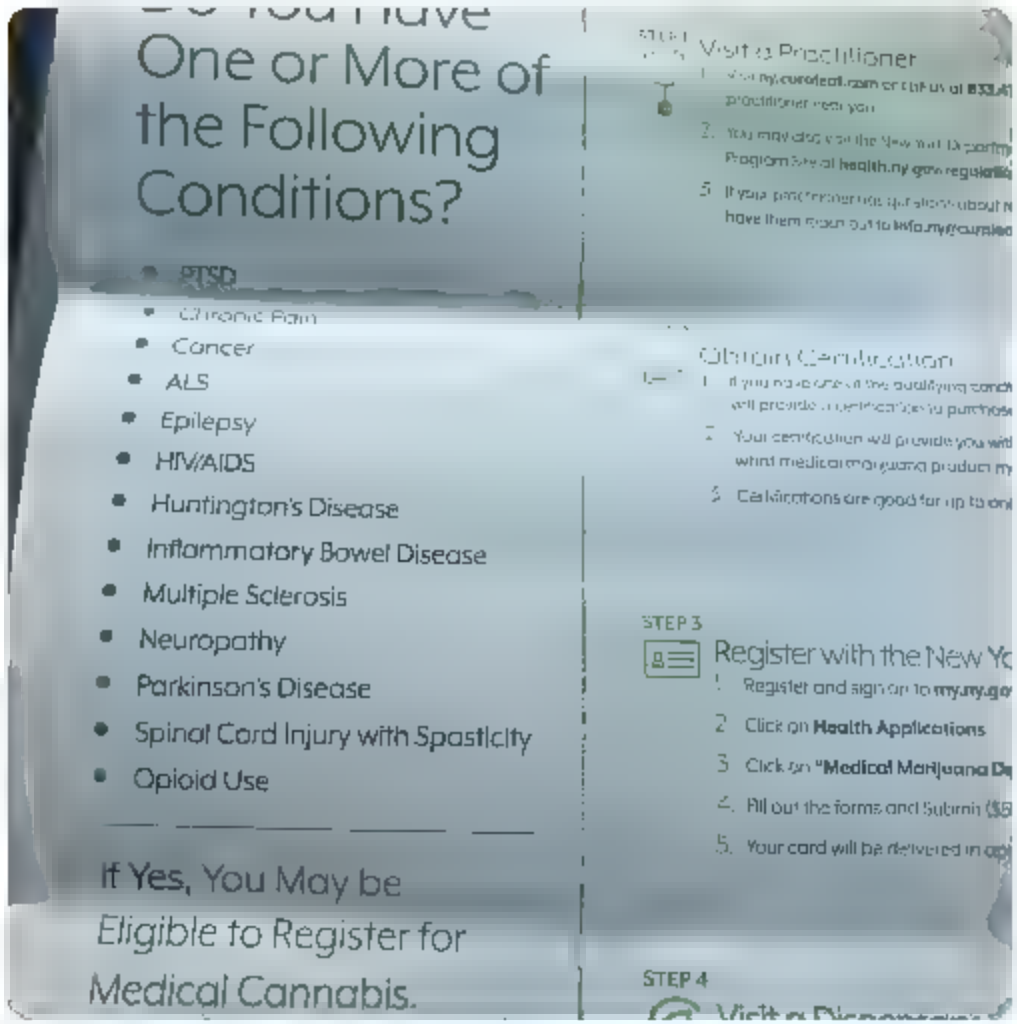
CEC @cec021 · 31 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

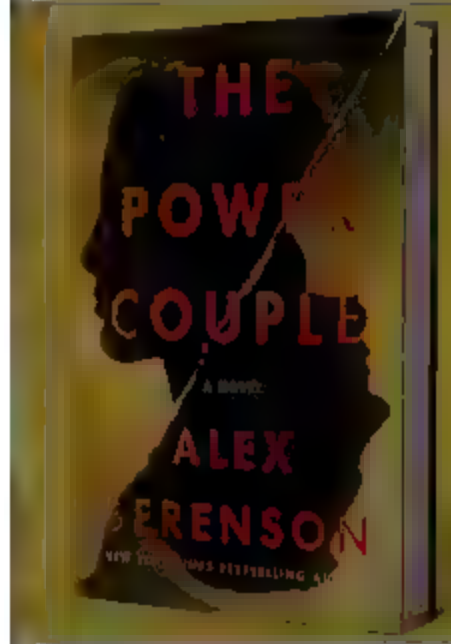
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York



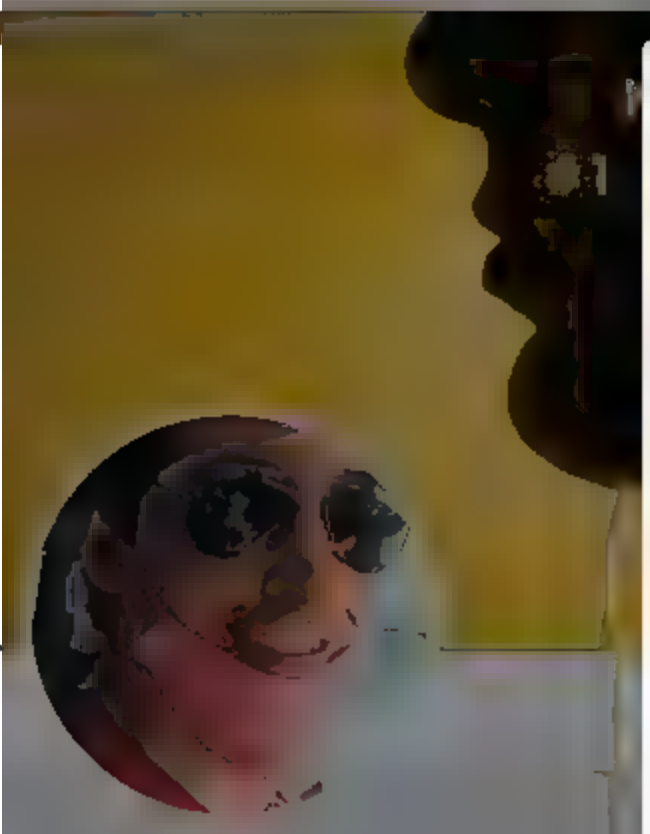
Joined November 2009

1/ Back in NY... I walked into a local dispensary and came out with this handy flier. Note the final qualifying condition. Per New York State law, "opioid use" - not addiction, use - is now enables one to use what is politely known as medical marijuana...



6 2 9

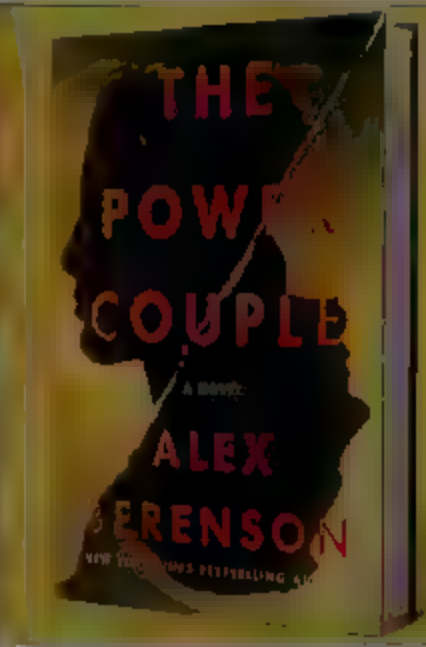
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



2/ Btw - the only study I've ever found that directly compared a cannabinoid to an opioid for pain - a well-designed RCT where patients received first one, than the other - found that the (weak) opioid, dihydrocodeine, worked significantly better, with fewer side effects.

1:52 PM · 30 Mar 2019

Have an account? Log in
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

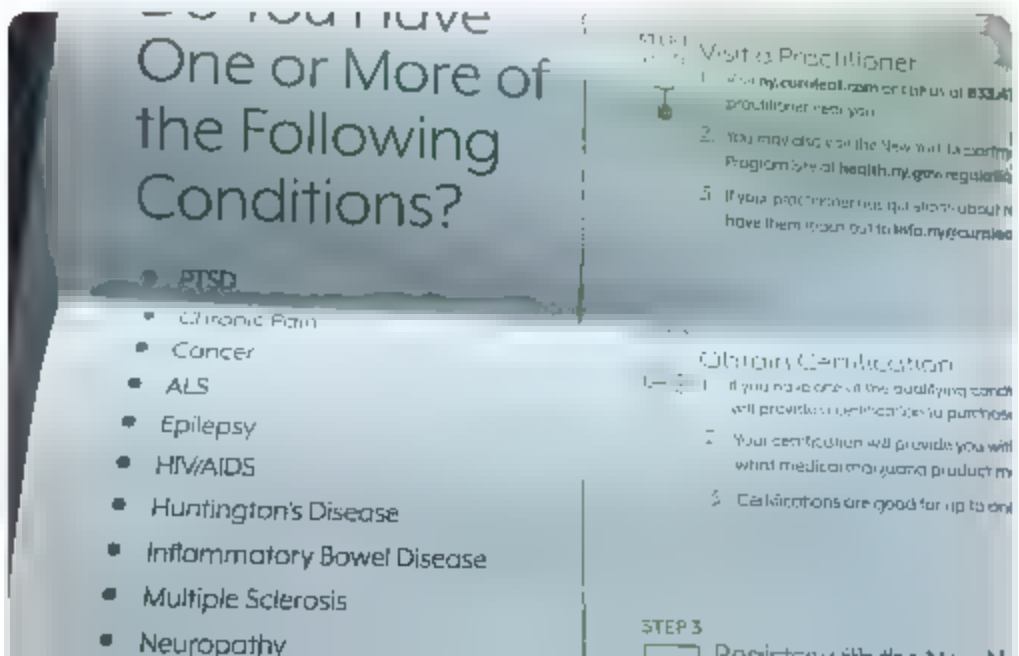
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Back in NY... I walked into a local dispensary and came out with this handy flier. Note the final qualifying condition. Per New York State law, "opioid use" - not addiction, use - is now enables one to use what is politely known as medical marijuana...



1:48 PM - 30 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 9 Likes

6 2 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 30 Mar 2019

2/ Btw - the only study I've ever found that directly compared a cannabinoid to an opioid for pain - a well-designed RCT where patients received first one, than the other - found that the (weak) opioid, dihydrocodeine, worked significantly better, with fewer side effects.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Maybe it should be called "illegalization"...

1:27 PM - 30 Mar 2019

9 Retweets 8 Likes

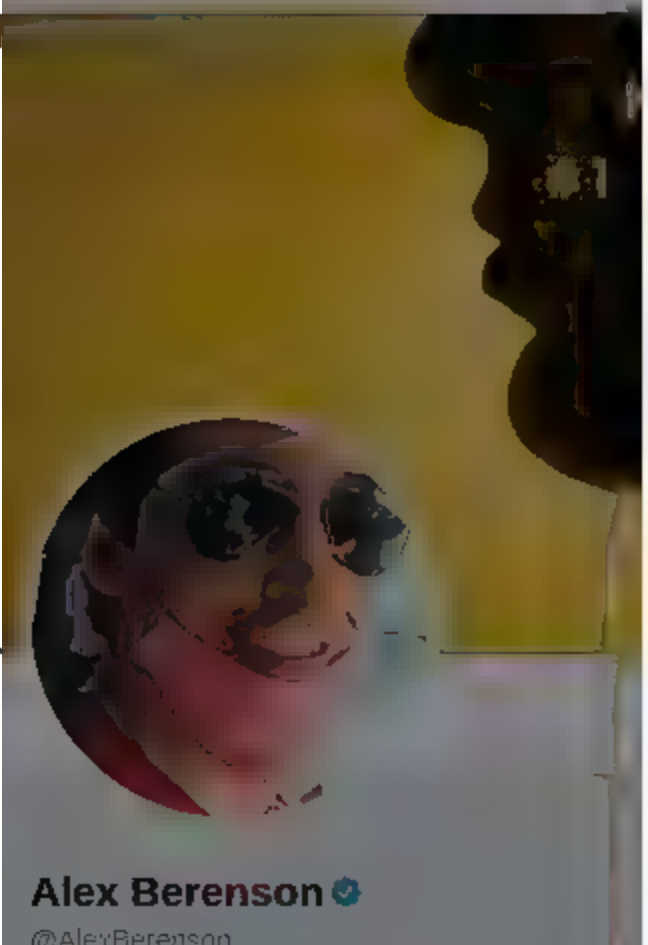
4 9 8

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 30 Mar 2019

Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

John David Maher @JohnDavidMaher1 · 30 Mar 2019
It is the same thing with alcohol. All the child abuse done by people under the influence of alcohol, but there is no outcry to make it illegal. The person that murdered the baby should get life without parole.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

The evidence is very clear: people who kill their kids, or kids in their care, are far more likely to be using cannabis than any other drug, including alcohol, even though alcohol use is much more common.

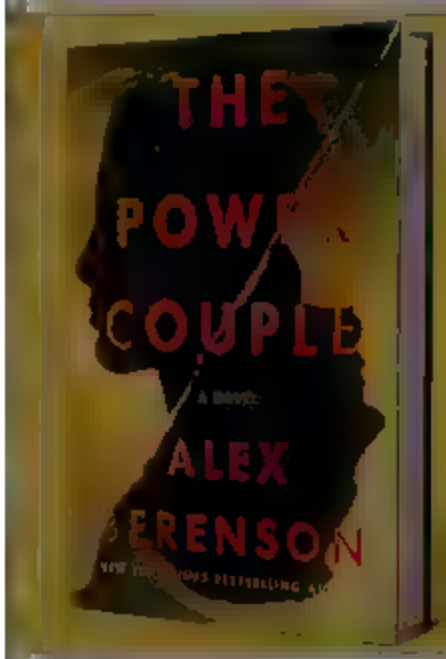
7:23 AM - 30 Mar 2019

4 1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 30 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
[redacted] These online publications need to acknowledge the truth and stop trying to cover it up. They're coverups won't work in the long run.

2

John David Maher @JohnDavidMaher1 · 30 Mar 2019
You cannot stop cannabis legalization. It is happening no matter what you do. It will become as acceptable as alcohol. There is to much demand for it. Myself, I do not use alcohol or cannabis. I have better things to spend my money on like my mortgage, food, gas for my car, etc.



1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 30 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others
Alex is misinterpreting the science and confusing correlation with causation again, but he is tantalizingly close to stumbling on the relationship between cannabis and other drug use and mental health problems.

1 4

John David Maher @JohnDavidMaher1 · 2 Apr 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

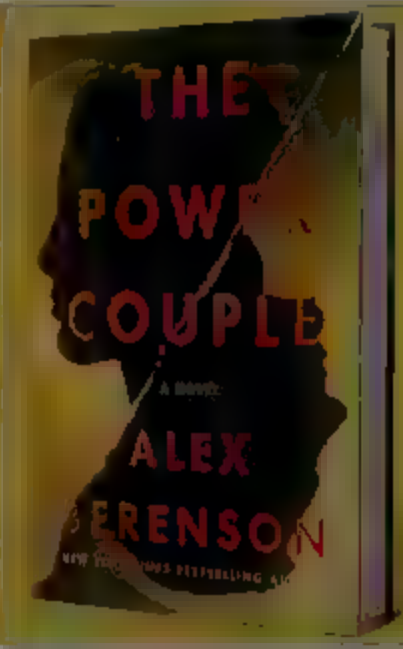
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

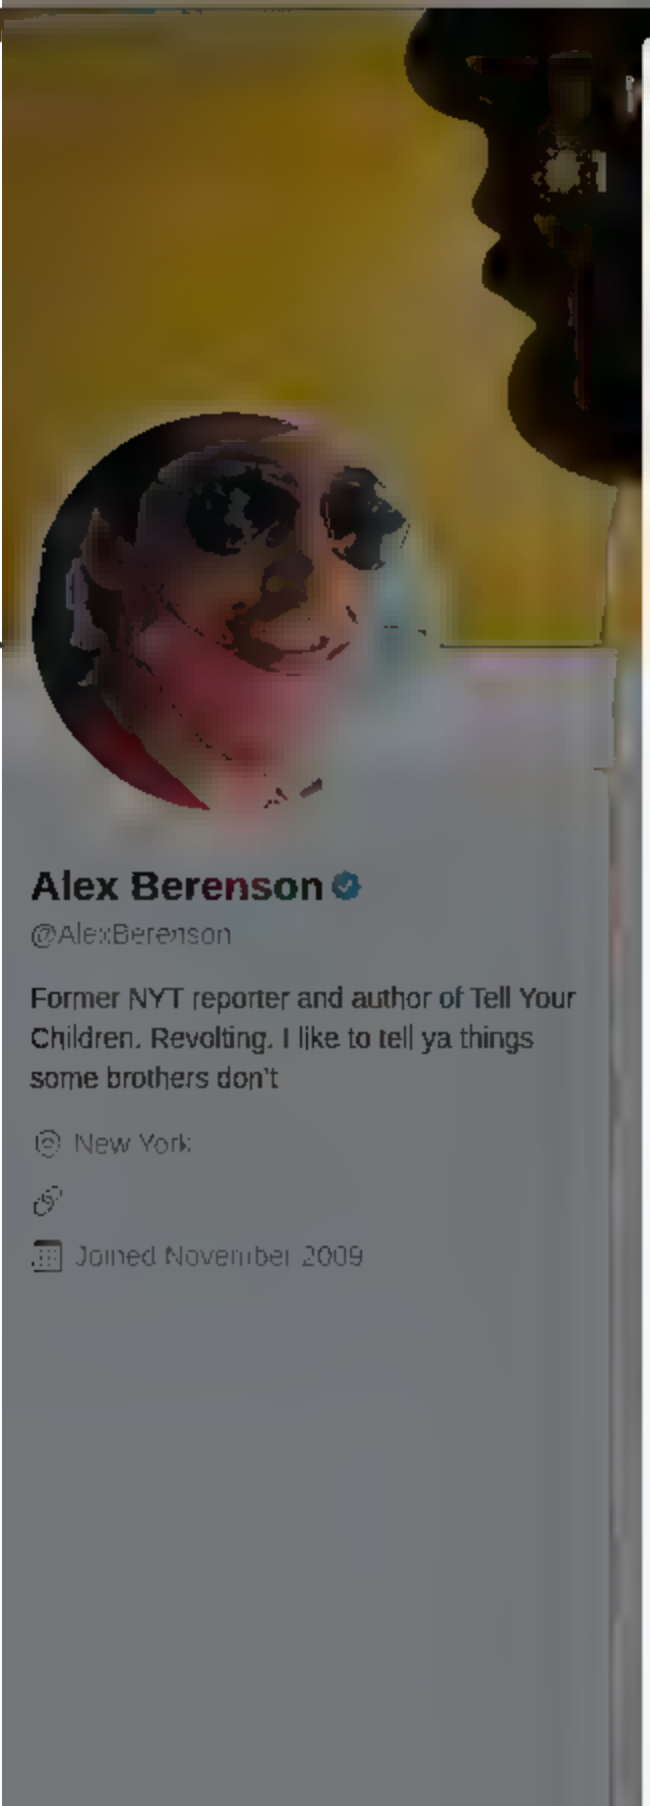
Of all the criticism I've heard in the last three months, this is the deepest cut. I used "dispensary" twice before defining it? Say it ain't so, thetoknsquirrel. Say it ain't so.

Replying to @AlexBerenson @ShopMedMen and @CNBC

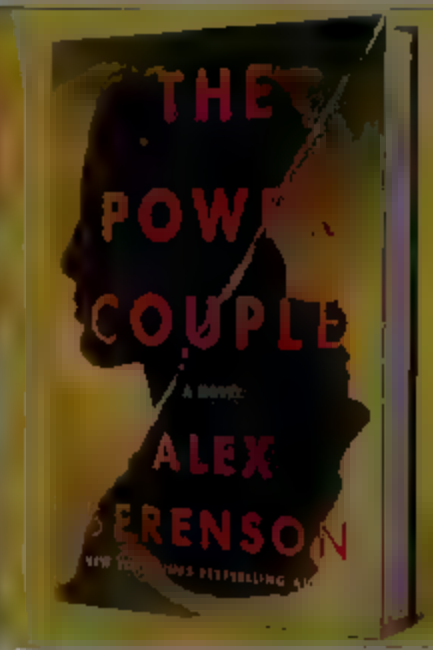


This article is a piece of shit. First clue? They use the term dispensary twice before defining it. Fucking amateur hour over @CNBC. Must be getting harder to compete with truth and independent journalists.

3/30/19, 11:55 AM



9:24 AM - 30 Mar 2019



6 Likes

5 6

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

In Wisconsin: Another father who didn't subscribe to @washingtonpost. The key words: "confused," "emotional," "(temporarily) incompetent." And, oh yeah, marijuana. I ask again: why on earth are media outlets encouraging parents to use this drug?

> Racine man charged with the Feb. 24 homicide of his infant son incompetent, but said he will likely be competent in the future, online court records show.
>
> Jeremy Marquez, 24, of the 300 block of Wickham Boulevard, was charged Feb. 25 with felony counts of first-degree reckless homicide, possession of marijuana and bail jumping. Marquez was taken into custody after the death of his 3-month-old son due to severe head trauma.
>
> On March 4, Court Commissioner Alice Rudebusch granted Marquez a competency competency hearing Wednesday, however, court notes show that the results of the psychologist report ... Tuesday. It showed that while the psychologist found Marquez incompetent, he could be made competent during the course of treatment.

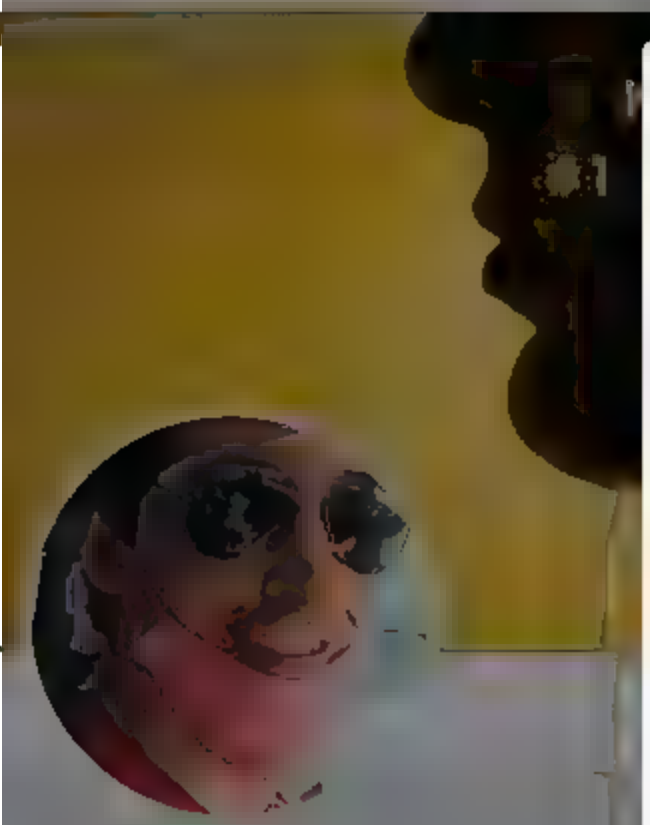
According to Wisconsin law, there is no statute of limitations in a case of first-degree reckless homicide.

The outcome of the psychologist's report, and what it means for the case, will likely be discussed during a status conference scheduled for this coming Thursday at the Law ...

fed the child two bottles, and the child vomited, with milk eventually coming out his mouth and nose while he was lying in his bassinet.

Marquez told police that he then realized the baby was not breathing and immediately called the child's mother, who in turn called 911.

A physician from Children's Hospital of Wisconsin in Wauwatosa reported a different story — that the infant's injuries were "diagnostic for abusive head trauma to a reasonable degree of medical certainty."



Police said the positive results of marijuana

10:27 AM - 30 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 4 Likes

3 4 4

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Update: The Seattle shooting appears alcohol- rather than cannabis-related. (Not a huge surprise; alcohol's link to violence is well-known...) seattletimes.com/seattle-news/c

7:14 PM - 29 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

11 1 5

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 29 Mar 2019
Replying to Ban it.

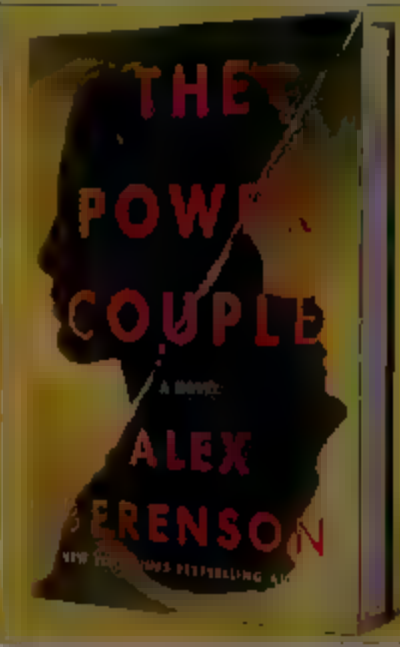
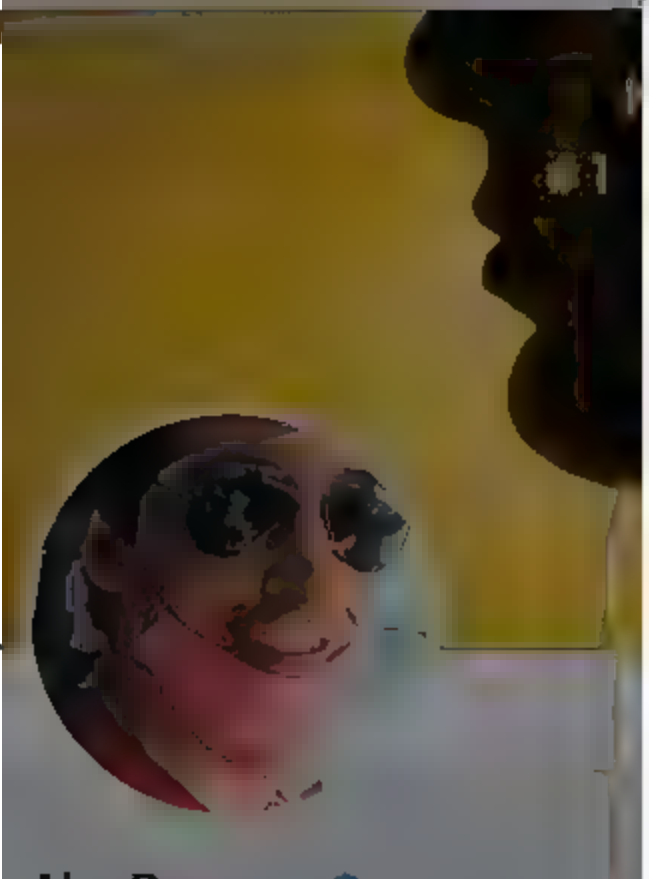
1 2



Nicon @Nemopunk15 · 30 Mar 2019
Force consumers into rehab!

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 29 Mar 2019
Replying to
Not a huge surprise but disappointing I am sure.

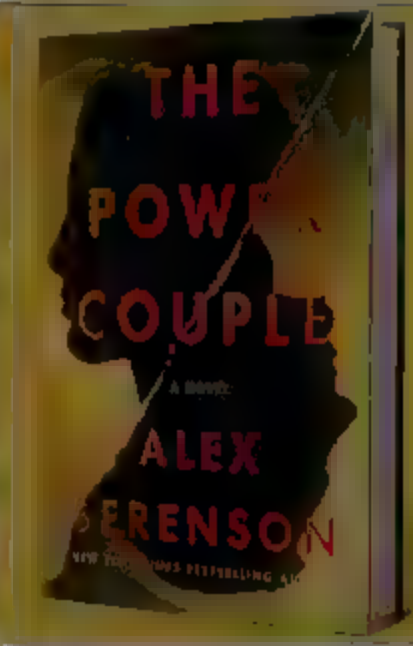


Tom Speed @TomSpeed420 · 29 Mar 2019
Replying to
"alcohol's link to violence is well-known"

Because it removes the users ability to use common sense & reasoning. It temporarily turns people into complete idiots.

No one ever started a fight because they accidentally bumped into someone as

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Mar 2019

Hey [redacted] - thanks for complimenting my [redacted] article. You do know I hold all my reporting to the same standard, right? Whether I'm writing on the finances of a cannabis company or the risks of the drug, I am as accurate and complete as I know how to be...

2 13

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

I'm just sorry advocates see a book with facts they don't like as bad and article that's less painful as well-done. My work is not what's different.

5:22 PM - 29 Mar 2019

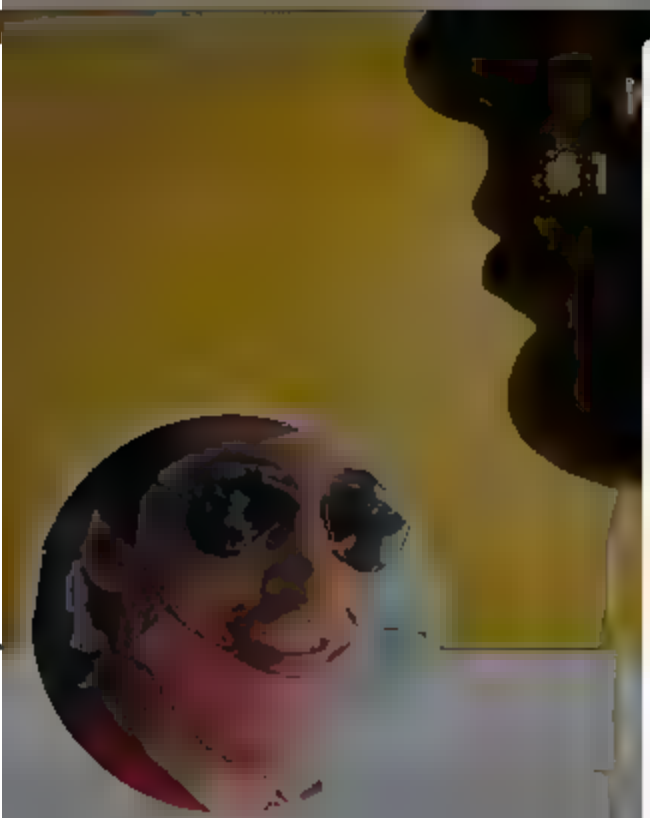
9 Likes

2 9

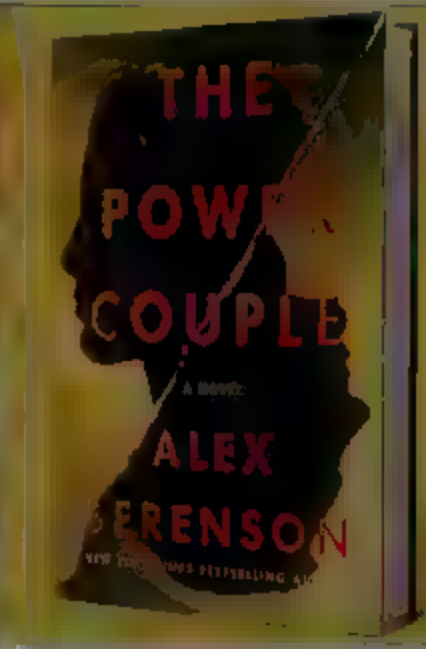
Faded @Aldridge25 · 29 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

You should've stopped at sorry



2



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 30 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

The book has been disproven multiple times. You ignore when challenged. This is in plain sight for all to see

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

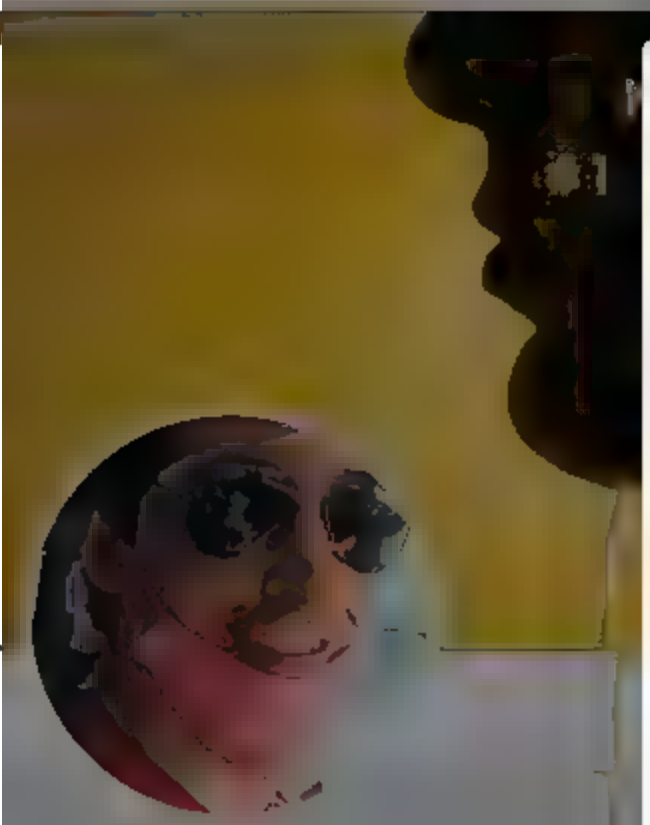
Hey @shaleentitle - thanks for complimenting my @shopMedMen article. You do know I hold all my reporting to the same standard, right? Whether I'm writing on the finances of a cannabis company or the risks of the drug, I am as accurate and complete as I know how to be...

5:20 PM - 29 Mar 2019

13 Likes

2 13

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Mar 2019
I'm just sorry advocates see a book with facts they don't like as bad and article that's less painful as well-done. My work is not what's different.



2 9

This Tweet is unavailable.

Squirrel: Stoned Veteran @ToknSquirrel · 30 Mar 2019
You must be drunk because alcohol is far more likely to be dangerous when combined with firearms, YET PEOPLE GET DRUNK AND GO HUNTING, LIKE IT'S NORMAL. All I want to do is sit at home watching TV and eating, with my firearm on my nightstand. WTF.

@Skibare @wind4me · 2 Apr 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

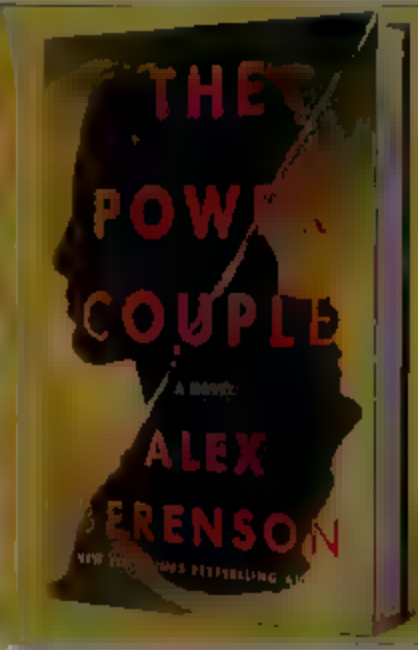
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, in the UK, this cannabis/plus father shook his four-month-old baby to death. Too bad he wasn't a @washingtonpost subscriber: he would have been primed to know cannabis improves parenting.



12:17 PM - 29 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 12 Likes

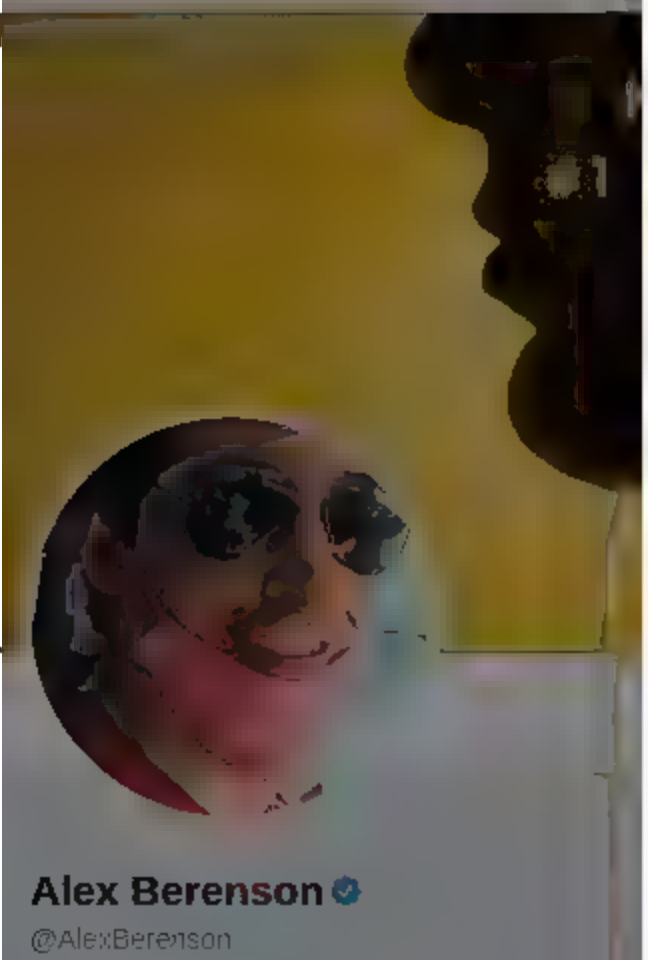
7 4 12



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 29 Mar 2019
Replying to

Suppose cannabis can improve parenting for some but trigger psychosis in others, depending in part on expectations, genetics and psychosocial factors, just like SSRIs and other psychiatric meds, and that the first group is much larger than the second.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

something similar about her brother's everyday persona.

"He usually says weird s---," she told them, though she and Yates cautioned that Harrouff had been acting stranger than normal.

But the teenager long exhibited some of the behavior that concerned his family late this summer, his phone

2 2 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Only THC (and alcohol, which he may have ingested during the attack from drinking cleaning fluids in the garage where it occurred). He's now diagnosed with bipolar disorder; the fact it's not schizophrenia is telling - it suggests his symptoms have resolved in the hospital.

7:14 AM - 29 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

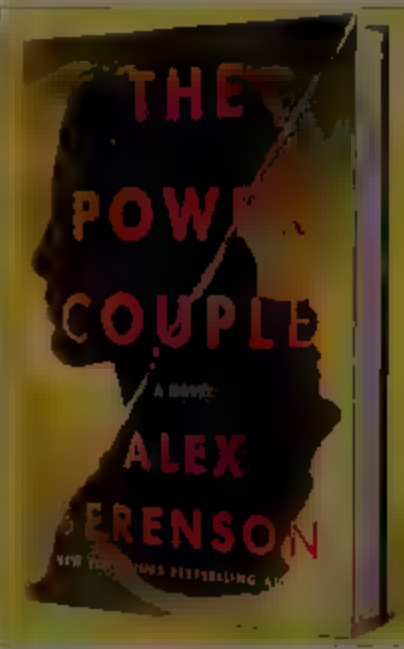
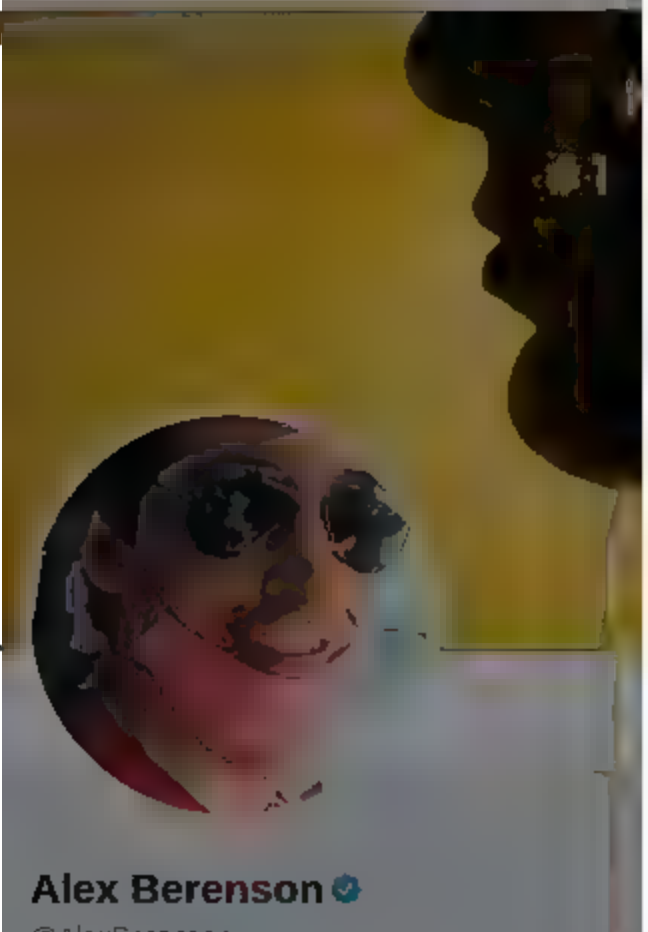
1 1 6



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Mar 2019

3/ He's set for trial in June and is likely to have an insanity defense. Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.

4 3 9



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ Only THC (and alcohol, which he may have ingested during the attack from drinking cleaning fluids in the garage where it occurred). He's now diagnosed with bipolar disorder; the fact it's not schizophrenia is telling - it suggests his symptoms have resolved in the hospital.

1 1 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ He's set for trial in June and is likely to have an insanity defense. Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.

7:16 AM - 29 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 9 Likes

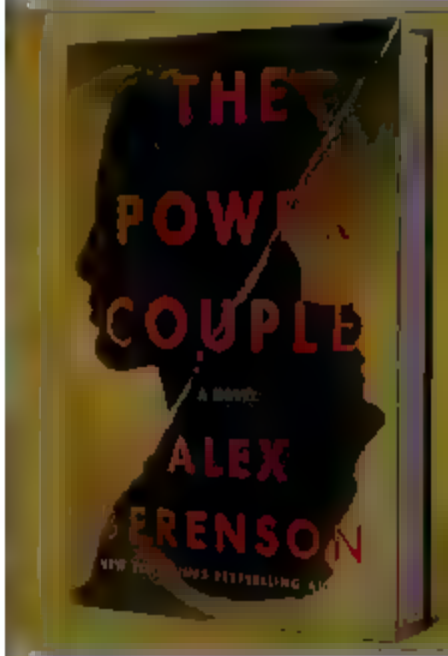
4 3 9

Bruce Conners @bconners · 29 Mar 2019
Replying to

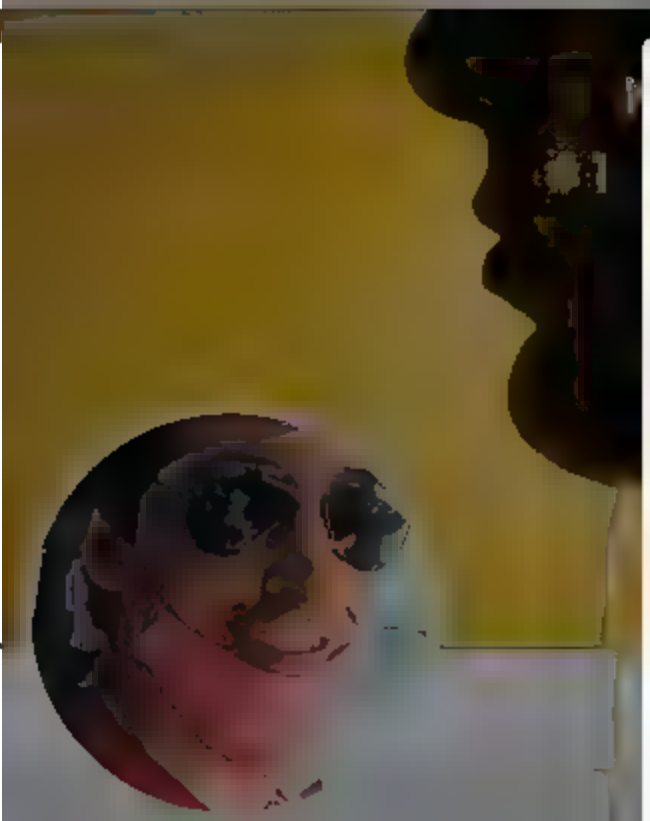
So you definitely think it was the weed that caused the literally insane behavior and not the drinking of cleaning fluids or his severe mental health diagnosis? Interesting.

1 3

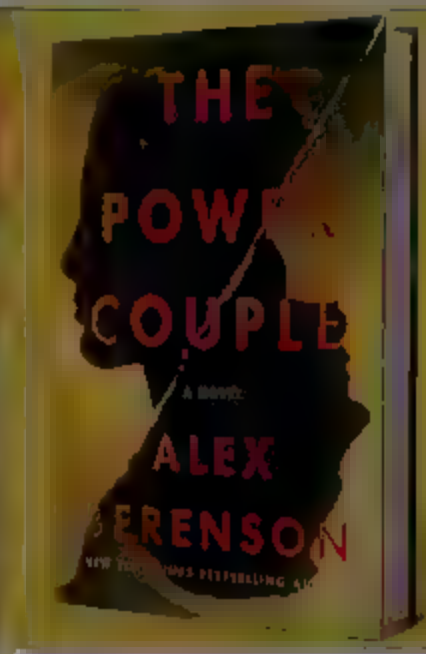


Gus Stadler @majortominor · 29 Mar 2019
He accuses the pro-cannabis people of over-hyping their case and then uses the most hyperbolic, sensationalist cases to argue his own.

1



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 29 Mar 2019
Replying to



Especially since Ali boy wants to arrest & jail all those potheads. No one so much as says a mean word to him. But where is that cannabis psychosis violence. What they all have college degrees what the heck is that

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

In Seattle: the tox screen will be very interesting on Tad Michael Norman, a married 33-year-old software engineer with no criminal history who inexplicably went on a shooting rampage midday Monday; he killed two strangers and "appeared intoxicated."

4:30 AM - 29 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 8 Likes

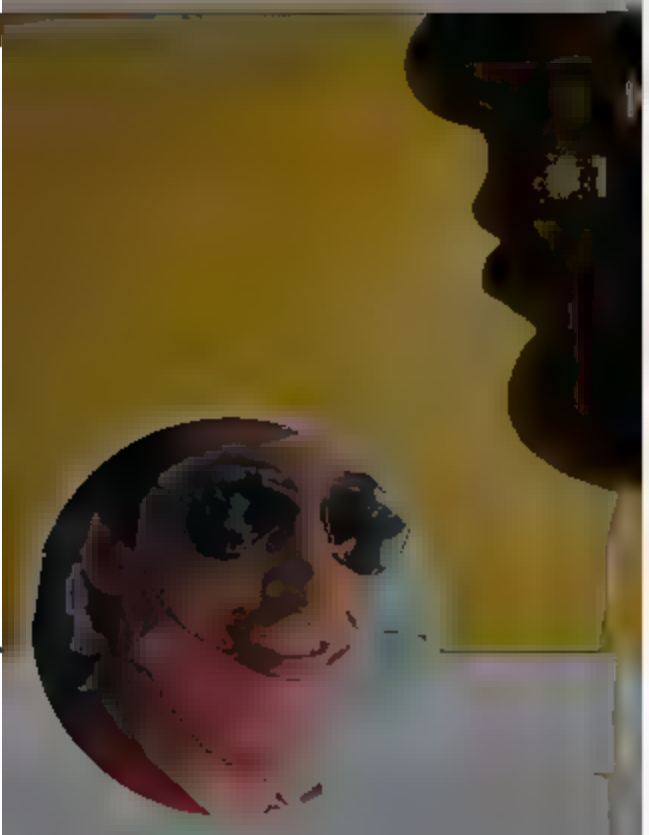
4 3 8



ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 29 Mar 2019

Replying to

Hope that the police obtained a toxicology screen. They may be able to get one from the hospital where the gunman was admitted.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

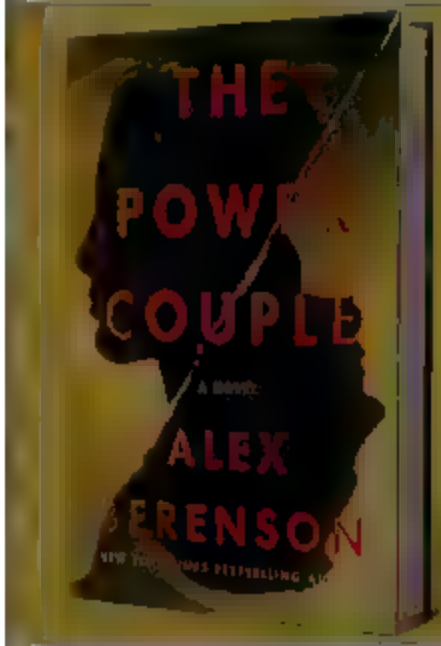
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

1/ Back in Florida: the "I ate something bad" case; Austin Harrouff, a teen who fell into psychosis, killed two neighbors, and chewed the face off one. Cops believed he must have used synthetic cannabinoids. Nope. His blood showed no synthetics...



> he seems kind of really odd to begin with," Yates told an investigator.
>
> Yates said he believed Harrouff had been smoking marijuana because he couldn't sleep — a habit Yates suspected Harrouff had recently quit.
>
> Another friend, Samuel Polacek, called Harrouff a "funny, goofy kid" who "liked to make people laugh."
>
> Harrouff's 18-year-old sister, Haley, told investigators something similar about her brother's everyday persona.
>
> "He usually says weird s---," she told them, though she and Yates cautioned that Harrouff had been acting stranger than normal.
>
> But the teenager long exhibited some of the behavior that concerned his family late this summer, his phone

7:09 AM - 29 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 6 Likes

2 2 6

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

And now that the momentum for legalization is visibly slowing, and the science around cannabis harms is piling up, folks are screaming even more loudly at me. Hmm. Maybe I'm wrong about book-induced psychosis. Because TYC does seem to induce it in cannabis advocates...

6:27 PM - 28 Mar 2019

6 Retweets 30 Likes

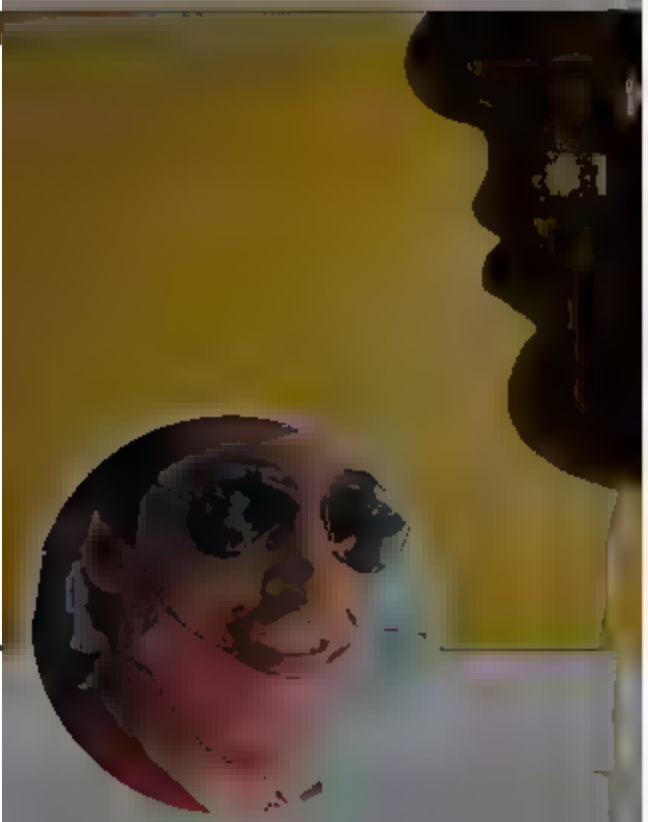
15 6 30

Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Are you hearing voices?

2



'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
A delay in NJ legalization is "visibly slowing," eh? While Guam and CNMI legalized, the latter going straight to it without medical. Our banking bill is moving. Polls keep coming in >60%. Low hanging Initiative states already won, now it's reticent lawmakers owned by lobbyists.

5

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
He's trolling. They have such confidence but they would never ever suggest a citizen ballot measure, surely the fairest approach to answer why millions of people have to buy in an illegal market.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5/ So "set and setting" mean little in the context of a psychotic episode. When people use those words in this context, they are really talking about severity - Can I handle this at home? Do I need to go to the hospital? Do I need seclusion? benzos? Antipsychotics?

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

6/ Nobody (well, almost) gets high hoping to start hallucinating or becoming paranoid, much less violent or self-injurious. And no matter how many times they read my book, it will have no bearing on the cannabis-driven brain processes that cause those malfunctions of mind.

2:07 PM - 28 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

2 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

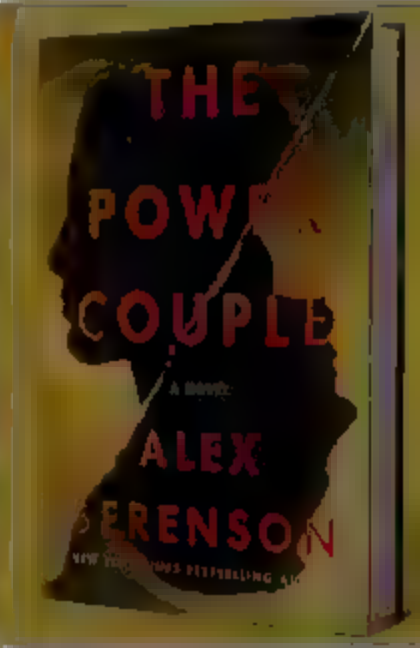
7/ However, if they happen to read Tell Your Children, it may help them recognize their symptoms, and either stop using or get help. At least I hope it will (and a few have told me it has).

Thanks to listening to the newest episode of Books Don't Cause Psychosis.

7 3 5

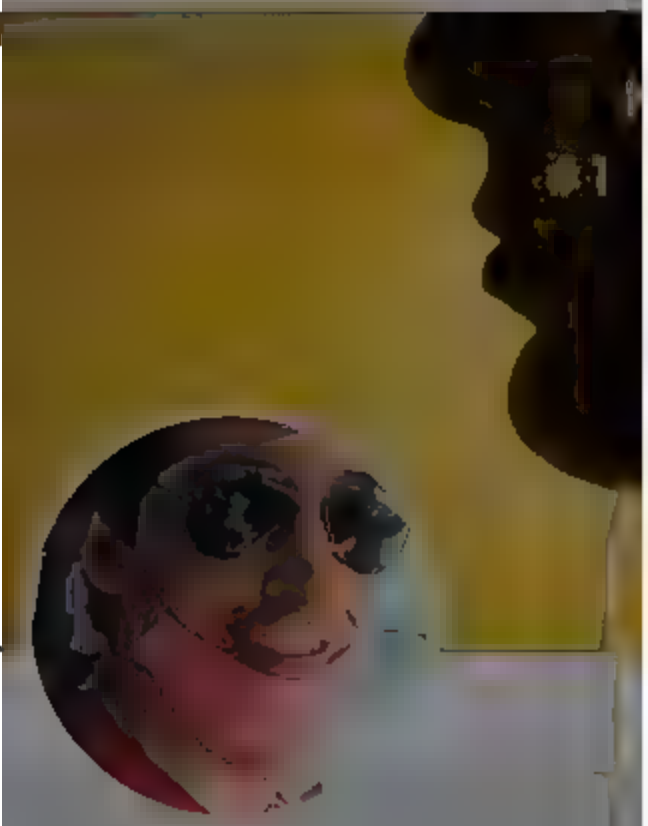
Dan Mitchell @_ChronicTown_ · 28 Mar 2019

Replying to



I did acid and mushrooms hoping to hallucinate.

1 1



Dan Mitchell @_ChronicTown_ · 28 Mar 2019

...and sometimes I did, and it was fun.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

6/ Nobody (well, almost) gets high hoping to start hallucinating or becoming paranoid, much less violent or self-injurious. And no matter how many times they read my book, it will have no bearing on the cannabis-driven brain processes that cause those malfunctions of mind.

2 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

7/ However, if they happen to read Tell Your Children, it may help them recognize their symptoms, and either stop using or get help. At least I hope it will (and a few have told me it has).

Thanks to listening to the newest episode of Books Don't Cause Psychosis.

2:08 PM - 28 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 5 Likes

7 3 5

CitizenOfTheFormerUSA @myfuntwitt · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to would you DM me please

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to
The issue is why banning it. People have benefit. It should be treated as we do w alcohol, gambling, etc.

1

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

disease. Cancer doesn't care what I think about it.

But what is true for intoxication and addiction is NOT true for psychosis. Psychosis is unquestionably a biological process, a disease of the brain...

1 2

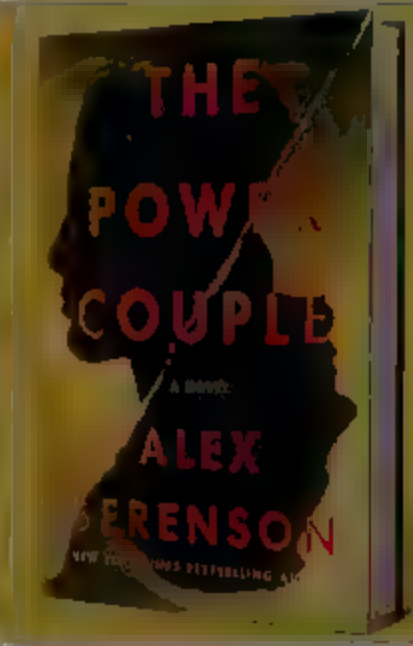
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ And the proof is that most psychosis is NOT drug-related. People with brain tumors or dementia or get psychosis. They don't get addicted (or intoxicated). They get psychosis. And their psychosis responds to the same medicines to which drug-induced psychosis responds...

2:05 PM - 28 Mar 2019

2 Likes

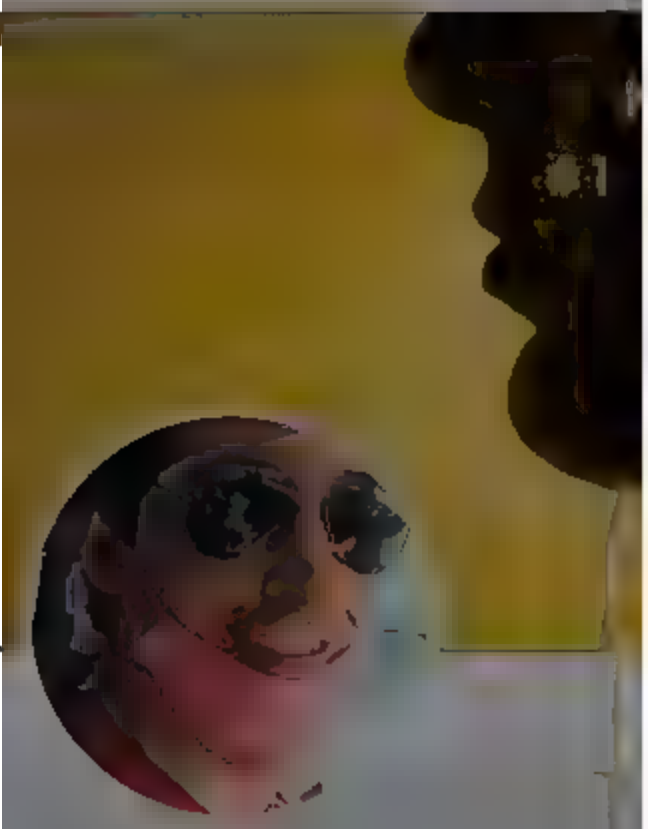
1 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019
5/ So "set and setting" mean little in the context of a psychotic episode. When people use those words in this context, they are really talking about severity - Can I handle this at home? Do I need to go to the hospital? Do I need seclusion? benzos? Antipsychotics?

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019
6/ Nobody (well, almost) gets high hoping to start hallucinating or becoming paranoid, much less violent or self-injurious. And no matter how many times they read my book, it will have no bearing on the cannabis-driven brain processes that cause those malfunctions of mind.



2 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019
7/ However, if they happen to read Tell Your Children, it may help them recognize their symptoms, and either stop using or get help. At least I hope it will (and a

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4/ And the proof is that most psychosis is NOT drug-related. People with brain tumors or dementia or get psychosis. They don't get addicted (or intoxicated). They get psychosis. And their psychosis responds to the same medicines to which drug-induced psychosis responds...

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

5/ So "set and setting" mean little in the context of a psychotic episode. When people use those words in this context, they are really talking about severity - Can I handle this at home? Do I need to go to the hospital? Do I need seclusion? benzos? Antipsychotics?

2:07 PM - 28 Mar 2019

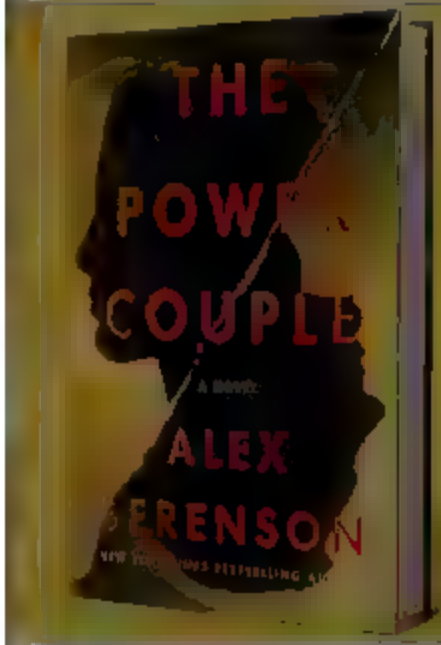
2 Likes

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

6/ Nobody (well, almost) gets high hoping to start hallucinating or becoming paranoid, much less violent or self-injurious. And no matter how many times they read my book, it will have no bearing on the cannabis-driven brain processes that cause those malfunctions of mind.

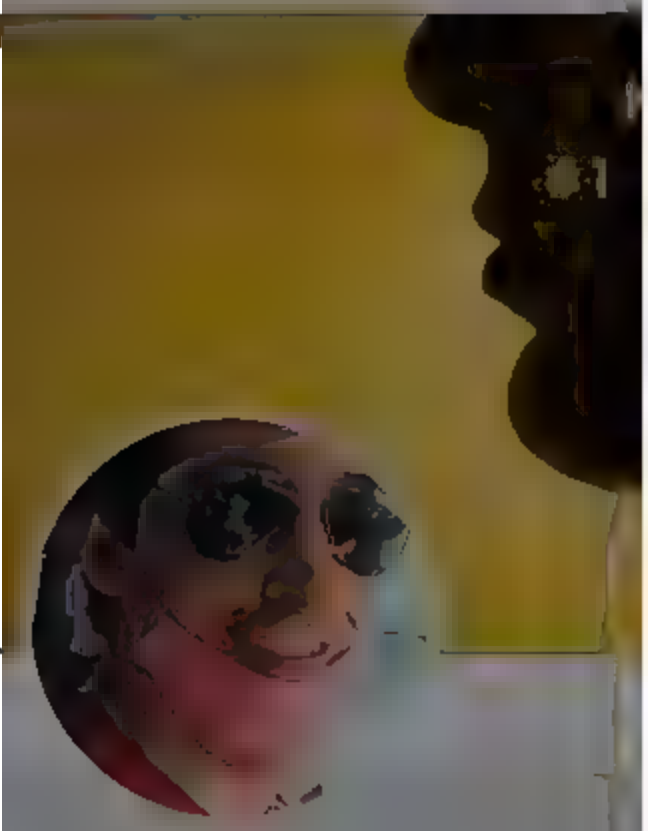
2 1 4



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

7/ However, if they happen to read Tell Your Children, it may help them recognize their symptoms, and either stop using or get help. At least I hope it will (and a few have told me it has).

Thanks to listening to the newest episode of Books Don't Cause Psychosis.



7 3 5

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

1/ Ahh, the flowers of the drug reform movement are in full bloom today over my statement that books can't and don't cause psychosis. One would think this statement uncontroversial, but apparently it is not.

1 3 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Here's a tip, friends: in general I'm more in the "set and setting" camp than you are. Why? Because "set and setting" more or less directly contradicts the argument that addiction is a biological disease that sufferers have essentially no control over...

2:04 PM - 28 Mar 2019

3 Likes

6 3

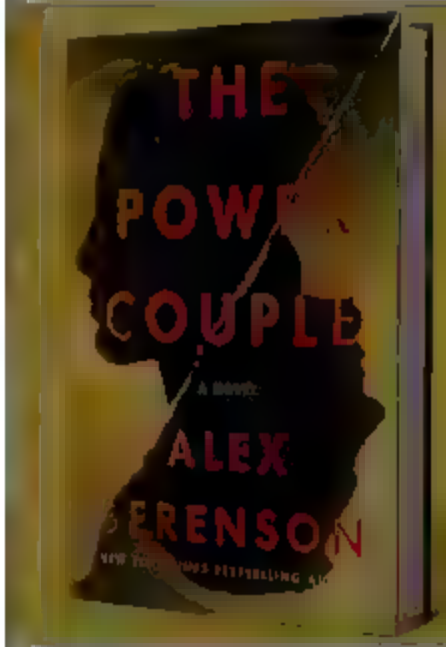
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

3/ A disease where "set and setting" are play a crucial role isn't much of a disease. Cancer doesn't care what I think about it.

But what is true for intoxication and addiction is NOT true for psychosis. Psychosis is unquestionably a biological process, a disease of the brain...

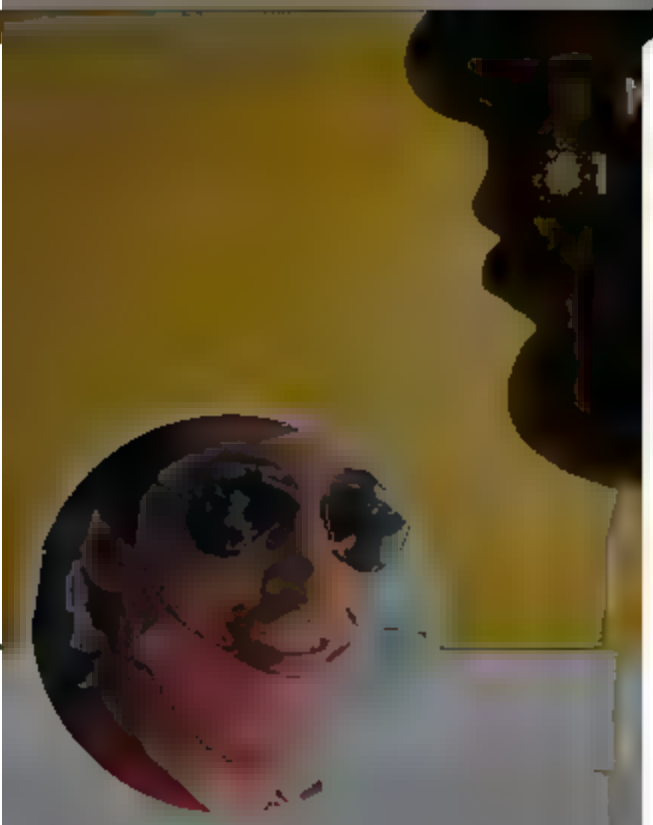
1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019



4/ And the proof is that most psychosis is NOT drug-related. People with brain tumors or dementia or get psychosis. They don't get addicted (or intoxicated). They get psychosis. And their psychosis responds to the same medicines to which drug-induced psychosis responds...

1 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

5/ So "set and setting" mean little in the context of a psychotic episode. When people use those words in this context, they are really talking about severity - Can I handle this at home? Do I need to go to the hospital? Do I need seclusion?

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

2/ Here's a tip, friends: in general I'm more in the "set and setting" camp than you are. Why? Because "set and setting" more or less directly contradicts the argument that addiction is a biological disease that sufferers have essentially no control over...

6 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

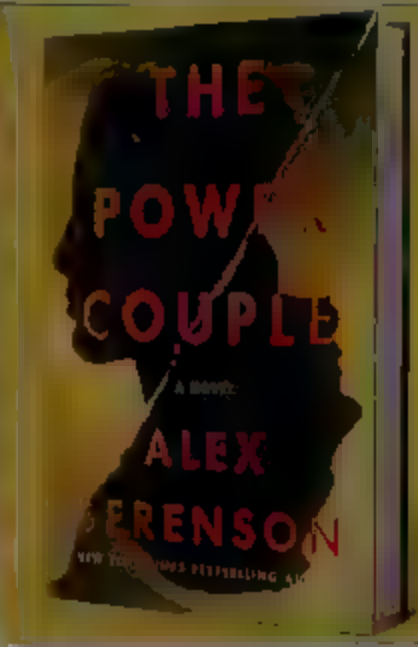
3/ A disease where "set and setting" are play a crucial role isn't much of a disease. Cancer doesn't care what I think about it.

But what is true for intoxication and addiction is NOT true for psychosis. Psychosis is unquestionably a biological process, a disease of the brain...

2:04 PM - 28 Mar 2019

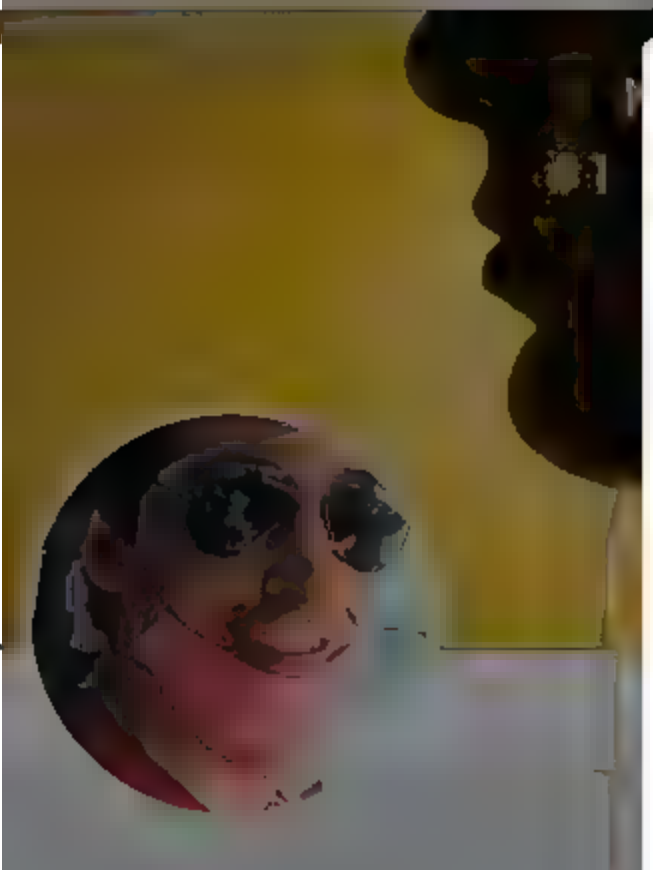
2 Likes

1 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

4/ And the proof is that most psychosis is NOT drug-related. People with brain tumors or dementia or get psychosis. They don't get addicted (or intoxicated). They get psychosis. And their psychosis responds to the same medicines to which drug-induced psychosis responds...



1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

5/ So "set and setting" mean little in the context of a psychotic episode. When people use those words in this context, they are really talking about severity - Can I handle this at home? Do I need to go to the hospital? Do I need seclusion?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

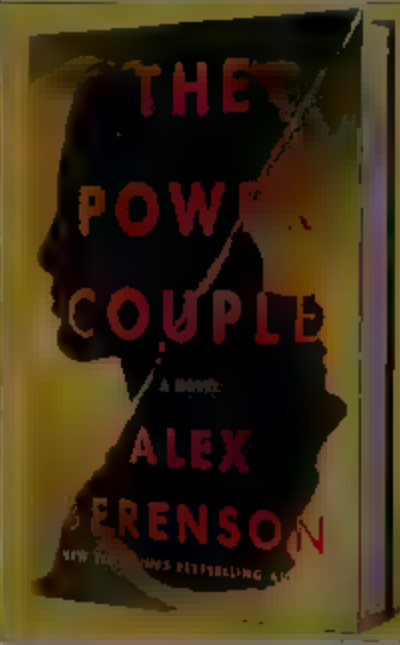
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Backhanded compliment alert... I'd say more but I don't want to start a Twitter spat. I do have to tell you this, youngun' - this isn't a speck on the ass of the dot-com bubble. Those companies went up $100 a day and split every three months. You missed out...

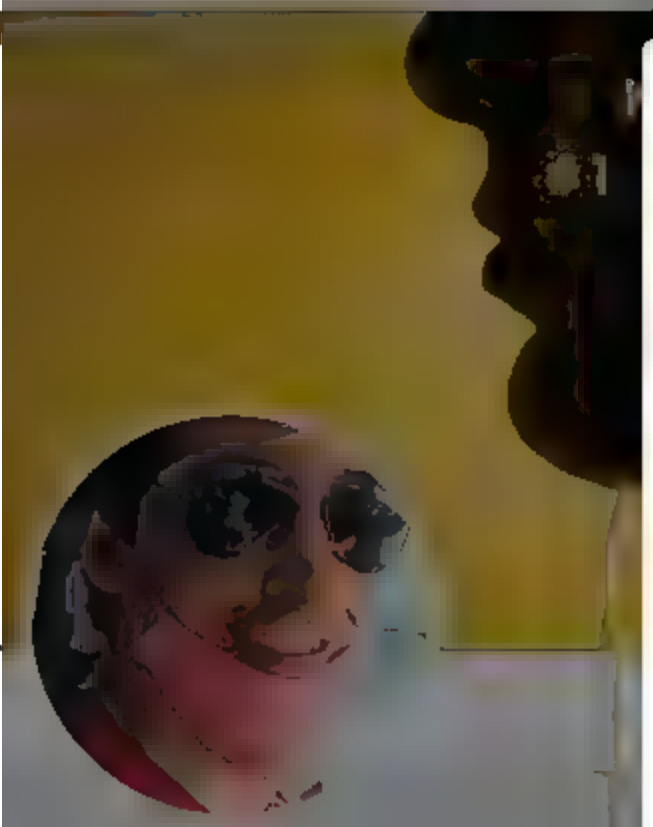
12:32 PM - 28 Mar 2019

2

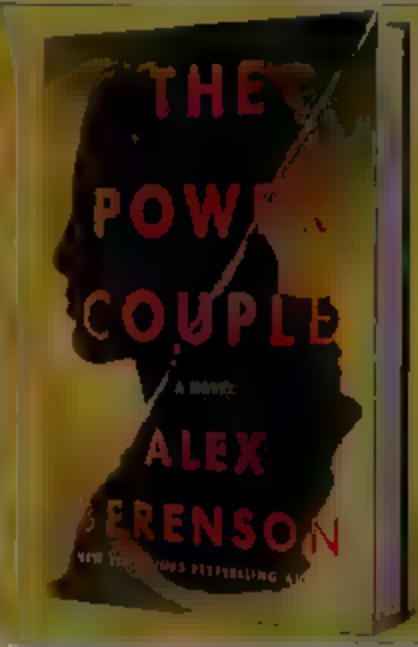


Dan Mitchell @_ChronicTown_ - 28 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]



I was there. I covered it. Boom and bust. I also noticed that Berke used the phrases "some of these companies" and "one of the biggest booms since..." Both of those are accurate.



1

[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Ahh, the flowers of the drug reform movement are in full bloom today over my statement that books can't and don't cause psychosis. One would think this statement uncontroversial, but apparently it is not.

2:03 PM - 28 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 8 Likes

1 3 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

2/ Here's a tip, friends: in general I'm more in the "set and setting" camp than you are. Why? Because "set and setting" more or less directly contradicts the argument that addiction is a biological disease that sufferers have essentially no control over...

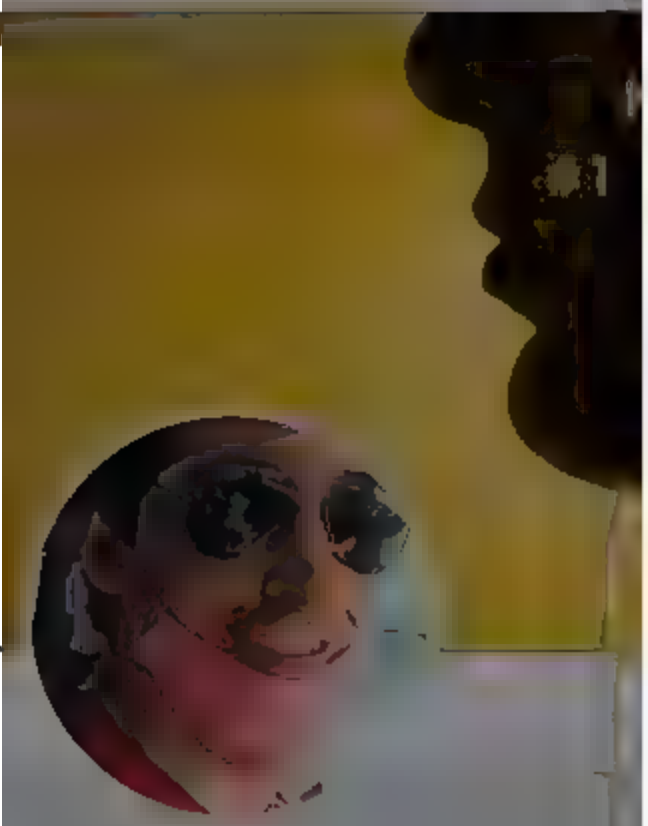
6 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

3/ A disease where "set and setting" are play a crucial role isn't much of a disease. Cancer doesn't care what I think about it.

But what is true for intoxication and addiction is NOT true for psychosis. Psychosis is unquestionably a biological process, a disease of the brain...

1 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

4/ And the proof is that most psychosis is NOT drug-related. People with brain tumors or dementia or get psychosis. They don't get addicted (or intoxicated). They get psychosis. And their psychosis responds to the same medicines to which drug-induced psychosis responds...

1 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019
Okay - I will be serious too. First of all, I should have said "loaded," not "stupid." Loaded is more accurate and less... loaded.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

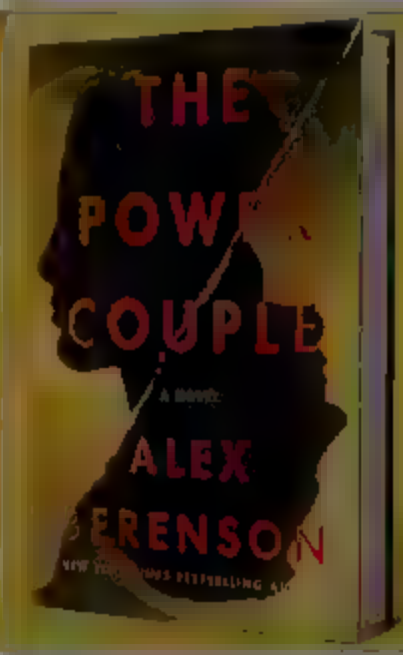
Replying to [redacted]

Second, I appreciate your reaching out - some reporters have not. And I have cooperated - in detail - in almost every instance, even with openly cannabis-friendly publications. However, in general, my comments are either not used or are mocked. So I have largely given up.

10:23 AM - 28 Mar 2019

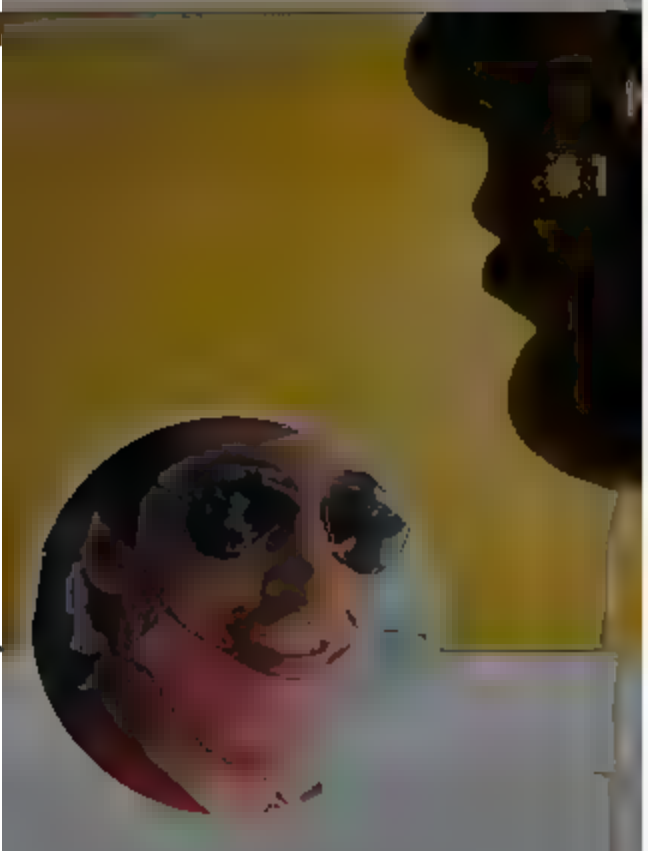
2

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Fair enough.



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Third, I will take you at your word and answer your other questions. As for the second... you are welcome to quote me as saying that I don't believe TYC is a risk to readers, though if they are worried about how it might affect them they should start low and go slow.

1 1



Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 28 Mar 2019
I personally had to micro-dose your book...

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

I'm not suggesting "books cause psychosis." There is a documented phenomenon called the "nocebo effect," and science has found "set and setting" determine how people respond to various drugs. I'm asking if you've ever thought about the effects of your rhetoric.

2 19

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 28 Mar 2019
And yes, I've openly disagreed with you. I've also poked fun at some of your more alarmist posts. (this is Twitter). But a) I don't write "pro-cannabis" pieces (like ever) and b) genuinely reached out to you because that's my job as a reporter. I talk to the people I write about.

2 1

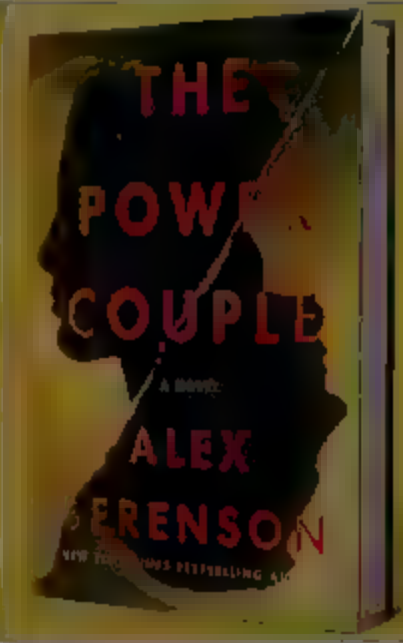
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Okay - I will be serious too. First of all, I should have said "loaded," not "stupid." Loaded is more accurate and less... loaded.

10:21 AM - 28 Mar 2019

1

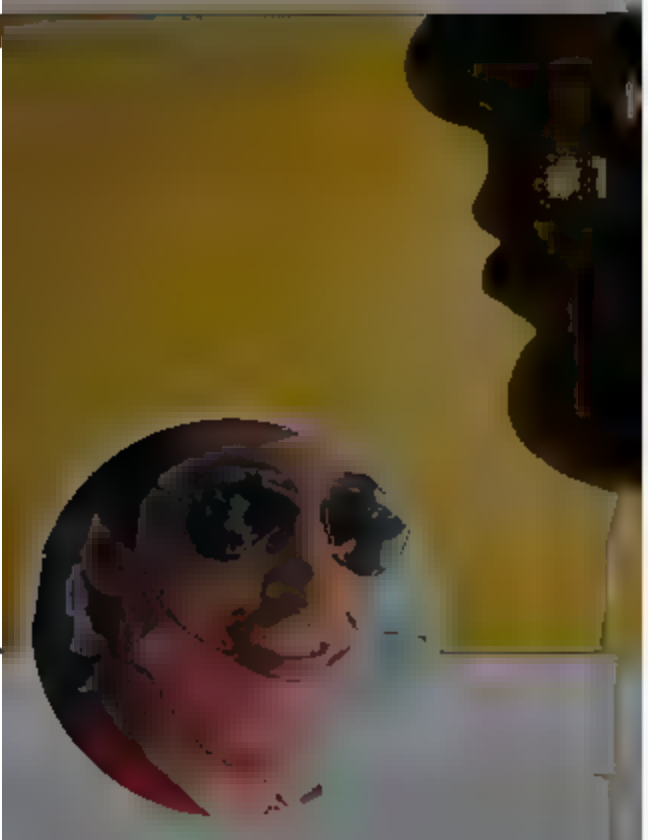


Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to

Second, I appreciate your reaching out - some reporters have not. And I have cooperated - in detail - in almost every instance, even with openly cannabis-friendly publications. However, in general, my comments are either not used or are mocked. So I have largely given up.

2

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 28 Mar 2019
Fair enough.



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Okay - I will be serious too. First of all, I should have said "loaded," not "stupid." Loaded is more accurate and less... loaded.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

Second, I appreciate your reaching out - some reporters have not. And I have cooperated - in detail - in almost every instance, even with openly cannabis-friendly publications. However, in general, my comments are either not used or are mocked. So I have largely given up.

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

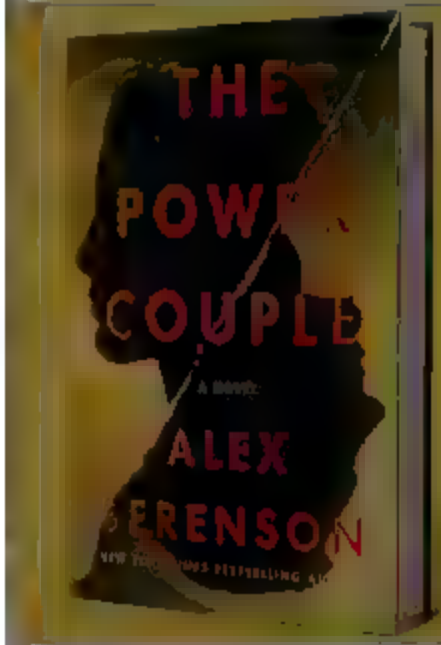
Follow

Replying to [redacted]

Third, I will take you at your word and answer your other questions. As for the second... you are welcome to quote me as saying that I don't believe TYC is a risk to readers, though if they are worried about how it might affect them they should start low and go slow.

10:26 AM - 28 Mar 2019

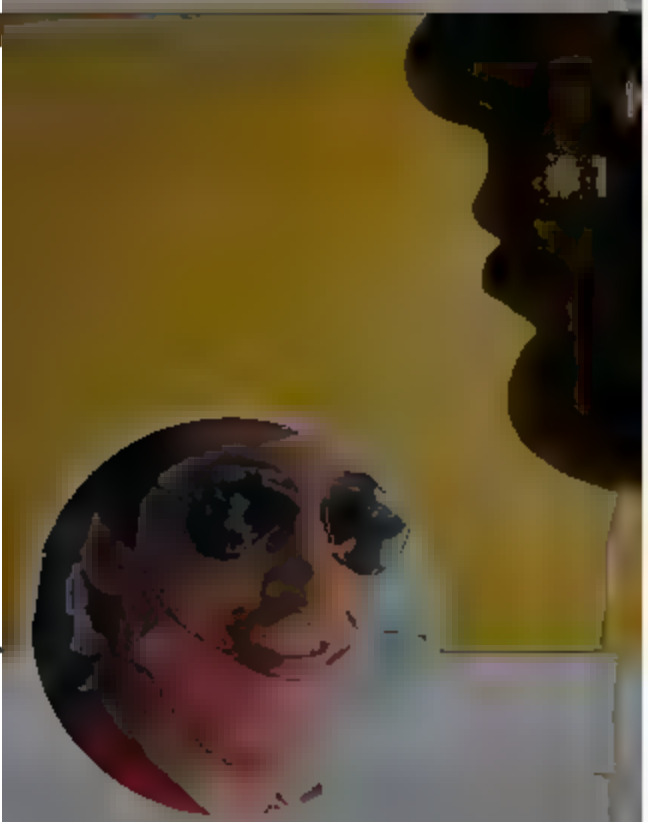
1 Like



1 1

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 28 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]



I personally had to micro-dose your book...

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

I'm not suggesting "books cause psychosis." There is a documented phenomenon called the "nocebo effect," and science has found "set and setting" determine how people respond to various drugs. I'm asking if you've ever thought about the effects of your rhetoric.

2 19

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Rhetoric causes psychosis?

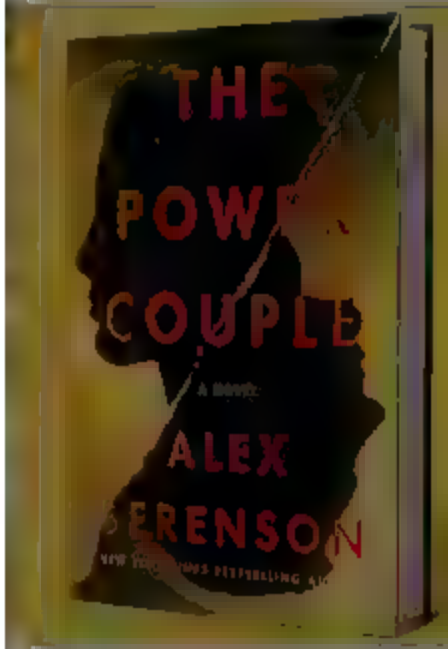
10:18 AM - 28 Mar 2019

5

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to
Warnings about side-effects can cause them.

1 3

Dan Mitchell @_ChronicTown_ · 28 Mar 2019
....and, no response, natch.



1 1

Ian McLoone @IanAlltyr · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to
Wow, it's so infuriating when a serious question to a self-described serious writer is met with such flippant disrespect. You'd think there'd at least be some journalistic comraderie. But keep in mind, dude isn't a scientist-he's reminding us he's just a guy with an axe to grind josie duffy rice @jduffyrice · 28 Mar 2019

3

Replying to
It's actually concerning that you're this bad at understanding what Zach is asking. It's pretty basic!

17

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I eagerly await the JAMA or Lancet paper on book-induced psychosis.

10:10 AM - 28 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 8 Likes

6 1 8

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
You'll probably just ignore it, like you do all the JAMA and Lancet studies of medicinal cannabis benefits.

5

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
It looks a bit like u Alex r suffering from book-induced psychosis given your resistance 2 assessing data outside a context of hysterical cherry picking that meshes w/your latest work of fiction, that tries to ape nonfiction,&indicates a break w/&inability2 grasp reality imo.

1

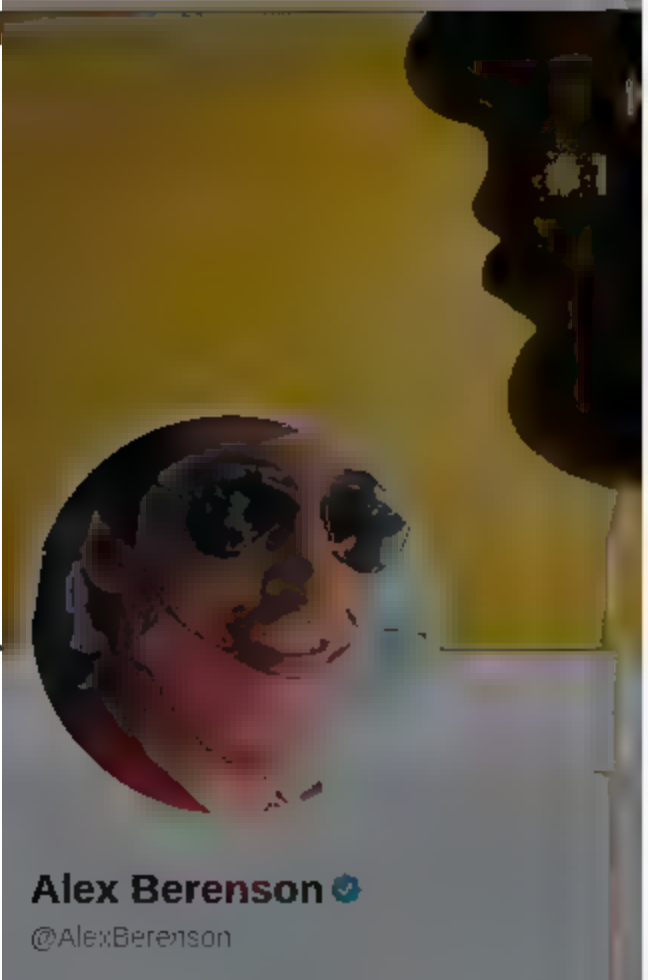
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
'As the great cardiologist Bernard Lown once said, "Words are the most powerful tool a doctor possesses, but words, like a two-edged sword, can maim as well as heal."'
[illegible]

1 1

Karen Randall @karenrandall154 · 28 Mar 2019
One could also say that the nonexistent benefits will be real to the person who expects to have them - placebo effect. Just saying.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



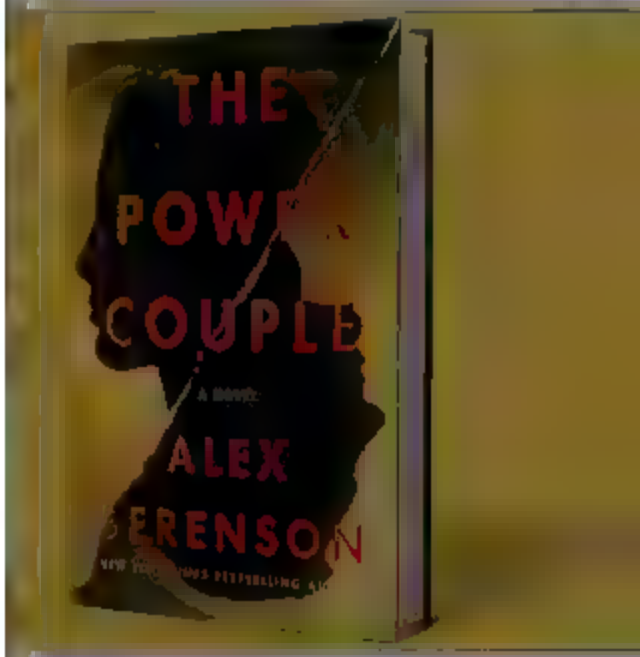
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

26 1 15

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 28 Mar 2019
Serious question...

2 1 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Serious answer: No. Books don't cause psychosis. It's bizarre to suggest they would. But if you want to pursue this theory, be my guest. Given your comments on my Twitter feed, I don't expect fairness.

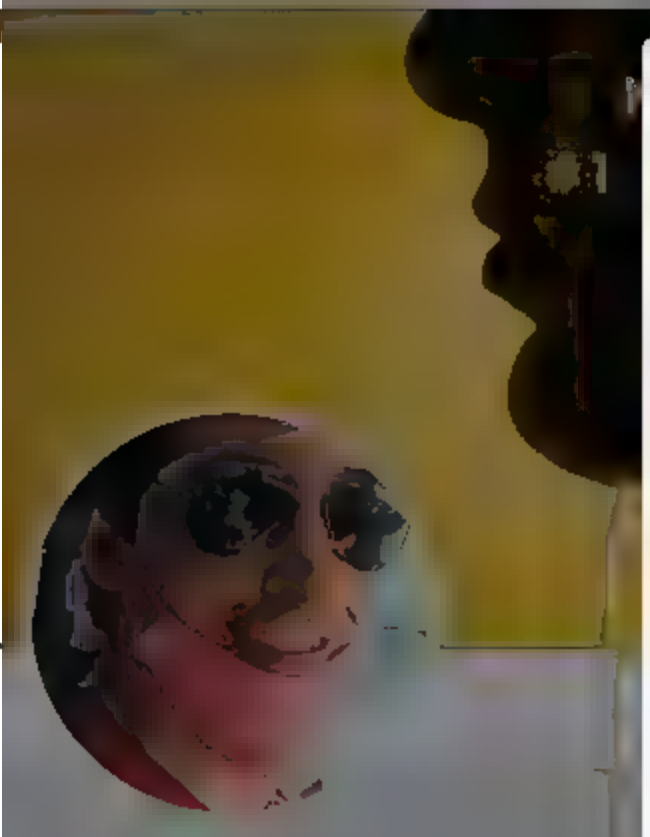
10:09 AM · 28 Mar 2019

3

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to

I'm not suggesting "books cause psychosis." There is a documented phenomenon called the "nocebo effect," and science has found "set and setting" determine how people respond to various drugs. I'm asking if you've ever thought about the effects of your rhetoric.

2 19



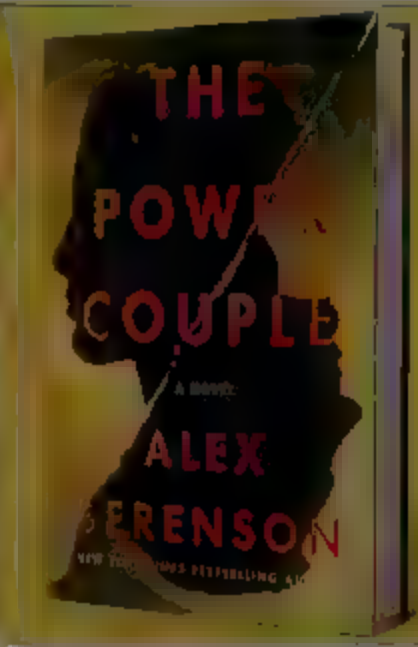
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019
Rhetoric causes psychosis?

5

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to

An honest answer would have been, "No, until now I had never heard of the "nocebo effect," and it never crossed my mind when I was writing my book."

2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Duuuuude! I'm hearing voices! I I so wish I hadn't read that book before we smoked today. I should have read Dork Diaries 13 like I was planning to. I love Dork Diaries. I never get psychotic after I read Dork Diaries.
You read that book too, dude. Are you hearing voices? Dude?

8:31 AM - 28 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

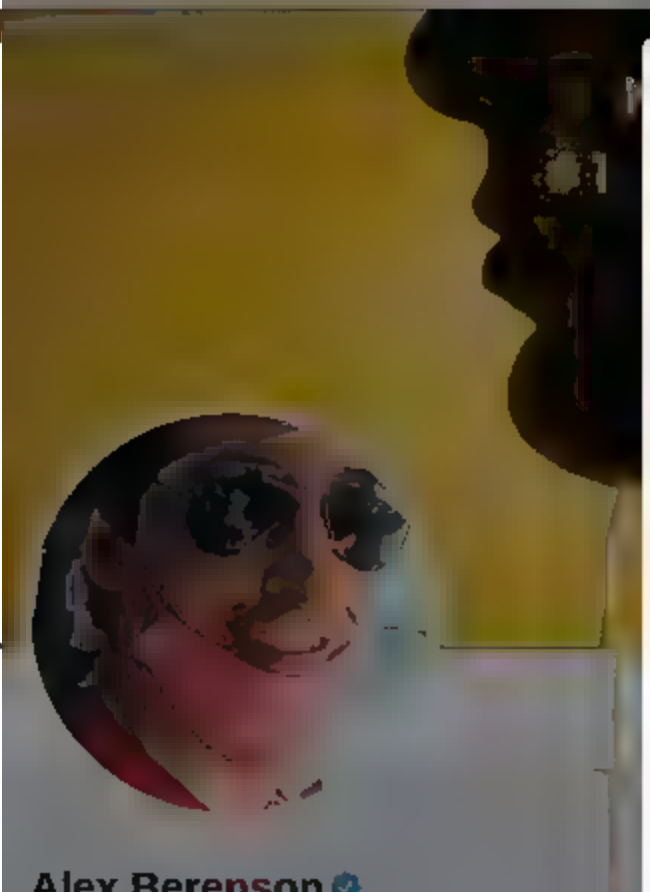
12 1 6

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
And I'm the one who's the daily toker?

4

GenX Elder Estarianne, BS, MA, A.N.T.I.F.A @estaria... · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
former NYT reporter.



3

This Tweet is unavailable.

The Ellison in the Room @therealtje · 28 Mar 2019
It was probably inspiration from those two scenes of dazed and confused he watched one time. I wonder if he felt the need to turn it off Incase he started to feel psychotic.

1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, in Paris: the killer in this case in which a 65-year-old woman was beaten and thrown out a window is trying to avoid criminal responsibility by claiming cannabis psychosis:

7:00 AM - 28 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 8 Likes

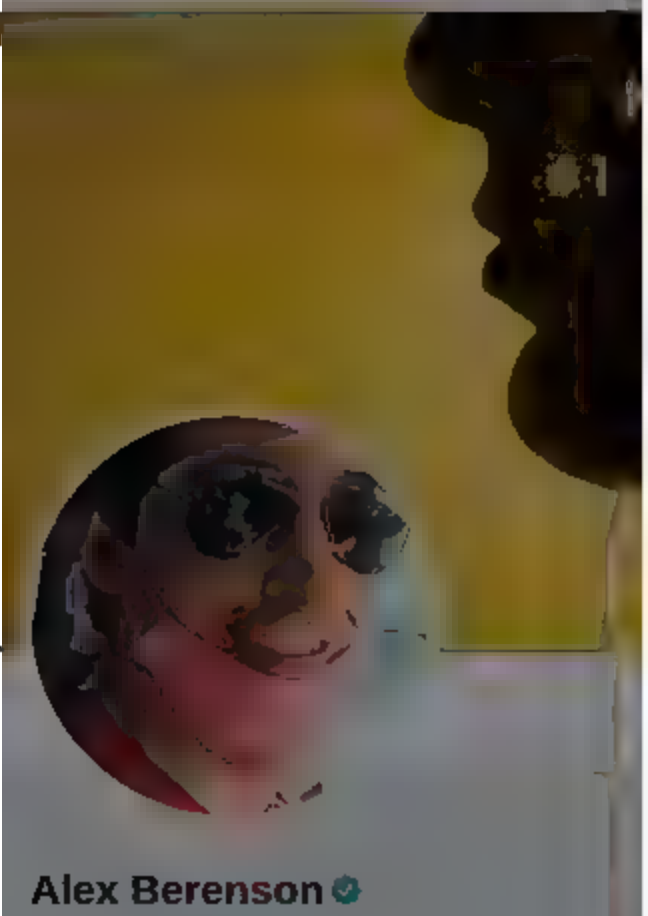
4 2 8



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019

BTW - people have pointed out to me the nexus between cannabis and high-profile terrorism cases, but - as with school shootings - I mostly avoid them. The issue isn't a few well-known mass killings, it's the violence that drug-induced psychosis produces every day.

3 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4 2 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

BTW - people have pointed out to me the nexus between cannabis and high-profile terrorism cases, but - as with school shootings - I mostly avoid them. The issue isn't a few well-known mass killings, it's the violence that drug-induced psychosis produces every day.

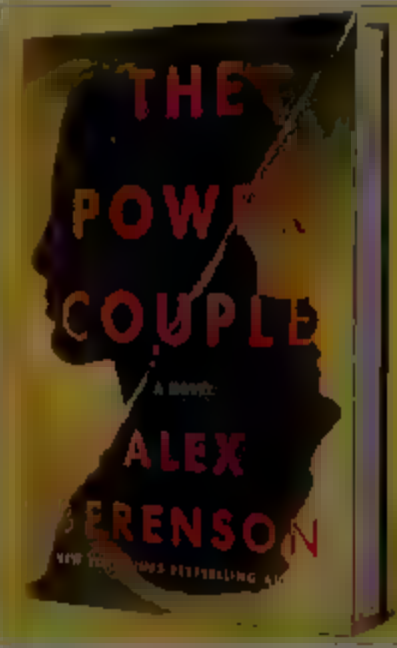
7:03 AM - 28 Mar 2019

4 Likes

3 4

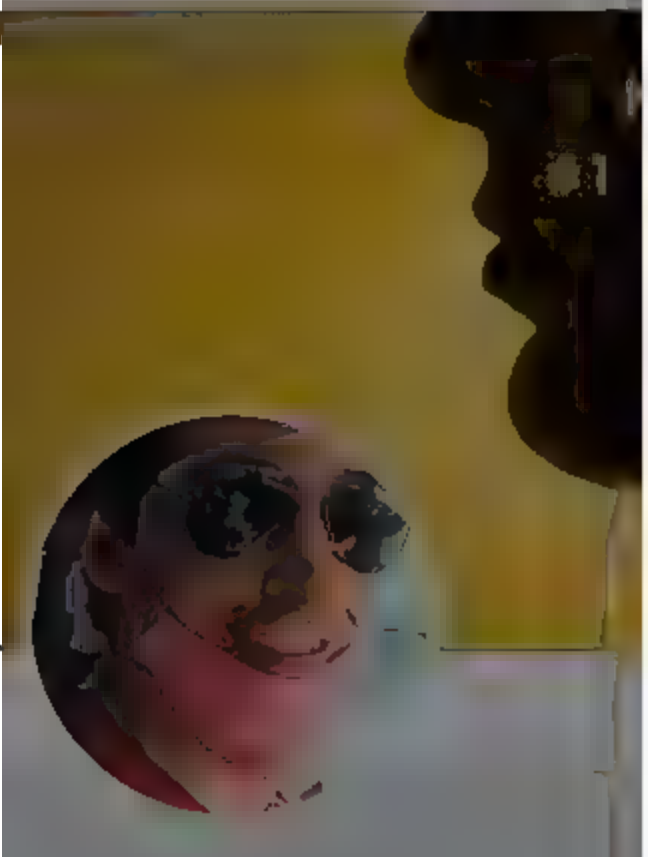
Bobbi Keith @abarbarbar1 · 28 Mar 2019

Replying to



The pattern in past US school shootings seems to be that the perpetrators were either currently taking, or had in the past been prescribed a psychiatric medication/antidepressant. The reason for the prescription might have been cannabis-induced psychosis.

1



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 28 Mar 2019

Replying to

Cannabis is the cause of every single crime ever committed. This is well known

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

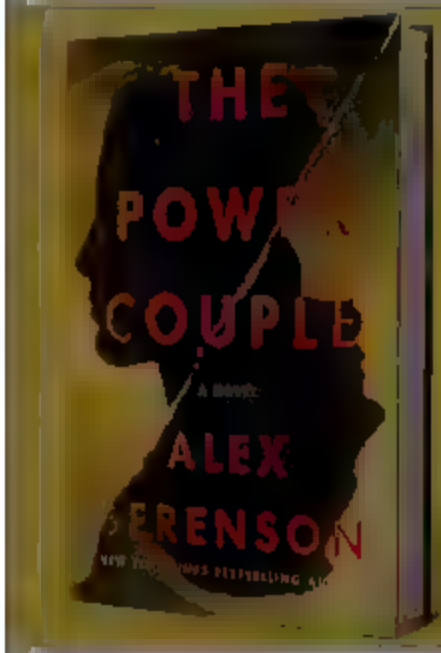
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

8 8 21

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



What's fascinating about the driving issue is that - like violence - the lab studies don't catch it at all. The reason is obvious; they are based on the far simpler model of alcohol intoxication. Cannabis works differently, and much of its threat comes from the psychosis risk.

5:03 AM - 28 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 12 Likes

1 3 12

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

8 8 21

Kermit Gracie @KermitGracie · 28 Mar 2019
how does the CO driving data relate to the National rise?

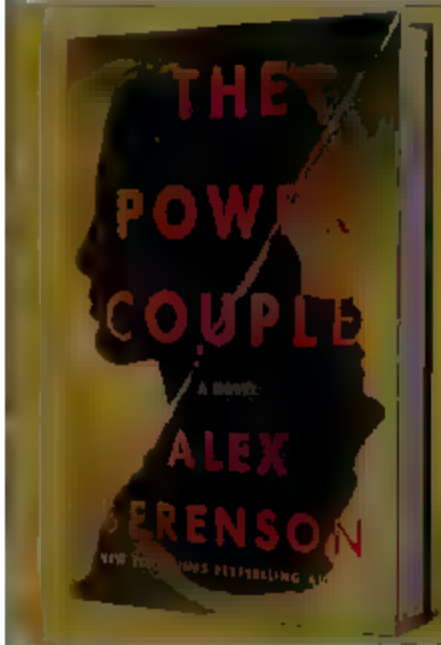
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

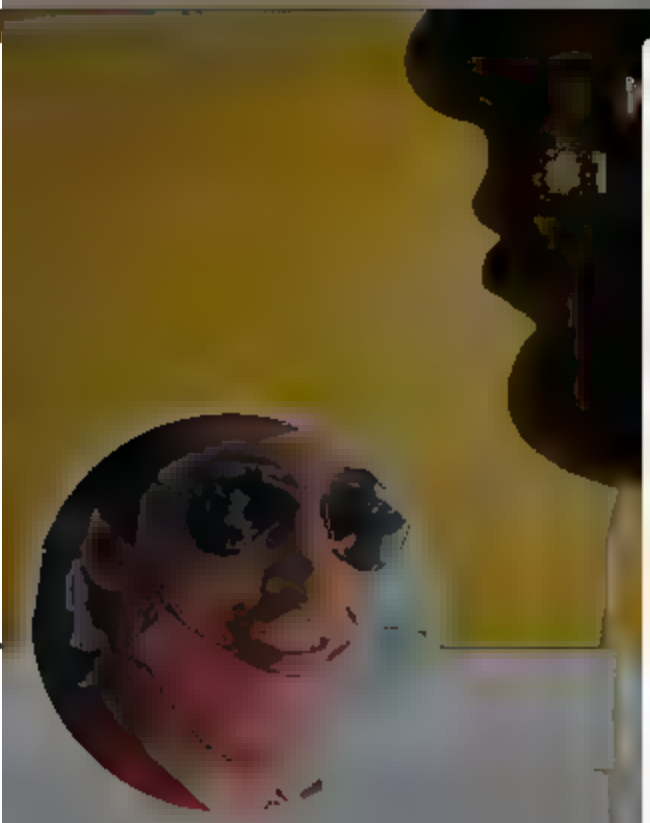
It shows a clear link between cannabis impairment and speeding, aggressive driving, and fatal accidents in many cases.

4:58 AM - 28 Mar 2019



2 Likes

2 2



Kermit Gracie @KermitGracie · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
in Colorado?

1

Kermit Gracie @KermitGracie · 28 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
National Institute on Drug Abuse says: National Highway Traffic Safety Administration found no significant increased crash risk attributable to cannabis after controlling for drivers' age, gender, race, and presence of alcohol.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

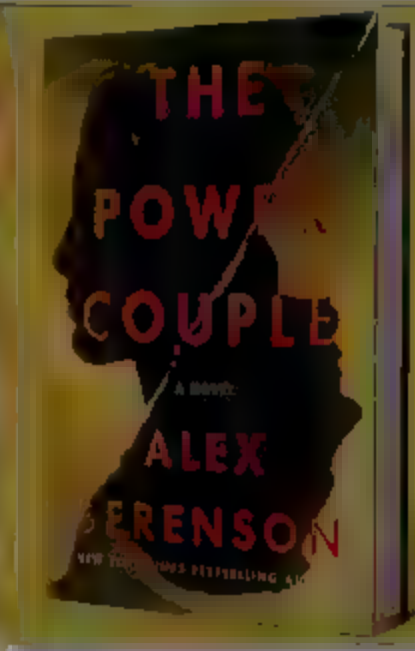
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



THC-impaired drivers don't speed or cause fatal accidents. Except all the time. (Based on the CO driving data, the recent national rise in road deaths may well be linked with the spike in cannabis use and high potency products.)

4:47 AM - 28 Mar 2019

8 Retweets 21 Likes

8 8 21

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 28 Mar 2019
What's fascinating about the driving issue is that - like violence - the lab studies don't catch it at all. The reason is obvious; they are based on the far simpler model of alcohol intoxication. Cannabis works differently, and much of its threat comes from the psychosis risk.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

This Pennsylvania mom must not be a Post subscriber either: she killed her three-year-old in a psychotic rage while using cannabis, a synthetic cannabinoid, fentanyl, and a benzo (cannabis isn't a gateway). Trigger warning before you click through.

2:49 PM - 27 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

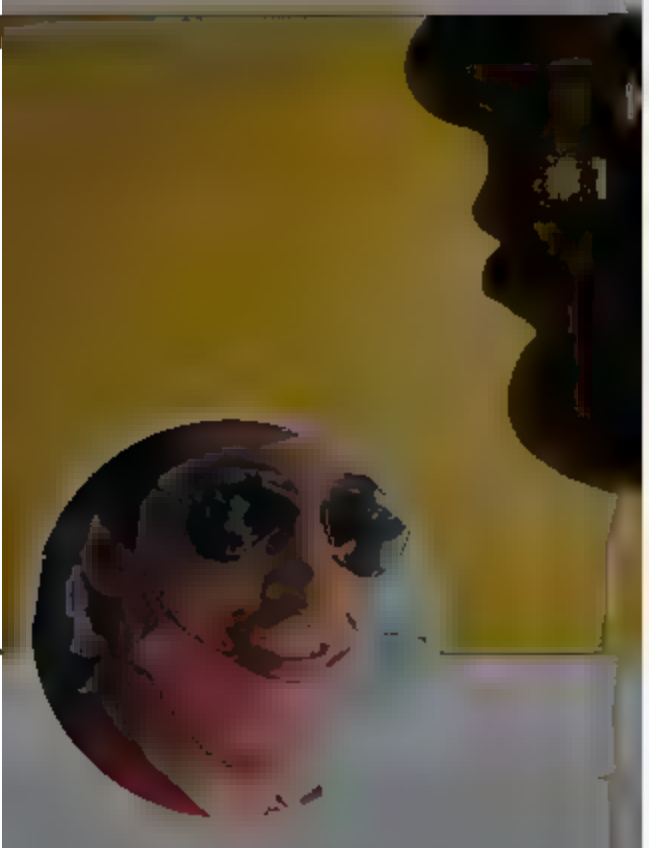
11 2 7

Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to



Any word on the next novel?

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Even I'm having a tough time keeping up with all the negative findings about cannabis; this morning @JAMAPsych published a letter from researchers in St. Louis linking use in pregnancy to psychotic symptoms in kids. (This data comes from a bigger study, and much more will come.)

Research Letter

March 27, 2019

Association of Prenatal Cannabis Exposure With Psychosis Proneness Among Children in the Adolescent Brain Cognitive Development (ABCD) Study

Jeremy D. Fine[1]; Allison L. Moreau, BA[1]; Nicole R. Karcher, PhD[2]; et al » Author Affiliations

JAMA Psychiatry. Published online March 27, 2019.

7:39 PM - 27 Mar 2019

15 Retweets 29 Likes

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

and liked what I saw at Leafly. I had coffee with Brendan Kennedy (you could still do that at the time) and pitched myself.

1 2

Bruce Barcott @BruceBarcott · 27 Mar 2019
I told him that I wouldn't be able to cover his company once we had this coffee, because I proposed he hire me. Fortunately, he did. I began full time at Leafly in Dec. 2015, and have loved the company and the work ever since. We strive to bring our readers the most accurate...

1 2

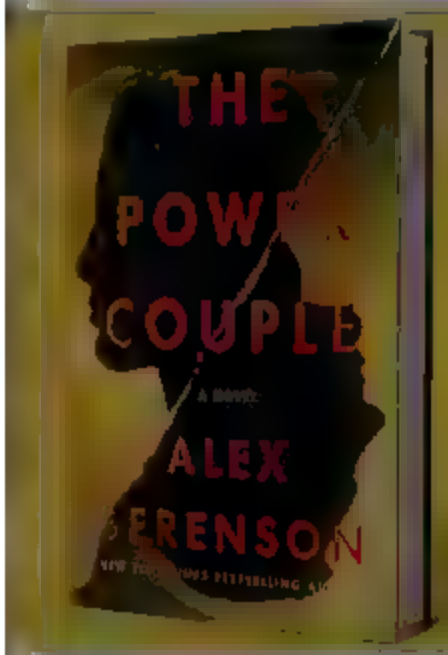
Bruce Barcott @BruceBarcott · 27 Mar 2019
...information about cannabis anywhere. We've become the world's most trusted source for cannabis news and information. And we tackle difficult issues without glossing over difficult facts or hard moments. You may disagree with our/my work, but that's where I'm coming from.

1 3

Bruce Barcott @BruceBarcott · 27 Mar 2019
The idea that "the marijuana lobbyists" hired me is frankly comical. My wife and I made our living as independent writers for nearly 20 years, making it on magazine pieces and book advances. There was no great lobbying machine behind our mortgage payments. There was just sweat.

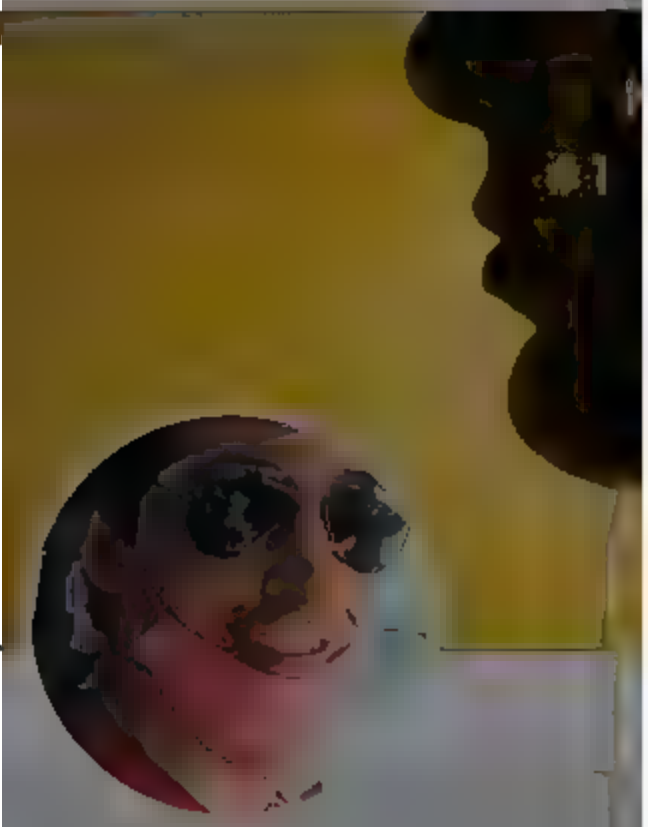
3 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to and 2 others

I figured as much - why I asked. (We can agree to disagree on almost everything else, at least about cannabis.)



2:21 PM - 27 Mar 2019

1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

6 4 8

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 27 Mar 2019
Did [redacted] print another 'pot as parenting tool' story?

1

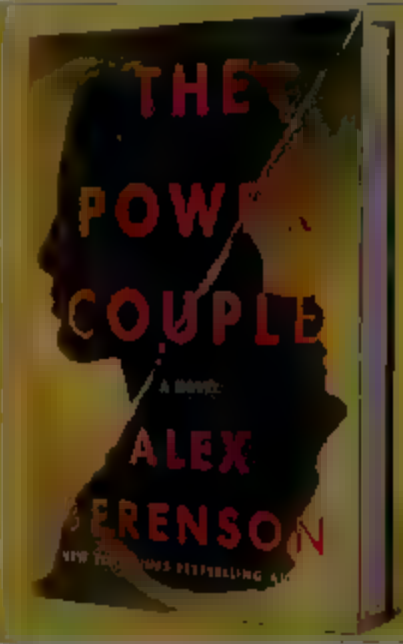
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Just the three since November. Based on this data, cannabis actually appears to be a particularly terrible choice for the parents of young children; I have some theories as to why, but they're pure speculation, so I will keep them to myself.

2:24 PM - 27 Mar 2019

2



Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I had an 18 year old patient with severe psychosis. His dad had chosen the "smoke weed with your kid for bonding" plan from age 14. Pretty clear why the kid became my patient. Dad insisted the pot was irrelevant and planned to continue "bonding" Thanks [redacted]

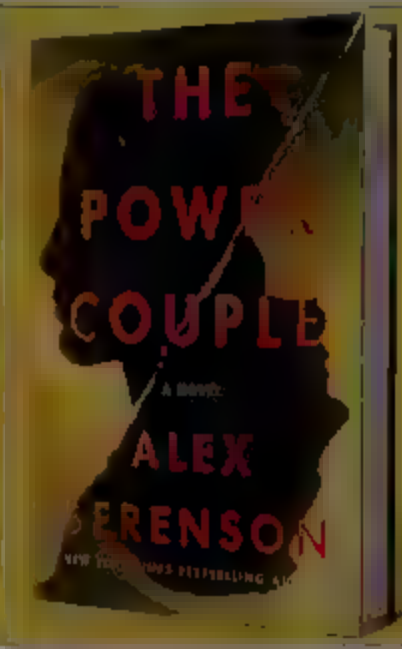
1 3 2

[redacted]

Faded @Aldridge25 · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Never stopped you before.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Hey @washingtonpost, for another perspective on cannabis and parenting, try the Texas "Fiscal Year 2017 Child Maltreatment Fatalities" annual report. Catchy title, I know! Here's what it has to say:

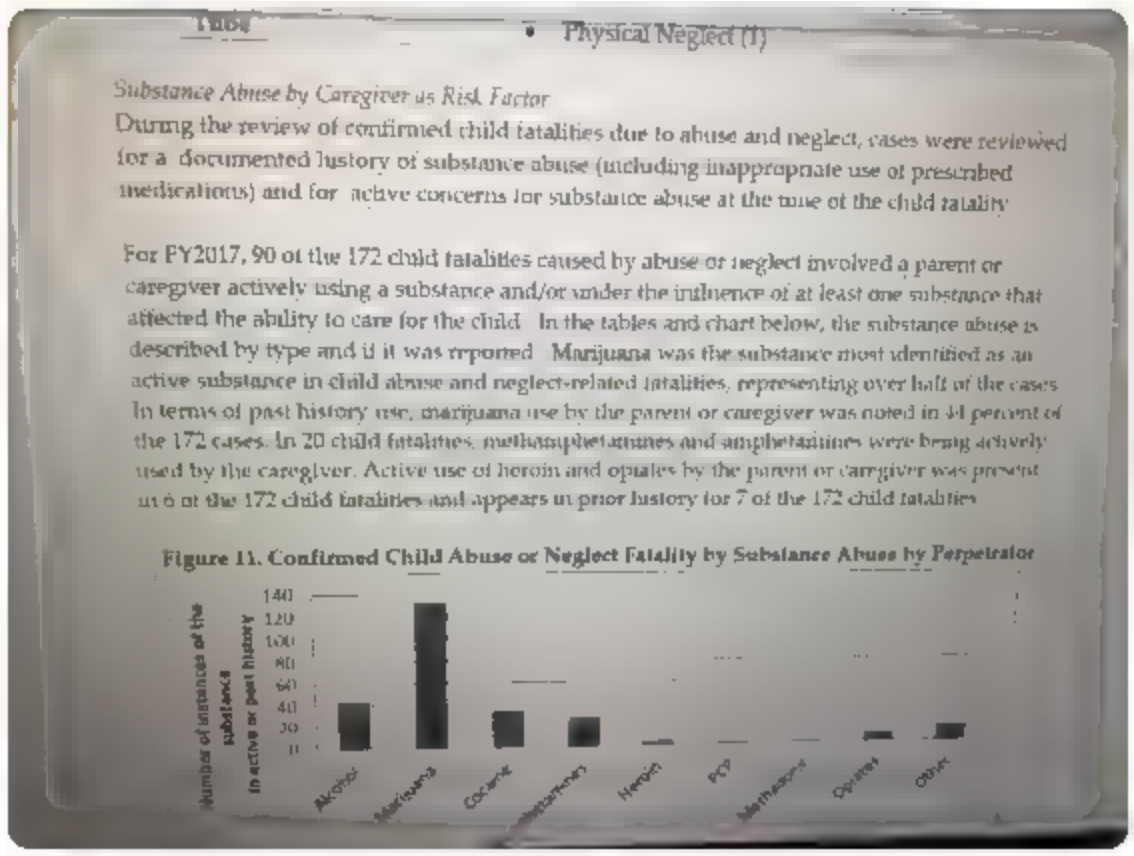


Table 9 Physical Neglect (1)

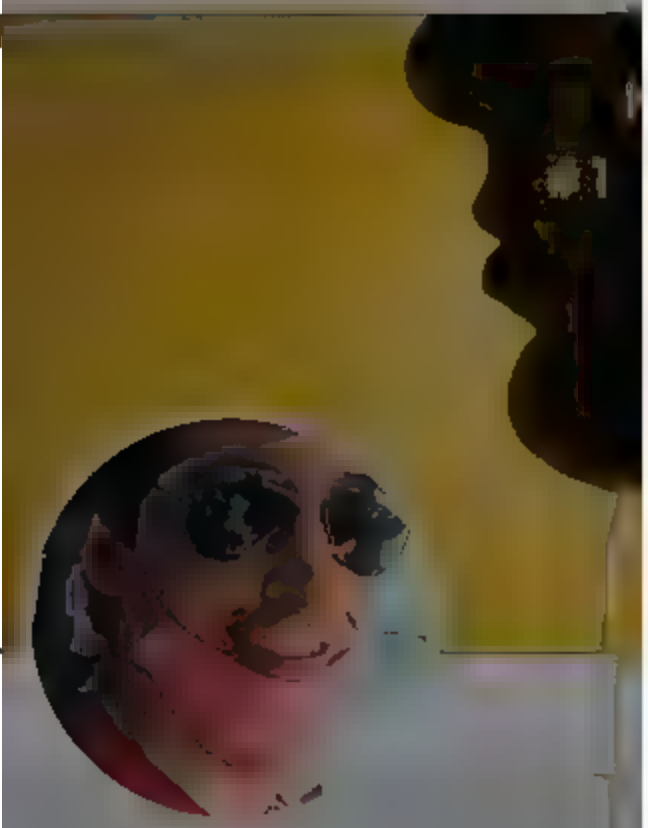
Substance Abuse by Caregiver as Risk Factor

During the review of confirmed child fatalities due to abuse and neglect, cases were reviewed for a documented history of substance abuse (including inappropriate use of prescribed medications) and for active concerns for substance abuse at the time of the child fatality.

For FY2017, 90 of the 172 child fatalities caused by abuse or neglect involved a parent or caregiver actively using a substance and/or under the influence of at least one substance that affected the ability to care for the child. In the tables and chart below, the substance abuse is described by type and if it was reported. Marijuana was the substance most identified as an active substance in child abuse and neglect-related fatalities, representing over half of the cases. In terms of past history use, marijuana use by the parent or caregiver was noted in 81 percent of the 172 cases. In 20 child fatalities, methamphetamines and amphetamines were being actively used by the caregiver. Active use of heroin and opiates by the parent or caregiver was present in 6 of the 172 child fatalities and appears in prior history for 7 of the 172 child fatalities.

Figure 11. Confirmed Child Abuse or Neglect Fatality by Substance Abuse by Perpetrator



2:14 PM - 27 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 8 Likes

6 4 8

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019
Do you have any evidence for that? I know [redacted] works for [redacted] now, so anything he writes at this point is obviously compromised, given Leafly's ideology and industry dependence, but are you sure he had an industry relationship at the time of the book?

4 2

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019
Read about it a few years back on one of the Weed Blogs. He was not a pot user, and maybe didn't vote for it in WA. But then saw the post that they hired him to write a book, Weed the People. [redacted]

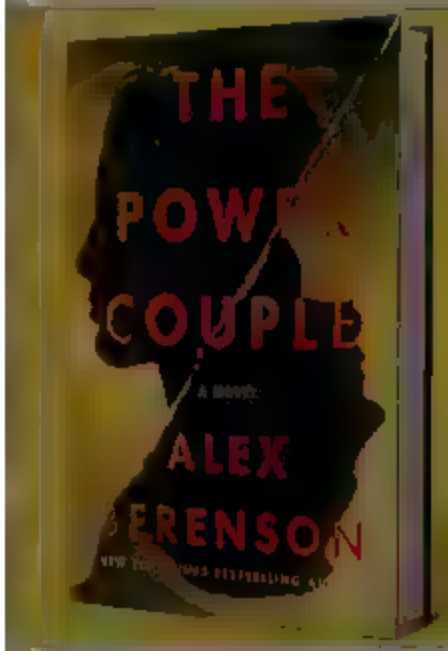
2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

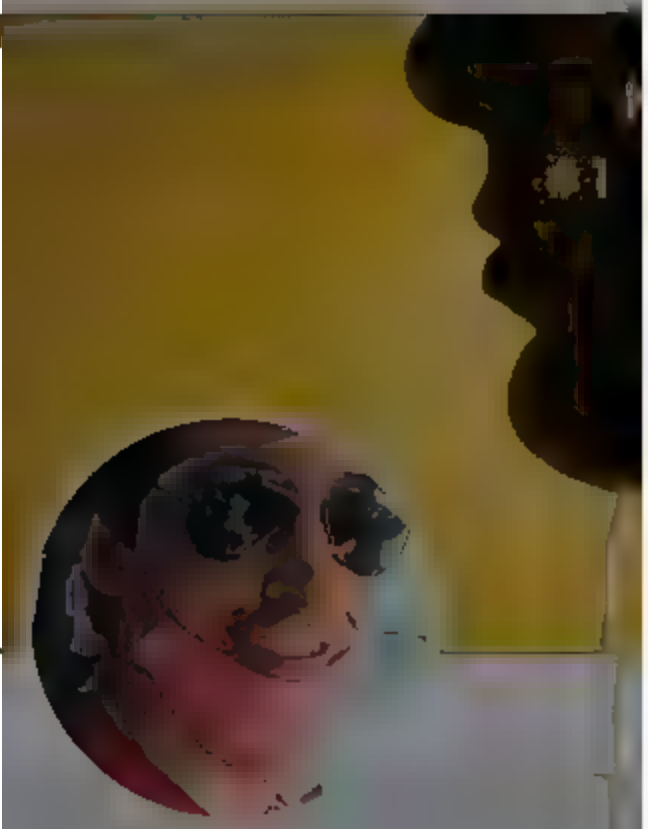
I know the book - I have read it. But as far as I can recall he does not describe being hired by anyone in the industry to write it.



2:04 PM - 27 Mar 2019

1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Recall reading about it on one of the weed blogs. Guess Barcott would not be required to put a disclaimer in book. (Would have been nice if SAM had the $ to hire a medical journalist to explore all the outlandish claims about "medical" weed, fraudulent claims.)



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019
Did you know that the marijuana lobbyists hired Bruce Barcott, an environmental journalist to write "Weed the People" They didn't hire a medical journalist as they probably couldn't find one. Sara S, this writer lives in Seattle.

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

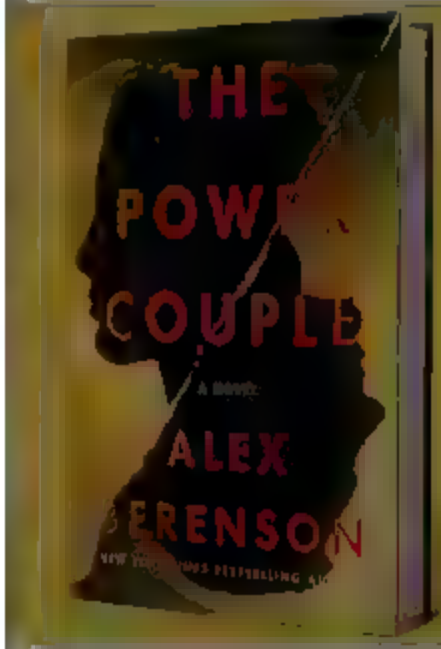
Do you have any evidence for that? I know @BruceBarcott works for @leafly now, so anything he writes at this point is obviously compromised, given Leafly's ideology and industry dependence, but are you sure he had an industry relationship at the time of the book?

1:58 PM · 27 Mar 2019

2 Likes

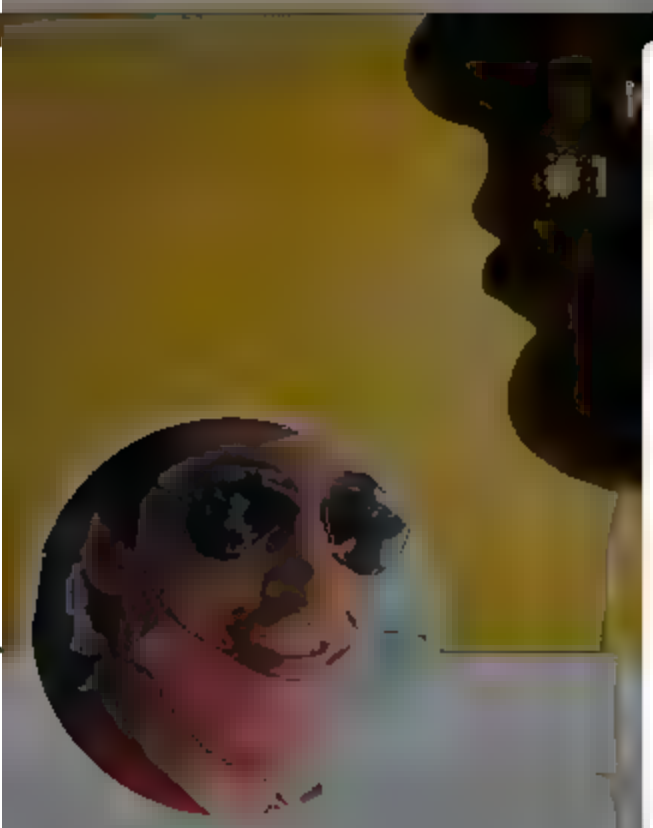
4 2

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to
Read about it a few years back on one of the Weed Blogs. He was not a pot user, and maybe didn't vote for it in WA. But then saw the post that they hired him to write a book, Weed the People.

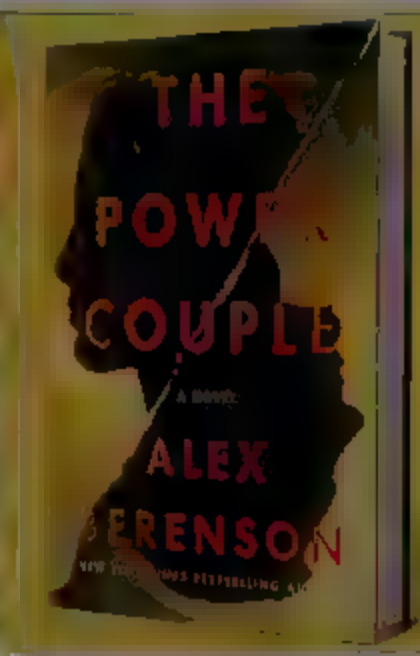


2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019
I know the book - I have read it. But as far as I can recall he does not describe being hired by anyone in the industry to write it.



1



Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

google.com/amp/s/www.wash

12:29 PM - 27 Mar 2019

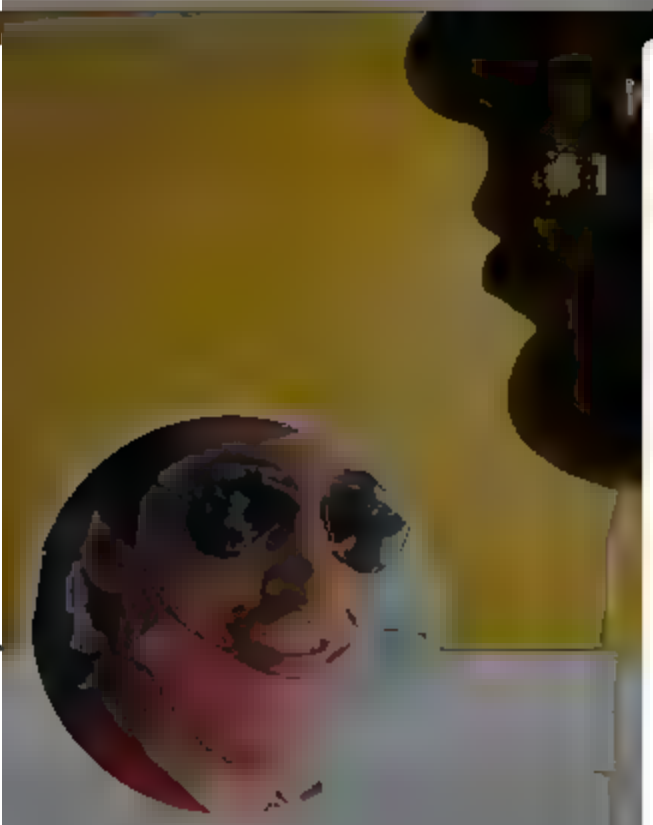
1

Citizens for a Safe and Healthy Texas @CitizensSafe · 28 Mar 2019

Replying to

This is

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

That's three. In the last four months.

google.com/amp/s/www.wash

12:29 PM - 27 Mar 2019

4 Likes

5 4

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to

Maybe there's something to it, but we can't be sure and it would be reckless to draw conclusions from news articles.

1

Darryl Rodgers @JDRodgers61 · 28 Mar 2019

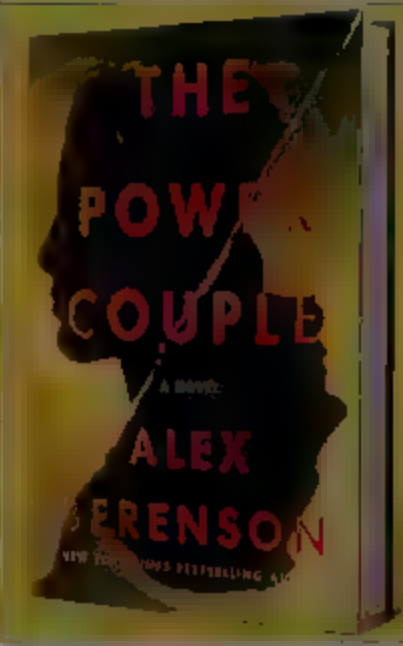
No. It would be reckless to promote a drug as safe to use when the evidence shows that it causes mental illness.

2

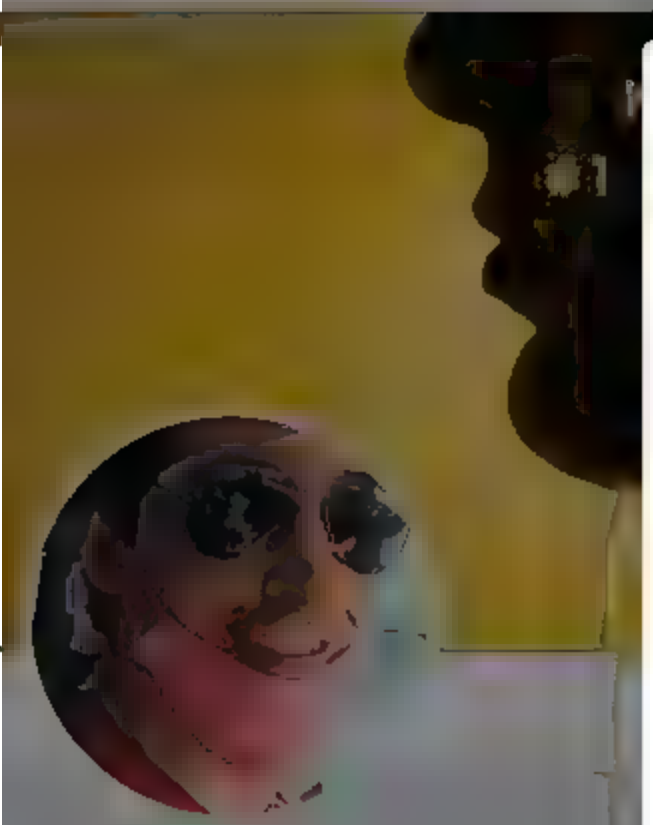
Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to

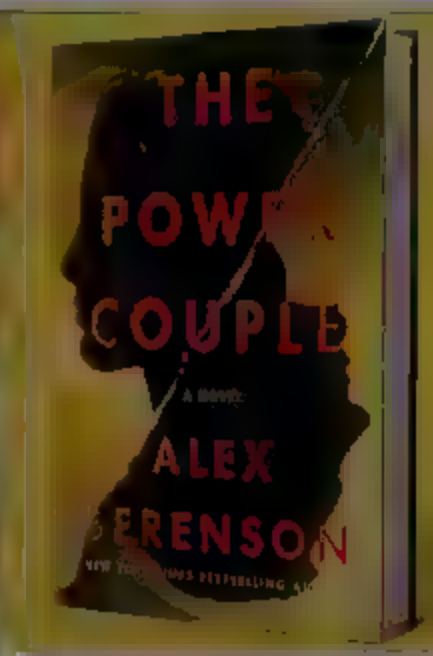
Pathetic, but reading back on the plan of the Cannabis Industry back in 2012, they had to come up with a plan to make parents and, especially women, accept cannabis. There has been an expensive PR agenda by the pot lobby.



1 2



Twas4kids @twas4kids · 27 Mar 2019



Replying to

This woman does not believe in science, or modern medicine - should not be given the time of day let alone this many words - scary to think she is a mother with these medieval views. Gullible person - sad.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

[redacted]

12:28 PM - 27 Mar 2019

2

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

This line sounds like it's written by PR firm: "The secrecy of it, combined with a rocky childhood and the harsh warnings from the local DARE program, formed my early and deep-rooted opinions: Drugs were bad, dangerous and a waste of time."

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Did you know that the marijuana lobbyists hired Bruce Barcott, an environmental journalist to write "Weed the People" They didn't hire a medical journalist as they probably couldn't find one. Sara S, this writer lives in Seattle.

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019

Do you have any evidence for that? I know [redacted] works for [redacted] now, so anything he writes at this point is obviously compromised, given Leafly's ideology and industry dependence, but are you sure he had an industry relationship at the time of the book?

4 2

[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1) Nope. We dont even agree on what 'it' is. And stories like this deserve as much if not more coverage as anything else.

1

Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 27 Mar 2019

2) Is it a social justice movt cuz we've been jailing people of color for smoking it? An artisanal medicine revolution cuz it's been illegal to study in hospitals? About startups, profits - and lifestyle? Evil drug cos? Real science?

2

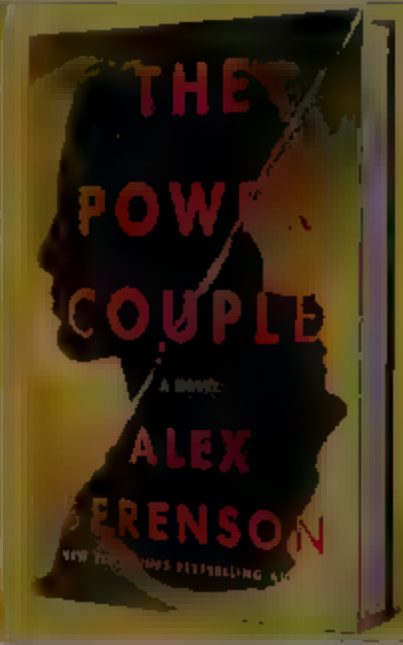
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

I think you are making this too complicated. Is opioid use a lifestyle story? Is the way Big Tobacco manipulated science the story of a clever ad campaign? Cannabis is a recreational drug whose potency and use patterns are growing more dangerous. Everything else is noise.

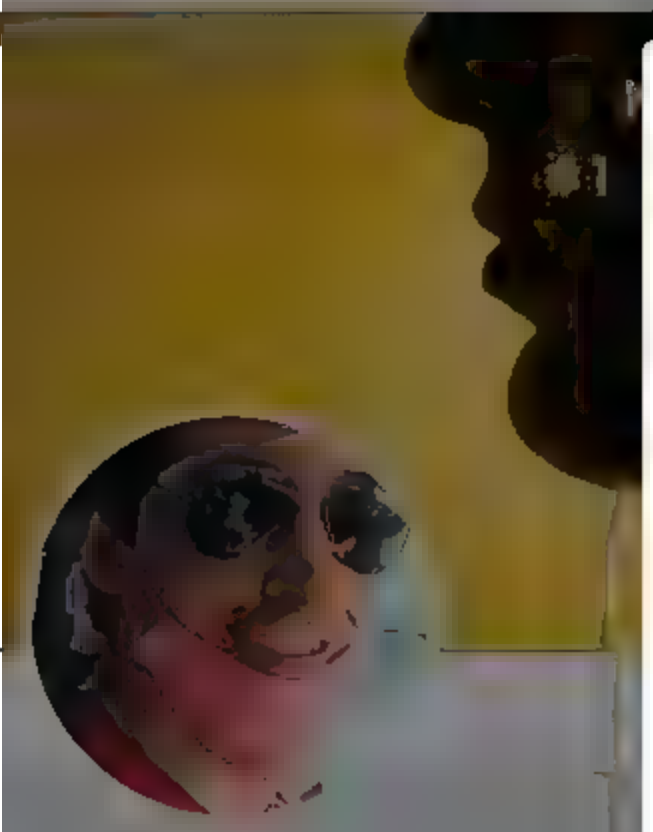
12:22 PM · 27 Mar 2019

1



Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to



That's where we diverge. It's OK. It IS complicated. If we oversimplify, we get simple solutions. The simplest solution is to go back to what we had. Then Epidiolex likely doesn't exist cuz DEA doesnt grant our petition to import it. And other CBD makers who help kids get jailed.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, back in Chicago, this gentleman apparently missed all the @washingtonpost articles on the way marijuana improves parenting too. (Possibly a cannabis/plus case; this is why we need routine tox screens for murders and violence against children.) chicagotribune.com/suburbs/post-t ..

12:11 PM - 27 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 5 Likes

8 2 5

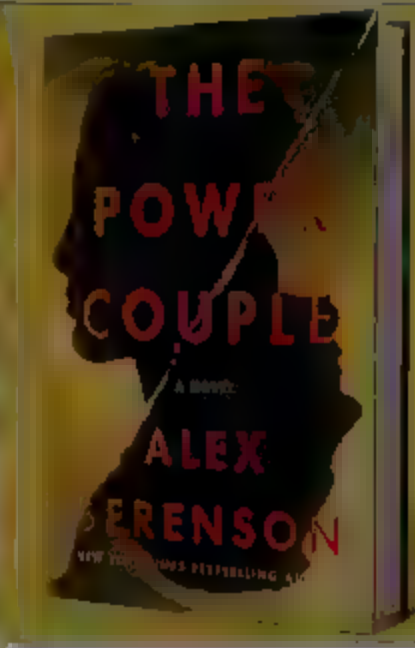
Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Embalming fluid? Legal marijuana is controlled so stuff like that wont get marketed or can be interdicted n the unlikely case it reaches a dispensary. More reason 2legalize. Poor desperate Alex. Spinning&tap dancing. Did u see good news on how marijuana improves immune function?

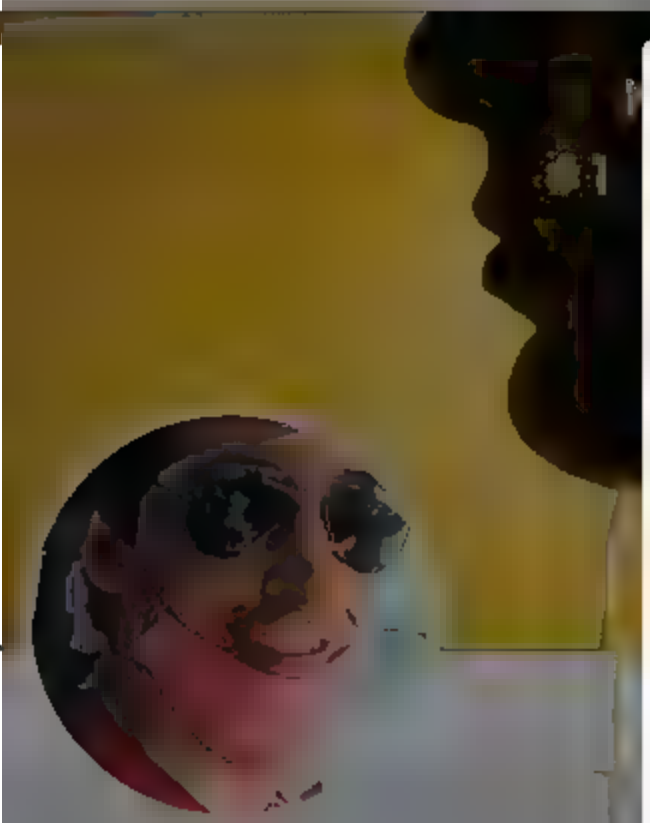
1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019



Replying to [redacted]

We have found the child abuse deaths caused by (mainly parents) or caregivers who use pot, those that happened since Nov. 1, 2012,first votes to legalize. The numbers are staggering -- 150. At first it seemed neglect, but there are more violent deaths than neglectful ones.



Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

But popular female magazines, like Oprah and Cosmopolitan, have also come

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

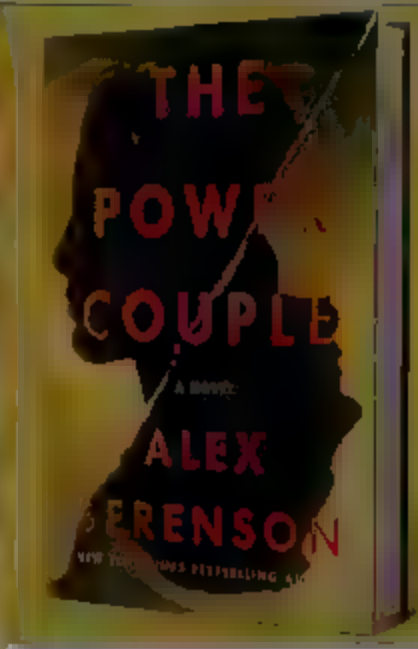
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, in Wales, just three non-violent middle-aged guys who liked to non-violently smoke cannabis every day until they non-violently got into a fight that killed one and left the other charged with murder...



11:36 AM - 27 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 3 Likes

4 3 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019
(Other two)

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

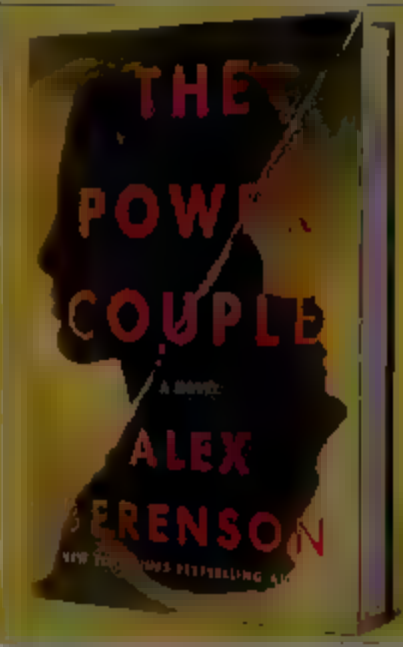
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019

Meanwhile, in Wales, just three non-violent middle-aged guys who liked to non-violently smoke cannabis every day until they non-violently got into a fight that killed one and left the other charged with murder...

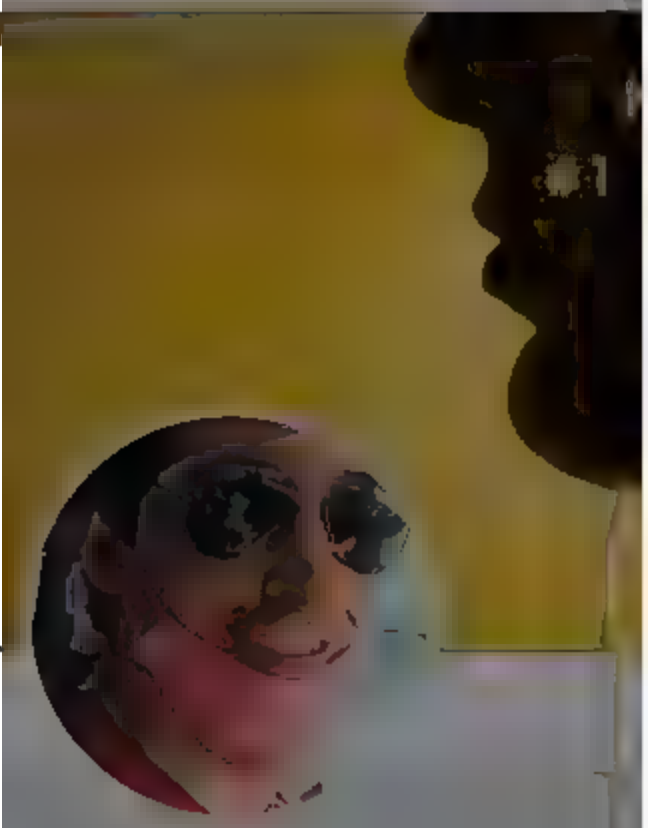
4 3 3



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

(Other two)

11:38 AM - 27 Mar 2019



2 Likes

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Okay now I'm laughing - you upped your meme game this time! But more seriously I am not sure why your attitude seems to be, this can't possibly be true and I must disprove it, rather than, this topline data is striking/worthy of study. It feels badly ideologically blinkered.

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

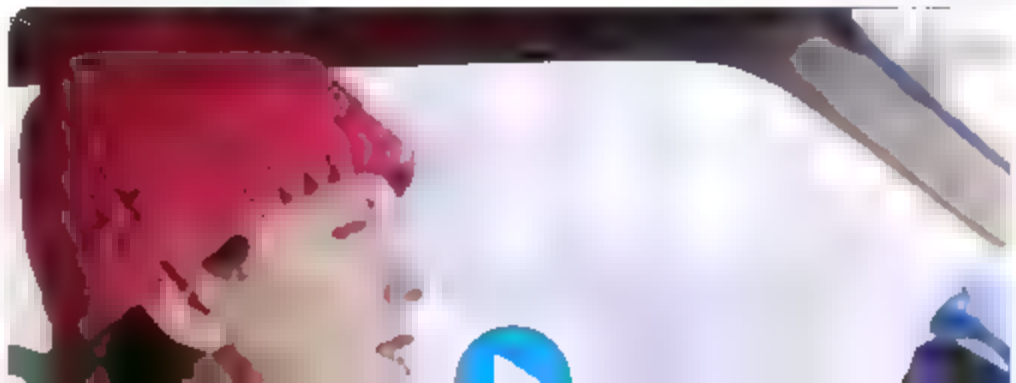
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

1/ And this has been the case from the first. I don't want to keep arguing about it but the fact is the SHR dataset is simply the wrong dataset, for all the reasons I've repeatedly pointed out. Now here's a guy doing the kind of analysis YOU say is best...

9:03 AM - 27 Mar 2019

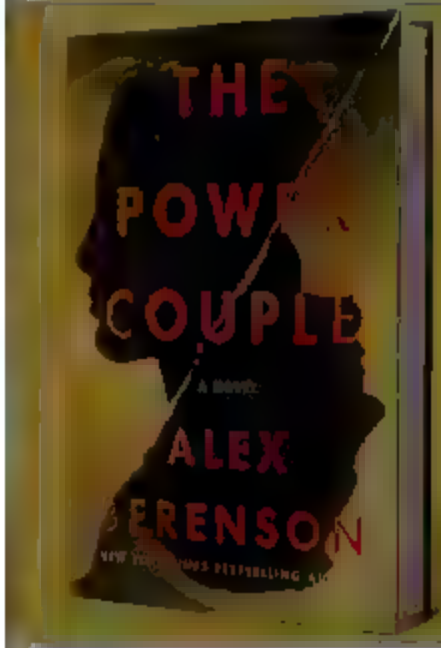
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019



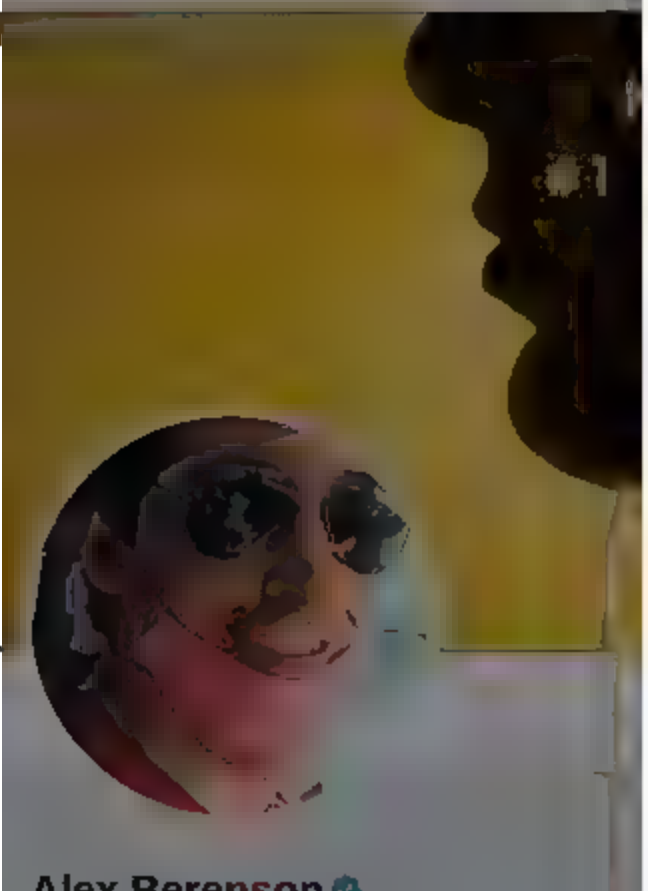
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

2/ And before even reading the whole paper (by your own admission) you start attacking it. Why not slow down a bit?



1

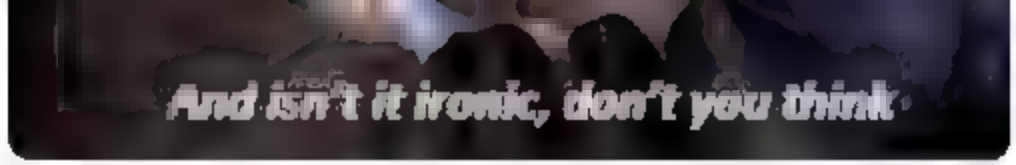
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 27 Mar 2019



You're citing a paper as evidence without reading it either (see meme below).... And I did at least skim the paper. I read the tables, the figures, the methods section. I stand by my critique. If you ask 10 economists statisticians, I'd guess 10/10 would agree with me.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

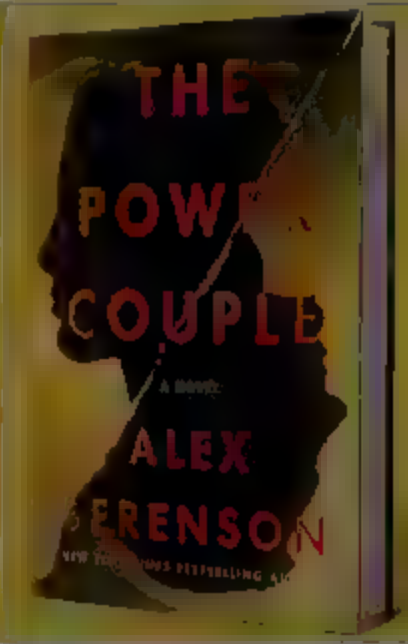
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Not sure where you got the idea I didn't read the paper... again, though, there's a more serious issue that doesn't apply only to you, but to a large group of academics who would rather shout at me than engage with this data and its implications. Maybe no more memes? I get it.

9:42 AM - 27 Mar 2019

2

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 27 Mar 2019



Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Pretty sure I'm engaging with data, & then being accused of being defensive. If you read the paper what's your take on the reliability of the common trends assumption? When someone engages with you in good faith (I am) maybe dont be so accusatory. Otherwise expect more memes :-)

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

This is what he does attack makes up incomplete analysis. Such a genius. Hope we see a 2 fer.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ And this has been the case from the first. I don't want to keep arguing about it but the fact is the SHR dataset is simply the wrong dataset, for all the reasons I've repeatedly pointed out. Now here's a guy doing the kind of analysis YOU say is best...

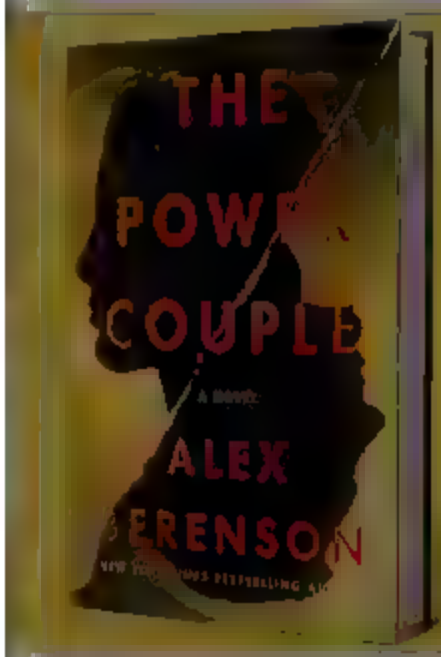
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

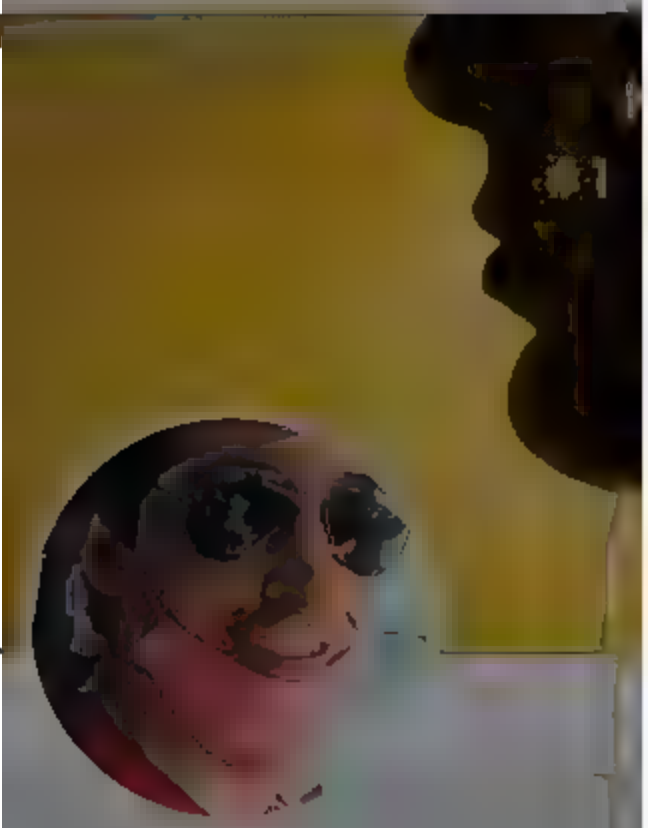
2/ And before even reading the whole paper (by your own admission) you start attacking it. Why not slow down a bit?

9:04 AM - 27 Mar 2019



1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 27 Mar 2019



Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

You're citing a paper as evidence without reading it either (see meme below).... And I did at least skim the paper. I read the tables, the figures, the methods section. I stand by my critique. If you ask 10 economists statisticians, I'd guess 10/10 would agree with me.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to and 2 others

Okay now I'm laughing - you upped your meme game this time! But more seriously I am not sure why your attitude seems to be, this can't possibly be true and I must disprove it, rather than, this topline data is striking/worthy of study. It feels badly ideologically blinkered.

9:01 AM - 27 Mar 2019

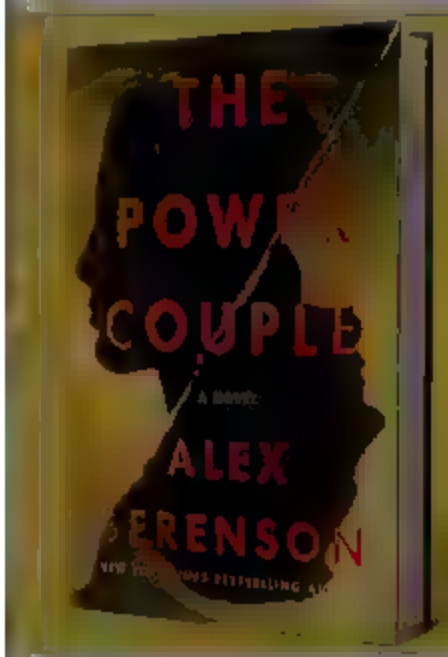
1 Like

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019

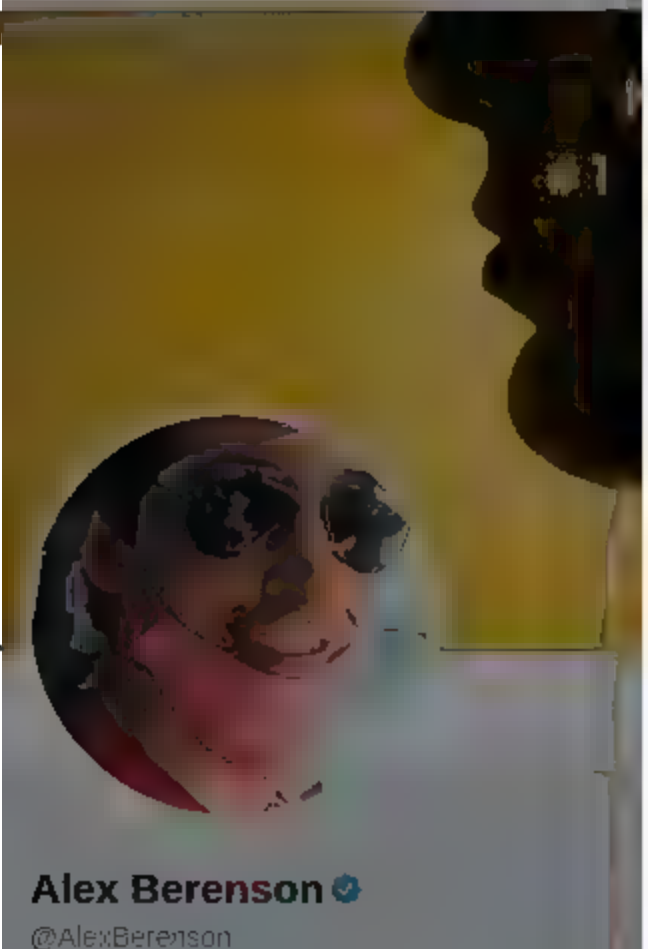
Replying to and 3 others

1/ And this has been the case from the first. I don't want to keep arguing about it but the fact is the SHR dataset is simply the wrong dataset, for all the reasons I've repeatedly pointed out. Now here's a guy doing the kind of analysis YOU say is best...



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019

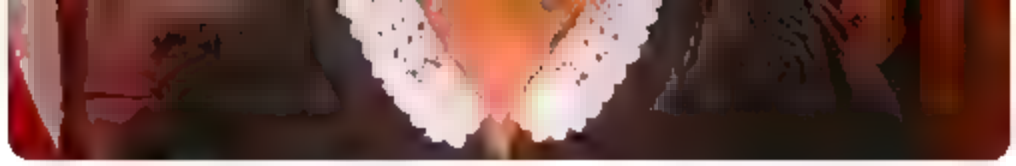


2/ And before even reading the whole paper (by your own admission) you start attacking it. Why not slow down a bit?

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

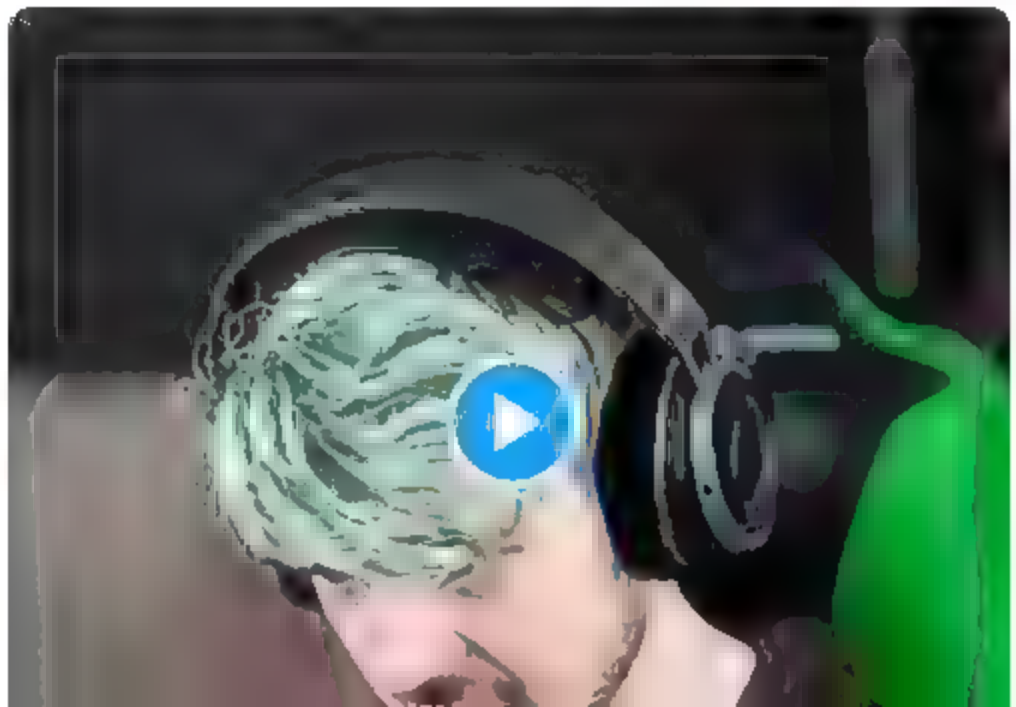
Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

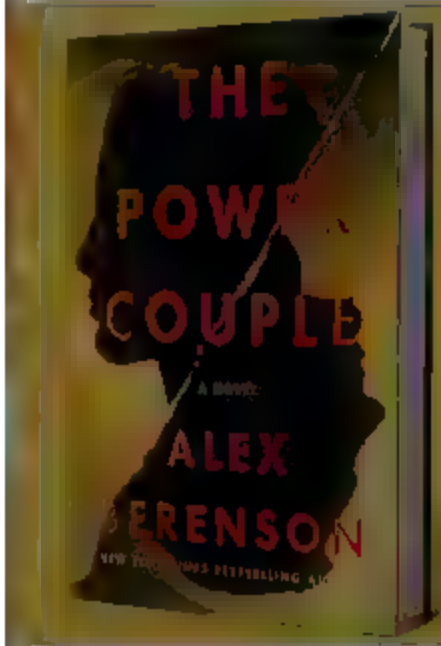
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Nothing says considered academic discourse like a Judge Judy eye-rolling meme. Remind me not to add that to my debating technique. Oh well. At least you didn't call me a charlatan and then block me...



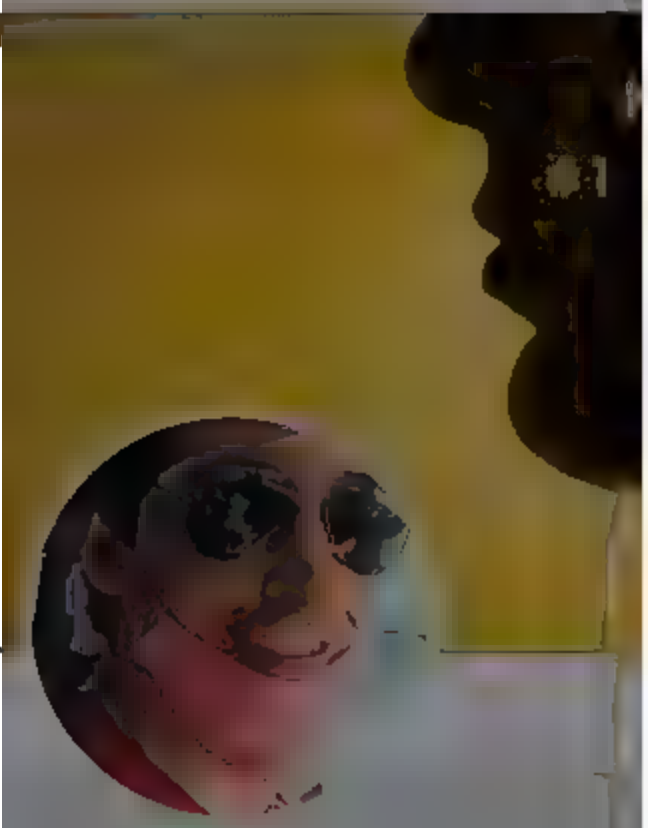
8:04 AM - 27 Mar 2019

1



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics - 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others



Well you seemed to either ignore or mock any discussion of econometrics and statistics so I decided to try a different method of communcation common on twitter.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to and 2 others

1/ Ben, I don't know why you are getting so defensive about this paper, which isn't even mine. I said it was interesting, not that it proved anything. Mainly, I think it's interesting because it shows how much variability goes into the creation of synthetic controls...

7:49 AM - 27 Mar 2019

2

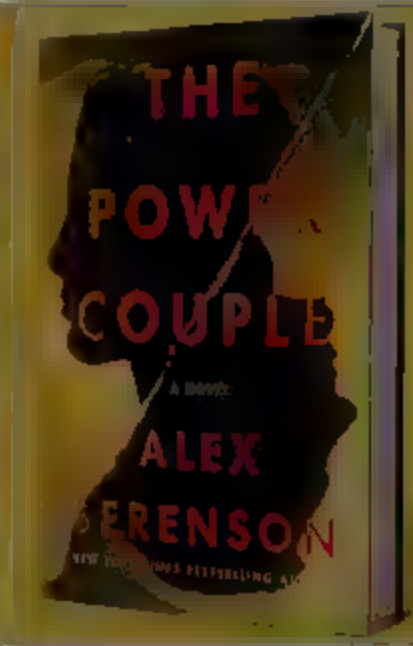
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to and 3 others

2/ I don't know if psychosis causes property crime (though I believe there's some evidence it does). It causes violent crime - the more violent, the greater the risk. And this paper shows that violent crime also increased...

2

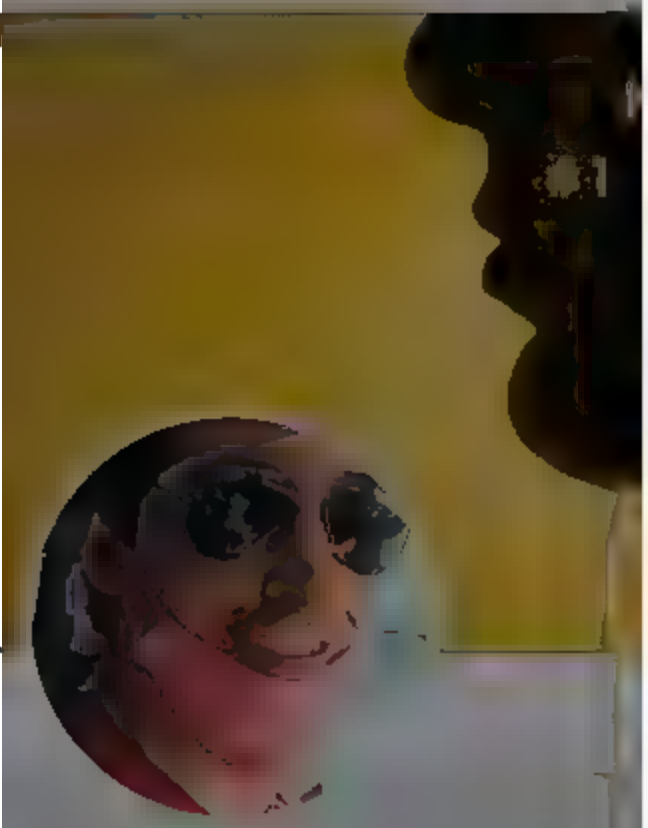
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019



3/ Further, it shows a notable age effect. Cannabis use increased slightly if at all among teen users post-legalization in Colorado ; it increased much faster among people over 18. The crime trends are the . Again, the correlation doesn't prove anything, but it's striking.

1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 27 Mar 2019



Replying to and 2 others

That was defensive? ... It was a critique, measured and reasonable given the constraints of twitter. Common trends absent the treatment all of us (you

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Ben, I don't know why you are getting so defensive about this paper, which isn't even mine. I said it was interesting, not that it proved anything. Mainly, I think it's interesting because it shows how much variability goes into the creation of synthetic controls...

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

2/ I don't know if psychosis causes property crime (though I believe there's some evidence it does). It causes violent crime - the more violent, the greater the risk. And this paper shows that violent crime also increased...

7:50 AM - 27 Mar 2019

2

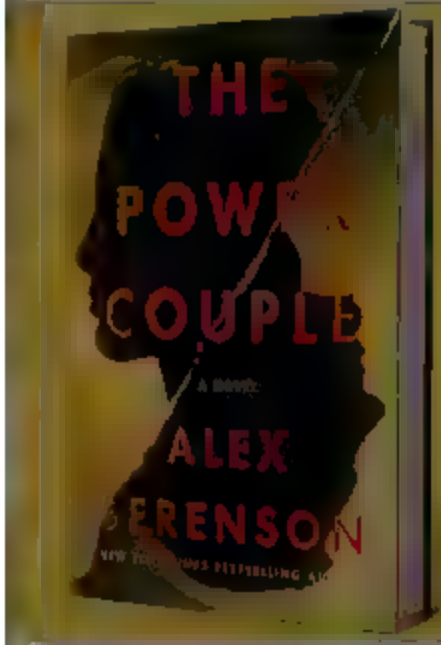
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

3/ Further, it shows a notable age effect. Cannabis use increased slightly if at all among teen users post-legalization in Colorado ; it increased much faster among people over 18. The crime trends are the . Again, the correlation doesn't prove anything, but it's striking.

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Mar 2019



You left out yet again the people who moved there it was noted many homeless and gangs.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

Right poverty and family la k has no bearing on crime whatsoever. Thank you for the new info.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Ben, I don't know why you are getting so defensive about this paper, which isn't even mine. I said it was interesting, not that it proved anything. Mainly, I think it's interesting because it shows how much variability goes into the creation of synthetic controls...

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019

2/ I don't know if psychosis causes property crime (though I believe there's some evidence it does). It causes violent crime - the more violent, the greater the risk. And this paper shows that violent crime also increased...

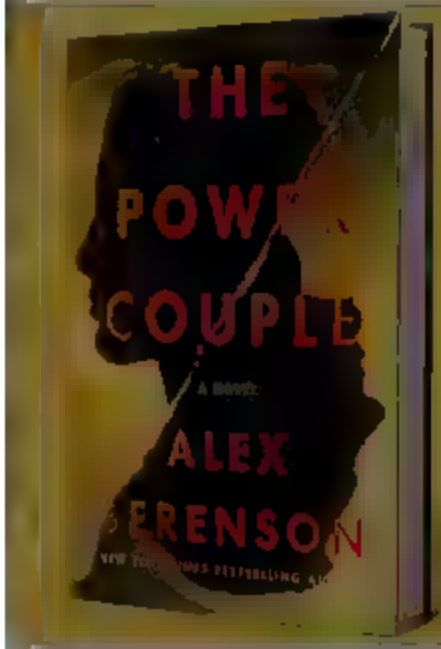
2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

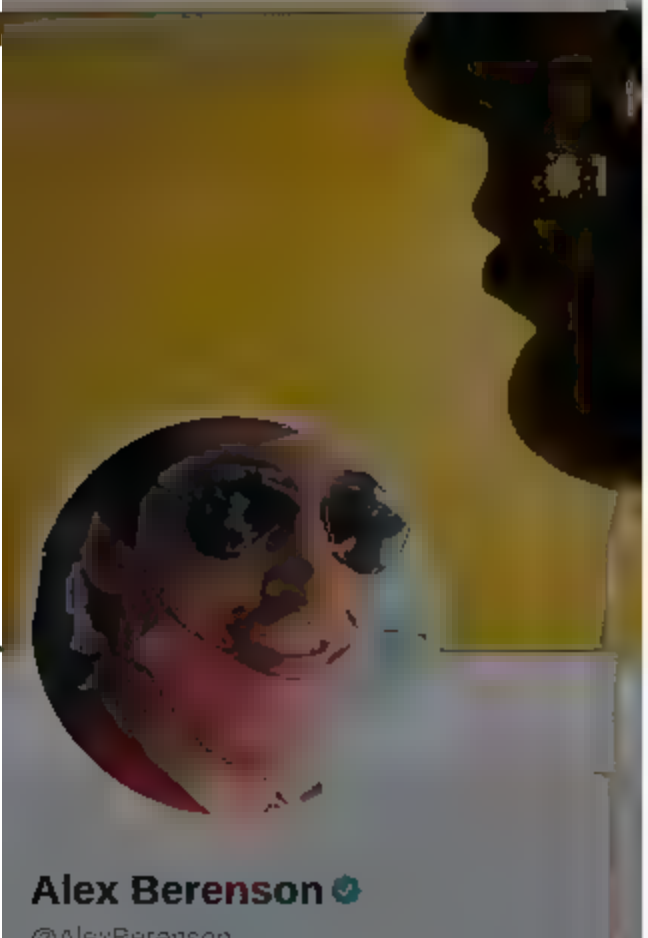
3/ Further, it shows a notable age effect. Cannabis use increased slightly if at all among teen users post-legalization in Colorado ; it increased much faster among people over 18. The crime trends are the . Again, the correlation doesn't prove anything, but it's striking.



7:52 AM - 27 Mar 2019

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Mar 2019



Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

You left out yet again the people who moved there it was noted many homeless and gangs.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Correct. It's why I worry your campaign to alert the world leaves out the fact that there is real science going on here with real benefits that will help inform the public health disc. It's not just stoners and Laetril-ites. I'd hate to see backlash against one, crush the other.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

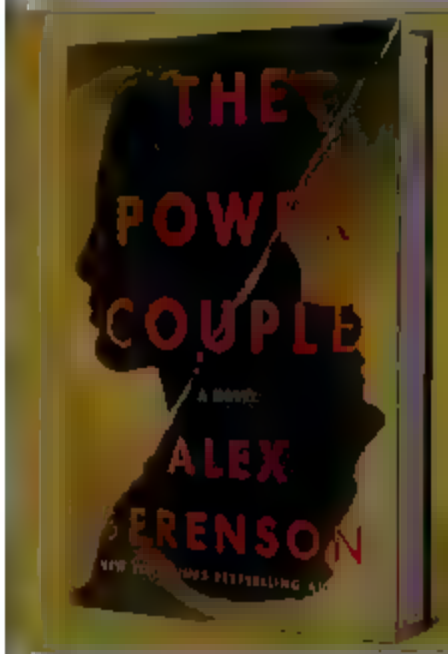
Serious Q - do you think the media presentation of the risks and benefits of cannabis is is close to balanced at this point? Or that it reflects anything close to the scientific literature? If you do, I recommend a little time watching @HMonkBO and reading @washingtonpost.

7:44 AM - 27 Mar 2019

1 Like

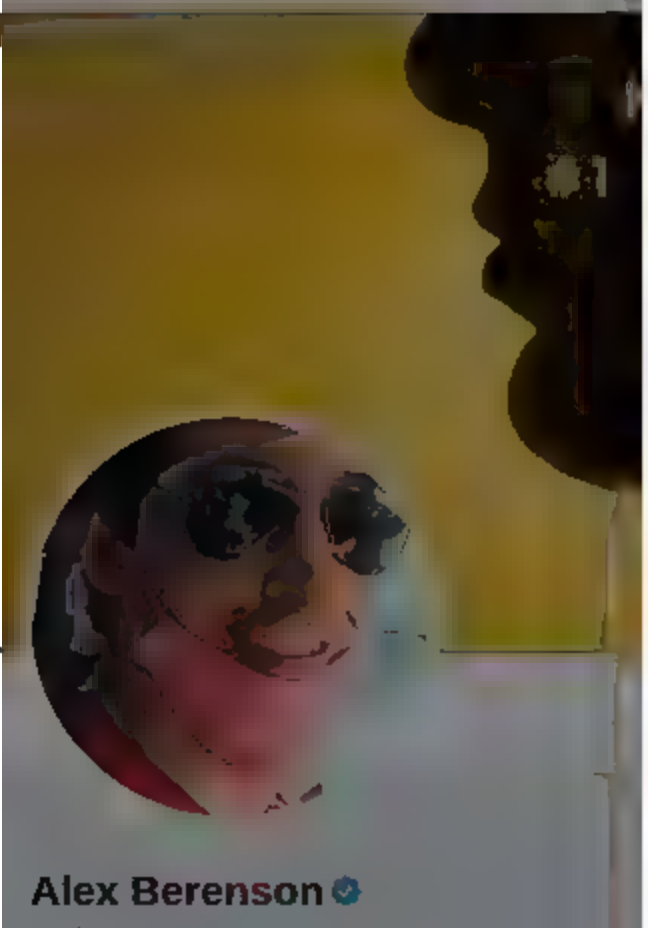
1 1

Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to



1) Nope. We dont even agree on what 'it' is. And stories like this deserve as much if not more coverage as anything else.

1



Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 27 Mar 2019
2) Is it a social justice movt cuz we've been jailing people of color for smoking it? An artisanal medicine revolution cuz it's been illegal to study in hospitals? About startups, profits - and lifestyle? Evil drug cos? Real science?

2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

7 1

Stig Erik Sørheim @stigerik3 · 27 Mar 2019

1

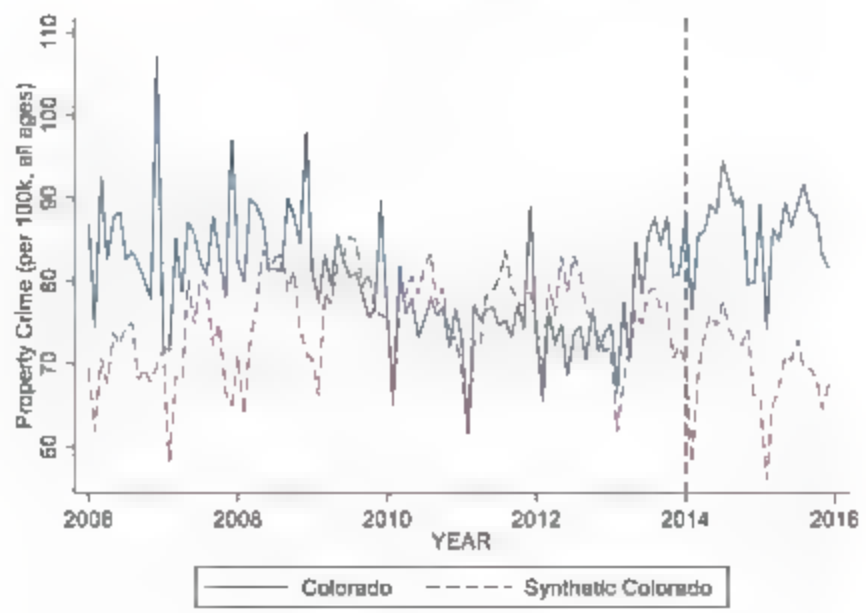
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Wow. Thanks much for pointing me to this. Fascinating. @benconomics @aaronecarroll @germanlopez

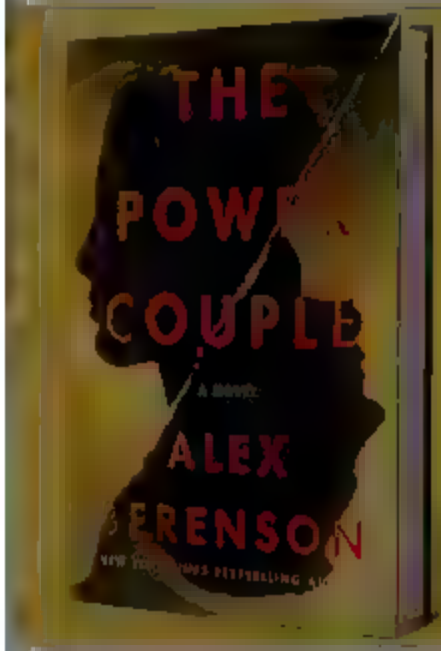
7:36 AM · 27 Mar 2019

3



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 27 Mar 2019

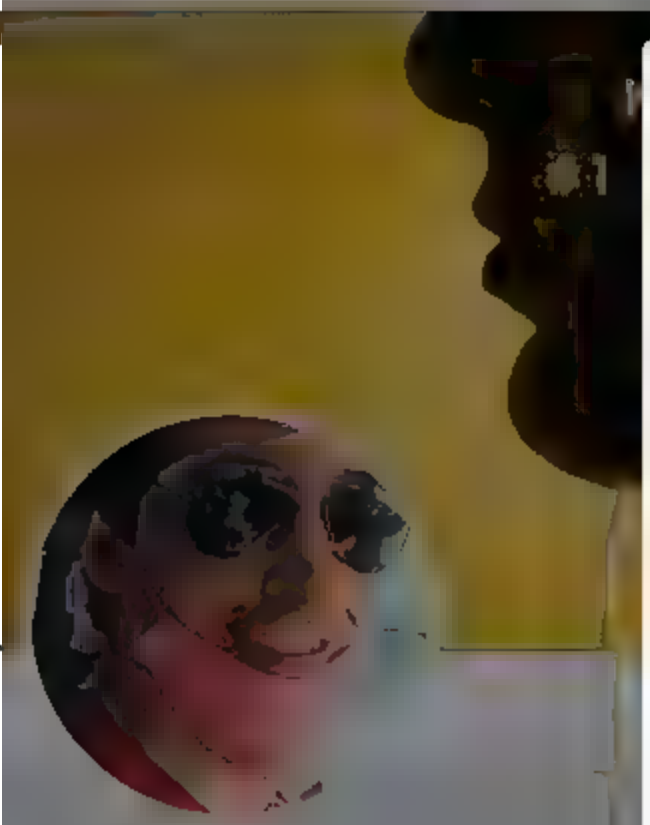
Replying to and 2 others



Haven't read the paper so I can speak to the paper, its methods, etc yet. But, you now think pyschosis causes property crimes...is that still consistent with your theory? ALso check out Figure 5 of their figure.

Figure 5

Experiment 3: Property Crime, All Ages*



1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just three non-violent cannabis users (allegedly) non-violently beating a friend to death. (Yes, they'd used cocaine and alcohol too. The worst crimes are cannabis/plus.)

"The three took hits off a joint as they rested between beating up the man..."

7:15 AM - 27 Mar 2019

6 Retweets 13 Likes

7 6 13

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to

So there are criminals in the world. Thanks for the info. I did not know that.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

groups..?

Cannabos prohibition was born in racism, bigotry and ignorance. When exactly did that change?

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

You mean like when the Mexican gov't - motivated by anti-Hispanic prejudice - banned marijuana in 1920? Or when two of the three Indian members of the Hemp Drugs Commission - who clearly hated Indians - called for all but the weakest cannabis to be banned in India in 1893?

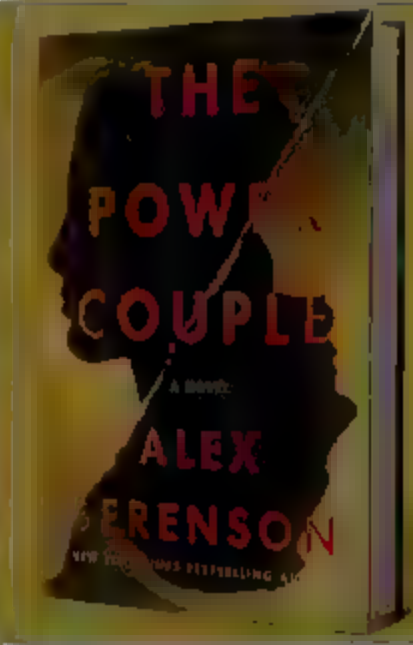
4:18 AM - 27 Mar 2019

3

(((JS Rafaeli))) @JSRafaelism · 27 Mar 2019
Replying to

The US Government has consistently used diplomatic and economic pressure across the world to coerce other countries into prohibition policies. It's imperialism plain and simple, and you're arguing in favour of it. Well done.

Home About

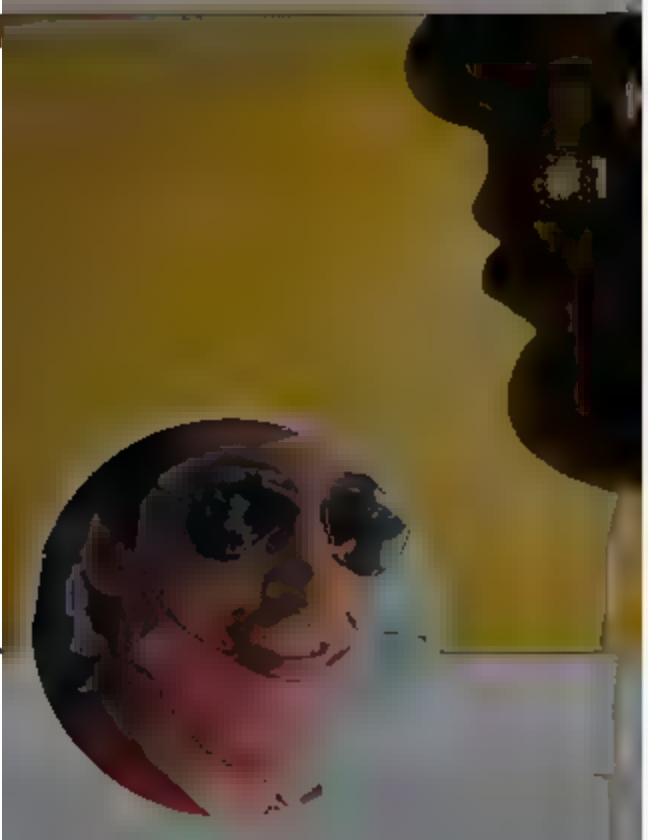


Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York



Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

attributed to cannabis involved edibles, and those deaths were surprisingly violent. In all three incidents, including a murder and a suicide in 2014 and another suicide in 2015, the pot users exhibited extremely erratic behavior after consuming edibles, according to news reports and trial testimony.

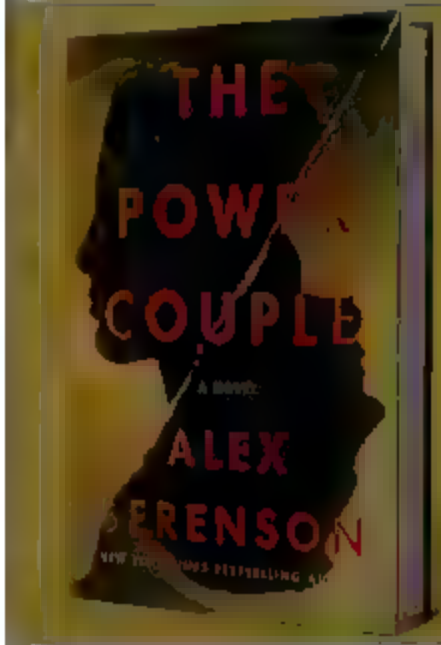
2 2 5

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

You're right - there have been far more than three cannabis-related violent deaths in Colorado since 2014.



7:19 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

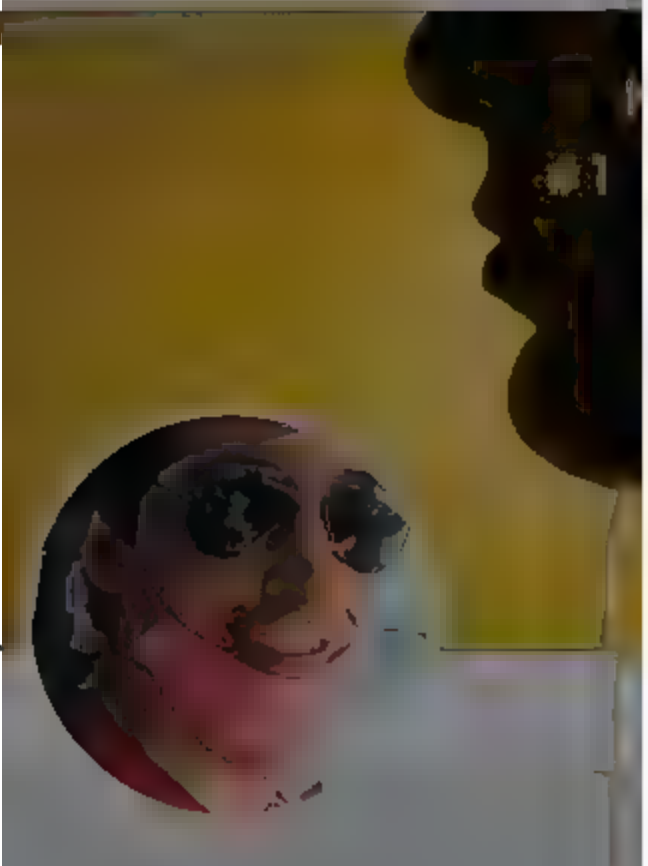
1 1 5

Chris Roberts @cbloggy · 26 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I wager you have also sold far more books

1

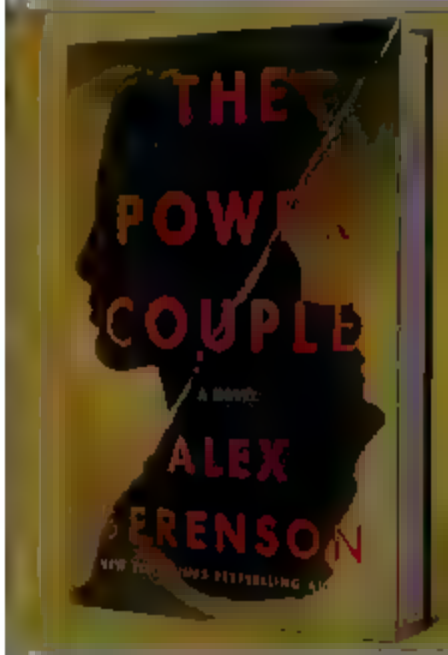


© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

5/ BTW - the Whiting JAMA meta-analysis of cannabis as medicine in 2015 found almost 24,000 possibly relevant papers. But of those, only 79 met the researchers' standards. That's not evidence the drug hasn't been researched it's evidence the research hasn't gone anywhere.

1

Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 26 Mar 2019

I guess we'll have to agree to disagree. I know a lot of the docs/researchers in hospitals who are trying to study cannabis and/or who are studying CBD. I've listened to medical conferences on the state of research. Most say we'd know more if it were easier to study.

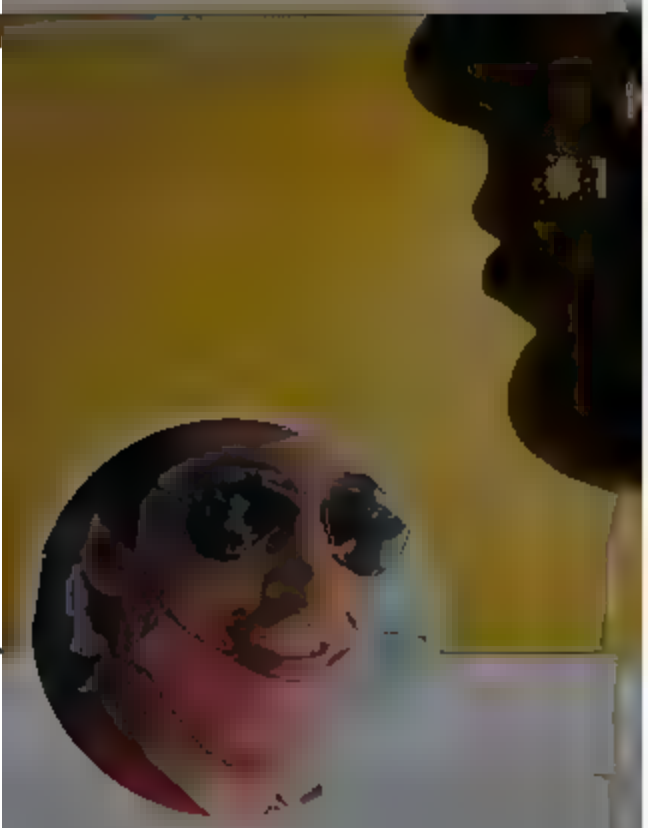
2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

Fred - sure, we can agree to disagree on that point - and I actually agree the scheduling should be changed to make cannabis easier to study (maybe a special 1R designation, or some such). But if (if!) the potential medicinal benefits are unclear, the harms are not.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

And the advocates (abetted by the media) have lied about those harm. I get it; it's hard to say, Okay, this drug may have serious psychiatric consequences for lots of users, but it should be legal anyway, for all these good reasons. Much easier just to shout Reefer Madness.

4:19 PM - 26 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2)I'm certainly biased. My son Sam was the first person to try Epidiolex by GW in 2012. It saved his life. As a result, I've gotten to know a lot of people in the cannabis/cbd research community. Few are as down on it as you. They've seen what it can do if properly administered.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

But Epidolex is exactly the point! It was tested in controlled trials, its harms were measured against its benefits, and the FDA found that it worked. Now it's sold (for a princely sum) and covered by insurance. That's medicine. Not "Hello Marijuana. Goodbye Anxiety."

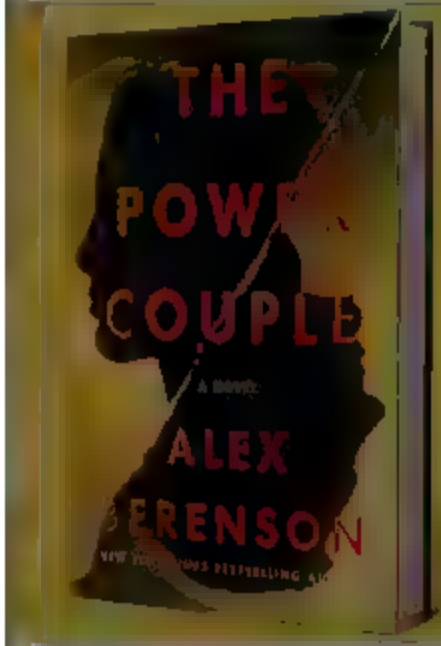
4:22 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1

Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 26 Mar 2019

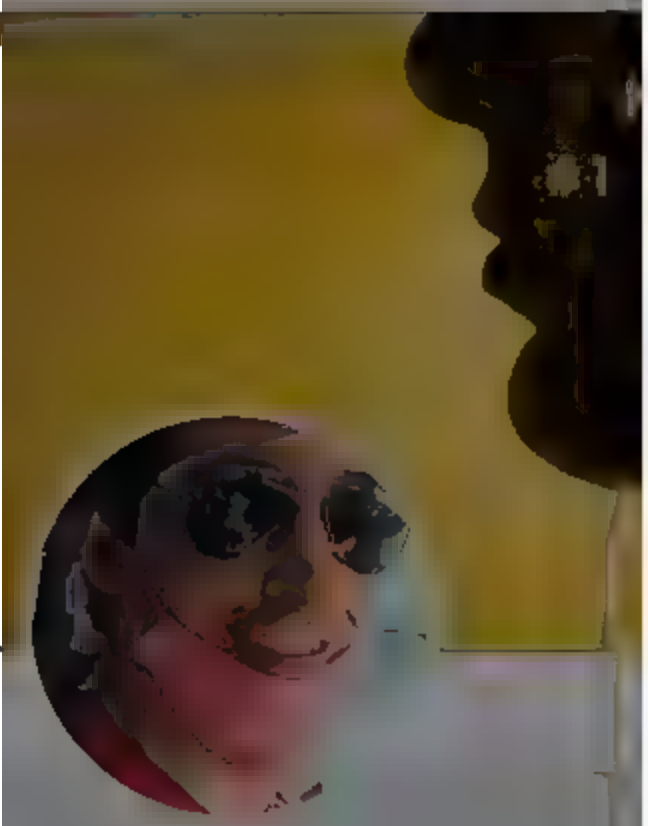
Replying to

Correct. It's why I worry your campaign to alert the world leaves out the fact that there is real science going on here with real benefits that will help inform the public health disc. It's not just stoners and Laetril-ites. I'd hate to see backlash against one, crush the other.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Mar 2019



Serious Q - do you think the media presentation of the risks and benefits of cannabis is is close to balanced at this point? Or that it reflects anything close to the scientific literature? If you do, I recommend a little time watching and reading

1 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4/ Must exclude patients with any severe mental illness/history of psychosis. And the drug is probably not acceptable for chronic use (yes, the irony). So, no, the problem isn't that cannabis/THC hasn't been studied. It's that it doesn't work very well as medicine.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

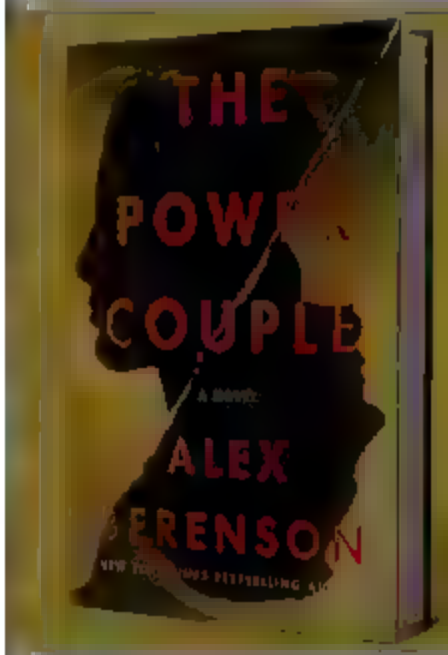
5/ BTW - the Whiting JAMA meta-analysis of cannabis as medicine in 2015 found almost 24,000 possibly relevant papers. But of those, only 79 met the researchers' standards. That's not evidence the drug hasn't been researched it's evidence the research hasn't gone anywhere.

3:49 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1

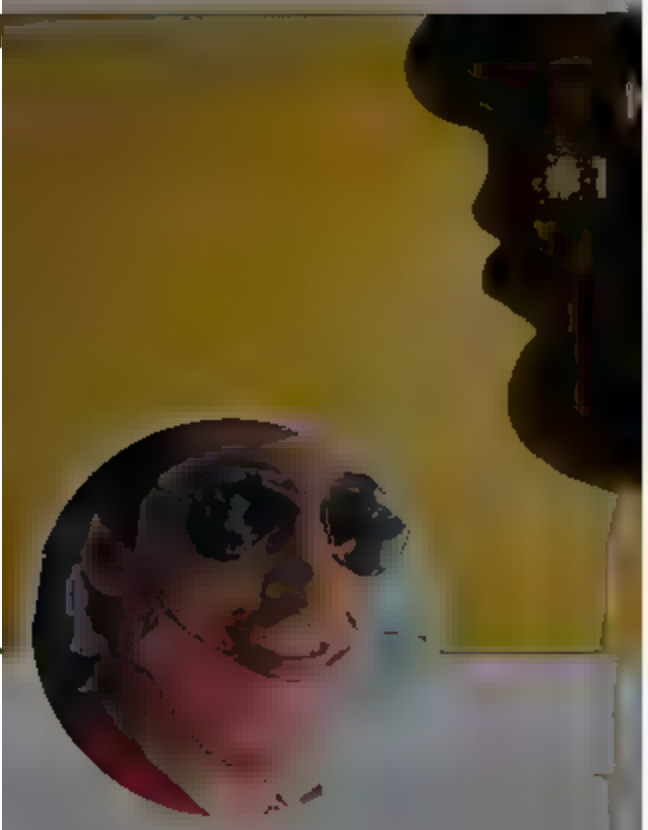
Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 26 Mar 2019

Replying to



I guess we'll have to agree to disagree. I know a lot of the docs/researchers in hospitals who are trying to study cannabis and/or who are studying CBD. I've listened to medical conferences on the state of research. Most say we'd know more if it were easier to study.

2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

Fred - sure, we can agree to disagree on that point - and I actually agree the scheduling should be changed to make cannabis easier to study (maybe a special 1R designation, or some such). But if (if!) the potential medicinal benefits are unclear, the harms are not.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ Smoked (or even vaped) cannabis would have to show incredible efficacy in any indication to convince drug regulators to approve it, because of the inherent risks of inhaled products. Further, given the known psychiatric health risks of THC/cannabis, ethical clinical trials...

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

4/ Must exclude patients with any severe mental illness/history of psychosis. And the drug is probably not acceptable for chronic use (yes, the irony). So, no, the problem isn't that cannabis/THC hasn't been studied. It's that it doesn't work very well as medicine.

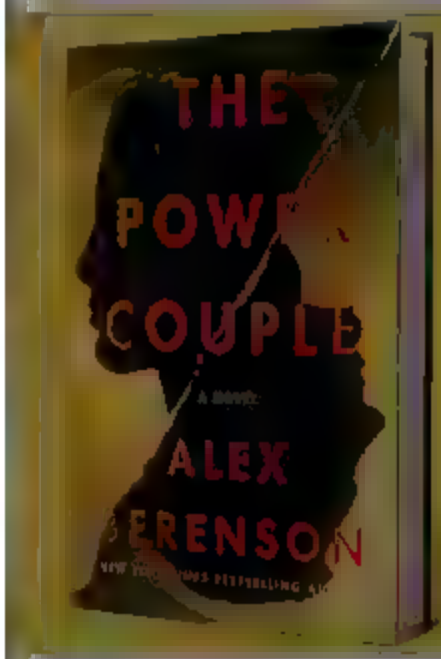
3:44 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1 Like

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

Replying to



5/ BTW - the Whiting JAMA meta-analysis of cannabis as medicine in 2015 found almost 24,000 possibly relevant papers. But of those, only 79 met the researchers' standards. That's not evidence the drug hasn't been researched it's evidence the research hasn't gone anywhere.

1

Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 26 Mar 2019

I guess we'll have to agree to disagree. I know a lot of the docs/researchers in hospitals who are trying to study cannabis and/or who are studying CBD. I've listened to medical conferences on the state of research. Most say we'd know more if it were easier to study.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

found almost 24,000 possibly relevant papers. But of those, only 79 met the researchers' standards. That's not evidence the drug hasn't been researched it's evidence the research hasn't gone anywhere.

1

Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 26 Mar 2019

I guess we'll have to agree to disagree. I know a lot of the docs/researchers in hospitals who are trying to study cannabis and/or who are studying CBD. I've listened to medical conferences on the state of research. Most say we'd know more if it were easier to study.

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

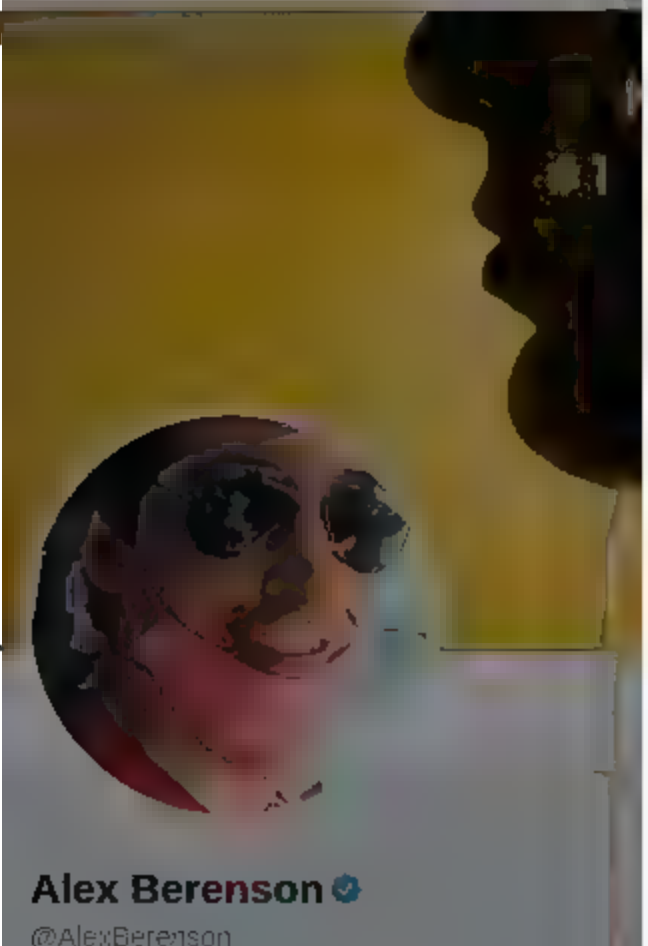
Follow

Replying to

Fred - sure, we can agree to disagree on that point - and I actually agree the scheduling should be changed to make cannabis easier to study (maybe a special 1R designation, or some such). But if (if!) the potential medicinal benefits are unclear, the harms are not.

4:16 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1



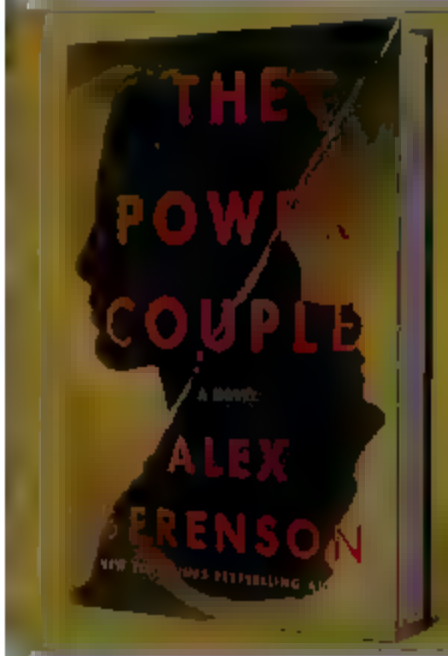
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

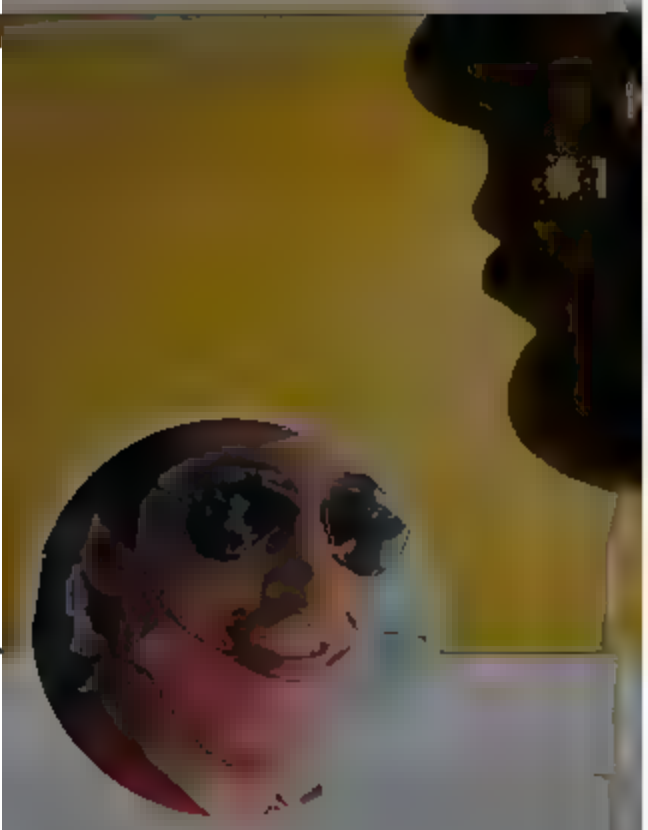
Replying to

And the advocates (abetted by the media) have lied about those harm. I get it; it's hard to say, Okay, this drug may have serious psychiatric consequences for lots of users, but it should be legal anyway, for all these good reasons. Much easier just to shout Reefer Madness.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info





Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Cannabis has been studied for medical indications for more than 30 years; since the 1998, a British pharma company called GW Pharma has devoted itself solely to studying cannabinoids for FDA/EMA approval. The Center for Medicinal Cannabis Research is part of the UC system.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

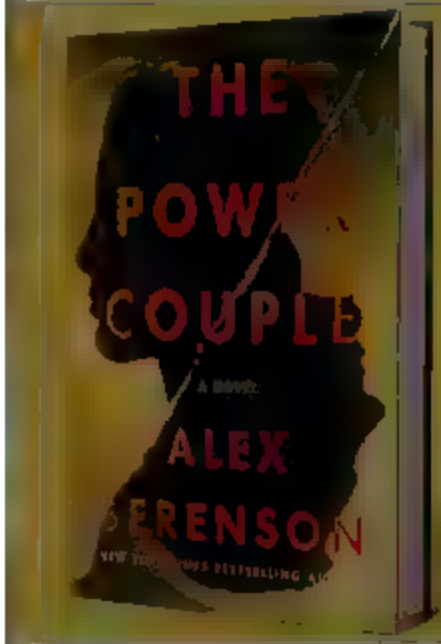
2/ Although clinical trials for cannabis and cannabinoids have been (somewhat) difficult to conduct in the US, they are fairly straightforward to conduct in the UK, Europe, and Israel, and GW and others have done so. Mostly they've failed.

3:41 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

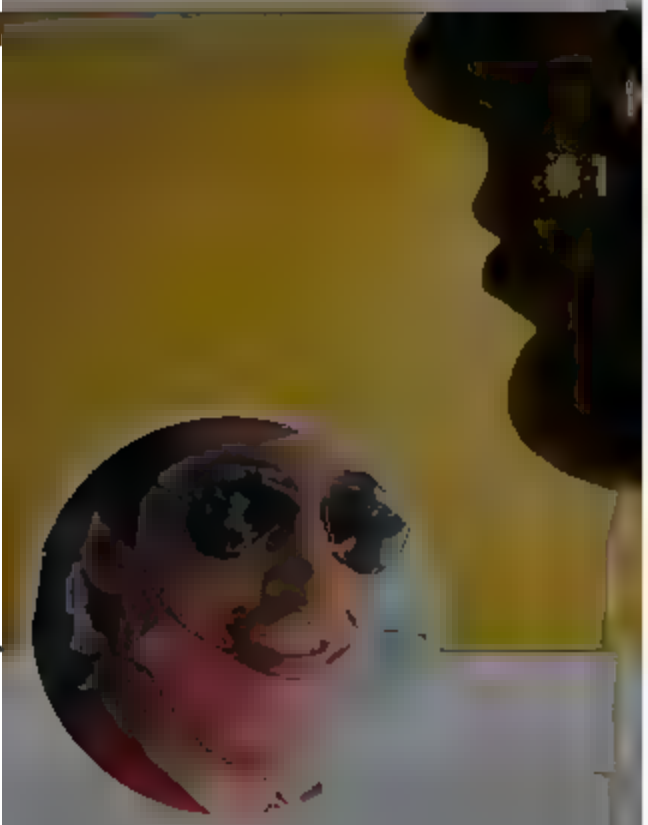
Replying to



3/ Smoked (or even vaped) cannabis would have to show incredible efficacy in any indication to convince drug regulators to approve it, because of the inherent risks of inhaled products. Further, given the known psychiatric health risks of THC/cannabis, ethical clinical trials...

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019



4/ Must exclude patients with any severe mental illness/history of psychosis. And the drug is probably not acceptable for chronic use (yes, the irony). So, no, the problem isn't that cannabis/THC hasn't been studied. It's that it doesn't work very well as medicine.

1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

2/ Although clinical trials for cannabis and cannabinoids have been (somewhat) difficult to conduct in the US, they are fairly straightforward to conduct in the UK, Europe, and Israel, and GW and others have done so. Mostly they've failed.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

3/ Smoked (or even vaped) cannabis would have to show incredible efficacy in any indication to convince drug regulators to approve it, because of the inherent risks of inhaled products. Further, given the known psychiatric health risks of THC/cannabis, ethical clinical trials...

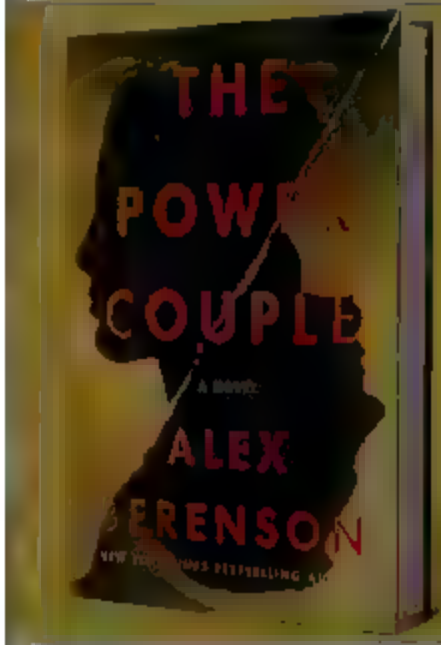
3:43 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

Replying to

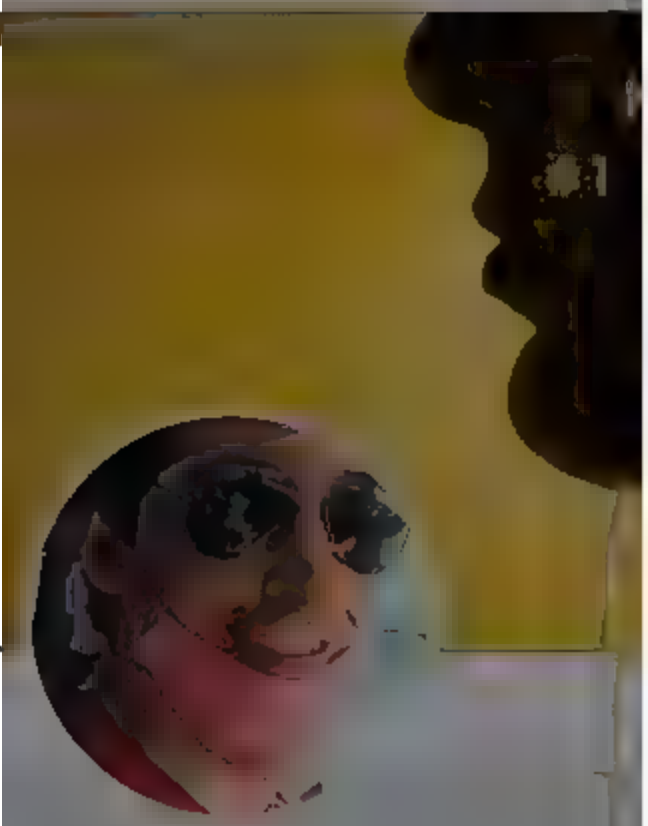
4/ Must exclude patients with any severe mental illness/history of psychosis. And the drug is probably not acceptable for chronic use (yes, the irony). So, no, the problem isn't that cannabis/THC hasn't been studied. It's that it doesn't work very well as medicine.



1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

5/ BTW - the Whiting JAMA meta-analysis of cannabis as medicine in 2015 found almost 24,000 possibly relevant papers. But of those, only 79 met the researchers' standards. That's not evidence the drug hasn't been researched it's evidence the research hasn't gone anywhere.



1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Agree we should stop pretending cannabis is risk free + we should better educate users about risks. But what's the evidence it's not hard to study? Or that most potential medical uses haven't panned out? Researchers I know w/ papers on PubMed say it's impossible and stigmatising.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

1/ Cannabis has been studied for medical indications for more than 30 years; since the 1998, a British pharma company called GW Pharma has devoted itself solely to studying cannabinoids for FDA/EMA approval. The Center for Medicinal Cannabis Research is part of the UC system.

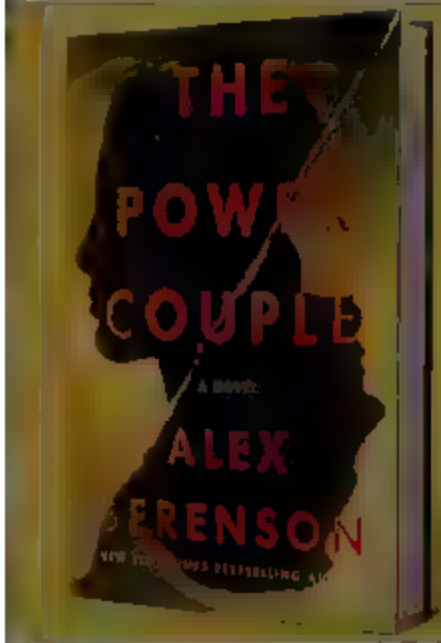
3:39 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

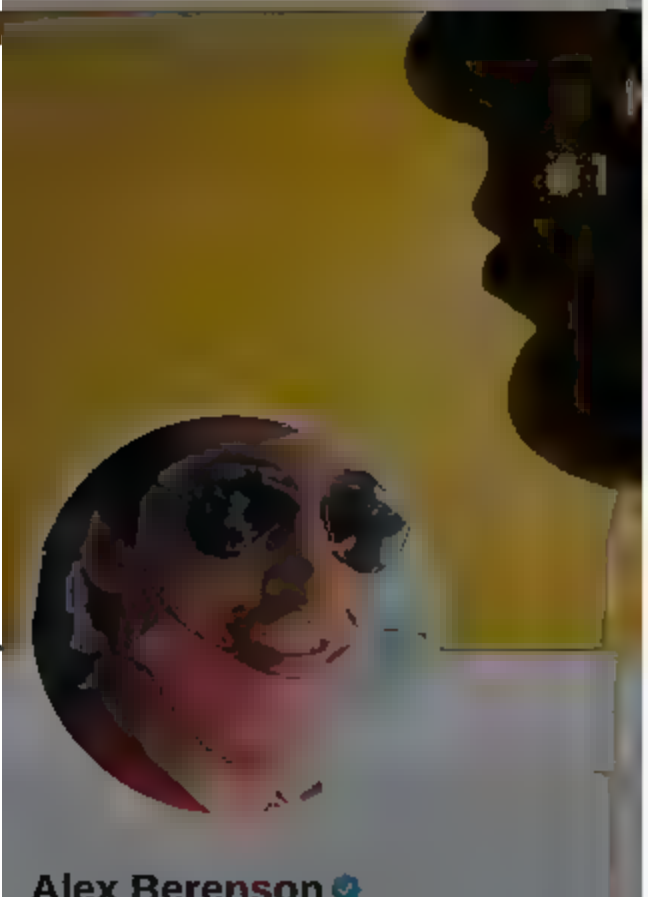
Replying to

2/ Although clinical trials for cannabis and cannabinoids have been (somewhat) difficult to conduct in the US, they are fairly straightforward to conduct in the UK, Europe, and Israel, and GW and others have done so. Mostly they've failed.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019



3/ Smoked (or even vaped) cannabis would have to show incredible efficacy in any indication to convince drug regulators to approve it, because of the inherent risks of inhaled products. Further, given the known psychiatric health risks of THC/cannabis, ethical clinical trials...

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

1/ Yes and no. Studying it is not nearly as hard as advocates claim; most potential medical uses have not panned out. (Even the pain data is weaker than almost anyone realizes, when the most recent trials are included.) In truth expecting otherwise would be silly...

3

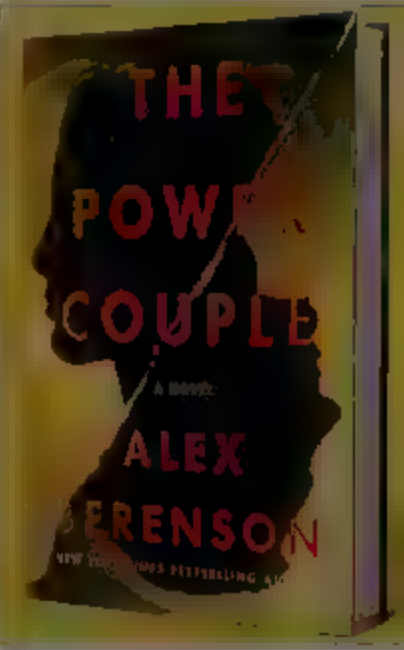
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

3/ And legalization won't matter much for those, since clinical trials to define harm are immoral and can't be conducted. So: what to do? First: stop pretending cannabis is a medicine and/or risk-free. Second, educate users about the risks. Define the highest-risk populations...

2:20 PM - 26 Mar 2019

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

Replying to

4/ People with mental illness, those whose families have mental illness, or those who react poorly to the drug... and target them for education. Third, stop all commercial marketing/advertising. And fourth, try to convince the media to stop glorifying the drug.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

cannabis compared to alcohol, for example. And we're in that pickle because we have banned it and made studying it so hard.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

1/ Yes and no. Studying it is not nearly as hard as advocates claim; most potential medical uses have not panned out. (Even the pain data is weaker than almost anyone realizes, when the most recent trials are included.) In truth expecting otherwise would be silly...

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

3/ And legalization won't matter much for those, since clinical trials to define harm are immoral and can't be conducted. So: what to do? First: stop pretending cannabis is a medicine and/or risk-free. Second, educate users about the risks. Define the highest-risk populations...

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible]

4/ People with mental illness, those whose families have mental illness, or those who react poorly to the drug... and target them for education. Third, stop all commercial marketing/advertising. And fourth, try to convince the media to stop glorifying the drug.

2:23 PM - 26 Mar 2019

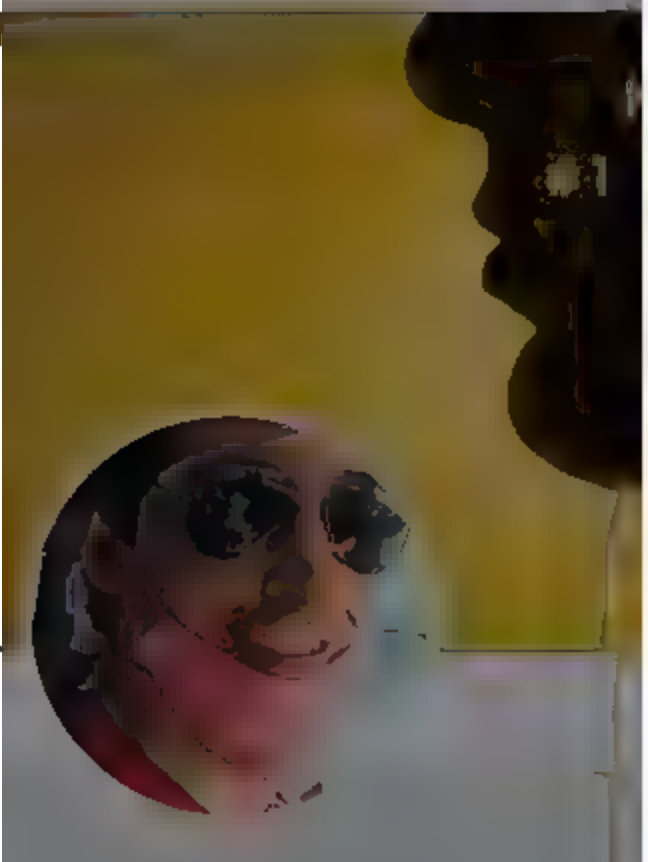
1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

3/ And more and more parents (and even users) are seeing the risks of high-THC, low-CBD cannabis for themselves. And history suggests that the pendulum swing will be fast and ferocious. So it has to be NOW, folks, we can't wait.

5 8 25

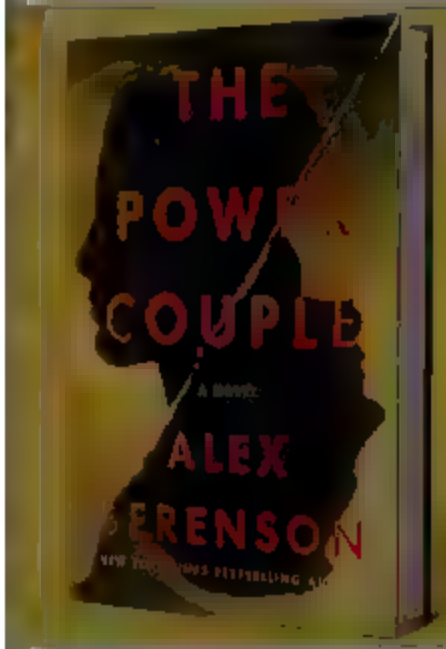
Fred Vogelstein @fvogelstein · 26 Mar 2019

Alex - What are some solutions? I haven't read your book yet. But I know that a big reason we are still having this debate is because we know little about cannabis compared to alcohol, for example. And we're in that pickle because we have banned it and made studying it so hard.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

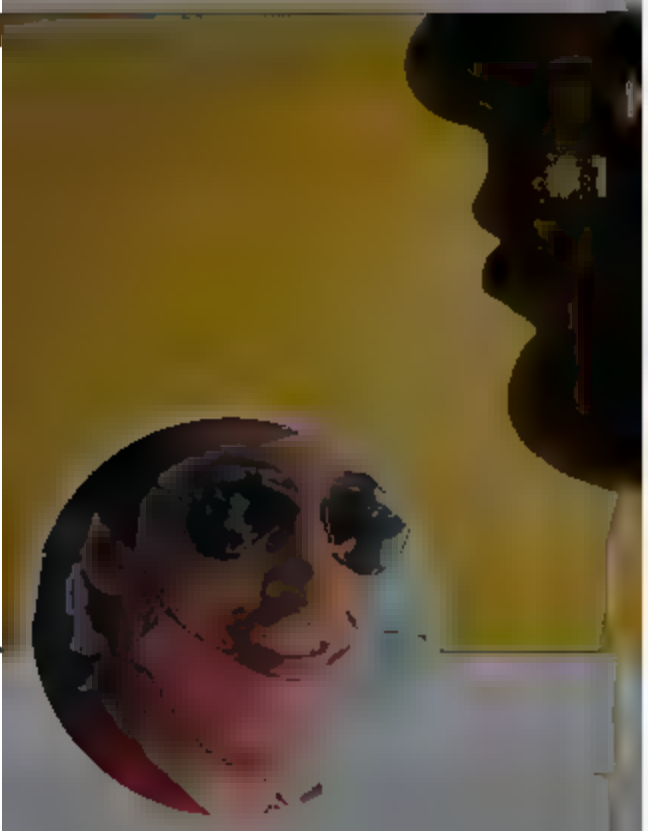
1/ Yes and no. Studying it is not nearly as hard as advocates claim; most potential medical uses have not panned out. (Even the pain data is weaker than almost anyone realizes, when the most recent trials are included.) In truth expecting otherwise would be silly...



3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



2/ We don't use wolfsbane or garlic as medicines anymore - why would we expect anything different from cannabis? (And we don't pretend alcohol is medicine, though it does have cardiovascular benefits.) As for the harms, they're actually reasonably well-defined at this point...

2:18 PM - 26 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

2/ And the violence data (and ugly cases) are getting harder to ignore. Plus, oh yeah, the legalized market is failing in CA - companies there are calling for MORE enforcement (aka arrests) against dealers (oh the irony)...

1 4 20

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ And more and more parents (and even users) are seeing the risks of high-THC, low-CBD cannabis for themselves. And history suggests that the pendulum swing will be fast and ferocious. So it has to be NOW, folks, we can't wait.

8:38 PM - 25 Mar 2019

8 Retweets 26 Likes

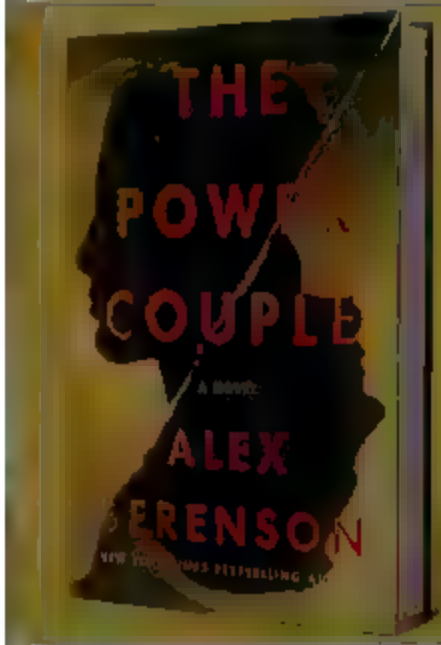
5 8 25

Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 25 Mar 2019

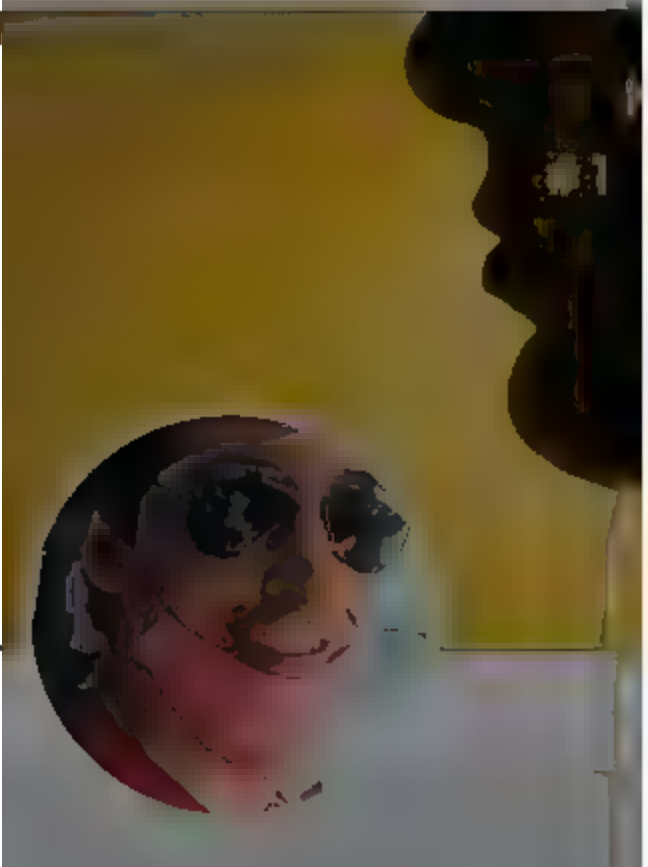
Replying to

Because once it's legal there will be no going back.



Too much money. Too many addicts in office.

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 26 Mar 2019



Replying to

Using pot is more irresponsible and impairing than having a drink. This mom left her infant on top the car after smoking pot. Fortunately, she realized how wrong it was and never smoked again.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex - What are some solutions? I haven't read your book yet. But I know that a big reason we are still having this debate is because we know little about cannabis compared to alcohol, for example. And we're in that pickle because we have banned it and made studying it so hard.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

1/ Yes and no. Studying it is not nearly as hard as advocates claim; most potential medical uses have not panned out. (Even the pain data is weaker than almost anyone realizes, when the most recent trials are included.) In truth expecting otherwise would be silly...

2:15 PM - 26 Mar 2019

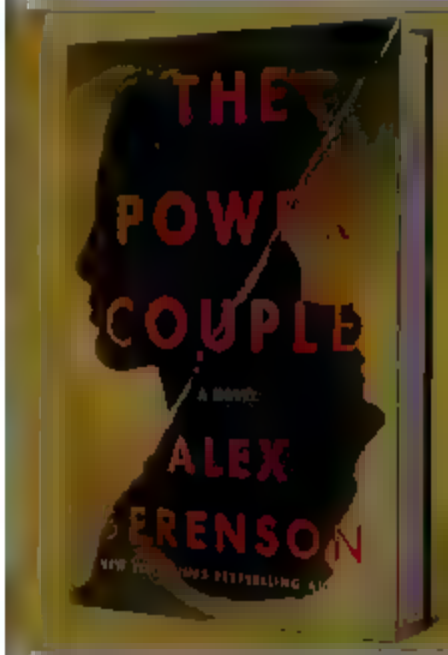
3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

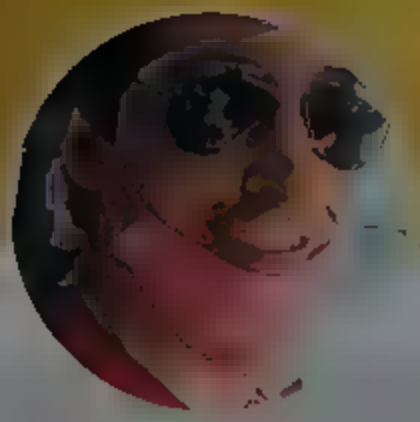
2/ We don't use wolfsbane or garlic as medicines anymore - why would we expect anything different from cannabis? (And we don't pretend alcohol is medicine, though it does have cardiovascular benefits.) As for the harms, they're actually reasonably well-defined at this point...

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019



Replying to [redacted]

3/ And legalization won't matter much for those, since clinical trials to define harm are immoral and can't be conducted. So: what to do? First: stop pretending cannabis is a medicine and/or risk-free. Second, educate users about the risks. Define the highest-risk populations...

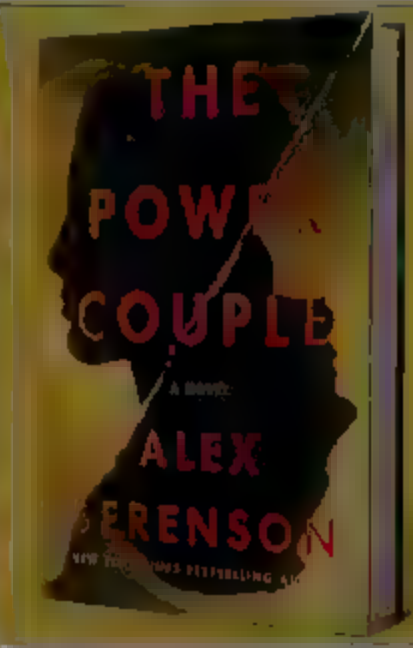


1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Mar 2019

4/ People with mental illness, those whose families have mental illness, or those

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

1/ Want to know why cannabis advocates are so desperate for legalization to happen RIGHT NOW, right this minute? Just look at the peer-reviewed studies in the last two months: on depression, psychosis, ER admissions. The cannabis-fixes-opioids myth is sliding into the sea...

22 23 51

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

2/ And the violence data (and ugly cases) are getting harder to ignore. Plus, oh yeah, the legalized market is failing in CA - companies there are calling for MORE enforcement (aka arrests) against dealers (oh the irony)...

8:37 PM - 25 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 20 Likes

1 4 20

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

3/ And more and more parents (and even users) are seeing the risks of high-THC, low-CBD cannabis for themselves. And history suggests that the pendulum swing will be fast and ferocious. So it has to be NOW, folks, we can't wait.

5 8 25

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Want to know why cannabis advocates are so desperate for legalization to happen RIGHT NOW, right this minute? Just look at the peer-reviewed studies in the last two months: on depression, psychosis, ER admissions. The cannabis-fixes-opioids myth is sliding into the sea...

8:32 PM - 25 Mar 2019

23 Retweets 51 Likes

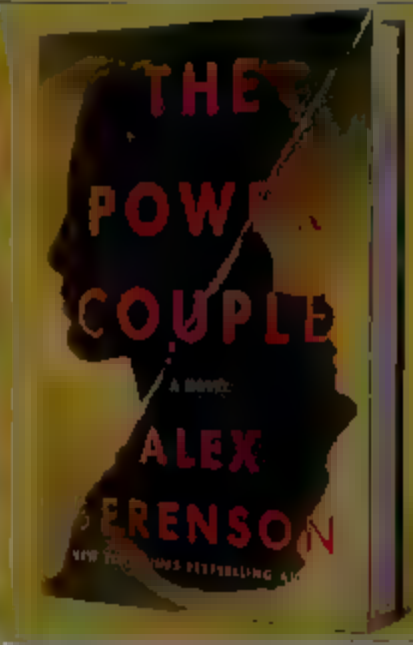
22 23 51

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

2/ And the violence data (and ugly cases) are getting harder to ignore. Plus, oh yeah, the legalized market is failing in CA - companies there are calling for MORE enforcement (aka arrests) against dealers (oh the irony)...

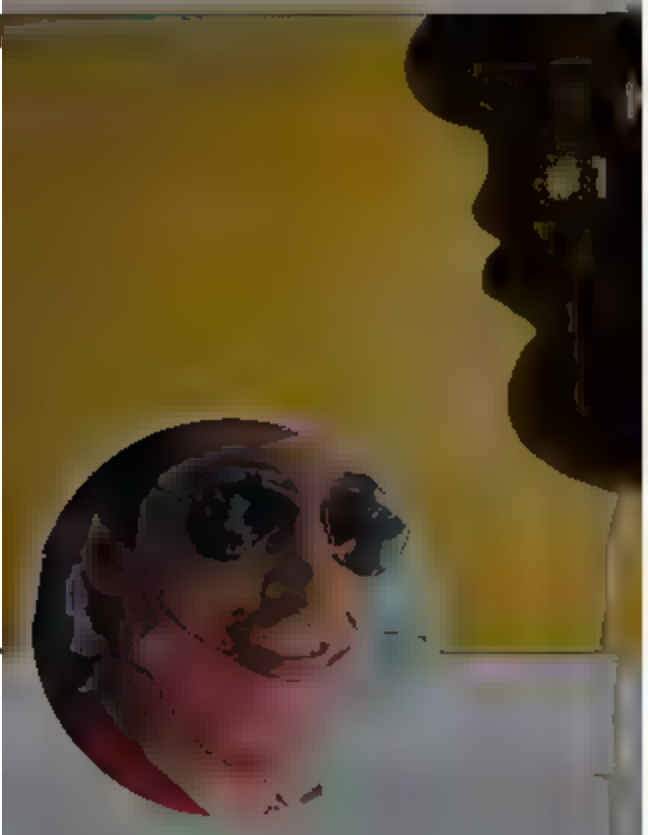
1 4 20

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019



3/ And more and more parents (and even users) are seeing the risks of high-THC, low-CBD cannabis for themselves. And history suggests that the pendulum swing will be fast and ferocious. So it has to be NOW, folks, we can't wait.

5 8 25



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to [illegible]

That evidence that cannabis is a substitute for other substances just gets more robust. Again, you assume that if cannabis is relatively harmless, that's an argument for regulation, and if it's exceptionally harmful, that's an argument for abdicating control to the black market.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
But the Times redeems itself with a hard, well-reported look at today's Annals of Internal Medicine paper on cannabis-related ER visits (more to come on this)...

2 10 15

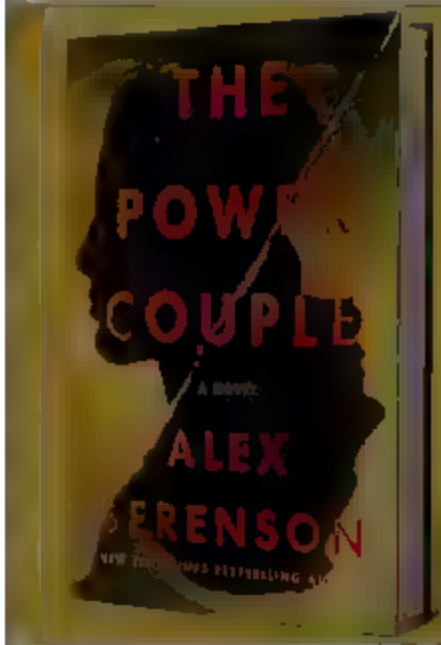
Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 25 Mar 2019
One of the most interesting findings was that hospital admissions were more common among the long-term users of inhaled forms. All of a sudden the have vomiting so severe as to require hospital admission.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
The sheer volume is what's stunning to me; 10,000 admissions with cannabis ICD codes, including 2,500 defined as cannabis-related in five years. Keep in mind that this is one of 10 or so large hospitals in the Denver metro area, and its catchment area is fairly middle-class.

1 2

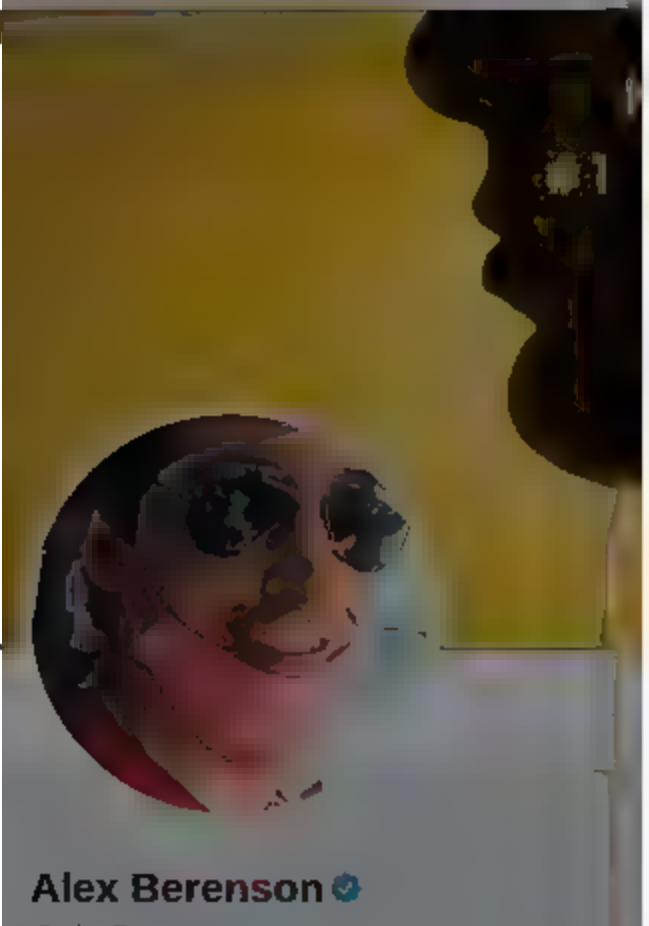
Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 25 Mar 2019
And for each ER case are probably many more in the community who just dealt with symptoms at home. Another impressive finding of the study was the high prevalence of psychiatric presentations of anxiety or psychosis.



2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



And don't sleep on the cardio issues (I wonder how much of that is physical/BP related and how much a manifestation of severe psychological distress).

8:14 PM - 25 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 25 Mar 2019
One of the most interesting findings was that hospital admissions were more common among the long-term users of inhaled forms. All of a sudden the have vomiting so severe as to require hospital admission.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

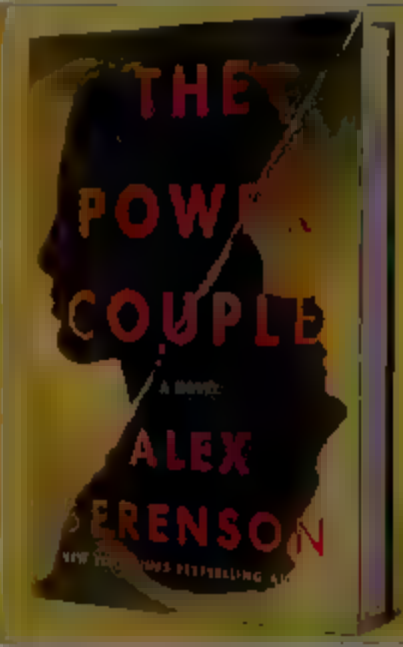
Replying to

The sheer volume is what's stunning to me; 10,000 admissions with cannabis ICD codes, including 2,500 defined as cannabis-related in five years. Keep in mind that this is one of 10 or so large hospitals in the Denver metro area, and its catchment area is fairly middle-class.

7:54 PM - 25 Mar 2019

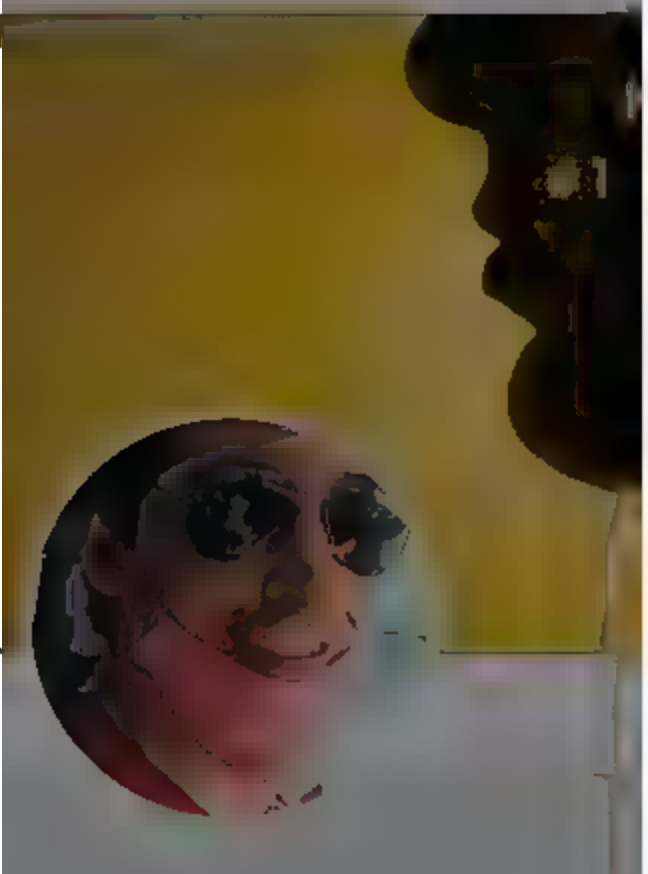
2 Likes

1 2



Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to

And for each ER case are probably many more in the community who just dealt with symptoms at home. Another impressive finding of the study was the high prevalence of psychiatric presentations of anxiety or psychosis.



2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
And don't sleep on the cardio issues (I wonder how much of that is physical/BP related and how much a manifestation of severe psychological distress).

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

The sheer volume is what's stunning to me; 10,000 admissions with cannabis ICD codes, including 2,500 defined as cannabis-related in five years. Keep in mind that this is one of 10 or so large hospitals in the Denver metro area, and its catchment area is fairly middle-class.

1 2

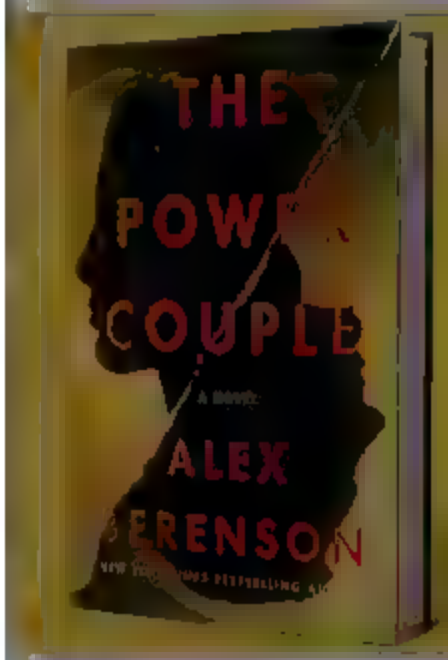
Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 25 Mar 2019
And for each ER case are probably many more in the community who just dealt with symptoms at home. Another impressive finding of the study was the high prevalence of psychiatric presentations of anxiety or psychosis.

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

And yes - from my conversations with users most are embarrassed at the problems and will try to manage (alone or with friends) and go to an ER only as a last resort.



8:20 PM - 25 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 1 Like

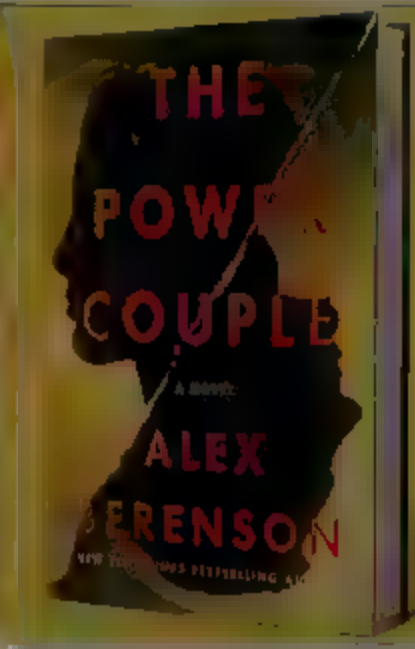
1 1 1

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Since many cannabis advocates have so long claimed it doesn't cause anxiety, worsen depression, or trigger psychosis a lot of people suffer with these symptoms not knowing why. Sometimes their friends (or dispensaries) tell them to use more, thinking it's the cure not the cause.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

But the Times redeems itself with a hard, well-reported look at today's Annals of Internal Medicine paper on cannabis-related ER visits (more to come on this)...

nytimes.com/2019/03/25/we...

7:33 PM - 25 Mar 2019

10 Retweets 15 Likes

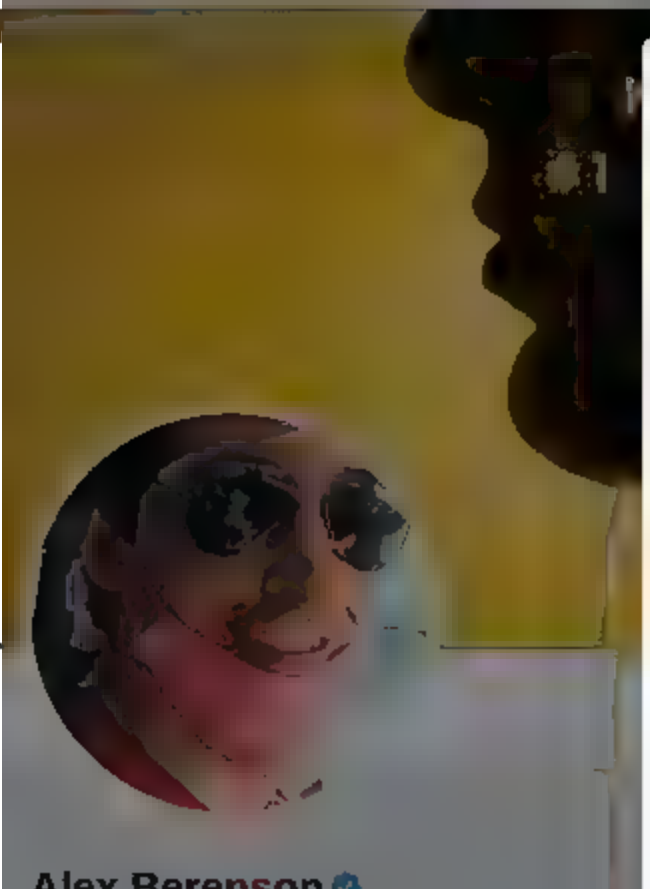
2 10 15



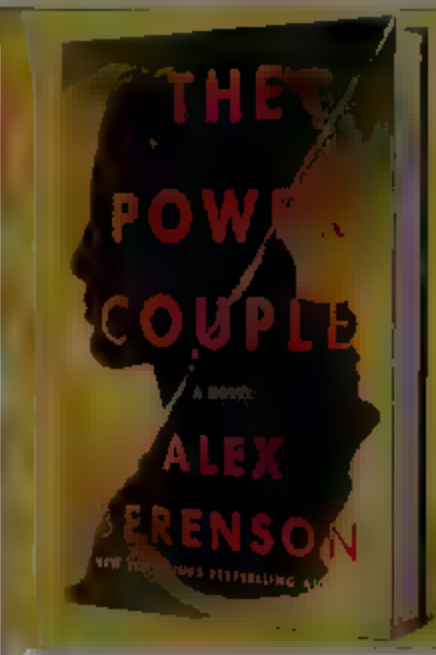
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Curious. Do you consider this article balanced?

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
One of the most interesting findings was that hospital admissions were more common among the long-term users of inhaled forms. All of a sudden the have vomiting so severe as to require hospital admission.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
The sheer volume is what's stunning to me; 10,000 admissions with cannabis ICD codes, including 2,500 defined as cannabis-related in five years. Keep in mind that this is one of 10 or so large hospitals in the Denver metro area, and its catchment area is fairly middle-class.

1 2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Looking forward to this discussion in two weeks with Erik Altieri of @NORML - a group more willing to be honest about the harms of cannabis than @DrugPolicyOrg (a low bar, I know). Hope to see you there!

2:05 PM - 25 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 12 Likes

2 3 12

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to

Altieri vs. Alexslinger... NORML vs. Fiction... The Nattering at Nassau... is there an undercard?

🔔Alex reads "psychotic episodes by people smoked pot!" (minus all sorts of

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

my thesis.

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
I am sure there is a way to squeeze this data until it screams and come up with a p-hack above 0.05, but the question is whether a reasonable observer who looks at it in a non-ideological way will agree that the change has been significant.

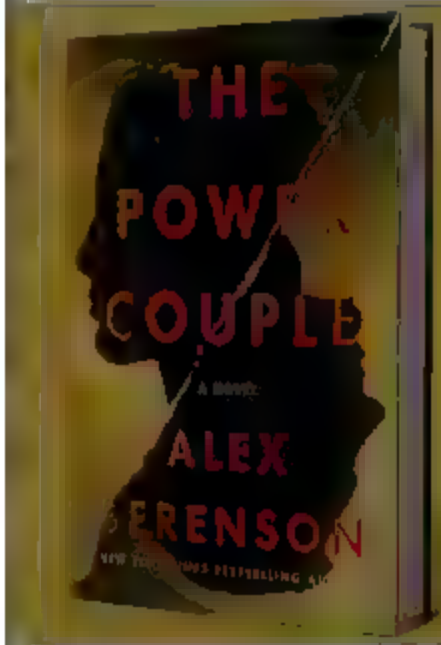
1

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Still willing to keep an open mind on your data - but on closer inspection this tweet does not give me confidence in your method/stats insights. You wrote: "I am sure there is a way to squeeze this data until it screams and come up with a p-hack above 0.05." So, "p<0.05", right?

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

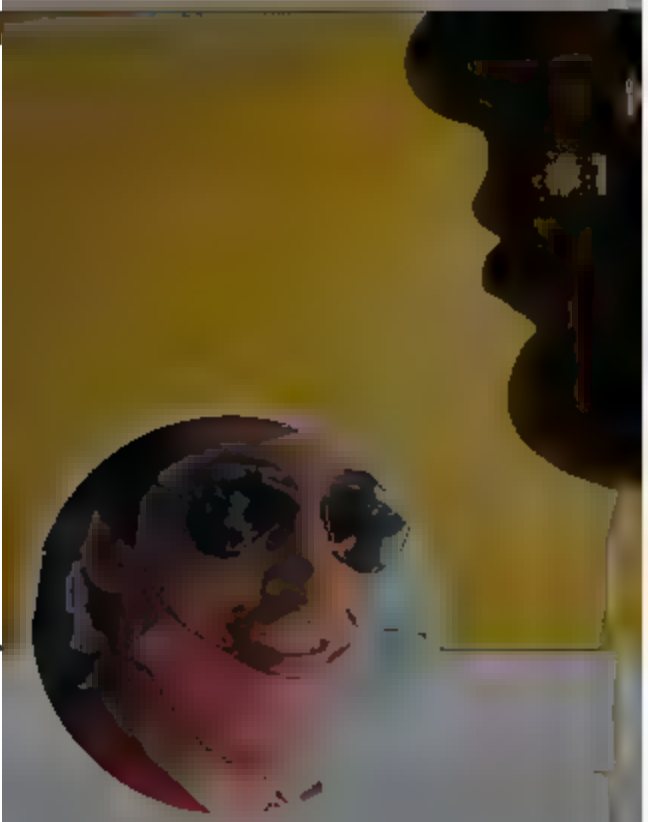
Replying to



Nope, I mean hack it until the result disappears

1:44 PM - 25 Mar 2019

1 Like



1 1

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to
Got it, at least you know which way the arrow goes. Again, I hope Ben understands my regard for "the dismal science", but looking backwards comes with serious limitations. I have concerns with simply using the date of lawful dispensation of cannabis as your pre-post time marker.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

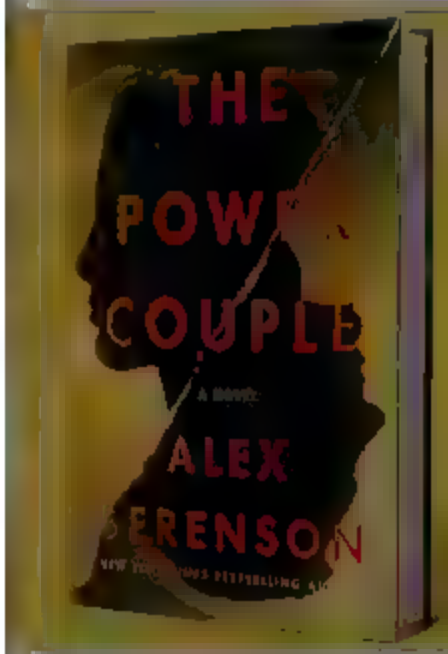
Joined November 2009

1/ This story on the failed legalization effort in NJ by my old employer is - unfortunately - an embarrassment. 80 percent of it is about potential benefits of recreational cannabis. Like it was written in advance, counting on success...

5 7 14

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ This is a double failure; first, by the weekend it was obvious the effort was collapsing, and editors should have insisted on a deeper dive into the politics; second, the story is badly uninformed about the real harms that led legislators to stand up to the cannabis lobby.



12:06 PM - 25 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 10 Likes

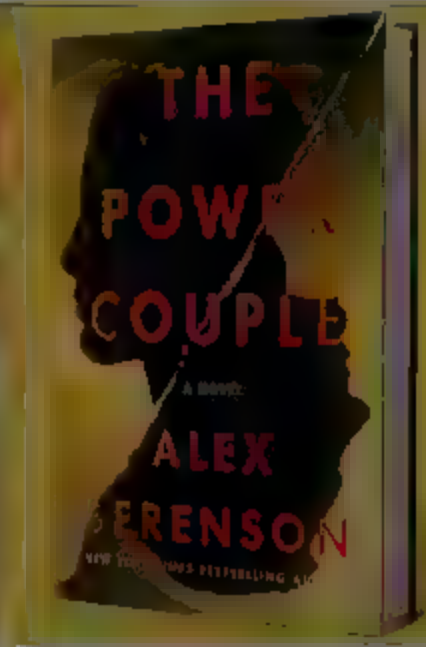
2 3 10

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to
No you ignore benefits. Dirty player. We cannot play dirty only prohibitionists can.

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to
You're just sore because it didn't mention you, your book or psychosis, as if you tipped the scales.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ This story on the failed legalization effort in NJ by my old employer is - unfortunately - an embarrassment. 80 percent of it is about potential benefits of recreational cannabis. Like it was written in advance, counting on success... google.com/amp/s/www.nyt ..

12:03 PM - 25 Mar 2019

7 Retweets 14 Likes

5 7 14

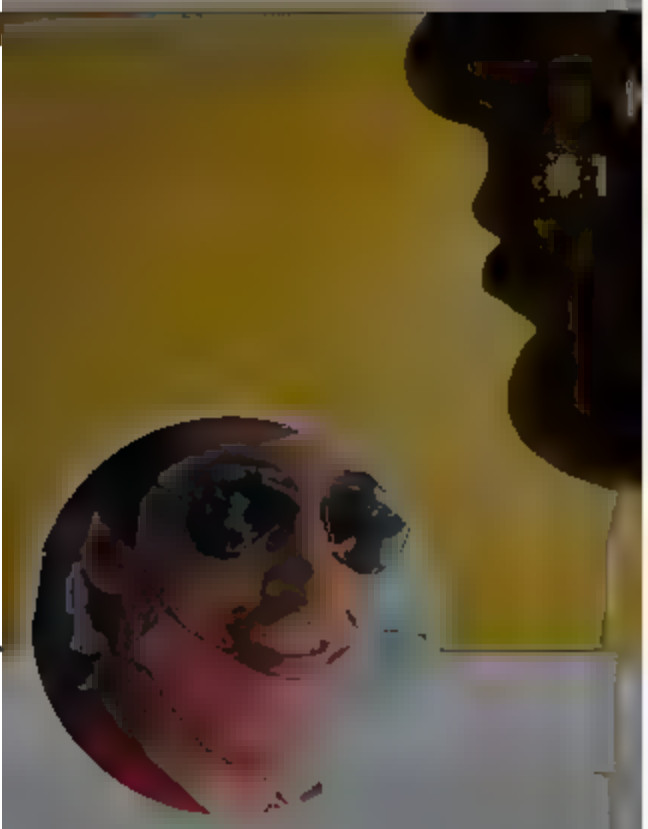
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

2/ This is a double failure; first, by the weekend it was obvious the effort was collapsing, and editors should have insisted on a deeper dive into the politics; second, the story is badly uninformed about the real harms that led legislators to stand up to the cannabis lobby.

2 3 10

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to



The article discusses the rationale for the bill at length, and for balance (a journalistic imperative your book eschewed) the arguments marshaled against it, but I don't see where it discusses the benefits of recreational cannabis.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to

He lies. We have disproven him hundreds of times. He comes back with the same lies. His propaganda never stops. He never answers when he is disproven.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Honest engagement: I won't simply dismiss your thesis just because you don't speak science. Repeat: I'd like to help and will read any study, blog, writing on this you share. I'm a long time cannabis enthusiast, healthsci researcher and health nut. #[illegible] weed is not for kids.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [illegible]

Okay. I will take this as a good-faith offer. I hope you will read the book first (I am not sure Ben has done so, which is too bad) and if you are still interested I will send you the studies. You will see that I report their results accurately.

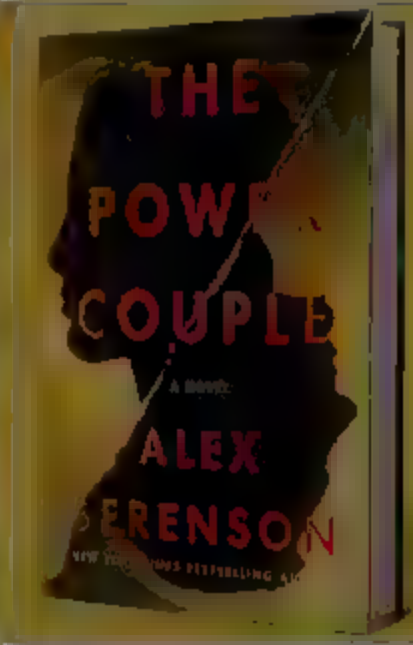
11:26 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1 Like

2 1

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to [illegible]

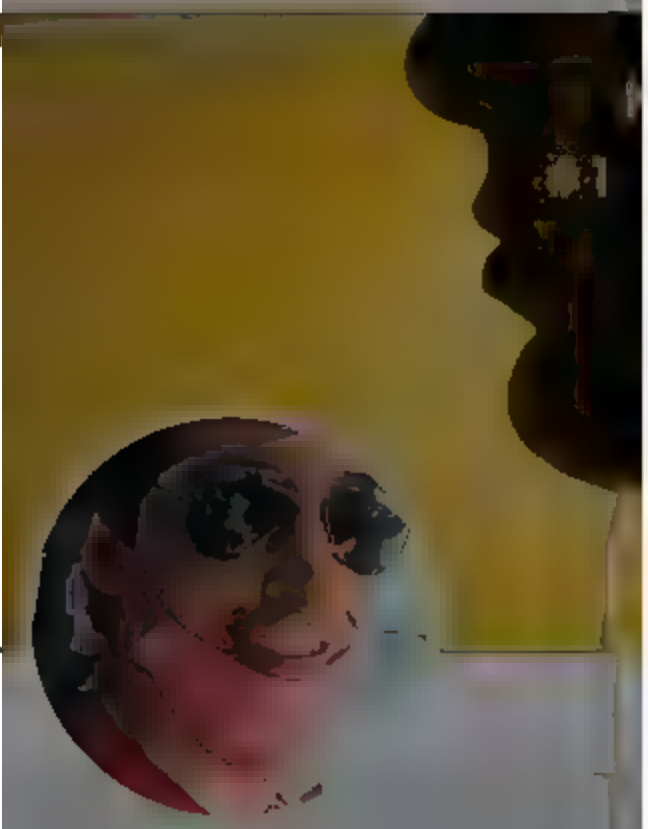


I invite cannabis caution: I worked in adolescent psych, addiction and recovery while earning PhD in behavioral neuroscience, then took some EPI and BIOSTAT in my post-doc. So, I am not a typical reader but do promise to be as fair as I can be.

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to [illegible]

Ahh, you just said "You will see that I report their results accurately."



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Adding on to scientific clarity that transcends far beyond this question: Alex - if there is evidence of a correlation, then we'll have a shot at a causal explanation. But I see you already seeking the causes before we've accepted the initial thesis that "crime goes up" post-Rec.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Totally up to you as to accept whether 37,800 is more or less than 30,300 (and more importantly, whether 18.4% is more than 8.4%.) Get back to me when you have an answer on that...

10:34 AM - 25 Mar 2019

3

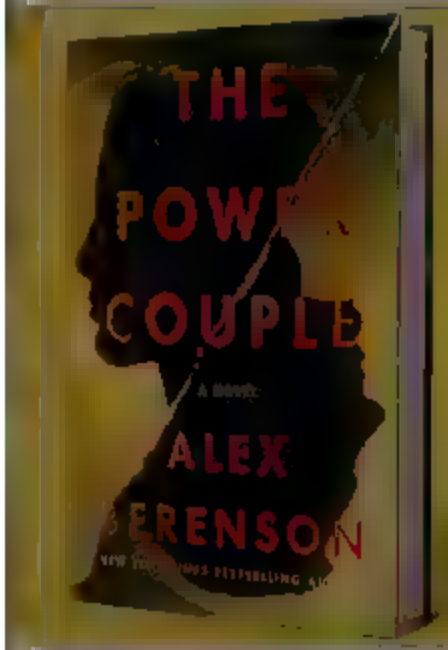
Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to

Alex, I'm not denying your data, if you have it great. I am legit interested, where/how did you get the numbers? Obs 38>30. If it this is one of the foci of your book, I would actually consider buying and reading it. It is very hard to present research or critique tweet by tweet.

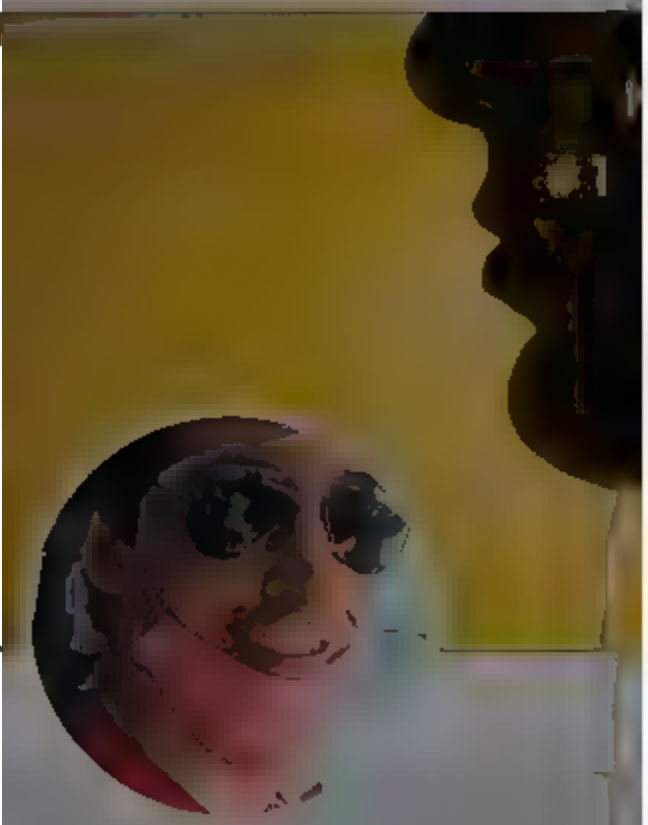
Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to



Honest engagement: I won't simply dismiss your thesis just because you don't speak science. Repeat: I'd like to help and will read any study, blog, writing on this you share. I'm a long time cannabis enthusiast, healthsci researcher and health nut. weed is not for kids.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

Okay. I will take this as a good-faith offer. I hope you will read the book first (I am not sure Ben has done so, which is too bad) and if you are still interested I will send you the studies. You will see that I report their results accurately.

2 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
Of course. There is no question that crime fell spectacularly from about 1992-2002 and continued to decline for roughly the next decade. And crime is multifactorial, right? I would never say that cannabis is the only (or even the most important) driver of crime.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
But what I do say is that on an individual basis psychosis is a driver of violent crime - and cannabis is a driver of psychosis. And there is also some direct evidence of a link between cannabis use and crime. Those links are why the state data is so striking.

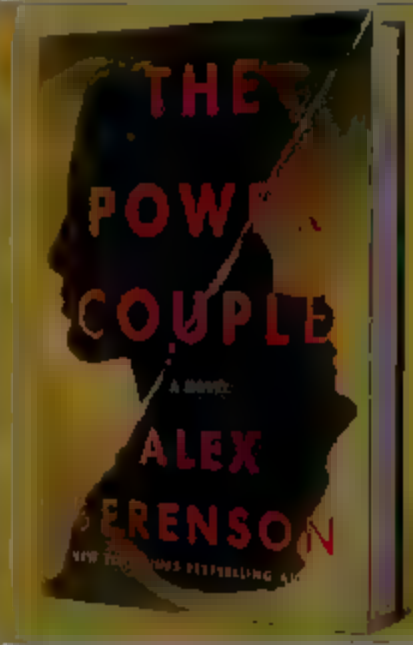
4

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Could you phrase this as a testable hypothesis... what other predictor/control variables are at play? Seems you are using both case-by-case logic & public health/crime data - but I'd like to read something long form; do you present the "striking data" as evidence in your book?

2

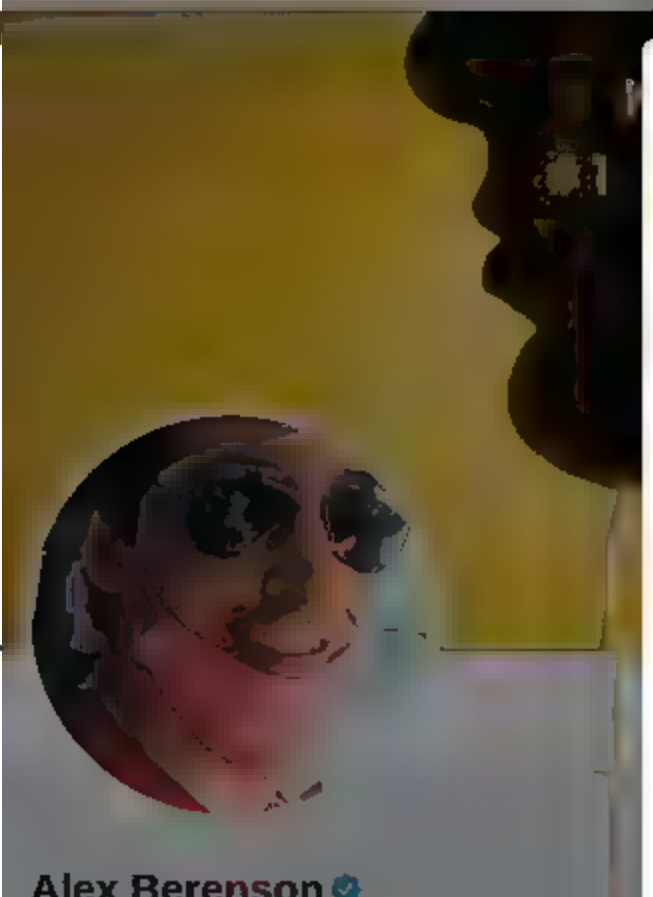
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

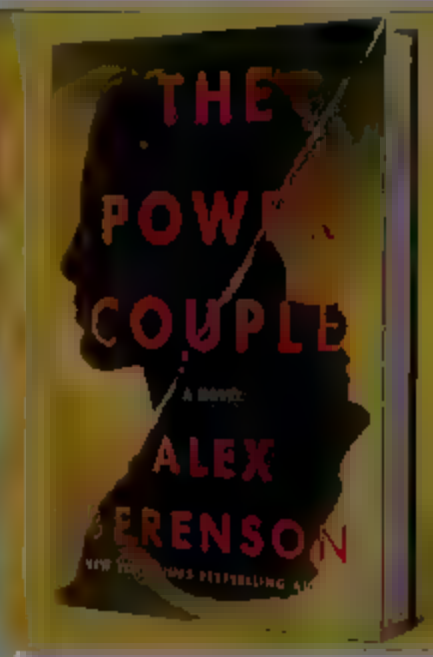


Replying to [redacted]

Arrgh! Another editing mistake. Trying to do three things at once. "The reason cannabis advocates have a problem with it..."



10:17 AM - 25 Mar 2019



1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

nj.com/news/politics/2019/.../gop-shocked-by-pushback-...

9:52 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

1 1 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Could you phrase this as a testable hypothesis... what other predictor/control variables are at play? Seems you are using both case-by-case logic & public health/crime data - but I'd like to read something long form; do you present the "striking data" as evidence in your book?

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

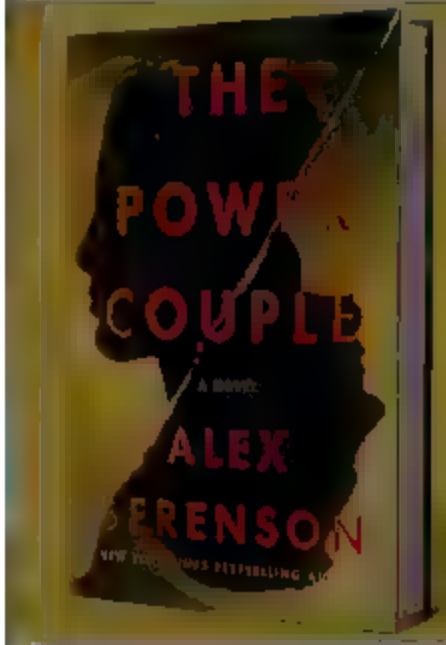
Yeah, it's in there. I am also happy to send you a list of the most important papers on the cannabis/psychosis/violence link. I'd suggest you read the book first, though. The reason cannabis advocates have with it isn't that it's sloppy or weak; it's the opposite.

10:16 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1 Like

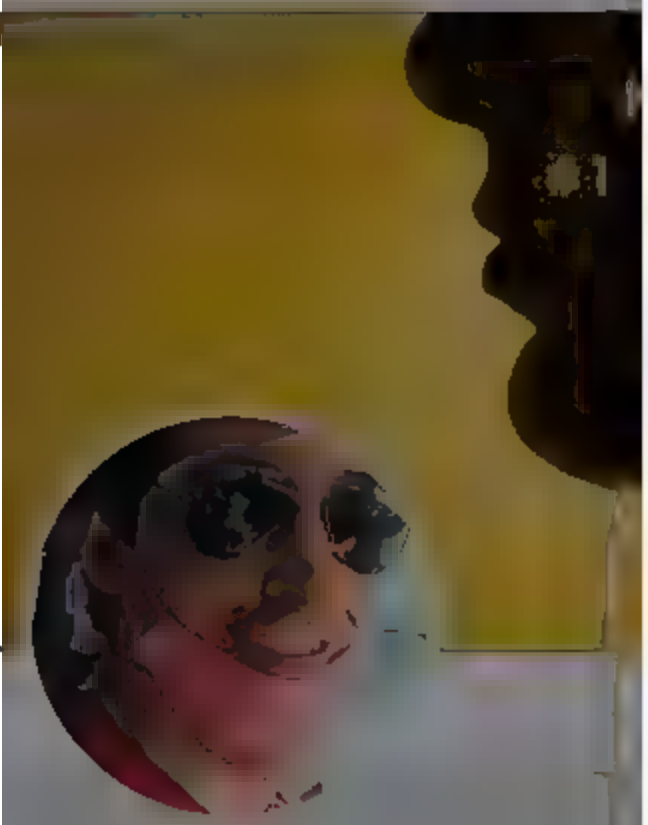
3 1

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to



Thanks for reply. I am down with the neuroscience, mental health, epi-cannabis research given my training. I don't need convincing on that but I've heard and seen you in media. I like that you provide a counter to spreading legalization but I question some assumptions.

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to

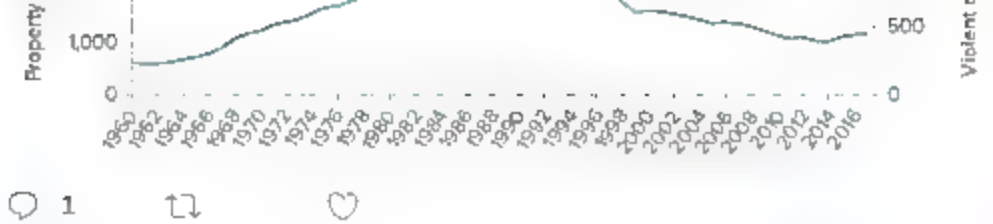


Given my background, I am more interested in the literature and/or methodology of the crime stats - and also what you think the real implications are and any ideas for policy solutions. Lastly, when I see you use "thesis", it leads me to Hx/H0, and I'm not sure that's your intent

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

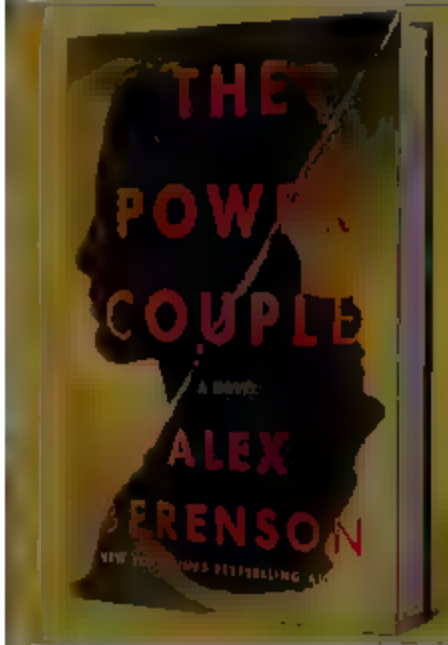
Of course. There is no question that crime fell spectacularly from about 1992-2002 and continued to decline for roughly the next decade. And crime is multifactorial, right? I would never say that cannabis is the only (or even the most important) driver of crime.

9:36 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

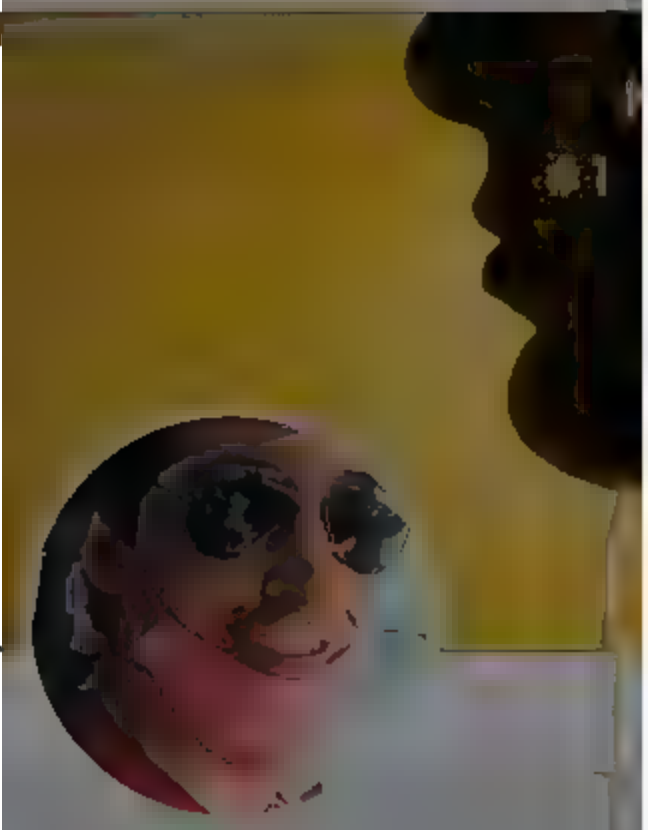
Replying to and 2 others



But what I do say is that on an individual basis psychosis is a driver of violent crime - and cannabis is a driver of psychosis. And there is also some direct evidence of a link between cannabis use and crime. Those links are why the state data is so striking.

4

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019



"Driver of crime" is an odd phrase - is that to avoid "causality"?
I see you have a "thesis" that two variables are related and also acknowledge: 1) it's not the only "driver of crime increase" and 2) not even the most important driver but 3) you "direct evidence of a link b/w"

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Of course. There is no question that crime fell spectacularly from about 1992-2002 and continued to decline for roughly the next decade. And crime is multifactorial, right? I would never say that cannabis is the only (or even the most important) driver of crime.

1

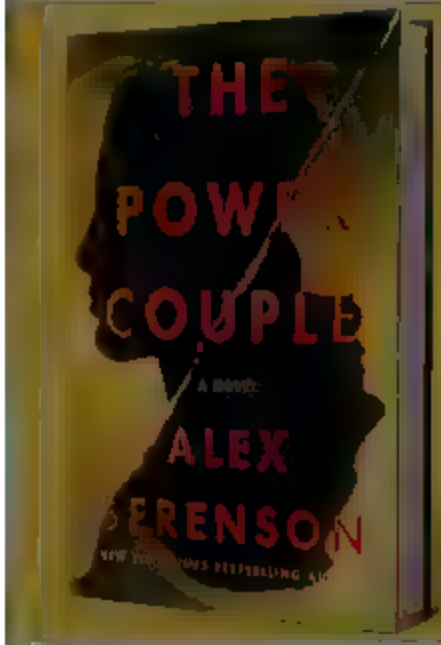
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

But what I do say is that on an individual basis psychosis is a driver of violent crime - and cannabis is a driver of psychosis. And there is also some direct evidence of a link between cannabis use and crime. Those links are why the state data is so striking.

9:40 AM - 25 Mar 2019

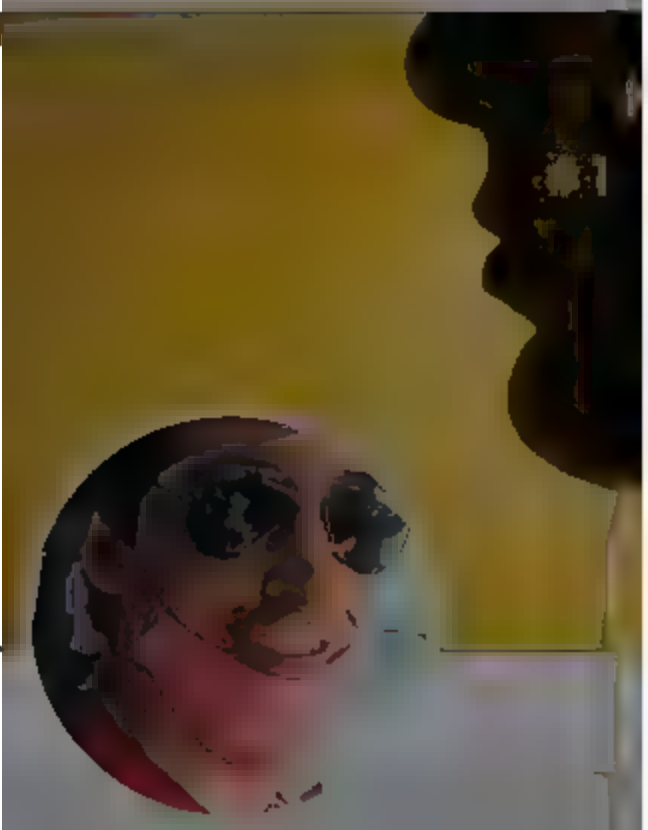
4



Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
"Driver of crime" is an odd phrase - is that to avoid "causality"?
I see you have a "thesis" that two variables are related and also acknowledge: 1) it's not the only "driver of crime increase" and 2) not even the most important driver but 3) you "direct evidence of a link b/w"

1

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Still trying to be helpful: You'd predict that those 2 or 4 states with adult personal use of cannabis ("Rec") would have larger increases in crime than 4 "matched" states without Rec (or perhaps the national average) over the same timeframe. Right? Anybody do that kind of work?



Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Could you phrase this as a testable hypothesis... what other predictor/control variables are at play? Seems you are using both case-by-case logic & public health/crime data - but I'd like to read something long form; do you present the

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

are less likely to be affected.
2) FBI UCR data.
3) The first 4 states to open recreational stores were CO/WA/AK/OR. CO/WA opened first and are largest, so setting 1/1/2014 as the mark makes sense.

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to and 2 others

Also, please note that I don't claim cannabis necessarily caused the increase, only that it is real and statistically relevant. The 20- and 10-year-lookbacks, which show that violent crime those states moved in tandem with the US, confirm my thesis.

9:05 AM - 25 Mar 2019

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

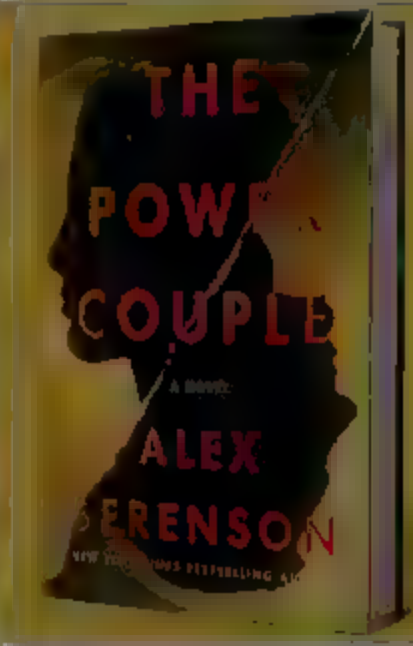
Replying to and 2 others

I am sure there is a way to squeeze this data until it screams and come up with a p-hack above 0.05, but the question is whether a reasonable observer who looks at it in a non-ideological way will agree that the change has been significant.

1

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019

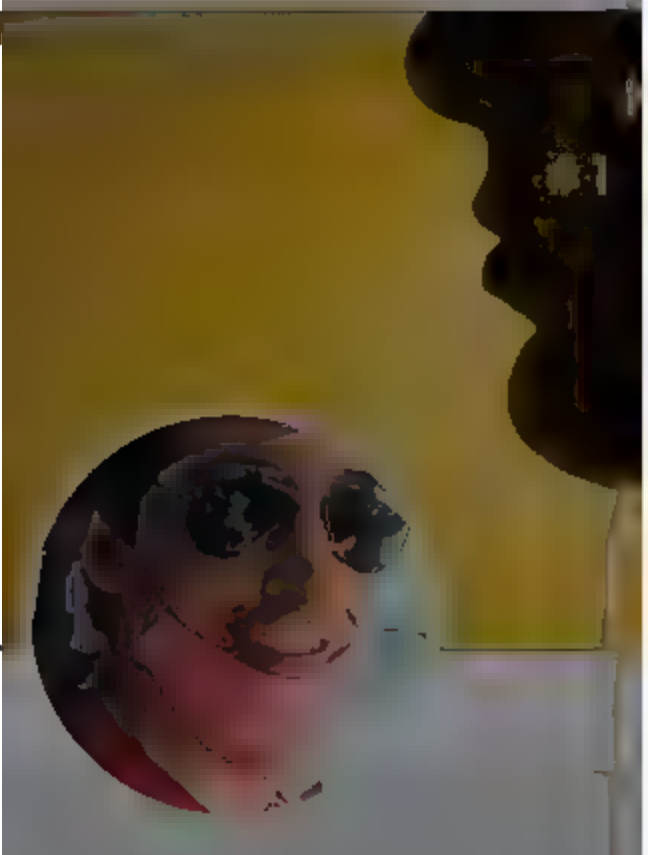
Still willing to keep an open mind on your data - but on closer inspection this tweet does not give me confidence in your method/stats insights. You wrote: "I am sure there is a way to squeeze this data until it screams and come up with a p-hack above 0.05." So, "p<0.05", right?



1 1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to



Just a point of causality. "Support your thesis" would be a far more accurate way to write that, setting as our debate over the right counterfactual group.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 25 Mar 2019
Just a point of causality. "Support your thesis" would be a far more accurate way to write that, setting as our debate over the right counterfactual group.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

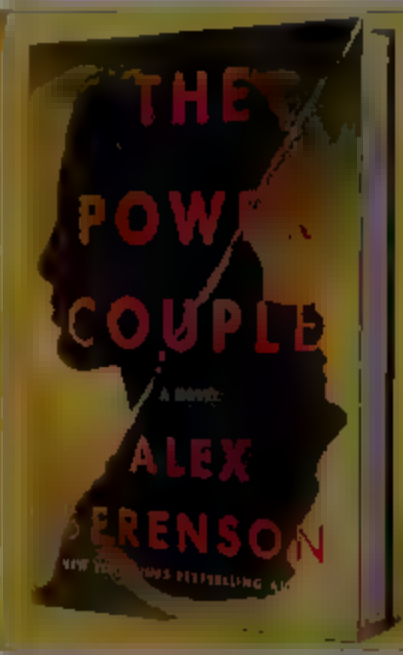
Replying to

Fair enough. I will say "support" rather than "confirm."

Will you acknowledge that excluding justifiable homicides makes more sense than including them, as they are inherently unlikely to be committed by people under the influence of drugs (and the measure is non-standard)?

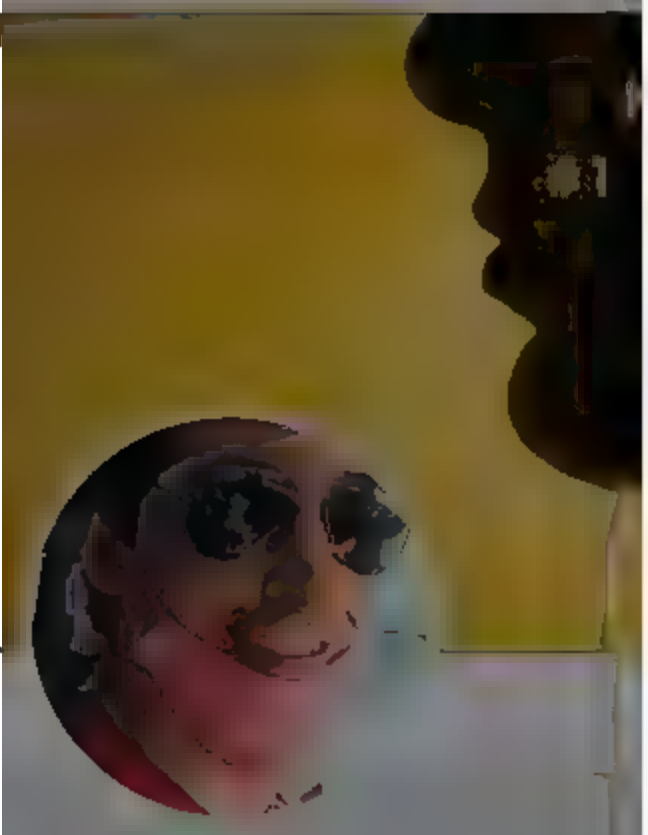
9:15 AM - 25 Mar 2019

2



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to
I'm not going to go that far. I'm working on a project this spring looking at how violent crime shifts after recreational marijuana legalization and I'll investigate both total homicides, murders, and a variety of violent and non-violent crimes coming prob around May.

1 2



Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Adding on to scientific clarity that transcends far beyond this question: Alex - if there is evidence of a correlation, then we'll have a shot at a causal explanation. But I see you already seeking the causes before we've accepted the initial thesis that "crime goes up" post-Rec.

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Also, please note that I don't claim cannabis necessarily caused the increase, only that it is real and statistically relevant. The 20- and 10-year-lookbacks, which show that violent crime those states moved in tandem with the US, confirm my thesis.

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to and 2 others

I am sure there is a way to squeeze this data until it screams and come up with a p-hack above 0.05, but the question is whether a reasonable observer who looks at it in a non-ideological way will agree that the change has been significant.

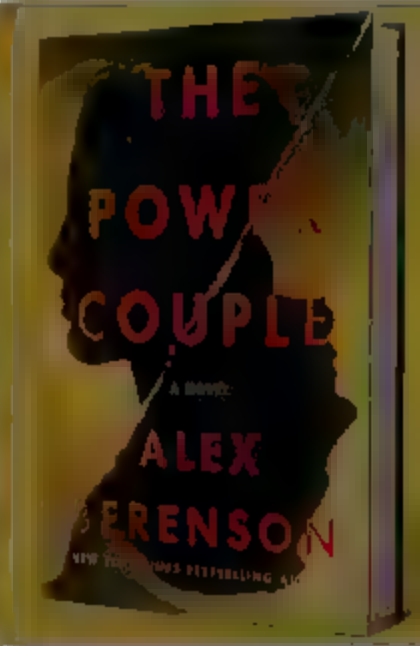
9:07 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019

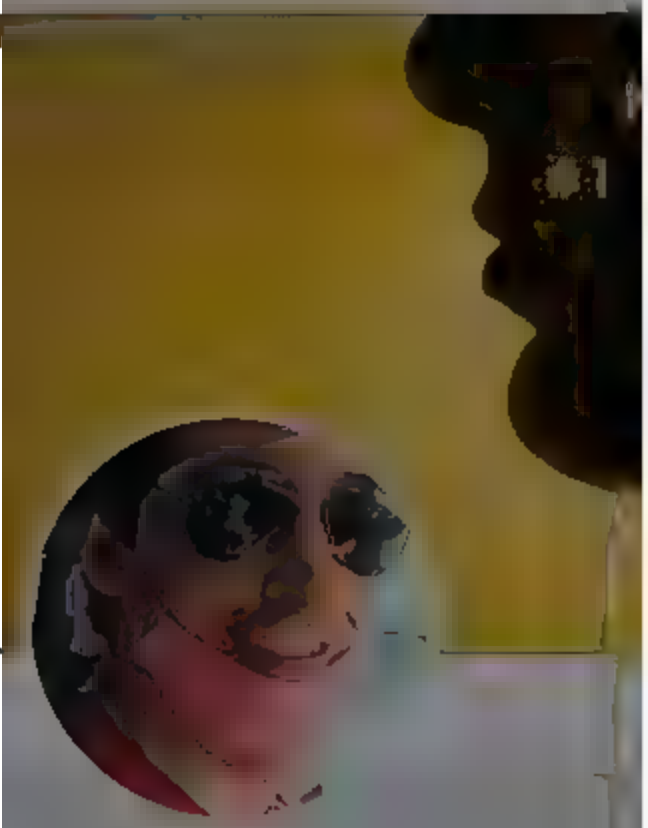
Replying to

Still willing to keep an open mind on your data - but on closer inspection this tweet does not give me confidence in your method/stats insights. You wrote: "I am sure there is a way to squeeze this data until it screams and come up with a p-hack above 0.05." So, "p<0.05", right?



1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019



Nope, I mean hack it until the result disappears

1 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

respond to and I hope Nate does too. But, a fews Qs:
Which types of crime? Violent/non-violent, etc.
Which sources of crime data? FBI, State, local, etc.
Which state do you consider "cannabis states"?

1 1

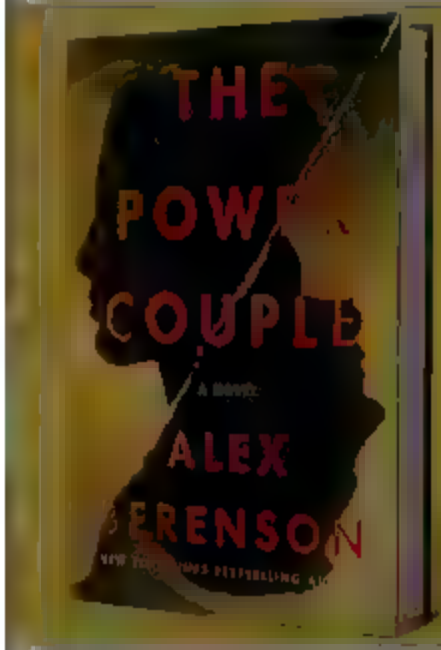
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

1) Violent crime: murders (non-justifable) and agg assaults. Robberies and rapes are less likely to be affected.
2) FBI UCR data.
3) The first 4 states to open recreational stores were CO/WA/AK/OR. CO/WA opened first and are largest, so setting 1/1/2014 as the mark makes sense.

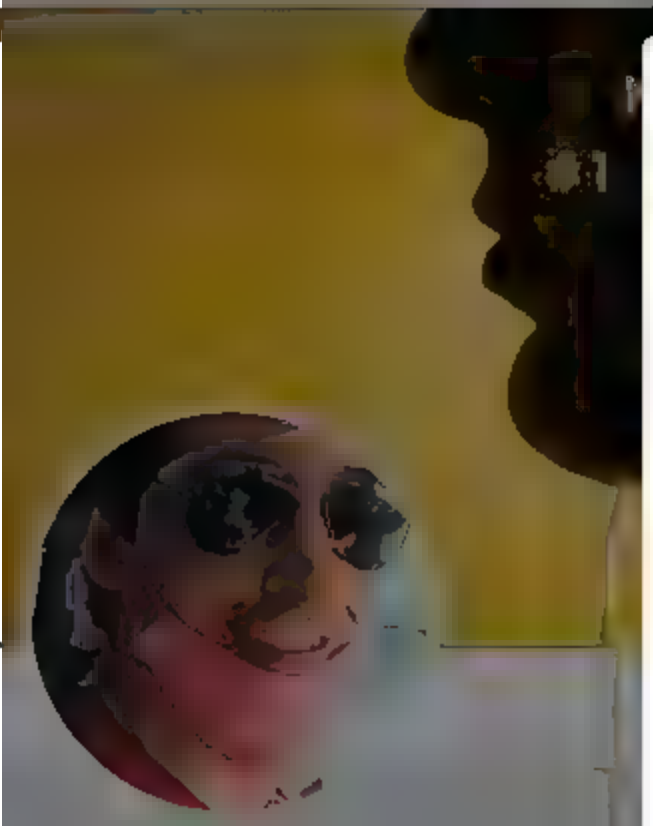
9:03 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1 Like



2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to and 2 others
Also, please note that I don't claim cannabis necessarily caused the increase, only that it is real and statistically relevant. The 20- and 10-year-lookbacks, which show that violent crime those states moved in tandem with the US, confirm my thesis.

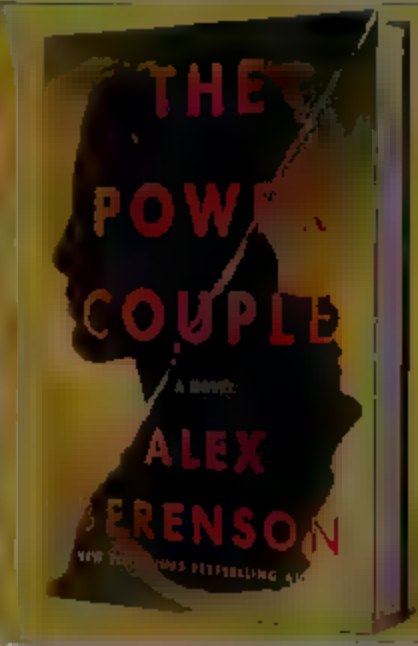


3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019
I am sure there is a way to squeeze this data until it screams and come up with a p-hack above 0.05, but the question is whether a reasonable observer who looks at it in a non-ideological way will agree that the change has been significant.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Awful. Spare a moment for all the parents who have lost children - to gun violence, to drug-induced psychosis, to suicide, to auto accidents - to all the preventable tragedies our society cannot or will not control.

courant.com/breaking-news/ ...

8:26 AM - 25 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

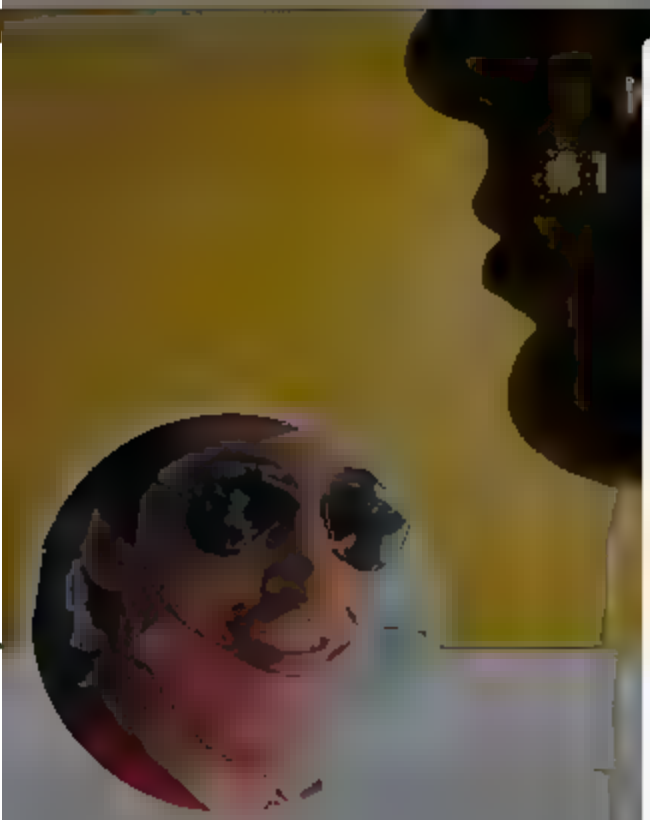
2 2 7

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Getting dangerously close to Randy Philbrick territory, conflating marijuana legalization with mass shootings, Alex. Are you calling for both guns and marijuana to be banned by gov't?



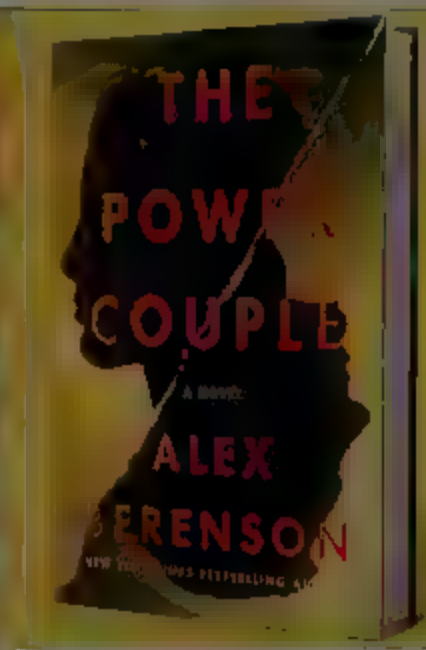
1 1 3

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 25 Mar 2019
He will do and say anything to get back with his wife.

Matthew Meyer @MatthewDSMeyer · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Disgusting and irresponsible retweet of this article. Really despicable, AB.

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 25 Mar 2019
This is what I said. He is allowed to be the most dirty disgusting but if someone hits back at him in kind, he gets all aggrieved. Tweets and pouts the dm or tweet.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Hey @NateSilver538 - you're smart, intellectually honest, understand statistics. I'll take my chances with you. @benconomics and I are having a frank exchange of views on whether the post-2013 increase in crime in the cannabis states can be viewed as meaningful. Care to weigh in?

7:44 AM - 25 Mar 2019

11 Likes

5 11

Colorado Drug Investigators Association @codruginvest · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
No other explanation for all of the crime increases in Colorado outside of marijuana legalization. Dramatic increases in crimes from larceny to homicide.

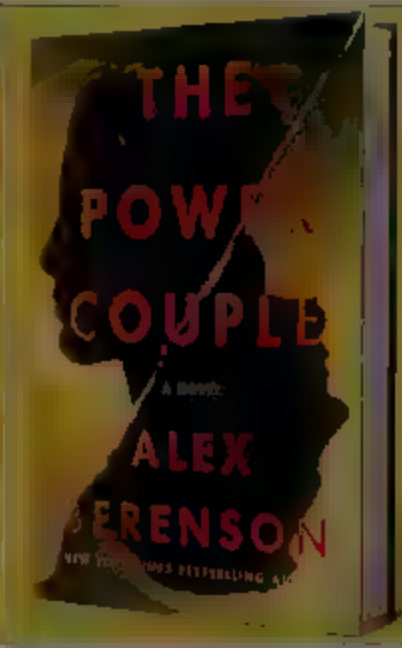
1

David Murray @DavidMurrayd11 · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Remember: "Legal cannabis" was assuredly going to lower crime, and not just drug crime, according to the sales pitch. Any outcome other than that is a refutation.

2

Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I am not usually interested in crime stats; but this is def something I could respond to and I hope Nate does too. But, a fews Qs:
Which types of crime? Violent/non-violent, etc.
Which sources of crime data? FBI, State, local, etc.

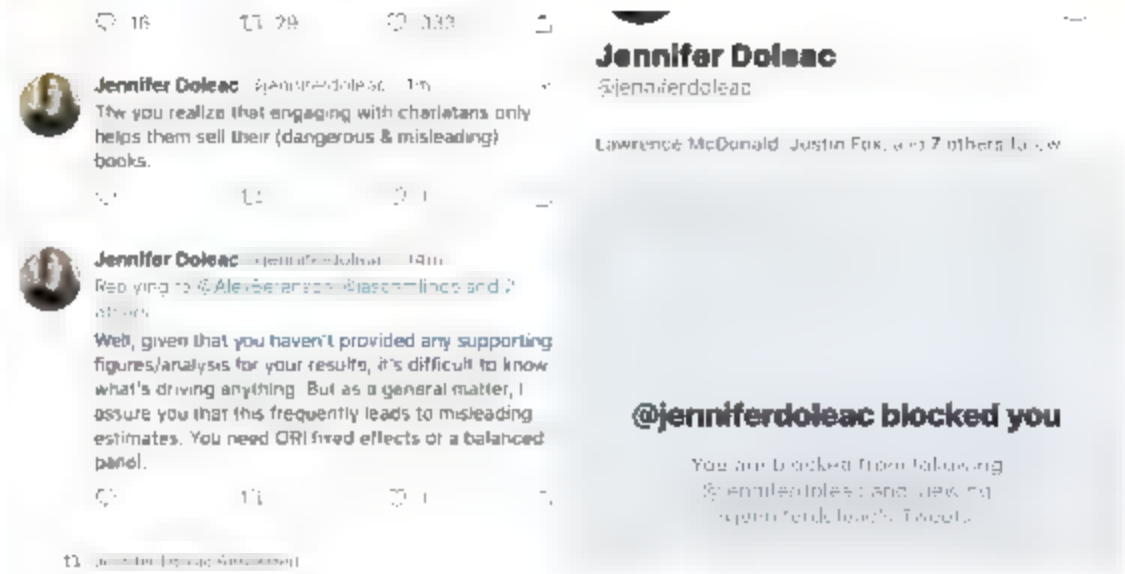
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York



Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Apparently @jenniferdoleac's version of intellectual honesty consists of calling me a charlatan and blocking me on Twitter in the hopes I won't see it. (Apparently she also doesn't know how Twitter works.) (Deleted and retweeted for grammar.)

8:07 AM - 25 Mar 2019

2 Likes

4 2

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to
The oregano calling the pot green.

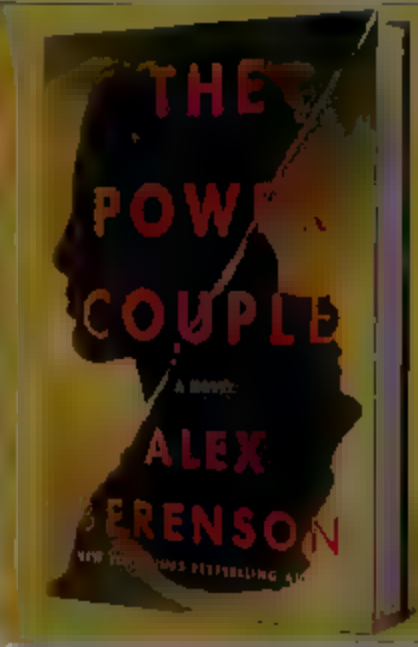
1

Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

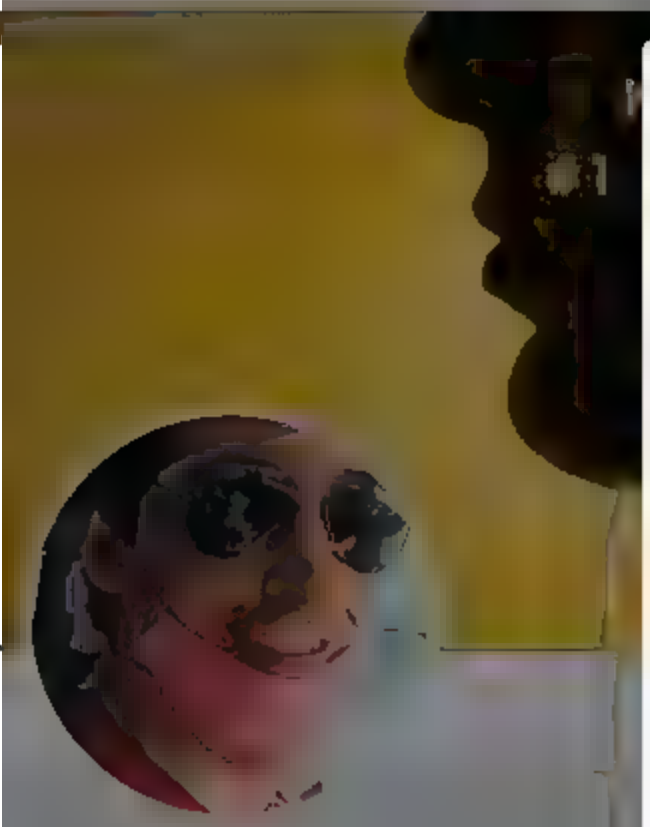
New York



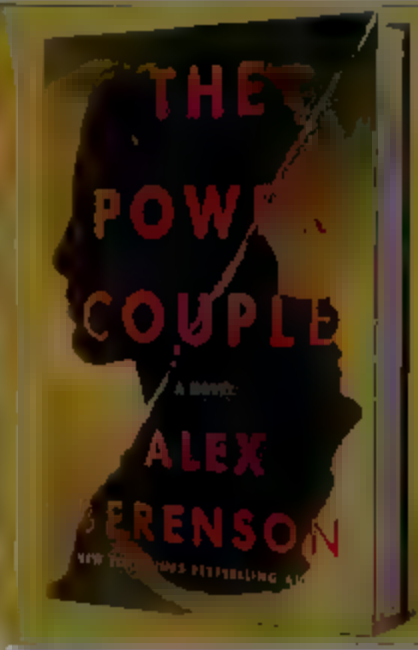
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Can't wait for all those PhDs who have told me I've been too mean to @benconomics for calling him out for his use of the wrong dataset to weigh on @jenniferdoleac's debating technique. Anyone? Anyone? Bueller?



8:13 AM - 25 Mar 2019



2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

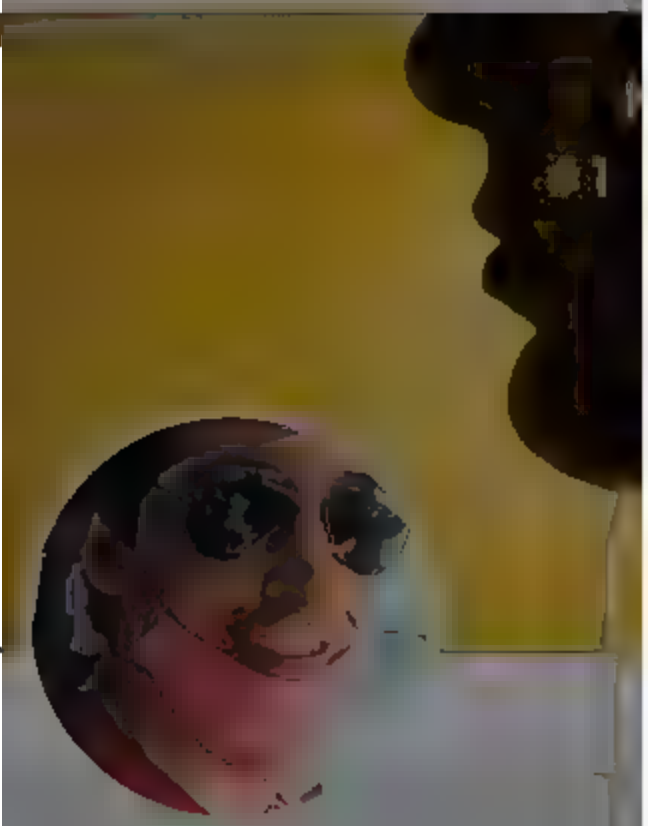
Coming up later today: another episode of Math Is Easy and Fun! This time, I'll be calculating psychosis rates with @ian_hamilton

Until then...

7:05 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1 Like

1 1 1



ChristineTatum @ChristineTatum · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

You can add to the fun by doing this math with researcher Christine Miller, too. Even her back-of-the-napkin calculations are something to see!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 9

Jason Lindo @jasonmlindo · 25 Mar 2019
I'd probably be happy with just the figures.

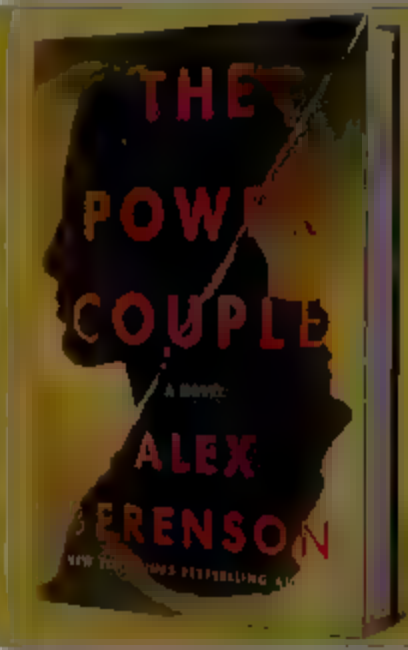
1 3

Jennifer Doleac @jenniferdoleac · 25 Mar 2019
Also need to make sure you're correcting for the which jurisdictions are reporting crime rates to the FBI (assuming those are the stats you're using) each month/year. Departments drop in and out of the UCR and NIBRS.

2 2

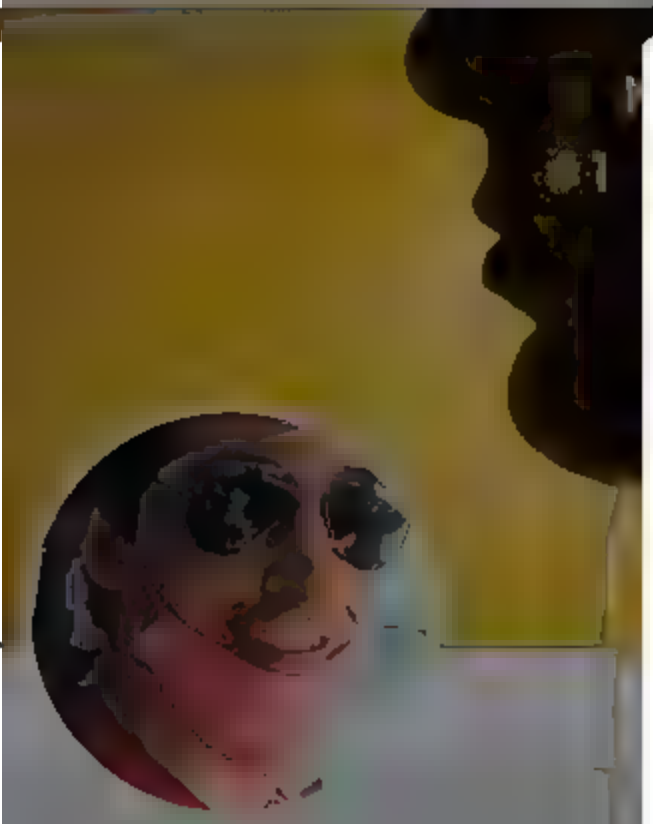
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible] and 2 others

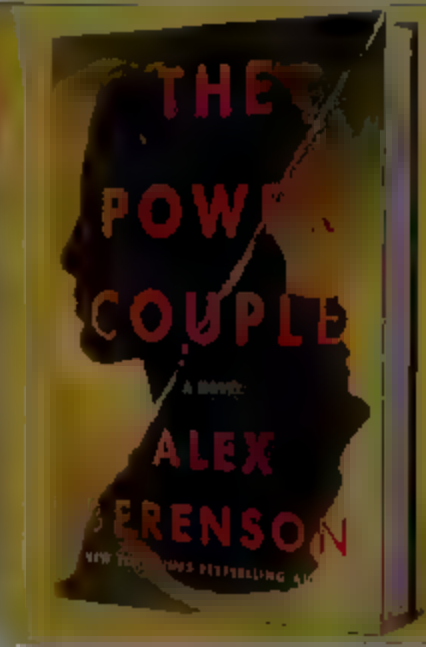


Approximately 95% of the US is covered at every time point (as I imagine you know). Are you seriously proposing that a handful of departments contributing or not to this dataset would change this finding? Or just objecting for the sake of objecting?

7:36 AM - 25 Mar 2019



1



Jennifer Doleac @jenniferdoleac · 25 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible] and 2 others
Well, given that you haven't provided any supporting figures/analysis for your results, it's difficult to know what's driving anything. But as a general matter, I assure you that this frequently leads to misleading estimates. You need ORI fixed effects or a balanced panel.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

1/ So I got bored with [redacted] failing to correct his dataset and decided to see if legalization changed crime trends for myself. The results surprised even to me. In an honest world, they would get [redacted] et al to revisit Ben's charts. (I'm not holding my breath.)

5 1 3

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

You're right - it takes a lot of training to miss patterns as obvious as this one.

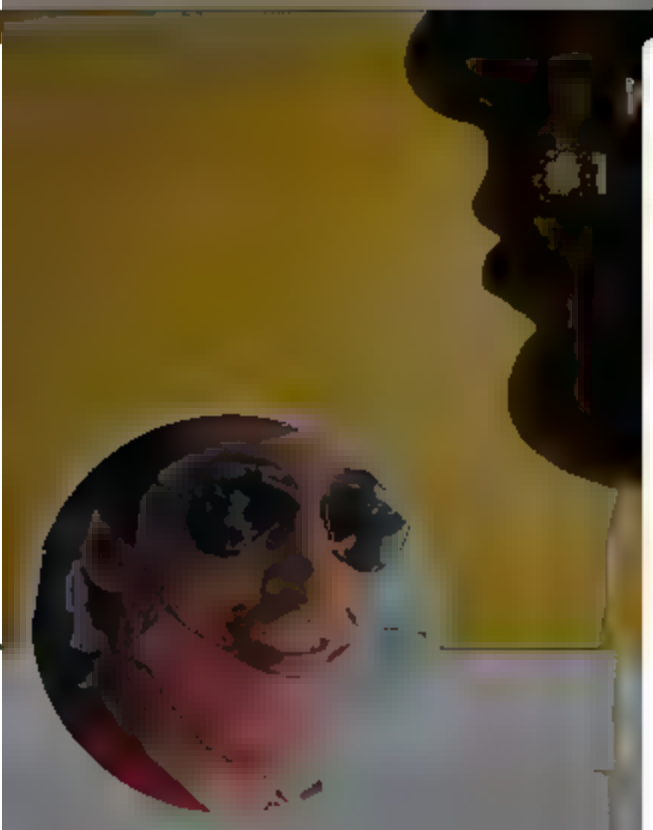
6:27 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

It's not obvious when you deliberately leave out many factors. To busy selling and hoping she is happy



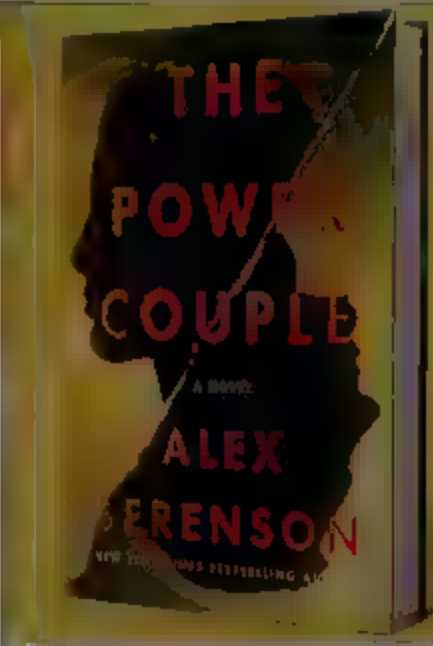
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

ICYMI, @aaronecarroll @germanlopez: Last night I showed that the opening of recreational cannabis dispensaries in 2014 marked a clear change in violent crime rates between the first states to legalize and the rest of the US. In the 20 years before legalization...

6:08 AM - 25 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

2 1 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

2/ Murders and aggravated assaults in those states moved in lockstep compared to the rest of the United States, on a per-capita basis. To be precise, murders fell 50% in both the first four and the rest of the US, and agg assaults fell 47% in the US and 48% in the first four.

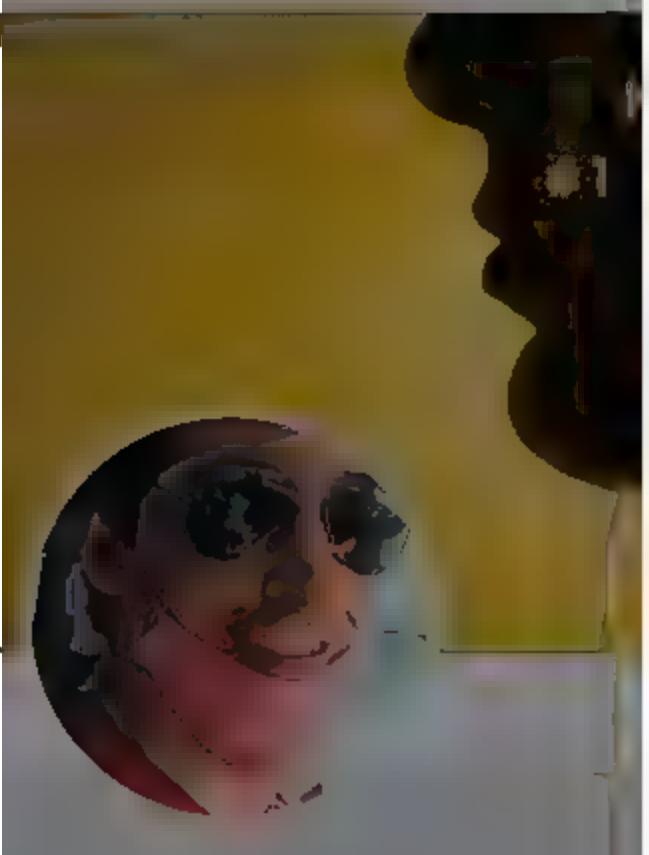
1 2 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

3/ However, between 2013 and 2017, murders rose about 29% per capita in the first four and 18% in the US, and agg assaults rose about 18% per capita in the first four and 9% in the US.

Will you be updating your stories to correct this longer and fuller dataset?

2 3 8



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 25 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Your point is bogus. States had medical where anyone could get a card. States had decrim. U pick 2014 Bec it suits ur fantasy and 2 satisfy the fantasy and who's behind it. We know.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

ICYMI, [redacted]: Last night I showed that the opening of recreational cannabis dispensaries in 2014 marked a clear change in violent crime rates between the first states to legalize and the rest of the US. In the 20 years before legalization...

2 1 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Murders and aggravated assaults in those states moved in lockstep compared to the rest of the United States, on a per-capita basis. To be precise, murders fell 50% in both the first four and the rest of the US, and agg assaults fell 47% in the US and 48% in the first four.

6:10 AM - 25 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 4 Likes

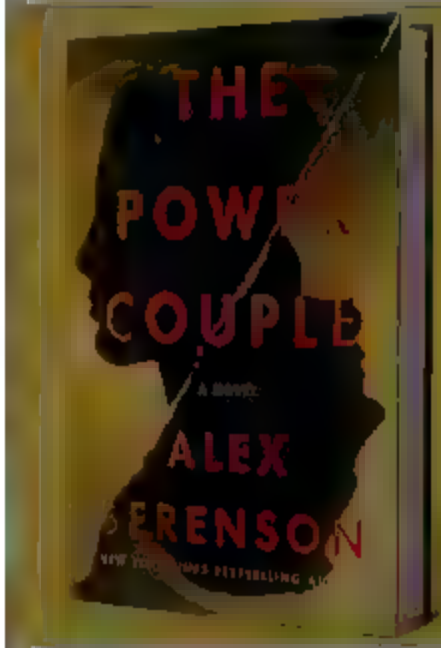
1 2 4

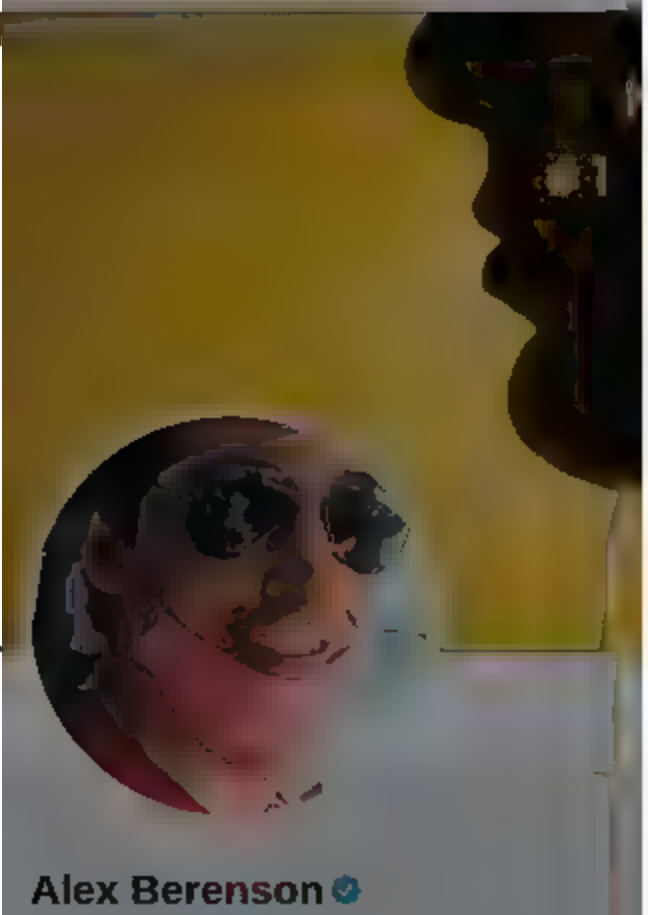
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019



3/ However, between 2013 and 2017, murders rose about 29% per capita in the first four and 18% in the US, and agg assaults rose about 18% per capita in the first four and 9% in the US.

Will you be updating your stories to correct this longer and fuller dataset?

2 3 8



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 1 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Mar 2019

2/ Murders and aggravated assaults in those states moved in lockstep compared to the rest of the United States, on a per-capita basis. To be precise, murders fell 50% in both the first four and the rest of the US, and agg assaults fell 47% in the US and 48% in the first four.

1 2 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ However, between 2013 and 2017, murders rose about 29% per capita in the first four and 18% in the US, and agg assaults rose about 18% per capita in the first four and 9% in the US.

Will you be updating your stories to correct this longer and fuller dataset?

6:16 AM - 25 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 8 Likes

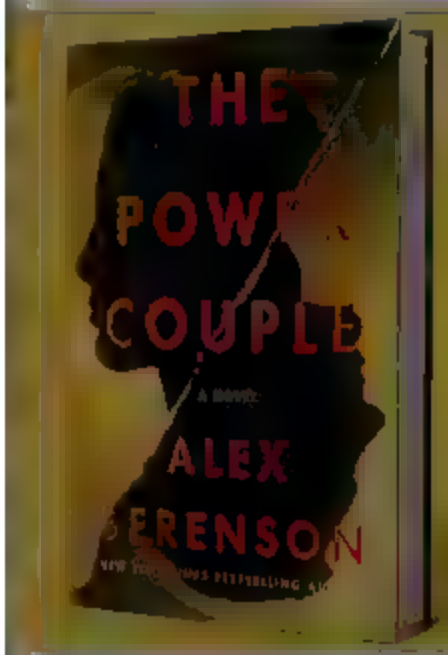
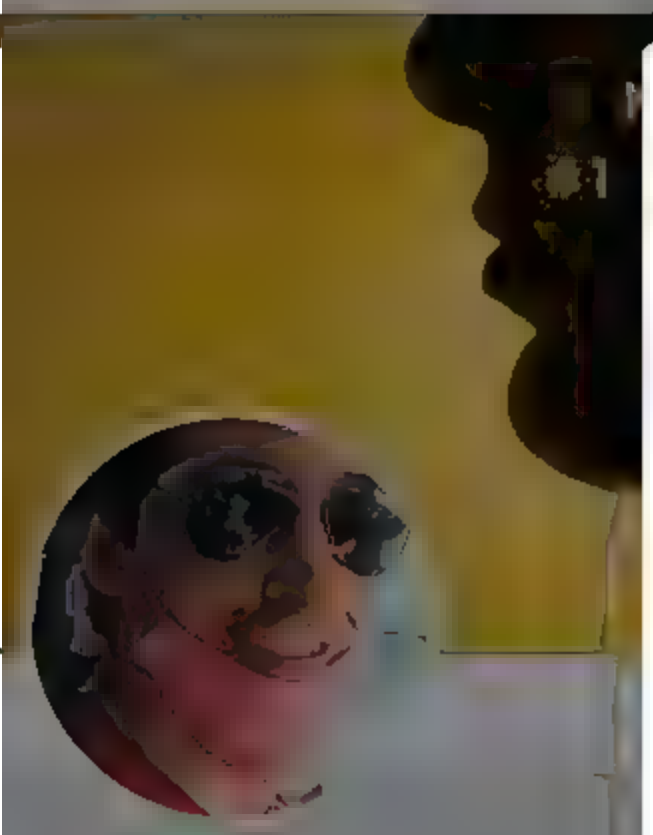
2 3 8

Joseph Drum @JDrum84 · 25 Mar 2019

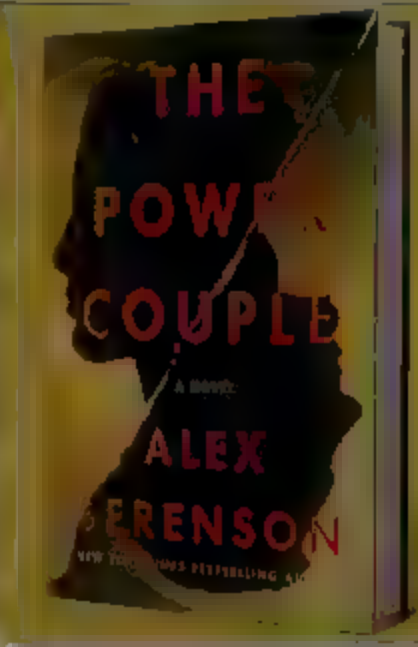


Replying to

Look up the following terms in the dictionary: correlation and causation. They aren't synonymous.



1



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

1/ So I got bored with [redacted] failing to correct his dataset and decided to see if legalization changed crime trends for myself. The results surprised even to me. In an honest world, they would get [redacted] et al to revisit Ben's charts. (I'm not holding my breath.)

5 1 3

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 24 Mar 2019

So why do you hang your hat on using the entire US as your control group? My guess is two fold. 1. Its easy. 2. It fits your narrative.

2 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

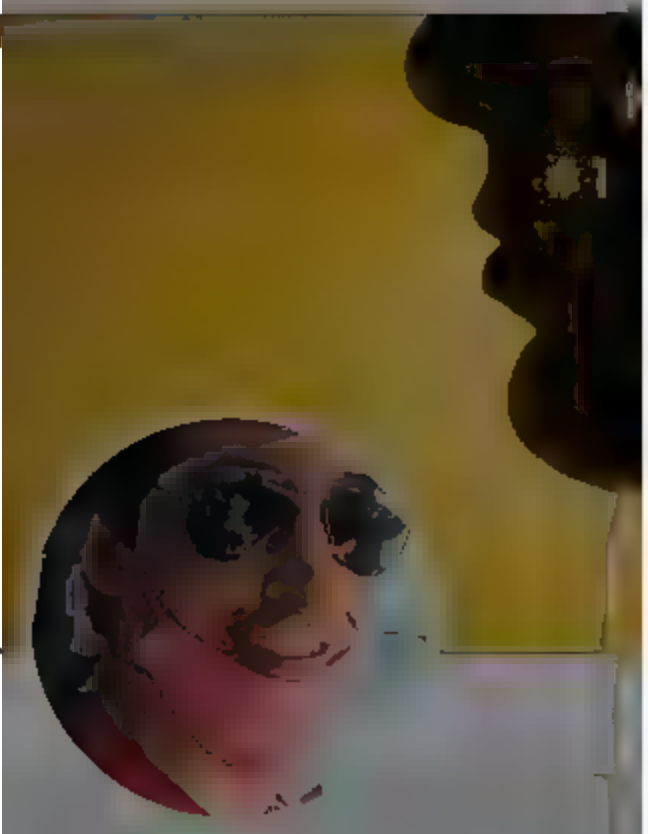
How about this: it works.

8:21 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1 Like

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 24 Mar 2019
So why do you hang your hat on using the entire US as your control group? My guess is two fold. 1. Its easy. 2. It fits your narrative.

2 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

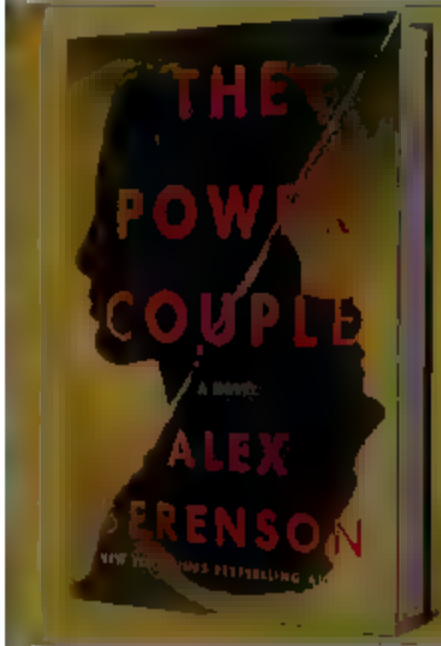
And if you want a more satisfactorily complicated reason: because the correlations are so high for so long and the dataset relatively limited and the outcomes known in advance, it is too easy to create a biased comparator.

8:23 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1 Like

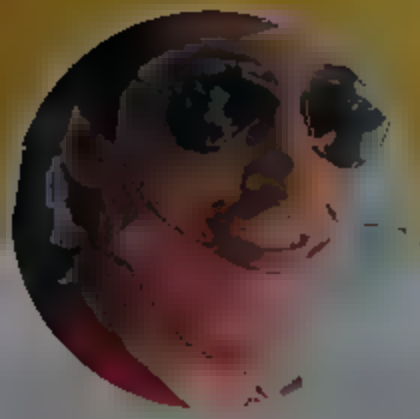
3 1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 24 Mar 2019
Replying to
Funny how it was CO and WA's trends that picked the comparator. So their trends over the last 15 years are biased? FYI, I'm done having this convo tonight. Mostly because I need to uploaded my grades, and I'm going on vacation tomorrow.

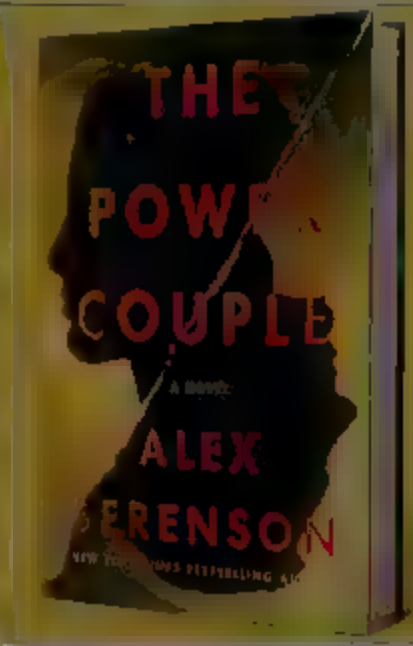


1 2

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 24 Mar 2019
Also I'm working on a paper this spring that will examine a lot of additional types of crimes in more detail as well exploring a variety of definitions of homicides, treatment, spatial spillovers, etc. All that boring elite social scientist stuff.



3



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 24 Mar 2019
Replying to
The only reason you the say the comparator is biased is because it doesn't fit

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

1/ So I got bored with [redacted] failing to correct his dataset and decided to see if legalization changed crime trends for myself. The results surprised even to me. In an honest world, they would get [redacted] et al to revisit Ben's charts. (I'm not holding my breath.)

5 1 3

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 24 Mar 2019

So where's your figures? Your regressions? Your test statistics? How did you adjust for auto-correlation in the data? Did you consider spatial spill-overs?

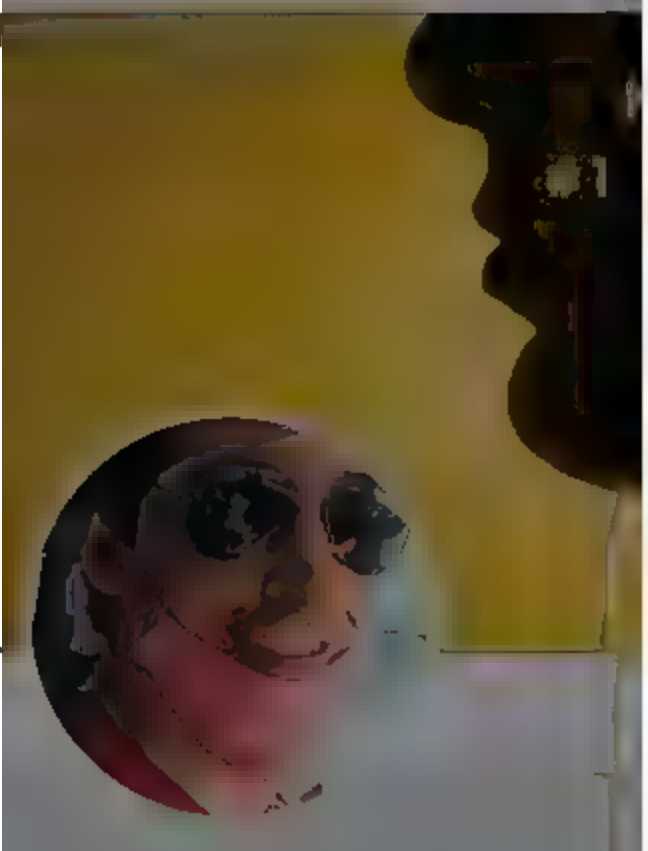
3 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

Let's review - from 1994 to 2013 murders fell at EXACTLY the same rate in the first four states to legalize as in the whole US (I know, it seems impossibly neat, but it's true). Since 2013 they have risen almost twice as fast. (Deleted and corrected for error in year.)

1 2 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted]

So go ahead, spatially spill over all you like. The numbers are what they are.

8:20 PM - 24 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

1/ So I got bored with [redacted] failing to correct his dataset and decided to see if legalization changed crime trends for myself. The results surprised even to me. In an honest world, they would get [redacted] et al to revisit Ben's charts. (I'm not holding my breath.)

5 1 3

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 24 Mar 2019

So where's your figures? Your regressions? Your test statistics? How did you adjust for auto-correlation in the data? Did you consider spatial spill-overs?

3 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

Let's review - from 1994 to 2013 murders fell at EXACTLY the same rate in the first four states to legalize as in the whole US (I know, it seems impossibly neat, but it's true). Since 2013 they have risen almost twice as fast. (Deleted and corrected for error in year.)

8:20 PM - 24 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

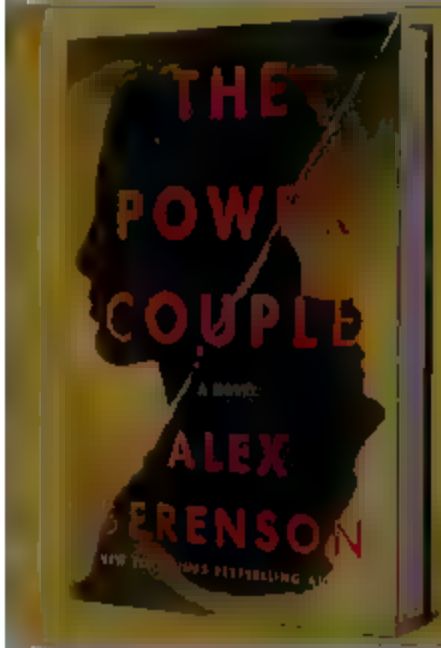
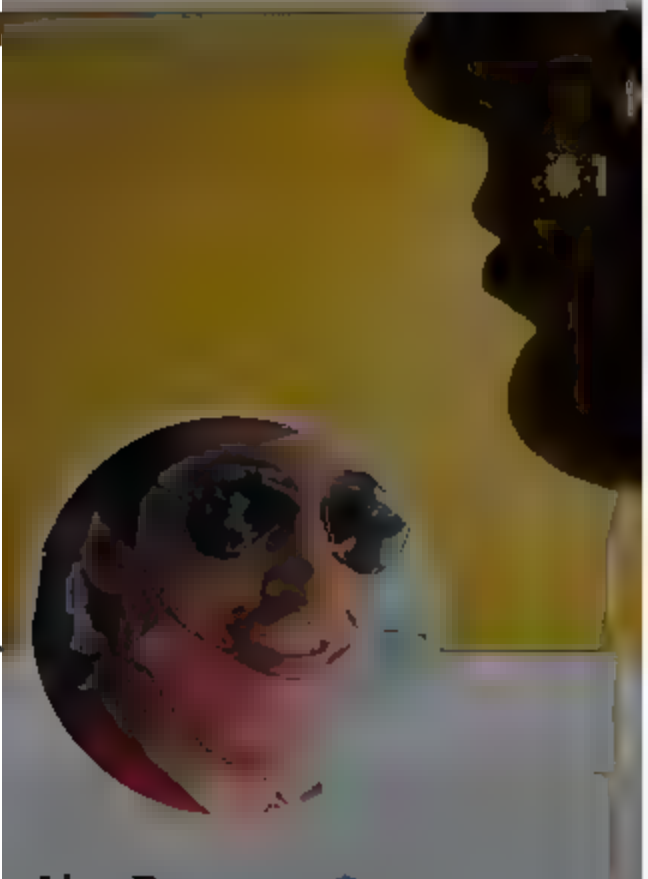
1 2 3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]



So go ahead, spatially spill over all you like. The numbers are what they are.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

11/ Between 1994 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 47% per capita. And the agg assault rate in the first four... fell 48%. Between 2004 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 21%. And the first four agg assault rate... fell 19%.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

So, please, can we drop the whole "synthesized states" fiction? Over 20-year period murder and agg assault rates in the first four states (almost) exactly tracked those in the rest of the US. Since 2014, they haven't. I can't wait for a busload of PhDs to find a good reason why.

6:56 PM - 24 Mar 2019

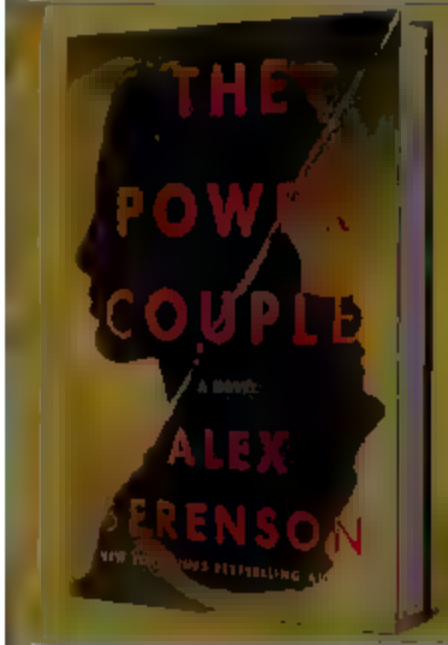
7 1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 24 Mar 2019

Replying to

First of all, you mentioned pop increase and dividing but you need gang intell director to acknowledge what was reported by SAM that lots of homeless and gang mems moved to Denver and Co. after legal. Would that have any effect on the vanilla process, and again if police budgets were cut we would want to determine that effect as well. But just basic input is needed regarding gangs and their percent of the violent crime. More of them more etc. or not this is not true it's 1 citizen = 1 citizen.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 24 Mar 2019



Replying to

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 24 Mar 2019

Replying to

Secondly, you pick 2014 when violence surged nationwide in 2015-6, Some of

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

9/ (I already had 2013, of course.) Then I added up the murders and aggravated assaults for the four states, added their population, and divided. Fun fact: crime in the US fell pretty much in lockstep through the 1990s and aughts, and the first four were no exception.

1

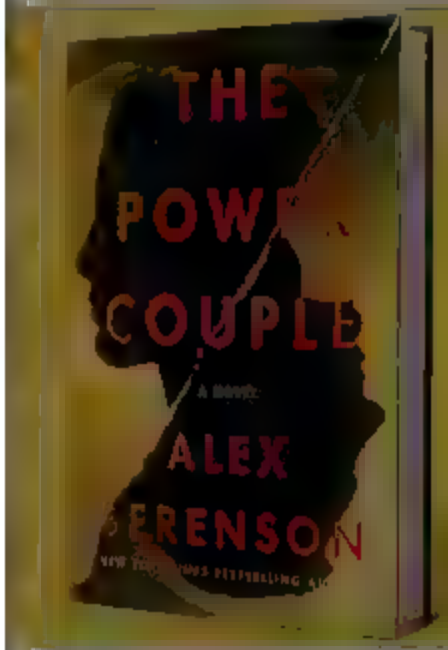
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

10/ So... drumroll please... between 1994 and 2013 the US murder rate fell 50% per capita. The murder rate in the first four... fell 50%. Between 2004 and 2013 the US murder rate dropped 18%. The first murder rate fell 21%.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

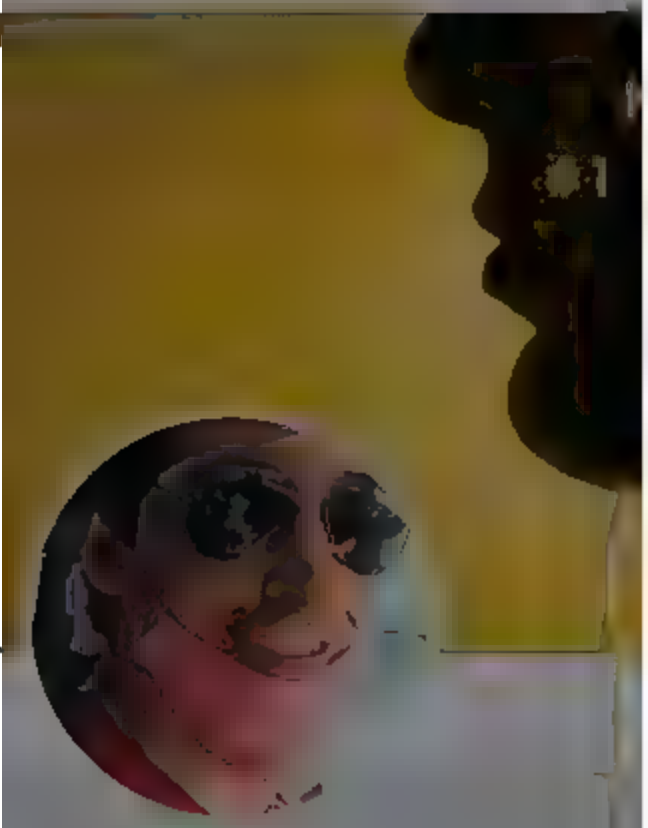
11/ Between 1994 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 47% per capita. And the agg assault rate in the first four... fell 48%. Between 2004 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 21%. And the first four agg assault rate... fell 19%.



6:54 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019



So, please, can we drop the whole "synthesized states" fiction? Over 20-year period murder and agg assault rates in the first four states (almost) exactly tracked those in the rest of the US. Since 2014, they haven't. I can't wait for a busload of PhDs to find a good reason why.

7 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

8/ It took me about 10 minutes. I pulled FBI UCR data for murders and aggravated assaults in 1994 (why 94? because it was 20 years before legalization and the first year I could easily find on the FBI UCR site) and 2004.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

9/ (I already had 2013, of course.) Then I added up the murders and aggravated assaults for the four states, added their population, and divided. Fun fact: crime in the US fell pretty much in lockstep through the 1990s and aughts, and the first four were no exception.

6:48 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1

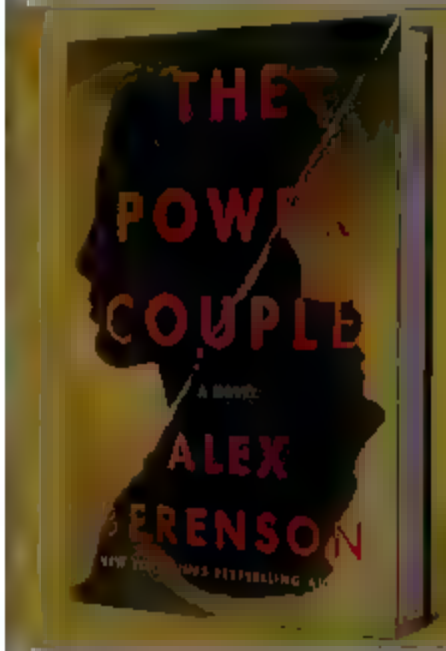
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

10/ So... drumroll please... between 1994 and 2013 the US murder rate fell 50% per capita. The murder rate in the first four... fell 50%. Between 2004 and 2013 the US murder rate dropped 18%. The first murder rate fell 21%.

1

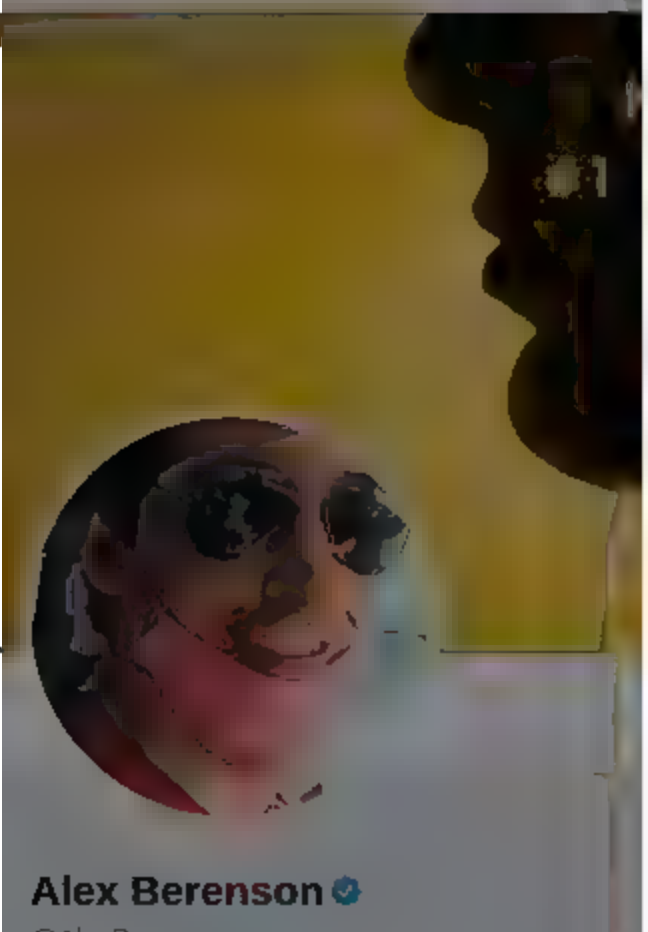
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

11/ Between 1994 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 47% per capita. And the agg assault rate in the first four... fell 48%. Between 2004 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 21%. And the first four agg assault rate... fell 19%.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019



So, please, can we drop the whole "synthesized states" fiction? Over 20-year period murder and agg assault rates in the first four states (almost) exactly tracked those in the rest of the US. Since 2014, they haven't. I can't wait for a busload of PhDs to find a good reason why.

7 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

9/ (I already had 2013, of course.) Then I added up the murders and aggravated assaults for the four states, added their population, and divided. Fun fact: crime in the US fell pretty much in lockstep through the 1990s and aughts, and the first four were no exception.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

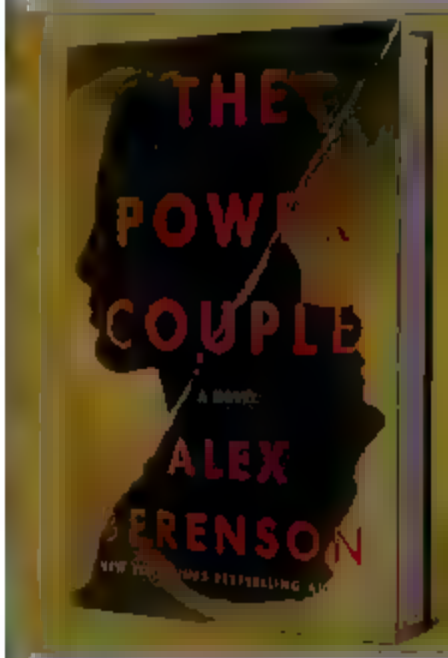
10/ So... drumroll please... between 1994 and 2013 the US murder rate fell 50% per capita. The murder rate in the first four... fell 50%. Between 2004 and 2013 the US murder rate dropped 18%. The first murder rate fell 21%.

6:51 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

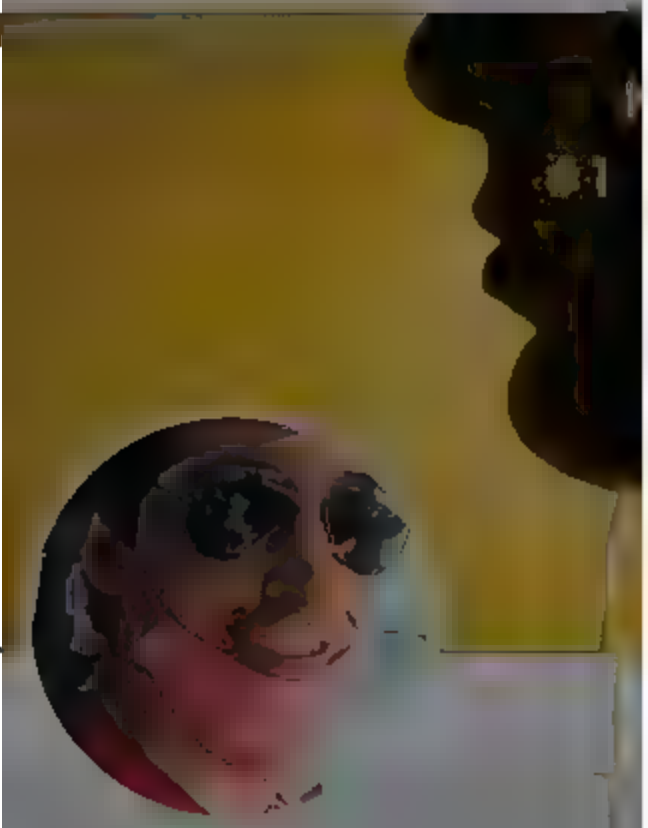
11/ Between 1994 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 47% per capita. And the agg assault rate in the first four... fell 48%. Between 2004 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 21%. And the first four agg assault rate... fell 19%.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

So, please, can we drop the whole "synthesized states" fiction? Over 20-year period murder and agg assault rates in the first four states (almost) exactly tracked those in the rest of the US. Since 2014, they haven't. I can't wait for a busload of PhDs to find a good reason why.



7 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

7/ Is to check whether changes in violent crime rates in the four legalized states tracked those in the whole US prior to legalization. Makes sense, huh? So that's what I did.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

8/ It took me about 10 minutes. I pulled FBI UCR data for murders and aggravated assaults in 1994 (why 94? because it was 20 years before legalization and the first year I could easily find on the FBI UCR site) and 2004.

6:46 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

9/ (I already had 2013, of course.) Then I added up the murders and aggravated assaults for the four states, added their population, and divided. Fun fact: crime in the US fell pretty much in lockstep through the 1990s and aughts, and the first four were no exception.

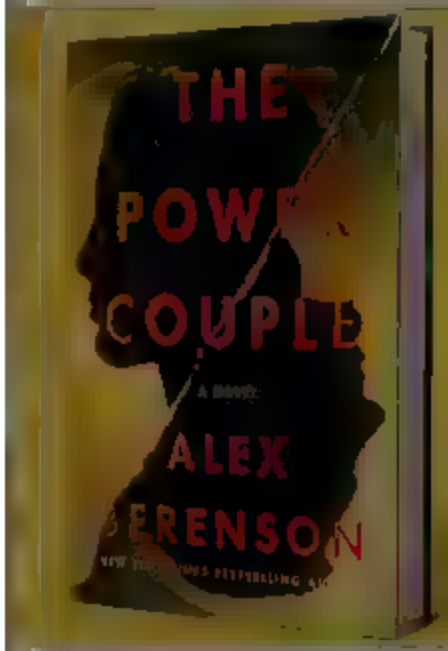
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

10/ So... drumroll please... between 1994 and 2013 the US murder rate fell 50% per capita. The murder rate in the first four... fell 50%. Between 2004 and 2013 the US murder rate dropped 18%. The first murder rate fell 21%.

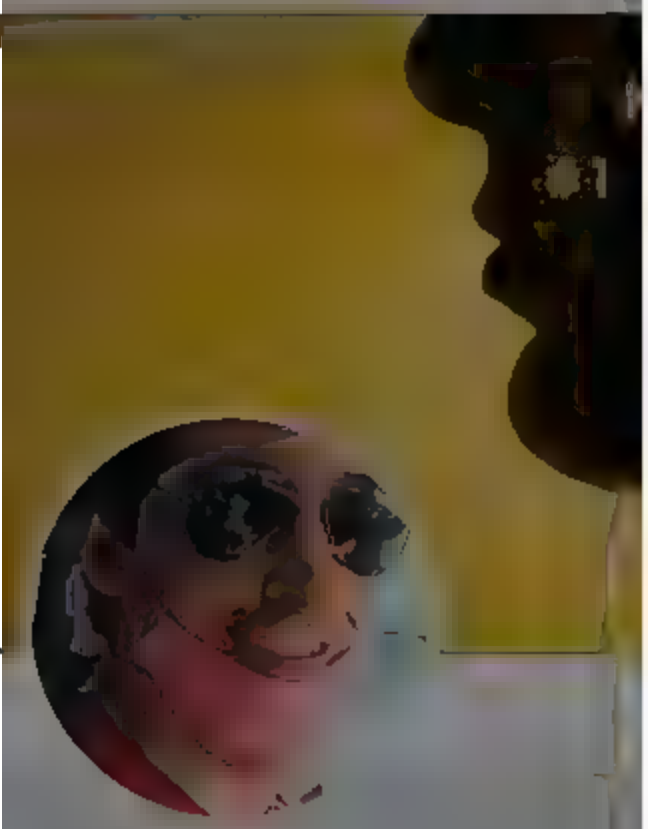
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019



11/ Between 1994 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 47% per capita. And the agg assault rate in the first four... fell 48%. Between 2004 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 21%. And the first four agg assault rate... fell 19%.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

So, please, can we drop the whole "synthesized states" fiction? Over 20-year

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

6/ But put that fundamental error aside. Ben's decision to create "synthesized" states needlessly introduced potential bias into the comparison. The simplest way to check whether violent crime rates in the legalized states tracked the whole US prior to legalization...

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

7/ Is to check whether changes in violent crime rates in the four legalized states tracked those in the whole US prior to legalization. Makes sense, huh? So that's what I did.

6:45 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

8/ It took me about 10 minutes. I pulled FBI UCR data for murders and aggravated assaults in 1994 (why 94? because it was 20 years before legalization and the first year I could easily find on the FBI UCR site) and 2004.

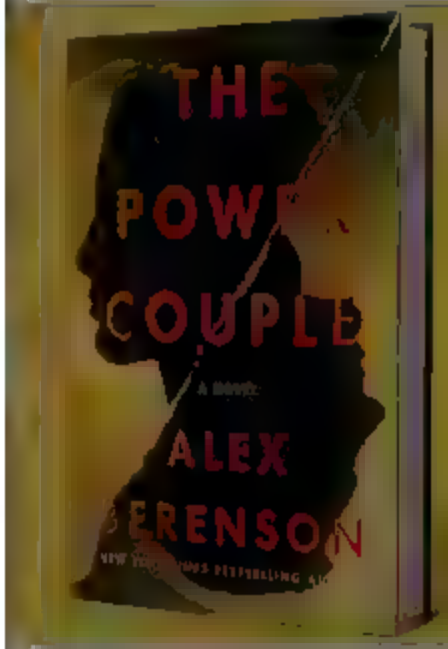
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

9/ (I already had 2013, of course.) Then I added up the murders and aggravated assaults for the four states, added their population, and divided. Fun fact: crime in the US fell pretty much in lockstep through the 1990s and aughts, and the first four were no exception.

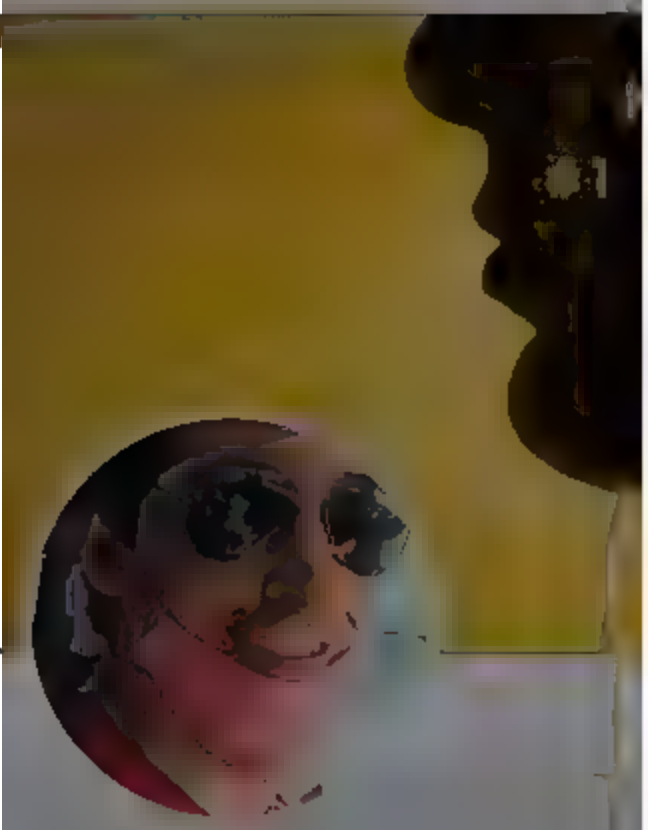
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019



10/ So... drumroll please... between 1994 and 2013 the US murder rate fell 50% per capita. The murder rate in the first four... fell 50%. Between 2004 and 2013 the US murder rate dropped 18%. The first murder rate fell 21%.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

11/ Between 1994 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 47% per capita. And the agg assault rate in the first four... fell 48%. Between 2004 and 2013, the US agg assault rate fell 21%. And the first four agg assault rate... fell 19%.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4/ However, Ben created some charts that seemed to show that crime actually increased faster in two "synthesized" states than in actual CO and WA, and various pro-legalizers seized on this to scream that I was wrong, son-of-Anslinger, etc, etc...

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

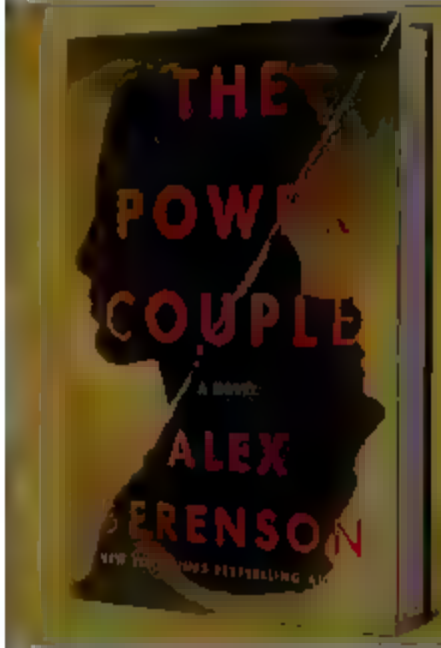
5/ Ben made a mistake in his charts. He used a non-standard method of counting homicides - one that includes justifiable homicides. That's not how police and the media report the US murder rate, and the higher base will suppress any change from cannabis-related killings.

6:41 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1 Retweet

2 1

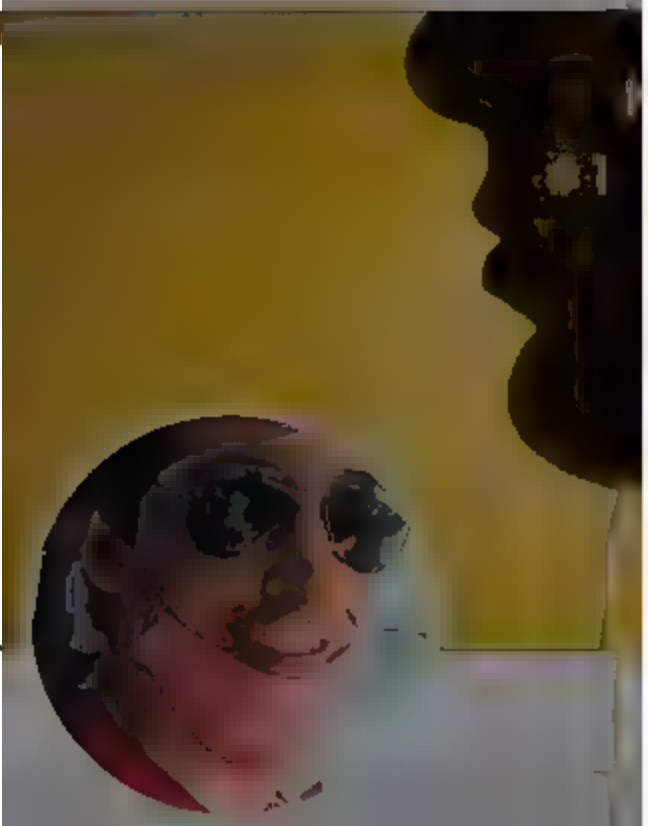
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
6/ But put that fundamental error aside. Ben's decision to create "synthesized" states needlessly introduced potential bias into the comparison. The simplest way to check whether violent crime rates in the legalized states tracked the whole US prior to legalization...



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
7/ Is to check whether changes in violent crime rates in the four legalized states tracked those in the whole US prior to legalization. Makes sense, huh? So that's what I did.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
8/ It took me about 10 minutes. I pulled FBI UCR data for murders and aggravated assaults in 1994 (why 94? because it was 20 years before legalization and the first year I could easily find on the FBI UCR site) and 2004.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5/ Ben made a mistake in his charts. He used a non-standard method of counting homicides - one that includes justifiable homicides. That's not how police and the media report the US murder rate, and the higher base will suppress any change from cannabis-related killings.

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

6/ But put that fundamental error aside. Ben's decision to create "synthesized" states needlessly introduced potential bias into the comparison. The simplest way to check whether violent crime rates in the legalized states tracked the whole US prior to legalization...

6:43 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

7/ Is to check whether changes in violent crime rates in the four legalized states tracked those in the whole US prior to legalization. Makes sense, huh? So that's what I did.

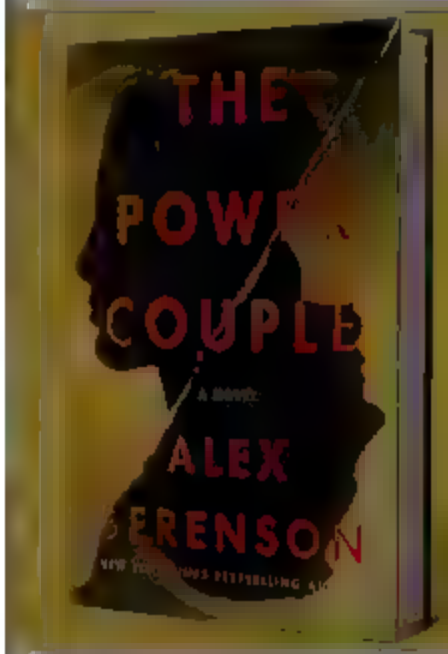
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

8/ It took me about 10 minutes. I pulled FBI UCR data for murders and aggravated assaults in 1994 (why 94? because it was 20 years before legalization and the first year I could easily find on the FBI UCR site) and 2004.

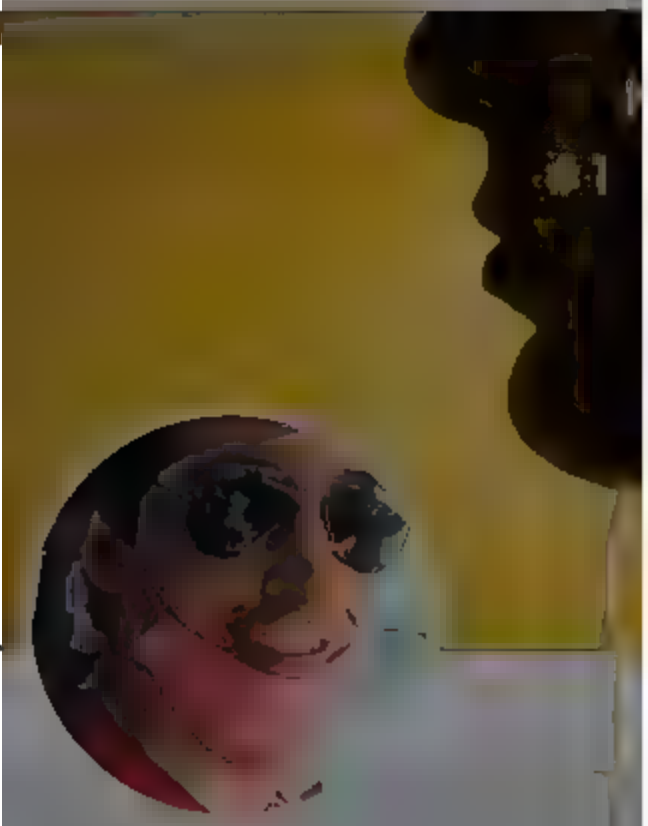
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019



9/ (I already had 2013, of course.) Then I added up the murders and aggravated assaults for the four states, added their population, and divided. Fun fact: crime in the US fell pretty much in lockstep through the 1990s and aughts, and the first four were no exception.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

10/ So... drumroll please... between 1994 and 2013 the US murder rate fell 50%

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ It is also unquestionable that on a per-capita basis, both murders and agg assaults increased significantly faster in those four states than in the US as a whole. This doesn't necessarily mean that legalization caused the crime, but it is telling.

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ However, Ben created some charts that seemed to show that crime actually increased faster in two "synthesized" states than in actual CO and WA, and various pro-legalizers seized on this to scream that I was wrong, son-of-Anslinger, etc, etc...

6:37 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1

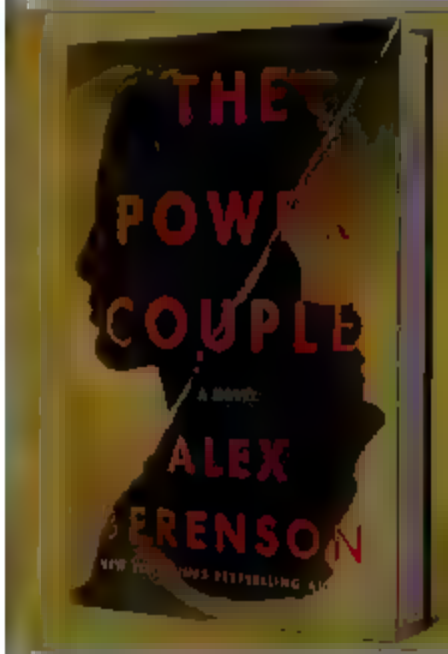
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

5/ Ben made a mistake in his charts. He used a non-standard method of counting homicides - one that includes justifiable homicides. That's not how police and the media report the US murder rate, and the higher base will suppress any change from cannabis-related killings.

2 1

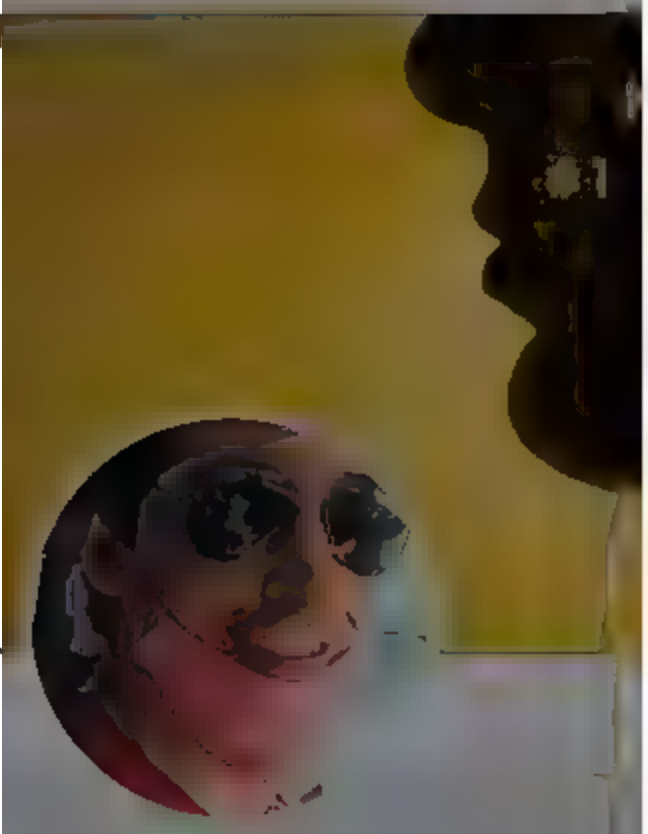
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

6/ But put that fundamental error aside. Ben's decision to create "synthesized" states needlessly introduced potential bias into the comparison. The simplest way to check whether violent crime rates in the legalized states tracked the whole US prior to legalization...



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019



7/ Is to check whether changes in violent crime rates in the four legalized states tracked those in the whole US prior to legalization. Makes sense, huh? So that's what I did.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ If you recall, I say in the book that violent crime increased in the first four legalized states (AK/CO/OR/WA) after 1/1/2014, when recreational dispensaries began opening. This is unquestionable - they had 452 murders and 30,300 agg assaults in 2013, and 617/38,000 in 2017.

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

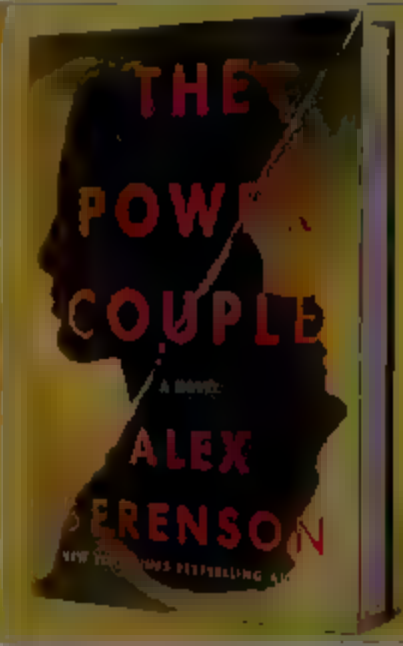
3/ It is also unquestionable that on a per-capita basis, both murders and agg assaults increased significantly faster in those four states than in the US as a whole. This doesn't necessarily mean that legalization caused the crime, but it is telling.

6:35 PM - 24 Mar 2019

3 Likes

1 3

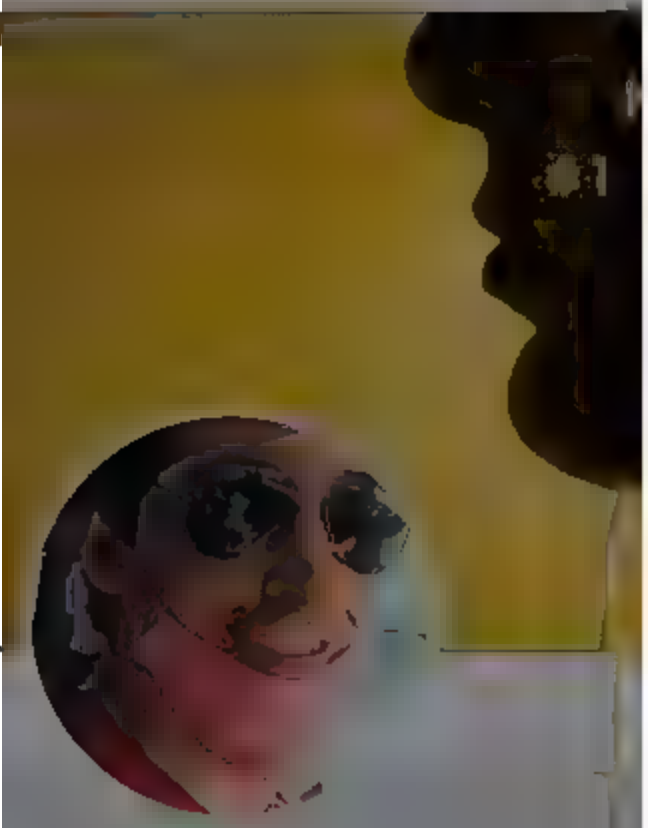
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
4/ However, Ben created some charts that seemed to show that crime actually increased faster in two "synthesized" states than in actual CO and WA, and various pro-legalizers seized on this to scream that I was wrong, son-of-Anslinger, etc, etc,..



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
5/ Ben made a mistake in his charts. He used a non-standard method of counting homicides - one that includes justifiable homicides. That's not how police and the media report the US murder rate, and the higher base will suppress any change from cannabis-related killings.

2 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
6/ But put that fundamental error aside. Ben's decision to create "synthesized" states needlessly introduced potential bias into the comparison. The simplest way to check whether violent crime rates in the legalized states tracked the whole US prior to legalization

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ So I got bored with [redacted] failing to correct his dataset and decided to see if legalization changed crime trends for myself. The results surprised even to me. In an honest world, they would get [redacted] et al to revisit Ben's charts. (I'm not holding my breath.)

5 1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ If you recall, I say in the book that violent crime increased in the first four legalized states (AK/CO/OR/WA) after 1/1/2014, when recreational dispensaries began opening. This is unquestionable - they had 452 murders and 30,300 agg assaults in 2013, and 617/38,000 in 2017.

6:33 PM - 24 Mar 2019

3 Likes

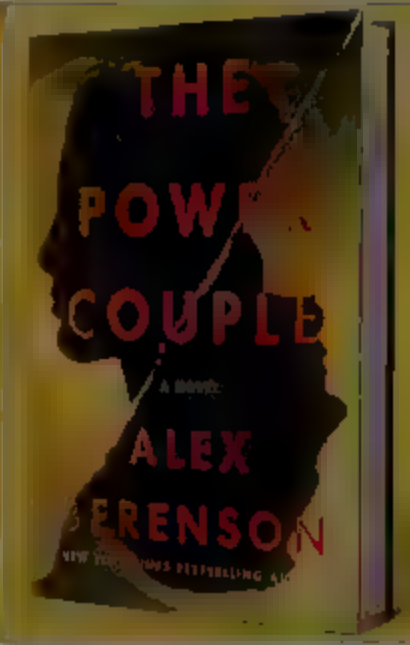
1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

3/ It is also unquestionable that on a per-capita basis, both murders and agg assaults increased significantly faster in those four states than in the US as a whole. This doesn't necessarily mean that legalization caused the crime, but it is telling.

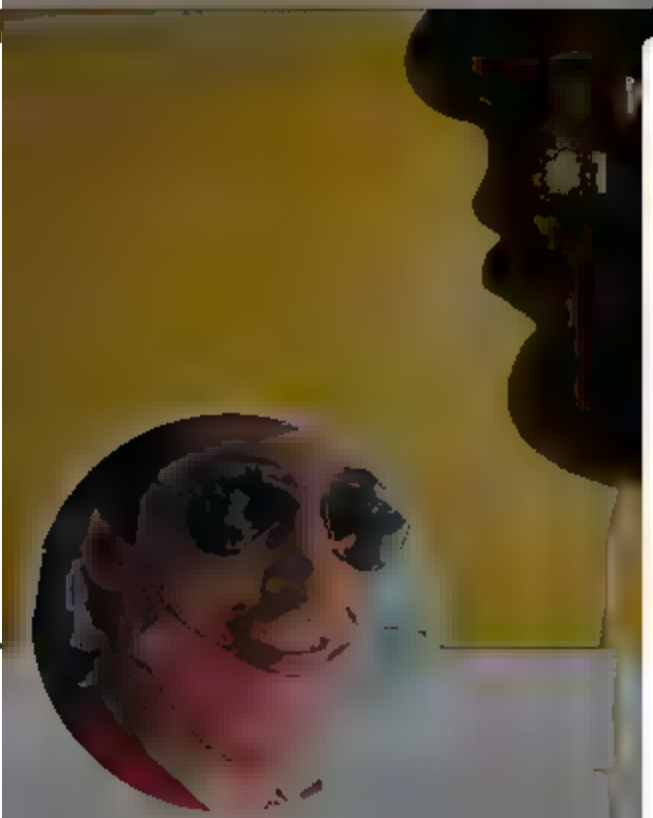
1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019



4/ However, Ben created some charts that seemed to show that crime actually increased faster in two "synthesized" states than in actual CO and WA, and various pro-legalizers seized on this to scream that I was wrong, son-of-Anslinger, etc, etc...

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

5/ Ben made a mistake in his charts. He used a non-standard method of counting homicides - one that includes justifiable homicides. That's not how

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ So I got bored with @benoumonics failing to correct his dataset and decided to see if legalization changed crime trends for myself. The results surprised even to me. In an honest world, they would get @aaronecarroll et al to revisit Ben's charts. (I'm not holding my breath.)

6:30 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

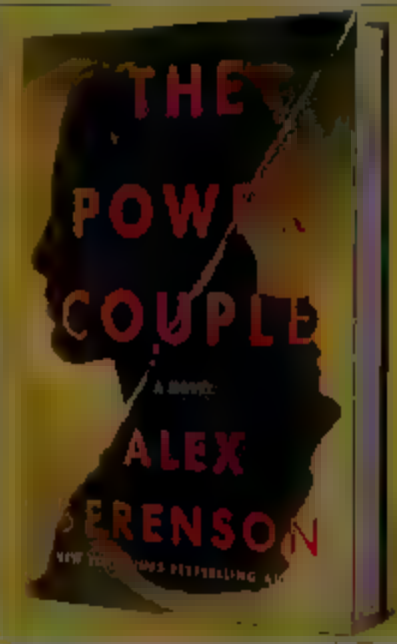
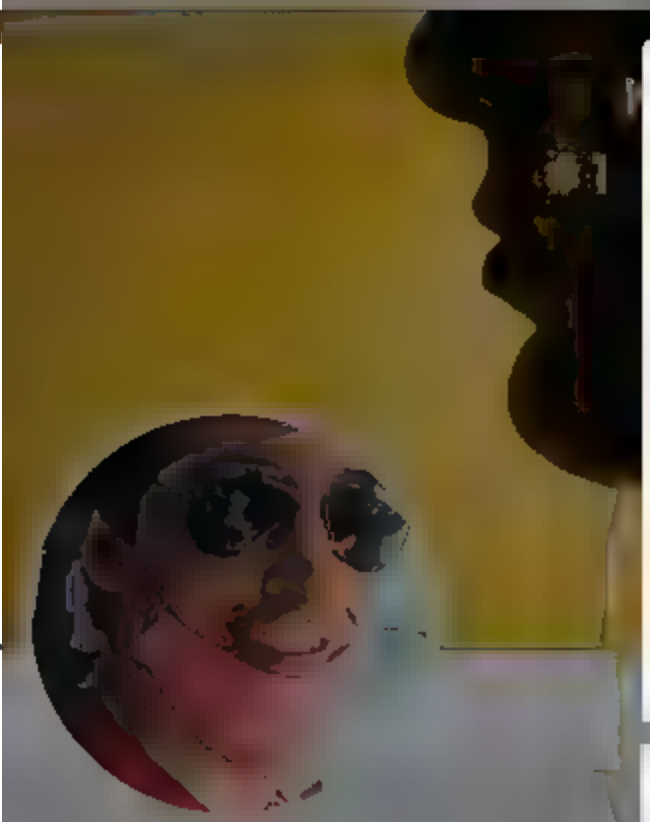
5 1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
2/ If you recall, I say in the book that violent crime increased in the first four legalized states (AK/CO/OR/WA) after 1/1/2014, when recreational dispensaries began opening. This is unquestionable - they had 452 murders and 30,300 agg assaults in 2013, and 617/38,000 in 2017.

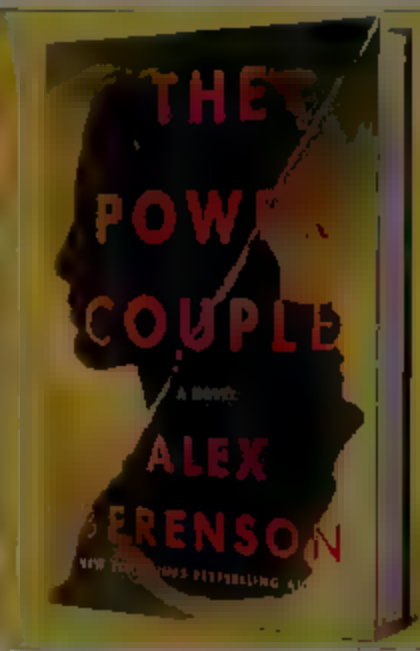


1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
3/ It is also unquestionable that on a per-capita basis, both murders and agg assaults increased significantly faster in those four states than in the US as a whole. This doesn't necessarily mean that legalization caused the crime, but it is telling.



1 3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019
4/ However, Ben created some charts that seemed to show that crime actually increased faster in two "synthesized" states than in actual CO and WA, and various pro-legalizers seized on this to scream that I was wrong, son-of-Anslinger, etc, etc...

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I know all the wiseguys liked Mueller but this is why it's always dangerous to pick against a 1 seed.

2:10 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

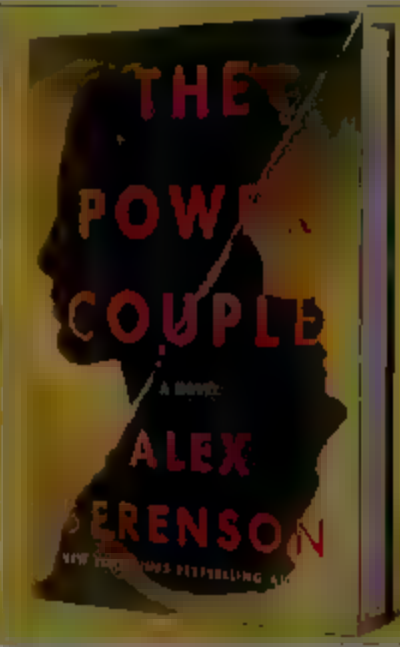
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Worth remembering: on very high-profile cases (especially white-collar where the physical risk is lower), reporters are often at/ahead of the gov't investigators the whole way. That looks to be the case again here.

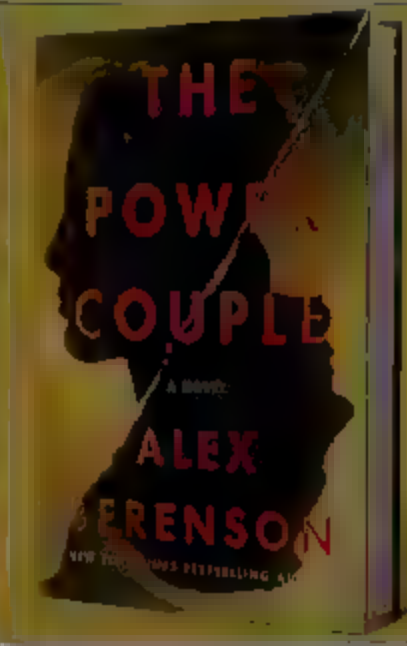
2:30 PM - 24 Mar 2019

2 Likes

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

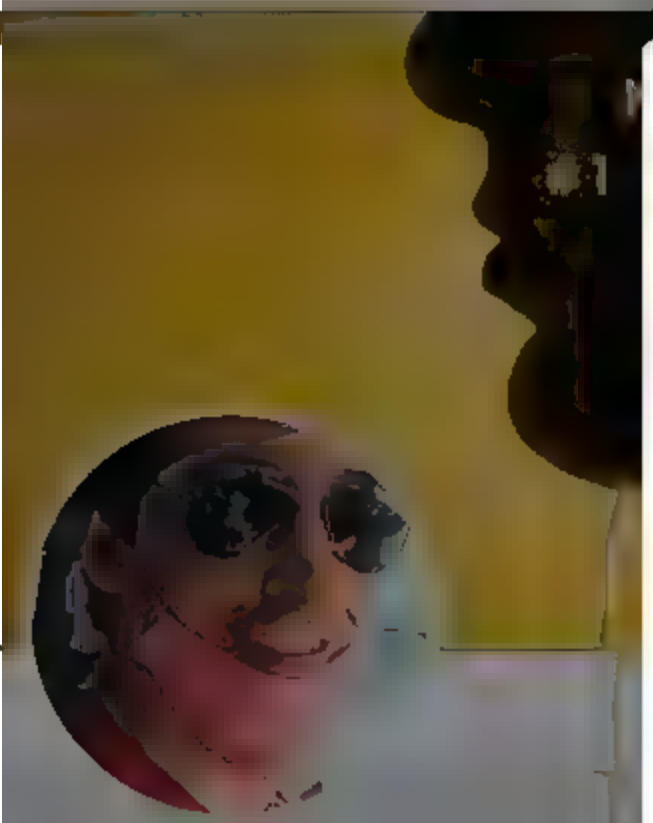
1/ The Mueller report's money line: "[T]he investigation did not establish that members of the Trump Campaign conspired or coordinated with the Russian government in its election interference activities." Those words clear not just [illegible], but Jr. and everyone else...

1 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

2/ Without the whole report, we can't know how exactly Mueller reached that conclusion - but since Barr says the report focused on Internet trolls in St. Petersburg and the Wikileaks data dump, it is clear the Russian ops in 2016 the election weren't exactly top-level FSB...



1:36 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

3/ In other words, no surprise, everything about this has been on the surface all along - from the day that [illegible] asked Russia for the Clinton emails. Love The Donald or hate him, you can never say he's subtle.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

1/ The Mueller report's money line: "[T]he investigation did not establish that members of the Trump Campaign conspired or coordinated with the Russian government in its election interference activities." Those words clear not just [illegible], but Jr. and everyone else...

1 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

2/ Without the whole report, we can't know how exactly Mueller reached that conclusion - but since Barr says the report focused on Internet trolls in St. Petersburg and the Wikileaks data dump, it is clear the Russian ops in 2016 the election weren't exactly top-level FSB...

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

3/ In other words, no surprise, everything about this has been on the surface all along - from the day that @realDonaldTrump asked Russia for the Clinton emails. Love The Donald or hate him, you can never say he's subtle.

1:39 PM - 24 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Search Twitter

Have an account? Log in

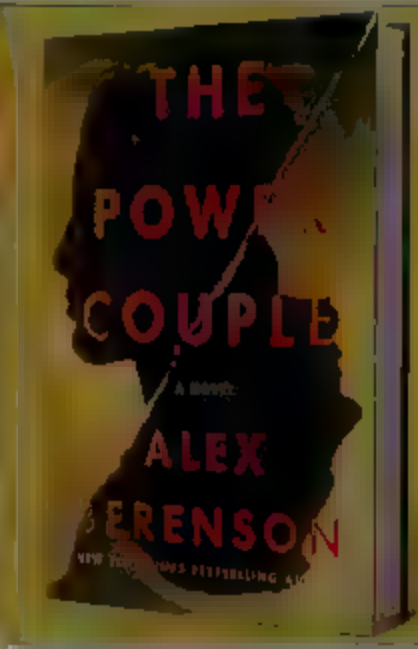
Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

And no NCAA upsets. What is wrong with us?

> Katherine Miller @katherinemiller
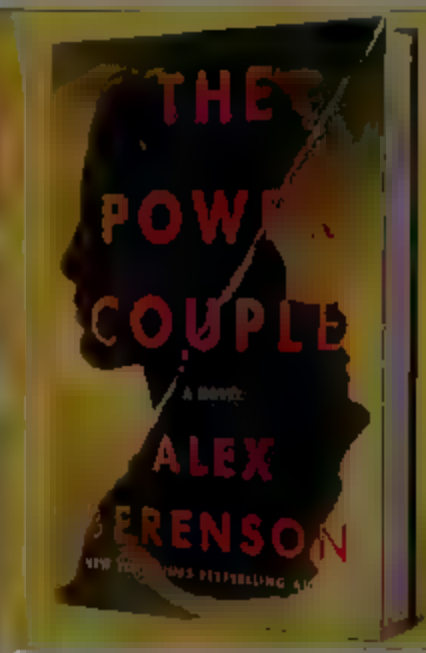
> A thrilling day in America, when half of Twitter seems disappointed the president isn't being charged with a crime, and the other half is like "scoreboard bitch!" that the president didn't collude with a foreign country's government



2:07 PM - 24 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ The Mueller report's money line: " [T]he investigation did not establish that members of the Trump Campaign conspired or coordinated with the Russian government in its election interference activities." Those words clear not just @realDonaldTrump, but Jr. and everyone else...

1:30 PM - 24 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

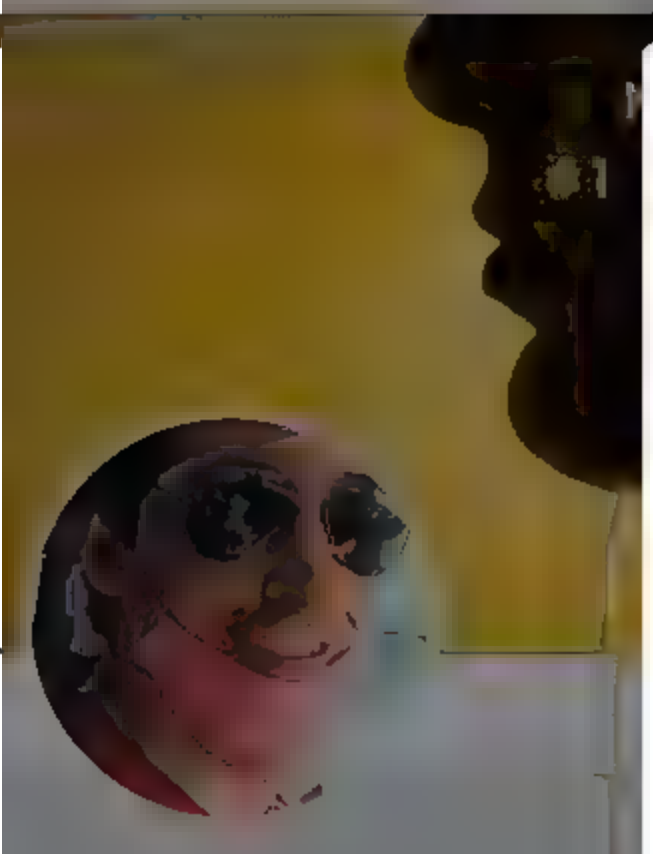
1 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

2/ Without the whole report, we can't know how exactly Mueller reached that conclusion - but since Barr says the report focused on Internet trolls in St. Petersburg and the Wikileaks data dump, it is clear the Russian ops in 2016 the election weren't exactly top-level FSB...



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Mar 2019

3/ In other words, no surprise, everything about this has been on the surface all along - from the day that [illegible] asked Russia for the Clinton emails. Love The Donald or hate him, you can never say he's subtle.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Twas4kids @twas4kids · 23 Mar 2019

Cory Booker now has a very big problem politically.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> You heard it here first: Legalization will fail in NJ in Monday. May not even come to a vote.
>
> 1

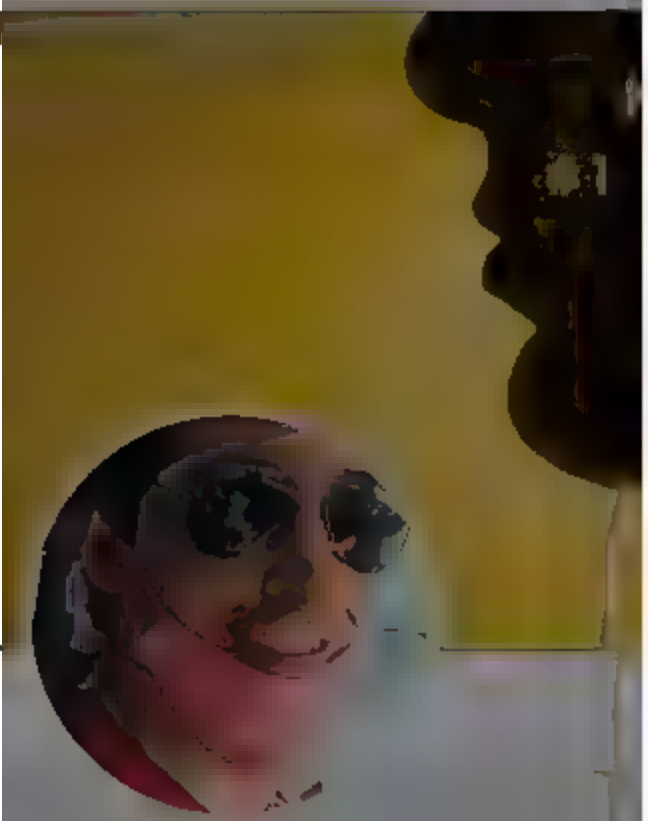
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

I will restrain myself - barely - from making the obvious joke...

12:21 PM - 23 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Erm. That quotation looks very different if you include the full sentence, along with the description of what was found in his car. Should I post it, or would you like to? Nice try, though.

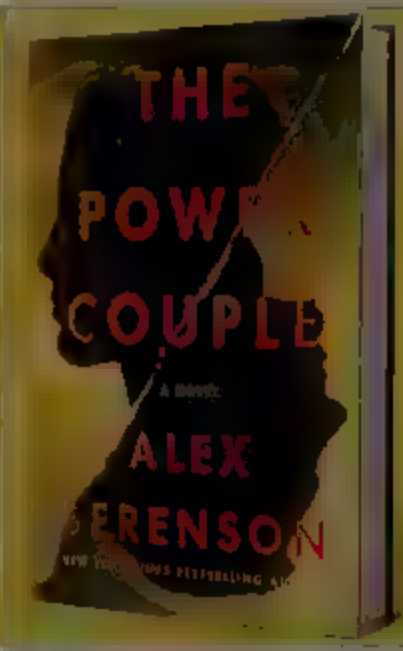
7:23 AM - 24 Mar 2019

2

Jimmy Adams @PatrioticOrange · 24 Mar 2019

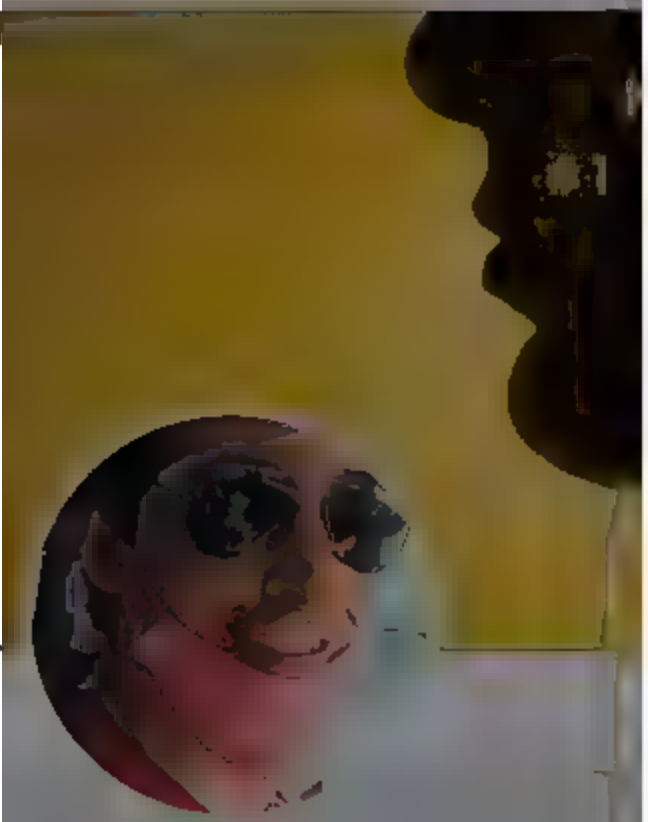
Replying to

"Olofson said she did discover cocaine, marijuana and Lorazepam in his blood, but couldn't make any determinations as to when they were taken or how much was ingested." The full quote doesn't change a single thing.



1

Jimmy Adams @PatrioticOrange · 24 Mar 2019



He had 3 substance in his blood, two of which are scientifically proven beyond a doubt to have side effects matching what he did. The other substance has not been proven in anyway to have those effects. So to say the marijuana was the reason would go against rational logic.

1

Show additional replies, including those that may contain offensive content Show

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

9 10 16

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

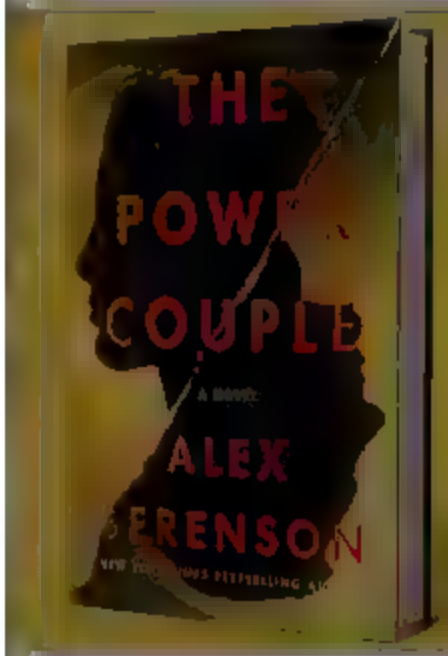
The reality is that neither @US_FDA nor @DEAHQ will have any appetite to enforce laws against cannabis as long as 60-65% of the US supports legalization. This is first and foremost a story of media dereliction; people who don't use are being misled about what this drug really is.

9:28 AM - 24 Mar 2019

9 Likes

2 9

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 24 Mar 2019



Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

95% support medical. Right personal testimony is bs. But you love self reporting for the so psychosis study, which also doesn't provide a clean uniform batch sample but relies on street sales. Oh right the science man.

1

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 24 Mar 2019

Schedule1 designation4cannabis=research block n2 benefits-only allows 4harm assessment studies. Antiscience! Much data showing benefits vs serious illness accrues from harm seeking studies-unintended confounding data. It wont reverse!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Mar 2019
Presented without comment:

1 1 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Presented with comment: the same media groupthink that fed these mistakes can be see in the reluctance to question the myths around cannabis. The problem is not entirely ideological; it comes in part from simple reluctance to risk breaking from the pack.

5:47 AM - 23 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 11 Likes

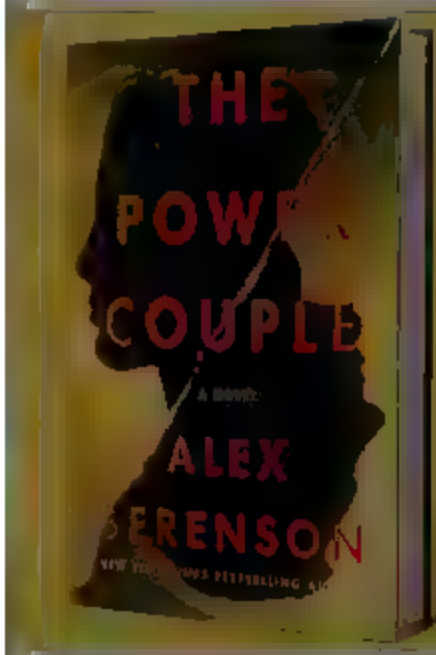
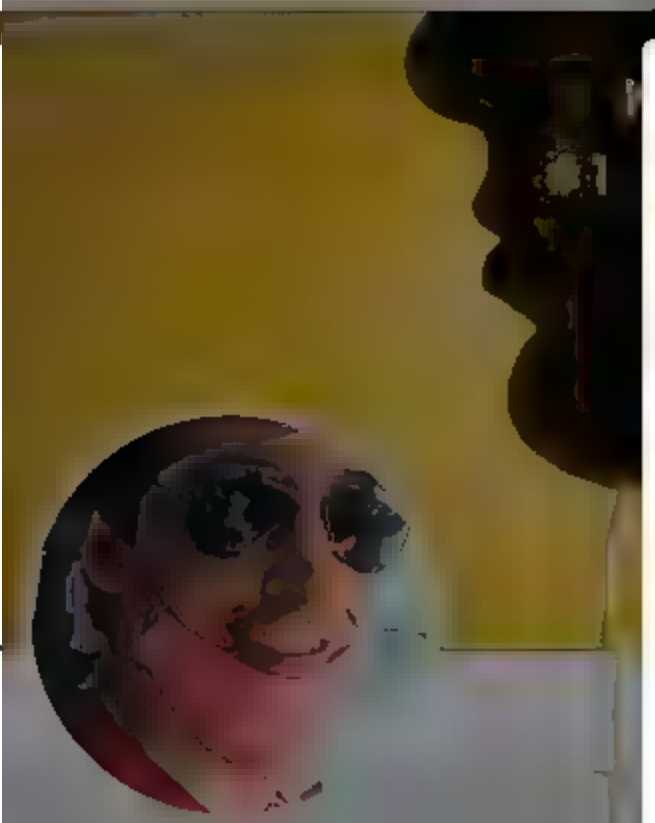
5 1 11

Ryan @ryaneagle42 · 23 Mar 2019
Replying to

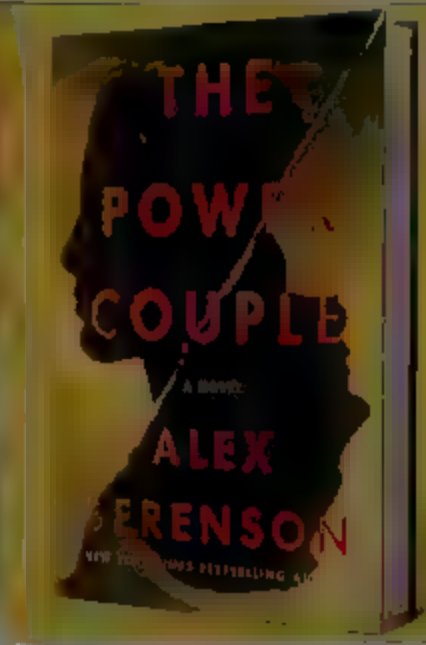


Love the Wells Novels. If you read the recent testimony by DOJ/FBI officials, not reported by MSM, it was clear that Collusion was a hoax, But Re: Wells, in the months to come the Foreign operations conducted by 5 eyes partners(Brennan), are going to be Novel worthy.

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 23 Mar 2019
Replying to



Yes, that's it! The media, so easily fooled on stories about WikiLeaks and GRU hacking, is blowing the story on cannabis by [checks notes] relying on 7,000 years of recorded human history with herb, heeding actual researchers, and ignoring novelists resurrecting Anslinger lies.



1

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 23 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Presented without comment:
theintercept.com/2019/01/20/bey

5:43 AM - 23 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

1 1 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Mar 2019
Presented with comment: the same media groupthink that fed these mistakes can be see in the reluctance to question the myths around cannabis. The problem is not entirely ideological; it comes in part from simple reluctance to risk breaking from the pack.

5 1 11

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

You heard it here first: Legalization will fail in NJ in Monday. May not even come to a vote.

11:44 AM - 23 Mar 2019

6 Retweets 36 Likes

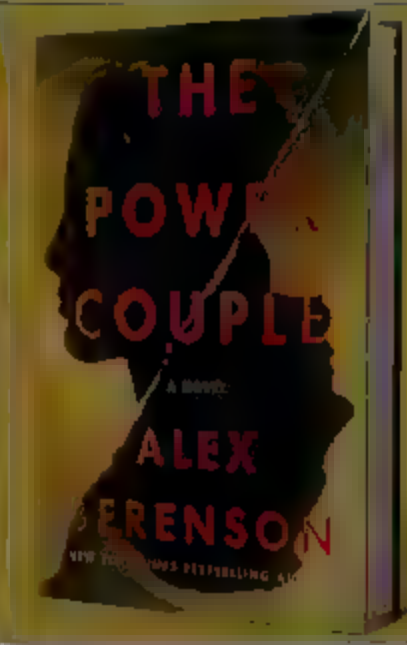
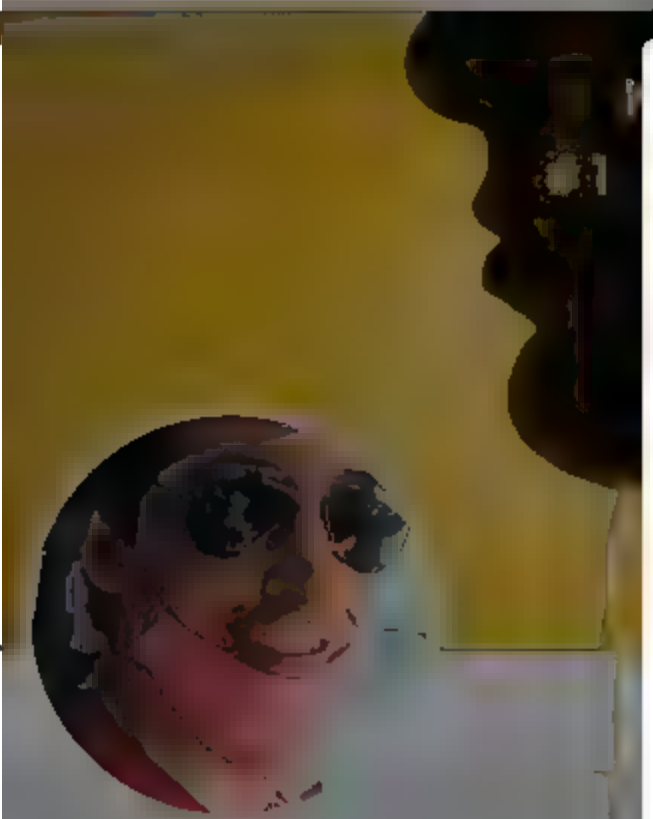
11 6 36



Nick Kosalka @nick_kosalka · 23 Mar 2019
Replying to
A lot of people have been saying this. It's not a special prediction lol.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 23 Mar 2019
Replying to
It's not a big surprise at all. You have the elderly crowd in power and Murphy is too timid for the job. They did get the votes in the Assembly. I am still not sure why they don't ban alcohol, sugar, gambling, fast food. Can you explain this anyone from that side. Why do you not



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 23 Mar 2019
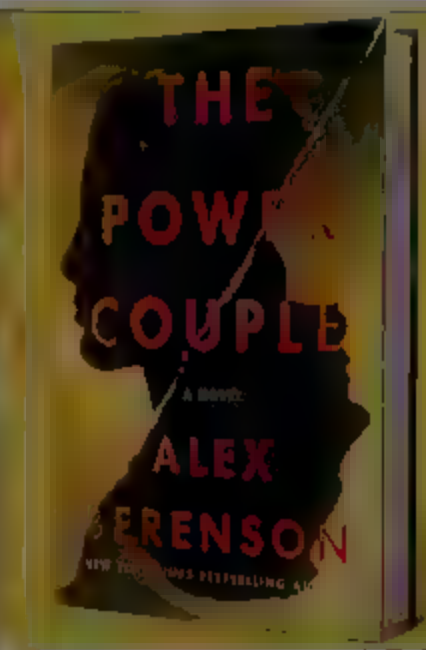
Replying to oppose items which cause more or different harms than cannabis does? Why do you not oppose the smart phone which causes 25% of accidents, why only this?



Scott Allen @docscottallen · 24 Mar 2019
Replying to
That's too bad. Hopefully the fear and dogma of the past will die out soon enough

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ Hot take which, like all hot takes, I may regret: whatever is in the report, no indictments is not politically neutral. Trump has gotten this far by surviving innumerable legal crises; that which doesn't kill him has made him President...

6:19 PM - 22 Mar 2019

6 Likes

1 6

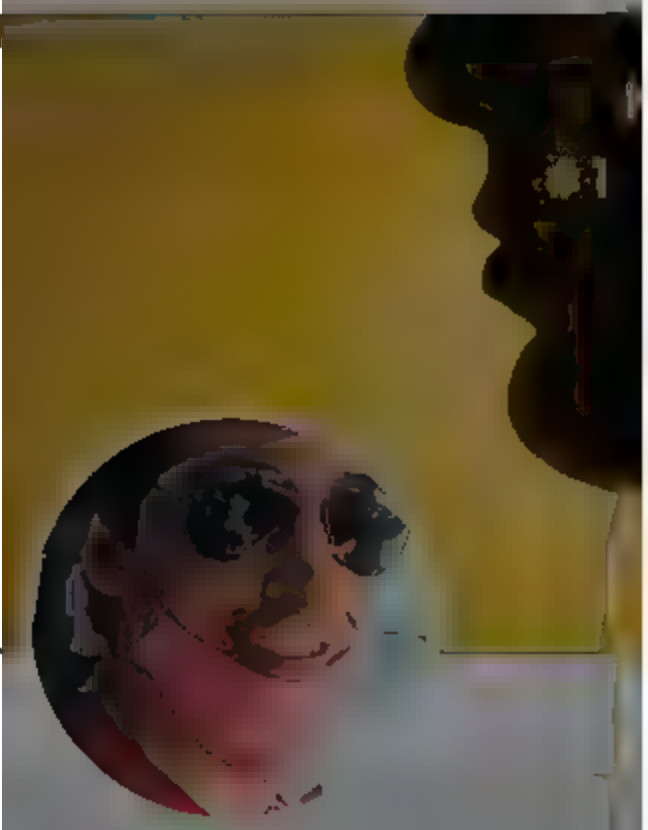
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Mar 2019

2/ And whatever the report says, his supporters will scream that no indictments = no collusion, and that they were right about a witch hunt all along. They will be just as angry and mobilized as their opponents. 2020 is going to be ugly.

3 6

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Mar 2019

1/ Hot take which, like all hot takes, I may regret: whatever is in the report, no indictments is not politically neutral. Trump has gotten this far by surviving innumerable legal crises; that which doesn't kill him has made him President...

1 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ And whatever the report says, his supporters will scream that no indictments = no collusion, and that they were right about a witch hunt all along. They will be just as angry and mobilized as their opponents. 2020 is going to be ugly.

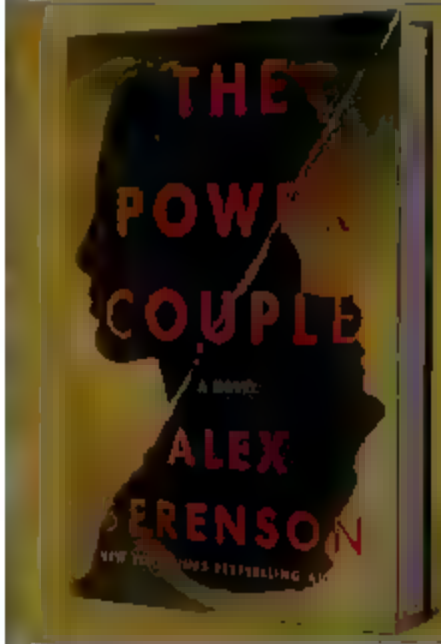
6:22 PM - 22 Mar 2019

6 Likes

3 6

Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 22 Mar 2019

Replying to



I'm afraid you're right.

William Lee @RiverLeever · 22 Mar 2019

Replying to

Hope you're wrong - but afraid you're right.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

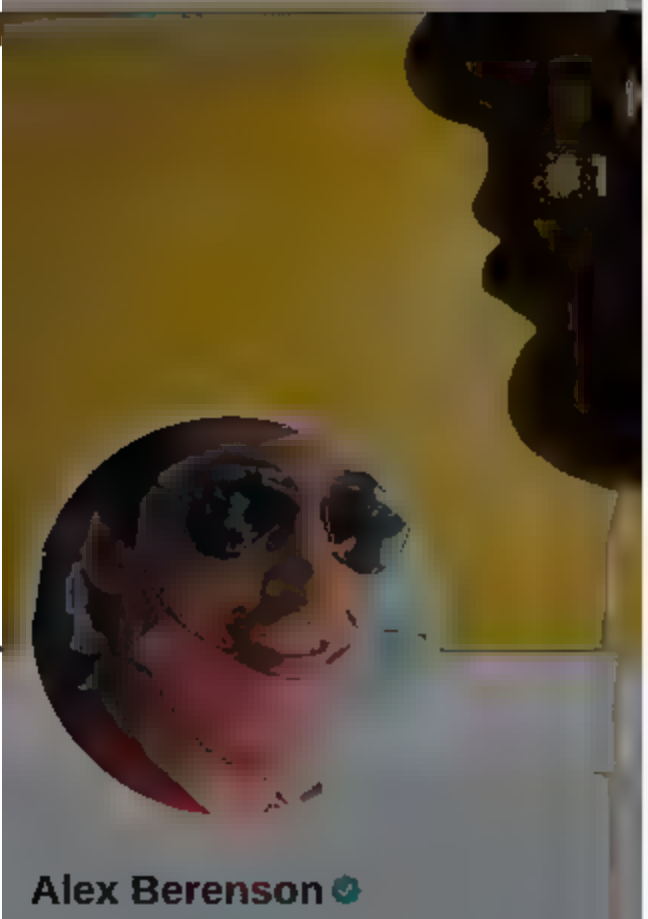
This just in: @realDonaldTrump has a better than 50/50 chance to be a two-term President.

4:47 PM - 22 Mar 2019

10 Likes

7 10

Chuck Brown @chazzbro · 22 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Sad, but true.



Trace Johnson @tjohnnyj · 22 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
It's true, and it makes me want to curse at you.

FCCRWF @FCCRWF · 22 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Loved your book. Every parent and legislator needs to read.

Eat Meat Be Happy! @swedishbikini · 22 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Yay then he can roll bac rec marijuana legalization. shhhhh....

1 1

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 22 Mar 2019
Doubtful, he is the most profree market marijuana-tolerant president ever. & as more&more medical data accrues showing how marijuana use blocks prodisease influences2lower risks4cancer&type2diabetes&Alzheimers demand4legalization

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 1

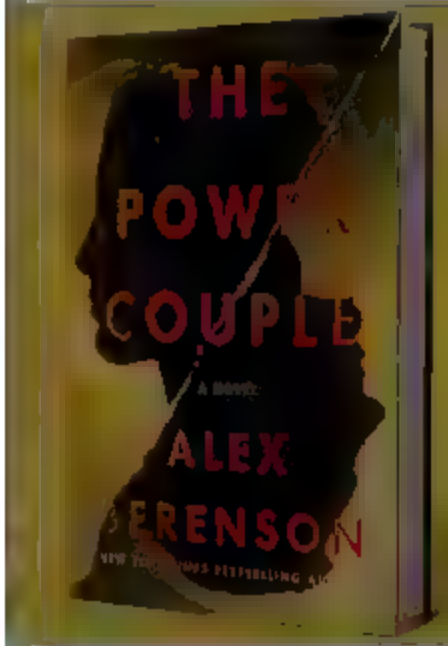
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

Alexander's "biggest regret after the debate was not asking Berenson who was financing his prohibition campaign..."

No regrets necessary, Donnell. The answer is: No one. Not @SAM, Big Pharma, or any other monster under the bed. I wrote the book to tell people the truth. Period.



2:35 PM - 22 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 11 Likes

2 2 11

[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 21 Mar 2019
2/ When will the [redacted] weigh in? How long will American psychiatrists ignore the cases of cannabis-induced psychosis filling their offices and ERs and inpatient wards?

7 7 26

PediPsych @pedipsych · 22 Mar 2019
[redacted] has published many of the studies on the dangers of cannabis in their journals but policy statement would help. Child psychiatrists through [redacted] have also spoken out.

1

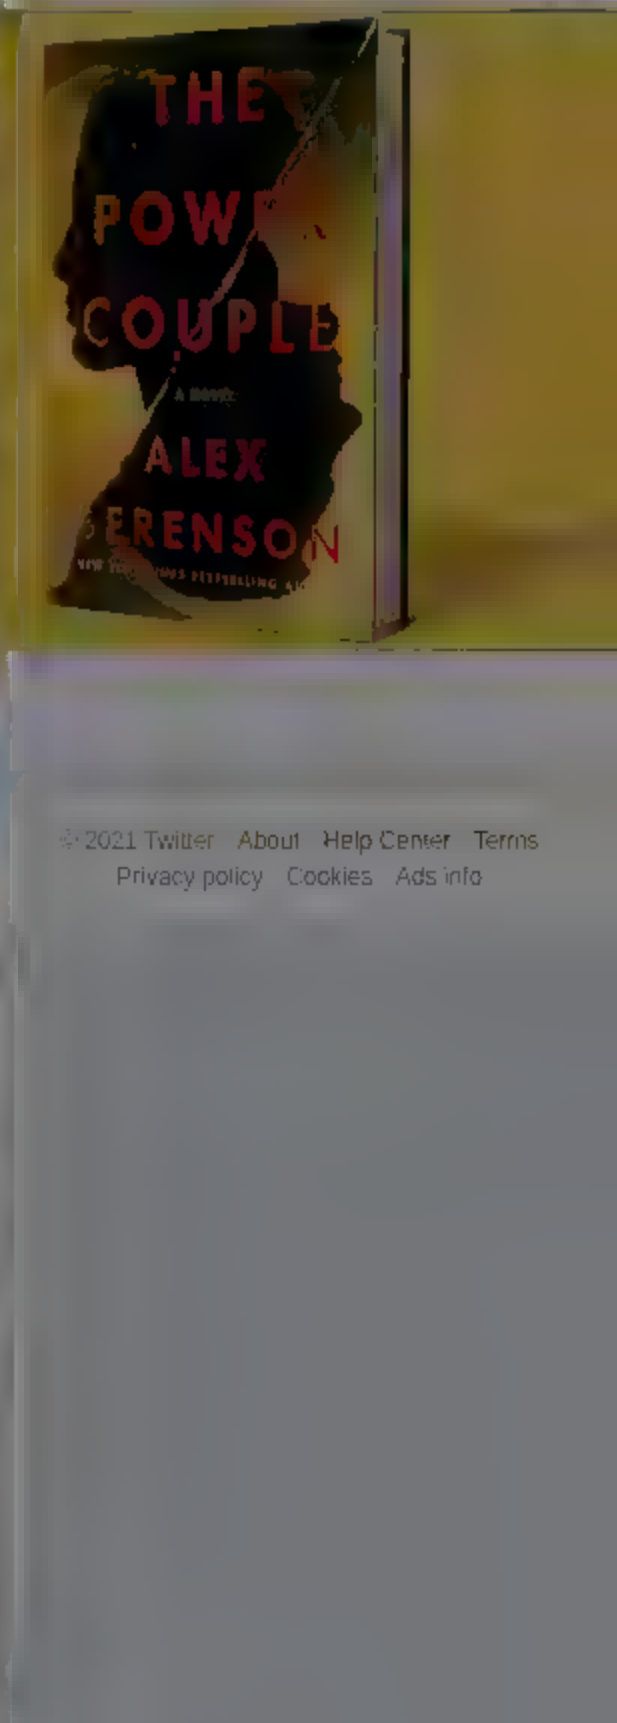
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Fair point. But a policy statement on the health risks would be a crucial turning point. It doesn't have to talk about legalization at all.

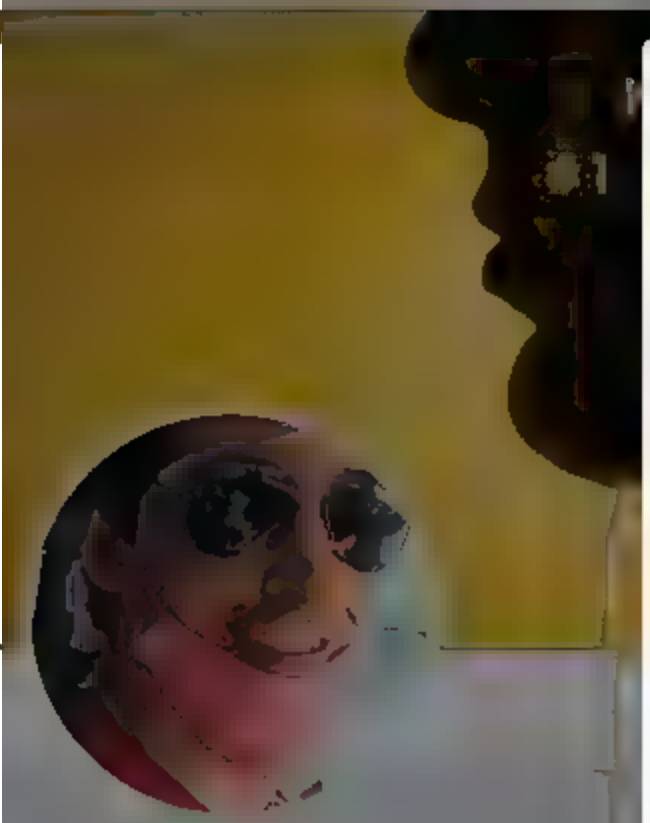
6:09 AM - 22 Mar 2019

1 Like



1 1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 23 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
What would a policy statement look like? Here's what the Canadian Psychiatric Association published. "Vulnerability factors are not currently clear, but may include factors such as childhood trauma and genetics."

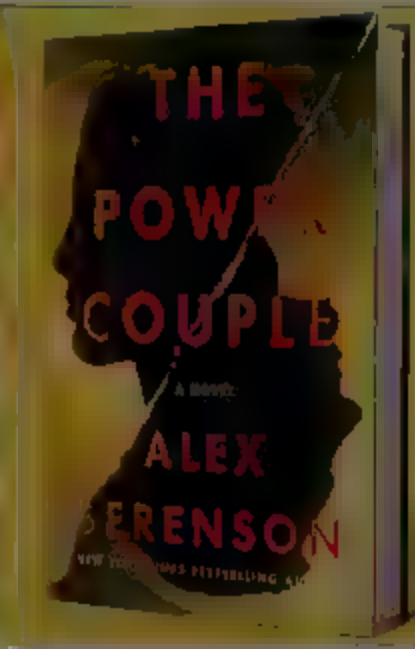


[redacted]

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Users and parents have shared stories of cannabis-induced depersonalization since TYC came out. Yes, it's real - and can last for weeks.

It is horrid, maybe even scarier than full-blown psychosis, bc the person going through it is aware of what's wrong.

psychiatryonline.org/doi/full/10.11...

9:36 AM - 22 Mar 2019

10 Retweets 17 Likes

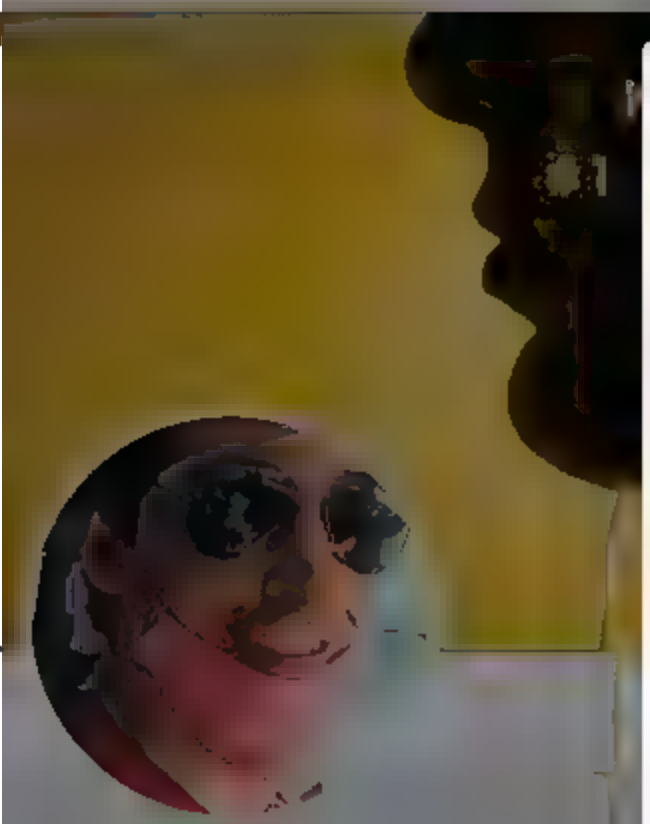
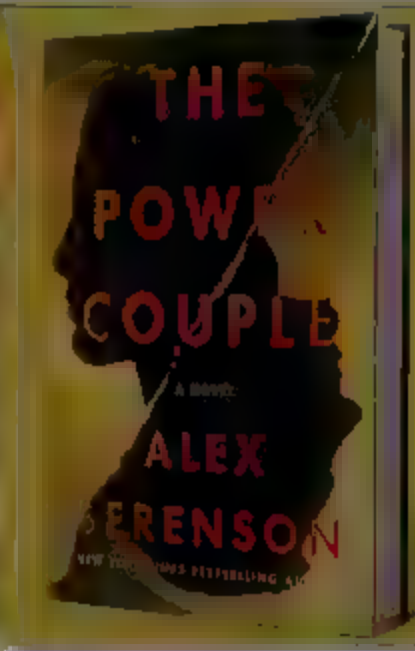
7 10 17

infinite rest @wyspace · 22 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
"Maybe scarier than full-blown psychosis"

1





Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 22 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Can you write coherently. Maybe make 2 tweets. What does this mean?

1

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 22 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Warning: If you are prone to pathological anxiety disorders, especially if you are a young adult male, cannabis use may be harmful to your mental health,

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ The @rcpsych is the British version of the APA. its top policy official is @DrAdrianJames. What Dr. James said about the Lancet findings:

"The results need to be taken seriously. Cannabis carries severe health risks and users have a higher chance of developing psychosis."

6:10 PM - 21 Mar 2019

10 Retweets 28 Likes

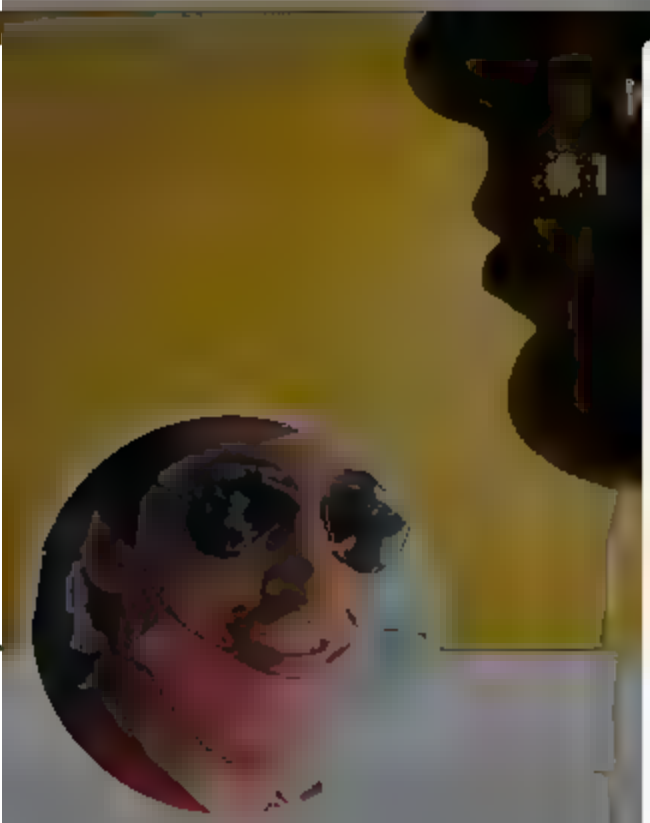
1 10 28



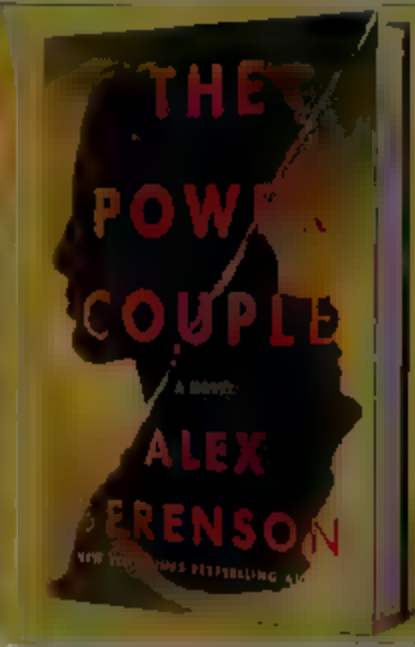
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 21 Mar 2019

2/ When will the [illegible] weigh in? How long will American psychiatrists ignore the cases of cannabis-induced psychosis filling their offices and ERs and inpatient wards?

7 7 25

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Follow

And now @marycannonmary - a leader in the field, both a practicing child psychiatrist and professor of psychiatric epidemiology - has weighed in to support the @rcpsych statement on the dangers of cannabis. Where are @APAPsychiatric and @APA?

5:26 AM - 22 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 15 Likes

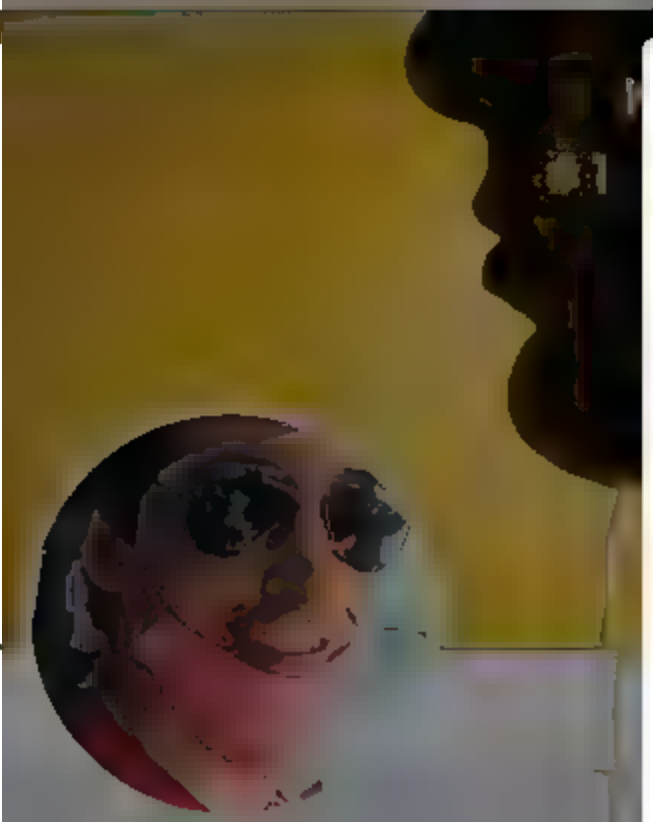
2 1 15



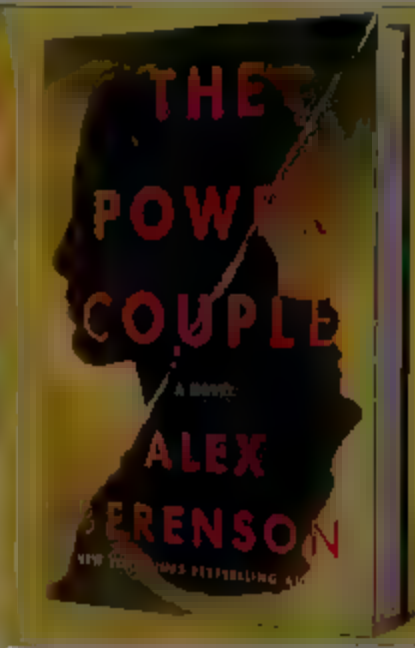
Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 22 Mar 2019

Replying to [illegible] and 3 others

We agree fully not legalization for children.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

CPEPs: coming to a town near you. Thanks cannabis!

cnn.com/2019/03/21/hea…

1:17 PM - 21 Mar 2019

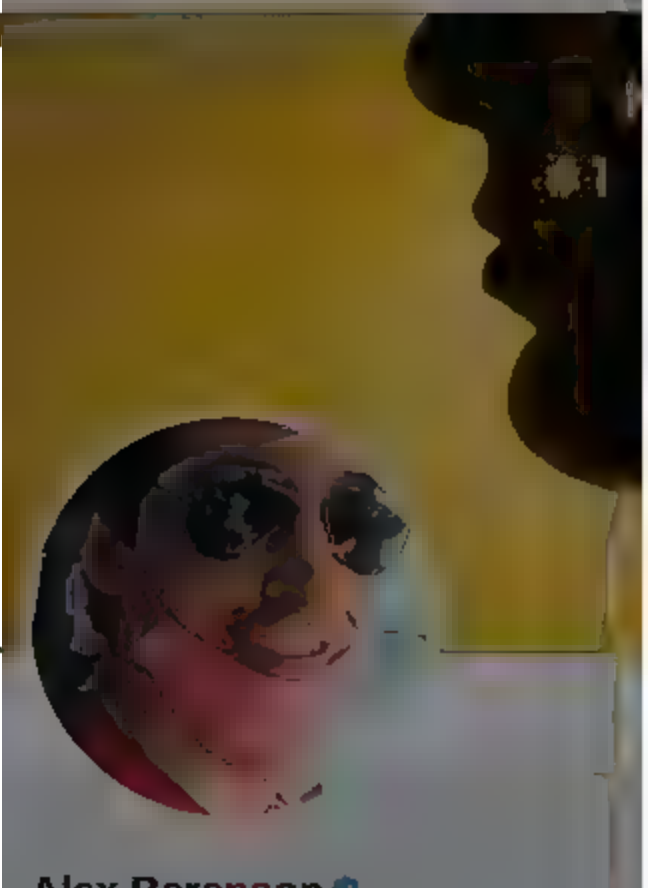
3 Likes

5 3

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson
This is another lie by Alex.

Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson
This article mentions "cannabis" as many times as it mentions "chupacabra" #6630507

1



Twas4kids @twas4kids · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson
I find it interesting that they actually admit it in their letter:

"the fact that those admitted to institutions for first-episode psychosis are more likely to consume cannabis than are those in the general population is hardly surprising" Normi (creepy)

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson
It's a bot that pics articles based on keywords then pics tweet

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

What Dr. James said about the Lancet findings:

"The results need to be taken seriously. Cannabis carries severe health risks and users have a higher chance of developing psychosis."

1 10 28

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

2/ When will the @APAPsychiatric weigh in? How long will American psychiatrists ignore the cases of cannabis-induced psychosis filling their offices and ERs and inpatient wards?

6:11 PM - 21 Mar 2019

7 Retweets 26 Likes

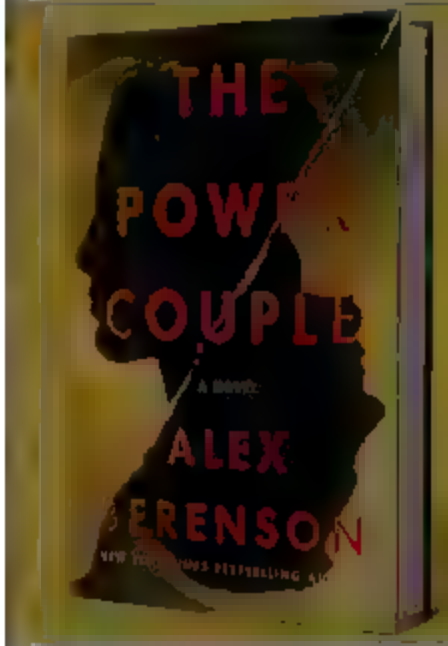
7 7 25

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to

What would the APA taking the Lancet study seriously look like? An official warning? A recommendation that cannabis be legally regulated and labelled ASAP?



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to

Because this was an observational study, it can't prove a direct cause-and-effect link between pot and psychosis, said Suzanne Gage, a psychologist with the University of Liverpool who wrote an editorial accompanying the study.

Faded @Aldridge25 · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to

Because cannabis-induced psychosis doesn't exist. People with specific genes related to psychosis can be triggered by any psychoactive medicine. This is not exclusive to cannabis. Stop fear mongering.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 21 Mar 2019
That's your criticism? That there's so much interest in the book that I had to choose between speaking in Colorado or Europe? If I were you I'd stop worrying about TYC and start worrying about the science. Maybe read the Lancet paper.
3

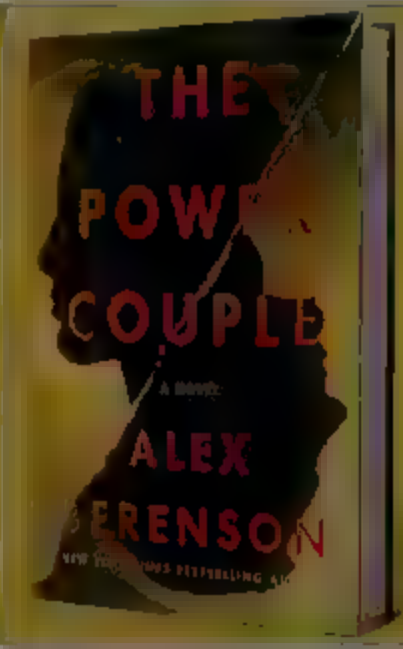
Steve Rolles @SteveTransform · 21 Mar 2019
whats TYC?
1

Matthew Meyer @MatthewDSMeyer · 21 Mar 2019
Alex's Ouija-board channelling of Anslinger.
2 1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

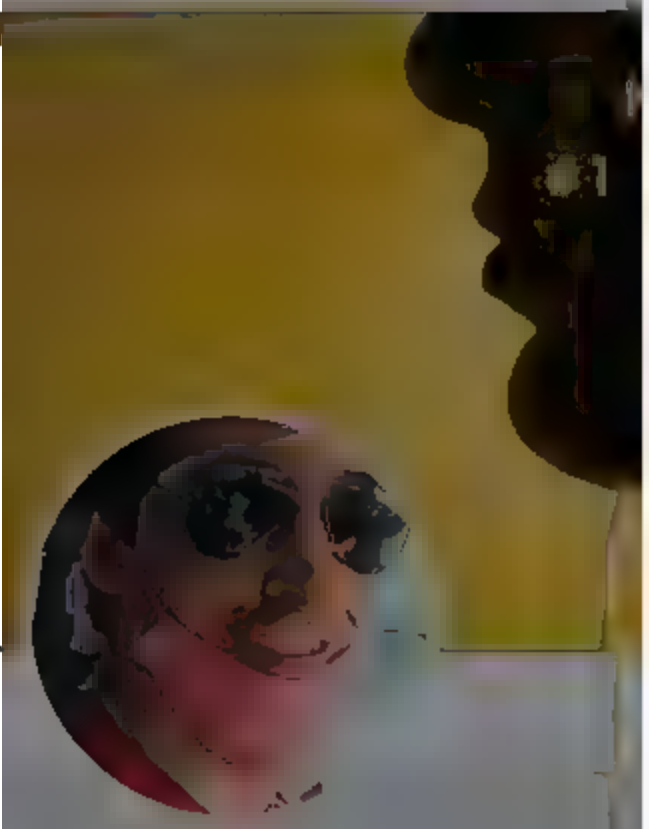
(Assuming that's enough of a clue if the initials weren't.) Steve? You get it yet?



6:37 AM - 21 Mar 2019
1

Steve Rolles @SteveTransform · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Nope. Help me out - I don't have an acronymopedia to hand
1

Bruce Conners @bconners · 21 Mar 2019
Tell Your Children. Ainslinger would be proud.
1



[redacted]

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

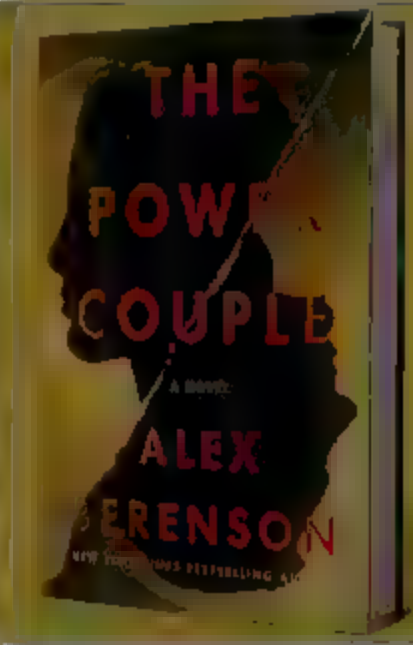
And this is what a 3x - 5x increased rate ratio for psychosis among high-THC cannabis users looks like in the real world. When will the clinicians' organizations speak out?

Sir,

Thank you so much for your volume. I am a retired school psychologist, but also licensed to practice. I see older teens and young adults two days per week. Two weeks ago I told my peers that I had seen several young men in my practice in the past year that had psychotic episodes along with cannabis abuse. I immediately suspected high potency cannabis.

Then I ran across your book. You are doing a great public service. I have always had very libertarian views about marijuana usage until recently. There is an urgency to tell parents about the dangers of young people using such high potency THC products.

Good luck with the book and the inevitable attacks and backlash.



Sincerely,

[redacted]

7:24 AM - 21 Mar 2019

11 Retweets 23 Likes

9 11 23

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Steve Rolles @SteveTransform · 21 Mar 2019
He literally phoned it in. Didn't even bother to show up. First time anyone has witnessed that in 15 years of CND.

1 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

That's your criticism? That there's so much interest in the book that I had to choose between speaking in Colorado or Europe? If I were you I'd stop worrying about TYC and start worrying about the science. Maybe read the Lancet paper.

5:14 AM - 21 Mar 2019

3

Steve Rolles @SteveTransform · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to whats TYC?

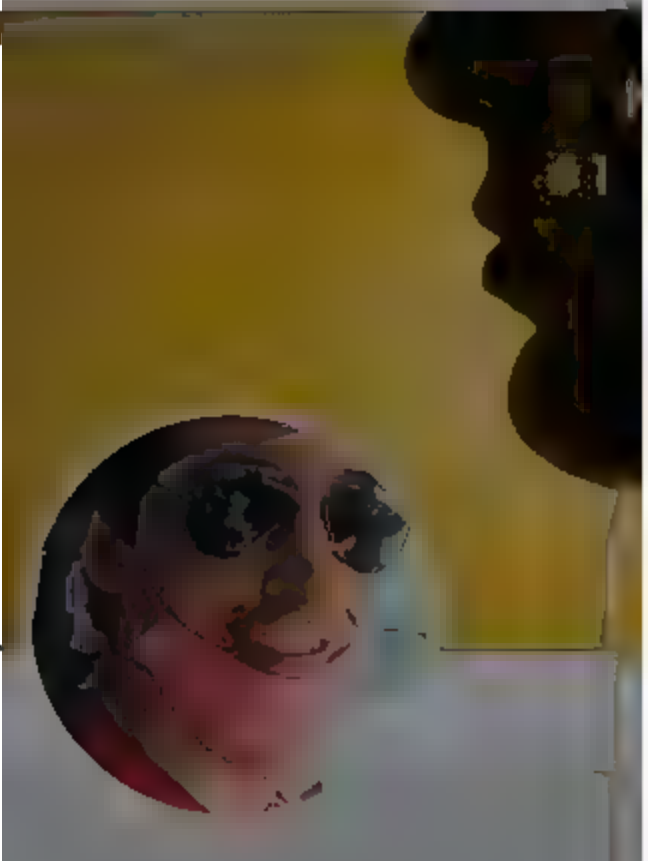
1

Matthew Meyer @MatthewDSMeyer · 21 Mar 2019
Alex's Ouija-board channelling of Anslinger.



2 1 1

Steve Rolles @SteveTransform · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to
And please don't lecture me about science.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Steve Rolles @SteveTransform · 21 Mar 2019
He literally phoned it in. Didn't even bother to show up. First time anyone has witnessed that in 15 years of CND.

1 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 21 Mar 2019
That's your criticism? That there's so much interest in the book that I had to choose between speaking in Colorado or Europe? If I were you I'd stop worrying about TYC and start worrying about the science. Maybe read the Lancet paper.

3

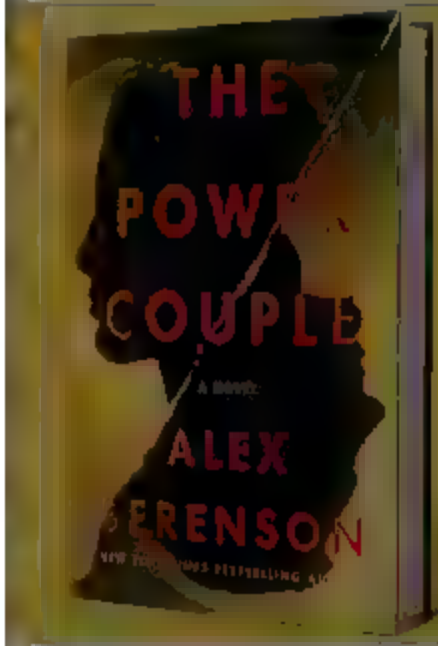
Steve Rolles @SteveTransform · 21 Mar 2019
whats TYC?

1

Matthew Meyer @MatthewDSMeyer · 21 Mar 2019
Alex's Ouija-board channelling of Anslinger.

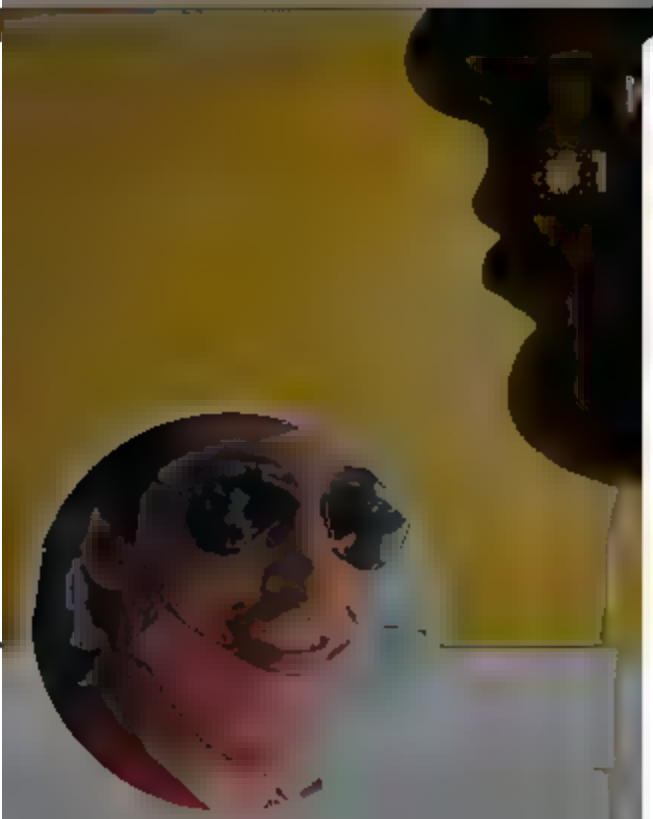
2 1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

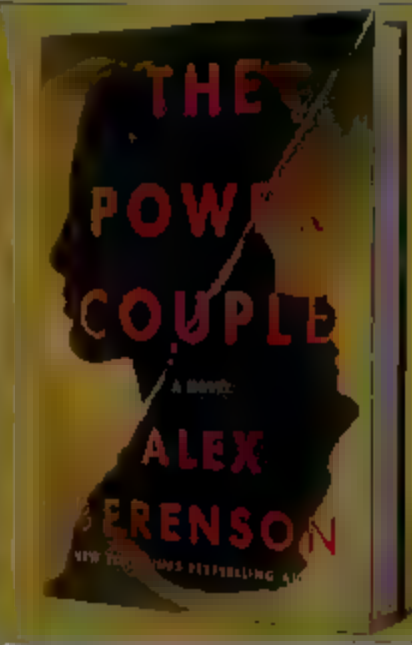


Replying to

Oh, you spoiled the fun. I was waiting to see how long he would need to figure it out.



6:36 AM - 21 Mar 2019



1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 21 Mar 2019
Replying to and 2 others
Don't call it TYC call it TIC.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Erin Arvedlund @erinarvedlund · 20 Mar 2019

> sam wood @SamWoodIII
> "It is possible that subclinical symptoms might have existed prior to cannabis initiation, meaning that associations in the opposite direction cannot be ruled out." philly.com/business/weed/…

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

"cannot be ruled out" is the last step of the scientific plank...

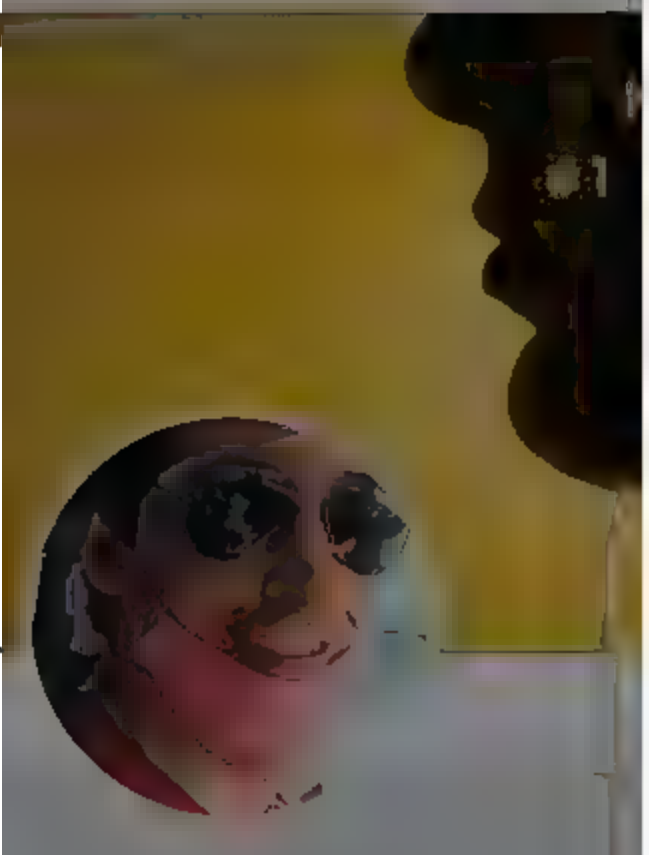
10:27 AM - 20 Mar 2019

1 Like

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

John Walters @john_walters_ · 20 Mar 2019
[illegible] or Dumb looks Dumber over time.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> I'll take "Tweets That Haven't Aged Well" for $200. Any plans to update wonkblog with some real science, @_cingraham?

1 1 2

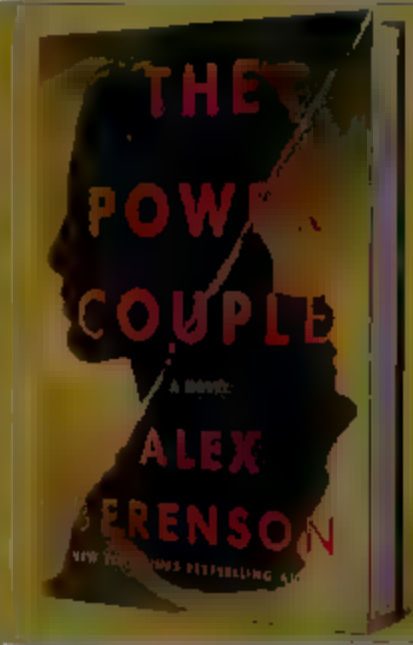
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [illegible]

He's not dumb. Naive, an ideologue, stuck with a position that looks more absurd by the day, but not dumb.

6:57 AM - 20 Mar 2019



1 Like

3 1

ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 20 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Seems biased. Doesn't seem to be open to research and new facts especially ones that show the negative impact of marijuana.

1

[illegible]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

highly recommend the audio version

5 people found this helpful

Helpful Report

9 6 15

david szafranski @DavidEPSF · 20 Mar 2019

Is it too late?

1

Alex Berenson ✓

@AlexBerenson

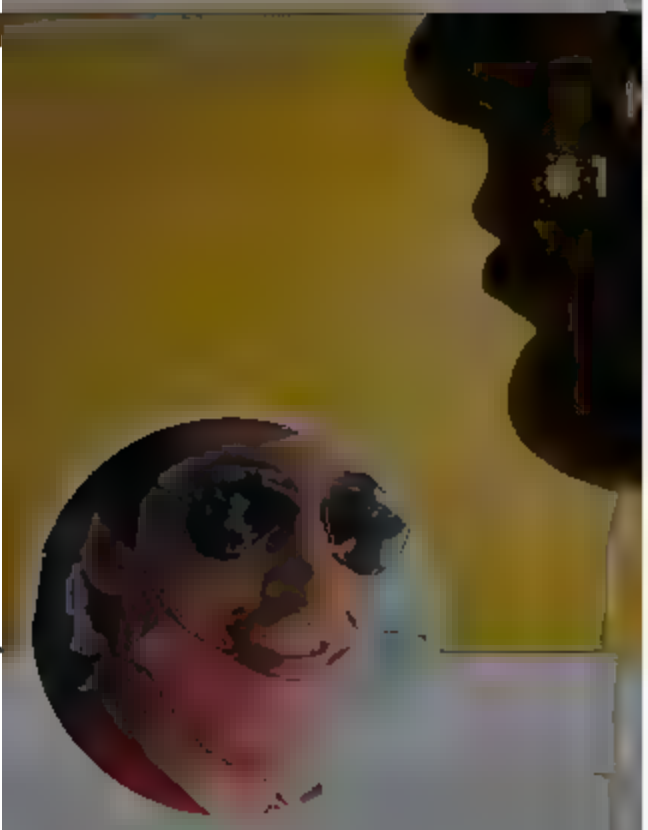
Replying to [redacted]

Too late for Dr. Hart to acknowledge the truth of the science? No. It's never too late to admit you're wrong.

6:12 AM - 20 Mar 2019

1 Like

1 1



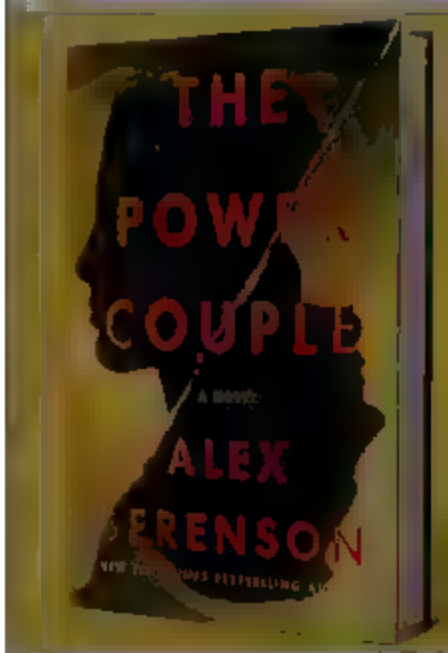
Tom Vega @TomVega42 · 20 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Errors ratified into law do not cease to be errors. Repealing marijuana laws in favor of decriminalization and mental health reform would be much easier to do now, given the latest evidence of negative social impacts. Only a matter of time.

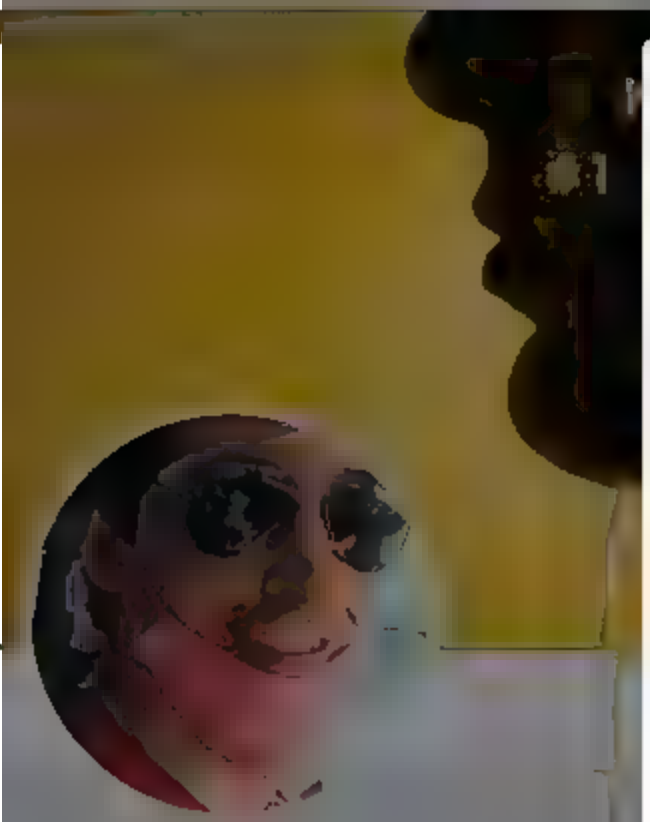
1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

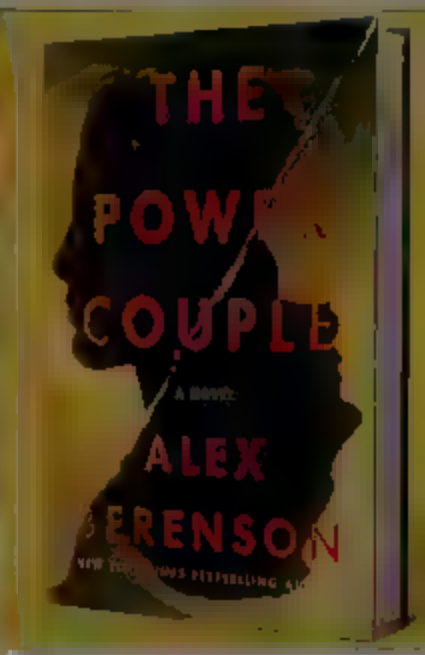


Alex Berenson ✓

@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

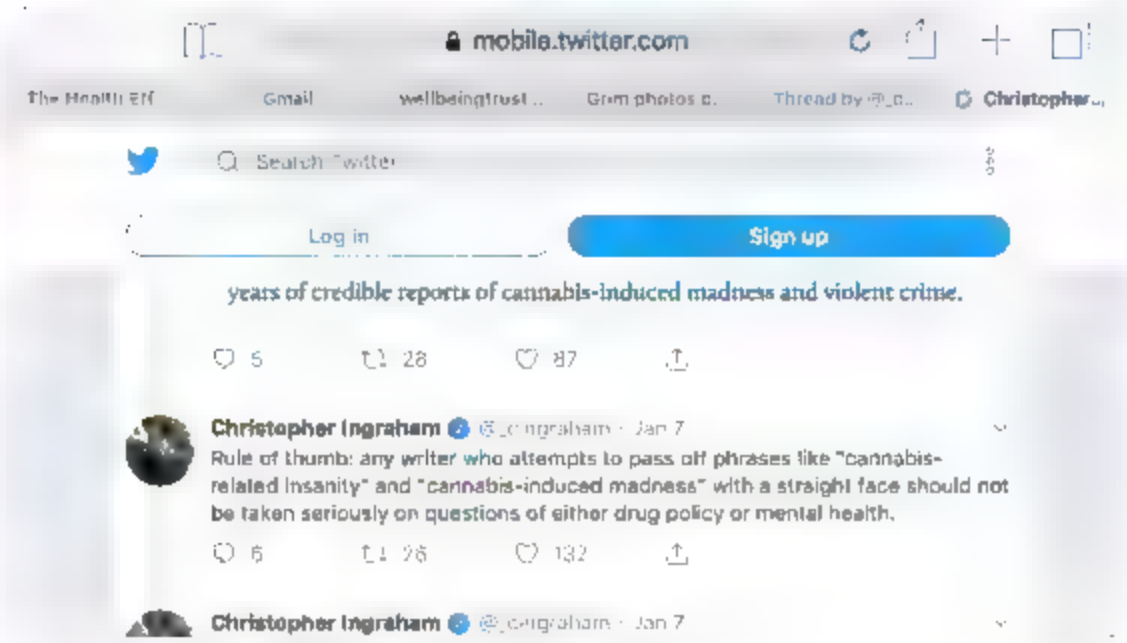


New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I'll take "Tweets That Haven't Aged Well" for $200. Any plans to update wonkblog with some real science, @ cingraham?

6:37 AM - 20 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 13 Likes

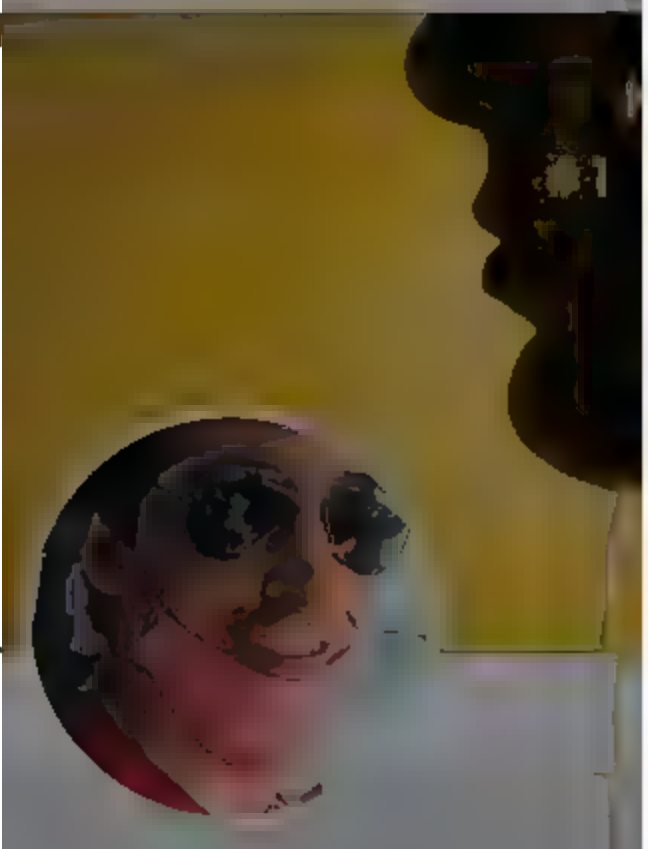
6 2 13

Randy Philbrick @PDXRandyLee · 20 Mar 2019
Replying to



Chris is a joke. With all of the pro marijuana propaganda he writes nobody with any legitimacy or credibility takes him seriously. He's nothing more than a Drug Policy Alliance evangelist.

1 2

Bertha madras @madras_bertha · 20 Mar 2019
Replying to

Thank you to Alex for translating science into a source of public education.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

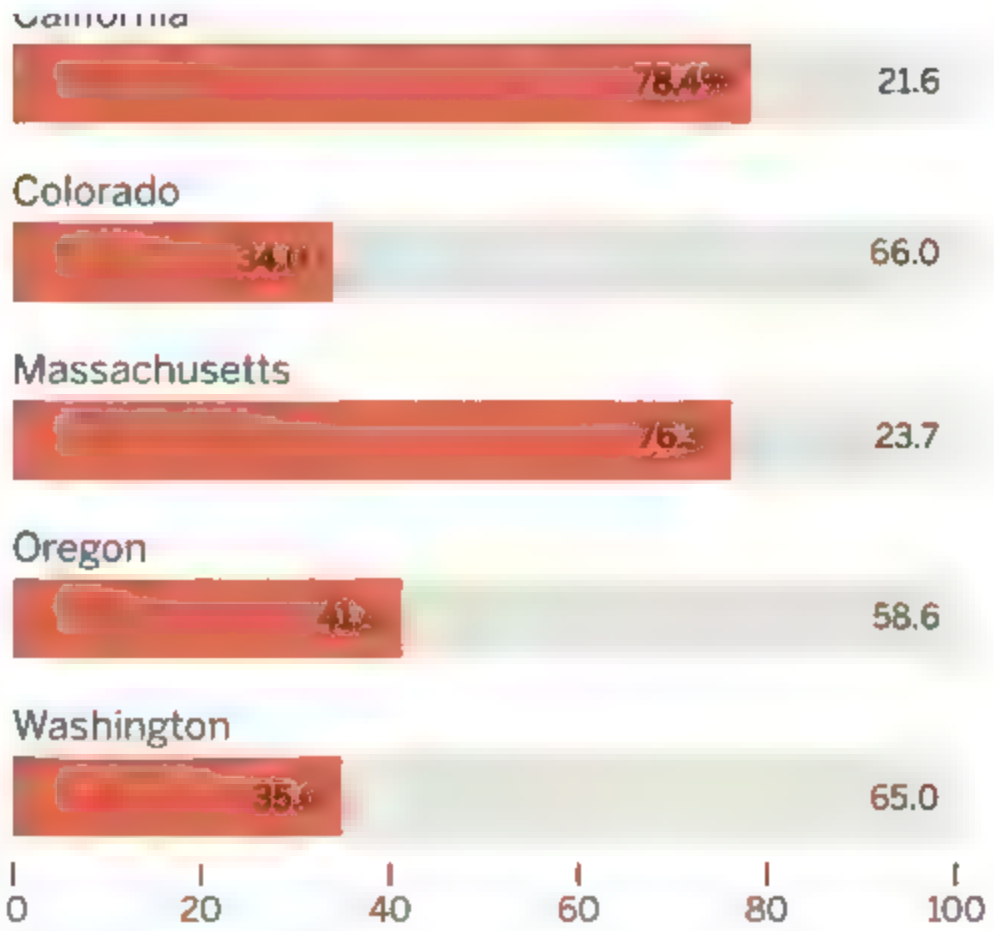
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5 5 13

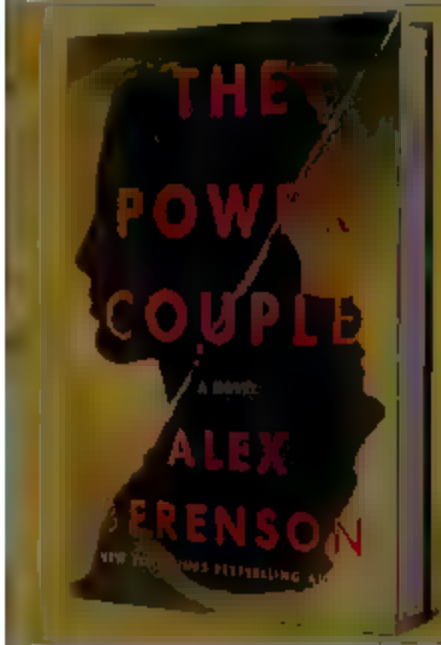


Jason Ferris @JasonFerris22 · 20 Mar 2019
Can someone share the story/data behind this

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

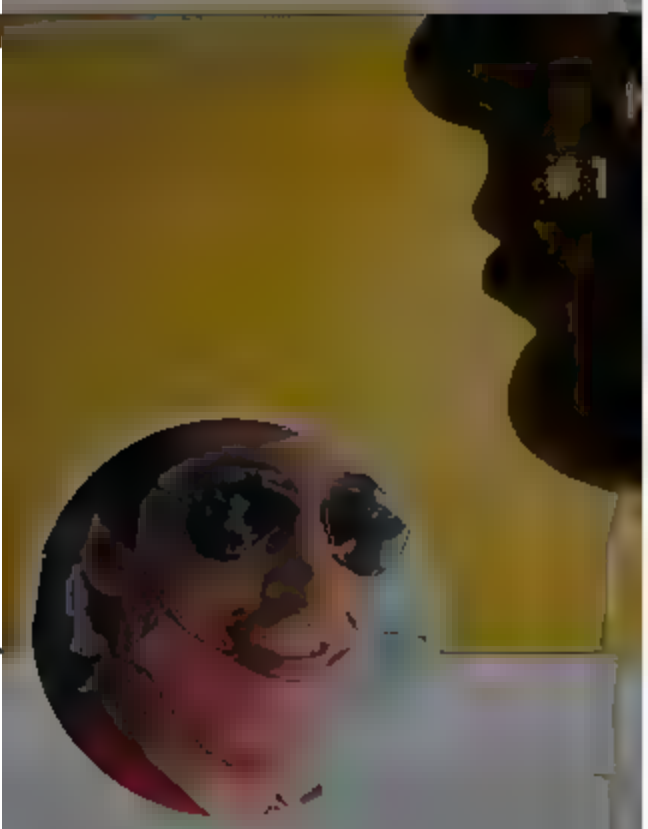


See, for example, this chart from a recent Boston Globe article on problems with the Massachusetts market:

Source: BDS Analytics, a cannabis market research firm based in Colorado

SAERABH DATAR, GLOBE STAFF

2:06 AM - 20 Mar 2019



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5 5 13

Jason Ferris @JasonFerris22 · 20 Mar 2019
Can someone share the story/data behind this 👀

2 2

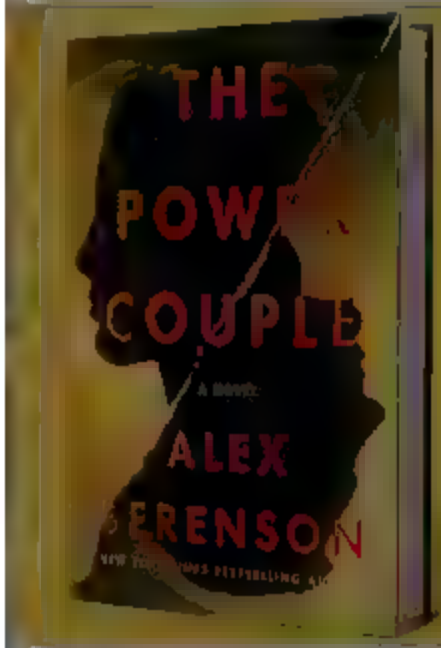
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

(Red is black market, pale is legal sales)

2:07 AM - 20 Mar 2019

1

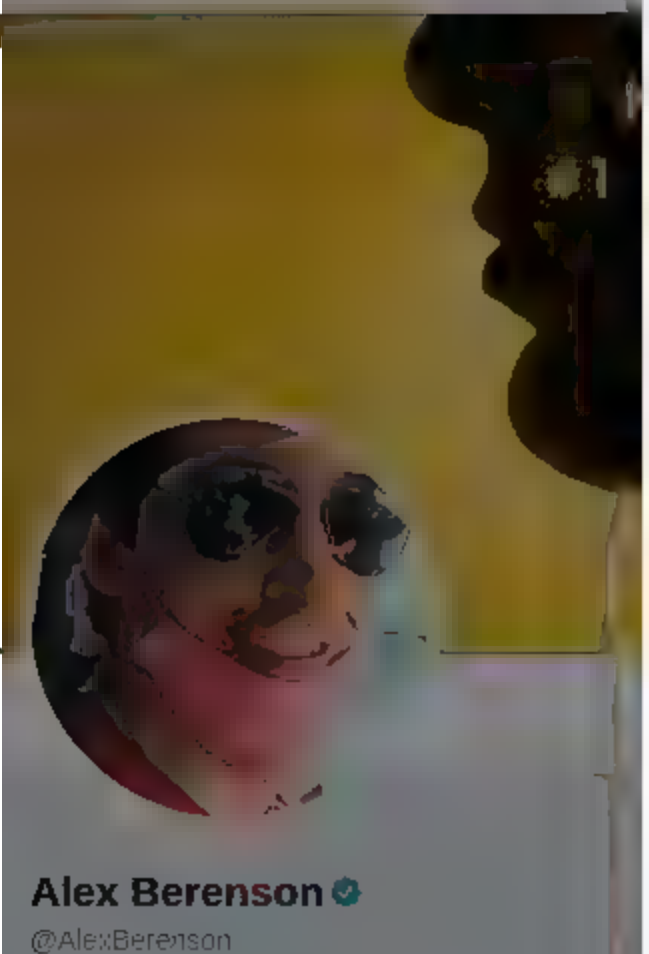


Jason Ferris @JasonFerris22 · 20 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
Thanks. So where there are both market systems - what is the price per gram/ounce from each market? Is the black market cheaper? And are the products comparable? I am think here about the parallels with chop-chop (illicit tobacco) or moonshine/home brew

1

Kamran Niaz @Niaz_K_ · 20 Mar 2019
can I please get a copy of the presentation and ref to the market and prices... I am around in the CND

1 1



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Seems like a good time to mention Dr. Di Forti's review of Tell Your Children. Not that she knows anything about cannabis and psychosis. Hi @drcarlhart!

< Tell Your Children: The Truth About Marijuana, Me...

Marta Di Forti

★★★★★ Outstanding and engaging narrative

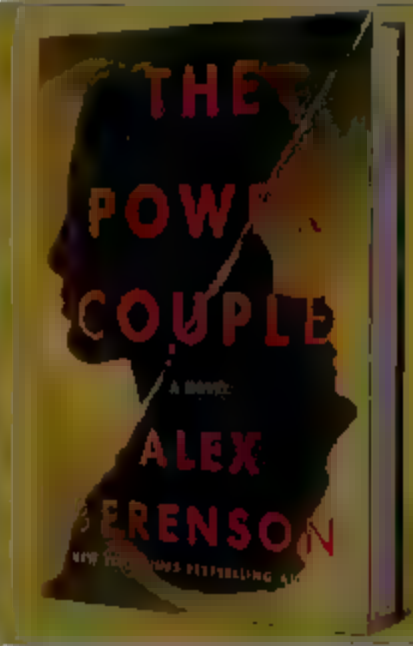
18 January 2019

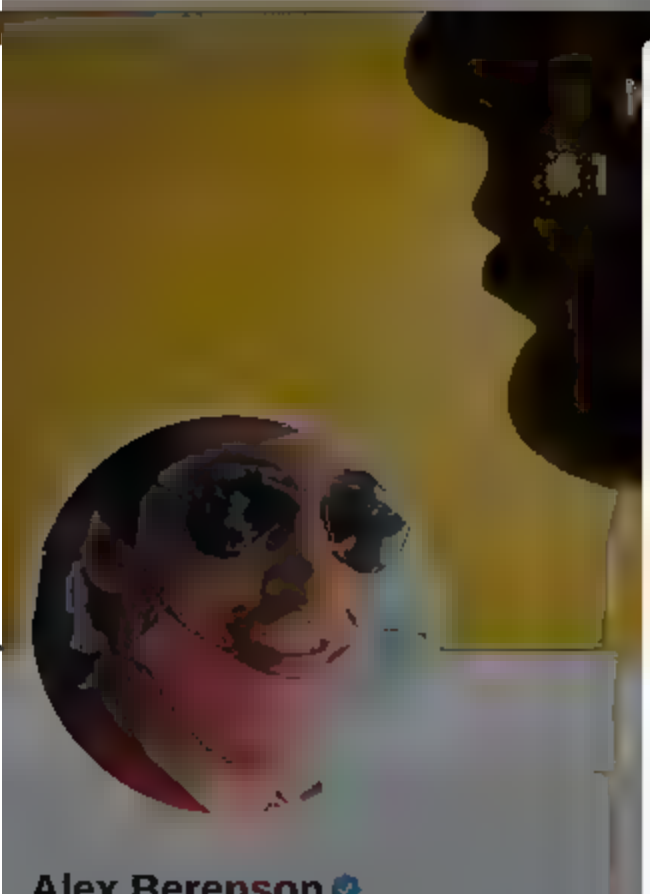
Verified Purchase

This books is a rare and compelling combination of journalistic rigor, elegant writing and engaging style. A unique appraisal of the sociological and scientific facts feeding the never ending debate on the good and bad of the most popular recreational drug in the world.
A "must" read for everyone that can read or listen...I highly recommend the audio version



5 people found this helpful

Helpful Report



8:51 PM - 19 Mar 2019

6 Retweets 15 Likes

9 6 15

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ In Amsterdam and London, where use of high-THC cannabis is more frequent, the fraction of new cannabis-linked cases is far higher, 1/2 in Amsterdam. This article is a nice summary:

5:11 PM - 19 Mar 2019

16 Retweets 24 Likes

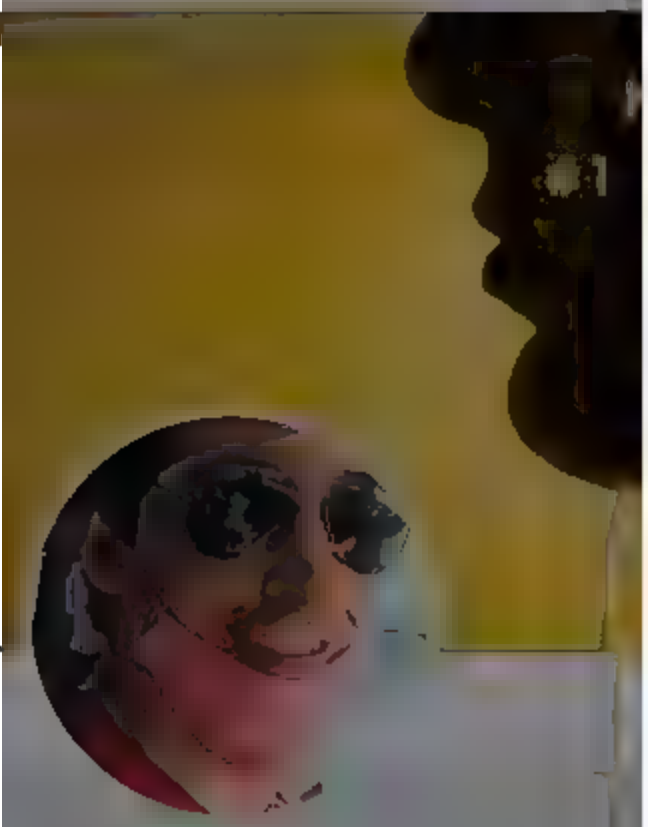
5 16 24



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 19 Mar 2019

Replying to

I'm not getting the point of all this. Even disregarding many other cause factors & and data we have is lower murder & Schzi.rates in the NL & Spain. The majority of consumers are not exhibiting these issues. No one has said that there are those who when consuming or not for that

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

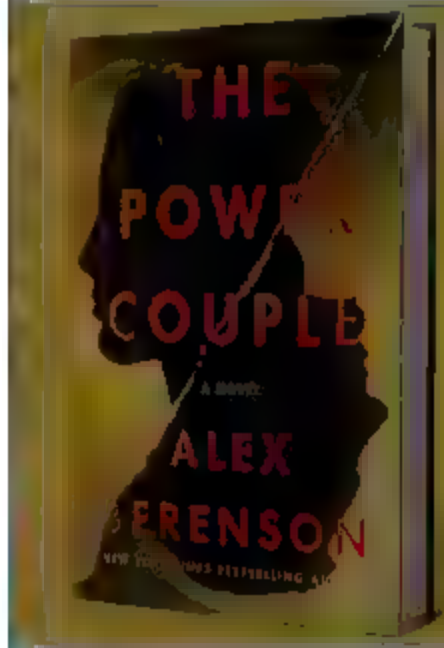
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

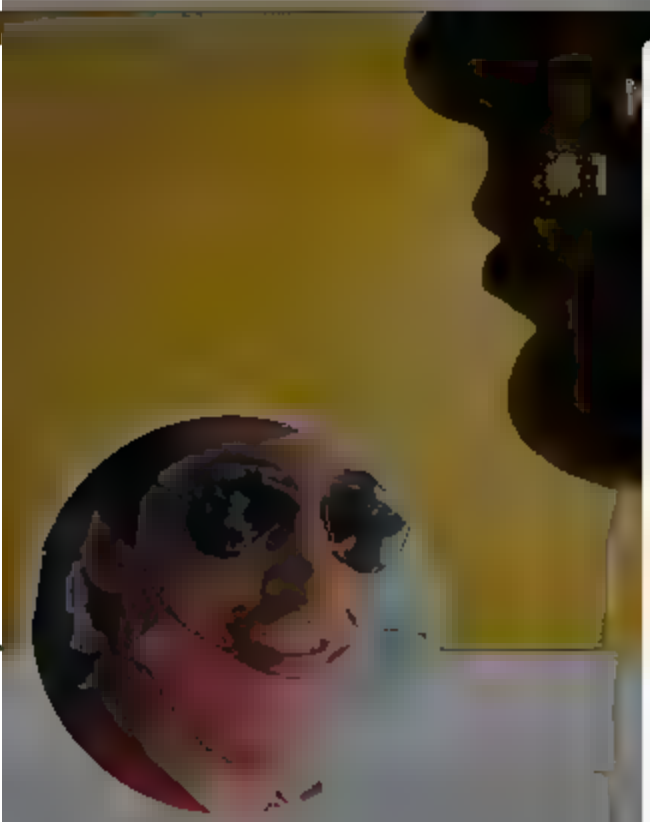
20 25 61

Stig Erik Sørheim @stigerik3 · 19 Mar 2019
If you think this is bad, you should see synthetic Seattle!



1

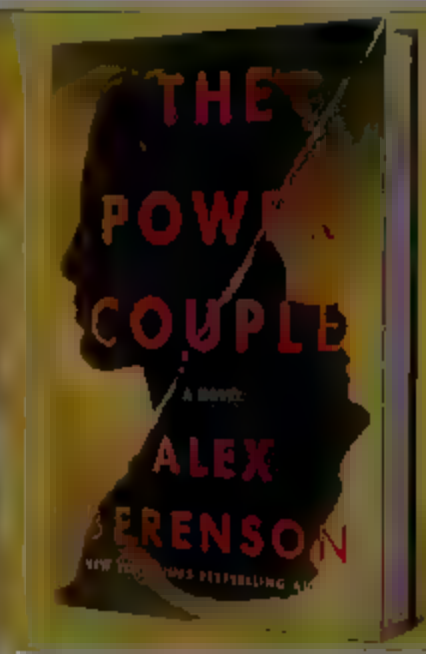
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

6:34 AM - 19 Mar 2019

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ First-rate study from @KingsCollegeLon in @TheLancetPsych just released: smoking cannabis daily is linked to a 3x risk of psychosis; cannabis accounts for 1/8 of new cases across Europe.

5:09 PM - 19 Mar 2019

29 Retweets 43 Likes

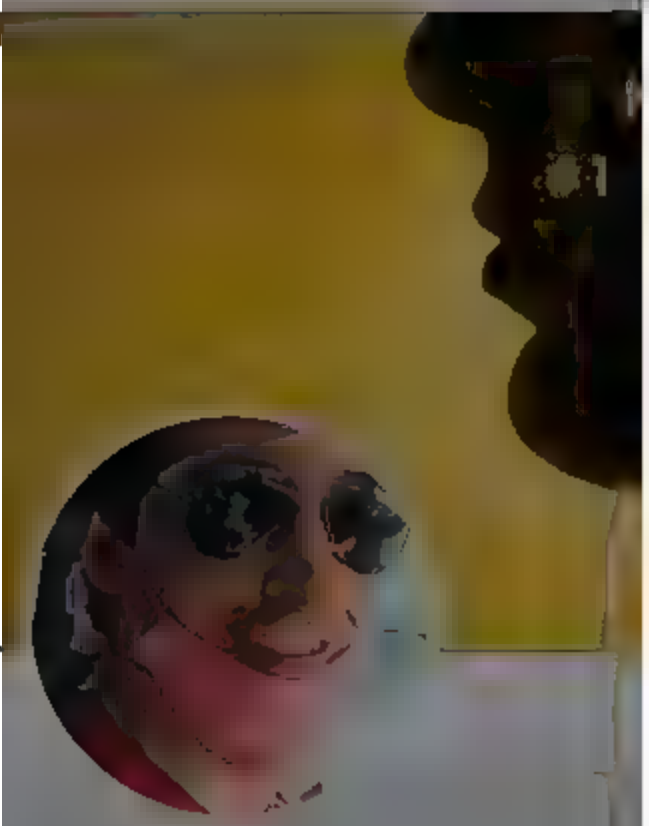
9 29 43



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 19 Mar 2019
Replying to
As we have many studies showing benefits of Cannabis. Banning has got to end.

1

This Tweet is unavailable.

Timandjerry @Timandjerry420 · 19 Mar 2019
Nobody, not even the most active activist, wants to make cannabis available to children or adolescents. You have a good point but it's not relevant.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

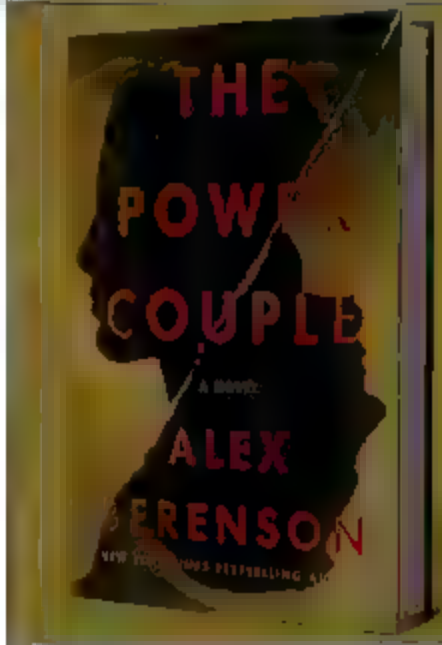
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Turns out the Gambino mob shooting is probably just cannabis psychosis:

"investigators have been unable... to establish a motive"



"does not appear to be mob-related"

"he was high on marijuana and shot the crime figure because he feared for his life"

7:10 PM - 18 Mar 2019

13 Retweets 30 Likes

9 13 30

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 2

Serge Kovaleski @sergenyt · 18 Mar 2019
And it's an important question within the context of cannabis legalization.

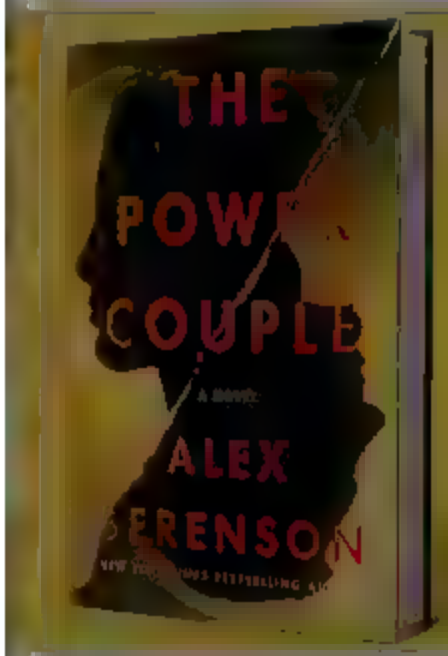
1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Serge - this case aside - and the perpetrator is repeatedly described as being "high on marijuana" with no mention of alcohol and was convicted of a DUI alongside the assault, so I'm very comfortable calling this cannabis-associated - my offer stands. This is a crucial issue.

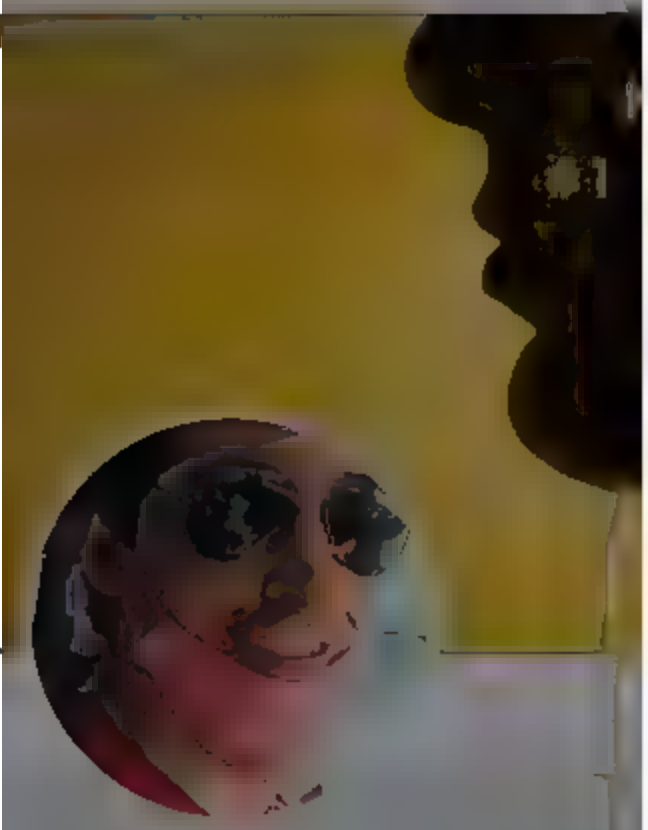
1:25 PM - 18 Mar 2019



1

Serge Kovaleski @sergenyt · 19 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Sounds like more digging is needed in this case to precisely determine what law enforcement means by the man being "high."

1 3



Jimmy Adams @PatrioticOrange · 24 Mar 2019
Here you go "Stephanie Olofson, a forensic toxicologist with CBI said she did discover cocaine, marijuana and Lorazepam in his blood"
Proven side effects shared by Lorazepam and cocaine - Anxiety, excitation, agitation, hostility, aggression, rage

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Serge Kovaleski @sergenyt · 18 Mar 2019
How are you certain that he was high and that the THC in his system was not residual from the days or nights before?

3 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Serge - if you want to have a serious discussion about the data and the strength of individual case reports, I'm glad to do so - face-to-face, over email, whatever. There is much, much investigative reporting to be done on cannabis and legalization.

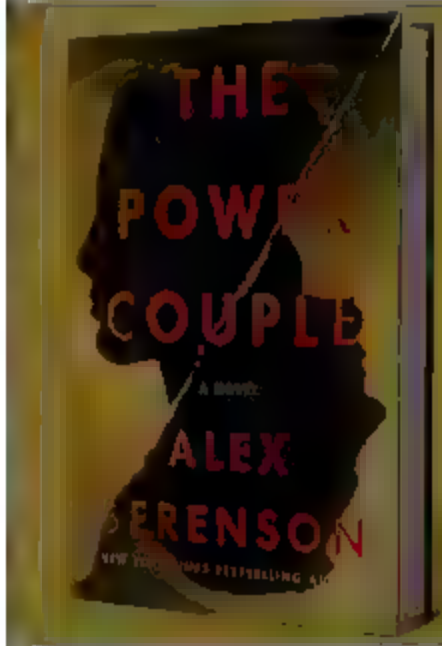
9:47 AM · 18 Mar 2019

2 Likes

2 2

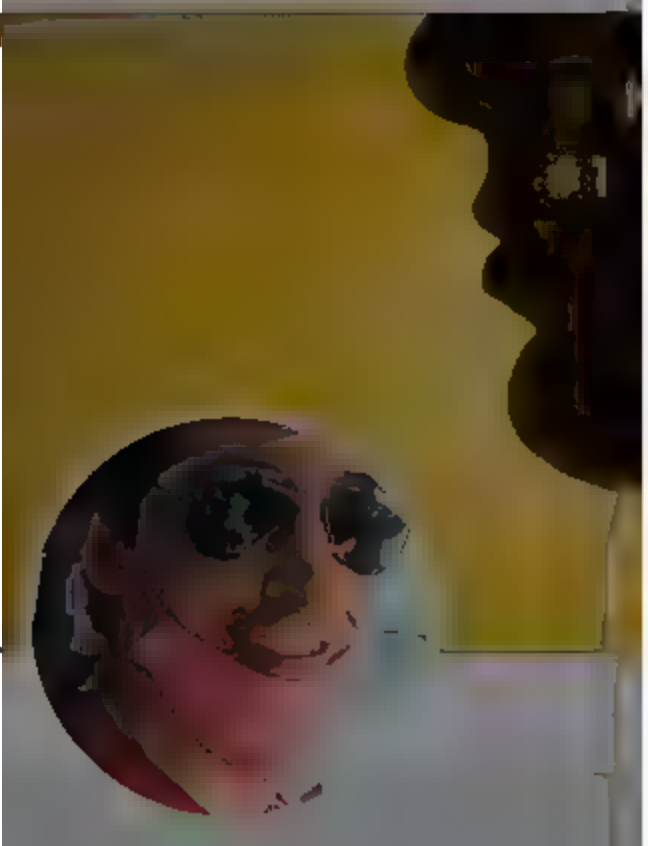
Serge Kovaleski @sergenyt · 18 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I was simply asking a question.

3



Serge Kovaleski @sergenyt · 18 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
And it's an important question within the context of cannabis legalization.

1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 18 Mar 2019
Serge - this case aside – and the perpetrator is repeatedly described as being "high on marijuana" with no mention of alcohol and was convicted of a DUI alongside the assault, so I'm very comfortable calling this cannabis-associated – my offer stands. This is a crucial issue.

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Person	Homicide	32	19
Crime	Aggravated Assault	2,698	1,760
	Total	2,730	1,779
Grand Total		2,730	1,779

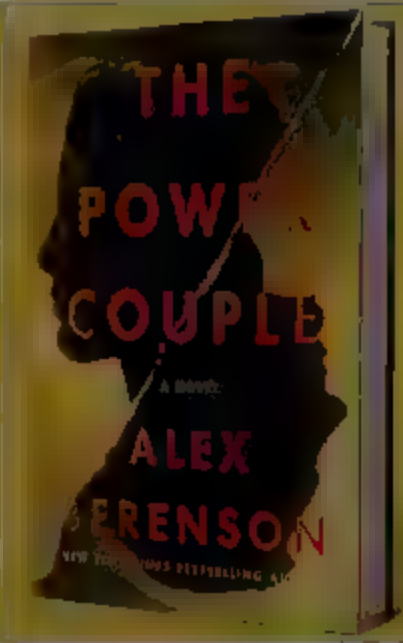
4 6 8

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 18 Mar 2019
Wow!

1

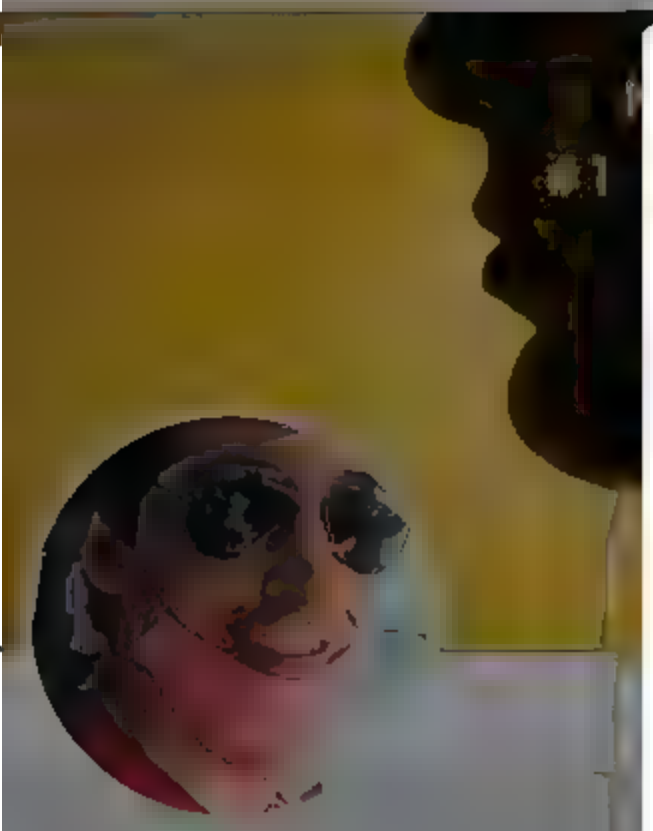
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

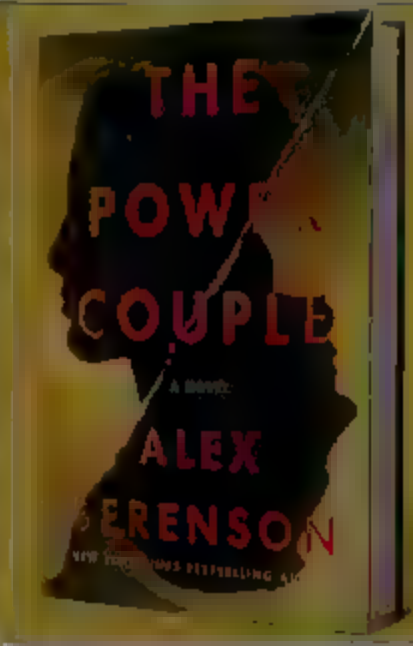


The Denver data has roughly the same increase, though from a higher base.

9:04 AM - 18 Mar 2019



This Tweet is unavailable.



Taylor Johnson @icyApe7 · 20 Mar 2019
I think your missing poverty, inequality, housing costs which all experienced major changes during this period in Seattle. Drugs are bad solutions to others problems, if you don't want people to do drugs you must do a root cause analysis and fix the root problems.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 18 Mar 2019

Elite social scientists call this a two-fer: he crashed his car AND strangled a cop while high on cannabis. But don't worry, [redacted], in your synthesized Colorado he actually killed her. Did you ever fix those charts with the right base dataset? I didn't think so.

5 6 11

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 18 Mar 2019

How many drunk drivers do that....tons. Quit working with anecdotes to "prove" your hypotheses. Have you given me "cleaned" data you approve of yet to run statistics on....nope. I'm just a dropbox invite away....

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Wait, it's my job to fix your mistakes too?

9:06 AM - 18 Mar 2019

1 Like

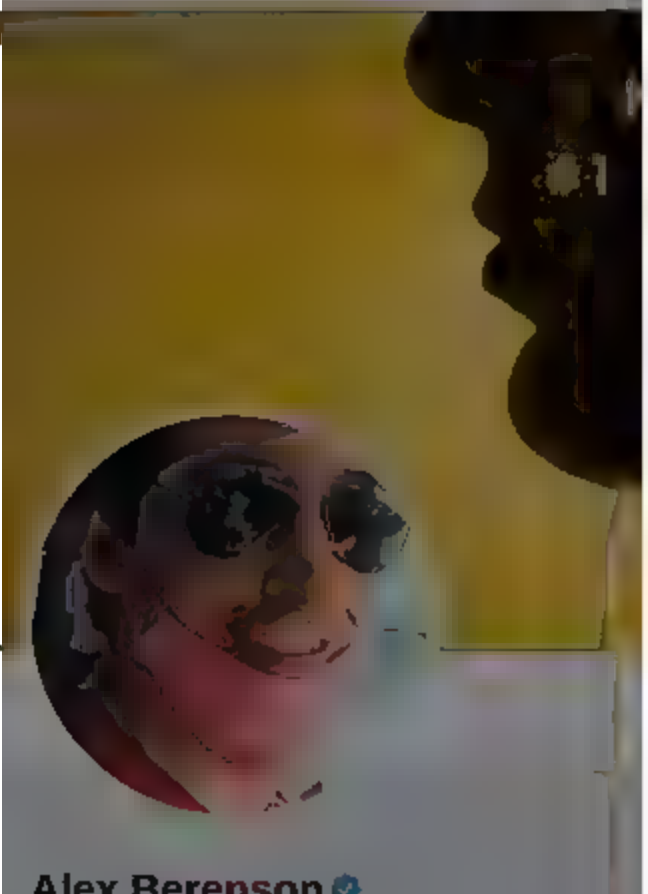
1 1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 18 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

No. But if you want it done tomorrow, then I don't mind free RA work. I'm working on a careful thorough analysis of crime patterns using both UCR and SHR data, as well as traffic stops in WA and other states. Just be patient. Academics do this thing called "teaching" RN.

2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

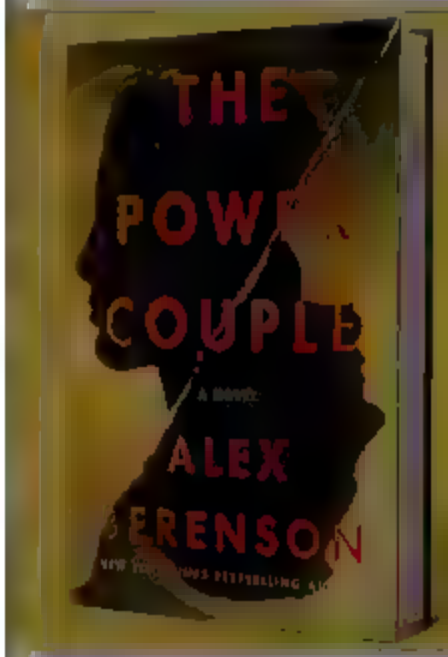
Joined November 2009

Elite social scientists call this a two-fer: he crashed his car AND strangled a cop while high on cannabis. But don't worry, [redacted], in your synthesized Colorado he actually killed her. Did you ever fix those charts with the right base dataset? I didn't think so.

5 6 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Sorry - the story is here:



9:01 AM - 18 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 9 Likes

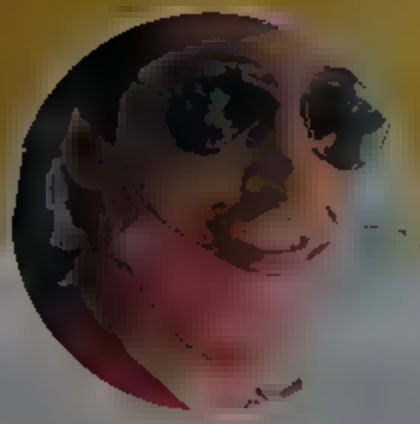
3 9

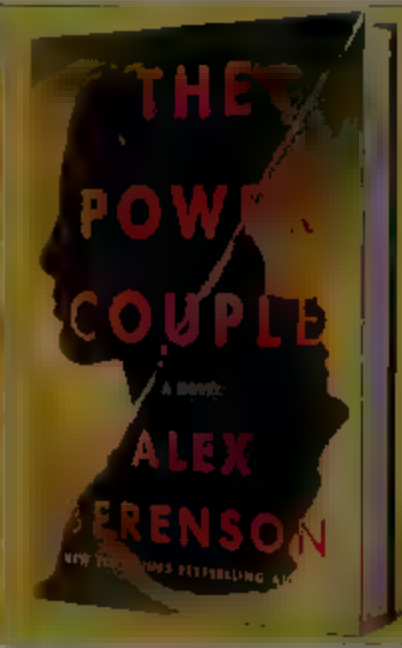


This Tweet is unavailable.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

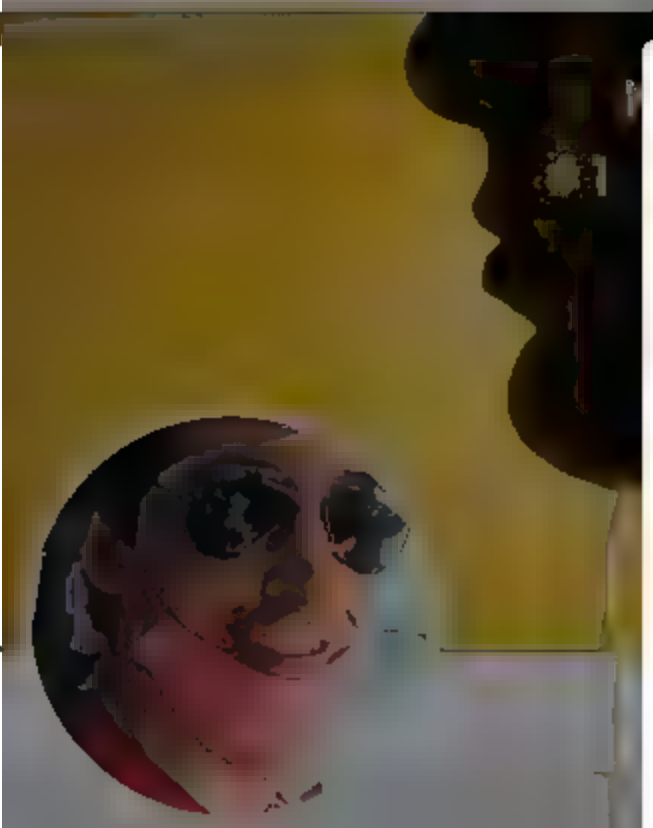
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, back in the real world, Seattle may not be dying but it sure looks sick:

Crime Dashboard



Crime Group	Crime Category	2018	2013
Person Crime	Homicide	32	19
	Aggravated Assault	2,698	1,760
	Total	2,730	1,779
Grand Total		2,730	1,779

9:00 AM - 18 Mar 2019

6 Retweets 8 Likes

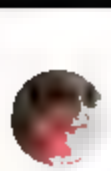
4 6 8



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Following

Elite social scientists call this a two-fer: he crashed his car AND strangled a cop while high on cannabis. But don't worry, @benconomics, in your synthesized Colorado he actually killed her. Did you ever fix those charts with the right base dataset? I didn't think so.

8:58 AM - 18 Mar 2019

6 Retweets 11 Likes

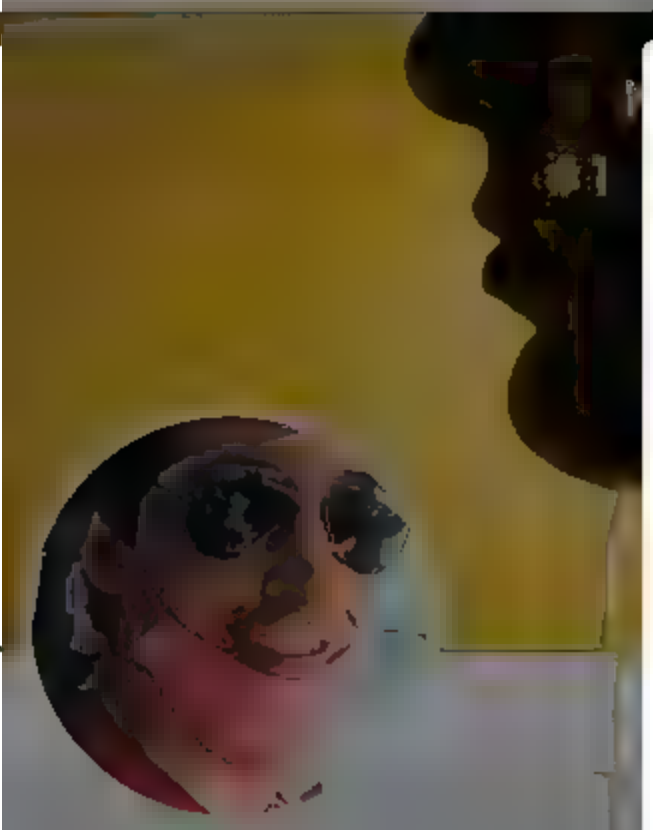
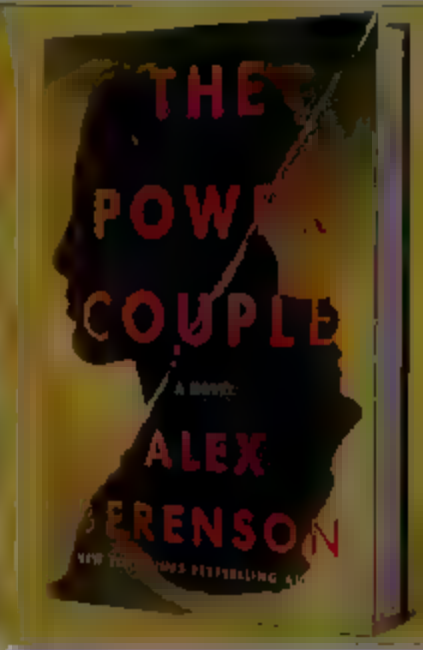
5 6 11



Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 18 Mar 2019
Sorry - the story is here:

3 9

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

"Seattle Is Dying." That's the headline of a special that ran Saturday on one of the city's local television stations. Addiction, homelessness, the degradation of public space, rising crime.. Remind me again about the benefits of legalizing cannabis and encouraging its use?

In case you missed it: @EricJohnsonKOMO explores the impact the drug and homelessness problem is having on our city and possible solutions to the issue in our special, "Seattle is Dying."

who don't feel safe taking their families into downtown Seattle. It's about parents who won't take their children into the public parks they pay for. It's about filth and degradation all around us. And theft and crime. It's about people who don't feel protected anymore, who don't feel like their voices are being heard.

This program is not about demonizing those who are struggling with addiction and homelessness and mental illness. On the contrary. Instead, it asks the question, "Why aren't we doing more? Why don't we have the courage to intervene in lives that are, in the face of a grave sickness, reeling out of control?"

4:40 AM · 18 Mar 2019

25 Retweets 61 Likes

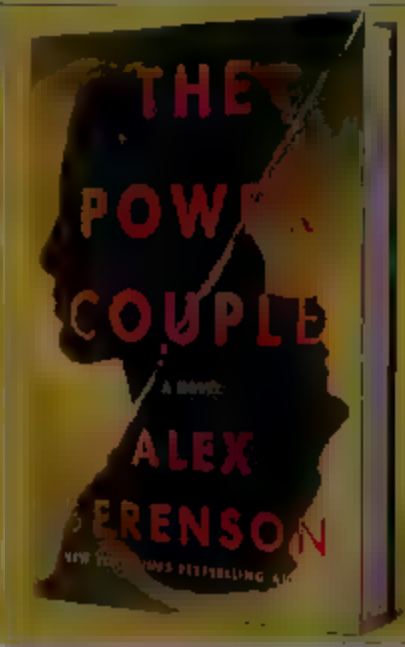
20 25 61

Man_on_a_farm @gulliver_trevor · 18 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Are you trying to convince people that this is a documentary about the negative effects of cannabis? Why the lie? Truth not on your side?

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Mar 2019

Excited that Children's Hospital Colorado is helping sponsor these events next week! Don't forget to RSVP - the lunchtime talk in Colorado Springs is already almost full...

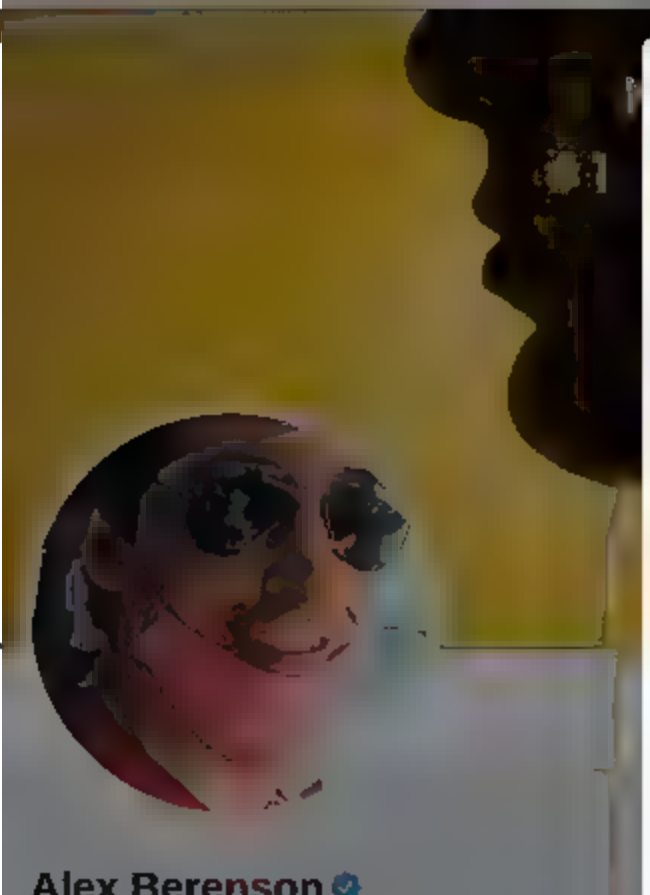
Child Health Champs @COChildChamps

Join us next Tuesday, March 19 from 6:30-8:30pm for a discussion with former New York Times reporter and author @AlexBerenson on the impact of #marijuana on #mentalhealth. Learn more and RSVP by next Monday!

6 7 23

Beth Meiers @eincolorado · 17 Mar 2019

Thank you Alex! I am hoping to come to the talk on Tuesday in the Springs. I have lost my brother to exactly what you wrote about. THANK YOU FOR WRITING THE BOOK! How do I RSVP for the talk? I must be there.



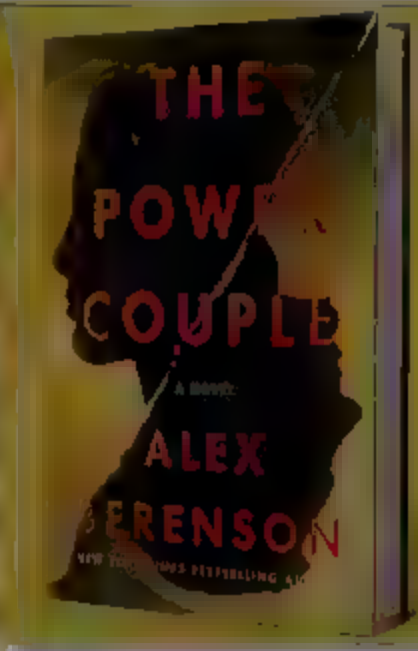
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

I just checked and unfortunately it is sold out. However the event that night in Centennial is not - come on up!

11:50 AM - 17 Mar 2019



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

The very worst crimes tend to be cannabis-plus, though - cannabis plus alcohol or meth. Notice the common factor? Warning: the details of the case below are almost unspeakable.

8:49 AM - 16 Mar 2019

7 Retweets 16 Likes

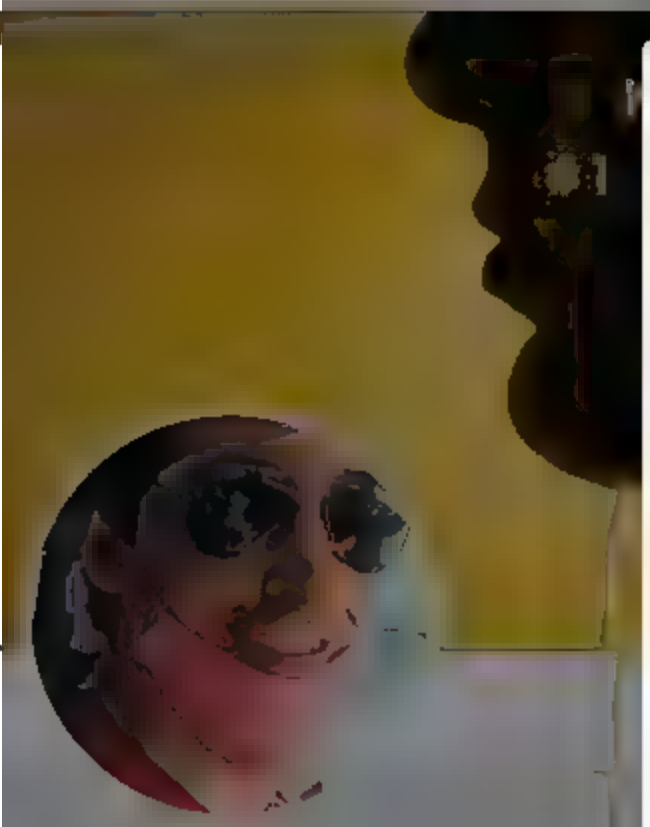
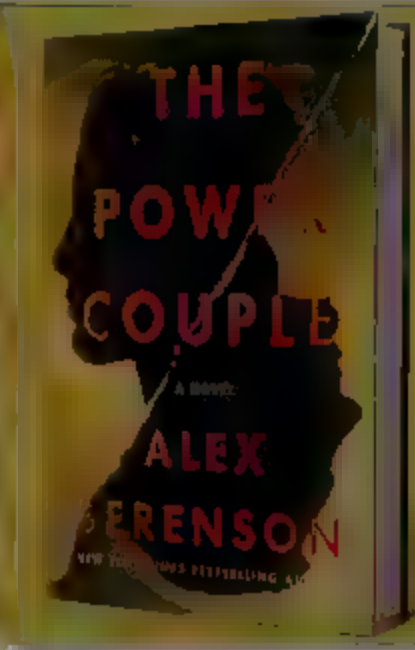
8 7 16



'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 16 Mar 2019



Replying to [redacted]

Yes, the common factor being hard, dangerous, toxic, addictive substances lead to some horrific outcomes.

Unless you're positing the debunked gateway theory. Not sure how prohibition of

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Marijuana legalization in 2019:
Failed in New Mexico; failed in Hawaii; failed in Minnesota; stalled in New Jersey (the governor keeps announcing deals that are absolutely totally sure to pass and yet there's been no vote). Notice a trend?

7:49 AM - 17 Mar 2019

19 Retweets 64 Likes

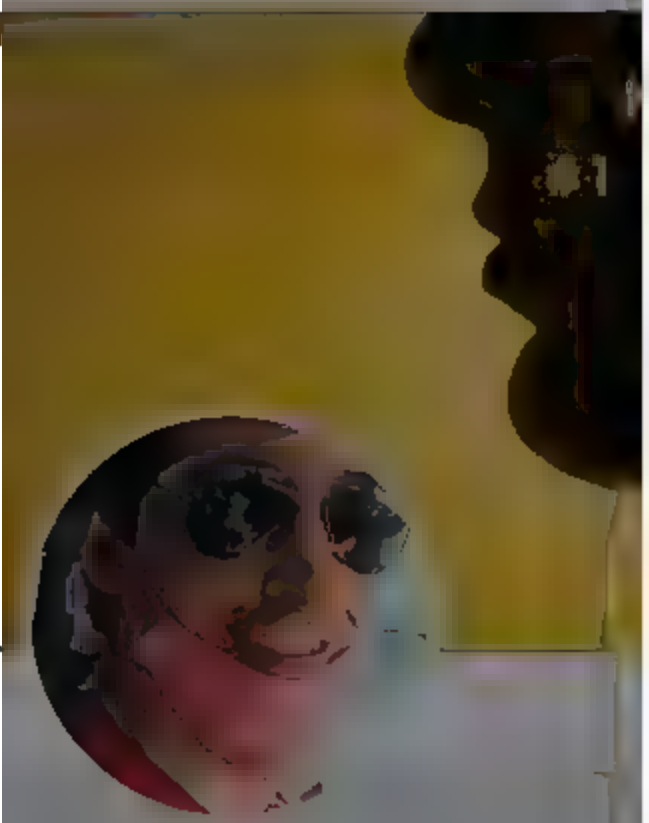
14 19 64

Maralyn Burstein @MaralynBurstein · 17 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Let's hope so sir.

1



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 17 Mar 2019
That's not a people's vote that is elected officials. Like Pete Sessions, they will be gone soon.

This Tweet is unavailable.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 17 Mar 2019
It's not a movement of the voters. It's corrupted politicians' ignoring the will of the voters. How long can that last?

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 17 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Maralyn Burstein @MaralynBurstein · 16 Mar 2019
Wow-I caught ur lecture on marijuana and schizophrenic breaks..!

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Shocking, right? And even more shocking that the media doesn't discuss it.

12:11 PM - 16 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

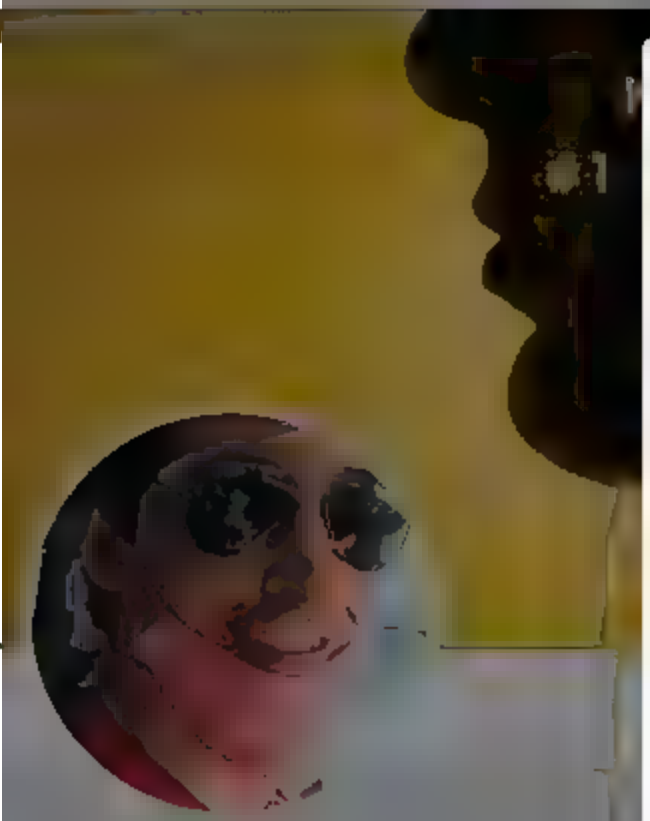
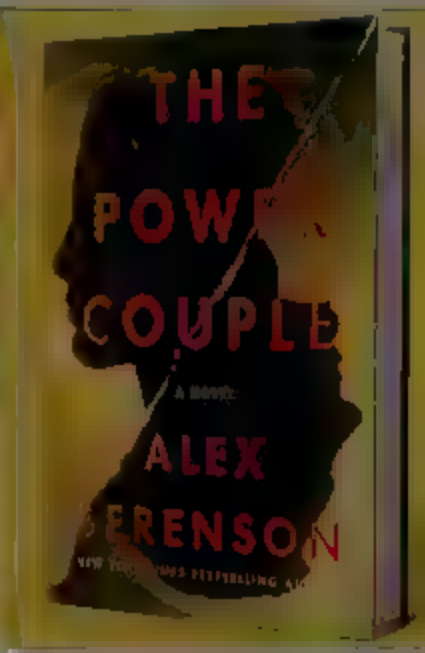
5 1 2

Maralyn Burstein @MaralynBurstein · 16 Mar 2019
Replying to
VERY.I took the point too of one of ur questioners about those who invest in it:the lobby of the powerful who will be able to silence the truth effectively.

Maralyn Burstein @MaralynBurstein · 16 Mar 2019
Replying to
U cld see this happen to hippies.



Maralyn Burstein @MaralynBurstein · 16 Mar 2019
Replying to
The developemental issues passed on to the next generation-from pregnant mothers will be really ugly.



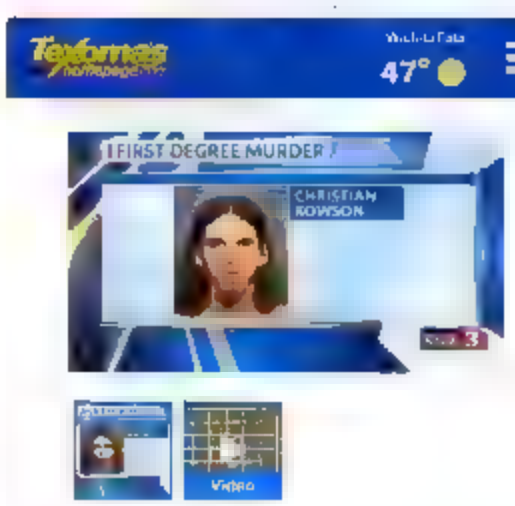
Maralyn Burstein @MaralynBurstein · 16 Mar 2019
Replying to
Your point being also-the high concentrations of the new marijuana making the risk exponentially much greater per ingestor.

Have an account? Log in

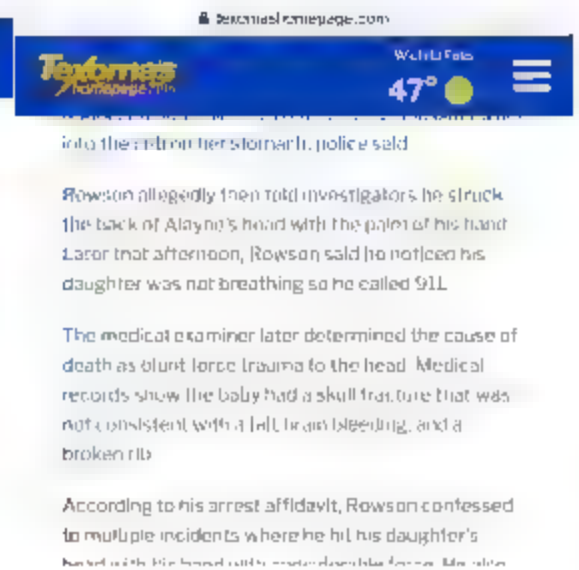
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York



Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Apparently Christian Rowson - charged with murder in the beating death of his five-month-old daughter - didn't see the @washingtonpost piece about cannabis making him a better parent.

The arrest affidavit for a Lawton father charged in

8:42 AM - 16 Mar 2019

5 Retweets 11 Likes

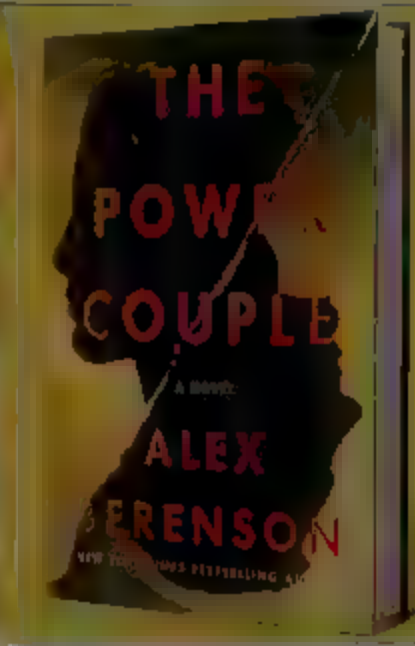
5 5 11

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 16 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]

1) In Texas, where marijuana is quite illegal. Looks like prohibition didn't work!

2) Age 20, someone we wouldn't let legally use mj.

3) Video games, why are those not his motivation to quiet the baby so he can get back online?



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Highly reassuring:

"these days, a large percentage of metal's hardcore potheads are fans of blistering, technical music about explosive murder,.."

11:36 AM - 15 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

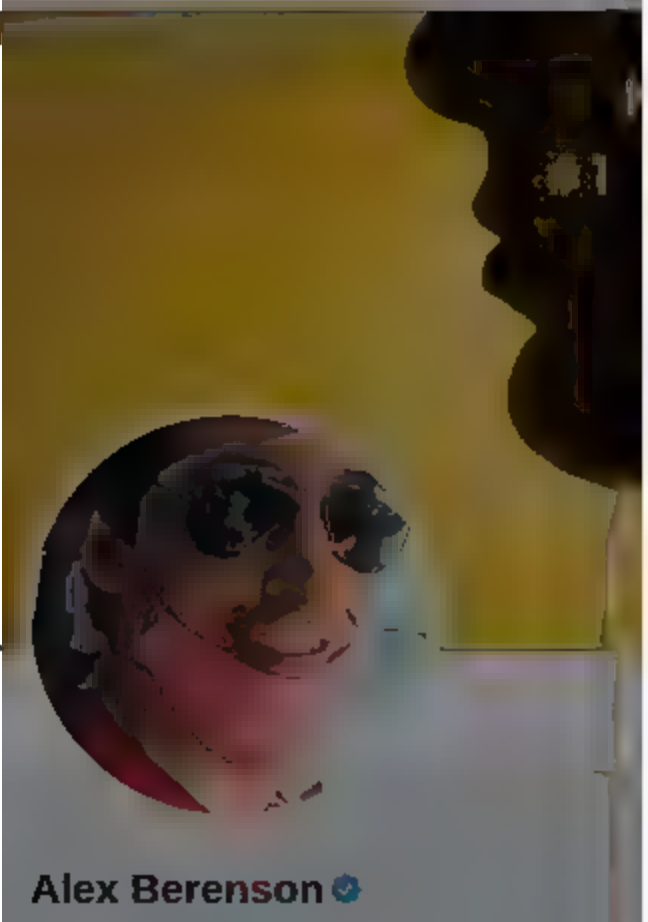
3 1 6



David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 15 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]

Omg. This tweet reminds me of an infamous video in the late '80s where a leading Swedish anti-drug activist makes claims linking heavy metal with vampires, satanism, vicious cults and murder rituals.

The interview (in Swedish sadly) is jaw-dropping.

1

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

---

tedfrank @tedfrank · 14 Mar 2019

And I think the legal marijuana debate isn't over yet once we see effects worse than we see with tobacco, where the marketplace of ideas has moved in the other direction. See [redacted]'s contrarian writing.

3 2 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Yes, the move to legalize cannabis comes less from good arguments as from several myths that the media has happily repeated over and over - plus a misunderstanding of the drug's risks. Happy to discuss on your podcast, Julia.

9:08 PM - 14 Mar 2019

5 Retweets 17 Likes

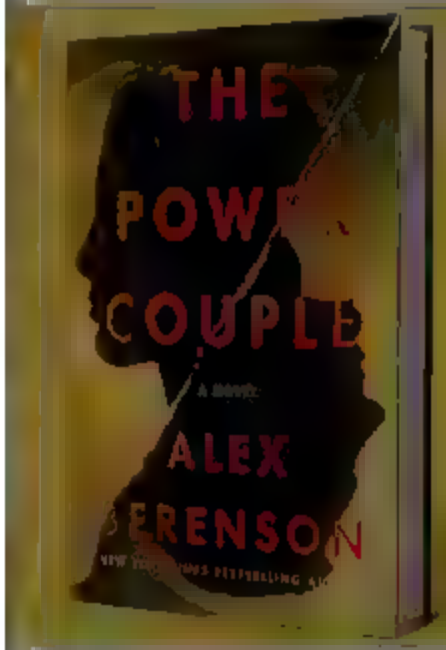
2 5 17

Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 15 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

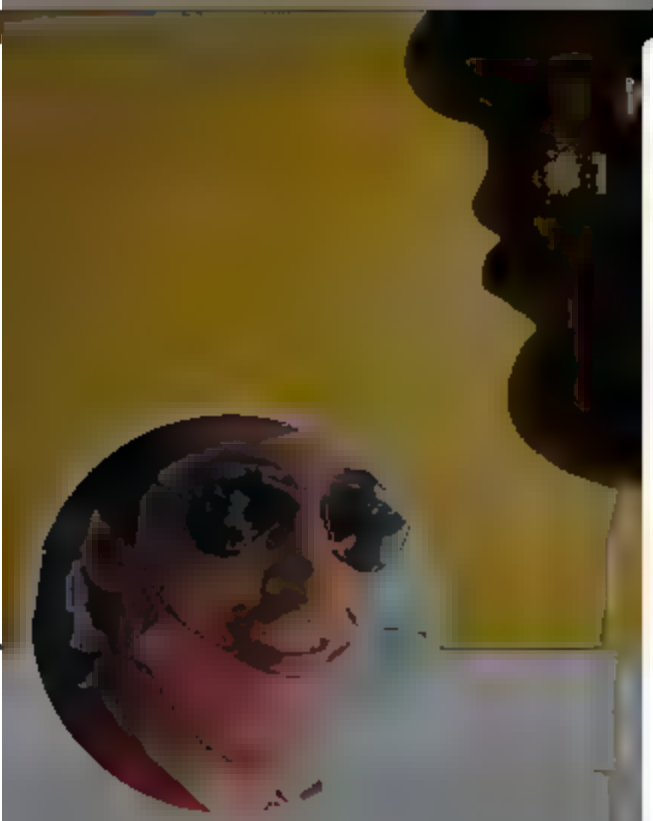
Marijuana legalization is one issue for which there are no good arguments in its favor. Legalization has proven all the arguments used by legalizers (which succeeded) wrong.

1

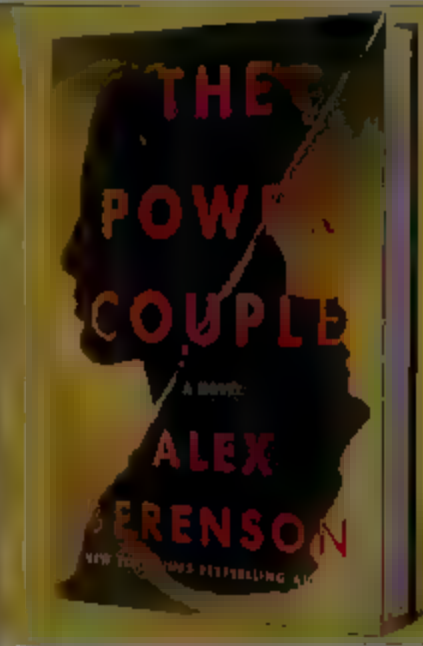


'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 15 Mar 2019

Other than the argument that o no more deserve a cage over a joint than Julie does for her Chardonnay and Alex for his cigars.



Bigots.



2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I agree we should try to scrub the Internet of the Christchurch massacre video. But treating Brenton Tarrant like Voldemort just adds to his mystique. His comrades in arms will find his manifesto anyway. And pretending he doesn't have a name is bizarre.

8:25 AM - 15 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 2 Likes

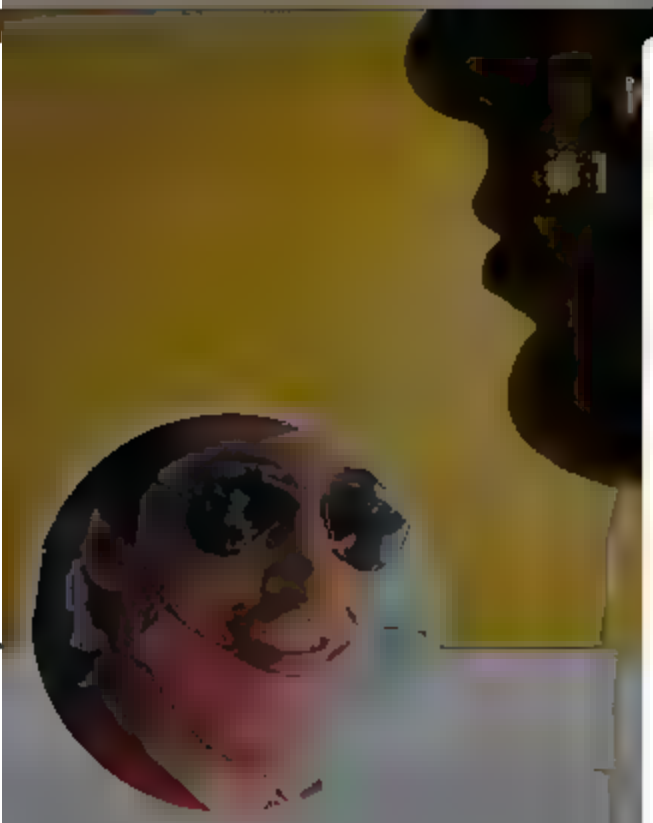
1 2 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



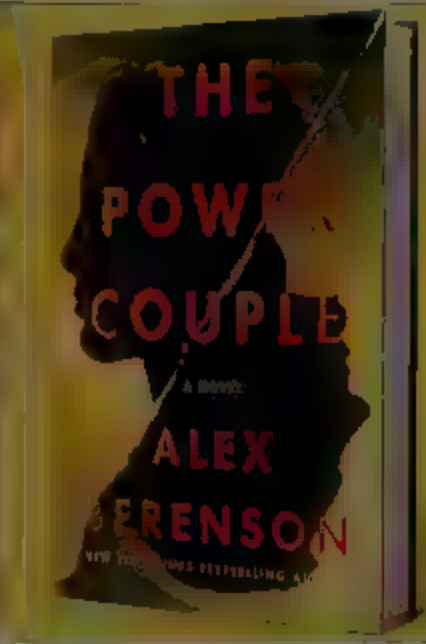
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Listen, hater, once @elonmusk gets his time travel machine up and running, all those delivery dates will sort themselves out.

> Diogenes @WallStCynic
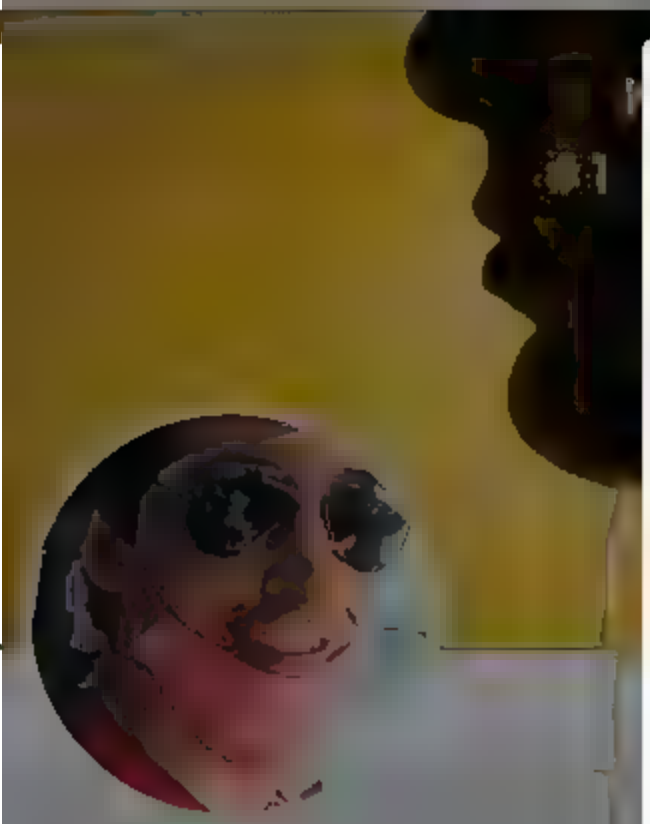
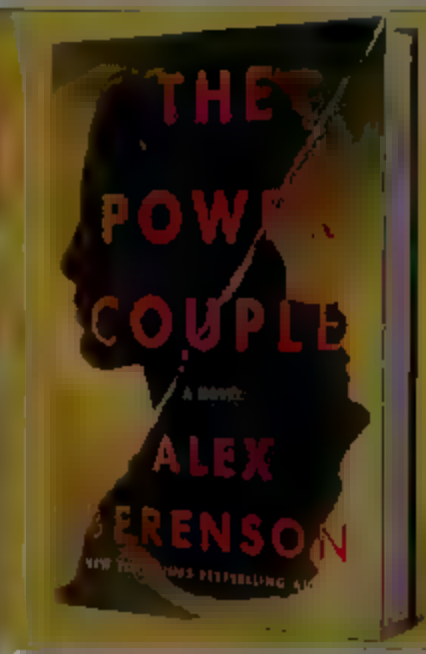
> Just a reminder that in November 2017 Musk said the $TSLA Semi would begin production this year, and the Roadster would be available in 2020.
> fortune.com/2017/11/16/tes…

12:36 PM - 14 Mar 2019

5 Likes



2 5



Diogenes @WallStCynic · 14 Mar 2019
Replying to Et tu, Alex?

2

fan @kokondo12 · 16 Mar 2019
Replying to
Blame him taking a hit on the podcast for his downfall! It's ripe for the taking.... I'm sure everyone forgot you getting destroyed in the debate a few months later....

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Excited that Children's Hospital Colorado is helping sponsor these events next week! Don't forget to RSVP - the lunchtime talk in Colorado Springs is already almost full...

Child Health Champs @COChildChamps
Join us next Tuesday, March 19 from 6:30-8:30pm for a discussion with former New York Times reporter and author @AlexBerenson on the impact of #marijuana on #mentalhealth. Learn more and RSVP by next Monday! gazette.com/tellyourchildr…

9:46 AM - 14 Mar 2019

7 Retweets 23 Likes

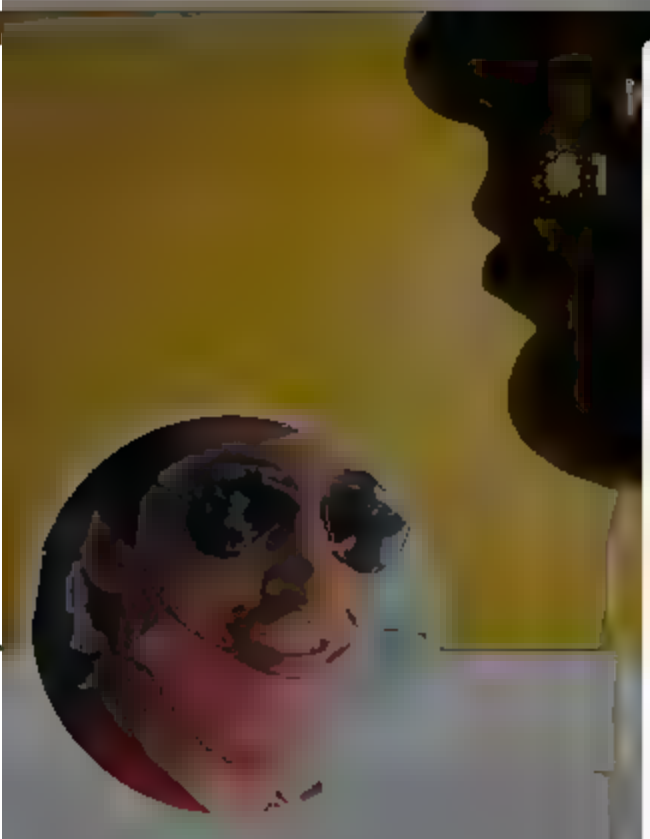
6 7 23



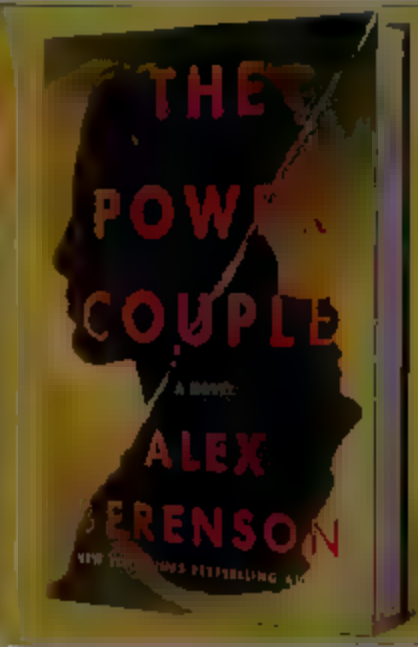
Stymie MacBabycakes @StymiePorgieHat · 15 Mar 2019
Replying to
I just called to check availability and they said there were plenty of tickets left for the lunchtime talk.

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 16 Mar 2019
Replying to
Poor Alex, repudiated by experts who do the actual work he trolls&distorts.

1

Paula McPheeters @liberty_lil · 16 Mar 2019
Replying to
Thank you for all you are doing! We need so much more education. Colorado needs truth.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ @ClarkeMicah - I know you like to say that cannabis is the religion of selfishness - even by those standards screenwriters would call this piece too on-the-nose. The details are cringe-inducing... cosmopolitan.com/lifestyle/a264 . . .

6:27 AM - 14 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

7 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Mar 2019

2/ The mid-30s former tennis player whose parents bought him an old church to convert into condos so he'd have something to do... not realizing that he'd make it Denver's hotbox.

Plus the inevitable mention of marijuana's "health benefits."

I'd say I'm surprised... but i'm not.

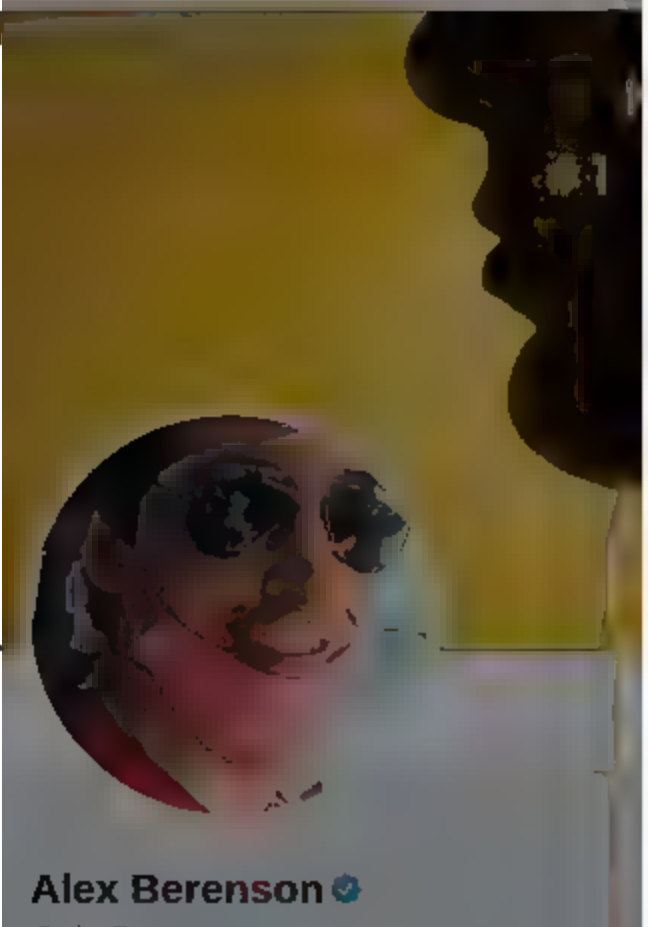
8 4

Gus Stadler @majortominor · 14 Mar 2019

Replying to

Sounds a lot like ritualized drinking in a fraternity...except way more safe

1



'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 14 Mar 2019

Replying to

Yeah, that selfish bastard, Willie Nelson, performing Farm Aid concerts for the past four decades.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ [redacted] - I know you like to say that cannabis is the religion of selfishness - even by those standards screenwriters would call this piece too on-the-nose. The details are cringe-inducing...

[redacted]

7 1 4

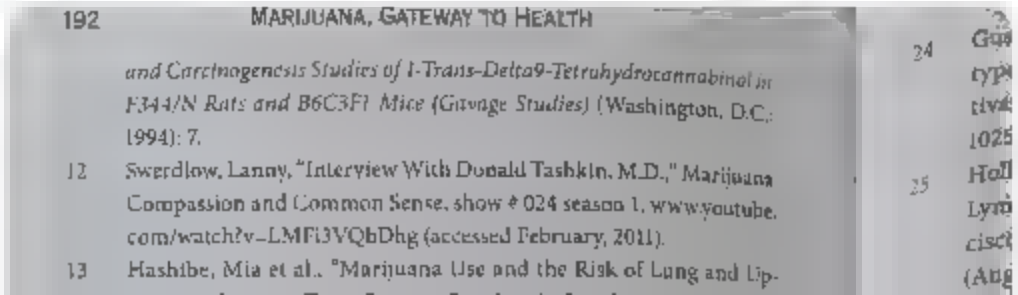
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ The mid-30s former tennis player whose parents bought him an old church to convert into condos so he'd have something to do... not realizing that he'd make it Denver's hotbox.

Plus the inevitable mention of marijuana's "health benefits."

I'd say I'm surprised... but i'm not.

6:32 AM - 14 Mar 2019



4 Likes

8 4

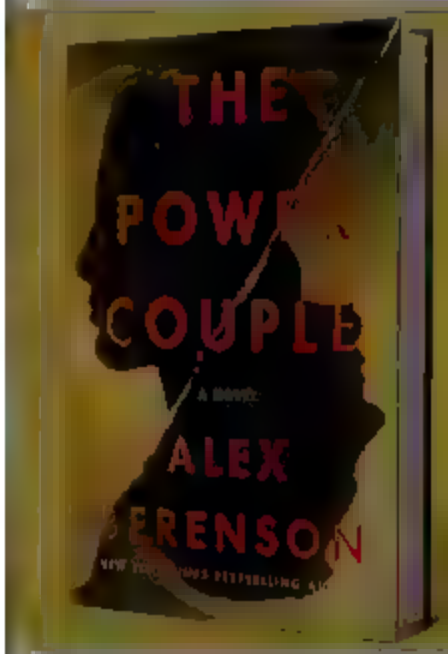
Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 14 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

The health benefits r solid. Just bcause they negate your discredited claims doesnt negate reality, get n touch w/reality Alex. Marijuana blocks prodisease processes b4 they get a grip n the body! Lower inflammation&oxidative damage=better health. Facts! Learn some facts Alex.

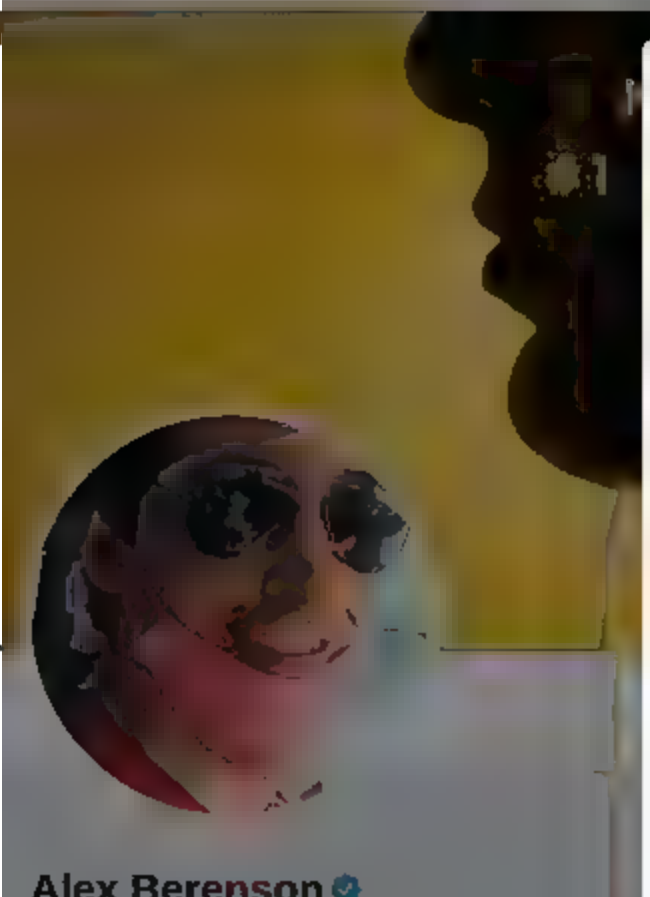
192 MARIJUANA, GATEWAY TO HEALTH

and Carcinogenesis Studies of 1-Trans-Delta9-Tetrahydrocannabinol in F344/N Rats and B6C3F1 Mice (Gavage Studies) (Washington, D.C.: 1994): 7.



12 Swerdlow, Lanny, "Interview With Donald Tashkin, M.D.," Marijuana Compassion and Common Sense, show # 024 season 1, www.youtube.com/watch?v=LMFi3VQbDhg (accessed February, 2011).

13 Hashibe, Mia et al., "Marijuana Use and the Risk of Lung and Lip-



24

25

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

And it all comes together...

7:48 PM - 13 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 12 Likes

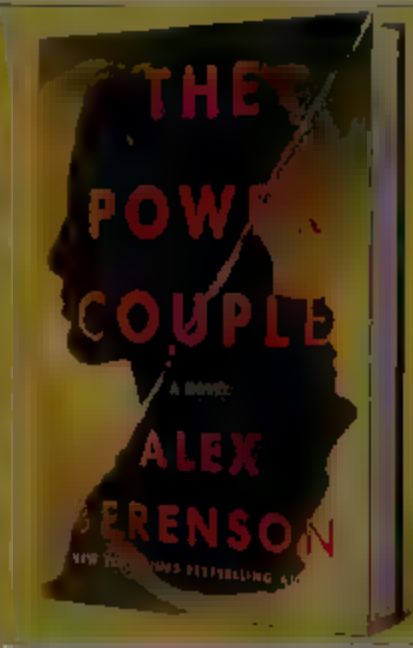
6 1 12

This Tweet is unavailable.



Darryl Rodgers @JDRodgers61 · 14 Mar 2019
Of course it's the pot. Spoiled brats smoke pot which makes them bigger brats. The myelin sheath which covers neurons connecting the frontal lobe to the rest of the brain is not mature until about age 25. Pot use damages the myelin sheath, further delaying maturity.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Feb 2019

Wowowow. Every legalizer myth (almost: opioids aren't in there) in one two-minute piece of propaganda. Wonder if Spike Jonze can be held personally liable for psychosis resulting from MedMen's cannabis. Start reading up on failure to warn, Spike.

17 3 9

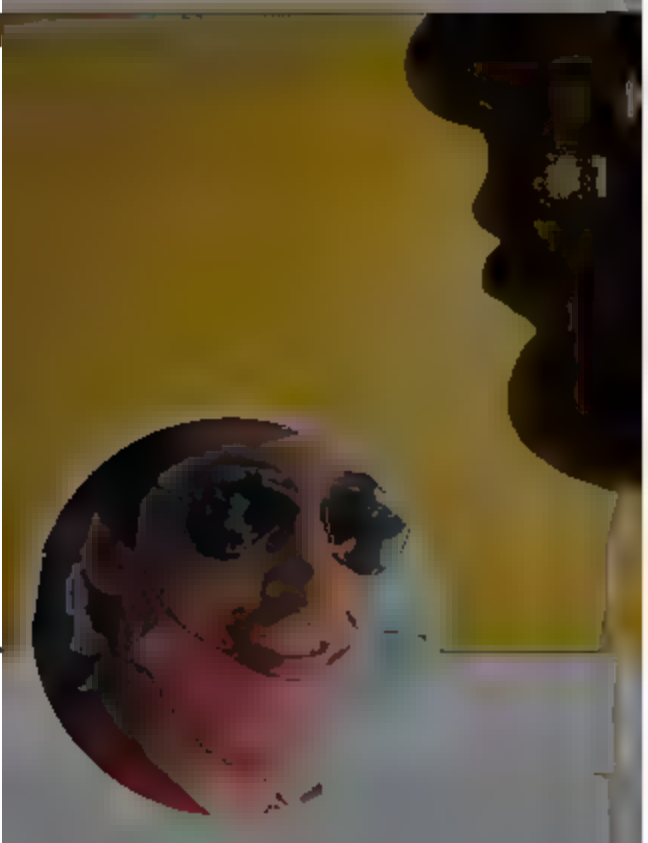
David Jenison @DavidJenison · 13 Mar 2019

I wonder if you can be held personally liable for spreading misinformation that hurts public health, increases incarceration and further blurs the line between causation and correlation. You should at least use the byline Alex Anslinger.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow



Replying to

Your knowledge of liability and the First Amendment is as strong as your understanding of the health risks of cannabis. A polymath. Congratulations.

2:24 PM - 13 Mar 2019

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

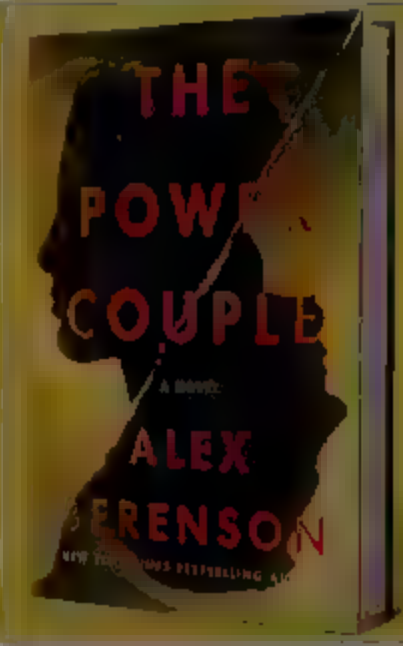
daughter into Georgetown, but the feds realized that she was just awful at tennis (the footnote is brutal):

120. The HENRIQUEZES' daughter's application was submitted to Georgetown on or about October 25, 2015. In addition to the falsified essay, the application falsely indicated that she played "club tennis" all through high school for 20 hours per week and 52 weeks per year, and listed her as having a "Top 50 ranking" in the United States Tennis Association ("USTA") Junior Girls Tennis for her sophomore through senior years of high school, and as being on the USTA All-Academic Team for tennis for her junior and senior years. In fact, records obtained from the USTA do not show that she played at any USTA tournaments in high school.[14]

[14] At her best, she appears to have ranked 207th in Northern California in the under-12

2 1

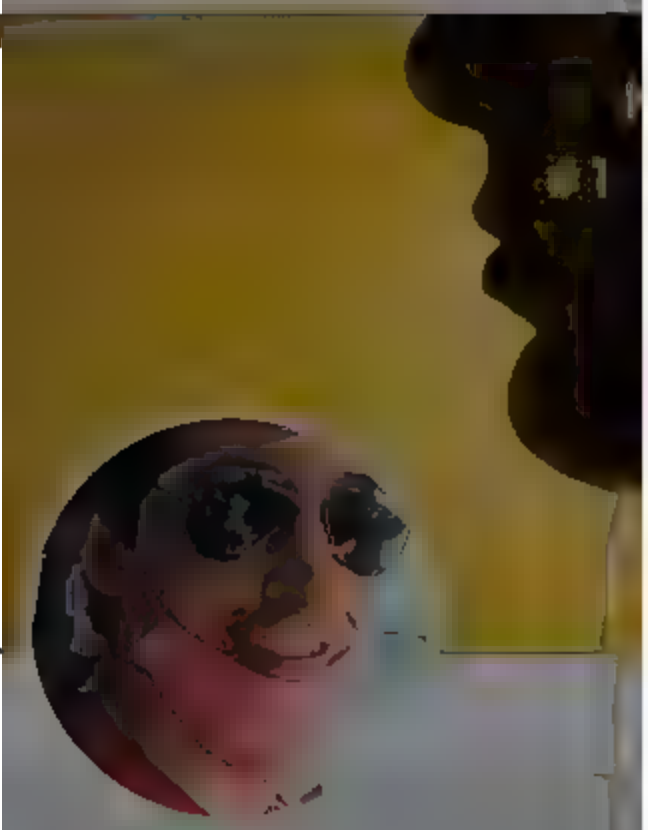
Dan Carroll @dan_l_carroll · 13 Mar 2019
Alex, as a lawyer who is s big supporter of your marijuana stance, I suggest you consider that as prosecutors they know what they need to plead.



1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]



Oh come on - I am not at all opposed to going after these parents (though they are pikers compared to the folks who openly donate millions to get their kids in), but that footnote couldn't be more gratuitous!

7:46 PM - 13 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 4

End the War on Drugs @DrugLawReformer · 12 Mar 2019
Interesting, me and most people I know are mellow on cannabis, but one of my brother's friends did start to freak out and was looking for somebody to fight.

1

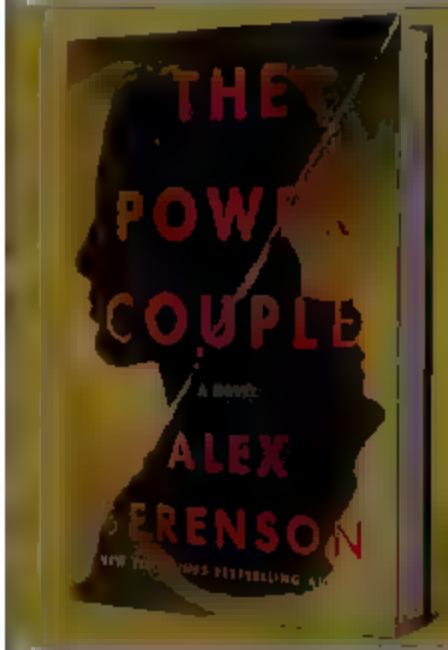
Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 12 Mar 2019
Everyone is different because... genes. Most users do get mellow. The debate gets heated (I believe) when people for whom it works nicely don't get that others can have the opposite effect. And of course, the industry is reluctant to acknowledge because... profit.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Tail risk problem. Alcohol's effects are largely predictable. Not always great, but predictable. Marijuana's are not.

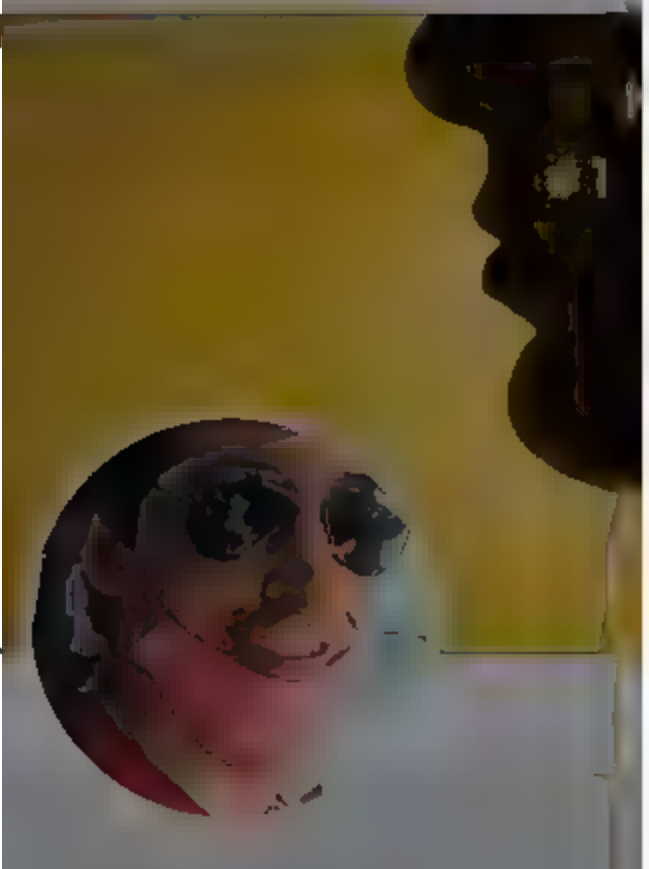


6:34 PM - 12 Mar 2019

1

End the War on Drugs @DrugLawReformer · 12 Mar 2019
Replying to
Alcohol affects people differently as well. That is why there are happy drunks, violent drunks, etc.

1

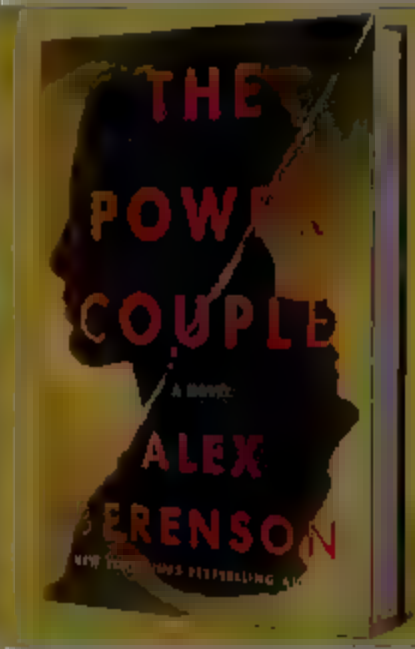


Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

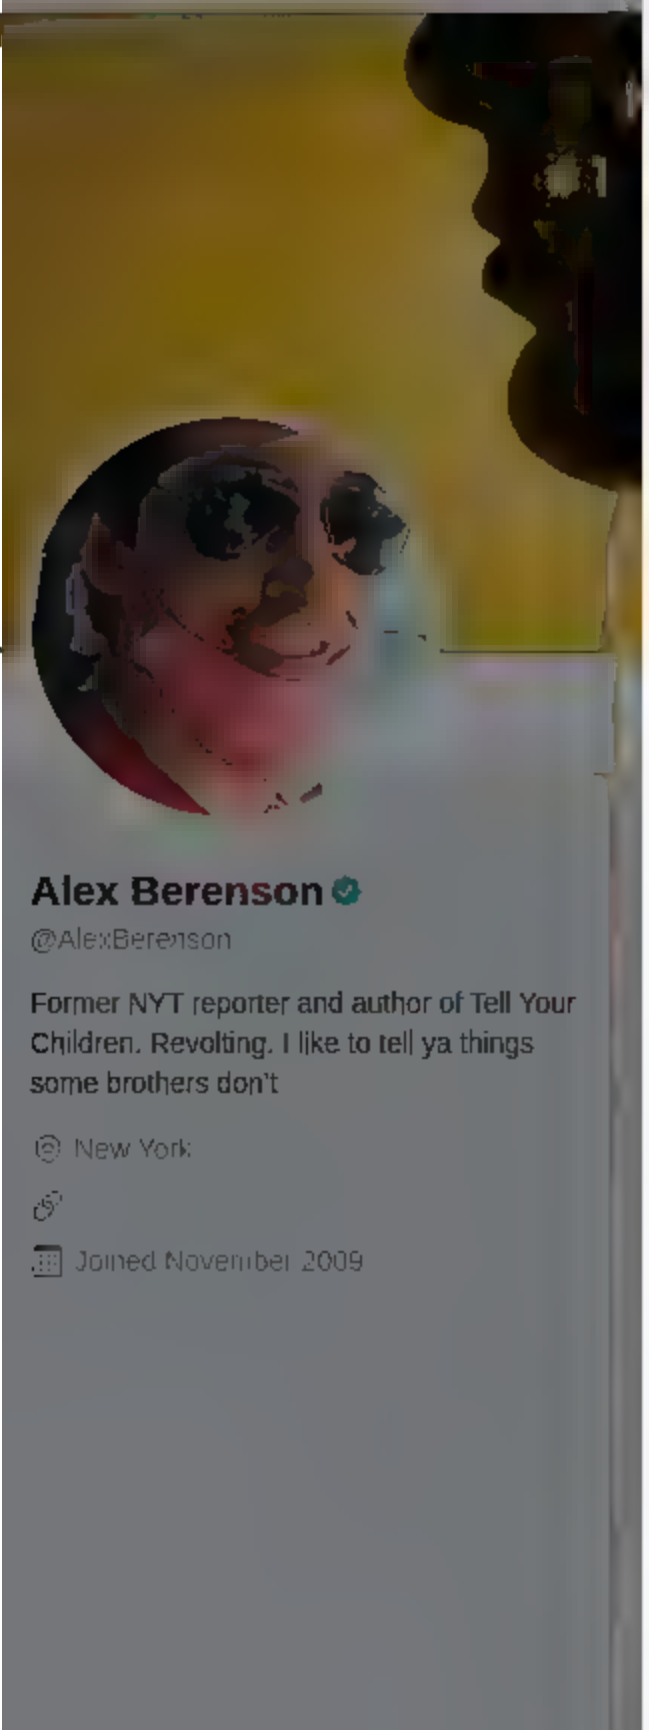
Follow

And btw - it was bizarrely cruel and unnecessary for the prosecutors to mock the kids in the indictment, as they most obviously did here:

google.com

deadspin.com

The Henriquez parents wanted to get their daughter into Georgetown, but the feds realized that she was just awful at tennis (the footnote is brutal):



120. The HENRIQUEZES' daughter's application was submitted to Georgetown on or about October 25, 2015. In addition to the falsified essay, the application falsely indicated that she played "club tennis" all through high school for 20 hours per week and 52 weeks per year, and listed her as having a "Top 50 ranking" in the United States Tennis Association ("USTA") Junior Girls Tennis for her sophomore through senior years of high school, and as being on the USTA All-Academic Team for tennis for her junior and senior years. In fact, records obtained from the USTA do not show that she played at any USTA tournaments in high school.[14]

7:57 AM - 13 Mar 2019

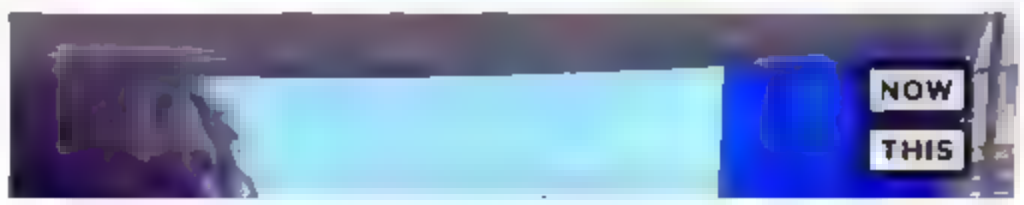
1 Like

2 1

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



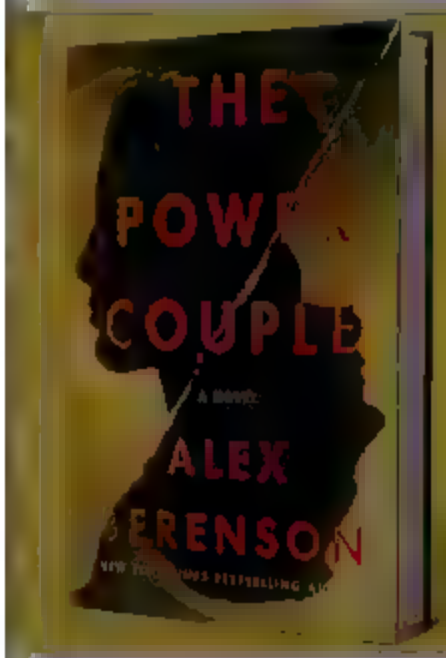
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Ahh, @MeghanMcCain, expert on cancer research. (I shouldn't say this, but I am soooo happy to get to criticize a Republican on this issue for a change. Nice to see stupidity is bipartisan.)



> Legalize it. 🤜Destigmatize it. 🤛 Research it. 🤞 - The possible benefits for both medical research, treatment for cancer patients and other illnesses is still unknown. We must explore all options to find a cure and help treatment for patients! #FuckCancer
>
> NowThis ✓ @nowthisnews
> .@MeghanMcCain believes cannabis could've helped her father John McCain live longer
>
>
>

3:04 PM - 12 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 15 Likes

15 3 15

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Brent Staples @BrentNYT · 12 Mar 2019

Hitler doesn't mean those terrible things; he's playing to the crowd.
From the John Wells novel
"Twelve Days"
By Alex Berenson

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Following

Replying to [redacted]

Brent - hey! I didn't know you were a Wells fan (are you a Wells fan?). Very cool...

8:06 PM - 12 Mar 2019

2 Likes

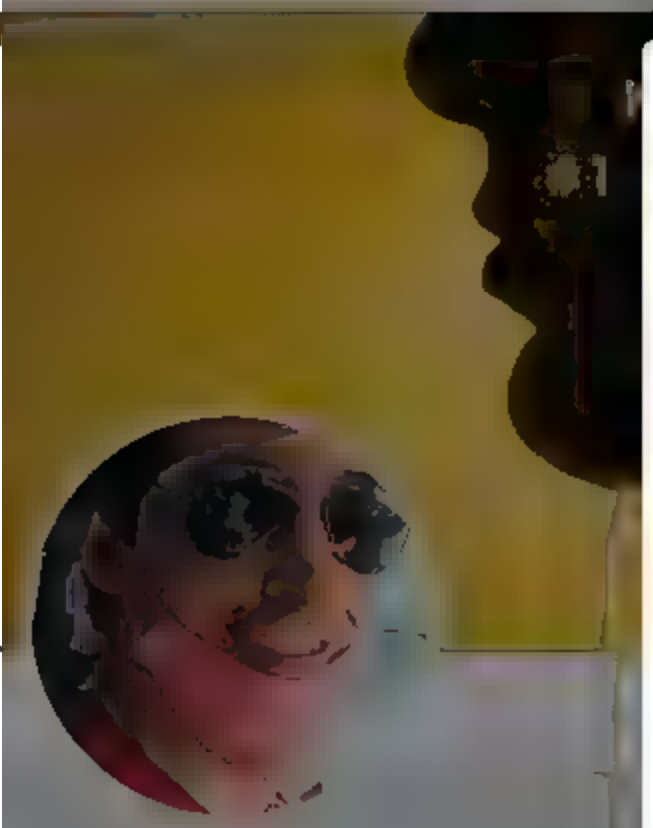
1 2

Brent Staples @BrentNYT · 13 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Yo! How you been? I read them all.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



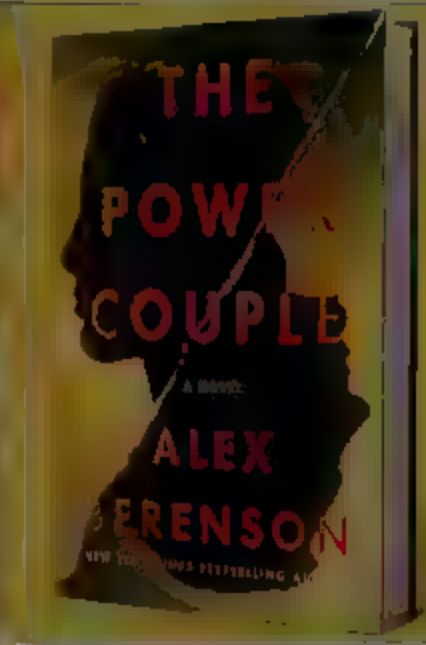
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

So @shaleentitle - a @NRA Cannabis commissioner - calls @gladwell a "clown" for daring to suggest we need more research into marijuana's risks. Wow. I guess Massachusetts won't be bothering to count ER admissions or much of anything to build science-based policy around cannabis.

11:23 AM - 12 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 13 Likes

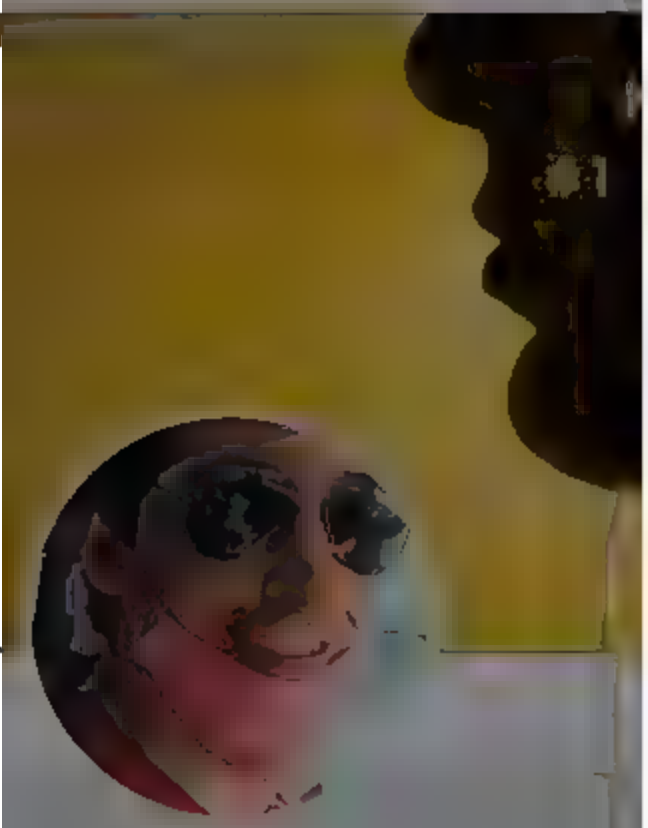
8 3 13



Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 12 Mar 2019
Replying to and 2 others
Alex, remember that time became psychotic and went to the E.R? No, me neither but I do remember that he used and explained everything in the universe.

1 4

Faded @Aldridge25 · 12 Mar 2019
Replying to and 2 others
Please show some actual science !

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 12 Mar 2019
Replying to and 2 others
I don't get the impression Title considers Gladwell a clown for suggesting we need more research. At least he added this "the book's [TYC] arguments are alarmist, one-sided, there's a lot of correlation without causation"

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Thanks for doing this. Of course, plenty of reference to the medical side effects in the famous Indian Hemp Commission report of 1893 - and yet that panel still concluded in favour of regulation, taxation and controls. Both positions are compatible.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

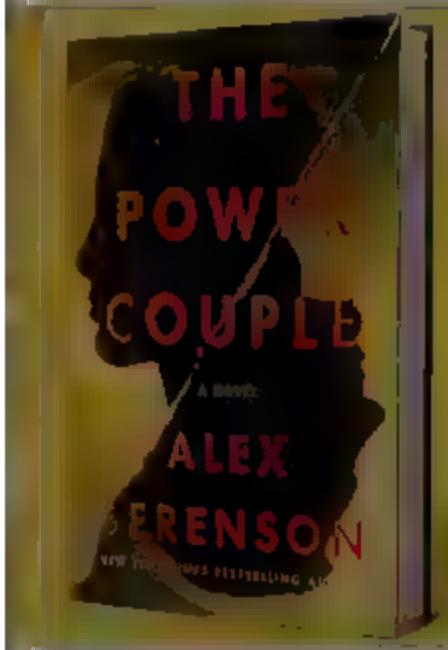
Yes and no. Two of the three Indian commissioners wanted high-THC (though by today's standards the potency was actually relatively low) cannabis products banned, and only bhang (natural hemp product) allowed.

8:07 AM - 12 Mar 2019

2

Blair Gibbs @BlairG1bbs · 12 Mar 2019

Replying to



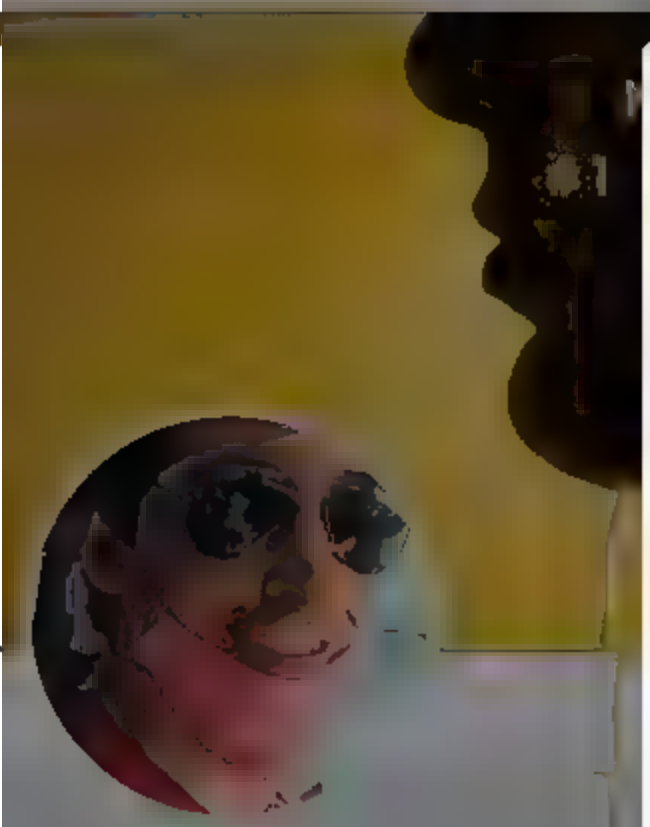
True, though bhang is still psychotropic. And the Commission supported ongoing home cultivation, which today is an article of faith amongst legalisation activists, even though it is impossible to police in a legal, regulated market that seeks to control for quality

1

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 12 Mar 2019

I think both positions are compatible if and only if the legalization and commercialization side are up front with the risks. We learned long ago not to trust tobacco or pharma companies to disclose risk. Likely will require neutral 3rf-party to dictate/enforce health advisories

1

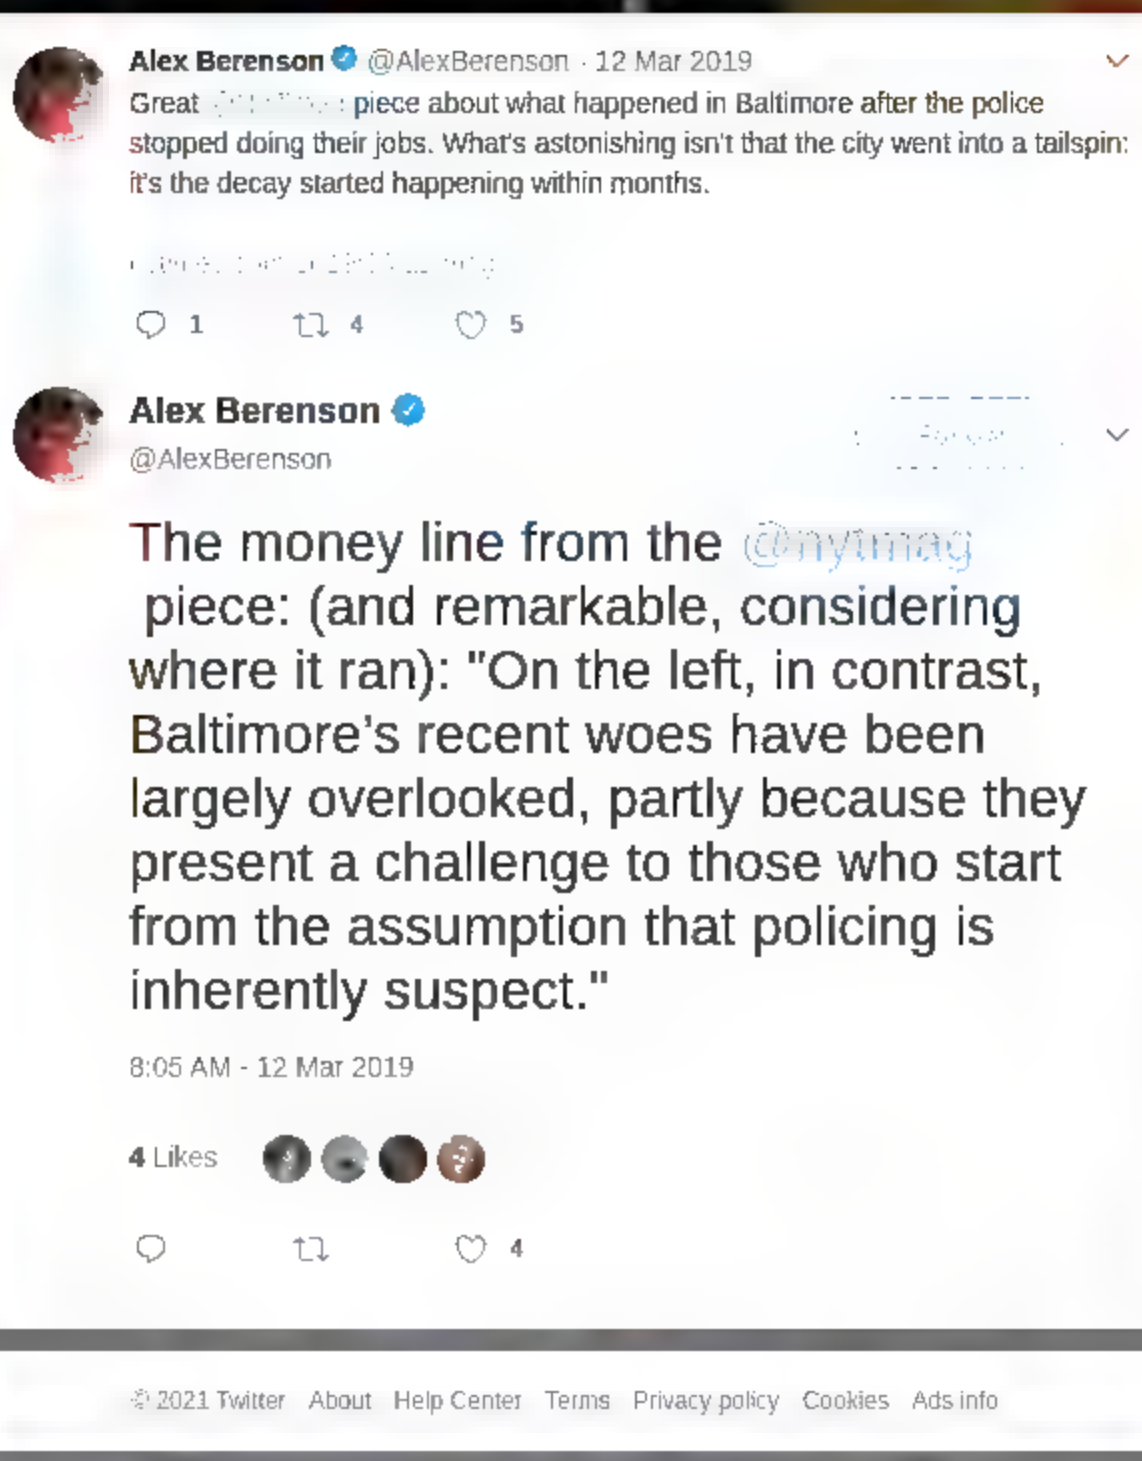


© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Search Twitter

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 12 Mar 2019

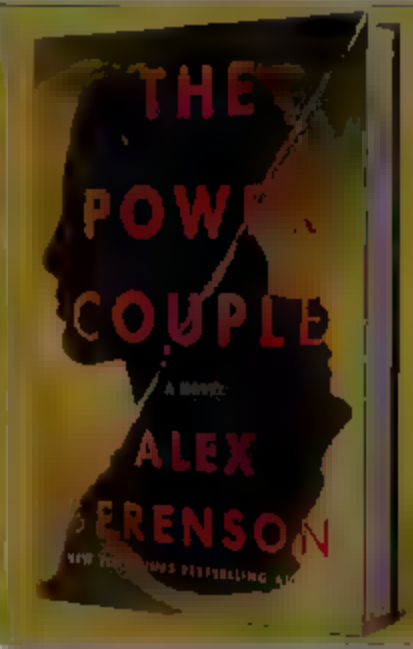
Great [redacted] piece about what happened in Baltimore after the police stopped doing their jobs. What's astonishing isn't that the city went into a tailspin: it's the decay started happening within months.

[redacted]

1 4 5

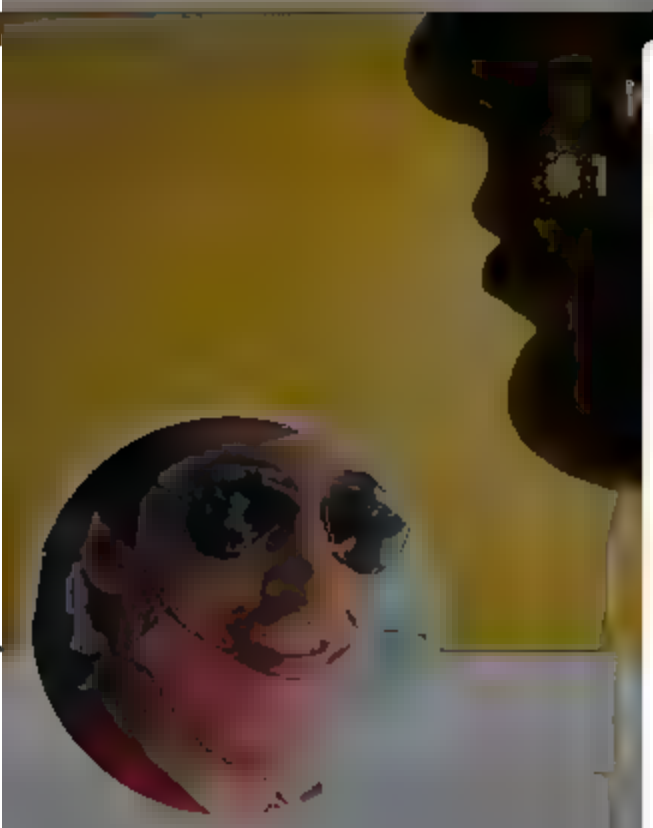
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

[redacted]



The money line from the @nytmag piece: (and remarkable, considering where it ran): "On the left, in contrast, Baltimore's recent woes have been largely overlooked, partly because they present a challenge to those who start from the assumption that policing is inherently suspect."

8:05 AM - 12 Mar 2019



4 Likes

4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Great @NYTmag piece about what happened in Baltimore after the police stopped doing their jobs. What's astonishing isn't that the city went into a tailspin: it's the decay started happening within months.

nytimes.com/2019/03/12/mag ...

8:03 AM - 12 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 5 Likes

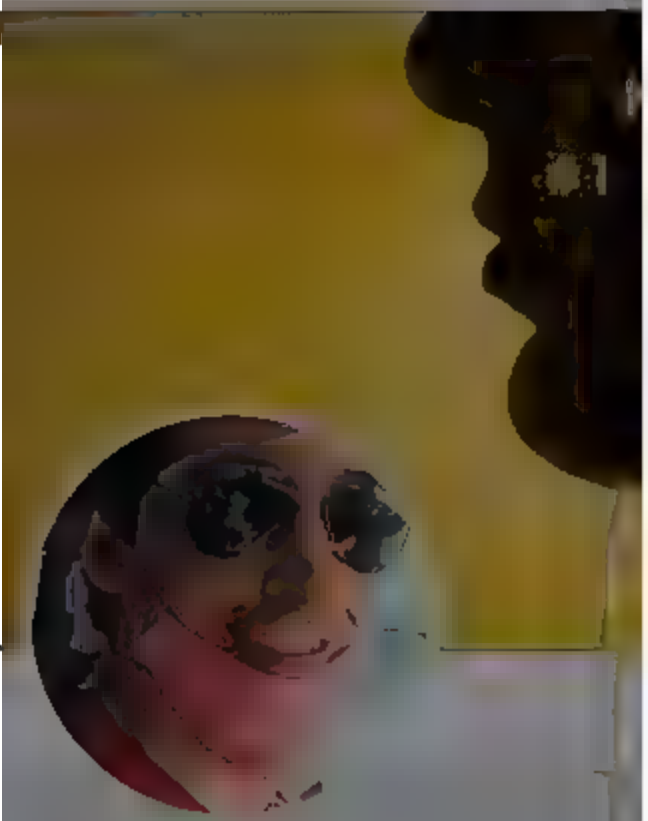
1 4 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 12 Mar 2019

The money line from the [illegible] piece: (and remarkable, considering where it ran): "On the left, in contrast, Baltimore's recent woes have been largely overlooked, partly because they present a challenge to those who start from the assumption that policing is inherently suspect."



4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Blair Gibbs @BlairG1bbs · 12 Mar 2019

Compare with a similar exercise in the UK, where as [redacted] has argued, the mental health risks have been more salient in media coverage for years (not always, rationally).

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

I knew the coverage was skewed but I didn't realize it was that bad. What about @bencareynyt? He wrote a piece about marijuana and schizophrenia after the book came out.

7:34 AM - 12 Mar 2019

2

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 12 Mar 2019

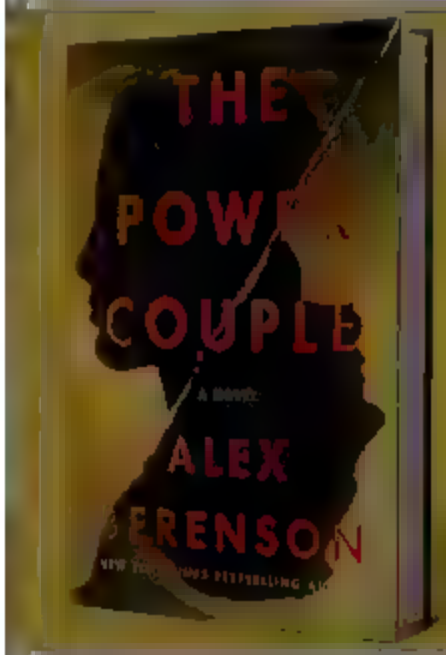
Replying to [redacted]

There were a lot of stories. So the lookback period ended in February. Most were neutral reporting (legislation, economics, etc). Some were ridiculously positive (smoke weed w your kid for better bonding). None were advisory about risk.

1

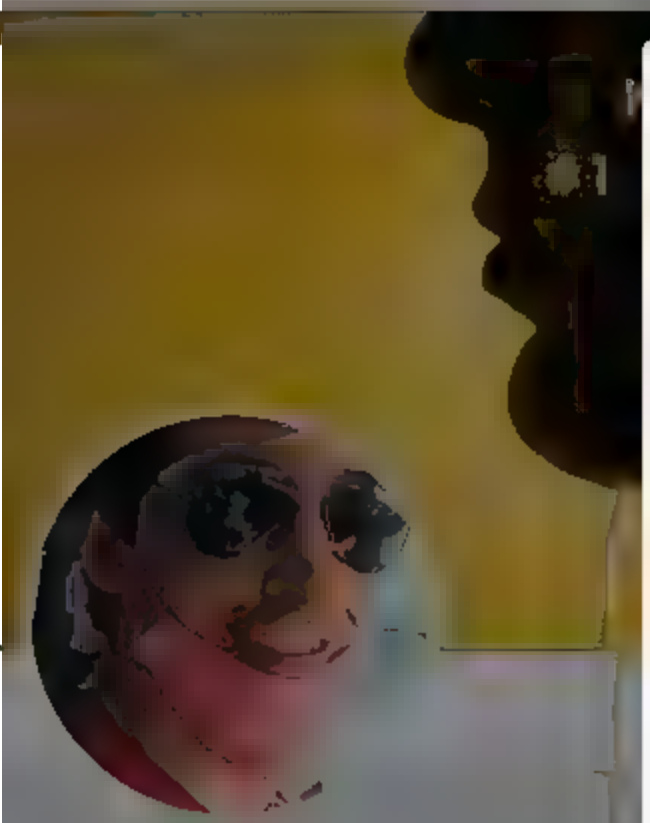
Blair Gibbs @BlairG1bbs · 12 Mar 2019

Thanks for doing this. Of course, plenty of reference to the medical side effects in the famous Indian Hemp Commission report of 1893 - and yet that panel still concluded in favour of regulation, taxation and controls. Both positions are compatible.



1

Dr Erik Messamore @ErikMessamoreMD · 12 Mar 2019

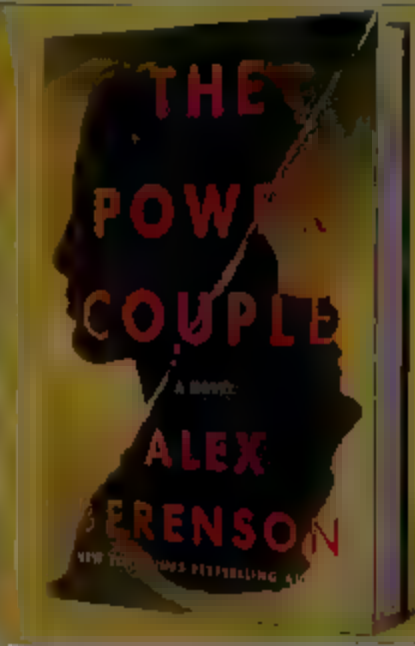


Replying to [redacted]

FYI, just finished a national survey and found:
- 75% of Americans believe that aspirin has potentially serious side effects
- 50% say that cannabis has no possible serious side effects

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Legalization dies in Minnesota... is stalled in New York and New Jersey... on the ropes in Connecticut. I wonder what's changed this year. Don't ask @npr or @washingtonpost, though.

7:26 PM - 11 Mar 2019

16 Retweets 43 Likes

13 16 43

wrong (and frequently am) @wrongfrequently · 11 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Reactionary backlash

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 11 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Thank God. Yet people will smoke it anyway.

2 1

Bruce Conners @bconners · 12 Mar 2019
That's right Diane. So you still don't want a northern wall right? Just one in the south? Even though Canada just legalized cannabis & it surely is pouring over the border into your state you don't want a wall there, right? Right over that unguarded border. Just one in the south?

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Amsterdam free for anyone to smoke in cannabis cafes's, tell why they haven't got mass knife-crime chaos? explain to me why They're shutting there prisons down,...

27 5 19

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Do you want to be the one to tell him that Dutch cannabis use rates among young adults are less than two-thirds US rates, or should I? If we could get rates down to Dutch levels, we might have some empty prisons too. (deleted and retweeted for grammar)

11:57 AM - 11 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 6 Likes

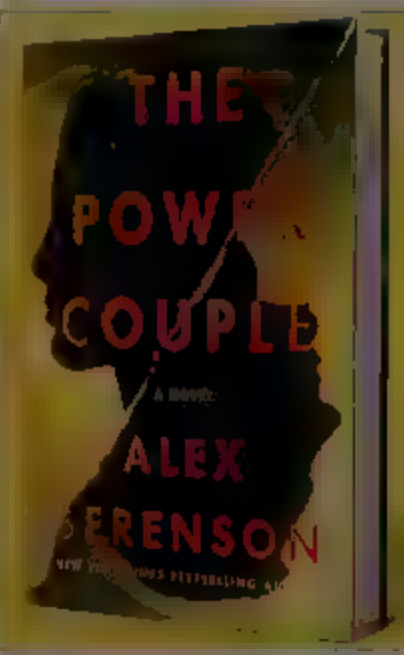
6 2 6

Mike Donington @BBUKMIKE · 11 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
your right since Cannabis has been tolerated use among ages of 10-18 in amsterdam has been falling ever since 2000

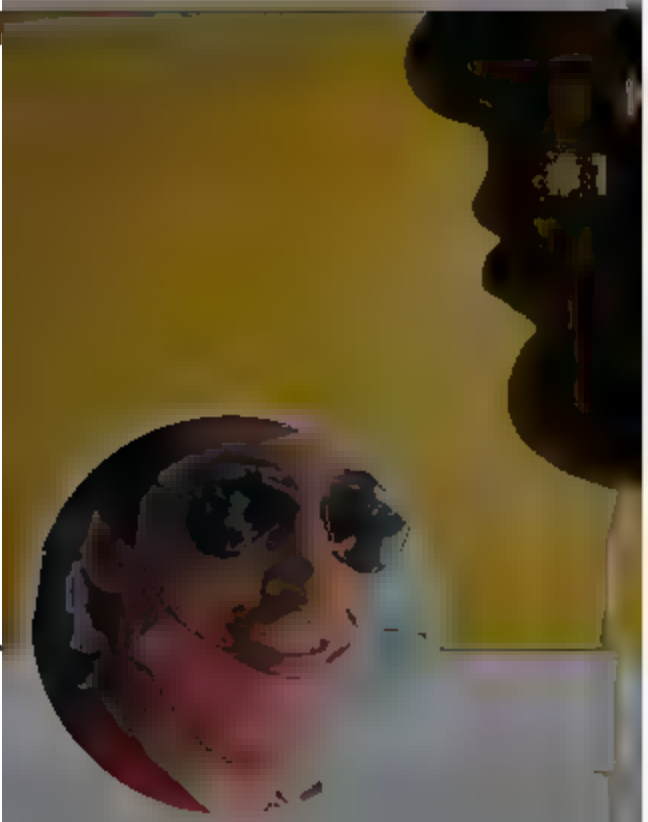
1 1



✚Faded @Aldridge25 · 11 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You just proved legalization is the way to go.

1 1 19

Gareth Harwood @Gareth_Harwood · 11 Mar 2019
Beat me to it, Thanks :)



1 2

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 11 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

...A hallucinating email (actually two - he was kind enough to respond to my questions) from a former Marine who fell into cannabis psychosis after 8 months of heavy use. He has since recovered. His description of the creeping...

4 3 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Why don't people know? Because legalizers and the industry have been lying about this issue - I usually say myth or misleading, but lie is the right word - for a generation. And my friends in the media have been too credulous/ideologically driven to call them out.

8:20 AM - 11 Mar 2019

6 Retweets 13 Likes

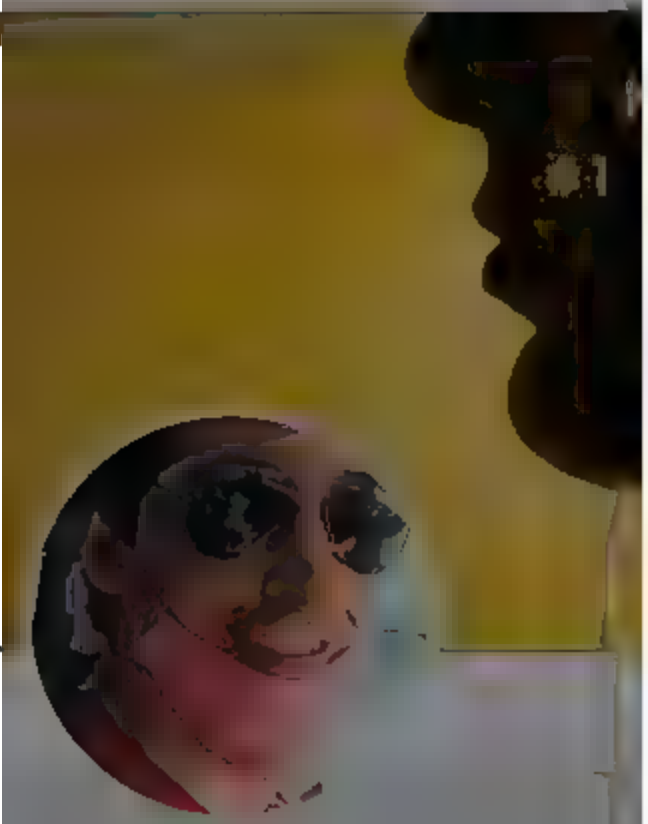
8 6 13

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 11 Mar 2019
Replying to

Yes, they are lying because they want their freedom to use without fear of any possible problems. They're completely devious, and devious to come after teens and college students to join their agenda.

1 5

Woodshedding Toe-tapper @WSTTVT · 11 Mar 2019
I'd be happy with a system that allowed adults freedom to simply grow and use on their own property. I still cannot legally purchase cannabis seeds in our country. That is a problem. We still have a ways to go until anyone can safely



2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5 8 18

Erin Arvedlund @erinarvedlund · 11 Mar 2019
is CBD considered a treatment for PTSD?

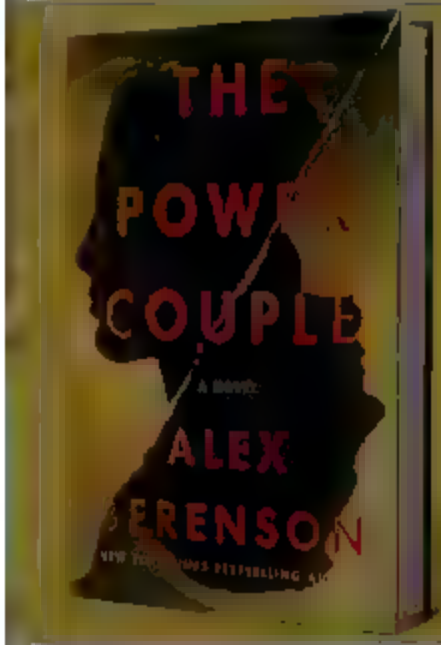
2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

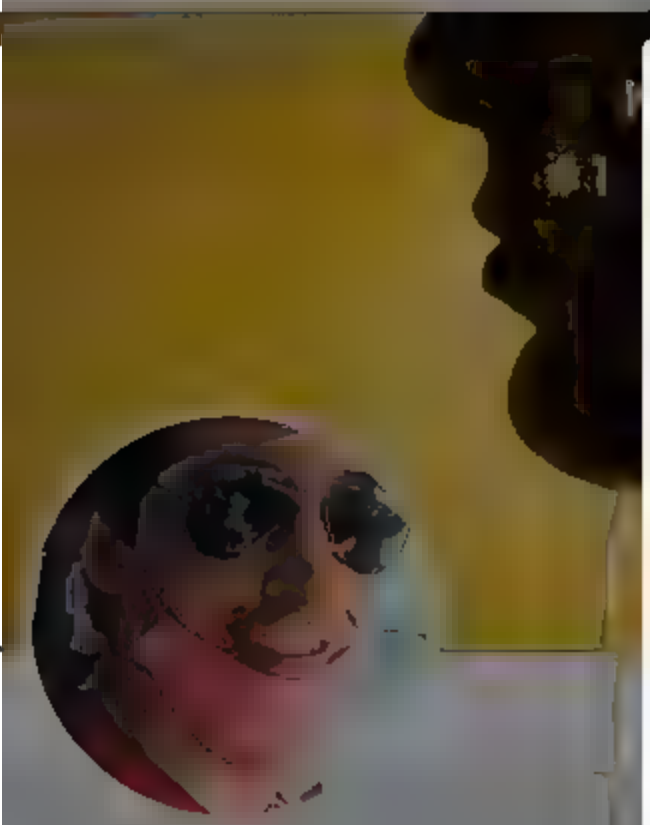
It's marketed for PTSD despite evidence charitably described as limited. More disturbing is that many states call PTSD a condition that qualifies for medical authorizations despite some evidence cannabis worsens PTSD (no surprise, given its known psychiatric side effects).

7:51 AM - 11 Mar 2019

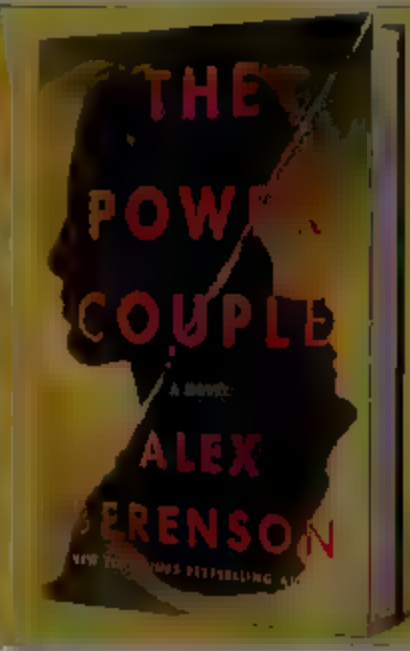


1 Like

2 1



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 11 Mar 2019
Replying to
And people who have been helped by cannabis they should die of an opioid of thanks a lot alex



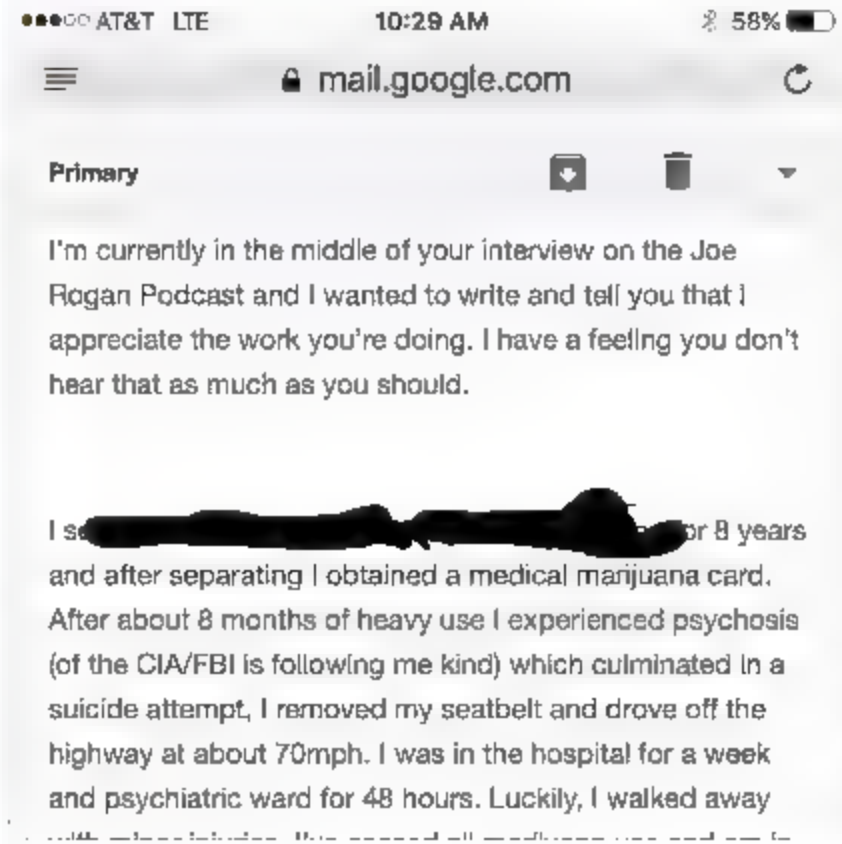
Bruce Conners @bconners · 11 Mar 2019
Replying to
Have many vets have you talked to about this AI?

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



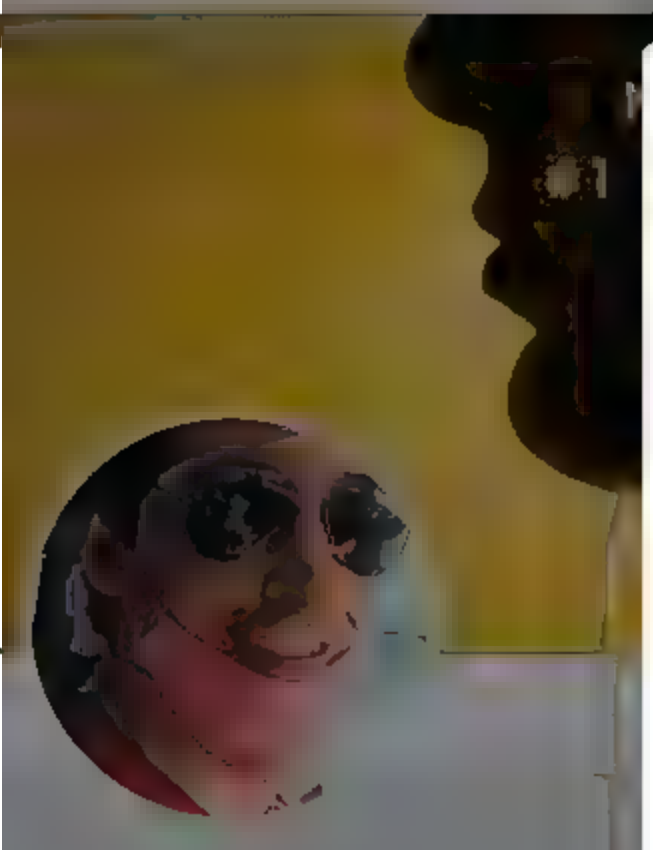
New York

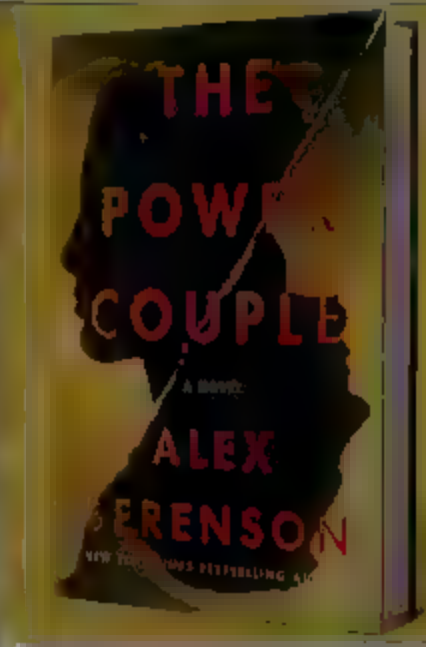
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

A fascinating email (actually two - he was kind enough to respond to my questions) from a former Marine who fell into cannabis psychosis after 8 months of heavy use. He has since recovered. His description of the creeping descent into psychosis is particularly striking.





7:36 AM - 11 Mar 2019

8 Retweets 18 Likes

5 8 18

Mental Illness Policy Org @MentalIllPolicy · 10 Mar 2019

.@AlexBerenson On [illegible], Tulsi said states with legalized marijuana had fewer opioid deaths. Is it true? Does it offset increased traffic deaths (and understand if you don't know off top of head).

2 1 2

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible]

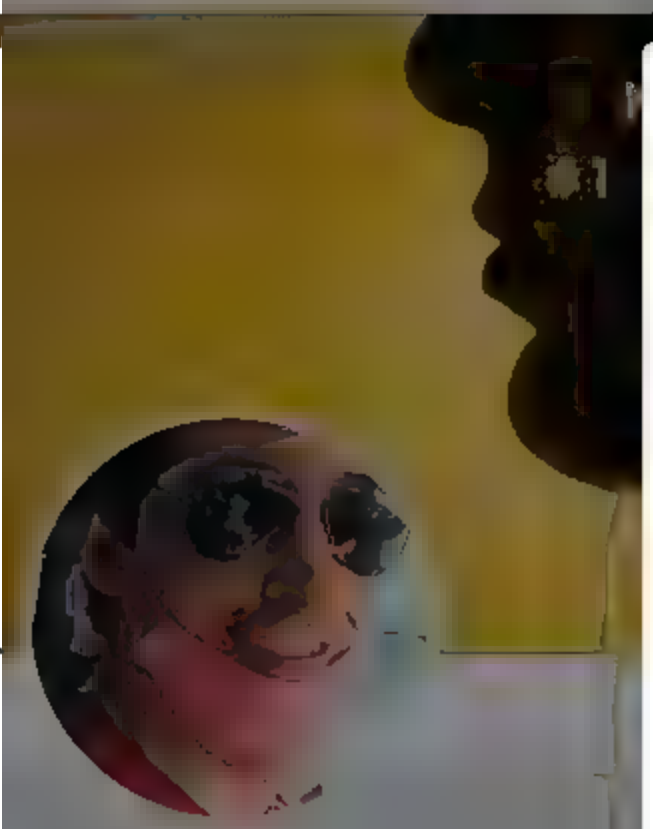
Hard to know exactly what he claimed without seeing it but the short answer is, no, not true. I go into this issue in the book and even more data has emerged since.

6:11 PM - 10 Mar 2019

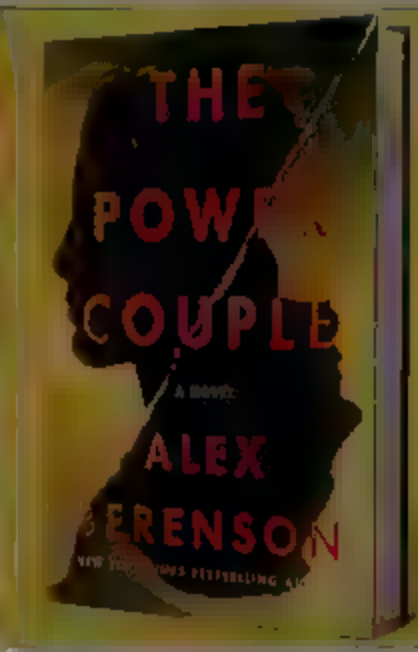
2 Likes

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Looks like the Chinese FAA is a little concerned about the correlation-causation thing. I'm sure the cannabis lobby can sort them out...

> Flightradar24 @flightradar24
> China's civil aviation administration has grounded Chinese-operated #737MAX aircraft. According to our database, this action affects 13 airlines and nearly 100 individual aircraft....
> Show this thread

8:07 PM - 10 Mar 2019

6 Likes

5 6

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 10 Mar 2019
Replying to
Does China FAA follow your twitter account? Just saw the breaking news on TV. BTW, I'm concerned. I take those planes from SWF-SNN a lot.

1

ya boy Deej @deejtweetsgood · 10 Mar 2019
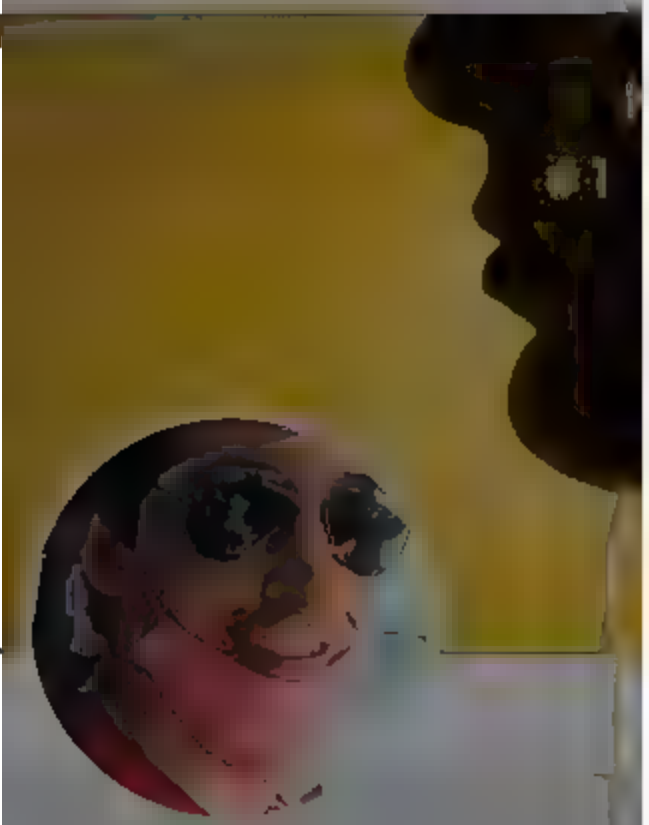
Replying to Really owning cannabis advocates with these tweets about airplanes

1 1



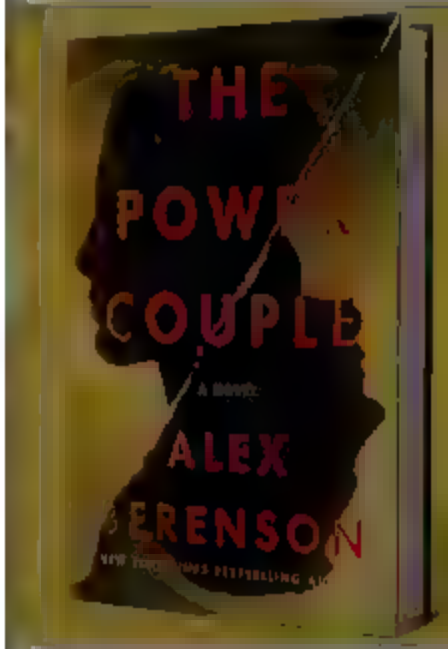
Joseph Drum @JDrum84 · 11 Mar 2019
This guy wants to be taken seriously but is very clearly a twitter troll. He spends his entire day "owning" cannabis advocates on here.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

1/ Interesting tweet from marijuana newsletter publisher @tomangell: only 44% of Iowa Dem caucus-goers - a very left-leaning group (65% favor the Green New Deal!) support national legalization of cannabis. Another 33% support "steps" to legalization, whatever that means.

807 Following 19.5K Followers

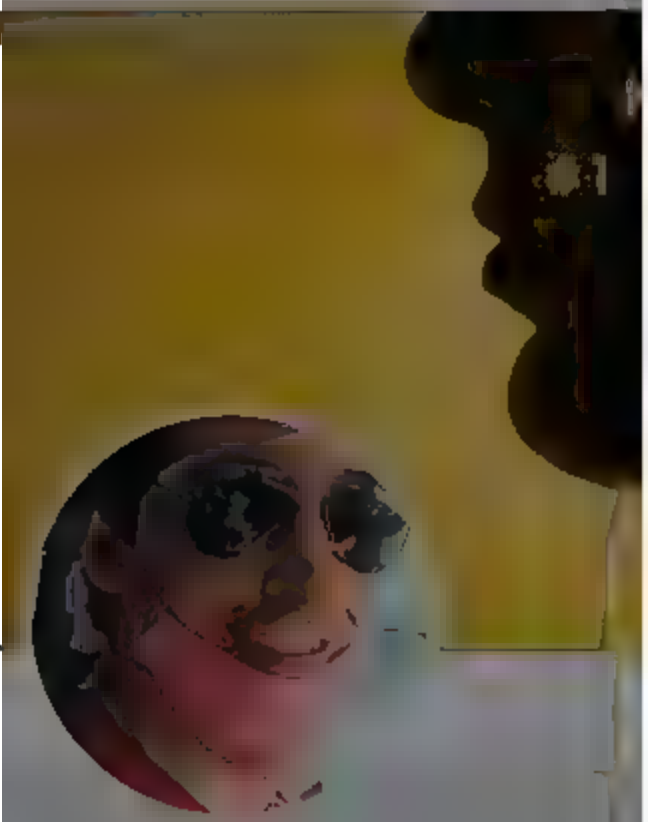
Tweets Tweets & replies Media Likes

Tom Angell @tomangell · 4h

Poll of likely Iowa Democratic caucusgoers:

44% prefer a presidential candidate who fully supports legalizing marijuana nationwide



33% want one who supports steps toward legal cannabis

16% want a candidate who does not support legalization

4:27 PM - 10 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 13 Likes

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

16% want a candidate who does not support legalization

9 3 13

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ I've grown to believe the polls overstate support for legalization bc they usually frame it as a yes/no and don't offer a middle option such as decriminalization. Voters don't want anyone jailed for possession, but they don't necessarily want a marijuana industry either.

4:30 PM - 10 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 23 Likes

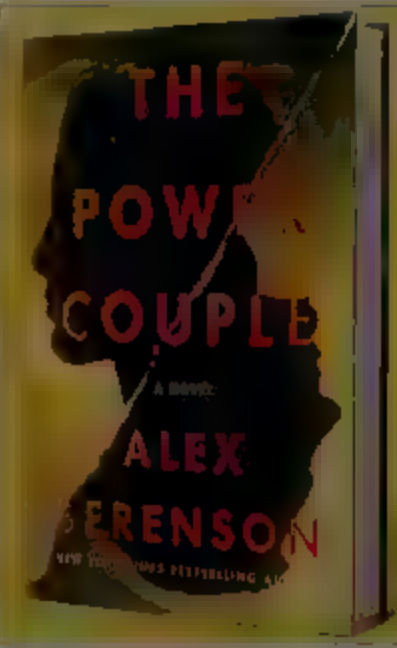
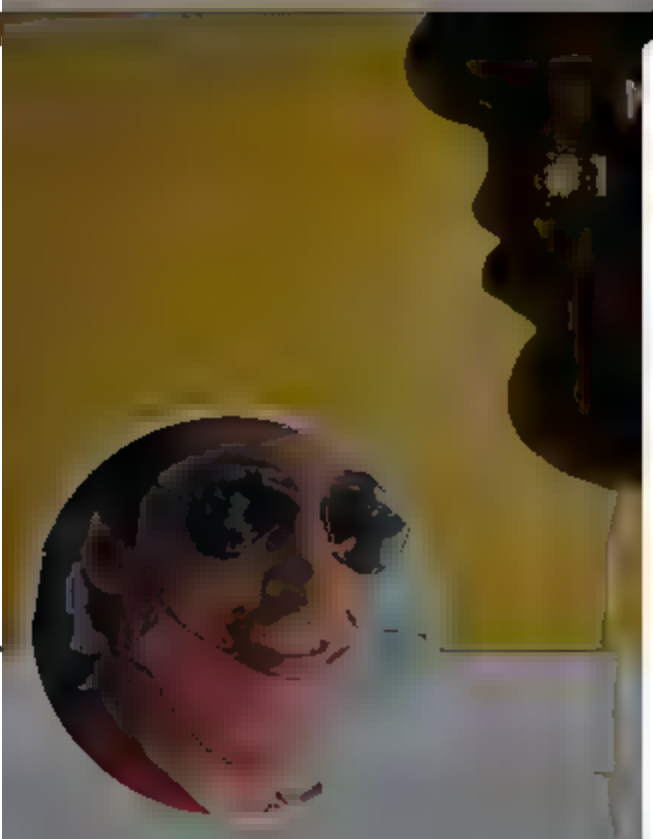
12 3 23

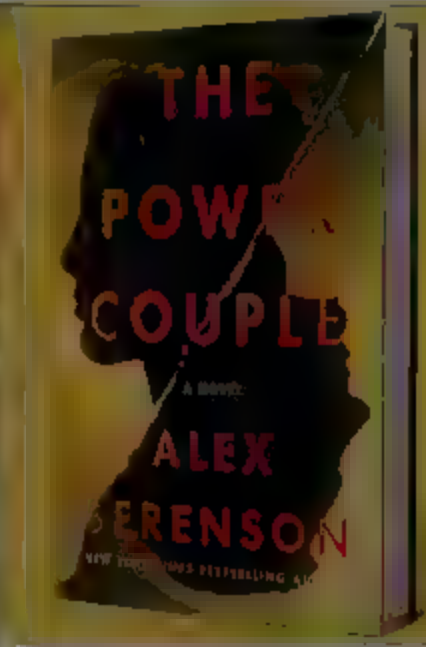


Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 10 Mar 2019
Replying to
Support for legalization is "a mile wide and an inch deep."

1 3



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 10 Mar 2019
Replying to
Decrim is not any option. We are law abiding, productive citizens who will have the same rights as the wine consumer. Kevin's fake policy never explains that people will be arrested buying/selling and be forced into rehab over jail. You feast on a new banquet of lies.



'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 10 Mar 2019
Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

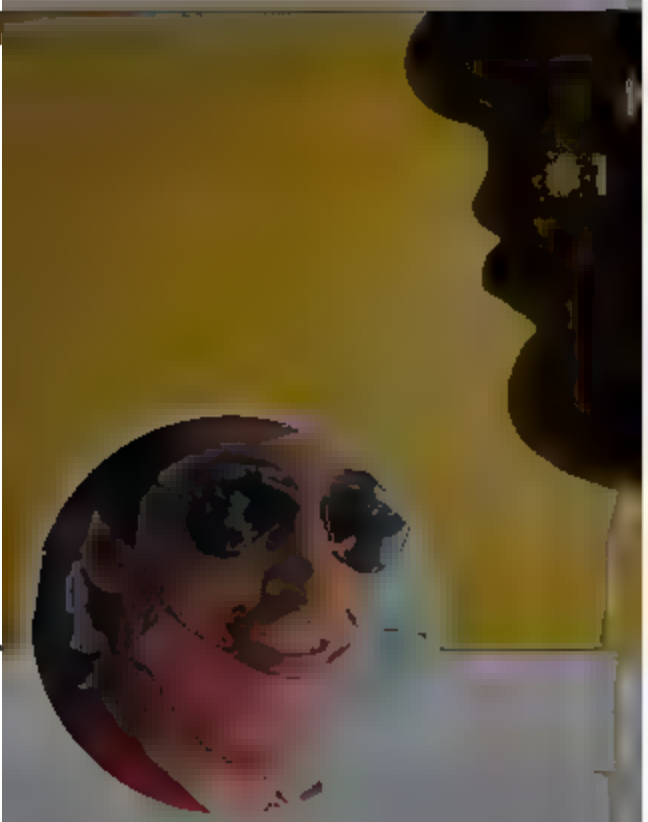
Replying to

Barsky, I'm reporting you to @msg! Wait, that's what you want, isn't it? This is a desperate measure to break your addiction to blowing hedge-fund loot on lousy basketball.

2:47 PM - 10 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 10 Mar 2019
Your glee at the death of innocent people is appalling. AND it fails to make your point.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

You know what's appalling? That the US loses the equivalent of at least one full 737 a week to homicides, suicides, and RTAs with a clear cannabis link - that would be called alcohol-caused if the drug were ETOH and not THC - and people like you either don't know or don't care.

1:04 PM - 10 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

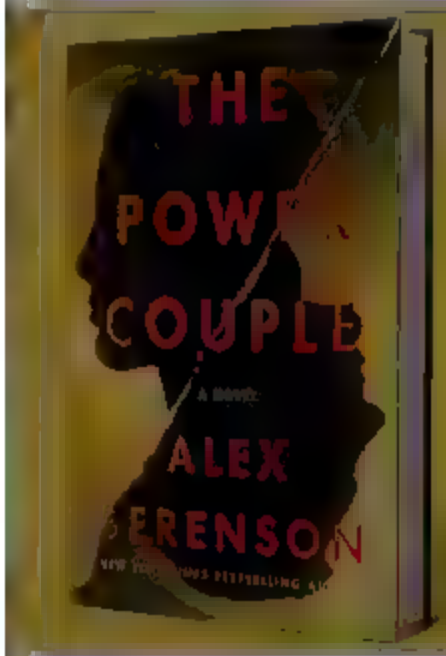
7 2 7

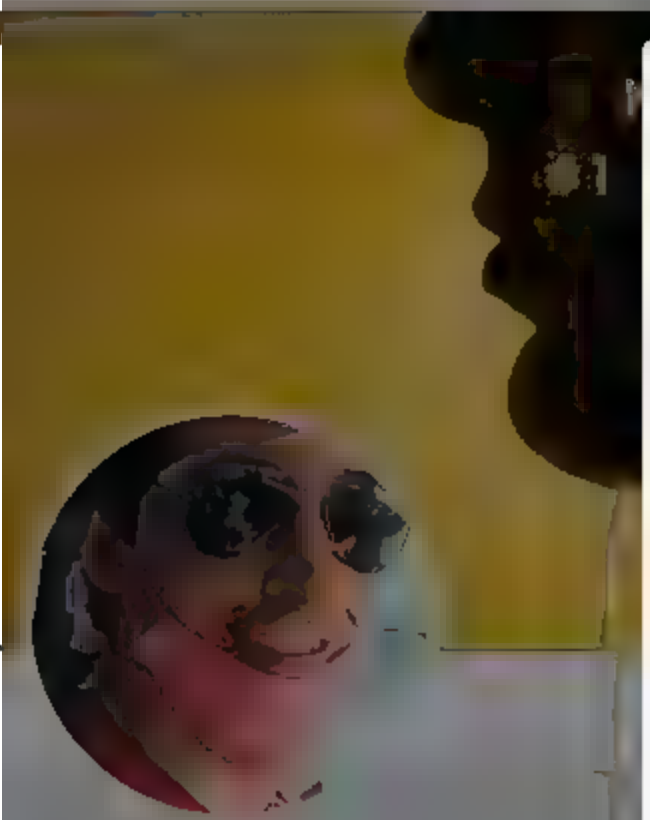
Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 10 Mar 2019
Replying to

I agree with you that we don't know enough about the downside of marijuana legalization.



But it's such a huge jump from that to the assertion that anything bad that happens to a person with THC in their system is BECAUSE there's THC in their system.

2

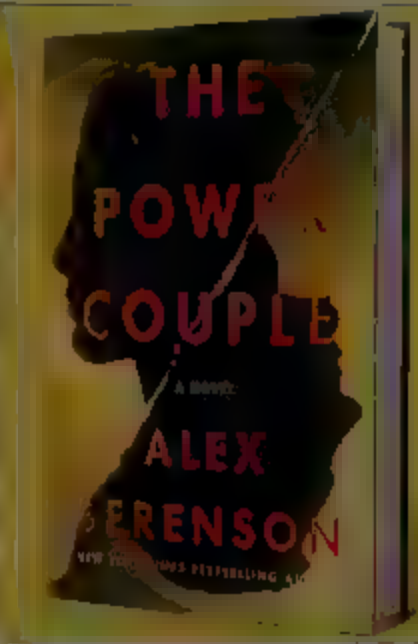


ChristineTatum @ChristineTatum · 10 Mar 2019
Who is this "WE?" YOU don't know enough about the down side of marijuana legalization — and NOW you tell us? After all of all of this advocacy of yours that is so clearly divorced from the realities of science? Haaaa! Do go on, Professor. This is fascinating.

2 2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Two new 737 Max jets down in fine weather in 3 months; the Max differs notably from earlier 737s. But we all know correlation isn't causation. So let's not even examine what might be wrong. And let's accuse anyone who raises the question of Max Madness!

google.com/amp/s/www.nyti ..

12:19 PM - 10 Mar 2019

12 Likes

6 12

Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 10 Mar 2019

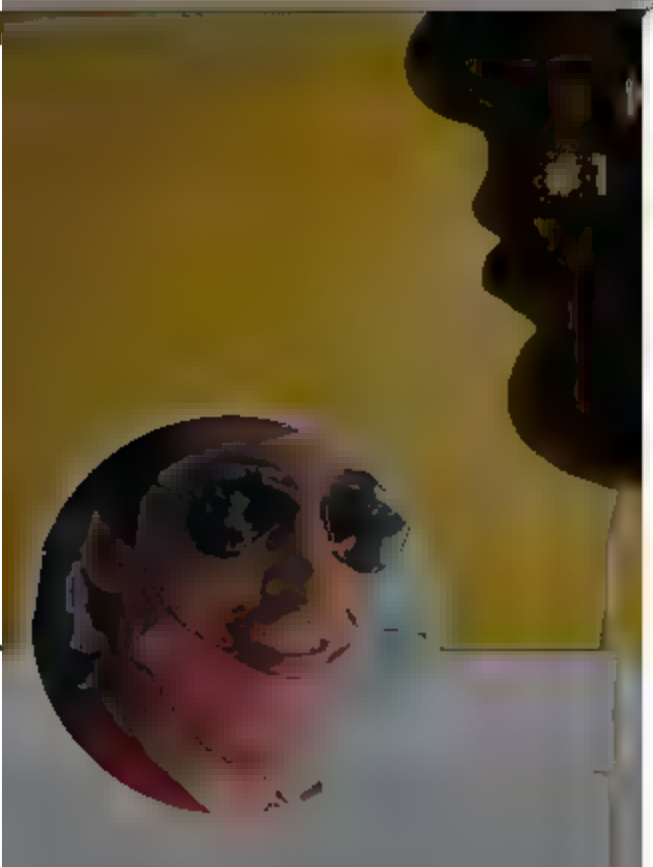
Replying to

Your glee at the death of innocent people is appalling. AND it fails to make your point.

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 10 Mar 2019

You know what's appalling? That the US loses the equivalent of at least one full 737 a week to homicides, suicides, and RTAs with a clear cannabis link - that would be called alcohol-caused if the drug were ETOH and not THC - and people like you either don't know or don't care.



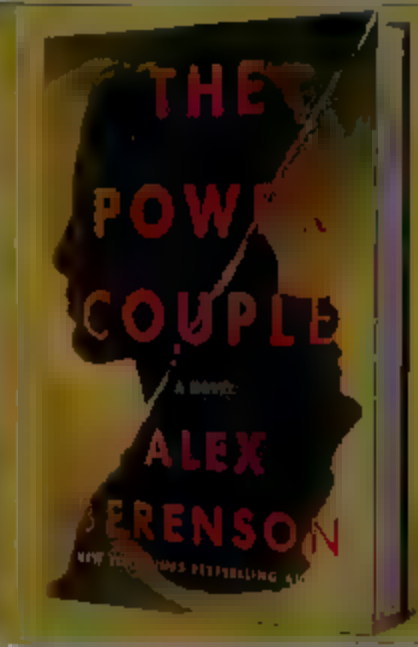
7 2 7

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 10 Mar 2019

Replying to

U get more&more desperate 2 dial back the professional repudiation your reefer madness hysteria has garnered. I think u need mental health counseling. Tap

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

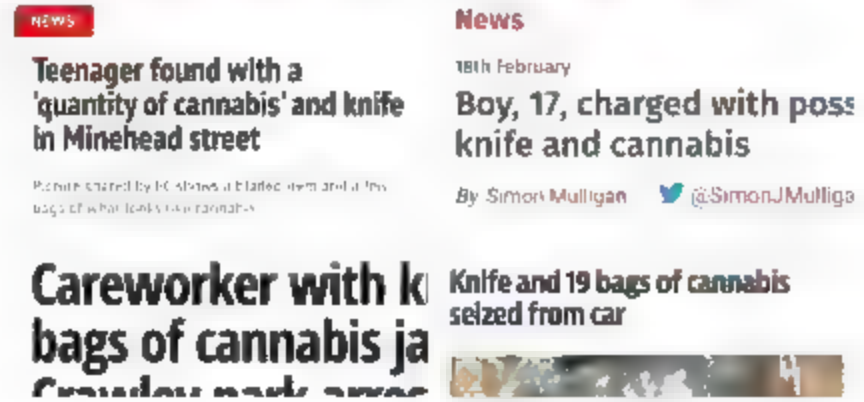
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Cannabis trolls, you really need to work together better. Is the goal to question the cannabis-crime link, or mockingly prove it?

@AlexBerenson

Do you have any facts to back up your idea that pot smokers are responsible for these stabbings .?
My guess is the answer is no .

Mike Donington @BBUKMIKE · 7m
Replying to @AlexBerenson and @ClarkeMicah

Stab stab stab, sell sell sell

NEWS

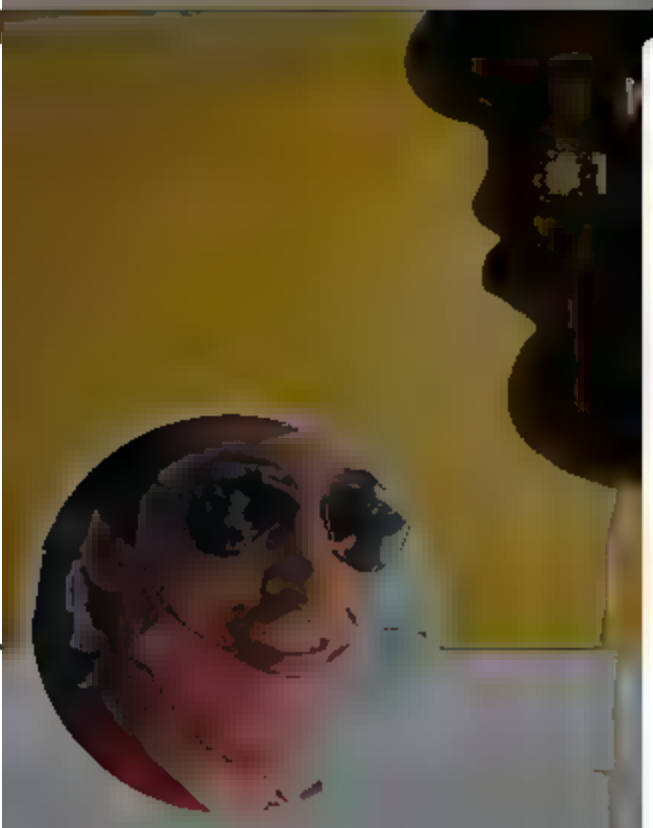
Teenager found with a 'quantity of cannabis' and knife in Minehead street

News

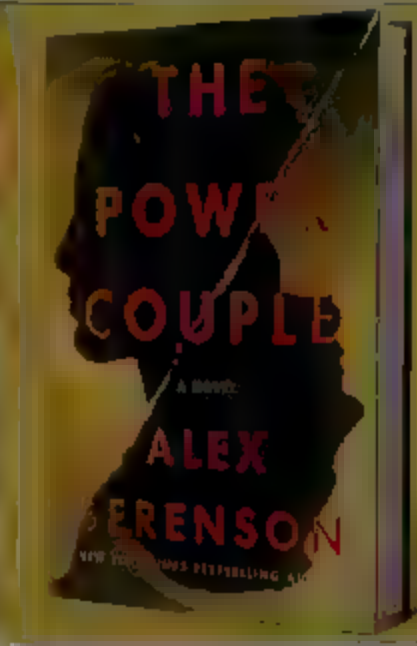
18th February

Boy, 17, charged with poss knife and cannabis

By Simon Mulligan @SimonJMulliga



Careworker with k bags of cannabis ja



Knife and 19 bags of cannabis seized from car

6:44 AM - 10 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 14 Likes

6 2 14

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Britain is going through an awful wave of knife crime. I suspect @ClarkeMicah is partly right about the cause; but suspicions aren't enough. Where's the data? Why don't police routinely test homicide/agg assault arrestees for THC (and other drugs)? dailymail.co.uk/news/article-6 ..

5:14 AM - 10 Mar 2019

11 Retweets 19 Likes

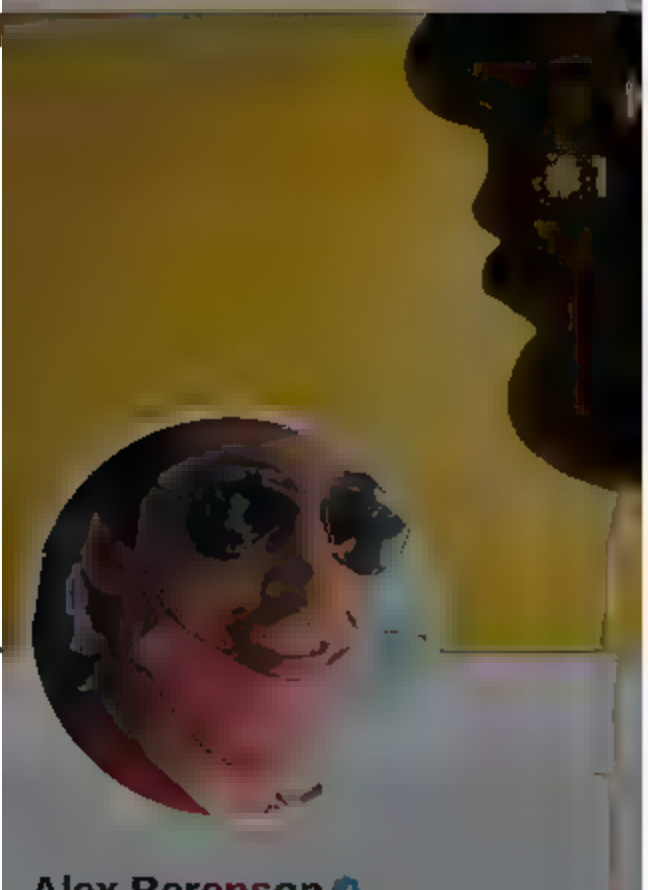
2 11 19

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 10 Mar 2019

Replying to

"And almost all of those who go out and kill someone with a blade will turn out, once the investigation is over, to be a long-term user of marijuana, no longer wholly sane or wholly civilised. Its widespread use is the only significant social change in this country."



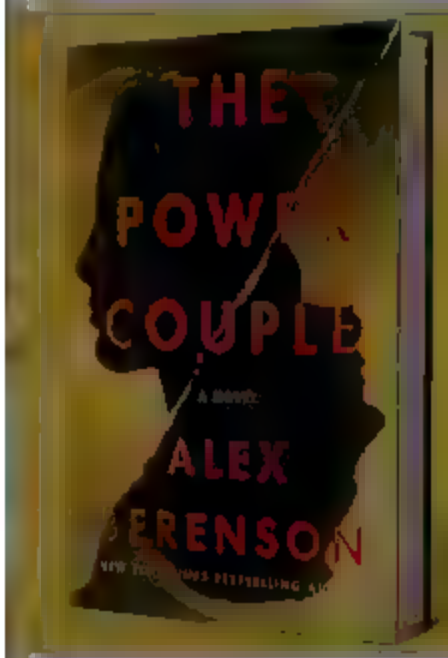
1 2 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

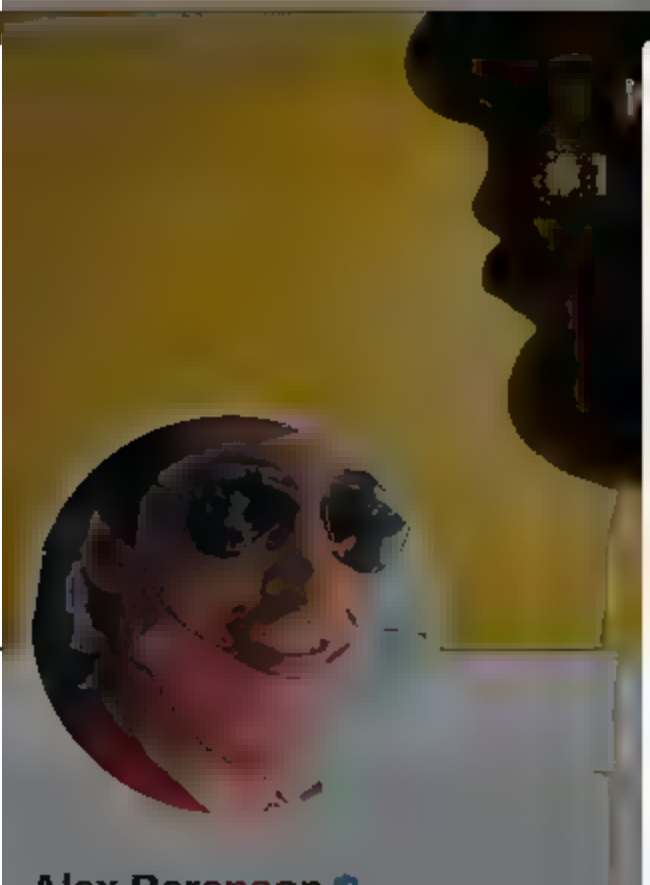
Replying to

Homicides in Canada went up 30 percent from 2013-2017, as the drug became quasi-legal and extracts became common. Thanks for asking.

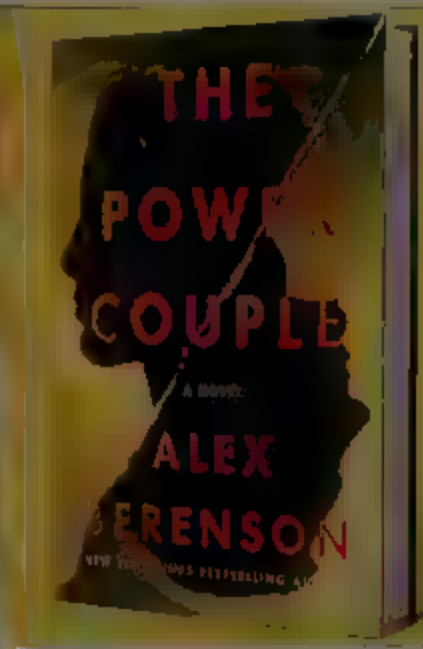
6:27 AM - 10 Mar 2019

1 Like

2 1



Mike Donington @BBUKMIKE · 10 Mar 2019



Replying to

What are you going on about Cannabis was only legalised on the 17th October 2018 and even then the number of users where unchanged 🤮🤮🤮

Number of Canadian cannabis users relatively unchanged since legalization, StatsCan says

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Thu., Feb. 7, 2019

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

In 10 minutes on @BookTV - my talk with @john_walters_ about TYC - enjoy! c-span.org/video/?458355-...

2:22 PM - 9 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 9 Likes

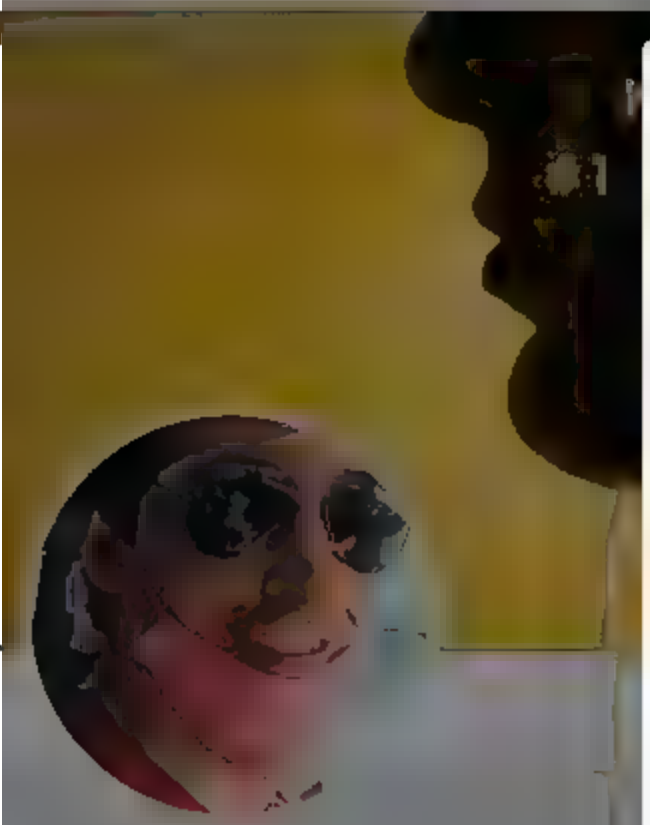
4 1 9

mog1717 @mog1717 · 9 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Just finished watching your CSPAN talk w/ [redacted] ordered the book online.

1



Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 16 Mar 2019
[redacted]

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Order his other books he had more books

This Tweet is unavailable.

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 16 Mar 2019
His book is largely discredited by people who do the work he cites. He doesnt "get" causation vs correlation. Here is an acclaimed compendium of peer-reviewed data explaining how marijuana lowers prodisease influences&risks4cancers&Alzheimers&type2diabetes

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

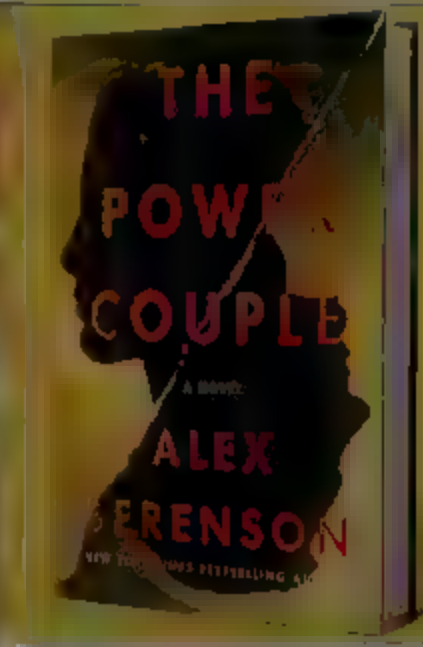
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just another non-violent Oregon cannabis grower who nonviolently psychotically beat his girlfriend to death.
Cannabis (in this case along with cocaine and ketamine - great job, FDA!) causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.



11:11 AM - 9 Mar 2019

13 Retweets 25 Likes

11 13 25

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 9 Mar 2019
Replying to
You neglected to mention the alcohol and buspirone.

1 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

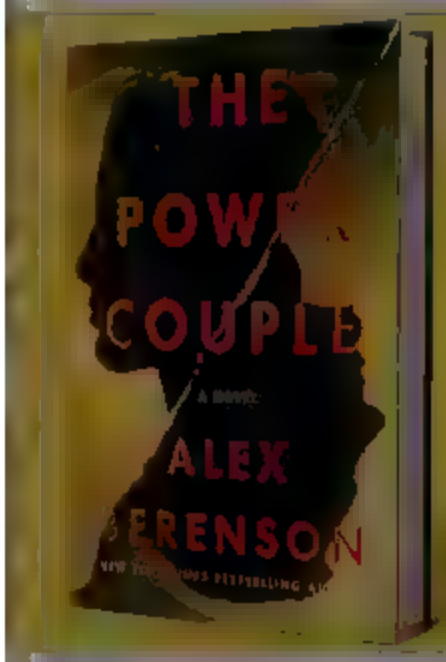
That's right. Just me and the trial testimony describing her post-arrest interview. And no, it wasn't laced with anything synthetic. They checked. Please stop wasting my time.

Rachel Murphy @RMurphyWKTV · Dec 10

He come backs in and tells her he asks more questions for her. He asks he when the last time she drank. She says no. He asks how about marijuana. She says well to tell the truth. She says something sbout smoking.

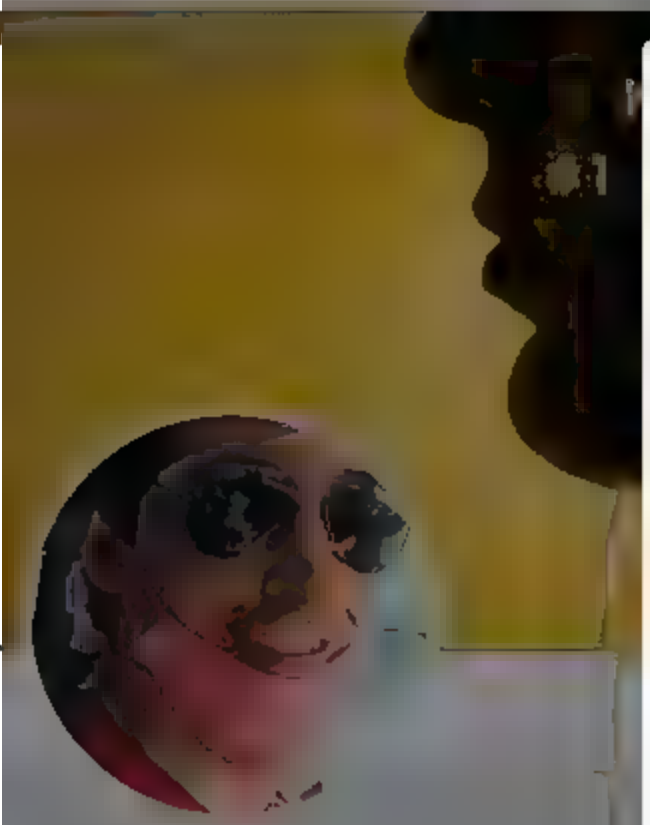
1 1 1

Rachel Murphy @RMurphyWKTV · Dec 10



She says she has smoked with her dad. She asks her if she has in the past two or three days marijuana or synthetic marijuana. She pauses and says yes. He asks her synthetic or something else she says she's not sure.

1 1 1



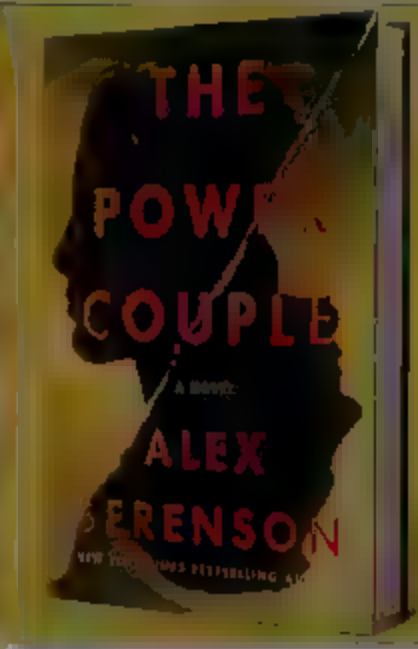
Rachel Murphy @RMurphyWKTV · Dec 10

He asks her if she would consent to have her blood tested she says yes. She asks her to tell him what she was wearing during the murder she tells him shorts and a gray shirt

2:44 PM - 8 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Very excited to be coming to Colorado on March 19/20 for events in Denver and Colorado Springs. Hope to see you there. Maybe @denverpost will even see fit to cover TYC for a change (hey, not like I worked there!)...

1:32 PM - 8 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 22 Likes

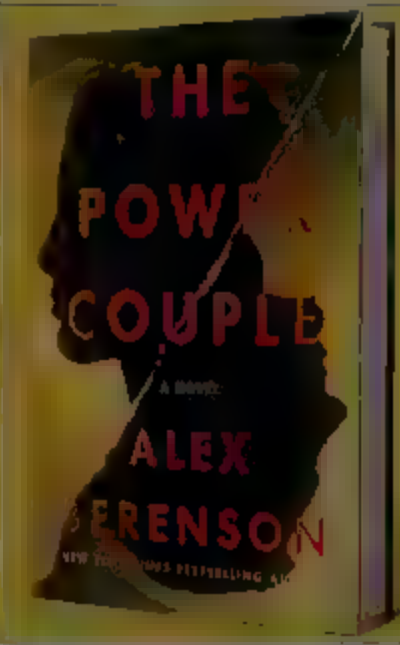
5 3 22

Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 8 Mar 2019

Replying to

Colorado knows about the problem of neurotoxic chemical practices, like Eagle 20, in some cannabis cultivations. Maybe can ask you about how

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

In New Jersey, @NJSenTurner - one of the crucial Democratic swing votes - announces she's opposed to recreational legalization...

9:55 AM - 8 Mar 2019

8 Retweets 29 Likes

10 8 29

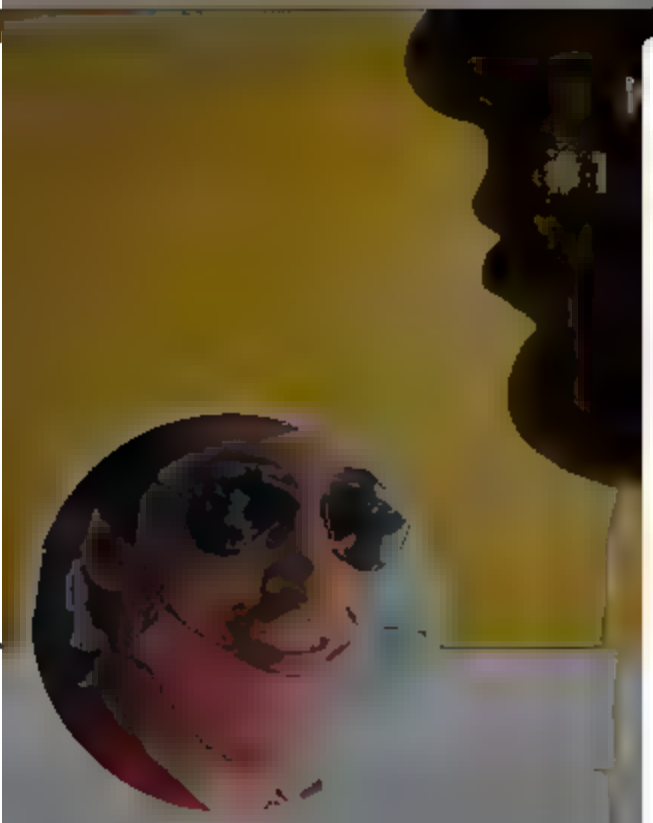
Xeno (Linhart) Rasmusson, B.A., M.S., Ph.D. @iXeno · 8 Mar 2019
Replying to

"recreational legalization" is pretty vague - do you mean "adult personal use of cannabis?" , maybe try decriminaization first and see how that goes... save money on prisons and earmark the funds for drug rehab. Target rehab for opiates which kill, and then meth...

1 3

This Tweet is unavailable.

Truth @josephnyc74 · 9 Mar 2019
Replying to



ure old, outdated view is just going to imprison more young black man. Very smart girl! People are already using so why not allow to benefit from the tax revenue to go to education and reducing peoples property taxes?

1 1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Mar 2019
Replying to

Corrupt let's have a citizens vote

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Fascinating piece here from psychiatrist @ErikMessamoreMD on the evidence that 19th century doctors were well aware that cannabis could cause psychosis. It wasn't just George Ewens in India - the risk was discussed over and over in medical textbooks.

9:30 AM - 8 Mar 2019

19 Retweets 34 Likes

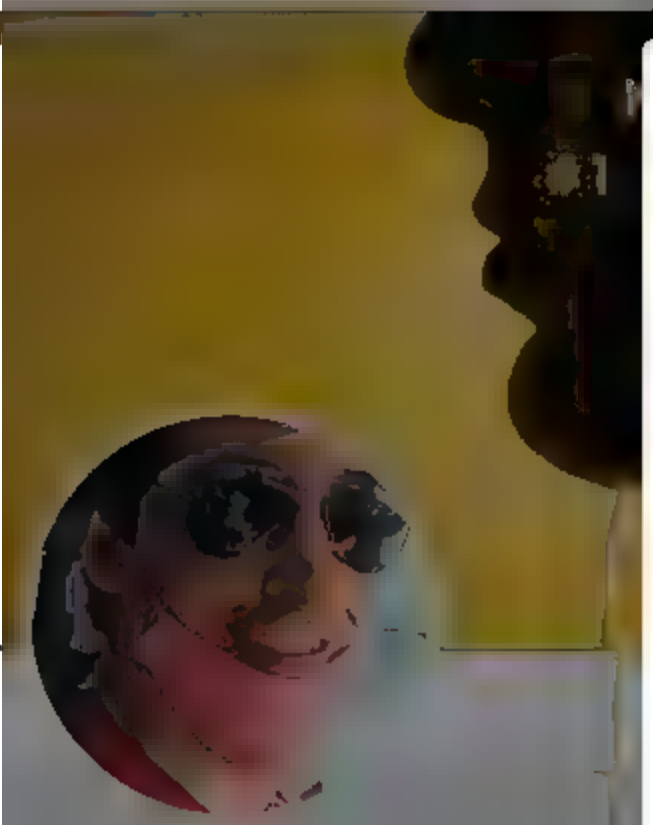
4 19 34



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 8 Mar 2019

Replying to

"Astonishingly, there are no laws that require them [the cannabis industry] to talk

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Terrible case in Utica, NY: A former Howard U. student falls into psychosis, stabs her mother "hundreds" of times. The jury rejects her insanity defense. She'll serve 22 years. What's the tox screen show? THC.

Cannabis causes psychosis causes violence.

6:50 AM - 8 Mar 2019

18 Retweets 26 Likes

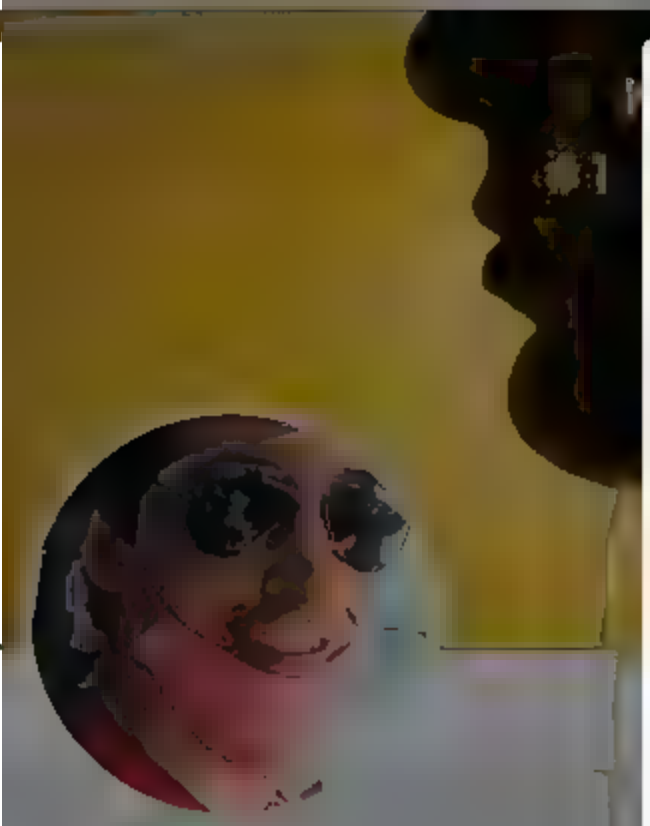
8 18 26

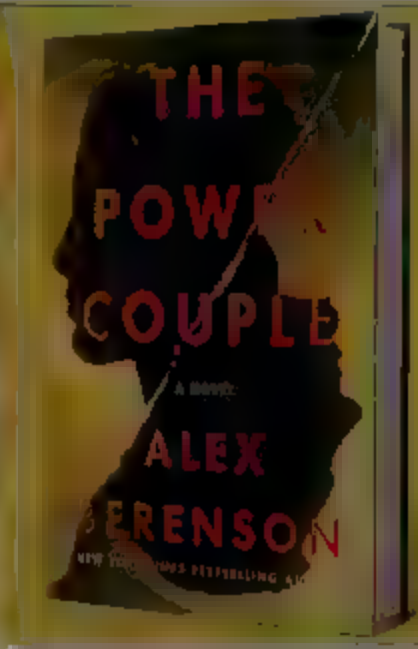


Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 8 Mar 2019

Replying to

Was the cannabis grown with neurotoxic pesticides, herbicides, heavy metals,

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I know, you'll want a source, or one of the idiots will, so have at it:

cdc.gov/nchs/nvss/vsrr ...

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
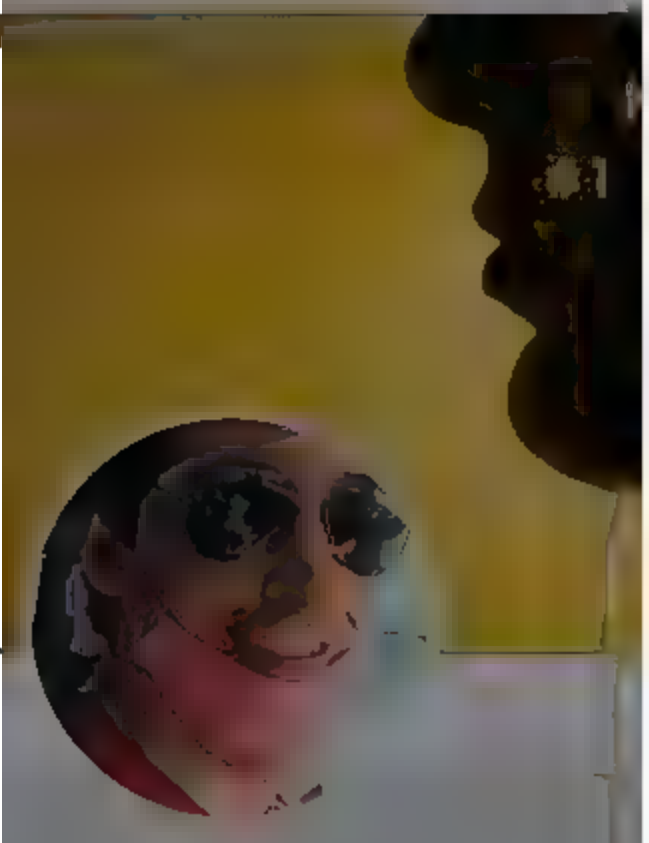
> Replying to @lpnyofficial @PennyWatrasDana and 2 others
> That sounds great. It's completely untrue - CDC data show that Maine and Oregon rank 4 and 5 in percentage increase in opioid deaths in the last 12 months, and WA/MA/CA are in the top 20 - but it SOUNDS great.

5:00 PM - 7 Mar 2019

7 Likes



3 7

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 7 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
What are you on?

This Tweet is unavailable.

Krista Hill @dancelikecarmen · 8 Mar 2019
Stoned, battered addicted brains will defend their lotus to the death. Alex is trying to save developing teen brains from serious damage that will affect our work force and social fabric for generations. Regulate and tax the crap out of it! We'll need the funds to offset injury!

[illegible]

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Because in states like Colorado, pot is taxed as high as 23 percent, and is heavily regulated (our 2018 gubernatorial nominee [illegible] called for pot to be regulated 'like onions'). In spite of such policies, in states where marijuana is legal, opioid abuses have plummeted.

2 1

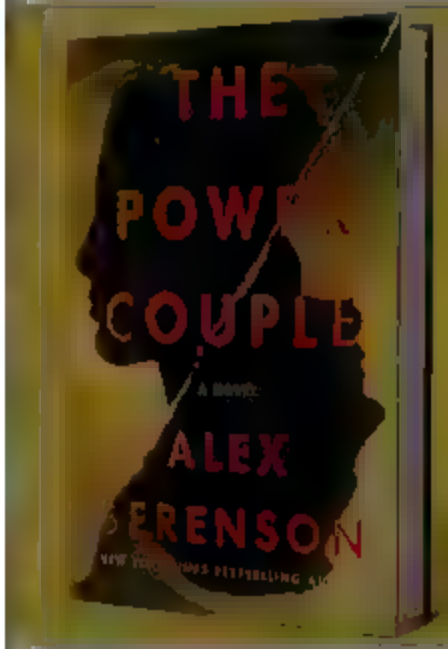
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible] and 2 others

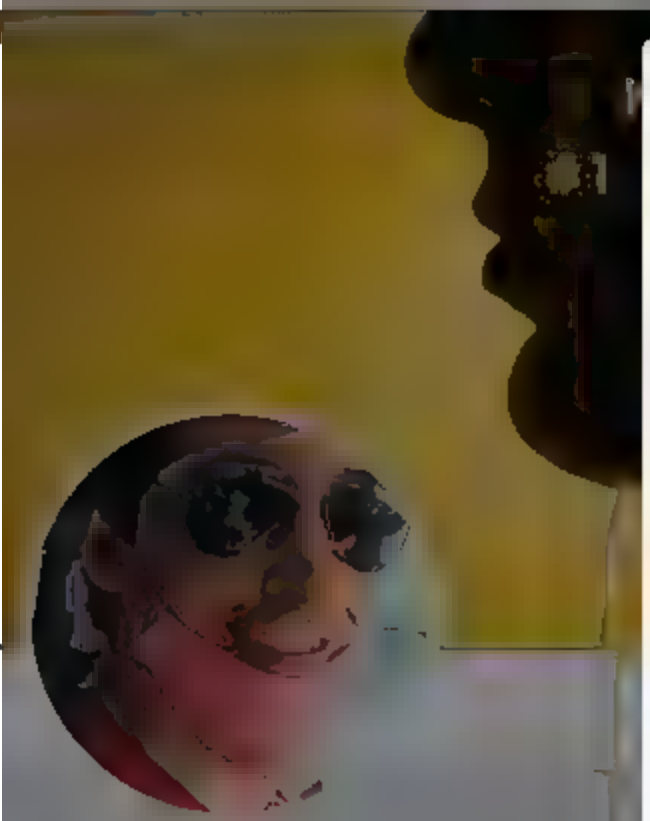
That sounds great. It's completely untrue - CDC data show that Maine and Oregon rank 4 and 5 in percentage increase in opioid deaths in the last 12 months, and WA/MA/CA are in the top 20 - but it SOUNDS great.

4:57 PM - 7 Mar 2019

1 Like



4 1

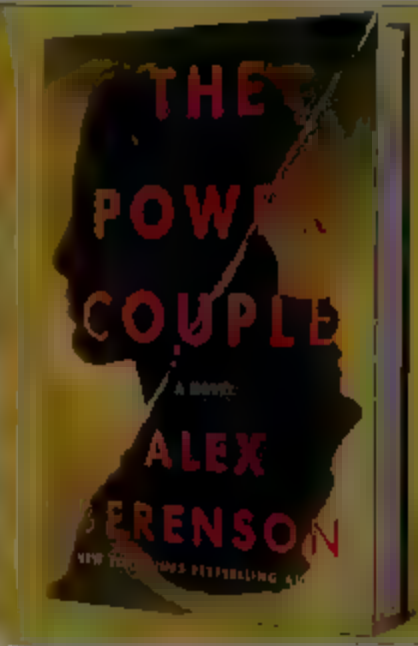


Libertarian Party of New York @lpnyofficial · 7 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible] and 2 others
So misleading! There. Are. No. Legal. Dispensaries. In. Maine! Even though voters approved of recreational marijuana in 2016, the state still has yet to establish regulations for dispensaries. The fact is, states with med + rec marijuana have fewer opioid-related hospitalizations

2 1

Randy Philbrick @PDXRandyLee · 8 Mar 2019
I cannot speak for Maine, but Oregon saw an increase of opioid hospitalizations starting in '03 well after "Medical" legalization. We started seeing a slight decline in 2009 well before recreational legalization.

joe mid @2000lbsofmid · 8 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible] and 2 others
A more telling set than change over the last 12 months would be the 12 months before and after major changes in legal status of marijuana. There haven't been any major developments over the past 12 months, so percent increases don't



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Say my name, say my name...

> Peter Grinspoon MD @Peter_Grinspoon
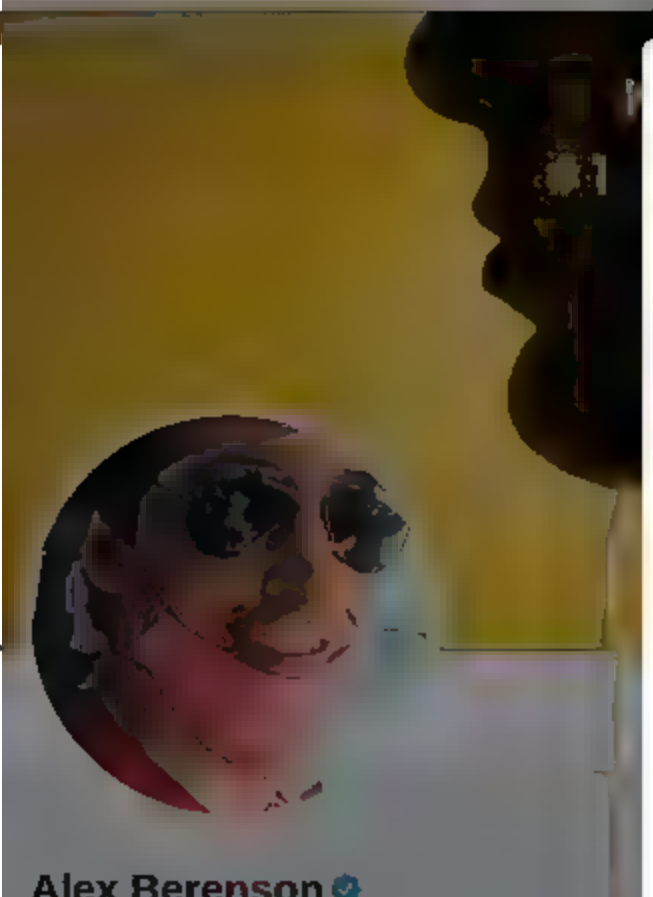
> Wonder if this is part of Trump Admin's leaked PR campaign against #cannabis? Or, just @UsaToday being used by shameless people who want to sell books by peddling fear? What nonsense...safer than many, likely most of the drugs I prescribe as a PCP...

11:17 AM - 7 Mar 2019

4 Likes

3 4



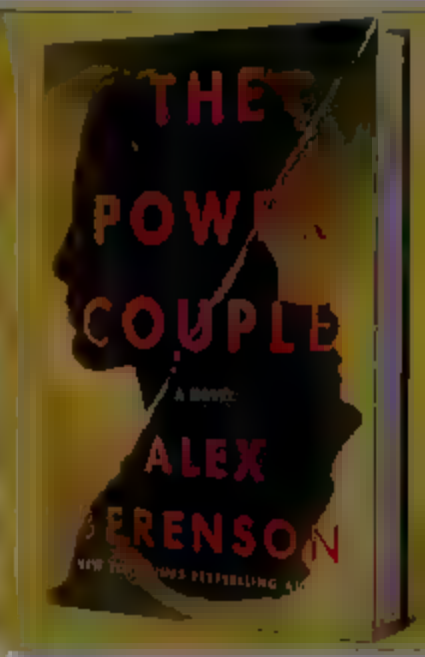
Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 7 Mar 2019
Replying to
Why promote the discredited? Ziva Cooper say her name!

Curious Green @iamcuriousgreen · 7 Mar 2019
Replying to
Yes, Alex. We all know how desperate you are for publicity. That's what this is all about, after all. The real headline should read "Mid-list Author Hits Jackpot with Cannabis Scare Tactics"

2

Bruce Conners @bconners · 7 Mar 2019
Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Pop quiz from the California Cannabis Advisory Commission's 2018 report: the CAC made 7 health recommendations, such as prohibiting "health claims in advertising" and collecting data on ER visits, DUIs, and youth use.

How many were implemented?

12:06 PM - 7 Mar 2019

5 Retweets 15 Likes

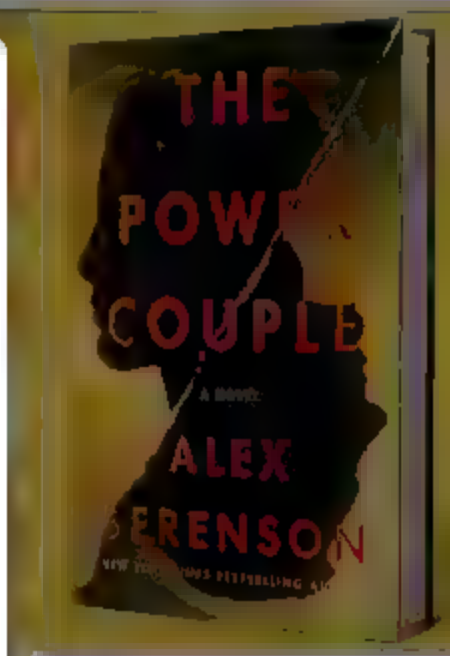
4 5 15

Curious Green @iamcuriousgreen · 7 Mar 2019
Replying to
Have you read this report Alex? It's bi-annual. Not due for an update until 2020.

infinite rest @wyspace · 7 Mar 2019
Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Pop quiz: the governors of NJ and NY promised to legalize recreational marijuana several months ago. Yet neither state has done so, and legislation appears stalled. The delay has occurred because of concerns over:

5:01 PM - 6 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 8 Likes

10 4 8

Jack Rapp @jack_rapp1 · 6 Mar 2019
Replying to Clever

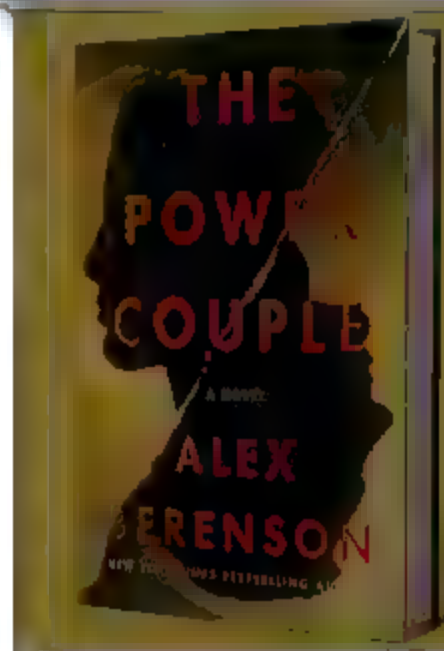
Heidi Anderson-Swan @SwanHJA · 6 Mar 2019
Replying to
Speaking in front of a youth commission tomorrow. Wrote a letter to the editorial staff of my son's high school paper (who had misinformation about legalization) Thanks for your stats!

1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

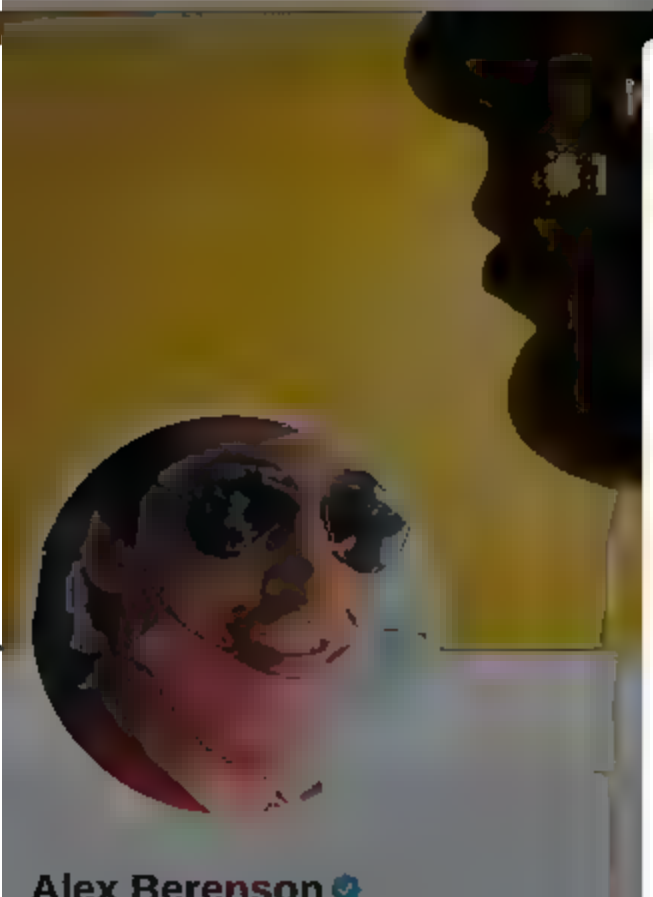
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

It's come to my attention that my Twitter feed is... a bit cannabis-heavy. Time for a change: a texting love story in three acts!

talk?

Oh okay, i guess that answers that. I love you!



Alex, I'm so sorry that was meant for my son 😴

The sender is not in your contact list.
Report Junk

6:43 AM - 7 Mar 2019

6 Likes

6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

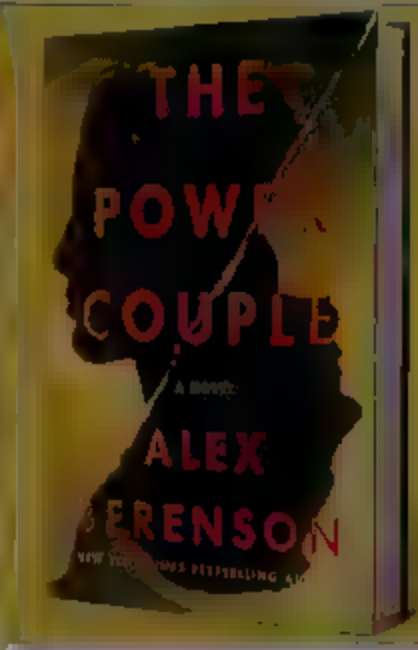
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

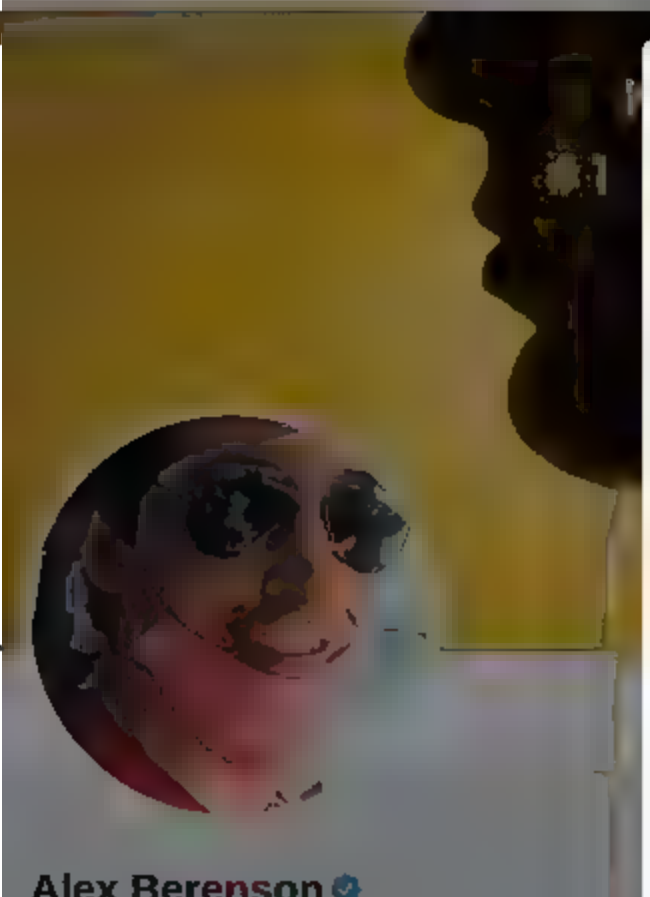
People who are high on cannabis don't speed and have fatal accidents. Except all the time.

How's that marijuana-never-killed-anyone-theory working out again?



post-gazette.com/news/crime-cou…

heraldstandard.com/news/local_new…



11:40 AM - 6 Mar 2019

17 Retweets 29 Likes

14 17 29

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just out - @usatoday, with a major piece on the health risks of cannabis. Let's hope that @latimes @washingtonpost and other outlets that have largely ignored the problem follow:

7:52 AM - 6 Mar 2019

24 Retweets 41 Likes

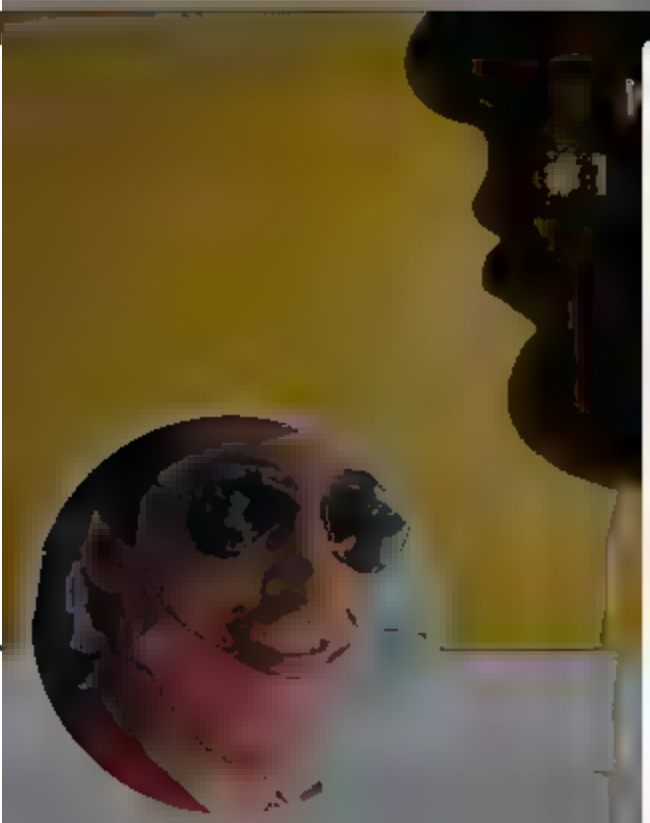
19 24 41



Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 6 Mar 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

New study found: "women with frequent marijuana use, regardless of use before sex or not, had 2.10 times higher odds of reporting satisfactory orgasms than those with infrequent marijuana use." You lose!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

FDA Commissioner Scott Gottlieb is leaving. For anyone concerned about vaping, this is not good news.

12:43 PM - 5 Mar 2019

40 Retweets 140 Likes

12 40 140

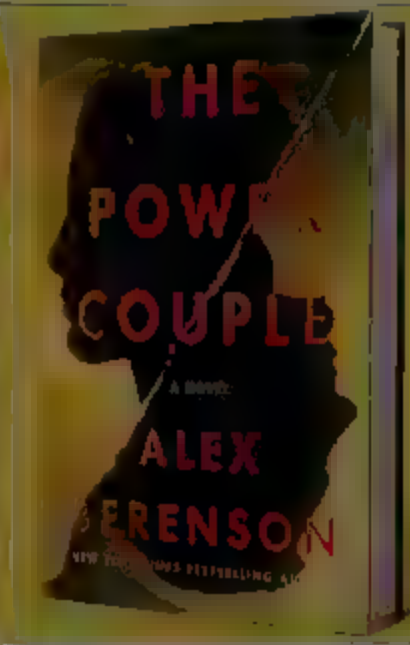
RunsWithScissors @EJmassage · 5 Mar 2019
Replying to

Why because we might get another asshat to threaten adult vapers and allow false propaganda to poison peeps minds? There are 2 sides to that coin and allowing the neg to be front and center, no bueno.

8

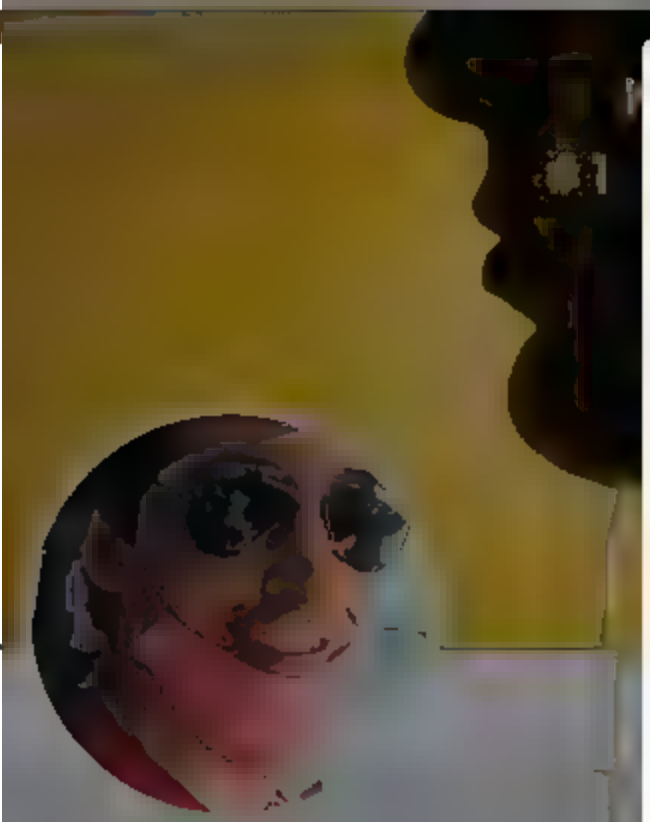
This Tweet is unavailable.

GildaRose @GildaRose77 · 5 Mar 2019
Replying to

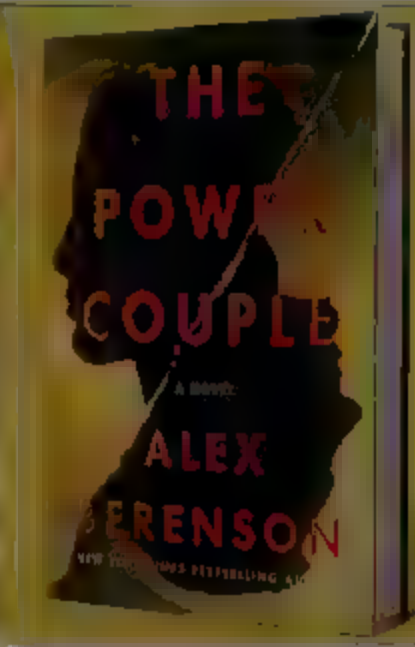


Anyone not in the pocket of big money lobbyists won't last long in this corrupt regime.

4



Claudia A. Merandi cmerandi1@cox.net @CMerandi · 5 Mar 2019
Replying to



Vaping? how about the 100 million pain patients that have been left to suffer due to the opioid hysteria

10

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Vaccines don't cause autism. Cannabis does cause psychosis. Sometimes you just need to keep proving the same fact over and over.
google.com/amp/s/amp.cnn.

4:29 AM - 5 Mar 2019

9 Retweets 27 Likes

11 9 27

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 5 Mar 2019
Replying to

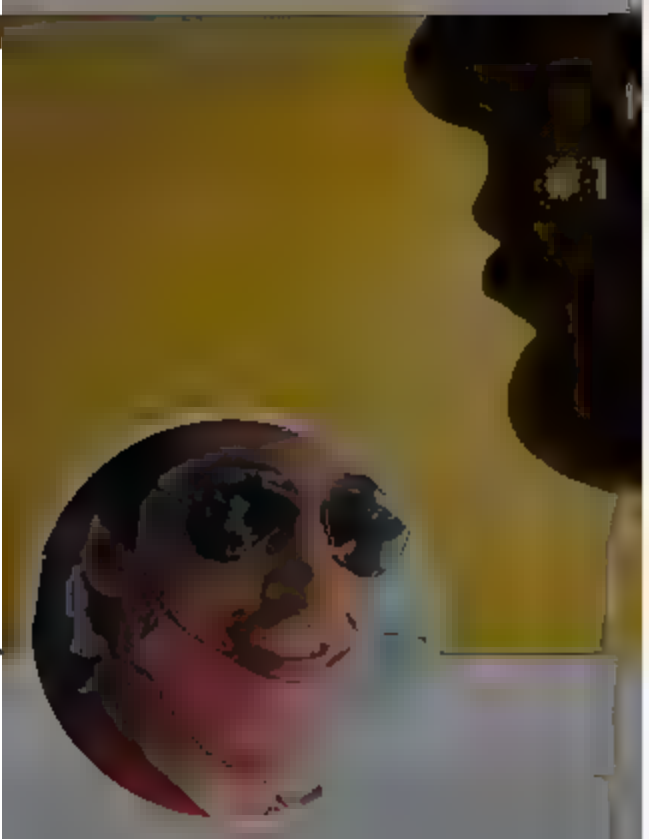
After 29 years of smoking marijuana and doing dabs, I'm still waiting for my psychosis. Maybe I'm not growing the right marijuana?

1 11

Real Anony Mouse @Anony_Mouse777 · 5 Mar 2019
Replying to

And, Alcohol certainly causes psychosis. No mention Alex?

2



Troy @TheRaterpillar · 5 Mar 2019
Replying to

The truth can never defeat social media hysteria

Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 5 Mar 2019
Replying to

Yet we have no big concerted effort to find out what is behind the extraordinary increase in autism amongst children in this country. We need that. Some autism

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

John Sidline @JSidline · 4 Mar 2019
"Alex Berenson, a science fiction author and former New York Times reporter..."

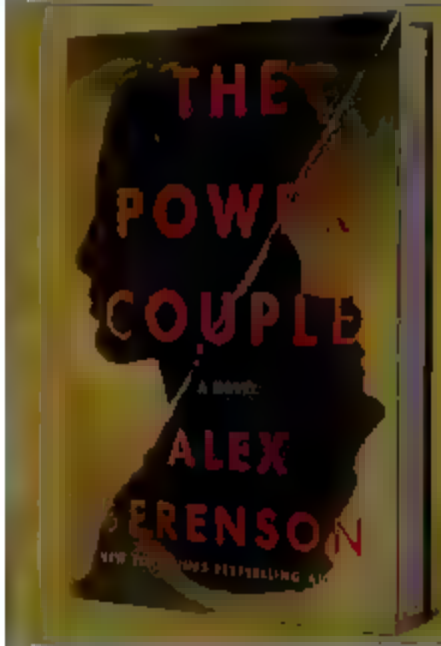
2 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to

That description of my work is as accurate as most of the reporting around cannabis. See if you can figure out why.



4:24 PM - 4 Mar 2019

4 Likes

2 4

John Sidline @JSidline · 24 May 2019
Replying to
Never did; neither did anyone else

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Montel: the evidence shows that cannabis causes psychosis. If Ann Coulter wants to spread that truth, I'm glad. If @Jimmorgan will have me on, I'll come on. If @NPR will - only, wait, @npr won't. Its belief in free speech doesn't extend to a book suggesting cannabis is harmful.

7:56 PM - 4 Mar 2019

3 Retweets 14 Likes

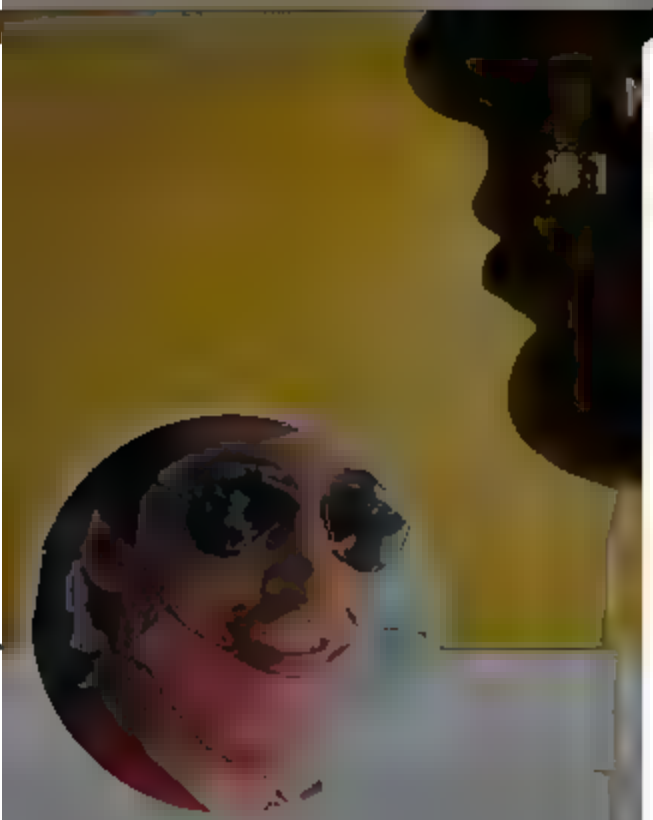
9 3 14

fan @kokondo12 · 4 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others
[redacted] had you on- Please Please Please go back on!



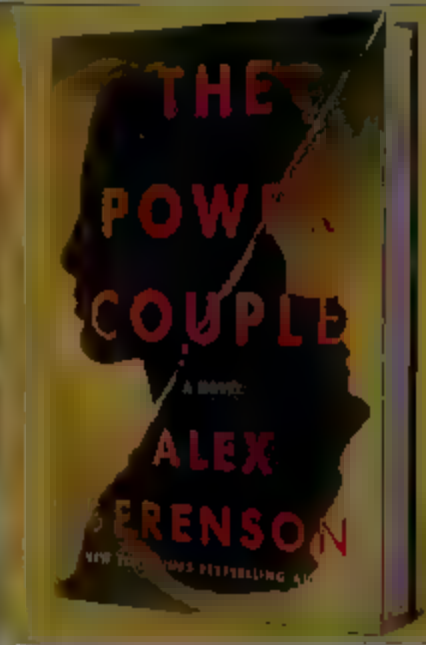
Joe- make this happen again, he got a free pass the first time.

1

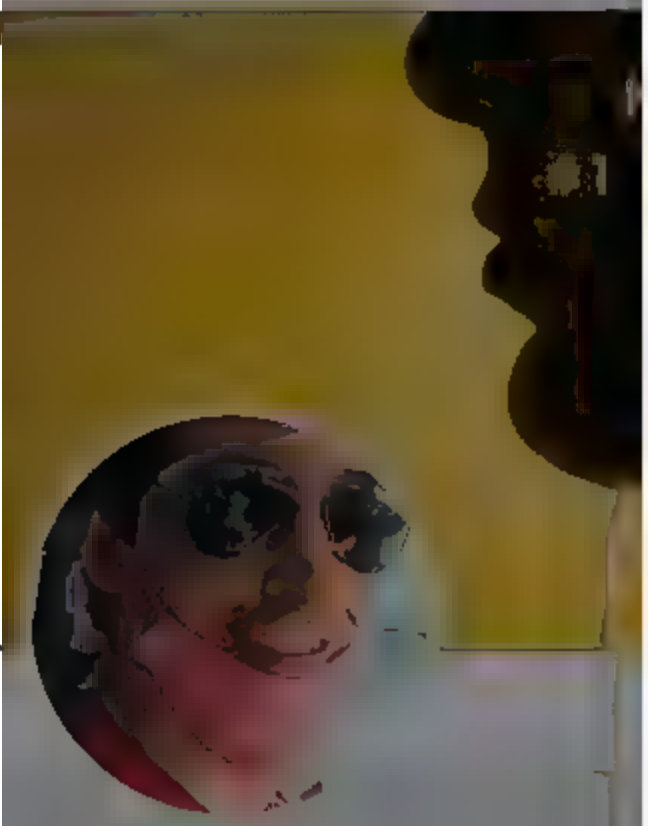
Ropeville Raider @RopevilleRaider · 4 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
Why are people concerned about the health effects of [redacted] but not alcohol ?

Why does alcohol get special treatment & a free pass ?

Why does the GOP think only recreational alcohol & tobacco are ok ?



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

91 73 205

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Thanks for the attaboy! I just hope you don't mind being attacked by cannabis fanatics...

4:05 PM - 4 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 15 Likes

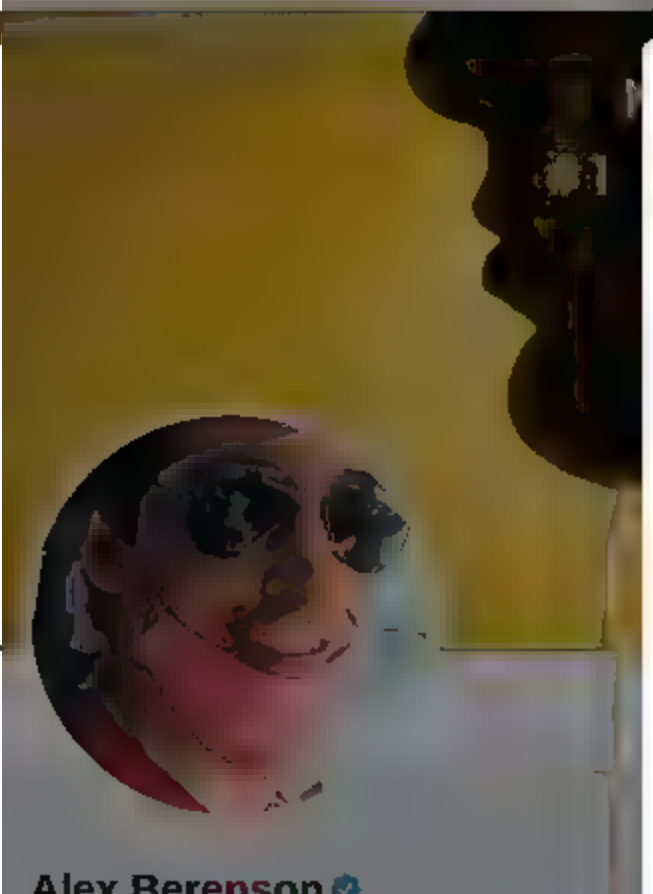
6 1 15

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 4 Mar 2019
Replying to
Nothing new. I had one even go after me with a loaded gun.



This Tweet is unavailable.

Trace Johnson @tjohnnyj · 4 Mar 2019
Replying to
What would she think of John Wells, I wonder

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 4 Mar 2019
Replying to
Join Alex in the Liars club. Fanatics oh my. He so much wants the spotlight so he invites controversy so he can retweet the 'psychotics' the murderers'. Watch him retweet posts from screen names, such a gentleman.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

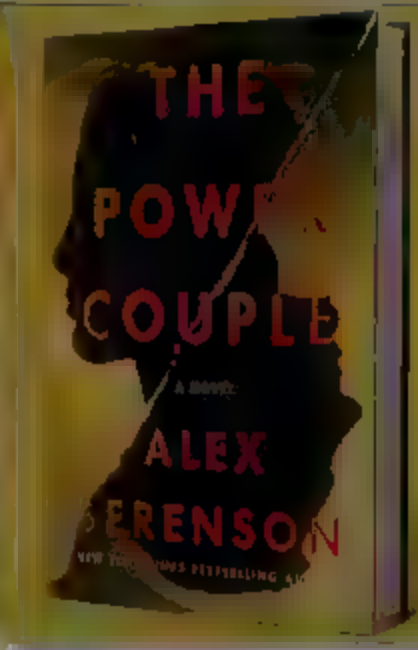
New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

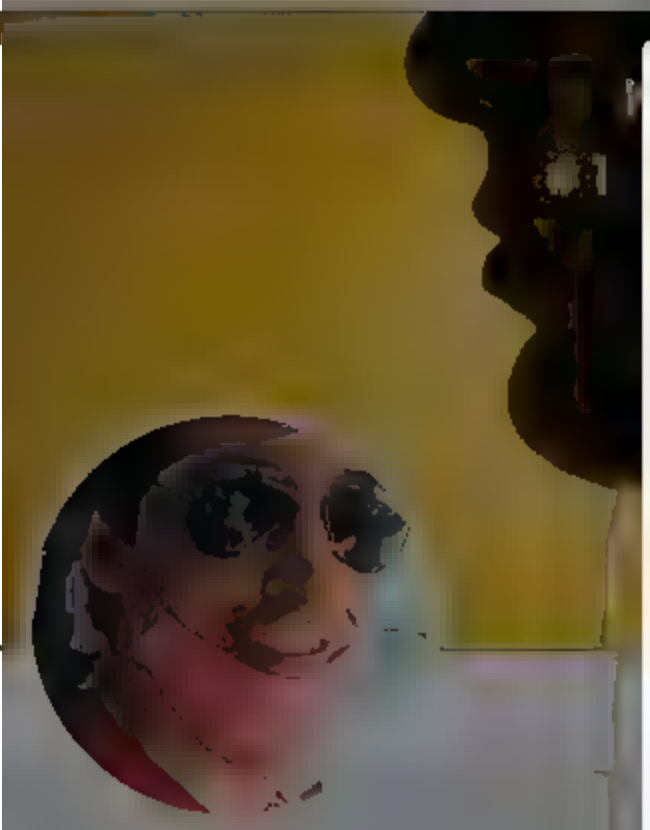
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

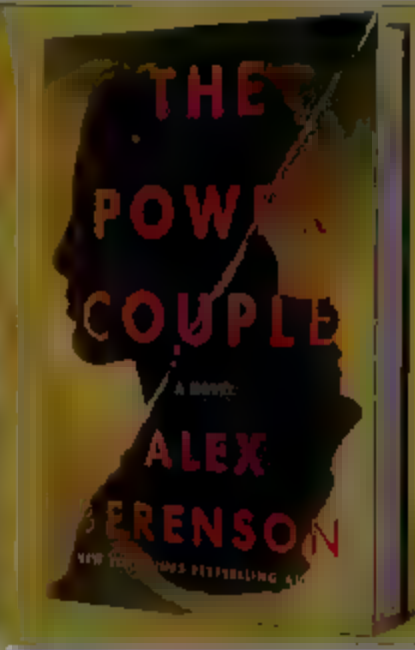


So being drug-tested regularly and not being allowed to hang out in bars is "barbaric"? I'd call it inconvenient and intrusive. (Allegedly) murdering your baby while you're high is barbaric. But, hey, we can agree to disagree.

4:01 PM - 2 Mar 2019



8 Likes



1 8

craig geller @kevinblah · 2 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Coming soon: a dive (and dive is the right word!) into @ShopMedMen's finances, which are fascinating both for themselves and what they reveal about the dismal business prospects of Psychosis Inc.
@_AdamBierman_

8:34 AM - 3 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 9 Likes

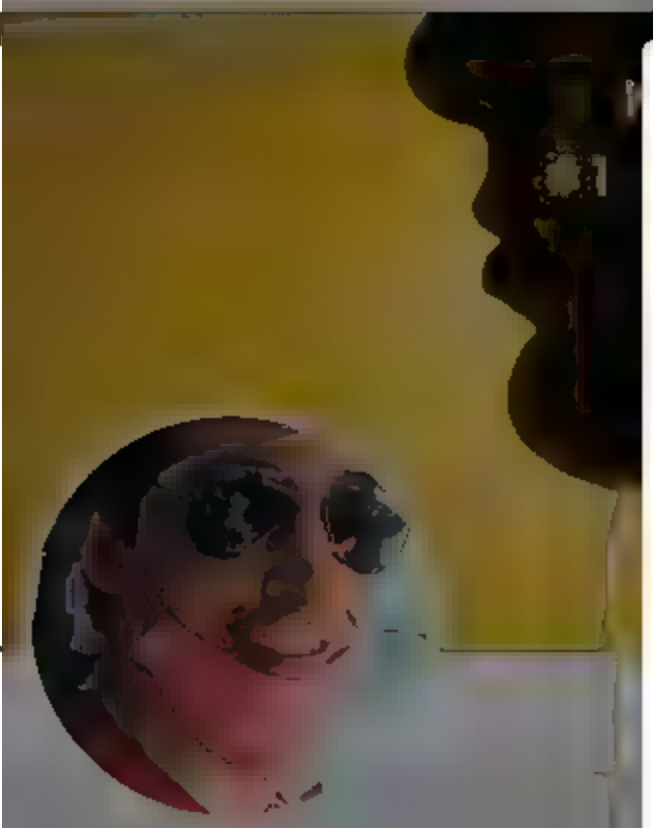
7 1 9



'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 3 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]

I do just adore this morphing from "Big Marijuana" to "Addiction for Profit" to "Psychosis Inc." Right up there with "death panels," "post-birth abortion," and "death tax" in the halls of frightening rhetoric.

1 6

Richard T. Ator @TyranicalDespot · 3 Mar 2019
[illegible] forgot to mention eugenics congresses. Drug addicted atheists are perfect useful morons when it comes to population control. Isn't it weird how drug addicts think their wants are more important than the needs of other Americans? A malfunctioning brain will do that.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ People/institutions who will engage with me about cannabis/TYC: @tomrychorg @joerogan @weedweek and, oh yeah, @[illegible] @MotherJones @guardian and tons of British newspapers. State legislators. @YaleLawSch. @StanfordMed. Etc etc. The book's in its fourth printing...

12:53 PM - 2 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 16 Likes

4 4 16

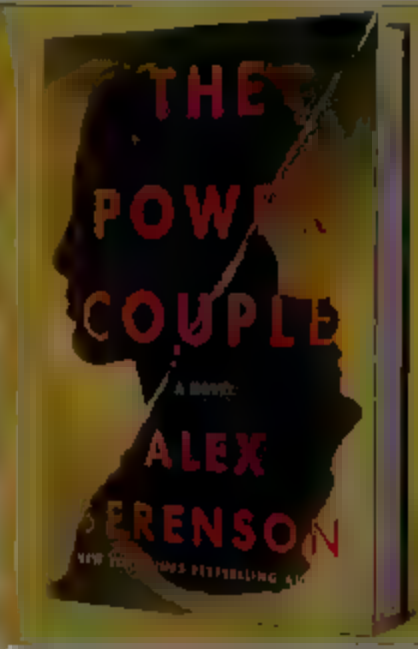
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Mar 2019

2/ Like it or not, it is part of the discussion around the drug and legalization. And yet theoretically objective news orgs like [illegible] are simply pretending the book doesn't exist - a decision that looks more bizarre and ideologically driven with each day.

12 7 23

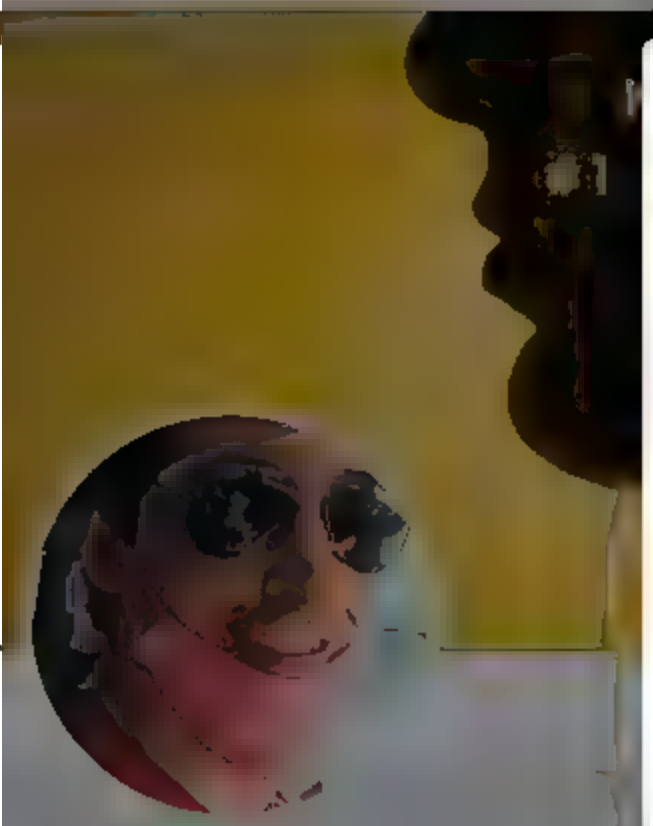
'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 2 Mar 2019

Replying to [illegible] and 7 others

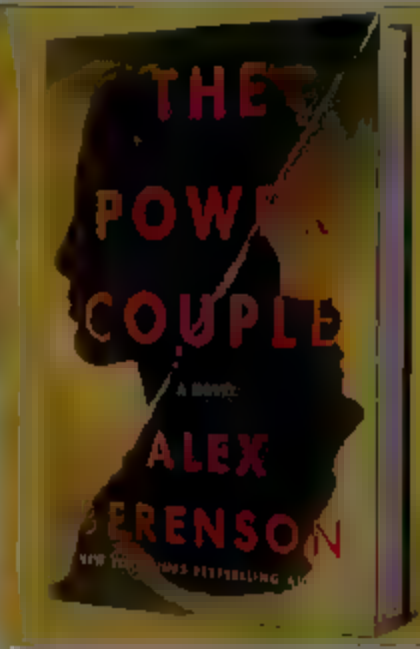


"...authors of the studies I quote specifically debunking my cherry-picking of their studies and disagreeing with my mischaracterization of their research..."

L. Ron Hubbard sold a lot of books, too, Alex.



1 3



Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 7 Mar 2019

CONCLUSION:
Marijuana appears to improve satisfaction with orgasm. A better understanding of

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

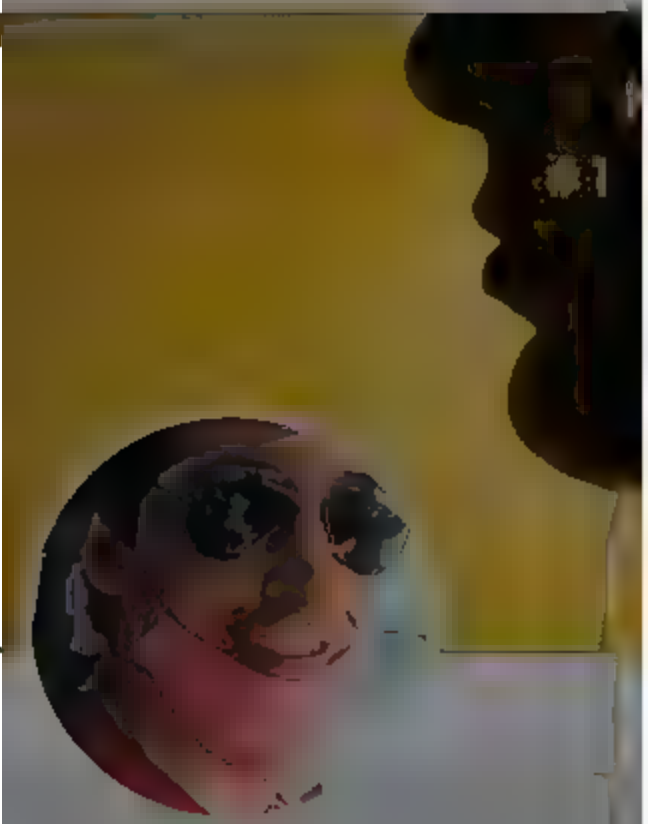
Addendum: sorry, wrong @WeedWeekNews.

12:57 PM - 2 Mar 2019

1

fan @kokondo12 · 4 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]
That's about as coherent and logical as all your other arguments.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ People/institutions who will engage with me about cannabis/TYC: [redacted] and, oh yeah, [redacted] and tons of British newspapers. State legislators. [redacted] Etc etc. The book's in its fourth printing...

4 4 16

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Like it or not, it is part of the discussion around the drug and legalization. And yet theoretically objective news orgs like @npr @washingtonpost @latimes are simply pretending the book doesn't exist - a decision that looks more bizarre and ideologically driven with each day.

12:57 PM - 2 Mar 2019

7 Retweets 23 Likes

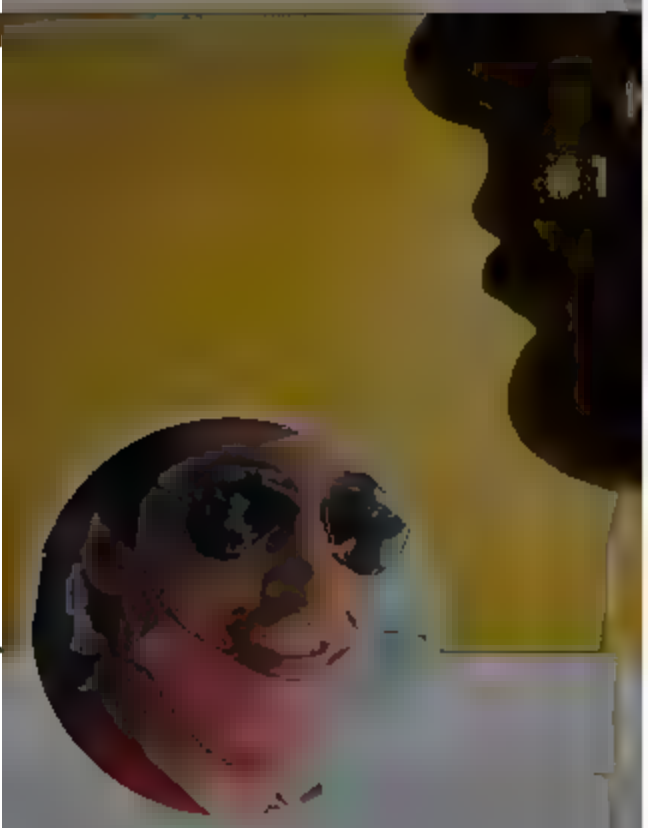
12 7 23

This Tweet is unavailable.

Nick Kosalka @nick_kosalka · 2 Mar 2019
He's been on Tucker Carlson before so I guess that discussion wasn't too great.

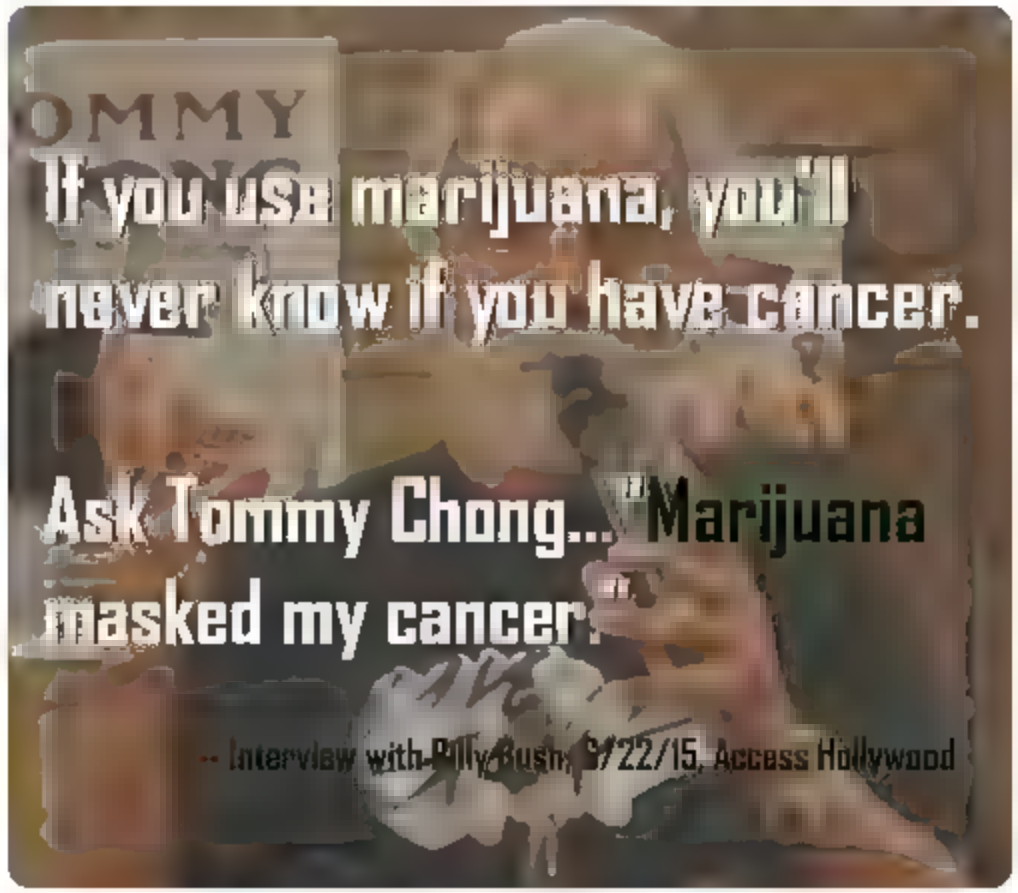


infinite rest @wyspace · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
Debate me good sir.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
They know your book is a lie from start to finish and your purpose is to sell your

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

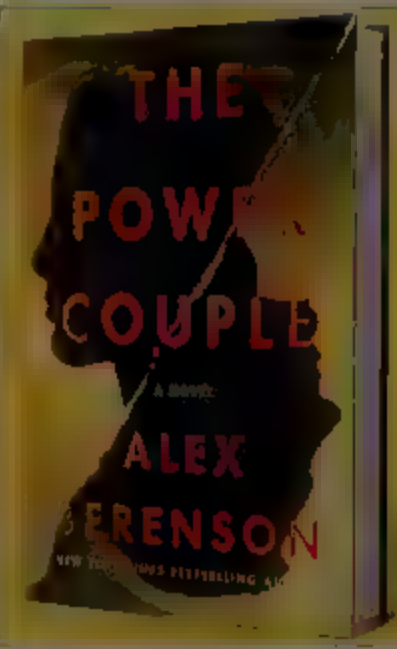
Joined November 2009

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 2 Mar 2019
Our Tommy Chong meme. He really did say this on Access Hollywood.

2 1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



It's medicine! Just like bourbon.
google.com/amp/s/www.theo

12:21 PM - 2 Mar 2019

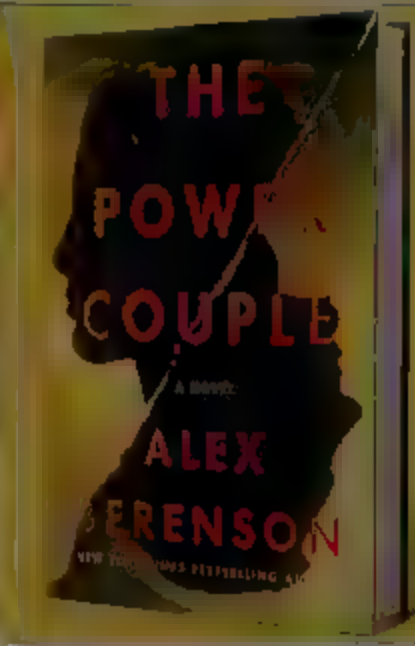
1 Like

1 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Yep, that Tommy Chong. I have to admit this is kinda awesome.

> Tommy Chong ✓ @tommychong
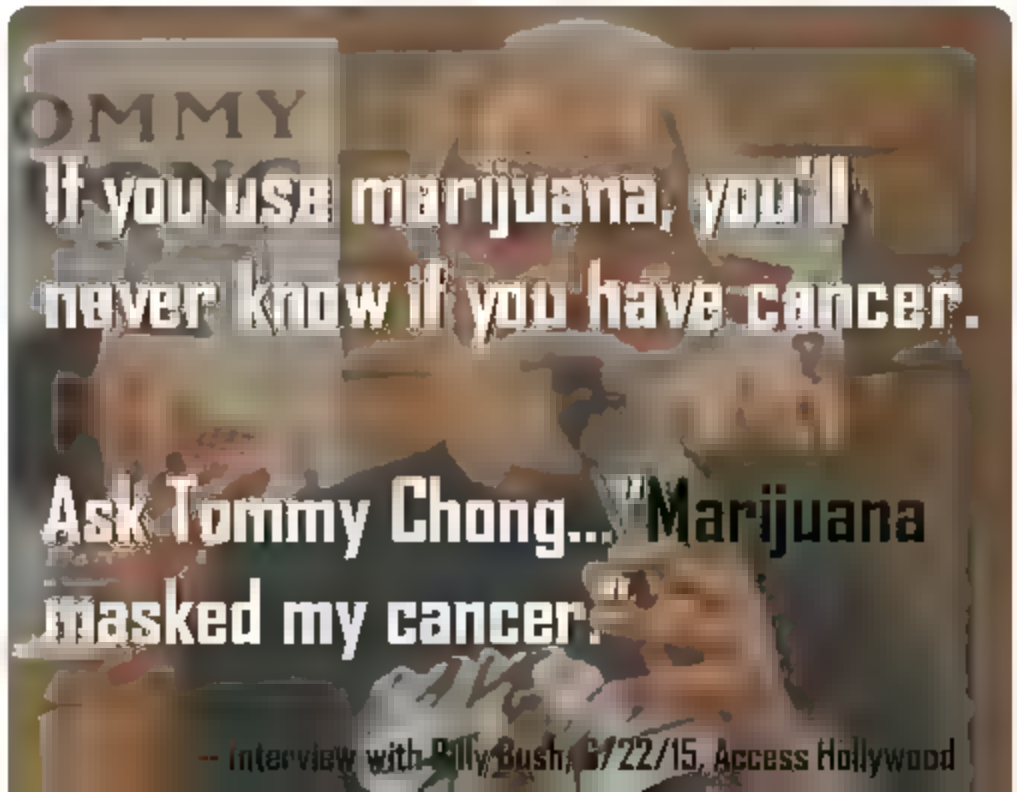
> Hey better than nothing! Take what you can get and be glad the pot war is over! Pot will save the world! twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s...



12:00 PM - 2 Mar 2019

1 Retweet 10 Likes

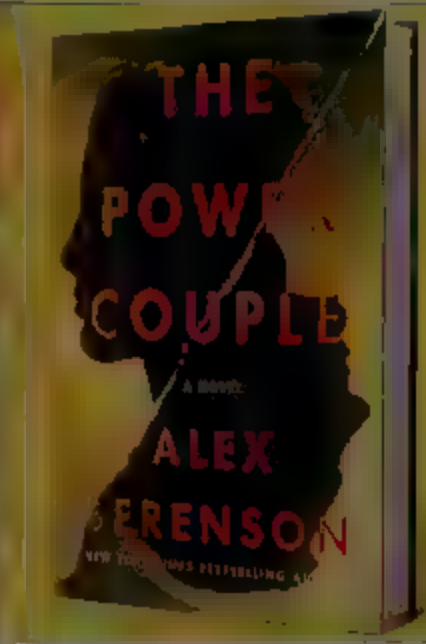
3 1 10

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to [illegible]

Our Tommy Chong meme. He really did say this on Access Hollywood.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Serious legal question: can a company that operates in direct violation of federal law file for bankruptcy? If not, what happens when it runs out of cash? Does it just stop paying employees and close all at once? How do creditors seize assets? Who determines who gets paid?

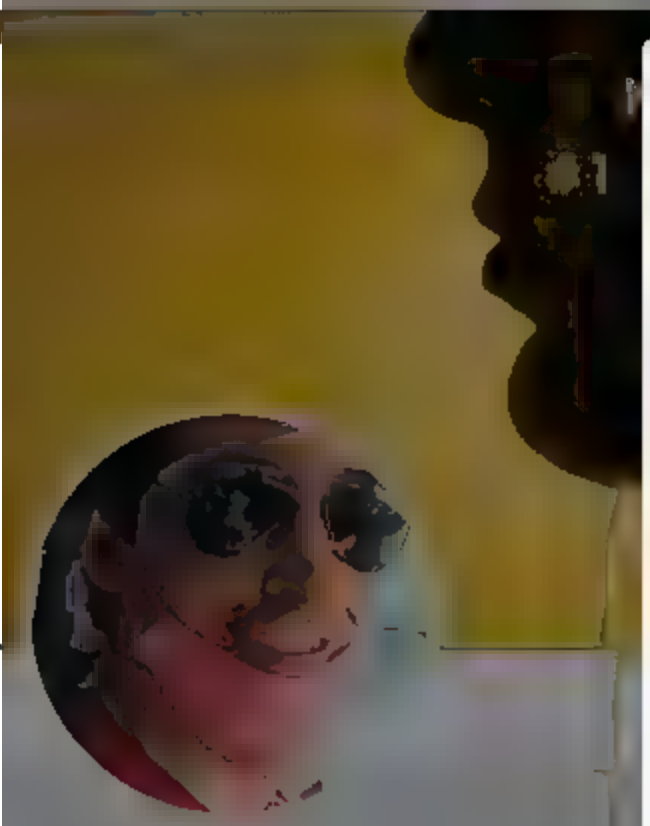
10:02 AM - 2 Mar 2019

7 Likes

7 7 7

yoleven @outfielding · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to
Is it just me or are you getting more and more kafka-esque by the day? I'm starting to wonder if you're an inoculation ploy by big cannabis!

1



Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to
Check this out:

David Murray @DavidMurrayd11 · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to
Moreover, what if federal asset forfeiture is also brought to bear? Quite a risk?

1 1

JTO @JohnTrevorO · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

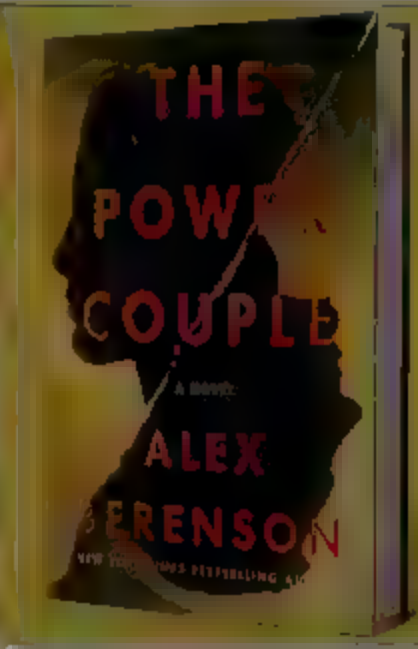
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

So I can't be long or short any cannabis companies - obviously! - but I am reading MedMen's financials and the lawsuit its former CFO filed -

And all I can say is I haven't seen anything like this in a long time... this story makes me miss being a daily investigative reporter.



7:54 PM - 1 Mar 2019

2 Retweets 8 Likes

3 2 8

kitty @chillkitty · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to
maybe you could start here...
MedMen's CEO on cannabis industry growth

ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 2 Mar 2019
Replying to
I would love to see investigative reports delving into the marijuana industry & legislators who receive MJ-related campaign contributions

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Wow. So it's been reported California's cannabis taxes raised 1/3 the revenue that was projected in 2018 - $345 million v. $1 billion. So much for marijuana being a tax windfall for the state. But the actual 4th quarter numbers are even WORSE than that topline figure suggests:

21 7 21

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Excise tax revenue - the key number because it's based on retail sales - actually dropped in Q4. Meaning that sales actually FELL in the state compared to the previous three months.

Colorado's market took 5 years to peak; California's took 9 months.

cdtfa.ca.gov/news/19-02.htm

7:29 PM - 1 Mar 2019

5 Retweets 12 Likes

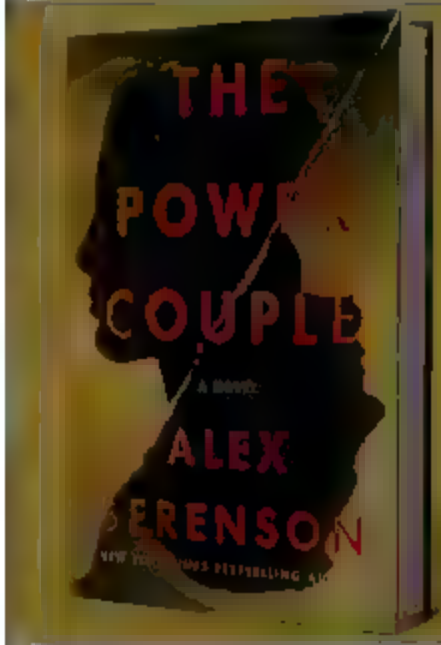
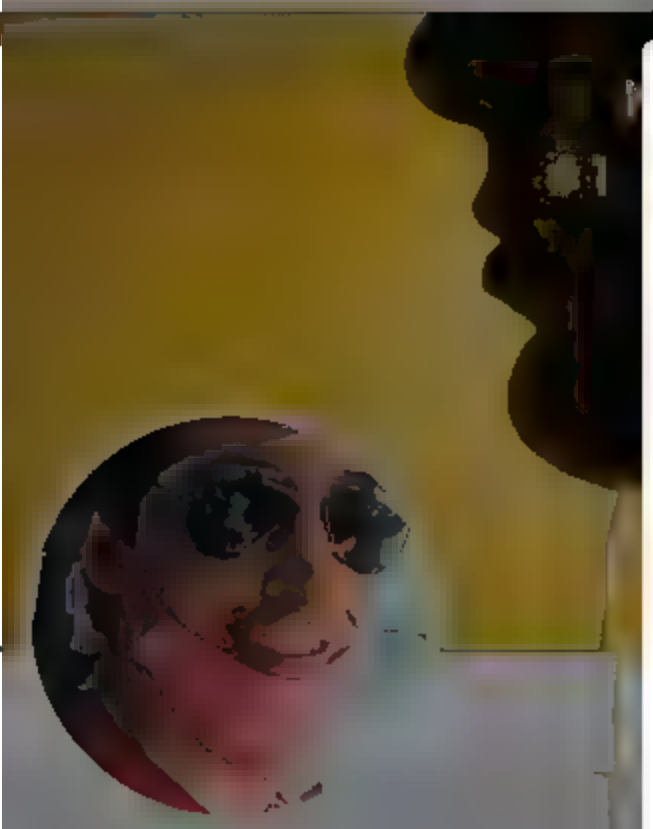
2 5 12

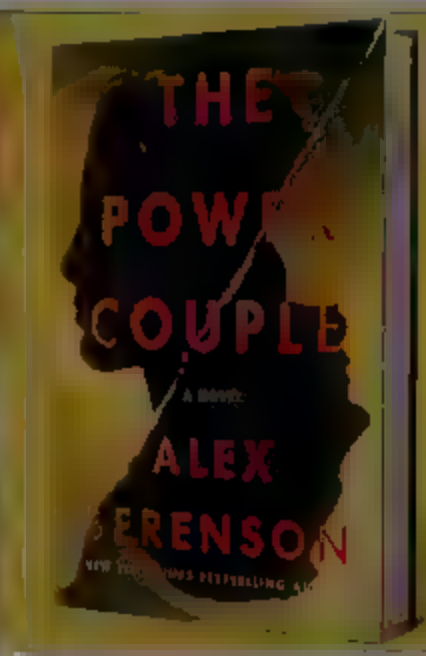


Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 1 Mar 2019
Replying to

"Roughly two-thirds of the cities and counties in the state remain off-limits to marijuana companies, and illegal competitors – especially in Southern California – continue to undercut legal competitors ..."



1



Fat Daddio @Fat_Daddio · 3 Mar 2019
Replying to

Would love to hear your ideas how to generate $350M in incremental taxes in one year.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Wow. So it's been reported California's cannabis taxes raised 1/3 the revenue that was projected in 2018 - $345 million v. $1 billion. So much for marijuana being a tax windfall for the state. But the actual 4th quarter numbers are even WORSE than that topline figure suggests:

7:24 PM - 1 Mar 2019

7 Retweets 21 Likes

21 7 21

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Mar 2019

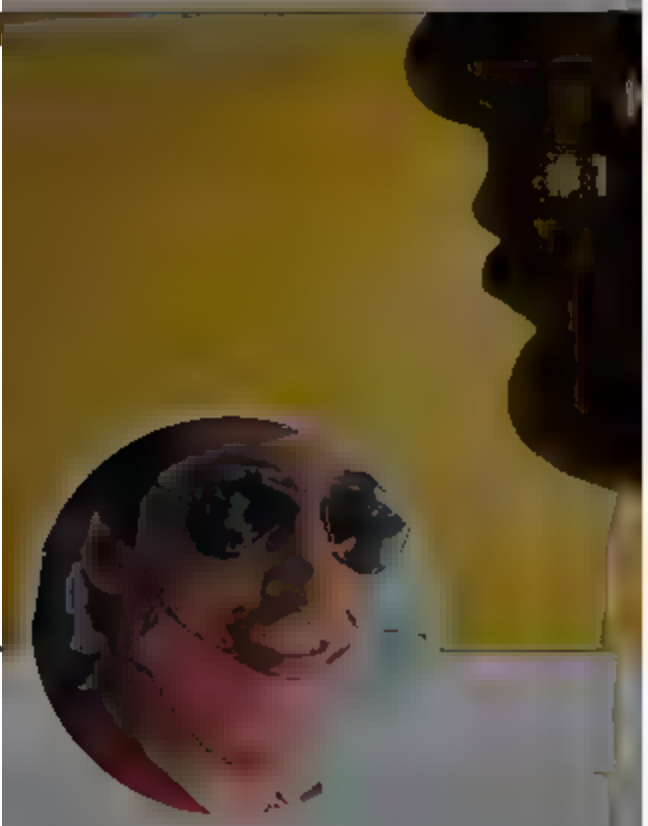
2/ Excise tax revenue - the key number because it's based on retail sales - actually dropped in Q4. Meaning that sales actually FELL in the state compared to the previous three months.

Colorado's market took 5 years to peak; California's took 9 months.

2 5 12

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 1 Mar 2019

Replying to



Legalization of marijuana is about social justice not another tax $ spigot4 kleptocratic parasites 2 milk. No1 but tourists will pay more $ than long standing black market charges just2shop n a weed boutique. Vacant politicians r deluded by greed.

3

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 1 Mar 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

runs its 804th* straight article on the wonders of cannabis (mentioning in passing the book's "alarmism.")
* - I haven't counted. Might be the 805th. ...

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

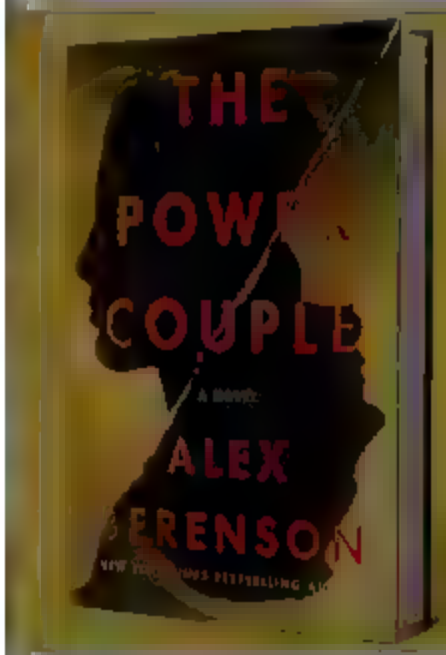
Replying to

Adam - Happy to see this piece (don't know how I missed it!). But my arguments go well past it; and it lacks the two key words in any discussion of marijuana and mental health: "psychosis" and "schizophrenia."

As you know, I'm glad to write for Outlook anytime.

1:16 PM - 1 Mar 2019

2 Likes



1 2

infinite rest @wyspace · 1 Mar 2019
Replying to Include this too!

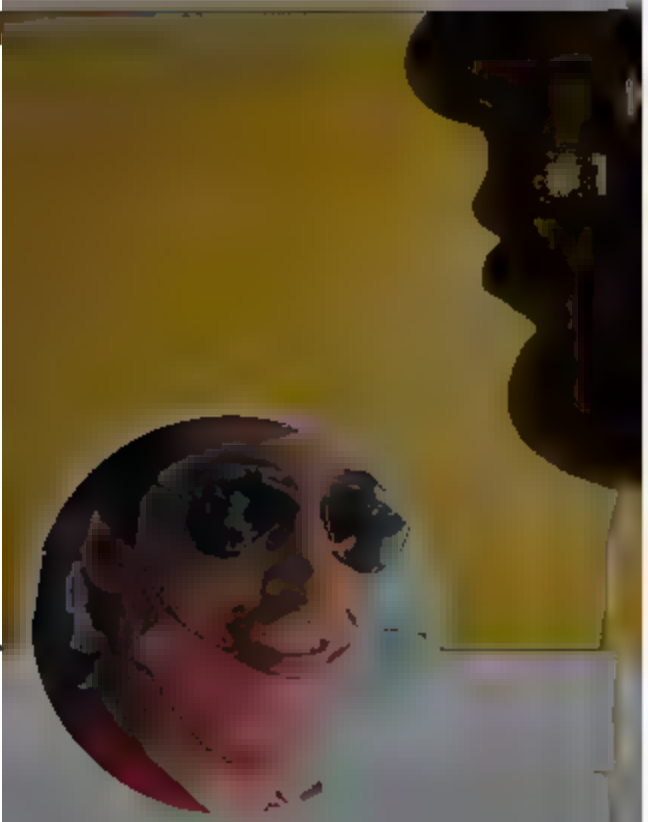
> Nobody has established that marijuana causes psychosis. Even Ziva Cooper, an author for the National Academy of Sciences report that Alex keeps citing, recently corrected him and said that they did not establish a causal link between marijuana and schizophrenia. Why Alex keeps repeating this patently false claim about causation, in the face of all the science, is a mystery.



1 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

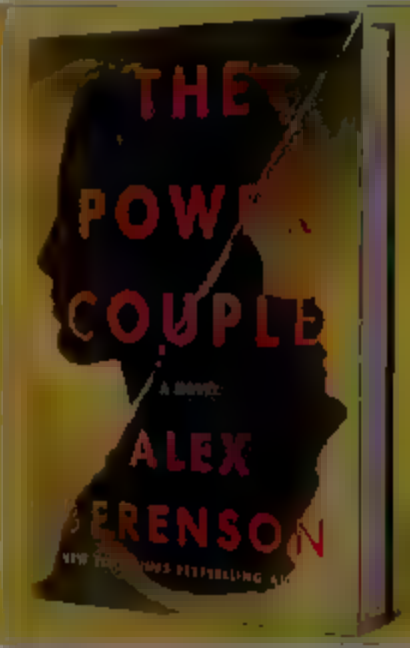
These murders happen over and over in states where cannabis is legal and states where it's not. The common thread isn't prohibition. It's cannabis.

6 4 16

Joe Gregory @JoeVGregory · 1 Mar 2019
What a ridiculous post. So if they found a bottle of water next to the gun would you say the water played a roll? And he hasn't been charged in the killing.

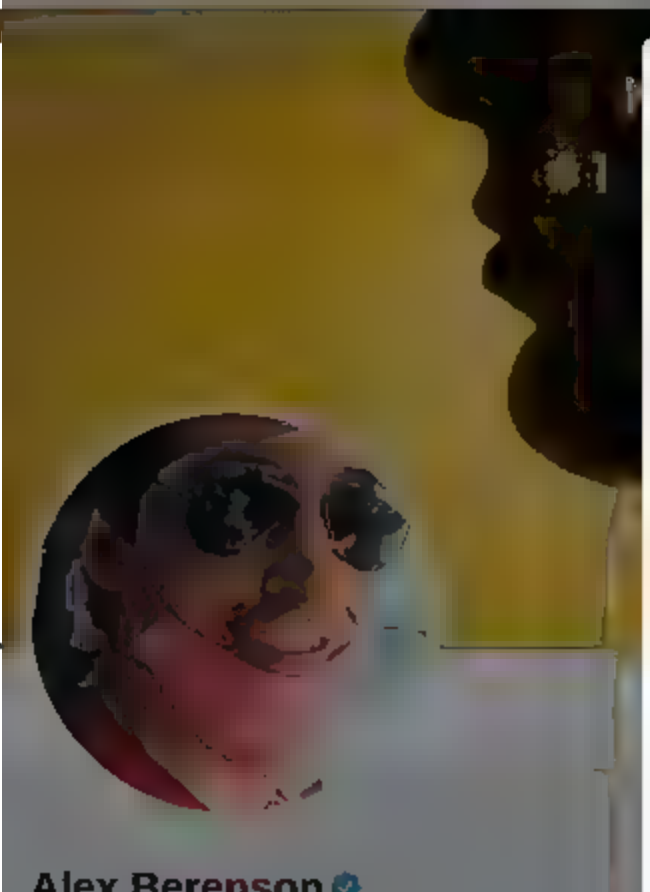
1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

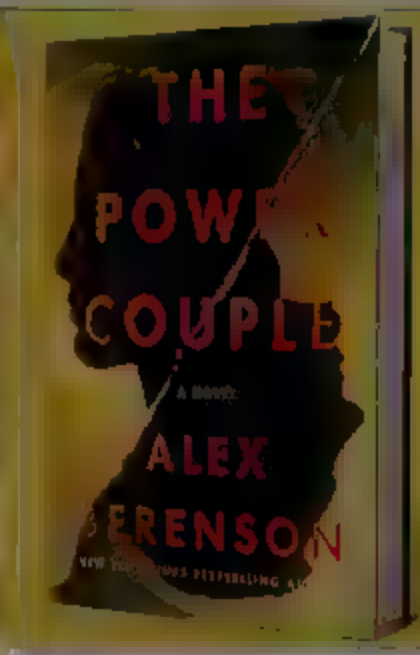


Replying to

I think you mean "role." And, yeah, he has. Try reading both stories.



10:58 AM - 1 Mar 2019



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

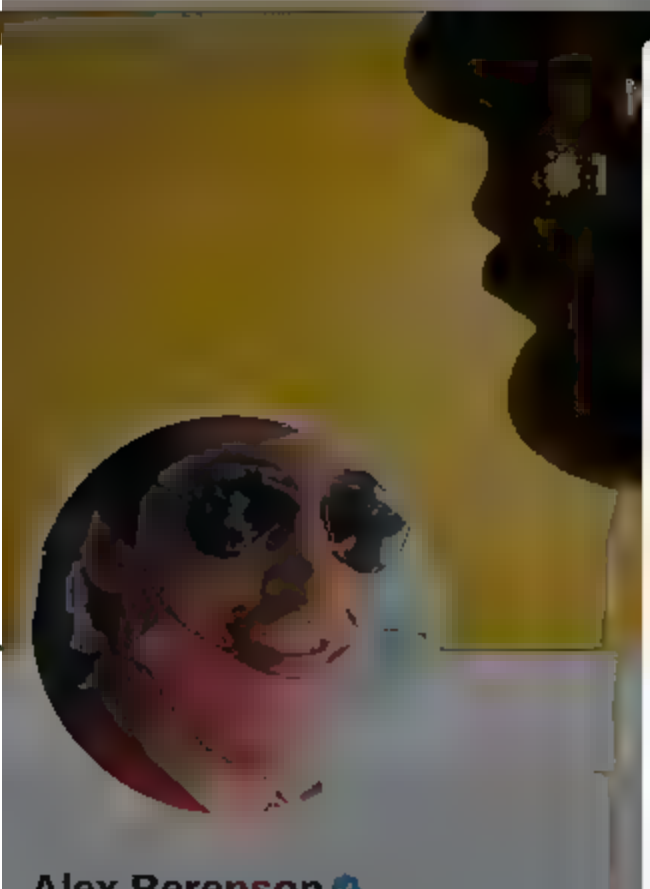
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Oh goody - @washingtonpost, which still has not reviewed or covered TYC, runs its 804th* straight article on the wonders of cannabis (mentioning in passing the book's "alarmism.")
* - I haven't counted. Might be the 805th.



10:57 AM - 1 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 19 Likes

4 4 19

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 1 Mar 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I guess they have more solid truth checking skills than the outlets that got scammed. How many have published retraction/corrections 2 their initial

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

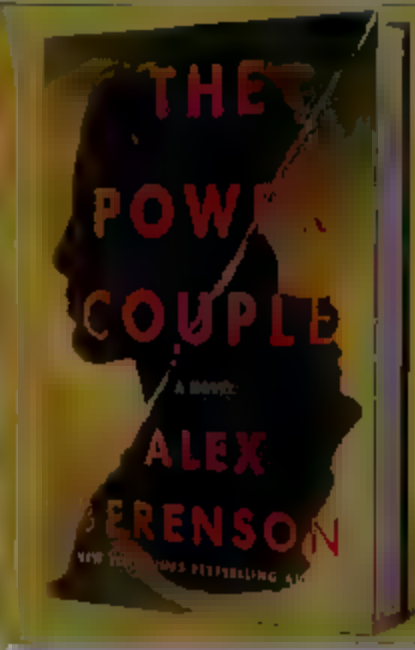
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just another non-violent cannabis dealer (allegedly) killing a 16-year-old boy.



These murders happen over and over in states where cannabis is legal and states where it's not. The common thread isn't prohibition. It's cannabis.

[illegible]

8:23 AM - 1 Mar 2019

4 Retweets 16 Likes

6 4 16

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

murders or accidents or suicides. The problem is always another substance, or pre-existing psychosis, or - when no other answer can be found - simple coincidence.

There's no drug stronger than denial.

11 17 39

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Mar 2019

Joe was obviously skeptical, especially at first. But I felt after he recalled his MMA friend's problems he became more receptive and his tone seemed to change. All in all it went about as well as it could have, given the set-up.

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I wish more users/advocates were as reasonable as you. Once can know cannabis can be risky and still favor legalization. But to pretend it's harmless isn't just silly - it's counterproductive for legalizers. There will be a huge backlash when the public realizes the truth.

7:41 AM - 1 Mar 2019

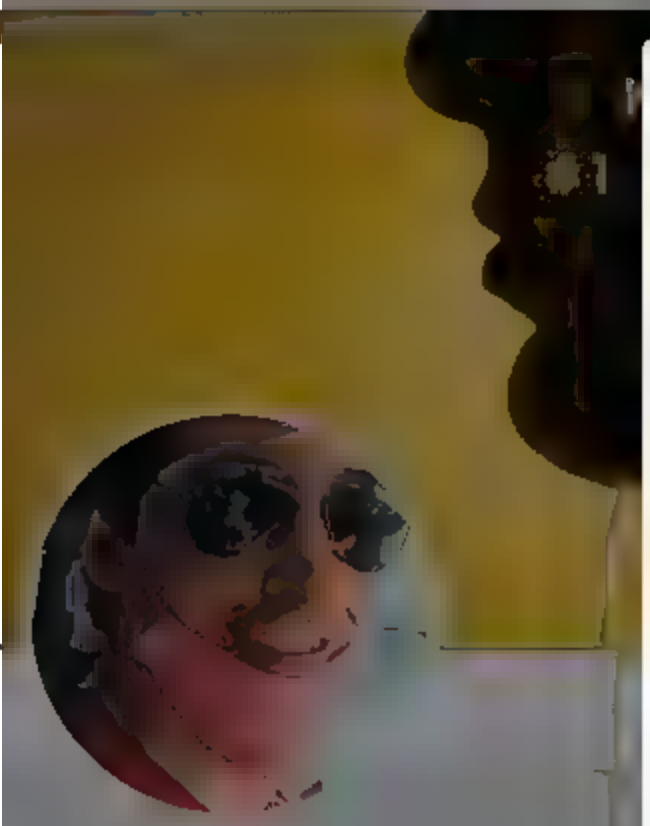
1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



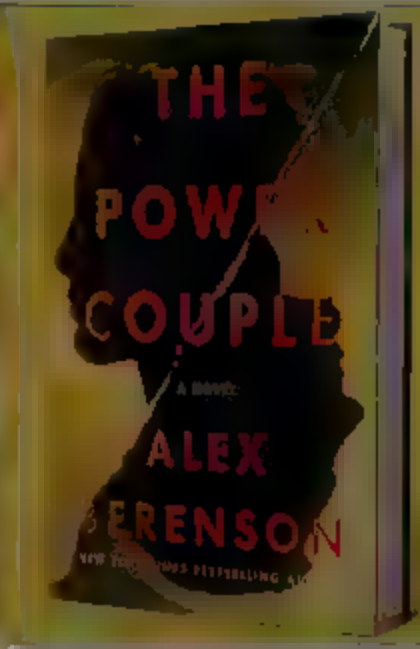
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

And to be clear: prominent cannabis advocates say all the time that the drug has never killed anyone:

"There are no documented deaths due to marijuana."
— Gary Johnson on Wednesday, August 3rd, 2016 in a town hall meeting

6:12 AM - 1 Mar 2019

2 Likes

6 2

This Tweet is unavailable.

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 1 Mar 2019
Actually marijuana use has strong antitumor, antiAlzheimers, anti-type2diabetes effects, even w/low dose use!
Glancing at Berensons desperation is becoming sport. Poor failed hack. Those retractions&corrections he ignores!

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

It's always fun to hear advocates claim cannabis can never be to blame for murders or accidents or suicides. The problem is always another substance, or pre-existing psychosis, or - when no other answer can be found - simple coincidence.

There's no drug stronger than denial.

11 17 39

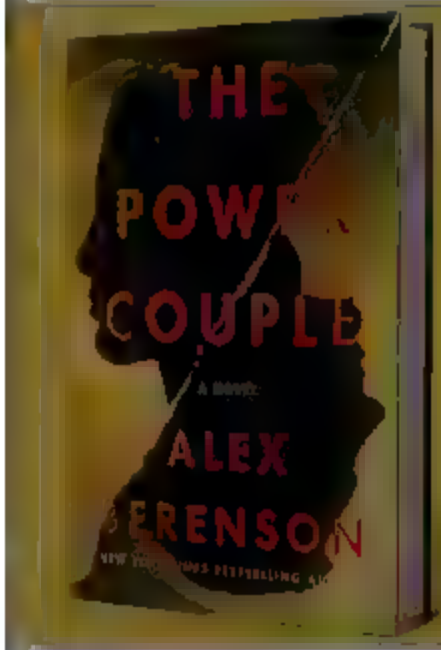
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

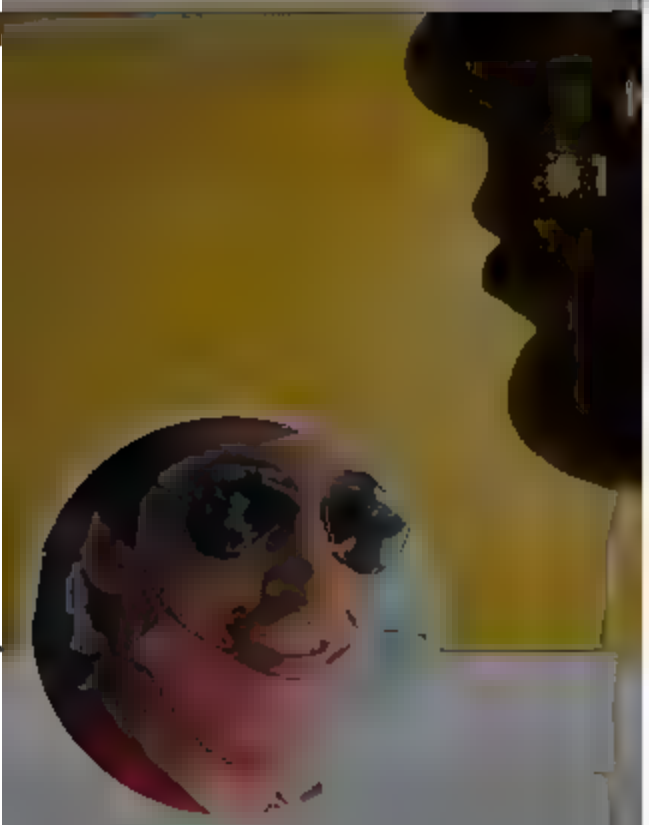
Joe was obviously skeptical, especially at first. But I felt after he recalled his MMA friend's problems he became more receptive and his tone seemed to change. All in all it went about as well as it could have, given the set-up.

6:19 AM - 1 Mar 2019



This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Mar 2019



I wish more users/advocates were as reasonable as you. Once can know cannabis can be risky and still favor legalization. But to pretend it's harmless isn't just silly - it's counterproductive for legalizers. There will be a huge backlash when the public realizes the truth.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

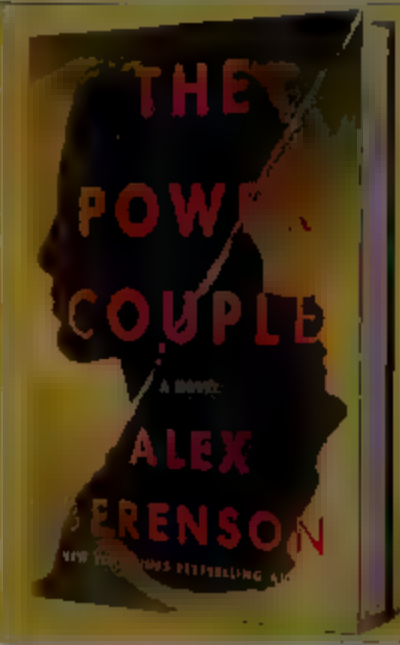
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

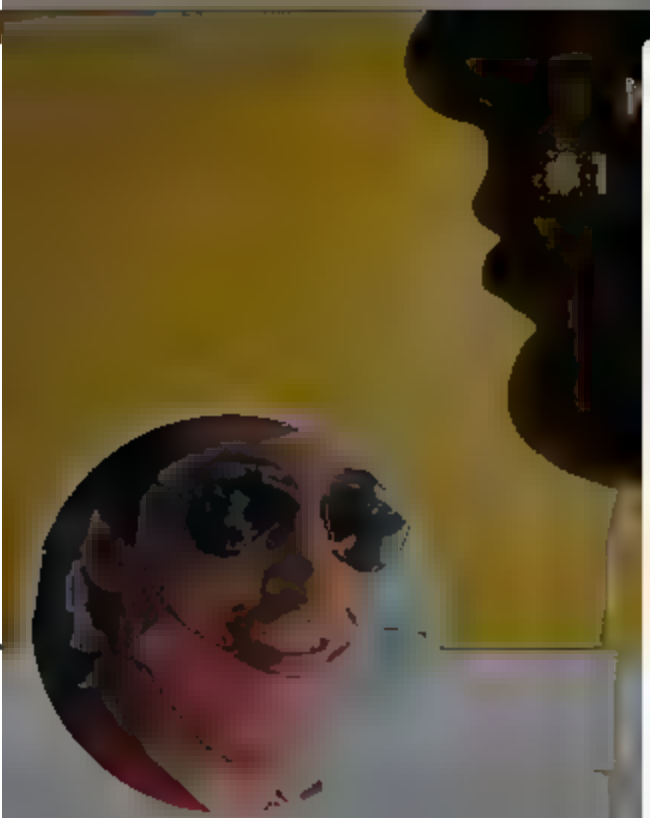
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Cannabis never kills anyone. Except every day.



"At the home, officers smelled a strong odor of marijuana and Marquez seemed very confused and emotional..."
cbs58.com/news/racine-ma …

"His speech was slurred [and] he had trouble staying awake..."



5:51 AM - 1 Mar 2019

10 Retweets 16 Likes

15 10 16

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

It's always fun to hear advocates claim cannabis can never be to blame for murders or accidents or suicides. The problem is always another substance, or pre-existing psychosis, or - when no other answer can be found - simple coincidence.

There's no drug stronger than denial.

6:08 AM - 1 Mar 2019

17 Retweets 39 Likes

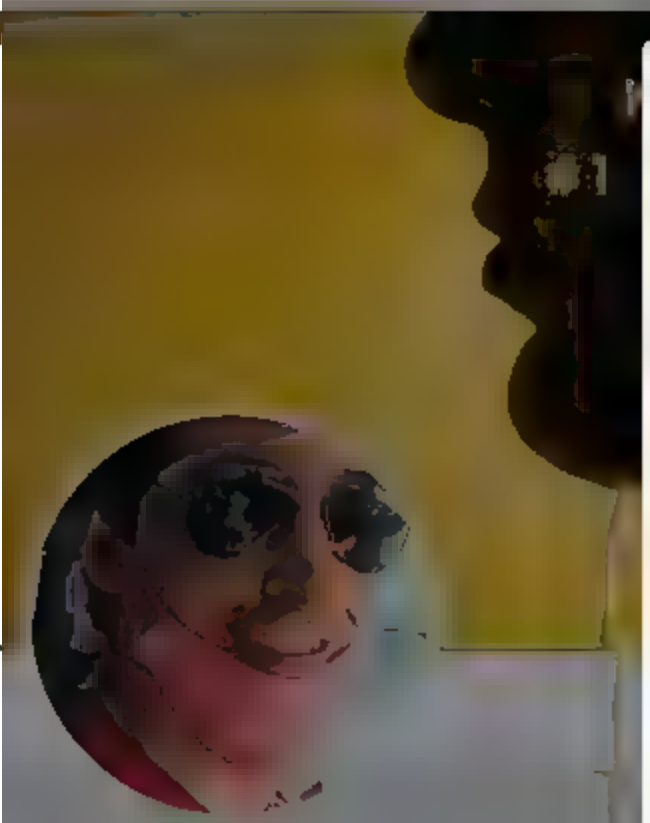
11 17 39



This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Mar 2019
Joe was obviously skeptical, especially at first. But I felt after he recalled his MMA friend's problems he became more receptive and his tone seemed to change. All in all it went about as well as it could have, given the set-up.

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I believe the bill is called the "Pandering To The Base Despite Science and Public Health Act" google.com/amp/s/www.cnbc ..

4:25 AM - 1 Mar 2019

9 Retweets 32 Likes

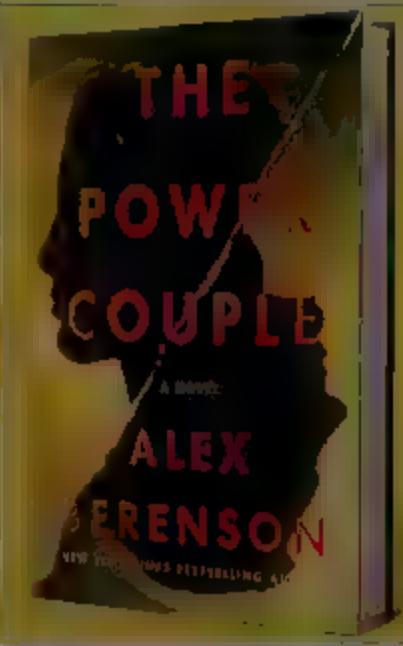
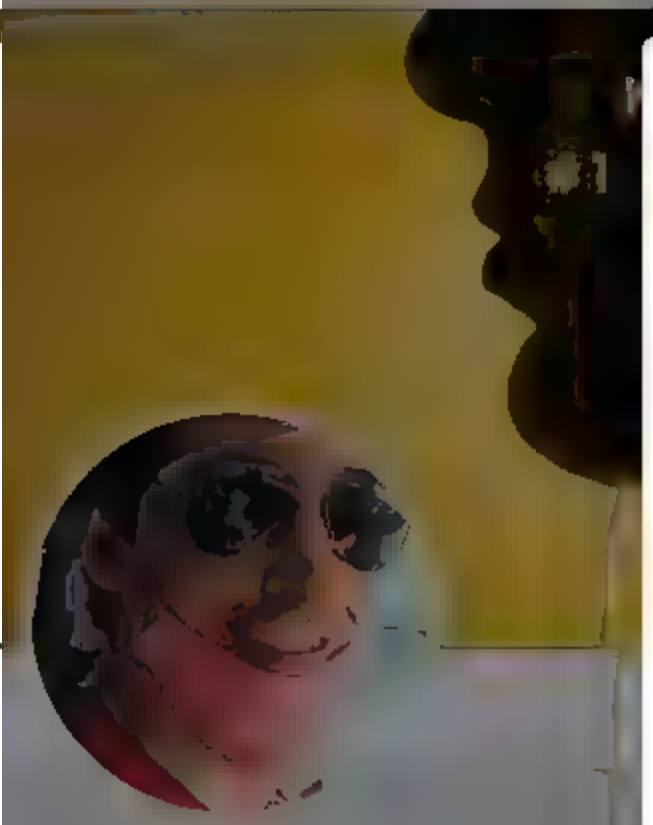
8 9 32

Larry Roberts @LJRoberts73 · 1 Mar 2019
Replying to



He is doing what 66% of people want him to do. He represents people, not private prisons or the FOP

1 2



Darryl Rodgers @JDRodgers61 · 1 Mar 2019
If 66% of the people wanted to be lobotomized would he support that too? Pretty much the same thing. If you want to know how to be successful, see what the masses are doing and don't do that.

2 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Looking forward to speaking today @HudsonInstitute - with coverage on @BookTV!

6:21 AM - 28 Feb 2019

2 Retweets 10 Likes

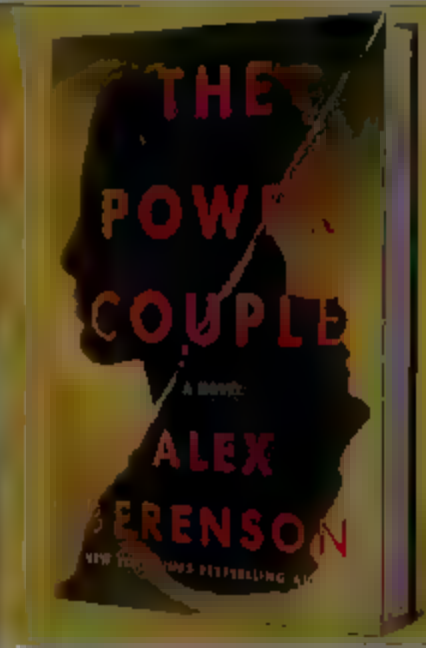
2 2 10

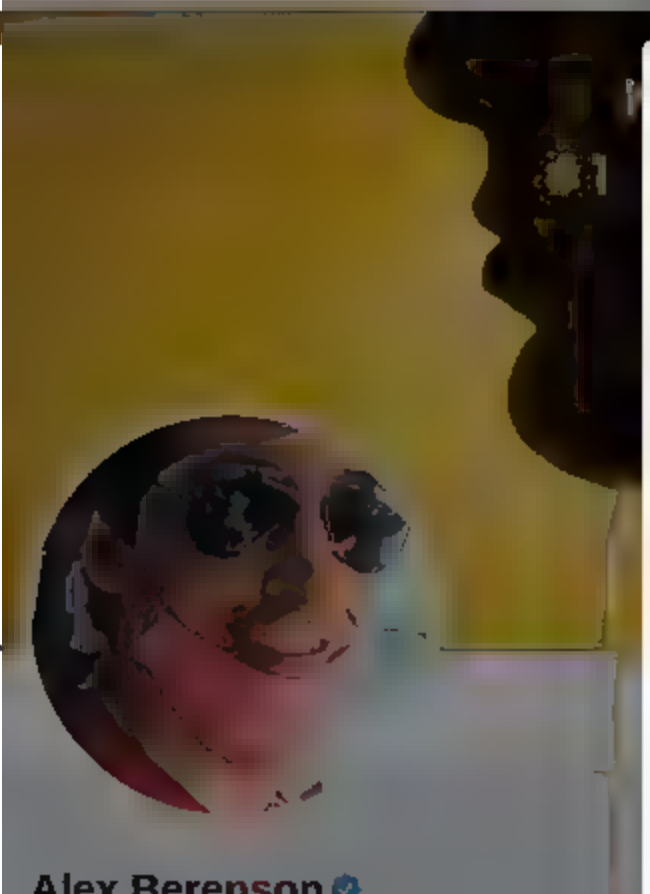
Bruce Conners @bconners · 28 Feb 2019
Replying to



Make sure you make it clear to them that you are certain that keeping the regulation and supply of cannabis in the hands of professional criminals is your preferred policy choice. You don't have a magic wand that will make cannabis disappear. Make believe can't be part of policy.

1 1 1

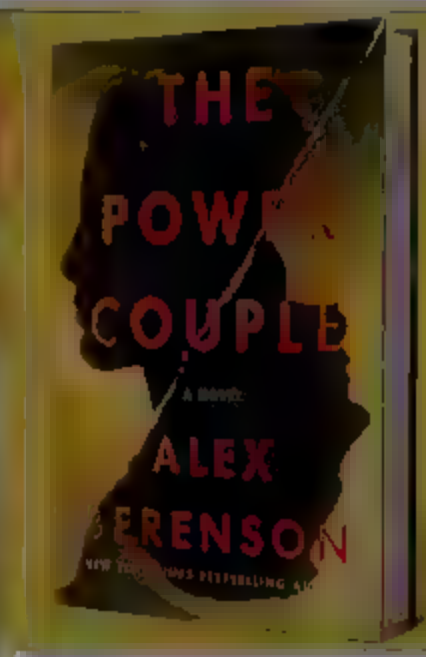
Bruce Conners @bconners · 28 Feb 2019
Al, you're failing! You better get in the car and zoom over to VT quick! Their reefer madness is wearing off!



Tom Angell @tomangell
BREAKING: The Vermont Senate just approved a bill to legalize marijuana sales in the state—with a veto-proof margin....

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Yet another cannabis myth - that THC-impaired drivers don't drive aggressively. From an NY prosecutor: "Most of the stops with marijuana are for speed..." DUI data from CO has a similar finding.

4:46 PM - 27 Feb 2019

17 Retweets 29 Likes

8 17 29

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 27 Feb 2019

Replying to

Stated accurately and fairly, the evidence tells us that cannabis tends to engender a more defensive driving style, whereas alcohol usually has the opposite effect. There are exceptions, but that's the general rule.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Let's talk about liability, friends. Hypothetically only, of course. "Failure to warn" is a simple enough concept: manufacturers or retailers are presumed to have more knowledge about their products than consumers and thus must disclose the risks of those products.

5 21

Darren Allen @TheRealKSPFoot · 27 Feb 2019
Keep rattling their cage [redacted]. I think you're making them uncomfortable. [redacted]

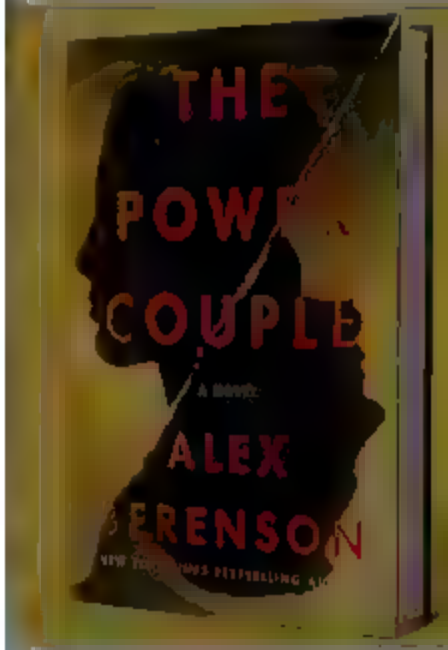
2 1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson
Follow

Replying to [redacted]

Oh, I'm sure that juries will be extremely receptive to the argument that correlation is not causation and the Nat'l Academy didn't really mean to say that cannabis increases the risk of schizophrenia.

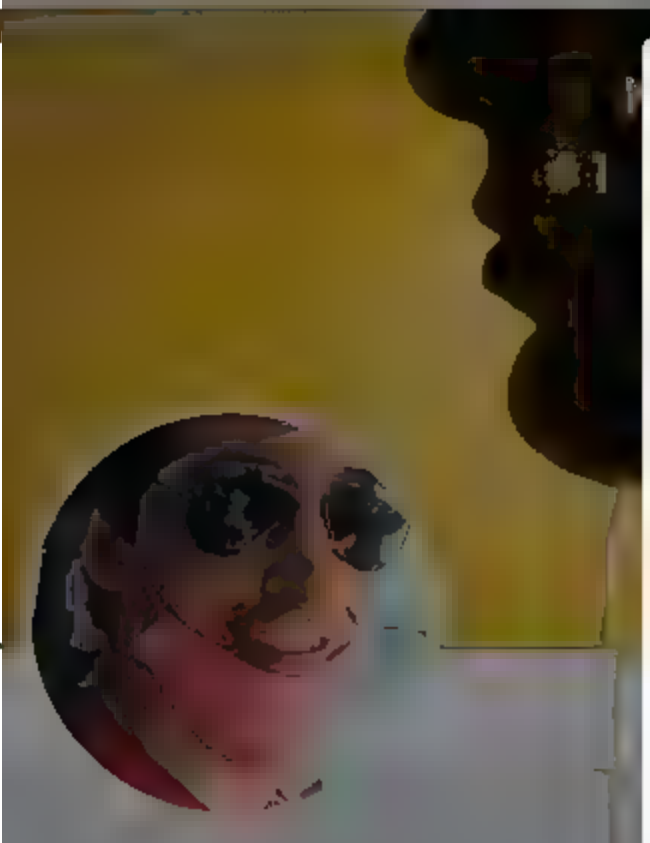
2:47 PM - 27 Feb 2019



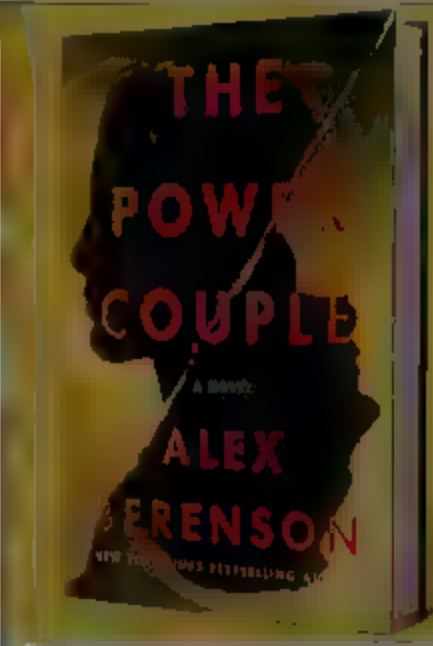
2 Likes

1 2

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You've stopped making any sense months ago. It's all about the books sales the old and new books. We've already disproved your entire theory.



1



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

The full introduction of Tell Your Children is now available at alexberenson.com. Enjoy - and judge the science for yourself.
alexberenson.com/wp-content/upl…

2:05 PM - 27 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 6 Likes

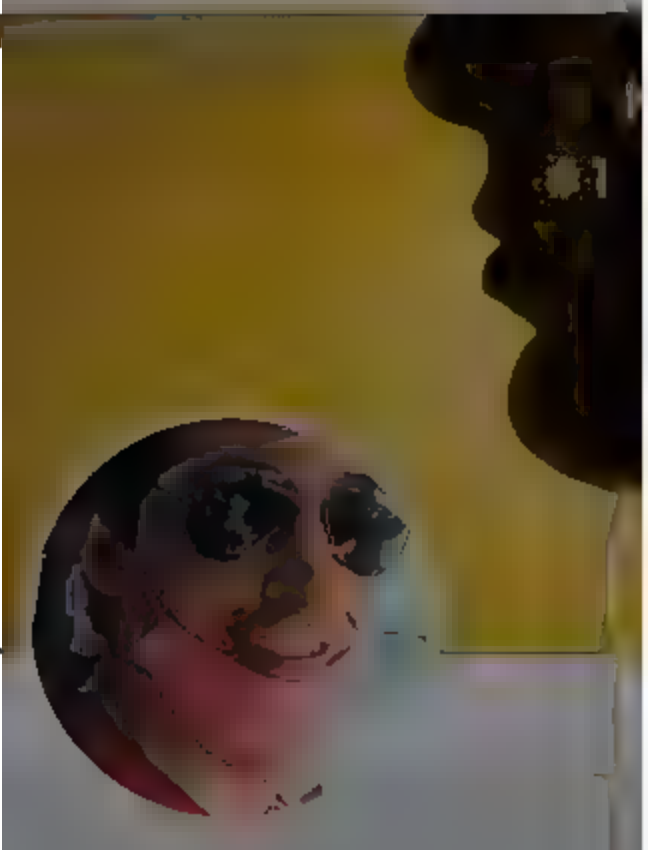
9 4 6



Ali Rahman @AliRahman · 27 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
This should help you out:

1 1

christy brown @mystocean · 27 Feb 2019
Here's some studies on "medical" marijuana which perfectly illustrate your point.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5/ But that failure to prosecute doesn't mean that the companies aren't breaking the law - and in fact weren't incorporated specifically to engage in illegal acts. Which might mean their charters are invalid. And in that case.. their executives AND shareholders might be liable.

2 1 7

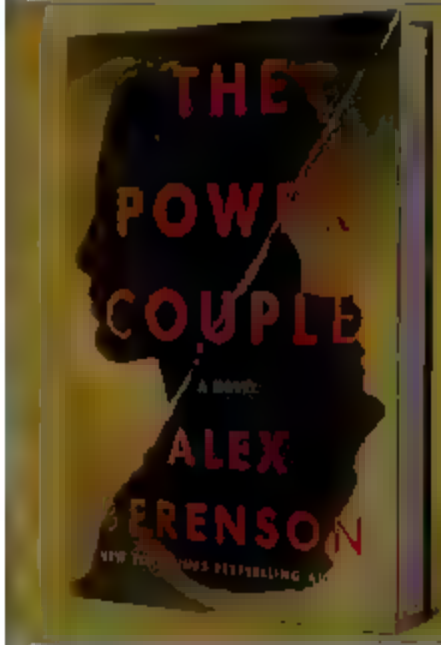
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

6/ So have fun imagining the kind of personal liability that might result from a 24-year-old college graduate who smokes himself into schizophrenia and kills his family, Psychosis Inc. You deserve it!

11:55 AM - 27 Feb 2019

10 Likes

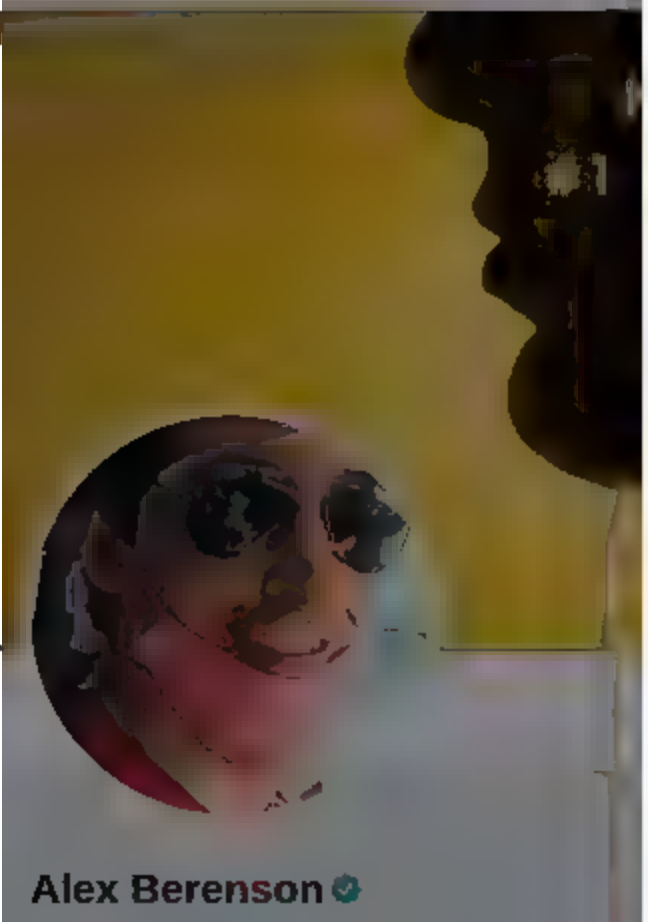
8 10



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 27 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted]

"...24-year-old college graduate who smokes himself into schizophrenia and kills his family, Psychosis Inc."



The media could not be played.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

17 3 9

KathrynBlume @KathrynBlume · 27 Feb 2019
So your book really was a piece of objective journalism, huh? No agenda?

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

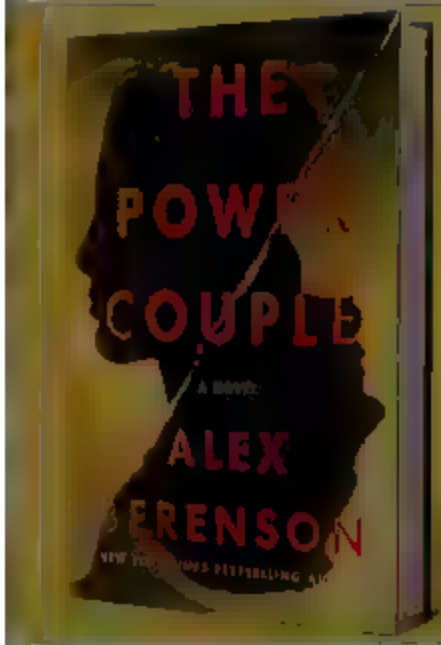
My agenda was very clear: to highlight the serious psychiatric health risks of cannabis that the industry and legalizers have downplayed or hidden from the public.

12:35 PM - 27 Feb 2019

5

Monica Donovan @monicadonovan · 27 Feb 2019
Replying to
Correlation is not the same as causation.

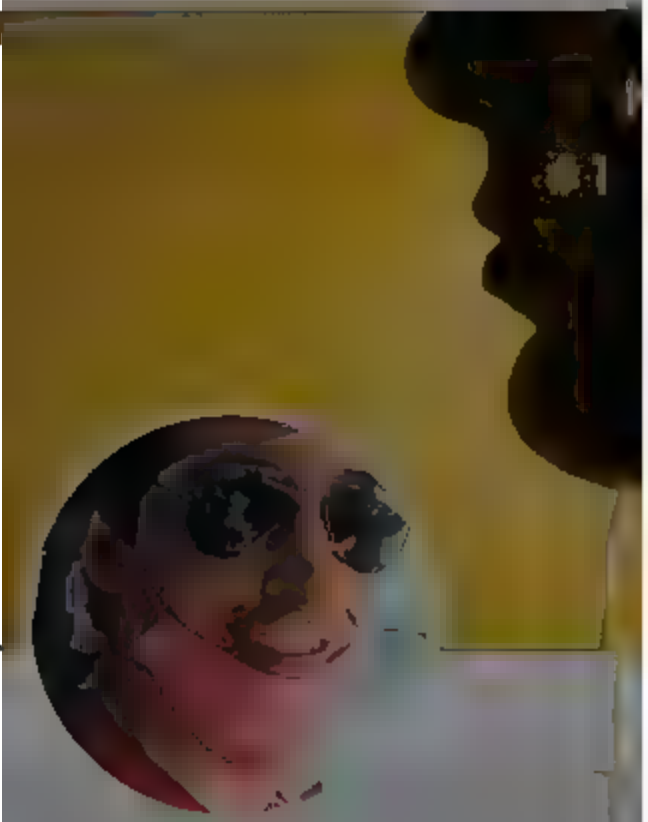
1 1



Farfignewgun @fahrvergnugn · 2 Apr 2019
Profit motive not the same as scientific method.

KathrynBlume @KathrynBlume · 27 Feb 2019
Replying to
So, I work for the media company . Part of my job is to put together a weekly roundup of the world's cannabis news. I've set my Google alerts for just about everything you can imagine and I scan literally hundreds of cannabis-related articles/week. /1

2



KathrynBlume @KathrynBlume · 27 Feb 2019
Replying to
I look at everything from articles in and to and . I see articles about scientific studies and Op-Eds both pro and con. Honestly, I'm just not seeing any evidence of downplaying or hiding

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4/ As none other than the eminent scholar @MarkARKleiman has noted, under current federal law, companies that produce or sell cannabis "are engaging in several felonies." In general, the federal government has chosen not to prosecute those companies...

1 3 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

5/ But that failure to prosecute doesn't mean that the companies aren't breaking the law - and in fact weren't incorporated specifically to engage in illegal acts. Which might mean their charters are invalid. And in that case.. their executives AND shareholders might be liable.

11:47 AM - 27 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 7 Likes

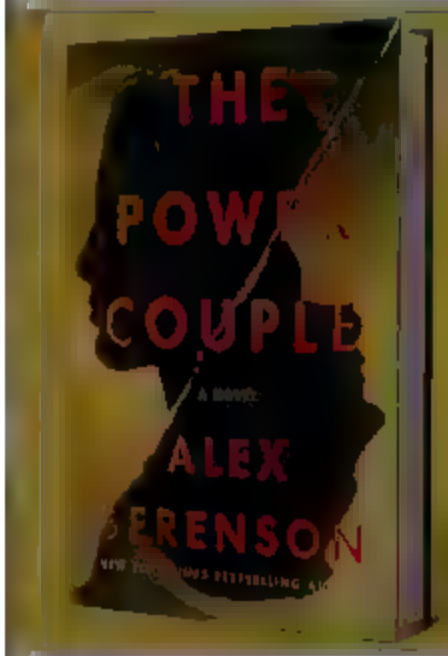
2 1 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Feb 2019

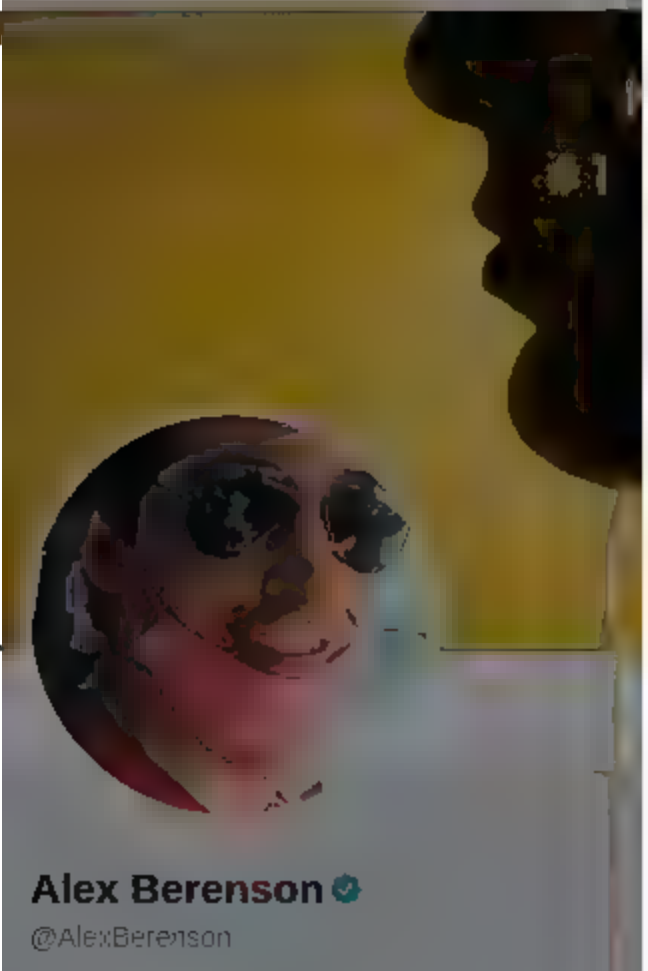
6/ So have fun imagining the kind of personal liability that might result from a 24-year-old college graduate who smokes himself into schizophrenia and kills his family, Psychosis Inc. You deserve it!



8 10

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 27 Feb 2019

Replying to



Many companies are Canadian or are still developing products. BTW, the warning on Marinol cautions against using the FDA-approved, pure THC product if you "have a history of schizophrenia or other mental health condition causing psychosis."

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This is a confidential e-mail from:

2 1 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ As none other than the eminent scholar @MarkARKleiman has noted, under current federal law, companies that produce or sell cannabis "are engaging in several felonies." In general, the federal government has chosen not to prosecute those companies...

11:41 AM - 27 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 4 Likes

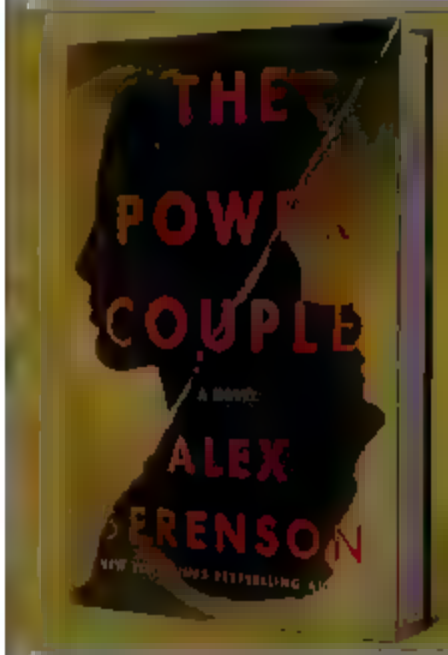
1 3 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Feb 2019

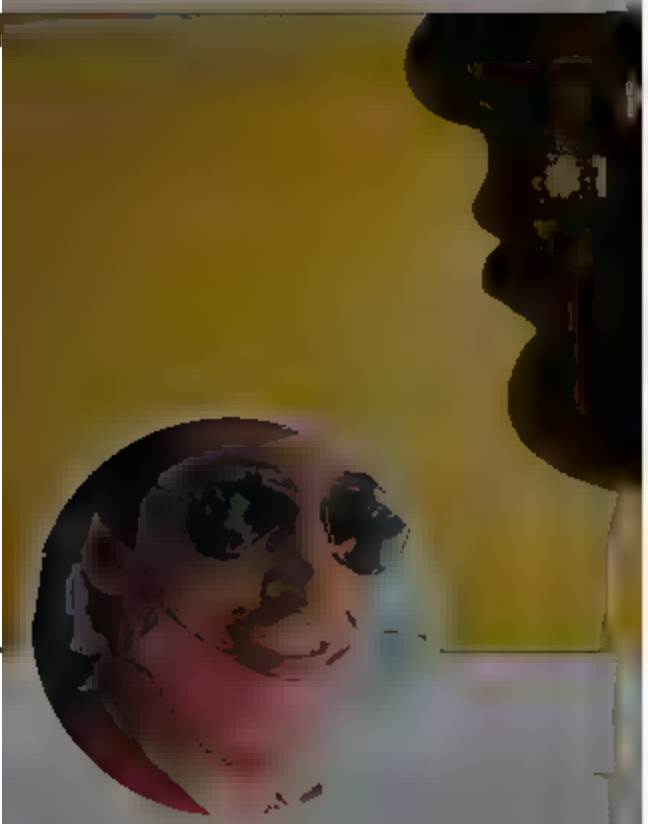
5/ But that failure to prosecute doesn't mean that the companies aren't breaking the law - and in fact weren't incorporated specifically to engage in illegal acts. Which might mean their charters are invalid. And in that case.. their executives AND shareholders might be liable.

2 1 7



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Feb 2019

6/ So have fun imagining the kind of personal liability that might result from a 24-year-old college graduate who smokes himself into schizophrenia and kills his family, Psychosis Inc. You deserve it!



8 10

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Let's talk about liability, friends. Hypothetically only, of course. "Failure to warn" is a simple enough concept: manufacturers or retailers are presumed to have more knowledge about their products than consumers and thus must disclose the risks of those products.

5 21

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ For example, if a product regularly/frequently caused its users to become psychotic, a manufacturer or retailer would be liable for failing to explain that risk. Further, the manufacturer has a DUTY to remain knowledgeable about potential risks. Ignorance is no defense.

11:35 AM - 27 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 10 Likes

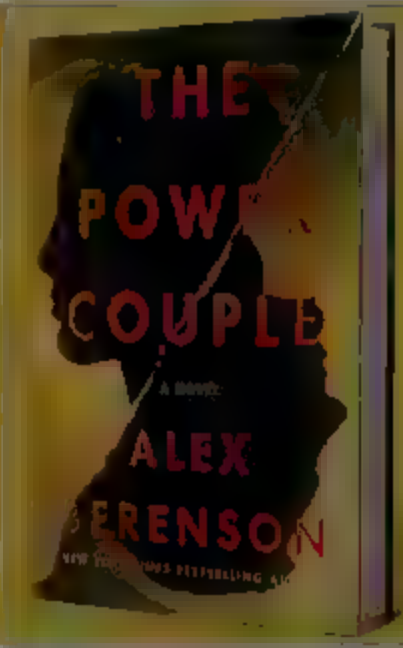
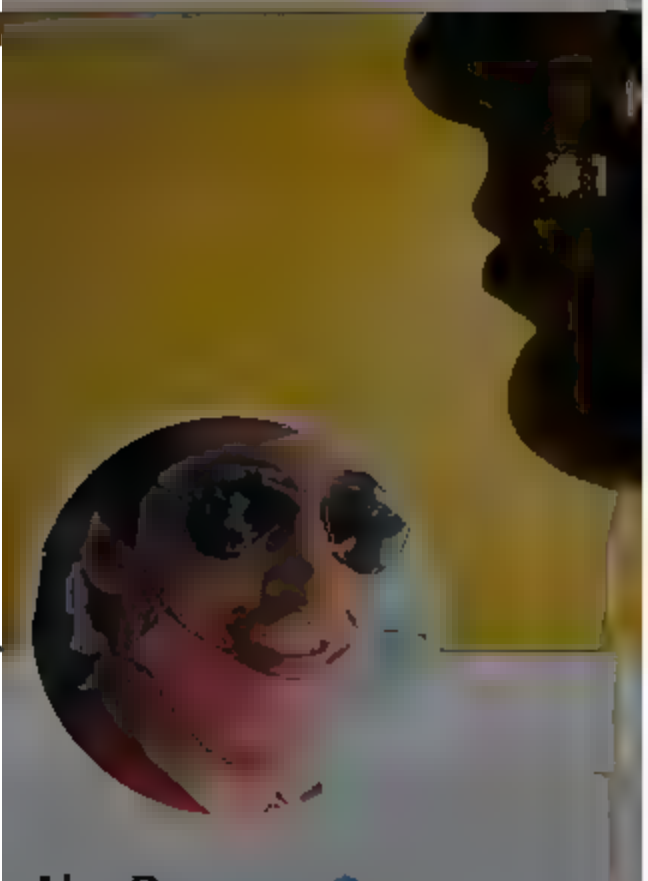
3 1 10

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Feb 2019



3/ Now, here's where it gets even more interesting. Corporate structures provide legal protection for investors and officers. The company may be liable, but they are not. But - as some savvy lawyers have noted - companies can only be incorporated for "lawful" purposes.

Primary



Maine law is the same

§301. Corporate purposes

1. Purpose of engaging in lawful business. A corporation subject to this Act has the purpose of engaging in any lawful business unless a more limited purpose is set forth in the articles of incorporation.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ For example, if a product regularly/frequently caused its users to become psychotic, a manufacturer or retailer would be liable for failing to explain that risk. Further, the manufacturer has a DUTY to remain knowledgeable about potential risks. Ignorance is no defense.

3 1 10

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ Now, here's where it gets even more interesting. Corporate structures provide legal protection for investors and officers. The company may be liable, but they are not. But - as some savvy lawyers have noted - companies can only be incorporated for "lawful" purposes.

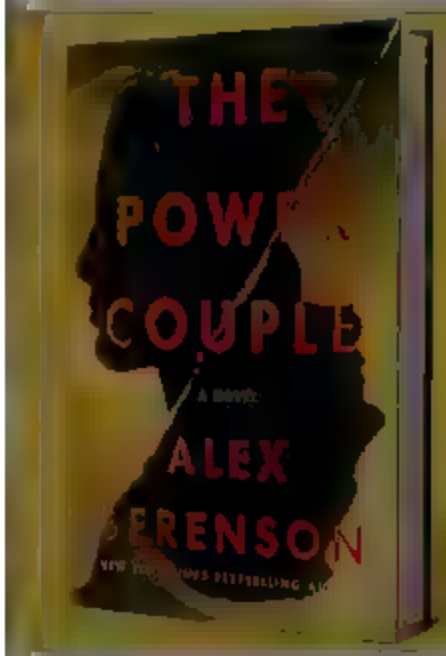
Primary

Maine law is the same:

§301. Corporate purposes

1. Purpose of engaging in lawful business. A corporation subject to this Act has the purpose of engaging in any lawful business unless a more limited purpose is set forth in the articles of incorporation.

This is a confidential e-mail from:



11:38 AM - 27 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

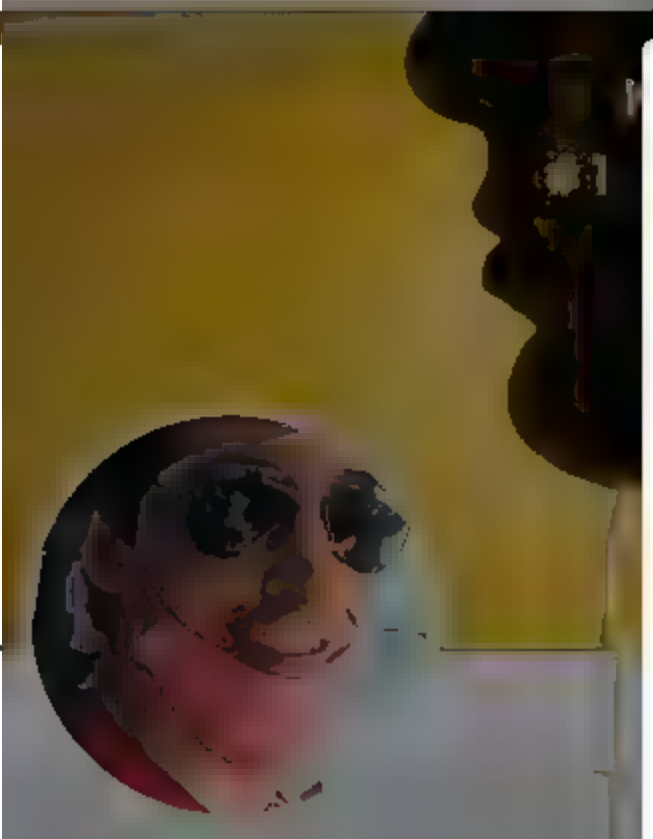
2 1 5

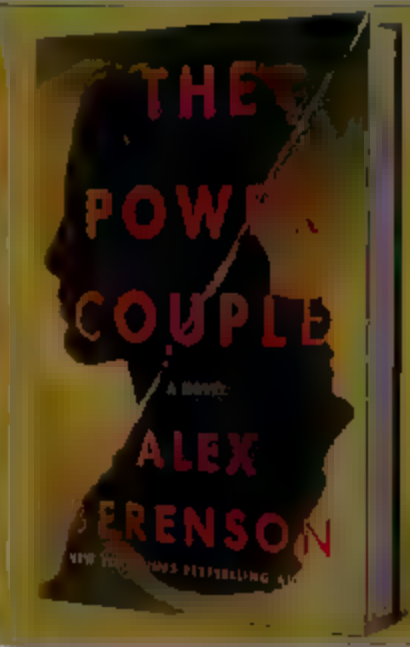


Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Feb 2019

4/ As none other than the eminent scholar @MarkARKleiman has noted, under current federal law, companies that produce or sell cannabis "are engaging in

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Wowowow. Every legalizer myth (almost: opioids aren't in there) in one two-minute piece of propaganda. Wonder if Spike Jonze can be held personally liable for psychosis resulting from MedMen's cannabis. Start reading up on failure to warn, Spike.
m.youtube.com/watch?v=g74sc4...

5:09 PM - 26 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 9 Likes

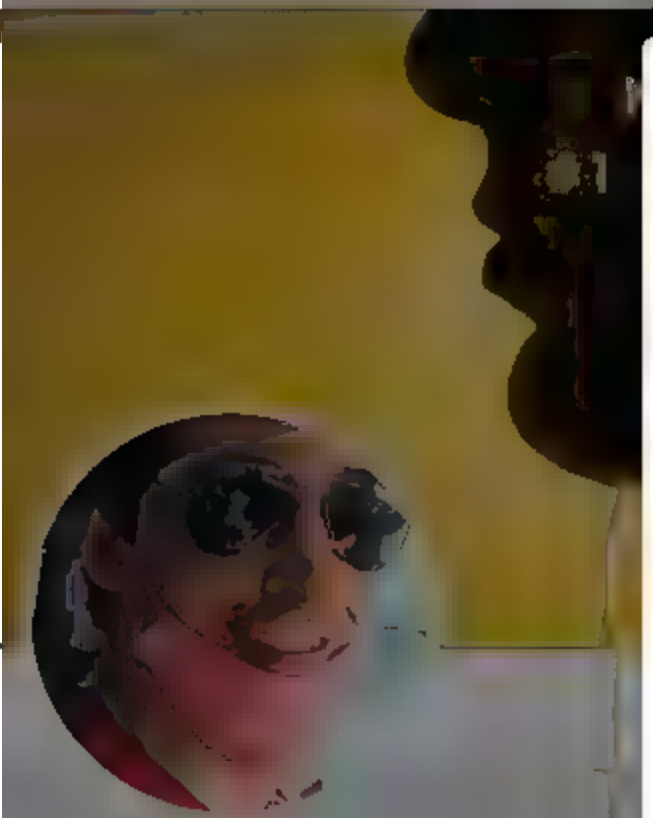
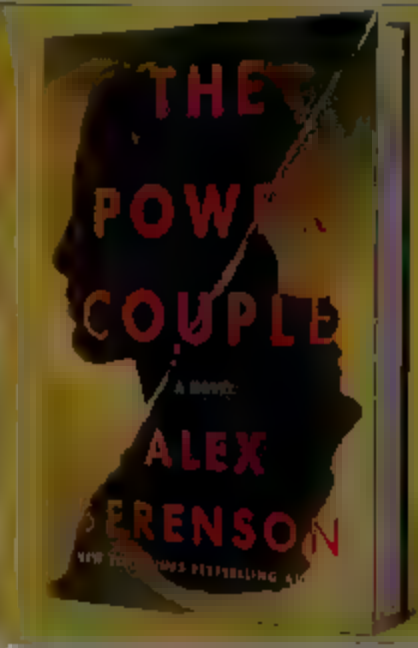
17 3 9

Chris Leawood @ChrisLeawood · 26 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I still can't get over that sad attempt you tried to pull off on Rogan. I still cringe at your lack of knowledge. Yikes!

1 8



Farfignewgun @fahrvergnugn · 2 Apr 2019
Read Lancet study. Take head out of sand. Don't contribute to a growing public health crisis. don't conflate profit motive with scientific method.



Anthony Johnson @anthonyj1977 · 26 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Will Spike Jonze be held liable for your Reefer Madness claims? No.

1 5

Farfignewgun @fahrvergnugn · 2 Apr 2019
Read Lancet study. Take head out of sand. Don't contribute to a growing public health crisis. don't conflate profit motive with scientific method.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Let's talk about liability, friends. Hypothetically only, of course. "Failure to warn" is a simple enough concept: manufacturers or retailers are presumed to have more knowledge about their products than consumers and thus must disclose the risks of those products.

11:30 AM - 27 Feb 2019

21 Likes

5 21

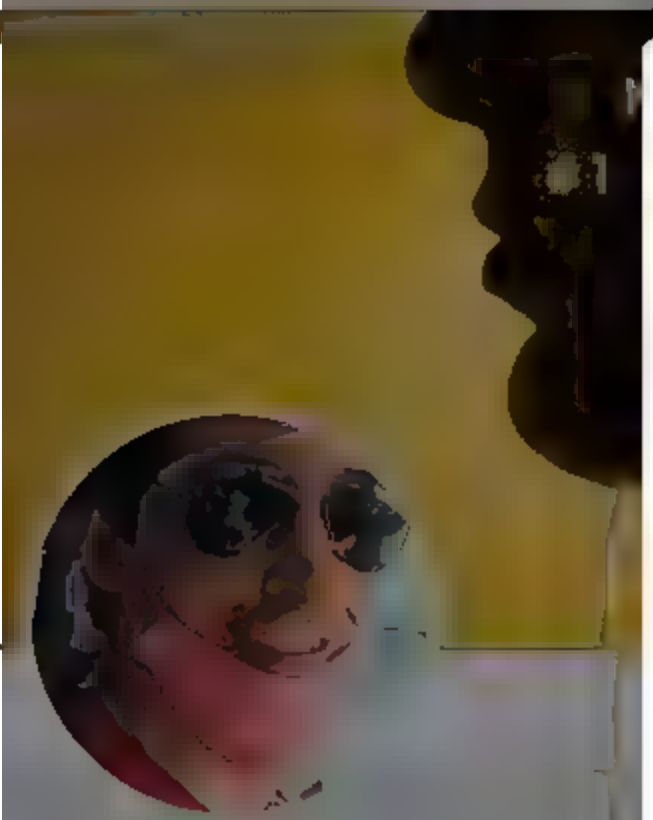
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Feb 2019

2/ For example, if a product regularly/frequently caused its users to become psychotic, a manufacturer or retailer would be liable for failing to explain that risk. Further, the manufacturer has a DUTY to remain knowledgeable about potential risks. Ignorance is no defense.

3 1 10

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Feb 2019

3/ Now, here's where it gets even more interesting. Corporate structures provide legal protection for investors and officers. The company may be liable, but they are not. But - as some savvy lawyers have noted - companies can only be incorporated for "lawful" purposes.



Primary

Maine law is the same

§301. Corporate purposes

1. Purpose of engaging in lawful business. A corporation subject to this Act has the purpose of engaging in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Feb 2019

Talking to a legislator in the Midwest today about a possible appearance and he said, "People are passing around the [illegible] piece..." As if it's samizdat! And yet it's so far from the way that the elite media has hyped this drug for so long that it almost is.

6 3 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

imprimis.hillsdale.edu/marijuana-ment

2:19 PM - 26 Feb 2019

9 Retweets 10 Likes

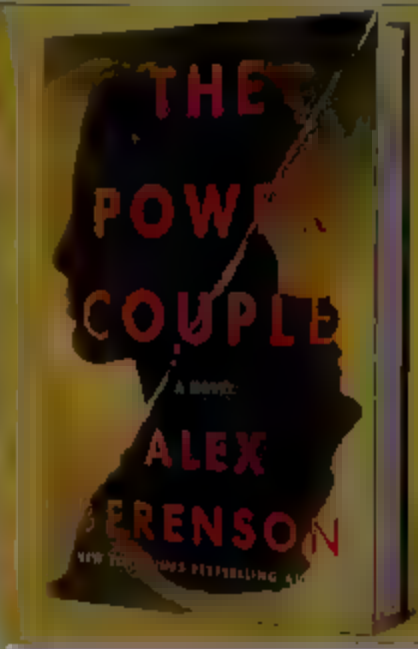
2 9 10

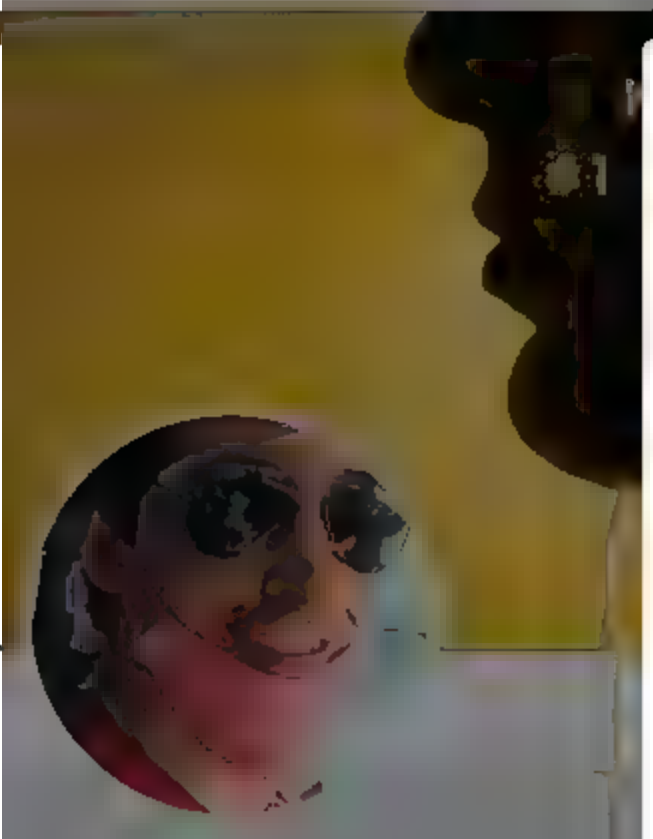
Billy Bob @Endthelobbie · 27 Feb 2019

Replying to [illegible]



You can write the same thing over and over. It doesn't make it any more correct than the first time. There are Doctors in this field and you should listen to them. They've already called you out for misrepresenting their findings.

2 1 1

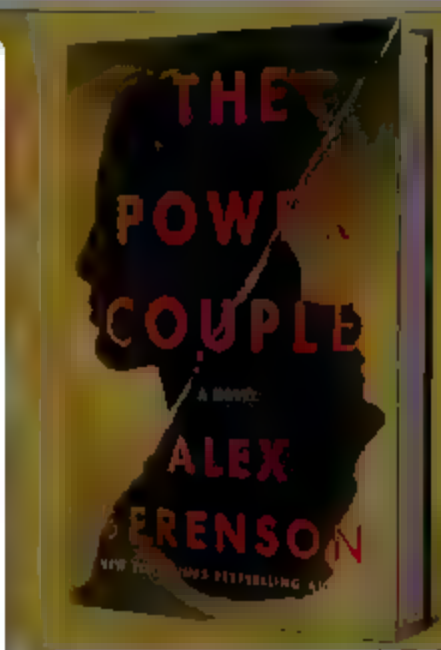


Billy Bob @Endthelobbie · 27 Feb 2019

As for recreational use, alcohol has no accepted medical use and judging by the sheer number of AA members, is prone to abuse. People die violently from it daily. It is not on a DEA schedule. Picking the 300 people in a psych-ward doesn't really show anything.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Talking to a legislator in the Midwest today about a possible appearance and he said, "People are passing around the @HCImprimis piece..." As if it's samizdat! And yet it's so far from the way that the elite media has hyped this drug for so long that it almost is.

1:42 PM - 26 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 7 Likes

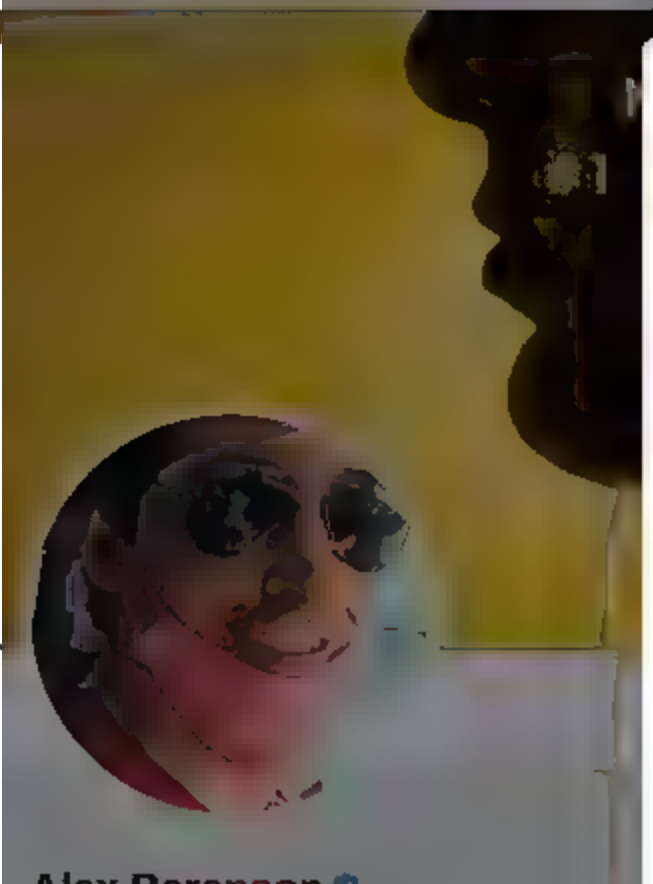
6 3 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Feb 2019

2 9 10

Eat Meat Be Happy! @swedishbikini · 26 Feb 2019
Replying to



Please post a link to the piece you are referring. Thank you, ya boy Deej @deejtweetsgood · 26 Feb 2019

Replying to

"Elite media". Man, your language gets more aligned with the Fox ghouls with every tweet, which seems weird for a dude with bylines at The NY Times.

Richard T. Ator @TyranicalDespot · 27 Feb 2019
Replying to

That's what I like to hear.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

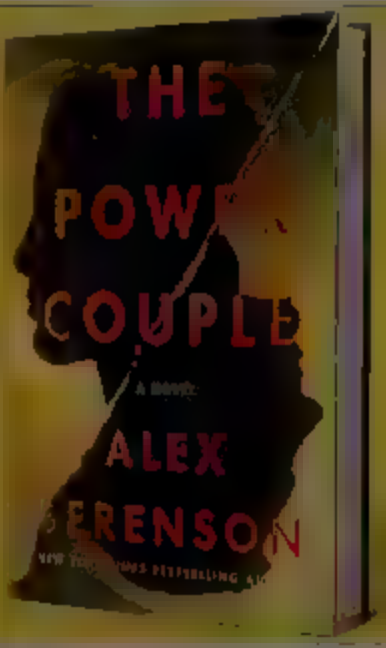
Appreciate the attaboy, but I don't face these trolls. I mute them. This discussion is far too important to waste time on "Radical Russ" et al...

1:55 PM - 26 Feb 2019

2

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 26 Feb 2019

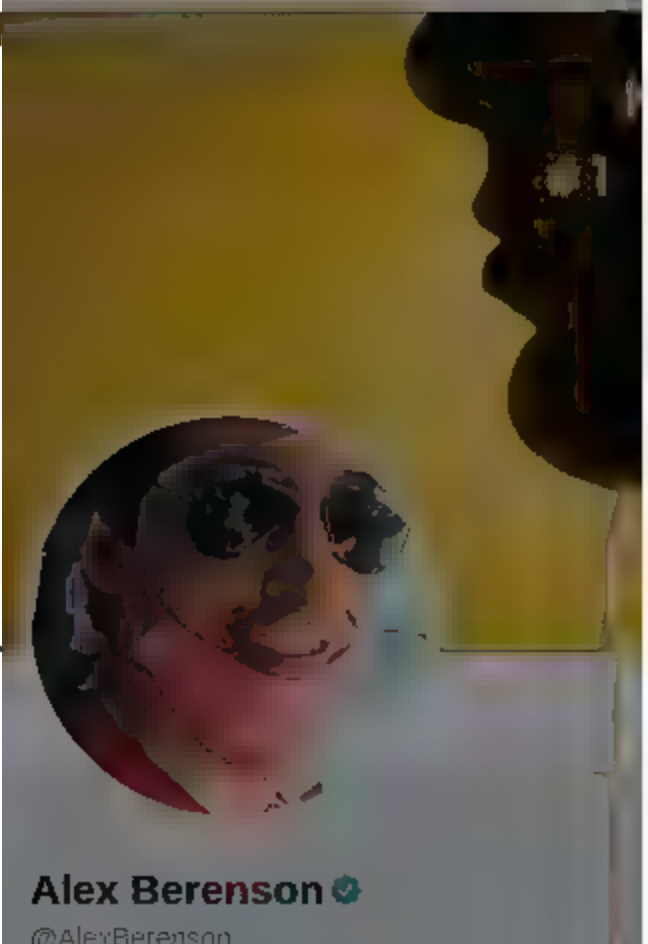
Replying to



Does this make me king of the marijuana trolls?

Well, then, before ye cross the Bridge of Death, ye must answer me these questions three, ere the other side ye see.

What... is your name?



What... is your quest?

What... is the original title of the movie, "Reefer Madness?"

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

7 20 31

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ I don't know how many times today's journo-children will need to learn this lesson: Reporters should never, never trust people with a financial (or ideological) interest in the widespread use of an addictive product to be honest about its risks.

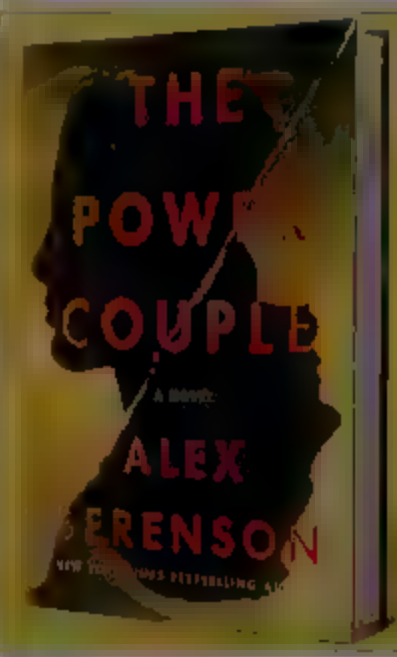
12:02 PM - 26 Feb 2019

8 Retweets 28 Likes

6 8 28

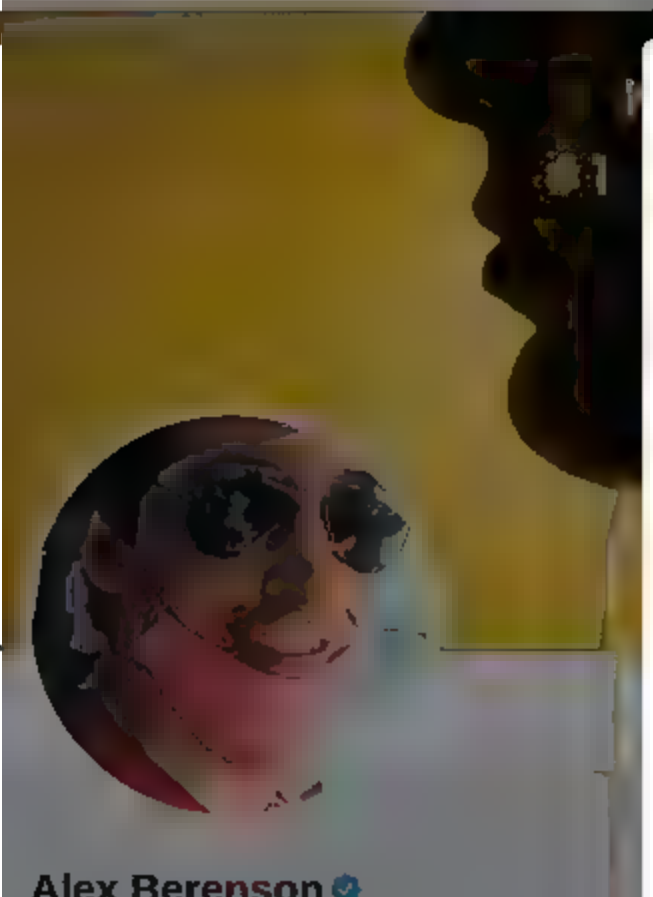
Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 26 Feb 2019

Replying to



Journalists are expected to give the full story.

Do you intend to continue to disregard my question about the US Government owning a patent on ability to heal and protect the brain? #6630507



Inventor: Aidan J. Hampson, Julius Axelrod, Maurizio Grimaldi

Current Assignee : US Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ A fascinating look at the post-WWII US crisis in stimulant use, which eerily presages the opioid and cannabis crises...
"The first amphetamine epidemic was iatrogenic, created by the pharmaceutical industry and (mostly) well-meaning prescribers..."

12:00 PM - 26 Feb 2019

20 Retweets 31 Likes

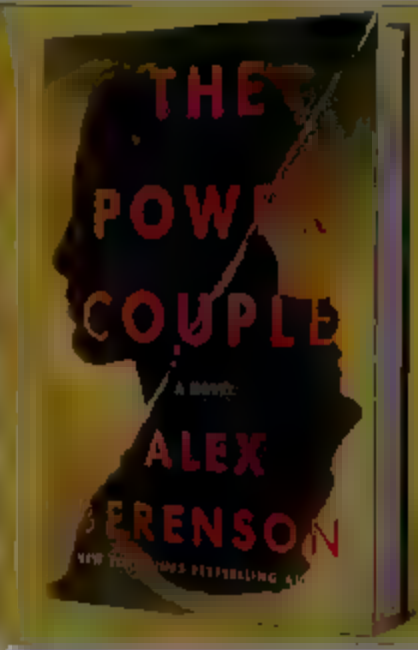
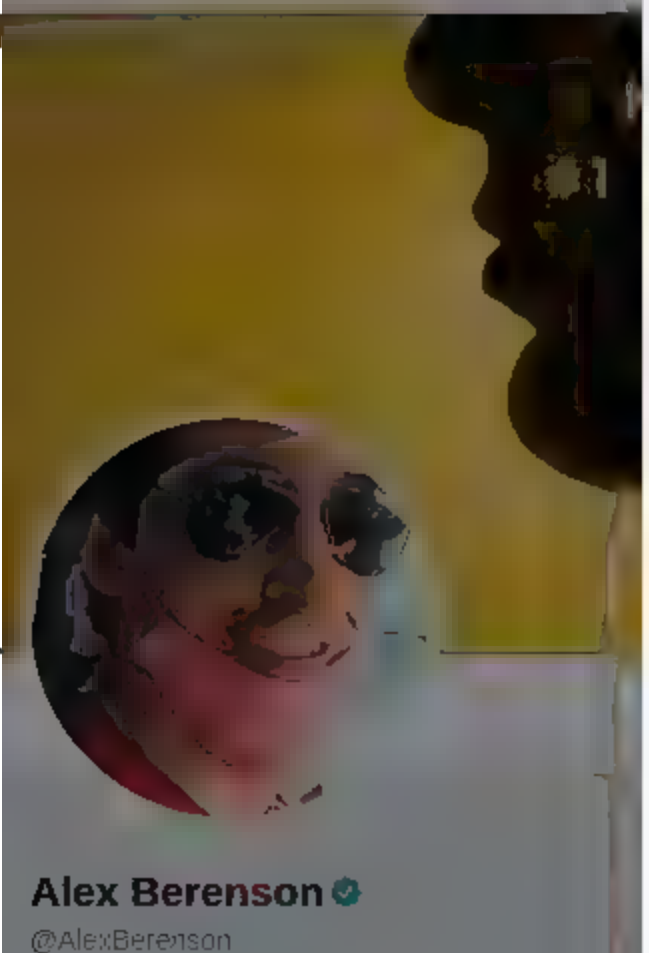
7 20 31



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Feb 2019
2/ I don't know how many times today's journo-children will need to learn this lesson: Reporters should never, never trust people with a financial (or ideological) interest in the widespread use of an addictive product to be honest about its risks.

6 8 28



Har @C_D_T_98 · 26 Feb 2019
Replying to

1/ Loved TYC, support its message 100%. Agree that profits corrupted pharma. However, not sure I agree with analogy of cannabis to amphetamines or even opioids. The latter two have valid medical use, even if pushed too heavily by

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Amid all the despairing emails I've received, I have to share this one, which at least has a touch of comic relief. All identifying details removed for obvious reasons. The poor guy! Here's hoping for decreased motility.

mail.google.com

Primary

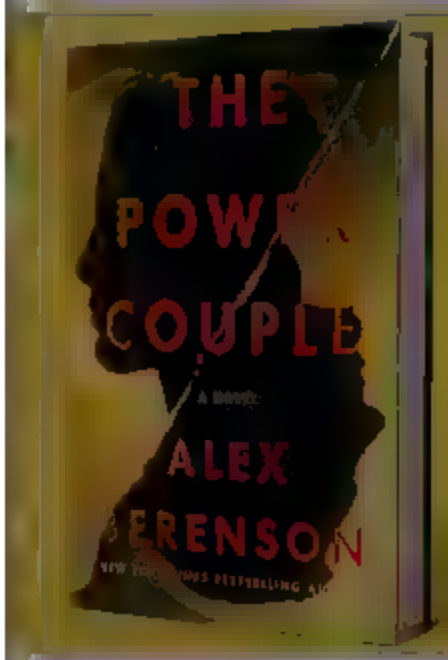
[redacted] Details

I just watched your joe rogan podcast and I have no idea who you are and have never heard of you before this...

But I want to tell you as someone who has drank since I was a young man ([redacted] and now I am [redacted]. I can tell you that it is good and bad.

The reason for this email (if you will even read it) is due to what happened to me because I started to use edibles.

Once weed became legal in California, I took an edible last year. I have not tried a single illegal drug at that point.



I started taking edibles for my insomnia for a few months now and I have had to worst increase in anxiety.

7:07 AM - 26 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 8 Likes

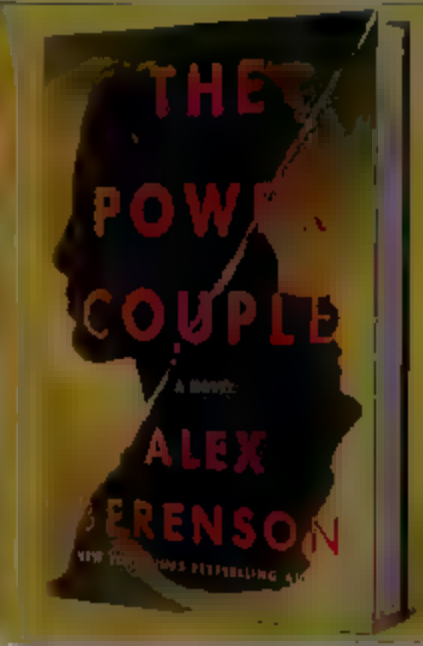
5 3 8

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Elizabeth - Thanks for the mention! With Illinois considering legalization, I hope @chicagotribune might run a review (ideally by someone like @gladwell, who has no preconceived notions on the topic!)

Elizabeth Taylor @etayloretayor
2) Hot Book of the Week: 'Tell Your Children: The Truth About Marijuana, Mental Illness, and Violence' by @AlexBerenson @simonschuster What does legalization of pot really mean? via @TheNationalBook bit.ly/2TjVjVq

Show this thread

6:35 PM - 25 Feb 2019

7 Retweets 17 Likes

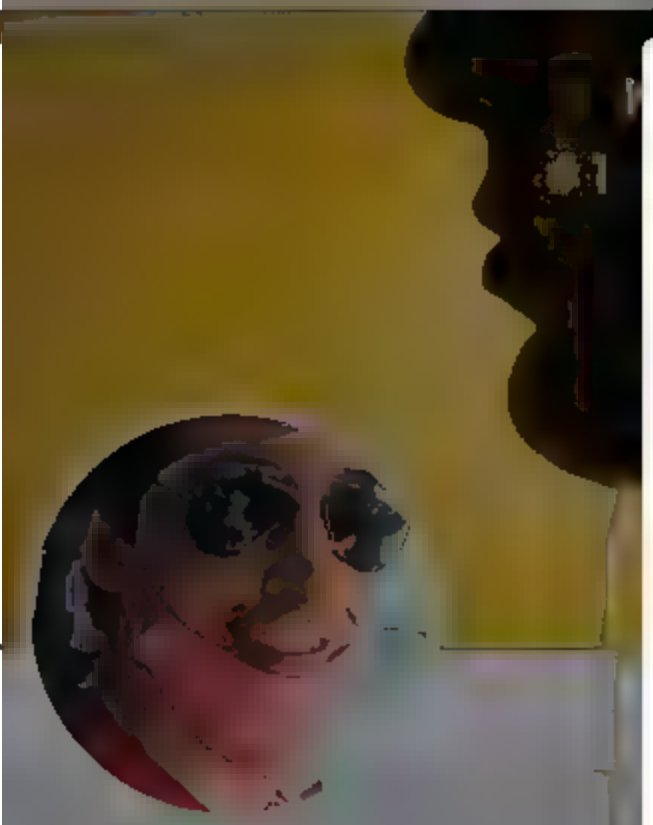
6 7 17

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 25 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
The book is worth buying and very truthful. Please get this book and read it with a open.



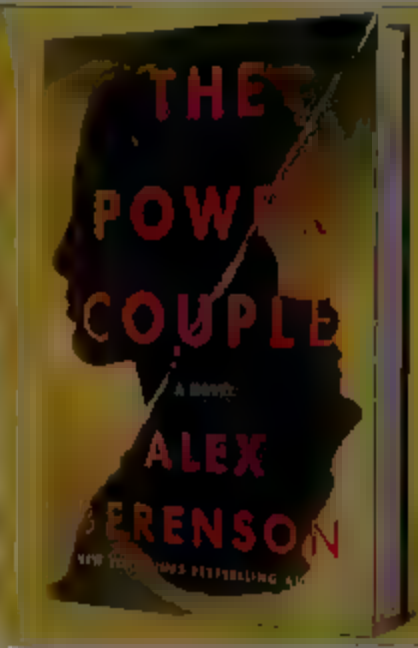
1

Faded @Aldridge25 · 25 Feb 2019
Far from truthful.

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
"no preconceived notions" = no expertise. Don't confuse the question of how harmful cannabis is or isn't with the question of what is the optimal, (not

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

The TYC hardback is now a full 40% off on Amazon - only $15.60! Jump on that offer - it may not last long...

amazon.com/gp/aw/d/1982[illegible] ...

5:17 PM - 24 Feb 2019

10 Retweets 18 Likes

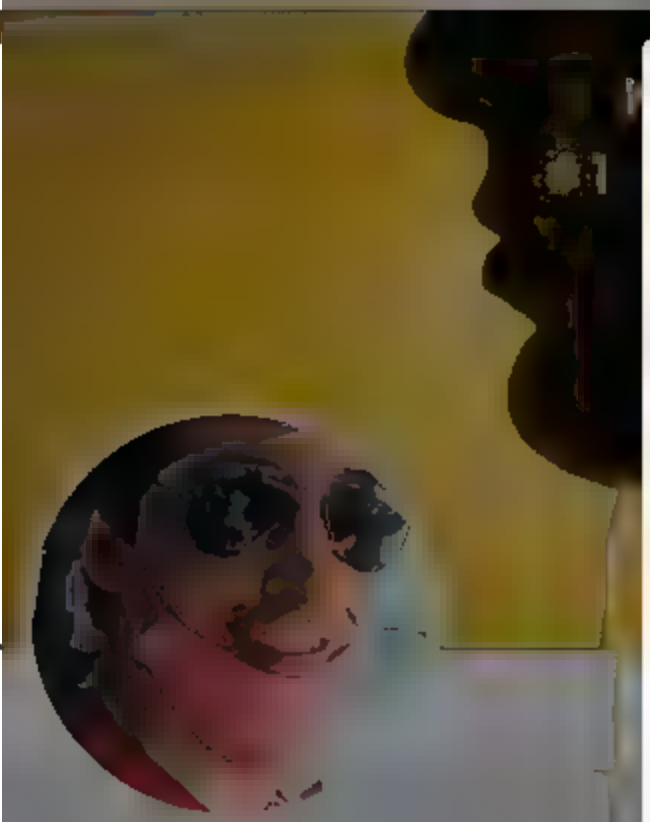
9 10 18

Joe Dean @JoeDean261 · 24 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Thank you for this important book. You are saving lives! [illegible]

1 2



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 24 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
*2/5ths.

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor
Replying to @AlexBerenson
"The hardcover hasn't even been out for a month and they've already slashed the price by 1/3!" -
-@AlexBerenson

✚Faded @Aldridge25 · 25 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Research the plant for free and draw your own conclusions. This is cherry picked studies that fit his narrative to sell you a book of misrepresentations .

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Since Jan. 26, at least 4 multiple/mass killers have had a publicly reported cannabis/mental illness connection;
Dakota Theriot (allegedly killed 5 in LA; heavy user, psychotic)
Gary Martin (killed five in IL; regular user; displayed odd behavior)

12:54 PM - 24 Feb 2019

18 Retweets 30 Likes

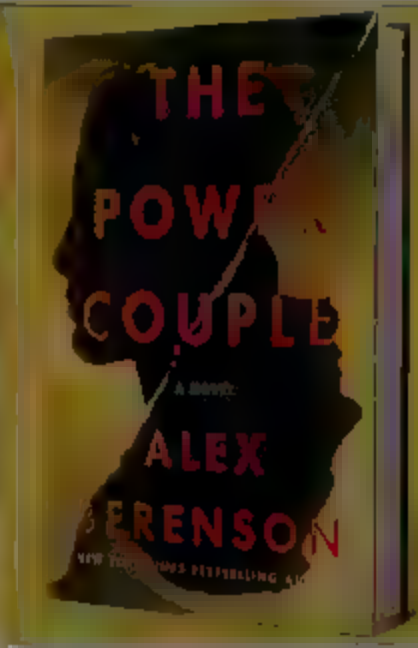
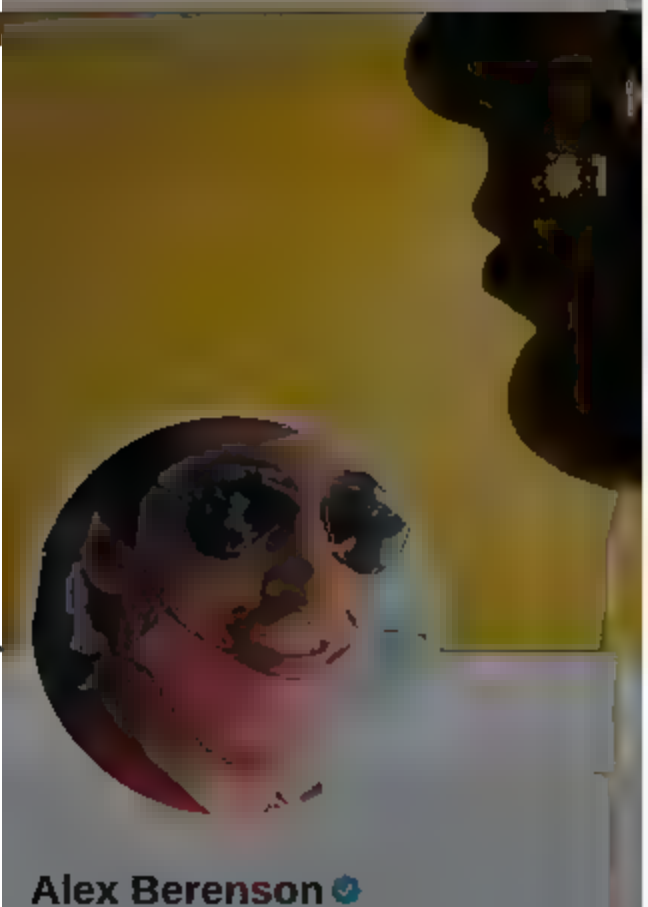
15 18 30



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Feb 2019
Camden Nicholson (allegedly killed 3 in CA; used "excessive amounts" of marijuana and family hoped to have him declared mentally ill, per LA Times)
Alexander Lewis-Ranwell (allegedly killed 3 in the UK; campaigned for cannabis legalization there, per the Telegraph)

3 8 15

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Feb 2019
3/ That's four cases, with 16 victims. Not in the last decade, or even the last year. In the last month. Exactly what is going to have to happen before all the journalists wondering exactly how the opioid crisis got so bad decide to look at this issue?



4 11 31

jimt @lance_computers · 24 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Some study is certainly warranted in this case. Don't forget the ongoing questions over ADHD meds and violent activity, especially after stopping the

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Camden Nicholson (allegedly killed 3 in CA; used "excessive amounts" of marijuana and family hoped to have him declared mentally ill, per LA Times)
Alexander Lewis-Ranwell (allegedly killed 3 in the UK; campaigned for cannabis legalization there, per the Telegraph)

3 8 15

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ That's four cases, with 16 victims. Not in the last decade, or even the last year. In the last month. Exactly what is going to have to happen before all the journalists wondering exactly how the opioid crisis got so bad decide to look at this issue?

1:03 PM - 24 Feb 2019

11 Retweets 31 Likes

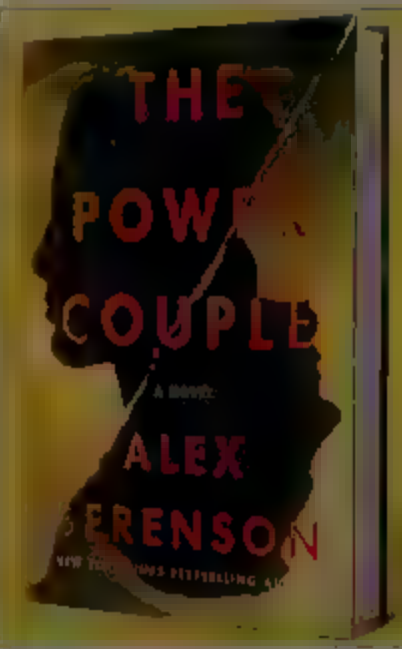
4 11 31

Faded @Aldridge25 · 24 Feb 2019
Replying to

Using crazy people and tragedies to sell books again I see. There's a special place for you !

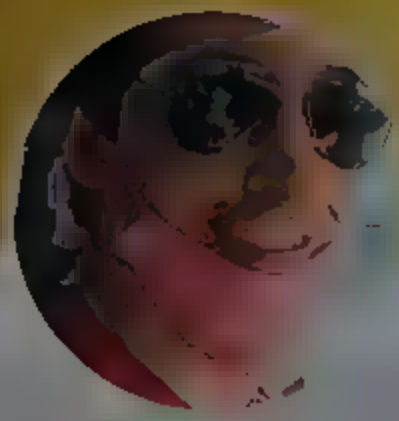
Heidi Anderson-Swan @SwanHJA · 25 Feb 2019
Replying to

Well said.

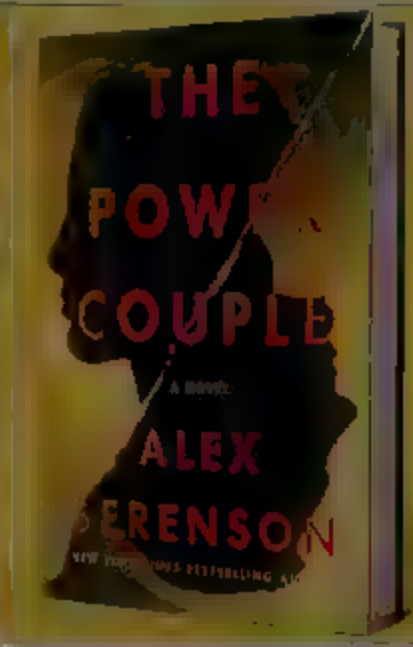


2

Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 25 Feb 2019
Replying to



It seems as if leading papers haven't noticed or are taking a pass on a significant cause of violence in US.



1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Feb 2019

1/ Since Jan. 26, at least 4 multiple/mass killers have had a publicly reported cannabis/mental illness connection;
Dakota Theriot (allegedly killed 5 in LA; heavy user, psychotic)
Gary Martin (killed five in IL; regular user; displayed odd behavior)

15 18 30

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Camden Nicholson (allegedly killed 3 in CA; used "excessive amounts" of marijuana and family hoped to have him declared mentally ill, per LA Times)
Alexander Lewis-Ranwell (allegedly killed 3 in the UK; campaigned for cannabis legalization there, per the Telegraph)

12:57 PM - 24 Feb 2019

8 Retweets 15 Likes

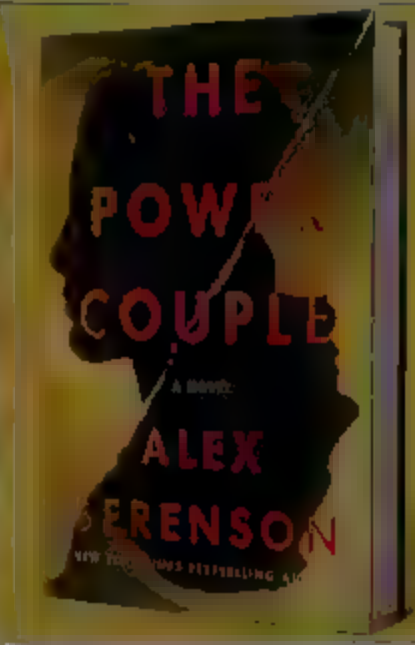
3 8 15



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Feb 2019

3/ That's four cases, with 16 victims. Not in the last decade, or even the last year. In the last month. Exactly what is going to have to happen before all the journalists wondering exactly how the opioid crisis got so bad decide to look at this issue?

4 11 31

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Two who escaped the whirlpool...

"Thanks for your book"

Paula [redacted]

As a mother of a 21 year old son who was diagnosed with schizophrenia after heavy marijuana use and experiencing up close the devastating psychotic episodes, you are such a welcome voice. Please, please keep up your advocacy to create awareness. It is exactly how you describe. I researched it as well as best I could when our family initially realized there was something terribly wrong. There is definitely a link...my son is living proof. It was devastating to see what he went through and will have to deal with his entire life but to raise awareness of the possible consequences is worth the ridicule and scorn and blowback you will undoubtably receive. My son is doing well right now on medication and therapy but for a few months about a year ago, the fear that he might hurt

Hi Alex,

Deeply grateful for your Joe Rogan interview. Thank you for what seems to me to be an honest attempt to contribute to the greater good. You have contributed to mine.

I've been regularly consuming THC for the last 12 months and although I have experienced tremendous insight, creativity and productivity in my job, I am terribly concerned with some very weird behaviors, thoughts and paranoias I have experienced in the last few months. Suicide ideation the most extreme.

Your interview and persistence to push back led to me to investigate if THC might be the issue. I honestly think it would have taken me months, maybe more, to seriously consider this possibility, if not for you and your work.

2:09 PM - 23 Feb 2019

7 Retweets 34 Likes

13 7 34

PromethiusIOI @PromethiusI · 23 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You fooled some rubes into buying your book. Congratulations.

1

This Tweet is unavailable.

ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 23 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Alex thank you so much for exposing the truth about marijuana! You may save a life.

Home About

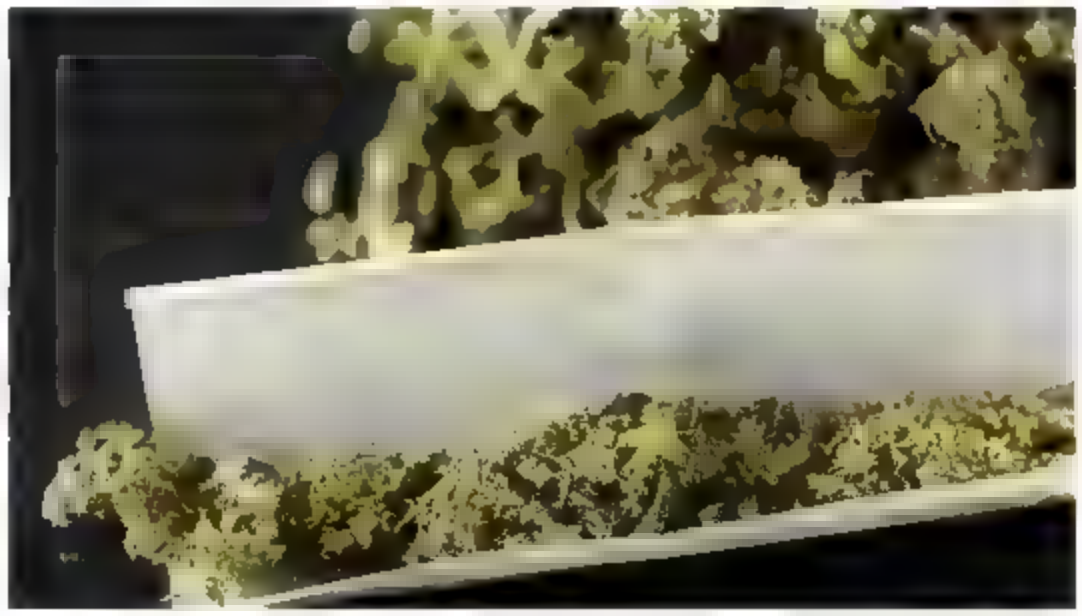
Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



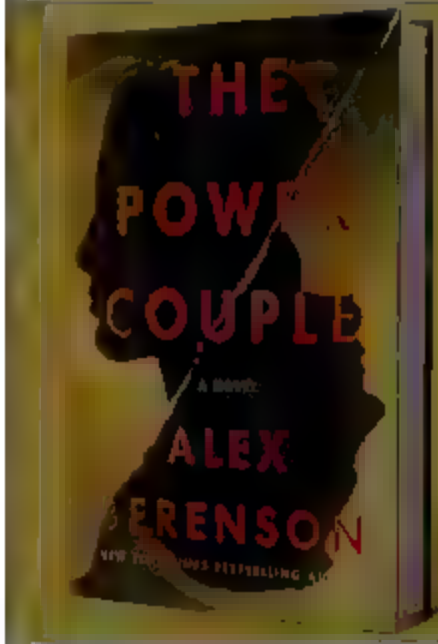
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

And now @thesundaytimes - among the top UK papers - has run a big story on brutal cannabis-linked violence, after a horrific case in which a six-year-old girl was raped and murdered by a 16-year-old user. Her family will be relieved to hear correlation is not causation.

Legal overhaul urged after fatal murder

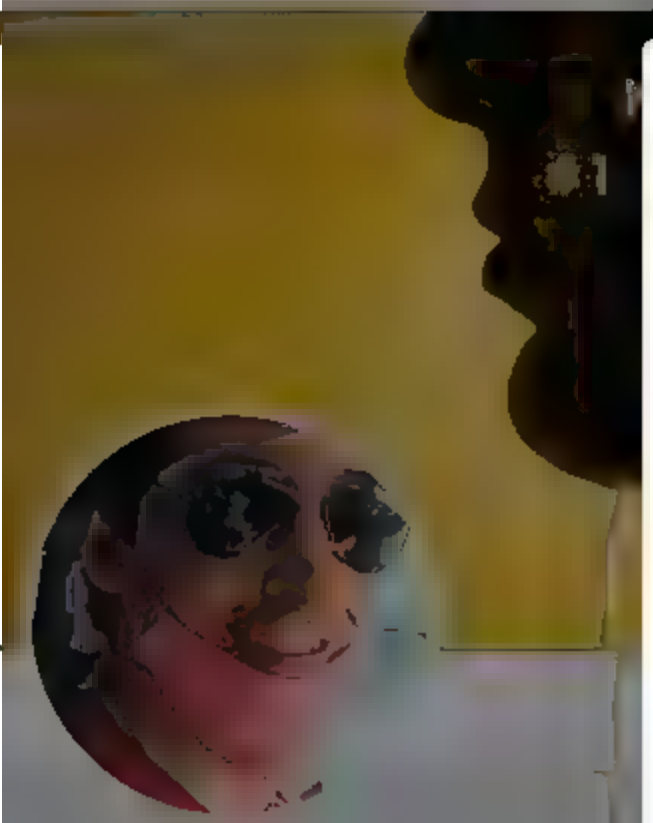
Mark Howarth

February 24 2019, 12:01am, The Sunday Times

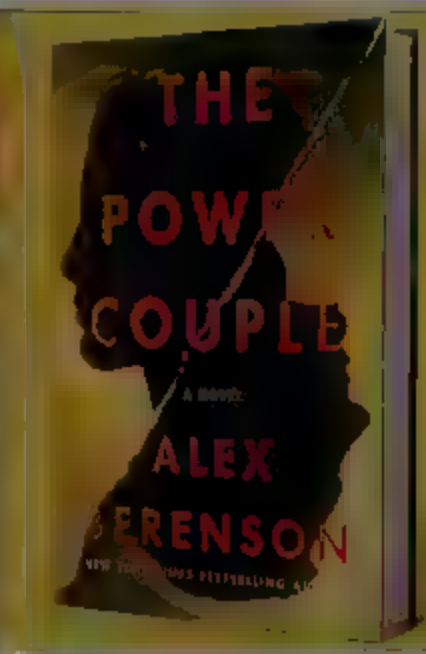


New figures show that Scottish teenage boys are among the most regular cannabis users in Europe

GETTY IMAGES



Campaigners have called for a crackdown on



6:26 AM - 24 Feb 2019

16 Retweets 34 Likes

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Hi Tom! TYC is #28 on Amazon this morning. True story. Please, keep ignoring me. But know this: I'm not going away. The book's not going away. The families who have lost kids aren't going away. Most of all, the truth isn't going away. Not now or ever.

> Tom Angell @tomangell
> Guys, we don't need any more Alex Berenson takedowns at this point, aight? He's been exposed and his PR tour is already over. Stop feeding him attention.

6:09 AM - 23 Feb 2019

8 Retweets 52 Likes

11 8 52

uS nosaJ @usnosaj · 23 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
The pro marijuana people HATE you.

The media could not be played.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

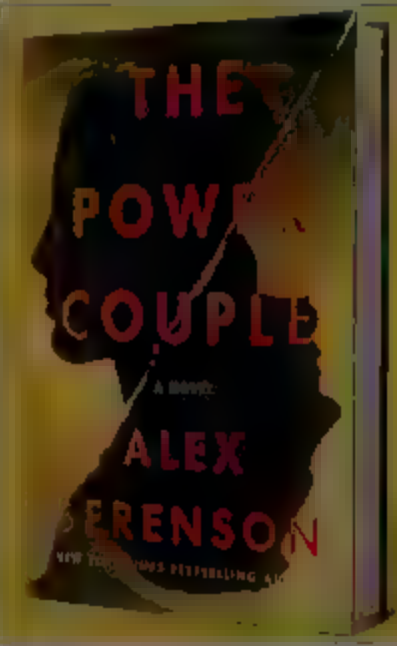
Replying to [redacted]

They're worried they might lose the precious. Not that they're addicted or anything... it's just their medicine. As for the hate, I'll eat every bowl they fill. It's fuel. And it tastes like victory.

12:38 PM - 23 Feb 2019

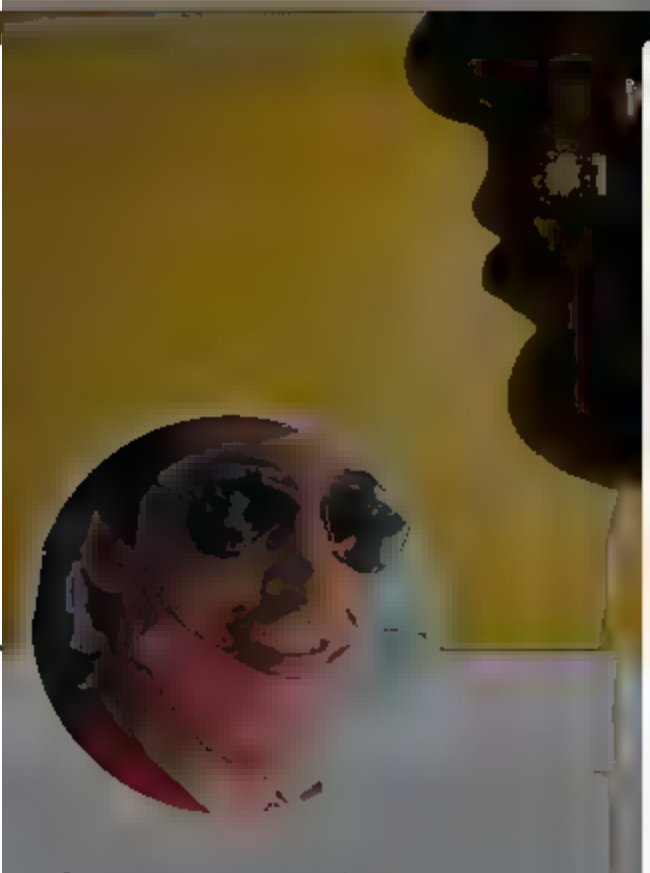
3 Likes

5 3



Nicon @Nemopunk15 · 23 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
How or why would anyone "lose the precious"? You're not still pretending legalization invented cannabis are you?

Faded @Aldridge25 · 23 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
No one is worried about a fiction writer.



Bruce Conners @bconners · 23 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You do love drama. Which makes it all the more surprising that you'd CHOOSE all this aggravation. You didn't have to write the book so badly but you did. So now you must deal with people who know more than you making fun of you. And you keep doing and saying dumb things. Thanks!

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

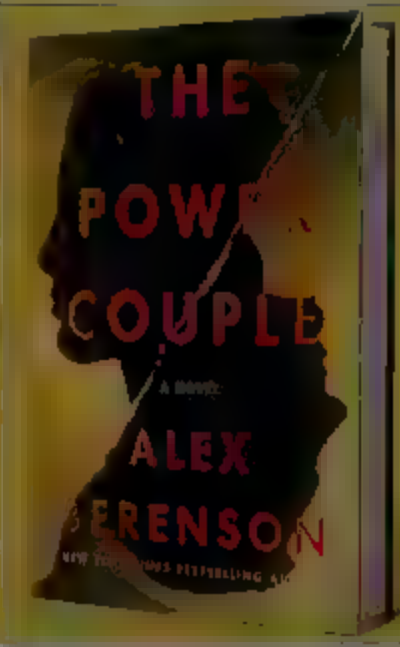
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

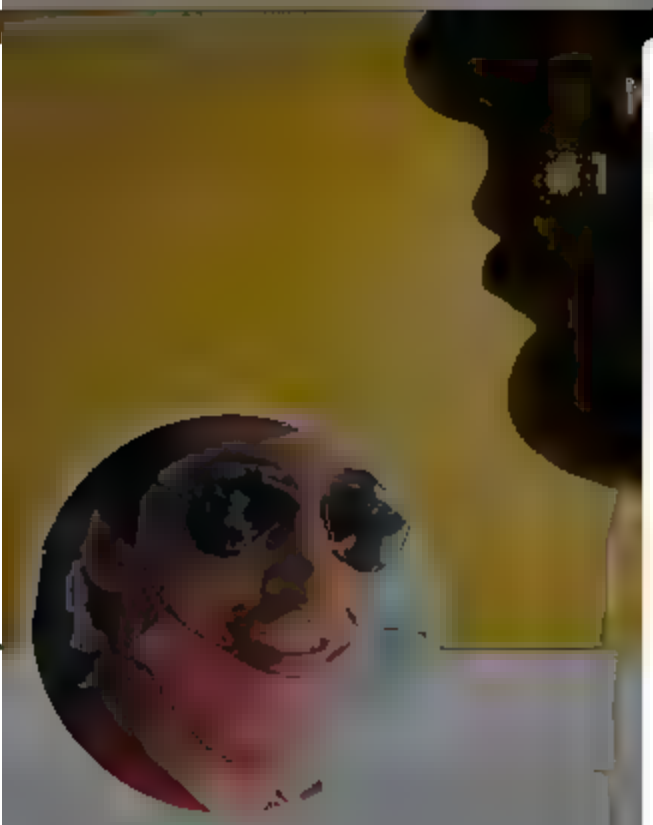
My sad realization about the state of (cannabis) journalism in 2019:

they're independent, rebellious, and intellectually honest, but really they all read from the same ideological playbook; they're a less cool version of the Williamsburg hipsters who are so tiresomely the same.



Most of all they don't know what they don't know, or how the world really works; they've never been investigative reporters, and they pretend not to care about money. So they don't know that corporate executives (or academics) will lie - to their faces and with conviction - about almost anything when money is involved. They don't even seem to understand the way needing a paycheck might bias their own reporting.

They've never been war or crime reporters, so they don't understand the devastation violence causes, or that when authority breaks down, it is



7:55 AM - 22 Feb 2019

11 Retweets 55 Likes

20 11 55

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Thanks @IngrahamAngle for the conversation tonight - and giving me the chance to keep spreading the word about the serious mental health risks of marijuana!

8:24 PM - 22 Feb 2019

10 Retweets 45 Likes

8 10 45

Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 22 Feb 2019
Replying to

The US Government holds a patent on ability to heal and protect the brain.
US Patent Number 6630507
Is that in your book, ?

Inventor: Aidan J. Hampson, Julius Axelrod, Maurizio Grimaldi

Current Assignee : US Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)

Worldwide applications

1999 ~~AT~~ JP EP WO DE AU US ~~CA~~

Application US09/674,028 events

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

15 13 34

Thiago Biancheti @biancheti · 21 Feb 2019

Alex, do you have plans to come to Brazil to launch your book?

1

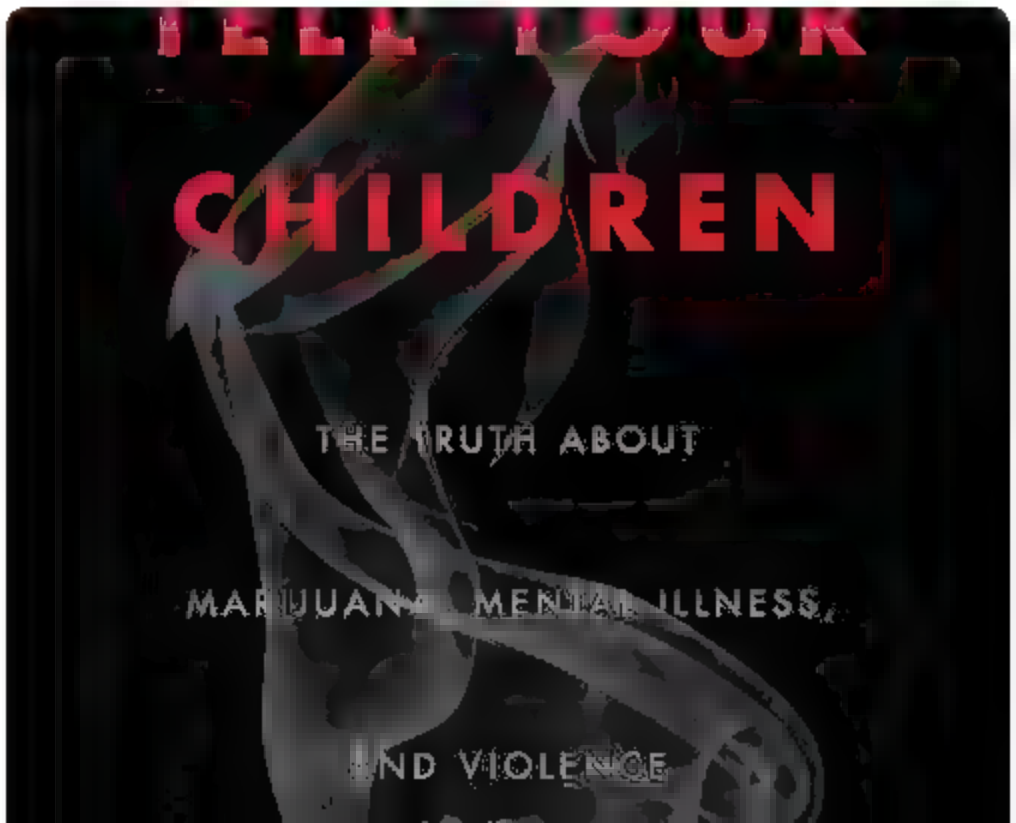
Alex Berenson ✓

@AlexBerenson

Replying to

If I can find a Brazilian publisher, I'll gladly come!

6:32 PM - 21 Feb 2019



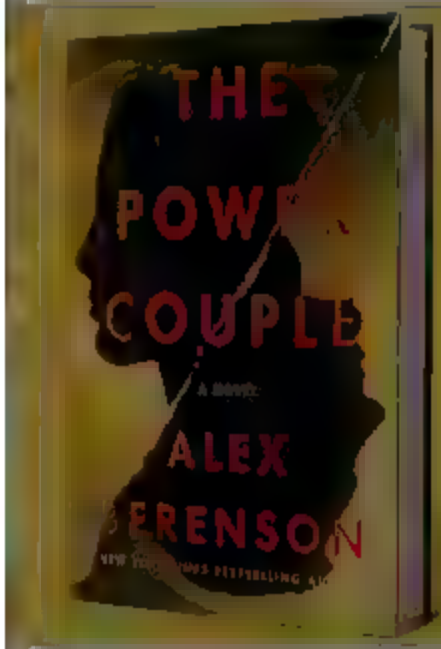
1 Like

2 1

Thiago Biancheti @biancheti · 21 Feb 2019

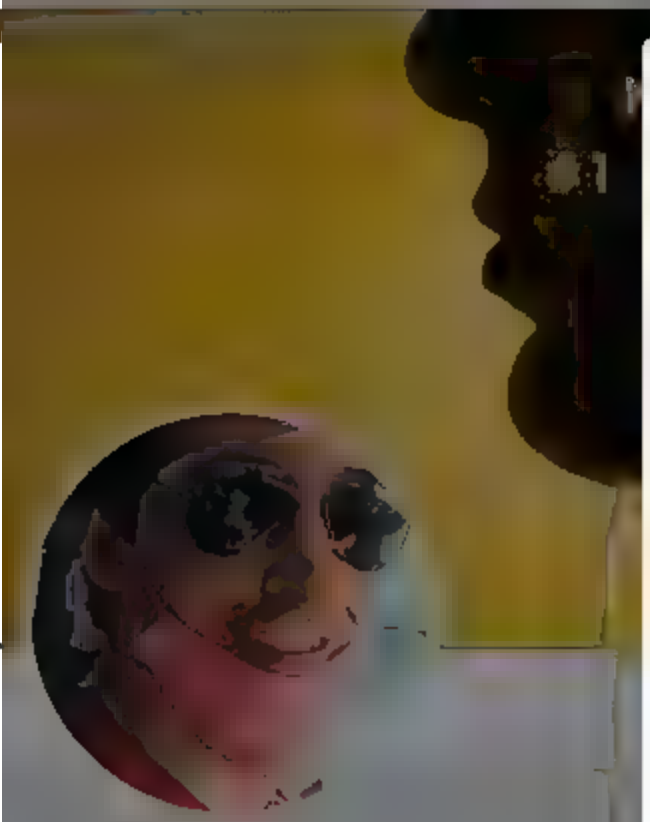
Replying to

Podemos comprar esta briga, meu amigo! Seria excelente ter o livro em português.

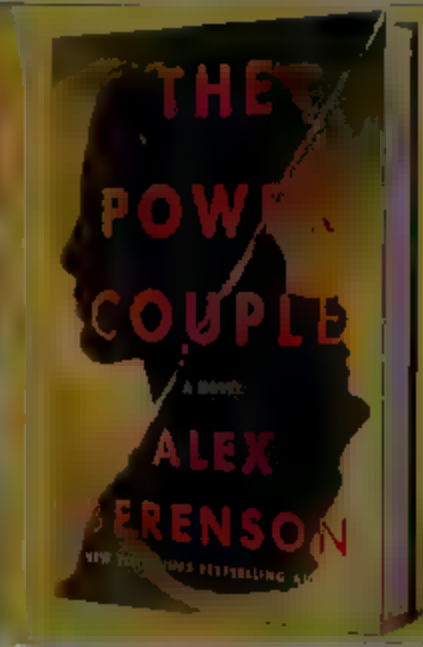


Alex Berenson ✓

@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



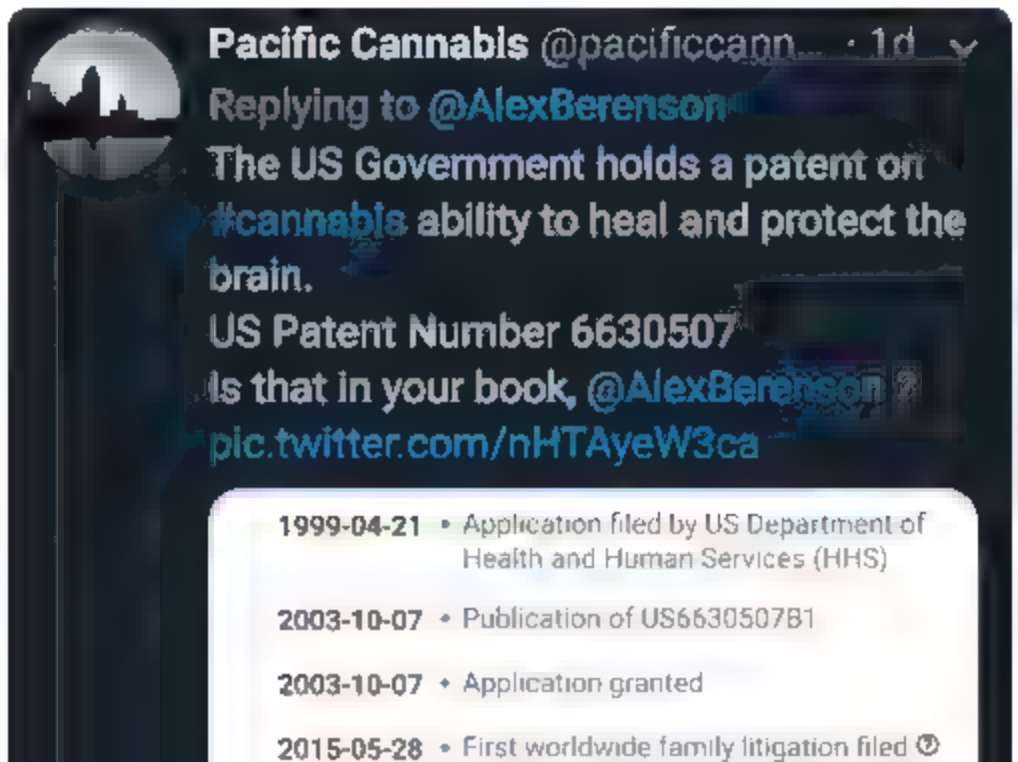
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1) Ignore primary outcome. 2) Pretend caveats or discussions of limitations are primary outcome. 3) "Correlation is not causation." 4) Rinse and repeat.



5:55 PM - 21 Feb 2019

6 Retweets 18 Likes

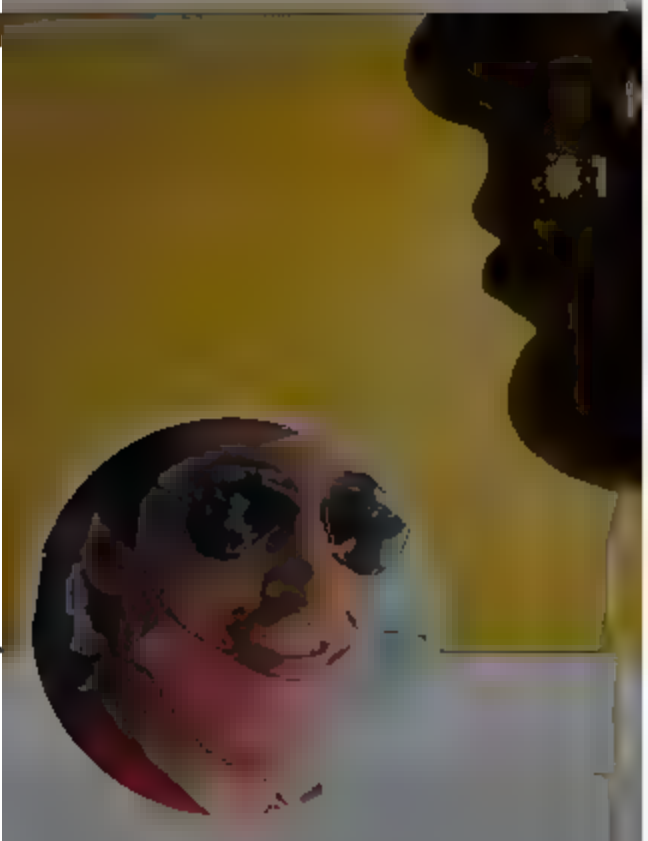
9 6 18

Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 21 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]

1) Ignore repeated question
2) Pretend you don't see repeated question
3) Correspondence is not important to sell books
4) Ignore question and repeat sales pitch

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ Shouting "Reefer Madness" while trying not to hear the still small voice that says, "Why does this feel so much like tobacco in 1955?" must hurt. So I almost feel bad for them. Almost. Then I remember their intellectual weakness and hypocrisy. And I stop worrying about them...

7 4 28

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ And remind myself people are becoming psychotic and dying every day from the preventable health catastrophe that comes with encouraging marijuana use. Those are the folks who deserve our sympathy. No one else.

5:10 PM - 21 Feb 2019

7 Retweets 31 Likes

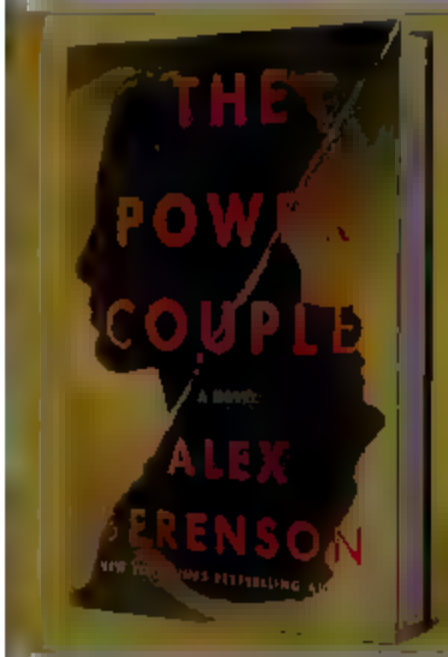
10 7 31

Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 21 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
There should be some pretty massive lawsuits in the future. This isn't like tobacco and alcohol which has been used forever. De facto legal.

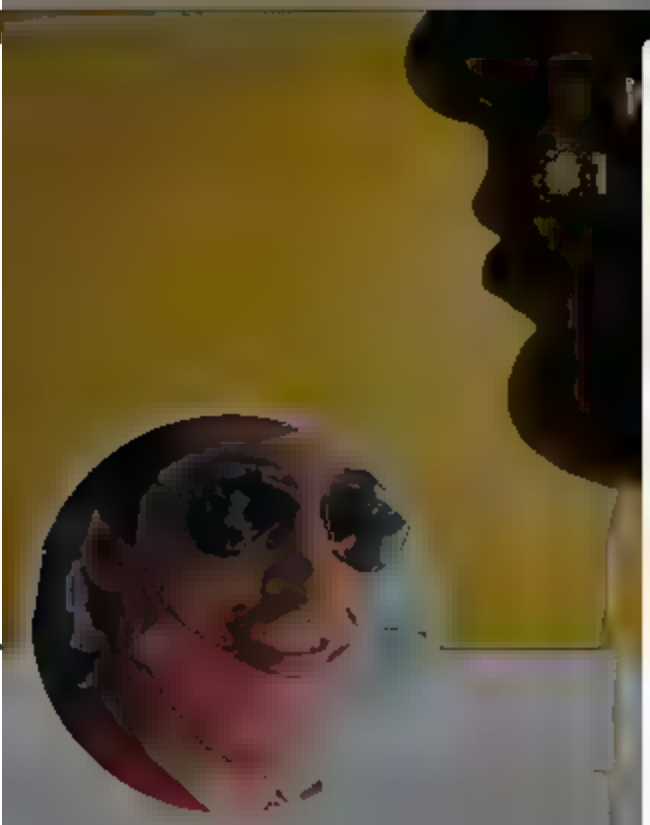
Lawmakers and advocates pushed and pushed to make marijuana legal. Culpability.

3



fan @kokondo12 · 21 Feb 2019
Marijuana hasn't been used 'forever'?

The future is green. The future is freedom.

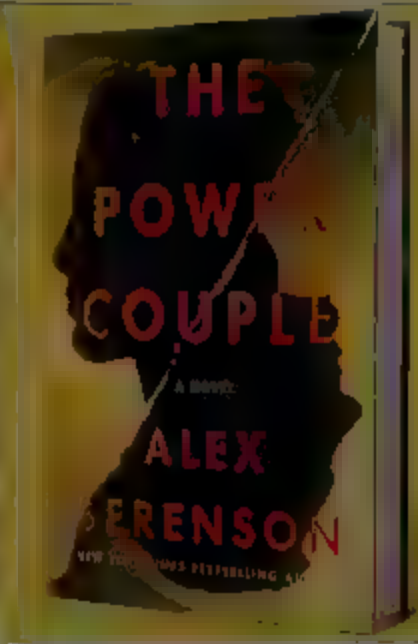


Let's follow [redacted] lead and adopt a policy to safely introduce it as a legal substance into out society. It's already here, we're just taking the mask off.

Faded @Aldridge25 · 21 Feb 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ I almost feel bad for the "journalists" and advocates who have hitched their wagons to cannabis. They like to think they believe in science and facts. Having to ignore the mounting evidence that their favorite drug causes mental illness and crime must be painful...

5:00 PM - 21 Feb 2019

13 Retweets 34 Likes

15 13 34

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 21 Feb 2019

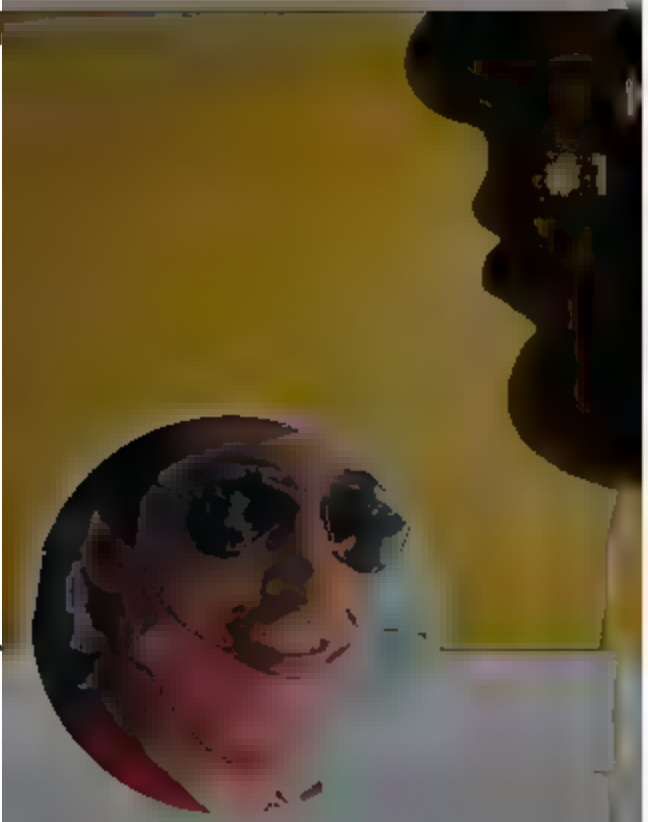
2/ Shouting "Reefer Madness" while trying not to hear the still small voice that says, "Why does this feel so much like tobacco in 1955?" must hurt. So I almost feel bad for them. Almost. Then I remember their intellectual weakness and hypocrisy. And I stop worrying about them...

7 4 28

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 21 Feb 2019

3/ And remind myself people are becoming psychotic and dying every day from the preventable health catastrophe that comes with encouraging marijuana use. Those are the folks who deserve our sympathy. No one else.

10 7 31



This Tweet is unavailable.

Joseph Drum @JDrum84 · 21 Feb 2019

What was his motivation to write this book? Kinda random for a novelist to just do a 180 and write a one-sided book "exposing" cannabis.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ I almost feel bad for the "journalists" and advocates who have hitched their wagons to cannabis. They like to think they believe in science and facts. Having to ignore the mounting evidence that their favorite drug causes mental illness and crime must be painful...

15 13 34

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Shouting "Reefer Madness" while trying not to hear the still small voice that says, "Why does this feel so much like tobacco in 1955?" must hurt. So I almost feel bad for them. Almost. Then I remember their intellectual weakness and hypocrisy. And I stop worrying about them...

5:06 PM - 21 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 28 Likes

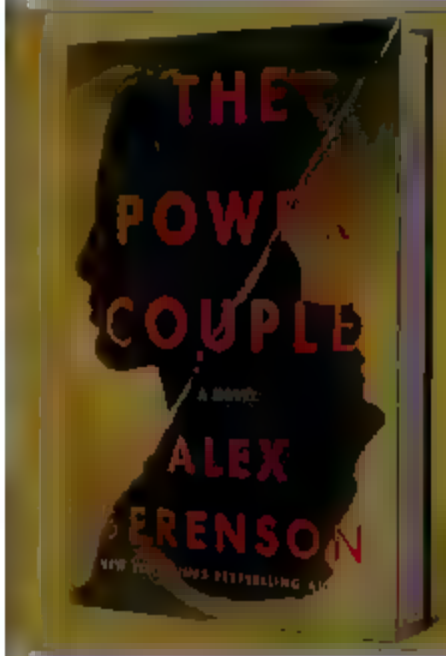
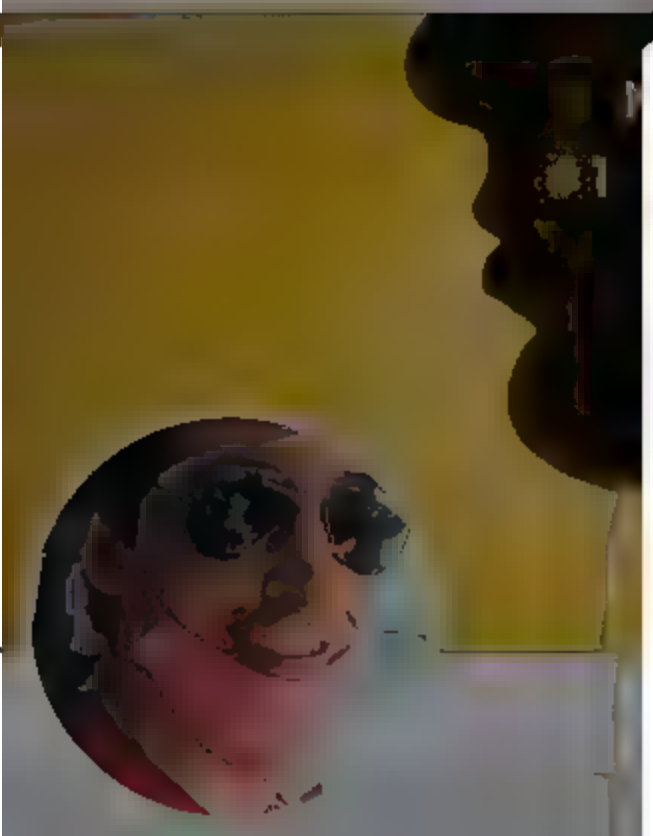
7 4 28

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 21 Feb 2019
3/ And remind myself people are becoming psychotic and dying every day from the preventable health catastrophe that comes with encouraging marijuana use. Those are the folks who deserve our sympathy. No one else.

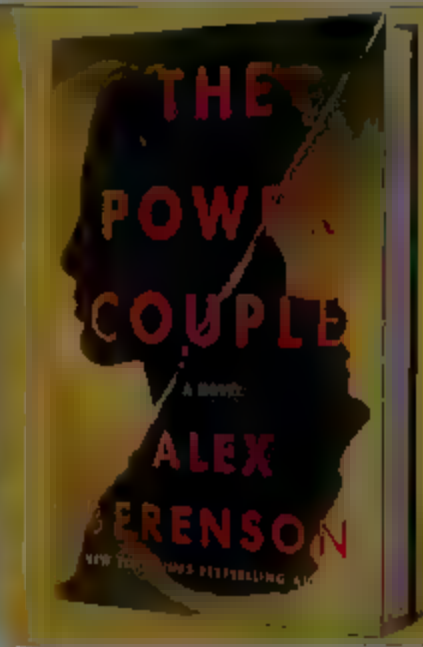


10 7 31

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Feb 2019
Replying to
You hastily wagered your reputation on a conjecture that science put to rest decades ago. Now you're shouting "cannabis advocate" and any scholar, expert or veteran who provides you with constructive criticism or attempts to explain the science to you. No turning back now.



4



always nice online @SemiAutoSlurs · 21 Feb 2019
Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Jimmy Oddo @HeyNowJO · 21 Feb 2019

Long-form allows for an actual discussion. Compare a nearly 4 hour-long [redacted] podcast w/ [redacted] on paleo/plant based or [redacted] talking pot use implications to the stale, superficial drivel coming from the universe of talking heads on cable.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

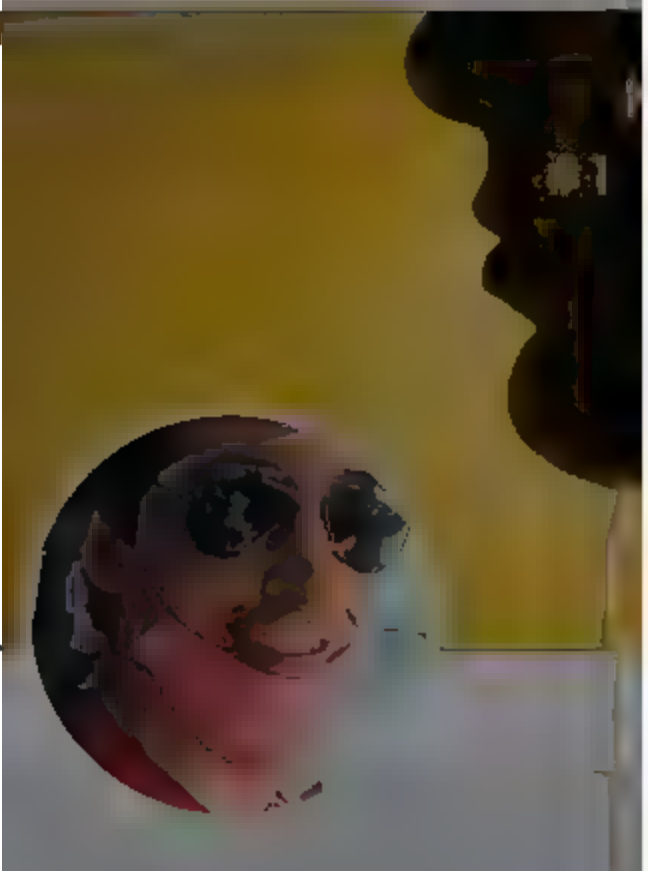
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

Thanks! It was exhausting but I hope enlightening.

4:26 PM - 21 Feb 2019

2 Likes

2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

15 14 30

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

It's not a fight when one of us won't acknowledge data he doesn't like. He's simply proving my point, as cannabis journalists have a habit of doing.

4:19 PM - 21 Feb 2019

5

TC Green @tc_green · 21 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted]

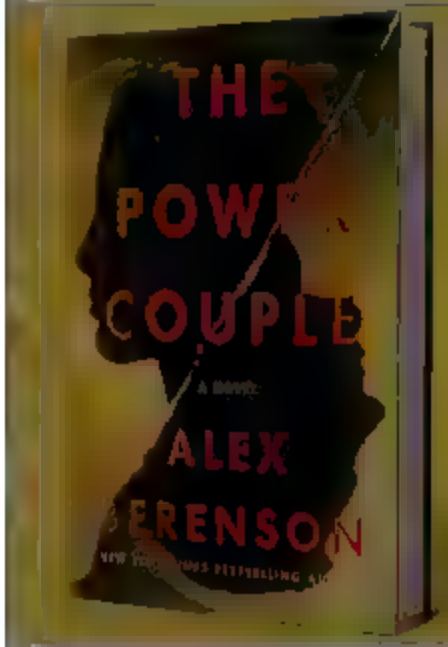
The irony is palpable.

3

rocknrao @rocknrao · 21 Feb 2019

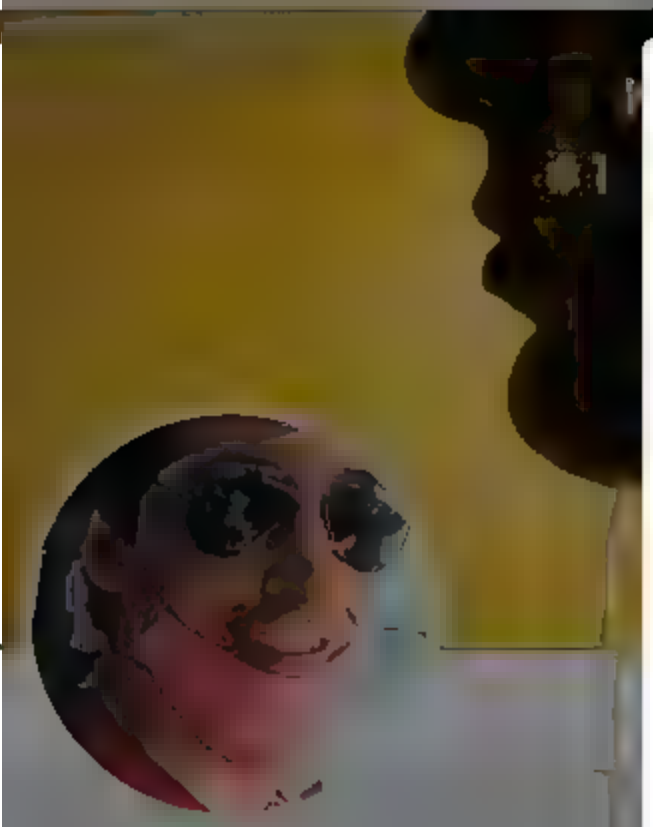
Replying to [redacted]

You're a writer of fiction, are you not?



3

Bruce Conners @bconners · 22 Feb 2019



Replying to [redacted]

He responded, Bro. 100% sure he is laughing at you like the rest of the world who isn't a pearl clutching lizard brain or person like Russ "Dr Peepee" Kamer who stands to lose a fortune after legalization.

> Christopher Ingraham @_cingraham
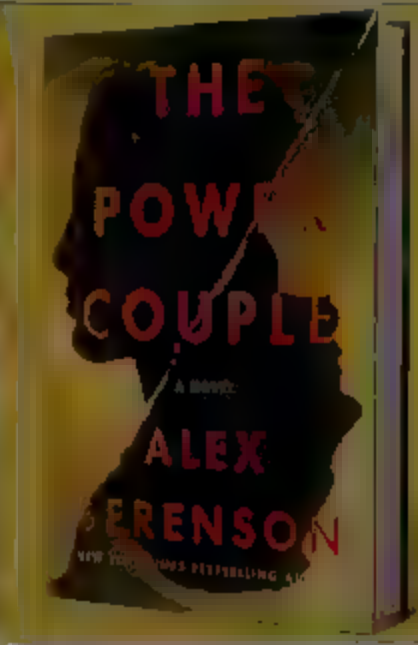
> Study authors: "Rather than fighting to oppose legalized marijuana," lawmakers should "develop and support secure and legal ways for dispensaries to engage in financial transactions." But by all means, if you want to be my assignment editor please send more pitches my way. ...

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Had this CU-Denver study shown no or a negative association between dispensaries and crime, I can promise the pro-legalization media chorus would have shouted the results to the rooftops. Instead, crickets. That's not journalism. That's advocacy.
cudenvertoday.org/do-marijuana-d …

3:55 PM - 21 Feb 2019

9 Retweets 30 Likes

11 9 30

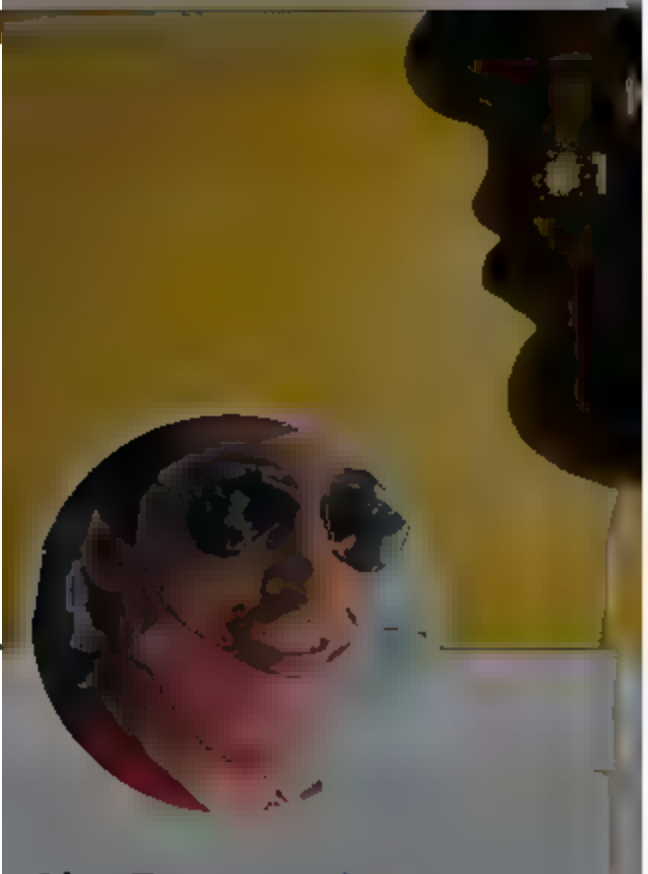
This Tweet is unavailable.

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Feb 2019
Replying to

Thanks. Shared to my FB group.

"The authors suggest that, rather than fighting to oppose legalized marijuana ... it may be more expedient to develop and support secure and legal ways for dispensaries to engage in financial transactions."

2



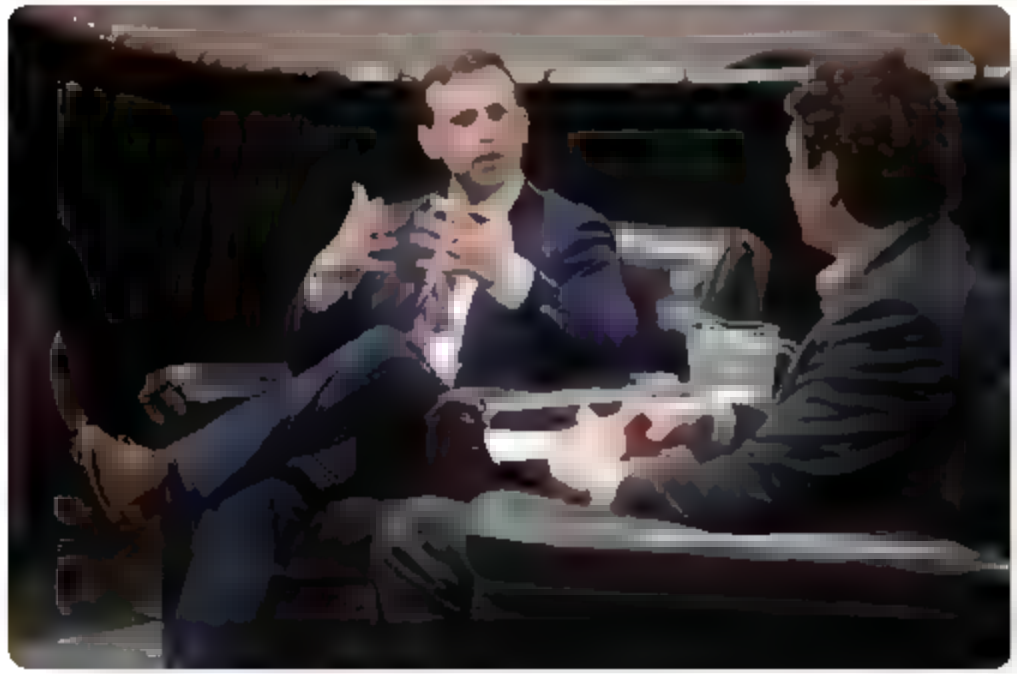
This Tweet is unavailable.

Will Jones III, MPA @WillVJones · 21 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

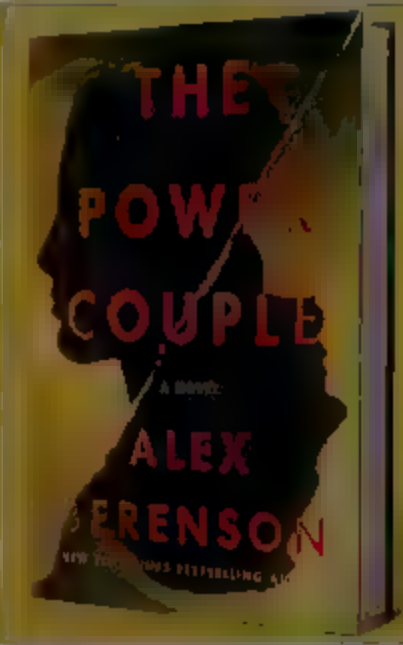
New York

Joined November 2009

former NY Times reporter & author of [redacted] - a fascinating & important read on the link between mental illness, violence & marijuana use. Thanks for sharing your findings w/ our Members

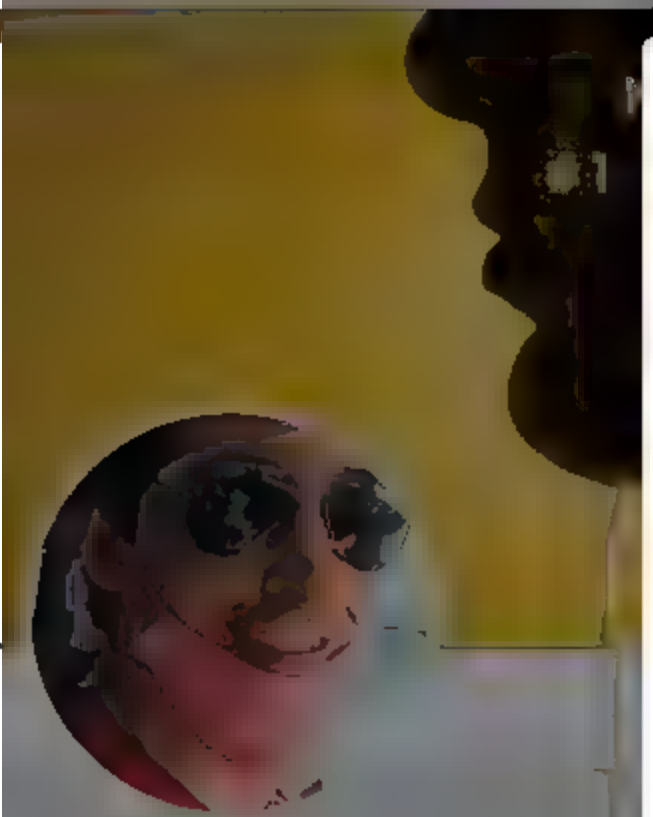
6 10 50

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted]

Thanks so much to Rep. Sprowls for setting this up - and to the many FL representatives who attended and asked great questions. Really nice to see the interest in science and hard facts!



3:51 PM - 20 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

1 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Hey, look! A new, well-designed study from CU-Denver shows that cannabis dispensaries are associated with sharp increases in crime. Wondering why @_cingraham and other cannabis-focused "journalists" haven't mentioned it? Me too. cudenvertoday.org/do-marijuena-d ..

3:43 PM - 21 Feb 2019

14 Retweets 30 Likes

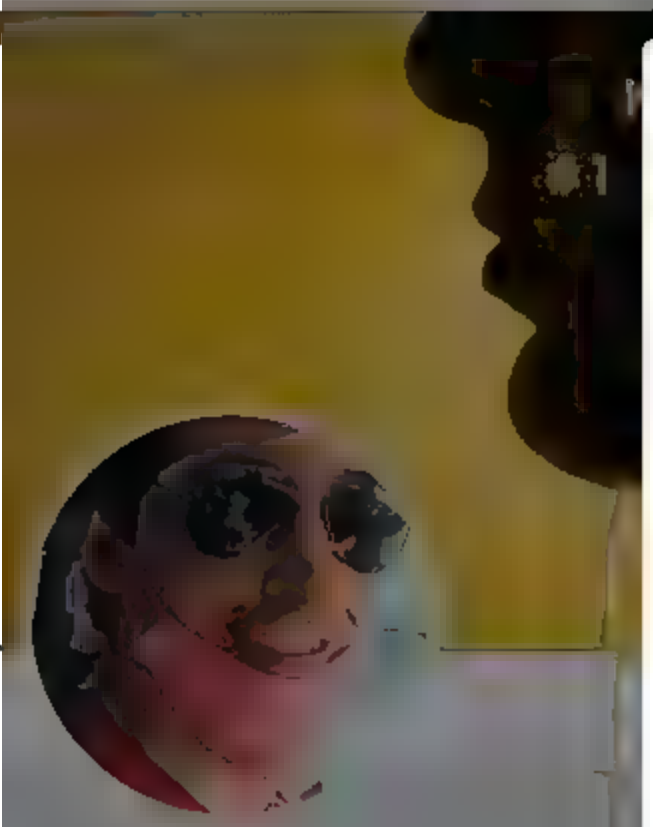
15 14 30

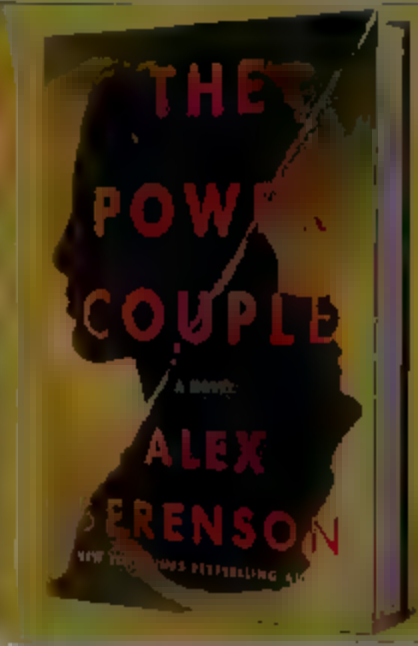
Stacey @theleach5 · 21 Feb 2019



Replying to

Been doing some light reading. Thanks for your hard work.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

At the request of the father who sent me the email - who is understandably shocked and disturbed by the hatefulness of many of the comments made about him, his family, and his son - I have taken it down. I am disgusted by the lack of compassion these trolls have shown.

1:15 PM - 21 Feb 2019

5 Retweets 50 Likes

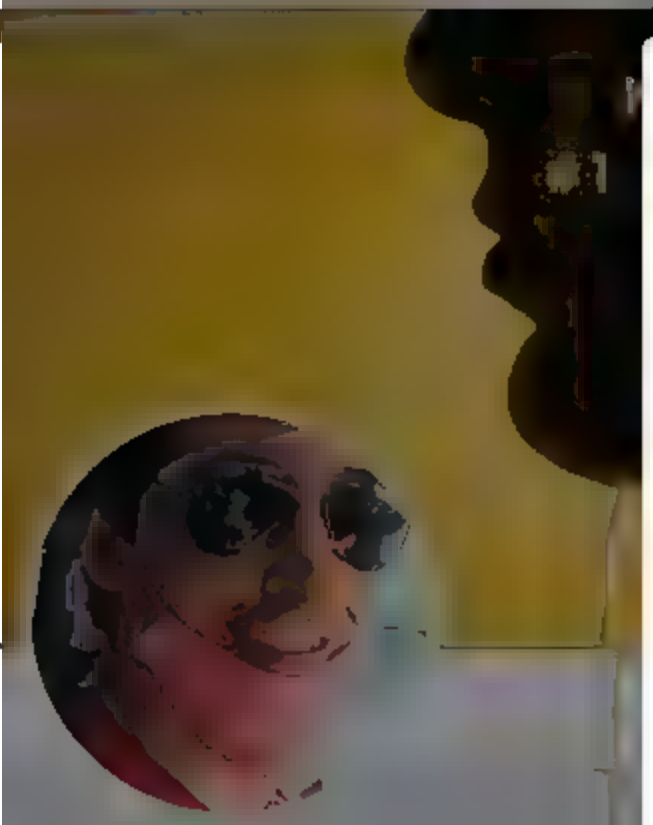
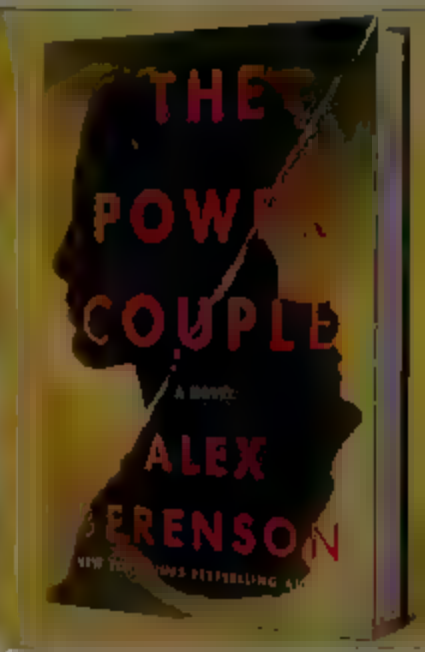
19 5 50

Psychedelic Physician @PsychedelicPhy1 · 21 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I've noticed the overwhelming ferocity of cannabis advocates. I don't understand the vitriol, but their anger stems from something real. What that is, idk.

5 2



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Feb 2019
Perhaps cannabis consumers are angry because they have been stigmatized, stereotyped and criminalized for decades. When one accuses cannabis consumers (and law reformers) of being selfish, dishonest and indifferent to public health and safety, one should expect some "push back."



1 3

[redacted]

Faded @Aldridge25 · 21 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
We're disgusted too about the lack of compassion you show people who need cannabis. It's a two way street.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

If by falsely you mean accurately, sure.

> Matt Ferner @matthewferner
> Totally irresponsible "Reefer Madness" fear-mongering from acting Baltimore police commissioner Harrison, falsely linking smoking marijuana to murder. twitter.com/disnazzio/stat...

2:53 PM - 20 Feb 2019

11 Likes

5 11

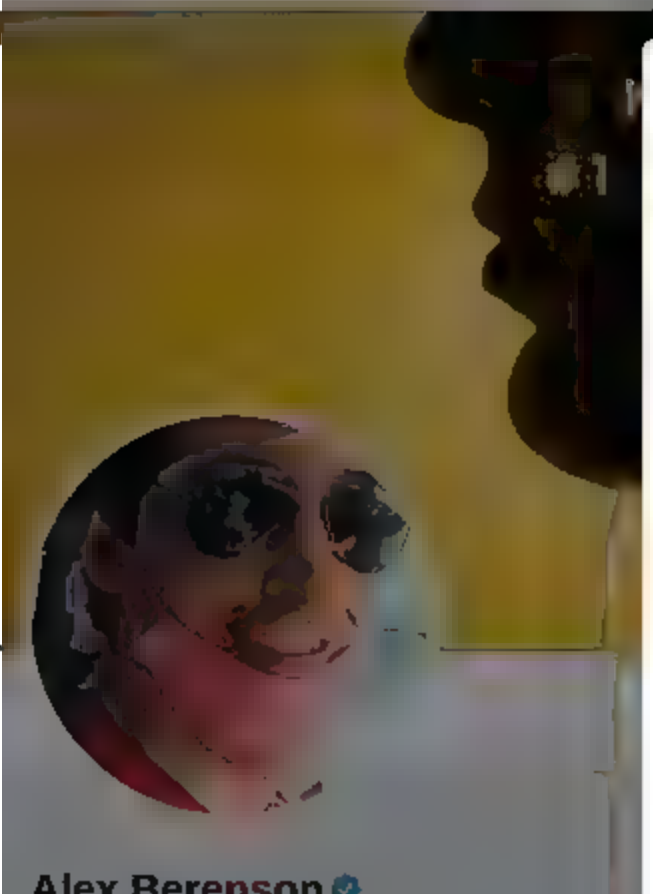
Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 21 Feb 2019

Replying to

He always reported with pro-pot hype while working for the Huffington Post. To get Ariana Huffington on their side, the Drug Policy Alliance made her an honorary board member. DPA has clever ways of creating a cheering squad for drug legalization. Totally deceptive organization.

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 21 Feb 2019

Replying to



False to him, because he cannot see reality at all. Heavy cannabis users even develop false memories and brains scans show it:

infinite rest @wyspace · 21 Feb 2019

Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Genuinely weird to see @katetaylornyt reference Tell Your Children without naming it. She doesn't want to interview me, fine. But to refer to "a new book" without mentioning the book itself is just bad reporting. Sorry, Kate.

3:18 PM - 20 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 14 Likes

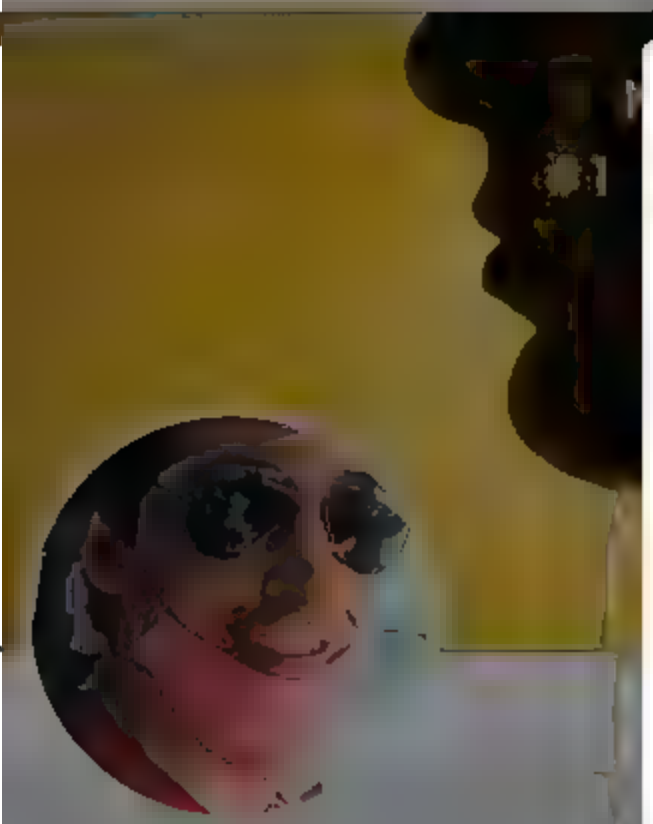
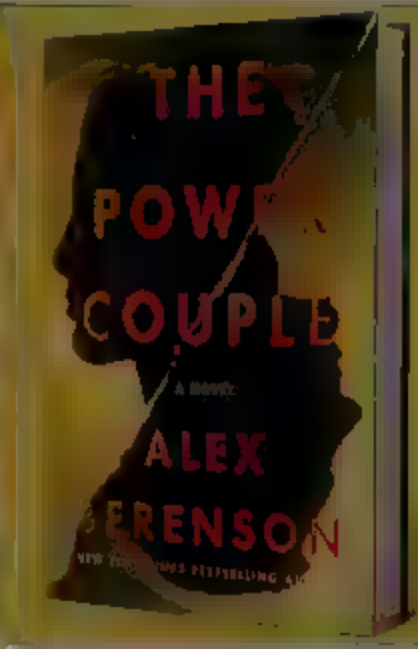
4 3 14



Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 20 Feb 2019



Replying to

"the divine name was increasingly regarded as too sacred to be uttered"

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

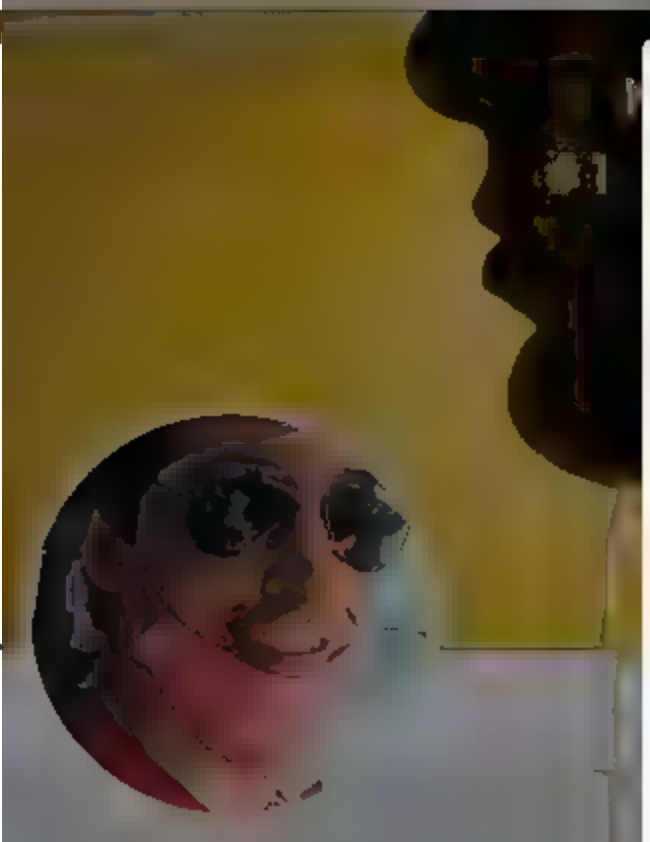
Thanks! I really appreciated the chance to talk about Tell Your Children with so many members of the legislature.

9:42 AM - 20 Feb 2019

3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



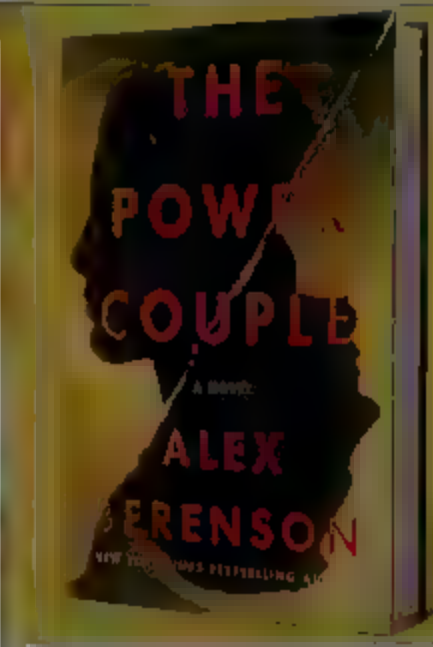
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Things I learned on this GA/FL trip:

1) US 27 in Georgia has mile markers by county (local sovereignty!)
2) Hotel rooms in Tallahassee cost more than NYC when the legislature is in session
3) Lots of voters - and lawmakers - are worried about marijuana.

Thanks for inviting me.

11:06 AM - 20 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 33 Likes

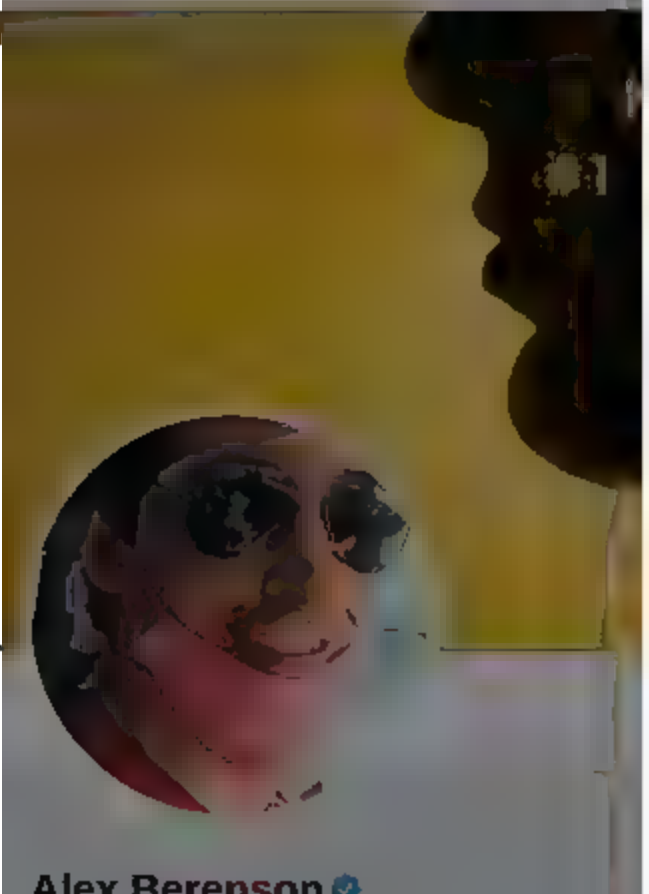
8 4 33

Larry Roberts @LJRoberts73 · 20 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Don't tell those people this because it will really freak them out, but thousands of Georgians will be using marijuana tonight whether it's legal or not.



1 3

Bruce Conners @bconners · 20 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
We'll find out one way or another if somebody files a ballot measure to legalize there. I wouldn't bet on it not passing if I were you.

Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 21 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

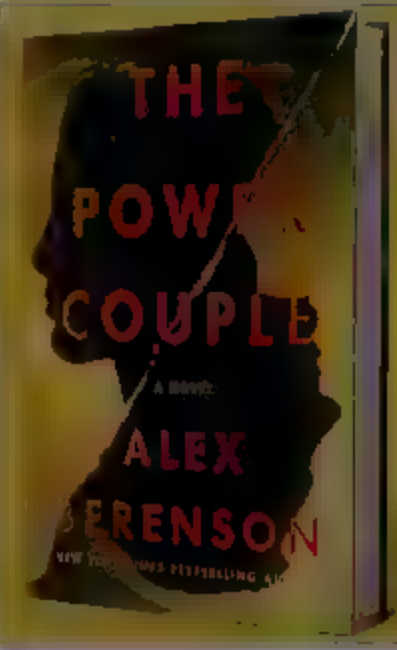
Joined November 2009

5 12 37

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

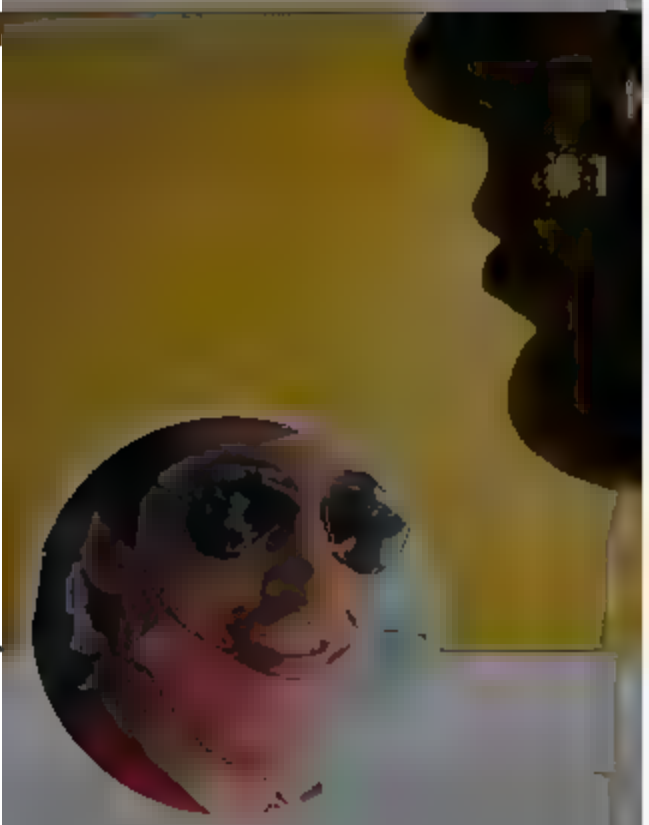
Replying to



And yet my lack of an MD/PhD wasn't a problem when I took on Big Pharma for the Times... or investigated Taser's lethality... or examined how Select Medical neglected patients - a story that to this day has not received the attention it should:

6:02 PM - 19 Feb 2019

3 Likes



3

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Wrong on every front.

I get paid much more to write my novels. I don't consider being threatened on Twitter a "good gig." I'm doing this for one reason only. The growing use of high-potency cannabis is a public health disaster in the making.

6:12 PM - 19 Feb 2019

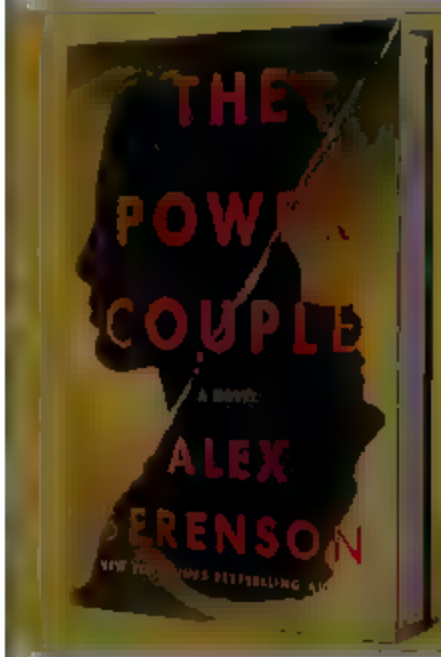
2 Likes

4 2

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 19 Feb 2019

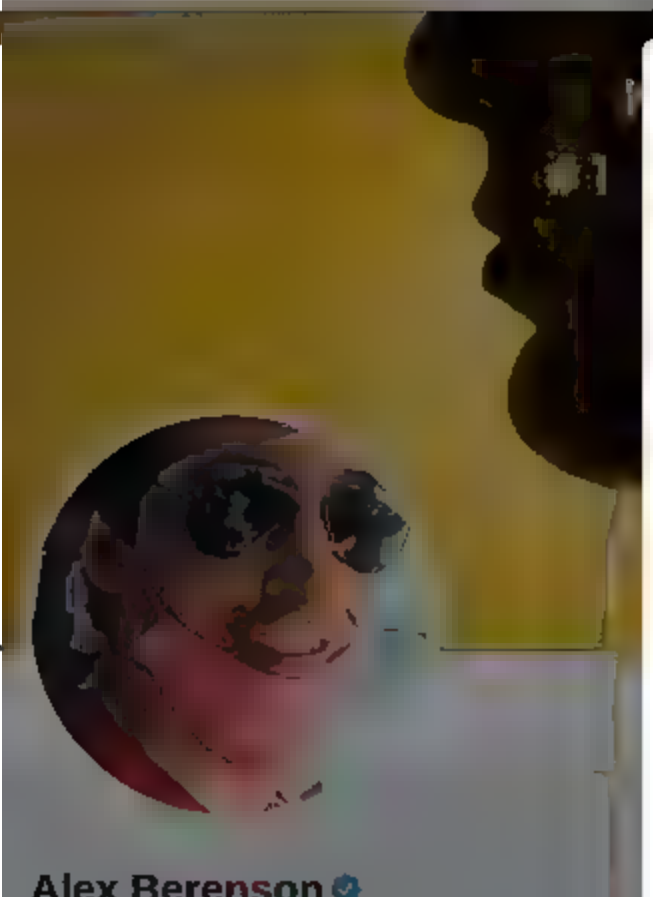
Replying to [redacted]

Setting aside that cannabinoid ratios are more significant to your psychosis and violence concerns than potency, if potency is your problem, would it not make sense to federally regulate cannabis products? If you were sincere, you'd give that question serious consideration.



Bruce Conners @bconners · 20 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted]

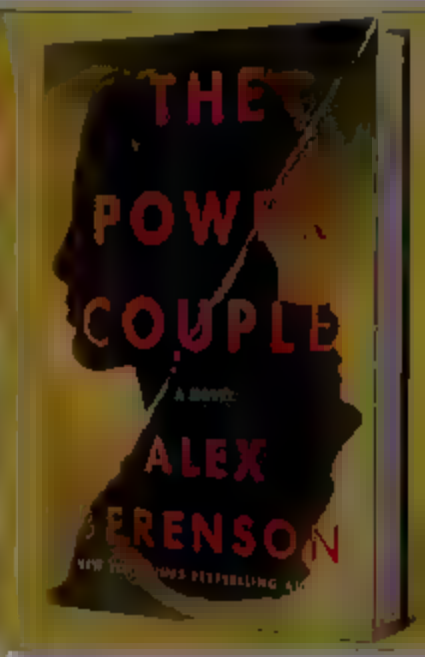


The awesome thing is we are going to get to see you be a total failure in public. The United States is going to legalize cannabis in the near future and there is nothing your trash book can do about it. The governors of NY and NJ are literally locked in on legalization. its over.

2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Tell Your Children picks up a mention in the @nytimesbooks "New & Noteworthy" column: "Berenson, a former New York Times reporter, presents his case against marijuana..."

5:52 PM - 19 Feb 2019

12 Retweets 37 Likes

5 12 37

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Feb 2019
And yet my lack of an MD/PhD wasn't a problem when I took on Big Pharma for the Times ... or investigated Taser's lethality ... or examined how Select Medical

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Nothing shows compassion and an interest in public health like mocking the dead

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff
Replying to @AlexBerenson

5:39 PM - 17 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

12 1 6

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 17 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
And your wild speculations about COD... legit

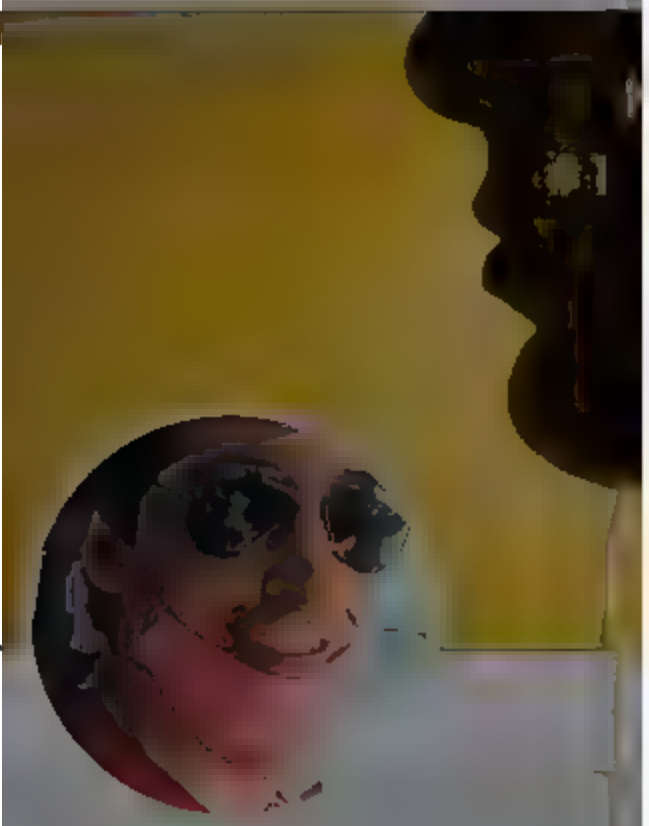
5

Ward Harkavy @WHarkavy · 17 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
you're missing the point. we're mocking YOU.

1

Faded @Aldridge25 · 17 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
How about compassion for the people cannabis help. Still looking for that on your timeline.

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 18 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

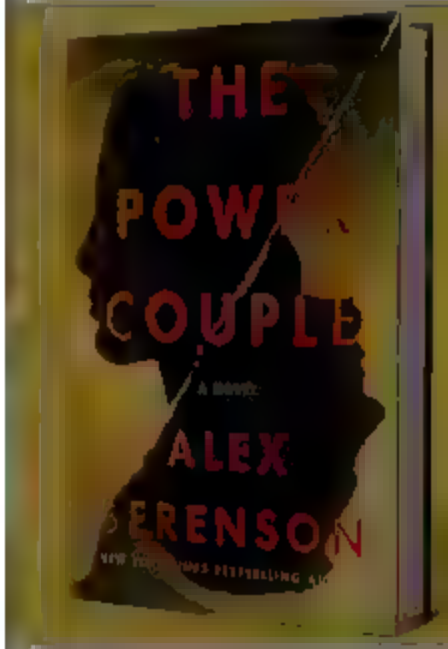
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Love the real-time fact-checking. Too bad you're not better at it. Try searching all deaths with all poisonings as a secondary cause. Then try again without T40.7. You'll find 241 fewer deaths in 2017 when you exclude it (and 862 deaths in all that include T40.7 and other drugs).

6:51 PM - 17 Feb 2019



4 Likes

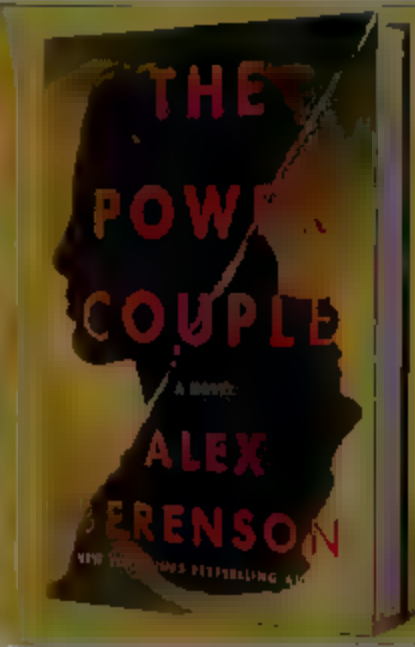
3 4

This Tweet is unavailable.

Joseph Drum @JDrum84 · 18 Feb 2019
He certainly seems to love "owning" people on this issue. Why exactly is he so hell bent on exposing cannabis as this dangerous substance? At bare minimum it's not that bad for you. Why is he so obsessed?

1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Headed to Atlanta to speak to the Georgia House's Health & Human Services Committee. Tomorrow: Tallahassee. The truth is on the march.

3:46 AM - 19 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 32 Likes

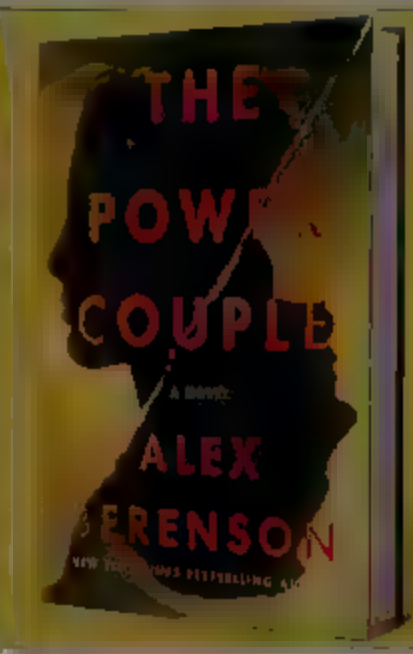
15 3 32



Faded @Aldridge25 · 19 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Awfully early for jokes of this magnitude.

JAMSr @JAMSr87 · 19 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]

The media could not be played.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

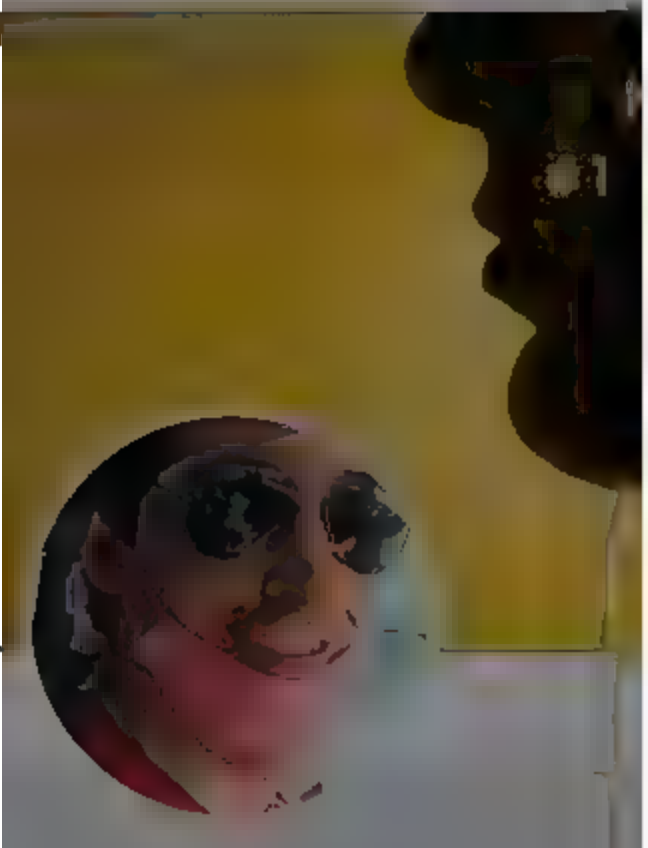
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

1/ Advocates keep claiming cannabis doesn't kill anyone. This statement is false. First, cannabis can kill directly by causing heart attacks. CDC data reveals hundreds of deaths annually where cannabis and no other drug is listed as a secondary cause of death by poisoning...

76 71 172

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

5:30 PM - 17 Feb 2019

3 Likes

3 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

First, cannabis can kill directly by causing heart attacks. CDC data reveals hundreds of deaths annually where cannabis and no other drug is listed as a secondary cause of death by poisoning...

75 71 172

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

2/ Which is the traditional method of counting drug overdose deaths. Second, and more importantly, we don't actually count alcohol-related homicides, suicides, and traffic deaths - which account for a huge fraction of alcohol-associated deaths.

3 7 25

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ We guess at those, based on (old) data and surveys showing blood-alcohol levels among suicide victims and others. This is a perfectly reasonable way to try to estimate alcohol-related damage. BUT NO ONE HAS EVER MADE SIMILAR ESTIMATES FOR THC.

5:13 PM - 17 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 30 Likes

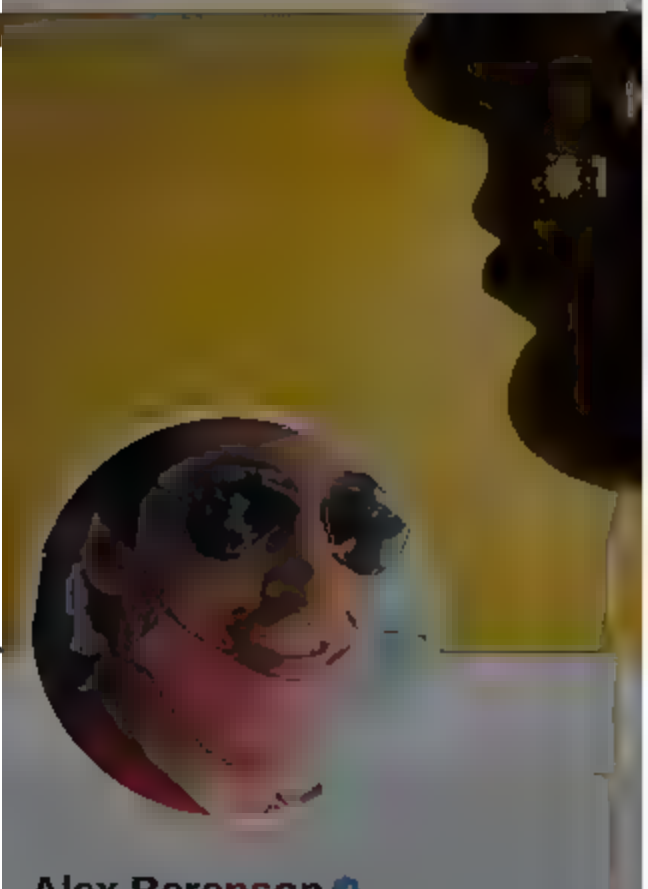
1 3 30

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019



4/ The Colorado suicide data, data on fatal accidents from several states, and the child fatality numbers from Texas suggest that when that estimate is finally made, it is going to be >>> zero.

13 4 28

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ We guess at those, based on (old) data and surveys showing blood-alcohol levels among suicide victims and others. This is a perfectly reasonable way to try to estimate alcohol-related damage. BUT NO ONE HAS EVER MADE SIMILAR ESTIMATES FOR THC.

1 3 30

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ The Colorado suicide data, data on fatal accidents from several states, and the child fatality numbers from Texas suggest that when that estimate is finally made, it is going to be >>> zero.

5:17 PM - 17 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 28 Likes

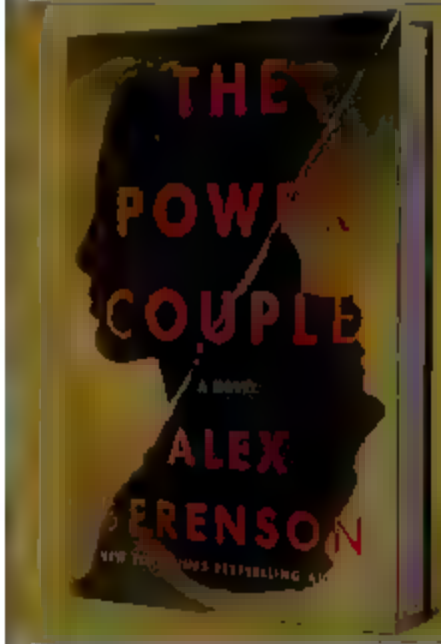
13 4 28

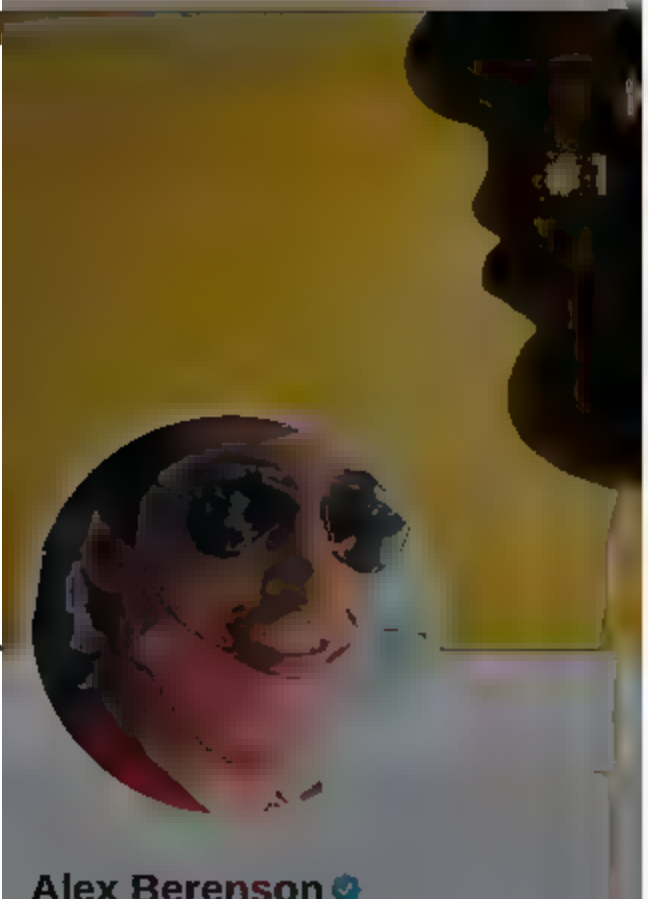


Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 17 Feb 2019
Replying to

The media could not be played.

3 4

Brett Marlin @michaelbmarlin · 17 Feb 2019
Alex w the bad take



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Advocates keep claiming cannabis doesn't kill anyone. This statement is false. First, cannabis can kill directly by causing heart attacks. CDC data reveals hundreds of deaths annually where cannabis and no other drug is listed as a secondary cause of death by poisoning...

76 71 172

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Which is the traditional method of counting drug overdose deaths. Second, and more importantly, we don't actually count alcohol-related homicides, suicides, and traffic deaths - which account for a huge fraction of alcohol-associated deaths.

5:11 PM - 17 Feb 2019

7 Retweets 26 Likes

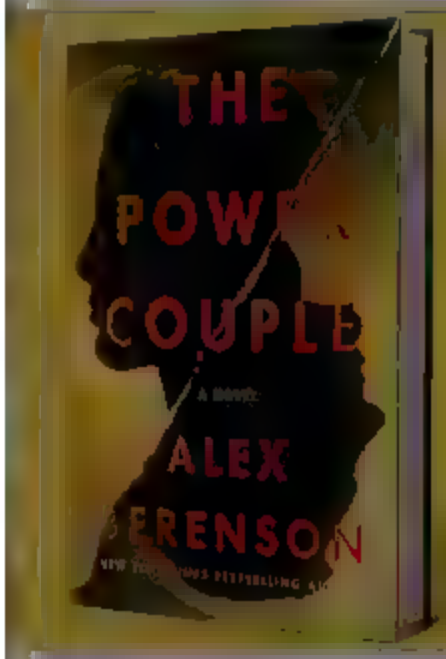
3 7 25

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

3/ We guess at those, based on (old) data and surveys showing blood-alcohol levels among suicide victims and others. This is a perfectly reasonable way to try to estimate alcohol-related damage. BUT NO ONE HAS EVER MADE SIMILAR ESTIMATES FOR THC.

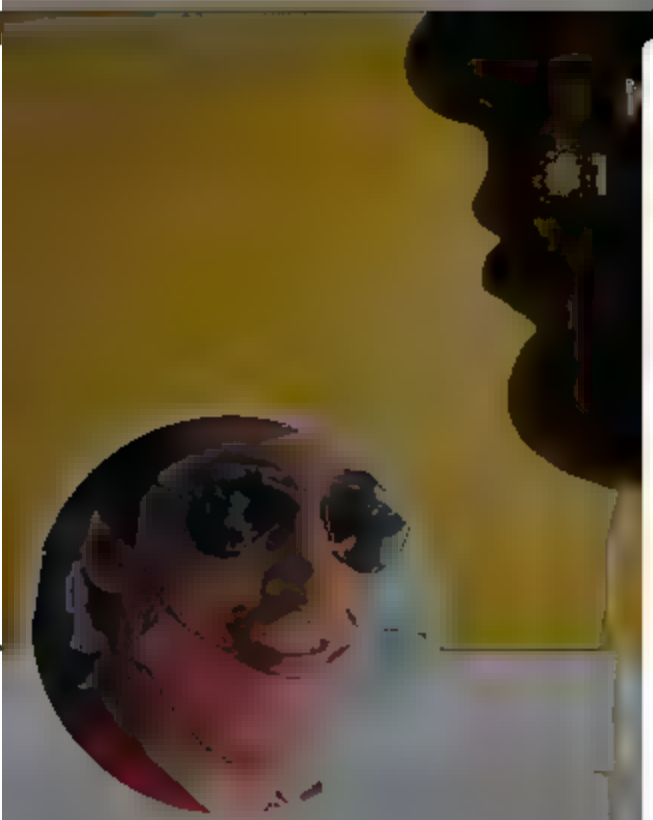
1 3 30

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019



4/ The Colorado suicide data, data on fatal accidents from several states, and the child fatality numbers from Texas suggest that when that estimate is finally made, it is going to be >>> zero.

13 4 28

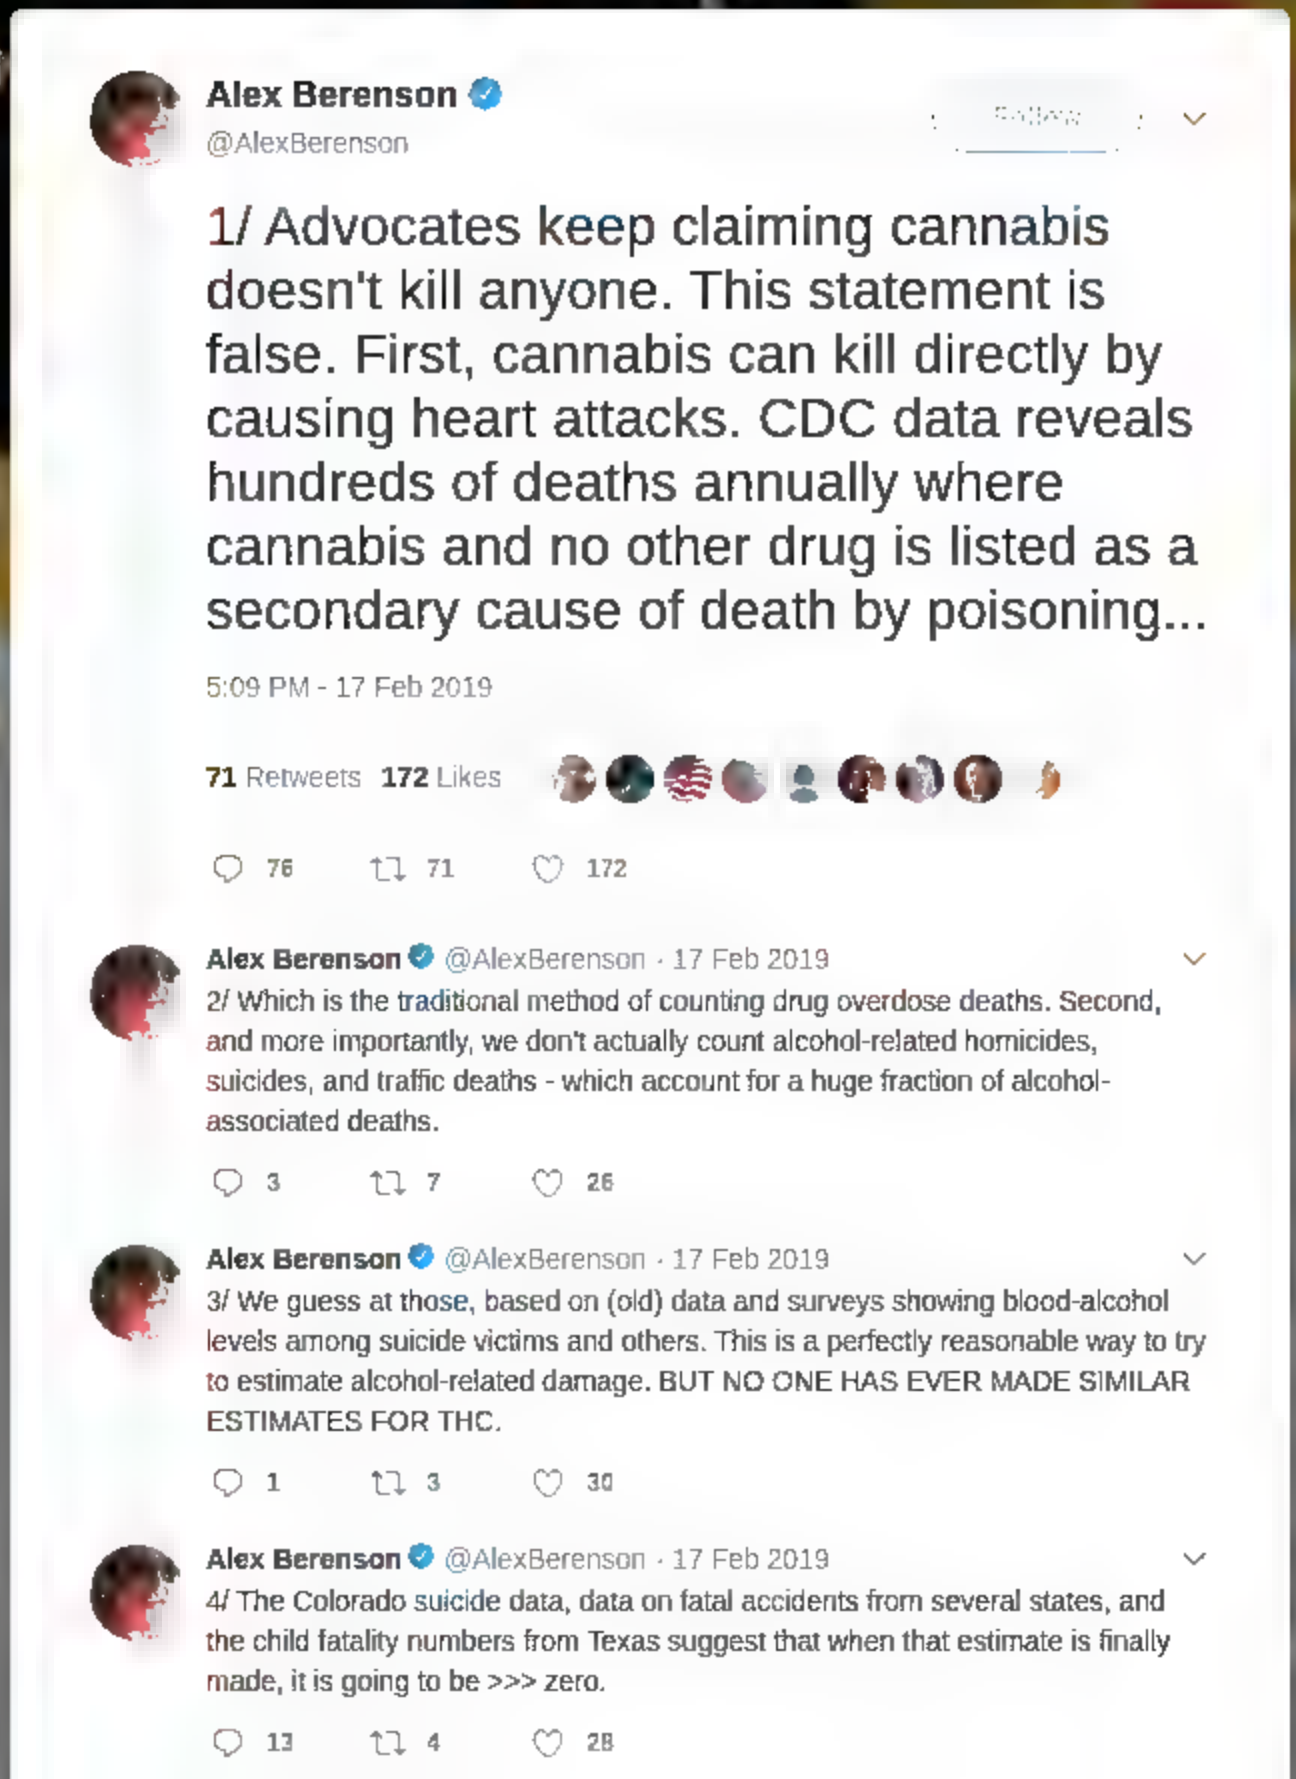


Heidi Anderson-Swan @SwanHJA · 17 Feb 2019

Replying to [illegible]

I am doing an AMA @u13app on Feb 24 with two victims of MJ impaired drivers. Phil Drum lost his sister and Corrine La Marca lost her daughter. These people are in agony --years later.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Advocates keep claiming cannabis doesn't kill anyone. This statement is false. First, cannabis can kill directly by causing heart attacks. CDC data reveals hundreds of deaths annually where cannabis and no other drug is listed as a secondary cause of death by poisoning...

5:09 PM - 17 Feb 2019

71 Retweets 172 Likes

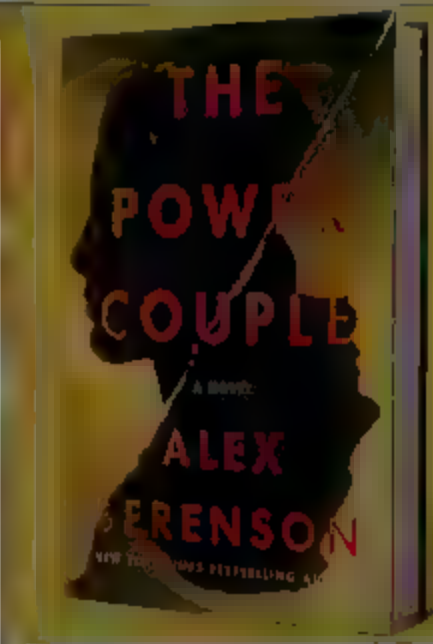
76 71 172

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

2/ Which is the traditional method of counting drug overdose deaths. Second, and more importantly, we don't actually count alcohol-related homicides, suicides, and traffic deaths - which account for a huge fraction of alcohol-associated deaths.

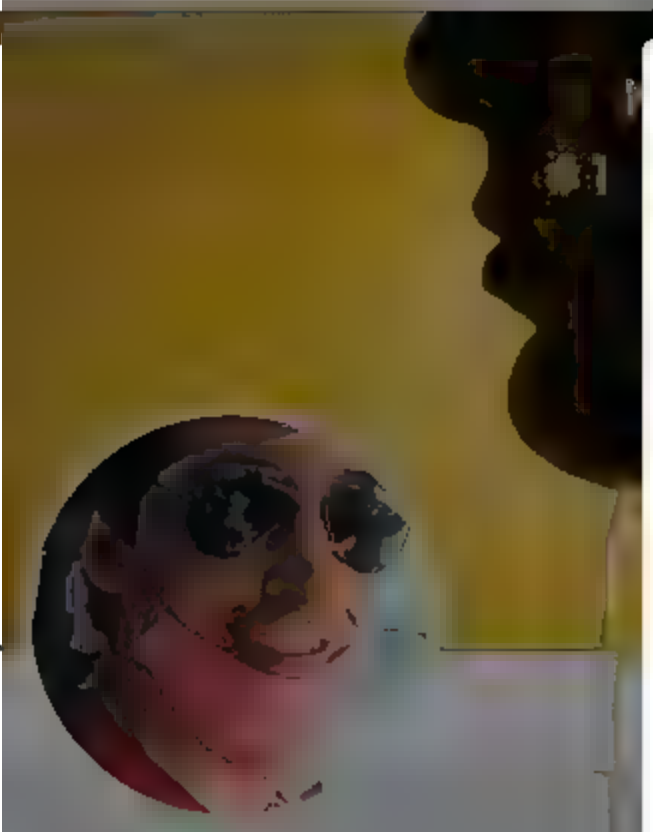
3 7 26

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019



3/ We guess at those, based on (old) data and surveys showing blood-alcohol levels among suicide victims and others. This is a perfectly reasonable way to try to estimate alcohol-related damage. BUT NO ONE HAS EVER MADE SIMILAR ESTIMATES FOR THC.

1 3 30

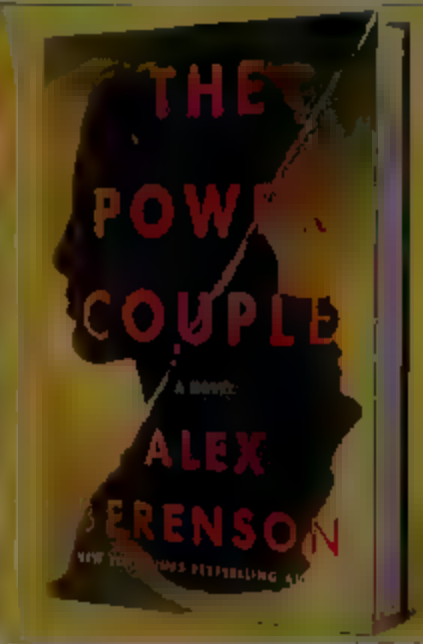


Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

4/ The Colorado suicide data, data on fatal accidents from several states, and the child fatality numbers from Texas suggest that when that estimate is finally made, it is going to be >>> zero.

13 4 28

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Wow indeed. This is quite the thread. I have to disagree on one point, though - the data on ER admissions (and the concerns I've heard in the last month about skyrocketing rates of THC vaping among teens) suggest the emergency is 2 to 5 years away, not 15.

> Will Jones III, MPA @WillVJones
> Wow!! Furious at @AlexBerenson, @DrugPolicyOrg used the same phrase (& stupid policy rationale) LITERALLY word-for-word that Big Tobacco used dismissing troubling trends about lung cancer. You can't make this stuff up! Quotes & video evidence of quote from Big Tobacco below twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s...
> Show this thread

4:47 PM - 17 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 18 Likes

4 3 18

TheresaH2012 @TheresaH2012 · 17 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Since mj legalization here in Massachusetts we have seen a dramatic increase in teen vaping of high potency THC. We are already seeing cannabis induced psychosis and cannabis use disorders among teens here in MA.

2 1 3

fan @kokondo12 · 19 Feb 2019
Where's the data to back-up this claim Theresa? You surely wouldn't make such an outrageous claim without vetted research to back it up. Don't want you to come across as a fear mongerer....

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Would Be Josh @StrainCentral · 17 Feb 2019

As a pro cannabis advocate, I actually share quite a few of your same views [redacted] - There's also a few I'd love to discuss!

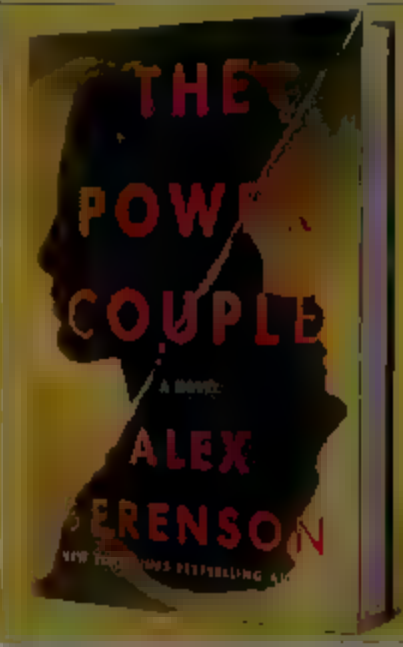
I've seen first hand the ill effects being in the industry for 6 years.

It would be great to have you on a podcast at some point soon!

3 2 26

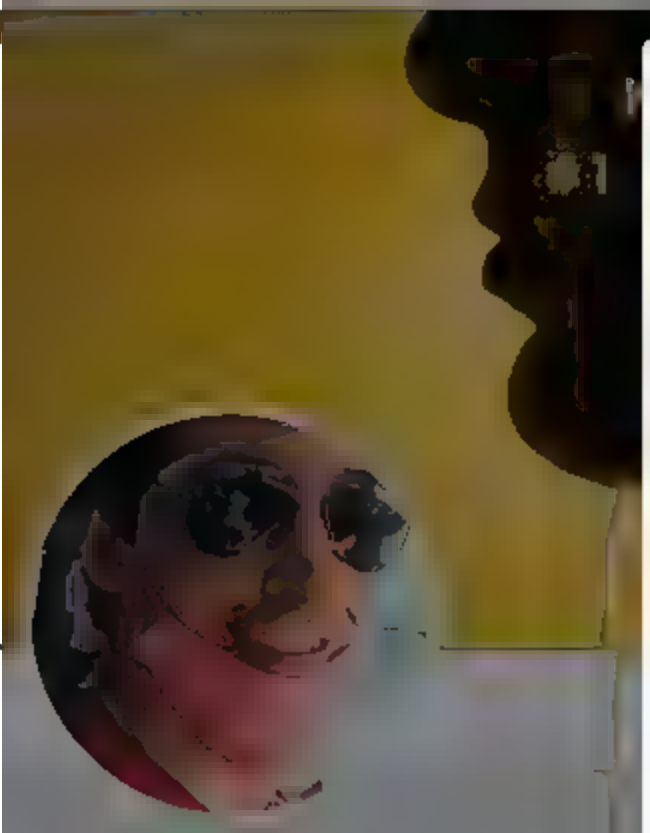
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]



Email me at alexberensonauthor@gmail.com and let's see if we can set it up.

2:13 PM - 17 Feb 2019

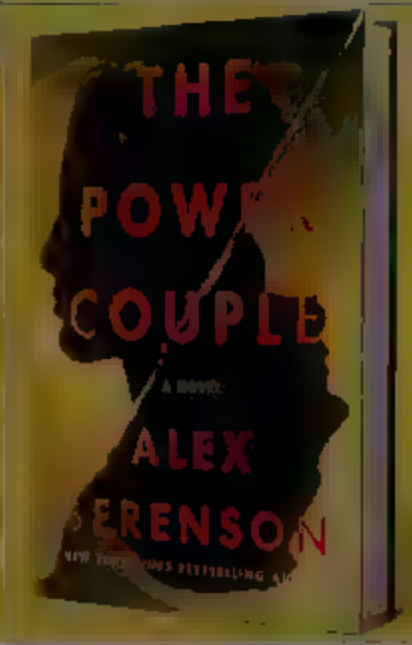


4 Likes

4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

And since the @joerogan podcast, I've heard from more and more users too:

mail.google.com

Primary

Thanks Alex

I appreciate the kind words. For the record, beating opiates and cocaine was much easier than MJ believe it or not. I was on both for 4 years and though the final kick was grueling, it was a line in the sand for me and I've been clean for 10 years.

Weed on the other hand has proven much more insidious. In terms of staving off the deep depression and rage that comes after about 3 months off it. So my best bet is to slowly bleed it. Currently I'm eating it raw, which doesn't get me high but at least gives my body some degree of it to help allow the long term hardship of quitting.

Hi alex. Just finished listening to your appearance on Joe Rogans podcast. I just want to let you know that I appreciate hearing you speak about the link between psychosis and Marijuana use. This is something I experienced for far too many years. I found myself in and out of psychatric hospitals and ERs from 19 until my mid 20s. It took me many years to acknowledge that not smoking meant not being psychotic. The possibility of their being a link was preposterous to anyone but my family who unfortunately had to bear the brunt of it. I'm 33 now and no longer consume thc or marijuana. I haven't had a psychotic episode in the 5 years since completely stopping and have a totally normal and boring life now. I am a proponent of legalization but that's a position I hold for all intoxicants. anyway, I did see a lot of negative comments on your Twitter feed but thought I'd try to combat that because I've actually been through it, put my family through it and I don't

1:53 PM - 17 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 20 Likes

6 4 20

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 17 Feb 2019
Replying to
Glad they found some sympathetic people who understand, because the pot advocates sure don't have an ounce of compassion towards anyone who points out the downside, or suffers from it.

2 1 4

Woodshedding Toe-tapper @WSTTVT · 18 Feb 2019
Do anecdotal experiences have value now? Serious question.

1

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

1/ The headline aside, I'm fine with this story. Why? [redacted] interviewed me, quoted me accurately, and even gave me the last word...

7 3 12

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ @GuardianUS is covering the book - unlike, say, @nytimes or @washingtonpost, which have simply ignored it. I'm speaking to legislators in FL and GA next week, TYC's arguments have reached huge audiences - to pretend it isn't part of the debate around legalization is bizarre.

6:20 AM - 17 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 14 Likes

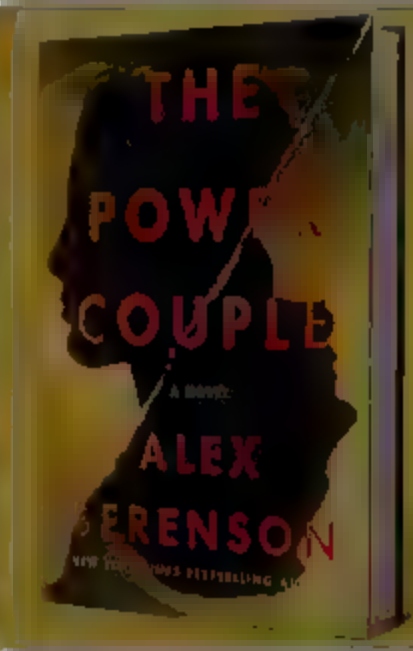
7 3 14

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

3/ One last point - during the interview, Jamiles in passing said something like, 'I've read your book - unlike most of the people I've interviewed who have criticized it.' (Not an exact quote, but close.) I wish I could say I'm surprised.

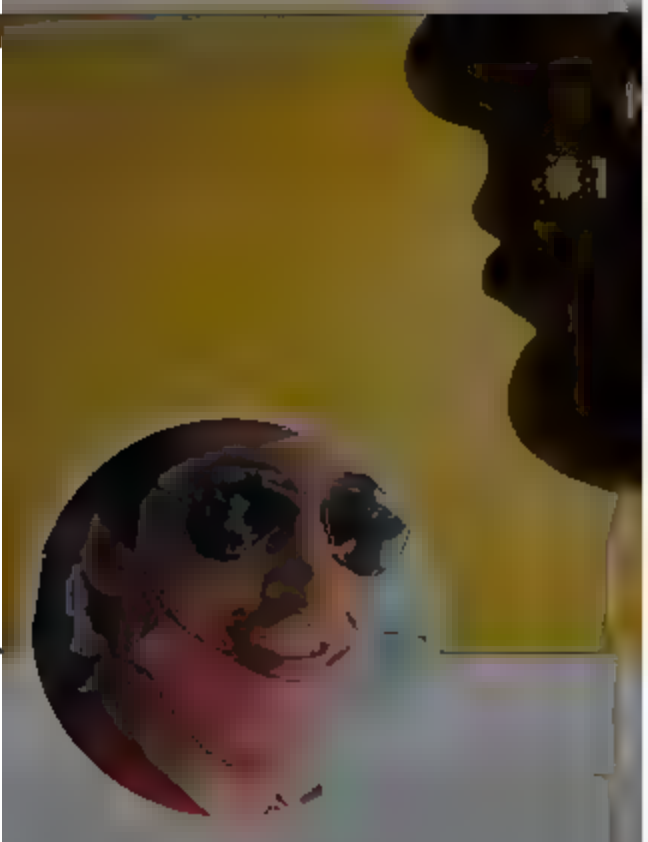
9 1 8



Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 17 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

The US Government holds a patent on [redacted] ability to heal and protect the brain.
US Patent Number 6630507
Is that in your book, [redacted] ?



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ [redacted] is covering the book - unlike, say, [redacted] or [redacted], which have simply ignored it. I'm speaking to legislators in FL and GA next week, TYC's arguments have reached huge audiences - to pretend it isn't part of the debate around legalization is bizarre.

7 3 14

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ One last point - during the interview, Jamiles in passing said something like, 'I've read your book - unlike most of the people I've interviewed who have criticized it.' (Not an exact quote, but close.) I wish I could say I'm surprised.

6:34 AM - 17 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 8 Likes

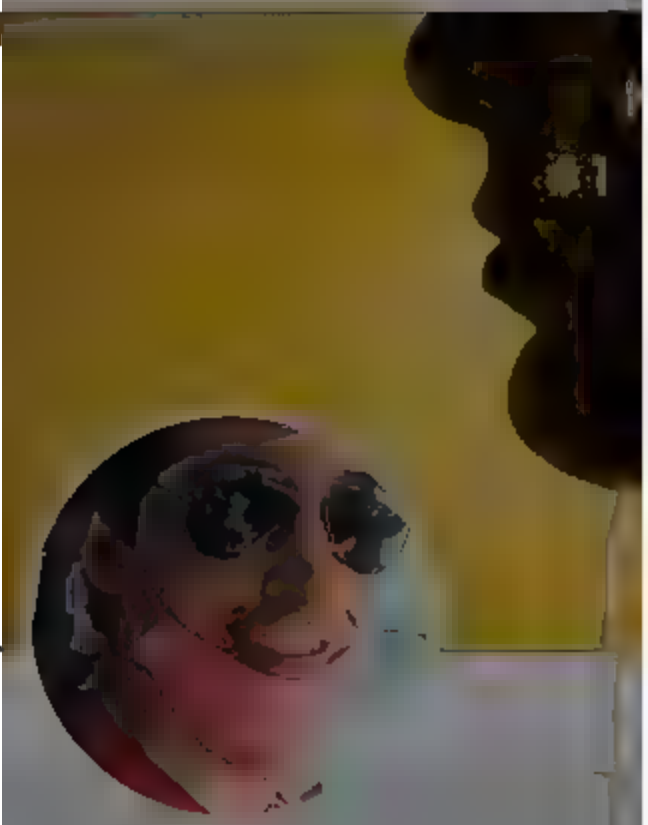
9 1 8

David Bienenstock @pot_handbook · 17 Feb 2019



Replying to [redacted]

I read your book. Quoted you extensively (from the book). Perhaps you'd like to share my analysis with your fans as well. You reply to random internet comments but not my de-bunking of your BS, wonder why?

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

'I've read your book - unlike most of the people I've interviewed who have criticized it.' (Not an exact quote, but close.) I wish I could say I'm surprised.

9 1 8

Dirk Segerius @dksegerius · 17 Feb 2019

Alex I woul just like to thank you, my mother developed schizophrenia from smoking cannabis and since the age of 8 I have deal with consequences of that, listening to you in joes podcast made me feal like I wasn't alone, I often imagine that this is what it must have felt like

1

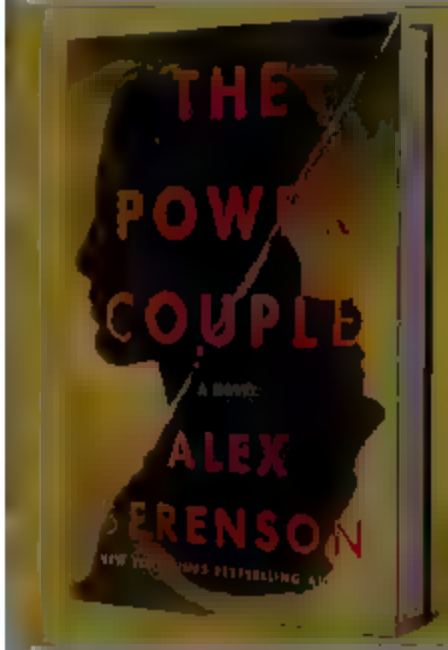
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible]

I'm so sorry to hear about your mom. And no, you are not alone. I've heard from dozens of family members - parents, siblings, cousins - who have lost loved ones to psychosis caused by this drug. Soon enough your voices will be too loud for the media and politicians to ignore.

1:45 PM - 17 Feb 2019

1

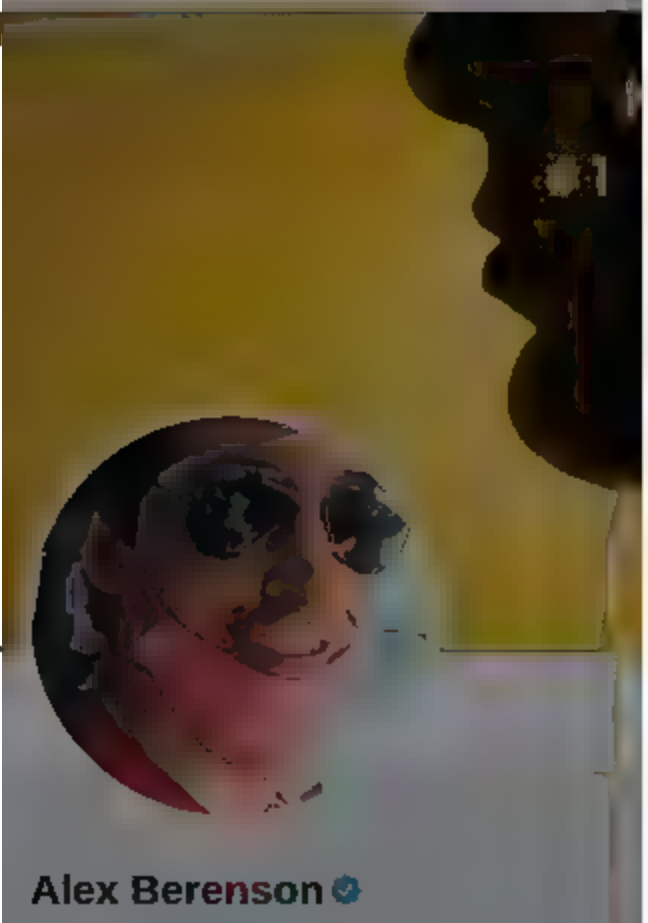


Dirk Segerius @dksegerius · 18 Feb 2019

Replying to [illegible]

I wish I had your confidence, but the money behind the legalisation of Cannabis around the world is a lot, the best I can hope for here in Australia, where I live is to push it so that Cannabis is not classed as a pharmaceutical drug, so people can sue the companies that harm thm

1



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

8 10 19

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Given the way NY politics work and the governor's power in Albany, legalization is still very likely. But every day of delay gives politicians - and voters - more opportunities to weigh the real risks. A failure to legalize would mark a huge change, make no mistake.

5:46 PM - 15 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 15 Likes

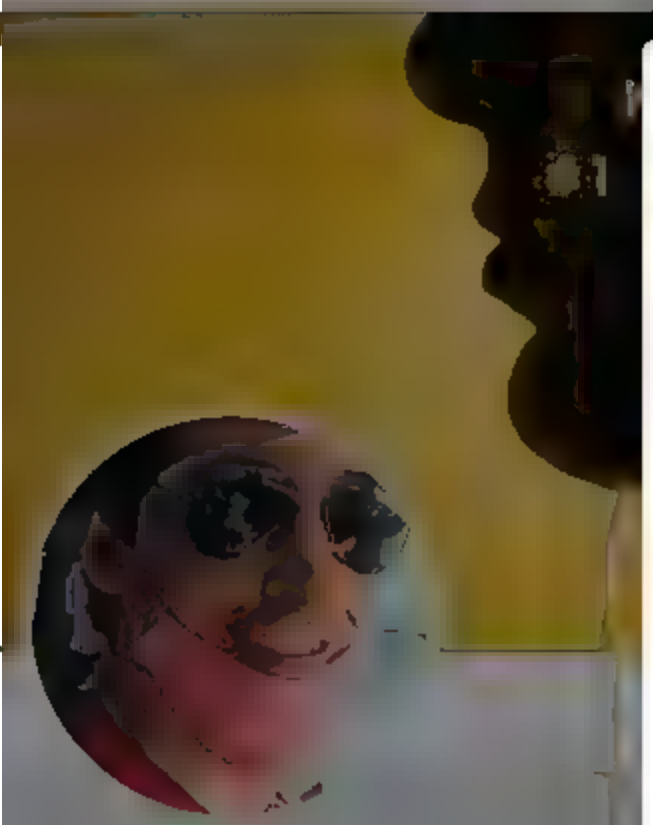
6 4 15

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 15 Feb 2019



Replying to

Please keep up the great public relations for , Alex! See, your problem is we've been told pot will make us psychotic axe murderers since 1936 and there were 100,000 of us. It's 2019, there are 30 million of us, yet still few axe murderers.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ The headline aside, I'm fine with this story. Why? @JamilesLartey interviewed me, quoted me accurately, and even gave me the last word... google.com/amp/s/amp.theg ..

6:13 AM - 17 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 12 Likes

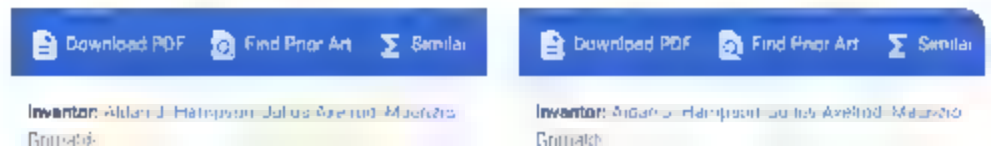
7 3 12

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

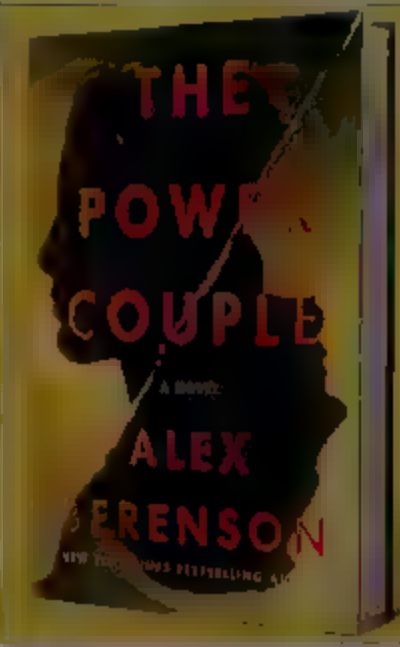
2/ [illegible] is covering the book - unlike, say, [illegible] or [illegible], which have simply ignored it. I'm speaking to legislators in FL and GA next week, TYC's arguments have reached huge audiences - to pretend it isn't part of the debate around legalization is bizarre.

7 3 14

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Feb 2019

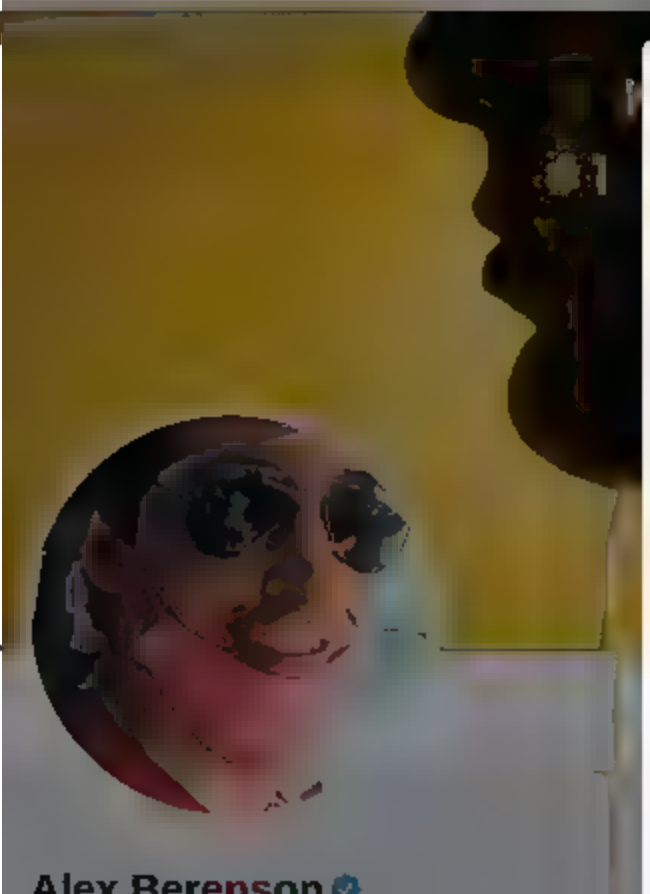


3/ One last point - during the interview, Jamiles in passing said something like, 'I've read your book - unlike most of the people I've interviewed who have criticized it.' (Not an exact quote, but close.) I wish I could say I'm surprised.



9 1 8

Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 17 Feb 2019



Replying to [illegible]

The US Government holds a patent on [illegible] ability to heal and protect the brain.
US Patent Number 6630507
Is that in your book, [illegible] ?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

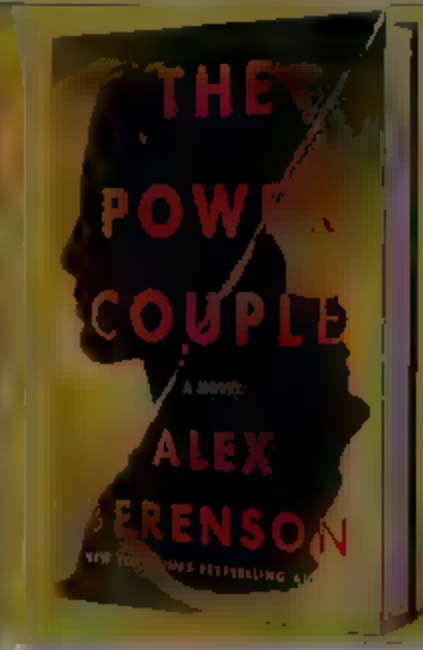
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ The speaker of the NY Assembly now says legalized cannabis in NY may not be approved by @andrewcuomo's March 31 deadline. And the state medical society and PTA are speaking against legalization...



5:44 PM - 15 Feb 2019

10 Retweets 19 Likes

8 10 19

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Feb 2019

2/ Given the way NY politics work and the governor's power in Albany, legalization is still very likely. But every day of delay gives politicians - and voters - more opportunities to weigh the real risks. A failure to legalize would mark a huge change, make no mistake.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

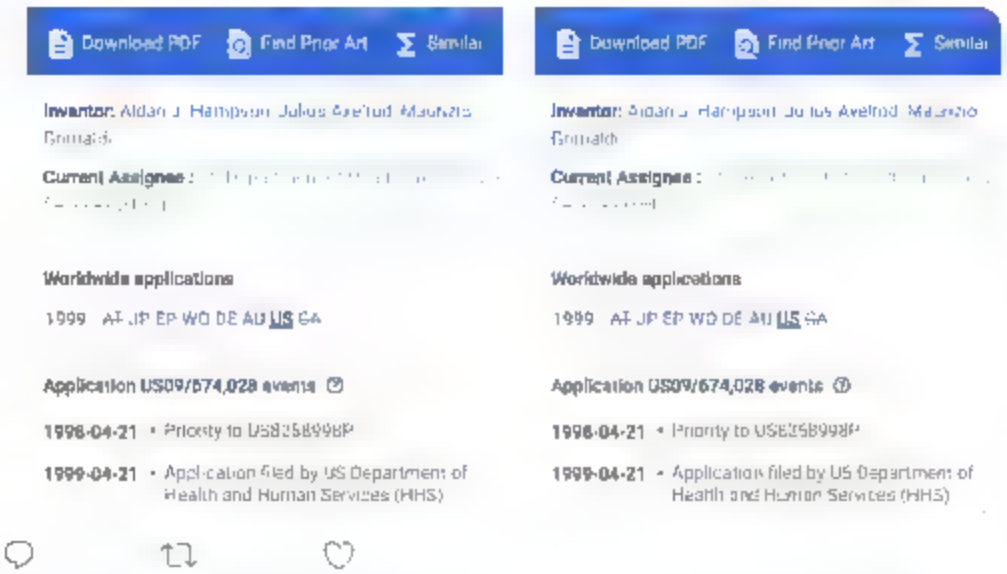
New York

Joined November 2009

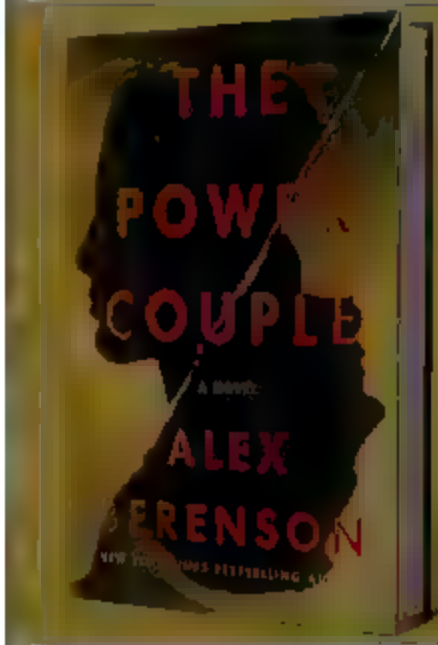
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Sorry, nope. I guess you don't know the difference between a clinician and a forensic psychiatrist, but these are public cases.



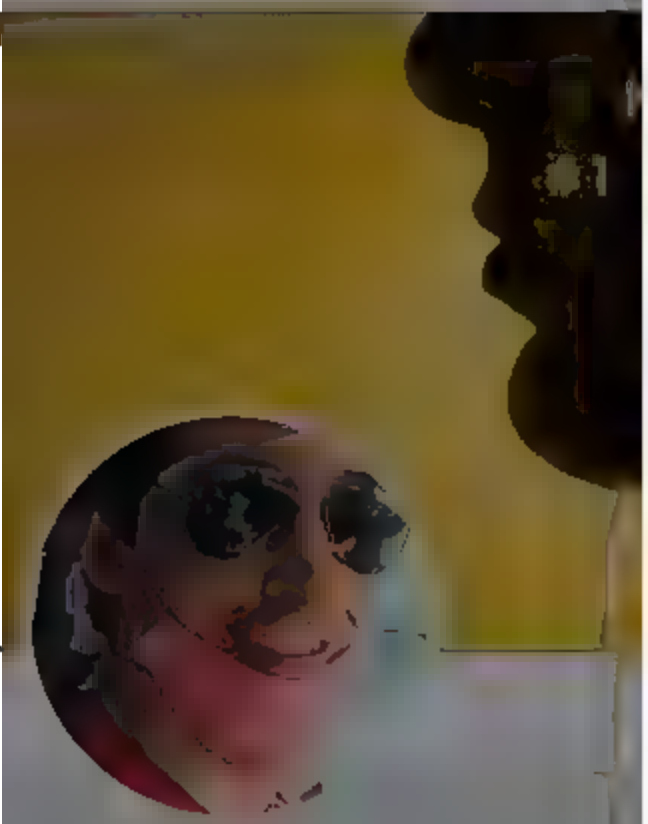
1:34 PM - 15 Feb 2019



1

Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 15 Feb 2019

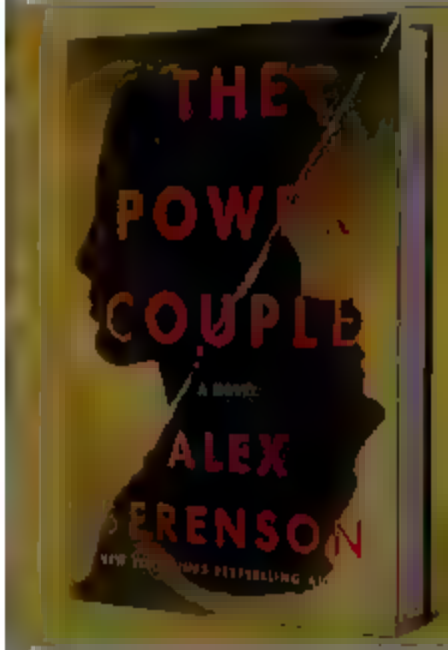
Replying to



The US Government holds a patent on ability to heal and protect the brain.
US Patent Number 6630507
Is that in your book, ?

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

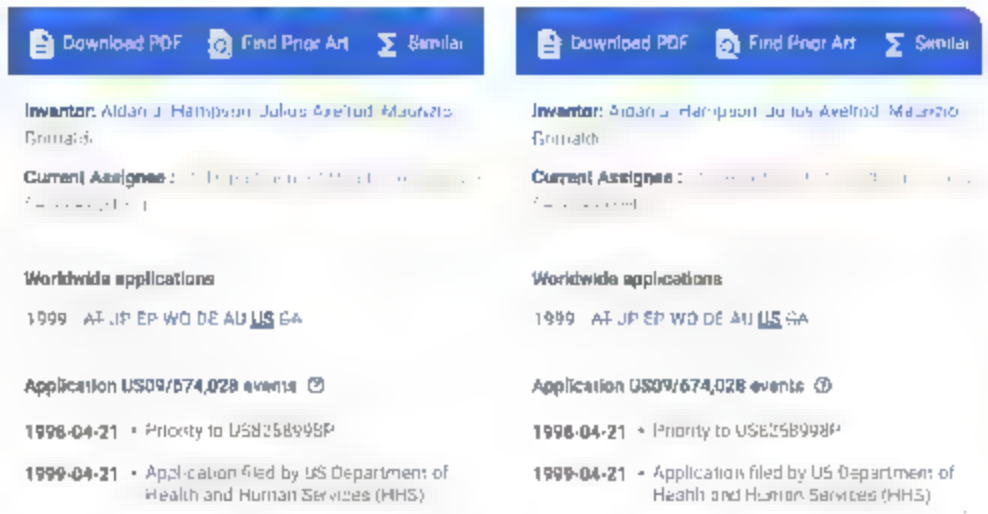
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

20 4 19

KevinFranciotti @KevinFranciotti · 15 Feb 2019
[redacted] is a psychiatrist, genius.

1 3

Alex Berenson [redacted]
@AlexBerenson



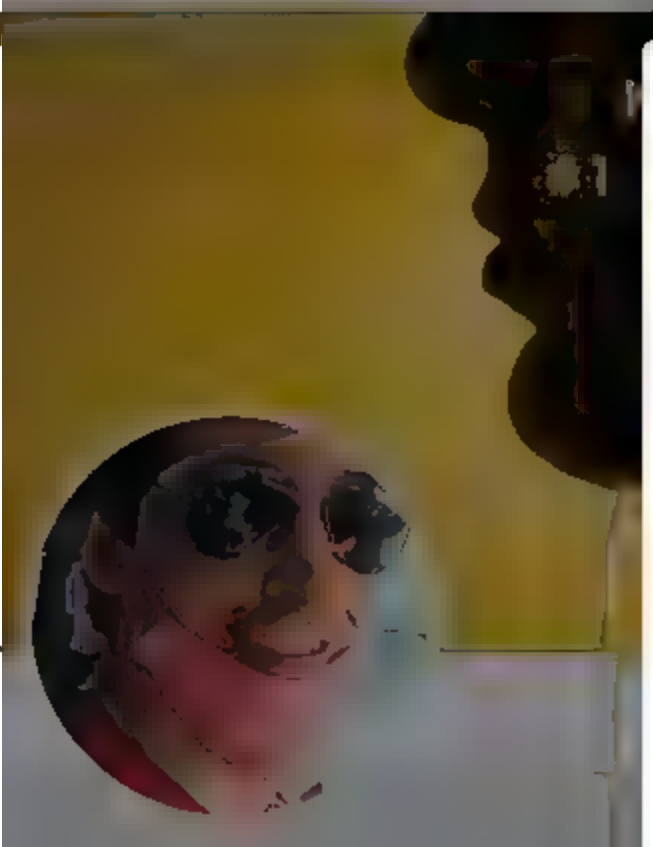
Replying to [redacted]

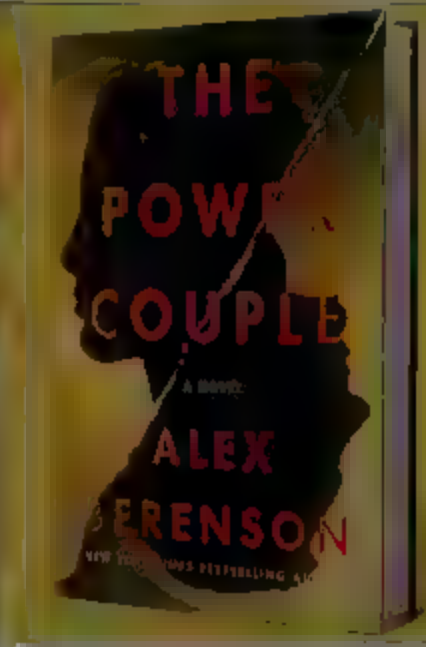
So one, then. Impressive.

12:20 PM - 15 Feb 2019

4 1

Pacific Cannabis @pacificcannabis · 15 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
The US Government holds a patent on [redacted] ability to heal and protect the brain.
US Patent Number 6630507
Is that in your book, [redacted] ?





1 3

Mr. Hob PhD @scihob · 15 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
Regardless to the number, proved your initial post incorrect.

This is the same brain you used to attempt to read studies.

No wonder you couldn't comprehend the data.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I'm glad to see it too. I almost can't believe that five weeks after the book came out, this is the best @DrugPolicyOrg could do. As far as I can tell (and I apologize in advance if I missed anyone) not a single psychiatrist signed this letter.

Kasia Malinowska @OSFKasia
So glad to see this solid, coordinated response – 75 Scholars and Clinicians Refute Inaccurate Claims by @AlexBerenson in his book Tell Your Children: The Truth About Marijuana, Mental Illness, and Violence: drugpolicy.org/press-release/… … @Gladwell

11:55 AM - 15 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 19 Likes

20 4 19

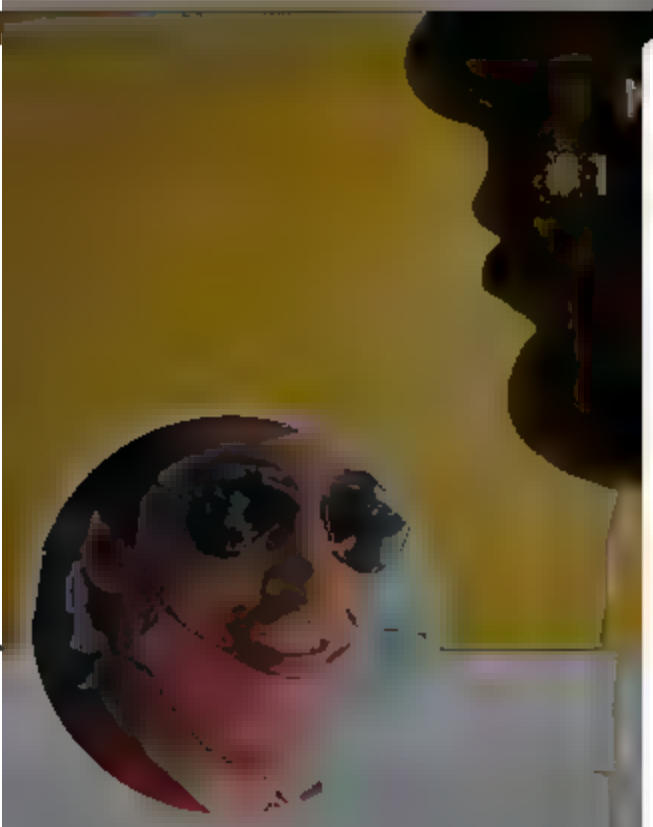
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 15 Feb 2019
Replying to
The preamble refers to "psychiatrists," plural. I'm not surprised your only defense is that it appears to you as though no psychiatrists signed. One needn't be a psychiatrist to spot logical fallacies. Your book and defense of it are non sequiturs.

5

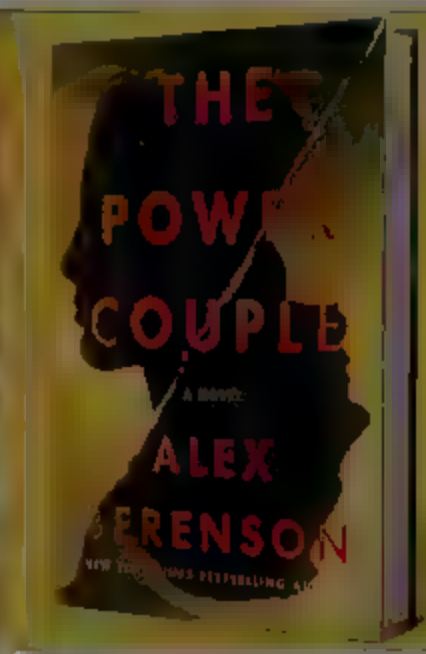
KevinFranciotti @KevinFranciotti · 15 Feb 2019
Replying to
is a psychiatrist, genius.

1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Feb 2019



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

A for-profit company called Women Grow is listed as a sponsor. Do I need to post a screenshot from the Wayback Machine?

10:25 AM - 15 Feb 2019

3 Likes

1 3

Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 15 Feb 2019
Replying to

Also, BOTEC handled ticket sales (I believe tickets were $600 for the event), and many people from for-profit companies attended (they posted Tweets and other social media saying so).

1 1

Jeremy Ziskind @jeremyziskind · 15 Feb 2019
The event was open to anyone with an interest in cannabis science and policy and not a single penny was taken for sponsorship from a for-profit company. There was one panel on investing in cannabis and some for-profit attendees in the audience as well. You're grasping at air.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

BOTEC "never has taken any money from any firms involved in the cannabis industry. Nor will it ever take money from from any firm engaged in illegal activity..."

2 1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ "which anything having to do with producing or selling cannabis still is in the United States.

Note that [this] allegation, if true, would implicate me and my staff in several federal felonies."

Lol, as the kids say. How's that updated disclosure coming?

9:04 AM - 15 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

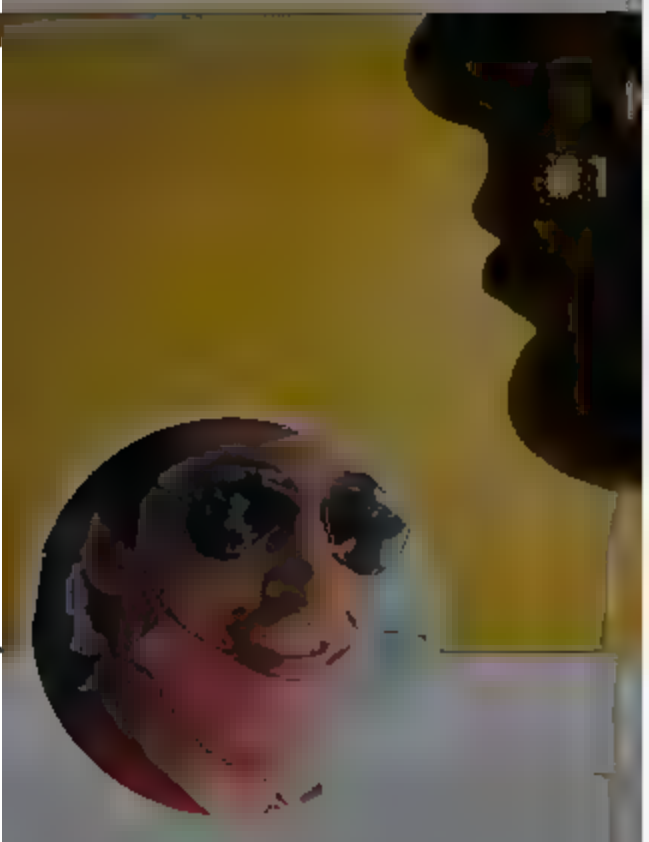
2 1 3

This Tweet is unavailable.



Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 15 Feb 2019
Just so you know, SAM and Kevin Sabet did not run the Arizona ballot. A group of Arizonans did and the largest donor was the owner of discount tire. Perhaps he genuinely doesn't want more car crashes related to marijuana. We don't want more car crashes either!!

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

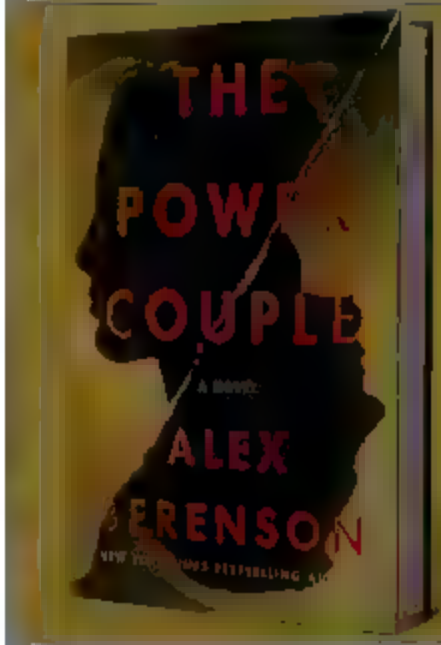
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Feb 2019
A for-profit company called Women Grow is listed as a sponsor. Do I need to post a screenshot from the Wayback Machine?

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

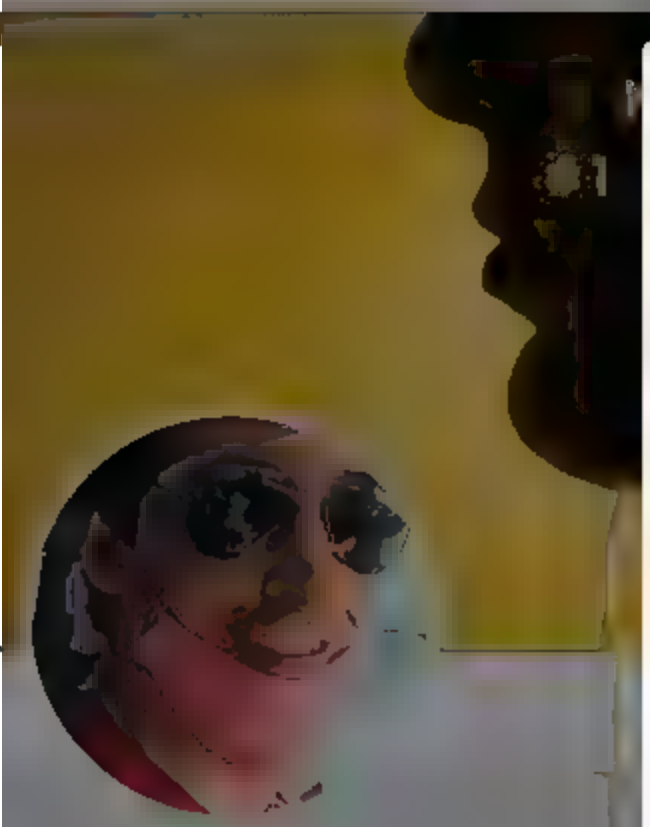
Replying to [redacted]

Also, BOTEC handled ticket sales (I believe tickets were $600 for the event), and many people from for-profit companies attended (they posted Tweets and other social media saying so).

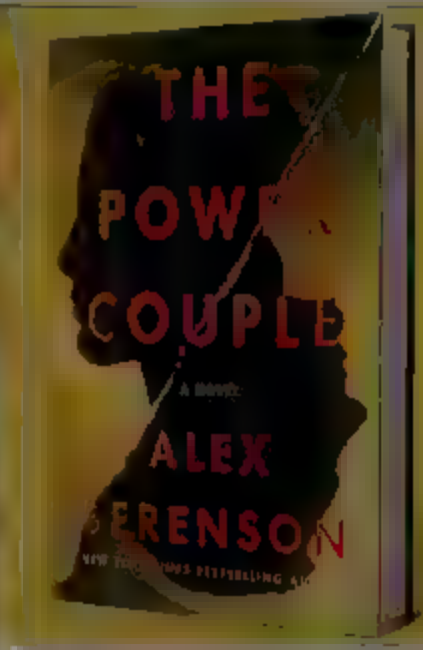


10:27 AM - 15 Feb 2019

1 Like



1 1



Jeremy Ziskind @jeremyziskind · 15 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]

The event was open to anyone with an interest in cannabis science and policy and not a single penny was taken for sponsorship from a for-profit company. There was one panel on investing in cannabis and some for-profit attendees in the audience as well. You're grasping at air.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Hi @MarkARKleiman! Ever find yourself reading over old emails? I did today, and found this one from you:

BOTEC "never has taken any money from any firms involved in the cannabis industry. Nor will it ever take money from from any firm engaged in illegal activity..."

9:03 AM - 15 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

2 1 2

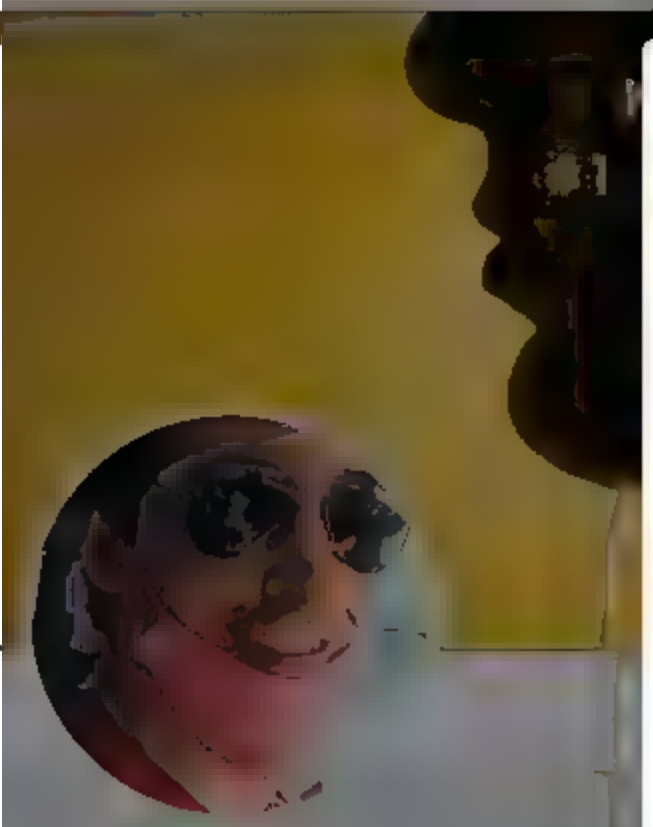
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Feb 2019

2/ "which anything having to do with producing or selling cannabis still is in the United States.

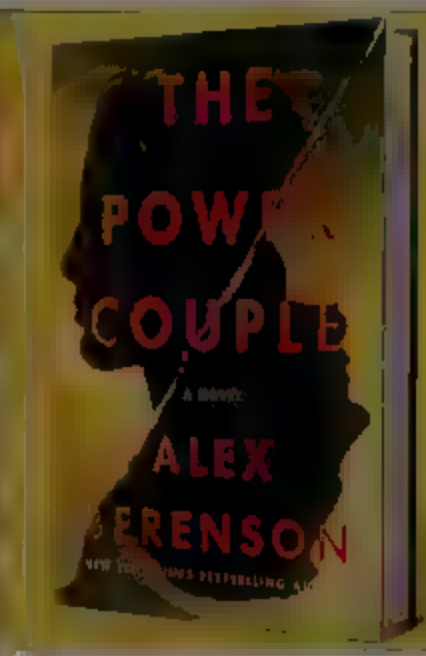
Note that [this] allegation, if true, would implicate me and my staff in several federal felonies."

Lol, as the kids say. How's that updated disclosure coming?

2 1 3



Renee M Johnson, PhD, MPH @renee_m_johnson · 15 Feb 2019



Replying to

This crosses a line. Putting false information out can jeopardize reputations and careers. @markarkleiman is very senior - and therefore able to respond as he does, but the tactic you are engaging in are extremely concerning.

4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Happy to report @Amazon is now offering a 75% credit on the Kindle version of TYC - your post-rebate cost is less than $4! A great chance to check it out.... amazon.com/gp/aw/d/B07GNV ..

6:30 AM - 15 Feb 2019

12 Retweets 16 Likes

10 12 16

ClickClick @LiebundFein · 15 Feb 2019
Replying to you should update the content tho

This Tweet is unavailable.

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 15 Feb 2019
Marijuana science facts book is still selling steadily. Fully justified

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Great op-ed in the Plain-Dealer yesterday urging caution on legalization...

"Just as the public perception of marijuana is softening, scientific research is revealing ever more concerns about its long- and short-term health risks..."

6:01 AM - 15 Feb 2019

18 Retweets 25 Likes

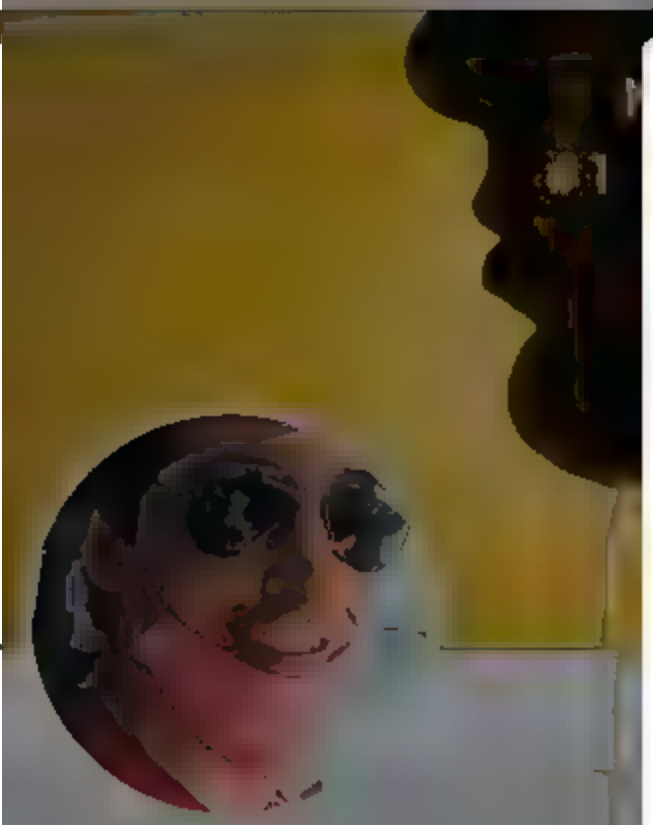
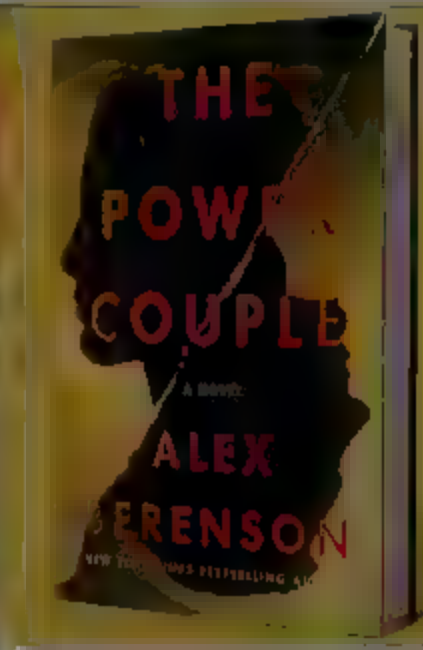
14 18 25



Woody Creed @woody_creed · 15 Feb 2019



Replying to

I am convinced this is how the zombie apocalypse is going to start.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Feb 2019

Hi Mark! Great to hear from you. Can you provide a full and complete disclosure of your and BOTEC's current and past conflicts of interest? Just for the record. It might be of interest to government agencies and others considering hiring you.

2 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

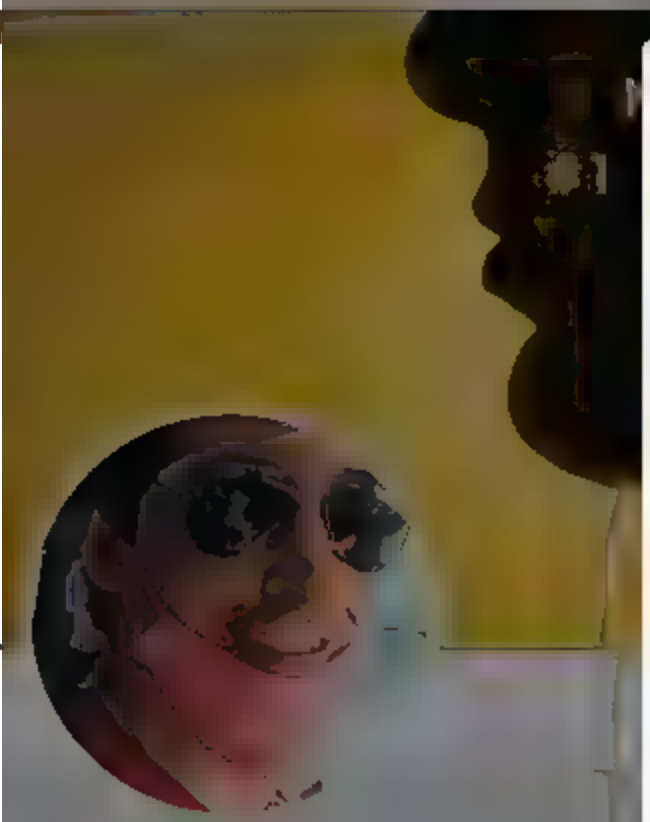
You might start with Luigi Zamarra, a CPA whom BOTEC lists as a "senior consultant." Here's how Luigi describes his BOTEC work: "provided business-friendly input on the proposed regulations [for Washington state]."

True story.

botecanalysis.com/luigi-zamarra/

7:25 AM - 14 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

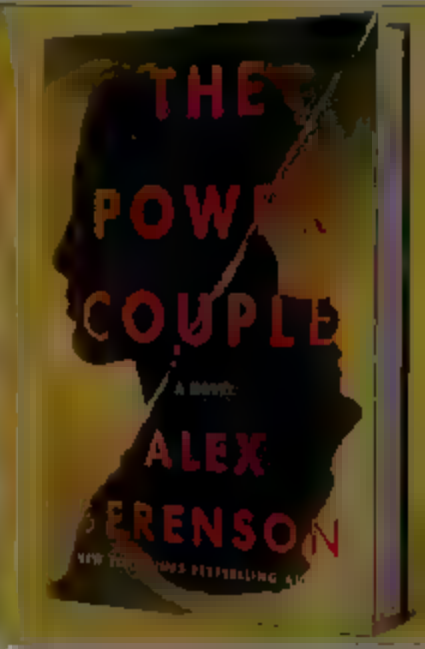
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Hi Mark! Great to hear from you. Can you provide a full and complete disclosure of your and BOTEC's current and past conflicts of interest? Just for the record. It might be of interest to government agencies and others considering hiring you.

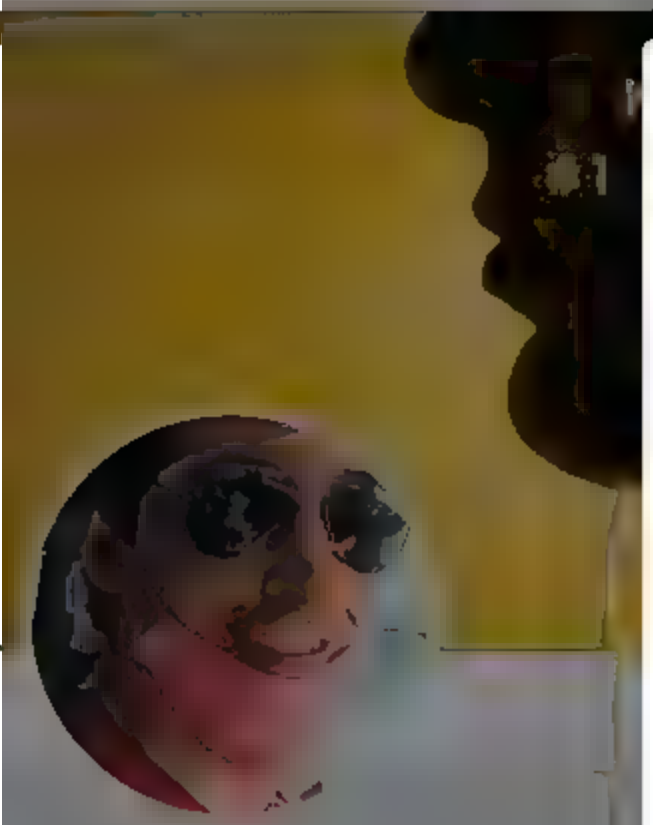
7:12 AM - 14 Feb 2019

5 Likes



2 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Feb 2019



Replying to

You might start with Luigi Zamarra, a CPA whom BOTEC lists as a "senior consultant." Here's how Luigi describes his BOTEC work: "provided business-friendly [input on the proposed regulations [for Washington state]."

True story.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

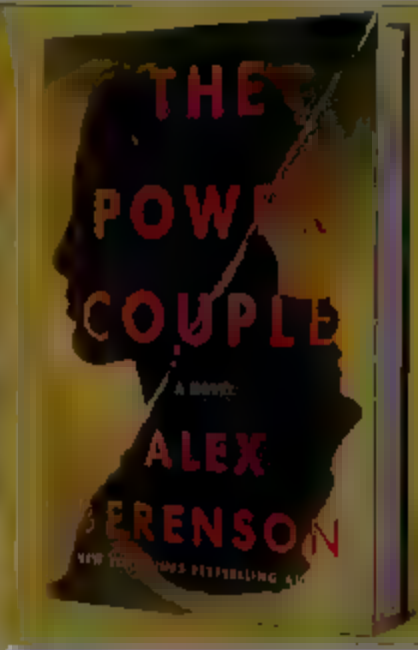
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

In case you missed it in the Rogan madness yesterday, @NBCNews posted my op-ed on the financial conflicts of interest among cannabis researchers and legalization advocates like @DrugPolicyOrg and @MarkARKleiman



It's Big Tobacco all over again.

7:02 AM - 14 Feb 2019

13 Retweets 32 Likes

17 13 32

Nick Kosalka @nick_kosalka · 14 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

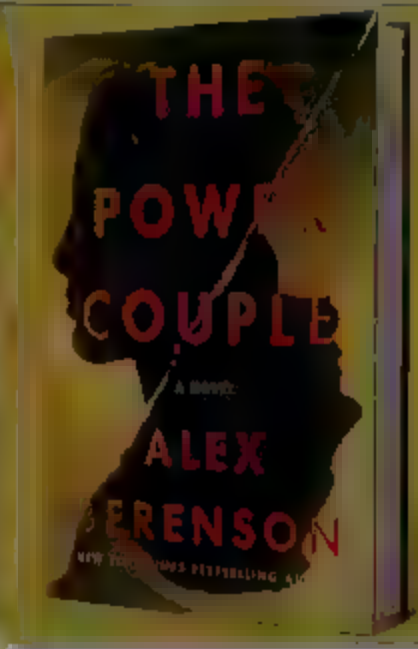
Following

The comments on our @joerogan podcast are - as you'd expect - pretty great...

whole sesh.
10 minutes ago · 3

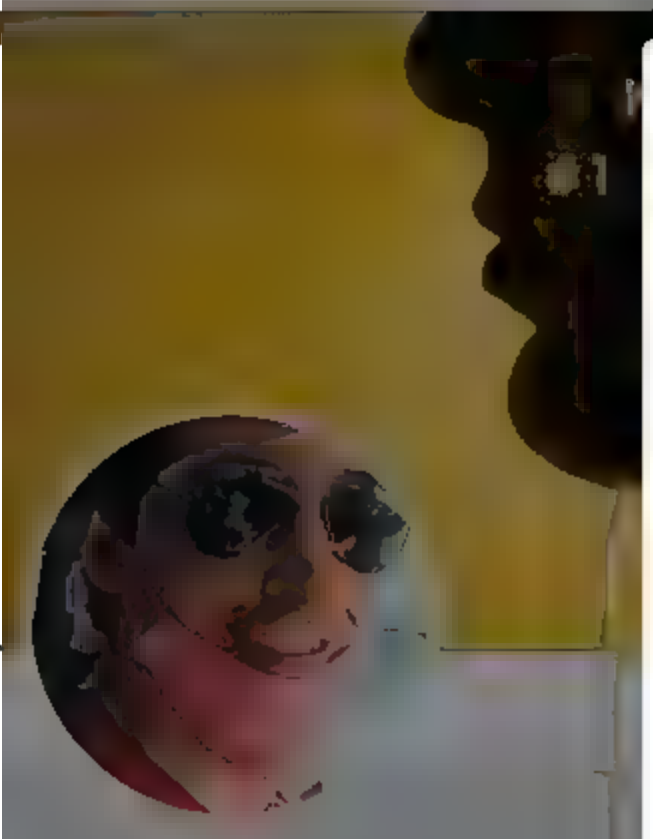
Doc Milsap
Alex "THE DEVIL'S LETTUCE" Berenson
2 hours ago · 3

Fountainhead
I'm shocked JRE listeners disagree with the Alex guy. Shocked.
2 hours ago · 64



SHOW MORE REPLIES

Andrew R
PODCAST GAME: Everybody take a hit every time anyone says "Studies have shown"
1 hour ago · 2



4:19 PM - 13 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 15 Likes

8 1 15

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

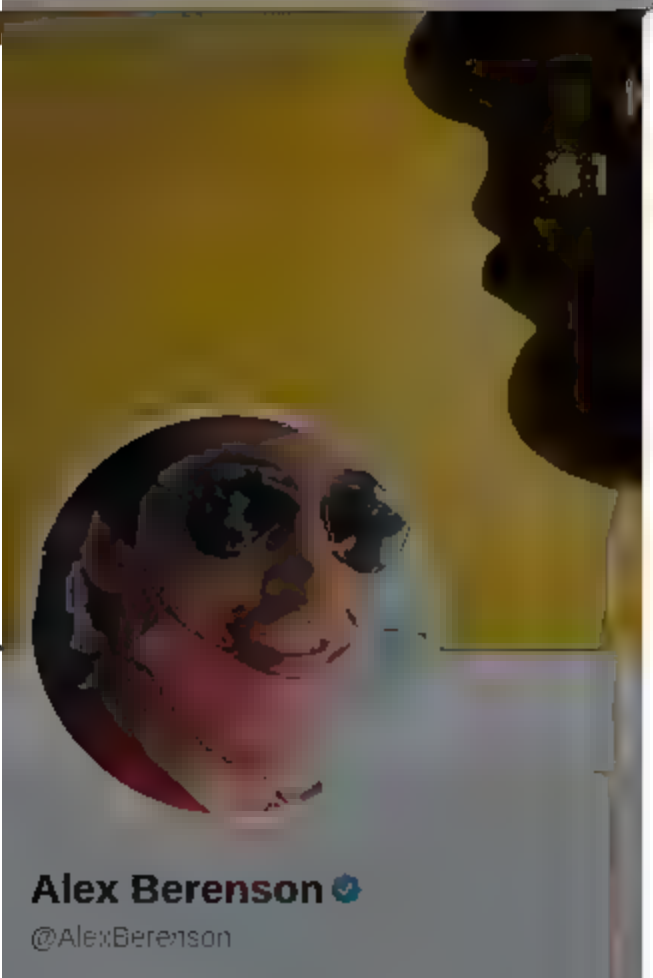
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Ahh @MarkARKleiman, usually so quick to comment when his name is mentioned. Perhaps he's doing some PhD-level research into the Wayback Machine. Here's a hint. It archives Web pages, Mark. Like those from cannabis-summit.org. So pages that seem gone... aren't really.



3:11 PM - 13 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

2 1 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Somebody's getting a lump of coal in his stocking! Gotta love the Oxford comma, though. A real grammarian.

To: alexberensonauthor@gmail.com

Date: February 13, 2019, 5:32 PM

FUCK YOU!, YOUR NOT A DOCTOR, YOU'RE A SHIT AUTHOR, AND YOU'RE LITERAL HUMAN GARBAGE!

Sent from Mail for Windows 10

Reply Forward

View Gmail in: Mobile | Older version | Desktop

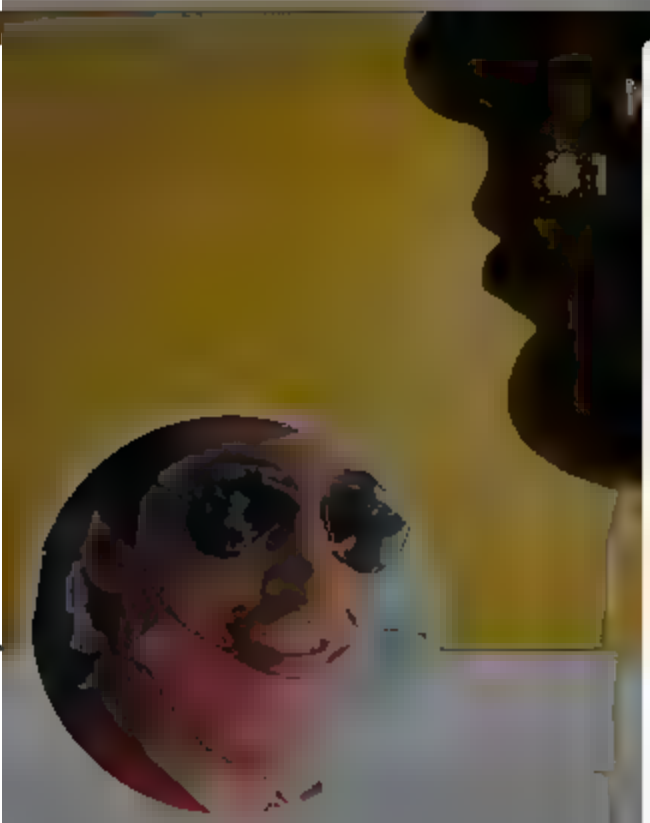
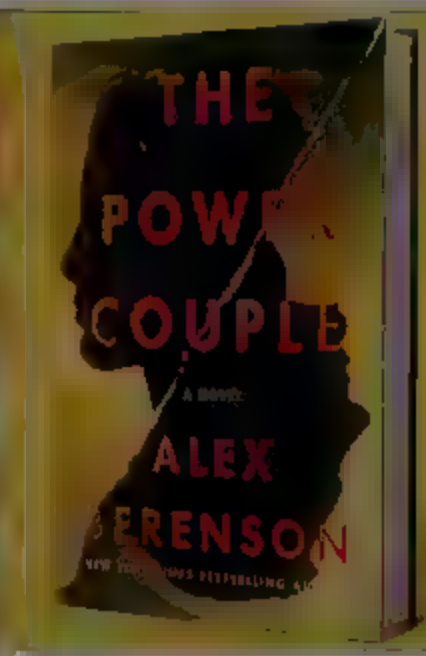
© 2018 Google



5:51 PM - 13 Feb 2019



30 Likes

12 30

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Pro tip for @MarkARKleiman - if you are going to deny you or @BOTECAnalysis has ever done business with the cannabis industry, you might want to check BOTEC's own Twitter feed. Also, there's this thing called the Wayback Machine. Cheers.

1:23 PM - 13 Feb 2019

7 Retweets 15 Likes

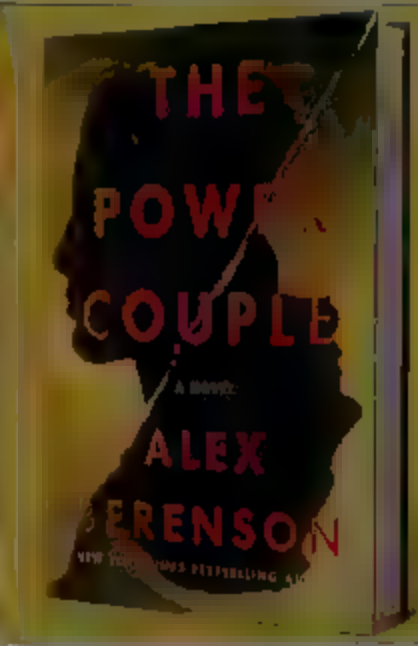
7 7 15

This Tweet is unavailable.

christy brown @mystocean · 13 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

About to roll live with @joerogan in the same seat where @elonmusk got high! (I'm such a dummy I didn't bring a copy of the book for him...)

10:10 AM - 13 Feb 2019

2 Retweets 32 Likes

46 2 32

Bruce Conners @bconners · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
How many guards did you bring with you to protect you from the violence?

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
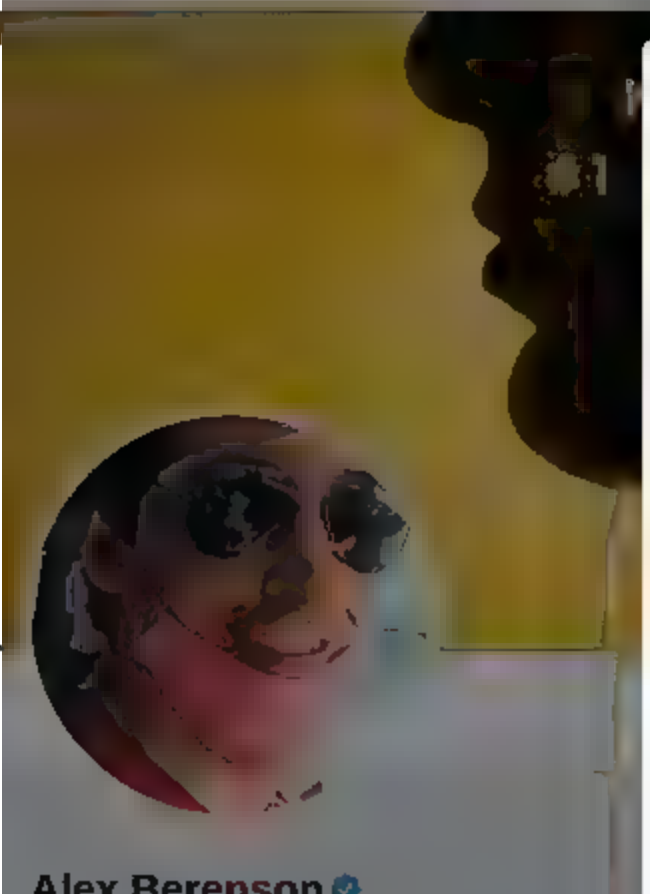
> Cannabis causes psychosis causes violence
> twitter.com/AdamMKaufman/s...

4



Ross Spigner @Rossatron8705 · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
He took 1 hit off a joint and didnt inhale.. So you may want to look up the term " got high"

4

Eat Meat Be Happy! @swedishbikini · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Make em cry!

rejeckted @rejeckted · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Hey, turns out cannabis doesn't just cause psychosis! The depression numbers here are huge - teen use is associated with 1 in 14 cases in young adults, 400,000 cases a year. Don't sleep on the 3.5x risk of suicide attempts either. Good times all around!

8:20 AM - 13 Feb 2019

73 Retweets 110 Likes

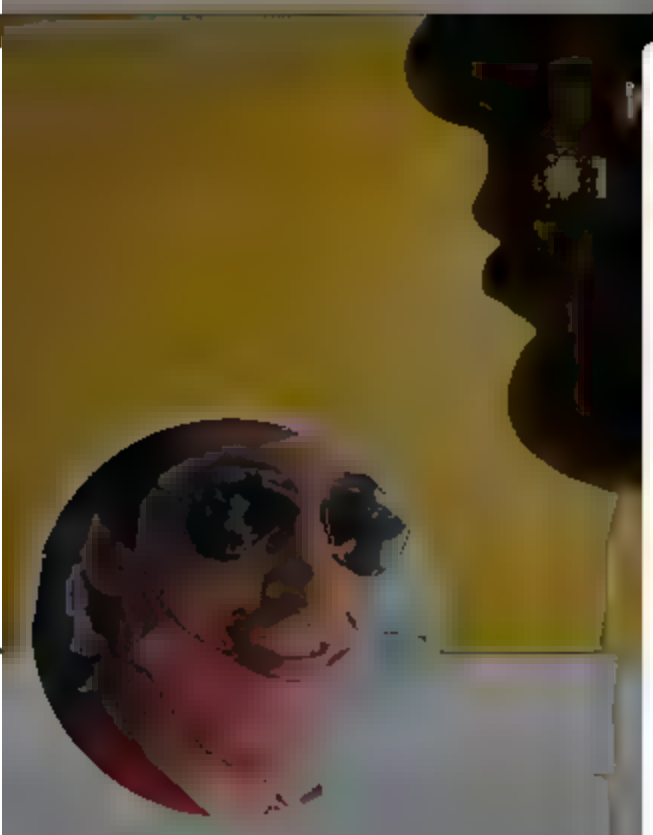
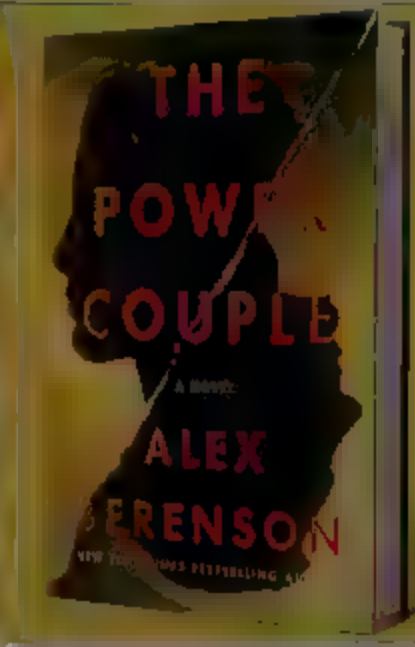
59 73 110



Chris Thomas @uheyyo · 13 Feb 2019



Replying to [redacted] ah it's all natural man

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

T-minus two hours to... the one and only... @joerogan (I even have a present for him!).

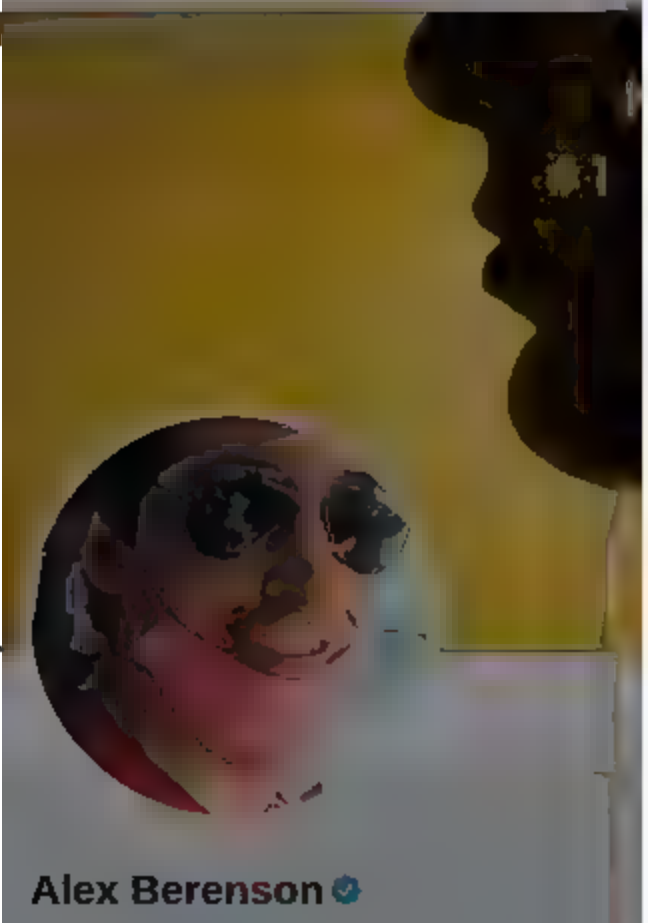
7:59 AM - 13 Feb 2019

11 Likes

7 11

Chuck Brown @chazzbro · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I'm very pleased that Joe was open to this idea. I (and I'm sure many others) made the suggestion some time ago. This ought to be quite interesting!

1



Christian L. Creed RN @GrandpaKardash1 · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Ten minutes in and you're just wrong about everything....

1

SUBLIME SINNNER @silfysidbin · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Too bad it wasn't your book... How embarrassing was it that the person who you debated had a copy to give? That was hilarious and a great way to spread some comic relief after your bias and unrealistic anti-cannabis stance. Smoked flower may not be medicine but the plant has them

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Be fair, be left. #FreeAssange @fairleft · 13 Feb 2019
Long term use of marijuana in people with a set of risk factors can cause psychosis. We don't know any of that about the perpetrator here.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

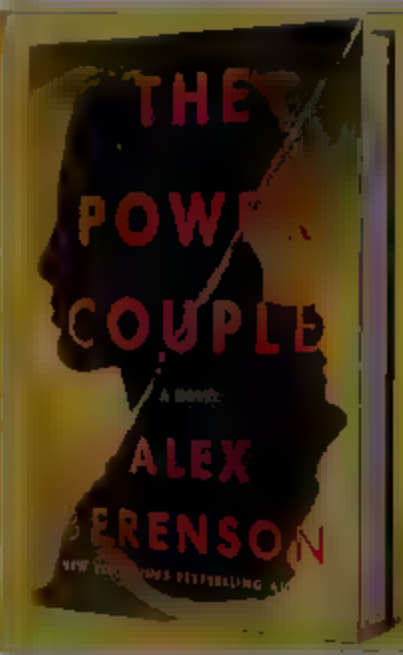
I agree we don't know much in this case; what is so striking is that police initially assumed alcohol was the cause. We KNOW alcohol causes accidents and violence; but thanks to a generation of lobbying, we have forgotten that cannabis does too.

7:24 AM - 13 Feb 2019

3 Likes

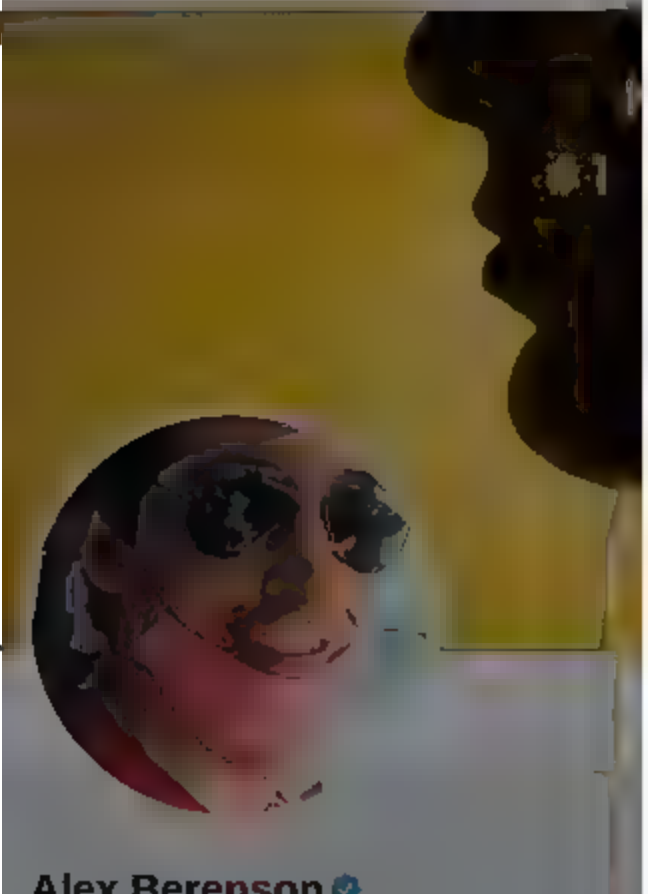
2 3

Quenton Phillips @SanGringoCorp · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to
All because people want to get junked up



Psychedelic Physician @PsychedelicPhy1 · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to
I'd suggest that the current level of hysteria consuming cannabis supporters has more to do with government fear-mongering than lobbyists. Once people became aware that authorities were lying to them, they stopped believing authorities.

1



christy brown @mystocean · 13 Feb 2019
What are they going to do when they realize lobbyists are lying to them?

1 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

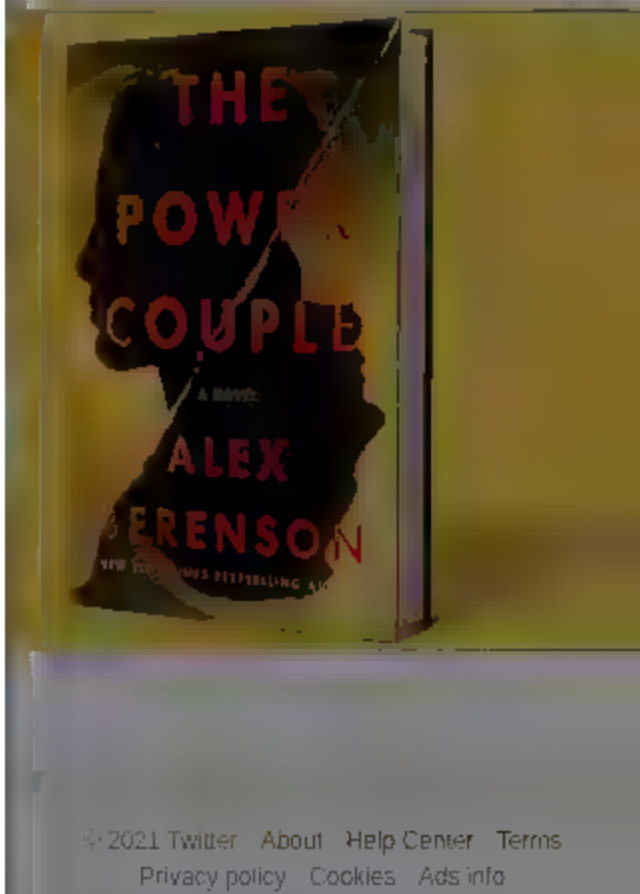
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 Feb 2019

1/ When Nicholas Moler drove into a tree in Ohio in November, killing himself, his 10-year-old son, and his 83-year-old grandfather, the state police assumed (and reported) the crash was an accident, with alcohol involved.

4 7 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Yesterday they disclosed they were wrong. On both counts. The crash was a murder-suicide. And the only drug in Moler's system was not alcohol but marijuana. Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.



7:09 AM - 13 Feb 2019

14 Retweets 25 Likes

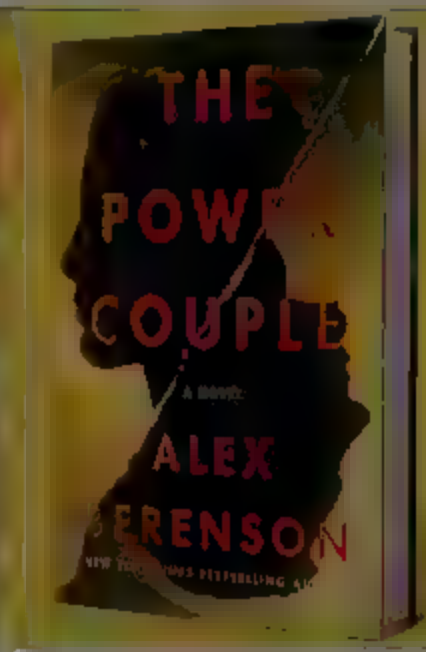
8 14 25



David Schaab @schaabdl · 13 Feb 2019

Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

So true. I mean, to this day there has never been an RCT showing that tobacco causes lung cancer, right? I guess the jury is still out...

> Alexander Linklater @ARLinklater
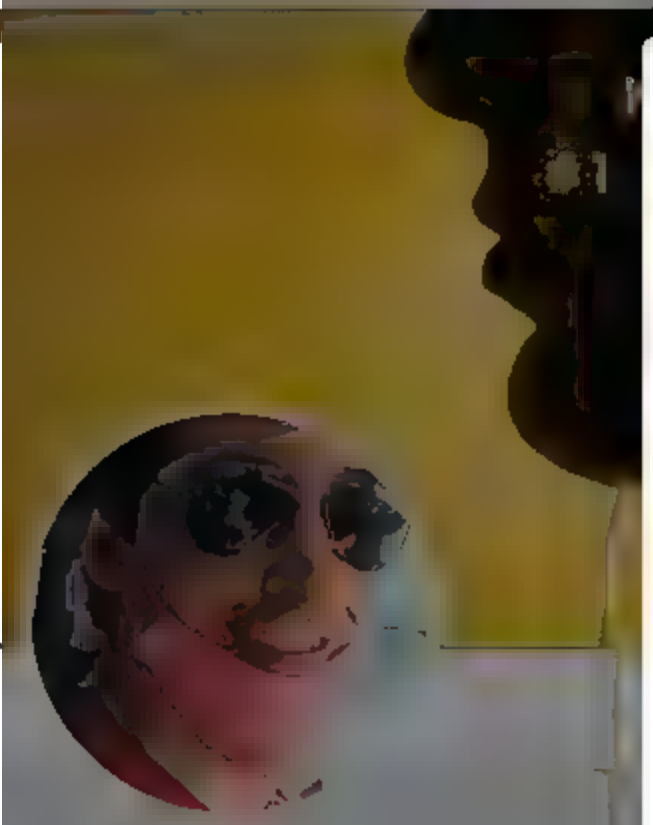
> Replying to @AlexBerenson
> "Such an association is not proof of causation by any means," Clarence Little, quite accurately arguing on behalf of Big Tobacco that studies showing strong correlations between smoking and cancer were not proof of causation.



7:01 AM - 13 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ When Nicholas Moler drove into a tree in Ohio in November, killing himself, his 10-year-old son, and his 83-year-old grandfather, the state police assumed (and reported) the crash was an accident, with alcohol involved.

7:07 AM - 13 Feb 2019

7 Retweets 8 Likes

4 7 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 Feb 2019

2/ Yesterday they disclosed they were wrong. On both counts. The crash was a murder-suicide. And the only drug in Moler's system was not alcohol but marijuana. Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.

8 14 25

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Big paper on cannabis coming later today... expect to hear a whole lot of "correlation is not causation" screams from the usual suspects.

6:10 AM - 13 Feb 2019

13 Likes

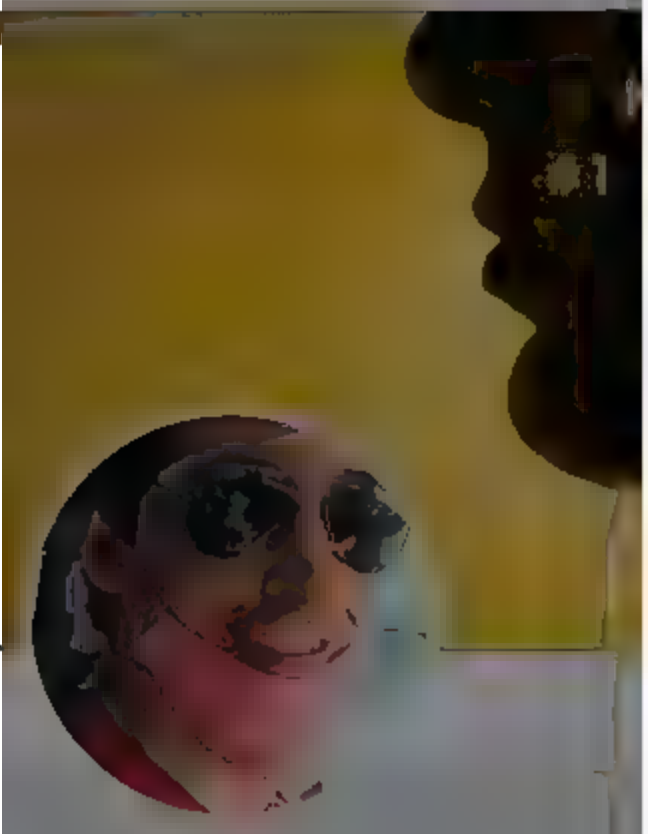
6 13

Galya - Free Enterprise Rocks! @galyacampano · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Look forward to reading it—thank you, Alex!

Alexander Linklater @ARLinklater · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
"Such an association is not proof of causation by any means," Clarence Little, quite accurately arguing on behalf of Big Tobacco that studies showing strong correlations between smoking and cancer were not proof of causation.

2

Alexander Linklater @ARLinklater · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

For marijuana and all other drugs: Don't take 8 times the recommended dose on your first go. Seems the issue here is that he wasn't familiar with the delivery system. He prolly knows better than to eat all the pills in a bottle of Tylenol, but in the 1880s people might not've

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Victim-blaming. Such an attractive trait among cannabis advocates.

1:31 PM - 12 Feb 2019

5

brian @WhatIsBalG · 12 Feb 2019

Replying to

I am not blaming him, ya goof. Lollipops with 9 times the recommended dose is a bizarre and unintuitive way to administer any drug. It's no wonder the guy took so much. If I was unfamiliar with how pills worked, I could see doing the same thing with a bottle of paracetamol

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 12 Feb 2019

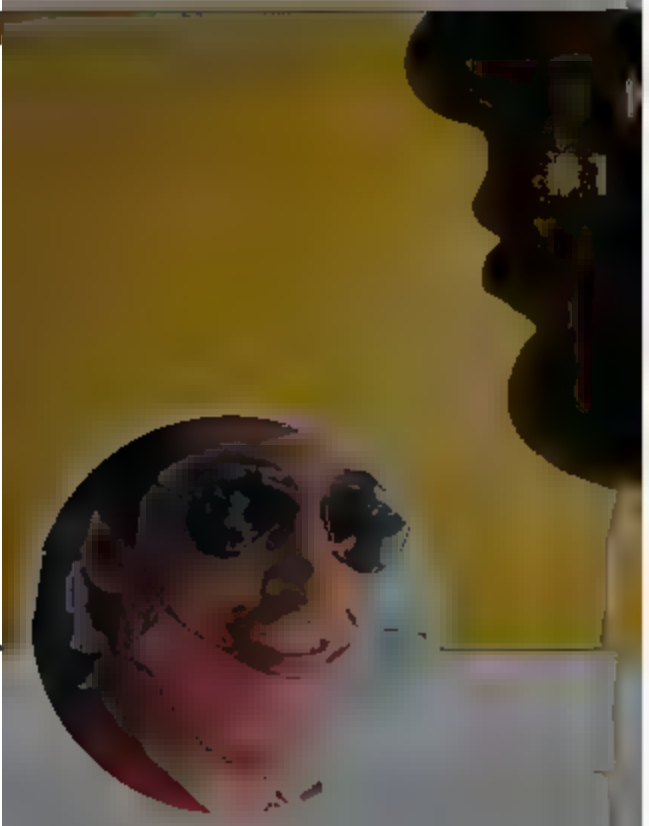
Replying to Blame prohibition. Edibles remain prohibited in Canada for now, but new regulations call for less THC per serving and labeling. The doctors wrote "Understanding appropriate dosing would likely have prevented the toxicity suffered by the patient."

3



Tamar @Tamar781 · 13 Feb 2019

Replying to

Don't generalize people In one theory it makes you sound uneducated and as I

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

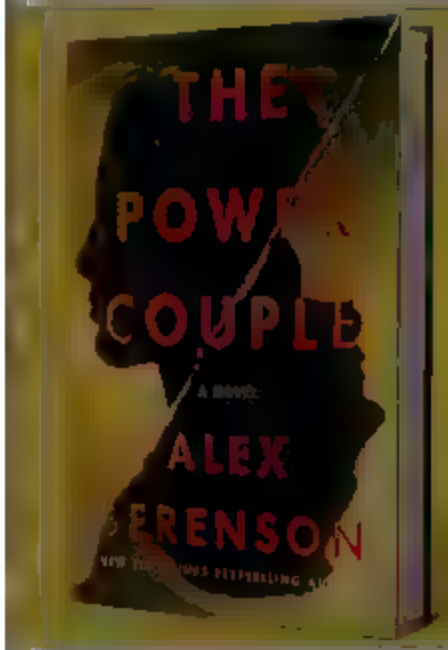
This Tweet is unavailable.

Peter B. Bach, MD @peterbachmd · 12 Feb 2019
Too narrow a construction for this point. Cig warning labels list many risks - cancer, fetal abnormalities, heart disease etc. By your arg I then these labels are unfair b/c risk increment and downstream consequences not equal magnitude or even all relevant to same users. Right?

1

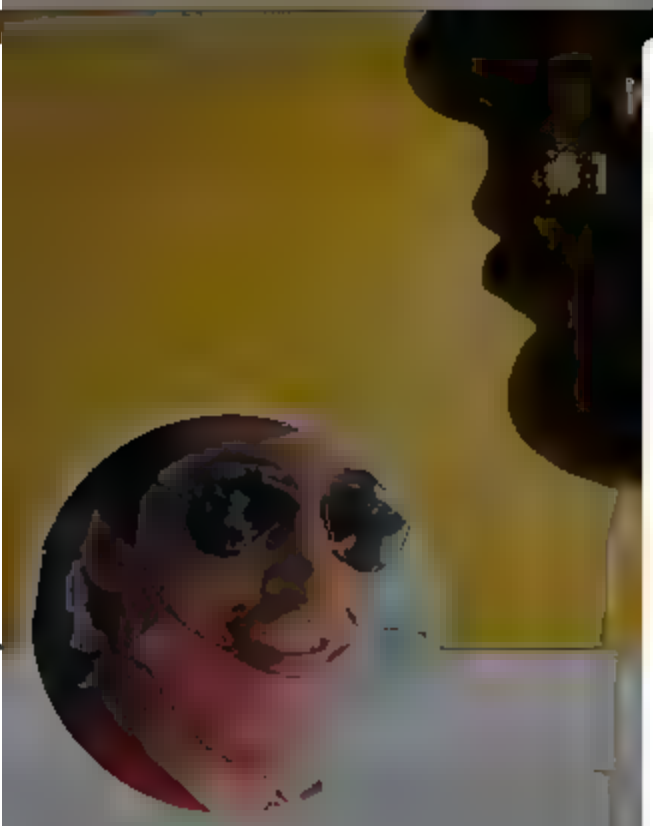
Peter B. Bach, MD @peterbachmd · 12 Feb 2019
Put more bluntly, I do not think it makes sense to call a list of warnings dishonest because the magnitude of the harms not equal down the list, nvm that we agree there is no science on how we would determine whether the harms are equal etc.

This Tweet is unavailable.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



Lol. There's an international effort to claim that cannabis is medicine and do everything possible to play down its harms. Like I said, if the same standards were applied for cannabis-associated and alcohol-associated deaths, the cannabis number would be >> 0.

1:28 PM - 12 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

In LA. @joerogan here I come...

11:59 AM - 12 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 22 Likes

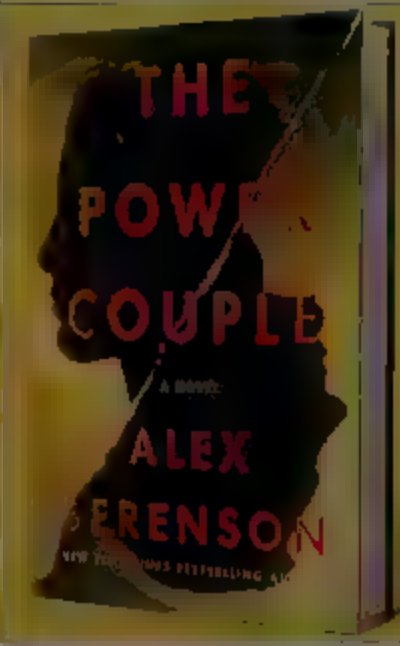
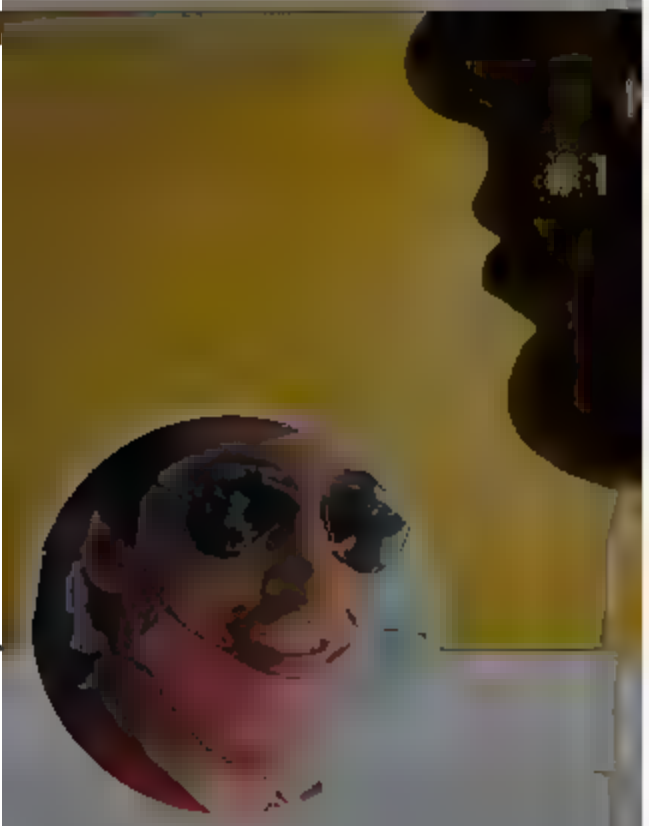
7 1 22

David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 12 Feb 2019
Replying to
This should be a good talk! Joe is a very bright guy.



Rory O'Connor @roryocon1 · 12 Feb 2019
Replying to
Your welcome

Timandjerry @Timandjerry420 · 12 Feb 2019
Replying to
Sure you wanna take the risk? He does smoke the Ganja, you know? Might go all violent on you..



1 3

Bruce Conners @bconners · 12 Feb 2019
Whoa! What kind of security detail did you bring with you Al? CA has more stoners than anywhere else in the country. Not sure it is safe here. And Joe will probably burn during the podcast. Are you packing heat to protect yourself from the inevitable violence?

SmurpleHaze @SmurpleHaze · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to
You going to JRE???

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

Peter B. Bach, MD @peterbachmd · 12 Feb 2019

But I don't think this poster claims equivalence & I am unsure how you would measure which substance is more risky. Would be dictated almost entirely by the measure construct. We warn people along multiple driving fronts w/o equivalency rule: drinking, texting, seatbelts.

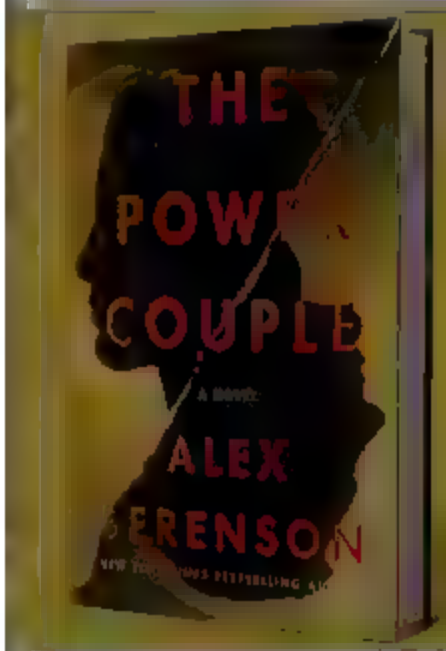
This Tweet is unavailable.

Peter B. Bach, MD @peterbachmd · 12 Feb 2019

I don't really have a lot of interest in trying to construct the metric. But if you were going to, one hard question is what the denominator is. A comparative metric would imply trade offs which means a common denominator. What would it be? Per exposure period, per dollar spent?

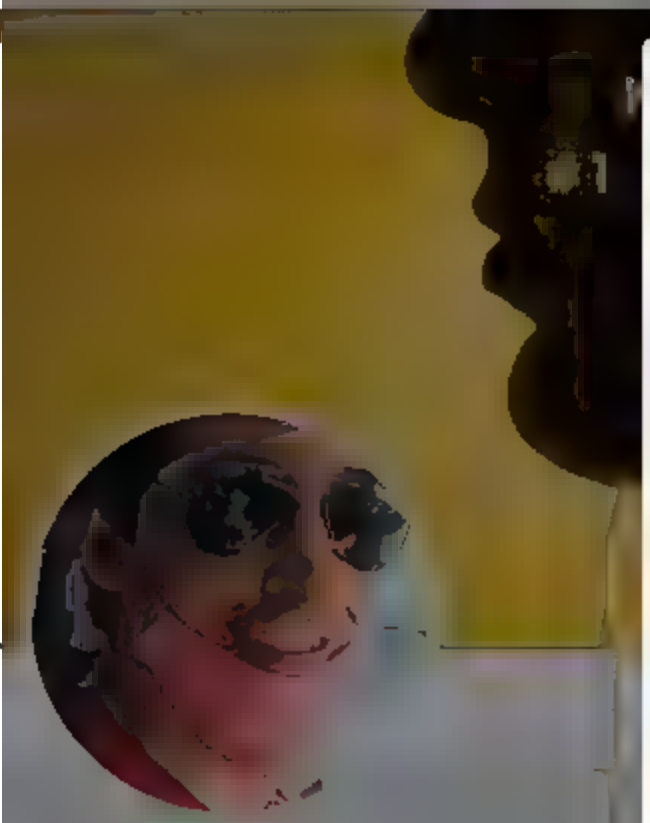
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted]

I agree: a mortality estimate for cannabis similar to that we use for alcohol is long overdue. Let's look at suicide/homicide tox screens, road traffic accidents, etc. The number is likely to shock policymakers - and everyone else.

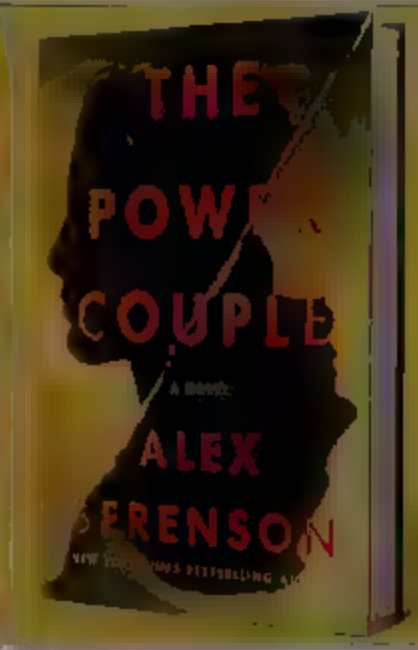


11:54 AM - 12 Feb 2019

1 Retweet

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

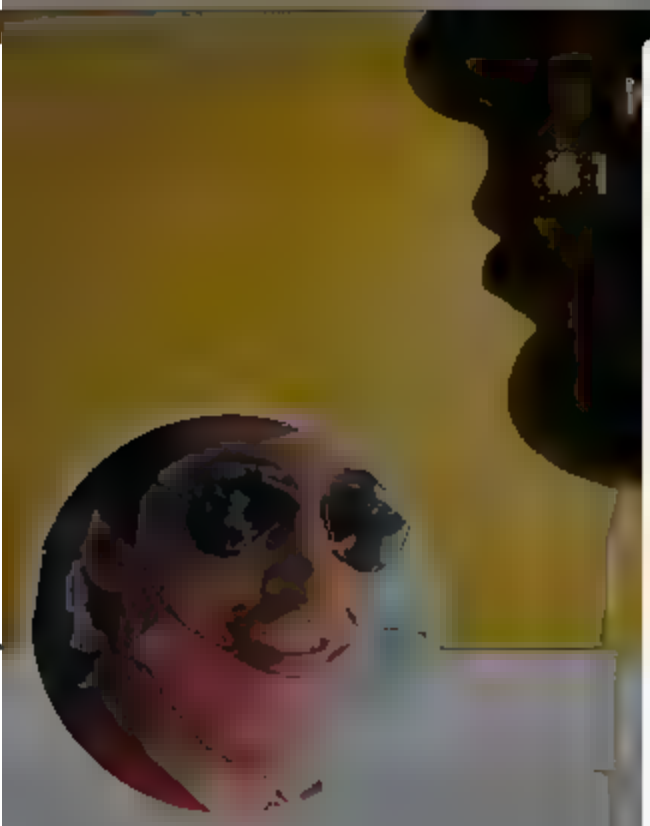
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

My new book, an airport hit! (No, not that one...)

4:35 AM - 12 Feb 2019



19 Likes

4 19

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 12 Feb 2019

Replying to

No, your new book is this one -- the one that's a love letter to Anslinger and Reefer Madness -- both are fiction, of course, but "Tell Your Children" is definitely the new one. The other one you call "new" is two years old -- already trying to forget your latest mistake?

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Oh the stories I'm hearing. So many sons and daughters lost to this drug. So many families wrecked. I think the reason @DrugPolicyOrg and the rest are trying so hard to shout down TYC is that deep inside they know the misery they're wreaking.

There's no drug as strong as denial.

1:47 PM - 10 Feb 2019

14 Retweets 49 Likes

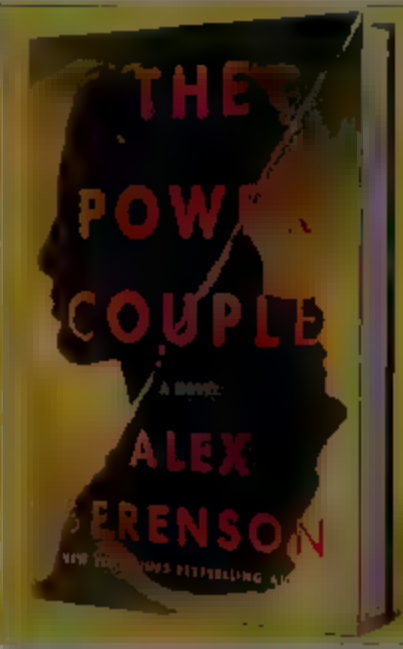
10 14 49

Timandjerry @Timandjerry420 · 11 Feb 2019

Replying to

Another possible reason might be that your "book" is full of mistakes, misconceptions, oversimplifications, cherry-picked data and sensationalist dumbness. Hard to say, who's right...

1 9

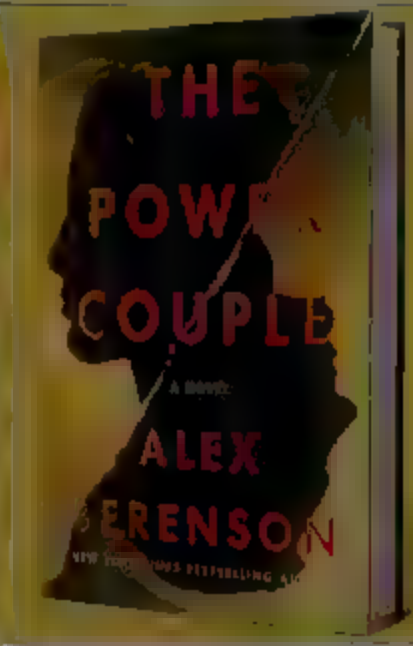


LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 11 Feb 2019

Replying to

maybe if these people weren't such terrible parents they wouldn't be losing their kids to drugs 🤦 If you lose your child to a drug overdose you weren't a good parent, pretty simple. Just be better, it's easy

1



Raija Raffensparger @msraija · 11 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

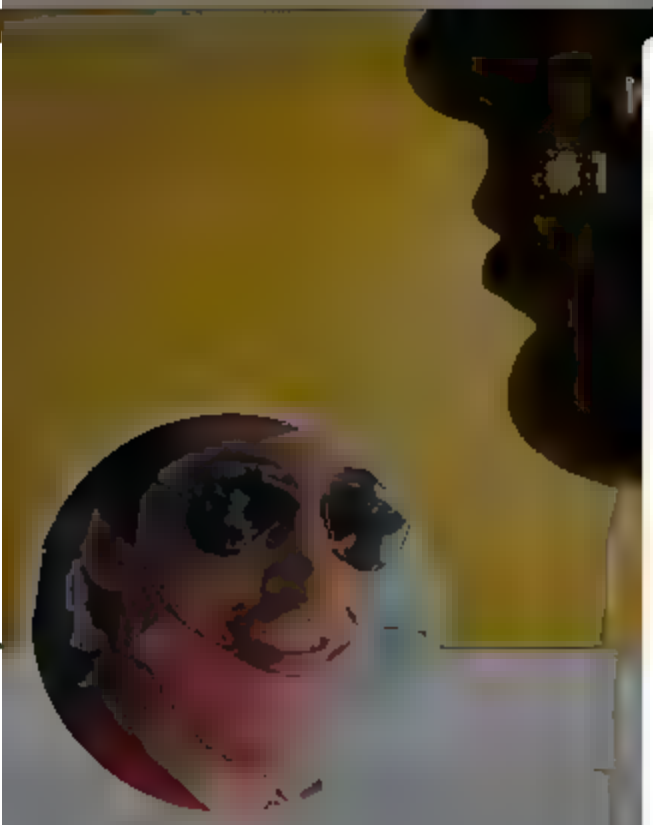
A real pleasure talking to @mitchearleywine at the @empirecenter event yesterday. Proof that it's possible to favor legalization without lying about the science.

6:23 AM - 12 Feb 2019

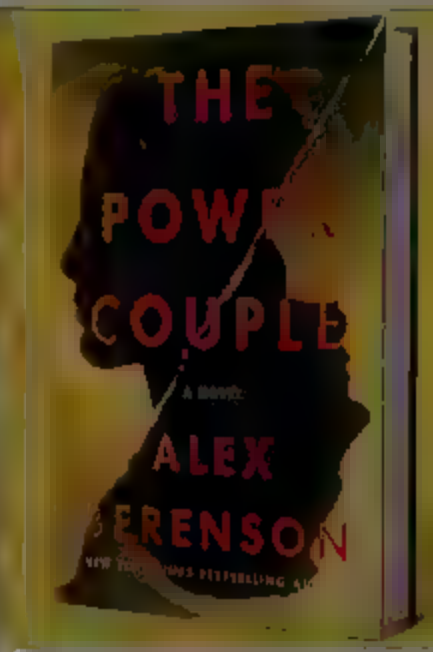
3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just to repeat: every Sackler wing, gallery, school, etc should be renamed "Sackler/OxyContin" immediately. Let the source of the family's fortune never be forgotten. google.com/amp/s/www.newy

12:39 PM - 10 Feb 2019

20 Retweets 42 Likes

5 20 42

John Ayres @JohnAyr12294351 · 10 Feb 2019

Replying to

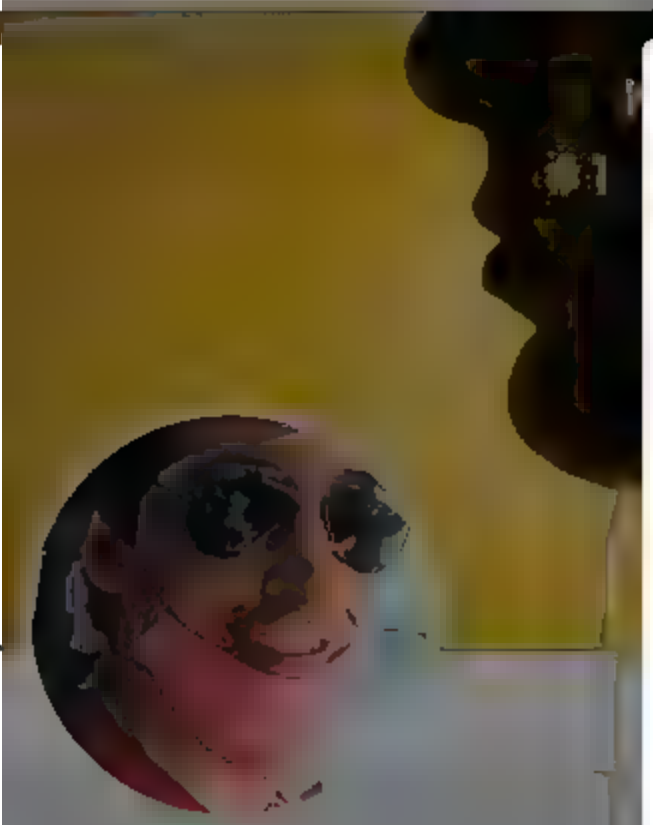
Alex, you failed to recognize OxyContin is used for those with acute injuries in which the pain requires something on the order of this medication. Letting the source of the family's fortune be never forgotten would certainly differ from those having derived some degree of relief

MichaelDouglasCarlin @MichaelDCarlin · 10 Feb 2019

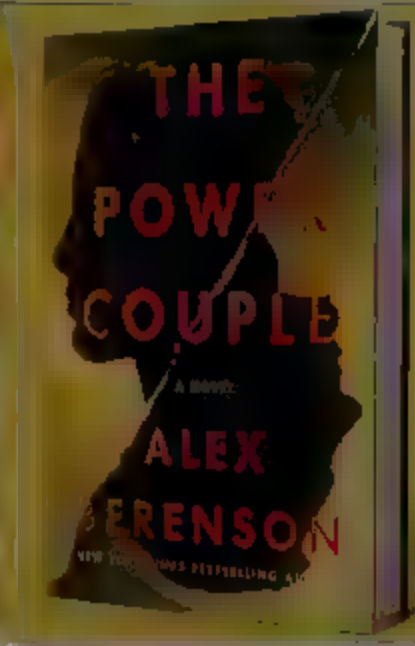
Replying to

Two former corrupt Compton Police officers got arrested for drug trafficking and money laundering. They were given every break imaginable. One of them was even able to travel to Mexico while awaiting sentencing. Trafficking drugs under color of authority needs harsh sentence.

1



Marcy Jordan @marcyj7 · 10 Feb 2019



Replying to

Also-don't forget that they have the patent to , the drug used to treat opioid addiction.

1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Find someone who looks at you the way @[redacted] looks at taxes

5:06 AM - 10 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 15 Likes

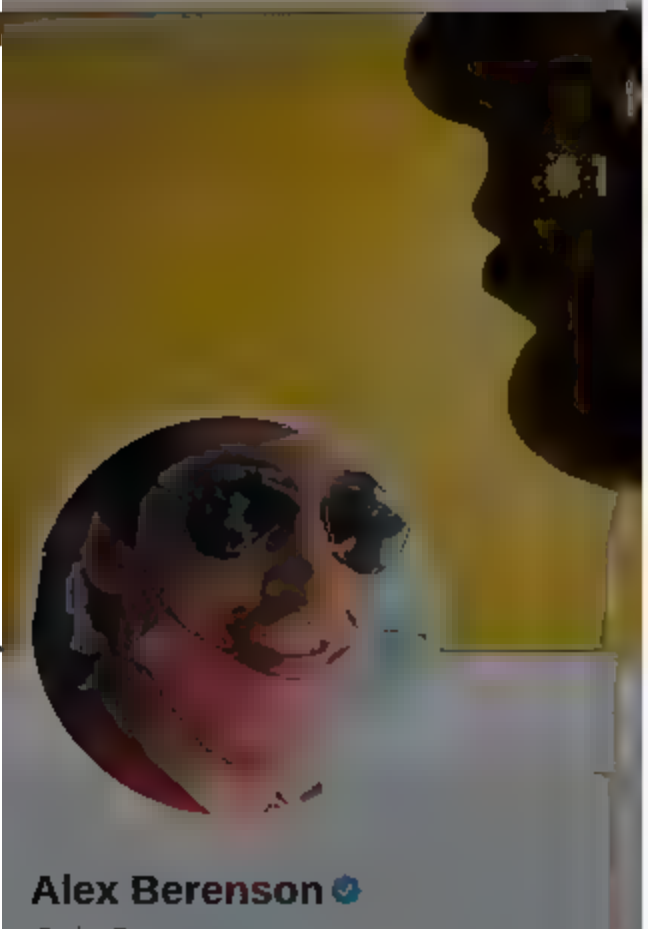
2 1 15

always nice online @SemiAutoSlurs · 10 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
HAHA! What a funny joke, ALEX! Just a great comedian!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

"Marijuana's harms also disproportionately fall on the black community. Black people are also more likely to develop schizophrenia and much more likely to be perpetrators and victims of violence."

14 3 15

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Keep trying. Keep pretending TYC is racist. Keep pretending the cannabis-psychosis-violent crime nexus isn't real. I'll just keep telling the truth. Only question is how many people - of all races - will have to be victimized before you admit it.

4:15 PM - 9 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 8 Likes

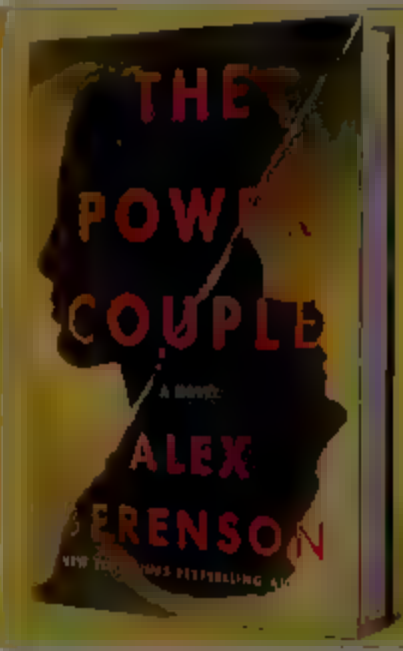
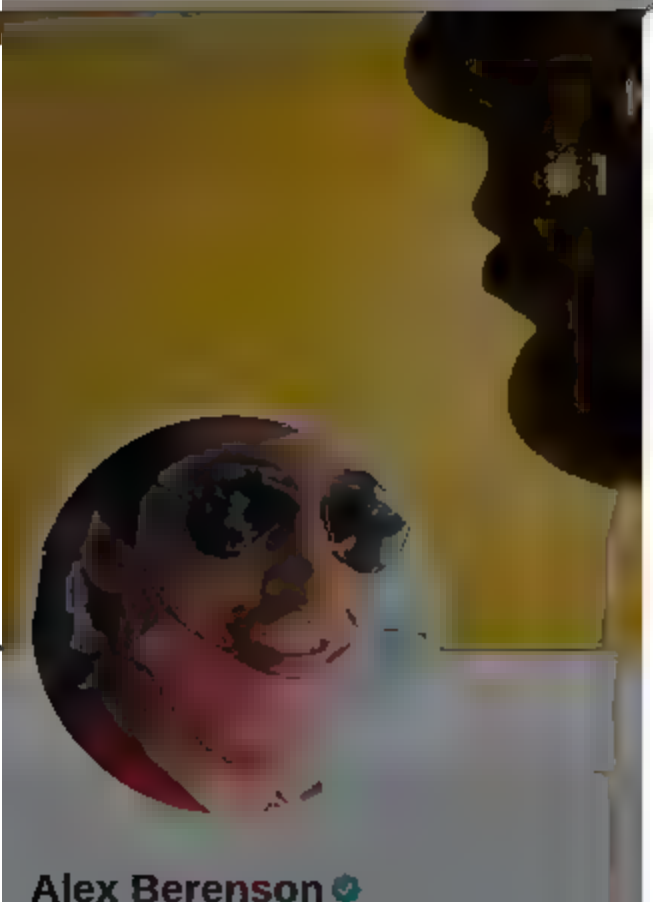
5 1 8

This Tweet is unavailable.



Mike Hart, M.D @drmikehart · 9 Feb 2019
Thank-you for your input. I have chatted with several people who also believe that Alex's claims are extremely racist.

1 11

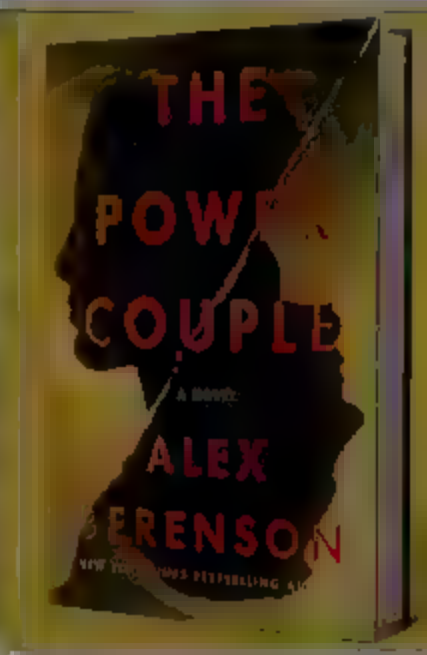


Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 10 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
What is it exactly that makes black people "more likely to develop schizophrenia?" In your words. This isn't a gotcha question.

Nicholas Curiel @NicholasACuriel · 15 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

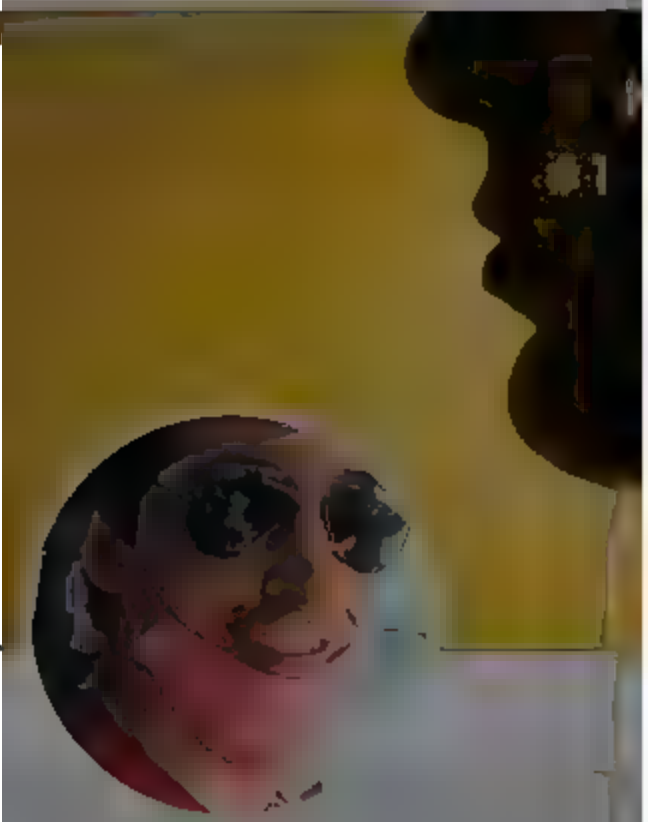
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



The right message. Clear, simple, direct, no pretense that cannabis is an exception in any way:

10:45 AM - 9 Feb 2019

14 Retweets 29 Likes

2 14 29

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

17 4 18

ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 9 Feb 2019
Alex where will you be speaking in Florida?

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

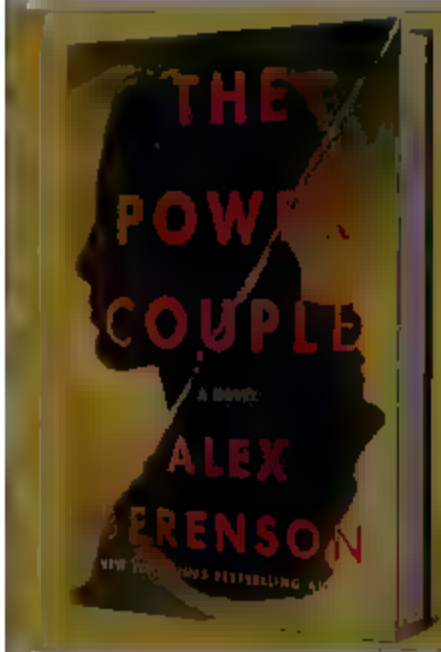
Replying to [redacted]

Tallahassee. A discussion with the Speaker of the Florida House and questions from members.

2:26 PM - 9 Feb 2019

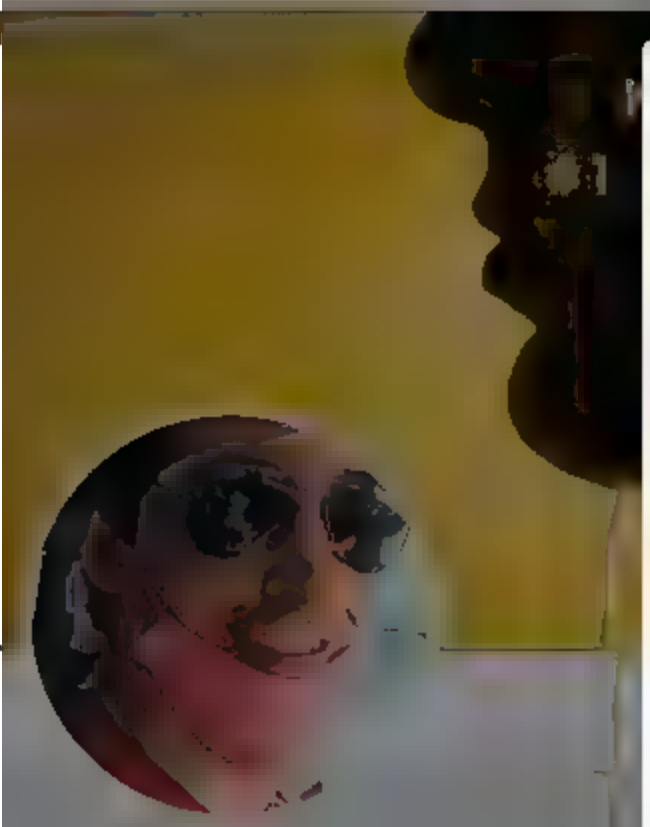
1 Like

3 1



ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 9 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I will be in Tallahassee for a couple of days next week. Maybe I will get to meet you and you could sign my copy of Tell Your Children!

1 2

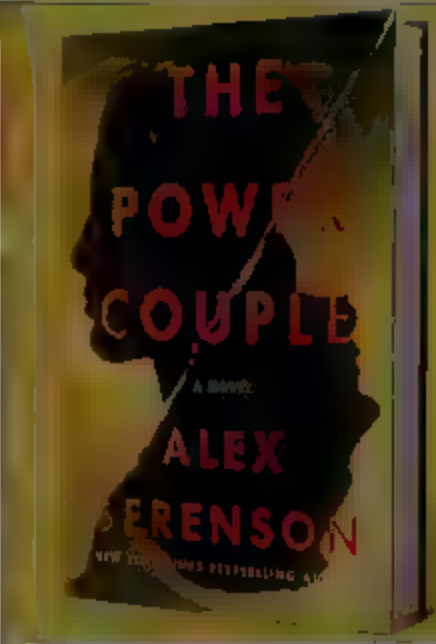


Heidi Anderson-Swan @SwanHJA · 11 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Especially debates are useful to put on video. To hear your replies.

1

ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 12 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Mr. Berenson, Could you let me know when you will be speaking in Tallahassee? I am at the Capitol right now for committee meetings but would like to watch your testimony if it's live-streamed.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Excited to report I've accepted an invitation to speak in Denver and Colorado Springs in mid-March - details to come! Also looking forward to the @empirecenter event Monday, Georgia and Florida next week... and a podcast you might have heard of. The word is spreading...

7:17 AM - 9 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 18 Likes

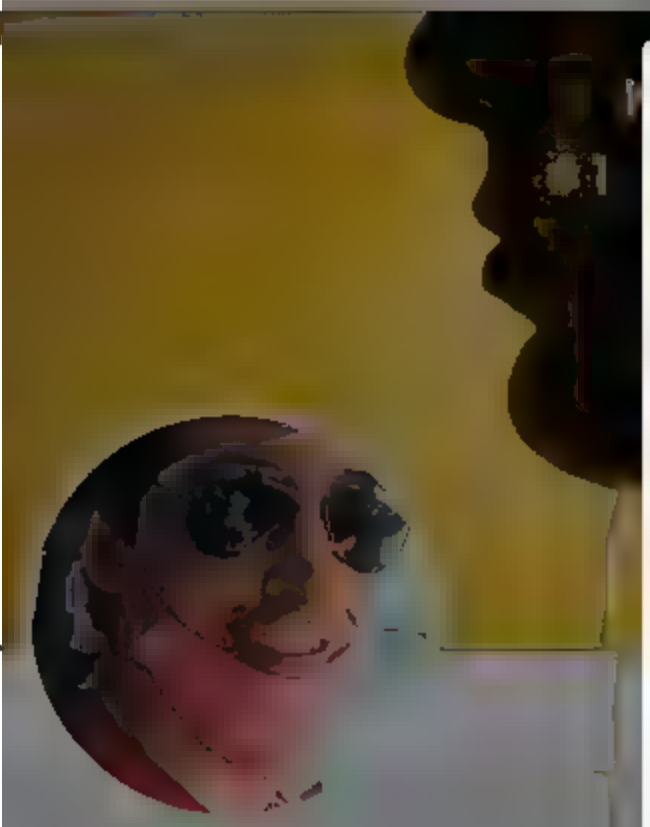
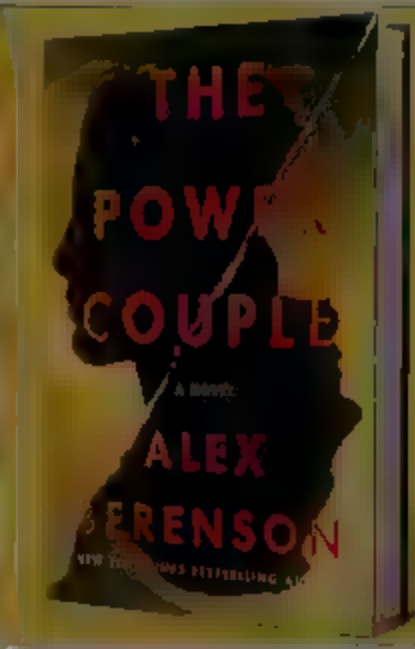
17 4 18

Colin Savage @savagecolin · 9 Feb 2019
Replying to
Hopefully it's Great work on the book ...

1 5



Coach Adorni @CoachAdorni · 9 Feb 2019
Replying to
I applaud your courage. Most people won't willingly go into the Lion's Den.



1 3

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 9 Feb 2019
Replying to
Yes, thanks for your courage!

1 1 1

The Mensing Group LLC @TheMensingGroup · 10 Feb 2019
It takes real courage to spout half-truths and cherry picked statistics to back up scientifically dubious claims in an attempt to scare people? That's fear

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thanks to @KFLORIN @[illegible] for this excellent piece:

3:52 PM - 8 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 8 Likes

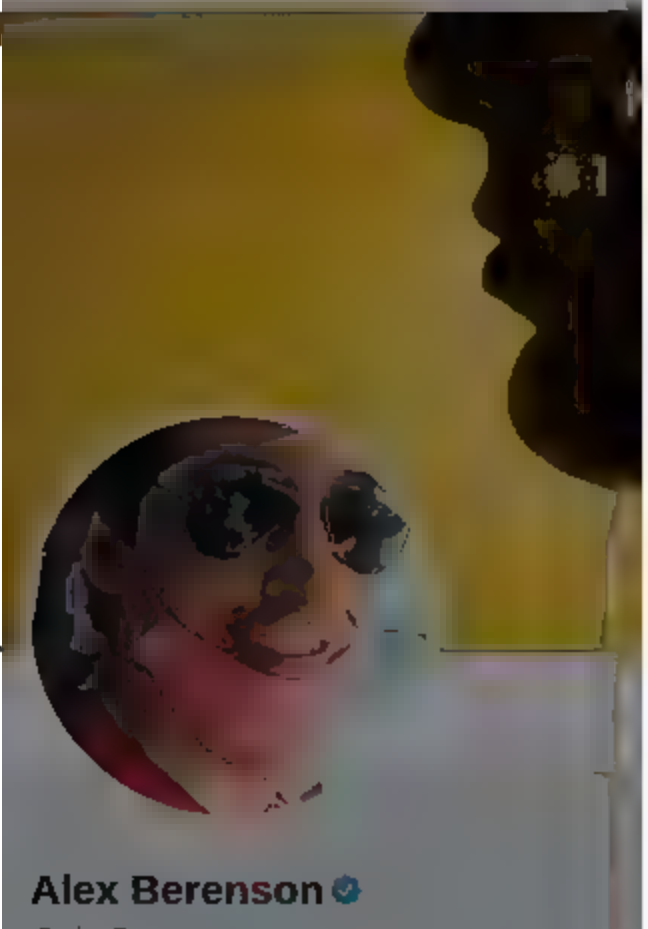
1 3 8

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 8 Feb 2019

Replying to [illegible]



alcohol since 12 &"he'd used methamphetamine, LSD, marijuana laced with heroin, cocaine and K2, a type of synthetic marijuana that the American Psychiatric Associations say can cause long-lasting psychotic behavior" but marijuana alone takes the hit? What a tangled web u weave..

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Psychedelic Physician @PsychedelicPhy1 · 8 Feb 2019
Maybe instead of negativity we could all promote responsibility, love, and the positive aspects of cannabis

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

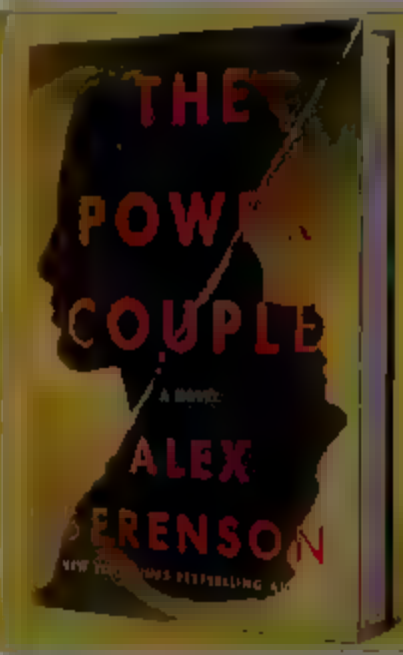
Replying to

Or maybe we could stop encouraging parents to use a drug that's associated with about a third of all child deaths in the US (based on TX/FL/AZ data). But you do your thing, I'll do mine. I guess the kids will do theirs, assuming they survive.

1:27 PM · 8 Feb 2019

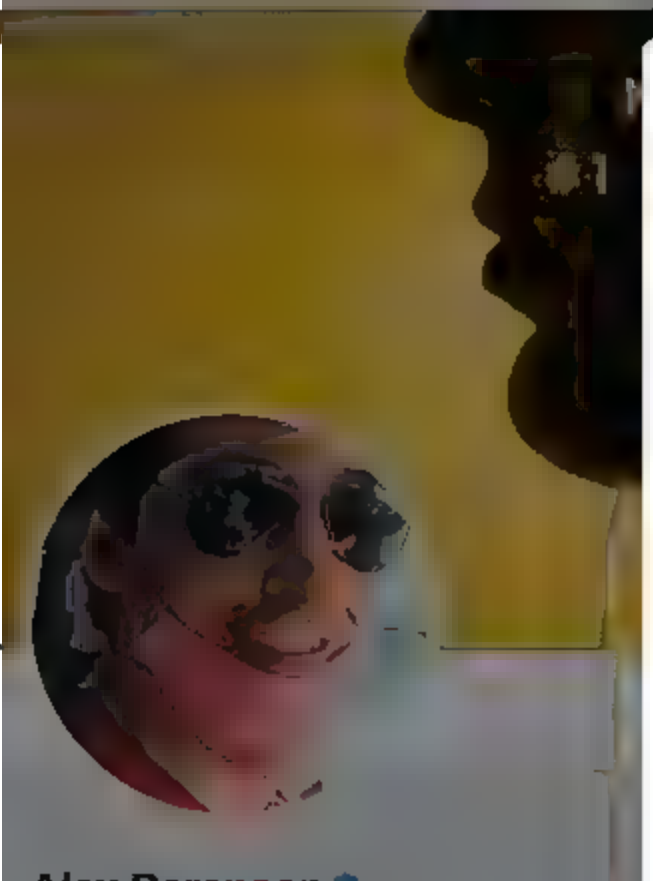
3 Likes

6 3



Axl Rosè @pissflapzs · 8 Feb 2019
Replying to
Cheers to that!

Psychedelic Physician @PsychedelicPhy1 · 8 Feb 2019
Replying to
I believe there's a route where we promote responsibility and positivity, without disregarding the risks. Thank you for being out in the forefront of presenting controversial data.



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

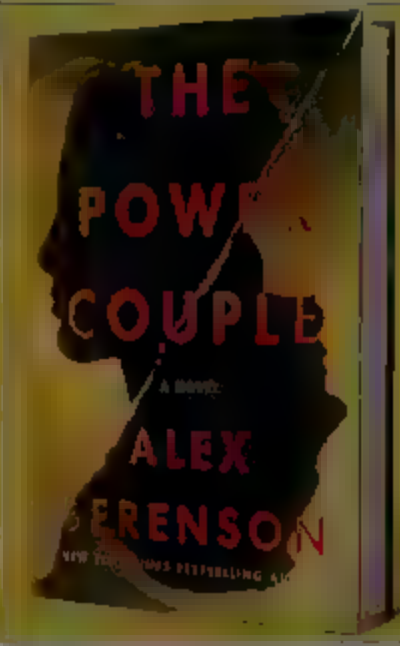
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Feb 2019

1/ Non-cannabis note on an odd phenomenon I've seen now that we're having a third kid: Childless people/couples don't give parents advice on family size (not if they have any sense, anyway)...

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



2/ And people with one child don't either (though some confess to wishing for more). But people with two kids feel entitled to criticize the choice for more - "That's crazy/two was enough for us/How will you take care of them/etc..." It's the only allowed judgment on family size.

11:49 AM - 8 Feb 2019

3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Back in Texas: Jessica Langlais faces life in prison for (her version of the story, anyway) getting high in a closet as her boyfriend killed her son. Guess what non-violence provoking drug the happy couple enjoyed using...

1 1 2

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

That how they teach debate at @Johns-Hopkins? Btw, try reading the second link too.

11:03 AM - 8 Feb 2019

4 Likes

4 4

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 8 Feb 2019
Replying to

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor
Replying to @AlexBerenson
Let's take a look at Alex's methodology...

2

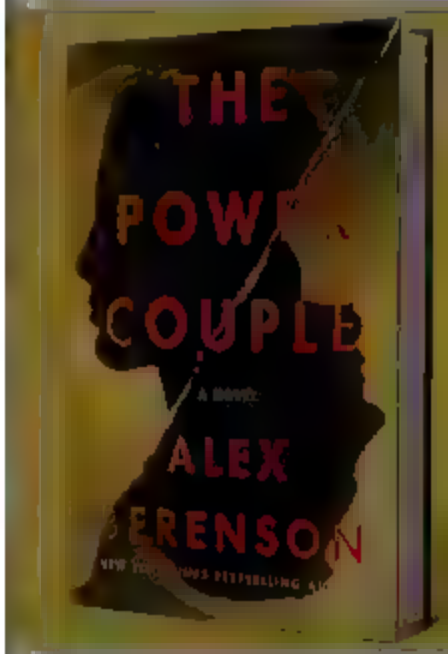
Manoj Doss not exist @ManojDoss · 8 Feb 2019
Replying to

No it's how I learned to deal with anti-science rhetoric in Texas, a place I can assure you has violence against children that has nothing to do with cannabis.

1

Show additional replies, including those that may contain offensive content Show

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

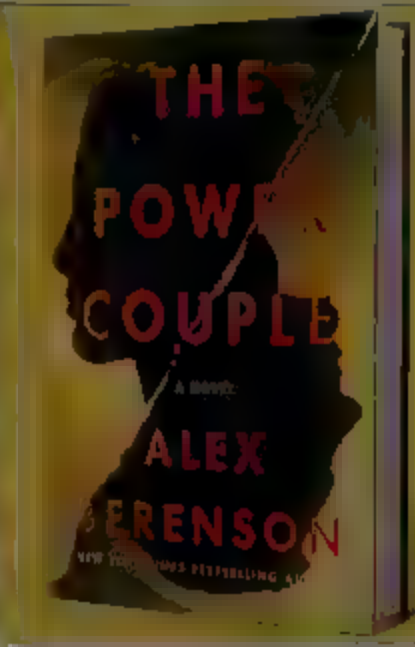
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Liz Bonis @lbonis1 · 8 Feb 2019

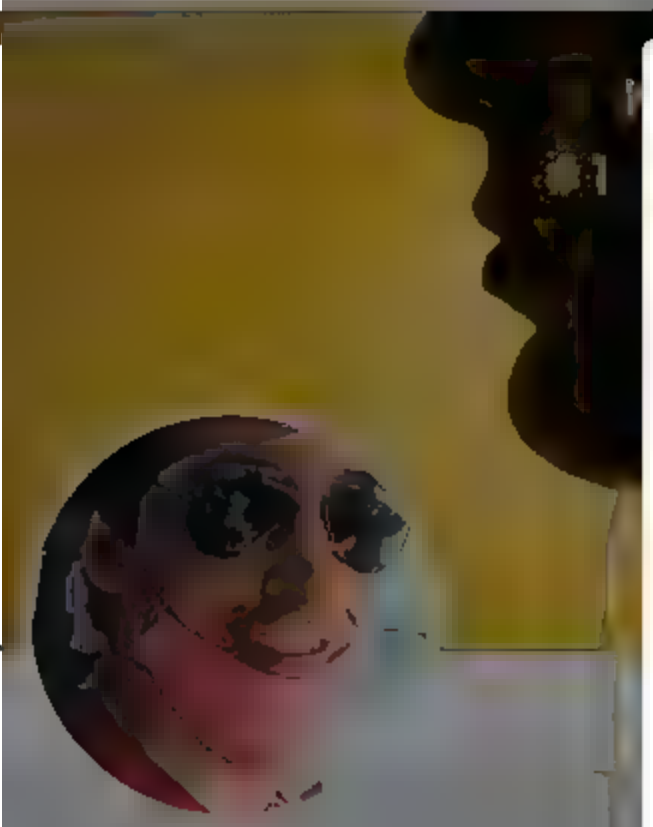
, it's , looking for on camera interview with you. what's the best way to set that up?



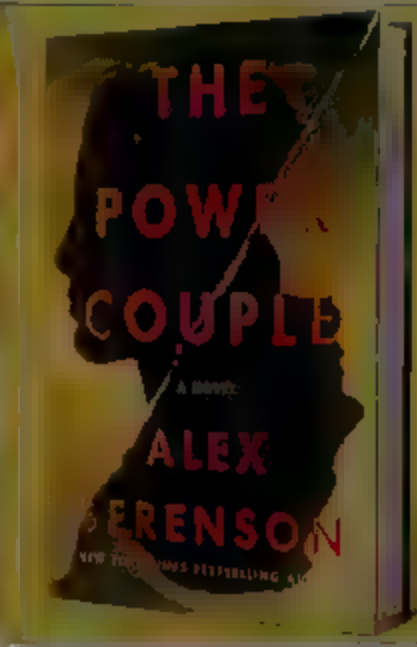
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



email me at alexberensonauthor@gmail.com - thanks!



8:47 AM - 8 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

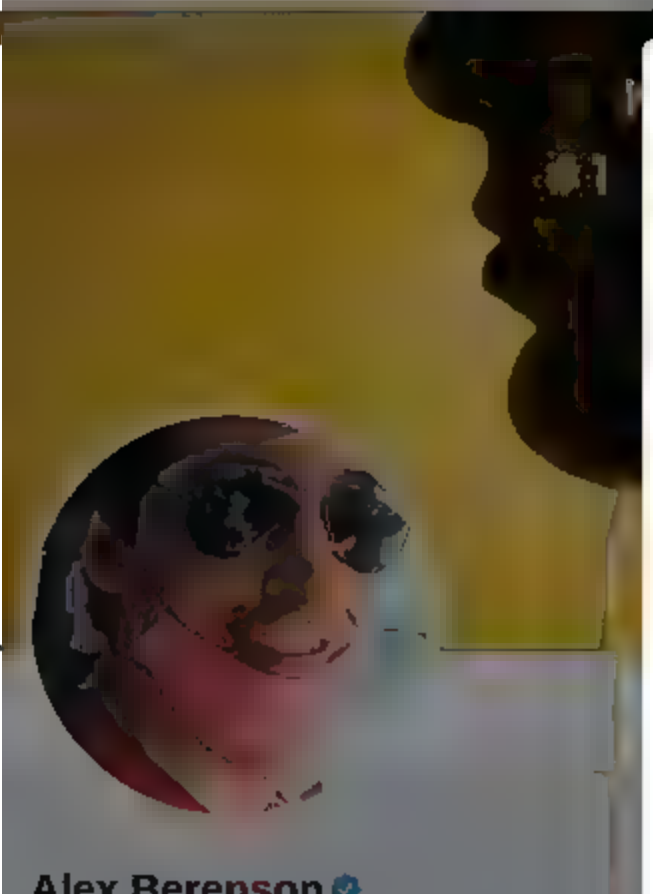
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Non-cannabis note on an odd phenomenon I've seen now that we're having a third kid: Childless people/couples don't give parents advice on family size (not if they have any sense, anyway)...

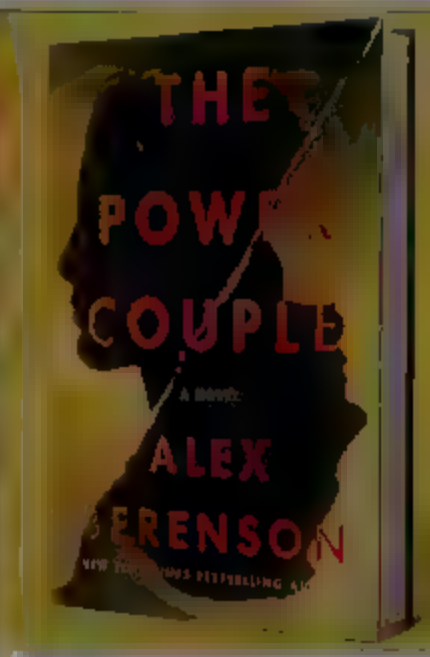
11:43 AM - 8 Feb 2019

2 Likes

2 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Feb 2019



2/ And people with one child don't either (though some confess to wishing for more). But people with two kids feel entitled to criticize the choice for more - "That's crazy/two was enough for us/How will you take care of them/etc..." It's the only allowed judgment on family size.

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

As Australia faces its own legalization push, a voice of reason in @smh

8:28 AM - 8 Feb 2019

4 Retweets 9 Likes

2 4 9

This Tweet is unavailable.

PeaceFrog @PeaceOnEarthGW · 13 Feb 2019
Replying to
Wait. . What was the question?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

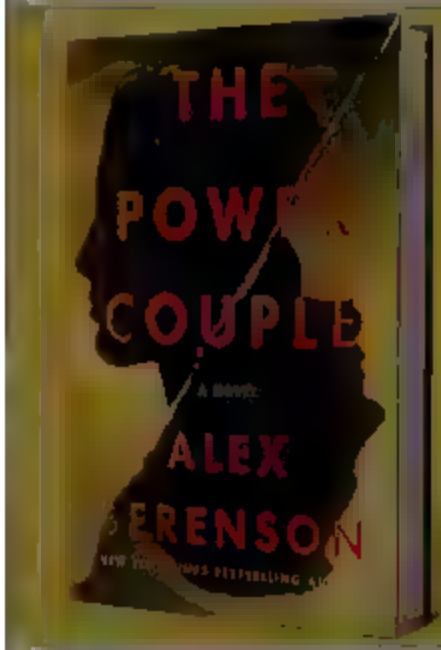
Dave Silberman @DaveSilberman
Replying to @physiciansvt
"Associated"

1 2

PediPsych @pedipsych · 8 Feb 2019
Cannabis advocates can't hide behind the "association" argument for the mountains of evidence demonstrating harm. Animal studies, new statistical methods, all point to there being direct effects. Find something else to criticize.

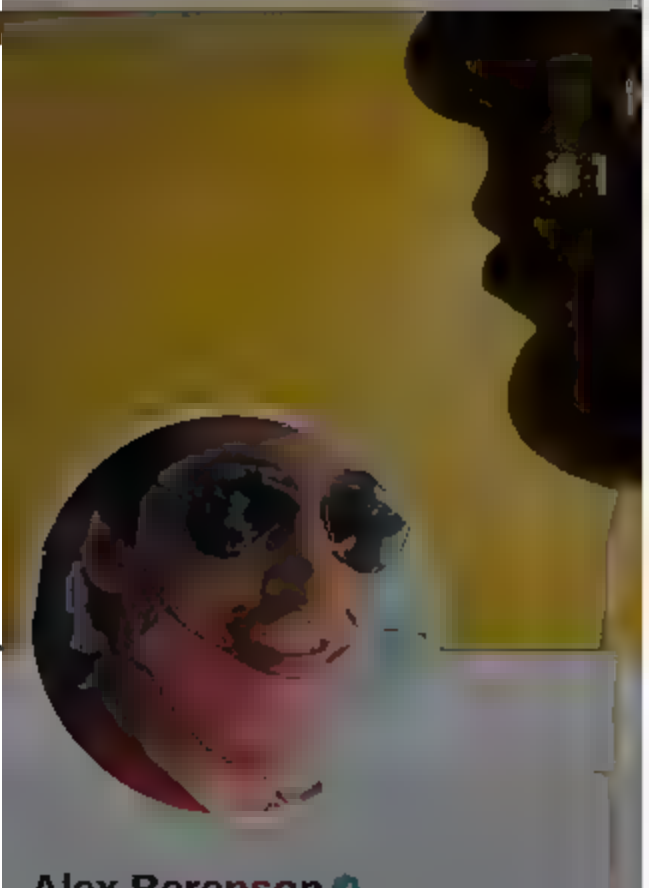
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

The day @AmerAcadPeds @EmergencyDocs @APAPsychiatric issue a joint statement about this issue is the day everything changes. Can't happen soon enough.



7:27 AM · 8 Feb 2019

1

PediPsych @pedipsych · 8 Feb 2019
Replying to and 3 others
Wish that were true. Trust in the opinions of physicians has seriously eroded due to ties to pharma industry. Much of this is embellished but sadly, some of it is earned.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Jan 2019

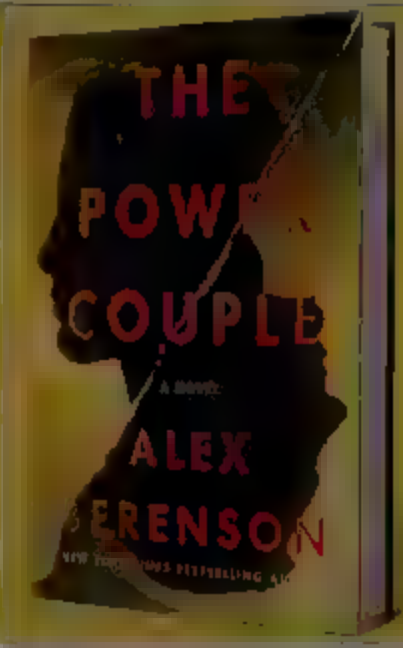
Thanks to [redacted] for this excellent and positive review - TYC "should be read by all concerned" -

5 12 35

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

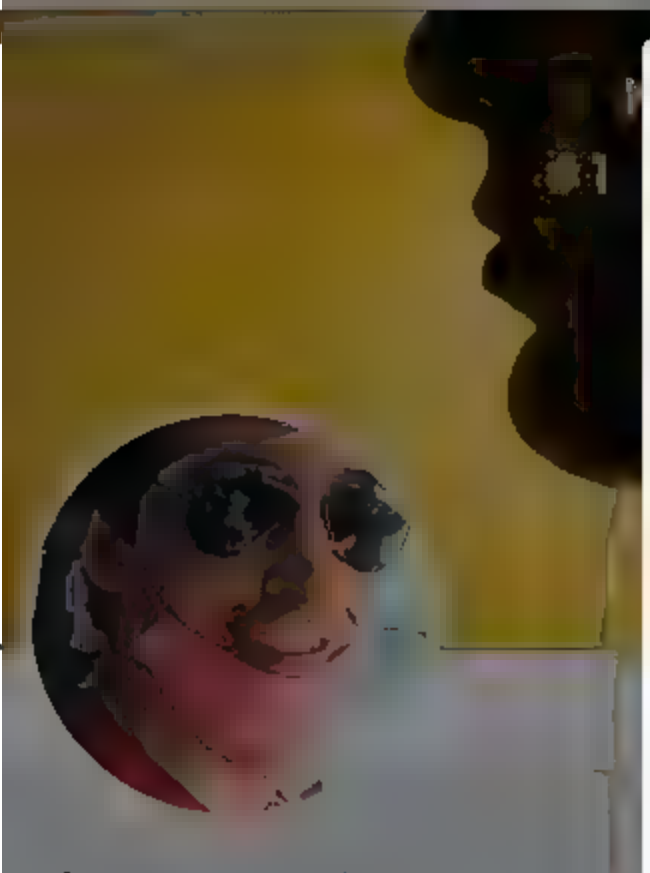
[redacted]



Replying to [redacted]

Thanks! Hope you find it interesting...

8:42 AM - 7 Feb 2019

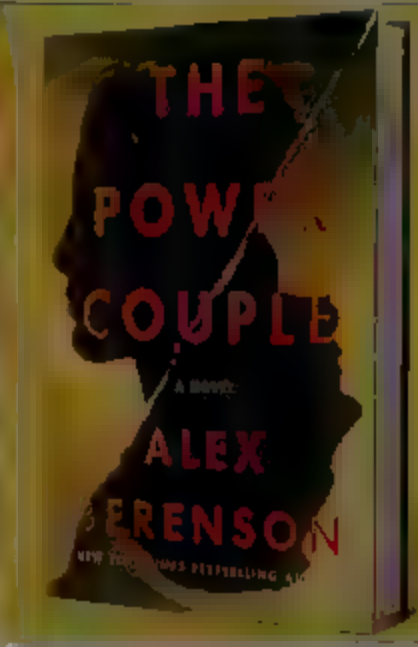


1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

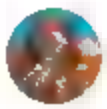
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



What an actual controversy surrounding errors and/or plagiarism in a non-fiction book looks like

> Michael C Moynihan @mcmoynihan
> So...Jill Abramson's book has finally hit bookstore shelves. A few weeks ago, reading a galley copy, I noticed an egregious error about my colleague @adrs. She tweeted it out, a shit storm followed, Abramson corrected the mistake.
> Show this thread

3:57 PM - 6 Feb 2019

4 Likes

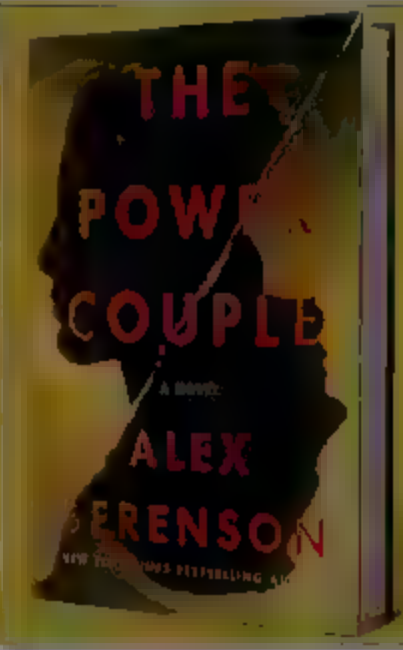
5 4

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 6 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Sleight of hand & a little 2step?

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 7 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
You're certainly correct that there's been no controversy over the errors in your book – the errors have been universally acknowledged and affirmed by countless laypeople as well as numerous experts in their respective fields – nothing controversial about that at all.

1

LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 7 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Kinda like how Ziva called you out? Or how MotherJones had to correct their article?



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Cannabis never kills anyone. Except when it does. Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. Sometimes that violence is self-inflicted. RIP, Marquis Jaylen Brown, 21.

PRESS RELEASES

« Press Releases Home

ALERT: Update on Duquesne University Student's Death

PITTSBURGH, PA (Feb. 4, 2019) – On Oct. 4, 2018 at approximately 10:24 p.m., Pittsburgh Bureau of Police officers were dispatched to Brottier Hall on the 700 block of Forbes Avenue to assist Duquesne University Police for a report of a male who had jumped from the 16th floor.

PBP officers observed an unconscious male on the ground outside the building. Pittsburgh EMS transported the male to UPMC Mercy. He was pronounced dead at the hospital at 11:12 p.m. The victim was identified as Duquesne University student Marquis Jaylen Brown, 21, between roommates, but officers determined that there was no fight, and that the roommate was trying to calm Brown.

Soon after the officers' arrival, Brown picked up a chair and broke a window. Eye witnesses in the room -- including two Duquesne University Police officers, a campus security guard and a student Resident Assistant -- stated that Brown then jumped out the window. Brown's roommate, who was in another room, was an audible witness.

Duquesne University Police called EMS and went outside to render aid. Pittsburgh Police were then called to the scene.

Drug testing shows that Brown had marijuana in his system.

Witnesses stated that there was no physical contact or confrontation between police and Brown in the room.

10:47 AM - 6 Feb 2019

8 Retweets 21 Likes

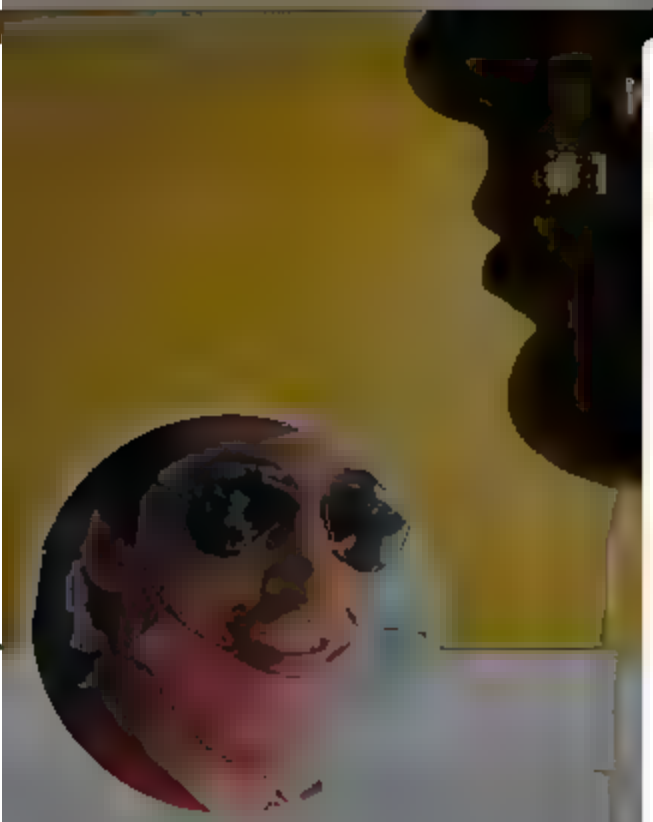
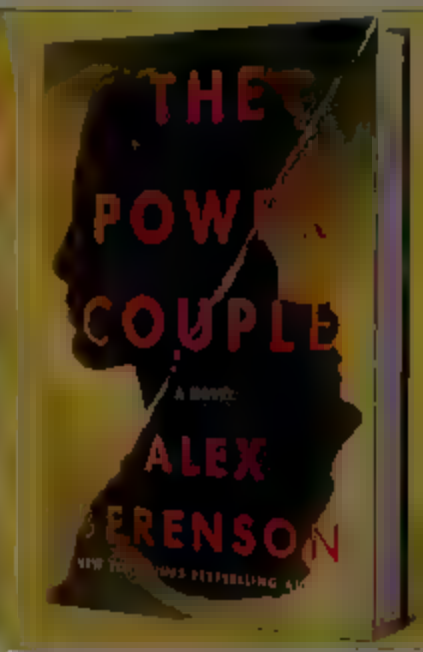
16 8 21

infinite rest @wyspace · 6 Feb 2019

Replying to



Correlation does not imply causation bro. Did he also drink water that day?



6

Larry Roberts @LJRoberts73 · 6 Feb 2019

Replying to

From that you decided the weed in his system killed him? You're such a phony. If you were actually concerned about people you would be trying to make cigarettes and alcohol illegal. Much more dangerous

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

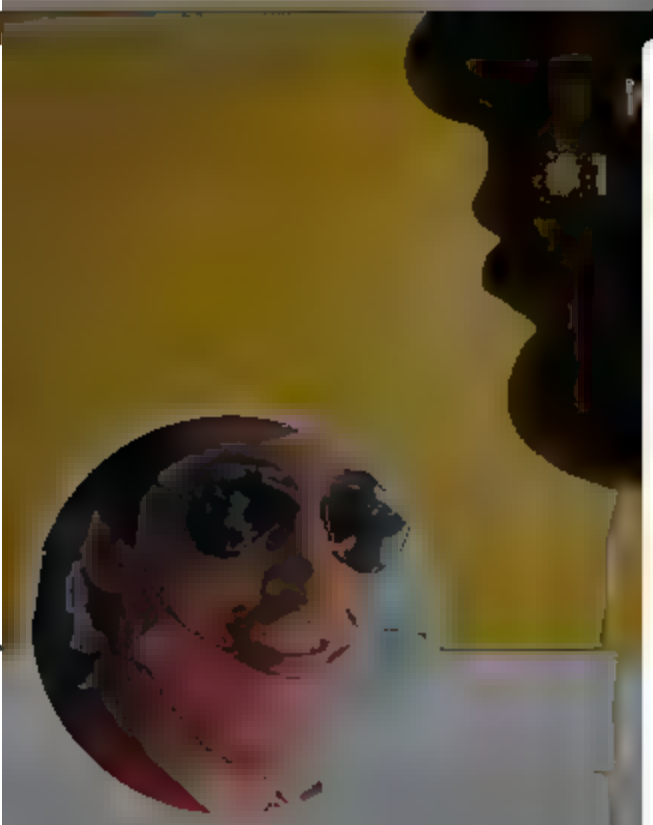
Thanks to @kmox @charliekmox for having me on - people need to hear about the real world damage that cannabis and psychosis can cause.

8:32 AM - 6 Feb 2019

4 Likes

1 4

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 6 Feb 2019
Replying to



So tragic. Now years later I understand more the horrible changes is a family member years after his death.

1 1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 6 Feb 2019
One the great benefits of the truth that Berenson's book is covering.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Nurses know. ER docs know. Families know. Cops know. Epidemiologists know. Psychiatrists know.

They've just been too busy cleaning up the wreckage to have time to speak.

Not anymore. The truth will out.

7:46 AM - 6 Feb 2019

22 Retweets 39 Likes

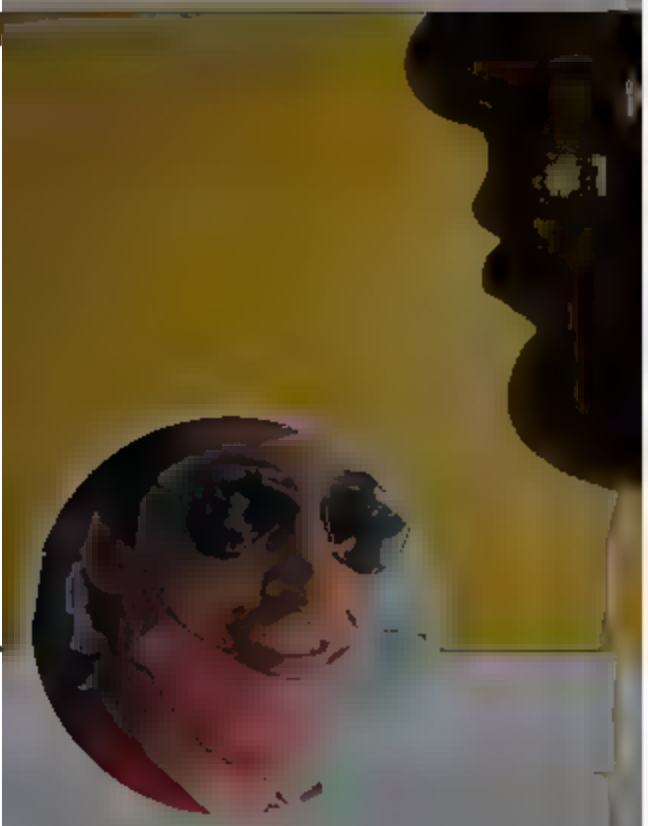
14 22 39

This Tweet is unavailable.

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 6 Feb 2019
Read the Mother Jones retraction after they got played w/associations posing as causation. Back tracking away from neoreefer madness.

1



Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 6 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Like Mother Jones' repudiation of the distortions&deception promoted in your

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

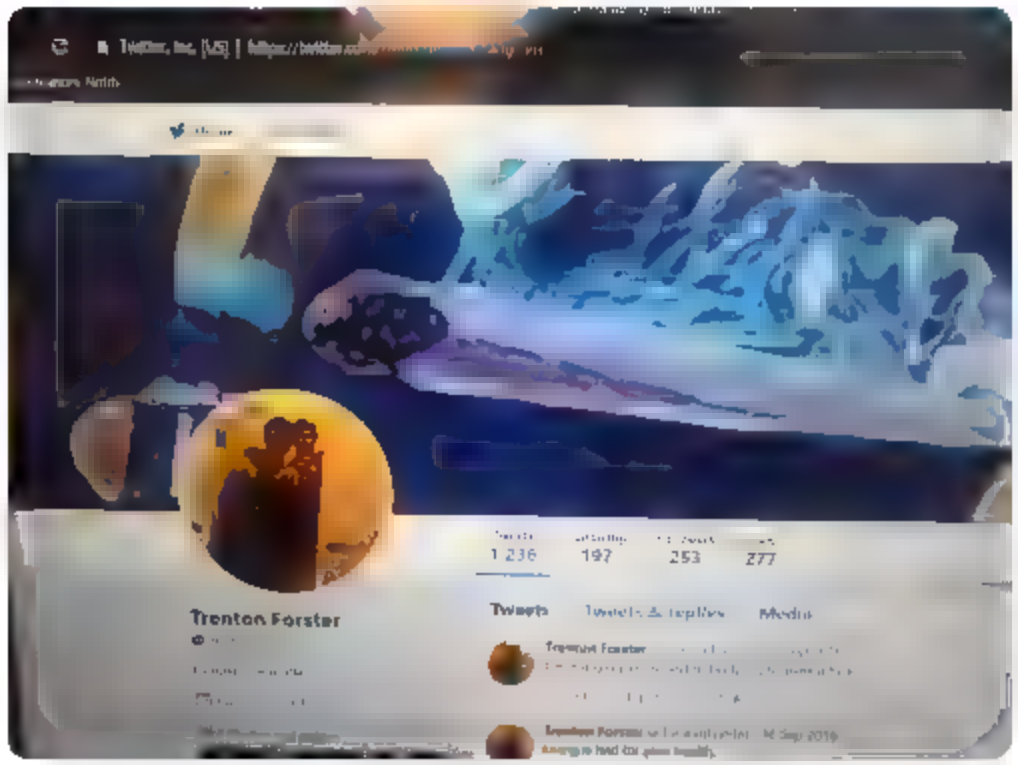
Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York



Joined November 2009

1/ Meanwhile, in Missouri, Trenton Forster is on trial for killing a police officer... "the day before the shooting... they smoked marijuana and Forster appeared 'really high.'" Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.

5 5 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ @trentonforster

7:22 AM - 6 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

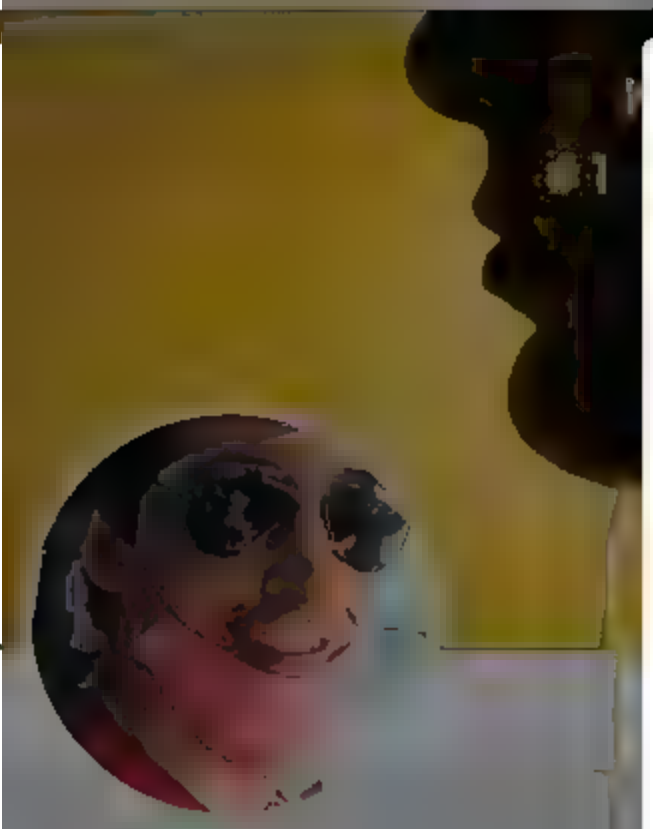
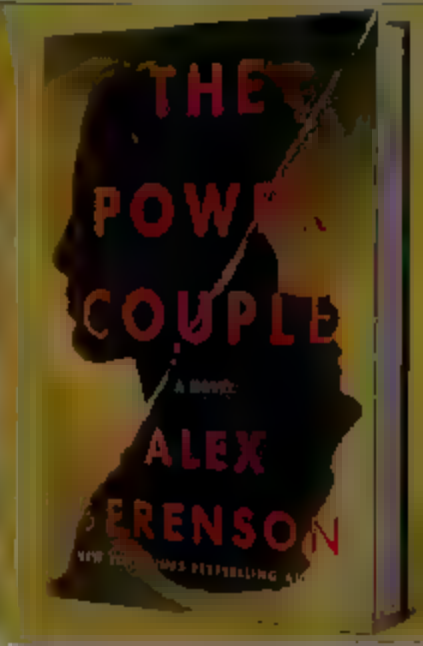
3 1 2



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 6 Feb 2019
Replying to

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor
Replying to @AlexBerenson
Let's take a look at Alex's methodology...

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

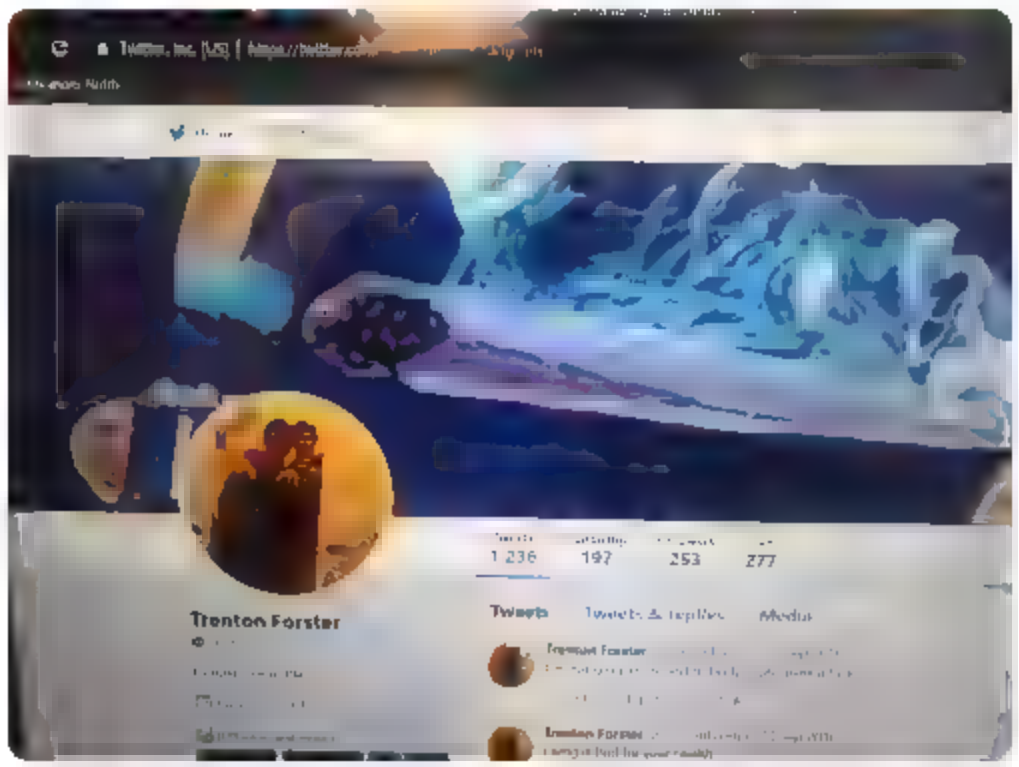
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Meanwhile, in Missouri, Trenton Forster is on trial for killing a police officer... "the day before the shooting... they smoked marijuana and Forster appeared 'really high.'" Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. google.com/amp/s/www.stlt



7:20 AM - 6 Feb 2019

5 Retweets 7 Likes

5 5 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 6 Feb 2019

2/

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

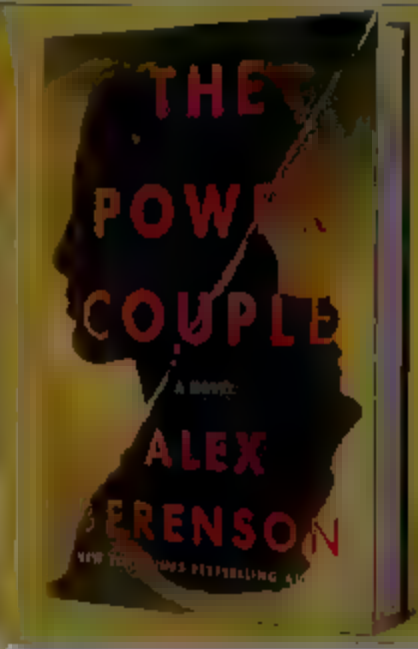
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

More non-violent execution-style killings over a non-violent drug:



"'It's a pattern I'm seeing again and again," Montgomery County State's Attorney John McCarthy said... [of murders] linked to robberies of marijuana dealers or of marijuana buyers.'

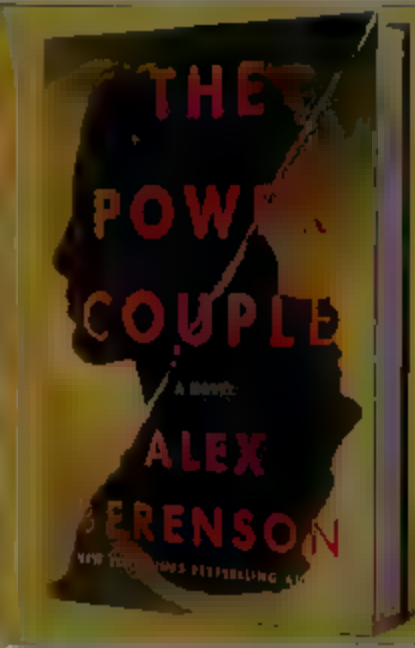
7:05 AM - 6 Feb 2019

4 Likes

4 4

LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 6 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

So Cardi B sees what a whole industry of PhDs and Psychosis Inc. investors can't...

> iamcardib @iamcardib
> That will give more anxiety and make me very very paranoid.
> twitter.com/airtotherun/st…

11:09 PM - 4 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 11 Likes

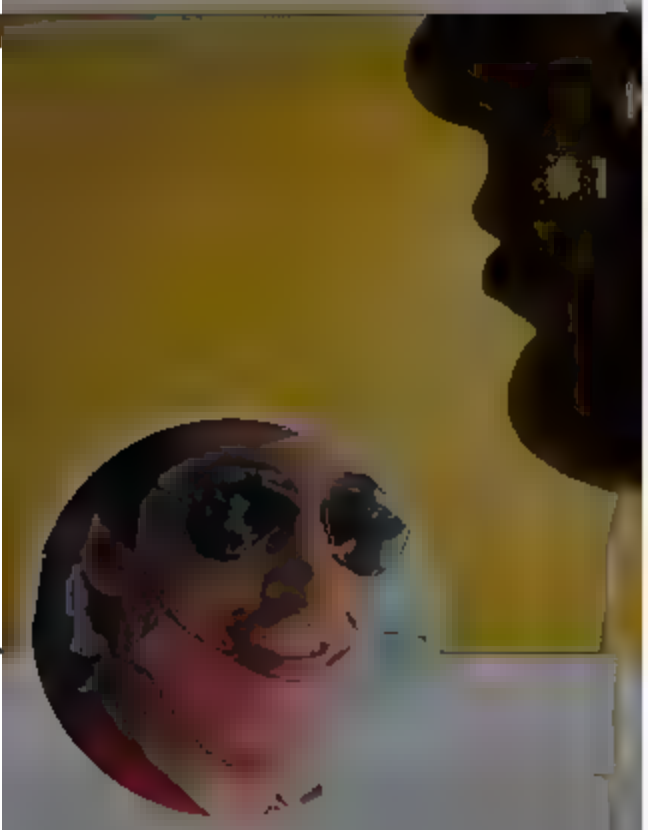
3 1 11



This Tweet is unavailable.

The Occasional Atheist in a Bikini aka Bill @occasionath… · 5 Feb 2019

Replying to

Somehow, I don't think Cardi B's opinion outweighs the actual Science.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Epidolex studies shows a 10x increase in agitation/anger, a 3x increase in irritability/anger...

5 5 13

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ And a near 2x increase in suicidal thinking (which the FDA points out is a known risk with anti-epileptics), as well as a numerical imbalance in completed suicides. Obviously, the FDA decided that for severe epilepsy, those risks are worth taking and approved the drug...

1:57 PM - 4 Feb 2019

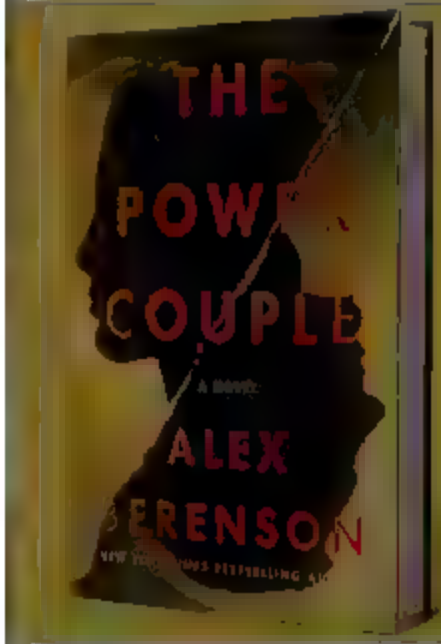
2 Retweets

2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 Feb 2019

3/ But if you're taking CBD for a relatively minor condition like insomnia, you might want to keep them in mind....

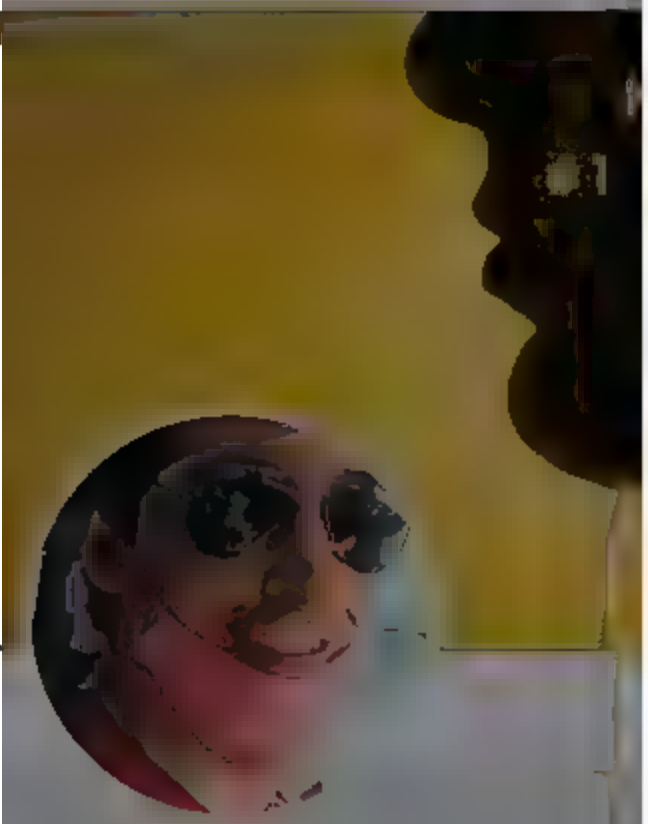
3 1



David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 5 Feb 2019

Replying to

Hmm. Thanks for that. But I can't find any mention of suicide in the document? Also, would note that typical CBD "wellness" products recommend 10-50mg daily dosage, a low level which shows no adverse impact on aggression or aggression (table 12).



1 4

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 Feb 2019

2/ And a near 2x increase in suicidal thinking (which the FDA points out is a known risk with anti-epileptics), as well as a numerical imbalance in completed suicides. Obviously, the FDA decided that for severe epilepsy, those risks are worth taking and approved the drug...

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ But if you're taking CBD for a relatively minor condition like insomnia, you might want to keep them in mind....

1:58 PM - 4 Feb 2019

1 Retweet

3 1

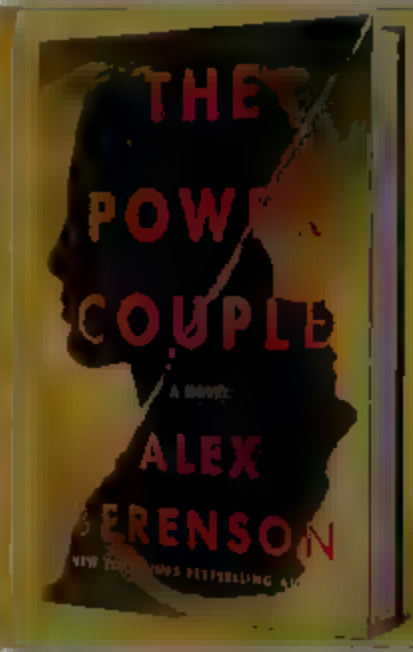
LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 4 Feb 2019

Replying to

I know someone who took CBD once and they immediately burst into flames

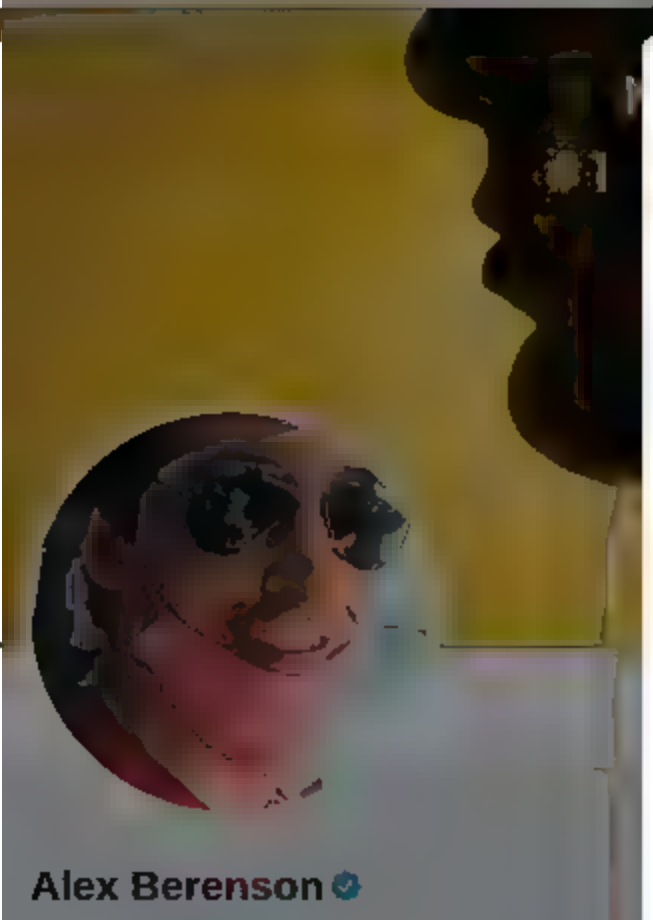
1 2

Judy Margulies @judymdotcom · 9 Feb 2019

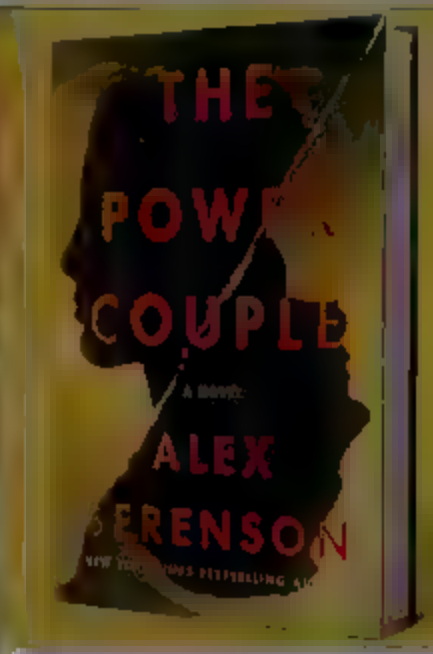


Replying to

Agreed . What you state are FDA required warnings to be given to patients by who dispense on prescription MD prescribed CBD extracted from cannabis plants under the brand name Epidiolex. Plus warnings of serious interactions with other prescription drugs



1



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Thanks, Dr. Madras! Nice to see Harvard/McLean weighing in. Maybe @drcarlhart will see his way fit to respond to you; since I don't have a PhD, apparently he believes he can ignore my criticisms of his elisions and shoddy work.

mcleanhospital.org/biography/bert…

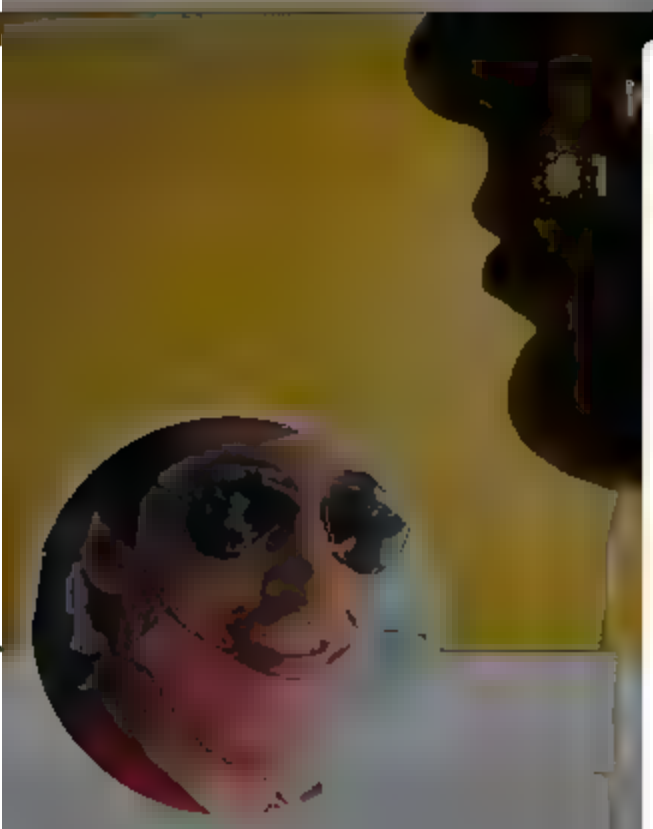
12:34 PM - 4 Feb 2019

1 Like

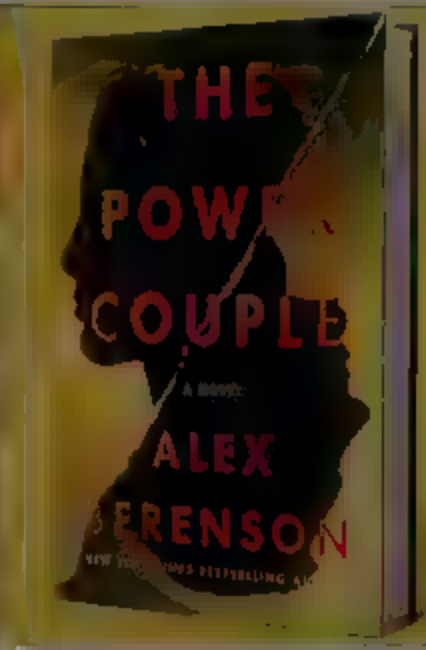
1 1

Bertha madras @madras_bertha · 4 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I'll send you private email on this issue

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Following

1/ BTW: A lot of folks have asked about CBD. CBD is viewed as non-psychoactive, and it is certainly safer than THC. But the trial data from the Epidolex studies shows a 10x increase in agitation/anger, a 3x increase in irritability/anger...

fda.gov/downloads/Adv...

1:56 PM - 4 Feb 2019

5 Retweets 13 Likes

5 5 13

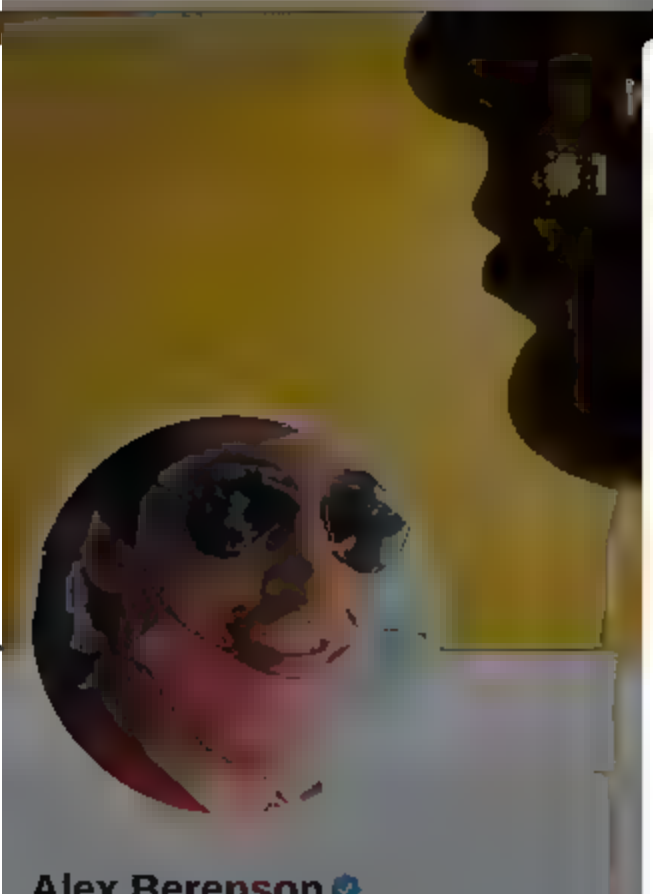
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 Feb 2019

2/ And a near 2x increase in suicidal thinking (which the FDA points out is a known risk with anti-epileptics), as well as a numerical imbalance in completed suicides. Obviously, the FDA decided that for severe epilepsy, those risks are worth taking and approved the drug...

2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 Feb 2019

3/ But if you're taking CBD for a relatively minor condition like insomnia, you might want to keep them in mind....



3 1

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 4 Feb 2019

Replying to [illegible]

CBD is certainly not safer than THC4 people w/glaucoma or iritis or uveitis. Its receptor driven not prohib morality bias driven. If u dont have a clue about cannabinoid receptors u should avoid bloviating. THC=powerhouse healer/health

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Wow. Illinois @senatordurbin mentions @gladwell's piece and says his state should not rush to legalize recreational cannabis. I can't remember the last time a prominent Democrat urged caution on legalization. Happy to get you a copy of TYC, Senator!

9:00 AM - 4 Feb 2019

6 Retweets 22 Likes

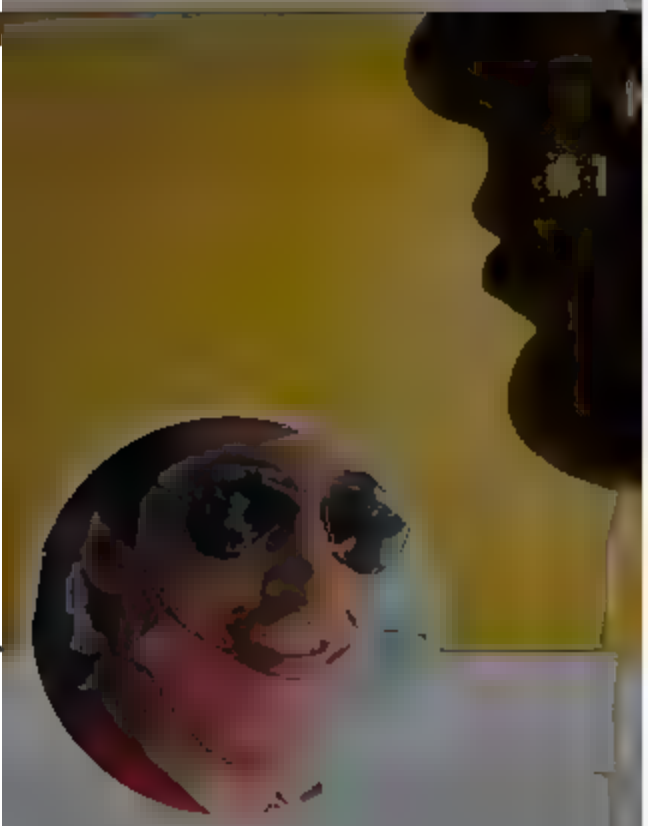
5 6 22



Erik Haines @integralrising · 4 Feb 2019
Replying to
Hey maybe it's time to get these guys on your show!!! :)

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
3/ One of us is cherry-picking, true. But it ain't me.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

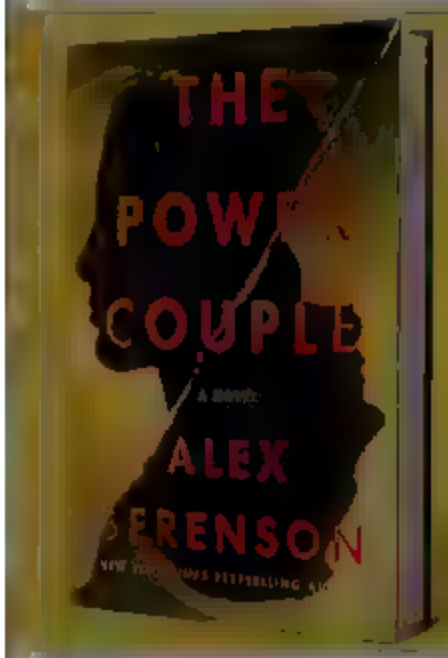
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

4/ I don't need to put a thumb on the data. THC is psychomimetic and the effects are already apparent. Thing about parachute journalism is that you get a clear view from 50,000 feet. When you're on the ground (and speaking at cannabis conference after cannabis conference)...

3:59 PM - 3 Feb 2019

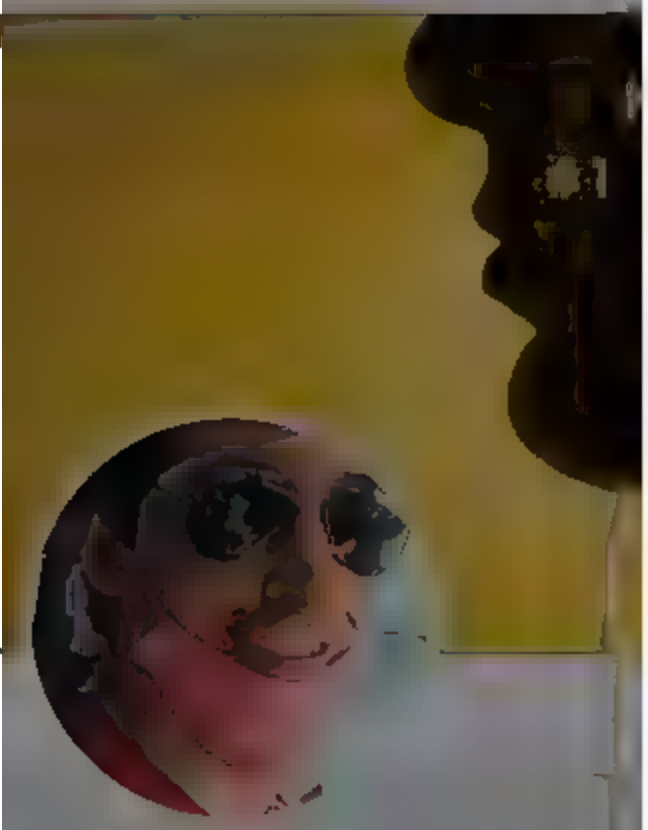
2 Likes

1 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others
5/ You can get a wee bit confused about the strength of the data. [redacted] does. I wouldn't care, except he and a couple of his fellow advocate-journalists have managed to confuse reporters who haven't done the work or read TYC for themselves.

3



Josh Klugman @jklugman · 3 Feb 2019
This is in no way sufficient to address the Lopez critique. Teasing out causation from correlation is tricky; Lopez says you conflate them and given your response (particularly the crude comparison between the 4 states that legalized and the rest of country) I can believe it.

1 1

[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4/ I don't need to put a thumb on the data. THC is psychomimetic and the effects are already apparent. Thing about parachute journalism is that you get a clear view from 50,000 feet. When you're on the ground (and speaking at cannabis conference after cannabis conference)...

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

5/ You can get a wee bit confused about the strength of the data. @germanrlopez does. I wouldn't care, except he and a couple of his fellow advocate-journalists have managed to confuse reporters who haven't done the work or read TYC for themselves.

4:01 PM - 3 Feb 2019

3

Josh Klugman @jklugman · 3 Feb 2019

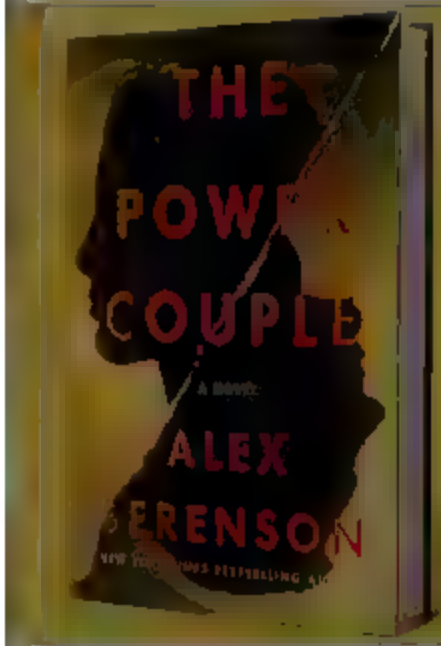
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

This is in no way sufficient to address the Lopez critique. Teasing out causation from correlation is tricky; Lopez says you conflate them and given your response (particularly the crude comparison between the 4 states that legalized and the rest of country) I can believe it.

1 1

Josh Klugman @jklugman · 3 Feb 2019

It is no mystery why experts would be reluctant to engage in a "discussion" with a writer who by all appearances thinks that bluster is a substitute for evidence.



1

LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 3 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

Alex's preys on the people who can't, and don't want to think for themselves. The uneducated are easy to control with fear tactics and emotions. Alex's work isn't even dangerous considering anyone even slightly educated sees through his fear mongering

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Yeah, I cherry-picked 30 years of psychosis studies covering more than 100,000 people, the National Academy of Medicine, and biological data. I cherry-picked the violence data by including practically every paper I could find and comparing every murder and agg assault...

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

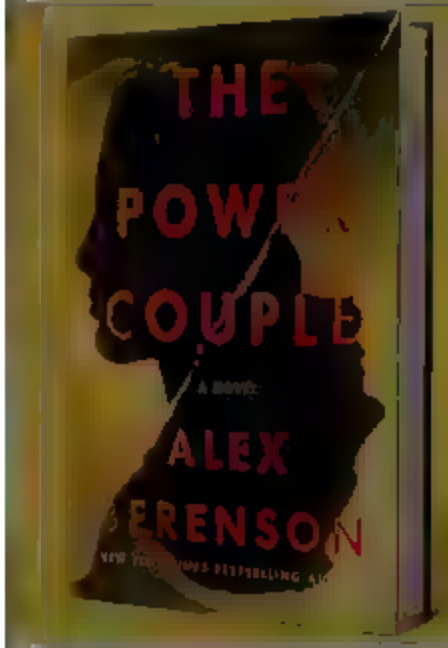
2/ in the first four states to legalize with the rest of the country. @Germanlopez likes to mention that one of the 16 members of the NAM committee has dissociated itself from the plain language of the report; and he shows some graphs that use the wrong base dataset...

3:57 PM - 3 Feb 2019

1 Like [redacted]

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others
3/ One of us is cherry-picking, true. But it ain't me.



1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
4/ I don't need to put a thumb on the data. THC is psychomimetic and the effects are already apparent. Thing about parachute journalism is that you get a clear view from 50,000 feet. When you're on the ground (and speaking at cannabis conference after cannabis conference)...

1 2

[redacted]

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

anti-MJ book is problematic...

This Tweet is unavailable.

2 6

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

1/ Yeah, I cherry-picked 30 years of psychosis studies covering more than 100,000 people, the National Academy of Medicine, and biological data. I cherry-picked the violence data by including practically every paper I could find and comparing every murder and agg assault...

3:55 PM - 3 Feb 2019

2 Likes

1 2

Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

2/ in the first four states to legalize with the rest of the country. [redacted] likes to mention that one of the 16 members of the NAM committee has dissociated itself from the plain language of the report; and he shows some graphs that use the wrong base dataset...

2 1

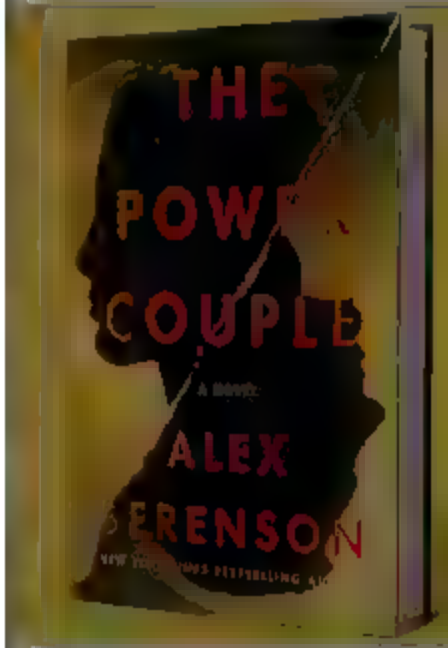
Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

3/ One of us is cherry-picking, true. But it ain't me.

1 2

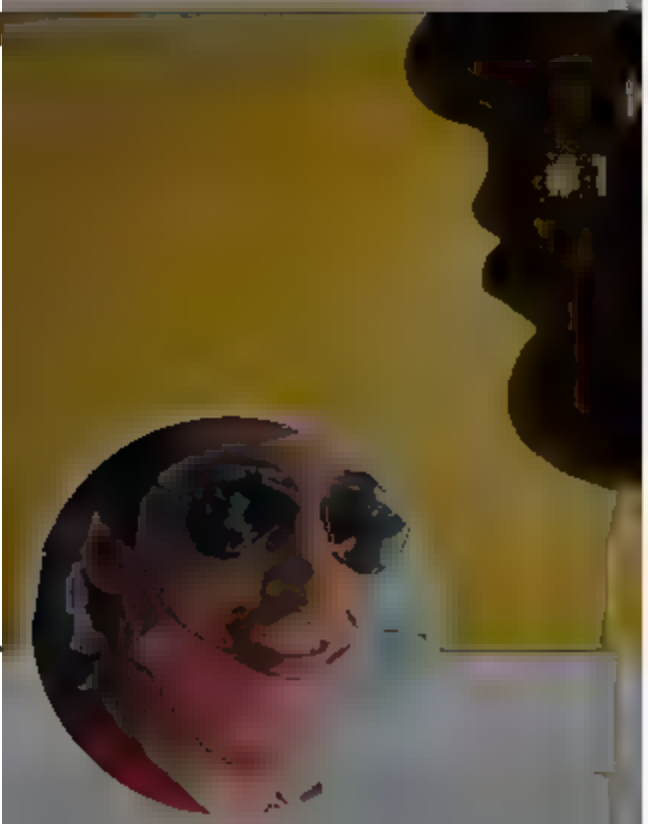
[redacted]

Home About



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ in the first four states to legalize with the rest of the country. [redacted] likes to mention that one of the 16 members of the NAM committee has dissociated itself from the plain language of the report; and he shows some graphs that use the wrong base dataset...

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

3/ One of us is cherry-picking, true. But it ain't me.

3:57 PM - 3 Feb 2019

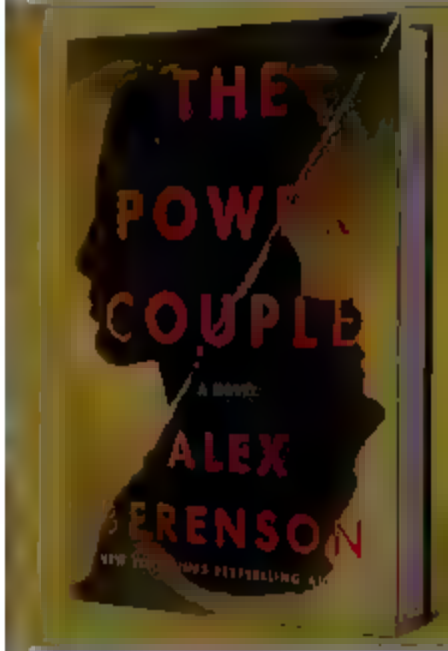
2 Likes

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

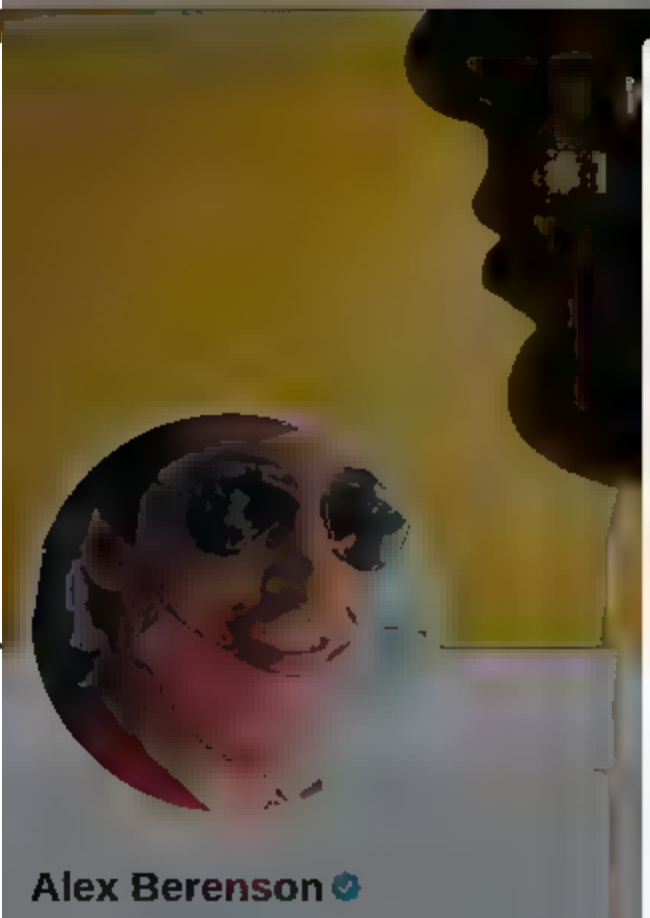
4/ I don't need to put a thumb on the data. THC is psychomimetic and the effects are already apparent. Thing about parachute journalism is that you get a clear view from 50,000 feet. When you're on the ground (and speaking at cannabis conference after cannabis conference)...



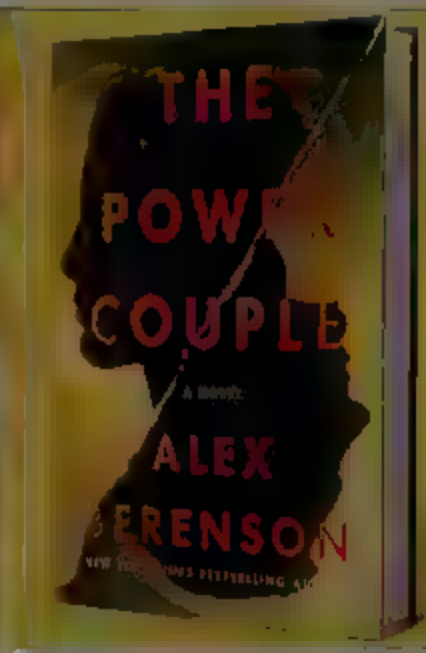
1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

5/ You can get a wee bit confused about the strength of the data. [redacted] does. I wouldn't care, except he and a couple of his fellow advocate-journalists have managed to confuse reporters who haven't done the work or read TYC for themselves.



3



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ When the paper itself says, in the first sentence of its conclusions:

CA (cannabis abuse) has an appreciable causal impact on future risk for schizophrenia.

I suppose I'll be accused of misquoting this one too. Advocates gotta advocate.

nejm.org/pubmed/24950397

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Replying to @shamuskhan
>
> 1/ Sweet of you to stand up for Dr. Hart. But, no, I meant he's hazy on the science. Like how he takes this conclusion from a paper:
>
> "This large registry study found that the majority of the association between…

11:22 AM - 3 Feb 2019

2 Retweets 9 Likes

2 2 9

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to

"controlling for familial confounding and prodromal effects substantially reduced later schizophrenia risk, intimating that a large proportion of the observed association was non-casual."

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 1

Shamus Khan @shamuskhan · 3 Feb 2019
Yeah I'm sure nothing was intended. Good luck selling more books!

1 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Following

Replying to [redacted]

Oh, plenty was intended. I intended to say that Dr. Hart is wrong on the science and the facts. He - or you - is welcome to discuss these issues at a public forum with me anytime.

11:27 AM - 3 Feb 2019

3 Likes

4 3

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]

> ¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor
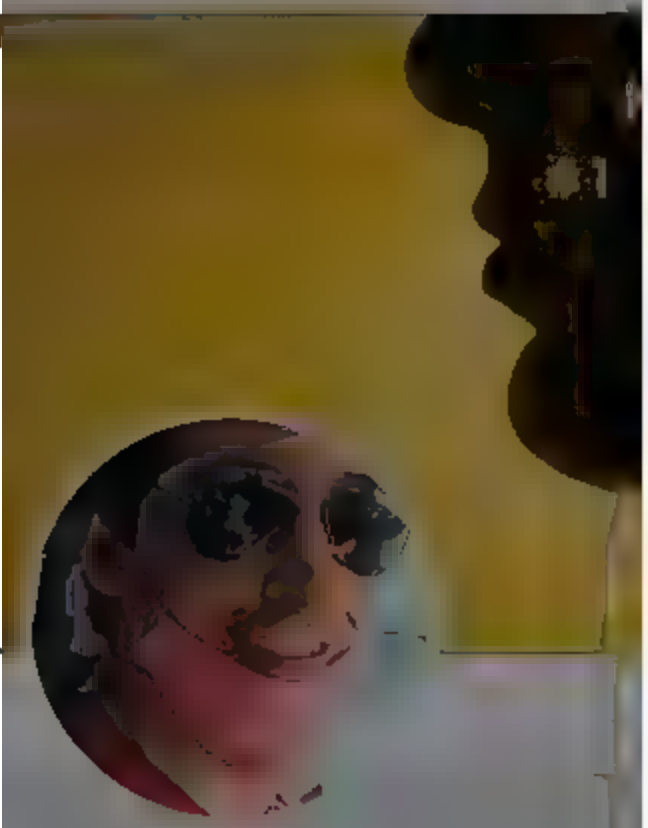
> Replying to @AlexBerenson
> Trolling – you've resorted to trolling as a last resort to market your book.
>
> Nobody is taking you seriously, so the only way for you now to get attention is to act out and hope someone with any kind of public profile reacts.

6

Josh Klugman @jklugman · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]



Did you ever discuss [redacted]'s dissection [redacted] of your book where he concludes you cherry-picked evidence in favor of a pre-determined conclusion? If even a drug legalization skeptic like him says your anti-MJ book is problematic...

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't anyone. @drcarlhart? @tomangell? Little hazy on the science? Still pretending TYC doesn't exist? @todd_harrison Busy on your peloton, as you try to find your next Psychosis Inc. investment?

New York

Joined November 2009

2 1 24

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

1/ Sweet of you to stand up for Dr. Hart. But, no, I meant he's hazy on the science. Like how he takes this conclusion from a paper:

"This large registry study found that the majority of the association between cannabis and schizophrenia could be attributed to familial factors."

11:21 AM - 3 Feb 2019

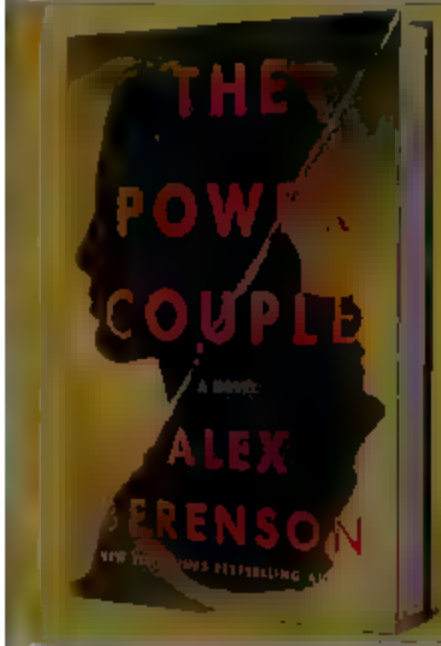
1 Like

1 1

Shamus Khan @shamuskhan · 3 Feb 2019

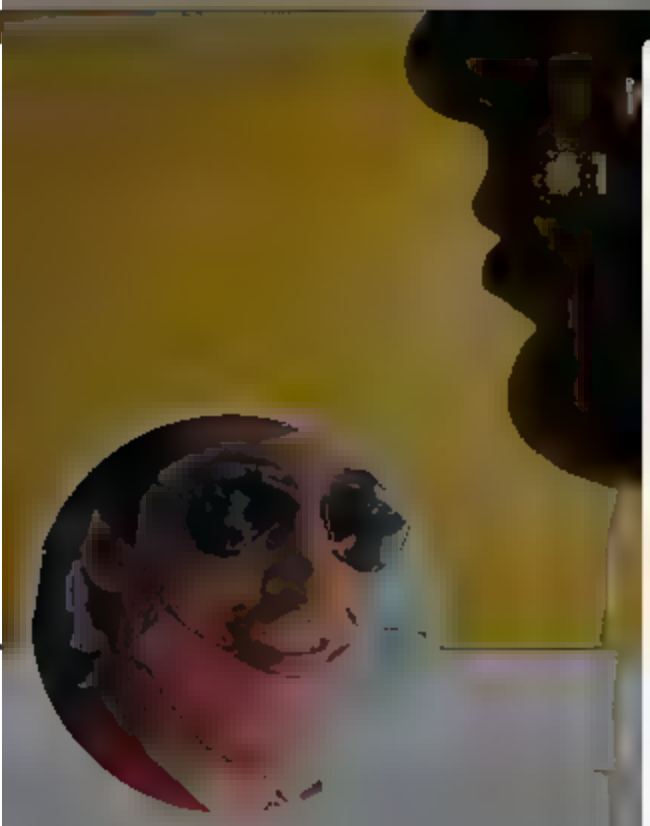
Replying to

Yeah I'm sure nothing was intended. Good luck selling more books!



1 11

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019



Oh, plenty was intended. I intended to say that Dr. Hart is wrong on the science and the facts. He - or you - is welcome to discuss these issues at a public forum with me anytime.

4 3

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Not sure what's funnier:
1) Advocates talking about how no one is talking about TYC
2) Advocates saying TYC shouldn't be sold (!) but asking for ACLU donations (!!)
3) Advocates who won't debate - as the great Floyd Norris once told me, if they won't talk, it's more space for me!

8:55 AM - 3 Feb 2019

2 Retweets 14 Likes

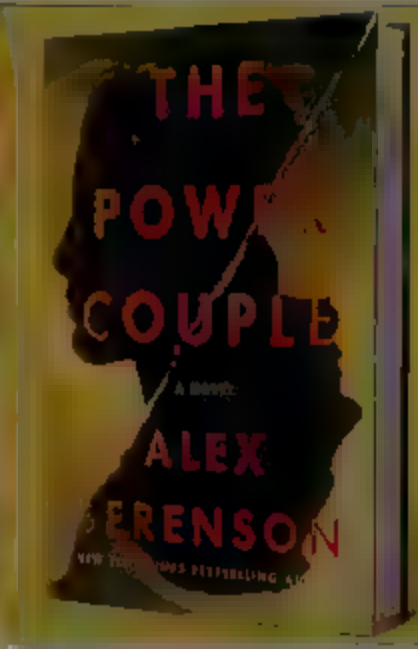
8 2 14



LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Nobody will debate you because you have 0 credibility within the scientific community. I know you know that but your ego is way too big to admit it

5

Bruce Conners @bconners · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You didn't convert anybody. Your fans were already scared lizard brain types who need to blame their problems on a boogie man. Half of them can barely type a legible sentence. The other half are proto-fascists with skin in the game who stand to lose when prohibition ends.

1 6

Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

7 7 21

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Hey Keith and Richard! Dude with a bag over his head for an avatar pic says you're wrong. He knows a guy who knows a guy. (Anecdote-based medicine, the best kind!) I guess it's settled then.

7:40 AM - 3 Feb 2019

1 Like

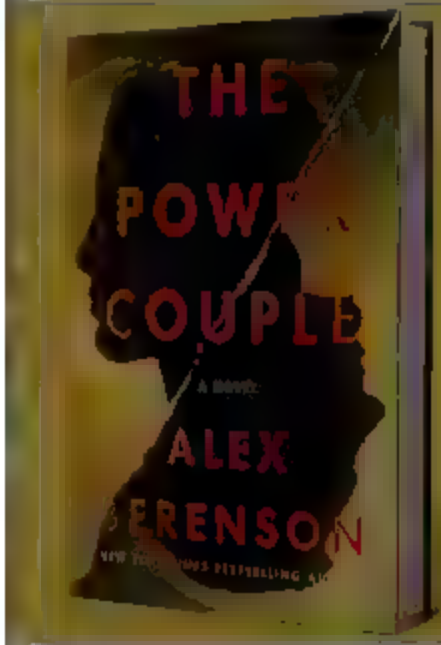
4 1

LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 3 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

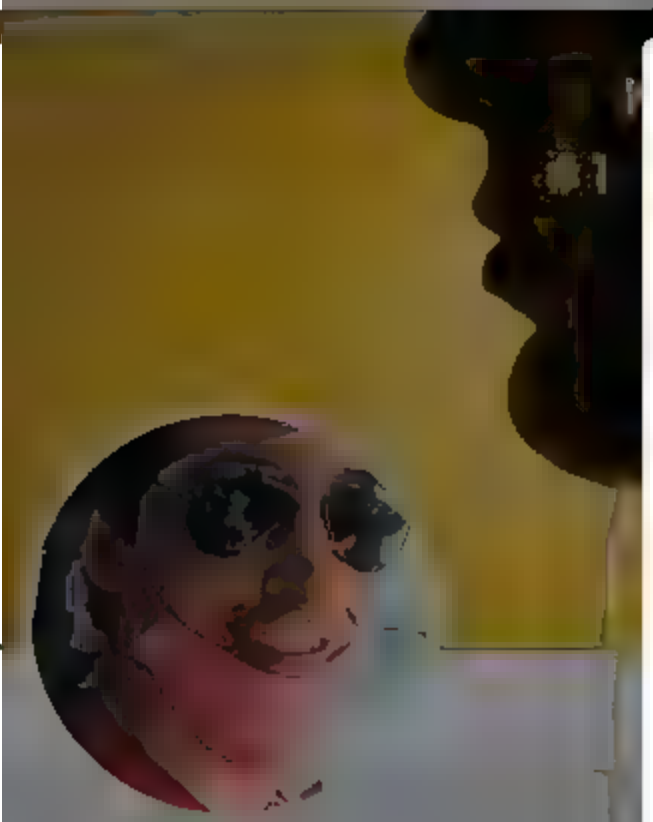
Anecdote based medicine LOLOL. That's the entirety of what you've been parroting the last month

1

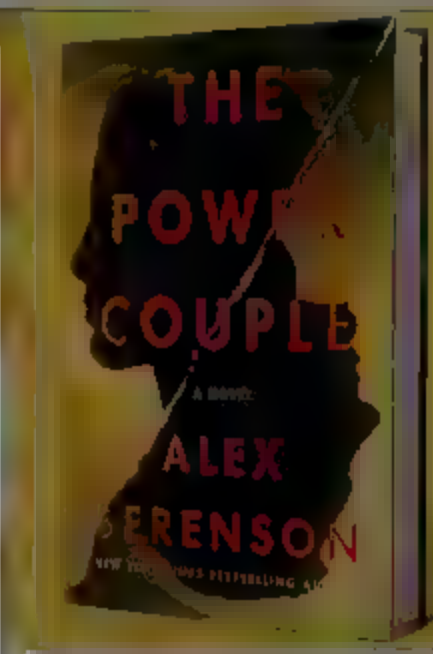


This Tweet is unavailable.

[redacted]



This Tweet is unavailable.



This Tweet is unavailable.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

This couldn't be clearer. @KeithNHumphreys @UnhealthyAleDrg

"No prospective evidence, either from clinical trials or observational studies, has demonstrated any benefit of treating patients who have opioid addiction with cannabis."

jamanetwork.com/journals/jama/...

7:33 AM - 3 Feb 2019

7 Retweets 21 Likes

7 7 21

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
Hey Keith and Richard! Dude with a bag over his head for an avatar pic says you're wrong. He knows a guy who knows a guy. (Anecdote-based medicine, the best kind!) I guess it's settled then.

4 1

This Tweet is unavailable.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 3 Feb 2019
It's a book this modern day con man. He ignores all questions

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

next Psychosis Inc. investment?

7 2 10

This Tweet is unavailable.

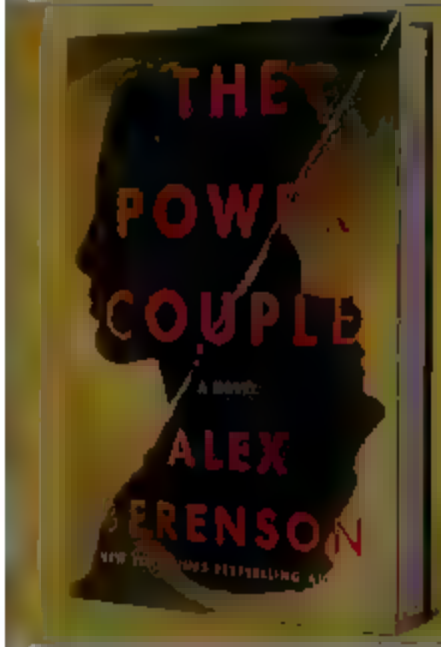
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to and 2 others

1/ Few psychiatrists would take the other side, @DavidNathanMD notwithstanding (and if you watch our debate on @smerconish, even he admits cannabis can cause psychosis). It's no accident the noise comes from psychologists like @drearlhart and brain researchers like @zivacooper...

7:10 AM - 3 Feb 2019

4 Likes

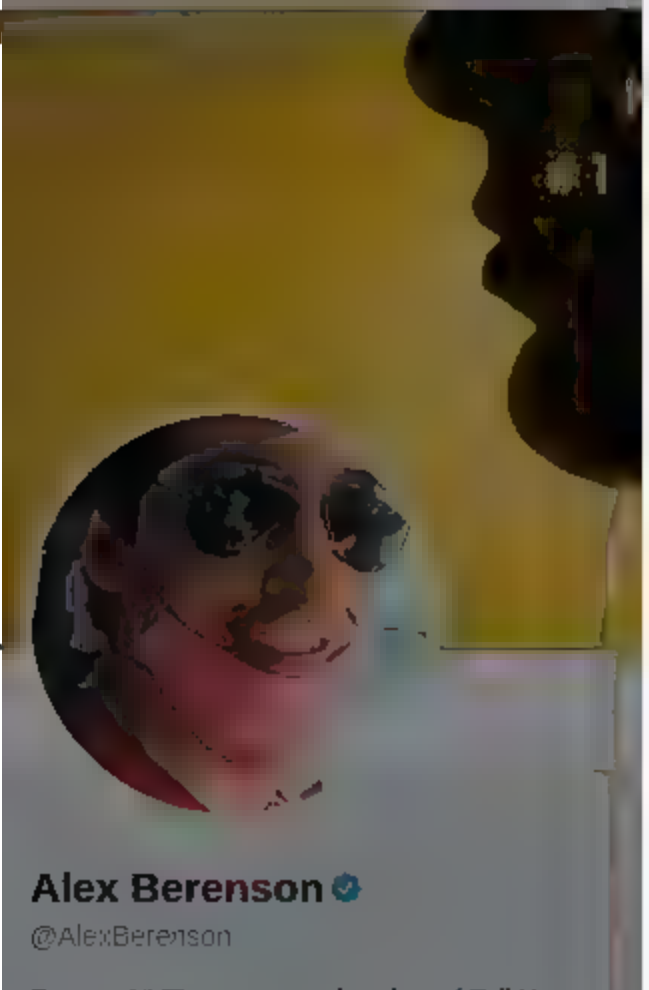


1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

Replying to and 6 others

2/ Who spend their time running studies where people inhale <2-4% THC cannabis (soooo realistic!) and looking at FMRIs (who doesn't love a good FMRI!) The MDs, especially the ones in CPAPs and inpatient units, see way, way too much of this to argue the reality.



1 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

Just to repeat: I'll defend the truth of my book anytime, anywhere, against anyone. [redacted] ? [redacted] ? Little hazy on the science? Still pretending TYC doesn't exist? [redacted] Busy on your peloton, as you try to find your next Psychosis Inc. investment?

7 2 10

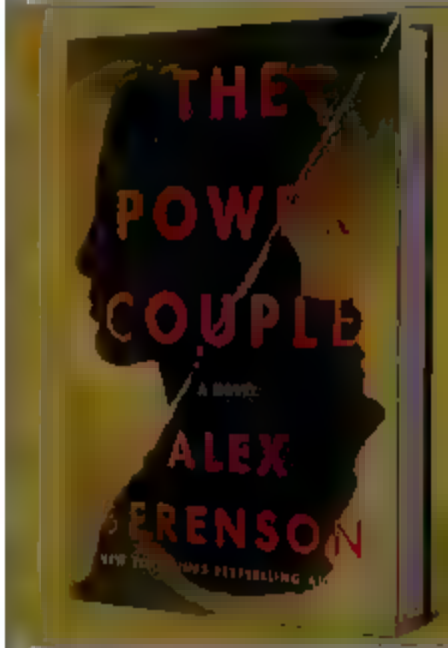
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

1/ Few psychiatrists would take the other side, [redacted] notwithstanding (and if you watch our debate on [redacted], even he admits cannabis can cause psychosis). It's no accident the noise comes from psychologists like [redacted] and brain researchers like [redacted] ...

1 4

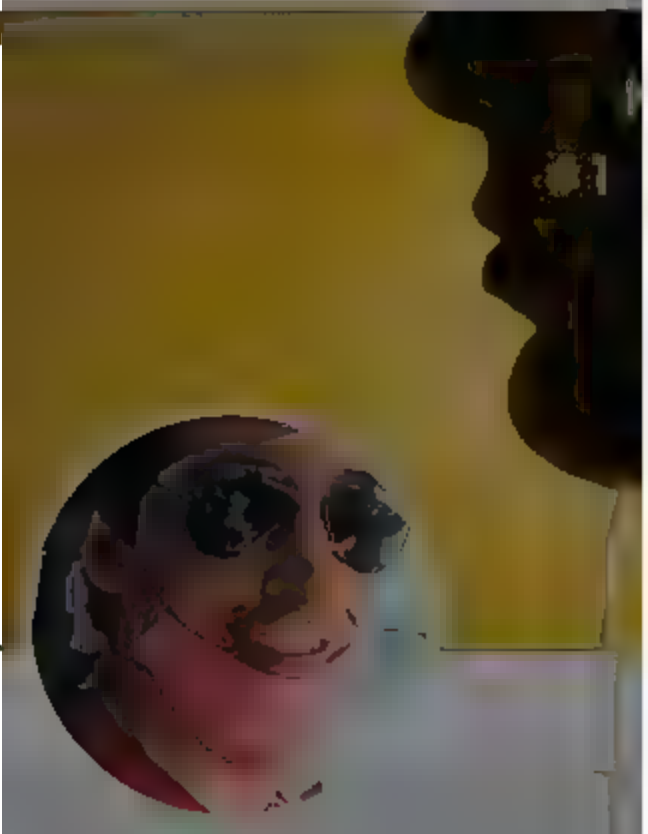
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted] and 6 others

2/ Who spend their time running studies where people inhale <2-4% THC cannabis (soooo realistic!) and looking at FMRIs (who doesn't love a good FMRI!) The MDs, especially the ones in CPAPs and inpatient units, see way, way too much of this to argue the reality.

7:12 AM - 3 Feb 2019



4 Likes

1 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5 7

ADAW @ADAWnews · 3 Feb 2019
Who are the purchasers? Parents? Do you know? Curious.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
Lot of parents, based on the emails I've been getting. I'm going to put together a graphic drawing on some of the terrible stories parents have sent (with names redacted, of course); there are far too many for me to include them all.

1 3

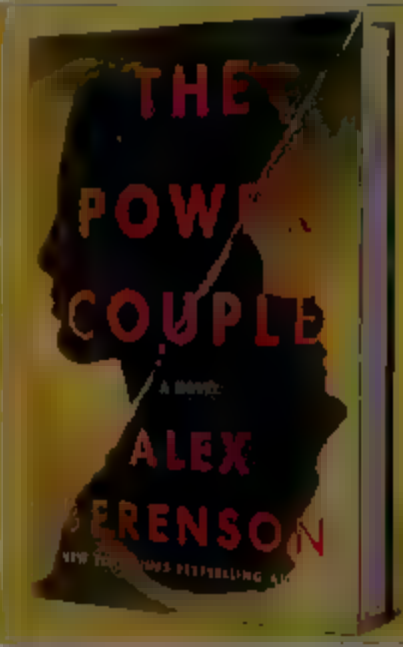
ADAW @ADAWnews · 3 Feb 2019
So now I understand the appeal. It's for parents who are worried, not the scientific community on Twitter. But these same parents are sometimes not vaccinating their kids, if they don't listen to science that's bad.

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

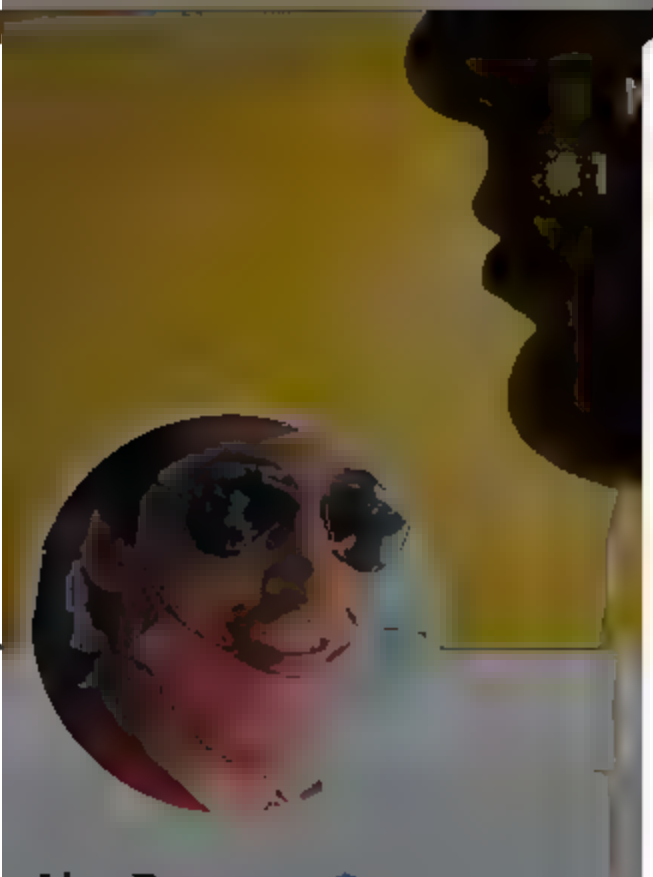
Replying to

Yeah, only states like Oregon and Colorado have some of the lowest vaccination rates. Probably not a coincidence; these are the same people who insist that cannabis can't be harmful because it's natural.



cdc.gov/vaccines/imz-m

6:51 AM - 3 Feb 2019

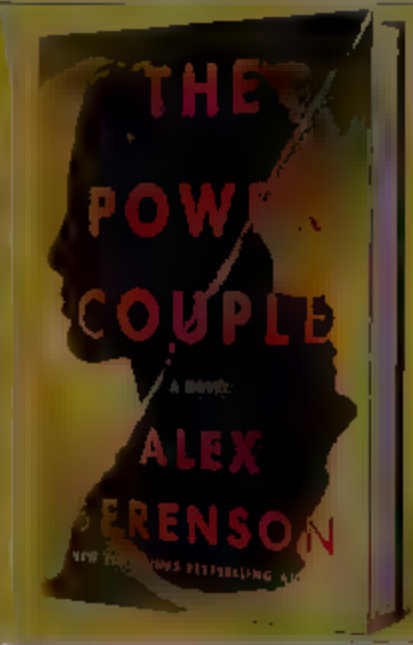


2 Likes

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

2/ Then there are [redacted] and his ilk, who have no idea what they're talking about. Which has never stopped them from mansplaining before. Nobody's madder, more vicious, or ultimately more toothless than a Bernie Bro who's not getting what he wants...

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
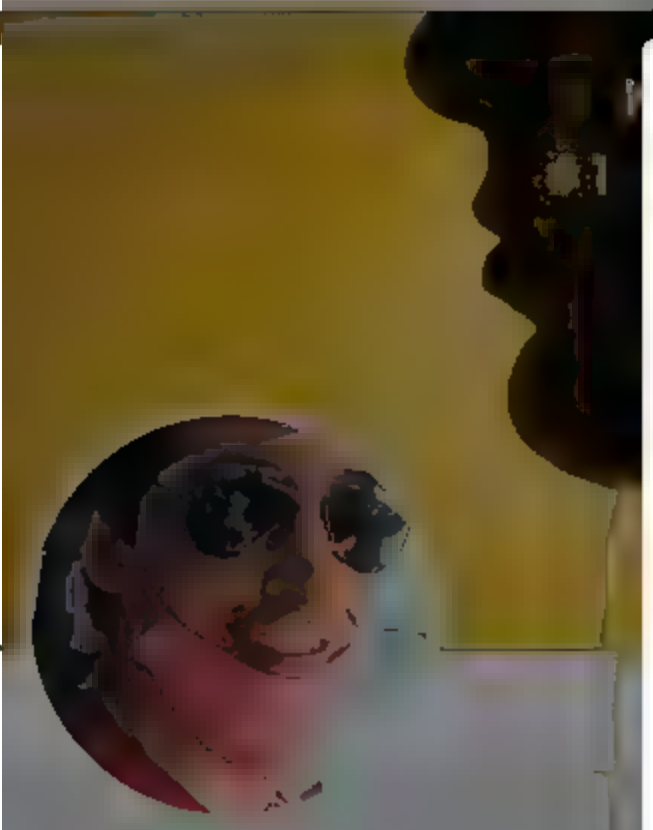
> Just to repeat: I'll defend the truth of my book anytime, anywhere, against anyone. @drcarlhart? @tomangell? Little hazy on the science? Still pretending TYC doesn't exist? @todd_harrison Busy on your peloton, as you try to find your next Psychosis Inc. investment?

1 3 8

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]



Which part of "anytime, anywhere, against anyone" is ambiguous?

6:46 AM - 3 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

1 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ Then there are @mathewstoller and his ilk, who have no idea what they're talking about. Which has never stopped them from mansplaining before. Nobody's madder, more vicious, or ultimately more toothless than a Bernie Bro who's not getting what he wants...

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Just to repeat: I'll defend the truth of my book anytime, anywhere, against anyone. @drcarlhart? @tomangell? Little hazy on the science? Still pretending TYC doesn't exist? @todd_harrison Busy on your peloton, as you try to find your next Psychosis Inc. investment?

6:41 AM - 3 Feb 2019

3 Retweets 8 Likes

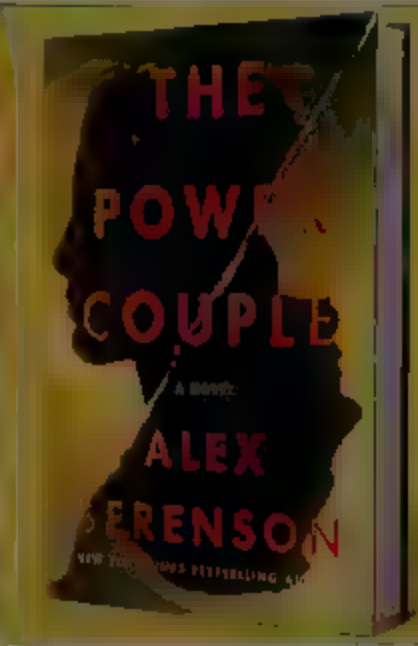
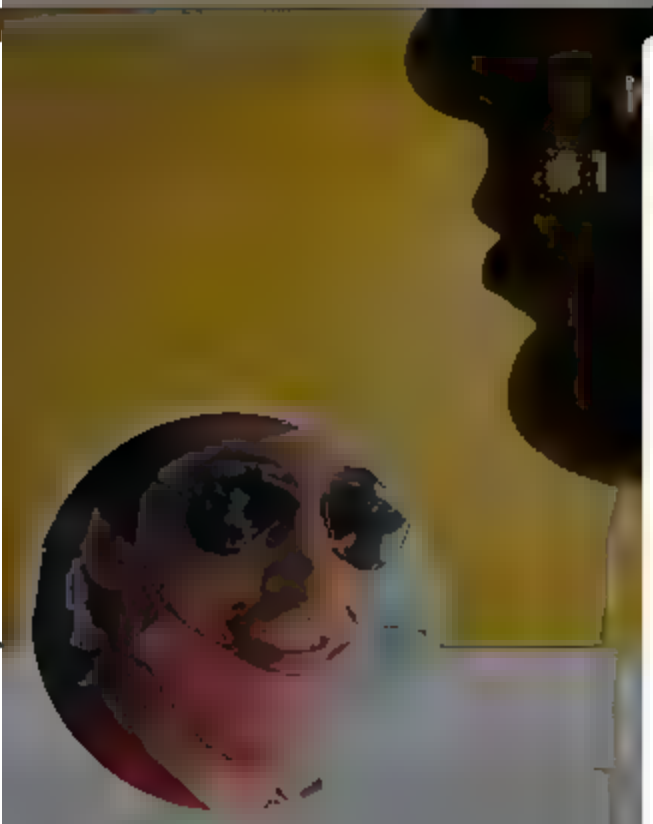
1 3 8



This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
Which part of "anytime, anywhere, against anyone" is ambiguous?



1 2

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to

> ¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor
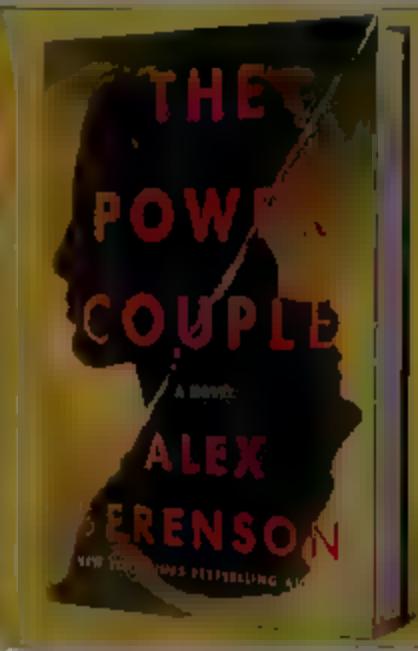
> Replying to @AlexBerenson

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just to repeat: I'll defend the truth of my book anytime, anywhere, against anyone. @drcarlhart? @tomangell? Little hazy on the science? Still pretending TYC doesn't exist? @todd_harrison Busy on your peloton, as you try to find your next Psychosis Inc. investment?

6:39 AM - 3 Feb 2019

2 Retweets 10 Likes

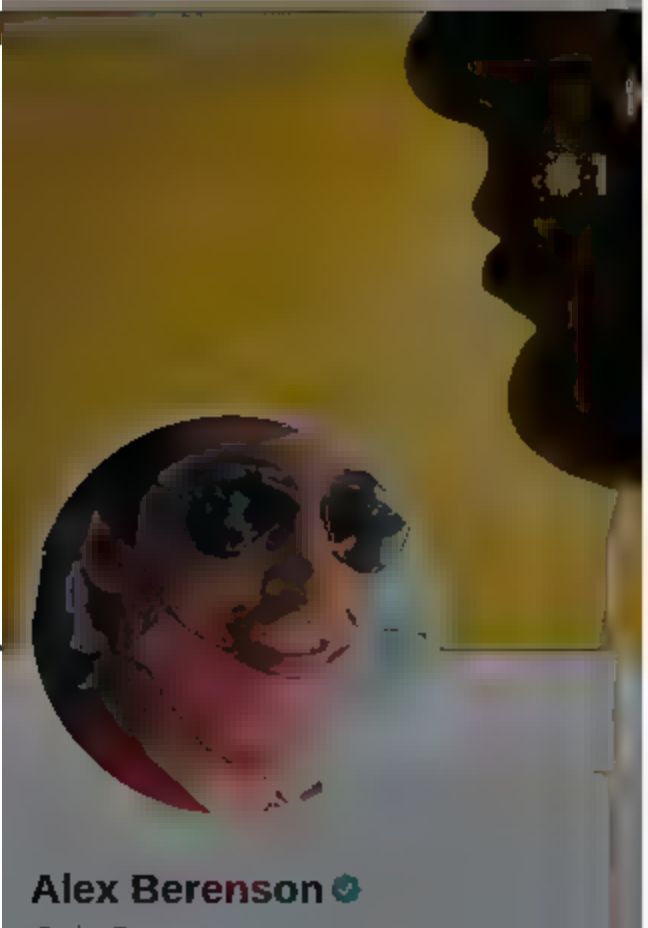
7 2 10

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to and 2 others
I disguised the book with my grandson. He opened up to me about students getting high at college. Really sad!

1

This Tweet is unavailable.



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
1/ Few psychiatrists would take the other side, notwithstanding (and if you watch our debate on , even he admits cannabis can cause psychosis). It's no accident the noise comes from psychologists like and brain researchers like ...

1 4

Timandjerry @Timandjerry420 · 3 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

now it's bounced on Amazon; the HC is back in the 600s. Word of mouth; the fire is spreading...

5 7

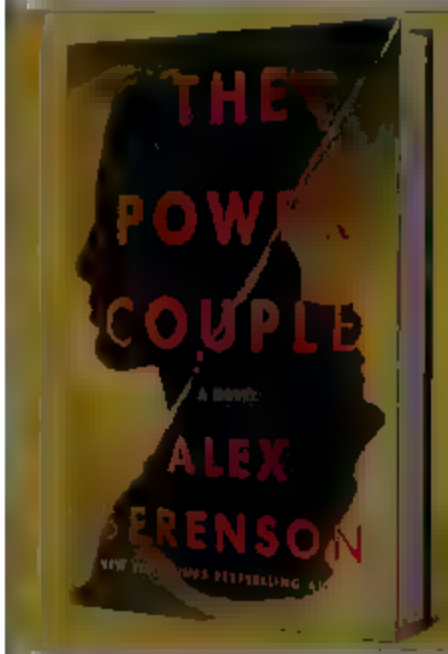
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Even better, the bounce has led Amazon to cut the HC price to $17.10. A lot of you have asked about bulk orders; S&S is still cheaper for orders >10, but Amazon will be faster. Get 'em for your kids, your grandkids - and your state legislators!

6:29 AM - 3 Feb 2019

5 Likes

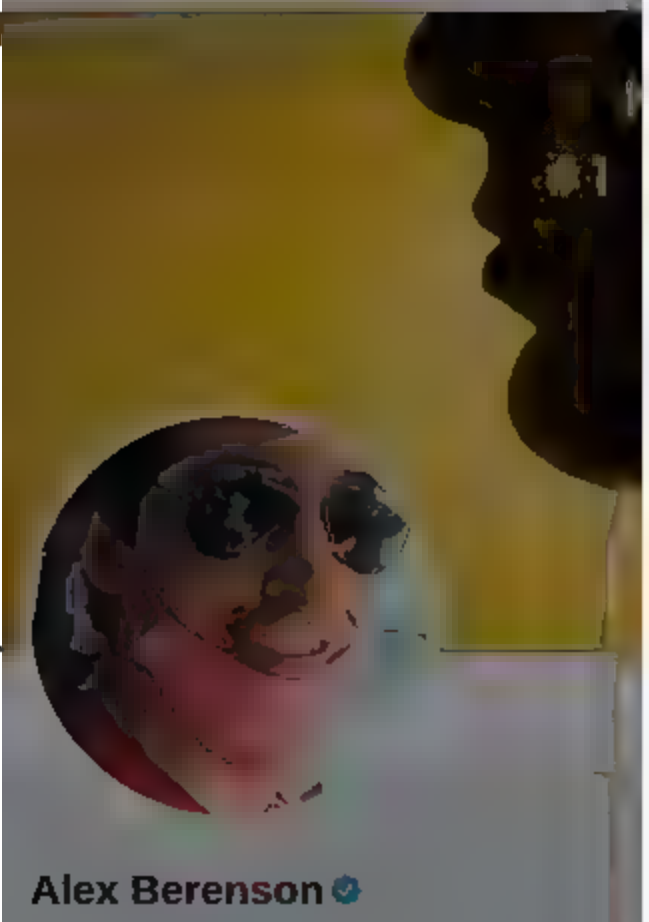
3 5



Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to
The book will arrived in a couple days. It Is a good book.

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to
Just got the audible version. Great job!

2



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to
"The hardcover hasn't even been out for a month and they've already slashed the price by 1/3!" --

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5 7

ADAW @ADAWnews · 3 Feb 2019
Who are the purchasers? Parents? Do you know? Curious.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

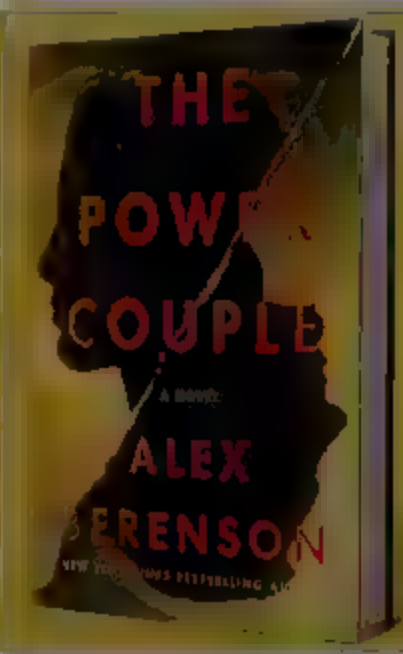
Replying to

Lot of parents, based on the emails I've been getting. I'm going to put together a graphic drawing on some of the terrible stories parents have sent (with names redacted, of course); there are far too many for me to include them all.

6:32 AM · 3 Feb 2019

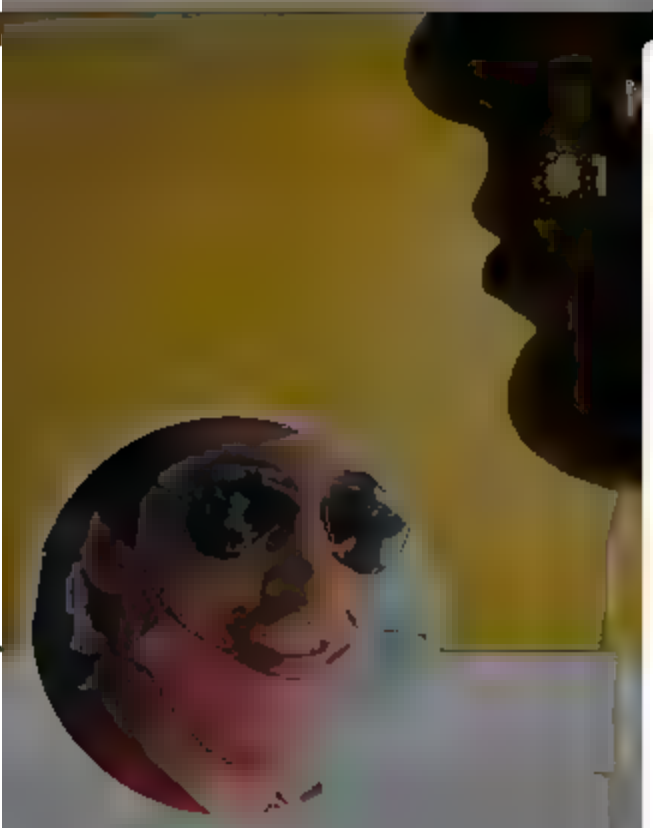
3 Likes

1 3

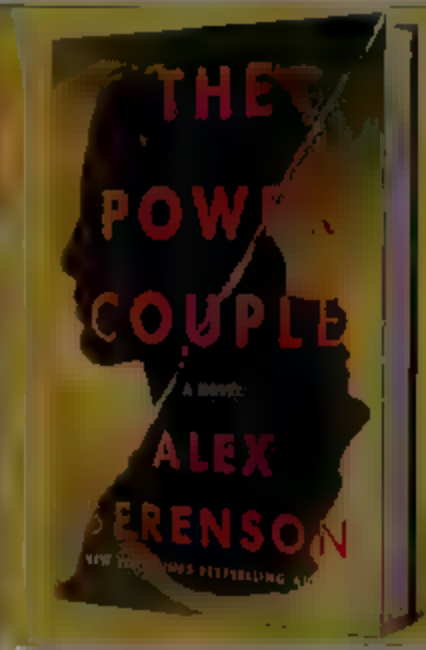


ADAW @ADAWnews · 3 Feb 2019
Replying to
So now I understand the appeal. It's for parents who are worried, not the scientific community on Twitter. But these same parents are sometimes not vaccinating their kids, if they don't listen to science that's bad.

1 3



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019
Yeah, only states like Oregon and Colorado have some of the lowest vaccination rates. Probably not a coincidence; these are the same people who insist that cannabis can't be harmful because it's natural.



2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Something happening here... Normally a book's sales fall fast after the first week, as the publicity burst ends. TYC followed that pattern in weeks 2+3. But now it's bounced on Amazon; the HC is back in the 600s. Word of mouth; the fire is spreading...

youtube.com/watch?v=f5M_Tt...

6:26 AM - 3 Feb 2019

7 Likes

5 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

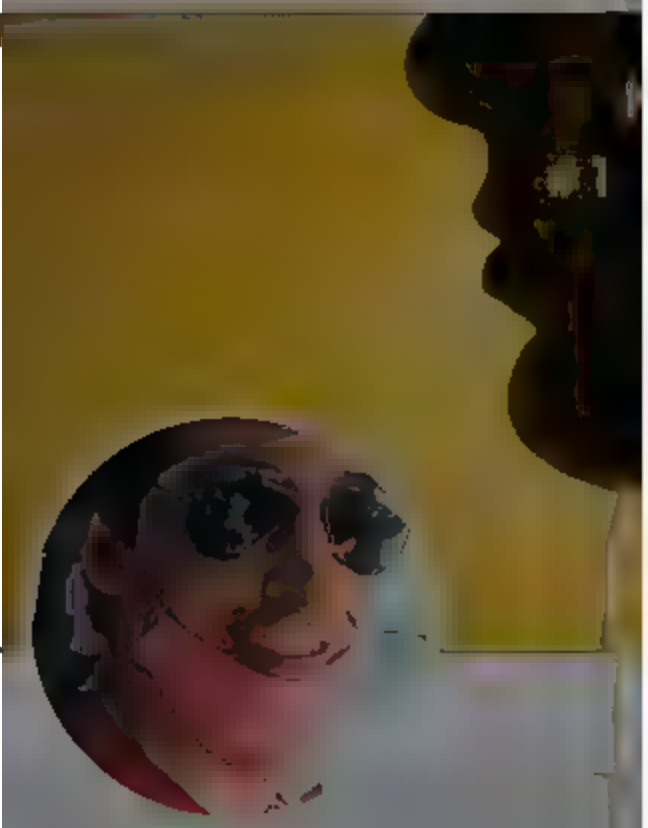
2/ Even better, the bounce has led Amazon to cut the HC price to $17.10. A lot of you have asked about bulk orders; S&S is still cheaper for orders >10, but Amazon will be faster. Get 'em for your kids, your grandkids - and your state legislators!

3 5

ADAW @ADAWnews · 3 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Who are the purchasers? Parents? Do you know? Curious.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Feb 2019

Lot of parents, based on the emails I've been getting. I'm going to put together a graphic drawing on some of the terrible stories parents have sent (with names redacted, of course); there are far too many for me to include them all.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

10 15 35

Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 2 Feb 2019
Cannabis sometimes causes psychosis. Psychosis sometimes causes violence.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

True. It would also be more accurate to say that cigarettes sometimes cause lung cancer and drunk driving sometimes causes accidents, but we don't. The seriousness of the danger is such that we make sure the warning is as clear and direct as possible.

11:06 AM - 2 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

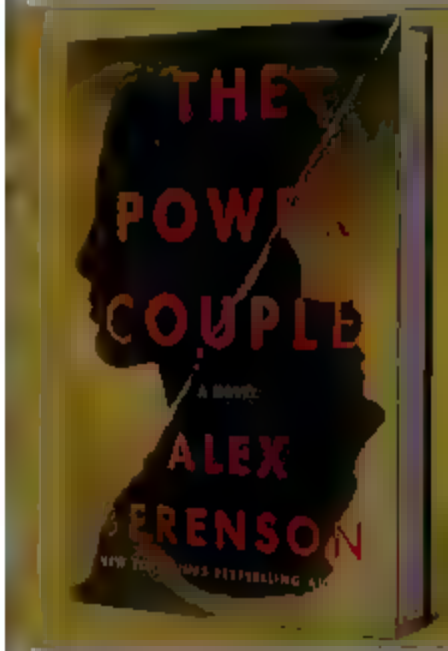
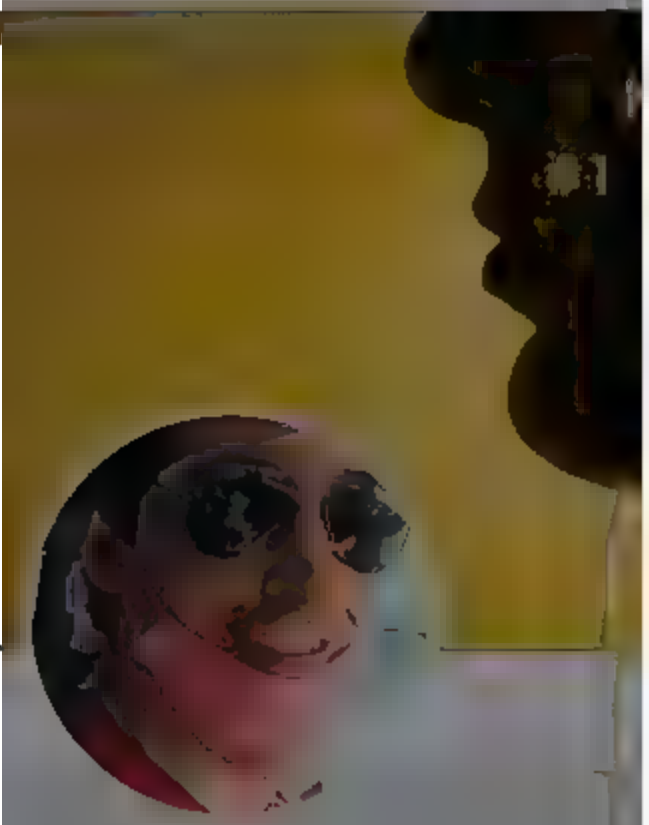
2 1 6

Gastón de los Reyes, Jr. @Gdlrjr · 2 Feb 2019
Replying to
The probabilities also matter, don't you think?



1 1

Carson Everhart Young @ceverhartyoung · 2 Feb 2019
Bacon sometimes causes cancer



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

10 15 35

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

1/ I'm not saying this guy was necessarily clinically psychotic; but cannabis causes dissociation, subclinical psychotic symptoms, and paranoia with incredible frequency. So it elevates threat response (this guy wants to kill me!) while enabling a ferocious counterattack.

8:26 AM - 2 Feb 2019

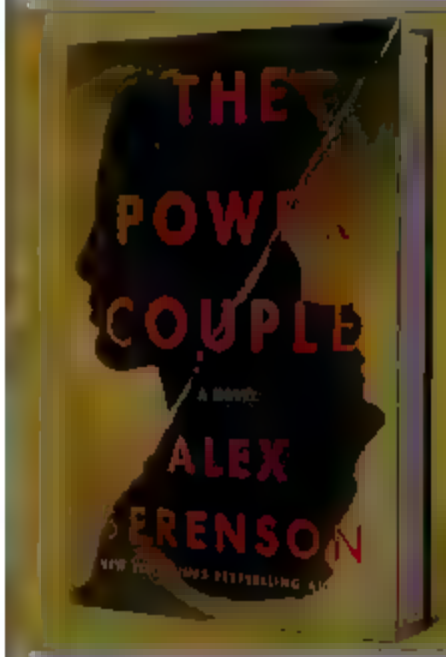
2 Likes

2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Feb 2019

Replying to

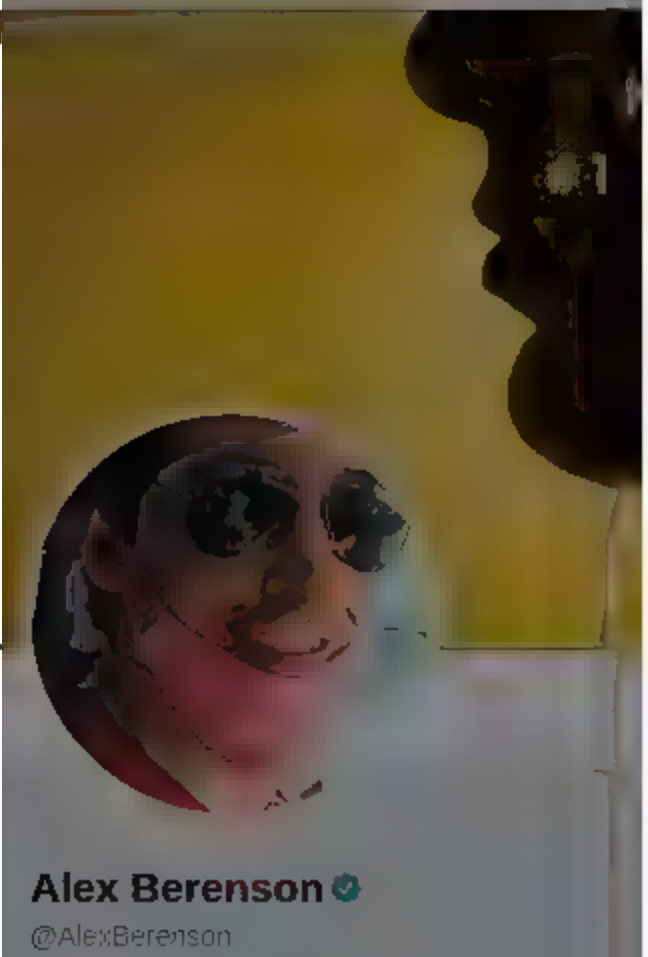
2/ Over and over, in these cases, the perpetrators self-report they were being carried along or "watching" the violence even as they committed it. Obviously, they're making excuses for their behavior, but the language may also reflect the reality of their subjective experience.



2

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Feb 2019



Yes. Arguably those are not a bug but in fact a feature of the drug. As a former user wrote me:

"Even when it is pleasant the "heightened awareness" is just a sort of 'positive

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Fascinating NYT story about a guy who committed murder in 1992 and now fights for the rights of murderers everywhere...

BTW: Guess what he was smoking when he got all murder-y?

Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.

10 15 35

This Tweet is unavailable.

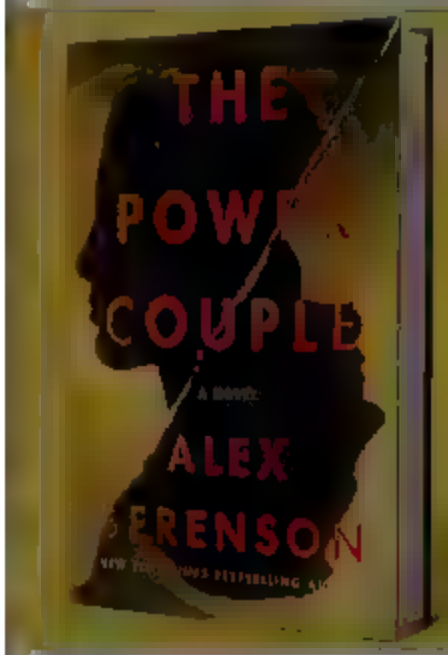
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Feb 2019

1/ I'm not saying this guy was necessarily clinically psychotic; but cannabis causes dissociation, subclinical psychotic symptoms, and paranoia with incredible frequency. So it elevates threat response (this guy wants to kill me!) while enabling a ferocious counterattack.

2 2

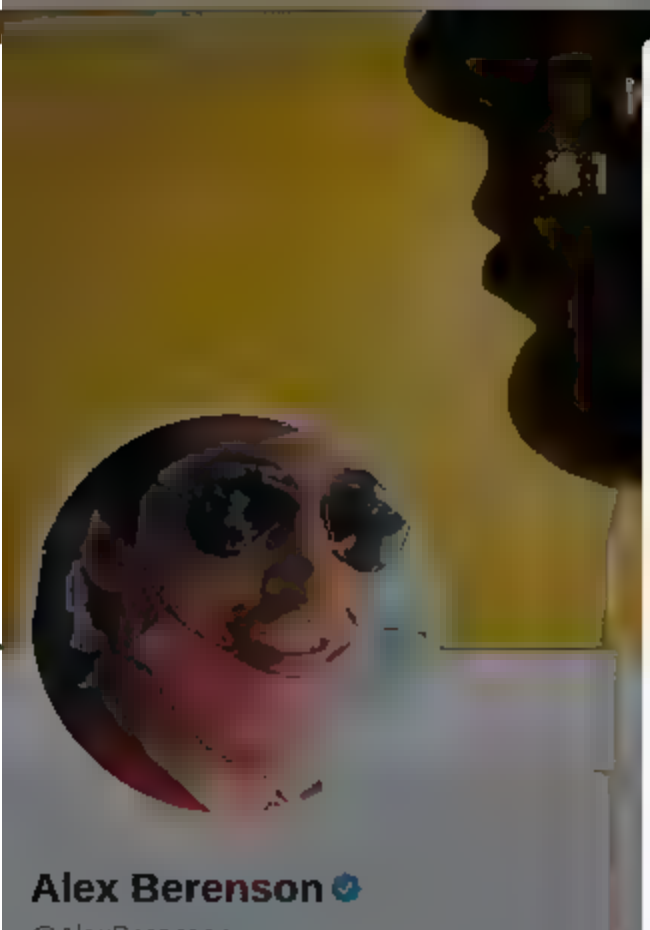
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Over and over, in these cases, the perpetrators self-report they were being carried along or "watching" the violence even as they committed it. Obviously, they're making excuses for their behavior, but the language may also reflect the reality of their subjective experience.



8:28 AM - 2 Feb 2019

2 Likes



2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Fascinating NYT story about a guy who committed murder in 1992 and now fights for the rights of murderers everywhere...

BTW: Guess what he was smoking when he got all murder-y?

Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.

nytimes.com/2019/02/02/bus . . .

8:16 AM - 2 Feb 2019

15 Retweets 35 Likes

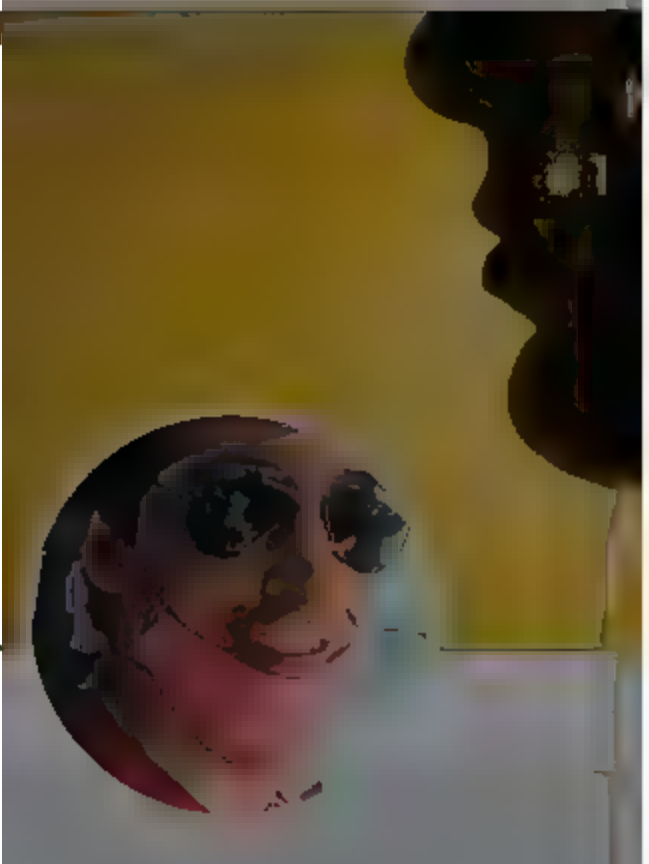
10 15 35

This Tweet is unavailable.



Gone to Gab @richardcranium6 · 2 Feb 2019
"Reefer Madness" was ahead of it's time.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Fascinating NYT story about a guy who committed murder in 1992 and now fights for the rights of murderers everywhere...
>
> BTW: Guess what he was smoking when he got all murder-y?…

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Feb 2019

1/ I'm not saying this guy was necessarily clinically psychotic; but cannabis causes dissociation, subclinical psychotic symptoms, and paranoia with incredible frequency. So it elevates threat response (this guy wants to kill me!) while enabling a ferocious counterattack.

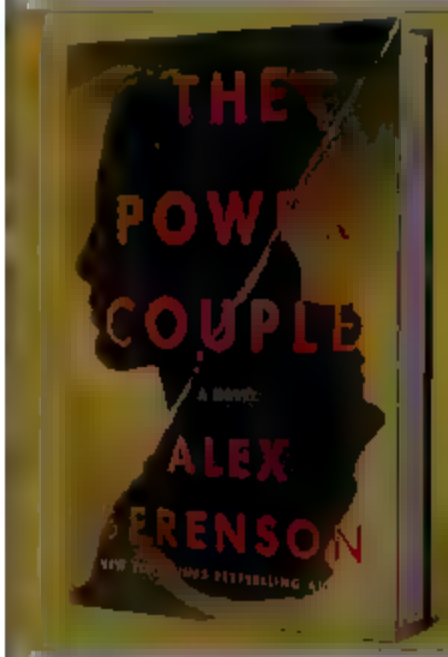
2 2

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

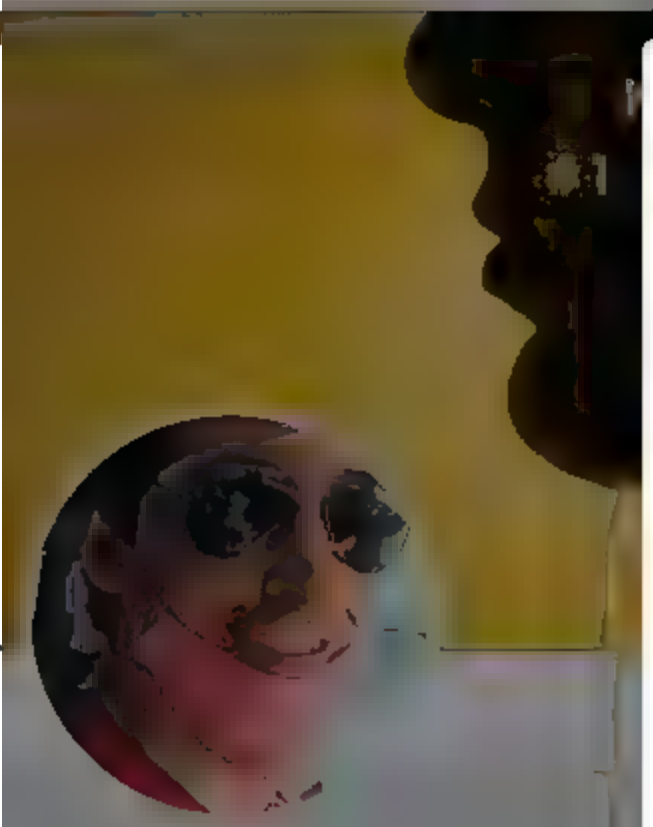
Replying to

Yes. Arguably those are not a bug but in fact a feature of the drug. As a former user wrote me:

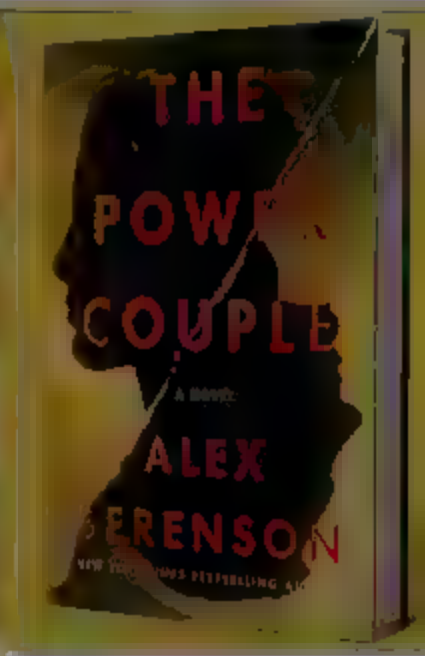


"Even when it is pleasant the "heightened awareness" is just a sort of 'positive paranoia'. You start to recognize patterns where there are none. You get a false sense of profundity."

8:35 AM - 2 Feb 2019



1 Like



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

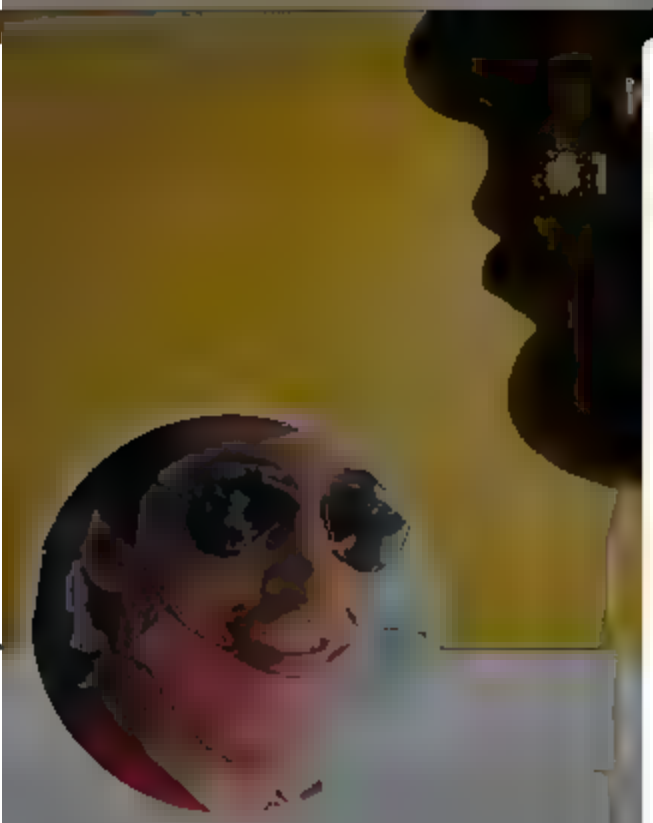
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Of course @todd_harrison brags about getting on his Peloton this eve. When not investing in Psychosis Inc., of course the urbane cannabis capitalist publicly spends his time riding a four-figure hamster wheel while being shouted at a distance. Can't make it up.

3:23 PM - 1 Feb 2019

4 Likes



3 4

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 1 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]

> ¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor
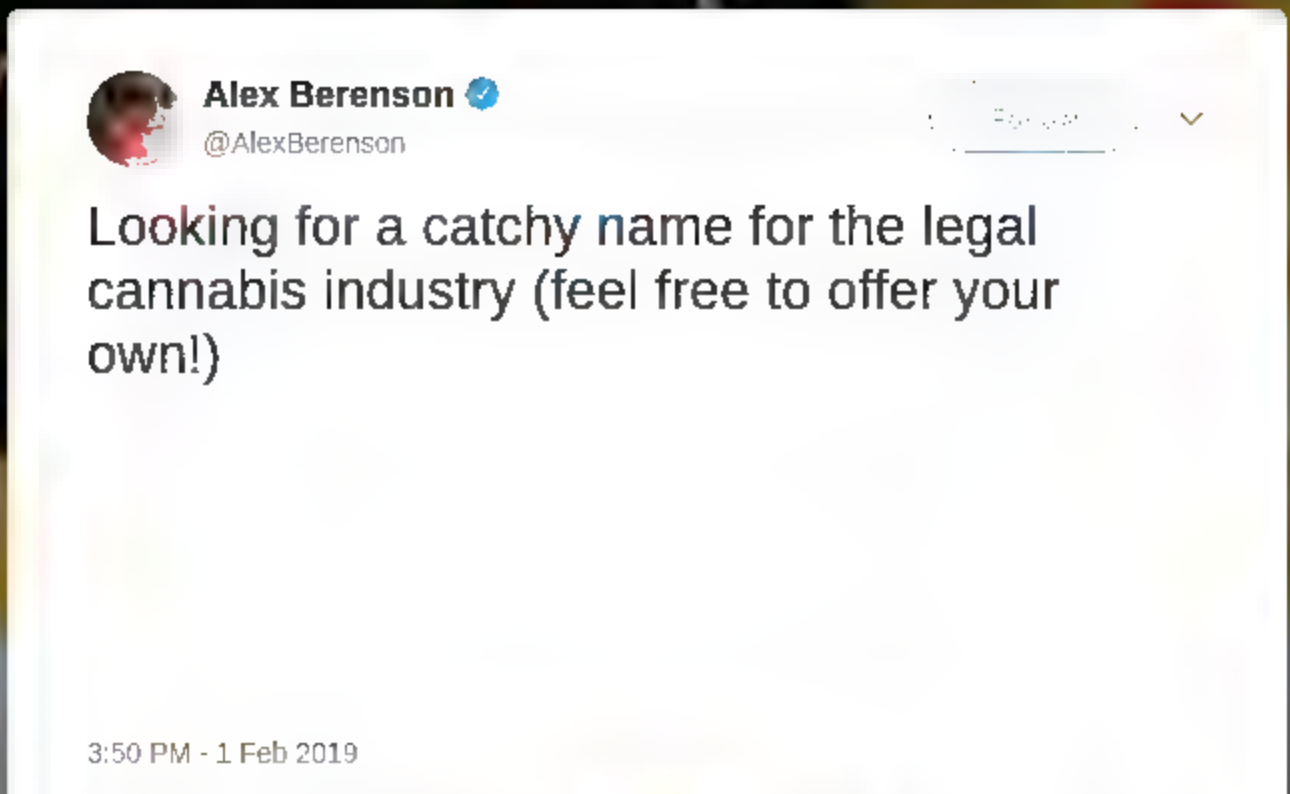
> Replying to @AlexBerenson
> Trolling – you've resorted to trolling as a last resort to market your book.
>
> Nobody is taking you seriously, so the only way for you now to get attention is to act out and hope someone with any kind of public profile reacts.

1

Environmental Coffeehouse @Blueoceanarctic · 1 Feb 2019
Replying to [redacted]



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Looking for a catchy name for the legal cannabis industry (feel free to offer your own!)

3:50 PM - 1 Feb 2019

9 Retweets 18 Likes

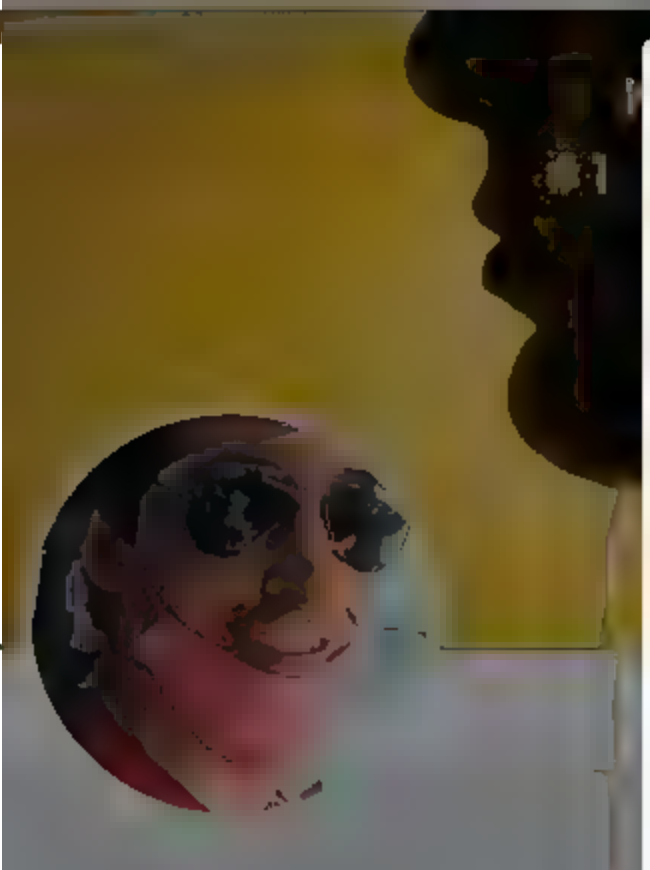
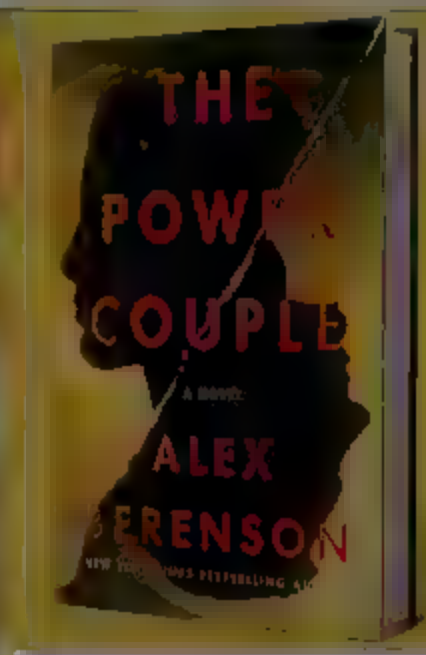
27 9 18

Man_on_a_farm @gulliver_trevor · 1 Feb 2019
Replying to
Reefer Madness



Man_on_a_farm @gulliver_trevor · 1 Feb 2019
Replying to
Devil's Lettuce



CouldBeDan @danbarach · 1 Feb 2019
Replying to Mind Strippers
2

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 1 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thanks @CNBCTheExchange and Kelly Evans for being unafraid to have me on!

3:15 PM - 1 Feb 2019

2 Retweets 13 Likes

4 2 13

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 1 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Testimony shows how the legalization in Colorado made it so much worse for this veteran with schizophrenia (yes he used pot as a teen, too). Had been doing well on abilify, but started using pot instead. Under control now, but could killed people.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Cannabis causes psychosis. Even in tiny doses, even in psychiatrically healthy people with no history of mental illness. And it's not always temporary.

1:16 PM - 1 Feb 2019

20 Retweets 25 Likes

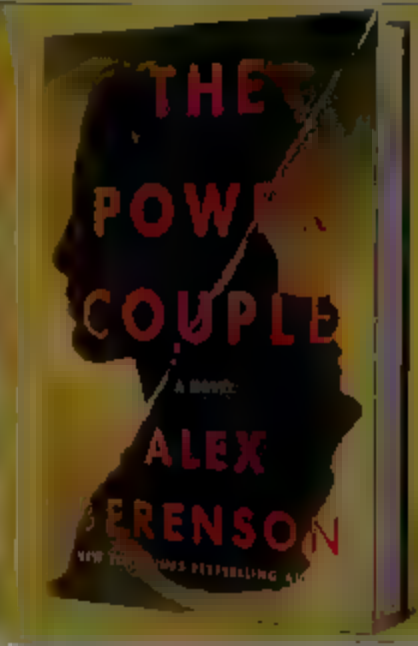
17 20 25

LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 1 Feb 2019



Replying to

So you're a doctor now? When did you get your MD? Where are your facts? Where is any information at all?

2 3

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 1 Feb 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Henry's Demons/P Cockburn: Happily admitting...he was routinely stoned as a teenager – cannabis being by far the most likely trigger for his illness – Henry...explains his resistance to anti-psychotic drugs: "I didn't agree with taking substances that would affect my mind."

1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Yes, families have written, but the perspective of heavy users - especially those falling into psychosis - is lacking. A key question, to me, is why people keep using as side effects mount (though people destroy their lives for opioids or cocaine; addiction has its own rules).

8:56 AM - 1 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

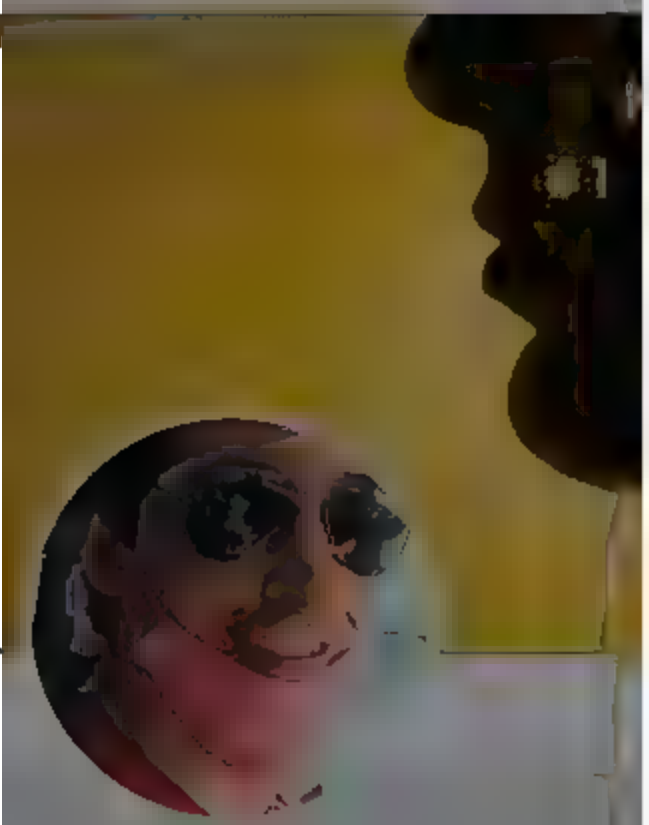
2 1 3

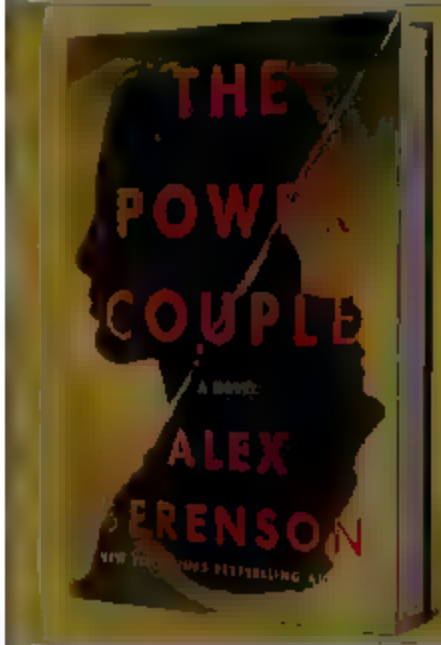
Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 1 Feb 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Parts of Henry's Demons is written by Henry and not his dad. He had a very different view of his psychosis from that of his father.



Heidi Anderson-Swan @SwanHJA · 1 Feb 2019



Replying to [redacted]

I cowrote a book with my brother about his true life as a homeless drug addict with schizophrenia–he started pot at 14. Please check it out:

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

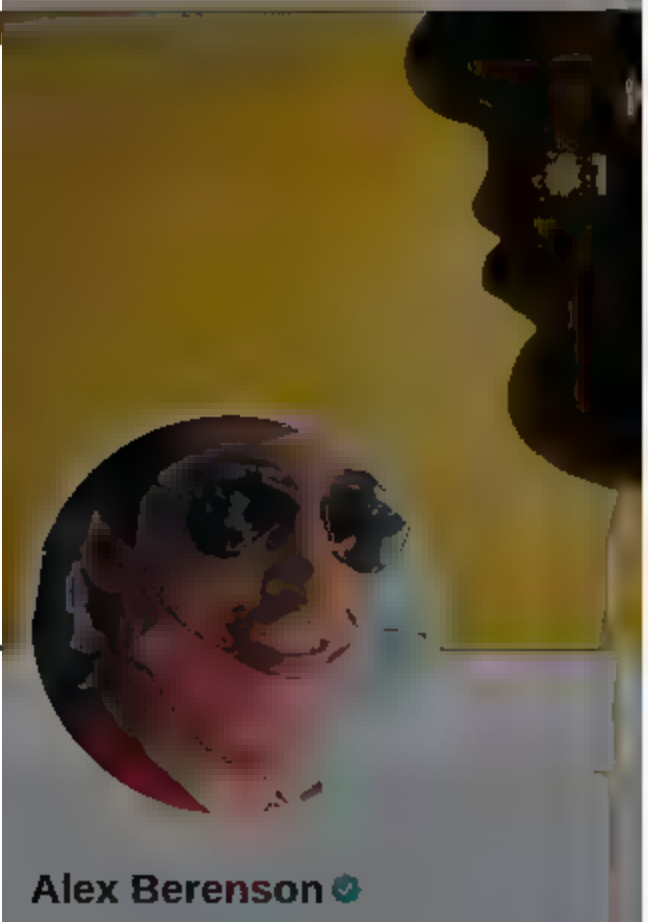
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

So "cannabis investor" @todd_harrison - wants to talk smack about Tell Your Children but is afraid to let me see his tweets. Lol. I'll defend the truth anytime anywhere. Keep running, Todd.

Todd Harrison
@todd_harrison



11:32 AM - 1 Feb 2019

2 Retweets 16 Likes

8 2 16

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ In part that's because alcohol's been much more important culturally for much longer. I also wonder if it's a sign the mental damage hard-core cannabis addiction does is even more profound than alcoholism. Tough to recover from multiple inpatient stays for cannabis psychosis.

5 2 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ Anyway, if the emails I've received are any indication, someone will pull it together enough to write a great, honest book about this. And soon, I hope.

7:01 AM - 1 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 10 Likes

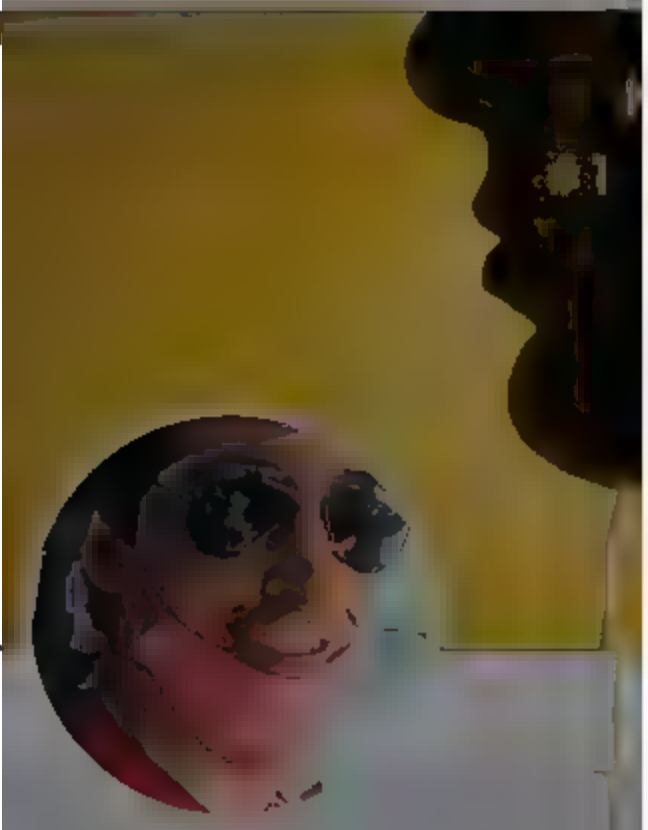
2 1 10

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 1 Feb 2019



Replying to

The marijuana book u need2read2get escorted by science n2 the realm of factual reality is published.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ One takeaway from the last month - and the many emails I've gotten from people hurt by cannabis use, either their own or people close to them - is that the great books about marijuana addiction have yet to be written. Alcoholics have written novels and memoirs for generations.

3 6 16

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Charles R. Jackson, John Cheever, Frederick Exley, Caroline Knapp, Richard Yates, and countless others have explored the misery (and occasional joys) of alcohol addiction. The literature around marijuana is far thinner, even though the drug itself is more complex.

6:57 AM - 1 Feb 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

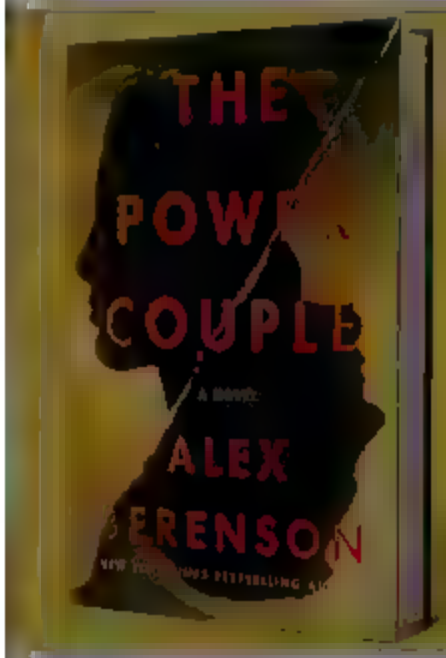
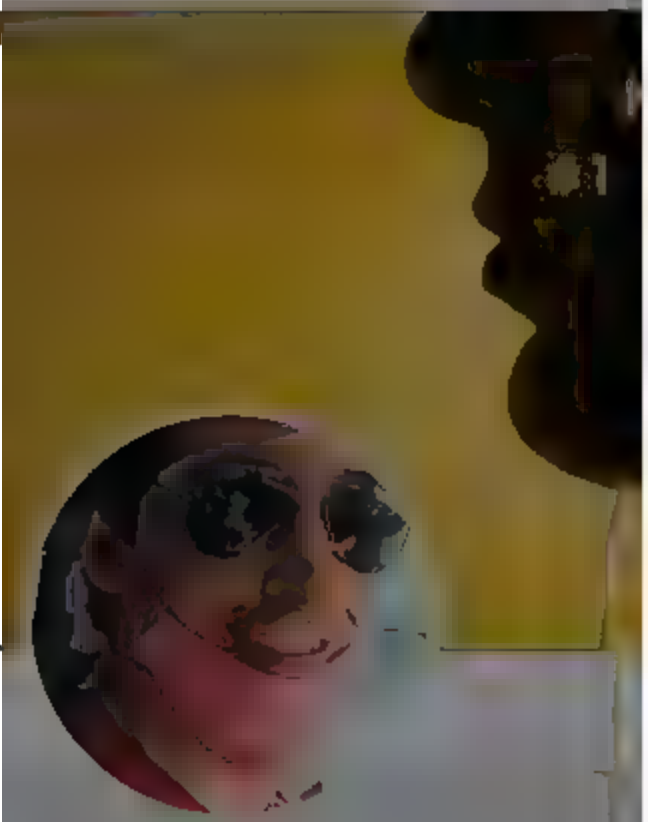
3 1 5



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Feb 2019
3/ In part that's because alcohol's been much more important culturally for much longer. I also wonder if it's a sign the mental damage hard-core cannabis addiction does is even more profound than alcoholism. Tough to recover from multiple inpatient stays for cannabis psychosis.

5 2 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Feb 2019
4/ Anyway, if the emails I've received are any indication, someone will pull it together enough to write a great, honest book about this. And soon, I hope.



2 1 10

Alexander Linklater @ARLinklater · 1 Feb 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Check out what happened to Julie Myerson when she wrote about it 10 years ago - in her book The Lost Child - in the U.K. The commentariat turned on her

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ Charles R. Jackson, John Cheever, Frederick Exley, Caroline Knapp, Richard Yates, and countless others have explored the misery (and occasional joys) of alcohol addiction. The literature around marijuana is far thinner, even though the drug itself is more complex.

3 1 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Follow

3/ In part that's because alcohol's been much more important culturally for much longer. I also wonder if it's a sign the mental damage hard-core cannabis addiction does is even more profound than alcoholism. Tough to recover from multiple inpatient stays for cannabis psychosis.

7:00 AM - 1 Feb 2019

2 Retweets 9 Likes

5 2 9

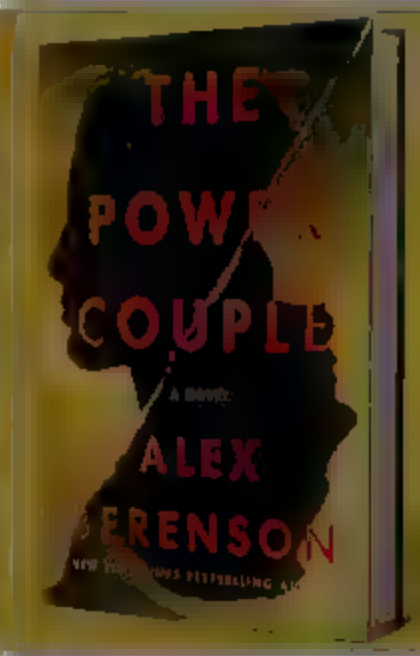
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Feb 2019

4/ Anyway, if the emails I've received are any indication, someone will pull it together enough to write a great, honest book about this. And soon, I hope.

2 1 10

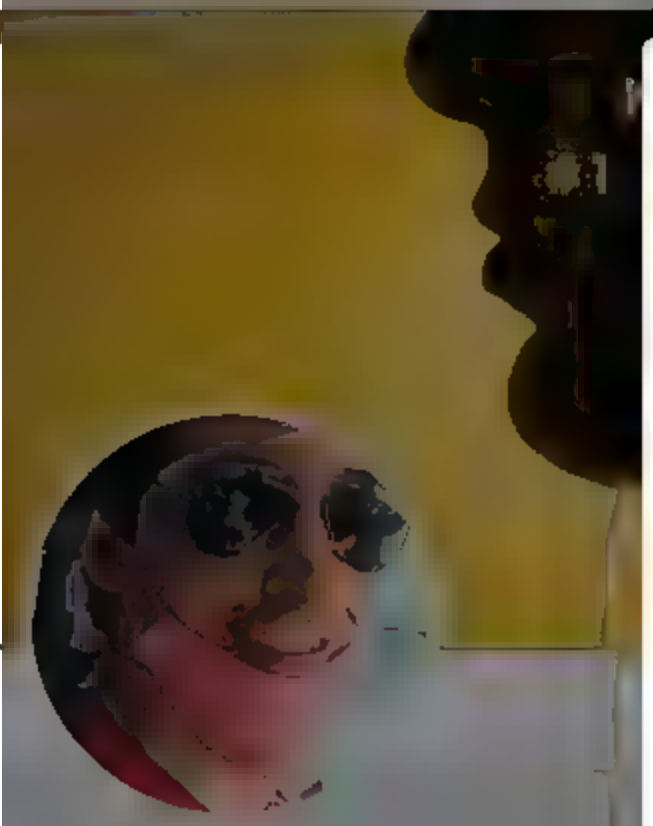
always nice online @SemiAutoSlurs · 1 Feb 2019

Replying to [illegible]



AlEX Berenson! This is just a hoot thinking marijuana "addiction" is worst than alcohol addiction! I thought you were just going to edge me all day but this is starting off strong!

Heidi Anderson-Swan @SwanHJA · 3 Feb 2019

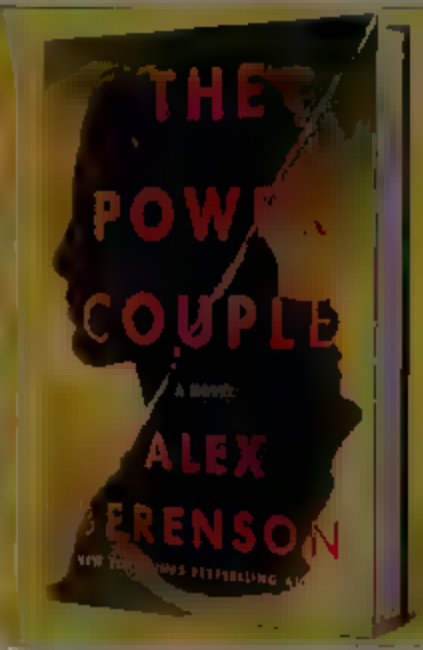


Replying to [illegible]

Exactly the case with my brother--his regular teen pot use then crack use & his schizophrenia have rendered him unable to accomplish much. If I didn't write his

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

A thoughtful review of TYC from @PainNewsNetwork:
"Raises relevant questions about the potential mental health risks and social implications of cannabis... certainly worth reading."

2:59 PM - 31 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 11 Likes

1 4 11

always nice online @SemiAutoSlurs · 31 Jan 2019
Replying to
Alex "Can'tabis" Berenson

This Tweet is unavailable.

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 1 Feb 2019
Spain does not sell marijuana. Use in the Netherlands is low. It's tolerated there, not legalized as in US.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ One takeaway from the last month - and the many emails I've gotten from people hurt by cannabis use, either their own or people close to them - is that the great books about marijuana addiction have yet to be written. Alcoholics have written novels and memoirs for generations.

6:55 AM - 1 Feb 2019

6 Retweets 16 Likes

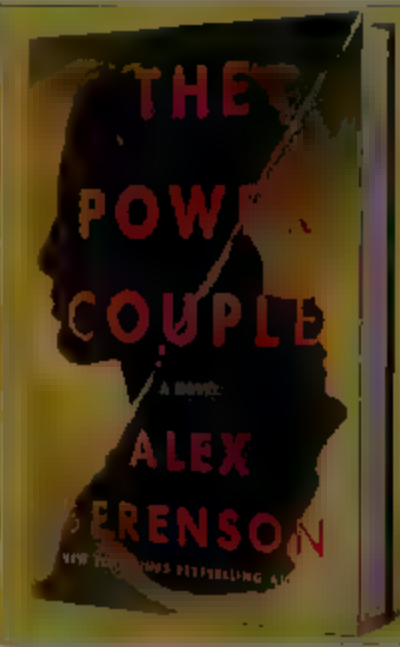
3 6 16

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Feb 2019

2/ Charles R. Jackson, John Cheever, Frederick Exley, Caroline Knapp, Richard Yates, and countless others have explored the misery (and occasional joys) of alcohol addiction. The literature around marijuana is far thinner, even though the drug itself is more complex.

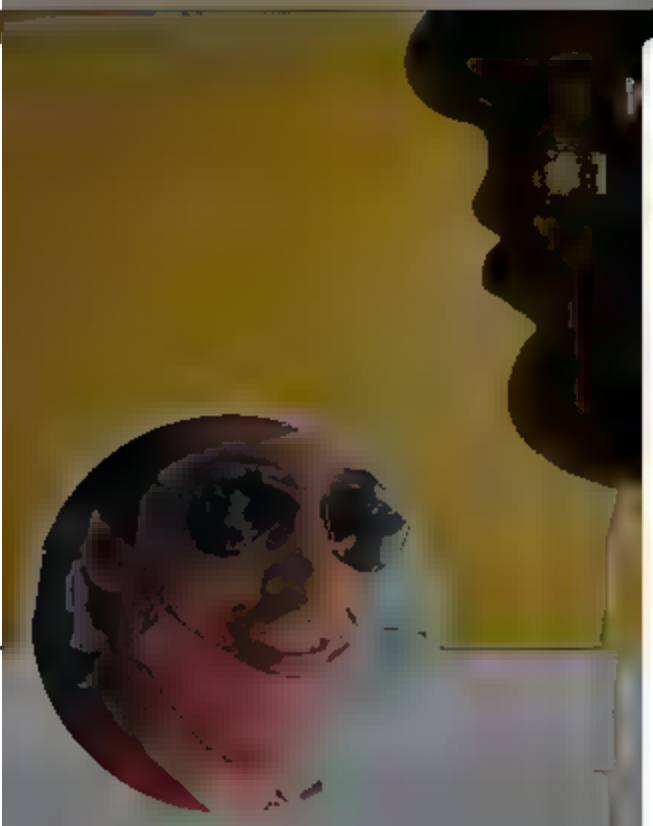
3 1 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Feb 2019



3/ In part that's because alcohol's been much more important culturally for much longer. I also wonder if it's a sign the mental damage hard-core cannabis addiction does is even more profound than alcoholism. Tough to recover from multiple inpatient stays for cannabis psychosis.

5 2 9



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 1 Feb 2019

4/ Anyway, if the emails I've received are any indication, someone will pull it together enough to write a great, honest book about this. And soon, I hope.

2 1 10

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

The United States has about 50 murders a day. How many have a direct connection to cannabis, either through dealing, paranoia/psychosis following use, or both? Two? Five? 10? More importantly, how many is too many? How many before we start being honest about this risk?

1:13 PM - 31 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 16 Likes

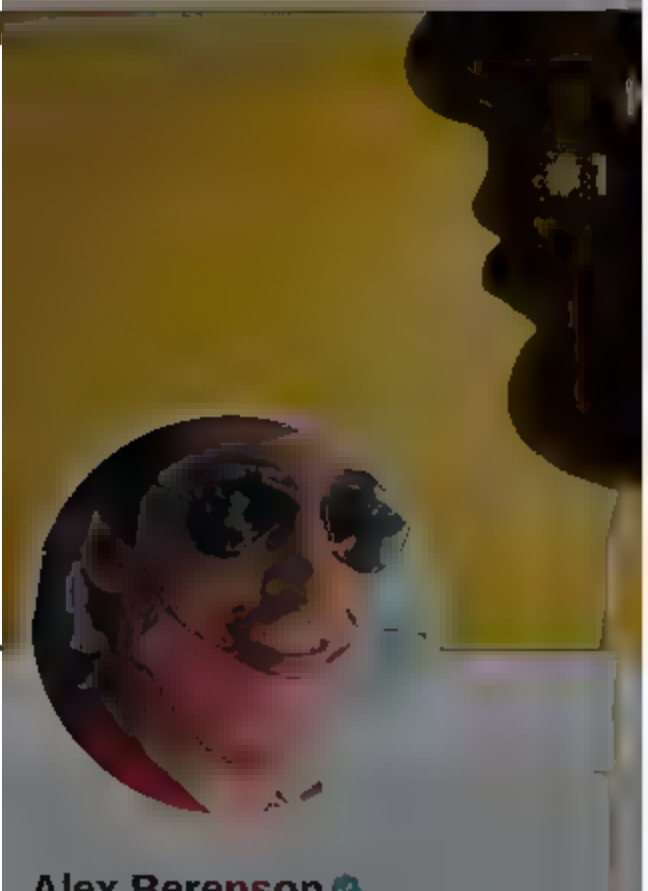
7 4 16



Matt Elrod 🇨🇦 @melrod42 · 31 Jan 2019

Replying to [illegible]

Systemic violence arises from prohibition, not drugs per se, so a proper analysis wouldn't conflate such violence with violence stemming from psychosis. You wouldn't say Capone ordered the St. Valentine's Day Massacre because he was drunk.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

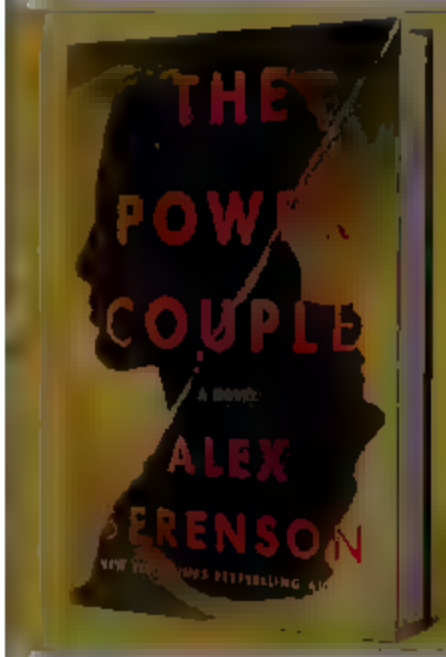
Joined November 2009

5 1 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

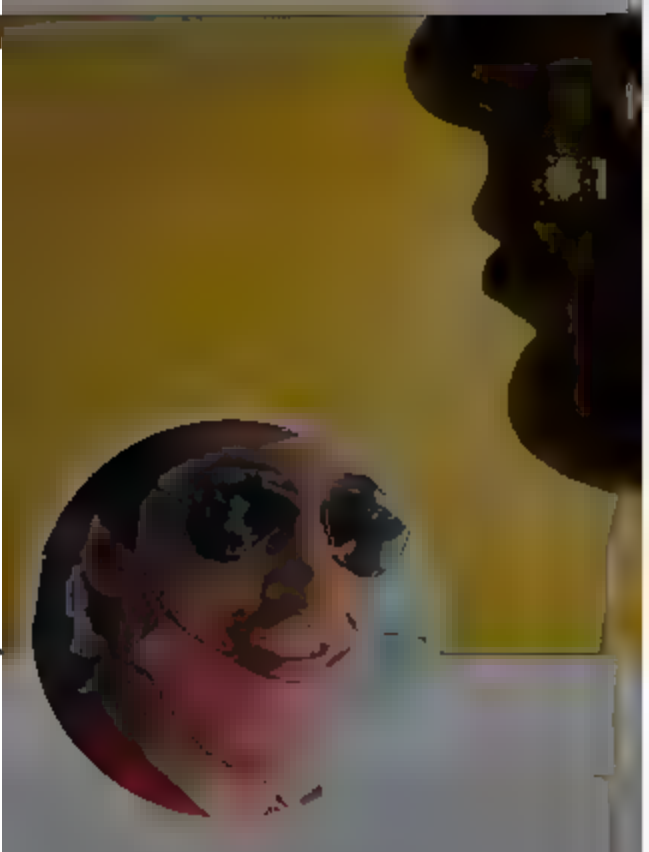
"Flannery said Theriot had smoked weed for years... [but] didn't seem violent or dangerous... 'I'm completely shocked,' Flannery said. 'I never thought he'd lose control.'"

1:08 PM - 31 Jan 2019



6 Likes

2 6



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 31 Jan 2019

Replying to

As an exercise, see if you can find a case where the accused didn't suffer adverse childhood experiences, such as a broken home, manifested by

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

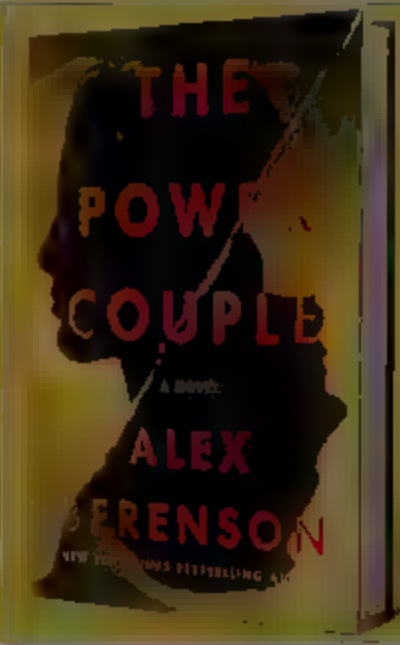
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

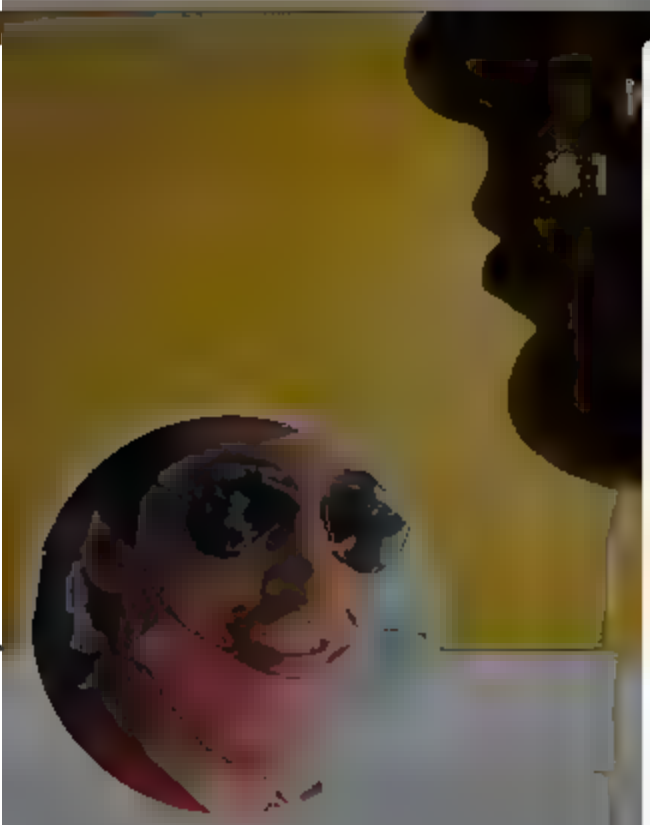
The Dakota Theriot case (he allegedly killed five people last week) is falling into a familiar pattern:

"[had] substance-induced mood swings..."



"[deputies] arrived to a cloud of what seemed to be marijuana smoke..."

"appeared to be hearing voices..."



1:05 PM - 31 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

5 1 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just another non-violent cannabis consumer (allegedly) non-violently shooting his dealer. So strange to see all this non-violent violence around this non-violent drug. I'm sure there's a good explanation.

5:36 PM - 30 Jan 2019

6 Retweets 12 Likes

21 6 12

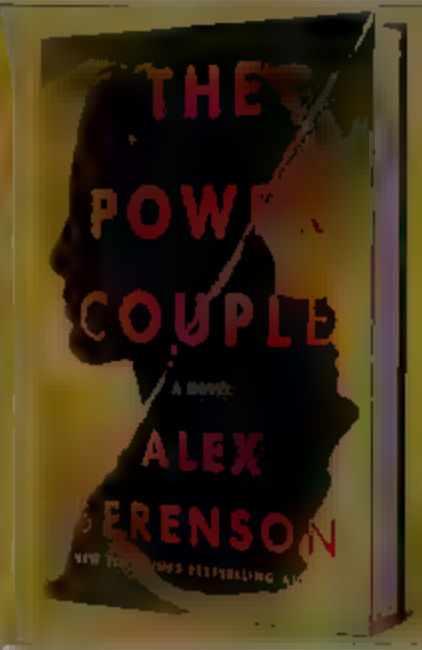
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 30 Jan 2019

Replying to

Are you alleging the man was psychotic, or are you confusing drug-related crime with prohibition-related crime again?

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

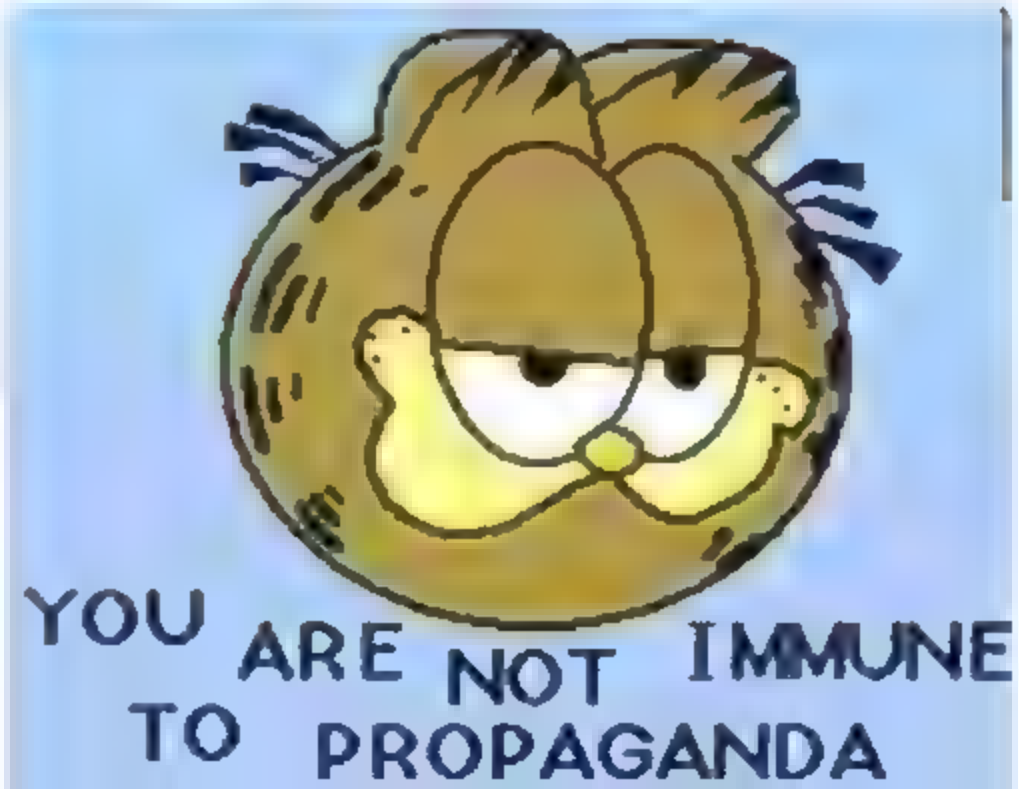
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

So I try not to feed the nitwits, but let me be clear: No one but Simon & Schuster paid me to write Tell Your Children. I don't think Kevin Sabet knew it existed until well after I finished the first draft. I have never taken a dime from SAM. Clear enough?



2:49 PM - 30 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 22 Likes

8 1 22

infinite rest @wyspace · 30 Jan 2019

Replying to

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 30 Jan 2019

Strange: I've found a very high correlation between scientists/public health experts who take cannabis/opioid/tobacco industry money and those who scream about Tell Your Children. Still waiting for biological proof of causation, though!

11 9 25

Coach Adorni @CoachAdorni · 30 Jan 2019

Follow the $$

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

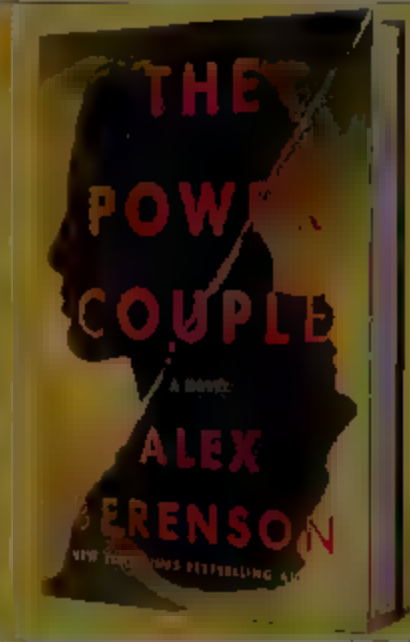
Replying to [redacted]

Unfortunately it's more a swamp than a river. Tendrils everywhere.

2:06 PM - 30 Jan 2019

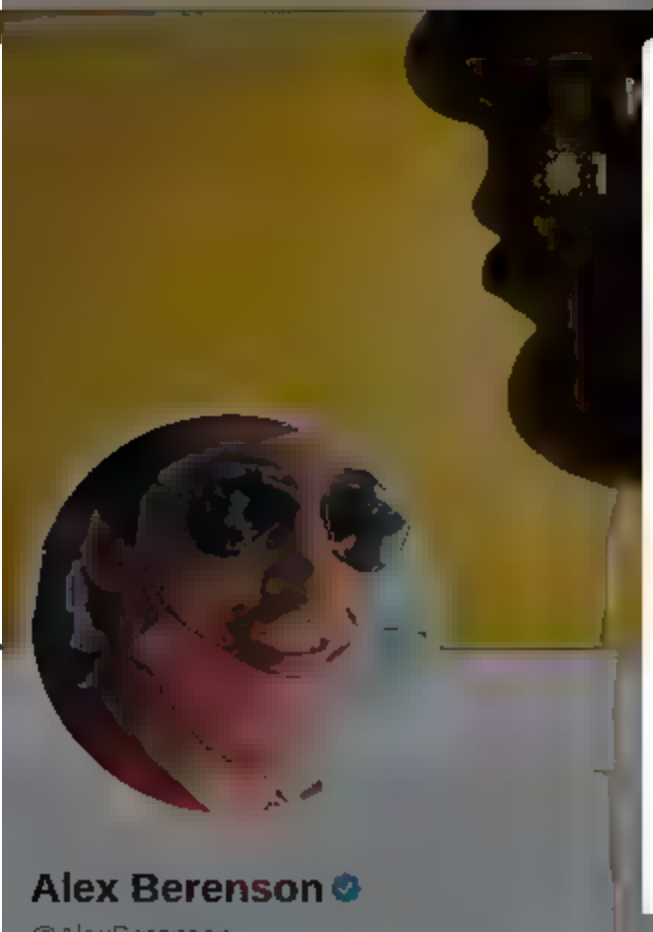
2 Likes

1 2

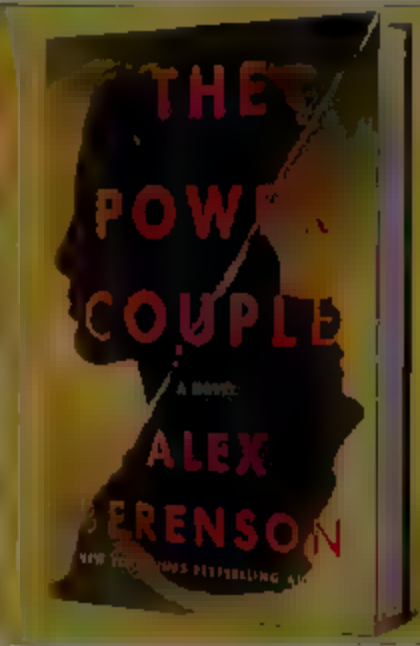


Coach Adorni @CoachAdorni · 30 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]



Your Smerconish discussion was excellent. Needed to be the entire hour! As a parent of four young boys and a high school teacher/coach, I believe this is one of the most important discussions of our time.



BTW, huge John Wells fan here. Such a fresh series for the genre.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

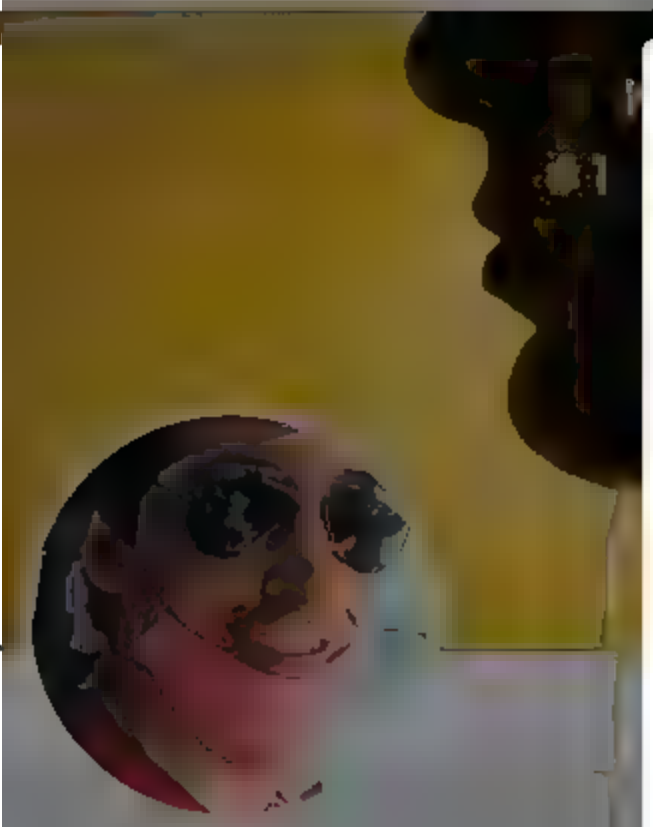
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

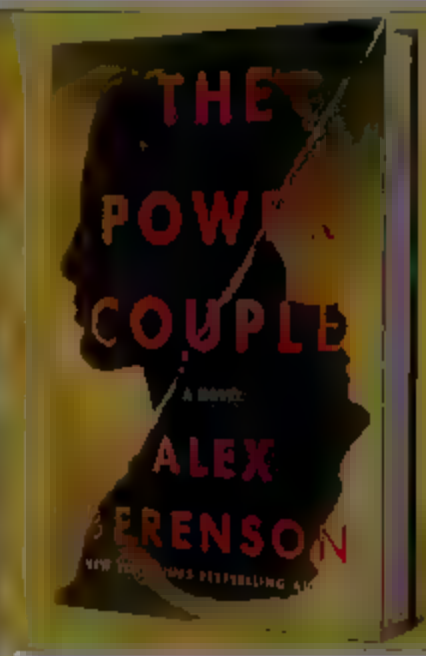
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

This 2015 @cnbc investigation gives a good sense of what kind of company Insys is. But some truly forward-looking scientists saw past these minor blemishes and took research money from Insys!
cnbc.com/2015/11/04/the ..



9:37 AM - 30 Jan 2019



1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Strange: I've found a very high correlation between scientists/public health experts who take cannabis/opioid/tobacco industry money and those who scream about Tell Your Children. Still waiting for biological proof of causation, though!

1:54 PM - 30 Jan 2019

9 Retweets 25 Likes

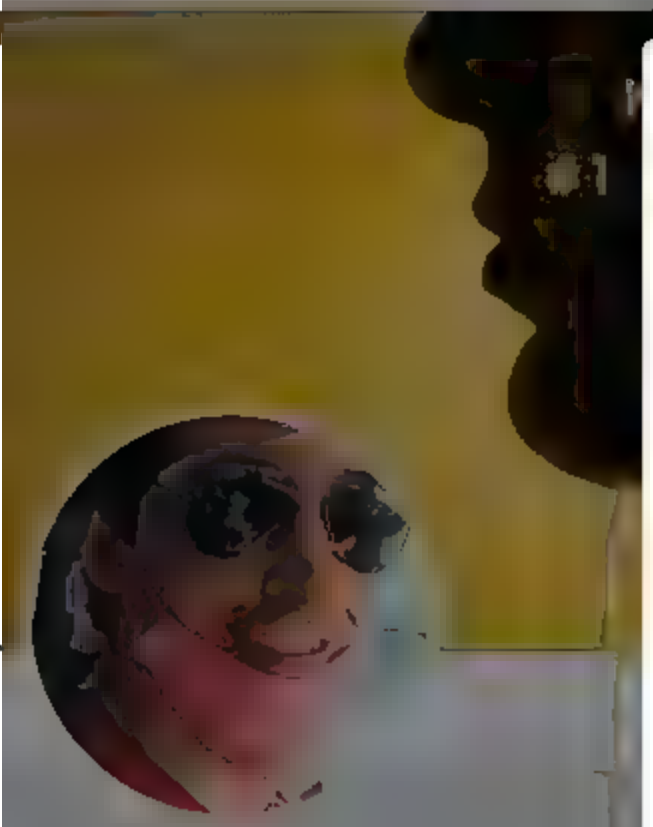
11 9 25

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 30 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I guess desperation mockery has displaced any efforts 2 justify your discredited assertions. Tacky tacky, do u donate your profits from your neoreefer madness pulp2charity? U could have written a thoughtful book w/real questions on policy but u bcame Anslinger lite hysteriamonger

Coach Adorni @CoachAdorni · 30 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Follow the $$

1 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 30 Jan 2019
Unfortunately it's more a swamp than a river. Tendrils everywhere.

1 2

[redacted]

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 30 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Pop quiz: What do Insys Therapeutics - whose founder is currently under federal indictment for allegedly using kickbacks to encourage doctors to prescribe its fentanyl spray - and the UCLA Cannabis Research Initiative have in common? @zivacooper, any guesses?

9:19 AM - 30 Jan 2019

5 Retweets 6 Likes

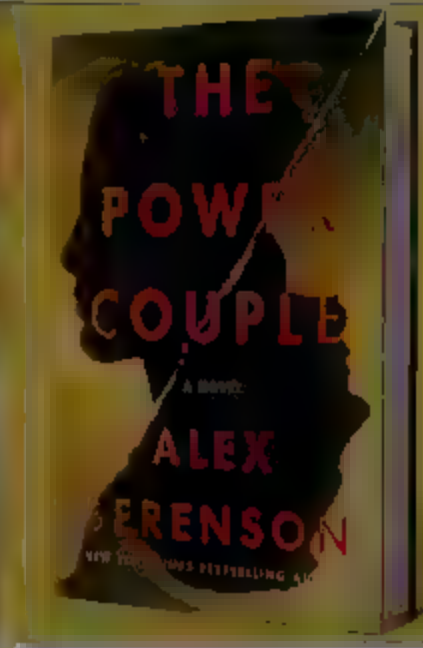
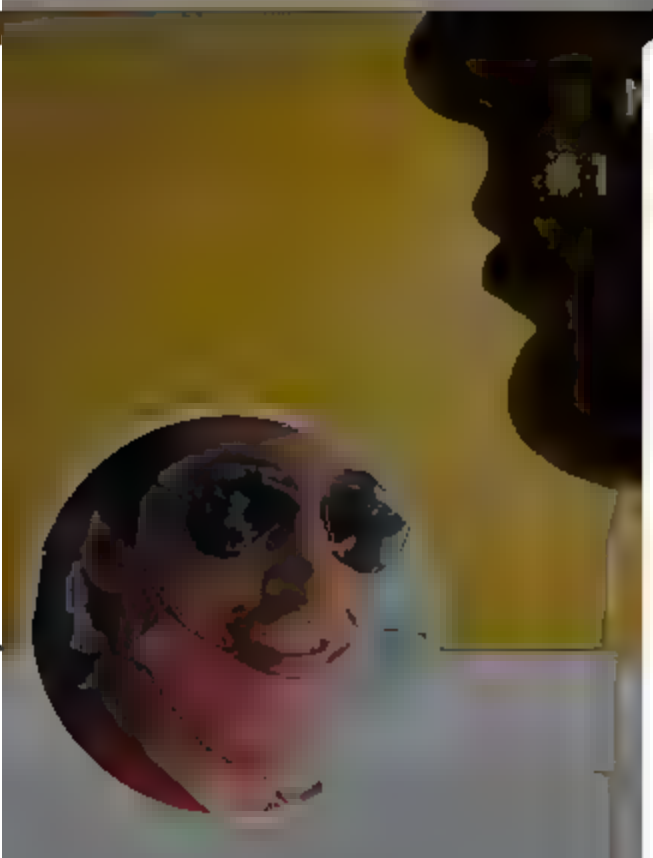
9 5 6



Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 30 Jan 2019
Replying to
Here's another pop quiz. Any guesses on the difference between coorelation and causation? How about the difference between inclusion criteria and exclusion criteria?

1 4



Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 30 Jan 2019
What is Coorelation? Is that when cannabis advocates reply to any news of marijuana's harms by saying, "But alcohol is worse?"

4 3

always nice online @SemiAutoSlurs · 30 Jan 2019
Replying to
HAHA, ALex, you cant stop! Ignoring basic science and trying to tie this countries most deadly drug with a drug that people cant overdose on is just cutting edge comedy. Keep it up! 100%!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

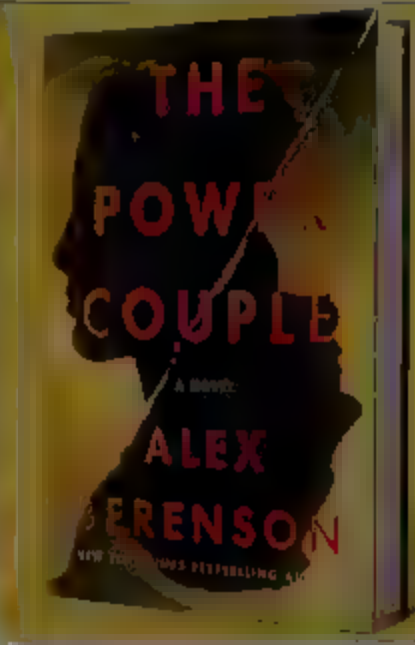
Doug Peterson @AGDougPeterson · 30 Jan 2019

"And I soon realized that in all my years as a journalist I had never seen a story where the gap between insider and outsider knowledge was so great, or the stakes so high."- , New York Times reporter.

13 9 17

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Following



Replying to

Glad to see law enforcement agencies starting to discuss this issue. I hope they will now take the next step and collect good data around violence that stems from drug-induced psychosis (and street-level cannabis dealing). The numbers are likely to be shocking.

5:04 AM - 30 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

1 1 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Tom doesn't emerge from the bowels of his Brooklyn basement (you can't wring the tech from him) and he would be completely outclassed by Alex. Not the same league.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Hey! Tom is the proprietor of a very successful industry-supported newsletter. (Slogan: "Your Trusted Partner In Cannabis"! Super-catchy, no?) Don't harsh his mellow.

8:59 PM - 28 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

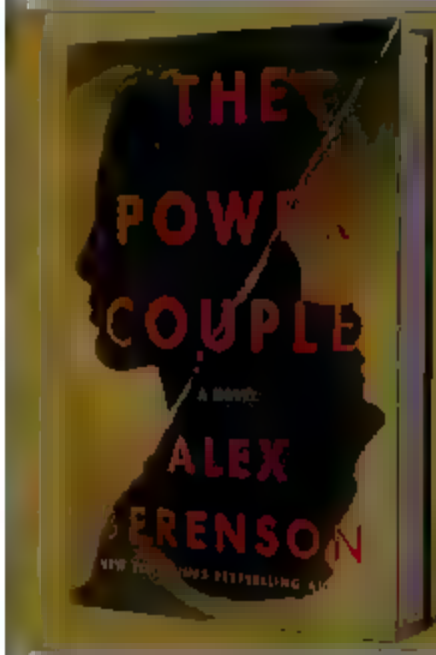
1 1 3

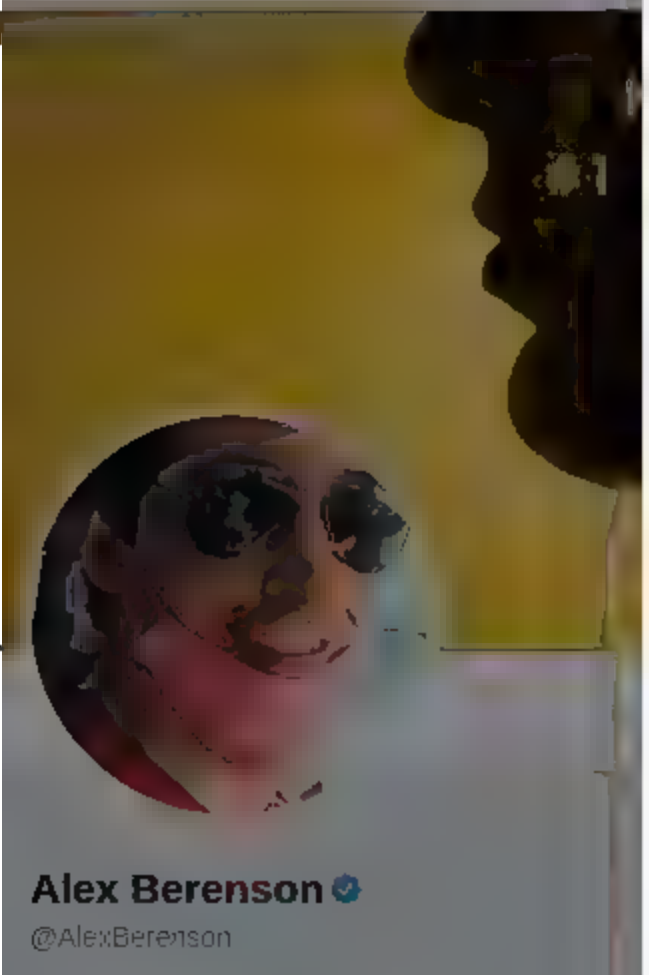
¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 30 Jan 2019



Replying to

Hey Alex, why isn't "Tell Your Children" listed on your website? I keep refreshing it every once in a while thinking it will show up – but it never does. Don't worry about it tainting your reputation, it's fiction wholly deserving a place next to your empire apologia.

Alex Berenson



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Tom Angell @tomangell · 28 Jan 2019
Guys, we don't need any more Alex Berenson takedowns at this point, aight? He's been exposed and his PR tour is already over. Stop feeding him attention.

7 10 55

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

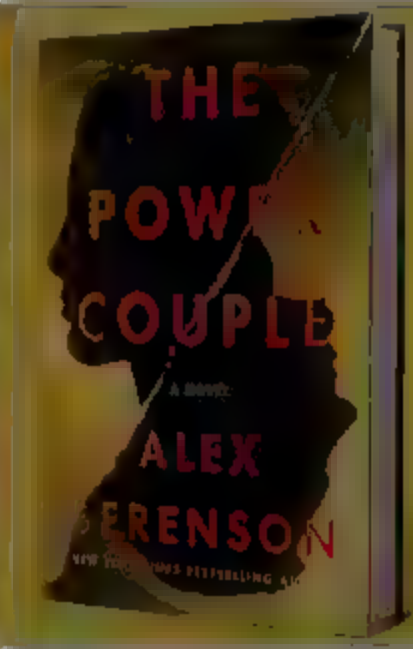
Hi Tom! Yeah, how's ignoring Tell Your Children been working out for you? Don't worry, lots more interviews, engagements, op-eds, and speeches ahead. You aren't fighting me. You're fighting reality. It must not be much fun...

7:06 PM - 28 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 19 Likes

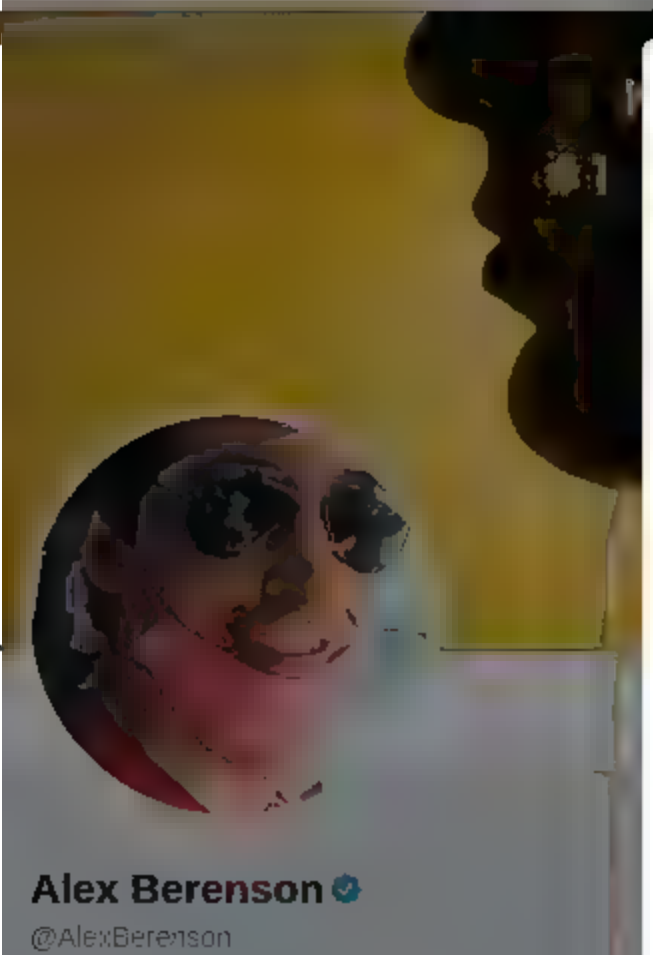
5 1 19

Dave Scially @scially · 28 Jan 2019
Replying to
You guys are both in New York. How about you meet and discuss your different opinions on air?



1 1

Drug Policy Futures @DPForg · 28 Jan 2019
You're joking, yes?



Tom doesn't emerge from the bowels of his Brooklyn basement (you can't wring the tech from him) and he would be completely outclassed by Alex. Not the same league.

1 1

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 28 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

A smart, thoughtful five-star review from a clinician. Thanks.

Format: Hardcover

I am a board-certified psychiatrist, now retired, but was unfamiliar with many of the studies quoted by Mr. Berenson. He did an impressive job collecting relevant published material and explaining the difficulty teasing out causality from correlation. Performing research in real-life, non-controlled environments is notoriously difficult because of all the variables. Conversely, many if not most of the laboratory studies dealing with human behavior or mental illness are a waste of effort, witness the implicit bias research. Of course, I'm excluding the biologically-based research from my prior criticism. My clinical experience leads me to agree with the author's conclusions, but too often patients would present with poly-substance abuse mixed with a mood or thought disorder, making it difficult for me to blame the marijuana alone. I didn't get to see those dramatic cases of violent behavior suddenly erupting from previously solid citizens, maybe because those symptom-free individuals were not usually in treatment. I did see, however, patients whose prior-existing conditions were exacerbated by marijuana. And, certainly, frequent marijuana usage was associated with poor overall functioning. There will always be individuals who claim beneficial effects from smoking MJ, but I was never convinced by their histories. I'm also convinced that the positive medical effects touted by some are largely illusory. High-potency marijuana and children should no longer be an issue; neither should legalization increasing the total number of users, including children. Berenson sounds rather pessimistic that the industry-driven steamroller will prevail in winning their goal of making MJ as common as alcohol. If so, we will all lose. Many citizens have no horse in the race but have accepted the assurances of media and the medical community that MJ is of little concern compared to the opiate epidemic. I hope this book will open many eyes because once the horse is out of the barn, it will be difficult to reverse course. The book is quite readable and does not require an advanced degree to understand most of the points raised. I would

3:37 PM - 28 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 15 Likes

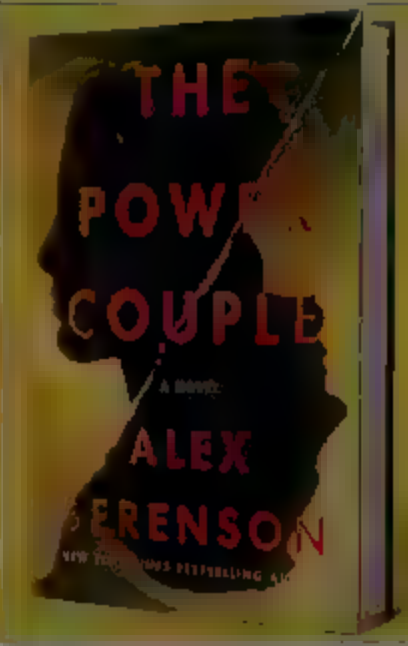
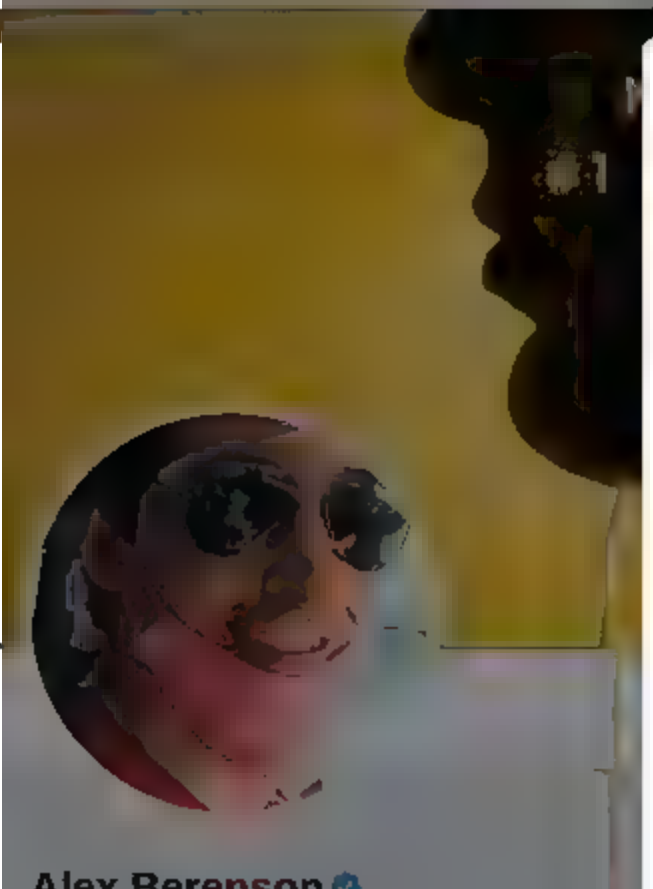
6 3 15



david szafranski @DavidEPSF · 28 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

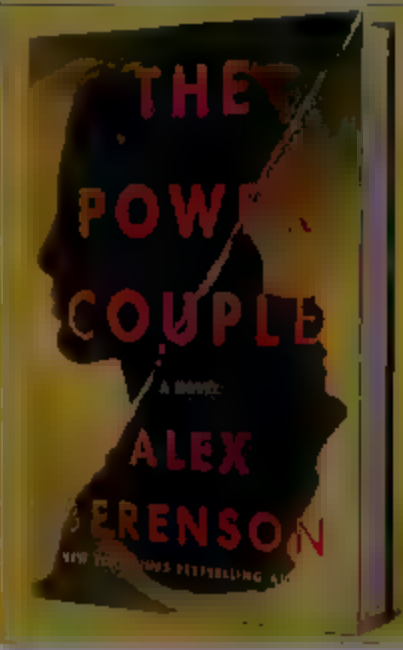


Because he agrees with you? Or because he is correct? Are people who use MJ regularly already predisposed to psychosis or riskier behavior?

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

PodcastOne @PodcastOne · 28 Jan 2019
ICYMI: Former [redacted] reporter [redacted] reveals to [redacted] what he discovered in his new book "Tell Your Children The Truth About Marijuana, Mental Illness and Violence". [redacted]

Full Episode: [redacted]

The media could not be played.

29 41 200

Geep @JaeaGeep · 28 Jan 2019
People who smoke marijuana are mellow, not violent. So, the logical conclusion is the increased crimes were committed against them. Its data manipulation.

1 2

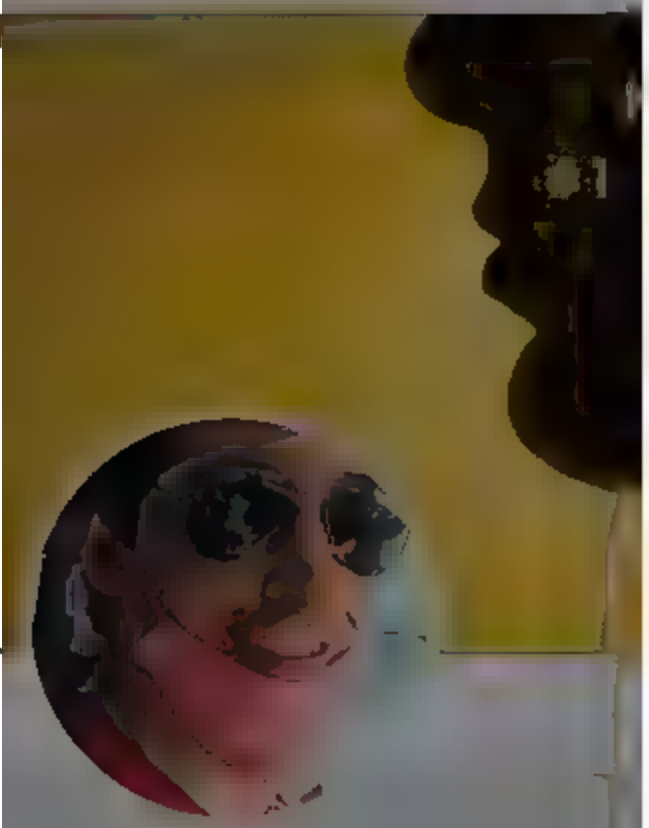
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

Okay it's settled then

5:35 PM - 28 Jan 2019



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

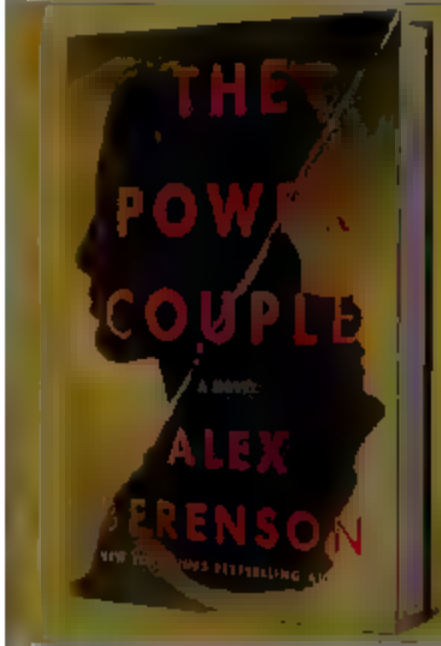
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

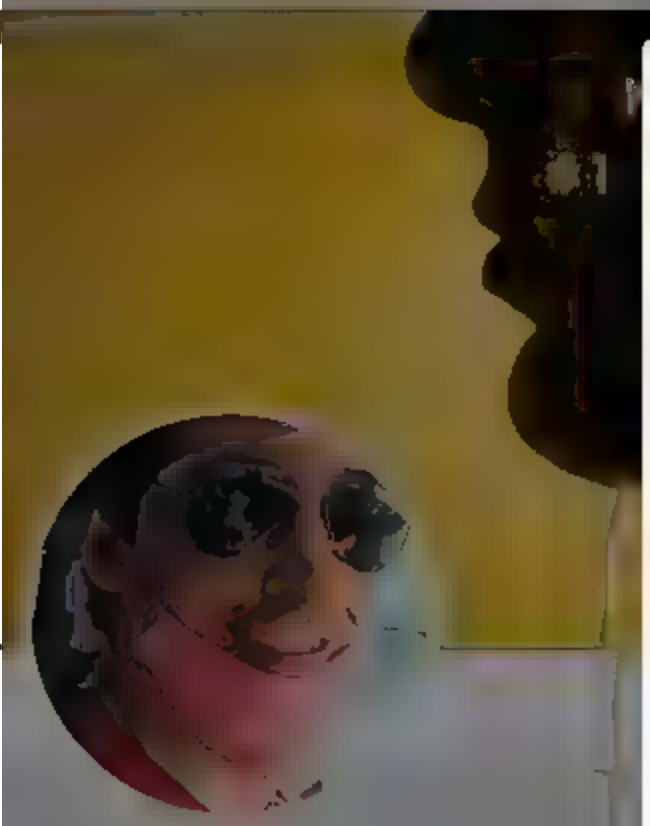
Meanwhile, in Liverpool:

"[Lacey] felt like jumping out of his hotel window, having taken 'cannabis cookies'... he was smoking cannabis [and] refused to get out of bed."



Until he killed his mother.

Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence.



12:40 PM - 28 Jan 2019

9 Retweets 18 Likes

8 9 18

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Lol... I was gonna sneak into that convention and cause some trouble, but then I got high. Glad to hear someone's been reading Tell Your Children, though.

> jenna bobenna @jennav5
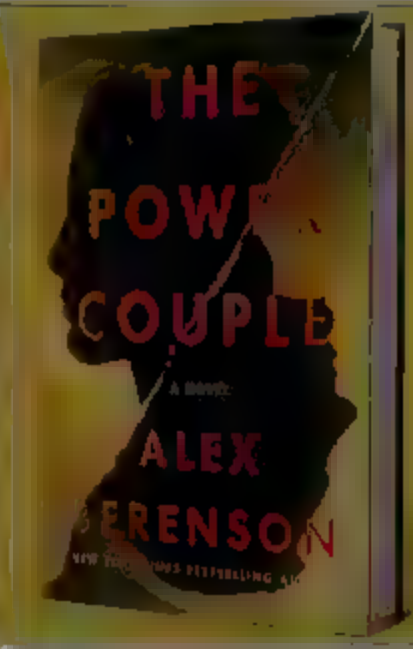
> Question from the back says there is "airtight" research around psychosis and cannabis use and cites @AlexBerenson new book #nacannbisconvo
> Show this thread

3:06 PM - 28 Jan 2019

3 Likes

2 3

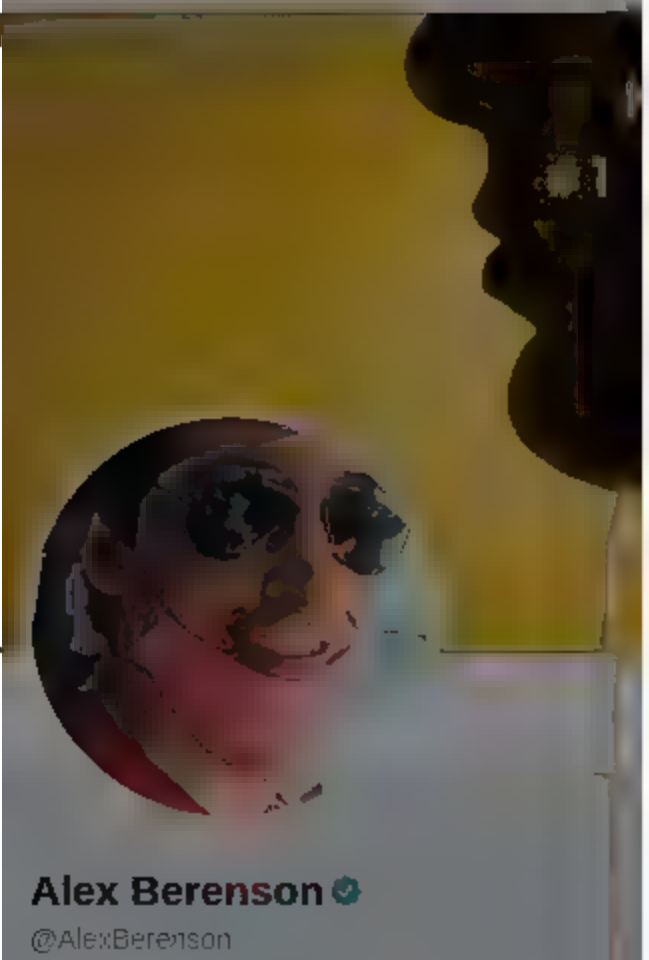
Trace Johnson @tjohnnyj · 28 Jan 2019
Replying to
You're obviously in the pocket of Big Non-psychosis



1 1 4

Peter B. Bach, MD @peterbachmd · 28 Jan 2019
Replying to
The most interesting thing I am seeing is the argument that "correlation is not causation". That is a mid-framing. Correlation is an essential element of causation.

2 1



george demetri @DrSarcoma · 28 Jan 2019
Well... there can be correlation by chance alone, Peter - so not all correlation implies causation necessarily (as you know).

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

7 6 27

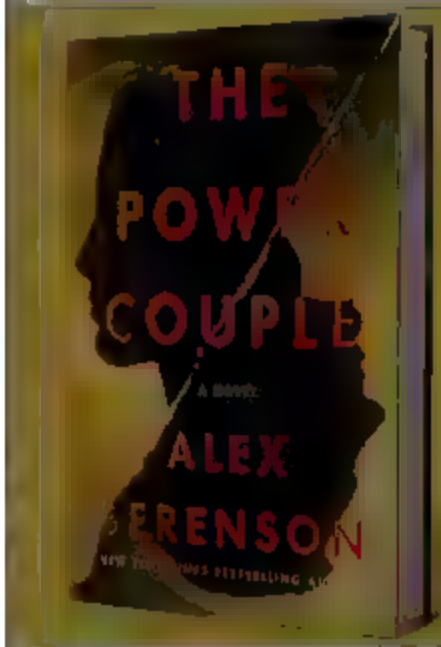
Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 28 Jan 2019
This is where the article gets it wrong. "Legal marijuana markets don't seem to have witnessed an uptick in ultraviolence." In Colorado, increased child abuse deaths, police shootings and yesterday report of 29 crimes in COSprings Jan. 1-23 this year.

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Yes, but look where @alexhalperin is coming from - I'm just happy he engaged with the book rather than pretending it is inaccurate or somehow racist; and he's right, I don't spend any time writing about the potential pros of cannabis use (bc, as I say, people already know those).



7:59 AM - 28 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

1 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

7 6 27

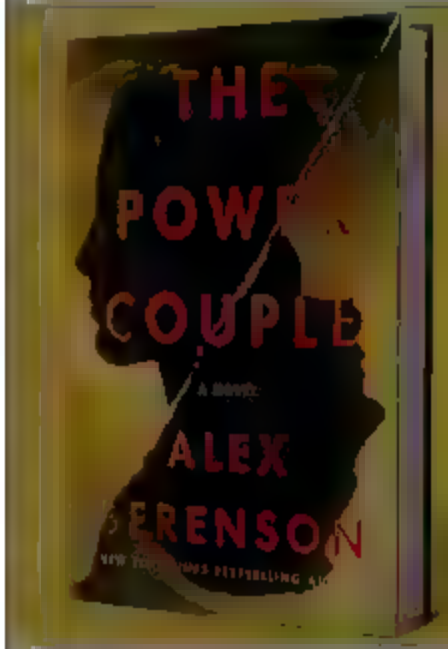
This Tweet is unavailable.

christy brown @mystocean · 28 Jan 2019
Maybe he won't answer because it is a perfect example of a loaded question.

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



Lol. I won't answer it because to preserve my equanimity (and my time) I have a lot of people on mute... Keep on shouting into the void, folks!

8:55 AM - 28 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

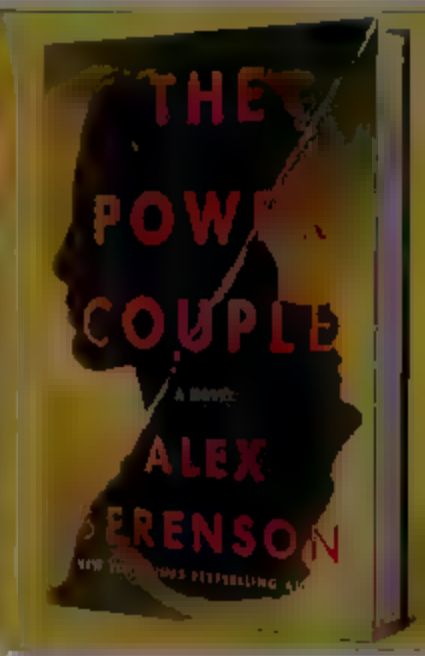
1 1 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

An editorial in @guardian (The Guardian! As progressive as newspapers get!) writes: "Berenson has done an important public service...[Tell Your Children] could save a few lives." (Of course they had some demerits too. But I'll take it.)

5:14 AM - 28 Jan 2019

6 Retweets 27 Likes

7 6 27

Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 28 Jan 2019

Replying to

This is where the article gets it wrong. "Legal marijuana markets don't seem to have witnessed an uptick in ultraviolence." In Colorado, increased child abuse

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 4

Matt Stoller @matthewstoller · 22 Jan 2019
Berenson claims and implies it all the time. That's his whole marketing schtick, pot causes people to go crazy and murder people. Example:

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Meanwhile, in Washington state, two terrible cases in the last two weeks: Buckey Wolfe, 26, kills his brother with a sword. He has schizophrenia; on his FB page he lists "Cannabis Now Magazine" as a favorite.

5 4 119

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Jan 2019
Correct: cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. Those are facts. It's not a shtick. It's the truth, the truth the advocacy community will not accept. That's why they hate me so much. There's no drug stronger than denial.

236 4 6

Anna Hughes @AnnaGHughes · 22 Jan 2019
[redacted] thought this was you for a second & panicked

1 1 2

Alex Borstein @AlexBorstein · 22 Jan 2019 careful, panic leads to psychosis, psychosis leads to violence, so panic @ the disco

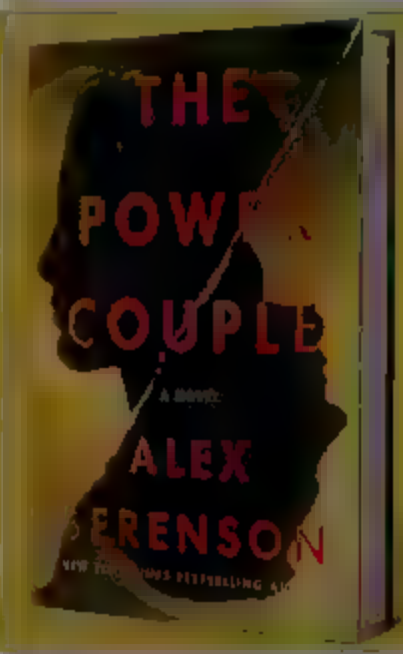
1 1 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

And the circle is complete:

youtube.com/watch?v=IPXIyE[redacted]

5:32 PM - 27 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

Rae @FiatLuxGenesis · 27 Jan 2019

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

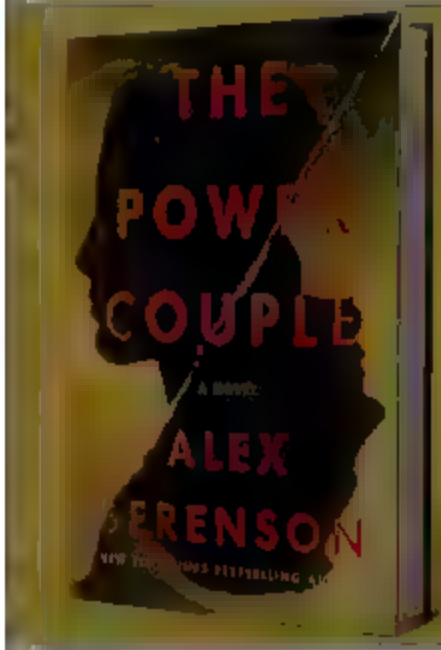
Replying to

Nice to hear from a clinician who knows the science and the studies... but prepare to be shouted at by users and told you are an idiot who is "cherry-picking" evidence by advocates.

3:47 PM - 27 Jan 2019

2

Rae @FiatLuxGenesis · 27 Jan 2019



Replying to

I have quite a few psychiatry and child psych colleagues who agree though. My sole job is caring for individuals with schizophrenia. If people think the mental health system is overwhelmed now, just wait until it's legalized. Advocates only want to see what they want to see.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

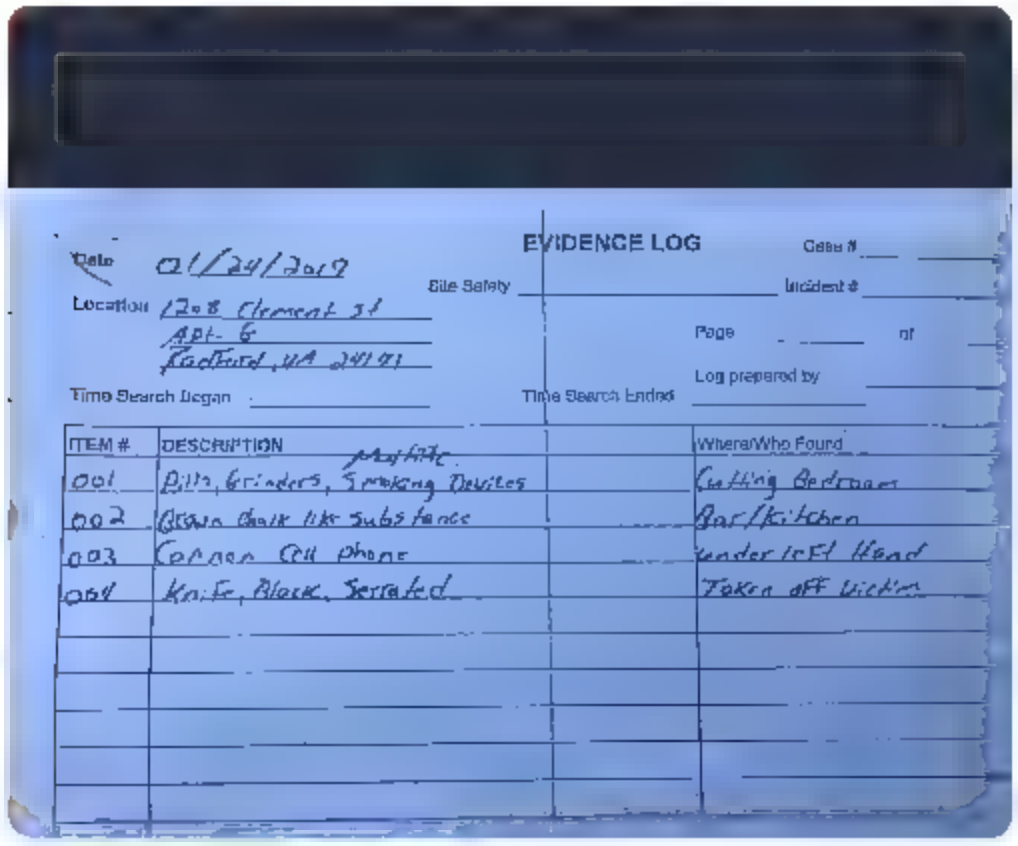
Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Jan 2019

Luisa Cutting (allegedly) stabbed her roommate to death in Virginia last night. You'll never guess what cops found at the scene.

EVIDENCE LOG

Date 01/24/2019 Case # ____

Site Safety ____ Incident # ____

Location 1208 Clermont St Apt. B Rockford, VA 24191 Page ____ of ____

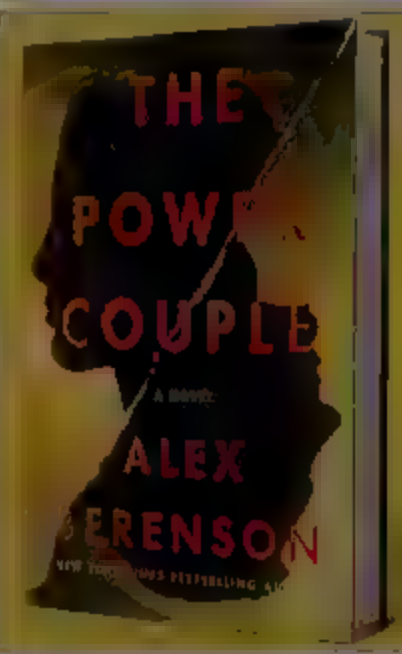
Time Search Began ____ Time Search Ended ____ Log prepared by ____

ITEM #	DESCRIPTION	Where/Who Found
001	Pills, Grinders, Smoking Devices Meth	Cutting Bedroom
002	Brown Chalk like Substance	Bar/Kitchen
003	Crimson Cell phone	Under Left Hand
004	Knife, Black, Serrated	Taken off Victim

12 7 11

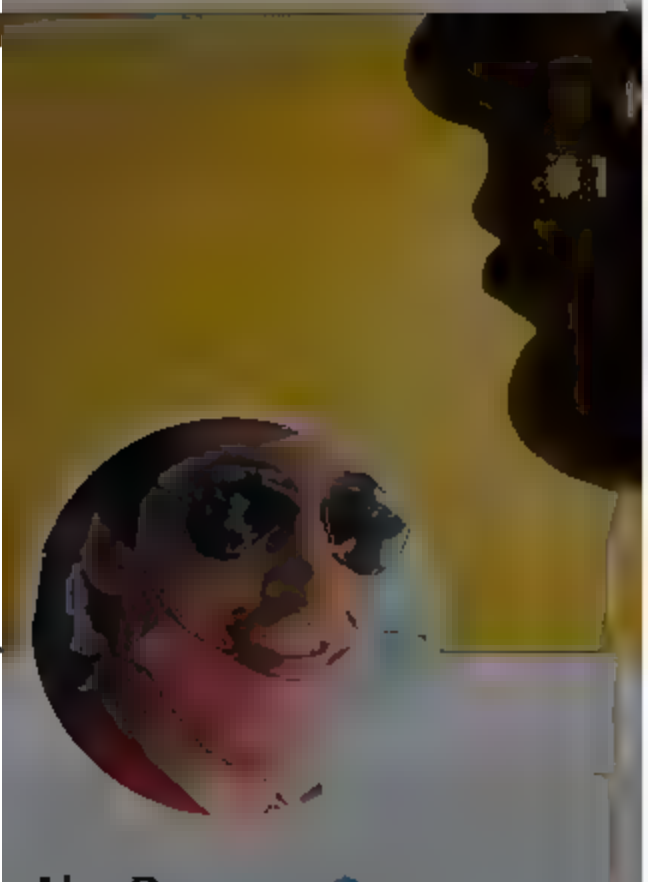
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



DJ Jonny - I'd be interested in talking if you have a chance - my email is alexberensonauthor@gmail.com.

10:51 AM - 27 Jan 2019



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ He ends with another legalization myth: "If concentrating drugs is a function of prohibition, maybe legalization could lead to a kinder, gentler high." Except... pure-THC extract sales are soaring in legal states. Apparently many users prefer the least gentle high possible...

1 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

4/ And the legalized market has been quick to meet user demand, whatever the psychomimetic consequences. That's reality. But don't let it interfere with your fantasies, @sullydish!

2:49 PM - 26 Jan 2019

2 Likes

2 2

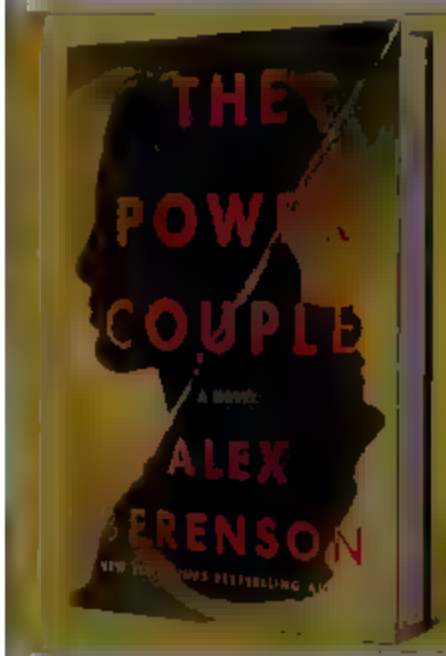
The Stop & Chat @StopandChatNews · 27 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Let's distinguish between a legalized free market (California) and a legal regulated (Canada), latter does not permit these resins. A regulated market which limited THC or had to contain neuroprotective CBD is better than the free market and vastly better than crimininalistation

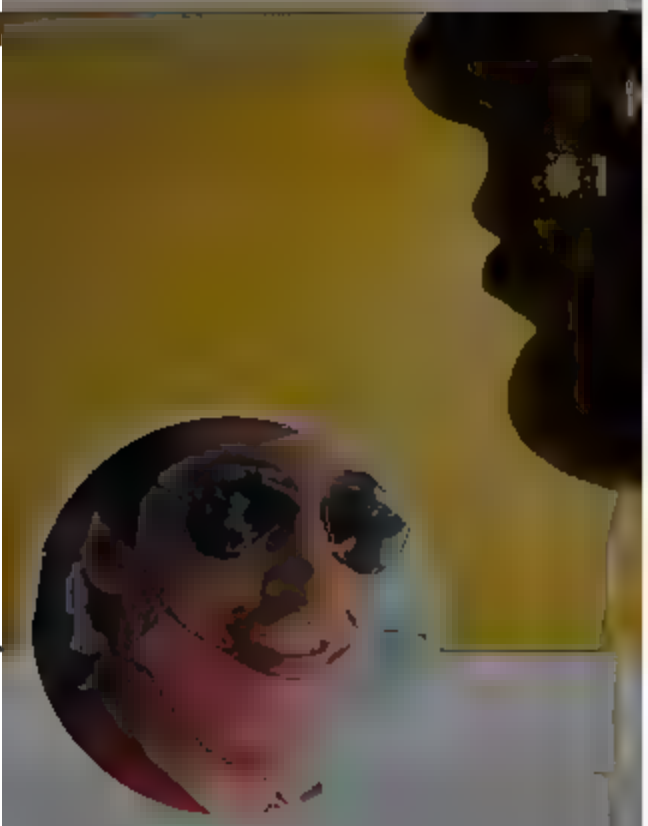
1

[redacted]



Peaceful Gamer @PeacefulGamer · 27 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]



[redacted]

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ "Watching someone "dab" concentrated pot resin — i.e. vaporize it and inhale — has more of a crack vibe than weed... My first dabbing experience — and I'm not JV... me want to go to bed to escape all the sounds and sights around me. It ended the conversation."

2

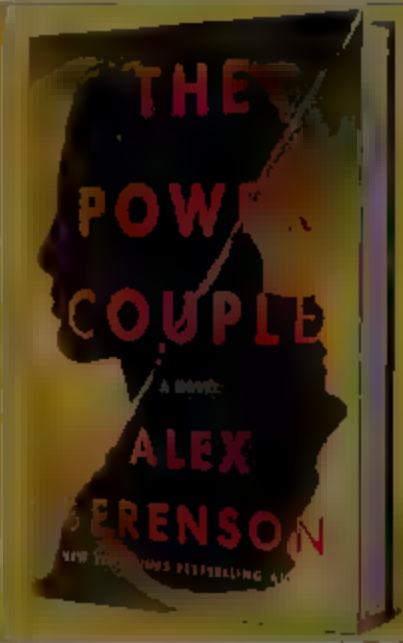
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ He ends with another legalization myth: "If concentrating drugs is a function of prohibition, maybe legalization could lead to a kinder, gentler high." Except... pure-THC extract sales are soaring in legal states. Apparently many users prefer the least gentle high possible...

2:48 PM - 26 Jan 2019

5 Likes

1 5



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Jan 2019

4/ And the legalized market has been quick to meet user demand, whatever the psychomimetic consequences. That's reality. But don't let it interfere with your fantasies,

2 2

This Tweet is unavailable.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Jan 2019

1/ Ahh, [redacted] - in the middle of a column taking a cheap shot at Tell Your Children, a book he obviously has not even read, Andrew Sullivan admits that pure-THC extracts can be dangerous and unpleasant even for experienced cannabis users like him...

3 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ "Watching someone “dab” concentrated pot resin — i.e. vaporize it and inhale — has more of a crack vibe than weed... My first dabbing experience — and I’m not JV... me want to go to bed to escape all the sounds and sights around me. It ended the conversation."

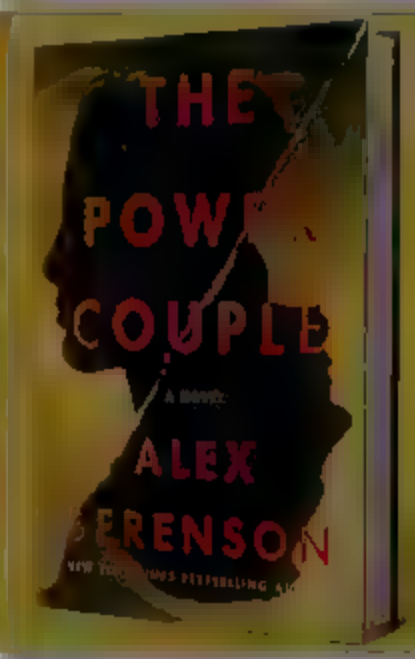
2:42 PM - 26 Jan 2019

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Jan 2019

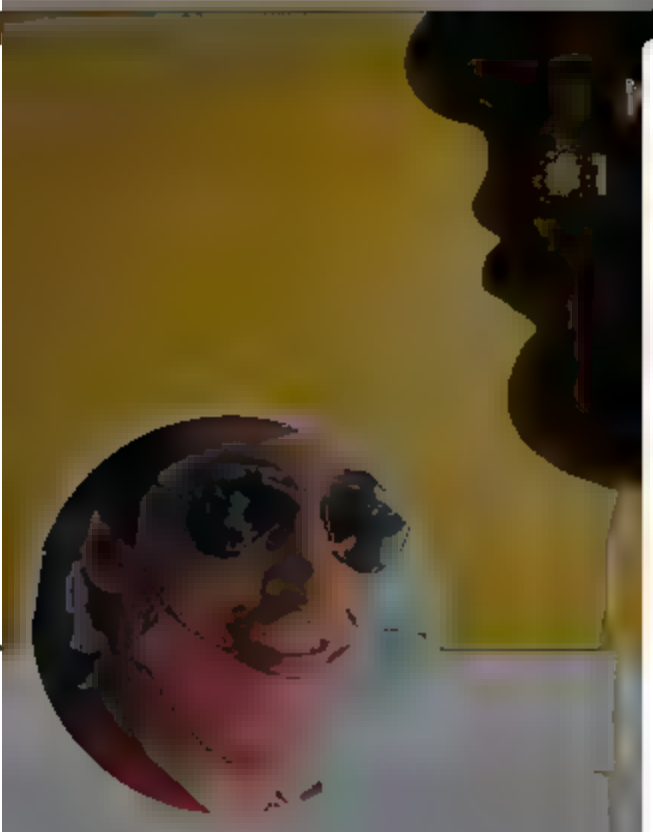
3/ He ends with another legalization myth: "If concentrating drugs is a function of prohibition, maybe legalization could lead to a kinder, gentler high." Except... pure-THC extract sales are soaring in legal states. Apparently many users prefer the least gentle high possible...

1 5



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Jan 2019

4/ And the legalized market has been quick to meet user demand, whatever the psychomimetic consequences. That's reality. But don't let it interfere with your fantasies, [redacted]!

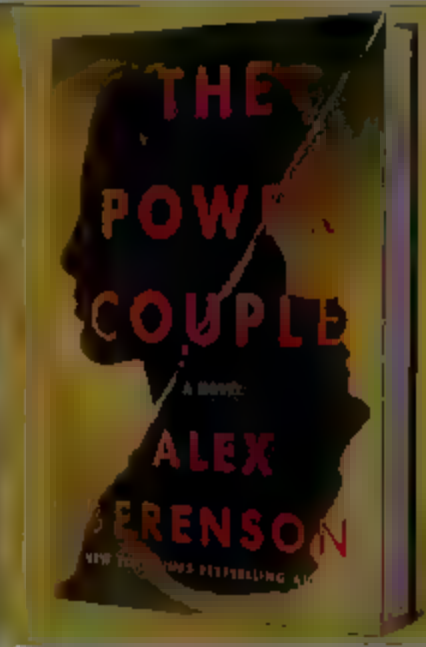


2 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Ahh, @sullydish - in the middle of a column taking a cheap shot at Tell Your Children, a book he obviously has not even read, Andrew Sullivan admits that pure-THC extracts can be dangerous and unpleasant even for experienced cannabis users like him...

2:41 PM - 26 Jan 2019

4 Likes

3 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Jan 2019

2/ "Watching someone "dab" concentrated pot resin — i.e. vaporize it and inhale — has more of a crack vibe than weed... My first dabbing experience — and I'm not JV... me want to go to bed to escape all the sounds and sights around me. It ended the conversation."

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Jan 2019

3/ He ends with another legalization myth: "If concentrating drugs is a function of prohibition, maybe legalization could lead to a kinder, gentler high." Except... pure-THC extract sales are soaring in legal states. Apparently many users prefer the least gentle high possible...

1 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 26 Jan 2019

4/ And the legalized market has been quick to meet user demand, whatever the psychomimetic consequences. That's reality. But don't let it interfere with your fantasies, [illegible]!

2 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Almost everything you think you know about the health effects of cannabis, almost everything advocates and the media have told you for a generation, is wrong.

7 29 31

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

This adaptation/excerpt from Tell Your Children offers a 3,000-word (and more personal) version of the pieces that @wsj and @nytimes ran - thanks Imprimis for running it at this length!

2:36 PM - 26 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 1 Like

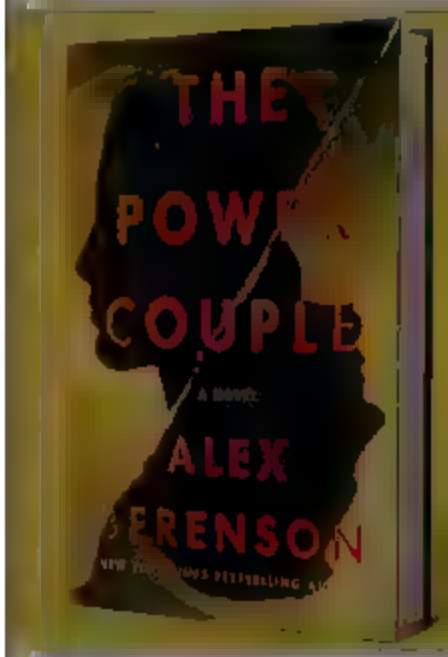
1 1

Home About

Have an account? Log in

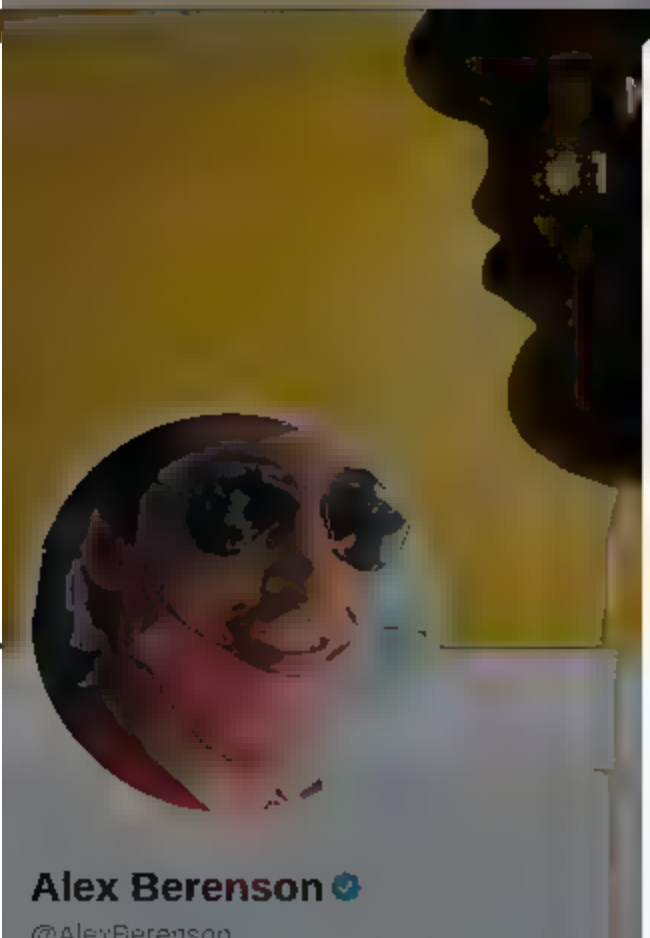


Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



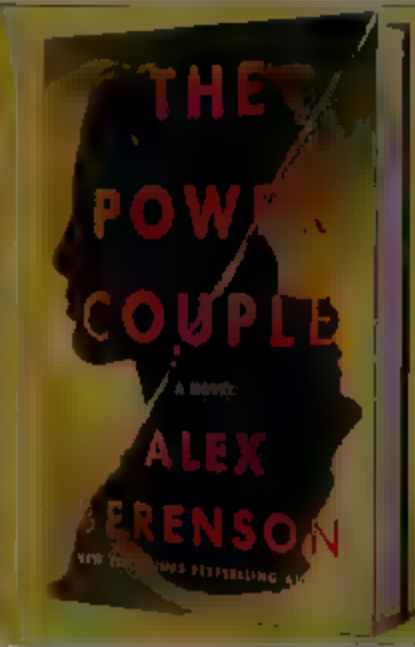
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Search Twitter

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

southpaw @nycsouthpaw · 25 Jan 2019
Rename every Sackler wing and Sackler gallery and Sackler center after someone randomly chosen from among their victims tbh

CBS News @CBSNews
Family behind OxyContin maker engineered opioid crisis, Massachusetts AG says cbsn.ws/2DzpuPQ

105 2.7K 12K

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

This is a nice idea but fair better to rename them "Sackler-OxyContin" wings/galleries/centers so the connection is never forgotten.

12:08 PM - 26 Jan 2019

3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

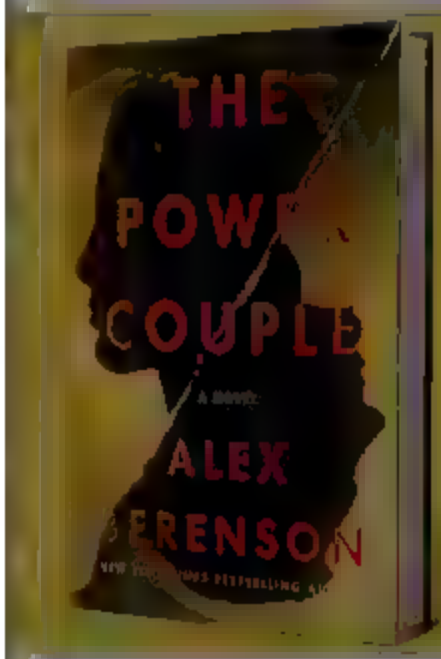
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

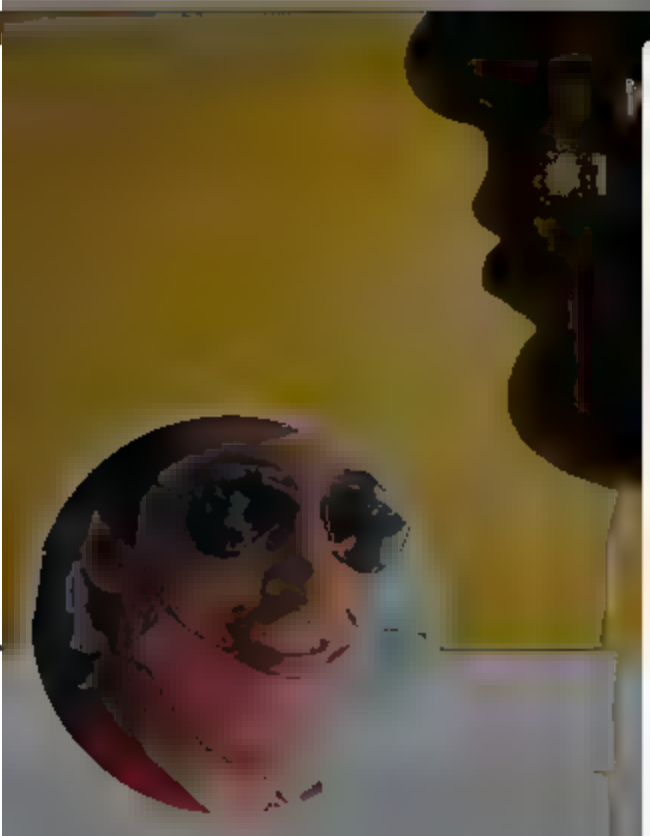
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



A big thank you to @michelelinbklyn for her comments on TYC! Michelle is obviously quite liberal/progressive, but she engaged with the book rather than simply trying to shout down the science and data it presents. I wish more legalization advocates would do the same.

> I've written about how multiple visits to the West Bank have really shaken the default liberal Zionism I was brought up with. More recently, as Israel has become increasingly illiberal and has acted to foreclose the possibility of a two-state solution, I've become more sympathetic to the Boycott, Divestment and Sanctions movement. It's not that I'm totally sold on it — I understand the awful historical echoes of singling the Jewish state out for economic punishment, and I hate the way it's used to shun Israeli writers and academics in international forums. But I feel like I can no longer dismiss B.D.S. or its adherents outright, for reasons I recently wrote about in my column.
>
> I also recently read Alex Berenson's book about



10:49 AM - 26 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 5 Likes

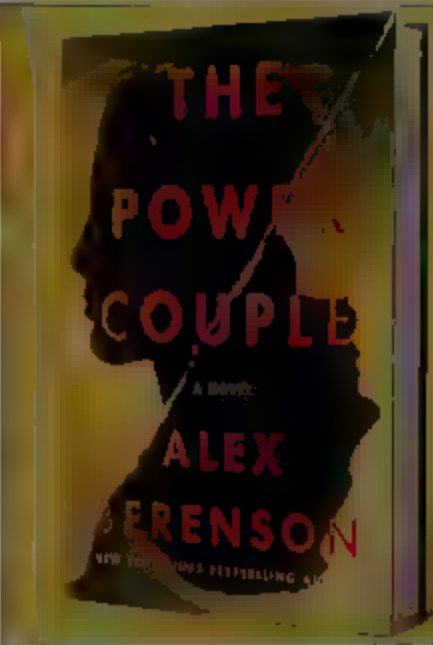
Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

This is exactly correct. The same point is true in reverse: the estimates of alcohol and murder at the population level are based on inference, from BAC draws of (old) samples of homicide offenders. It is time to make similar estimates for THC.

> Will Jones III, MPA @WillVJones
> By legalizer logic, there is no connection between alcohol and violence. People just happen to have alcohol alot and be violent after drinking and being intoxicated. You need to remember correlation doesn't equal causation. They had pre-existing violent tendencies.

5:58 PM - 25 Jan 2019

5 Retweets 13 Likes

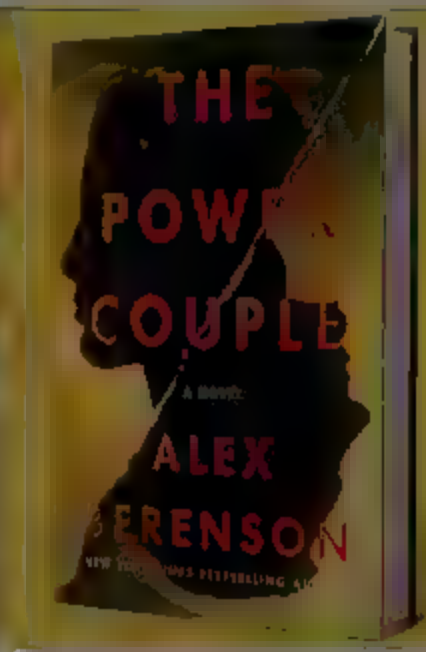
5 5 13



Talent On Loan From God @marklindesr · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
Good luck with all this Alex but career politicians like legal weed: It produces a lot of revenue, a lot of long term victims and a pliable, docile populace.

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
Isn't it is also exactly correct that prohibition of alcohol resulted in a net murder increase, so legalization was a net benefit for public safety?

1 2 8

David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 25 Jan 2019

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

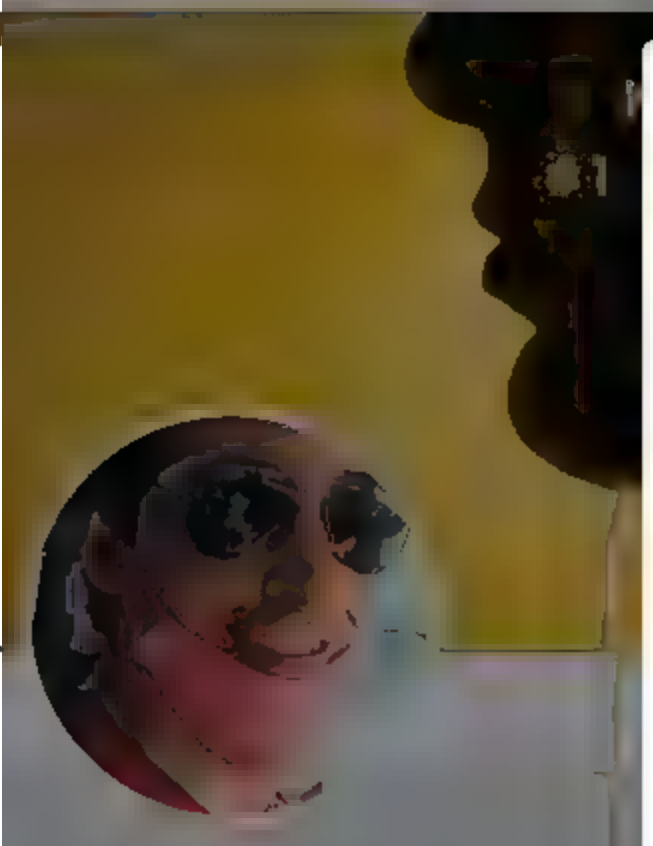
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Maybe I'm wrong - I'm surely vulnerable to confirmation bias - but it seems to me that even I started looking at these issue the pace of these cases has accelerated notably; they are shockingly easy to find now.

5:44 PM - 25 Jan 2019

14 Likes

7 14



ChristineTatum @ChristineTatum · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
Exactly. It should be routine to report toxicology in news stories.
1

Simon Clark @SimonClark1965 · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
I am so impressed with Alex's fierce determination to take on the cannapos promoters and expose the societal risks this grim new industry is creating.
2

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 25 Jan 2019
You r aware researchers involved n this area have called him out 4 misrepresenting the data? Heres another set of data that is justified with science facts&explanation of methods of actions, not misrepresented&misapplied results.
2

The Great Alexander @AlexandurOnFire · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
"the link between cannabis use and violent behavior in early psychosis patients is unclear."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

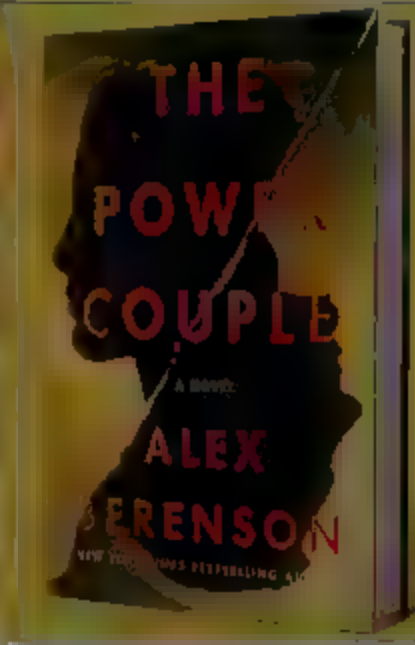
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Yeah, I suspect the chemists will find it was laced with a dangerous psychomimetic compound called delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol, which pops up frequently on the tox screens of people charged with violent crimes these days.

christy brown @mystocean
Replying to @AlexBerenson



Defendant thinks he experienced psychotic episode that led him to kill girl friend, wants marijuana tested. May have mental health issues.
goerie.com/news/20190125/...

5:30 PM - 25 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 10 Likes

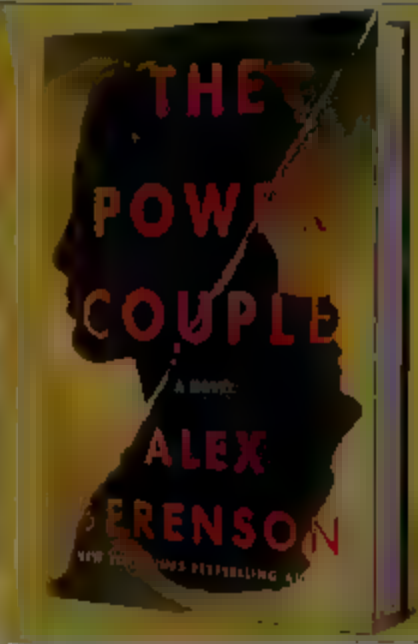
3 10

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, back in VA, a Twitter feed that appears to belong to the 21-year-old student accused of stabbing her roommate 30 times on Thursday is one long cannabis ad, starting with this pinned tweet: "Weed makes you happy." Don't worry, advocates. I'm sure there's an explanation.

5:41 PM - 25 Jan 2019

54 Retweets 142 Likes

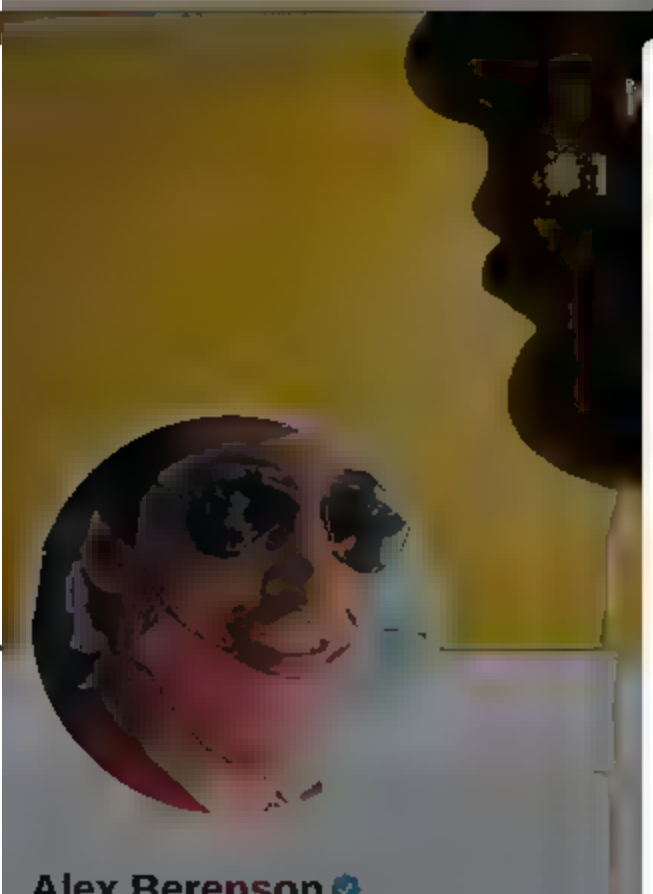
29 54 142

This Tweet is unavailable.



Will Jones III, MPA @WillVJones · 25 Jan 2019
By legalizer logic, there is no connection between alcohol and violence. People just happen to have alcohol alot and be violent after drinking and being intoxicated. You need to remember correlation doesn't equal causation. They had pre-existing violent tendencies.

3 1 4

This Tweet is unavailable.

christy brown @mystocean · 26 Jan 2019
If cannabis can cause psychosis or trigger it and studies show it can, it is not spurious. Cannabis induced psychosis is included in DSM 5.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. The cases aren't the data; they illustrate the data. The data comes from studies like this:
frontiersin.org/articles/10.33 …
I don't mind having to say it over and over; a generation of myths and lies won't be undone overnight.

1:32 PM - 25 Jan 2019

97 Retweets 199 Likes

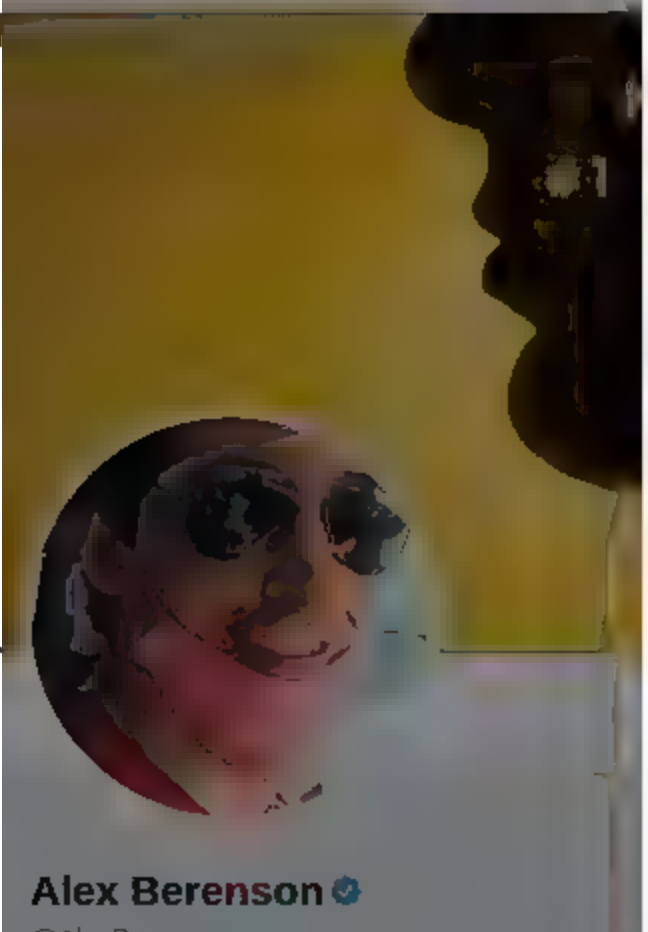
87 97 199

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
"This study SUGGESTS that cannabis use disorder is a significant RISK FACTOR for VB AMONGST early PSYCHOSIS PATIENTS .." Emphasis added.

I don't mind conceding and repeating "Chronic use of THC without CBD may trigger psychosis in some young people so predisposed."



1 2

Nicon @Nemopunk15 · 25 Jan 2019
So Alex, any idea why Phish tour is not the most dangerous place on earth each

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ Meanwhile, back in Montana: Tanner Hosek, arrested in 2011 for burglary and marijuana possession; arrested in 2014 for burglary after showering at a stranger's apartment; parents took guardianship in 2015 following his schizophrenia diagnosis...

1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

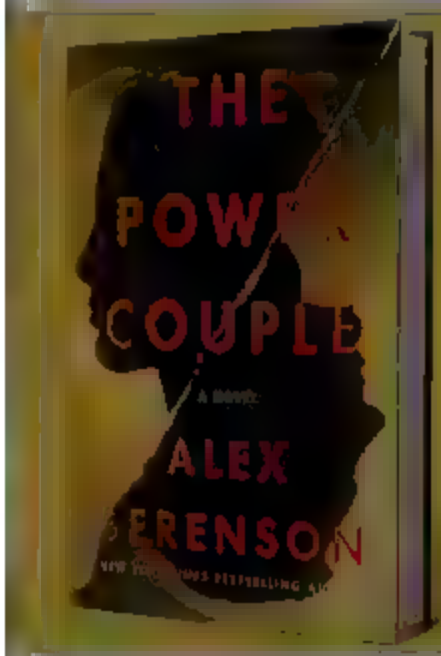
2/ On Instagram, Tanner was kind enough to share some of his interests. instagram.com/p/BYEu9rrh3oi/ But you already know how this story ends: dailyinterlake.com/local_news/201 ...

1:29 PM - 25 Jan 2019

1 Like

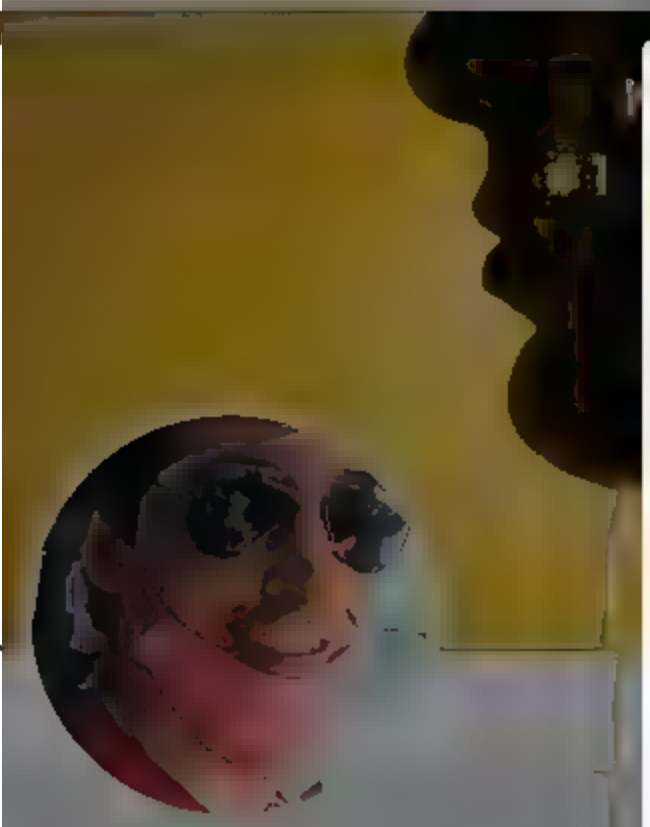
2 1

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 25 Jan 2019



Replying to [redacted]

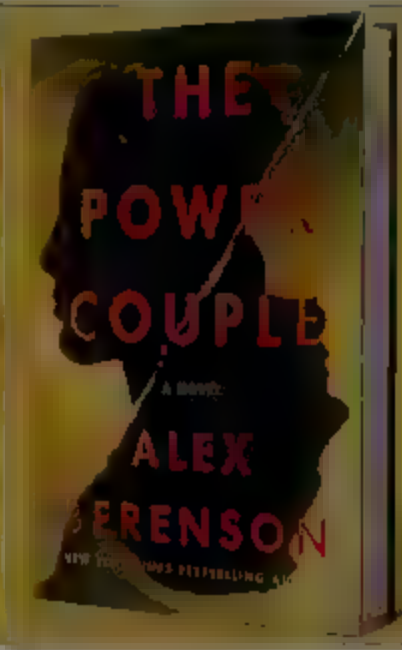
Ooooh, this is quite a mystery. How does it end? How does it end, indeed? Let's see...could it be...no...



Hmm, by any chance does it end in...

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Excited to report @empirecenter will be hosting a forum about cannabis on Feb. 11 in Albany with me and an advocate for legalization! (@DrugPolicyOrg was supposed to send someone, but somehow they all got busy. Do I hear chickens clucking?)

1:10 PM - 25 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 11 Likes

4 3 11

infinite rest @wyspace · 25 Jan 2019

Replying to

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ Meanwhile, back in Montana: Tanner Hosek, arrested in 2011 for burglary and marijuana possession; arrested in 2014 for burglary after showering at a stranger's apartment; parents took guardianship in 2015 following his schizophrenia diagnosis...

1:27 PM - 25 Jan 2019

3 Likes

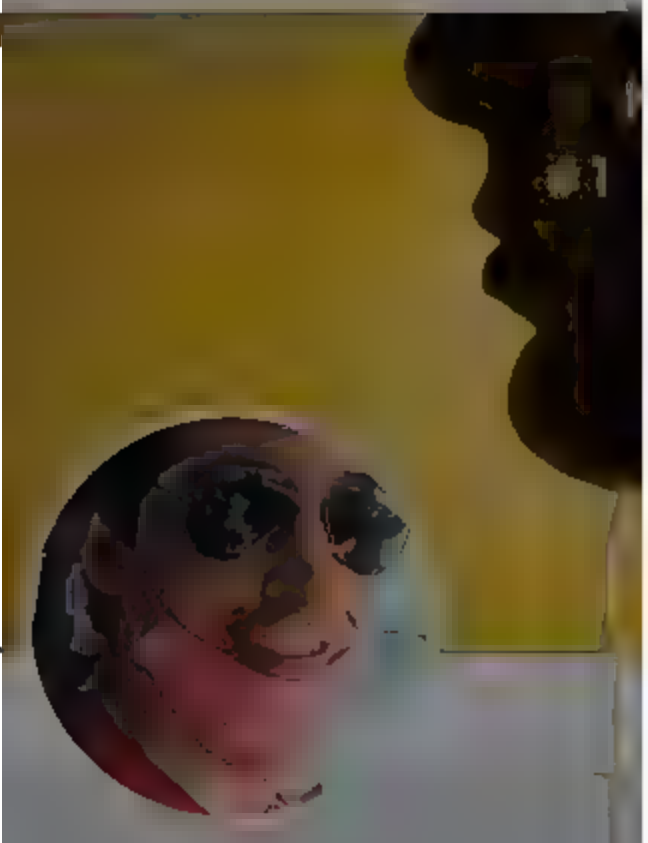
1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Jan 2019

2/ On Instagram, Tanner was kind enough to share some of his interests. But you already know how this story ends:

2 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



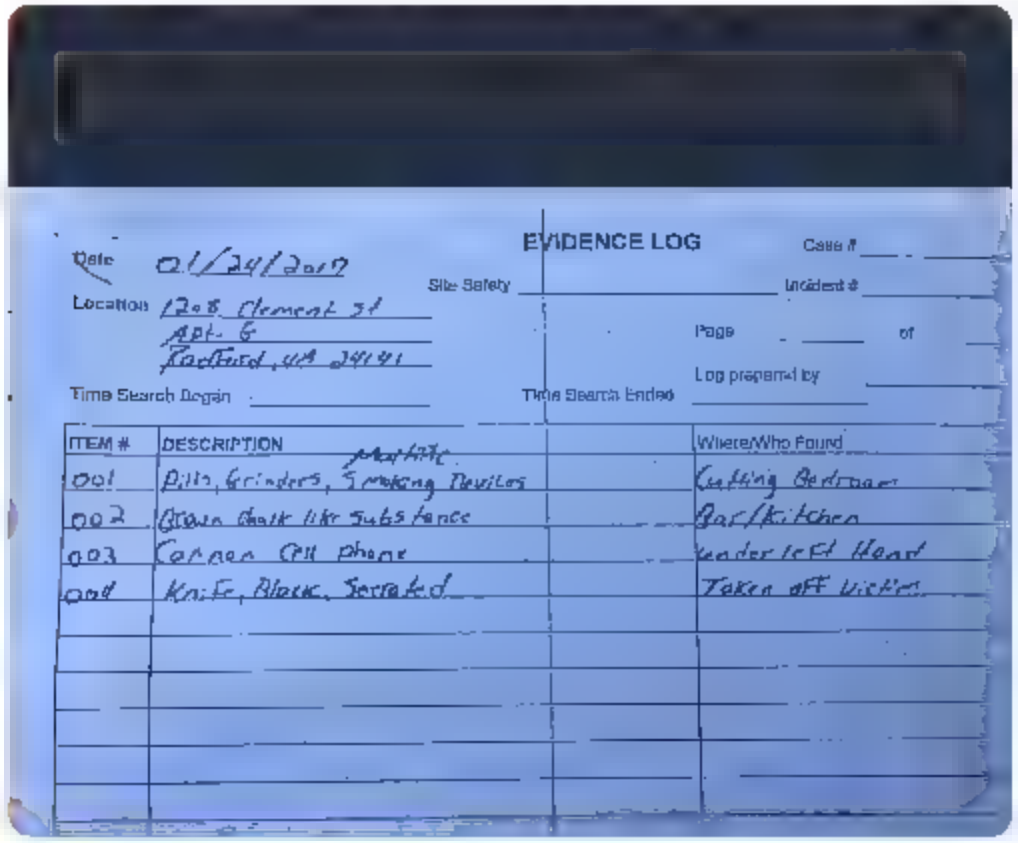
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Eaten Sibling (@dogbat): Stabbed her roommate to death in Virginia last night.
You'll never guess what cops found at the scene.

EVIDENCE LOG

Date 01/24/2017 Site Safety Case # Incident #

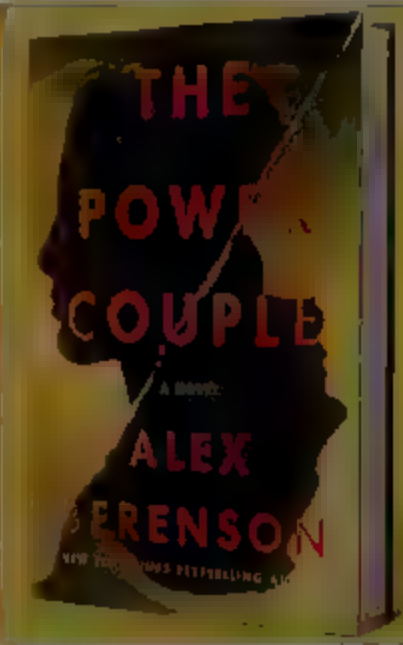
Location 1208 Clement St Apt. 6 Portland, VA 24141 Page of

Time Search Began Time Search Ended Log prepared by

ITEM #	DESCRIPTION	Where/Who Found
001	Pills, Grinders, Smoking Devices Marijuana	Cutting Bedroom
002	Brown chalk like substance	Bar/Kitchen
003	Cannon Cell phone	Under left Hand
004	Knife, Black, Serrated	Taken off victim

12 7 11

Curious Green @iamcuriousgreen · 25 Jan 2019
Will you be publishing your gore files as a follow up to Tell Your Children? Seems like a slam dunk for you and S&S.

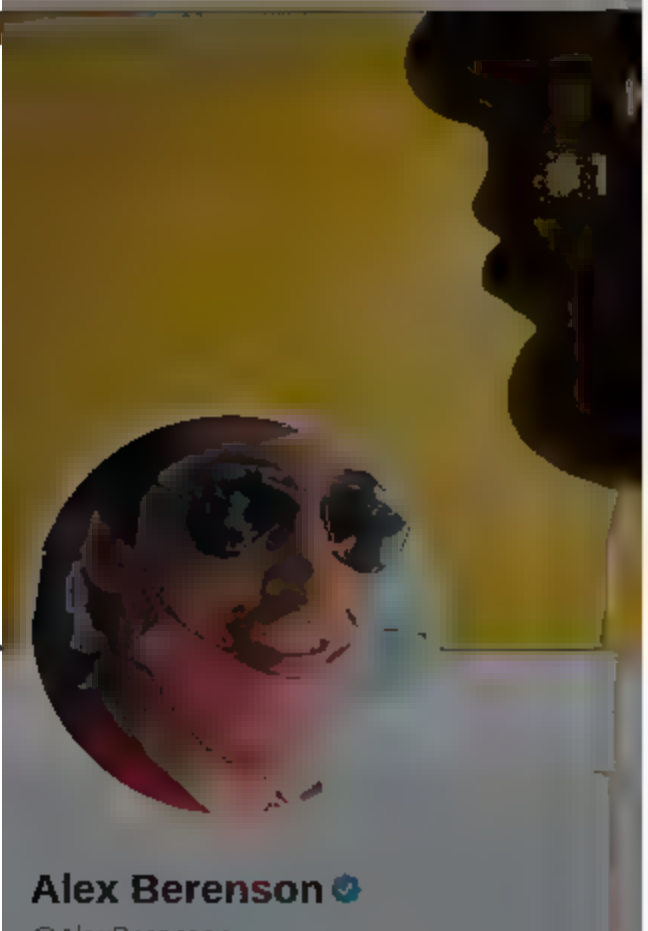


1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Unfortunately there are too many. But great question.



12:23 PM - 25 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

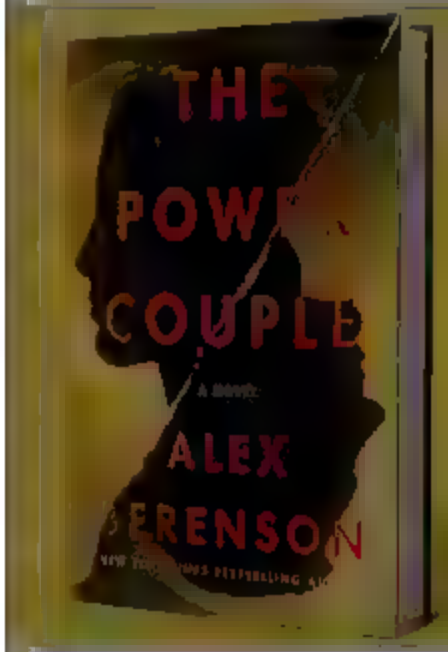
11 9 11

Twas4kids @twas4kids · 25 Jan 2019

NBC New York reported that the Parkland High School shooter, was a heavy user of marijuana and Xanax. We absolutely should press for a national mandate for toxicology tests on all of these murders, as well as drivers causing serious injuries or fatalities. The test costs $150.00

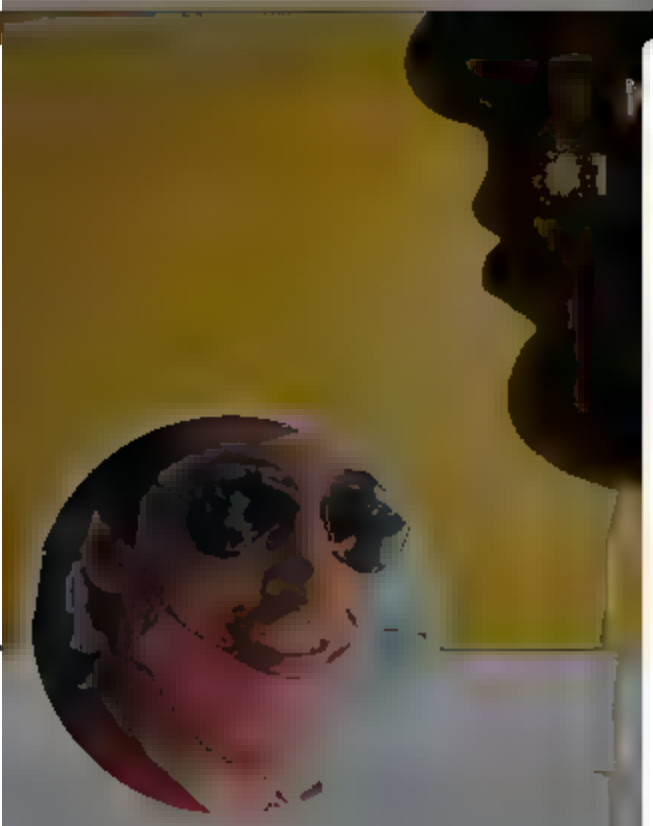
1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

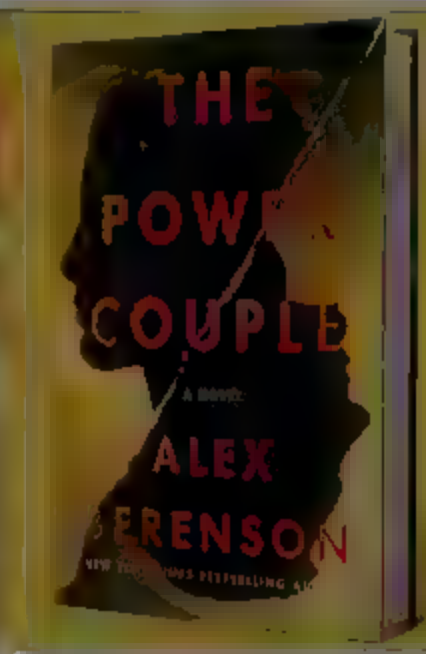


Replying to

That comes from Cruz's confession, which I've read. And he makes clear that cannabis and not Xanax was his primary drug of choice - though he seems to have been sober at the time of the shooting.



12:37 PM - 25 Jan 2019



1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

The good/terrible news is that these cases are now piling up so frequently that the endless bleating of "correlation is not causation" must be grating on the ears of even the most determined advocate.

10:35 AM - 25 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 6 Likes

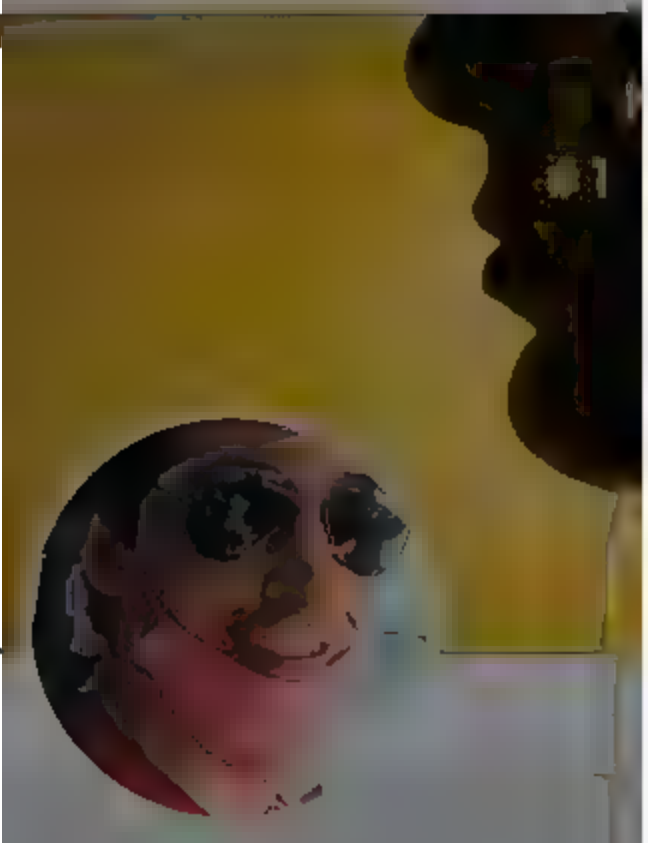
8 2 6

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
You should write a book about it...



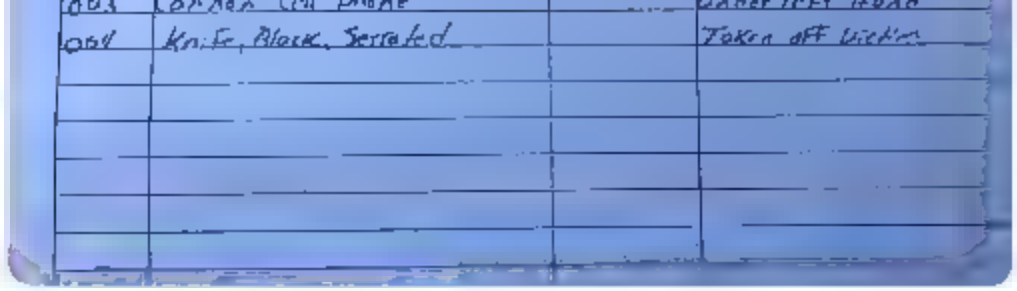
1

Gastón de los Reyes, Jr. @Gdlrjr · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
There is truth to Berenson's claims. Not sure why he needs to be so shrill, sanctimonious, and belligerent in his tweets. Who is he writing for?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

12 7 11

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Jan 2019
Pills?

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

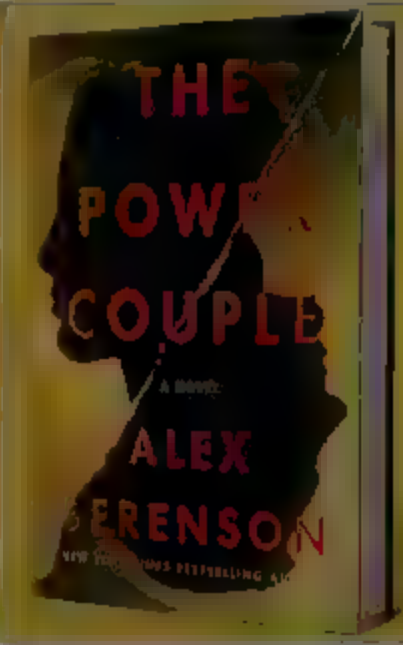
Replying to

Ahh, Matt. So good to hear from you. You really missed your calling. You should have been a lobbyist for Philip Morris circa 1985.

10:32 AM - 25 Jan 2019

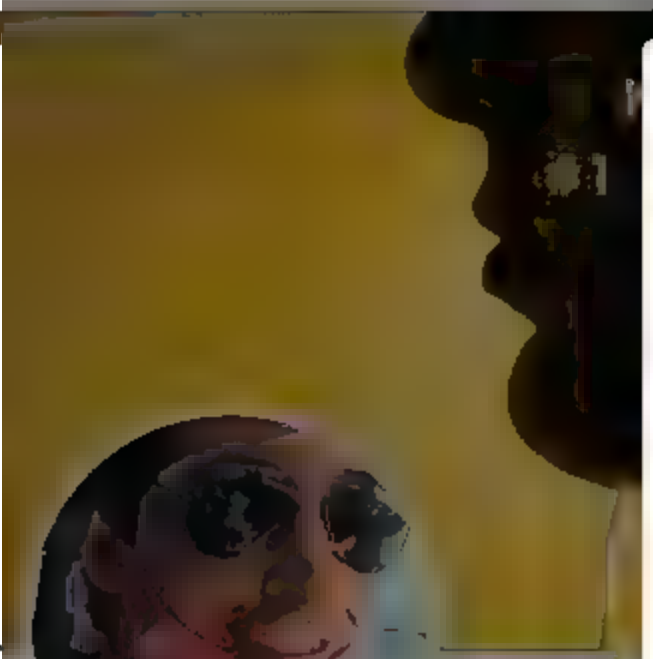
3 Likes

1 3



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to

I wouldn't have had the passion to fight tobacco regulations that has kept me countering bad journalism and the drug war policies it inspires for over 20 years. Money has never motivated me. Just ask my ex-wife.



2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

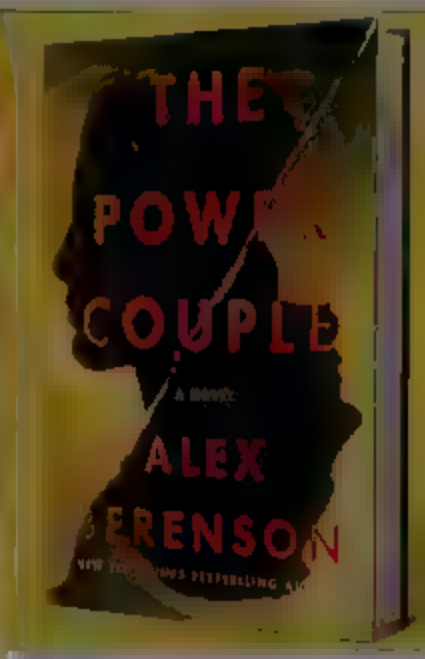
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

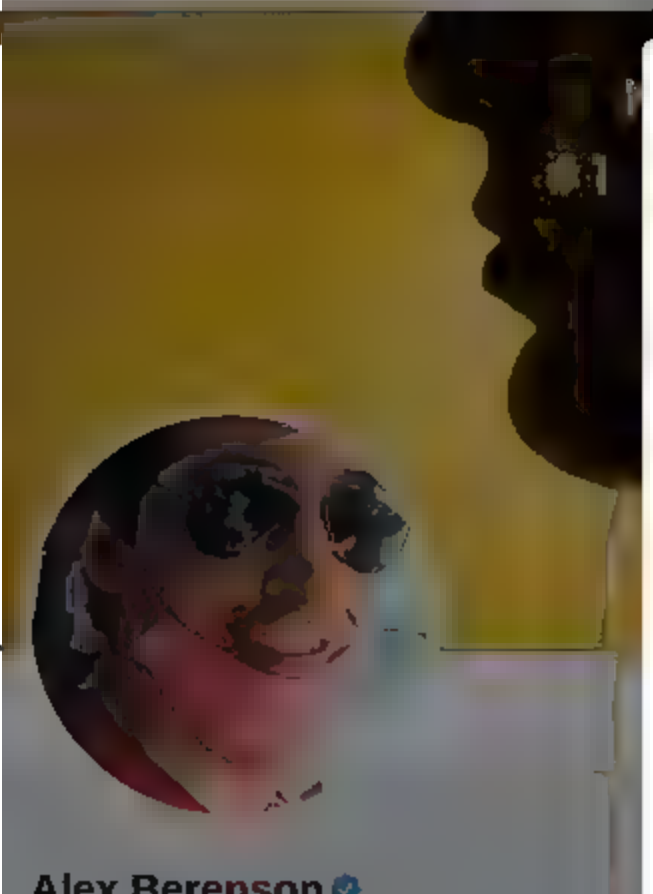
In case you're wondering what a grinder is, @leafly has this handy explanation

10:30 AM - 25 Jan 2019

3 Likes



2 3



ya boy Deej @deejtweetsgood · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
This is a good tweet, Alex.

Heidi Anderson-Swan @SwanHJA · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to
Did not know. Thank you.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

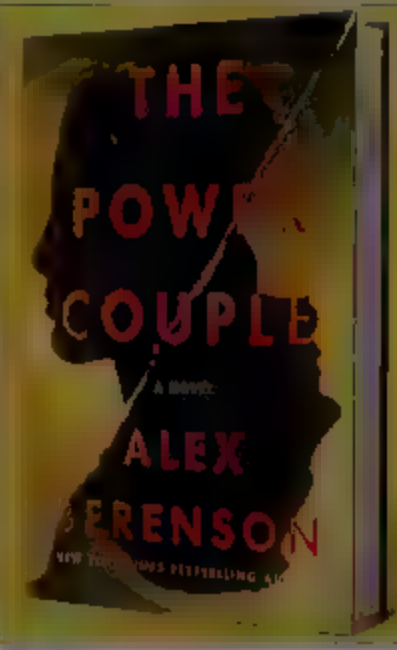
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

Meanwhile, in the real world, this non-violent smoker got "relaxed and happy." And non-violently murdered a 14-year-old girl.



"The four of them.... [passed] around a bong filled with marijuana. Fredericks said they were all feeling 'relaxed and happy.'"

6:44 AM - 25 Jan 2019

9 Retweets 11 Likes

11 9 11

Cardiff CannabisCafe @c_cannabiscafe · 25 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

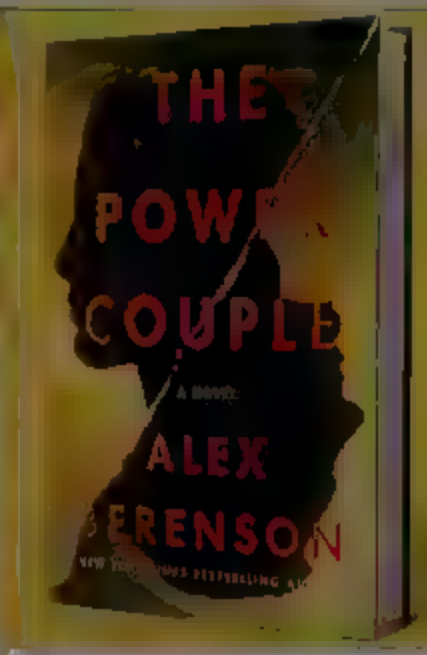
Sorry, that was "pull[ed]," not "pulp[ed]."

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
Hey @davelevitan, thanks for acknowledging the data in the book is correct. Here's the donation for the error you found. I'd try to explain the irony of your wanting a donation to the ACLU while asking that a book you don't like be "pulp(ed)," but why bother?…

6:39 AM - 25 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thanks to @NinaGodlewski at @Newsweek for this great interview!

6:06 AM - 25 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

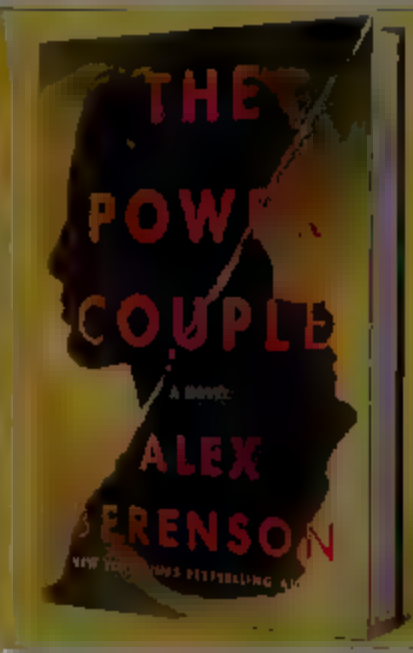
1 1 2



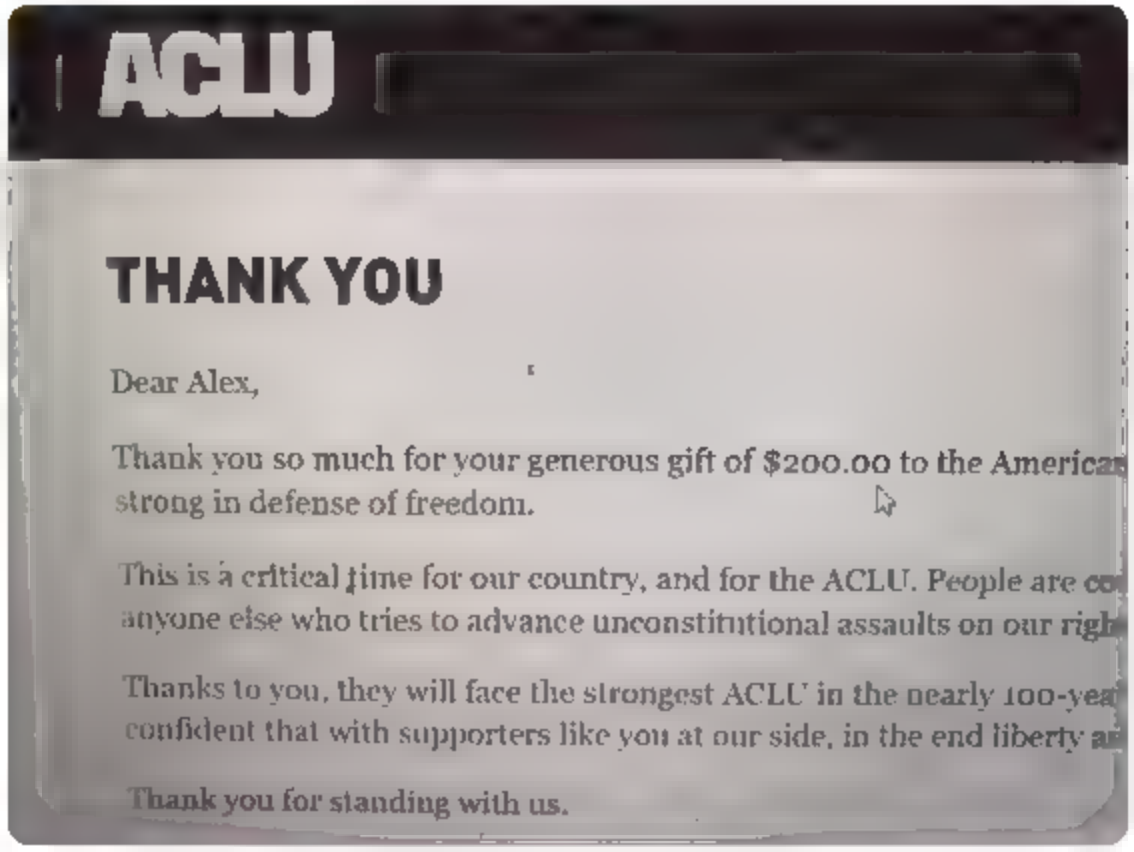
Coriolis Effect @Gregory77106100 · 25 Jan 2019

Replying to

LA used to be fun – dope has just made it dull
Today's potheads shop at Whole Foods and frown over photos of drunk girls

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hey @daveievitan, thanks for acknowledging the data in the book is correct. Here's the donation for the error you found. I'd try to explain the irony of your wanting a donation to the ACLU while asking that a book you don't like be "pulp(ed)," but why bother? All best, A

ACLU

THANK YOU

Dear Alex,

Thank you so much for your generous gift of $200.00 to the American strong in defense of freedom.

This is a critical time for our country, and for the ACLU. People are co anyone else who tries to advance unconstitutional assaults on our righ

Thanks to you, they will face the strongest ACLU in the nearly 100-yea confident that with supporters like you at our side, in the end liberty a

Thank you for standing with us.

6:22 AM - 25 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

2 7

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

6 2 12

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 24 Jan 2019
Seems like the black market has some problems.

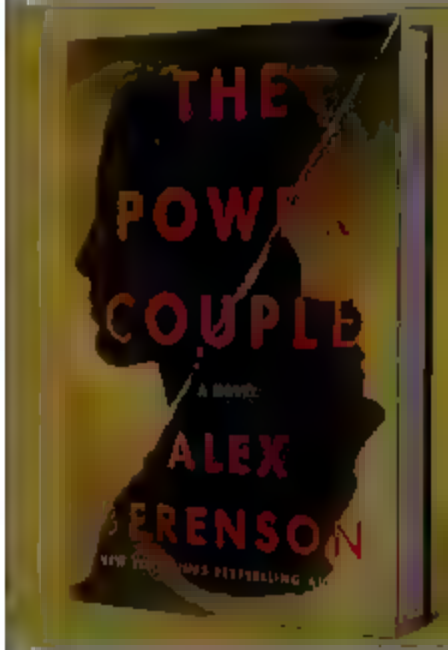
2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

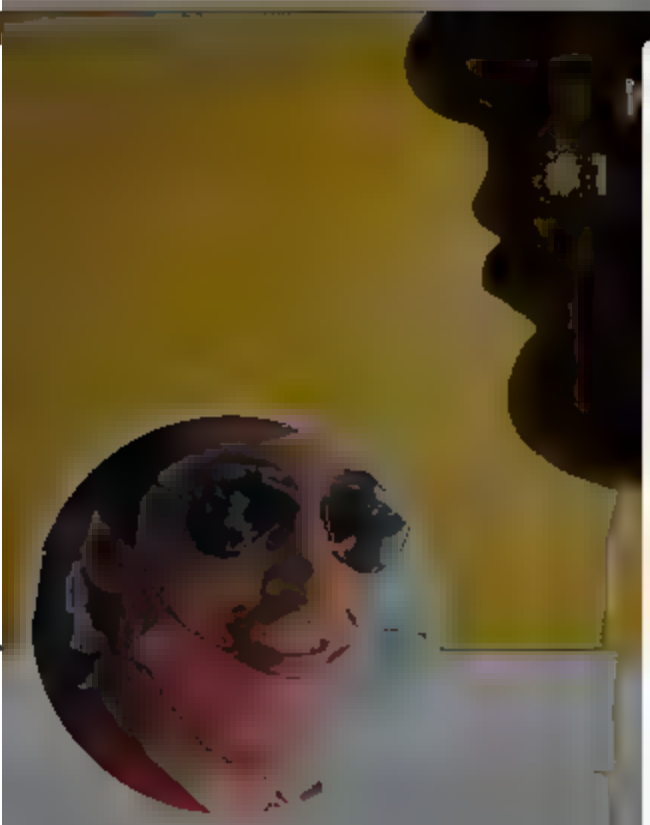
Here's where you pretend you didn't see my next tweet.

6:16 PM - 24 Jan 2019



1 Like

1 1



Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 24 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Ah, you didn't thread. So uh, cannabis caused that spike in crime, or?

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just the usual non-violent Utahns (allegedly) non-violently shooting and killing a 26-year-old man during a non-violent home invasion to non-violently steal cannabis:

5:02 PM - 24 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 12 Likes

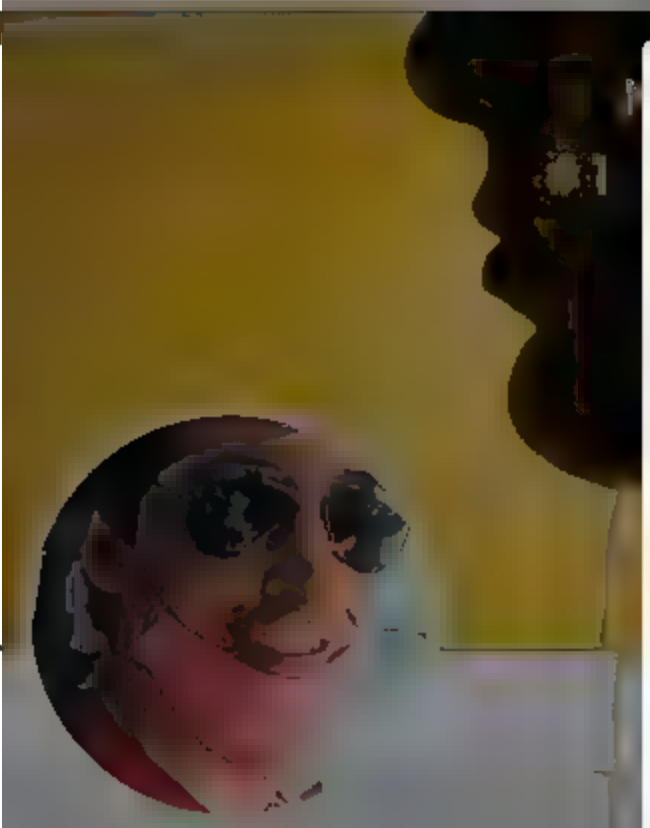
6 2 12

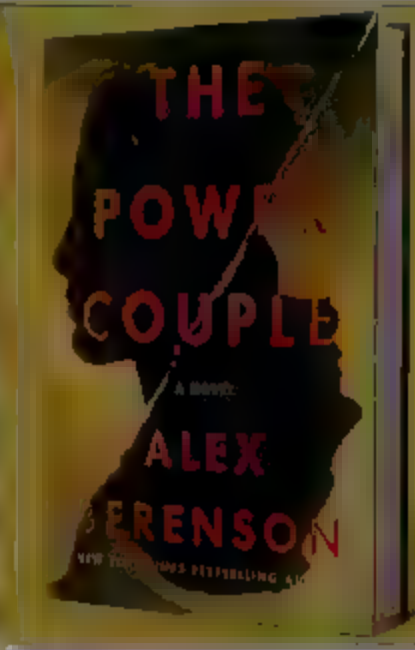


Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Jan 2019

Replying to

Do you think the three accused were psychotic?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Prohibition causes violent crime, right? So legalization's got to reduce it, right? (Can't wait for some statistician to explain how a 17% increase actually was a decrease. Divide by 7.3, carry the 8, regress against Pop-Tart consumption, et voila!)

REPORTED OFFENSES USING NIBRS DEFINITIONS IN THE CITY AND COUNTY OF DENVER

TYPE OF OFFENSE	JAN-DEC 2017		JAN-DEC 2018		CHANGE
	#	%	#	%	#	%
Murder	57	0.1%	67	0.1%	10	17.6%
Aggravated Assault	2,813	4.2%	3,312	5.0%	499	17.7%

6:12 PM - 24 Jan 2019

11 Retweets 23 Likes

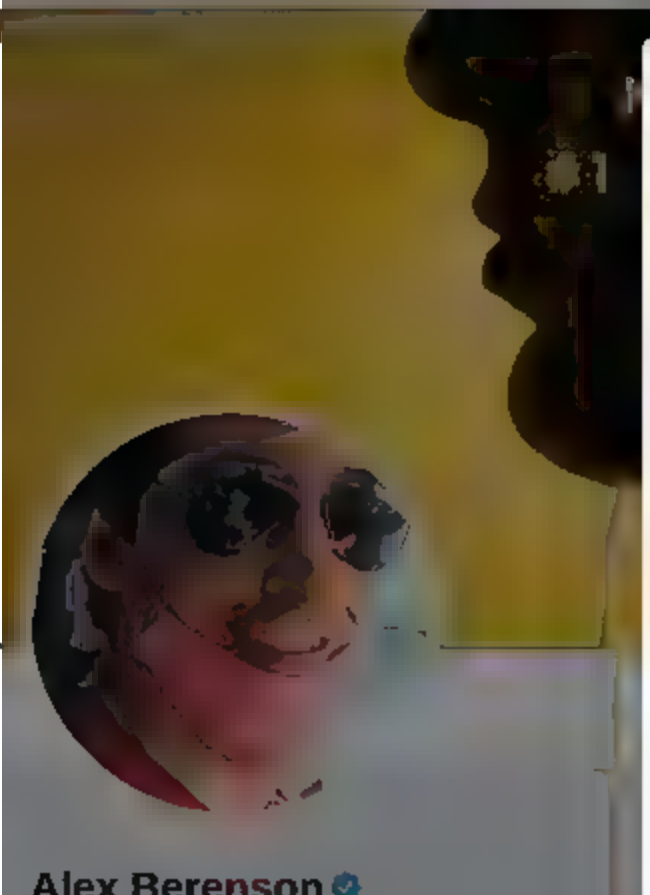
10 11 23

wrong (and frequently am) @wrongfrequently · 24 Jan 2019
Replying to
Oh right cause ONLY pot coulda caused that, and NOTHING else



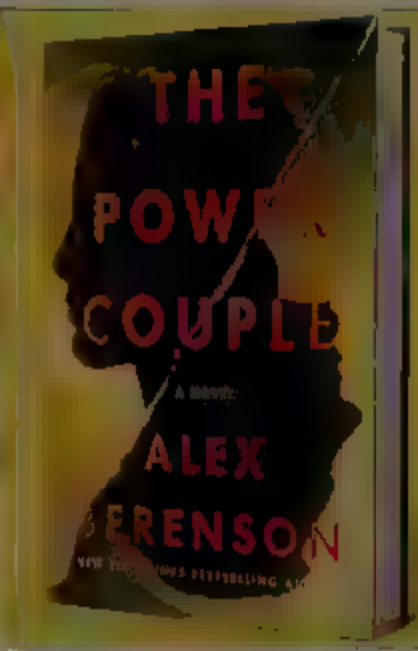
Sam Kamin @ProfSamKamin · 24 Jan 2019
Replying to
Haha. Regression analysis. Totally for nerds, AMIRITE??

1 1

Reilly Capps @ReillyCapps · 24 Jan 2019
Um .. so what happens if you do that?

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Another smart piece out of Illinois urging legislators there to slow the rush to legalization:

12:28 PM - 24 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 8 Likes

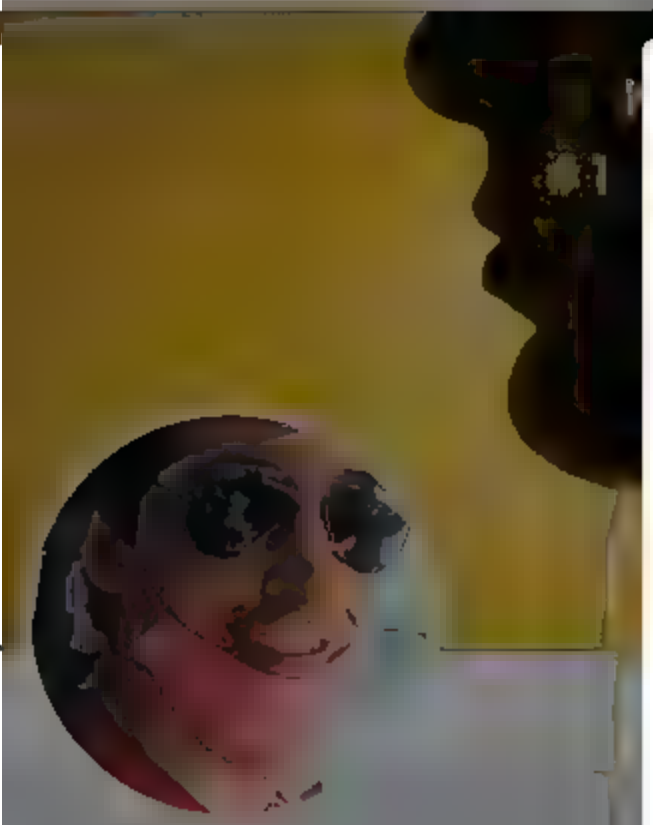
4 2 8



Woodshedding Toe-tapper @WSTTVT · 24 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Your $200 donations can go to...

> Dave Levitan @davelevitan
> [TAKES BREATH BIG ENOUGH TO DIVE DOWN TO CHALLENGER DEEP]
>
> Okay. Here we go. twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Brilliant piece from @MaryWakefield in @spectator: "Come the future, maybe we'll be able to scan our genomes for dope sensitivity. Until then, aren't we better off listening to Berenson than some marijuana magnate?"

4:13 AM - 24 Jan 2019

13 Retweets 25 Likes

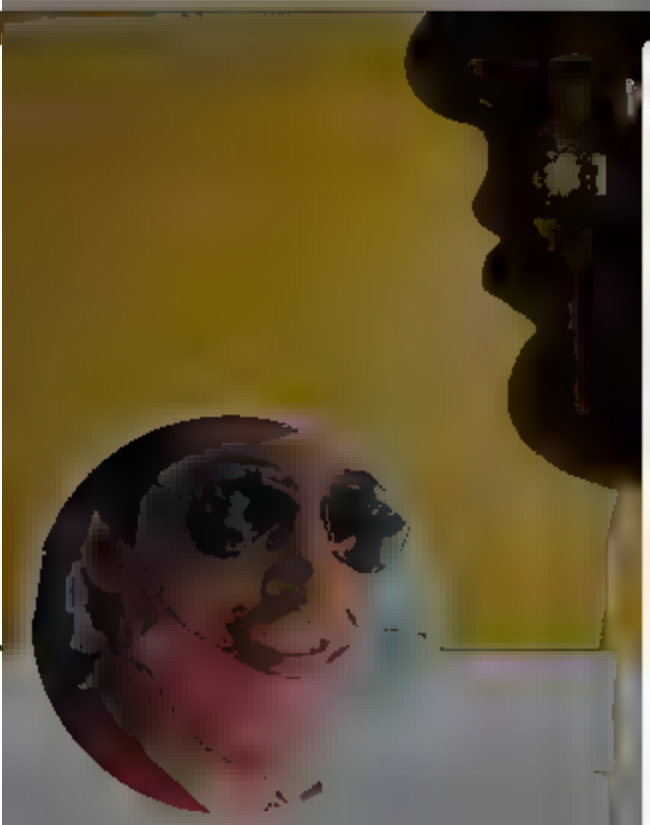
7 13 25



Michael Reese @seventofive · 24 Jan 2019

Replying to

We're probably best off listening to all the experts who destroyed your work of fiction. (And why this dichotomous choice is presented, leaving out all experts,

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, in Chicago, @Suntimes calls for caution on legalizing recreational cannabis - noting the disaster video gambling has been in Illinois. Exactly. Why the rush?

1:55 PM - 23 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 19 Likes

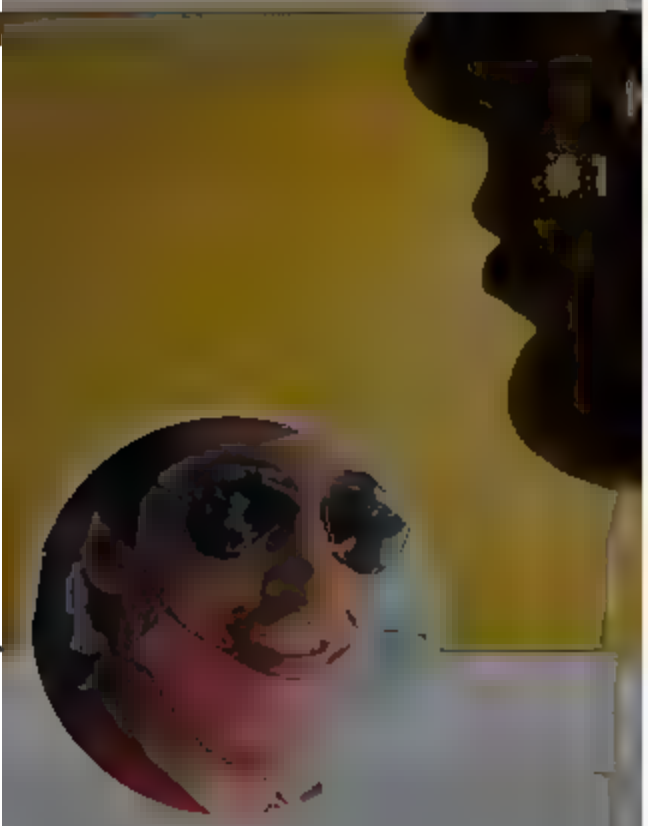
10 3 19



This Tweet is unavailable.

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 23 Jan 2019
It is trying to prove it's responsible. They have done warnings against driving under the influence, but it hasn't stopped people in WA and CO.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Emily Dufton @emily_dufton · 23 Jan 2019
Absolutely. Relatively low rates of current adolescent use are also key.

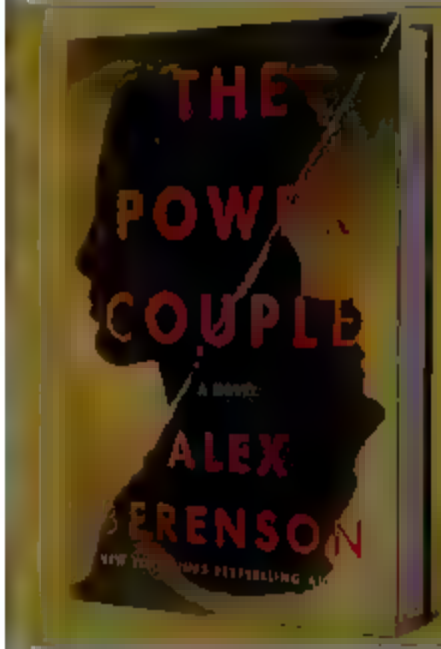
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Yes - for whatever reason use has spiked in the 18-25 cohort but not 12-17. (Though teens are healthier by many measures - maybe all that helicopter parenting actually works! Or maybe it's the death of teen smoking, in which case vaping is going to give us a nasty surprise.)

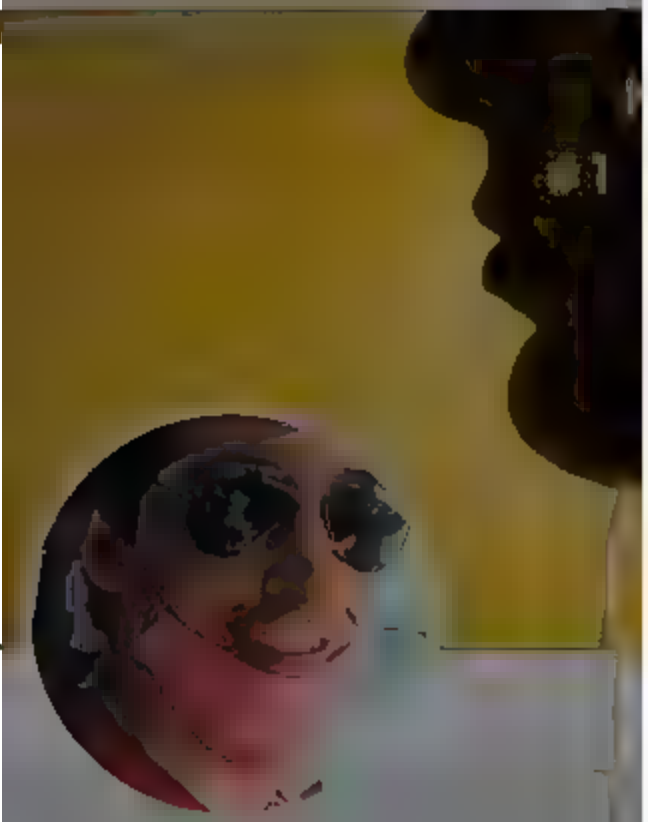
1:45 PM - 23 Jan 2019



1

Emily Dufton @emily_dufton · 24 Jan 2019
Replying to
I think there are a lot of reasons for this, but use has probably spiked for 18-25 because 21+ can access the legal market. Getting into a dispensary is basically impossible for underage kids (TSA-level ID technology), which is one of the things legal states are doing right.

1



christy brown @mystocean · 24 Jan 2019
In CA 18 can get medical mj card and plenty diversion to underage plus rampant bm, very high potency. States with highest teen use 1st to legalize.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

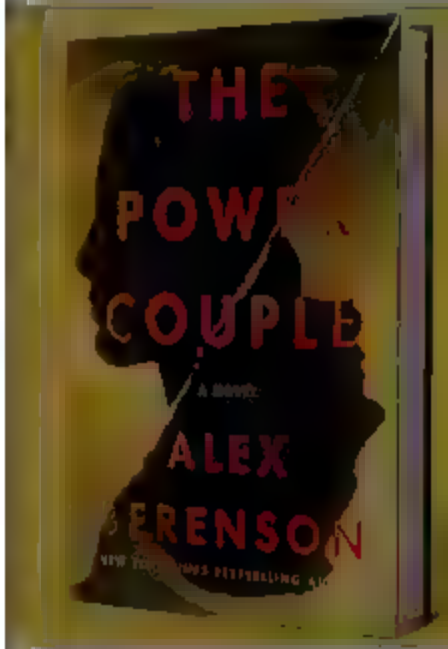
Thanks to [redacted] for this Q&A -interested to see that even the cannabis advocate agrees "it is super-bad for the developing brain." If only [redacted] were so honest.

10 11 13

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

[redacted]

They opposed various straightforward warnings I proposed in the @MarshallProj round table - none of which were as direct or negative as that one.



1:41 PM - 23 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

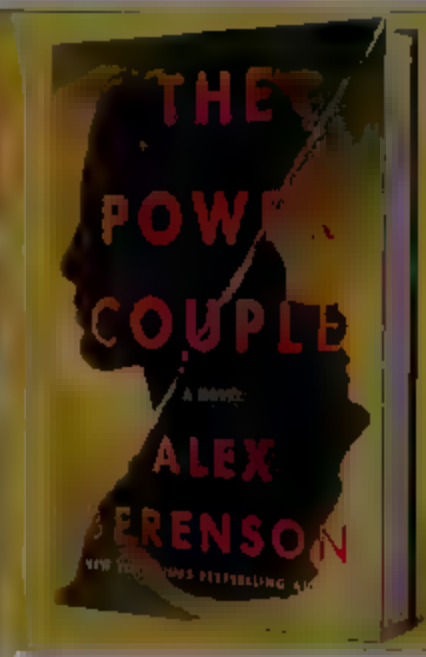
2 1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thanks to @wweek for this Q&A - interested to see that even the cannabis advocate agrees "it is super-bad for the developing brain." If only @DrugPolicyOrg were so honest.

1:29 PM - 23 Jan 2019

11 Retweets 13 Likes

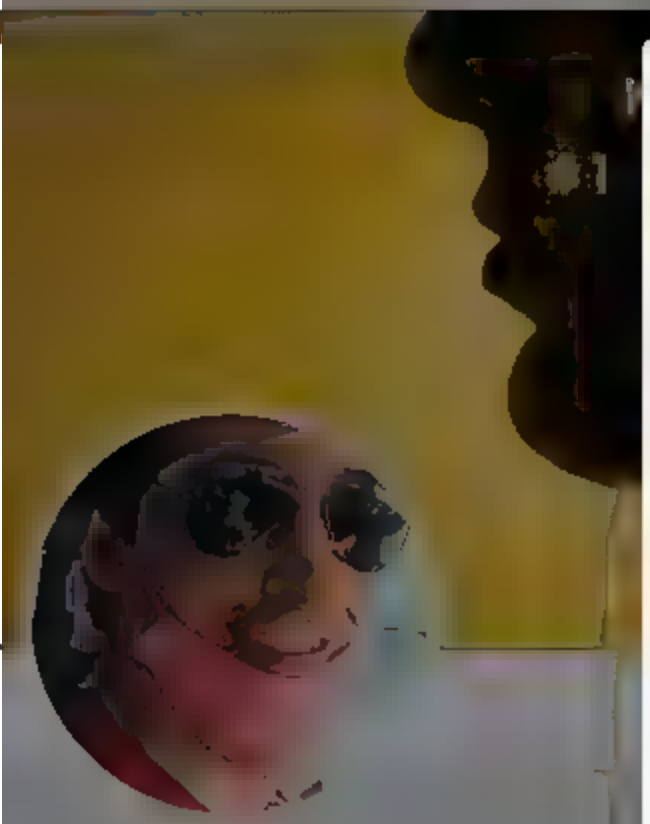
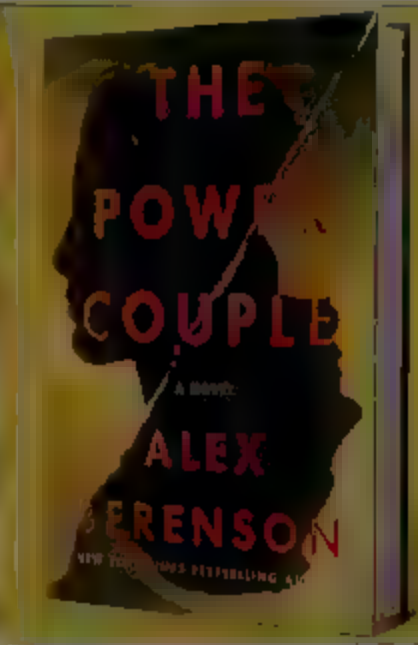
10 11 13



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019
They opposed various straightforward warnings I proposed in the [illegible] round table - none of which were as direct or negative as that one.

2 1 3

Jacob James Rich @jacobjamesrich · 23 Jan 2019



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Sounds like someone got his hands on a copy of Tell Your Children. I disagree with former Mayor Bloomberg - we've done stupider things than legalize marijuana - but not many.

> nt kind of proble
> 2018, more pe > are trying to leg
> ne. We've got t
> Public health
>
> DJ Judd @DJJudd
> While speaking at Annapolis, former New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg also blasted efforts to legalize marijuana, calling it "perhaps the stupidest thing we've ever done."
> Show this thread

10:54 AM - 23 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

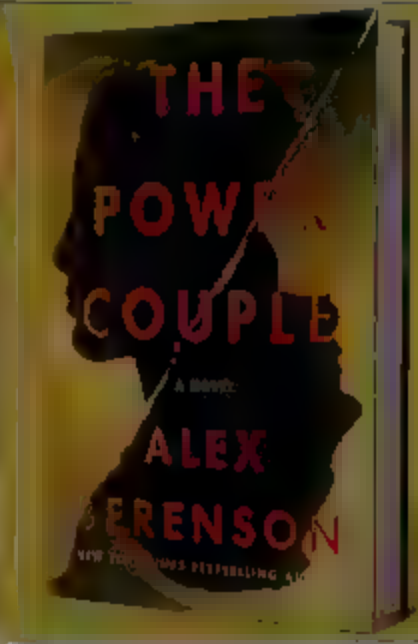
3 1 4

always nice online @SemiAutoSlurs · 23 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
wow alex, on a roll! keep it up bud. lets make sure those marijuana-criminals stay locked up!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thanks, Alice! And you're right - why the rush to legalize a drug that 90% of Britons don't use? Besides, don't you have enough to worry about with Brexit?

> Alice Thomson @aliceTTimes
> Liberal America is waking up to the dangers of cannabis legalisation. We should too. My column looks at the devastating new book by @AlexBerenson bit.ly/2sKcPTK

9:40 AM - 23 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 8 Likes

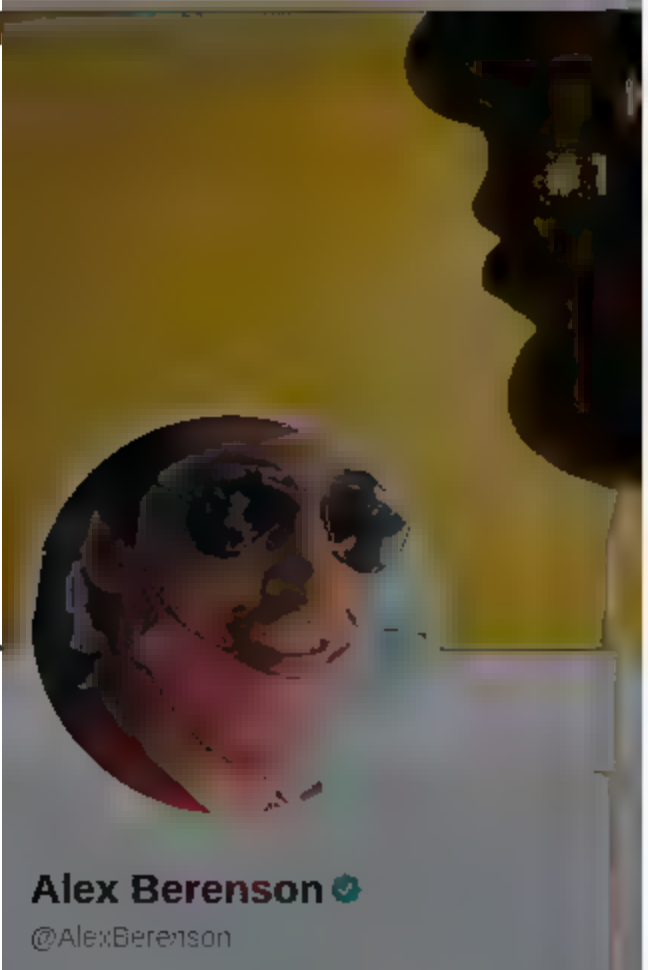
3 3 8



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 23 Jan 2019
Replying to

To my knowledge, no country is rushing to legalize, but the rationale for legalization is explained in exhaustive detail in a Canadian senate committee report of 2002, "Cannabis: Our Position for a Canadian Public Policy."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 23 Jan 2019

If I said Mariano Rivera and me together received on average 50% of votes for the baseball Hall of Fame this year, would this be a valid and useful and informative statistic about HOF voting? It is addition and division.

2 2

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Is that what you think I've done, Professor Berman? We've had real conversations in the last month. I didn't think you were into cheap (and frankly silly) point-scoring.

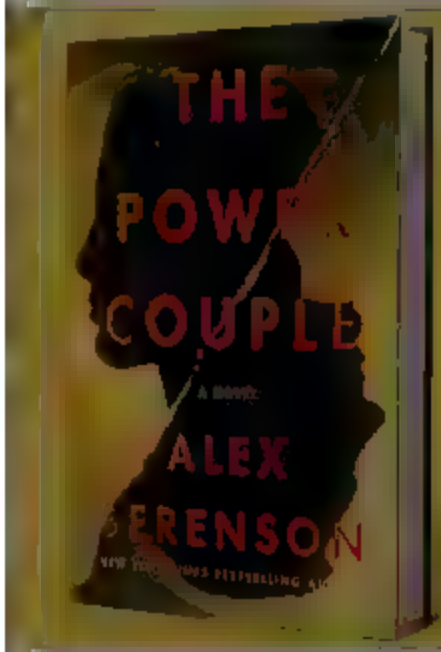
8:50 AM - 23 Jan 2019

2

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 23 Jan 2019

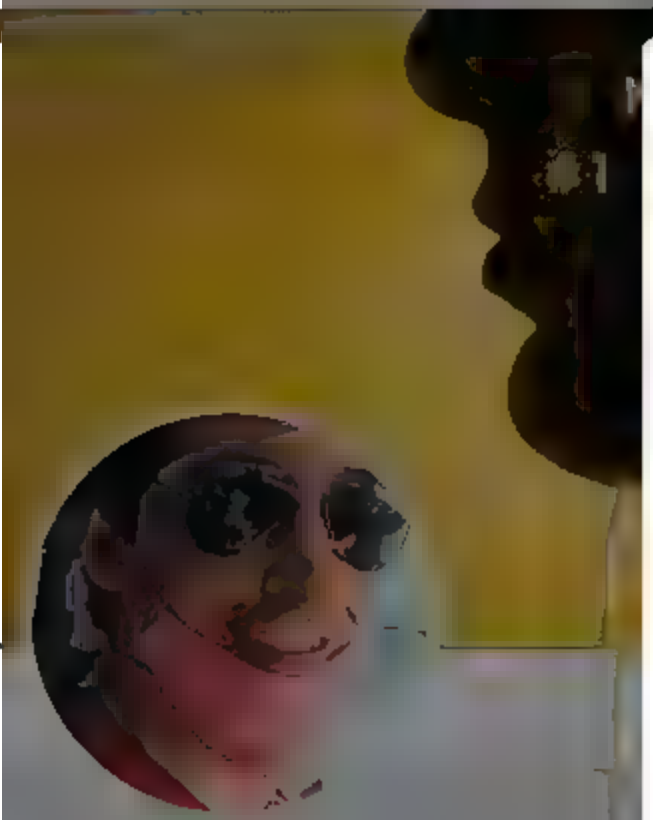
Replying to

I am not saying you have done anything untoward, I was just responding to notion that it is misguided to complain about combining data. The discourse is already too heated on these important topics, so I do not want to add fire.



3

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 23 Jan 2019



Replying to

I am still trying to get your book, and so cannot yet weigh in on merits. But I have already grown weary of heat crowding out light. Sorry if my comment seemed heated rather than enlightening. I probably just wanted to connect myself to Mo.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

1/ Hey, [redacted], thought experiment: Instead of coming at TYC like an advocate, trying (and failing) to find errors, try coming at it like a reader. Assume the data is correct (it is) and the best available (it is), and put the legalization debate aside. Then ask yourself:

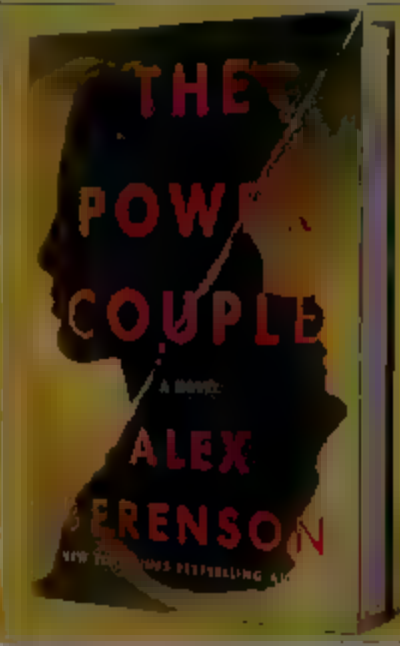
3 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

2/ Then ask yourself? Does it present a biologically plausible thesis? Is the historical evidence consistent? Is there real-world data (and case reports) that tend to support it? Does it draw on many peer-reviewed studies?

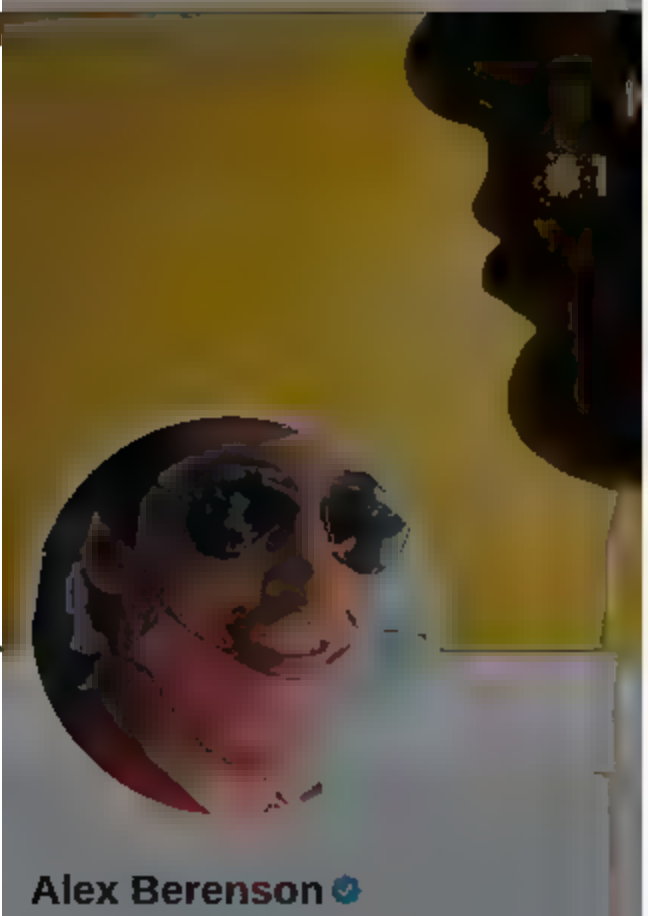
8:46 AM - 23 Jan 2019



5 Likes

1 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019



3/ And most of all: If this theory is true - I am not asking you to concede it's true, merely to acknowledge the book makes a plausible case to anyone who is not already an advocate - are there public health implications we should discuss? Try it. You might surprise yourself.

5 8

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

to the ACLU?

2

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019
Sure.

Want to explain the Bachhuber mistake?

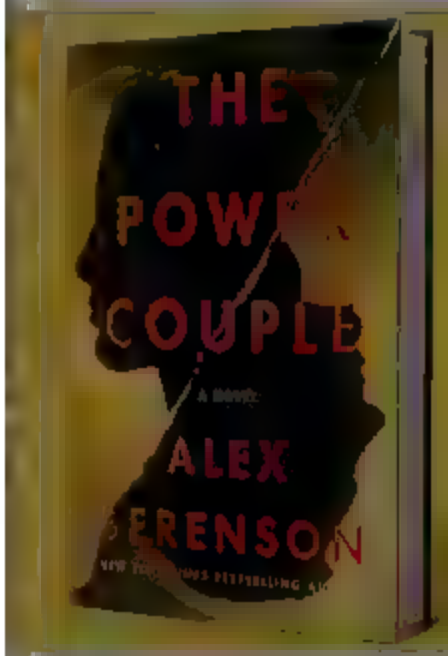
3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019
The Bachhuber paper shows that rates fell the most immediately after medical legalization, just as I said. I think he even writes about in the paper (can't swear to it, I'd have to double-check).

1

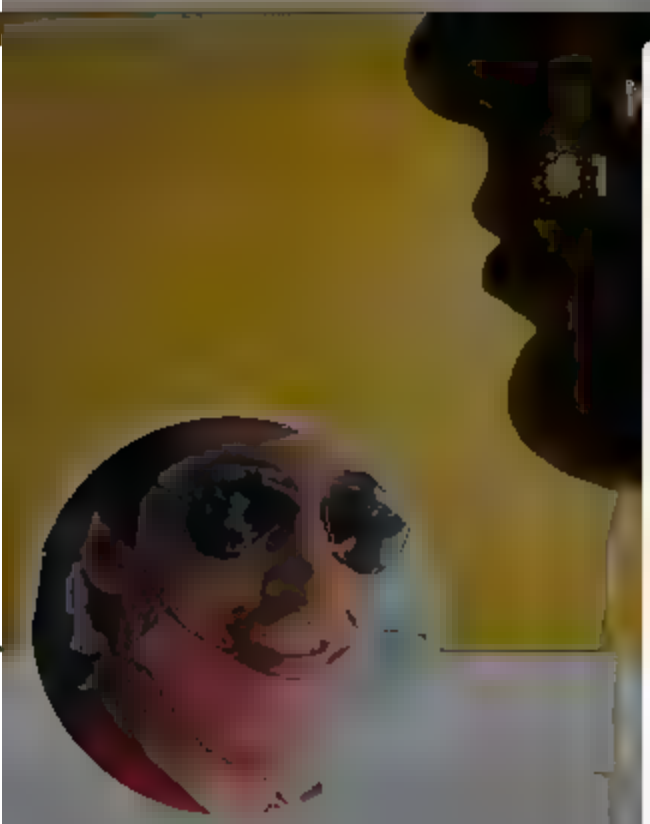
Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019
It's not measuring a fall in rate, it's measuring diff btwn med cannabis law states and ones without — 19.9% in first year, 33.3% in sixth year, with some wobbles along the way. That's a strengthening association, isn't it? Paper: association "generally strengthened over time."

2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



And btw, as I think you are smart enough to know, this has nothing to do with my main point about Bachhuber - that the association has vanished (even though advocates continue to trumpet it). I assume you are not seriously disputing that. These objections are quibbles, if that.

7:50 AM - 23 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Hey, @davelevitan, thought experiment: Instead of coming at TYC like an advocate, trying (and failing) to find errors, try coming at it like a reader. Assume the data is correct (it is) and the best available (it is), and put the legalization debate aside. Then ask yourself:

8:43 AM - 23 Jan 2019

7 Likes

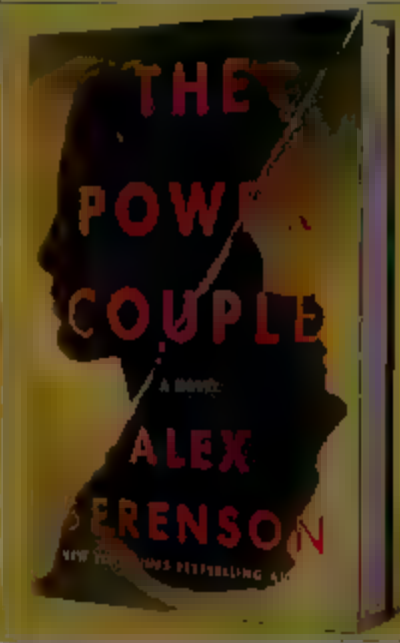
3 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

2/ Then ask yourself? Does it present a biologically plausible thesis? Is the historical evidence consistent? Is there real-world data (and case reports) that tend to support it? Does it draw on many peer-reviewed studies?

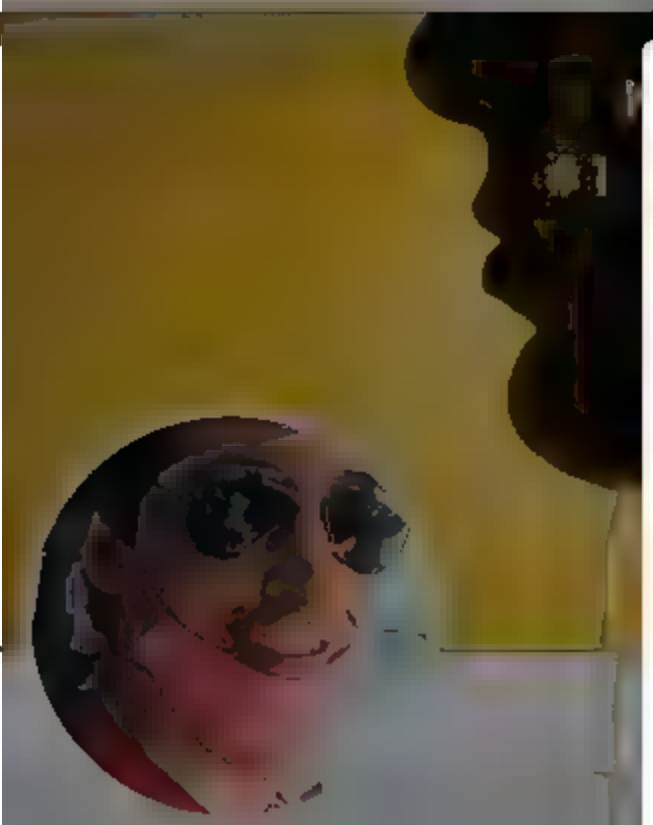
1 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

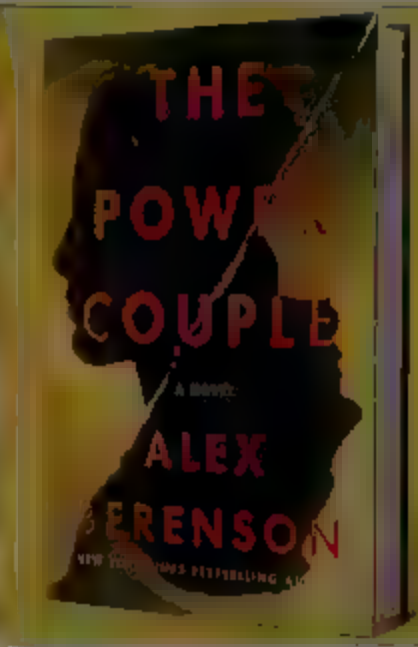


3/ And most of all: If this theory is true - I am not asking you to concede it's true, merely to acknowledge the book makes a plausible case to anyone who is not already an advocate - are there public health implications we should discuss? Try it. You might surprise yourself.

5 8



Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 23 Jan 2019



Replying to

I believe it.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Best part of my conversation with @davelevitan was, "You can't do that!" Why not? It's addition and division based on published data. A whole blinkered world in those four words.

7:53 AM - 23 Jan 2019

5 Likes

3 5

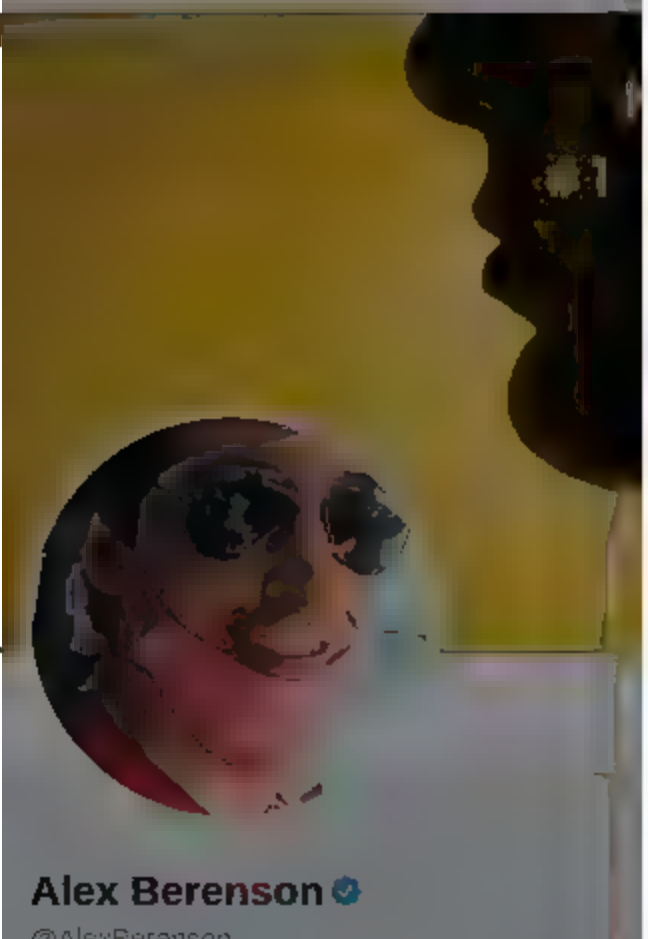
Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 23 Jan 2019
Replying to

If I said Mariano Rivera and me together received on average 50% of votes for the baseball Hall of Fame this year, would this be a valid and useful and informative statistic about HOF voting? It is addition and division.

2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019
Is that what you think I've done, Professor Berman? We've had real conversations in the last month. I didn't think you were into cheap (and frankly silly) point-scoring.

2



Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 23 Jan 2019
Replying to

He is right.

The thing is, it isn't just a matter of addition and division. If you are combining the two groups, you need to recalculate the odds ratio and change the adjustments to the combined group. Can you show your work?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

be a pred … rposite. I… research of his own. Below are Gladwell version, Berenson version, and the study's ACTUAL hypothesis.

Show this thread

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019
Okay, so that's $200. I was waiting for someone to notice. You want me to send it to the ACLU?

2

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019
Sure.

Want to explain the Bachhuber mistake?

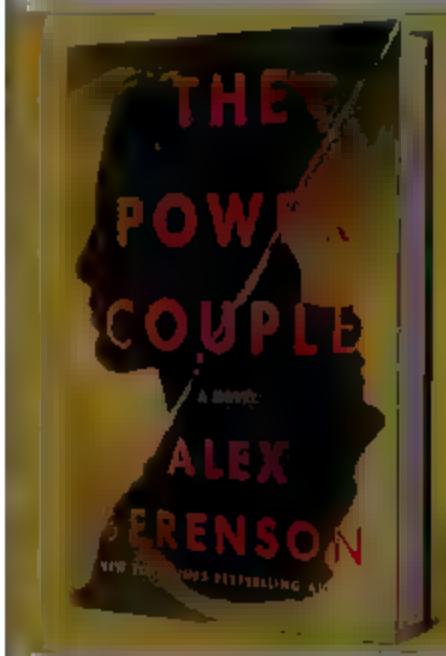
3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019
The Bachhuber paper shows that rates fell the most immediately after medical legalization, just as I said. I think he even writes about in the paper (can't swear to it, I'd have to double-check).

1

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019
It's not measuring a fall in rate, it's measuring diff btwn med cannabis law states and ones without — 19.9% in first year, 33.3% in sixth year, with some wobbles along the way. That's a strengthening association, isn't it? Paper: association "generally strengthened over time."

2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

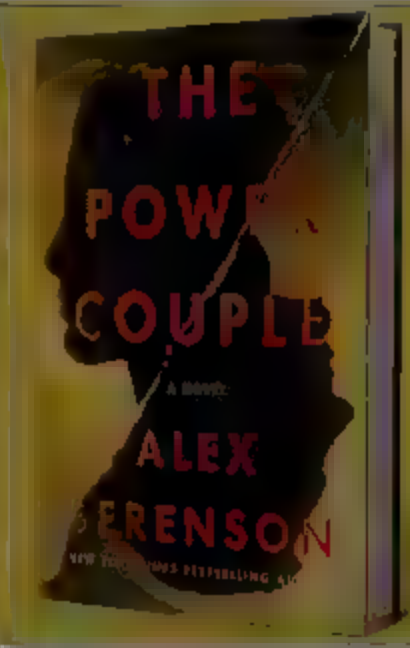
Replying to …

With the biggest change in the first year.

7:47 AM - 23 Jan 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019

You can't do that! That's not how this works! The paper did not combine them. You completely misstate the paper's conclusions if you just do some extra statistical work that might not be valid!

Also, lol that this is what you're picking on.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
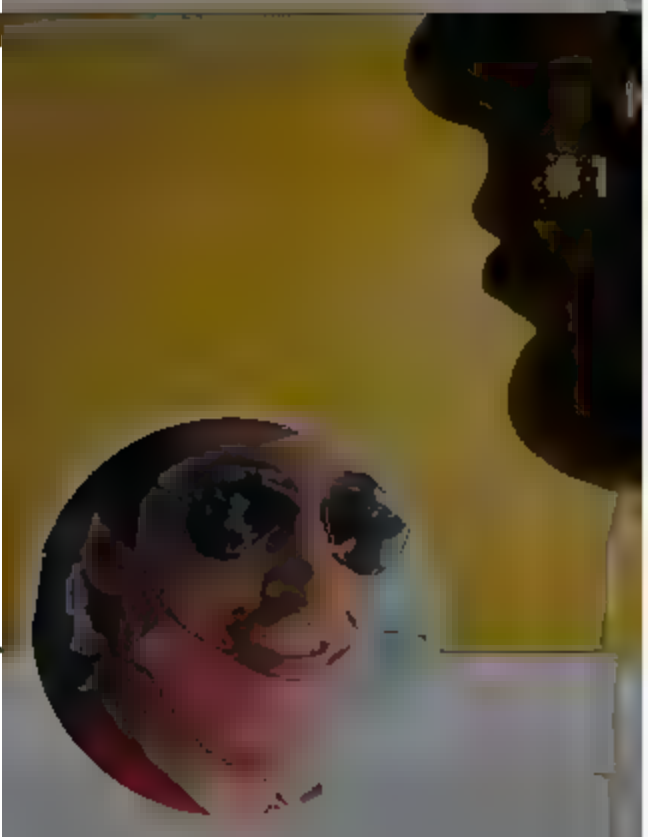
> Correct. I added medical and non-medical users. And found that combined they were "more than twice." Exactly as the book says. Thanks for noticing. twitter.com/davelevitan/st…

3 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

Why can't I combine them? There's enough data provided to do so.

2 1



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

What is so interesting about the SF paper is that the researchers developed some fascinating data about cannabis and opioid use - it was staring at them. But they didn't even notice it, seemingly because it didn't fit their initial hypothesis.

7:43 AM - 23 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

to the ACLU?

2

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019

Sure.

Want to explain the Bachhuber mistake?

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

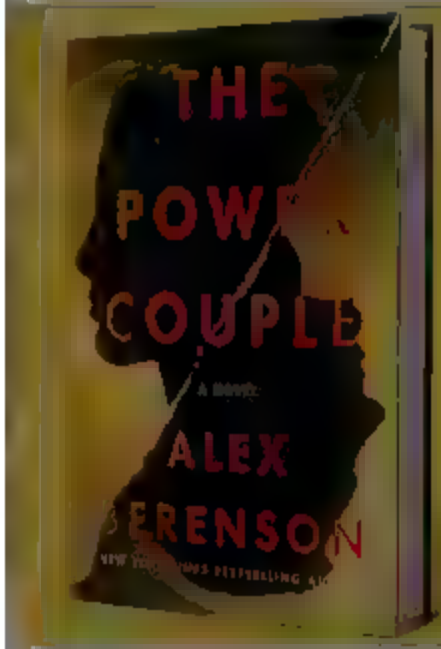
The Bachhuber paper shows that rates fell the most immediately after medical legalization, just as I said. I think he even writes about in the paper (can't swear to it, I'd have to double-check).

7:32 AM - 23 Jan 2019

1

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019

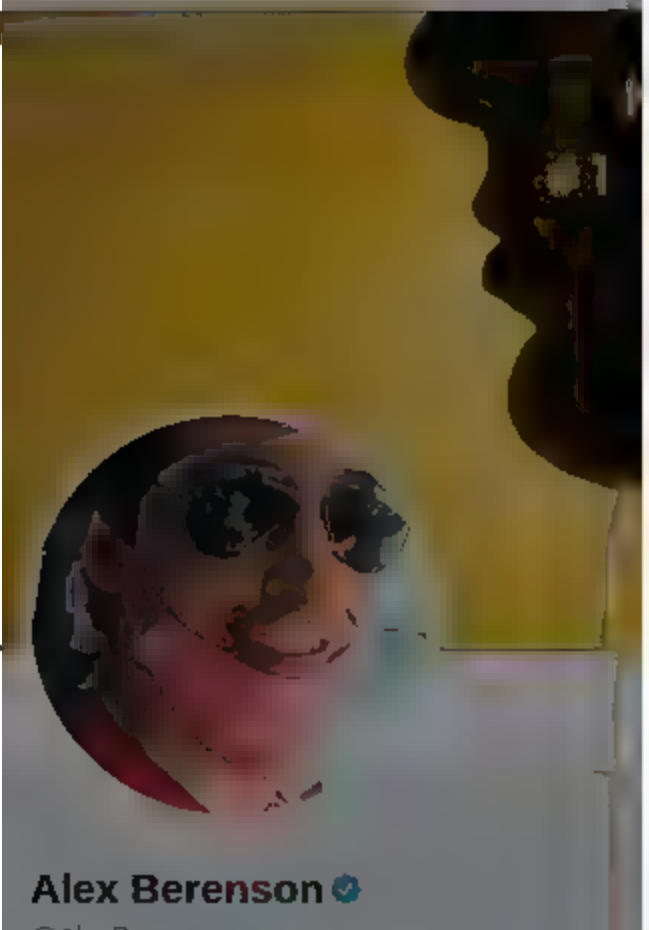
Replying to



It's not measuring a fall in rate, it's measuring diff btwn med cannabis law states and ones without — 19.9% in first year, 33.3% in sixth year, with some wobbles along the way. That's a strengthening association, isn't it? Paper: association "generally strengthened over time."

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019



With the biggest change in the first year.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 2

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019
Yeah. I found that.

> Dave Levitan @davelevitan
> Also, my god Gladwell! Read the goddamn study! He clearly just read Berenson's work and did no actual research of his own. Below are Gladwell version, Berenson version, and the study's ACTUAL hypothesis.
>
> Show this thread

1

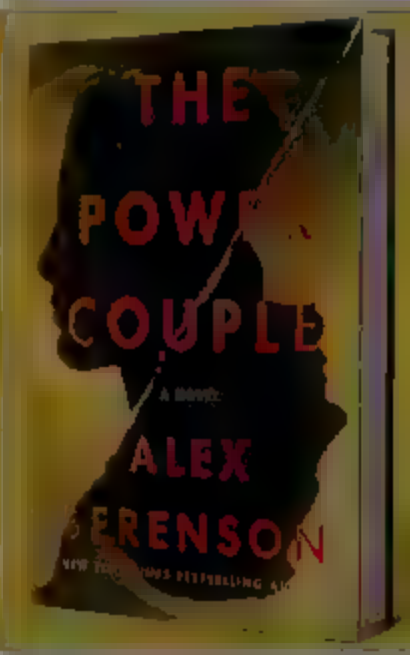
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019
Okay, so that's $200. I was waiting for someone to notice. You want me to send it to the ACLU?

2

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019
Sure.

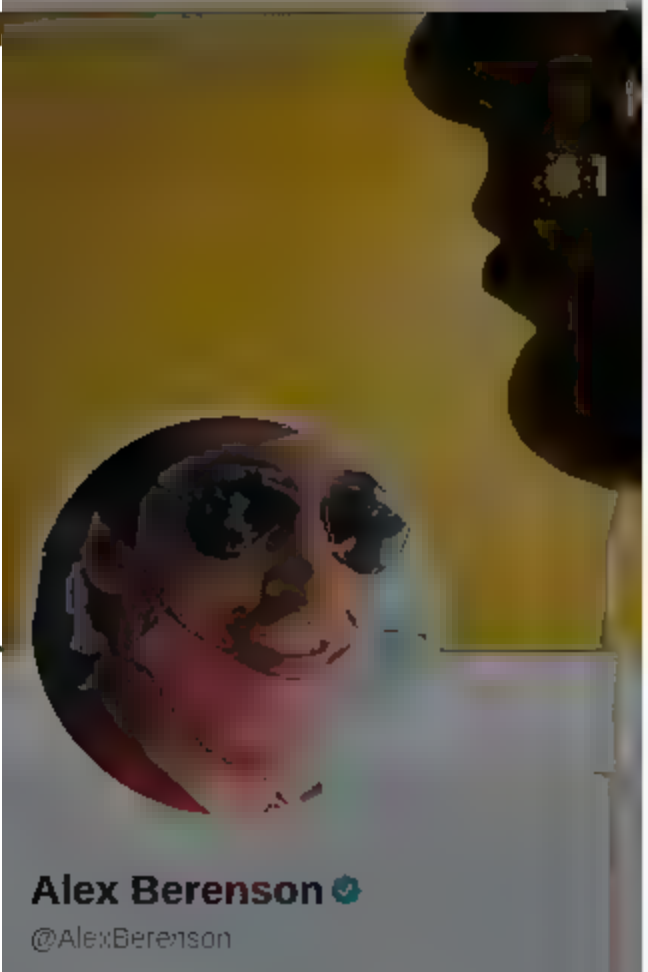
Want to explain the Bachhuber mistake?

3



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

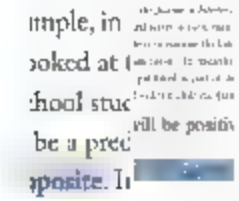


The correct way is to sum the four states in 2013 and 2017. For per-capita, sum the populations. Sorry to have to explain but you seem confused.

7:35 AM - 23 Jan 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Yeah. I found that.

Dave Levitan @davelevitan
Also, my god Gladwell! Read the goddamn study! He clearly just read Berenson's work and did no actual research of his own. Below are Gladwell version, Berenson version, and the study's ACTUAL hypothesis.

Show this thread

1

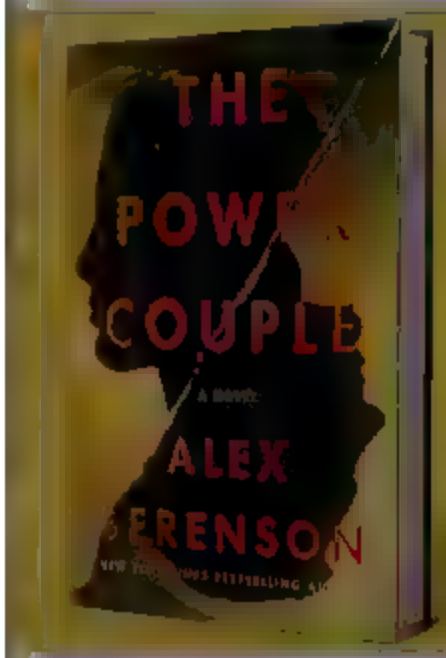
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019
Okay, so that's $200. I was waiting for someone to notice. You want me to send it to the ACLU?

2

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019
Sure.

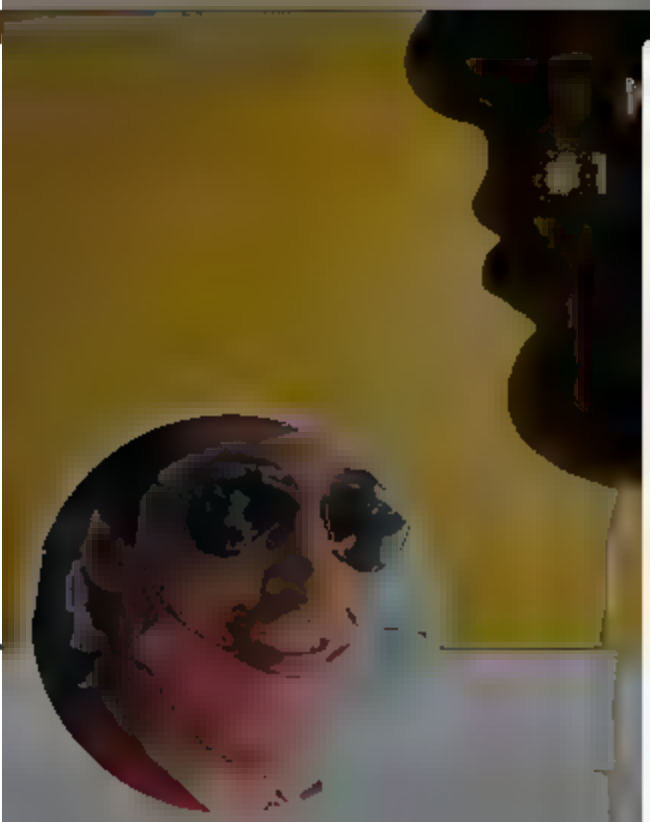
Want to explain the Bachhuber mistake?

3

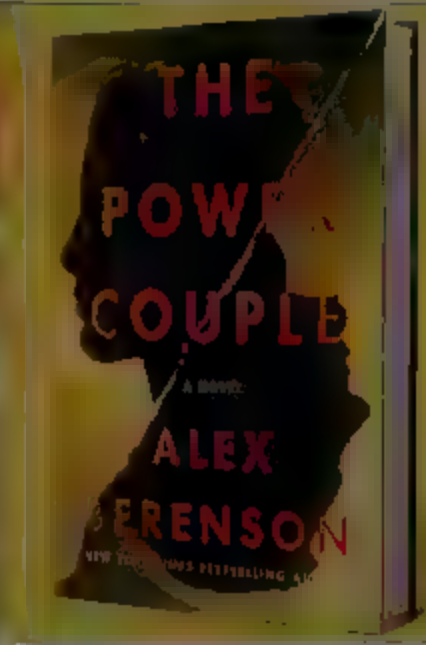


Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow



Replying to [redacted]



Btw I don't think you understand how to calculate the change in murder rates. You can't simply add the percentage changes in the four states and divide by four, bc the states aren't the same size (and AK, the smallest, had the biggest increase). Doing that overstates the change.

7:34 AM - 23 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

However, it doesn't change what the study found - which was that cannabis users were more likely to be violent than alcohol users, and 3x as likely as nonusers.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Replying to @davelevitan
>
> The truth is that someone actually did find one error. In the 2012 paper on HS violence, the researchers didn't say their hypothesis was that cannabis reduced violence, as I wrote. Their hypothesis was that cannabis was not associated with violence. So that's an actual mistake.

7:24 AM - 23 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 7 Likes

2 2 7

always nice online @SemiAutoSlurs · 23 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
haha, keep going!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

research of his own. Below are Gladwell version, Berenson version, and the study's ACTUAL hypothesi…

Show this thread

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Okay, so that's $200. I was waiting for someone to notice. You want me to send it to the ACLU?

7:26 AM - 23 Jan 2019

2

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019

Replying to

Sure.

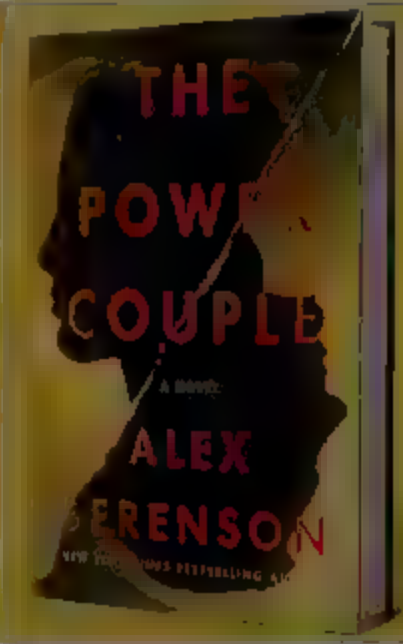
Want to explain the Bachhuber mistake?

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

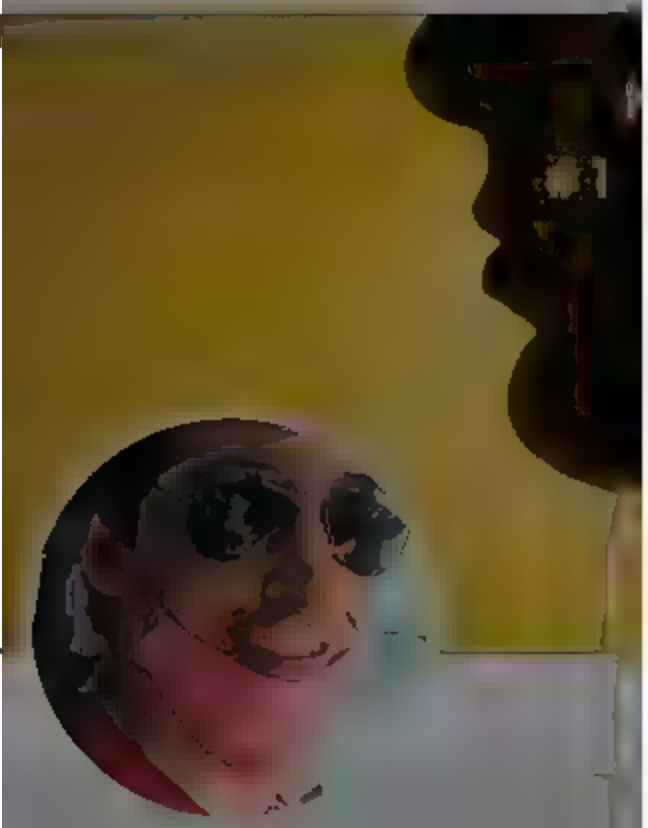
The Bachhuber paper shows that rates fell the most immediately after medical legalization, just as I said. I think he even writes about in the paper (can't swear to it, I'd have to double-check).

1



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 23 Jan 2019

Replying to



It's okay Alex, you still haven't had to pay out on this one. Or have you?

> ¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor
> Replying to @AlexBerenson
> "Find one place in my book where I misspelled my own name – go on, I dare ya. I double dare ya!"

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Correct. I added medical and non-medical users. And found that combined they were "more than twice." Exactly as the book says. Thanks for noticing. twitter.com/davelevitan/st…

3 4

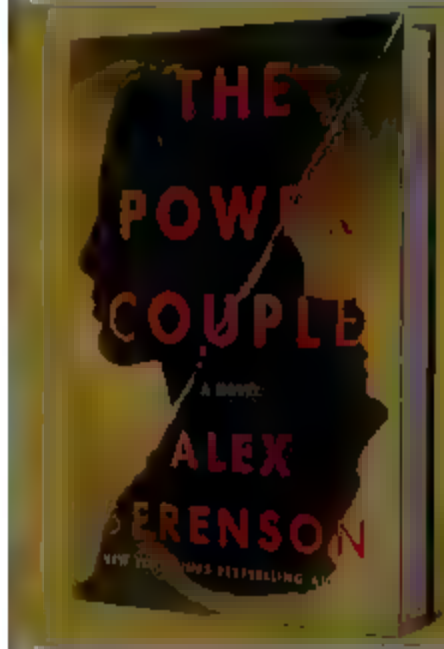
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

The truth is that someone actually did find one error. In the 2012 paper on HS violence, the researchers didn't say their hypothesis was that cannabis reduced violence, as I wrote. Their hypothesis was that cannabis was not associated with violence. So that's an actual mistake.

7:23 AM - 23 Jan 2019

2 Likes



1 2

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019
Replying to
Yeah. I found that.

> Dave Levitan @davelevitan
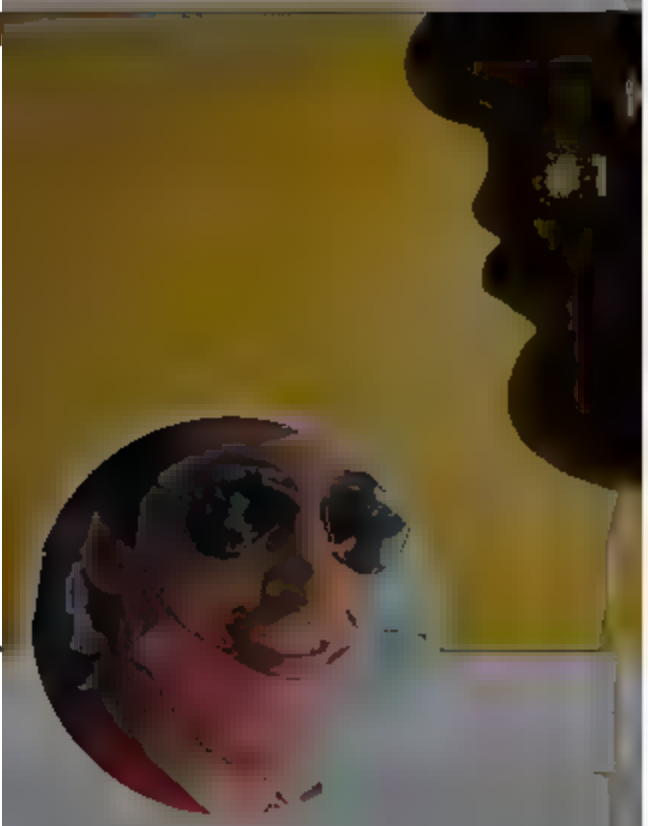
> Also, my god Gladwell! Read the goddamn study! He clearly just read Berenson's work and did no actual research of his own. Below are Gladwell version, Berenson version, and the study's ACTUAL hypothesi…
>
> Show this thread



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019
Okay, so that's $200. I was waiting for someone to notice. You want me to send it to the ACLU?

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019

Here's a fun one that's pure factual and not that big a deal. "In a December 1978 article, the Washington Post estimated the size of the market at $350 million annually—about $1.5 billion in today's dollars."

Hm, looks more like $1.3 billion?

CPI Inflation Calculator

$ 350.00

in December 1978

has the same buying power as

$1,298.84

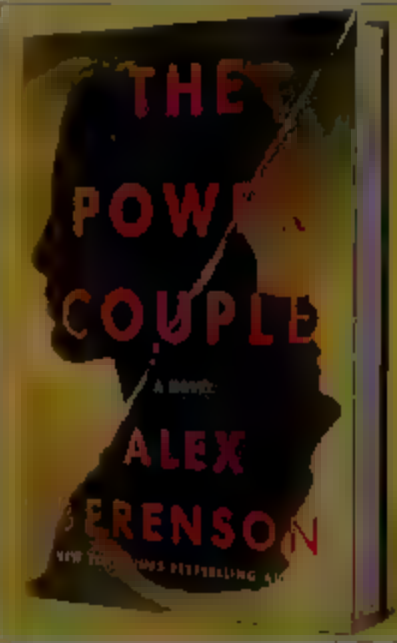
in December 2018

Calculate

1 8

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019

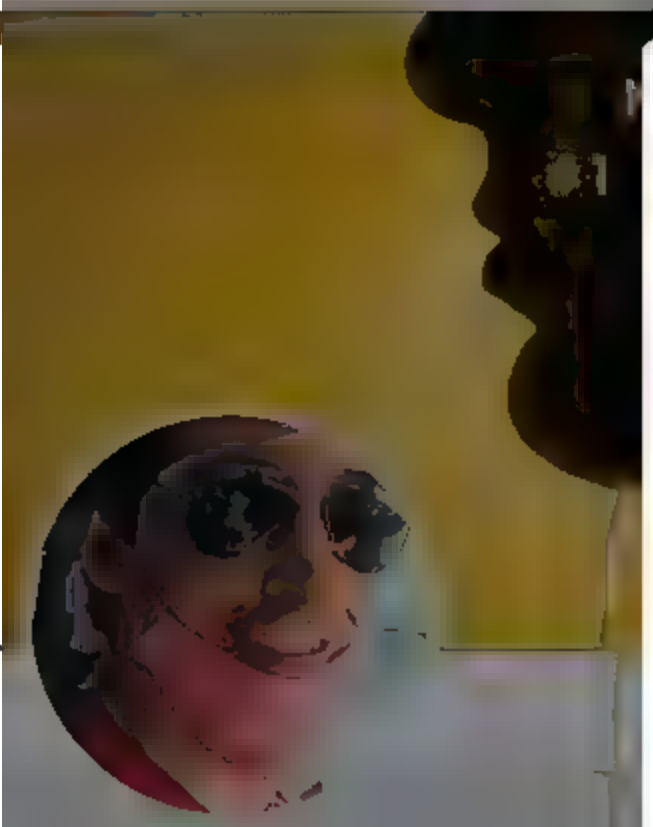
1.5 billion, 1.3 billion, who cares -- the point is, this is just fucking lazy! And there's lots of that!



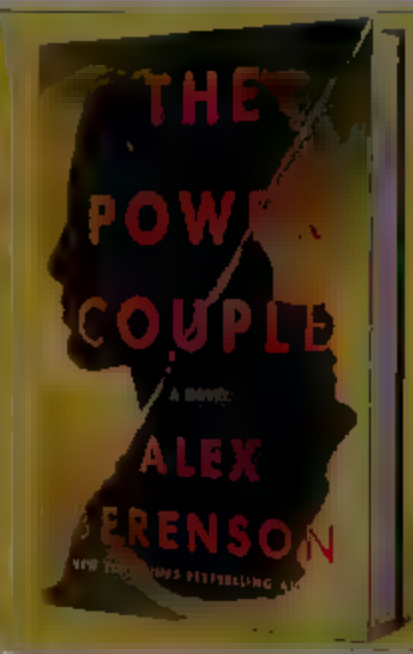
2 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



This is what you found? That the modern purchasing power estimate from a 1978 guesstimate of the size of an illegal market is $1.3 billion rather than "about $1.5 billion?" Wow. The book is even tighter than I realized.



7:20 AM - 23 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Dave Levitan @davelevitan · 23 Jan 2019

You can't do that! That's not how this works! The paper did not combine them. You completely misstate the paper's conclusions if you just do some extra statistical work that might not be valid!

Also, lol that this is what you're picking on.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Correct. I added medical and non-medical users. And found that combined they were "more than twice." Exactly as the book says. Thanks for noticing. twitter.com/davelevitan/st…

3 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Why can't I combine them? There's enough data provided to do so.

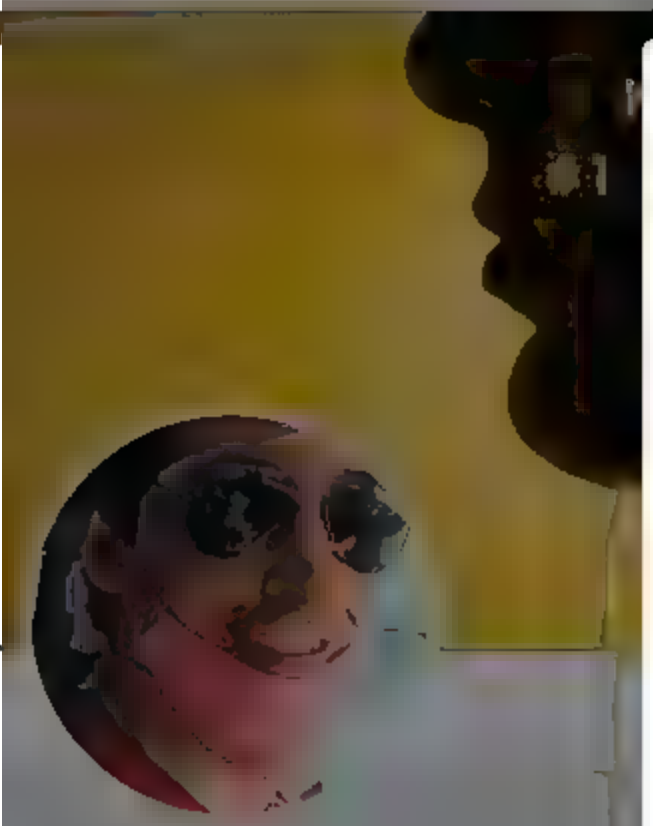
7:20 AM - 23 Jan 2019

1 Like

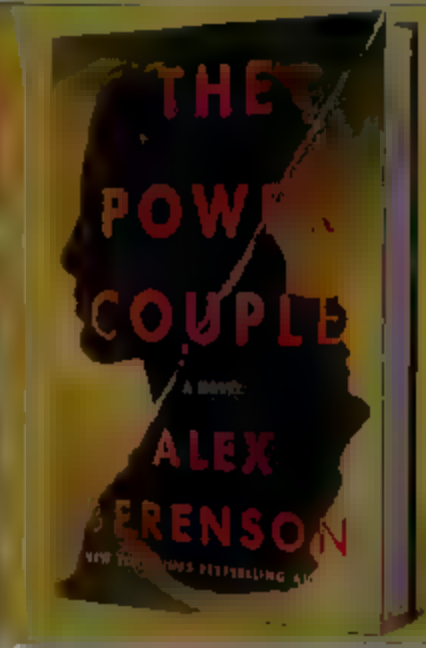
2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

Replying to



What is so interesting about the SF paper is that the researchers developed some fascinating data about cannabis and opioid use - it was staring at them. But they didn't even notice it, seemingly because it didn't fit their initial hypothesis.



infinite rest @wyspace · 23 Jan 2019

Replying to

did you see they mentioned your book in the New Yorker?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Correct. I added medical and non-medical users. And found that combined they were "more than twice." Exactly as the book says. Thanks for noticing.

> Dave Levitan @davelevitan
> Actual paper showed a BIGGER increase than "twice" – 3.81 times (which, factual error!), BUT ONLY for non-medical cannabis. Medical cannabis had no association. And they didn't measure them combined.
> Show this thread

7:10 AM - 23 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

1 1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

I'm no scholar of public health & know very little about the causes of psychosis. Bc of this, I'm leaving comments on that to my other roundtable participants. But I do know a lot about the history of cannabis marketing, and the problems it's caused in the past, hence my post

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

In reading your book, I was struck that the industry is far more sophisticated/canny now than it was in the 70s. It's avoided making the obvious mistake of marketing openly to teens and thus delayed the parental backlash, which was so crucial to ending the first move to legalize.

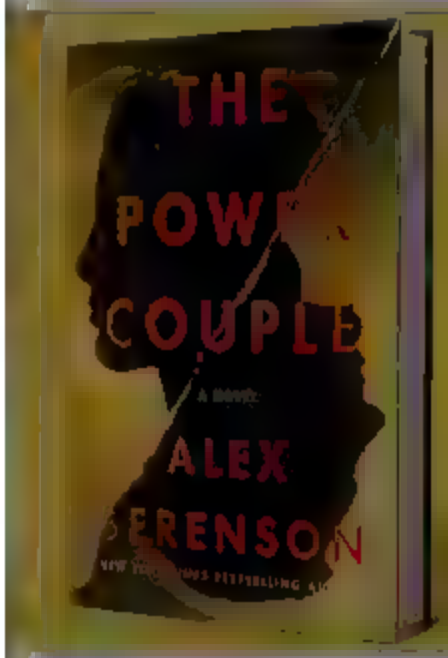
6:29 AM - 23 Jan 2019

1

Emily Dufton @emily_dufton · 23 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

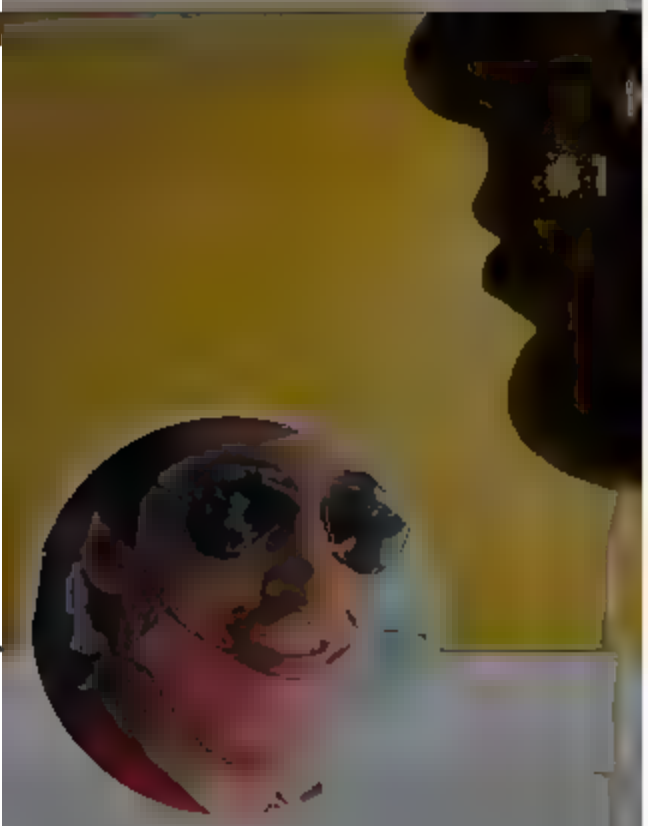
Absolutely. Relatively low rates of current adolescent use are also key.



1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

Yes - for whatever reason use has spiked in the 18-25 cohort but not 12-17. (Though teens are healthier by many measures - maybe all that helicopter parenting actually works! Or maybe it's the death of teen smoking, in which case vaping is going to give us a nasty surprise.)



1

[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 2 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

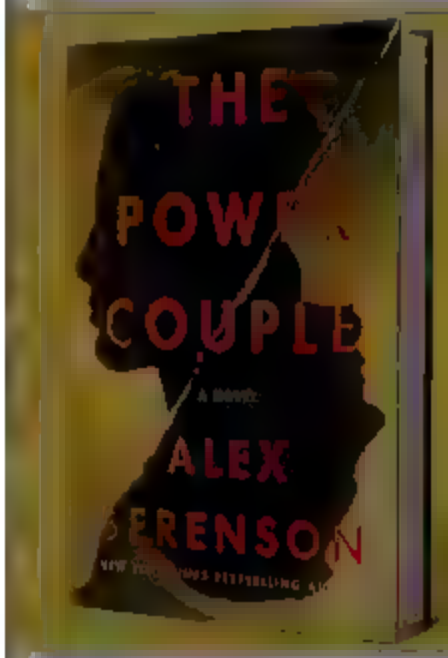
Emily - correct me if I'm wrong, but in reading your piece I didn't think you were saying that TYC is wrong on the science around cannabis and psychosis, but rather that focusing on the issue is a bad bc it distracts from the crisis around the way US legalization has proceeded.

6:14 AM - 23 Jan 2019

1

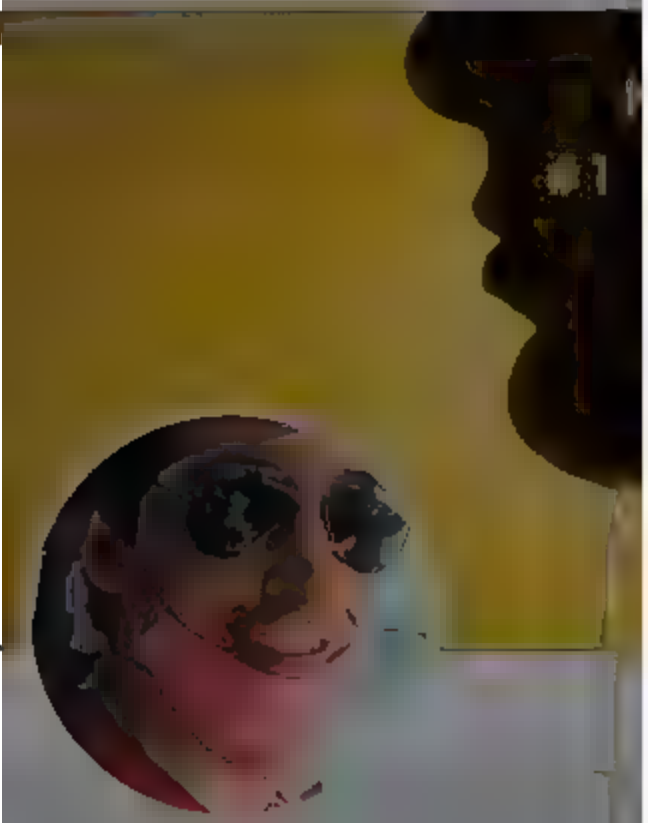
Emily Dufton @emily_dufton · 23 Jan 2019

Replying to



I'm no scholar of public health & know very little about the causes of psychosis. Bc of this, I'm leaving comments on that to my other roundtable participants. But I do know a lot about the history of cannabis marketing, and the problems it's caused in the past, hence my post

2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Jan 2019

In reading your book, I was struck that the industry is far more sophisticated/canny now than it was in the 70s. It's avoided making the obvious mistake of marketing openly to teens and thus delayed the parental backlash, which was so crucial to ending the first move to legalize.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

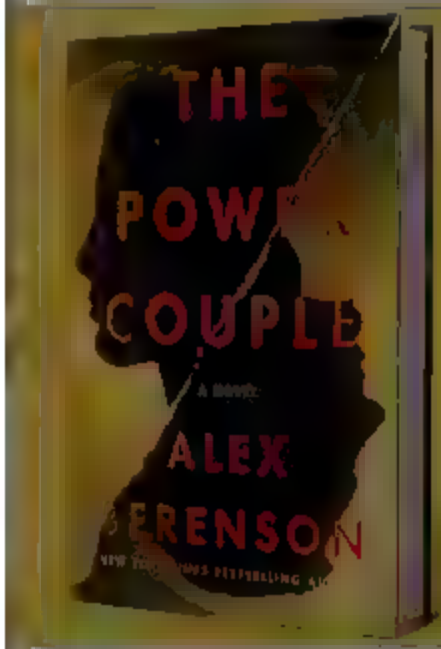
Those would be unethical. You can't test a drug solely for harm and the evidence for cannabis as medicine (even in pain relief) is not strong enough to justify large long-term clinical trials for any theoretical benefit.

5:10 AM - 23 Jan 2019

2

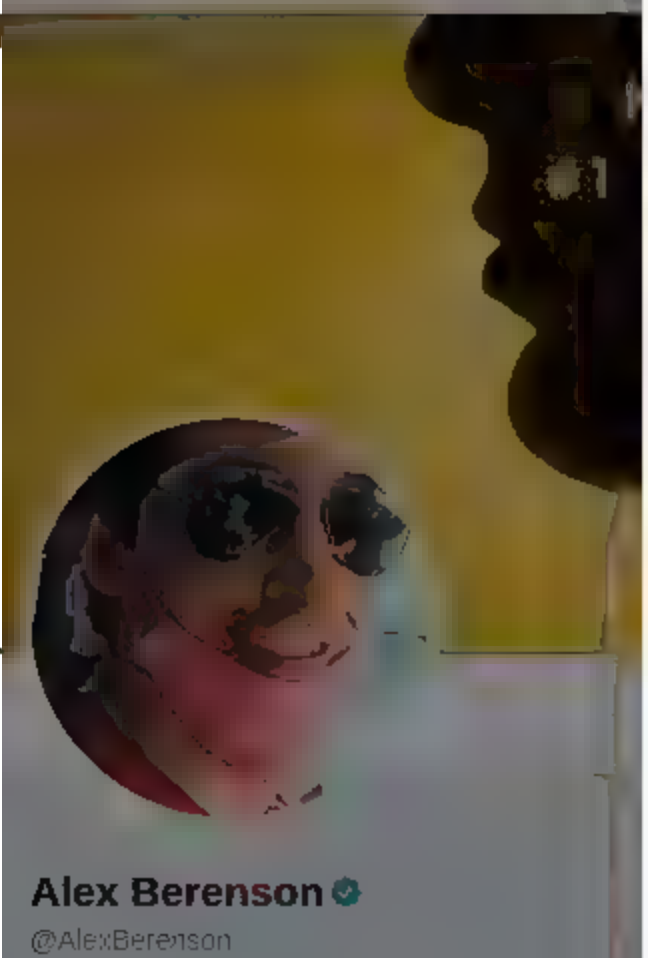
Alexander Linklater @ARLinklater · 23 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]



Isn't this the "Clarence Little" moment for cannabis? Studies show "correlation not causation". (Repeated even by former head of UK Medical Research Council, Colin Blakemore.) How to cross the line to demonstrate causality? How was the tobacco-cancer argument won, scientifically?

1



Alexander Linklater @ARLinklater · 23 Jan 2019

I notice [redacted] article didn't mention studies outside the US, like Dunedin

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

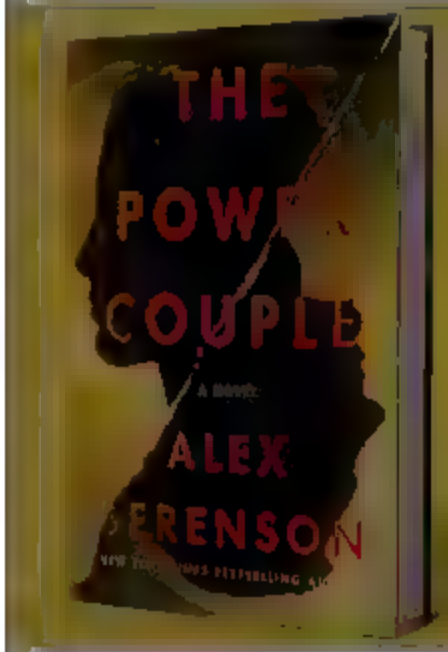
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

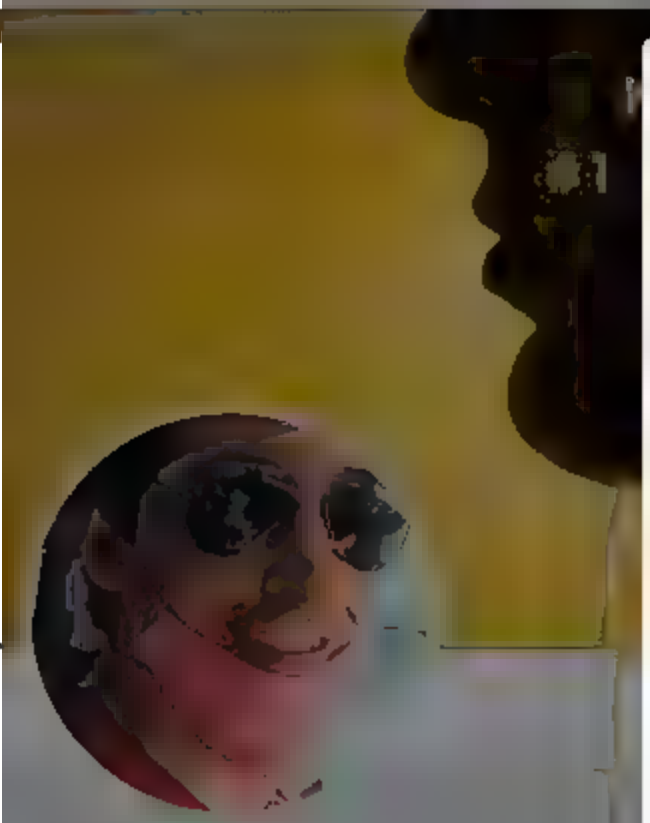
2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

And I'm sorry you're facing a media blackout. I have a similar problem here with @NPR, which canceled an interview bc of unspecified concerns on my "methodology and conclusions." I thought the media's job was to ask tough questions of subjects with controversial views. Silly me.



5:22 AM - 23 Jan 2019

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Smart piece about cannabis and psychosis in @USATODAY from a Harvard psychiatrist: "I've cared for dozens of young people experiencing their first psychotic episode, and many are 'wake and bakers' who use weed throughout the day."

4:22 AM - 23 Jan 2019

14 Retweets 31 Likes

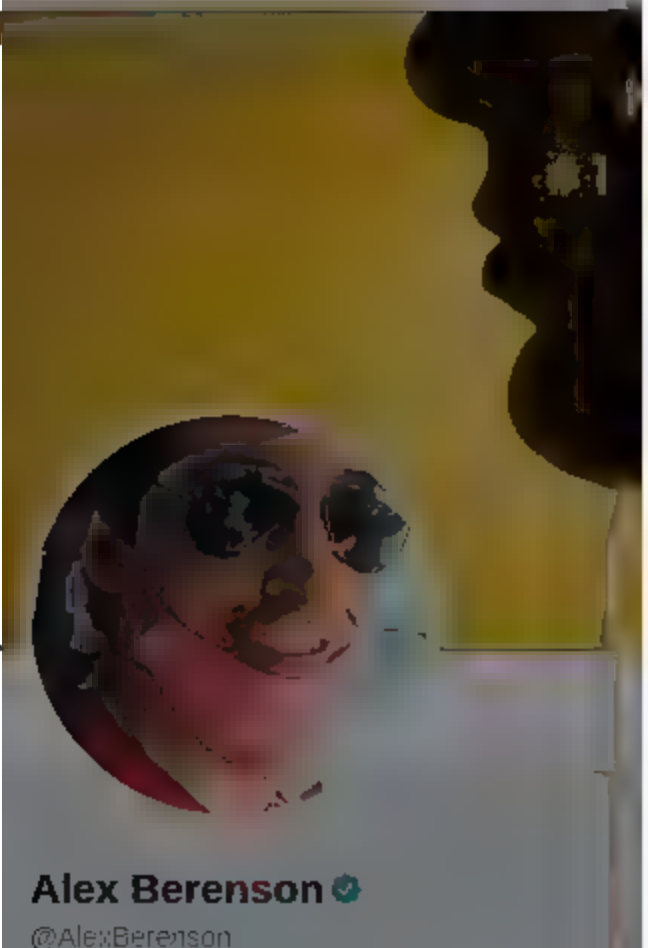
3 14 31



Alexander Linklater @ARLinklater · 23 Jan 2019

Replying to

Looking forward to your book. Gave up trying to write about it in the U.K.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Given the prevalence of cannabis and schizophrenia, and that schizophrenics are prone to use cannabis and violence, how many acts of violence should we expect cannabis-consuming schizophrenics to commit if cannabis neither increases nor decreases such incidents?

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

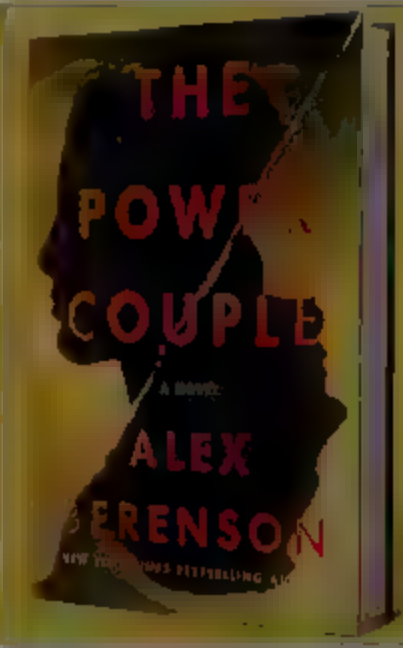
1/ Didn't we already go through this, Matt? Most of the excess violence risk of schizophrenia is mediated by drug use, and the most common drug that people with schizophrenia use is cannabis.

6:45 PM - 22 Jan 2019

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 22 Jan 2019

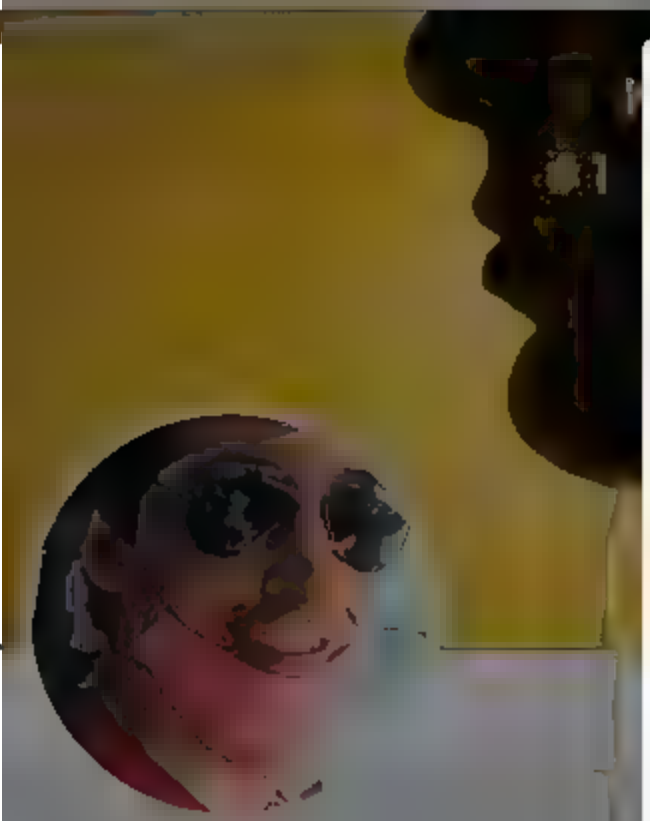
Replying to



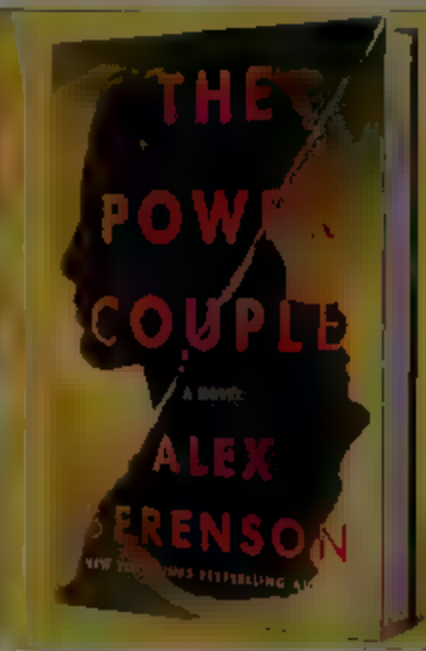
I ask because you're still hunting for and sharing (cherry picking) news clippings implicating cannabis in bizarre acts of violence as if they prove something, beyond the media's proclivity for reporting bizarre acts of violence, rather than, say, stoners playing video games.

1 1 6

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 22 Jan 2019



If it's your opinion that minors and schizophrenics shouldn't self-medicate with cannabis lacking CBD, welcome to the club. If you think criminal prohibition is the optimal response for mitigating harm, you're tragically mistaken and unfamiliar with the literature on the subject.



1 1 6

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ Framing the question this way actually serves to highlight the connection. When people with schizophrenia take antipsychotics and don't use recreational drugs, their excess violence risk is minor. Drug use worsens psychosis and paranoia and drives the violence.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Replying to @melrod42 @DailyMail
>
> 1/ Didn't we already go through this, Matt? Most of the excess violence risk of schizophrenia is mediated by drug use, and the most common drug that people with schizophrenia use is cannabis.

6:48 PM - 22 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 8 Likes

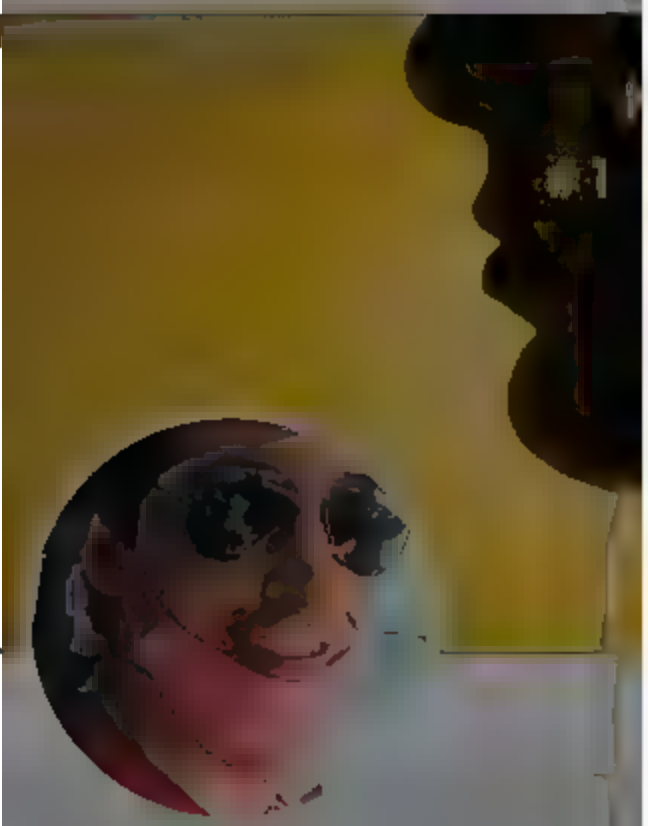
3 2 8



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]

Prozac and alchohol etc are also used. Didn;'t we go through this with the Netherlands and Spain entire countries with legal and lower rates of schizophrenia and also violence than their direct neighbors. Cannabis is global btw.

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]

How does Iceland fit into your theory? A country with perhaps the highest per capita cannabis usage rates in the world, despite prohibition, relatively low

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

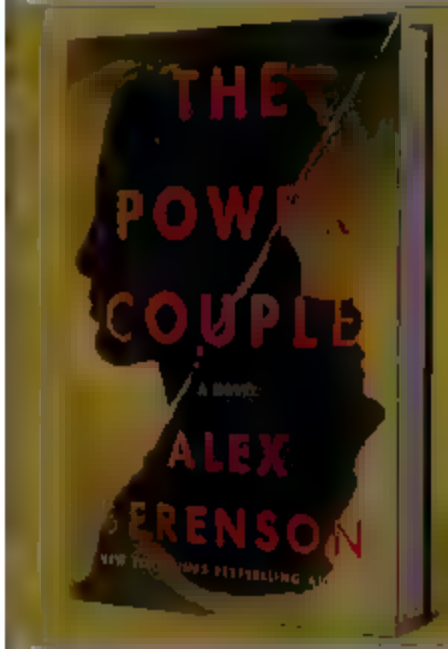
christy brown @mystocean · 22 Jan 2019
When evaluating a patient's risk of violence, the presence of psychosis is a crucial concern. Douglas et al1 found that psychosis was the most important predictor of violent behavior in an analysis of 204 studies...

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Jan 2019
1/ 4% or so of people have diagnosable psychotic disorders over their lives. 15-24% of prisoners report psychotic symptoms, per a 2005 BJS study. 0.7% of people have schizophrenia. They account for 6-9% of murders. Psychosis is a major risk factor for violence...

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

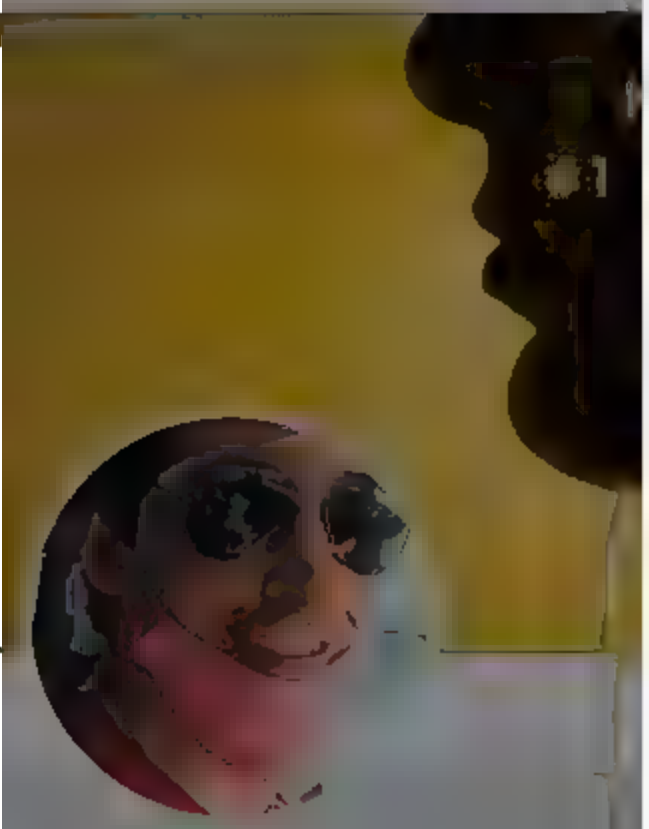


Replying to

Okay so now we're saying a 20x risk ratio is not the same as causality? Would you argue that tobacco does not cause lung cancer? Have fun with that.

5:27 PM - 22 Jan 2019

1 Like

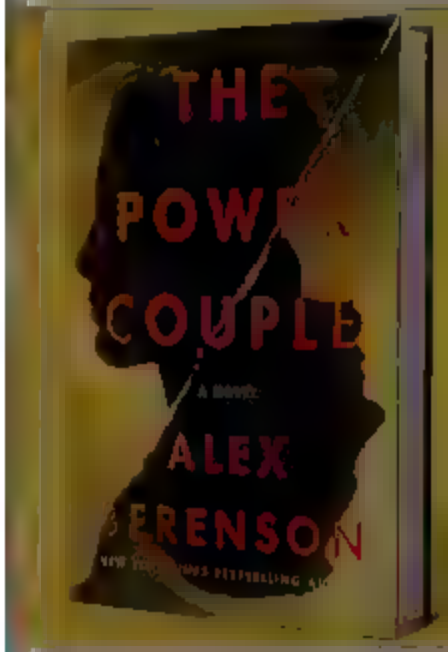


1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

This Texas case ended today in an NGRI, which makes it slightly unusual. So is the clarity with which @DailyMail explained the connection. But I'm sure someone will try to explain it away nonetheless:

FREE - On the App Store

Mail .com

Schizophrenic, 29, who went on a deadly stabbing spree at a Texas church service because 'voices' told him to is found not guilty due to insanity, as court heard that smoking marijuana made his psychosis worse

By Associated Press
15:22 EST 22 Jan 2019, updated 19:43 EST 22 Jan 2019

6:26 PM - 22 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 9 Likes

11 4 9

using random-effects models. Ten demographic and clinical variables were extracted from each study to test for any observed heterogeneity in the risk estimates. We identified 20 individual studies reporting data from 18,423 individuals with schizophrenia and other psychoses. In men, ORs for the comparison of violence in those with schizophrenia and other psychoses with those without mental disorders varied from 1 to 7 with substantial heterogeneity (I^2=86%). In women, ORs ranged from 4 to 29 with substantial heterogeneity (I^2=85%). The effect of comorbid substance abuse was marked with the random-effects ORs of 2.1 (95% confidence interval [CI] 1.7–2.7) without comorbidity, and an OR of 8.9 (95% CI 5.4–14.7) with comorbidity (p<0.001 on metaregression). Risk estimates of violence in individuals with substance abuse (but without psychosis) were similar to those in individuals with psychosis with substance abuse comorbidity, and higher than all studies with psychosis irrespective of comorbidity. Choice of outcome measure, whether the

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

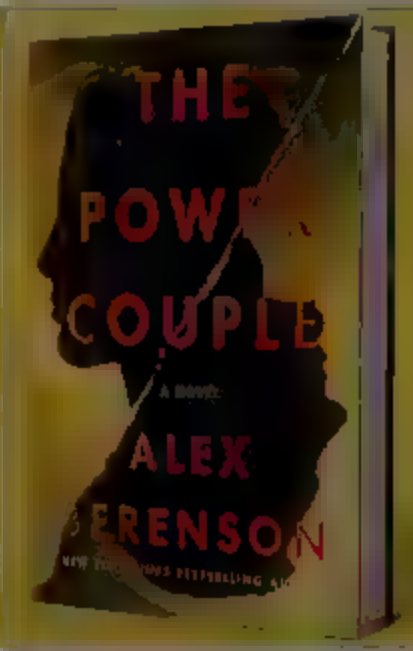
Replying to

Hold on, we can only say X causes Y if it does so in 100% of the population at risk? Wow. We need to stop saying cigarettes cause lung cancer. Somebody call Altria!

5:42 PM - 22 Jan 2019

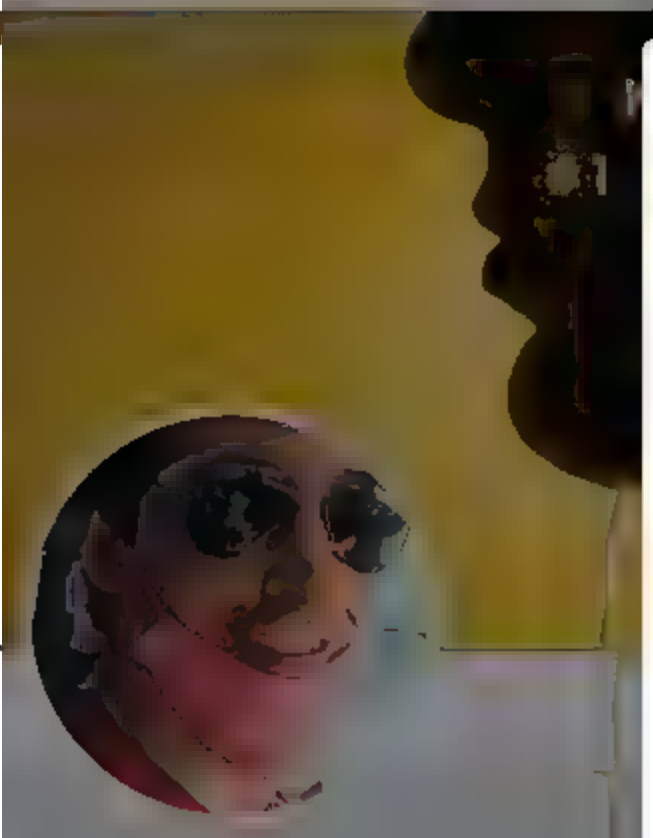
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

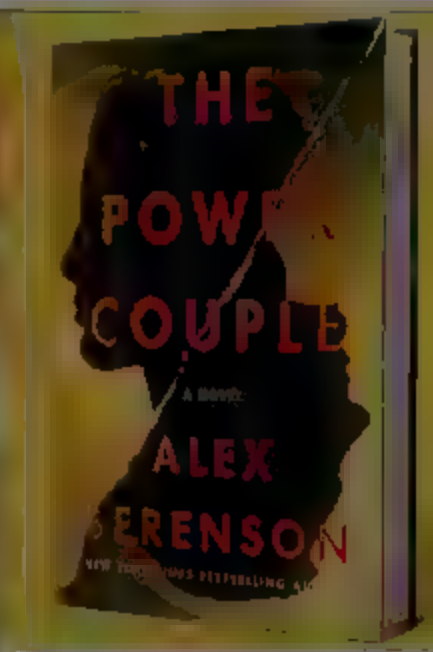


Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ And to pretend otherwise is not just misleading but dangerous to the families of people suffering from psychosis (especially if they are using cannabis or other drugs) - they need to know the facts about these risks.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to @leahmcelrath @mystocean @matthewstoller

1/ 4% or so of people have diagnosable psychotic disorders over their lives. 15-24% of prisoners report psychotic symptoms, per a 2005 BJS study. 0.7% of people have schizophrenia. They account for 6-9% of murders. Psychosis is a major risk factor for violence...

5:20 PM - 22 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 7 Likes

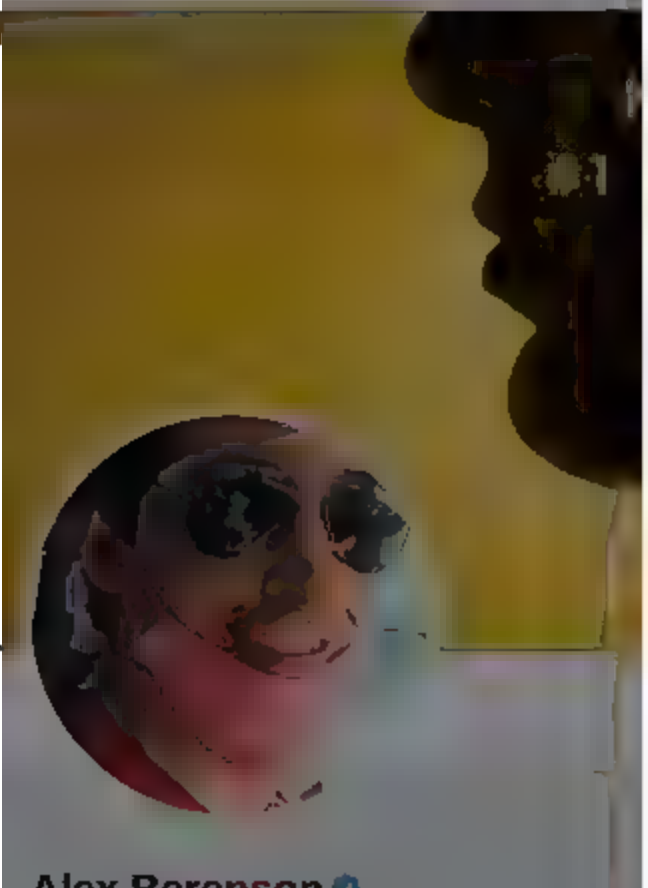
1 7

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



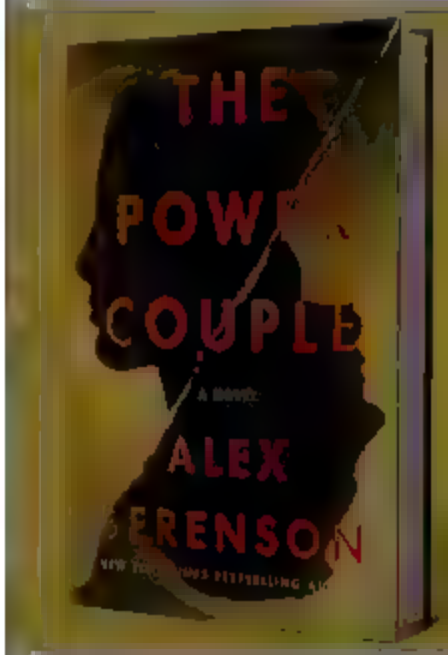
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

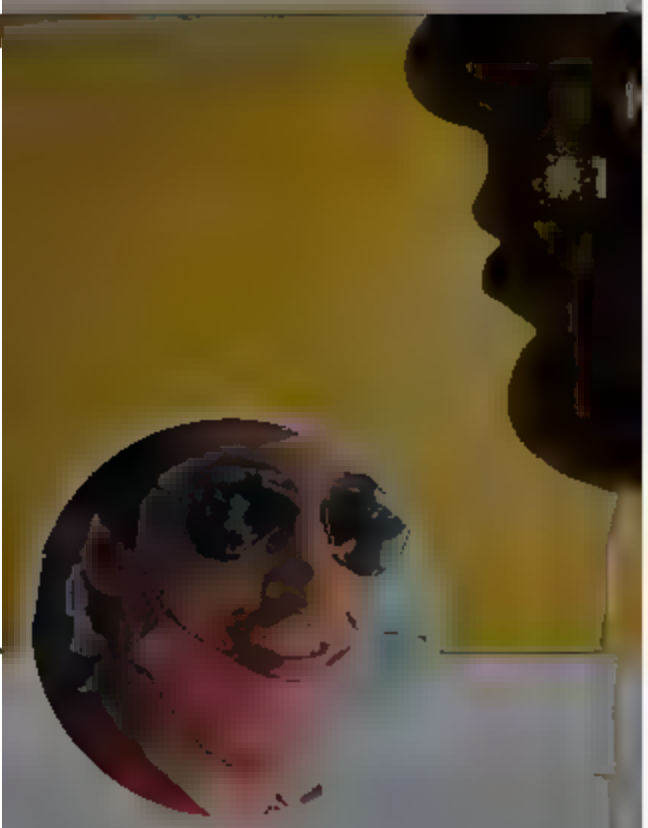
Replying to

She either doesn't know what the studies show or is pretending she doesn't. Not sure which is worse. The 2009 PLOS study is definitive and shows a 20x rate ratio for schizophrenia and homicide, with most of the risk mediated by substance abuse.

> risks of interpersonal violence and/or violent criminality in individuals with schizophrenia and other psychoses compared with general population samples. These data were meta-analysed and odds ratios (ORs) were pooled using random-effects models. Ten demographic and clinical variables were extracted from each study to test for any observed heterogeneity in the risk estimates. We identified 20 individual studies reporting data from 18,423 individuals with schizophrenia and other psychoses. In men, ORs for the comparison of violence in those with schizophrenia and other psychoses with those without mental disorders varied from 1 to 7 with substantial heterogeneity (I^2=86%). In women, ORs ranged from 4 to 29 with substantial heterogeneity (I^2=85%). The effect of comorbid substance abuse was marked with the random-effects ORs of 2.1 (95% confidence interval [CI] 1.7–2.7) without comorbidity, and an OR of 8.9 (95% CI 5.4–14.7) with comorbidity (p<0.001 on metaregression). Risk estimates of violence in individuals with substance abuse (but without psychosis) were similar to those in individuals with psychosis with substance abuse comorbidity, and



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

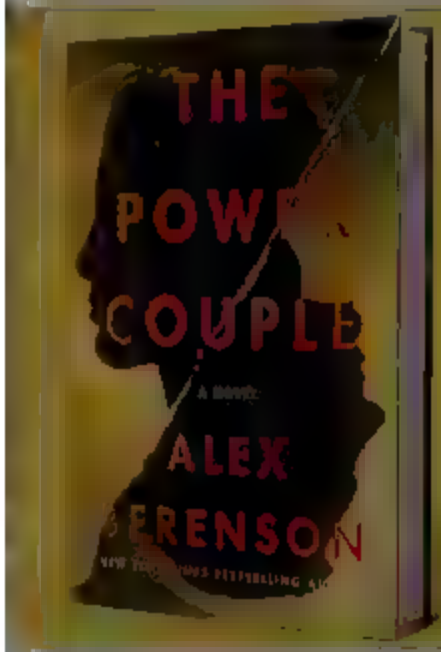
Joined November 2009

christy brown @mystocean · 22 Jan 2019
When evaluating a patient's risk of violence, the presence of psychosis is a crucial concern. Douglas et al1 found that psychosis was the most important predictor of violent behavior in an analysis of 204 studies...

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

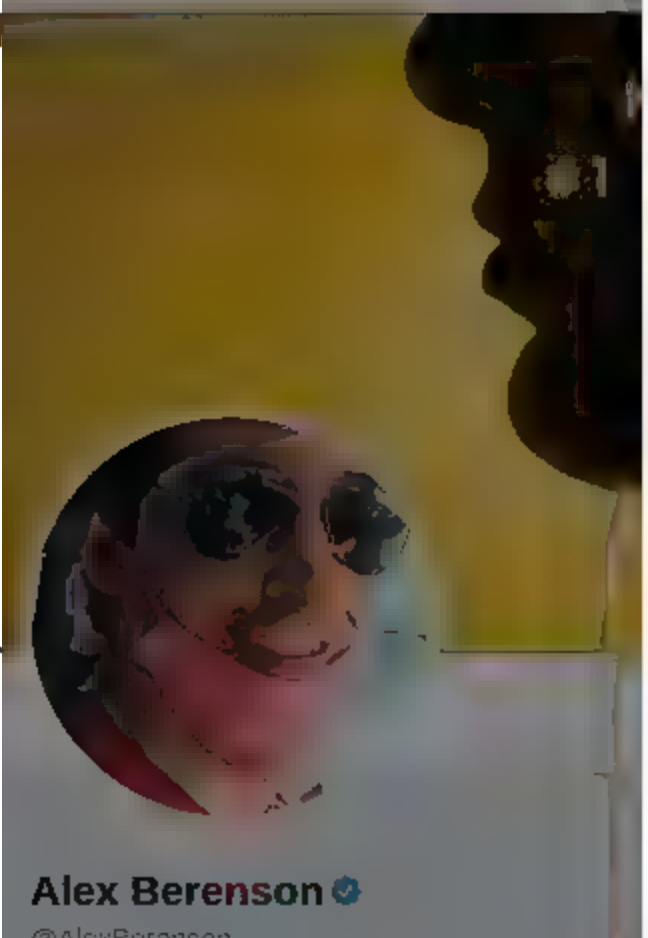
Replying to



1/ 4% or so of people have diagnosable psychotic disorders over their lives. 15-24% of prisoners report psychotic symptoms, per a 2005 BJS study. 0.7% of people have schizophrenia. They account for 6-9% of murders. Psychosis is a major risk factor for violence...

5:18 PM - 22 Jan 2019

This Tweet is unavailable.



Britta The Needlessly Defiant @DefiantBritta · 22 Jan 2019
That's the fundamental thing he doesn't understand. And refuses to learn.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Matt Stoller @matthewstoller · 22 Jan 2019

Berenson claims and implies it all the time. That's his whole marketing schtick, pot causes people to go crazy and murder people. Example:

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Meanwhile, in Washington state, two terrible cases in the last two weeks: Buckey Wolfe, 26, kills his brother with a sword. He has schizophrenia; on his FB page he lists "Cannabis Now Magazine" as a favorite.

5 4 119

Matt Stoller @matthewstoller · 22 Jan 2019

Example:

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
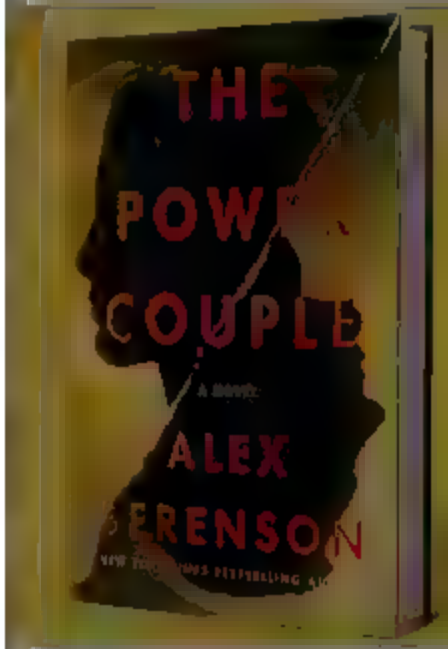
> 1/ Sometimes the user winds up the victim of cannabis-induced psychosis, as in this sad case from Ft. Collins, Co, in 2017, where a 19-year-old man was shot and killed by police after refusing to drop a knife: westword.com/news/mom-seeks...

2 2

christy brown @mystocean · 22 Jan 2019

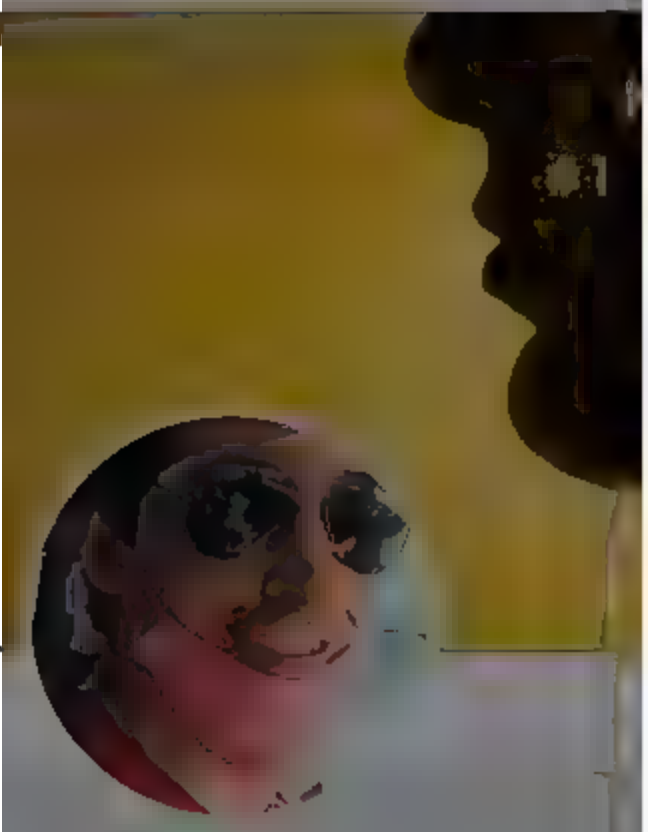
You conflate 2 issues--rise in murder/assault in legal states overall is separate from specific cases. 2017 NA of Sciences: "Cannabis use is likely to increase the risk of developing schizophrenia and other psychoses; the higher the use the greater the risk." Read book 1st.



1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]



Don't confuse him with facts.

4:22 PM - 22 Jan 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

marijuana?

If people substitute alcohol with marijuana, do you think there would be more violence or less?

1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

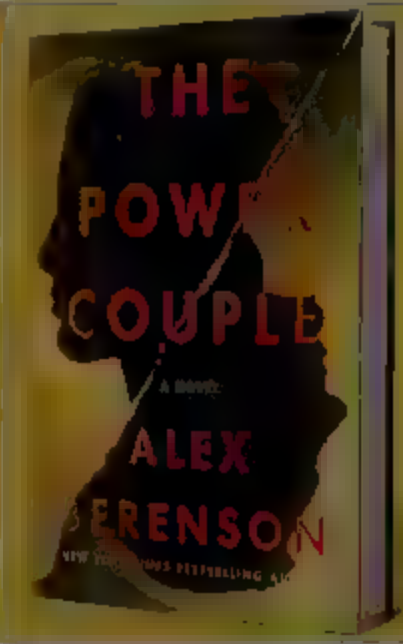
Yes, alcohol causes violence. The rate ratios on several big studies are similar, with cannabis a bit worse. They cause different kinds of violence, though. Alcohol escalates conflict; marijuana provokes psychosis, and the victims often are taken by surprise.

3:30 PM - 22 Jan 2019

10

kids posting their ABC's online @MandelBernieBro · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
imagine believing this

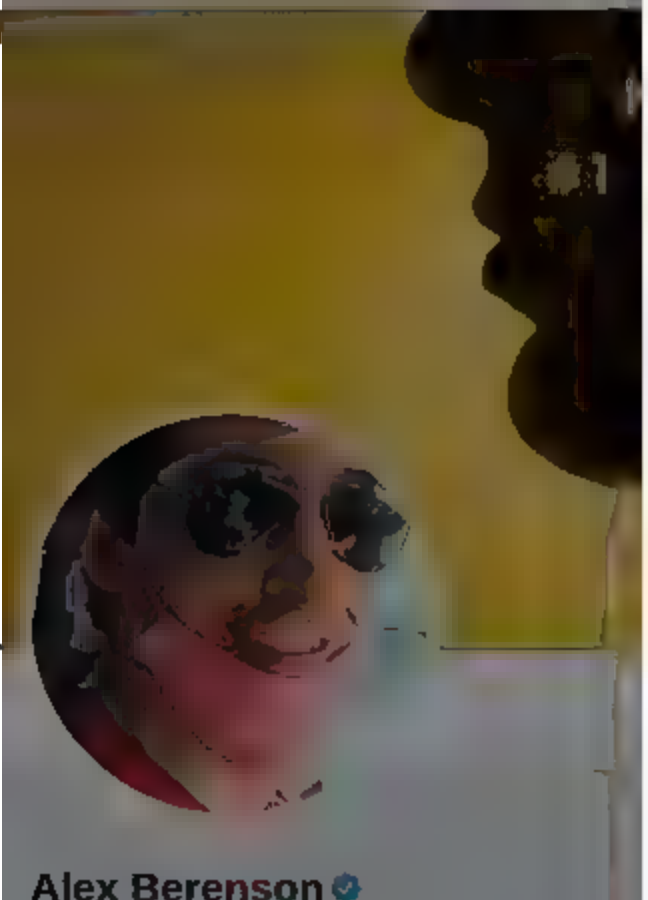
4



This Tweet is unavailable.

William Owen @Bill_Owen · 23 Jan 2019
And still not lethal dose.

Political Judo @PoliticalJudo · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
Never allow yourself to be published again.



2

Collateral Damage @Paladiumcrayon · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Buckey Wolfe, 26, kills his brother with a sword. He has schizophrenia; on his FB page he lists "Cannabis Now Magazine" as a favorite.

5 4 119

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Correct: cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. Those are facts. It's not a shtick. It's the truth, the truth the advocacy community will not accept. That's why they hate me so much. There's no drug stronger than denial.

1:12 PM - 22 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 6 Likes

236 4 6

ADAW @ADAWnews · 22 Jan 2019

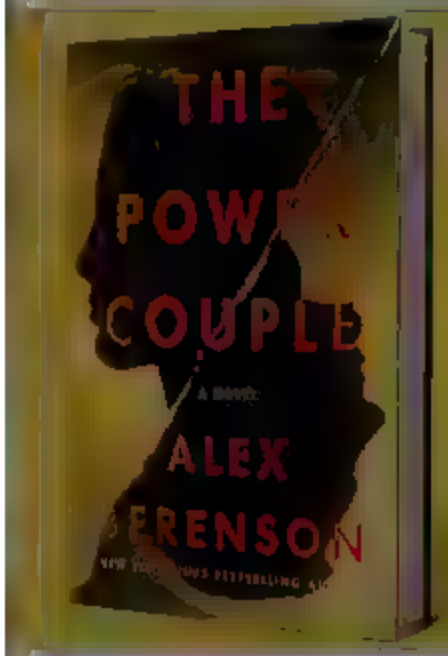
Replying to

Have you checked with the American Psychiatric Association on the "psychosis causes violence" assertion?

1 1 42

christy brown @mystocean · 22 Jan 2019

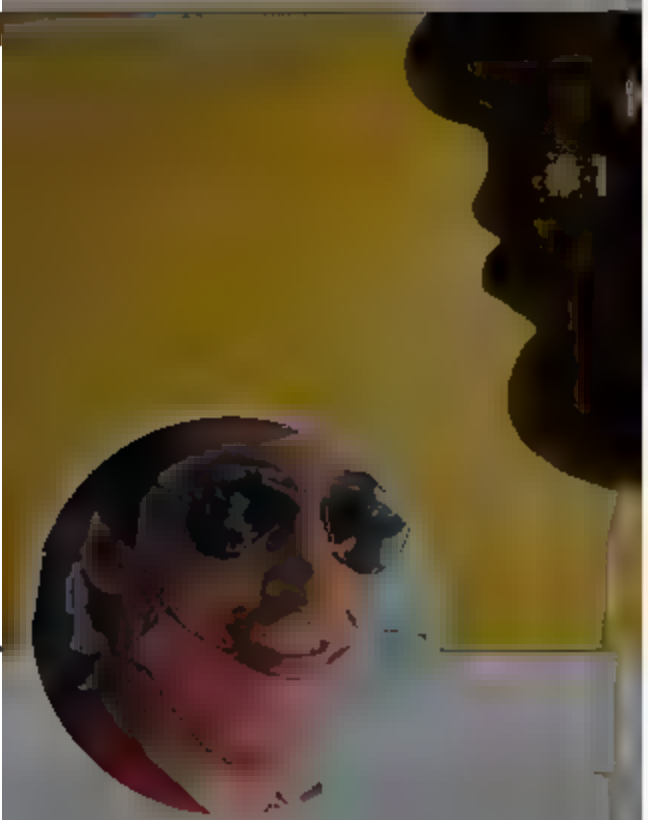
"Douglas et al1 found that psychosis was the most important predictor of violent behavior in an analysis of 204 studies examining the relationship between psychopathology and aggression." "



Matt Stoller @matthewstoller · 22 Jan 2019

Replying to

"There's no drug stronger than denial." —> Well there's narcissism



5 5 463

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Thanks much for pointing me to this; I'll see if I can find the archived posts. The fact the person Buckey Wolfe (allegedly) killed suggested he use cannabis to calm down while he was apparently in the middle of a psychotic episode would be ironic if it weren't so tragic.

8:33 AM - 22 Jan 2019

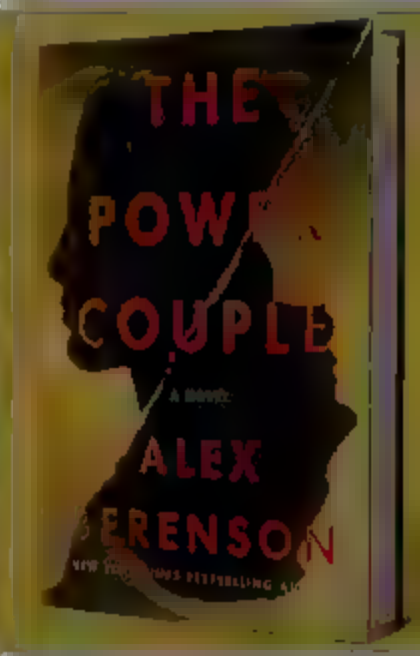
2

Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 22 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

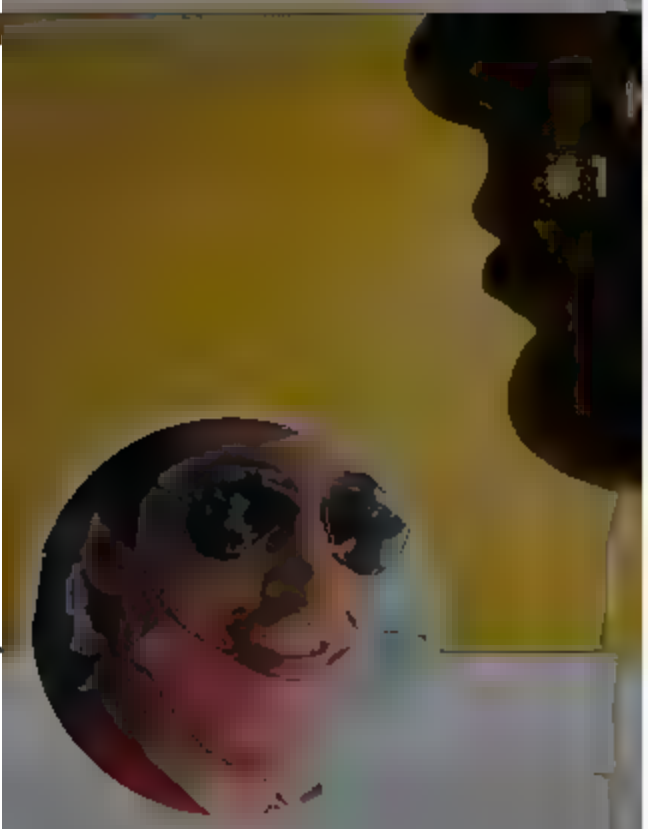
Christianity has long been associated with violence. This seems a much more plausible cause for his violent behaviour than [redacted]

> Wolfe also appears to be deeply religious, often posting about the need to repent and turn back to Christ. On January 2, he wrote, "EVERYONE Will be given a chance to turn to Christ our Lord and savior!!!!!! He wants you to live!!!!!! Please TURN TO HIM WITH EVERYTHING YOU HAVE!!!!!!!!!!!!!" Wolfe often posted YouTube videos of ancient and modern Christian music and wrote about the need to praise Christ."



1 1

christy brown @mystocean · 22 Jan 2019



24% of those wi schizophrenia have delusions with religious content. The lizard delusion is what he told police. The psychosis causes the delusion/paranoia leads to violence. [redacted]

2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

himself down." Facebook posts later taken down James advocates Buckey smoke pot.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Jan 2019

Thanks much for pointing me to this; I'll see if I can find the archived posts. The fact the person Buckey Wolfe (allegedly) killed suggested he use cannabis to calm down while he was apparently in the middle of a psychotic episode would be ironic if it weren't so tragic.

2

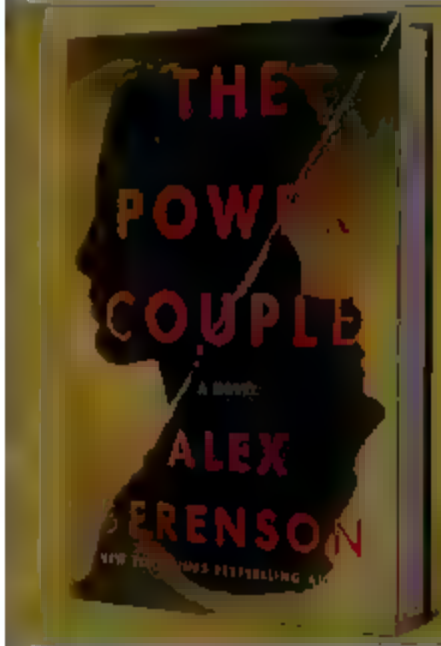
christy brown @mystocean · 22 Jan 2019

I saw the posts–poor Buckey very psychotic, family needed to hospitalize him, James did suggest he use/was using marijuana (James refers to his own delusions.) Media focused on connection with rw groups, but this was complete break from reality, not politics.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

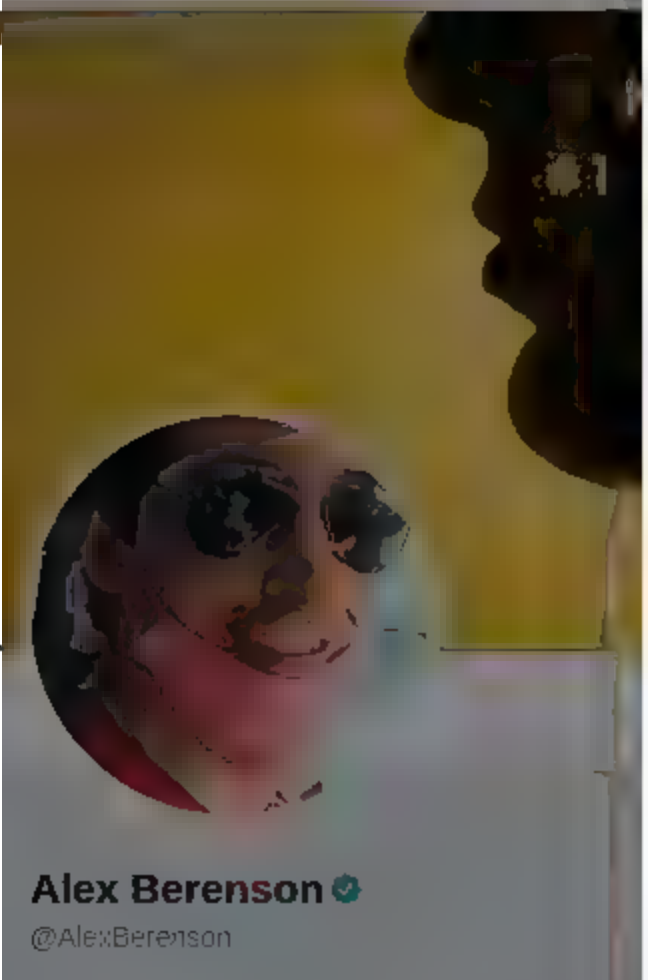
Replying to



Of course. Like the Gago case, which gets called domestic violence though it is obviously psychosis-driven.

9:03 AM - 22 Jan 2019

1 Like



1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5 1 2

Matt Stoller @matthewstoller · 22 Jan 2019
Its not the selling, it's the dishonesty.

1 13

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

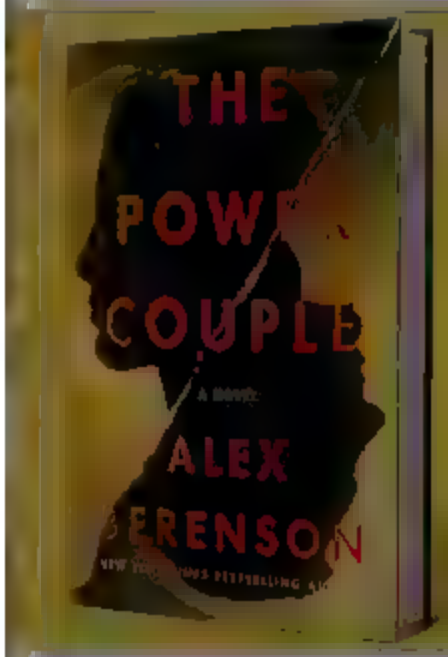
Have you read Tell Your Children yourself? Or are you depending on someone else's assessment when you level these allegations? Because some folks might call that intellectually dishonest.

9:46 AM - 22 Jan 2019

4

Matt Stoller @matthewstoller · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I read your New York Times op-ed. I did a bit of fact-checking on your sourcing and you misrepresented the research. Why would I read your book when your summary was so obviously dishonest?

2 17



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 22 Jan 2019
Alex Berenson: "I have proof cannabis causes psychosis and violence!"
Multitudes of experts in their fields: "NO!"
Alex: "Everyone should still buy and read my book because who trusts experts, am I right?"

1 13

[redacted]

LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
The real scientists at the National Academy of Medicine, who wrote the report that you base pretty much your entire piece on came out and said you misrepresented their research! How dense are you? You've conveniently ignored that fact this entire time

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Jan 2019

2/ Wonder when [illegible] will stop sticking their heads in the sand and bother to examine some of these cases.

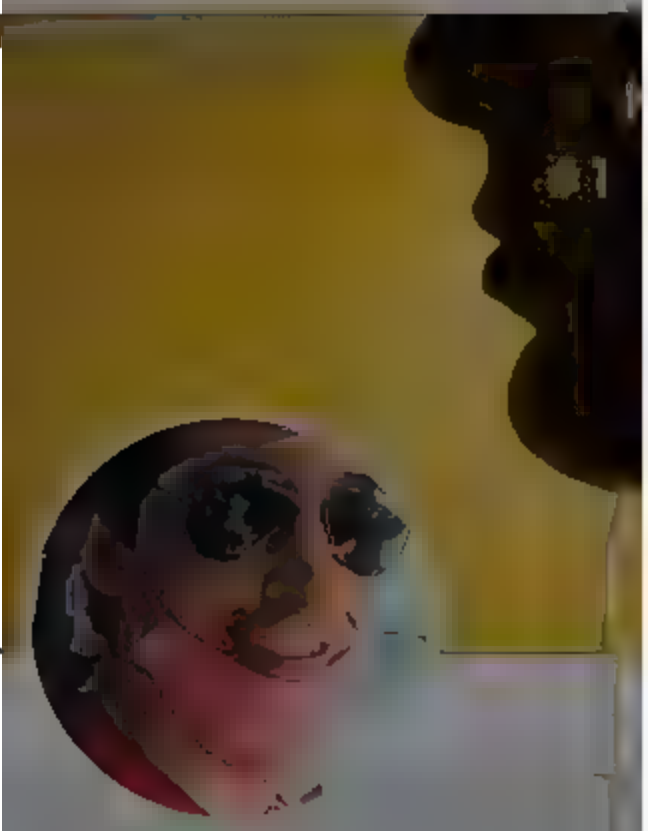
4 1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ A quick note for the sake of accuracy: Buckey Wolfe has been charged, not convicted, so it's appropriate to say "he allegedly killed his brother," not "he killed his brother."

7:41 AM - 22 Jan 2019

2



Thomas Taylor @tet3 · 22 Jan 2019

Replying to [illegible]

Except every style guide out there discourages use of that word, and it would be clearer to say "he is charged with killing his brother, and told a 911 dispatcher that he had done so."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

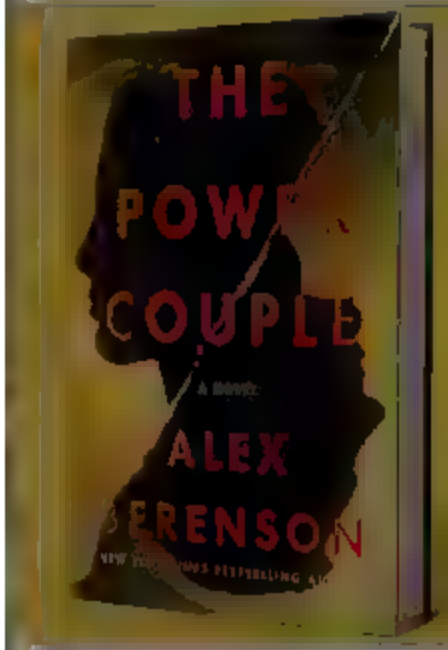
Replying to

"I hate to agree with Berenson because he seems like such a troll, but I don't think he's wrong here."

That's the sweetest thing anyone's ever said to me.

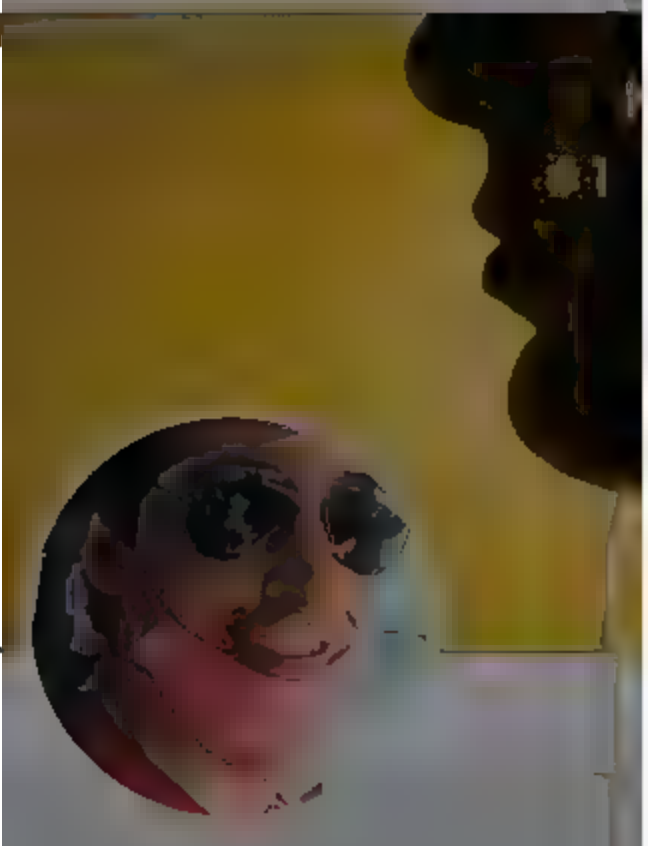
I liked your book, btw.

7:47 AM - 22 Jan 2019



4 Likes

1 4



Amy Long @amylorrainelong · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to

I'll make sure gets this message. (I accidentally tweeted as myself instead of @PointsADHSI) We appreciate your good sportsmanship!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

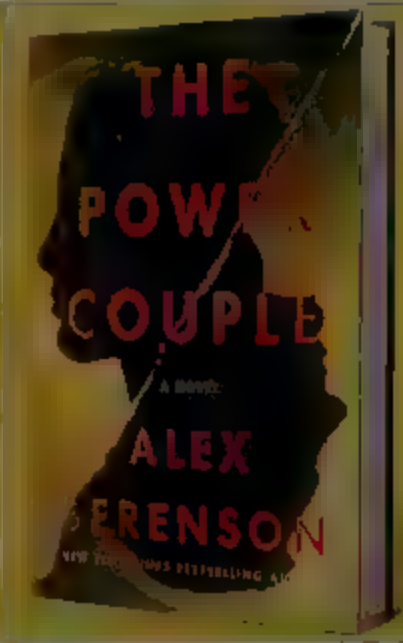
7 1 3

Eat Meat Be Happy! @swedishbikini · 22 Jan 2019
They must drug test him. We need to know if he had cannabis in his system.

1 1

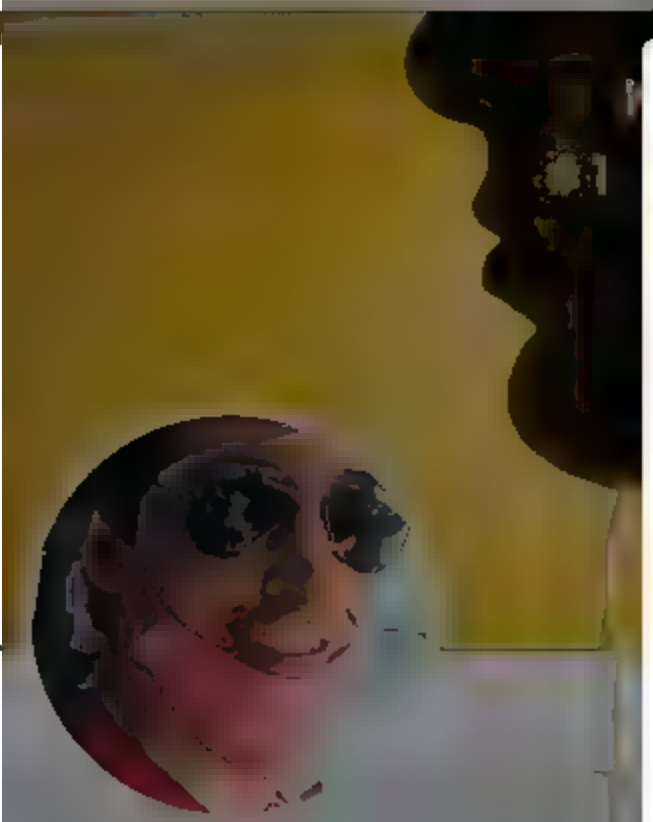
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



Law enforcement officers killed him so an autopsy and tox screen should be performed as a matter of course. Unfortunately, I believe Oregon does not have an open-records law for autopsy results (Colorado does). I hope they will be released as part of the investigation.

8:01 AM - 22 Jan 2019



1

Eat Meat Be Happy! @swedishbikini · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to
Needs to be done and we need to know for MJ policy reform. There are several incidents such as this tragedy which are also related to the legalization of marijuana.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ Wonder when @Oregonian @seattletimes will stop sticking their heads in the sand and bother to examine some of these cases.

7:37 AM - 22 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

4 1 2

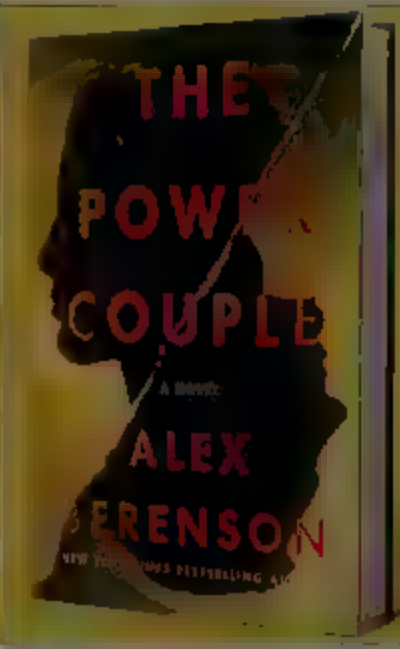
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Jan 2019

3/ A quick note for the sake of accuracy: Buckey Wolfe has been charged, not convicted, so it's appropriate to say "he allegedly killed his brother," not "he killed his brother."

2

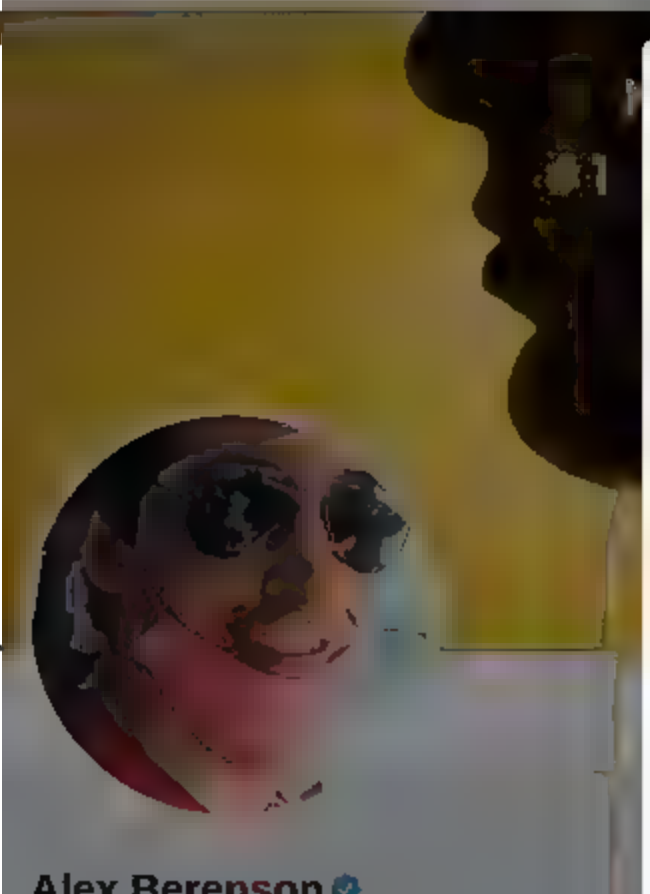
Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 22 Jan 2019

Replying to



The is better, as it doesn't try to coverup. SeattlePi, The Olympian, Spokane Spokesman-Review USED TO report when problems involved marijuana.

1

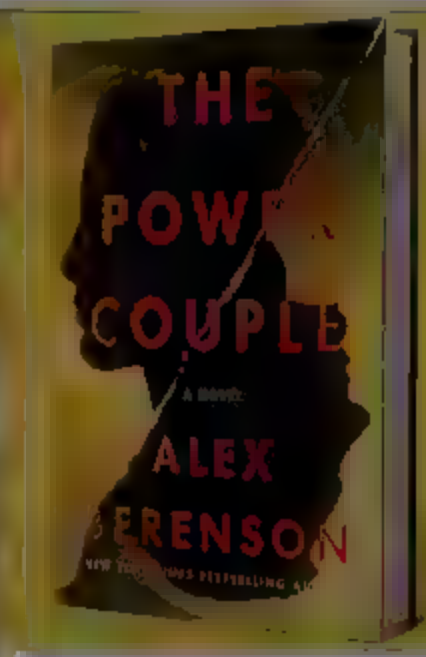


Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 22 Jan 2019

Replying to

I think one reason few seem as alarmed as you is that the vast majority of cannabis consumers do not become psychotic, much less violent. Maybe more media coverage of the rare exceptions would distort that perception, but is that what you want?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

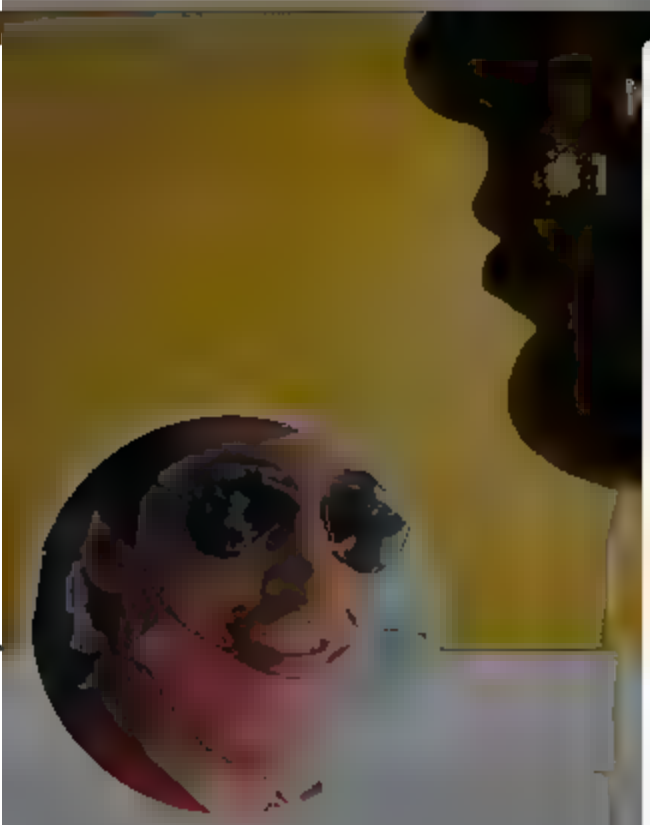
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Meanwhile, in Washington state, two terrible cases in the last two weeks: Buckey Wolfe, 26, kills his brother with a sword. He has schizophrenia; on his FB page he lists "Cannabis Now Magazine" as a favorite.

7:35 AM - 22 Jan 2019



3 Likes

8 3

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 22 Jan 2019

Replying to

Washington state is the worse at coverup, with Seattle Times taking lead and a sheriff lying in television commercial to other states.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

"Gago had reportedly turned violent in recent weeks... She thought he was high on drugs." A 42-year-old Oregon man with no serious criminal history slaughters 4 people, including his baby girl.

Let's see what the tox screen shows.

7:29 AM - 22 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

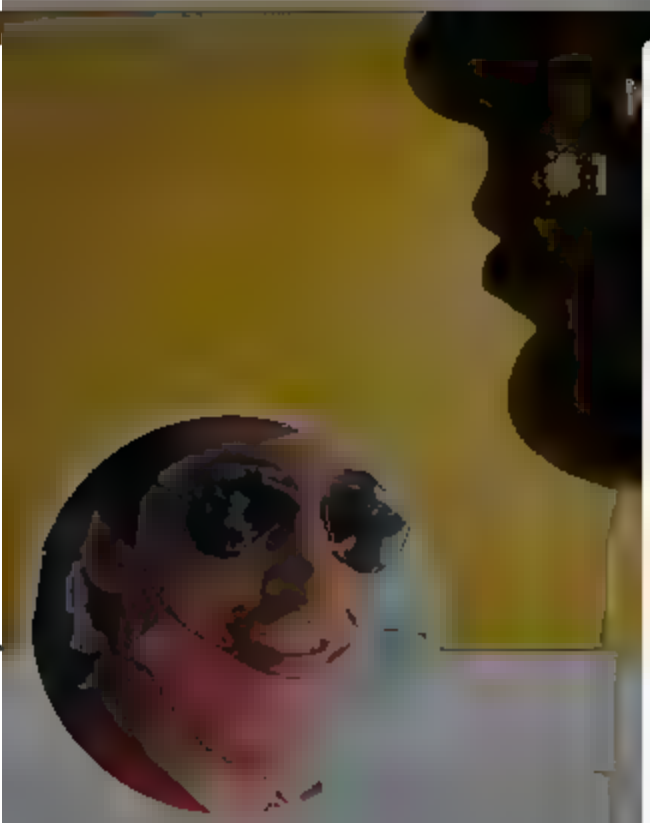
7 1 3

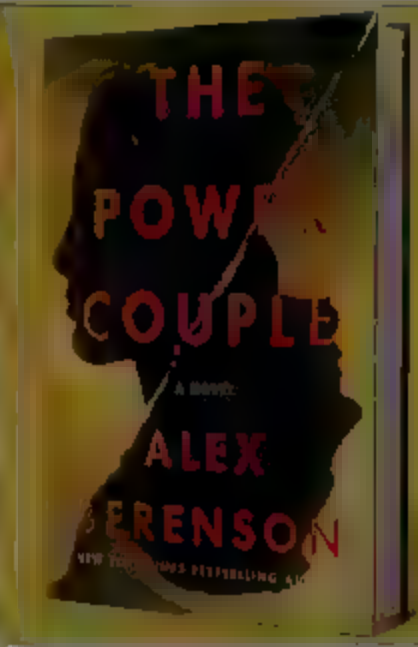


ADAW @ADAWnews · 22 Jan 2019

Replying to

Good you're an author and not a judge.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Doubling my offer: Find one factual error in Tell Your Children, get $200. Please. Apparently I've made terrible mistakes! Help me fix them!

6:37 AM - 22 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 14 Likes

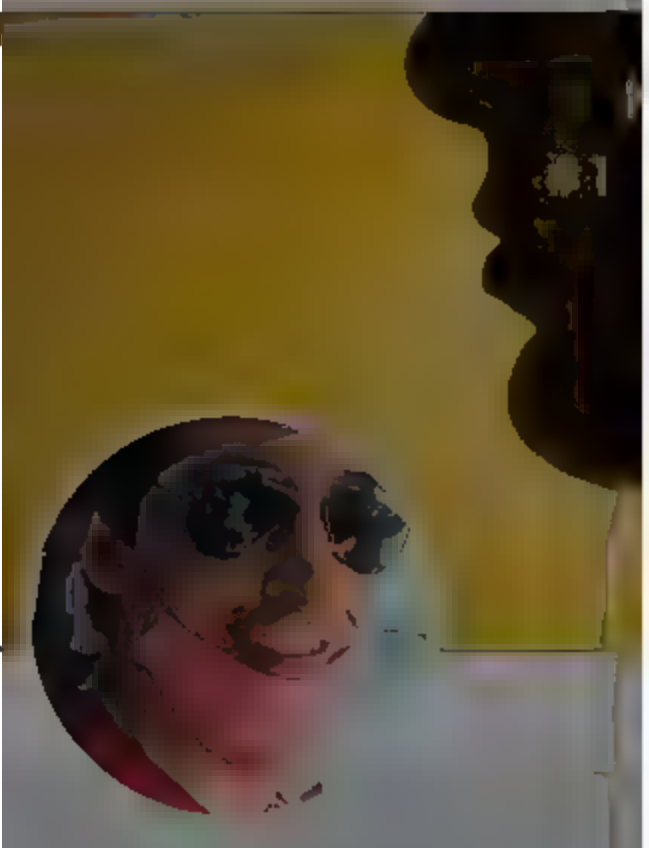
18 1 14

Dominick Bucci @Moondog2138 · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to
To do that I would first have to purchase your book and that's not going to happen. Perhaps sending a copy to Dr Hart for him to evaluate would be the thing to do.

1 5

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 22 Jan 2019
Dr. . Hart would be biased. He has been on the board of DPA for quite a few years now. He would have a vested interest in slamming it, which he already did in one review. Need to find an unbiased researcher.

2 1



Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to
I think the biggest mistake was made by your publisher.

12

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4 1 19

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Any day, any hour

7:30 PM - 21 Jan 2019

2

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
"I have no plans to read the book."🤣

Alex is happy to "debate" anyone with a public profile because at this point that's the only way he's going to keep getting exposure for his already discredited book.

His attempts to malign the experts are designed to keep attention on him.

violence? I have given thousands of doses of cannabis to people as part of my research. I have never seen a research participant become violent or aggressive while under the influence of the drug as claimed in the OpEd.

> Shamus Khan @shamuskhan
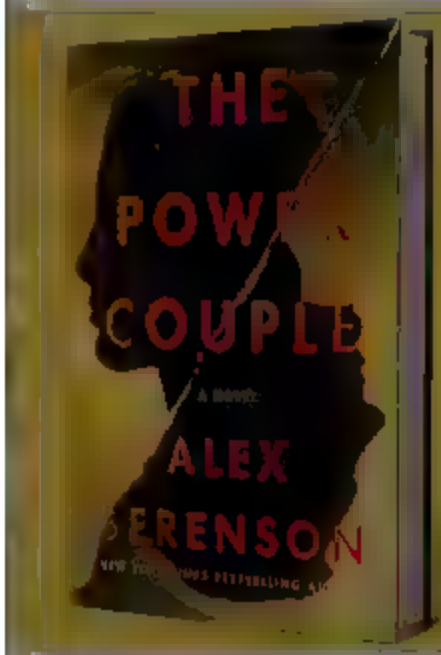
> I want to know what @drcarlhart thinks of @AlexBerenson book on smoking pot.



11 47 134

Carl Hart @drcarlhart · Jan 9
3/4
Psychosis? The between link cannabis and psychosis is complex but has not been causally established. My colleague and I published a critical review on the topic a few years ago. It can be found here: [redacted]

> Shamus Khan @shamuskhan
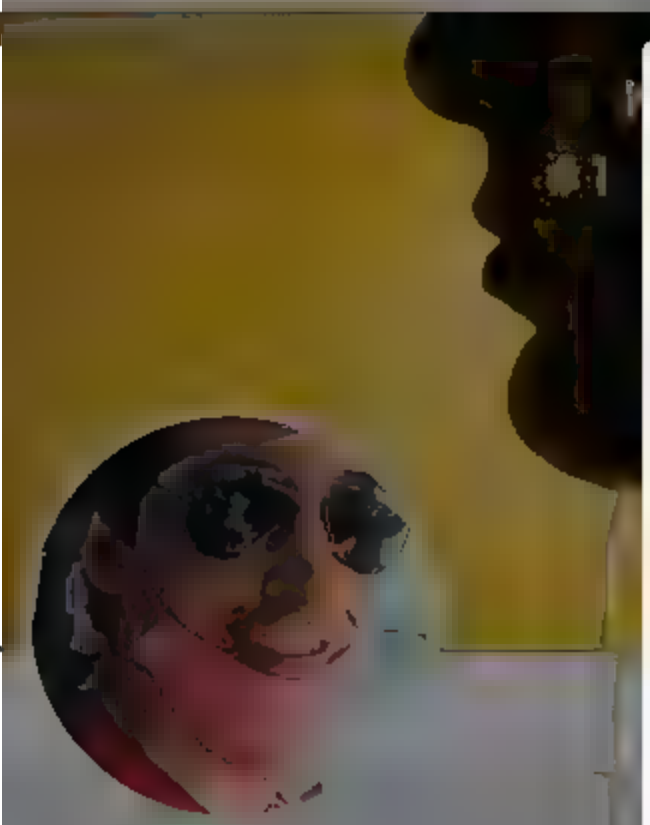
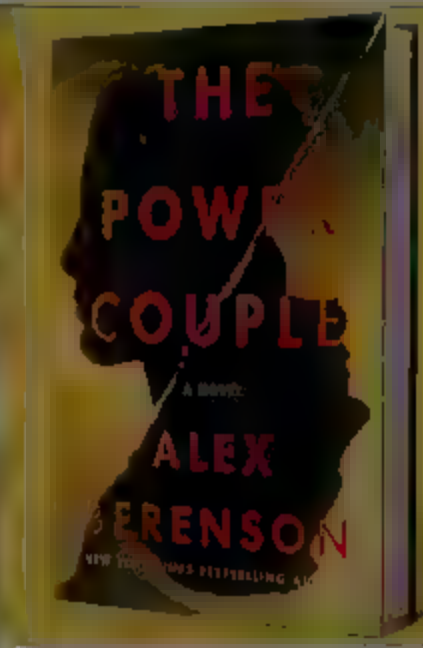
> I want to know what @drcarlhart thinks of @AlexBerenson book on smoking pot.



7 29 78



Carl Hart @drcarlhart · Jan 9

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

The truth will out. I'm just the messenger.

> Judy Woodruff @JudyWoodruff
> this is frightening: evidence that #marijuana edibles may be tied to psychotic episodes, hallucinations and violent attacks @LJGliha of @RMPBS reports for @NewsHour tonight

4:25 PM - 21 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 17 Likes

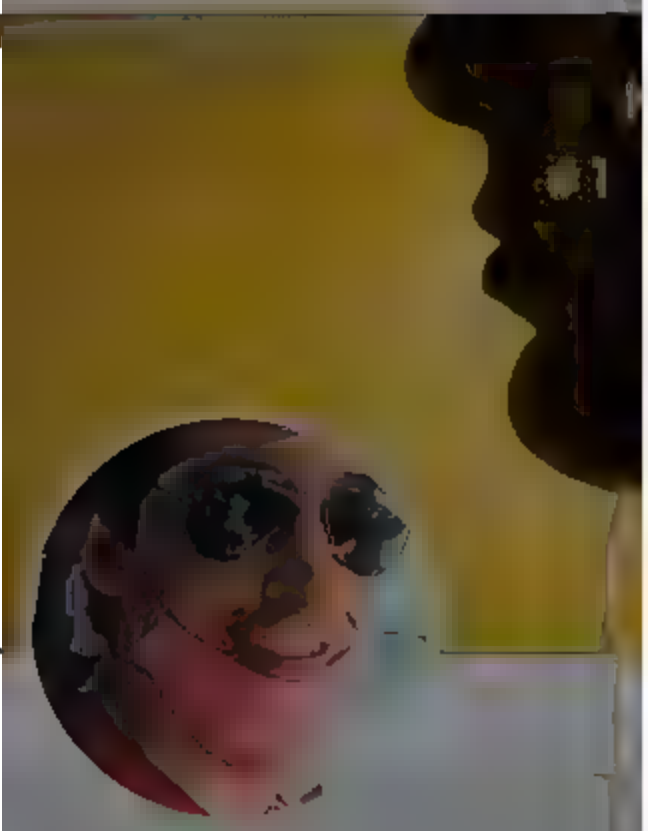
3 4 17

Eddy Slesh @cryptoslesh · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to

Humans have been eating cannabis for 8 thousand years and YOU'RE the messenger

1



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to

"I'm just the messenger."

The media could not be played.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 2 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

I will gladly come on.

3:32 PM - 21 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

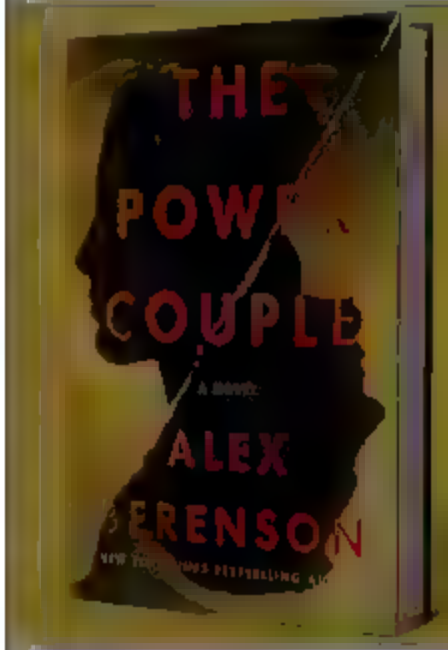
1 1 4

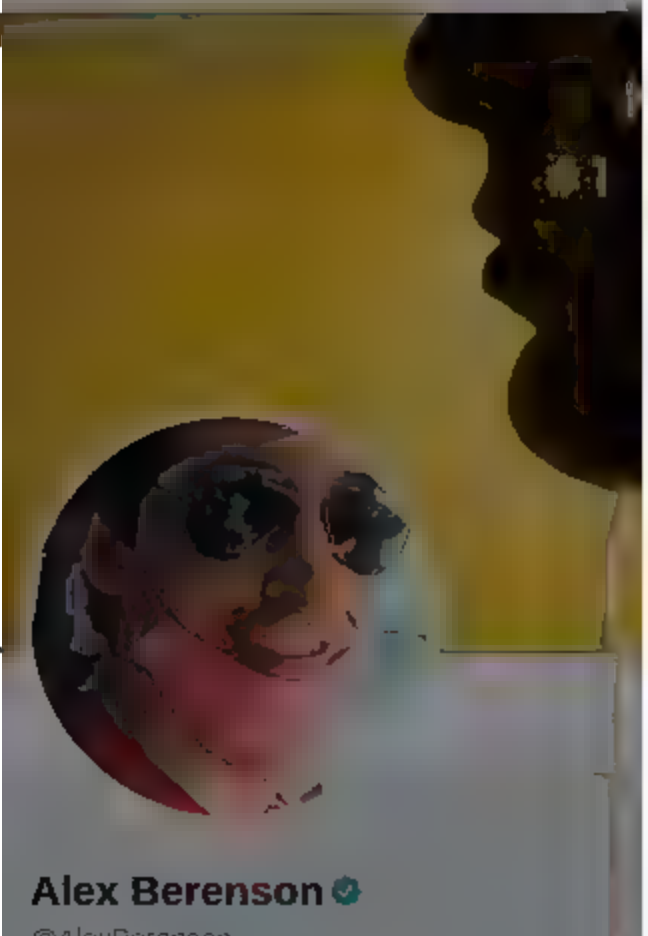
Tom Moreno @tmoreno32 · 22 Jan 2019



Replying to [redacted] and 4 others

This, as a consumer of information and fan of the podcast, I want to hear this

4



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

While you appear to be comfortable with factual inaccuracies & misrepresentations of research, [redacted] is committed to reporting on positive/negative cannabis facts. If your book hadn't been so roundly shown up as riddled with errors, we'd have covered your research too.

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Riddled with errors? Then you should have no problem pointing to one and picking up $100. Have at it, Weed Week!

3:31 PM - 21 Jan 2019

18

Jesse Staniforth @jbstaniforth · 21 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

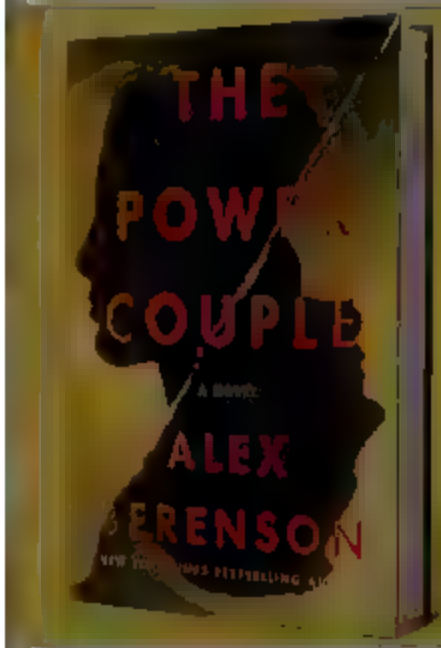
Like a number of things you cite, your representation of NASEM's conclusions was called out by key ppl. You left out key pieces of their conclusions that ran contrary to your narrative. That's either error or a deliberate misrepresentation. Spare me the drama of offering money.

1

Jesse Staniforth @jbstaniforth · 21 Jan 2019

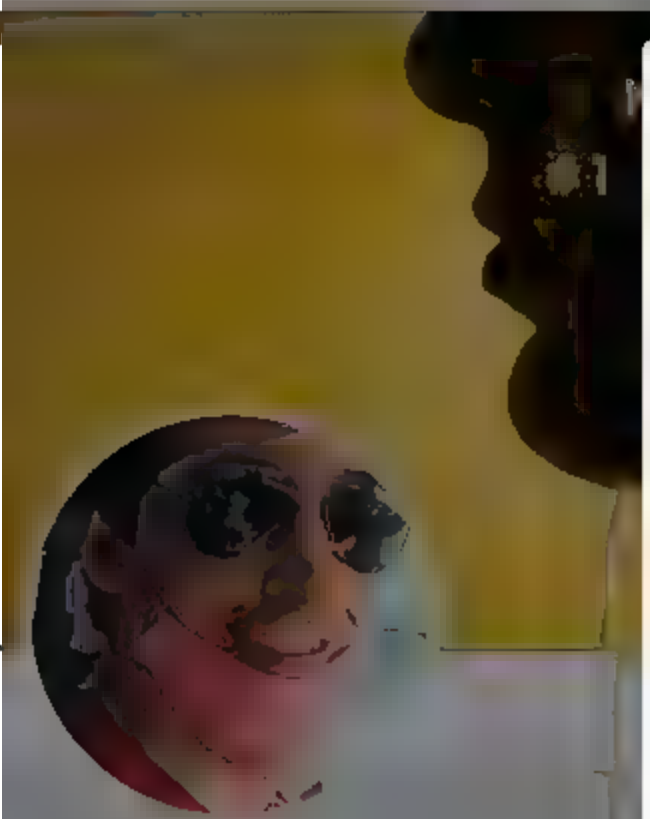
Replying to [redacted]

NASEM author Ziva Cooper said of your interpretation of her group's work, "To say that we concluded cannabis causes schizophrenia, it's just wrong, and it's meant to precipitate fear." Do you want to talk about the harm associated with encouraging fear of mentally ill people?

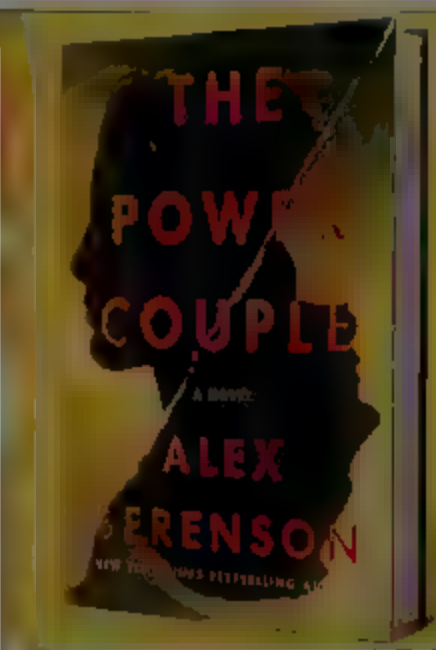


Jesse Staniforth @jbstaniforth · 21 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]



PS. I'm Jesse, editor of WeedWeek Canada. WeedWeek refers to three newsletters (WeedWeek, WeedWeek California, and WeedWeek Canada) and a website. I don't speak for the company or for my colleagues.



Jesse Staniforth @jbstaniforth · 22 Jan 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Following

Come on, heads! A hundred bucks for a factual error. That's two ounces of Oregon's finest! You can do it!

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Let's be clear: A misquoted line from a study would be a factual error. An error in crime data would be a factual error. A misstated rate ratio. You get the idea. Please, show me. twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…

1:31 PM - 21 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 9 Likes

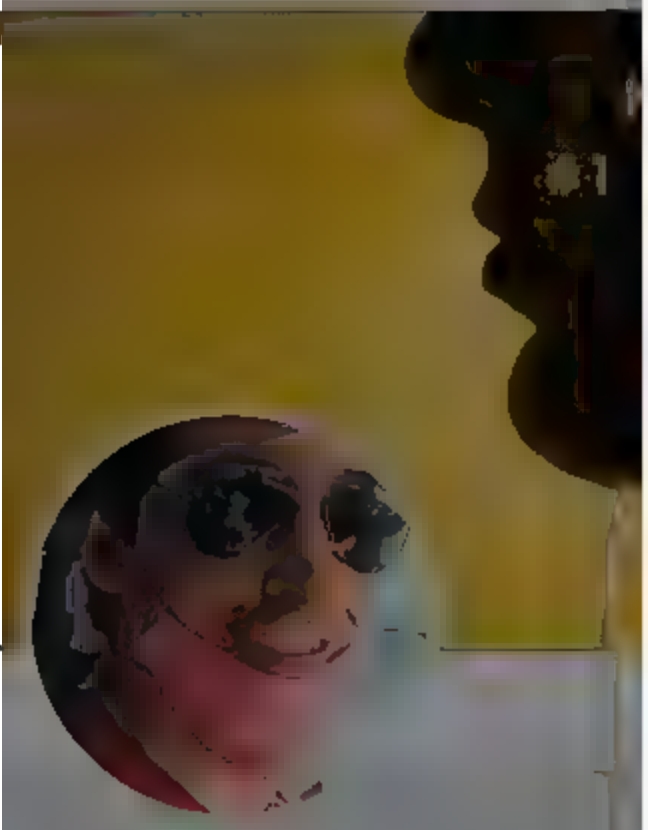
9 1 9

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
You still don't seem to understand, Alex – you can have "all the facts right" and come to wholly irrational and unsubstantiated conclusions.



And that is your problem -- you commit many common errors in reasoning (fallacies) but seem to think you're immune to the consequences.

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Factual is not the issue. You aren't making a book of facts you are making a book of accusation a book of trying to connect non related data so as to continue the unjust prohibition laws.

BigFlexy @ThatDudeZac · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Causation vs. Correlation. Have some integrity.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Jan 2019

Why not quote the conclusion of the chapter? "There is substantial evidence of a statistical association between cannabis use and the development of schizophrenia or other psychoses, with the highest risk among the most frequent users."

1

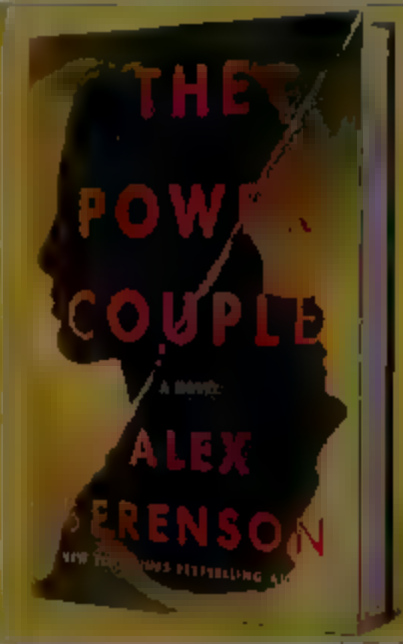
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Why not quote the FIRST SENTENCE of the chapter? Or the press release summarizing its findings? Or the many other studies showing a link between use and psychosis I did quote, none of which Ziva Cooper or anyone else disputes? I don't have to pick cherries. I bought the bushel.

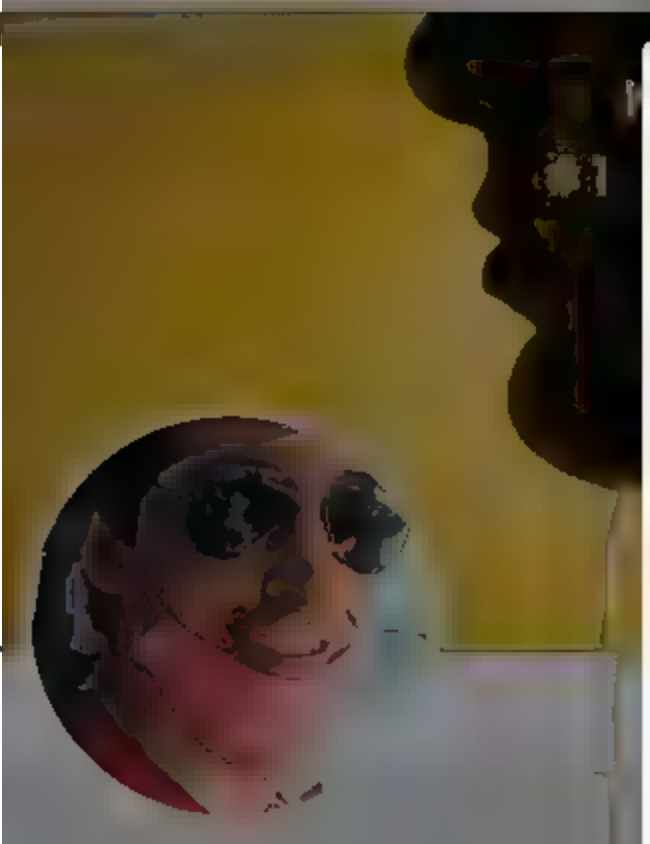
1:42 PM - 21 Jan 2019

2



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Jan 2019

Replying to



Typically the conclusion of a report most accurately distills what the author(s) wish to convey. The conclusion is consistent with the scientific consensus that it's complicated and causality has not been established. The report explicitly cautioned against doing what you did.

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Let's be clear: A misquoted line from a study would be a factual error. An error in crime data would be a factual error. A misstated rate ratio. You get the idea. Please, show me.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
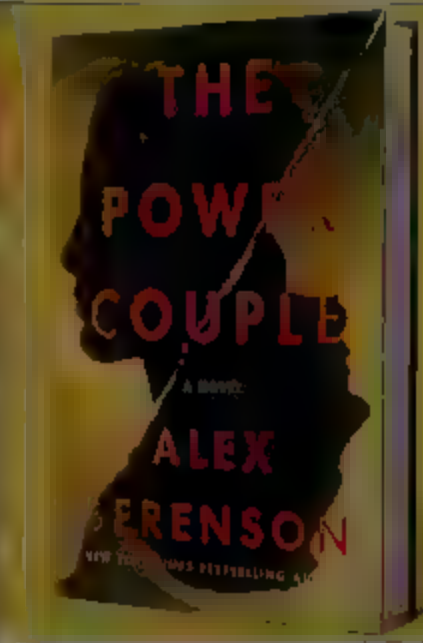
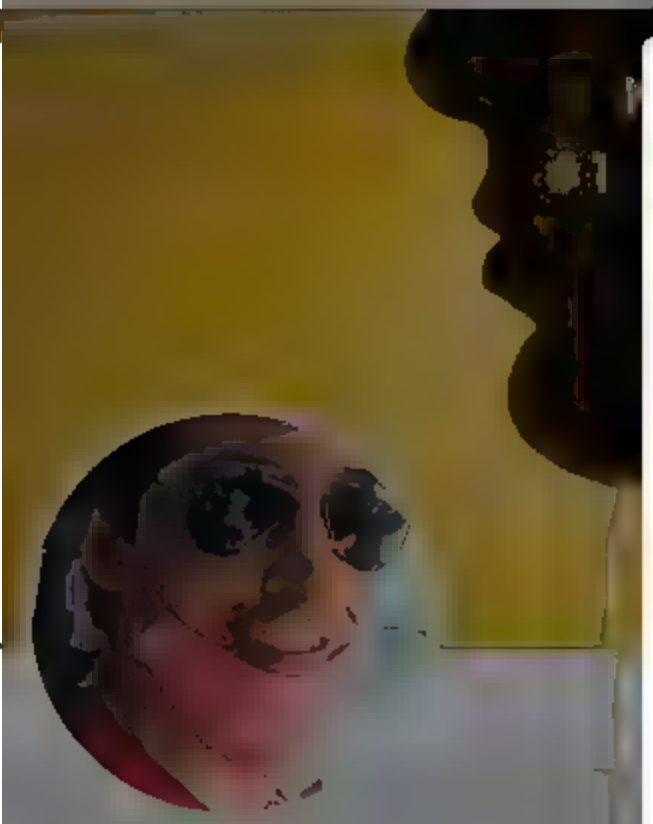
> $100 to the first person who finds a factual error in Tell Your Children. Not a "cherry-picked" study (the term advocates use for facts they don't like), not "correlation is not causation," an actual factual error (and not Keith Stroup's birth state - I already know that).



1:10 PM - 21 Jan 2019

1 Like

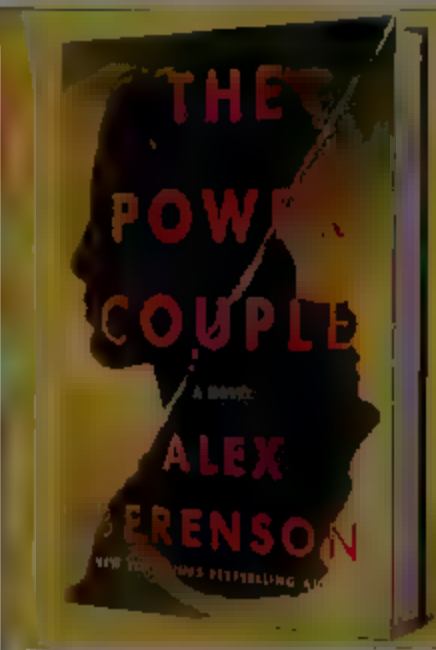


2 1

Eat Meat Be Happy! @swedishbikini · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Your research and conclusions are valid, truthful and carry a burden of proof. Thank you for writing this important book. May it lead to policy changes in the not too distance future.

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
It's possible, but improbable, that TYC is 100% factually correct, but that's not the problem.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

$100 to the first person who finds a factual error in Tell Your Children. Not a "cherry-picked" study (the term advocates use for facts they don't like), not "correlation is not causation," an actual factual error (and not Keith Stroup's birth state - I already know that).

1:08 PM - 21 Jan 2019

5 Retweets 20 Likes

10 5 20

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to

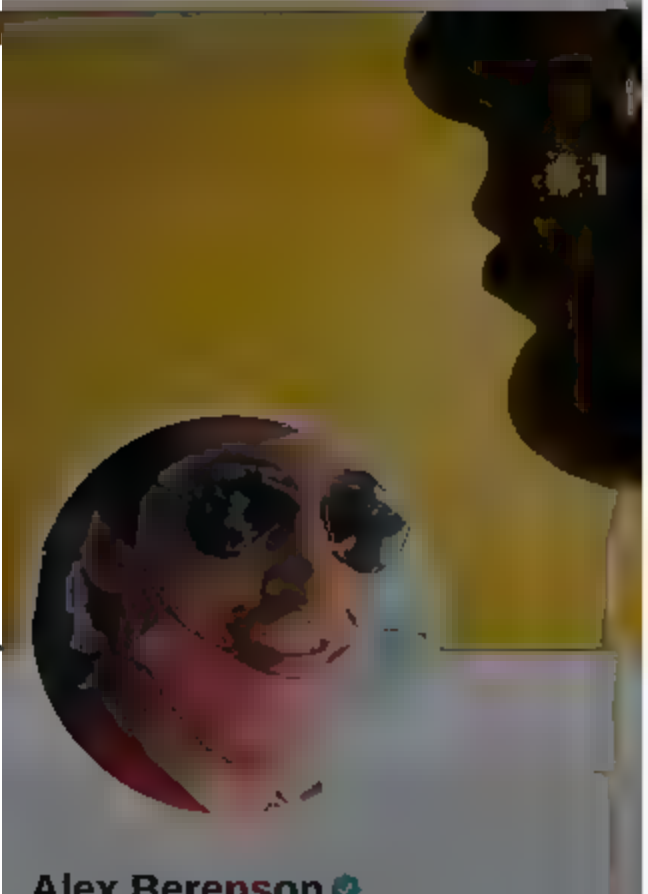
"Cherry picking ... or the fallacy of incomplete evidence is the act of pointing to individual cases or data that seem to confirm a particular position while ignoring a significant portion of related cases or data that may contradict that position."

1 4

Nicon @Nemopunk15 · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to

You can take yourself out of the fire at any time. Until then however the world will likely continue roasting you.

3



infinite rest @wyspace · 21 Jan 2019
Replying to

> Nobody has established that marijuana causes psychosis. Even

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

bit.ly/2Mf7mxb "The link between psychosis & violence is itself complex. The majority of people who suffer from psychotic disorders do not commit violent crimes." Thank you, @maiasz. #cannabis #mentalhealth

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Wishing doesn't make it so. And the innocent people who are most at risk here - the family members of people with psychosis who are using cannabis - deserve the truth. Even if it's bad for business at Weed Week.

1:02 PM - 21 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 7 Likes

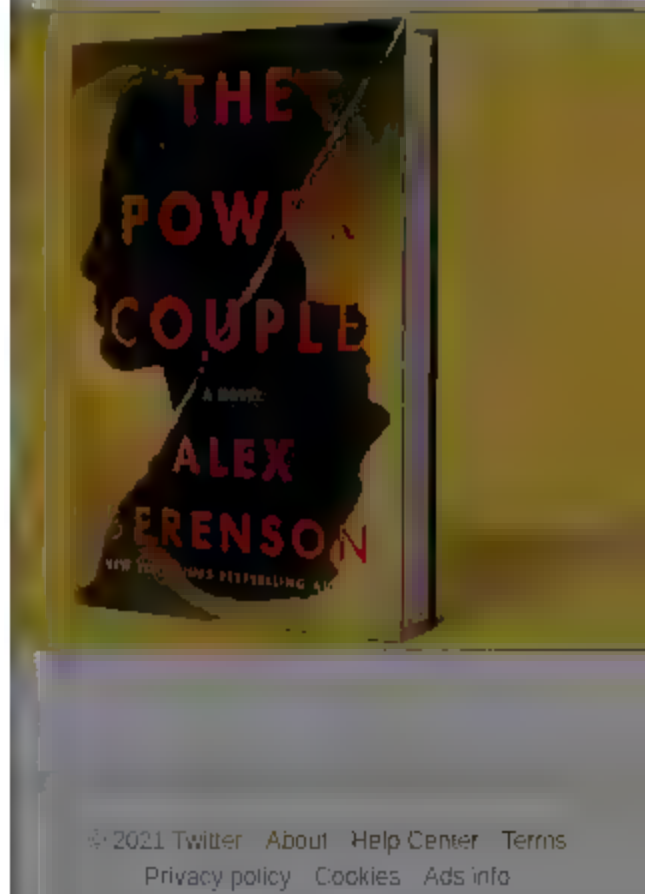
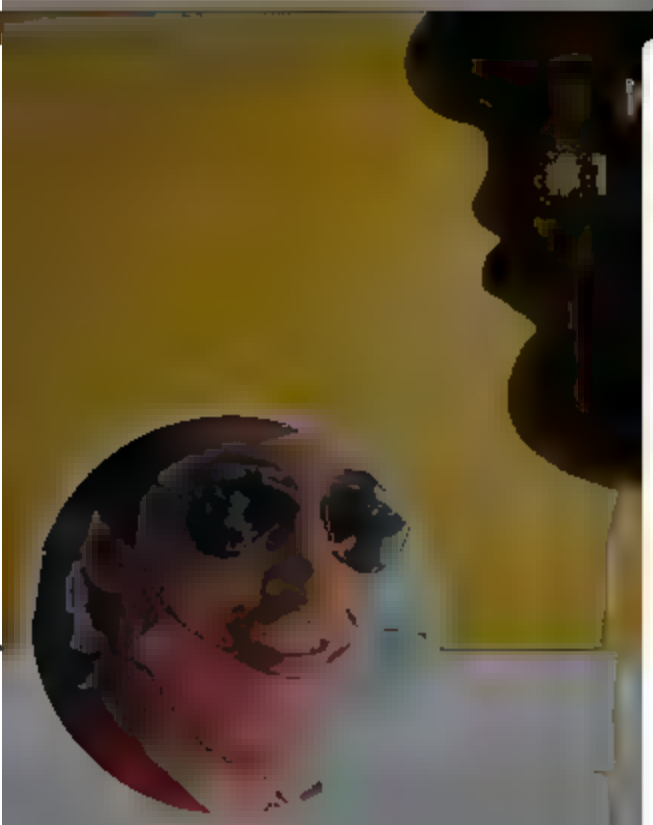
5 1 7

Jesse Staniforth @jbstaniforth · 21 Jan 2019



Replying to

While you appear to be comfortable with factual inaccuracies & misrepresentations of research, is committed to reporting on positive/negative cannabis facts. If your book hadn't been so roundly shown up as riddled with errors, we'd have covered your research too.



2 1

@WeedWeekNews @WeedWeekNews · 21 Jan 2019

In fact, we've given fair coverage to the 1) book:
2) The debate around it and 's misgivings

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Smart column from Bramham_daphne in the @vancouversun on TYC and the risks - real and political - of Canada's decision to legalize: "The timing of Berenson's book and the attention it is receiving may prove awkward for Prime Minister Justin Trudeau..."

5:52 AM - 21 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

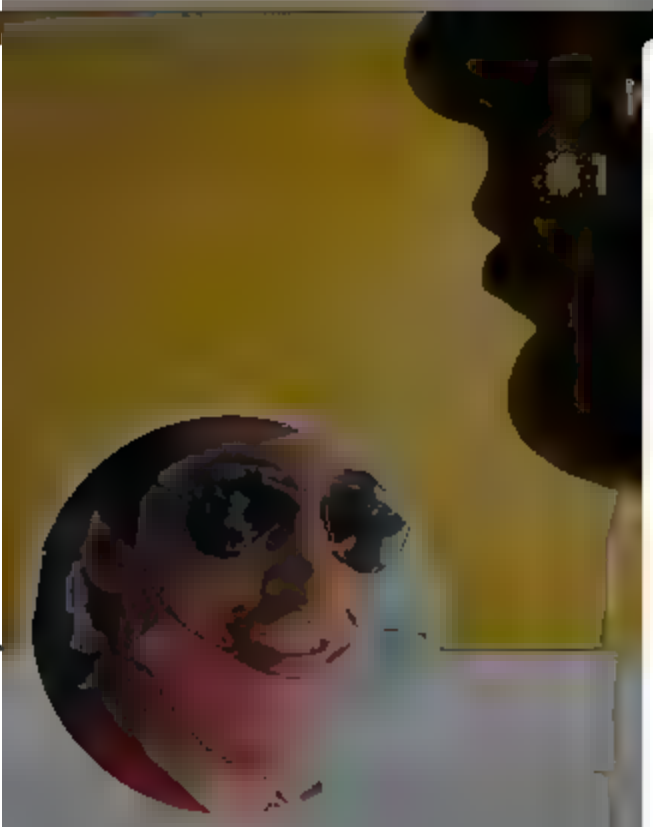
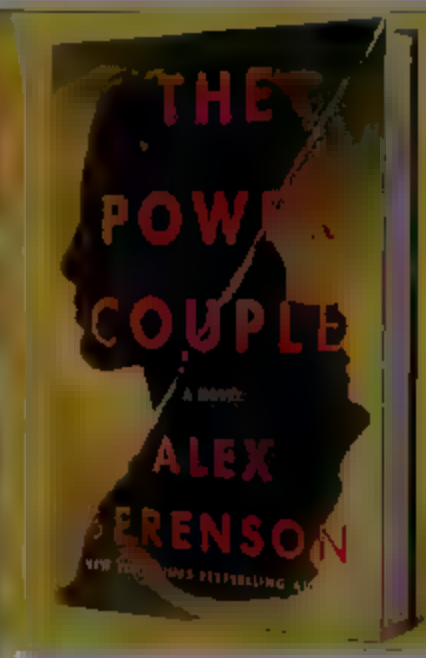
3 2 3



Kate Robins @KateRobins · 21 Jan 2019



Replying to

Mj-induced psychosis is real but those who use with impunity won't understand. Parents won't preempt this tragedy. A gene test perhaps that id's those at risk?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

And thanks @jcshyjency for today's smart article in @thesundaytimes: "WEED THE PSYCHOTIC AMERICAN DREAM... a new book links the drug to mental health problems and violent crime." [Love the illustration, too. Unfortunately, the piece is behind a paywall.]

5:17 PM - 20 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 9 Likes

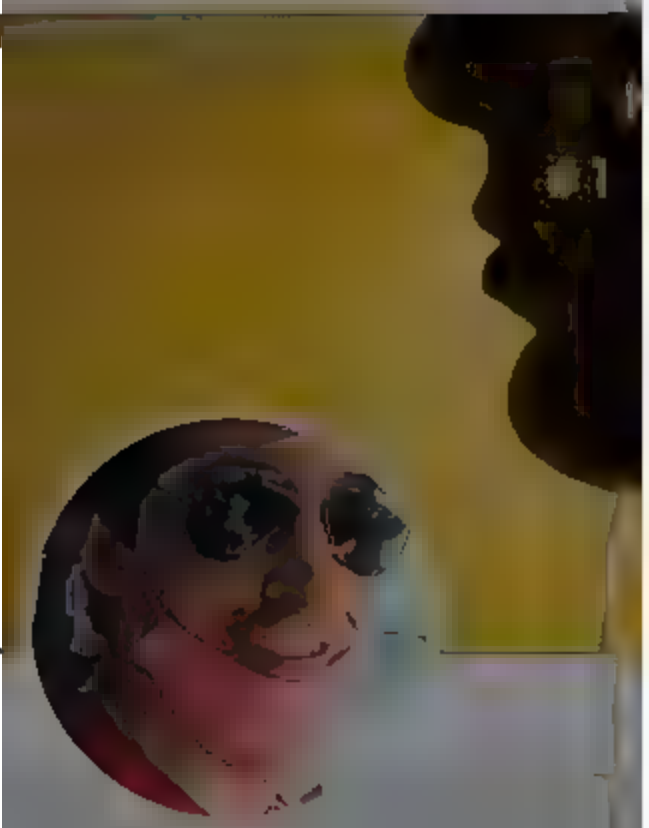
1 4 9

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 20 Jan 2019



Replying to [redacted]

Here's an article of horrific domestic violence in murder in a pot legal state, Oregon. We bet the perpetrator was a pot user:

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Thrilled with this endorsement of Tell Your Children from Dr. Marta Di Forti at King's College London (full disclosure - I discuss some of her research in the book):

< Tell Your Children: The Truth About Marijuana, Me...

Marta Di Forti

☆☆☆☆☆ Outstanding and engaging narrative

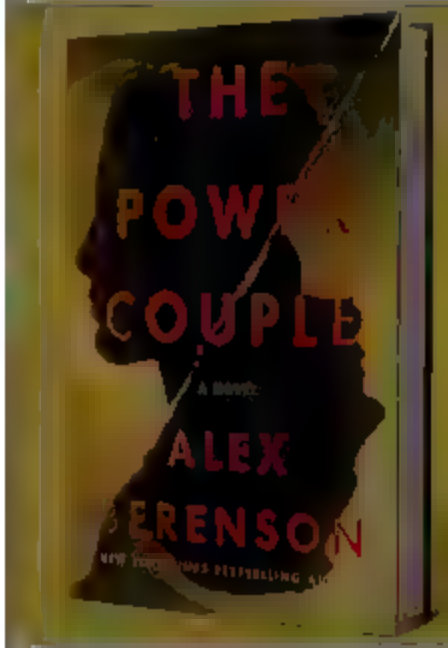
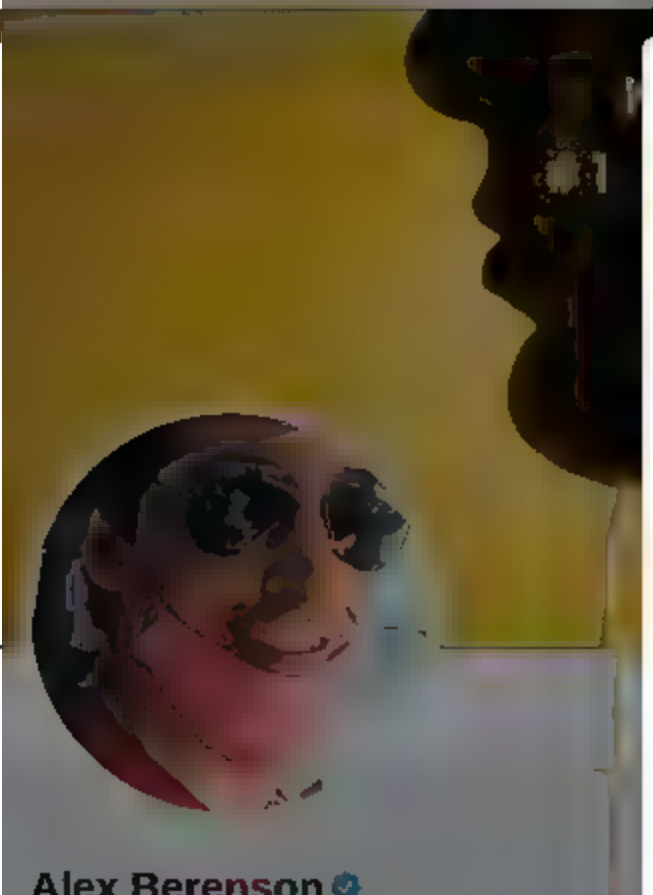
18 January 2019

Verified Purchase



This books is a rare and compelling combination of journalistic rigor, elegant writing and engaging style. A unique appraisal of the sociological and scientific facts feeding the never ending debate on the good and bad of the most popular recreational drug in the world.
A "must" read for everyone that can read or listen...I highly recommend the audio version

Helpful Report



4:05 AM - 21 Jan 2019

5 Retweets 13 Likes

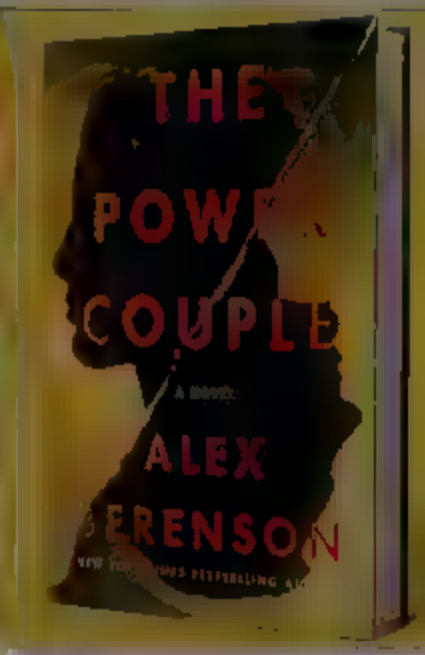
4 5 13

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Thanks to @WashTimes for this excellent and positive review - TYC "should be read by all concerned" -

3:33 PM - 20 Jan 2019

12 Retweets 35 Likes

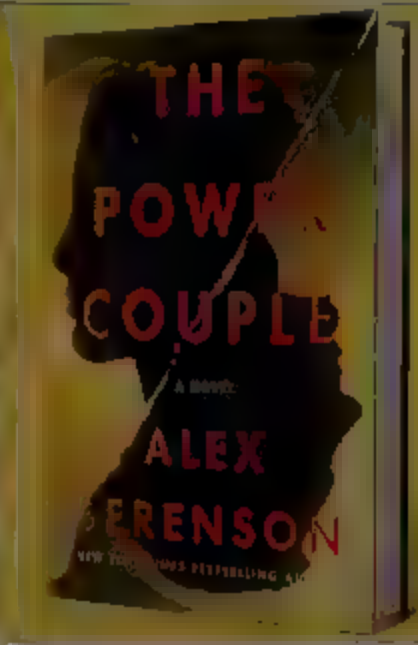
5 12 35



BrooklynTeddy @brooklynteddy13 · 20 Jan 2019

Replying to

Marijuana May Boost, Rather Than Dull, the Elderly Brain

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 19 Jan 2019
[redacted] can I message you?

1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

[redacted] Follow

Replying to [redacted]

Email me at alexberensonauthor@gmail.com

9:57 AM - 19 Jan 2019

3

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 19 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I will.

Diane Johnson @webblakewoman · 19 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Sent.

[redacted]

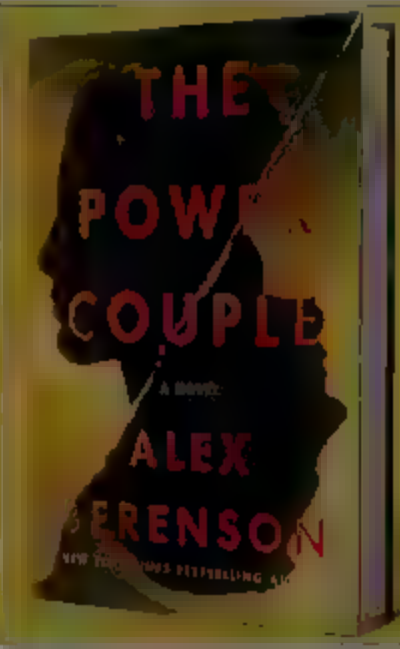
Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I fear it was actually simple. A journalist with a documented history of trouble on a hyper-competitive, hyper-important, hyper-partisan story is a recipe for disaster.

> Karen Tumulty @ktumulty
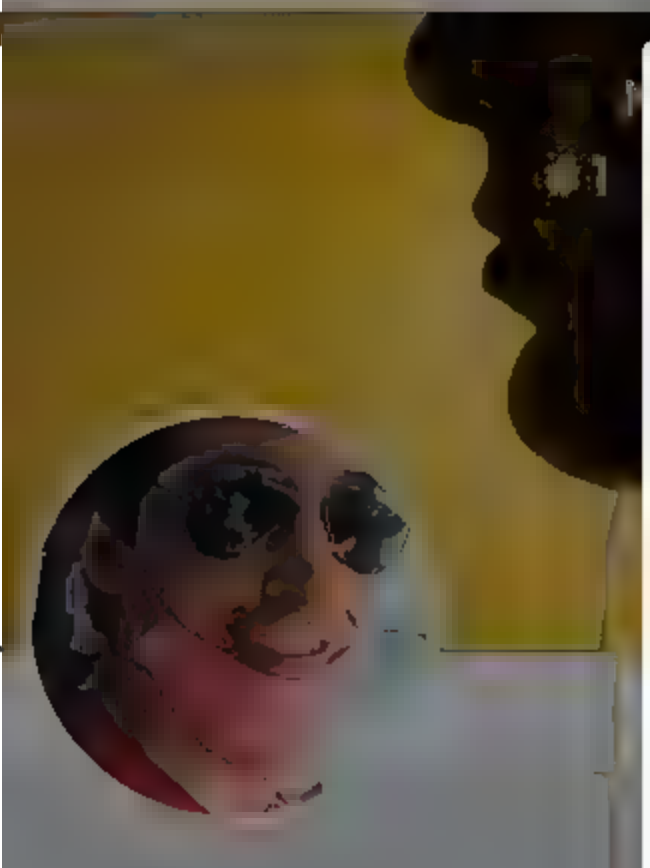
> My hunch is that whatever happened at Buzzfeed was very complicated. But it was a reminder to me that some of the sources to whom I've been most grateful in my career are the ones who have talked me OUT of writing a story.



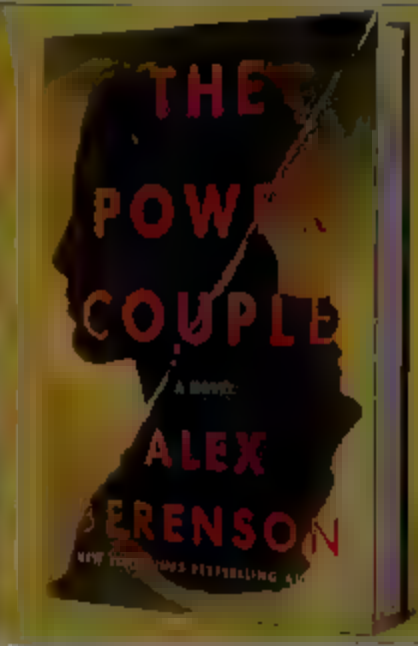
7:29 AM - 19 Jan 2019

6 Likes

1 6

MH Rudolph @by_mhrudolph · 22 Jan 2019
Replying to
I think you've had too much of something — maybe coffee?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

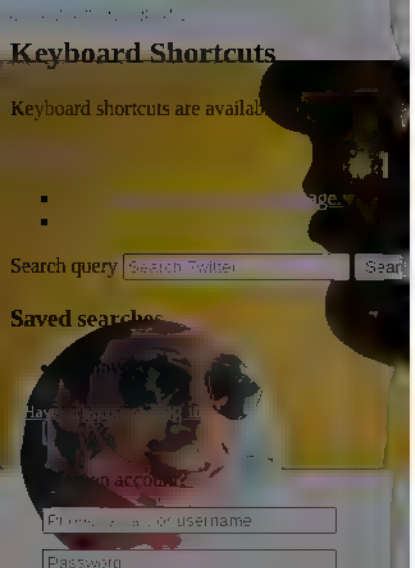
New York

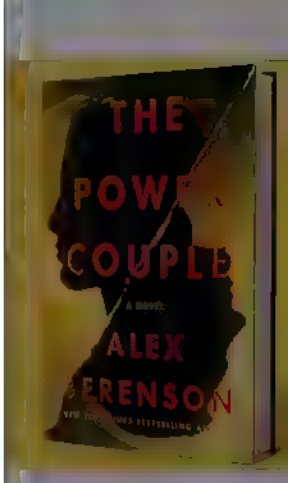
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

My new favorite T-shirt





9:49 AM - 19 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

3 1 6

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 19 Jan 2019
Replying to

Keyboard Shortcuts

Keyboard shortcuts are availab

Search query Search Twitter Sear

Saved searches

Password

Tweets

Alex Berenson
New to Twitter?

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Child

New York

Joined November 2009

Tweets

- © 2021 Twitter

2. More
   - Copy link to Tweet
   - Embed Tweet

I just want to tell you I agree with you 100% on your book on Marijuana. I have see n all of this first hand. I seen it happen to neighbors, x husband, and daughter.

6 replies 0 retweets 0 likes

Reply 6
Retweet Retweeted
Like Liked

3. More
   - Copy link to Tweet
   - Embed Tweet

Given the breadth of numbers you just gave, sorry, no. Even according to Alex's dumb cherry picked numbers it doesn't cause issues in THAT many people. Coincidence? No. You're anti pot, fine, but stop lying. The odds that all of them are affected as you say are astronomical

1 reply 0 retweets 1 like

Reply 1
Retweet Retweeted
Like Liked 1

4. More
   - Copy link to Tweet
   - Embed Tweet

How about drug testing for getting food stamp and welfare?

1 reply 0 retweets 0 likes

Reply 1
Retweet Retweeted
Like Liked

5. This Tweet is unavailable.

6. More
   - Copy link to Tweet
   - Embed Tweet

If every one that smoked pot could sit down and write a song like Willie Nelson I would agree with you. The only thing my x could do while he was high was abuse his daughters, get us evicted, and refuse to work. I watched it turn into something terrible. It killed him at 35.

4 replies 0 retweets 0 likes

Reply 4
Retweet Retweeted
Like Liked

7. This Tweet is unavailable.

8. More
   - Copy link to Tweet
   - Embed Tweet

Get high, drive a GTO 100 mph and you accidentally lose it and crash into a telephone pole. My cousin started getting high young and her high boyfriend beat her 7 year old daughter to death.

3 replies 0 retweets 0 likes

Reply 3
Retweet Retweeted
Like Liked

Following Following @AlexBerenson
Unfollow Unfollow @AlexBerenson
Blocked Blocked @AlexBerenson
Unblock Unblock @AlexBerenson

More

- Copy link to Tweet
- Embed Tweet

Alex Berenson Verified account

Replying to and

Diane - when was this case? Would your cousin be willing to talk to me?

9:38 AM - 19 Jan 2019
3 replies 0 retweets 0 likes

Reply 3
Retweet Retweeted
Like Liked

1. More
   - Copy link to Tweet
   - Embed Tweet

   Replying to and

   I will only send it to Alex.

   0 replies 0 retweets 0 likes

   Reply
   Retweet Retweeted
   Like Liked

   Thanks. Twitter will use this to make your timeline better. Undo
   Undo

1. This Tweet is unavailable.
2.

1. More
   - Copy link to Tweet
   - Embed Tweet

   Replying to and

   0 replies 0 retweets 0 likes

   Reply
   Retweet Retweeted
   Like Liked

   Thanks. Twitter will use this to make your timeline better. Undo
   Undo

Loading seems to be taking a while.

Twitter may be over capacity or experiencing a momentary hiccup. or visit for more information.

Promoted Tweet

false

- © 2021 Twitter

- Tweet with a location

You can add location information to your s have the option to delete your Tweet location history.

Turn on

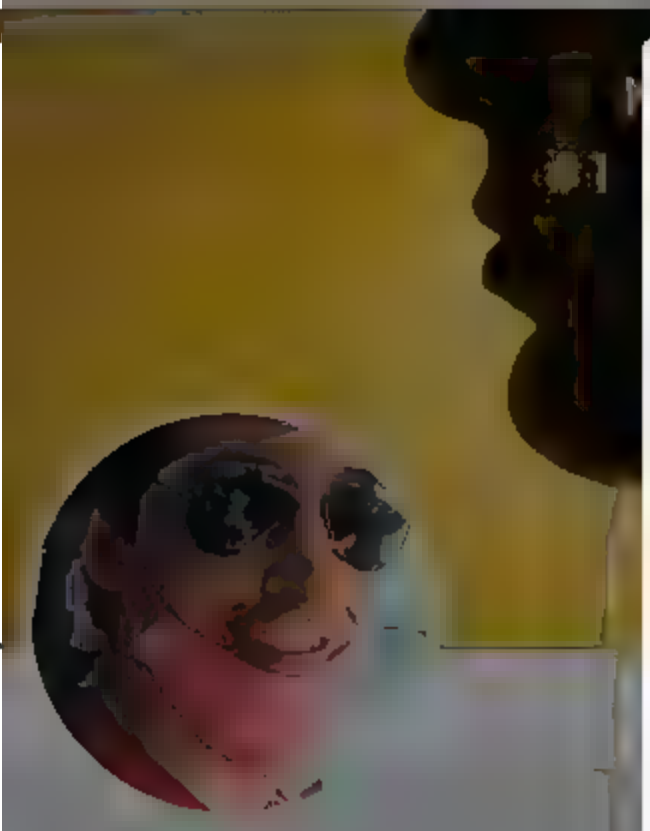
Search for a neighborhood o

This Tweet is unavailable.

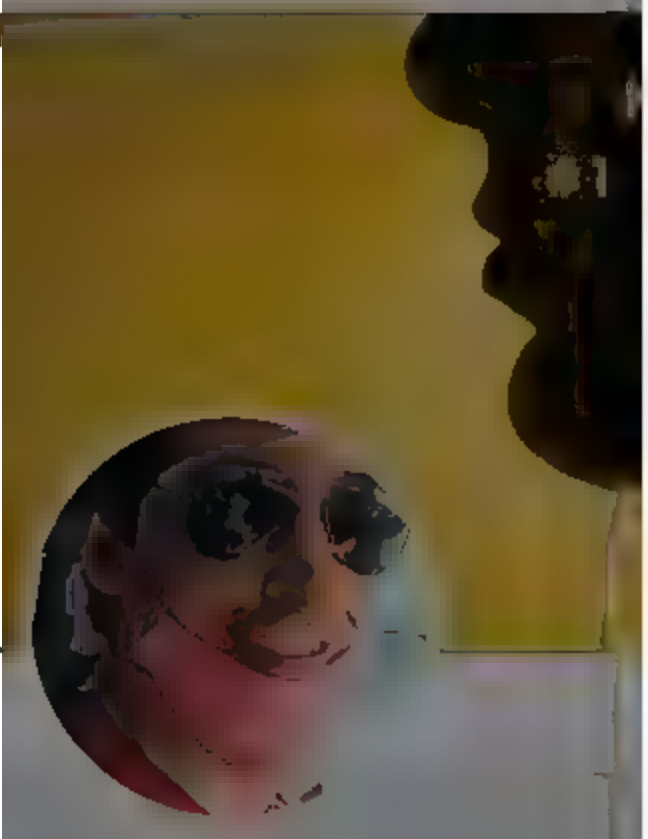
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

I stopped wondering why the Globe, the SF Chronicle, and other papers weren't covering marijuana's health impacts seriously when I realized they were all in the business of selling cannabis coverage. The decision is bizarre and embarrassing.



google.com/amp/s/www.bost



4:59 PM - 18 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

2 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

As a long-time human rights advocate and mom, who has lived and worked in places where threats and political violence are common, I'm dismayed at [redacted]'s report of threats against his family. No matter how wrong or dangerous his claims are, he has a right to make them.

6 10 23

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

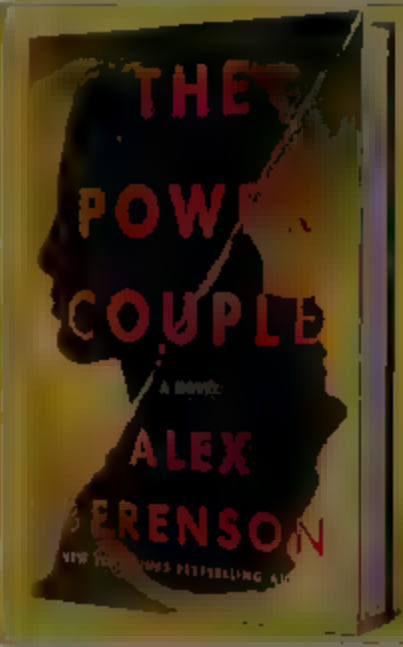
Thanks, Maria. I know cannabis stirs deep passions, but I hope everyone will keep the debate to the issues. (Besides, the anger hardly helps the "cannabis doesn't cause violence argument"!)

12:13 PM - 18 Jan 2019

11 Likes

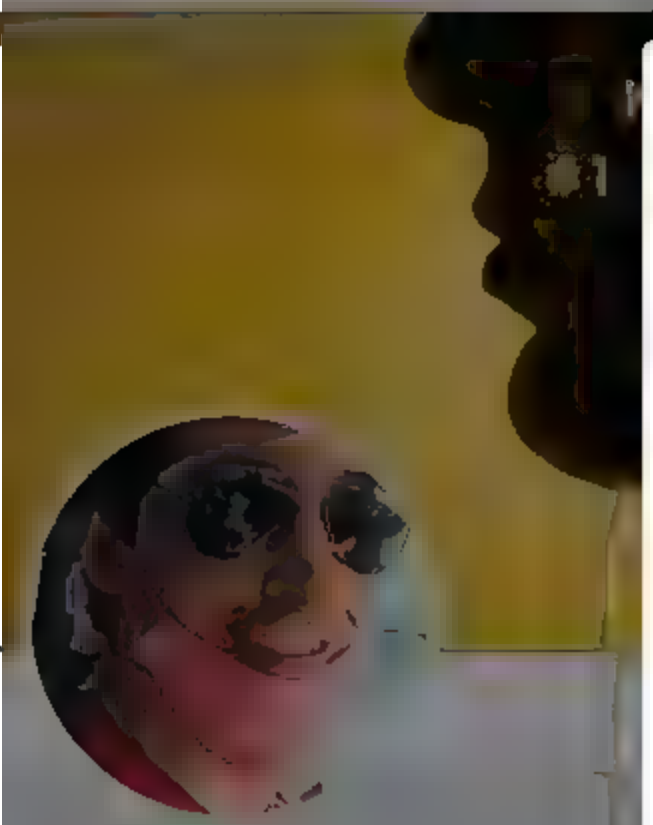
6 11

This Tweet is unavailable.

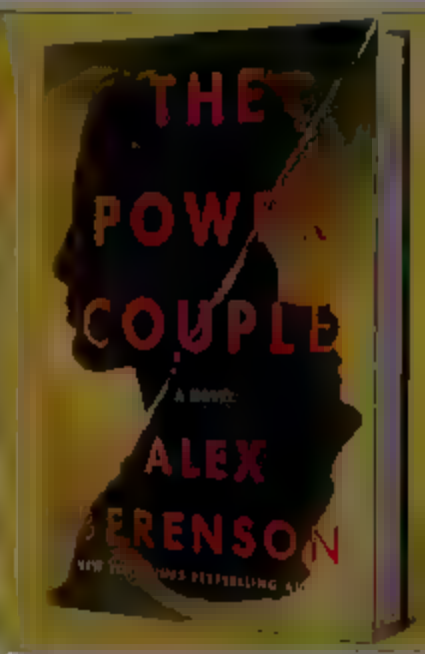


David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 18 Jan 2019
1/ I'm on board for med cannabis; on the fence for adult-use. I gather that vast majority of cannabis harms comes from chronic adolescent use (or so the research suggests). So if legalization and regulation results in reduced adolescent use, I would support adult-use.

1



The Disgruntled Progressive @Dadfartdad · 18 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Let's be civil (takes shot based on faulty correlation)



3

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 18 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
(Besides, the anger hardly helps the "cannabis doesn't cause violence

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

The excellent @peterbachmd takes a scalpel in today's @wsj to the cannabis is medicine argument. (Unfortunately, the piece is behind a paywall.)

wsj.com/articles/[illegible] …

7:04 AM - 18 Jan 2019

5 Retweets 14 Likes

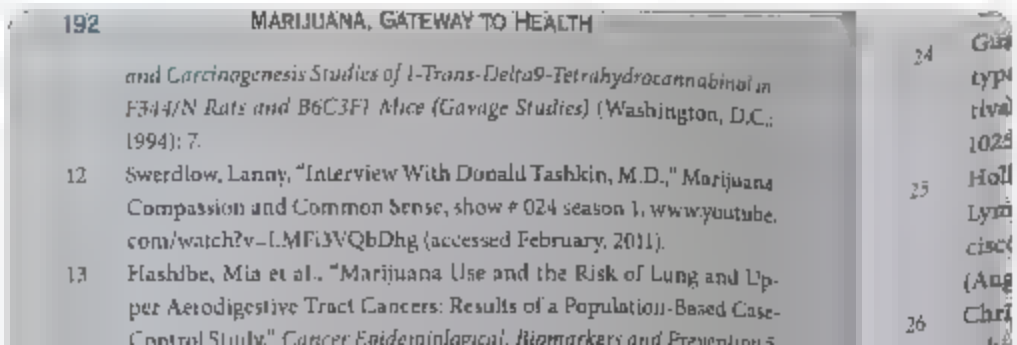
23 5 14



Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 18 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]

Wont pay4 it but the author is apparently profoundly ignorant of how [illegible] positively influences disease processes at their source, it prevents not masks pathologies via the endocannabinoid system. Author has a ignorant bias he seems proud2display? [illegible]

1

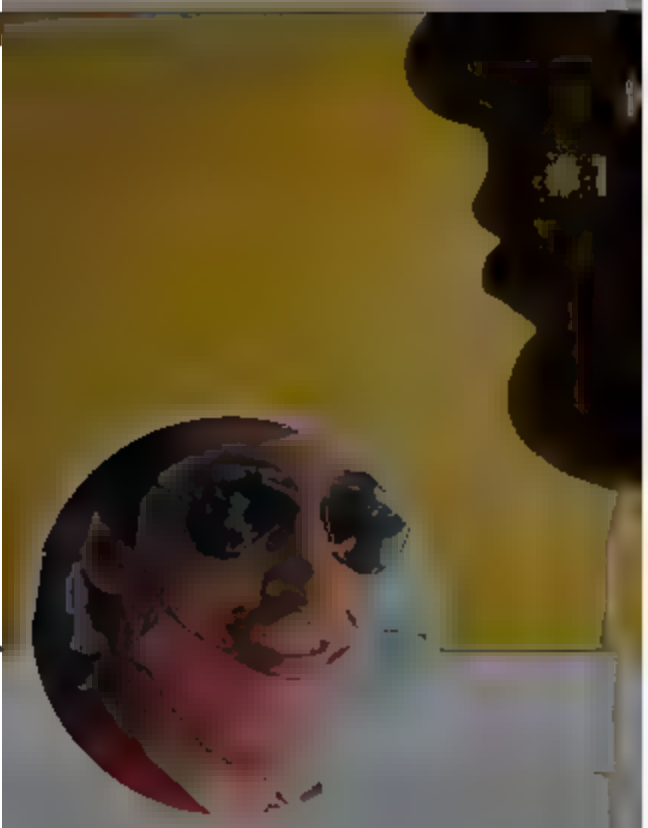
Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 18 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]

The budweiser analogy is weak& inappropriate. Marijuanas THC/CBD&other cannabinoids block prodisease influences: inflammatory&oxidative damage b4 they trigger disease pathologies. Yes growing evidence demonstrates [illegible] use decreases risks4cancer-type2diabetes-Alzheimers.

192 MARIJUANA, GATEWAY TO HEALTH

and Carcinogenesis Studies of 1-Trans-Delta9-Tetrahydrocannabinol in F344/N Rats and B6C3F1 Mice (Gavage Studies) (Washington, D.C.: 1994): 7.

12 Swerdlow, Lanny, "Interview With Donald Tashkin, M.D.," Marijuana Compassion and Common Sense, show # 024 season 1, www.youtube.com/watch?v=LMFi3VQbDhg (accessed February, 2011).



13 Hashibe, Mia et al., "Marijuana Use and the Risk of Lung and Upper Aerodigestive Tract Cancers: Results of a Population-Based Case-Control Study," Cancer Epidemiological Biomarkers and Prevention 5

24 Gie typ tiva 1025

25 Holl Lym cisc

26 (Aug Chri

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 18 Jan 2019

Can you tell us more about your ranking system? Is [illegible] "excellent" because he agrees with your views while those who don't are labelled as "advocates"?

1 4

Alex Berenson Follows
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible]

Erm, Peter doesn't agree with my views. He believes cannabis should be fully legal. He has simply taken the time to understand just how weak the science supporting cannabis-as-medicine is, and how badly advocates have overstated it.

8:36 AM - 18 Jan 2019

1 Like

3 1

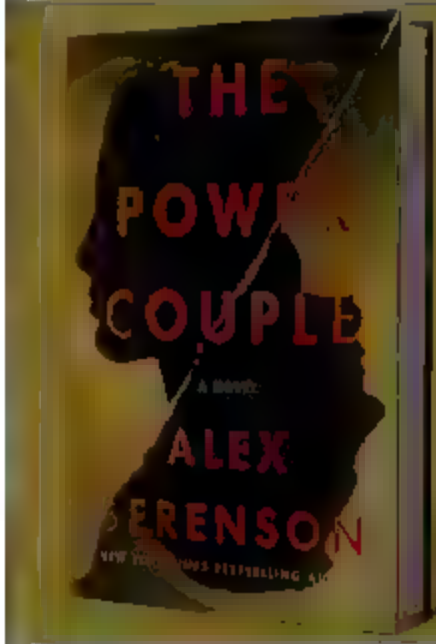
Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 18 Jan 2019

Replying to [illegible]

It must be an oversight that he didn't mention the research blockade of the last 4 decades that has limited research into benefits of [illegible] while heavily funding research looking at harms.

1 4

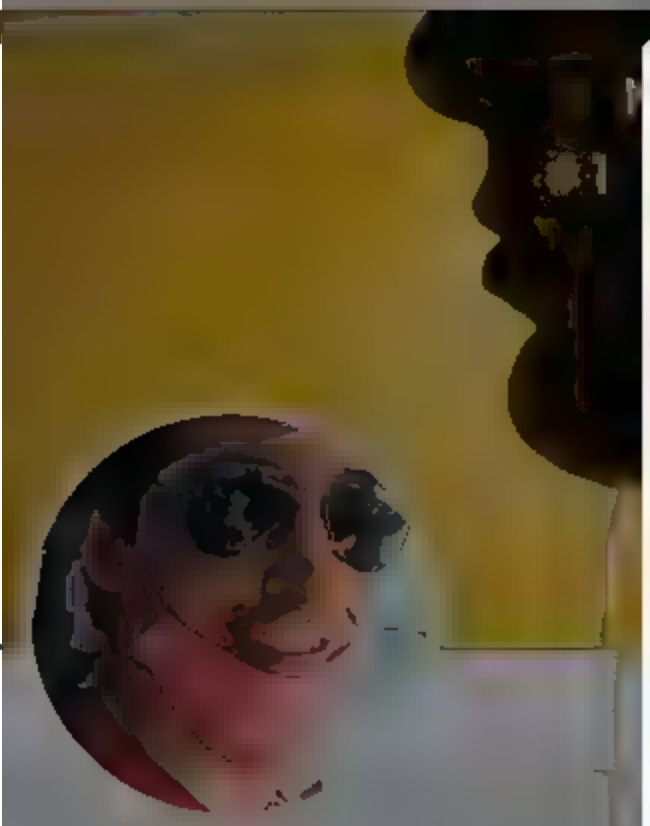
BiotechObserver @BiotechObserver · 18 Jan 2019



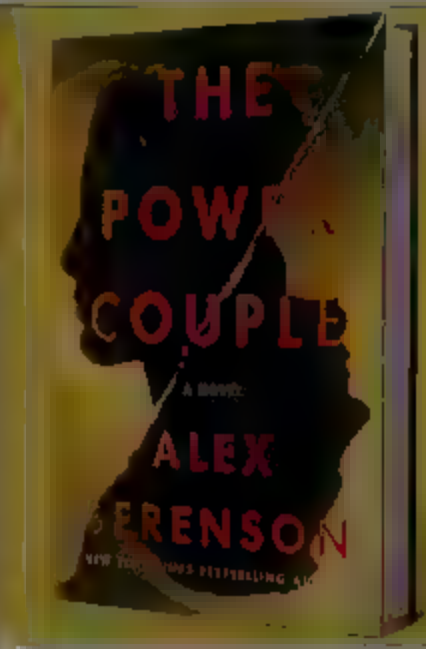
That's a fair point but still doesn't prove it's a medicine, and certainly doesn't prove the fantastical claims of advocates and the general public about its supposed benefits.

3

David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 18 Jan 2019



Replying to [illegible] and 2 others



One hell of a placebo: U-Mich survey of 450 ppl last year found that "due to the medical use of cannabis, 42% [of survey respondents] stopped taking a

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Matthew Herper @matthewherper · 18 Jan 2019
This is all my favorite things. Also, Alex has a book that's interesting and not about fictional spies.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
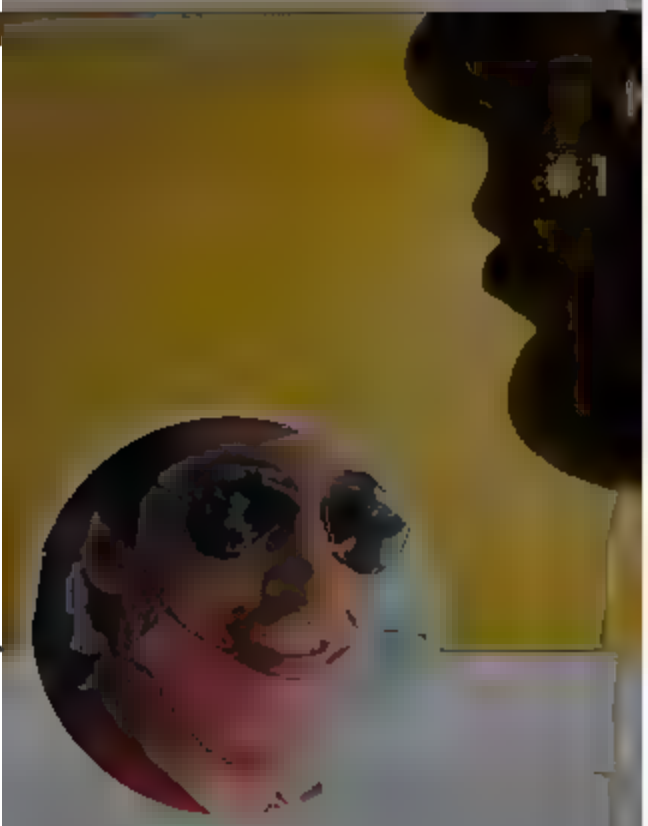
> The excellent @peterbachmd takes a scalpel in today's @wsj to the cannabis is medicine argument. (Unfortunately, the piece is behind a paywall.)
> wsj.com/articles/if-we…

1 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]



Dude! Thanks. I would to see you give Tell Your Children a full review somewhere. (And I won't tell John Wells you think he's fictional...)

8:08 AM - 18 Jan 2019

1 Like

1 1

Michael Reese @seventofive · 18 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Losing touch with reality, Alex?

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 3

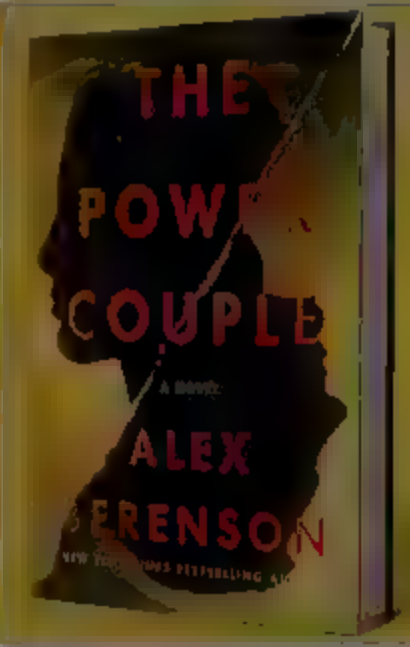
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Thanks Hope and Undark for this fantastic interview!

6:05 AM - 18 Jan 2019

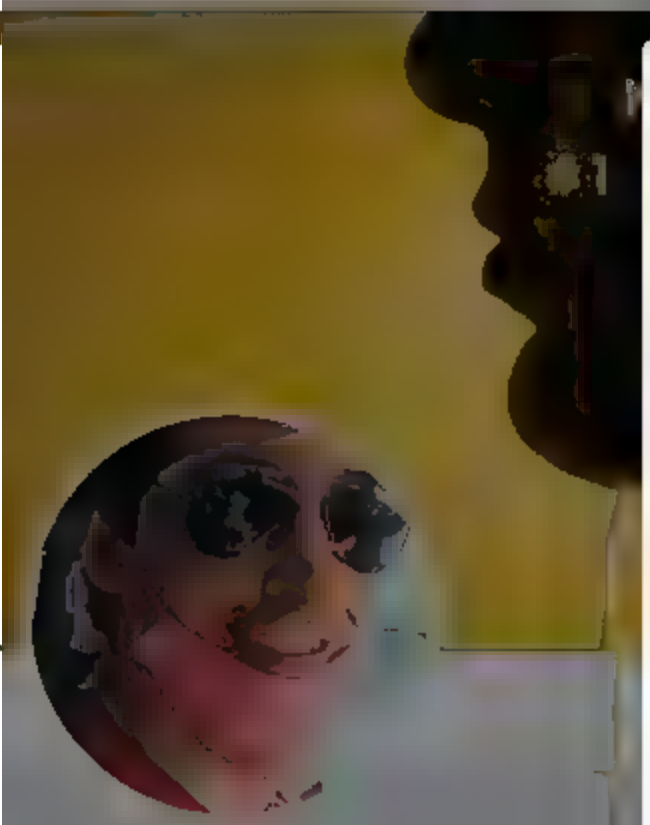
2 Likes



1 2

Hope Reese @hope_reese · 18 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
It was my pleasure! I found your arguments fascinating and necessary.

1



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 18 Jan 2019

> Matt Hill @canna_brain
> Alex, honestly just stop this. Multiple credible scientists have spoken out to media about you, why are you doing this. I cant believe you would be so petty to go after @zivacooper in a blind tweet like this. Now you're getting another rant. twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…
> Show this thread

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thanks to @jessesingal and @NYMag for exploring some of the complexities in Tell Your Children with me!

3:53 PM - 17 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 11 Likes

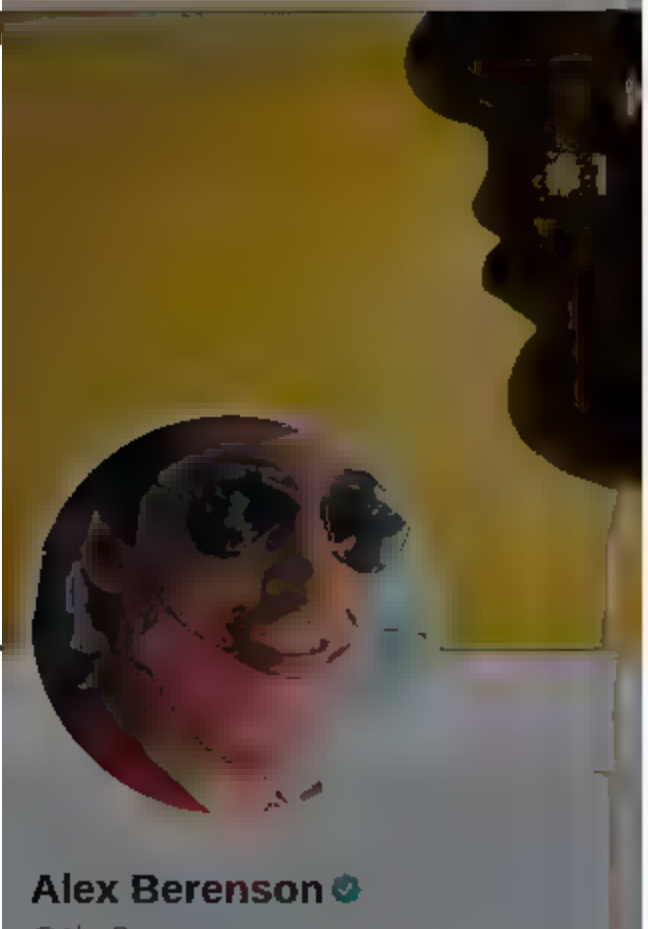
9 1 11



Dan Wahlen @DanWahlen · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to
Big fan of your books Alex. Love them!!!

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to
"The data is pretty strong showing that full legalization increases use and

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

FYI, the approach I used allowed for whatever weights best fit among all states in the nation. Your national comparison assumes those weights are basically the population. That may or may not approximate what would have happened in CO and WA had they not legalized.

1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

But as a result the model winds up assigning very large weights to some tiny states that IRL have little in common with CO and WA. It looks much more precise than it is. @nntaleb writes extensively on this topic.

12:15 PM - 17 Jan 2019

3

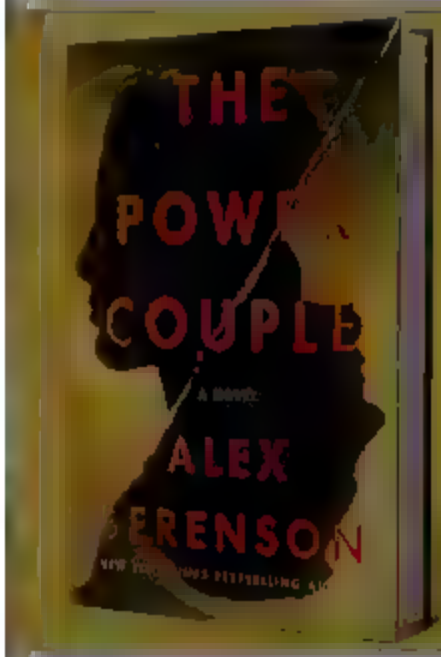
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

Replying to

Please don't statsplain me.

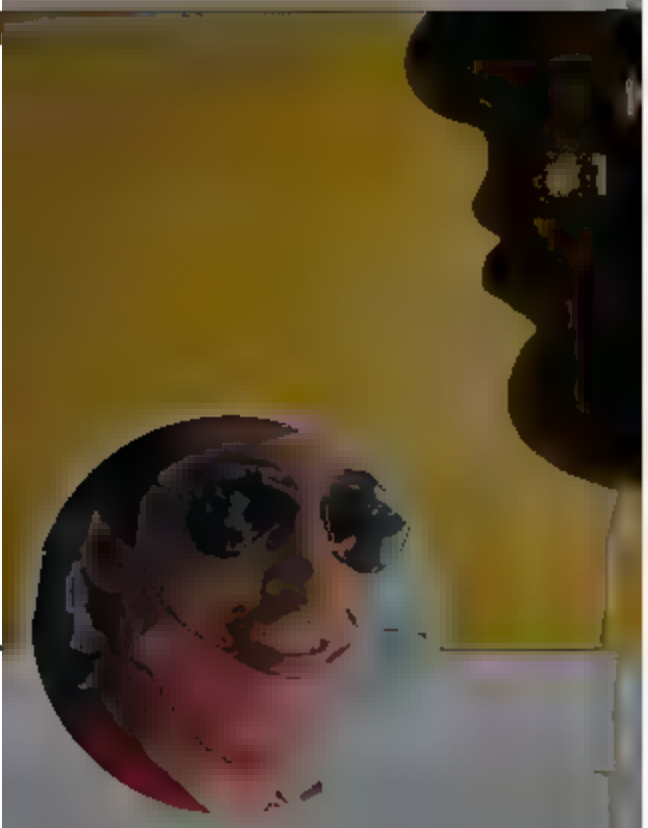
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019



Replying to

Come on, man! I'm trying to have a reasonable conversation. And there are people reading this who may appreciate a little background.



LukaDoncicFans @LukadoncicfansC · 17 Jan 2019

Replying to

I guess Alex is not only a world class scientist, doctor, psychologist, psychiatrist, and now statistician!

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ The problem with trying to make up fake states as comparators is twofold. First, three states that make the most sense as comparators to CO and WA - OR, NV, AK - all legalized during the same time period. So they can't be included.

2 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

3/ That's why the ONLY FAIR COMPARISON IS NATIONAL. Use the fullest dataset, use the proper dataset, and let the chips fall. That's what I did. Violent crime has risen faster in the legalized states since legalization. Period. We can talk about why, but the fact is undeniable.

2 3 7

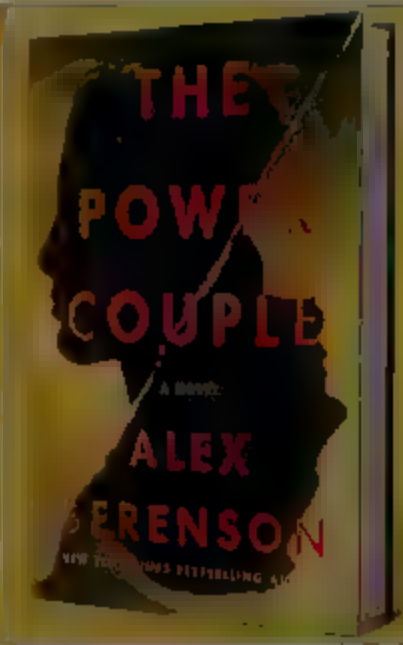
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

FYI, the approach I used allowed for whatever weights best fit among all states in the nation. Your national comparison assumes those weights are basically the population. That may or may not approximate what would have happened in CO and WA had they not legalized.

1 1

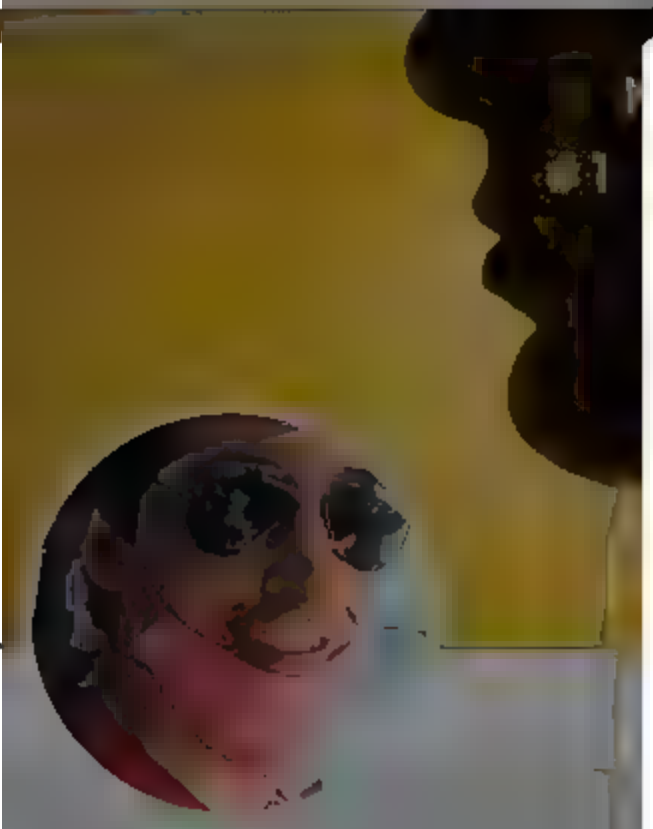
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

But as a result the model winds up assigning very large weights to some tiny states that IRL have little in common with CO and WA. It looks much more precise than it is. [illegible] writes extensively on this topic.

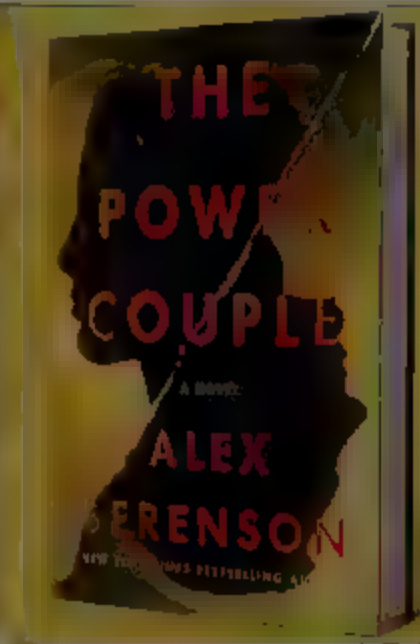


3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [illegible]



Come on, man! I'm trying to have a reasonable conversation. And there are people reading this who may appreciate a little background.

12:23 PM - 17 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

1/ The problem with trying to make up fake states as comparators is twofold. First, three states that make the most sense as comparators to CO and WA - OR, NV, AK - all legalized during the same time period. So they can't be included.

2 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

3/ That's why the ONLY FAIR COMPARISON IS NATIONAL. Use the fullest dataset, use the proper dataset, and let the chips fall. That's what I did. Violent crime has risen faster in the legalized states since legalization. Period. We can talk about why, but the fact is undeniable.

2 3 7

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

Your national weights are a possibility in the synthetic control design approach. But they are not chosen as the weights which minimize the deviation between the treated states, and the rest of the untreated states.

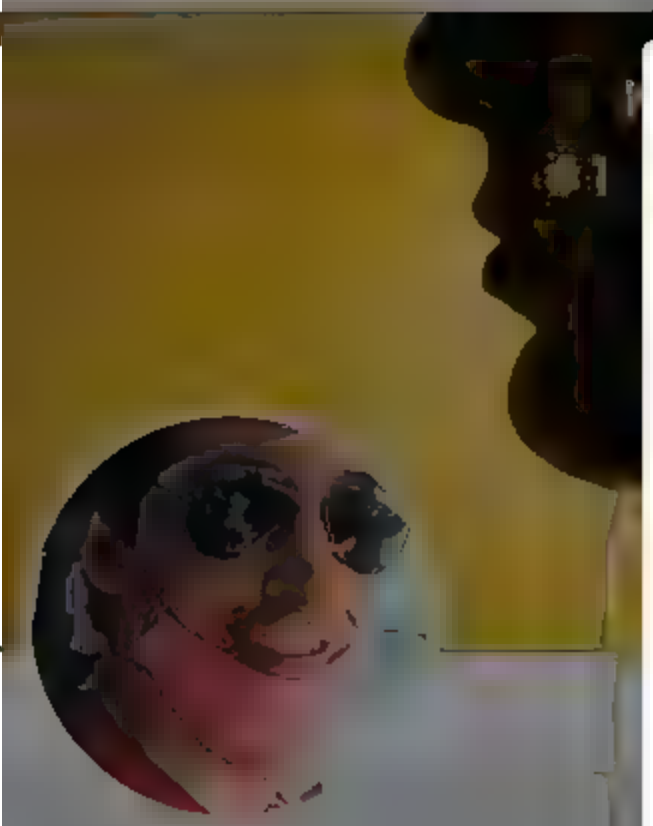
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

If a bunch of journalists hadn't used those graphs to jump me (with, based on your retweets, your tacit approval), we could have had a really good conversation about this. Maybe we still can.

12:19 PM - 17 Jan 2019



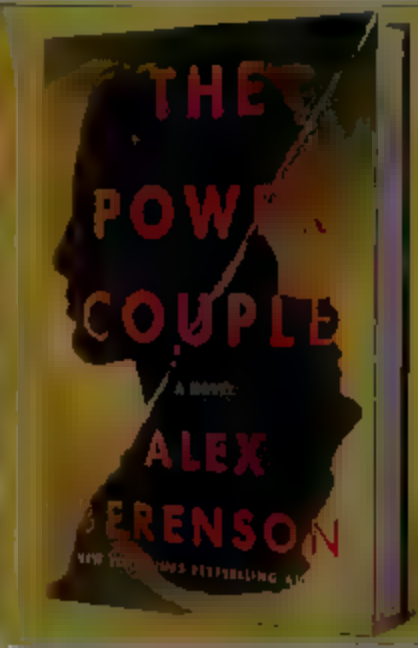
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

The tobacco/lung cancer parallel is obvious. The clinicians saw the trend early, and then the researchers (some paid by cigarette cos.) fought about the reasons why:
"By the 1920s, however, surgeons were encountering the malady with increasing frequency"
tobaccocontrol.bmj.com/content/21/2/87

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
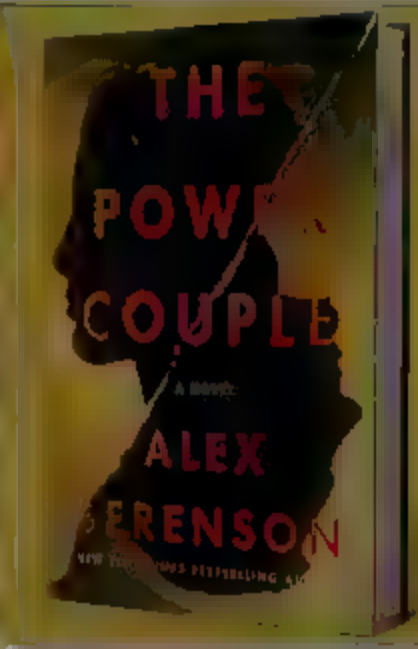
> One last smart point from Ben: Dr. Jay Gelda, a professor of psychiatry at [UCSD]. "The researchers are wary of overselling the dangers, as was clearly done in the past. However, clinicians overwhelmingly endorse seeing many more adolescents with 'paranoia.'". twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…



12:05 PM - 17 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 8 Likes

3 2 8

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to
They are more into vaping now this is being ignored when they are not increasing their Cannabis in study after study in the legal states.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Smoking killed >10 million Americans before we finally reined in the cigarette cos., so the parallel is not comforting. BTW: Sign me up for lung cancer at 60 over a psychotic disorder at 25 any day. (Though I'd rather not have to choose.)

12:08 PM - 17 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 14 Likes

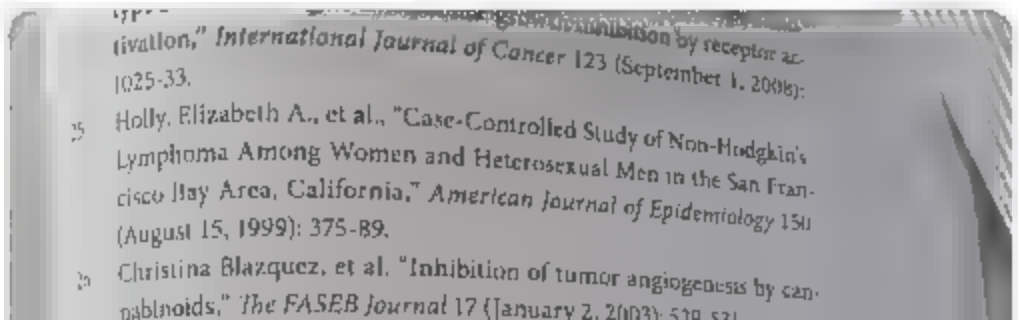
14 3 14

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Jan 2019

Replying to

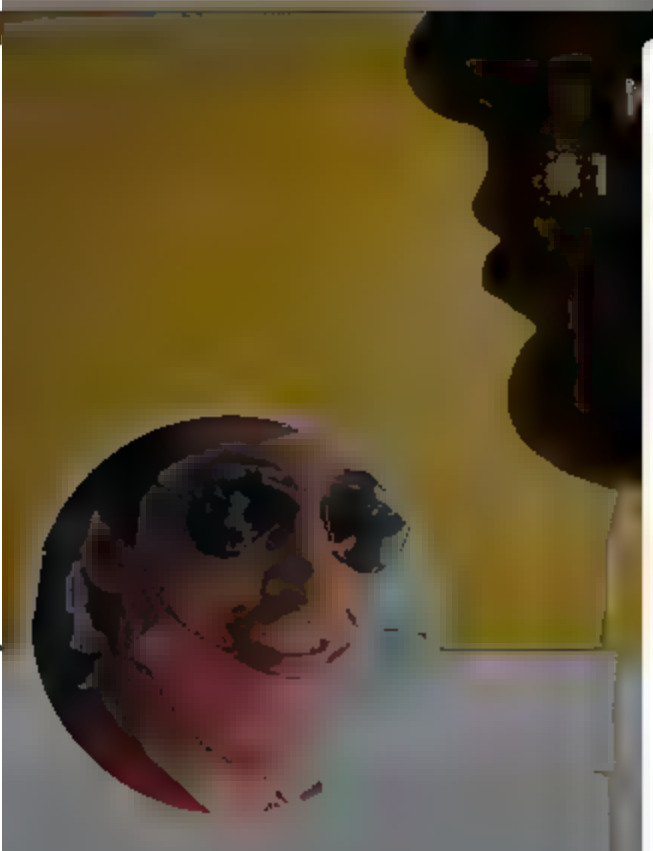


We can take some comfort in our experience with reining in tobacco companies and the success we have had in reducing smoking without spraying tobacco fields or incarcerating convenience store owners and clerks .

5

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 17 Jan 2019

Replying to



Surprisingly, smoking shows evidence4discouraging many as well as blocking prodementia influences. Cannabinoids, THC etc. have strong actions. Vaporization can remove the harms of smoke&boost anticancer effects.

tivation," International Journal of Cancer 123 (September 1, 2008): 1025-33.

Holly, Elizabeth A., et al., "Case-Controlled Study of Non-Hodgkin's Lymphoma Among Women and Heterosexual Men in the San Francisco Bay Area, California," American Journal of Epidemiology 150 (August 15, 1999): 375-89.

Christina Blazquez, et al. "Inhibition of tumor angiogenesis by cannabinoids," The FASEB Journal 17 (January 2, 2003): 529-531

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Following

One last smart point from Ben: Dr. Jay Geidd, a professor of psychiatry at [UCSD]. “The researchers are wary of overselling the dangers, as was clearly done in the past. However, clinicians overwhelmingly endorse seeing many more adolescents with ‘paranoia.”””.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
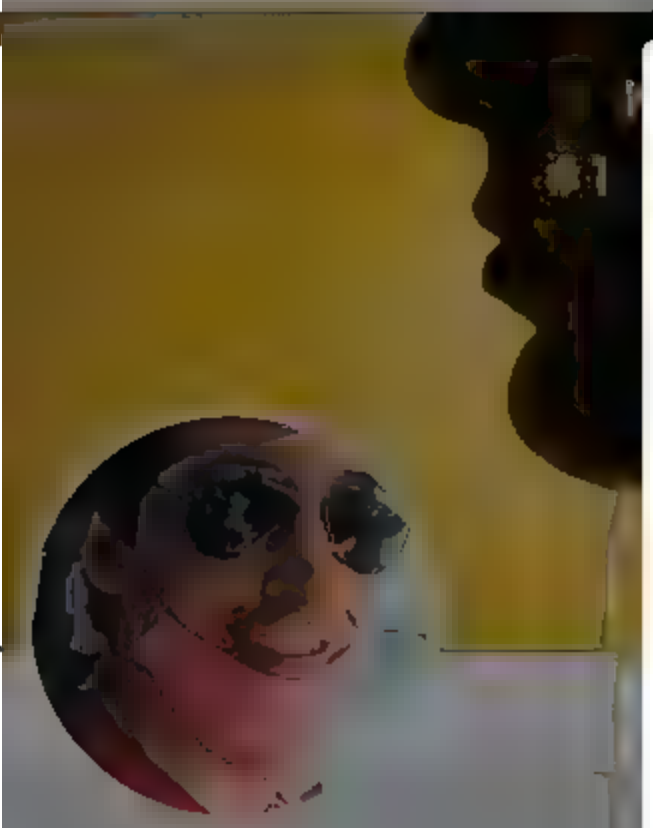
> Also from Ben: "Is it biologically plausible that cannabis could cause a psychotic disorder?" "Yes... there is circumstantial evidence for a biological mechanism. " twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…

12:03 PM - 17 Jan 2019

2 Likes



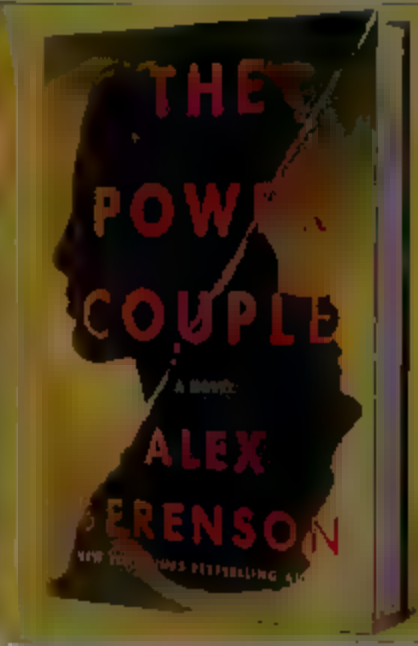
2 2

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 17 Jan 2019

Replying to [illegible]

Endorse does not make the bridge and also we are not legalizing for kids. And we do not have higher rates in the legal states for teens.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

The great @bencareynyt (full disclosure - we co-bylined pieces) looks at the science - nytimes.com/2019/01/17/hea … . His takeaway: "In short: Regularly using the new, high-potency cannabis may indeed be a risk for young people who are related to someone with a psychotic condition."

11:48 AM - 17 Jan 2019

8 Retweets 7 Likes

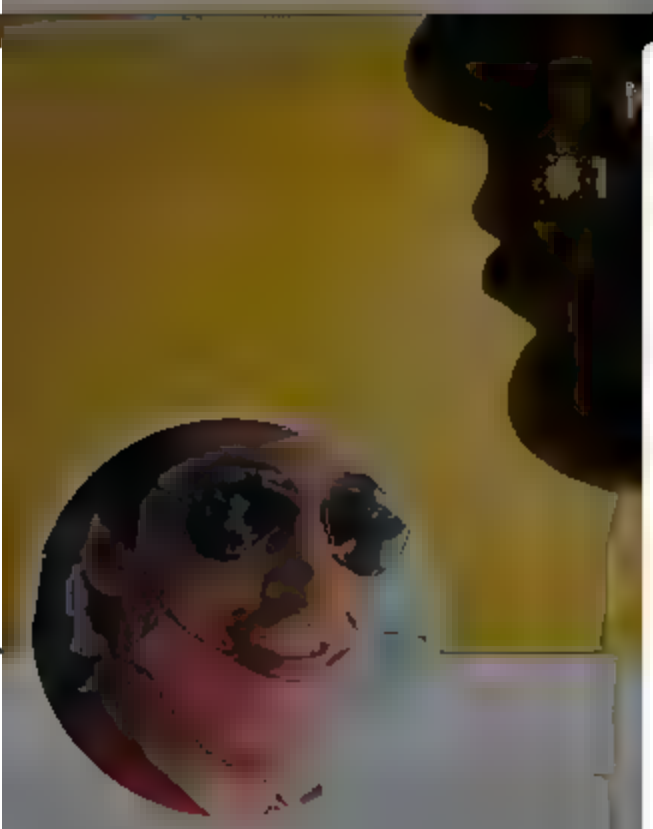
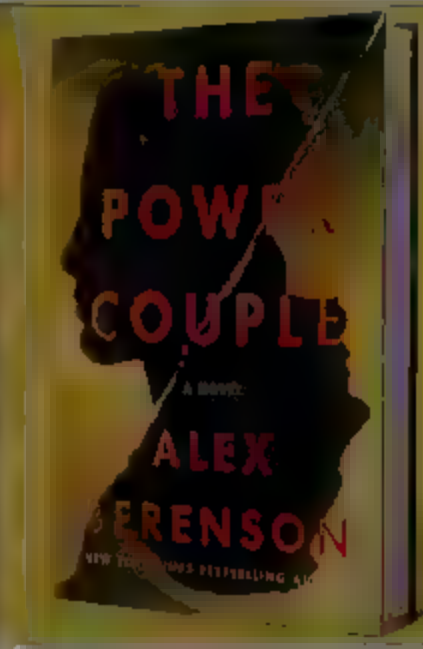
5 8 7

Bruce Conners @bconners · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
In a legal and regulated market you can put that right on the label.



1



Michael Reese @seventofive · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Um, do you think that referencing more media (vs scientific research) is going to change the debate? However, at least this dude seems to understand correlation vs causation. You keep showing you don't (and haven't learned a thing in this process).

2

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
In answer to the question in the headline, no, cannabis does not cause schizophrenia. With respect to mitigating the risk posed to some young people who regularly use high-potency products, do you still recommend prohibition?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Also from Ben: "Is it biologically plausible that cannabis could cause a psychotic disorder?" "Yes... there is circumstantial evidence for a biological mechanism. "

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
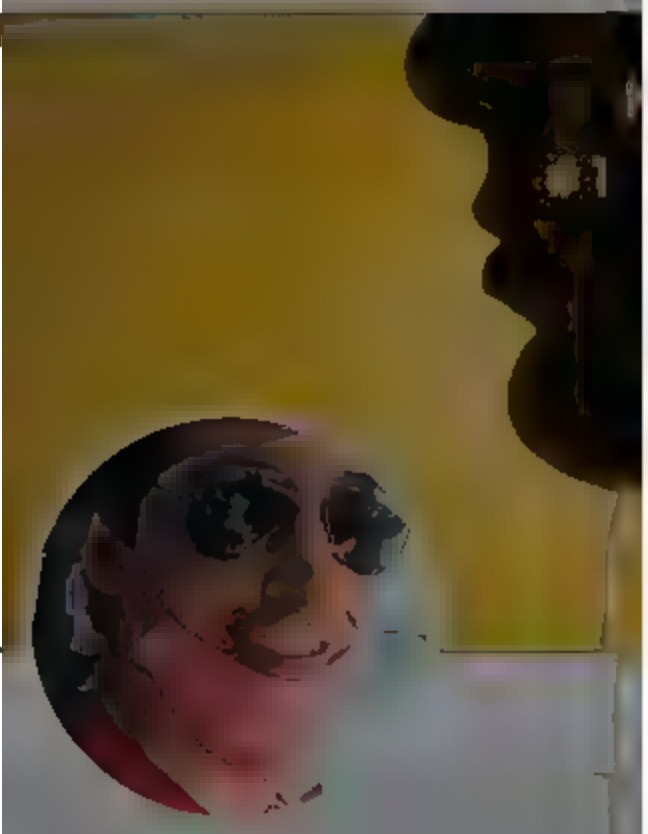
> The great @bencareynyt (full disclosure - we co-bylined pieces) looks at the science - nytimes.com/2019/01/17/hea…. His takeaway: "In short: Regularly using the new, high-potency cannabis may indeed be a risk for young people who are related to someone with a psychotic condition."

11:50 AM - 17 Jan 2019

8 Likes



2 8

infinite rest @wyspace · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to

KEY WORD: Circumstantial

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

To be clear: we cannot yet know that cannabis legalization has driven violent crime higher in the first states to legalize. But we do know that the claim by advocates that legalization would reduce violent crime (either absolutely or relative to overall US changes) is nonsense.

7 8

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

I agree with the conclusion so far there is little evidence that marijuana legalization has lowered homicide rates. Other violence crimes, agg assault, robbery etc, we don't know yet, and I haven't looked at those data.

4

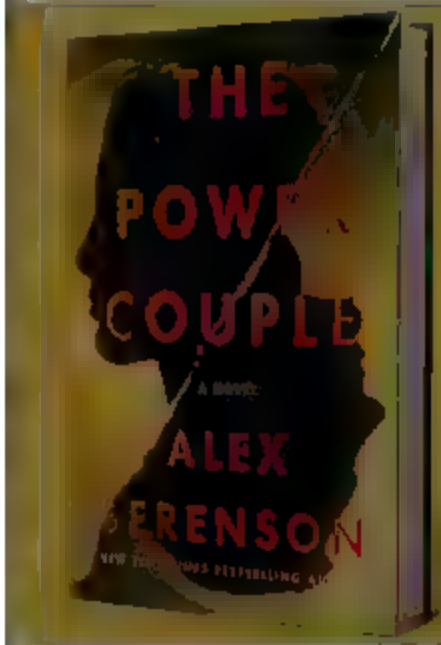
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

But the mechanisms are complicated, especially if people drink and get high at the same time. Moreover, have people migrated to legal marijuana zones more (which could be affecting crime rates too)?

2

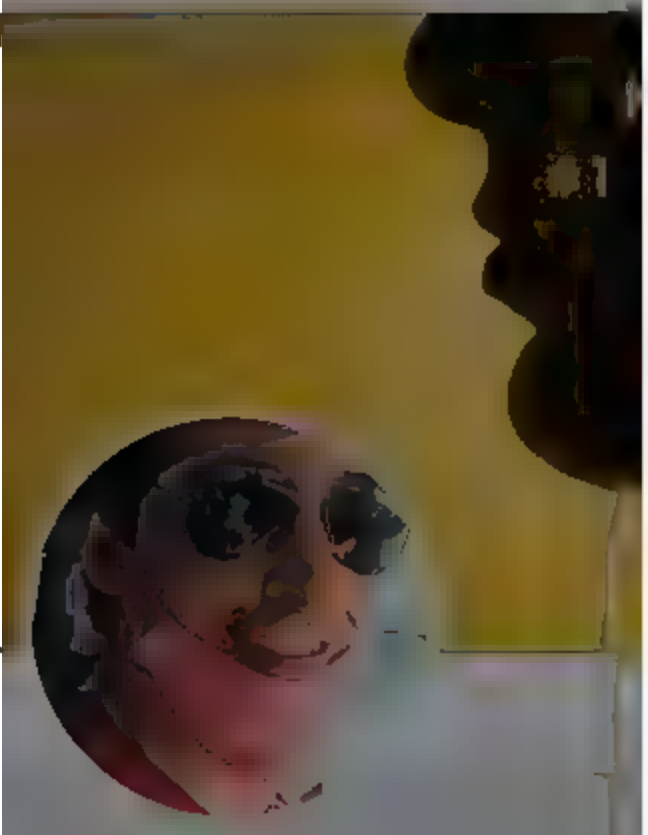
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

At the same time, maybe some of those people wouldn't have committed crimes if they hadn't migrated. These are really complex questions, and I will bet smart PhDs can find ways to attack them.



2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

It will depend on what you find, of course. (Yes, kidding.) But seriously I think the book is a full-employment act for post-docs on legalized states. We need answers...

11:16 AM - 17 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

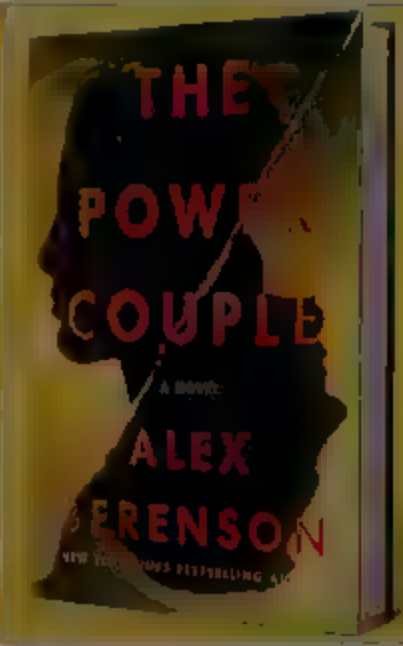
4

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
But the mechanisms are complicated, especially if people drink and get high at the same time. Moreover, have people migrated to legal marijuana zones more (which could be affecting crime rates too)?

2

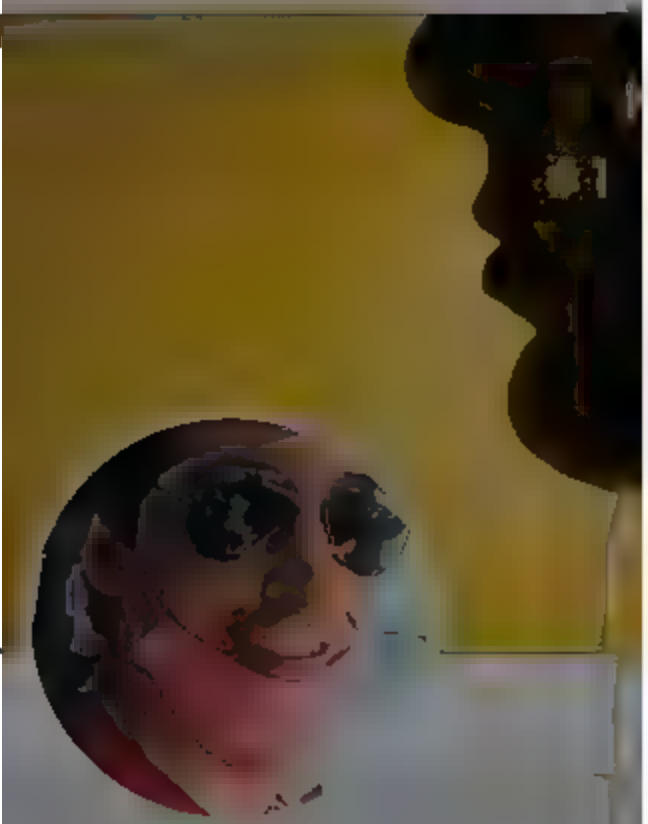
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]



At the same time, maybe some of those people wouldn't have committed crimes if they hadn't migrated. These are really complex questions, and I will bet smart PhDs can find ways to attack them.

11:12 AM - 17 Jan 2019



2

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I don't if this is subtle complement, or a subtle insult (am I in the smart PhD or the dumb PhD group....).

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
It will depend on what you find, of course. (Yes, kidding.) But seriously I think the book is a full-employment act for post-docs on legalized states. We need answers...

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

does not support the assertion legalization would (or has, to quote Cory Booker in 2017) lower it. If not, please let me know.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> To be clear: we cannot yet know that cannabis legalization has driven violent crime higher in the first states to legalize. But we do know that the claim by advocates that legalization would reduce violent crime (either absolutely or relative to overall US changes) is nonsense.

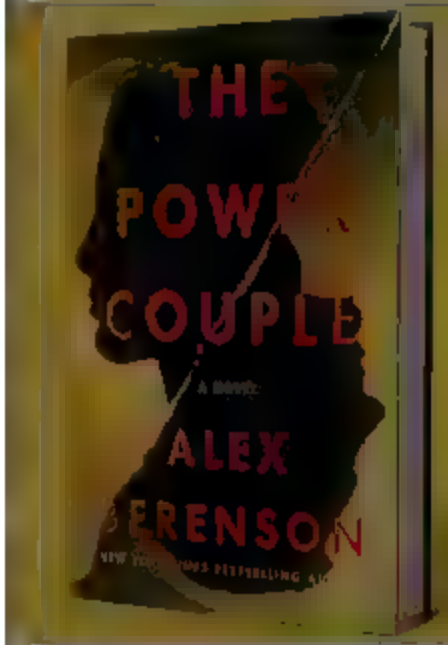
7 8

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
I agree with the conclusion so far there is little evidence that marijuana legalization has lowered homicide rates. Other violence crimes, agg assault, robbery etc, we don't know yet, and I haven't looked at those data.

4

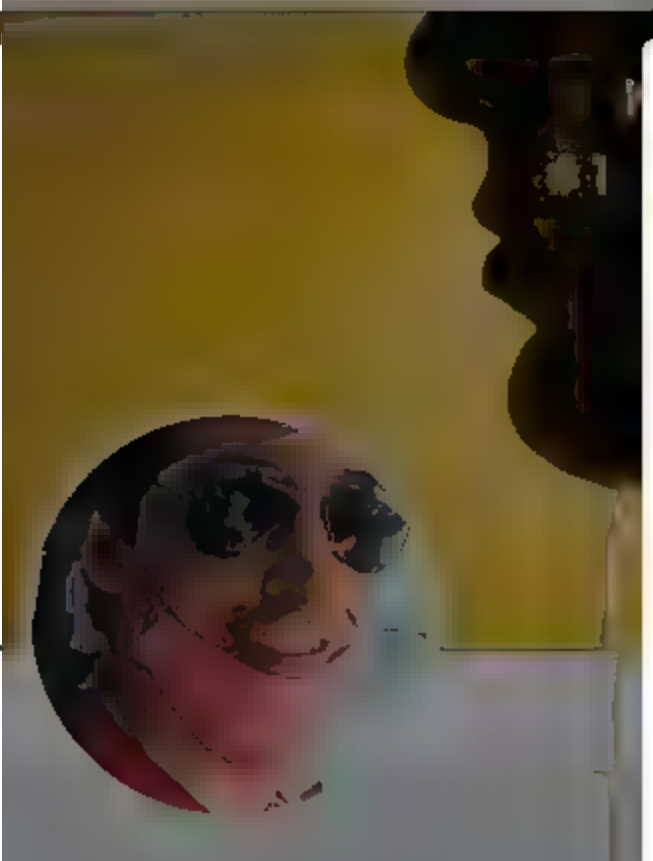
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
But the mechanisms are complicated, especially if people drink and get high at the same time. Moreover, have people migrated to legal marijuana zones more (which could be affecting crime rates too)?

2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



I have seen cases that suggest that this is part of the reason - that legalization encourages at least some transients with mental health problems and a propensity to use to migrate. In other words, the states may be "importing" crime.

11:10 AM - 17 Jan 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Retweeting this to make my position clear. We know violent crime is up. We can't yet be sure why. But I assume that @benconomics would agree the evidence does not support the assertion legalization would (or has, to quote Cory Booker in 2017) lower it. If not, please let me know.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
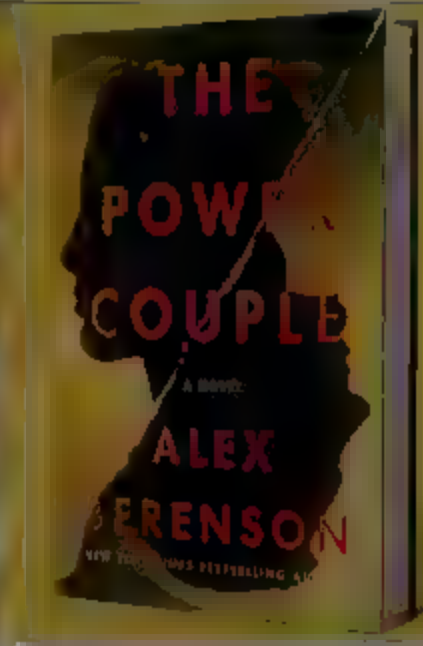
> To be clear: we cannot yet know that cannabis legalization has driven violent crime higher in the first states to legalize. But we do know that the claim by advocates that legalization would reduce violent crime (either absolutely or relative to overall US changes) is nonsense.

10:37 AM - 17 Jan 2019

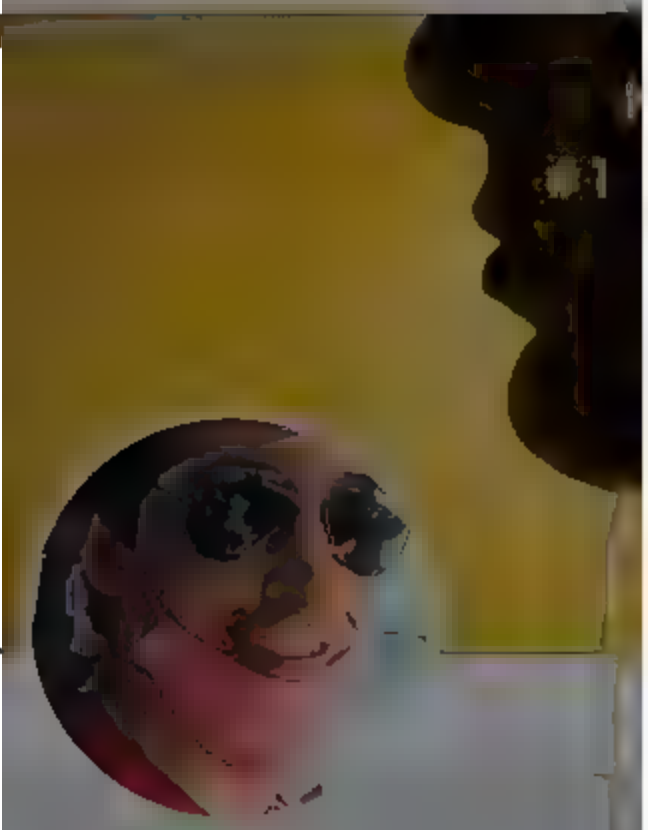
8 Likes



7 8

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
I agree with the conclusion so far there is little evidence that marijuana legalization has lowered homicide rates. Other violence crimes, agg assault, robbery etc, we don't know yet, and I haven't looked at those data.

4



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Access to alcohol at age 21 causes assaults to jump by 11 percent. So if alcohol and marijuana are on average substitutes, marijuana legalization could cause assaults to drop even if only because people get drunk less.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

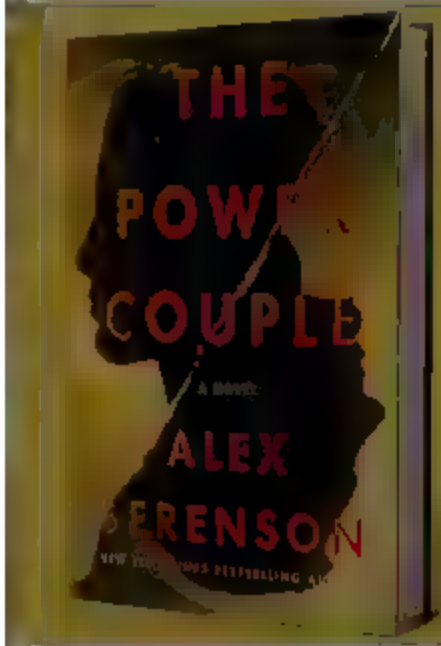
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
I agree with the conclusion so far there is little evidence that marijuana legalization has lowered homicide rates. Other violence crimes, agg assault, robbery etc, we don't know yet, and I haven't looked at those data.

4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

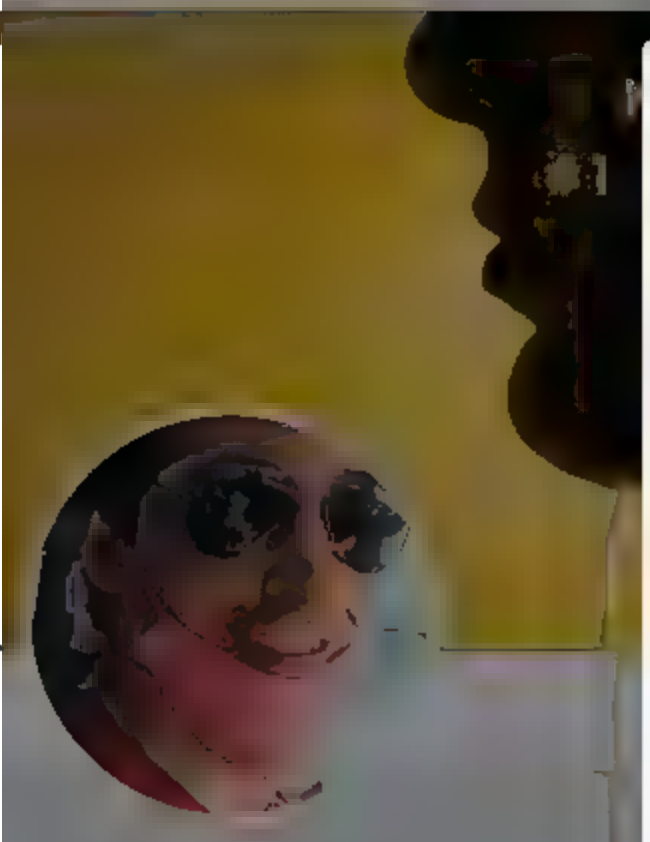
Replying to

What's so strange about all this is that as far I can see the book is a plus for social scientists - it raises lots of issues that are amenable to detailed analysis (dispensary locations v. ER admissions for psychosis, say). But people just want to insist it's wrong.

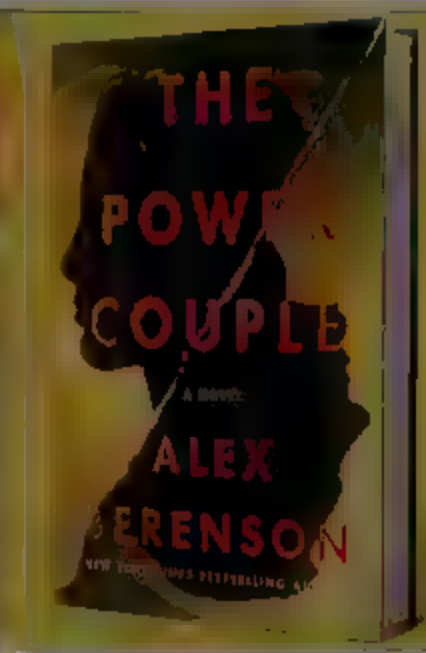


10:45 AM - 17 Jan 2019

3



infinite rest @wyspace · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to
You should lay off the psychosis thing.



Ryan J. McQueeney @RJMcQ · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to
"Sure my book is full of errors, falsehoods, appeals to emotion and other logical fallacies but at least I Gabe social scientists something to do"

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

The problem with this kind of analysis is that it loves complexity for its own sake and ignores the real world. The problem with advocacy journalists is that when they hear what they like, they don't double (or even single) check.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
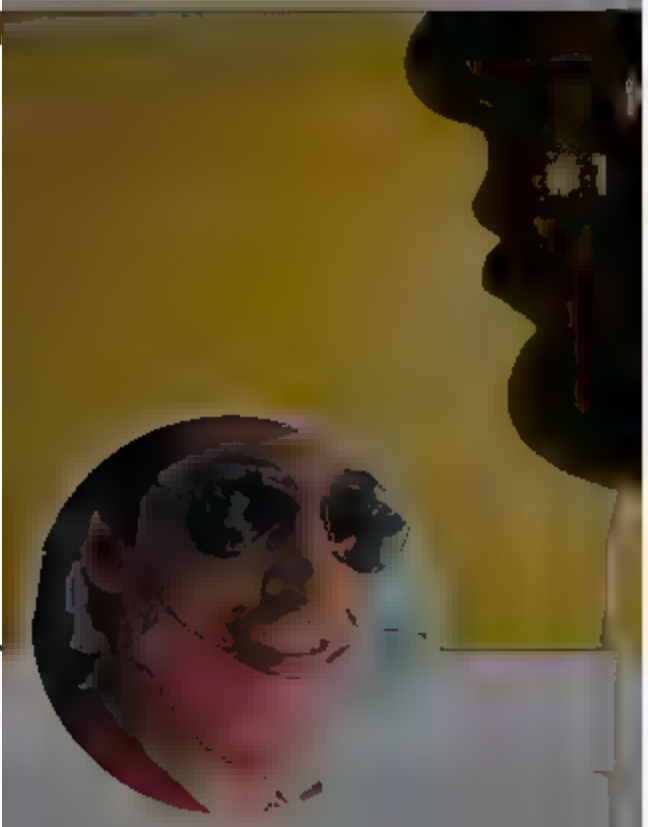
> Replying to @benconomics
>
> No. I'm done debating the fake state model. Go make as many charts as you like with whatever data you like. The problem with selection bias stands. West Virginia? Rhode Island? How are those good comparisons for CO and WA?



9:00 AM - 17 Jan 2019

1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1) The output will be very sensitive to the states included in the fake state comparator....

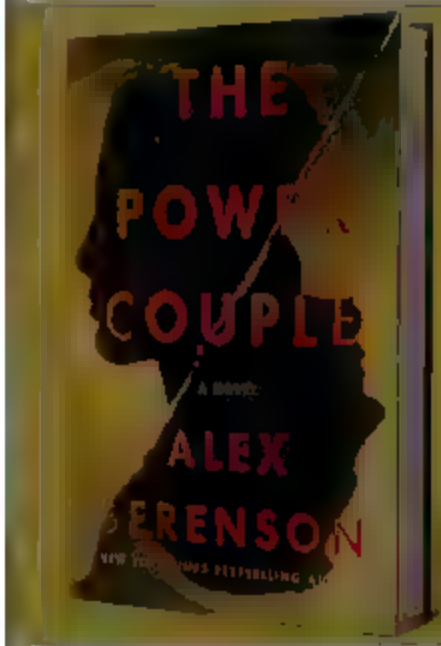
1 2 32

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

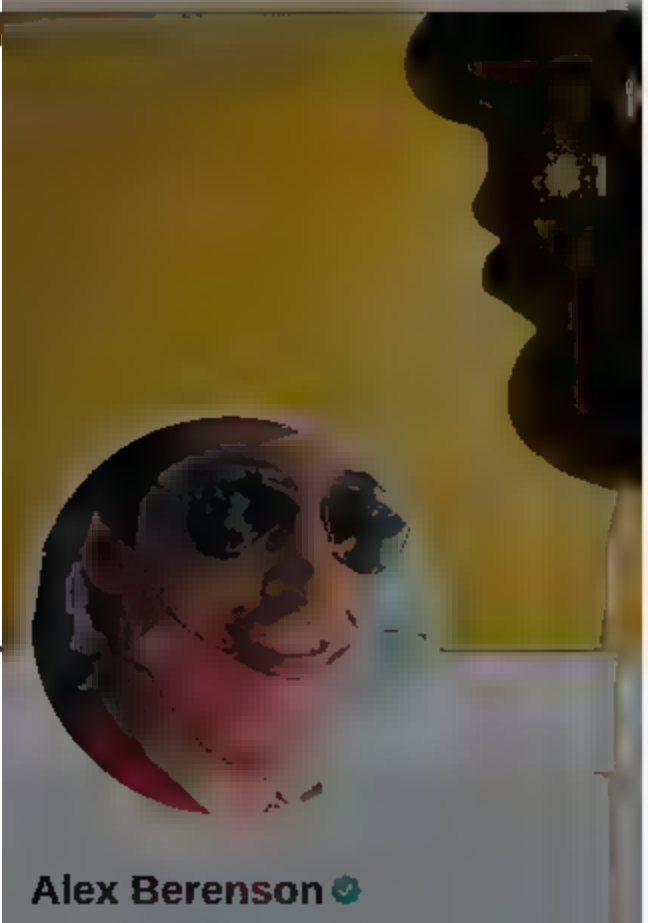
No. I'm done debating the fake state model. Go make as many charts as you like with whatever data you like. The problem with selection bias stands. West Virginia? Rhode Island? How are those good comparisons for CO and WA?

8:57 AM - 17 Jan 2019



2 Likes

2 2



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Is the whole nation? Because that's the comparison your using.

5

Matt Darling @besttrousers · 18 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
What exactly is the selection bias here?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

one year holding my control state fixed, which I did. Seems like you are working to generate oopsies.

New graphs are coming dropping those states. What's your prediction?

1 1 12

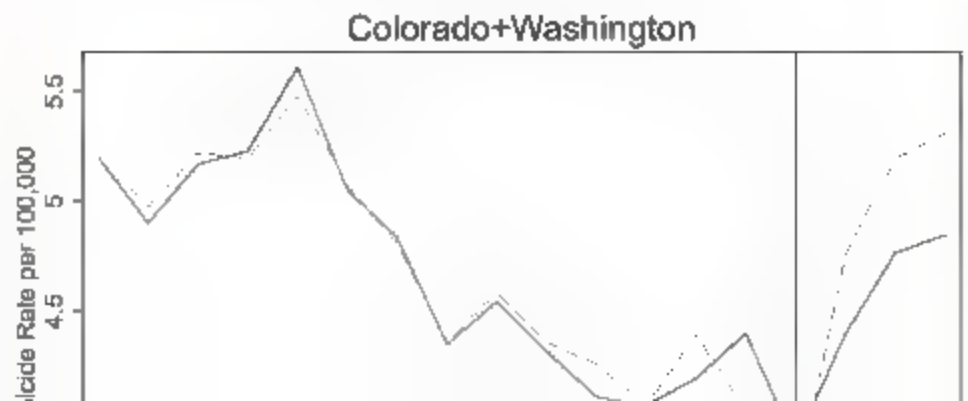
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

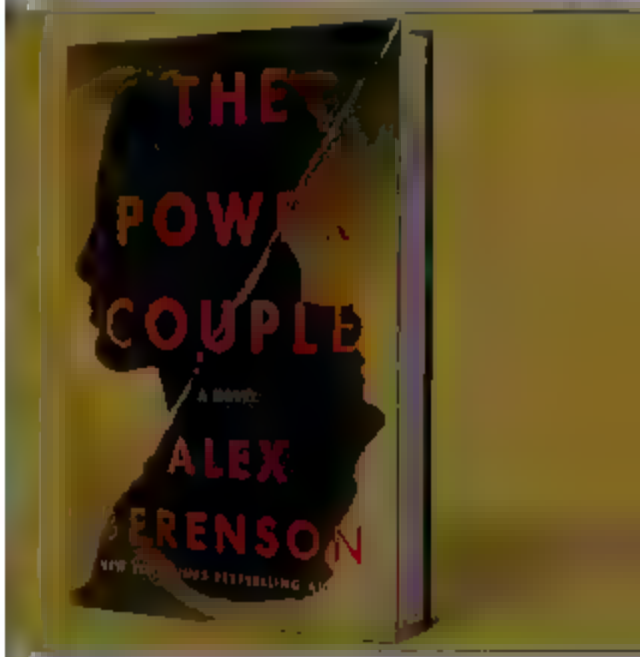
My prediction is twofold:

1) The output will be very sensitive to the states included in the fake state comparator.
2) Advocates and advocacy journalists will keep ignoring the actual murder and aggravated assault figures.

PS Hope you use the proper murder figures this time.

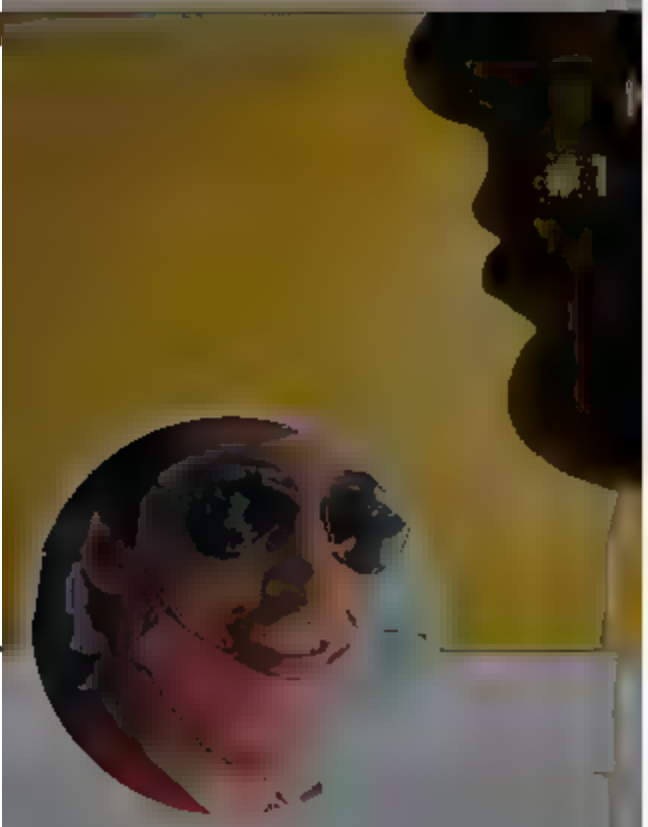


8:00 AM - 17 Jan 2019



2

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019



Replying to

Still using homicide data, but send me whatever murder figures you consider "proper" and I'll rerun that. Check my latest tweet. STill a null dude.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

comparator for states that legalized recreational marijuana, Ben?

1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

They later legalized (was't a factor when the data went through 2017). I'm happy to drop any individual state for outlier sensitivity. Come up with your requests of robustness, and I'll get around to them probably by tomorrow.

2

David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 17 Jan 2019

[illegible] - I get you want to defend your thesis. But there's no need being rude, no need being a bully.

1

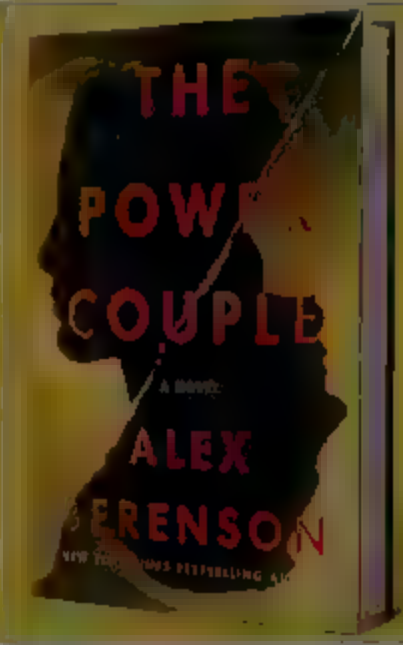
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible]

A bully? Have you read the coverage of the book and the things people are saying to me? Ben made a mistake. I pointed it out. To his credit he was honest enough to admit it. But this model has a deep and probably unfixable problem and I won't pretend otherwise.

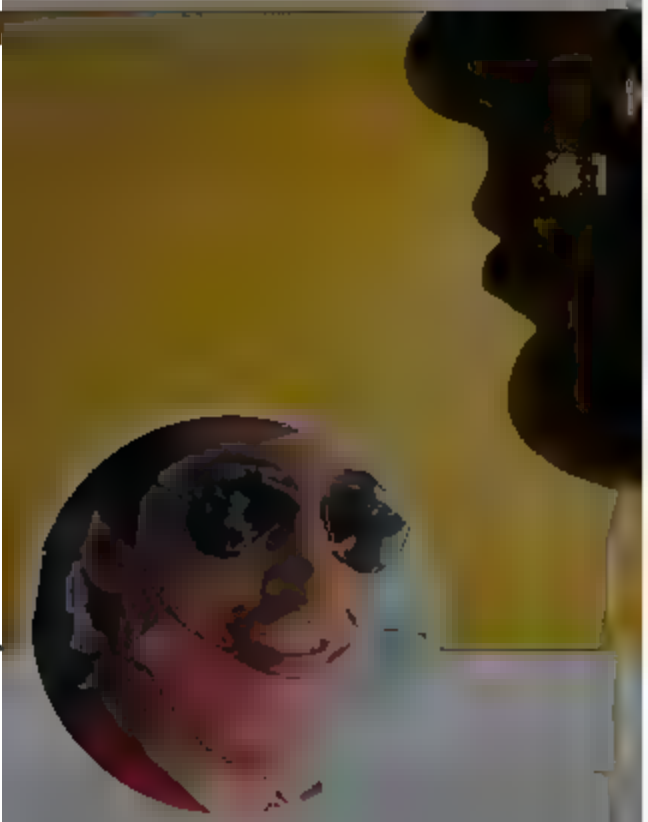
8:52 AM - 17 Jan 2019

1



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

Replying to [illegible]



A "mistake" you asked me to make (holding my control group fixed).

2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1/ The problem with trying to make up fake states as comparators is twofold. First, three states that make the most sense as comparators to CO and WA - OR, NV, AK - all legalized during the same time period. So they can't be included.

2 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ That's why the ONLY FAIR COMPARISON IS NATIONAL. Use the fullest dataset, use the proper dataset, and let the chips fall. That's what I did. Violent crime has risen faster in the legalized states since legalization. Period. We can talk about why, but the fact is undeniable.

7:35 AM - 17 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 7 Likes

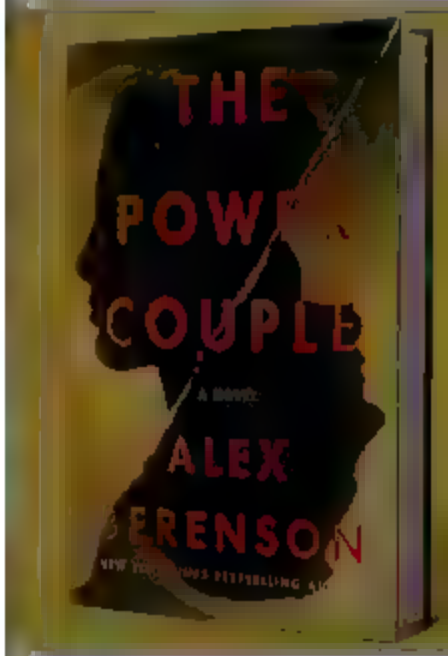
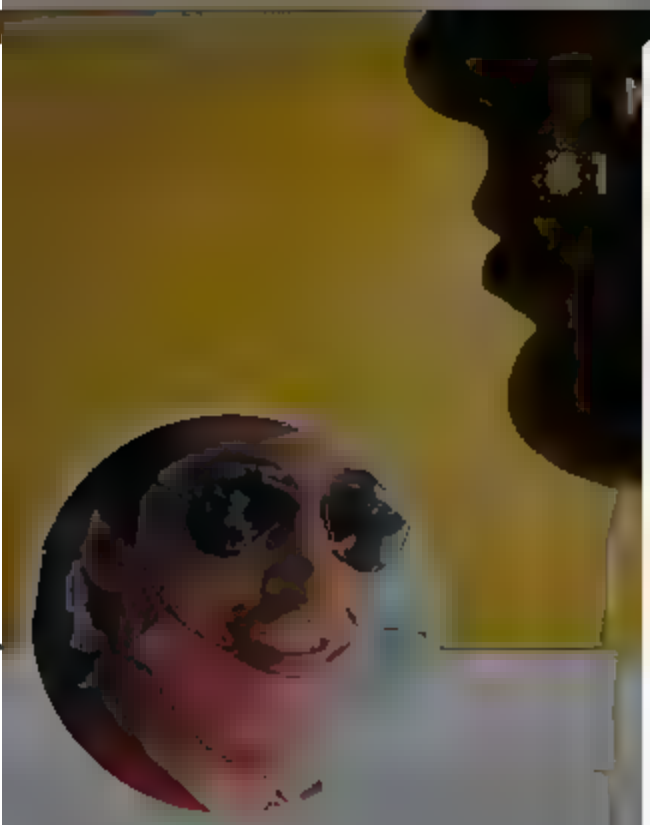
2 3 7



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to

FYI, the approach I used allowed for whatever weights best fit among all states in the nation. Your national comparison assumes those weights are basically the population. That may or may not approximate what would have happened in CO and WA had they not legalized.



1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019
But as a result the model winds up assigning very large weights to some tiny states that IRL have little in common with CO and WA. It looks much more precise than it is. writes extensively on this topic.

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

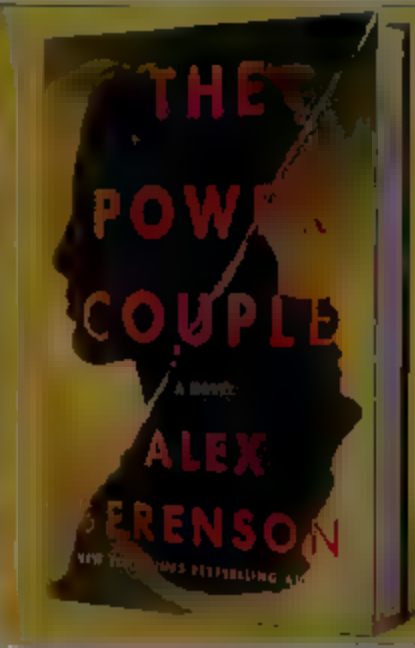
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

1/ The problem with trying to make up fake states as comparators is twofold. First, three states that make the most sense as comparators to CO and WA - OR, NV, AK - all legalized during the same time period. So they can't be included.

2 4

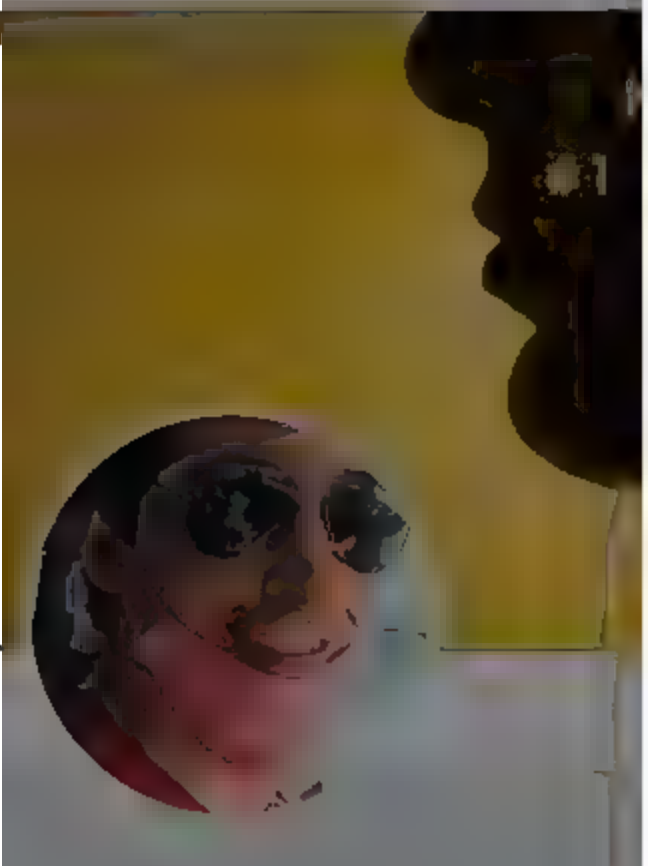
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow



2/ And second, the model is inherently sensitive to selection bias. It is very easy to determine which states have had the lowest/highest changes in violent crime rates between '13 and '17. Pick the lowest, and CO and WA look terrible. Pick the highest, and they look great.

7:33 AM - 17 Jan 2019



3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

Really? You won't just tell me? Believe it or not I took a day off Twitter last week - I was kinda busy - so I didn't see your response. "Go back in your history" is not exactly helpful. Glad to talk over email, too, if you like. Getting off Twitter tends to lower the volume.

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

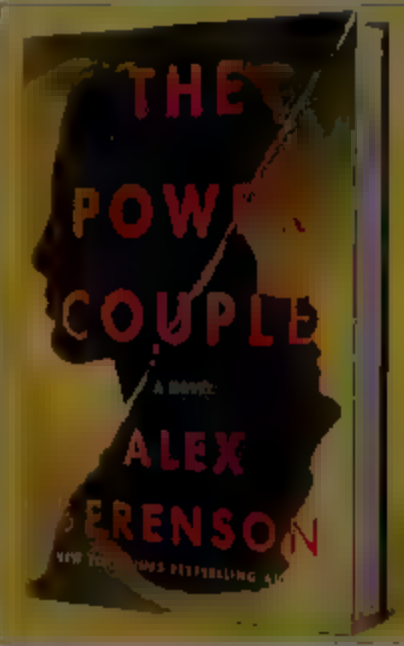
Never mind, I found it. Okay, Nevada's in there. (So's Vermont.) I was afraid of that. Can you tell me why Nevada might not be a good state to use as a comparator for states that legalized recreational marijuana, Ben?

1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

They later legalized (was't a factor when the data went through 2017). I'm happy to drop any individual state for outlier sensitivity. Come up with your requests of robustness, and I'll get around to them probably by tomorrow.

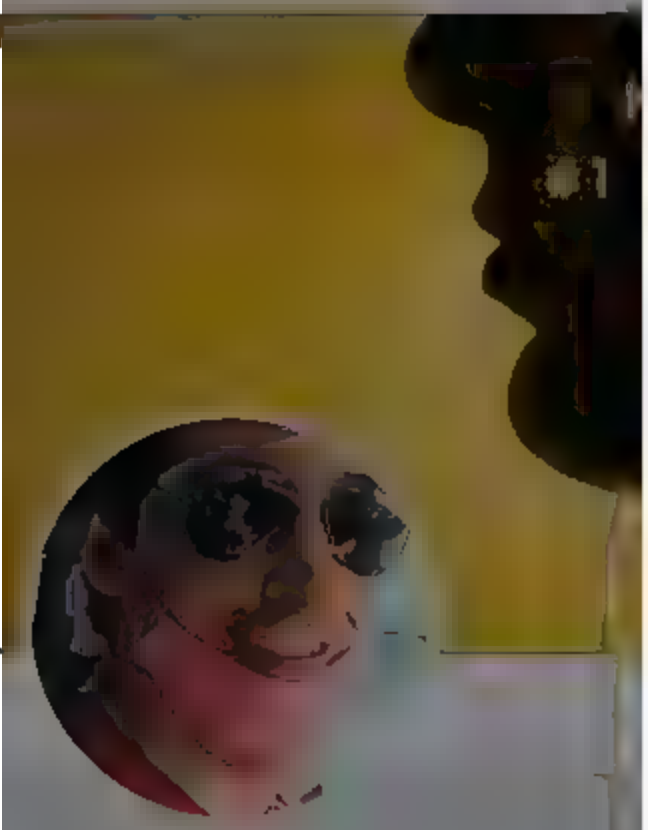
2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Correct. And there was a HUGE increase in murders in Nevada in 2017 (because of the Las Vegas shooting, which occurred post-legalization, though it was probably unrelated). I wish we had sorted this out before a bunch of journalists used your improperly modeled charts.



7:26 AM - 17 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

Really? You won't just tell me? Believe it or not I took a day off Twitter last week - I was kinda busy - so I didn't see your response. "Go back in your history" is not exactly helpful. Glad to talk over email, too, if you like. Getting off Twitter tends to lower the volume.

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

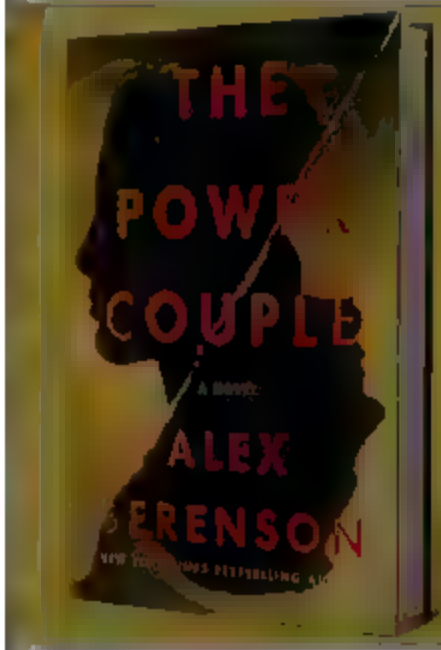
Never mind, I found it. Okay, Nevada's in there. (So's Vermont.) I was afraid of that. Can you tell me why Nevada might not be a good state to use as a comparator for states that legalized recreational marijuana, Ben?

7:21 AM - 17 Jan 2019

1

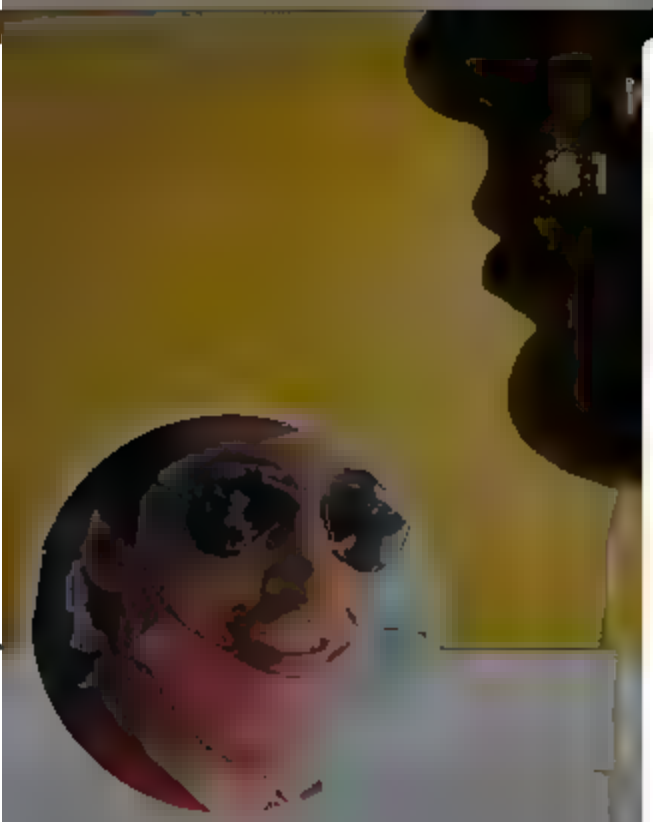
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

Replying to



They later legalized (was't a factor when the data went through 2017). I'm happy to drop any individual state for outlier sensitivity. Come up with your requests of robustness, and I'll get around to them probably by tomorrow.

2

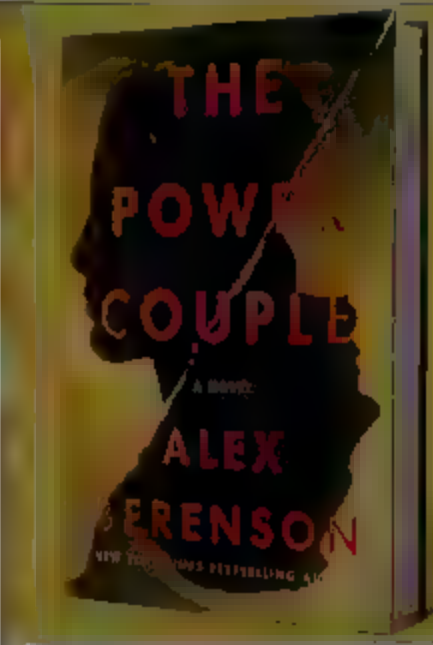


Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

Correct. And there was a HUGE increase in murders in Nevada in 2017 (because of the Las Vegas shooting, which occurred post-legalization, though it was probably unrelated). I wish we had sorted this out before a bunch of journalists used your improperly modeled charts.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ The problem with trying to make up fake states as comparators is twofold. First, three states that make the most sense as comparators to CO and WA - OR, NV, AK - all legalized during the same time period. So they can't be included.

7:31 AM - 17 Jan 2019

4 Likes

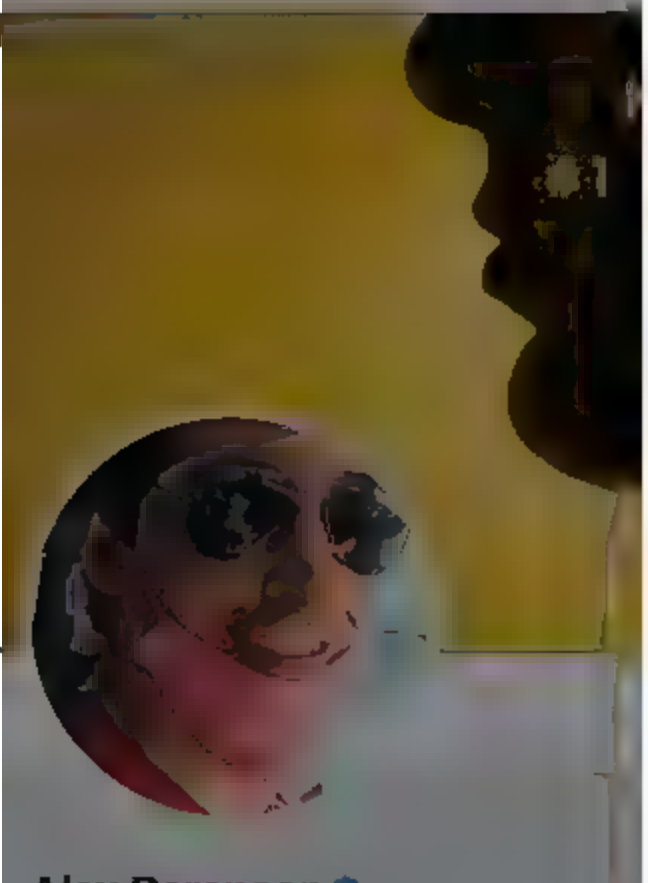
2 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

2/ And second, the model is inherently sensitive to selection bias. It is very easy to determine which states have had the lowest/highest changes in violent crime rates between '13 and '17. Pick the lowest, and CO and WA look terrible. Pick the highest, and they look great.

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019



3/ That's why the ONLY FAIR COMPARISON IS NATIONAL. Use the fullest dataset, use the proper dataset, and let the chips fall. That's what I did. Violent crime has risen faster in the legalized states since legalization. Period. We can talk about why, but the fact is undeniable.

2 3 7

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

I already showed maps a week ago in your twitter feed that had the states including which were dropped (missing data) and which received positive weight and even how much. That was about the time you stopped replying to me. So go back in your history and look it up.

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Really? You won't just tell me? Believe it or not I took a day off Twitter last week - I was kinda busy - so I didn't see your response. "Go back in your history" is not exactly helpful. Glad to talk over email, too, if you like. Getting off Twitter tends to lower the volume.

7:18 AM - 17 Jan 2019

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

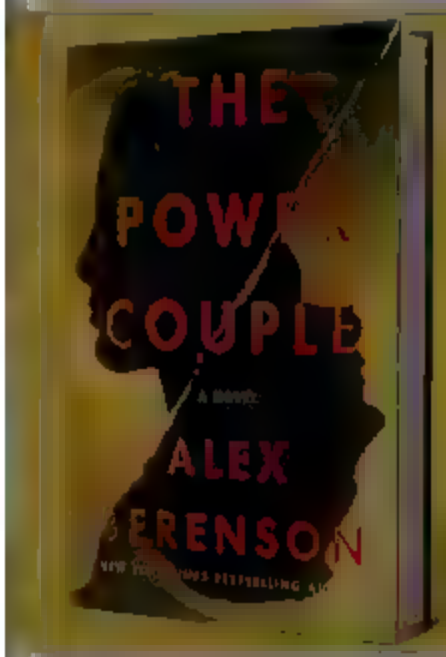
Replying to

Never mind, I found it. Okay, Nevada's in there. (So's Vermont.) I was afraid of that. Can you tell me why Nevada might not be a good state to use as a comparator for states that legalized recreational marijuana, Ben?

1

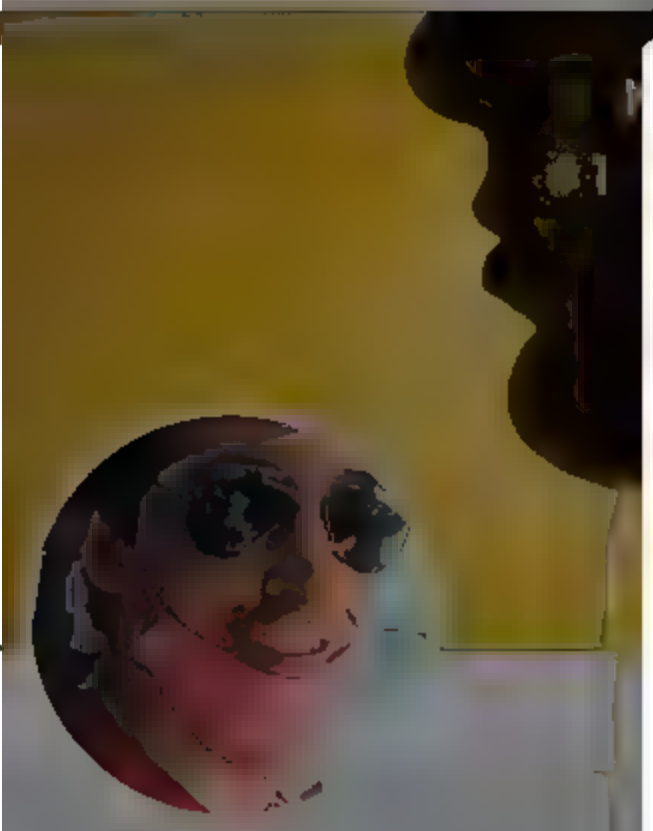
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019

They later legalized (was't a factor when the data went through 2017). I'm happy to drop any individual state for outlier sensitivity. Come up with your requests of robustness, and I'll get around to them probably by tomorrow.

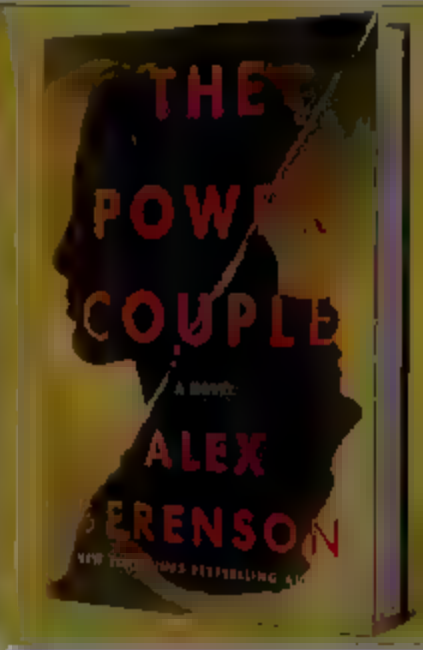


2

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019



Replying to



Its 7am in PST, I have two dogs who need their walk and 3 kids who need to get

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019

What's the standard way to report murder rates in the US, Ben? What do police departments and media outlets report? The figure you used, or the figure I used?

> Benjamin Hansen @benconomics
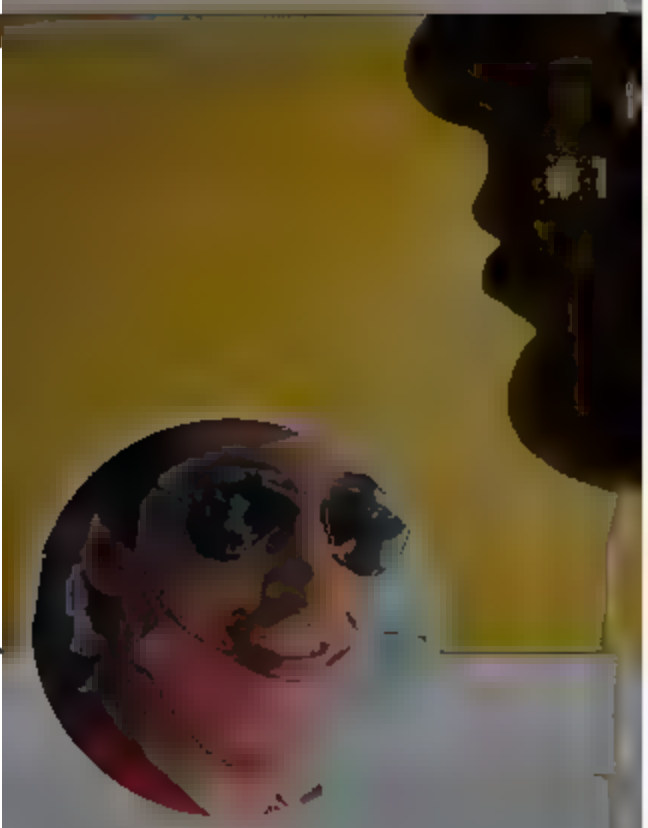
> Replying to @AlexBerenson
> SHR is part of the UCR. Have you ever used crime data for research? ucr.fbi.gov/nibrs/addendum...

3 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

I'll give you a hint. It's the data I used.
fbi.gov/news/pressrel/ ...



7:04 AM - 17 Jan 2019

2 Likes

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Both are used. Given your hypothesis is marijuana drives folks insane, homicides is probably more natural. I feel like you will likely quibble over anything I do. Lets pre commit. Give me assault/murder whatever data you want at the state year level, and I'll do the same method.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

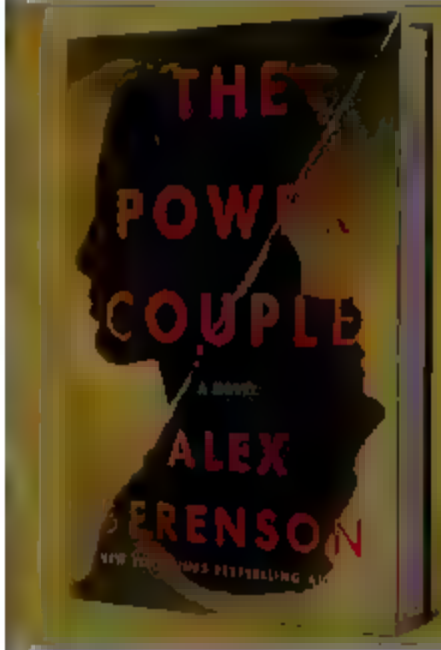
Replying to

Okay, now that we're actually talking, I have a question - what states did you use to generate the comparator "synthesized" state? Indulge me here.

7:07 AM - 17 Jan 2019

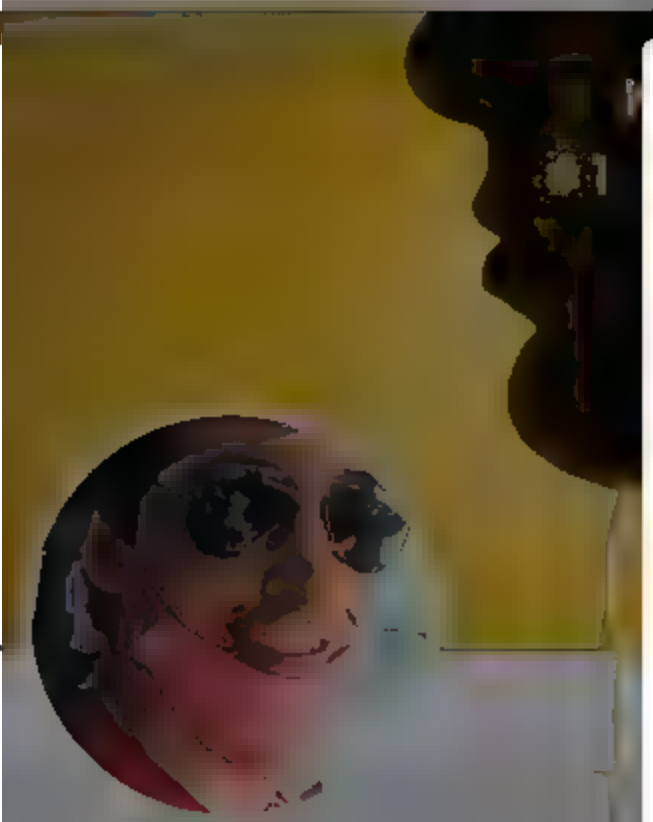
1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to

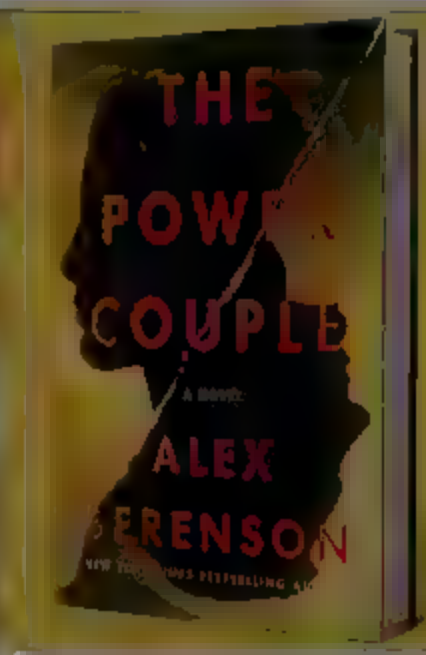


I already showed maps a week ago in your twitter feed that had the states including which were dropped (missing data) and which received positive weight and even how much. That was about the time you stopped replying to me. So go back in your history and look it up.

1 2



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019
Really? You won't just tell me? Believe it or not I took a day off Twitter last week - I was kinda busy - so I didn't see your response. "Go back in your history" is not exactly helpful. Glad to talk over email, too, if you like. Getting off Twitter tends to lower the volume.



2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

What's the standard way to report murder rates in the US, Ben? What do police departments and media outlets report? The figure you used, or the figure I used?

> Benjamin Hansen @benconomics
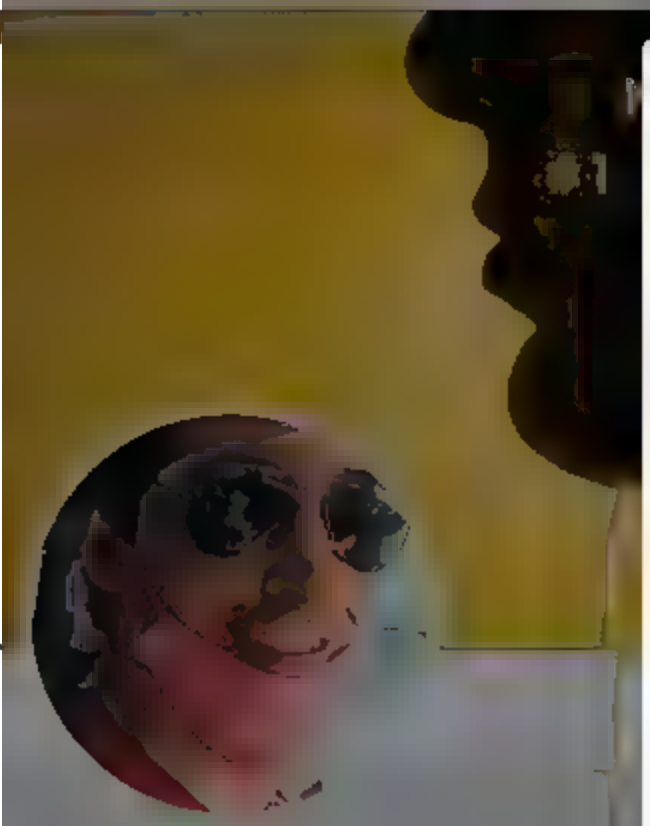
> Replying to @AlexBerenson
> SHR is part of the UCR. Have you ever used crime data for research? ucr.fbi.gov/nibrs/addendum...

7:00 AM - 17 Jan 2019

3 Likes

3 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019
I'll give you a hint. It's the data I used.



2

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to

Both are used. Given your hypothesis is marijuana drives folks insane, homicides is probably more natural. I feel like you will likely quibble over anything I do. Lets pre commit. Give me assault/murder whatever data you want at the state year level, and I'll do the same method.

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Jan 2019
Okay, now that we're actually talking, I have a question - what states did you use to generate the comparator "synthesized" state? Indulge me here.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

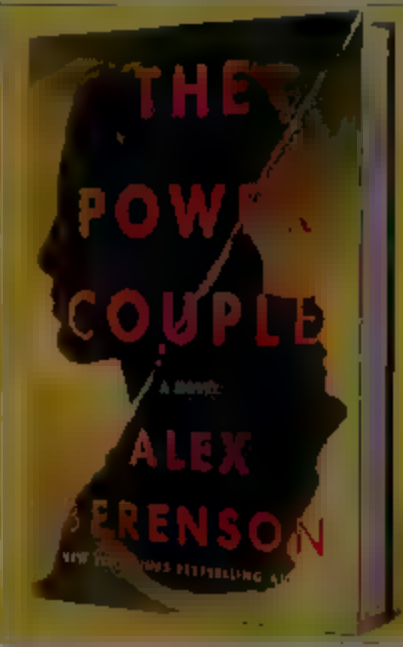
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

What's the best crime dataset? The UCR data I used, or the one @benconomics used? Let's play a little game I call "ask the police!" "Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) is the primary data standard used by the FBI to record crime for law enforcement agencies."

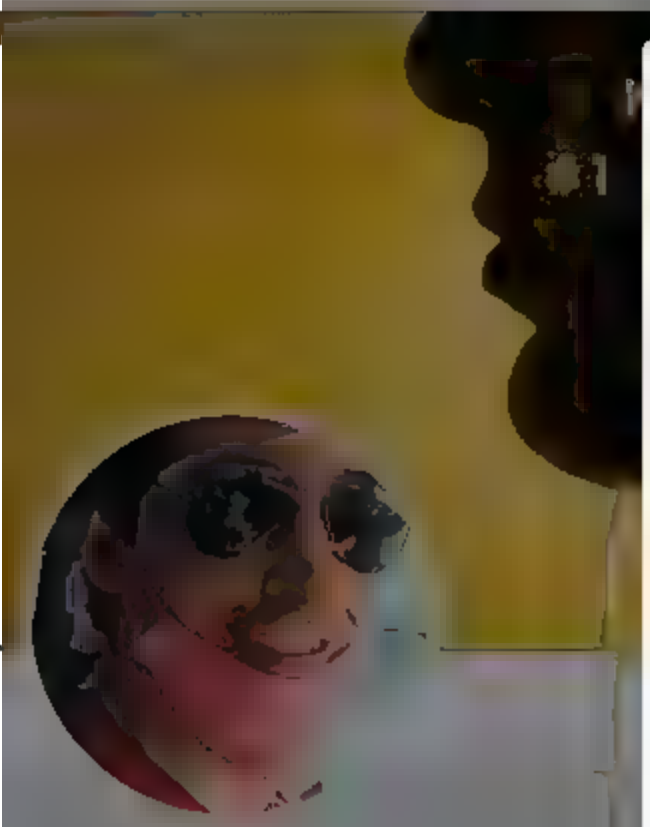
6:56 AM - 17 Jan 2019

2 Likes



2 2

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to
SHR is part of the UCR. Have you ever used crime data for research?

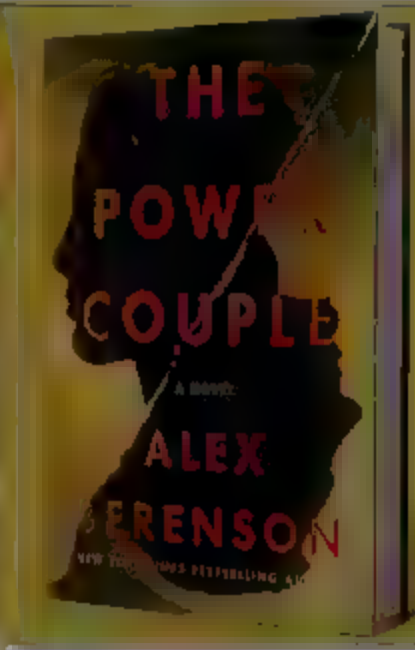


1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to

Here's the SHR data all prepared and downloadable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

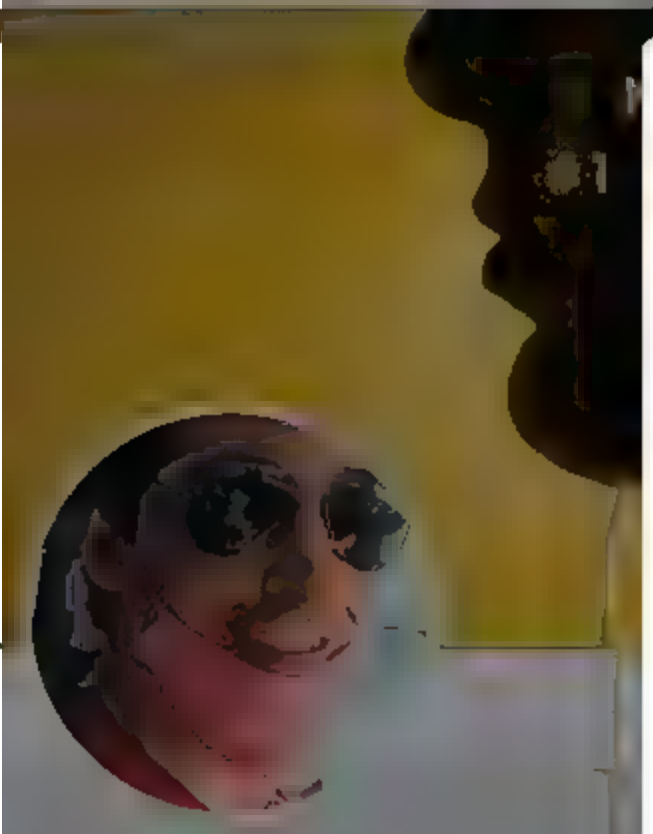
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

If I had a used a non-standard crime dataset in Tell Your Children, I could fairly be accused of cherry-picking data. But I didn't. I didn't need to play games, just as I didn't need to mislead about the NAM report. I don't massage facts. I don't have to.

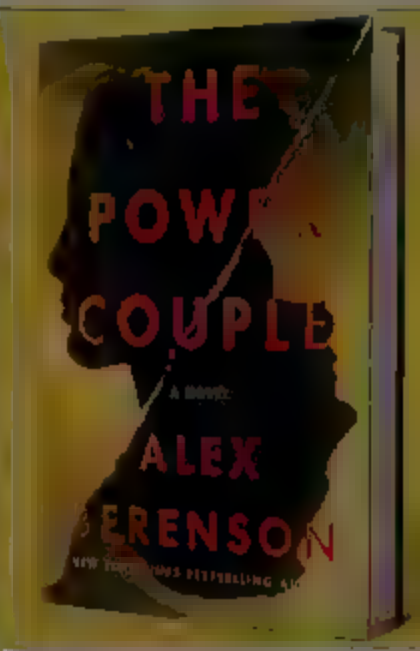
6:59 AM - 17 Jan 2019

10 Likes

3 10



Mark Atley @mark_atley · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Keep up the work. You do what journalist are supposed to do.



1

CouldBeDan @danbarach · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
A voice in the darkness.

The Disgruntled Progressive @Dadfartdad · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
No, you just misinterpret them.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Jan 2019

1/ Tell Your Children came out a week ago. It mentions dozens of studies and datapoints on cannabis, psychosis, and violence, dating to the late 1800s; state-level violent crime data; studies of child deaths; psychosis-related ER admissions; and cannabis and opioid use...

2 13 22

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

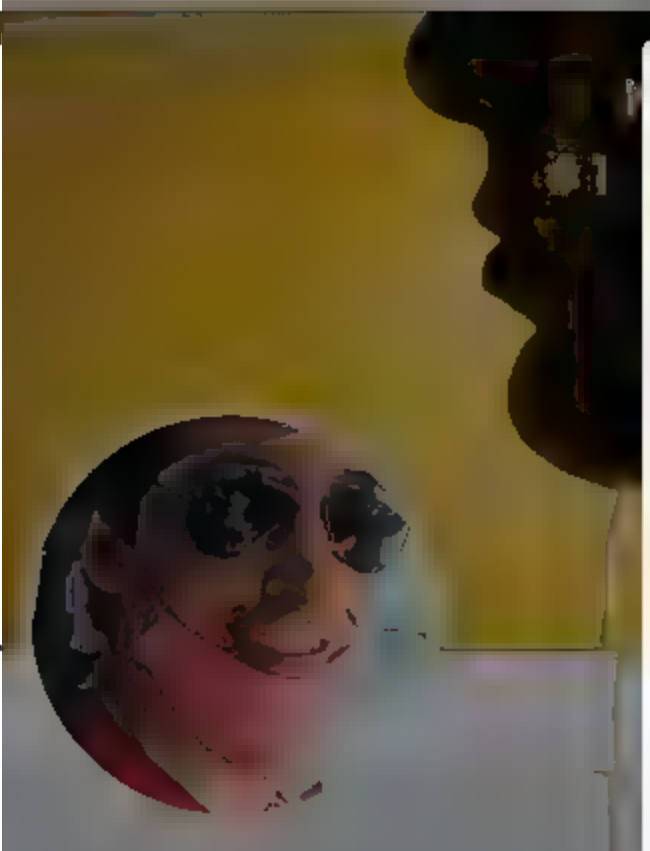
I'm very sorry to hear about your son - I hope he is able to realize you are on his side and get the help he needs.

6:53 PM - 16 Jan 2019

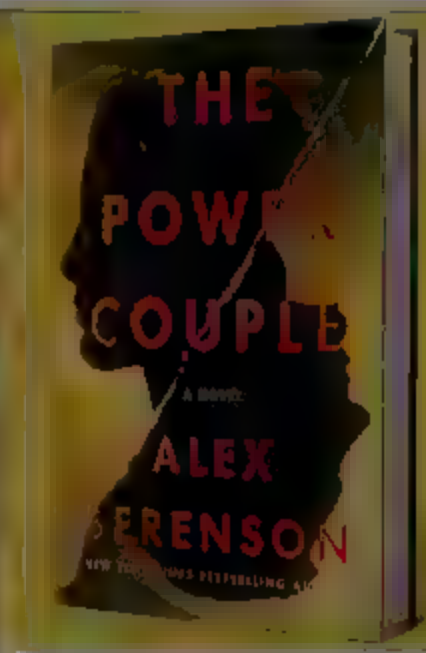
4 Likes

4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Following

3/ I tell them the truth. I'm thrilled. Because while the advocates yell, dozens of physicians and family members and people with mental illness have told me, yes, someone needed to write this, and I'm so glad someone finally did. So good night to all, and to all a good night.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 2/ And despite close reads from people who REALLY don't like it, no one has reported any factual errors; thus the shouting about cherry-picking. That's how advocates take on a book backed with data they can't refute. So when people ask me how I feel about the reception to TYC... twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…

6:33 PM - 16 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 32 Likes

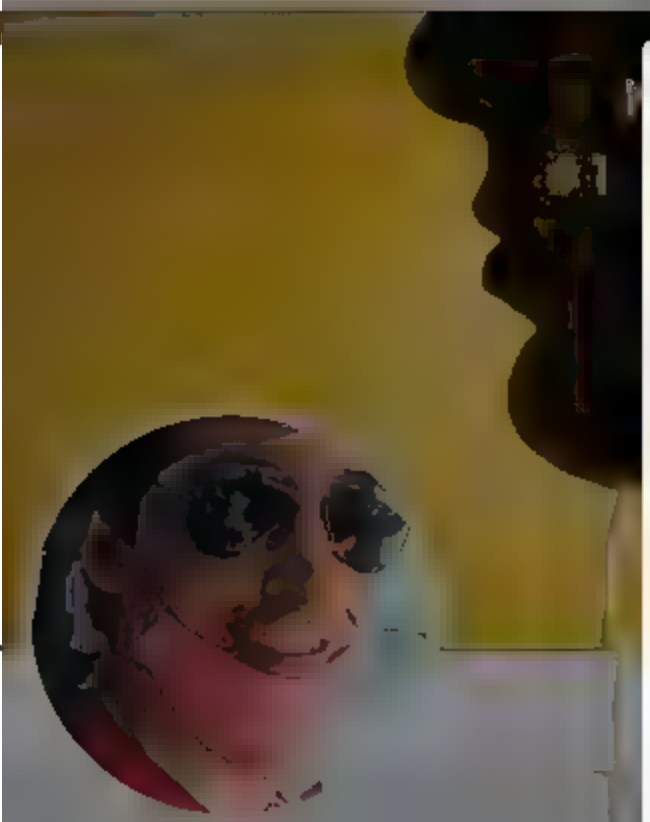
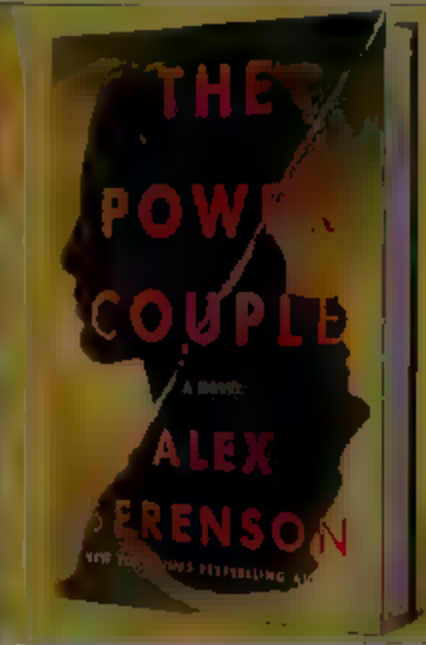
11 2 32



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
And if we look at world Schizohrenia rates, the Netherlands is towards the bottom of the WHO charts, 176 of 192, Equal with most Northern Euro nations, lower than eastern Euro. you can ignore these points which dispel your entire book you are afraid to confront these facts.



1 1

Karen Randall @karenrandall154 · 17 Jan 2019
The Netherlands limited the potency of their marijuana

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Following

2/ And despite close reads from people who REALLY don't like it, no one has reported any factual errors; thus the shouting about cherry-picking. That's how advocates take on a book backed with data they can't refute. So when people ask me how I feel about the reception to TYC...

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Tell Your Children came out a week ago. It mentions dozens of studies and datapoints on cannabis, psychosis, and violence, dating to the late 1800s; state-level violent crime data; studies of child deaths; psychosis-related ER admissions; and cannabis and opioid use...

6:30 PM - 16 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 15 Likes

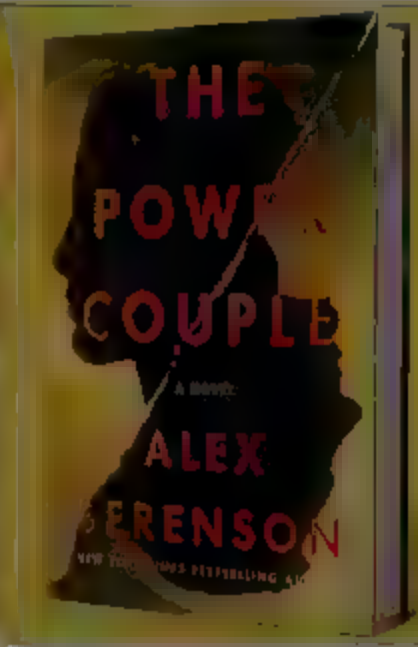
3 2 15

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Oregon, for example, the FBI reported that the murder rate there went up a grand total of 1.0 percent from 2015 to 2016, as compared to a nationwide uptick of 7.9 percent, and then dropped by 11.6 percent between 2016 and 2017,

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Does the book talk about people weaning of opioids to Cannabis and are alive to tell ? no not, or hard drug use or population shift. The National Academy of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine says there's good evidence that cannabis

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

5/ And there were 620 murders and 38,000 aggravated assaults in those four states in 2017. And based on 2018 data from Denver, Seattle, and Portland, the sharp increase continued last year. Those are the facts, They don't change no matter how many fake states get put on a graph.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
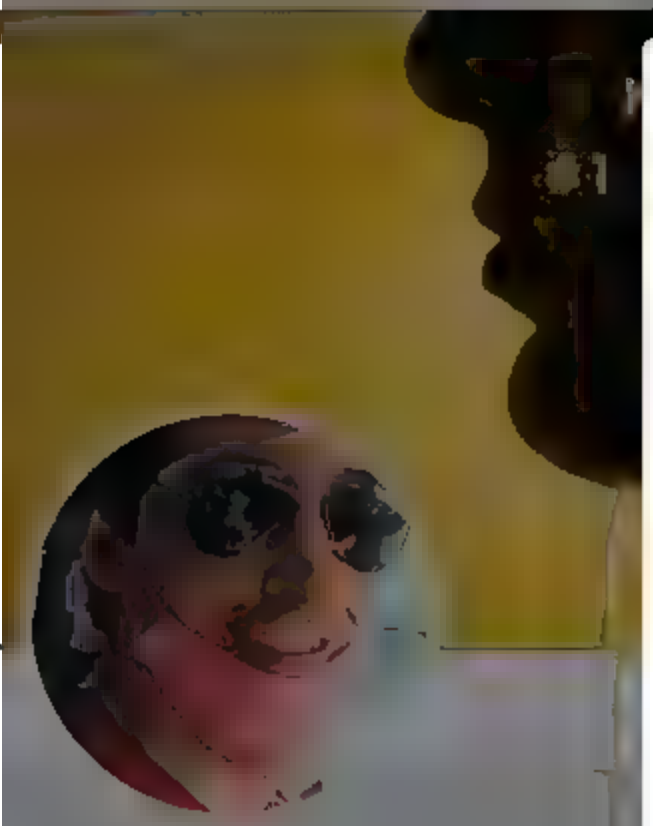
> 4/ Unlikely to be committed under the influence of cannabis or other drugs. Did he try the standard FBI murder stats first, and what did he find? I don't know. Here's what I know. There were 450 murders and 30,300 aggravated assaults in 2014 in AK, CO, OR, and WA... twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…
> Show this thread



6:04 PM - 16 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 12 Likes

3 4 12

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to

The share of Americans reporting past-month marijuana use in the National Survey on Drug Use and Health rose by 55 percent from 2002 to 2017, a period when the national violent crime rate fell by 23 percent.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ Tell Your Children came out a week ago. It mentions dozens of studies and datapoints on cannabis, psychosis, and violence, dating to the late 1800s; state-level violent crime data; studies of child deaths; psychosis-related ER admissions; and cannabis and opioid use...

6:24 PM - 16 Jan 2019

13 Retweets 22 Likes

2 13 22

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.

mcdan_21 @21Mcdan · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to
Reviews are coming in:

1 1 4

Mark Atley @mark_atley · 17 Jan 2019
I like that this article talks about articles, not the actual book. Also, federal authorities and agencies would have more of a narrative impact in this article and not the people who are campaigning for legalization-of

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't which results in a higher base rate for his dataset. Using a higher base rate is going to tend to mute the impact of changes. Beyond that, homicides ruled justifiable are by their very nature... twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…

New York

Joined November 2009

3 3 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Correction - those are 2013 figures. My mistake. 2013 is, of course, the crucial year, because it is the last year before recreational dispensaries opened in CO and WA, marking the beginning of full recreational legalization.

6:13 PM - 16 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 2 Likes

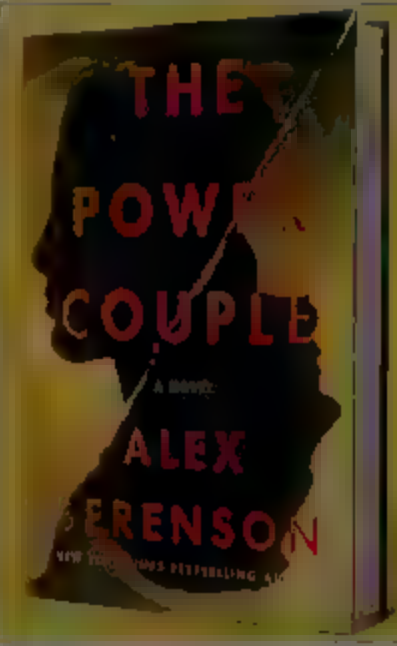
2 1 2

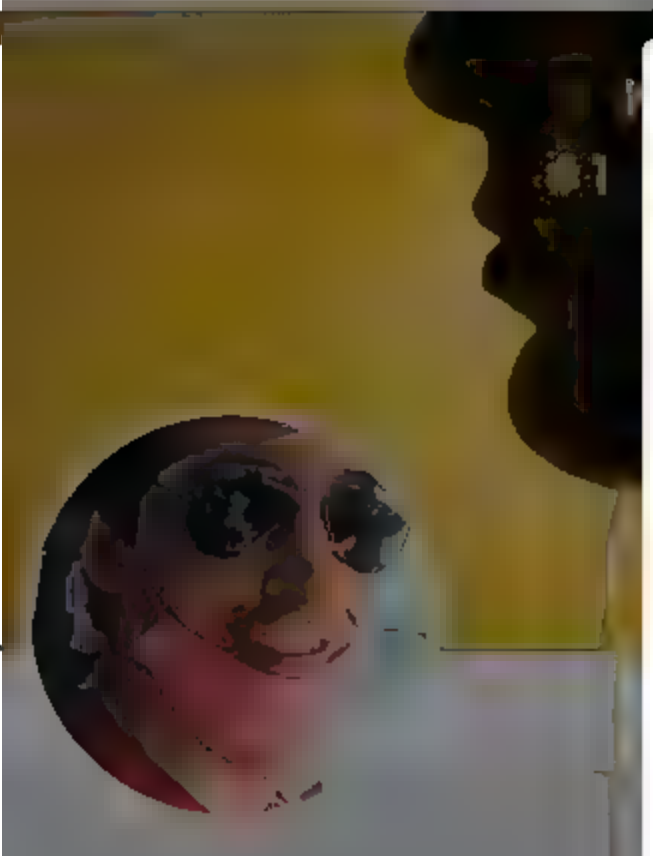
Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Jan 2019

Replying to

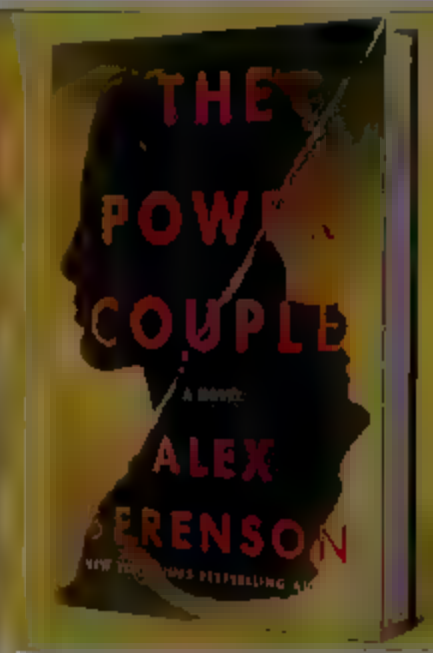


Campos cautioned that he's only read two photocopied pages from Berenson's book in which he's cited. But based on that, he said that Berenson "pretty badly misrepresented" his argument.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Jan 2019



Replying to



for example, many of them ended up being cases linked to opium or alcohol, not marijuana. But Berenson dismisses this evidence, going on to focus on reports, including the faulty asylum cases, that back up his point.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

4/ Unlikely to be committed under the influence of cannabis or other drugs. Did he try the standard FBI murder stats first, and what did he find? I don't know. Here's what I know. There were 450 murders and 30,300 aggravated assaults in 2014 in AK, CO, OR, and WA...

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 3/ He used a much larger set of homicides, including justifiable homicides, which results in a higher base rate for his dataset. Using a higher base rate is going to tend to mute the impact of changes. Beyond that, homicides ruled justifiable are by their very nature... twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…

6:01 PM - 16 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 5 Likes

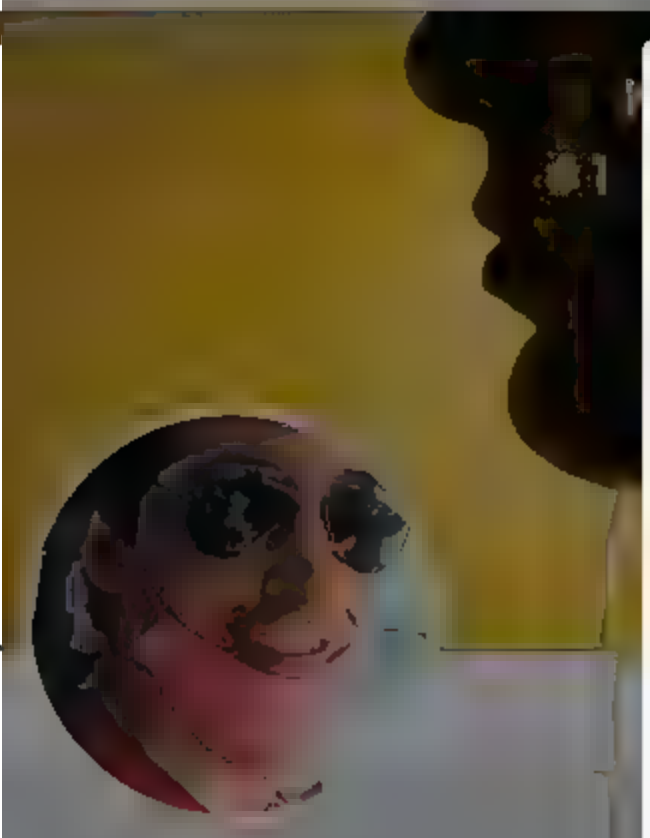
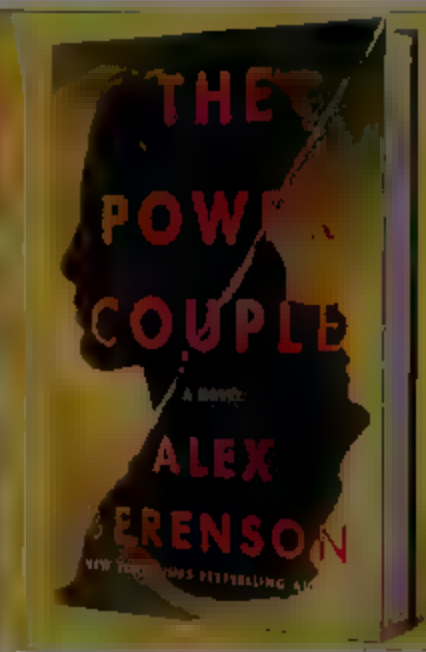
3 3 5



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Jan 2019
Correction - those are 2013 figures. My mistake. 2013 is, of course, the crucial year, because it is the last year before recreational dispensaries opened in CO and WA, marking the beginning of full recreational legalization.



2 1 2

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 16 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

3/ He used a much larger set of homicides, including justifiable homicides, which results in a higher base rate for his dataset. Using a higher base rate is going to tend to mute the impact of changes. Beyond that, homicides ruled justifiable are by their very nature...

> Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson
> 2/ Beyond the fact that back here in the real world, violent crime has IN FACT RISEN since 2013 in the states that legalized much more quickly than in the overall US, the economist did not use standard FBI UCR crime statistics for his analysis.

6:00 PM - 16 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 1 Like

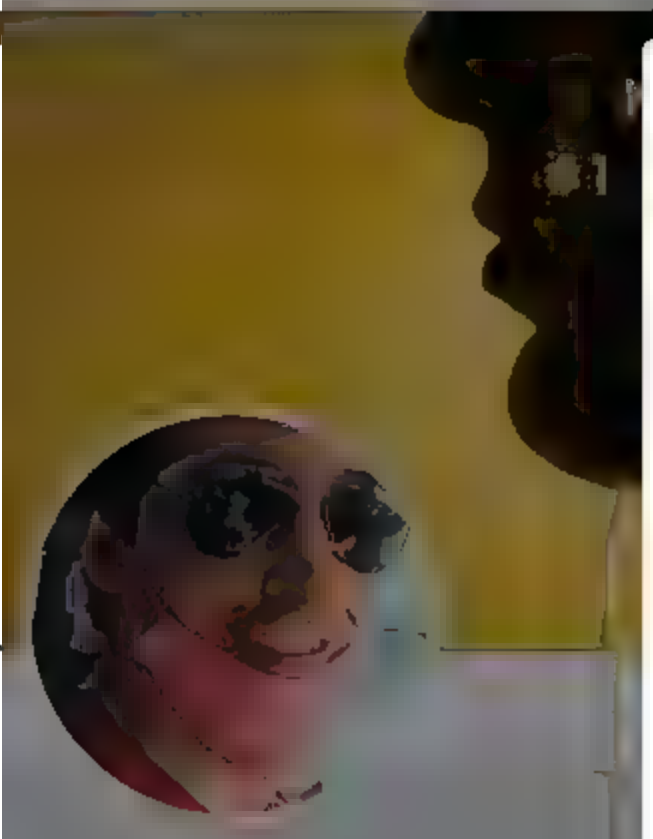
1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

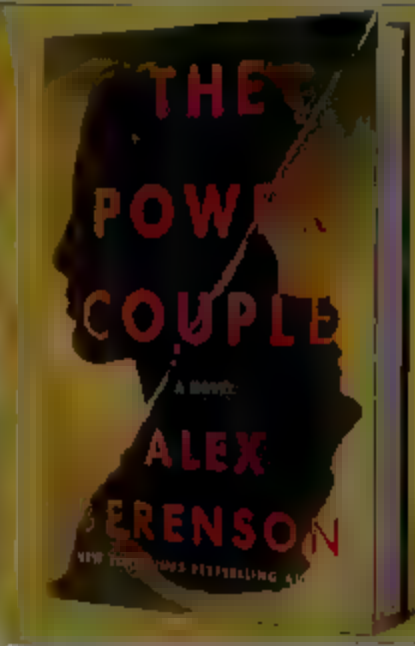
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



1/ Let's talk about the claim that crime has not risen in the legalized states. A week ago, an economist created graphs that seem to show that in a made-up state that was just like the real states (where crime has, umm, actually risen), legalization didn't change crime rates.

5:54 PM - 16 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 2 Likes

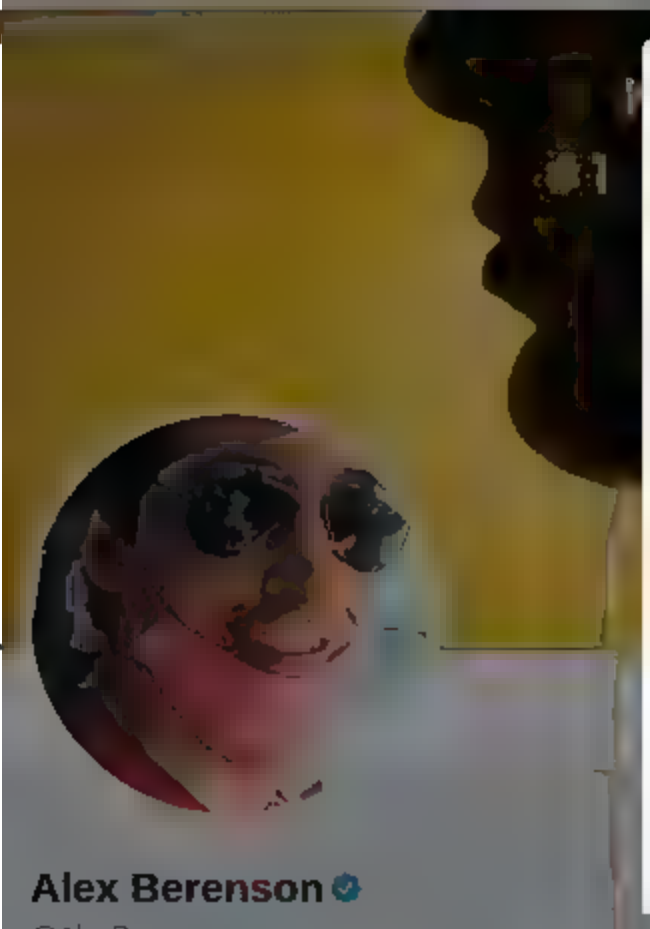
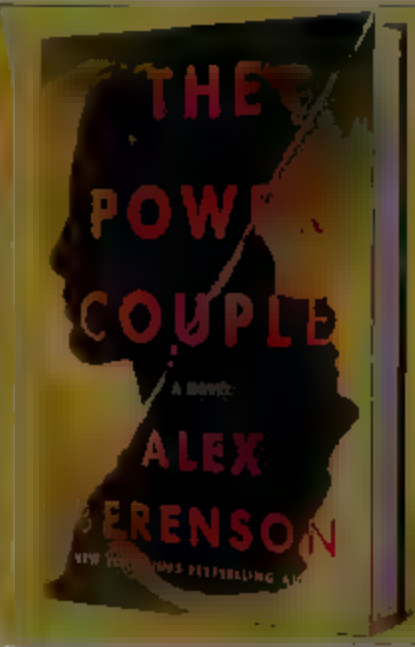
2 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

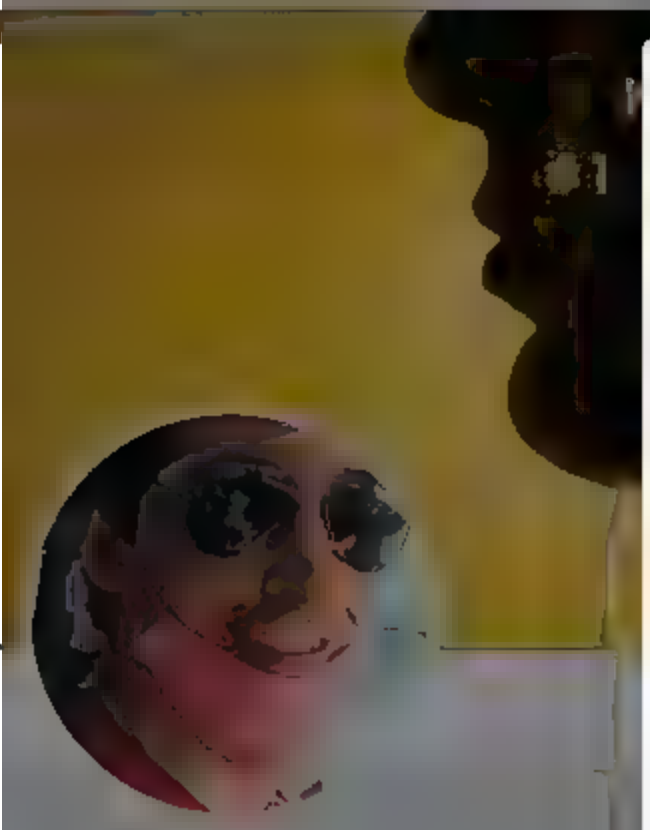
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Beyond the fact that back here in the real world, violent crime has IN FACT RISEN since 2013 in the states that legalized much more quickly than in the overall US, the economist did not use standard FBI UCR crime statistics for his analysis.



5:57 PM - 16 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

1 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ In the days since, not one other member has publicly agreed with her. Nor have any contacted me to complain I misrepresented it. Why would they? The report speaks for itself. I merely quoted it. Cannabis advocates are welcome to have one member. I will stick with the report.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
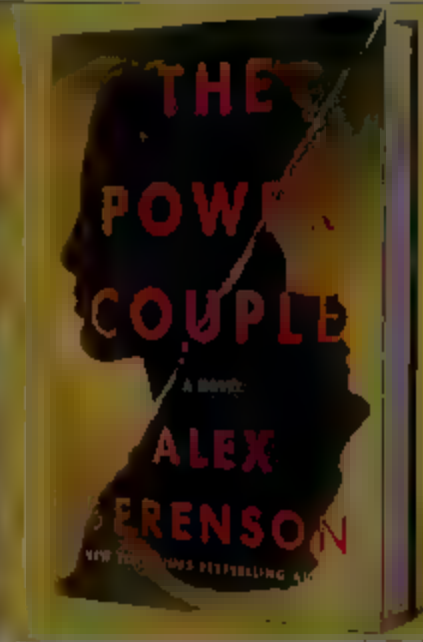
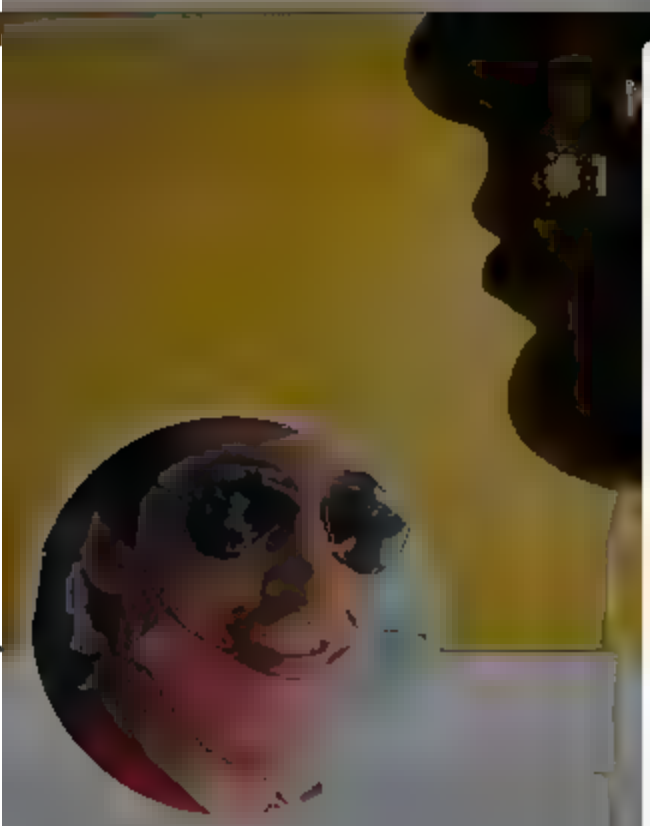
> 1/ Let's talk about the National Academy of Medicine report. "Cannabis use is likely to increase the risk of developing schizophrenia and other psychoses." So the 16-member NAM committee found in 2017. A week ago, one member dissociated herself from those findings.

5:51 PM - 16 Jan 2019

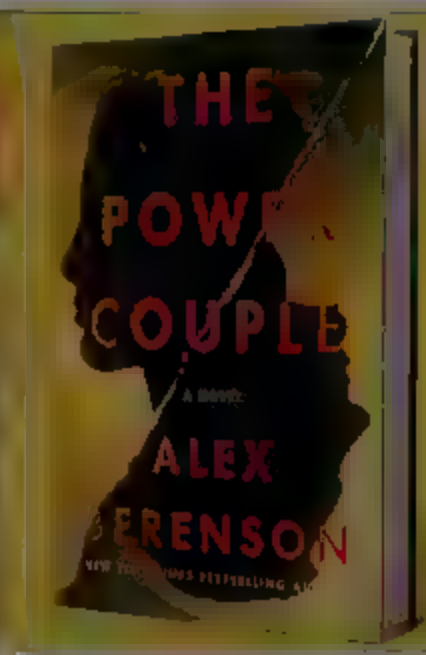


2 Likes

2 2



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to



Ziva Cooper @zivacooper
Replying to @UnInterlocutor @AlexBerenson
Thank you for clarifying to @AlexBerenson that I was reporting the committee's conclusions. Odd not to include me in the tweet stating that I was dissociating myself from the group. The conclusion is stated on pages 19, 295,...

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ The facts: she used cannabis regularly for a decade, had her first break in 2017, and then after more use had another break and killed her son. I'd say the fact she now is permanently psychotic and remains so even when not using is NOT good evidence that long-term use is safe.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Replying to @TomSpeed420
>
> 1/ You do understand he's a defense witness, right? I am not an expert on UK NGRI laws, but I know they are similar to those here. In the US, cannabis-induced psychosis is a form of voluntary intoxication (like an alcoholic blackout) and thus not a defense. Schizophrenia is.
>
> 11:46 AM - 16 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

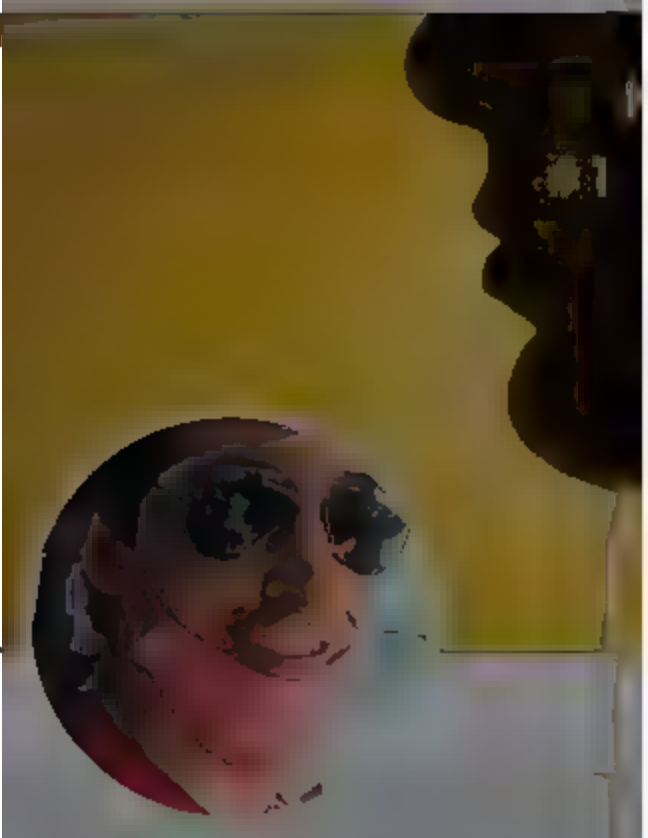
7 1 3

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to



The facts:

Exposition:

The Post Hoc Fallacy is committed whenever one reasons to a causal conclusion based solely on the supposed cause preceding its "effect". Of course, it is a necessary condition of causation that the cause precede the effect, but it is not a sufficient condition. Thus, post hoc evidence may suggest the hypothesis of a causal relationship, which then requires further testing, but it is never sufficient evidence on its own.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

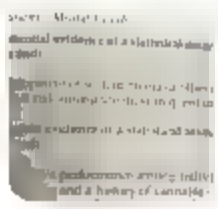
David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 16 Jan 2019
Have the other authors of the study backed up her disagreement? I've seen this one person mentioned but none of the others. It seems confusing.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

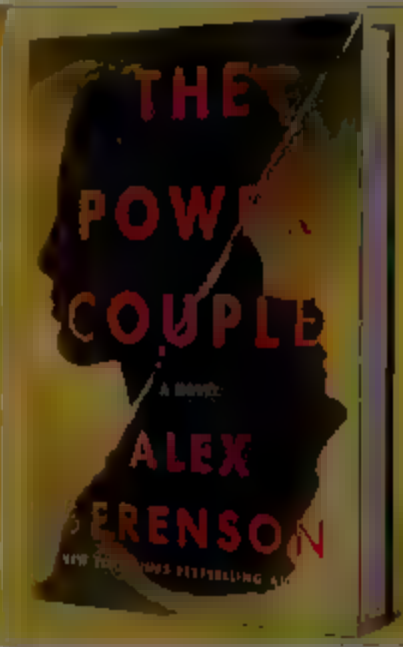
You mean the other 15 committee members. No one else has said anything. Which isn't a surprise - they know what they said. They crafted the language carefully. It's remarkably clear.



3:05 PM - 16 Jan 2019

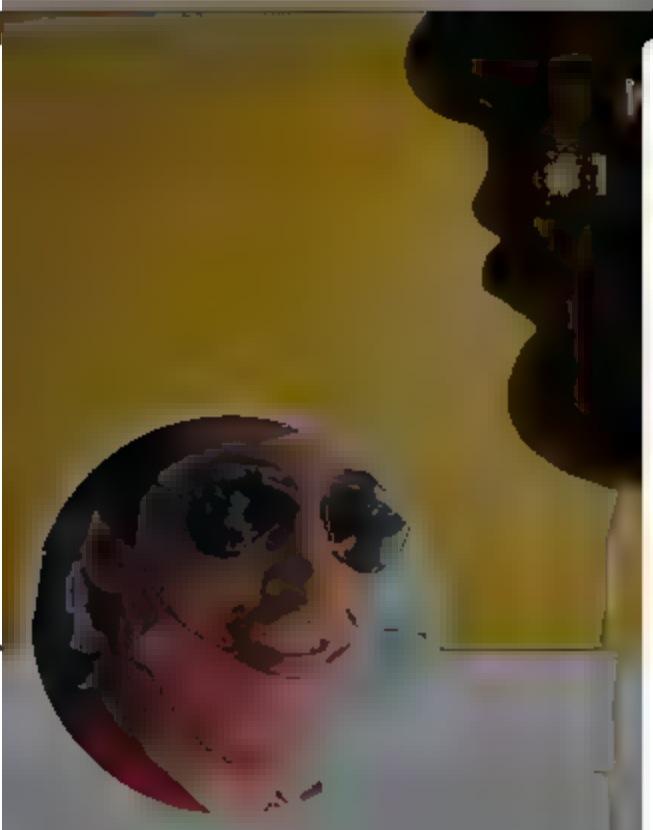
1 Like

3 1



David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
This is what I've been curious about. It sounds more like one of the authors is dissenting, rather than the claims of what the report says are erroneous. But I have not seen the actual report.

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 17 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others



Ziva Cooper @zivacooper
Replying to @UnInterlocutor @AlexBerenson
Thank you for clarifying to @AlexBerenson that I was reporting the committee's conclusions. Odd not to include me in the tweet stating that I was dissociating myself from the group. The conclusion is stated on pages 19, 295,...

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ A few weeks before his death, however, Susan reveals that Jeremy had had a bad reaction to marijuana... he checked himself into the hospital as an out-patient. He had very high levels of THC in his blood, and it clearly affected him very badly."

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
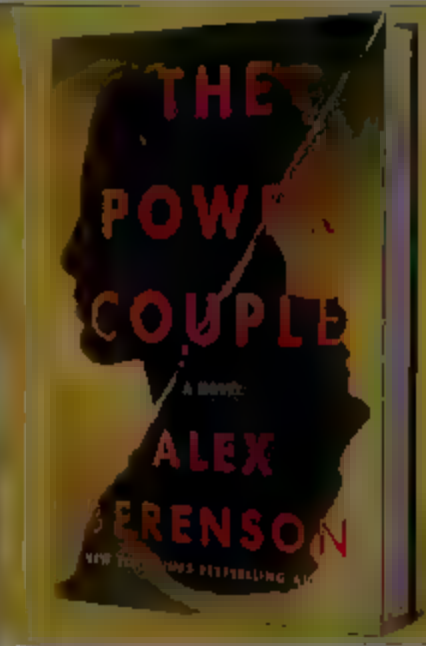
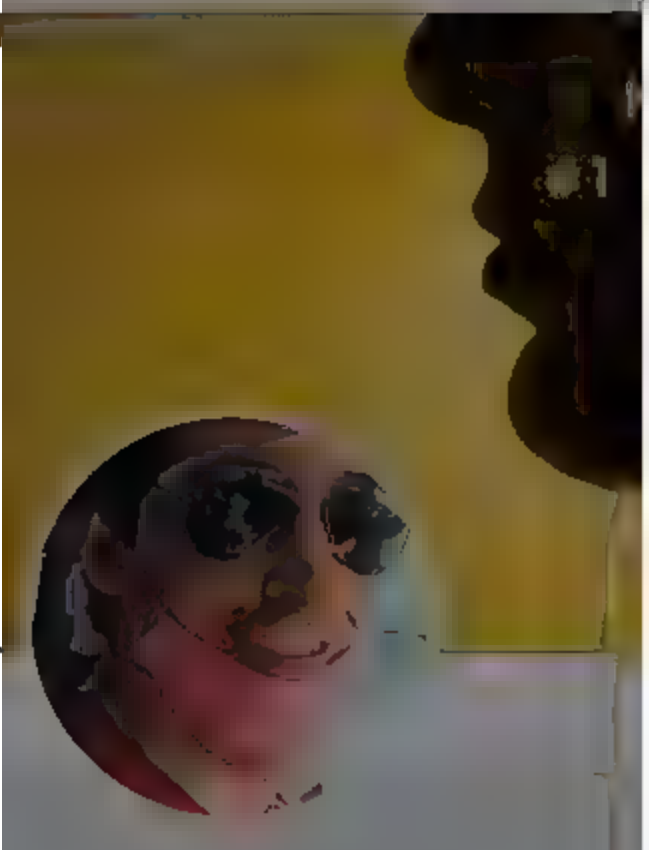
> 1/ Sometimes the user winds up the victim of cannabis-induced psychosis, as in this sad case from Ft. Collins, Co, in 2017, where a 19-year-old man was shot and killed by police after refusing to drop a knife:
> westword.com/news/mom-seeks...

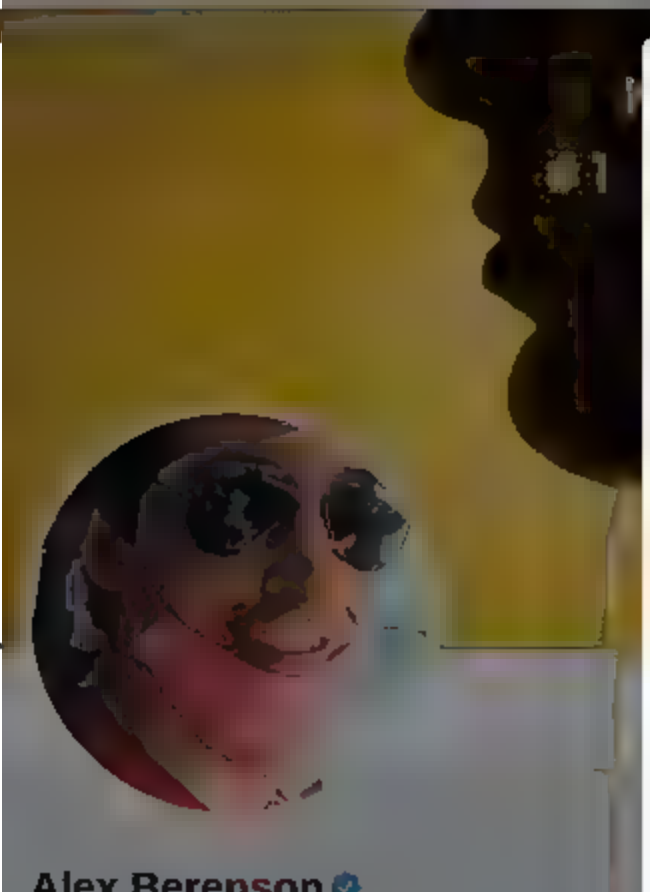


11:26 AM - 16 Jan 2019

3 Likes



1 3



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

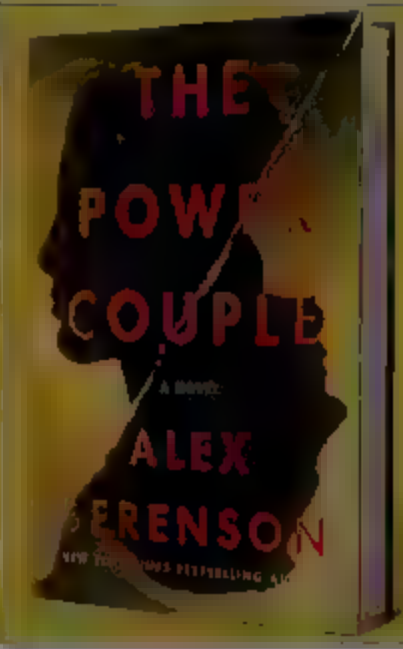
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

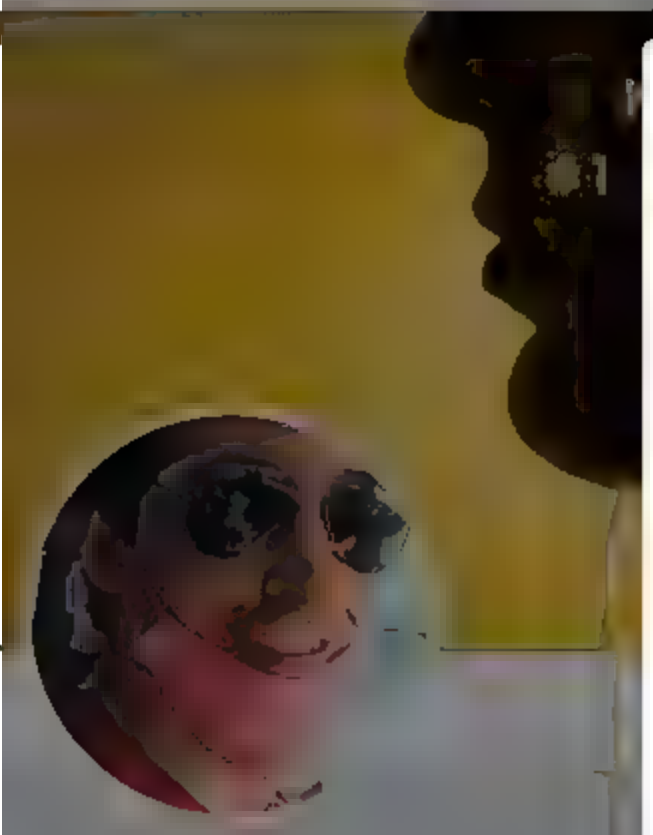
1/ Sometimes the user winds up the victim of cannabis-induced psychosis, as in this sad case from Ft. Collins, Co, in 2017, where a 19-year-old man was shot and killed by police after refusing to drop a knife:

11:25 AM - 16 Jan 2019

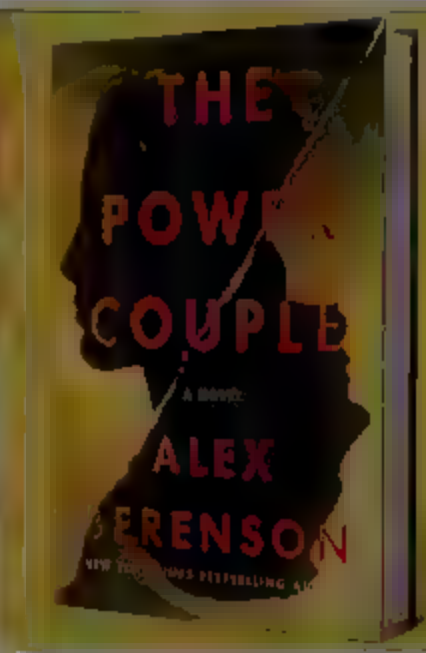
3 Retweets



6 3



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 16 Jan 2019



Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Joking!

> Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff
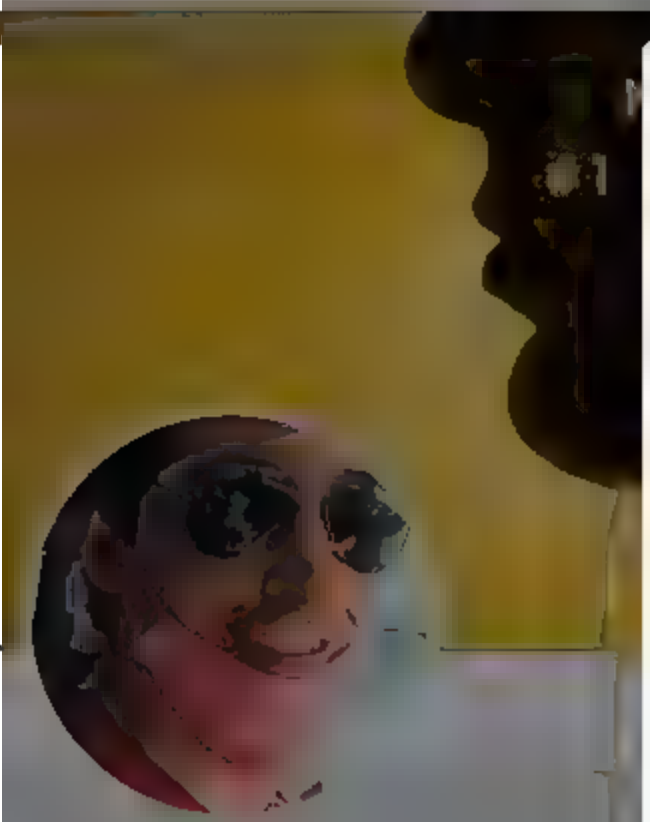
> Replying to @AlexBerenson @MMcFarlandSM
> ?

10:47 AM - 16 Jan 2019

1 Like



1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Jan 2019
And this is why trying to be funny on Twitter is always a mistake...

1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 16 Jan 2019

Great talk featuring [redacted] and Mark A.R. Kleiman (who blocked me, oops) critiquing [redacted]'s claims that cannabis causes psychosis, leads to violence, and that you should definitely tell your children this.

> Keith Humphreys @KeithNHumphreys
> Is Pot Dangerous? themarshallproject.org/2019/01/14/how... via @MarshallProj

3 1 12

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Zach - can I ask why Kleiman blocked you?

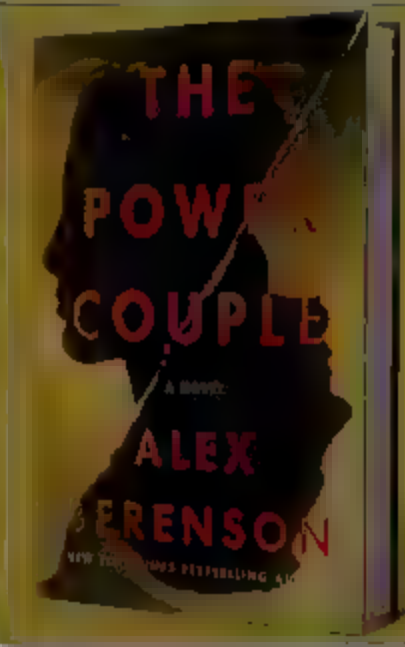
10:36 AM - 16 Jan 2019

1

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 16 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

Forget exactly what the context was... likely an overheated discussion? (i try to play nice on here but... all too human)

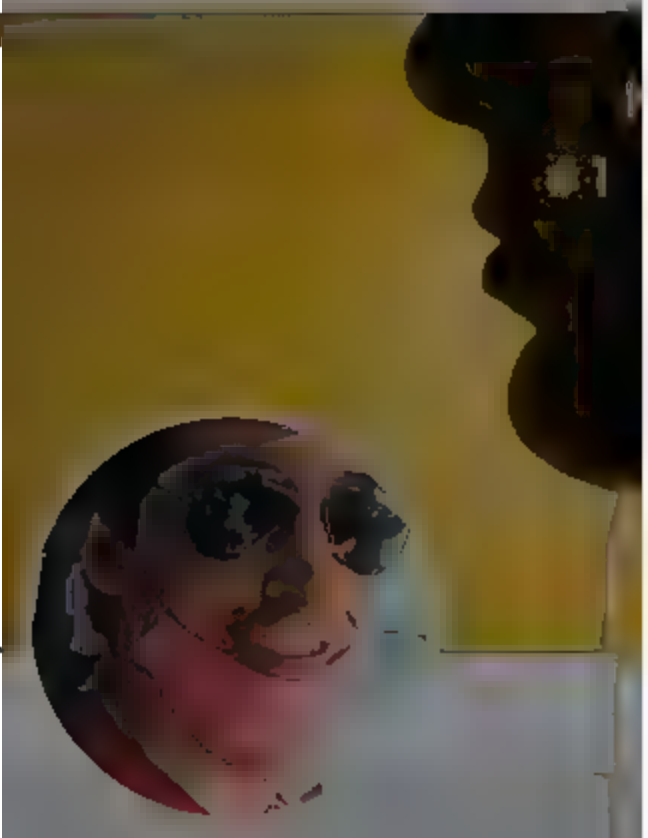


1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Jan 2019

Lol... I have no idea what you're talking about. Also, shaddup!

1



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 16 Jan 2019

Great talk featuring [redacted] and Mark A.R. Kleiman (who blocked me, oops) critiquing [redacted]'s claims that cannabis causes psychosis, leads to violence, and that you should definitely tell your children this.

> Keith Humphreys @KeithNHumphreys
> Is Pot Dangerous? themarshallproject.org/2019/01/14/how... via @MarshallProj

3 1 12

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Jan 2019

Zach - can I ask why Kleiman blocked you?

1

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 16 Jan 2019

Forget exactly what the context was... likely an overheated discussion? (i try to play nice on here but... all too human)

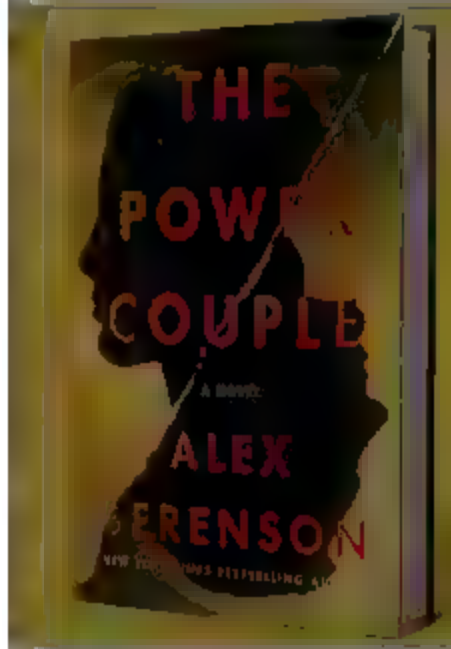
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Lol... I have no idea what you're talking about. Also, shaddup!

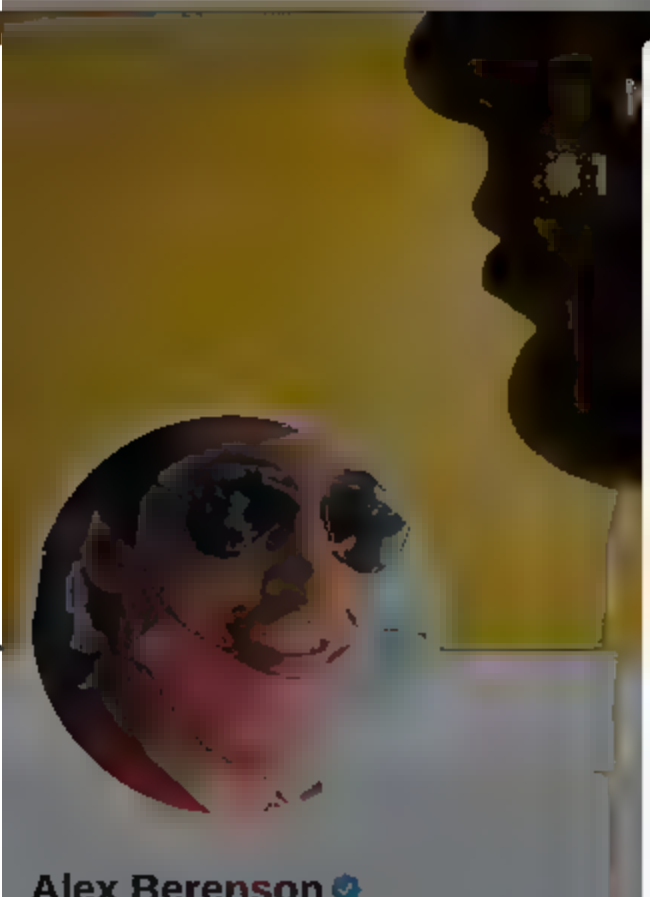
10:39 AM - 16 Jan 2019



1

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 16 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]



?

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

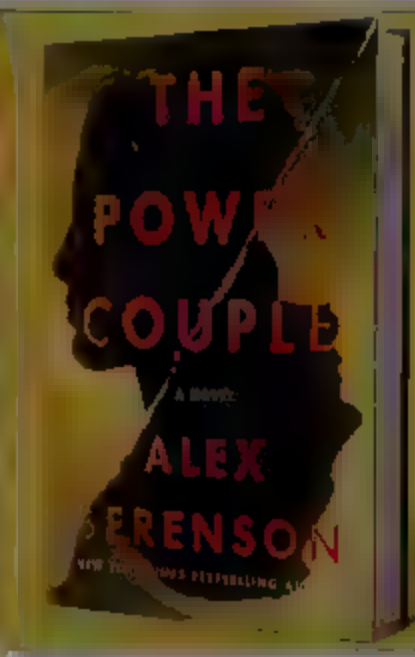
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

And thanks to @ArkansasOnline - the Democrat-Gazette - for today's smart editorial calling for a slowdown in the rush to legalize. "Times change. Research changes. So does marijuana." Couldn't have said it better.

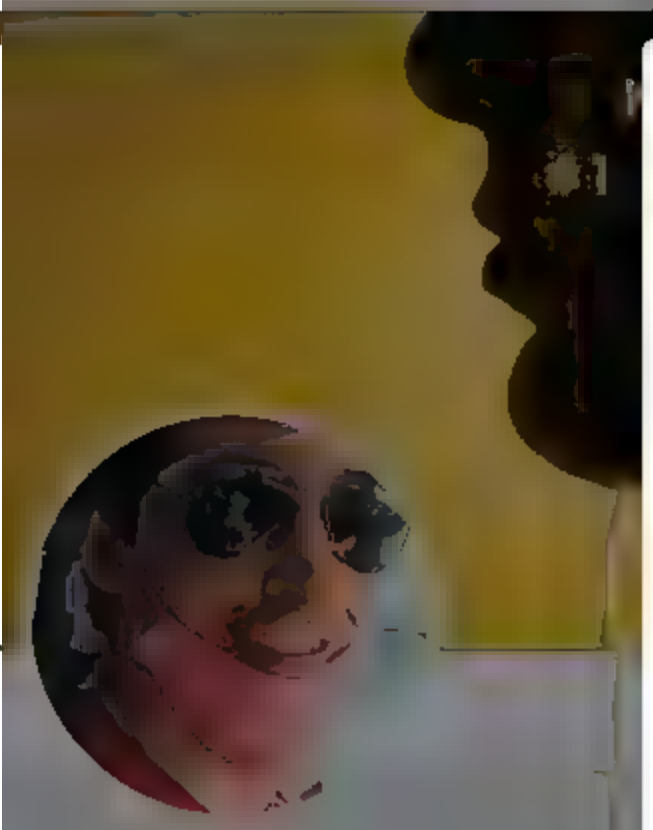
9:12 AM - 16 Jan 2019

4 Likes

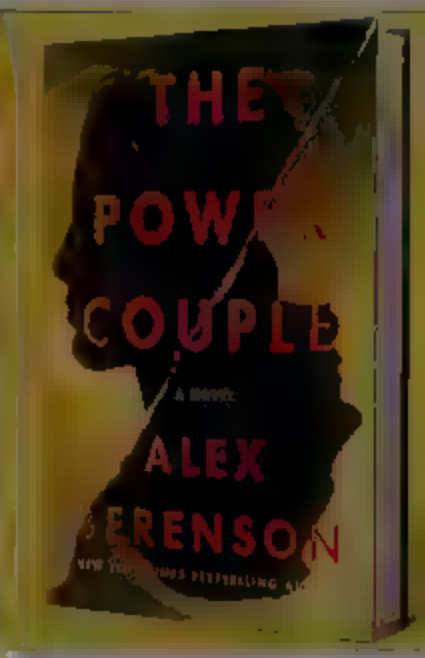


2 4

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 16 Jan 2019



Replying to



Rush?

"a lot more study needs to be done with today's dope before we turn it loose on our kids."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

From Chicago Tribune columnist @EricZorn, a reasonable Midwestern take on legalization - why the rush? "Our governor and next mayor need to get this right. Turn that green light into a flashing yellow..." chicagotribune.com/news/opinion/z

8:45 AM - 16 Jan 2019

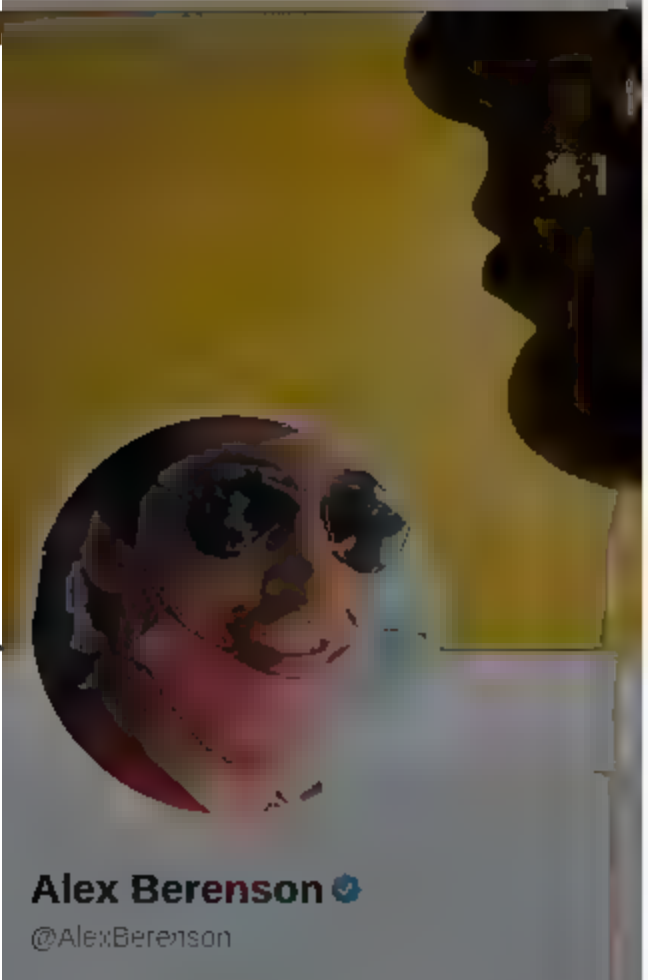
2 Likes

2 2

Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 16 Jan 2019

Replying to

There are two things he's wrong about--Life has gone to hell in parts of Colorado (Pueblo) and Washington. Washington legalized before Oregon. The nutty murders by Arcan Cetin (WA), JaylenFryberg(WA), Planned Parenthood shooter (CO),Jeremy Christian(OR) as outgrowth of legal pot.



Gopple Gopple Gopple @GGopple · 16 Jan 2019

Replying to

CA effectively "decriminalized" pot in 1996, and attempted to legalize it fully several times prior to Prop 64 in 2016. The gap between decriminalization and legalization was 20 years. The people of CA decided overwhelmingly that this was a slow enough roll.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

But whether you do or not, it remains ludicrous to just assume any causation at all between (man has smoked pot) and (man stabs woman to death). C'mon, you know that.

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Read the book. Judge the overall weight of the scientific evidence for yourself. But meantime, I think pointing to the human toll that psychosis-related violence produces is important, unpleasant as the cases might be.

4:09 PM - 15 Jan 2019

2

Joshua Benton @jbenton · 15 Jan 2019

Replying to

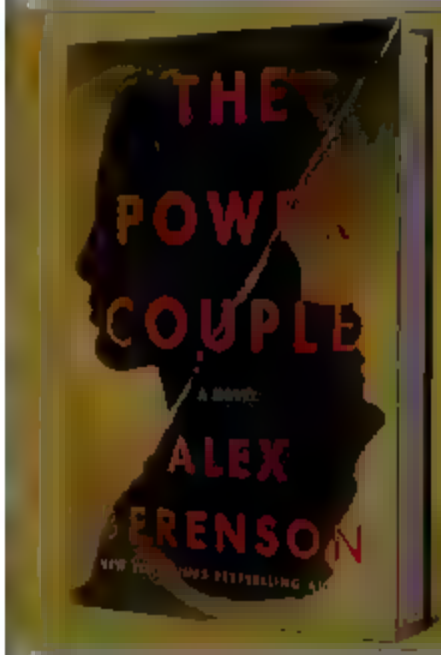
Literally no one denies that people with psychosis sometimes commit acts of violence. But connecting individual cases with zero evidence like this is the same level of argument as a senator claiming that because DC had a snowstorm, global warming isn't real.

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Jan 2019

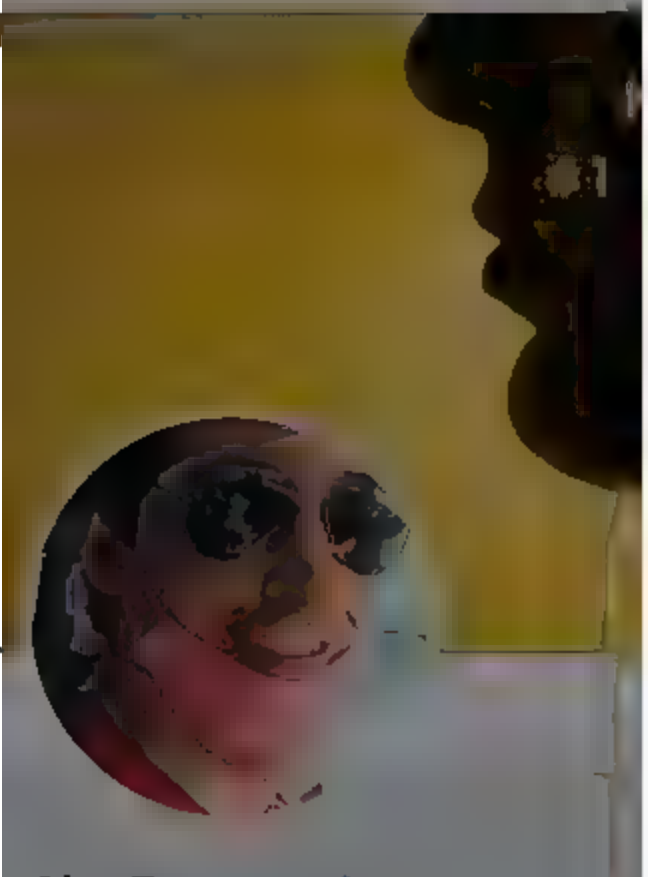
Replying to

Another Upton Sinclair quote comes to mind: I aimed for the public's heart - and hit it in the stomach....



1

Joshua Benton @jbenton · 15 Jan 2019



Let me reframe it a little. There's a debate about undocumented immigrants and crime. I think the evidence is fairly settled on it, but set that aside for a moment.

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

But whether you do or not, it remains ludicrous to just assume any causation at all between (man has smoked pot) and (man stabs woman to death). C'mon, you know that.

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Jan 2019

Read the book. Judge the overall weight of the scientific evidence for yourself. But meantime, I think pointing to the human toll that psychosis-related violence produces is important, unpleasant as the cases might be.

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follows

Replying to [redacted]

Another Upton Sinclair quote comes to mind: I aimed for the public's heart - and hit it in the stomach....

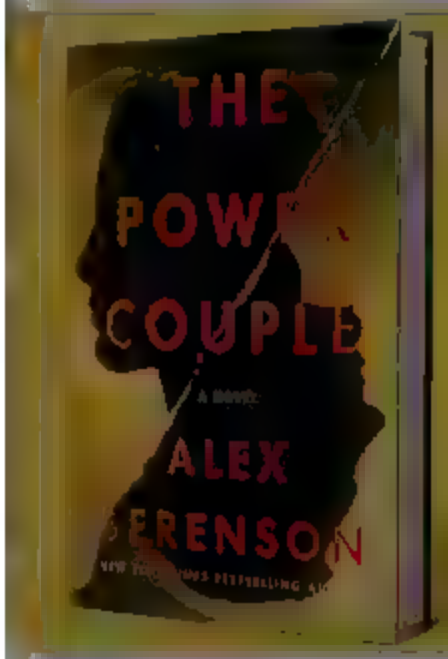
4:13 PM - 15 Jan 2019

1

Joshua Benton @jbenton · 15 Jan 2019

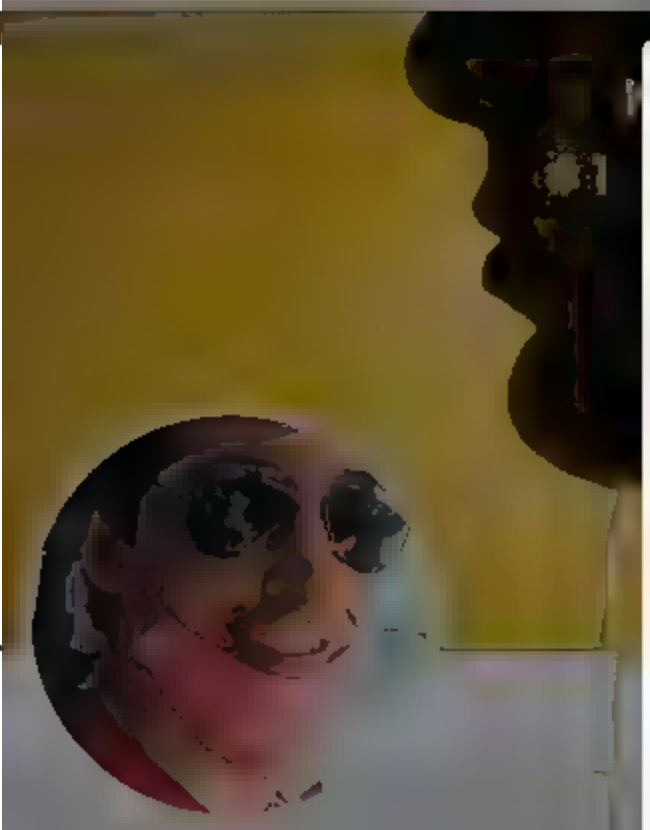
Replying to [redacted]

Let me reframe it a little. There's a debate about undocumented immigrants and crime. I think the evidence is fairly settled on it, but set that aside for a moment.



1

Joshua Benton @jbenton · 15 Jan 2019

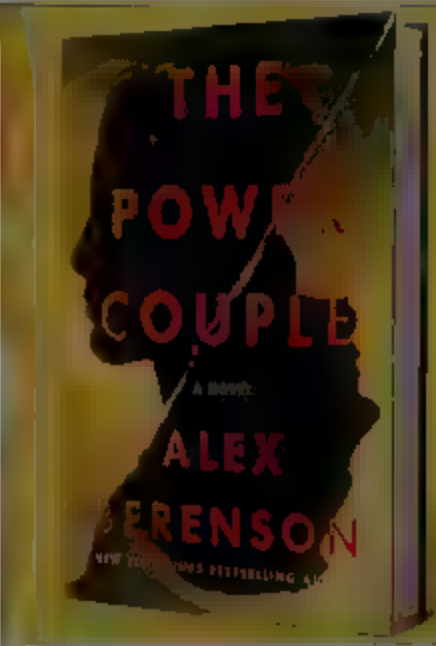


No matter what you think about it, wouldn't you agree that demagoguing a specific random immigrant who murdered someone — acting as if that one case is representative of anything larger and a reason to change border policy — is a bogus argument?

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

A biologically plausible explanation for all this? I'm with you. Individual cases where causation is obvious almost to the minute? As you wish. But, really - and I am not asking rhetorically - what would convince you?

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
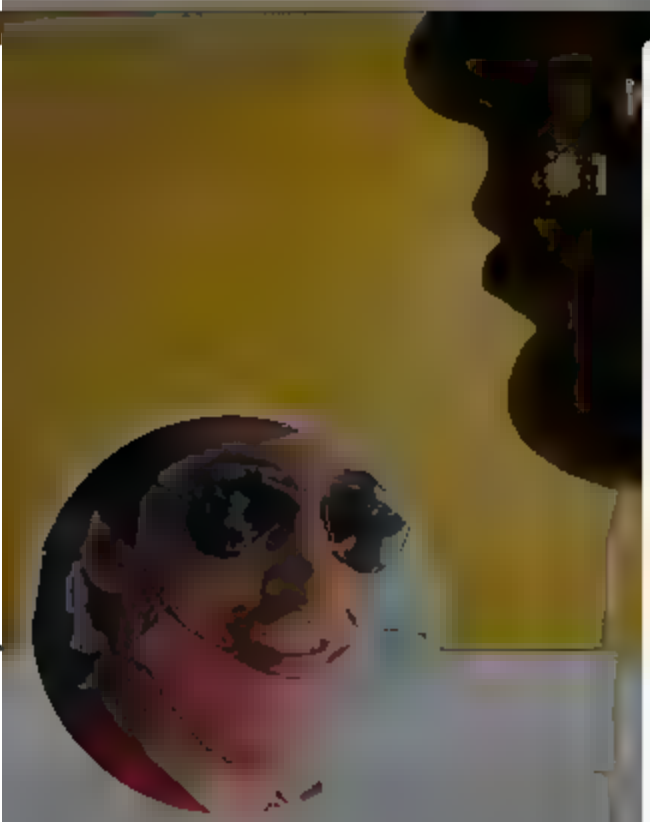
> Replying to @jbenton
>
> Tell me, what would be a strong argument? Peer-reviewed papers with rate ratios? Got 'em. Papers showing very high rates of cannabis use by the perpetrators of violence against children? Check. State data showing a sharp rise in murders post-legalization? Yep.



2:39 PM - 15 Jan 2019

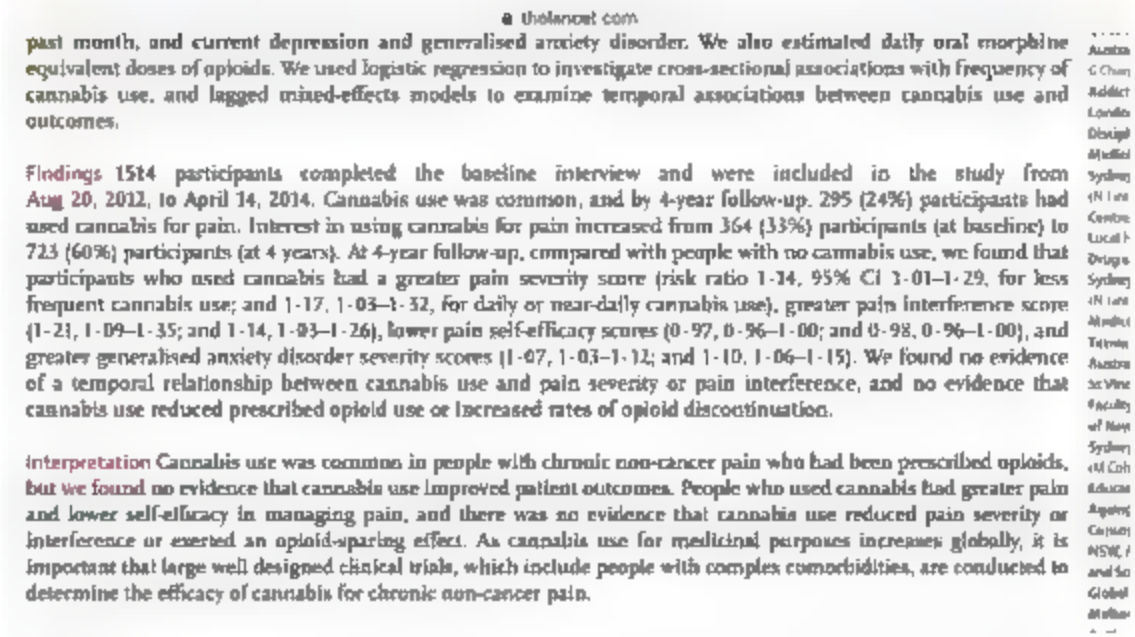
4 Likes

3 4

Larry Roberts @LJRoberts73 · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]

> According to the study, Is Legal Pot Crippling Mexican Drug Trafficking Organizations? The Effect of Medical Marijuana Laws on US Crime, when a state on the Mexican border legalised medical use of the drug, violent crime fell by 13% on average. Most of the marijuana consumed in the US originates in Mexico, where seven major cartels control the illicit drug trade.
>
> More on this topic "These laws allow local farmers

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

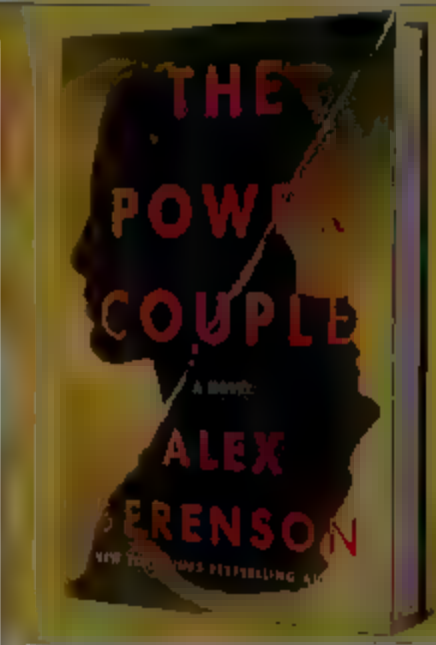
Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Could the fact that this study showed that cannabis actually led to MORE chronic pain have any relationship with the fact that its findings have been ignored by the same media outlets that plugged Bachhuber? I dunno. Maybe we need a study to find out.

thelancet.com

past month, and current depression and generalised anxiety disorder. We also estimated daily oral morphine equivalent doses of opioids. We used logistic regression to investigate cross-sectional associations with frequency of cannabis use, and lagged mixed-effects models to examine temporal associations between cannabis use and outcomes.

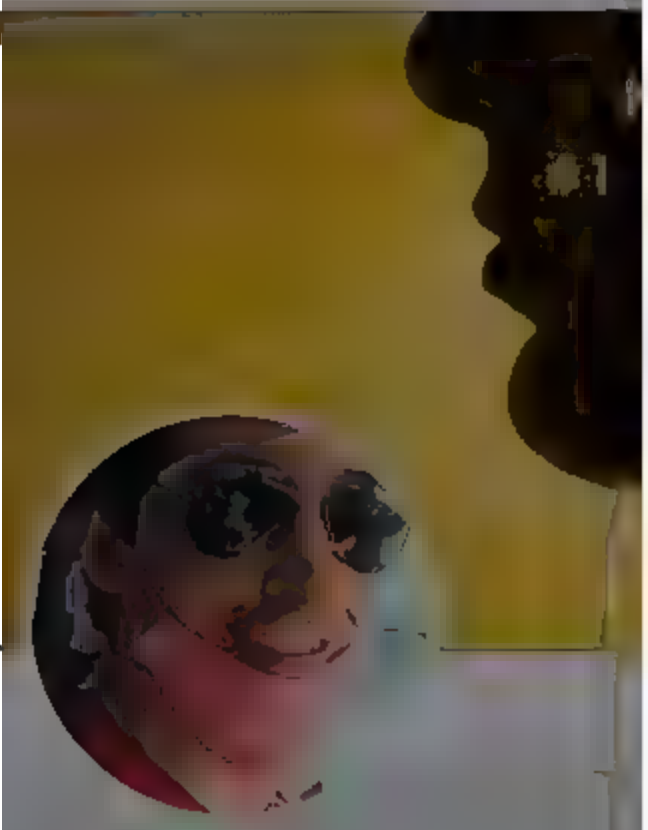
Findings 1514 participants completed the baseline interview and were included in the study from Aug 20, 2012, to April 14, 2014. Cannabis use was common, and by 4-year follow-up, 295 (24%) participants had used cannabis for pain. Interest in using cannabis for pain increased from 364 (33%) participants (at baseline) to 723 (60%) participants (at 4 years). At 4-year follow-up, compared with people with no cannabis use, we found that participants who used cannabis had a greater pain severity score (risk ratio 1·14, 95% CI 1·01–1·29, for less frequent cannabis use; and 1·17, 1·03–1·32, for daily or near-daily cannabis use), greater pain interference score (1·21, 1·09–1·35; and 1·14, 1·03–1·26), lower pain self-efficacy scores (0·97, 0·96–1·00; and 0·98, 0·96–1·00), and greater generalised anxiety disorder severity scores (1·07, 1·03–1·12; and 1·10, 1·06–1·15). We found no evidence of a temporal relationship between cannabis use and pain severity or pain interference, and no evidence that cannabis use reduced prescribed opioid use or increased rates of opioid discontinuation.



Interpretation Cannabis use was common in people with chronic non-cancer pain who had been prescribed opioids, but we found no evidence that cannabis use improved patient outcomes. People who used cannabis had greater pain and lower self-efficacy in managing pain, and there was no evidence that cannabis use reduced pain severity or interference or exerted an opioid-sparing effect. As cannabis use for medicinal purposes increases globally, it is important that large well designed clinical trials, which include people with complex comorbidities, are conducted to determine the efficacy of cannabis for chronic non-cancer pain.

2:31 PM - 15 Jan 2019

2 Likes



7 2

ADAW @ADAWnews · 16 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Alex It's much more helpful to have a link than a screenshot of a page. Can you provide?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

year before (allegedly) stabbing a woman to death last week and then hiding, naked, in his garage - also missed the memo that cannabis doesn't cause psychosis or violence. duboiscountyherald.com/b/details-emer….

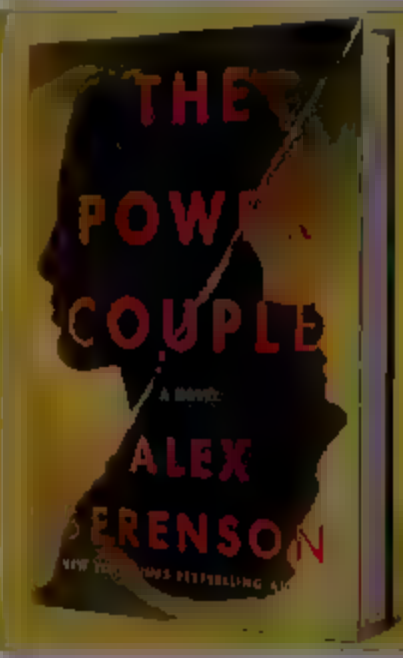
1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Tell me, what would be a strong argument? Peer-reviewed papers with rate ratios? Got 'em. Papers showing very high rates of cannabis use by the perpetrators of violence against children? Check. State data showing a sharp rise in murders post-legalization? Yep.

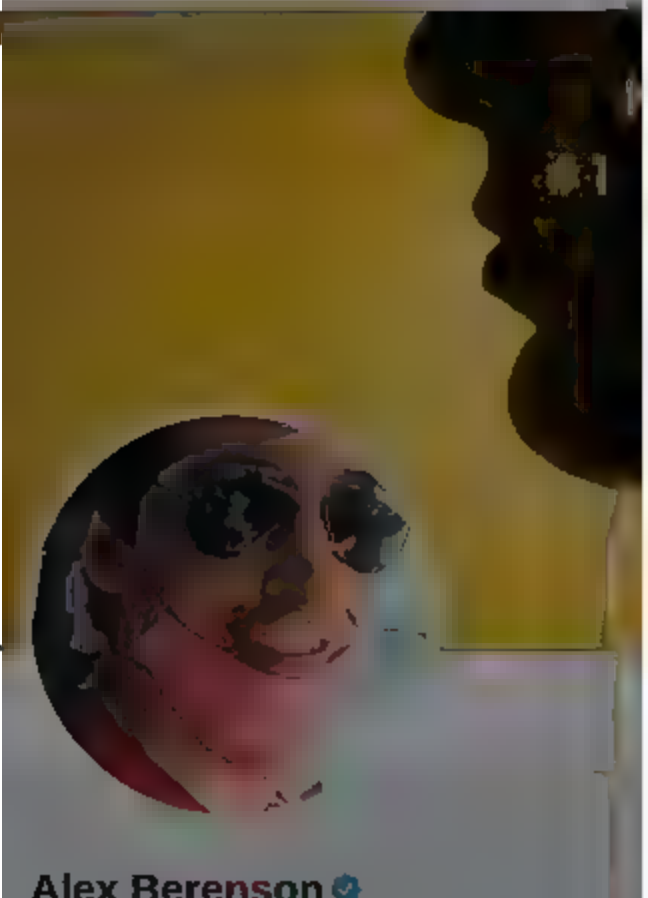
2:37 PM - 15 Jan 2019



5 Likes

2 5

Larry Roberts @LJRoberts73 · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]



Economic Journal found that the legalization of marijuana is actually contributing to lower crime rates in the United States and Mexico. Crimes, including robberies, murders and aggravate assaults have all dropped by around 13 percent in areas close to medical marijuana states. The logic is that since people living in these legal jurisdictions are now allowed to cultivate and buy marijuana through legal channels, there is no need for them to engage in

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Ziva Cooper @zivacooper · 15 Jan 2019
This study did not test if cannabis increases opioid use— a critical point that will be tested in our follow-up study.

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

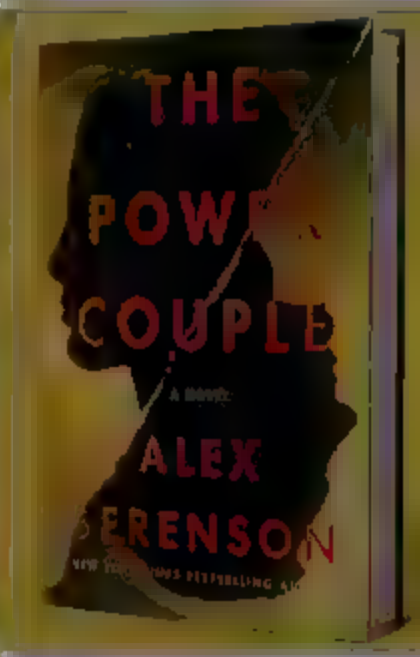
Replying to [redacted] and 4 others

If only there was a good, large, long-term prospective cohort study showing if cannabis actually helped users with chronic pain cut down on their opioid use. Oh, wait, there is? I wonder why no one's heard of it.

2:25 PM - 15 Jan 2019

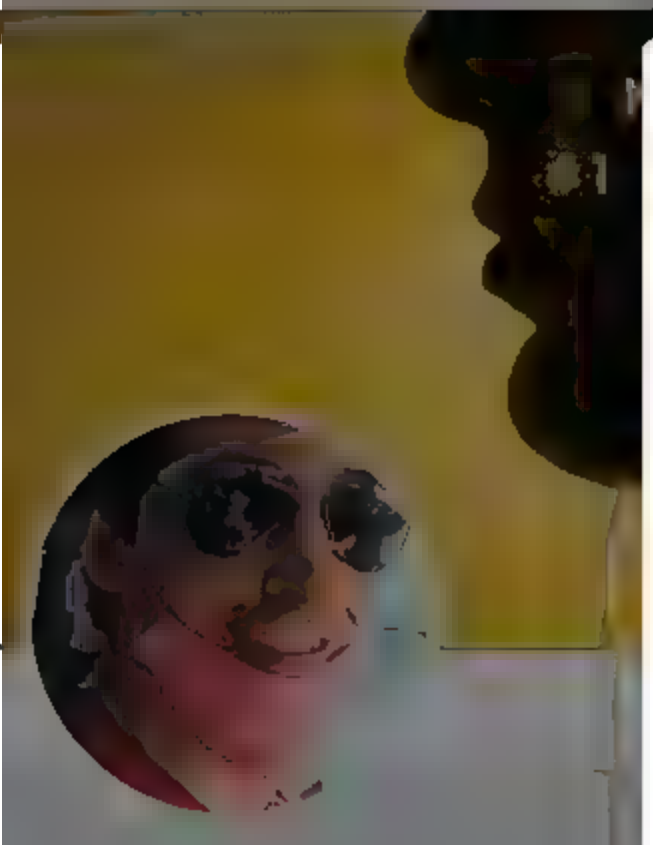
3

Ziva Cooper @zivacooper · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 4 others
This study, combined with several others (that have provide evidence for a positive response), are excellent examples of why we need RCTs to assess the potential for [redacted] to act as a substitute or adjunct to opioids for pain.



1 7

Keith Humphreys @KeithNHumphreys · 15 Jan 2019
What we need is fewer opinions and more rigorous science. Professor Cooper is doing the kind of careful scholarly research that will help all of us judge the best way forward.



1 5

[redacted]

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Jan 2019

This gentleman - arrested repeatedly on marijuana-related charges in the year before (allegedly) stabbing a woman to death last week and then hiding, naked, in his garage - also missed the memo that cannabis doesn't cause psychosis or violence.

11 2 8

This Tweet is unavailable.

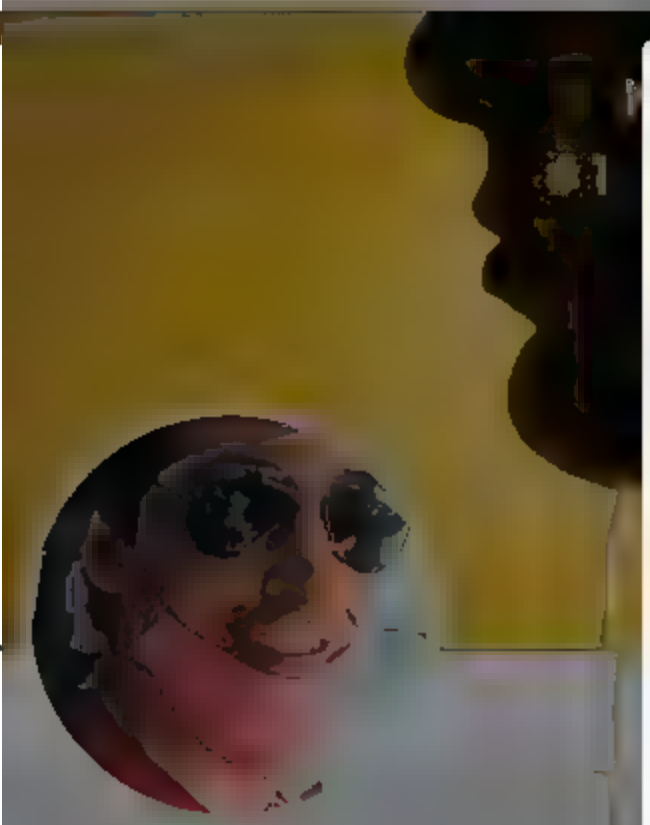
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Alexberensonauthor@gmail.com

2:03 PM - 15 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



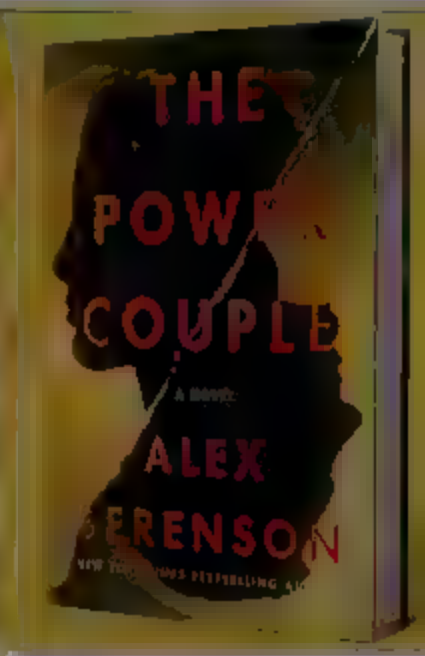
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

This gentleman - arrested repeatedly on marijuana-related charges in the year before (allegedly) stabbing a woman to death last week and then hiding, naked, in his garage - also missed the memo that cannabis doesn't cause psychosis or violence.

duboiscountyherald.com/b/details-emer …

1:55 PM - 15 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 8 Likes

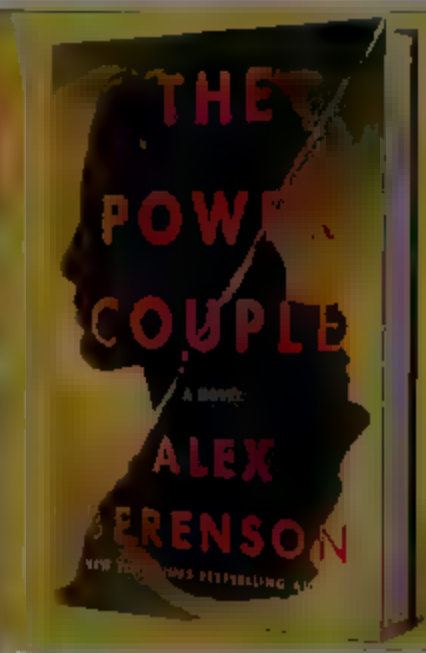
11 2 8

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Jan 2019
Alexberensonauthor@gmail.com

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

"She smoked marijuana, she had smoked it for 10 years since she was a teenager... She smoked marijuana but said it helped with her condition." Until she killed her 7-year-old.

12:10 PM - 15 Jan 2019

7 Retweets 15 Likes

13 7 15

infinite rest @wyspace · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to

> Nobody has established that marijuana causes psychosis. Even Ziva Cooper, an author for the National Academy of Sciences report that Alex keeps citing, recently corrected him and said

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019
His point is actually different, and correct. I downloaded the homicide data today, from BJS and FBI/UCR.

The homicide rate in, say, WA in 2000 was 3.3. But on the graph it is 5.0.

The trend lines are roughly right, but levels for both CO and WA are way off.

3 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

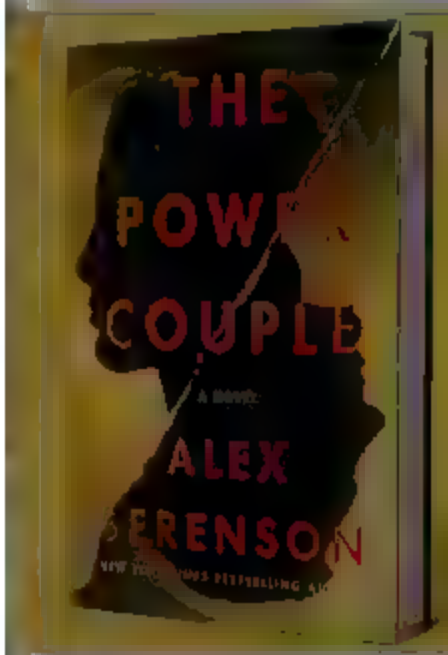
Thank you! It seems like such an elementary mistake I can't believe there's not a reasonable explanation, but I don't know what it is.

7:48 AM · 15 Jan 2019

1

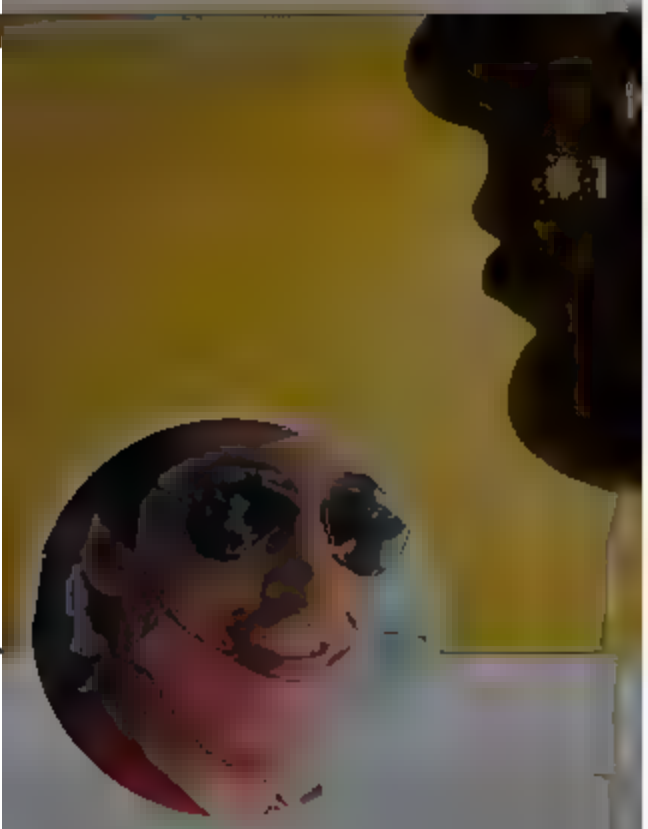
ADAW @ADAWnews · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
Why is the graph wrong?

1



John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019
The levels are wrong. In 2000, WA didn't have a homicide rate of 5.0 (which is what it is in the graph). It was 3.3. The trend lines look roughly right, but the levels don't match those in the UCR.

2 1



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019

The levels are wrong. In 2000, WA didn't have a homicide rate of 5.0 (which is what it is in the graph). It was 3.3. The trend lines look roughly right, but the levels don't match those in the UCR.

2 1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

The divergence in the post-2013 data is striking. He shows "actual" WA up about 15-20%, when the real actual per-capita rise was 35%. Maybe you can figure it out. I can't. And he ignored my request for clarification.

8:00 AM · 15 Jan 2019

1

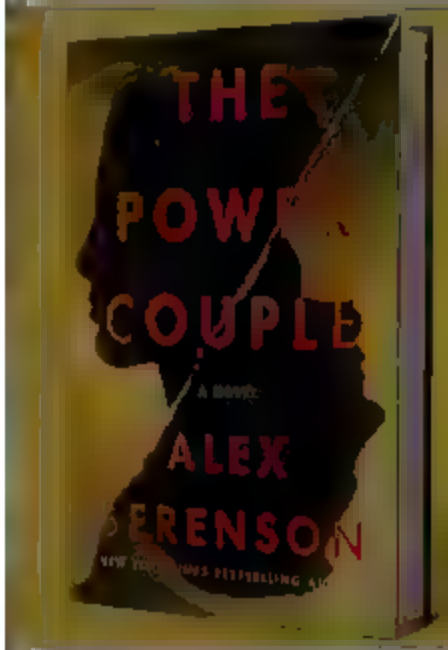
John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

That's just a baserates issue.

The absolute change is the same in both cases: the real data between 2013 and 2015 rises by 0.3 (2.4 to 2.7). His data rises by about 0.35 (~3.75 to 4.1). So he actually shows a WORSE(ish) total rise.

The %s differ bc of the baserates.



1 1

John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019

Actually, I think I know what is going on here. He's most likely using the broader SHR definition of homicide, not the narrower UCR version. Which is likely more apt for a marijuana-crime connection anyway.

That would explain higher levels, similar trends. So it's all good.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019

Your persistently dismissive tone towards people who are engaged in good-faith criticism is disappointing.

And anyone serious talking abt legalization isn't saying it'll lead to a guaranteed absolute decline. That's a strawman. They mean "less than it'd otherwise be."

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
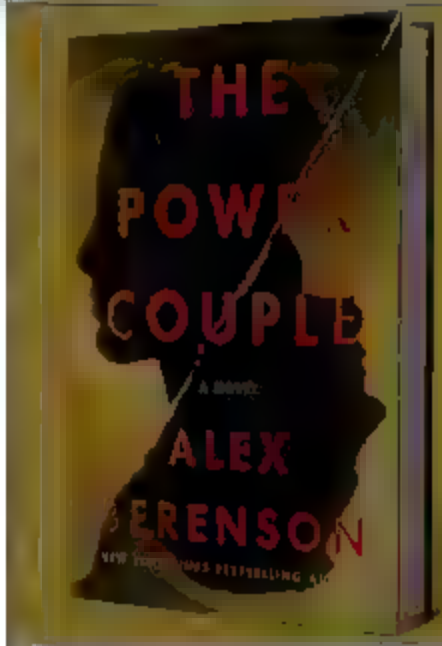
> Replying to @JohnFPfaff @ZachWritesStuff and 2 others
> Cute graphs. Do you know what's in the underlying model or why the posted "actual" rates don't match the actual data? I don't. I asked. Never got an answer. What's been forgotten: advocates said legalization would lower violent crime. Not that we'd be debating the level of rise.

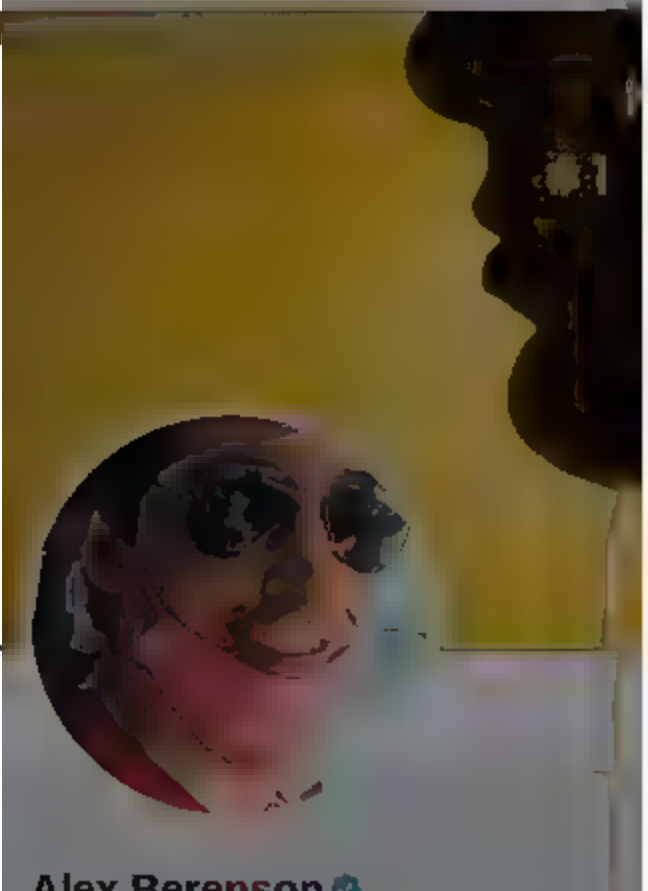
1 8

John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019

Also, not sure what you ( ) mean by why the "actual" rates don't match the actual data. Do you mean why the synthetic pre-legalization rates don't perfectly track the actual rates? Bc they never do with synth controls: just need to be close (which they are).



1 3



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

No, I mean the numbers for the "actual" states do not foot with the actual UCR data. Compare your chart, which is accurate, to his. You will see.

7:38 AM - 15 Jan 2019

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

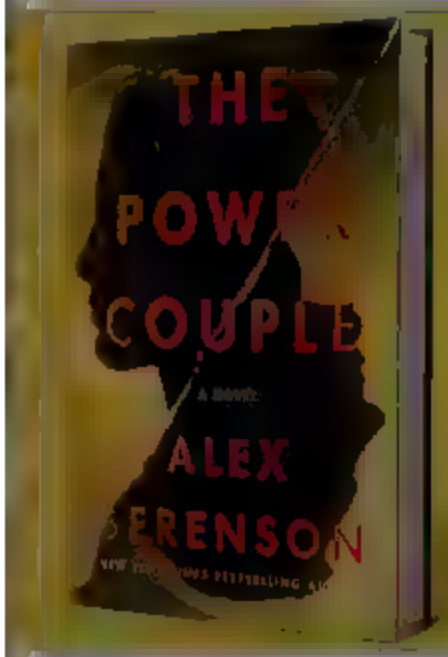
Joined November 2009

3 10

Abraham Gutman @abgutman · 15 Jan 2019
Who wants a super high potency product?

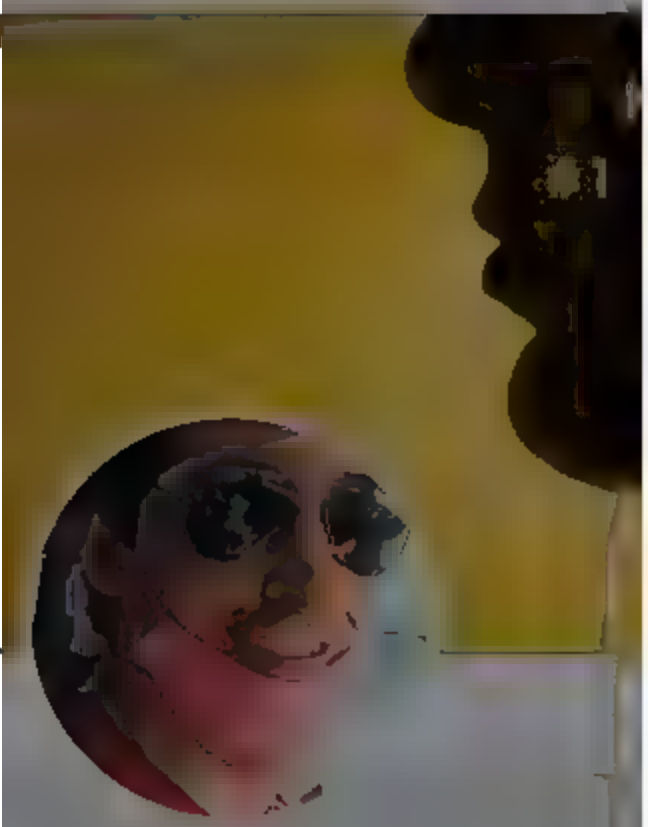
2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Near-pure concentrate sales are growing far faster than sales of flower cannabis (which is itself much more potent than it once was). Heavy users drive the market, and they want high-strength product.

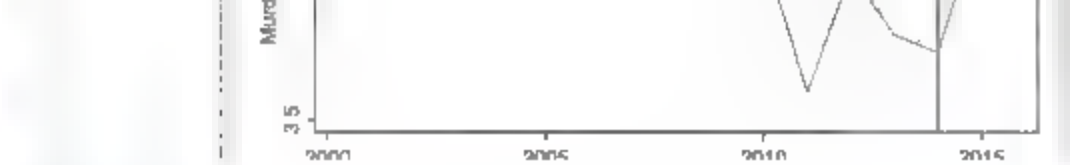


6:47 AM - 15 Jan 2019

1

Abraham Gutman @abgutman · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others
A lot of assumptions that you are making here. The market is growing, yes. What does that tell of about how many substituted from unregulated to regulated market? What is the marginal effect of potency on the regulated/non-regulated

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to and 2 others

Cute graphs. Do you know what's in the underlying model or why the posted "actual" rates don't match the actual data? I don't. I asked. Never got an answer. What's been forgotten: advocates said legalization would lower violent crime. Not that we'd be debating the level of rise.

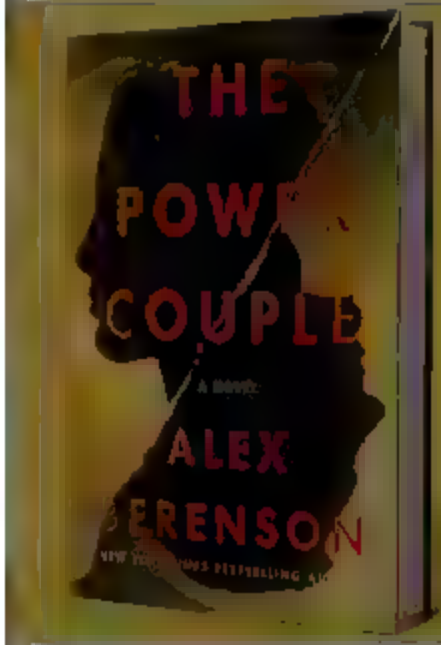
7:27 AM - 15 Jan 2019

2

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to and 2 others
Do "advocates" control the weather too?

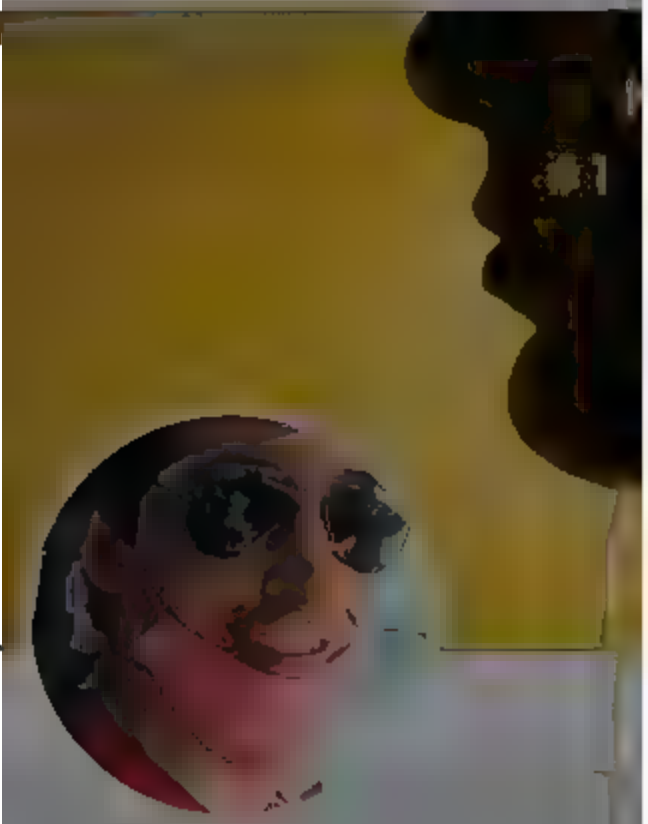
3

This Tweet is unavailable.



John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019
His point is actually different, and correct. I downloaded the homicide data today, from BJS and FBI/UCR.

The homicide rate in, say, WA in 2000 was 3.3. But on the graph it is 5.0.

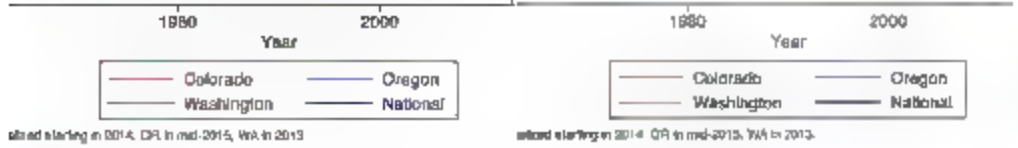


The trend lines are roughly right, but levels for both CO and WA are way off.

3 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 7

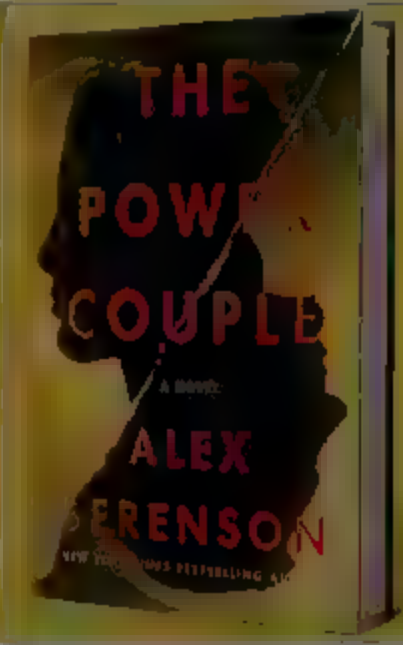
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Couple things. You forgot Alaska. It legalized in early 2015. Also, recreational retail sales did not begin in WA until mid-2014. Recreational dispensaries are true legalization - they mean any adult who wants cannabis can purchase it at a store. So 2014 is fairer for WA too.

7:19 AM - 15 Jan 2019

2



John Pfaff @JohnFPfaff · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to

2014 doesn't change anything for WA, not really. And I just chose those three states bc of your earlier tweet.

Plus, as I just discovered and tweeted, more-rigorous tests seem to have found no spike at all:

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to

'After receiving an authorization card, "patients" can then buy as much marijuana

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Okay, I promised myself I wouldn't try to convince advocates who refuse to accept hard numbers. Look at the 2013/2017 FBI UCR data yourself - and the even more recent data from Seattle, Denver, Portland, and Spokane - and tell me murders and agg assaults aren't spiking.

5 1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

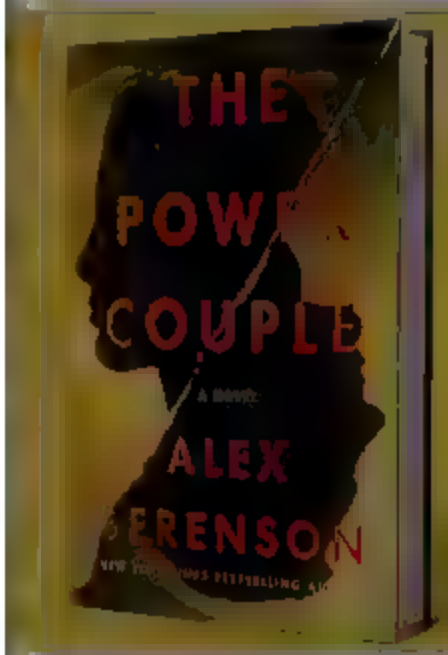
Here's Seattle. Note that 2018 doesn't include December, so what looks like no change in agg assaults is probably a roughly 8-9% increase. This trend is real. We can talk about why it's happening, but anyone who claims it isn't is simply ignoring the data.

[redacted] DATA-DRIVEN [redacted]

YR	PCT	MCPP	BEAT	C DIST
(Multiple val...	(All)	(All)	(All)	(All)

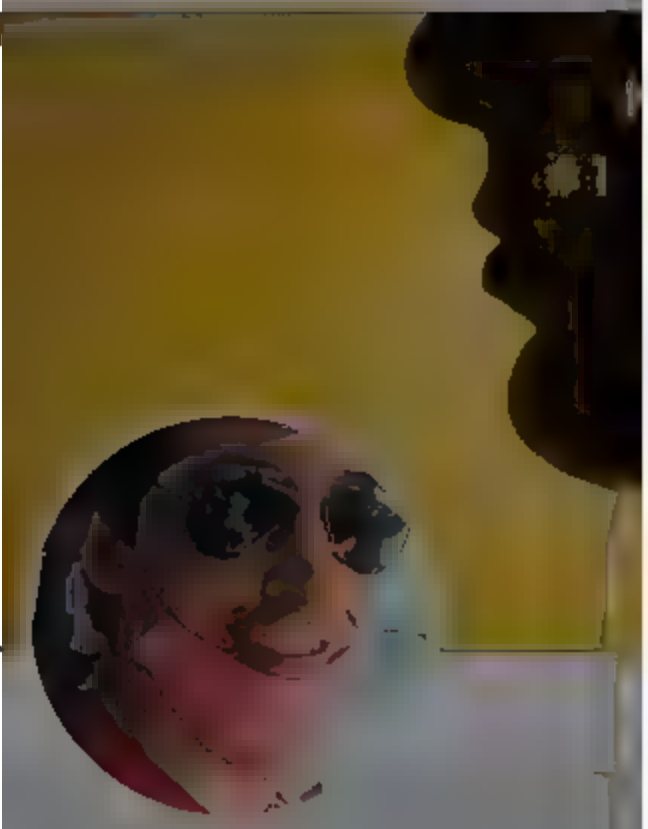
Crime Group	Crime Category	2018	2017	2013
Person Crime	Homicide	31	29	19
	Aggravated Assault	2,494	2,492	1,760
	Total	2,525	2,521	1,779
Grand Total		2,525	2,521	1,779

Select A Map MCPP



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 15 Jan 2019
There is still no crime wave in legal states. This "red tide" prediction comes from?

1 6

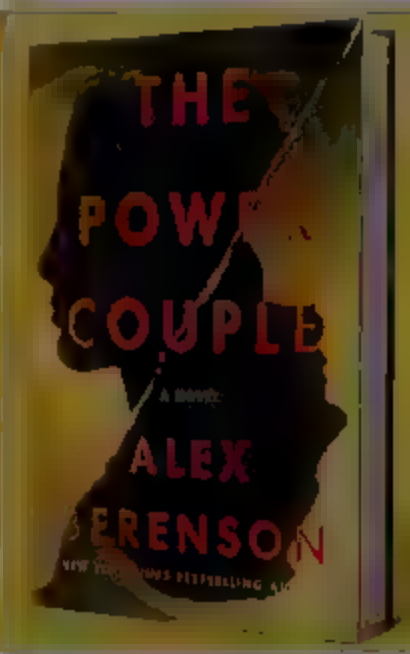
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Okay, I promised myself I wouldn't try to convince advocates who refuse to accept hard numbers. Look at the 2013/2017 FBI UCR data yourself - and the even more recent data from Seattle, Denver, Portland, and Spokane - and tell me murders and agg assaults aren't spiking.

6:29 AM - 15 Jan 2019

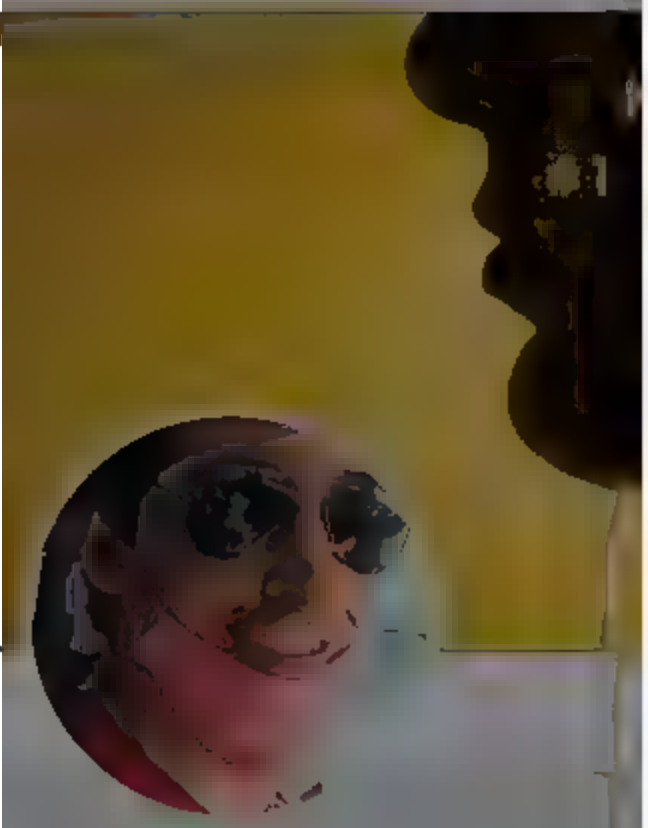
1 Like



5 1

ADAW @ADAWnews · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to
Go ahead, convince me, you wrote the book after all.
Caused by marijuana use? Caused by psychosis? Caused by cannabis-related psychosis? Or just correlation? Compared to non-legalization states?

3



Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to
I'm not an advocate. And not everyone who disagrees with you is. Perhaps read to understand why your interpretation of these data is way off base.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Keith Humphreys @KeithNHumphreys · 15 Jan 2019
I may have misunderstood you Alex but I thought you opposed legalization. If a residual high potency black market bothers you, wouldn't a complete black market bother you more?

2 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

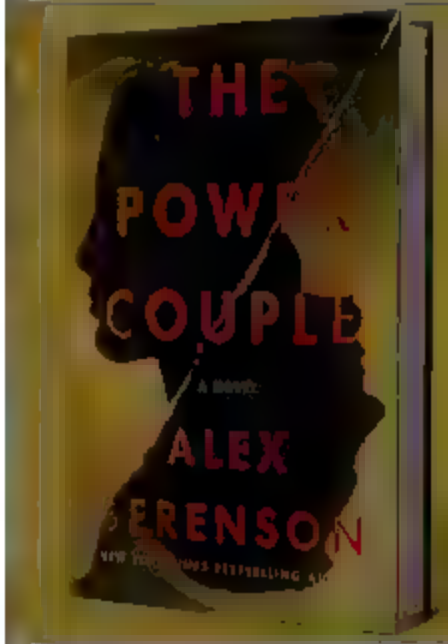
Replying to

No - see next tweet. Not that anyone is asking me but I think I'd rather have full legalization than this doomed hybrid. At least then advocates won't be able to blame regulations and a residual black market for the crime that follows.

6:16 AM - 15 Jan 2019

2

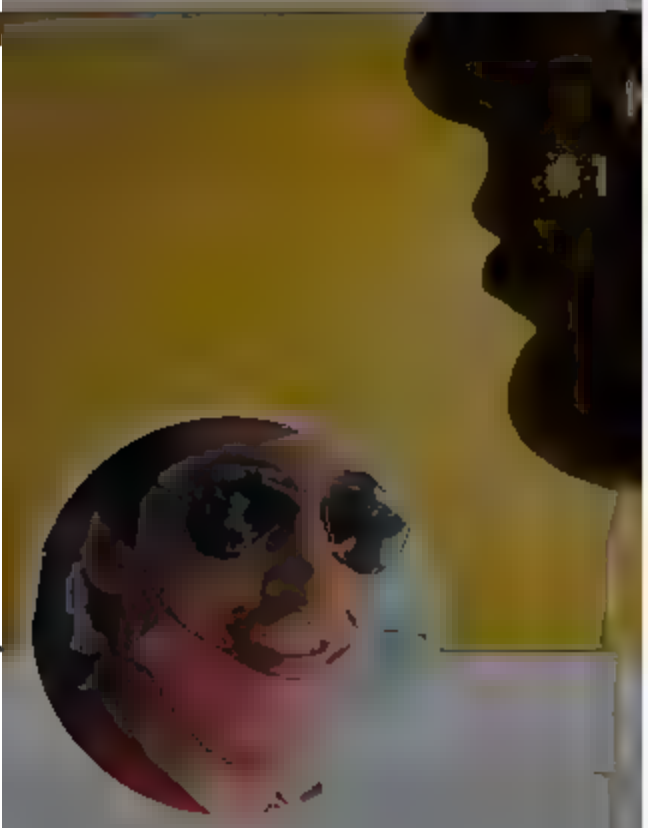
Keith Humphreys @KeithNHumphreys · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to
As in life, there are more options in public policy than all or nothing.



2 11

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 15 Jan 2019
There is still no crime wave in legal states. This "red tide" prediction comes from?

1 6



Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to and 2 others
It has been proven by the industry that they will not allow regulation of potency. They already bought off that ballot in Colorado two years ago.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Jan 2019
No, bc users want high-potency low-cost product and will go to the home-grown black market if the legal suppliers don't have it.

5 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Alcohol is far harder to produce at home and more efficient at industrial-scale, so this is less of a problem for it. Anybody with a basement and electricity can grow, and home grows are actually enshrined as a right in most legalized states.

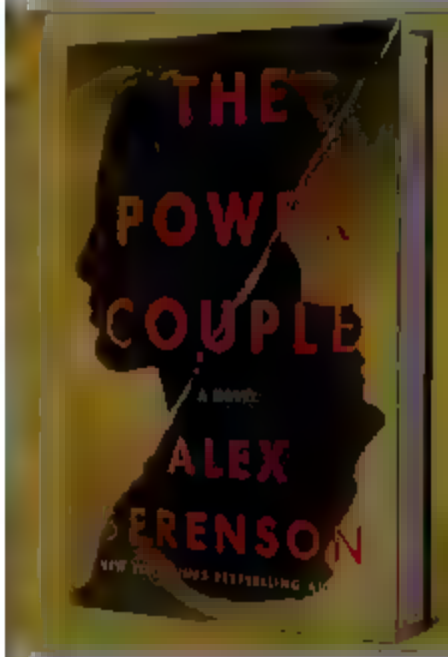
6:10 AM - 15 Jan 2019

3

Keith Humphreys @KeithNHumphreys · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I may have misunderstood you Alex but I thought you opposed legalization. If a residual high potency black market bothers you, wouldn't a complete black market bother you more?

2 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Jan 2019
No - see next tweet. Not that anyone is asking me but I think I'd rather have full legalization than this doomed hybrid. At least then advocates won't be able to blame regulations and a residual black market for the crime that follows.



2

[redacted]

ADAW @ADAWnews · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
I thought legalization meant limits of home-grows, such as 6 plants.

2

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

5 3

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 15 Jan 2019
So... keep it all black market then. That'll fix it.

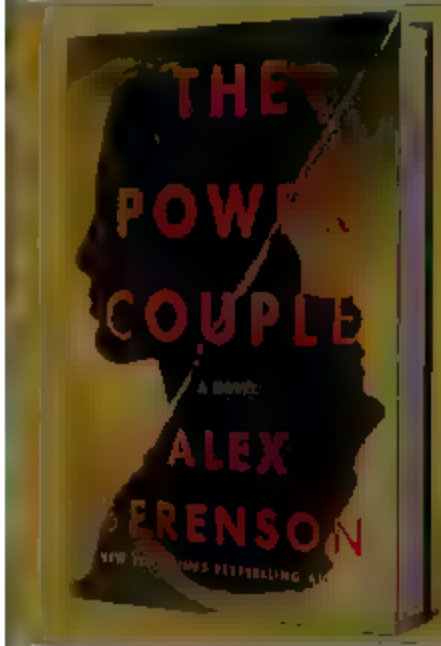
1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

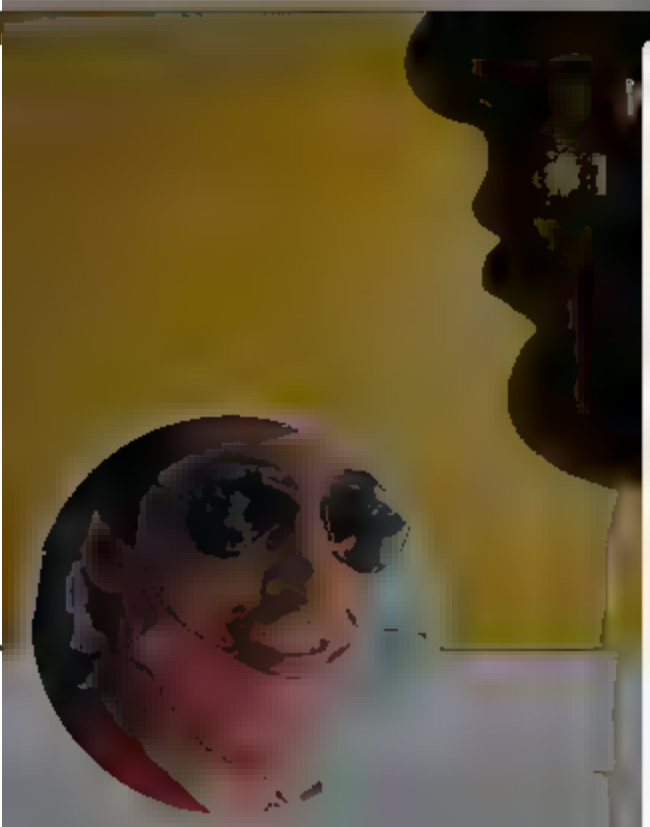
A big legal market and a big black market - which is what these regulations will produce - is the worst solution of all. All the crime plus legalized companies lobbying. Michael Scott would call that a lose-lose-lose.

6:12 AM - 15 Jan 2019

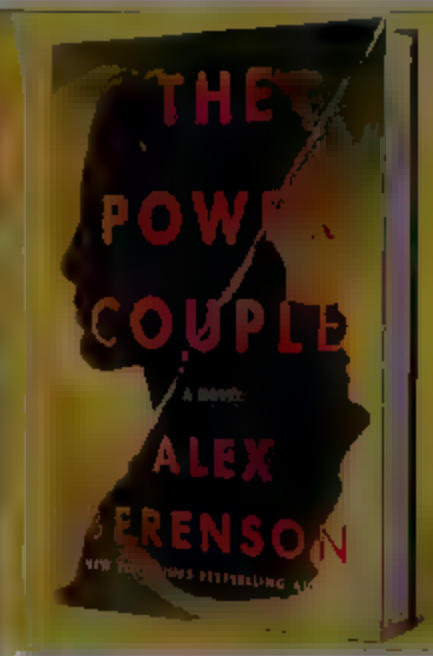


2 Likes

1 2



Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
"All the crime..." like the psychotic violence that rarely happens.



1 1

christy brown @mystocean · 15 Jan 2019
Mental health expert Jaffe "talked to hundreds of families of the mentally ill, health care workers, and police officers over multiple years. Many felt that the connection between marijuana use and mental illness was strong and being ignored.;

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Do you have a copy of the book? I can have @simonschuster send you one

> Jon Fasman @jonfasman > themarshallproject.org/2019/01/14/how... This is a very smart discussion of the dangers of cannabis from @KeithNHumphreys @MarkARKleiman @AlexBerenson and @MMcFarlandSM

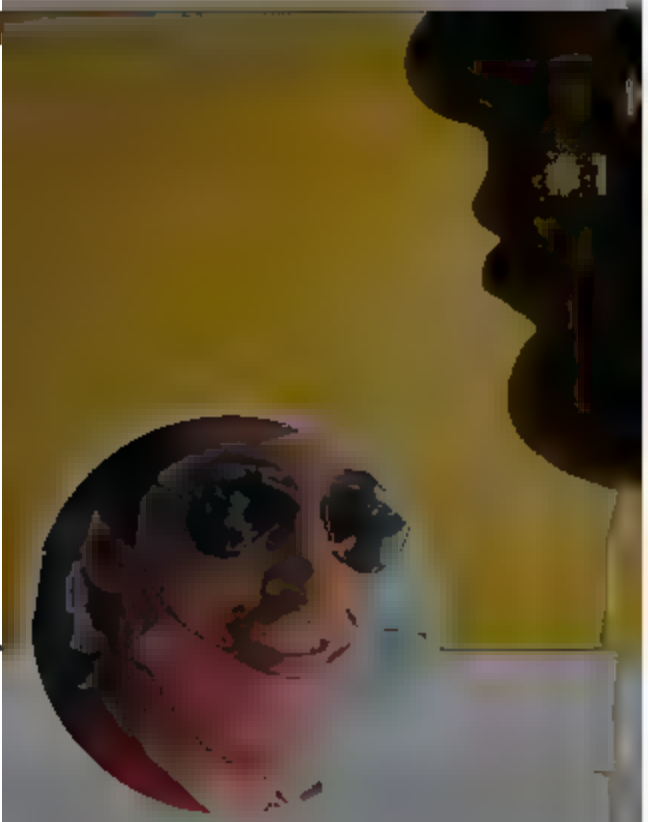
5:53 AM - 15 Jan 2019

1 Like

3 1

Jon Fasman @jonfasman · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to
I'd love a copy - thank you. Follow/DM and I'll send you the address.

2



Bruce Conners @bconners · 15 Jan 2019

> Ziva Cooper @zivacooper
> In response to the recent @NYTimes editorial on cannabis and as a committee member on the @theNASEM #cannabis and #cannabinoids report we did NOT conclude that cannabis causes schizophrenia.…
> Show this thread

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to
How come Netherlands has lower murder rate or sane w its neighbors. Germany higher.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 1 9

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 15 Jan 2019
Makes sense to regulate market and put a cap on potencies?

5 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

No, bc users want high-potency low-cost product and will go to the home-grown black market if the legal suppliers don't have it.

6:06 AM - 15 Jan 2019

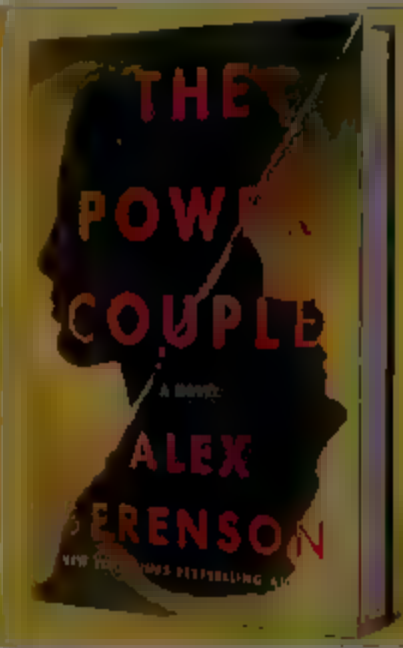
3 Likes

5 3

Zachary Siegel @ZachWritesStuff · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to
So... keep it all black market then. That'll fix it.

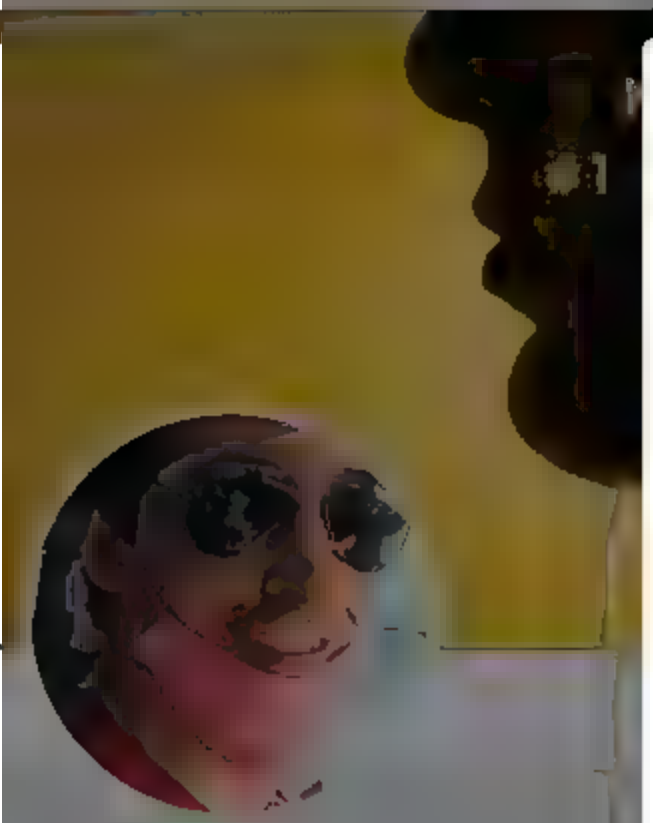
1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Jan 2019
A big legal market and a big black market - which is what these regulations will produce - is the worst solution of all. All the crime plus legalized companies lobbying. Michael Scott would call that a lose-lose-lose.

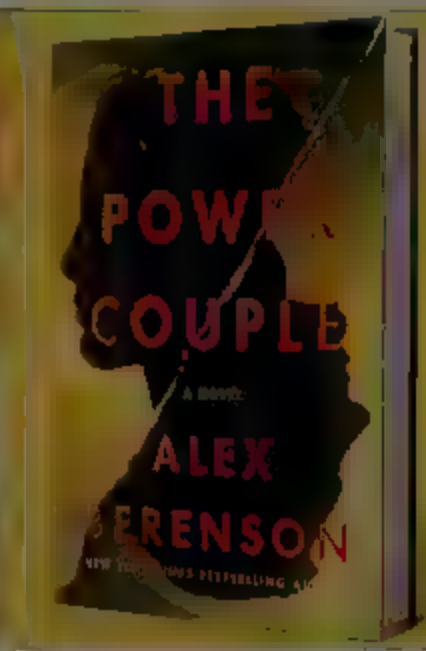


1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Jan 2019
Replying to and 2 others
Alcohol is far harder to produce at home and more efficient at industrial-scale, so this is less of a problem for it. Anybody with a basement and electricity can grow, and home grows are actually enshrined as a right in most legalized states.



3



Keith Humphreys @KeithNHumphreys · 15 Jan 2019

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Tell Your Children is headed for a third printing! If you are waiting for a copy from @amazon, thousands more are on the way - it will be in your hands soon. Sorry for the delay, and thanks for your patience.

9:24 AM - 14 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 19 Likes

9 2 19

CouldBeDan @danbarach · 14 Jan 2019

Replying to Tremendous!

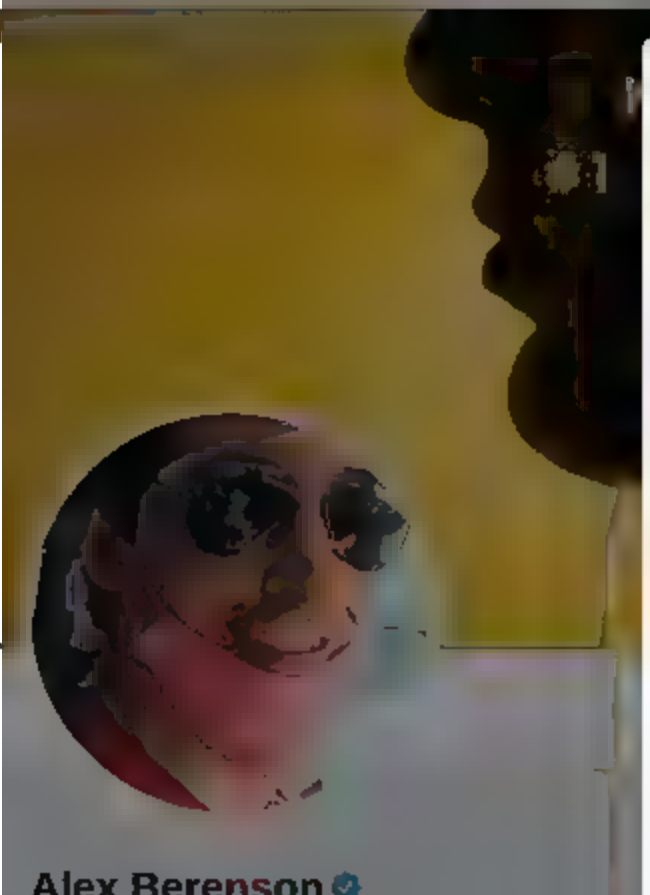
Most vital book currently on the market.



Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 14 Jan 2019

Replying to

5 years ago yesterday this little boy died in a fire while his parents smoked pot. The national press did not investigate this story, but instead was totally interested in all the $$$ that can made in weed.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Thanks @smerconish for this incredible review of Tell Your Children!

7:26 AM - 14 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 6 Likes

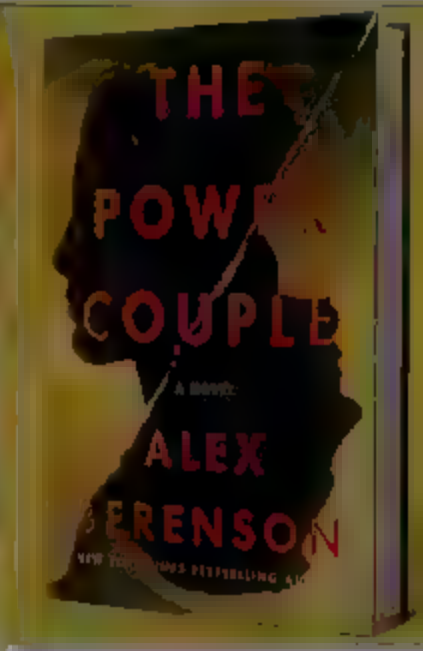
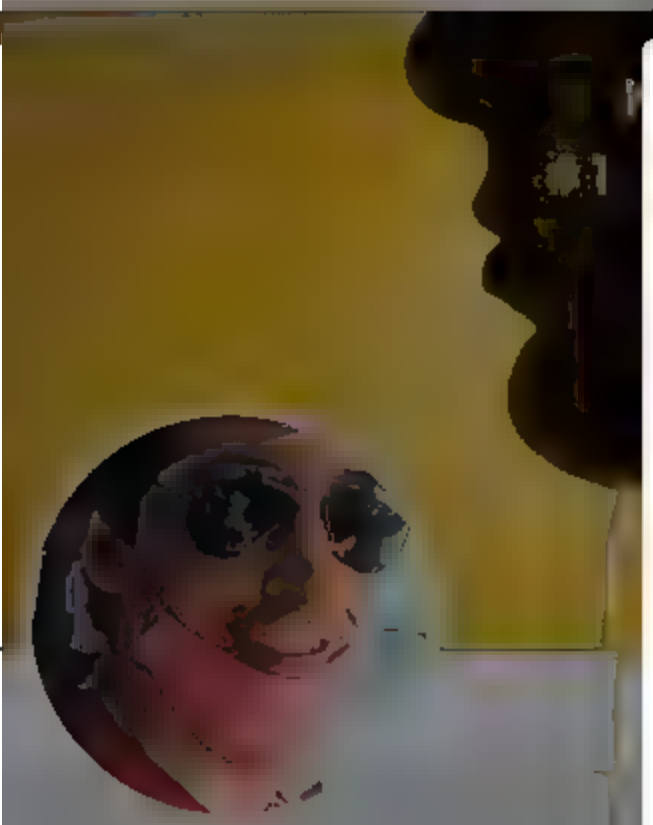
4 3 6



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 14 Jan 2019

Replying to



And what constitutes a "hard look"?

Is it, "wrote the book not knowing the difference between correlation and causation"? That kind of hard look?

Or is it, "got his ass handed to him by several experts on his use and understanding of the data."
That kind of hard look?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

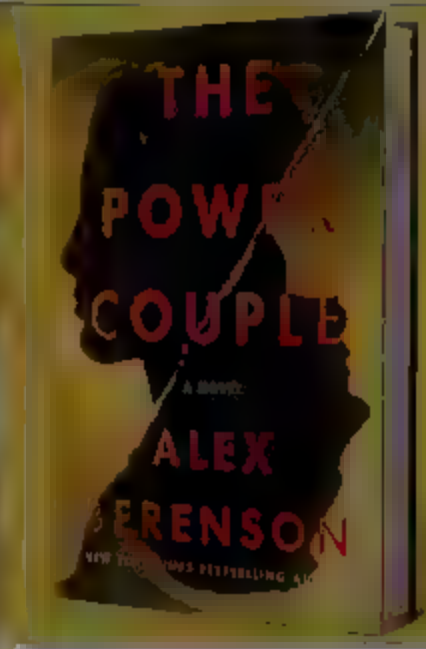
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

A thoughtful engagement with TYC from @jameshamblin. I can argue some points, but I'm glad he took the book seriously - and even considered a paranoid experience he'd once had while using.

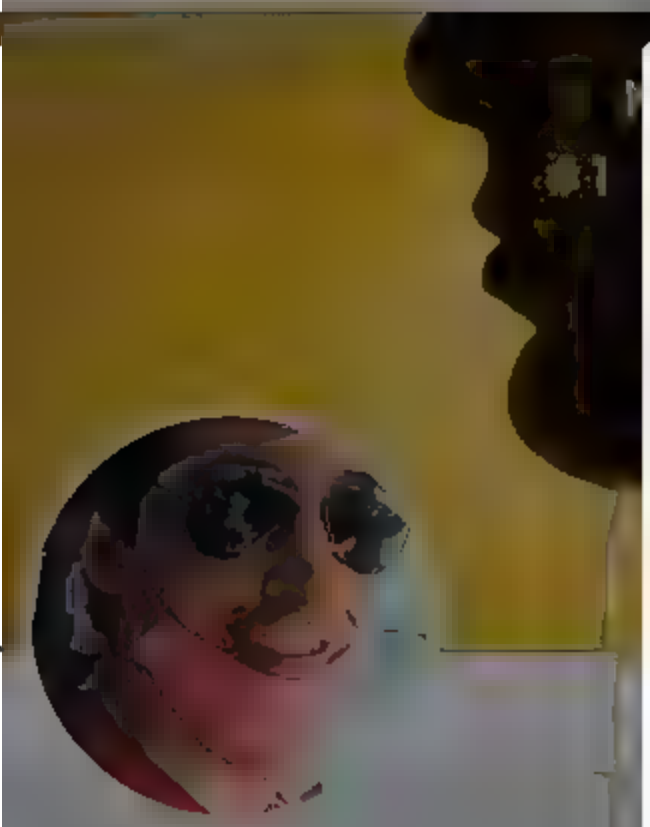
7:34 AM - 14 Jan 2019

5 Likes

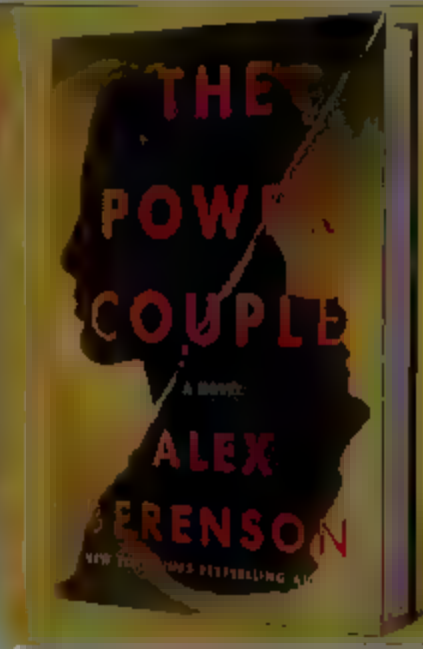


7 5

infinite rest @wyspace · 14 Jan 2019



Replying to



You think cbd makes people murders too?

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Felix Salmon @felixsalmon · 13 Jan 2019

Twitter help! I want to use "conglomerateur" to mean someone who puts together a conglomerate via acquisition, but I'm being told it's not a word. Is there some actual word that means pretty much the same thing? I don't mean "corporate raider".

43 1 28

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

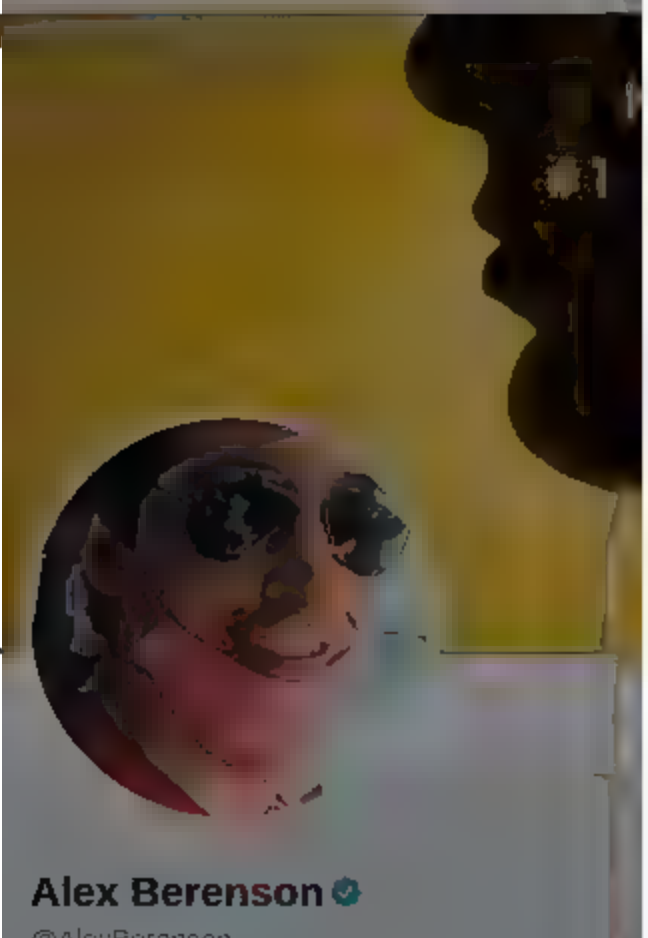
Following

Replying to [redacted]

Those companies used to be called roll ups, so rollupper? (The real phrase is usually serial acquirer.)

3:43 AM - 14 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

11 1 8

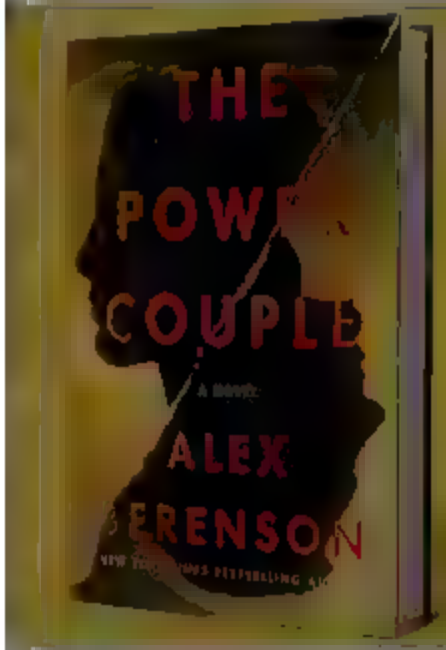
ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 13 Jan 2019
Mark may be biased. He is a consultant for the legal marijuana industry

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 Jan 2019
Oof. Care to comment on your company's revenues from for-profit companies or any of the specific projects you've conducted, @MarkARKleiman?

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

Just fyi - @MarkARKleiman and BOTEC report having "private-sector clients for tobacco- and nicotine-policy work," but he says in answer to this question that they have no private-sector cannabis clients, either directly or indirectly. Glad we sorted that out. Thanks, Mark.

5:37 PM - 13 Jan 2019

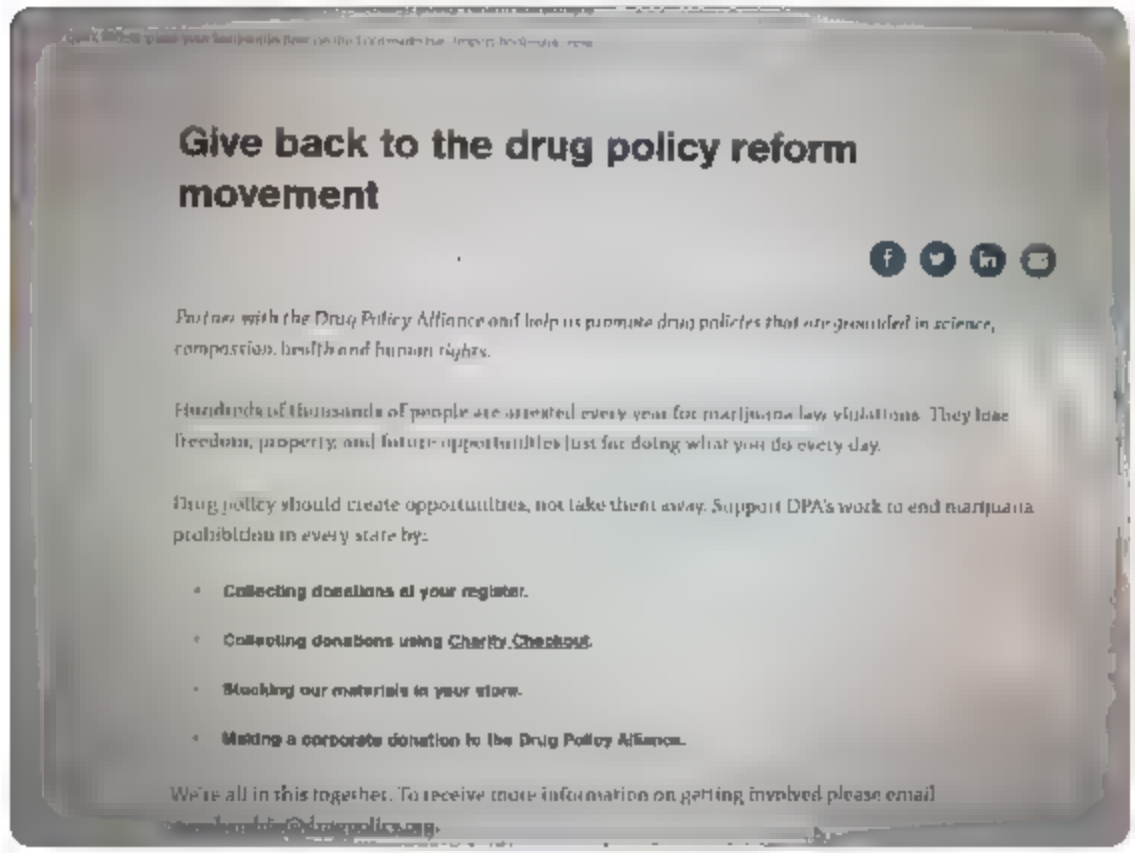
1 Like

1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

You've made some money selling cannabis. Now it's time to give back!

1:04 PM - 13 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 4 Likes

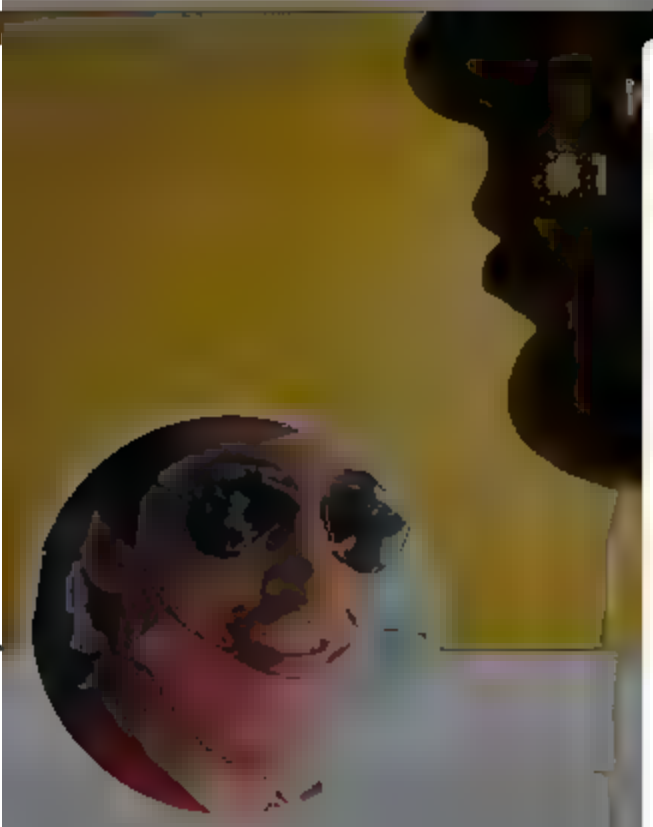
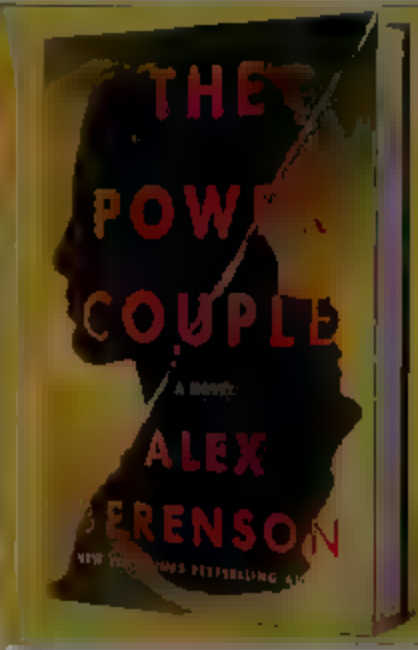
4 2 4



Eddy Slesh @cryptoslesh · 14 Jan 2019



Replying to

Every medically focused seed sale I complete directly funds my charity, Seeds for Vets, greatly helping veterans get off the pills and find peace in horticultural therapy. Thanks for the shout out Alex! The cannabis industry is filled with more philanthropreneurs than any other

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Fun fact: The @DrugPolicyOrg - which says it advocates "policies grounded in science, compassion, health and human rights" - actively solicits donations from for-profit cannabis companies:
drugpolicy.org/give-back-drug...

12:55 PM - 13 Jan 2019

6 Retweets 14 Likes

13 6 14

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 13 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You're sounding awfully paranoid...

The media could not be played.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

ellen snelling @LNseven5 · 13 Jan 2019
Mark may be biased. He is a consultant for the legal marijuana industry

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

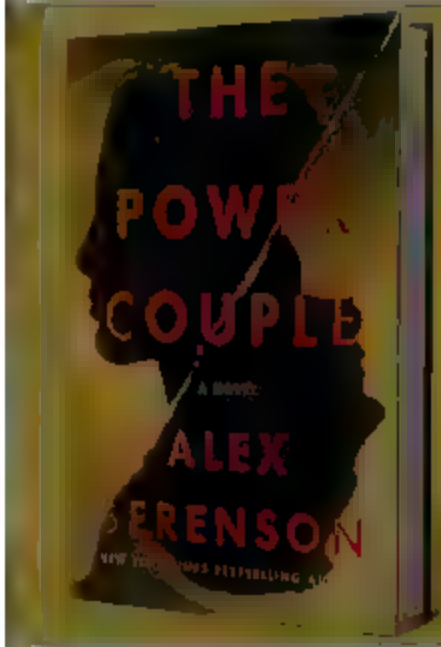
Replying to

Oof. Care to comment on your company's revenues from for-profit companies or any of the specific projects you've conducted, @MarkARKleiman?

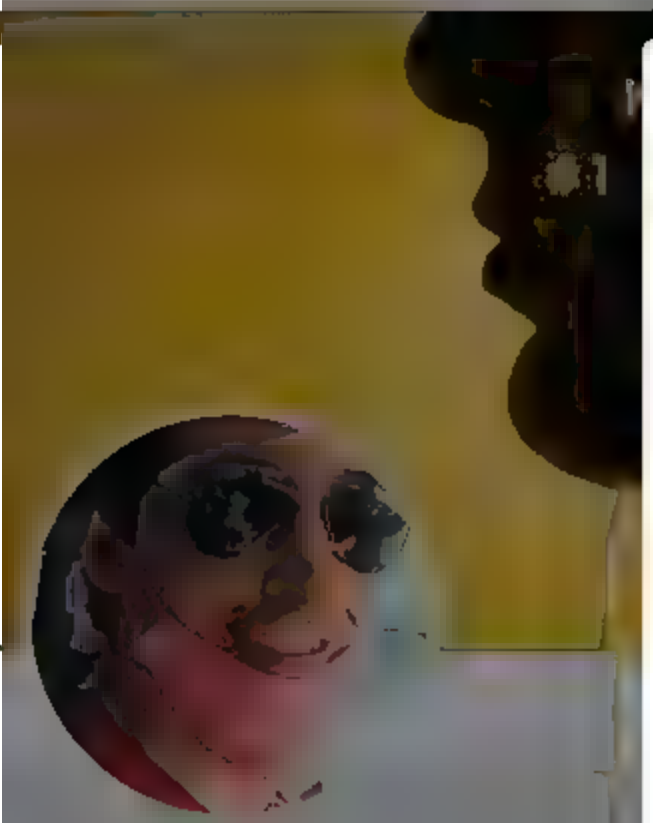
8:10 AM - 13 Jan 2019

2

Michael Reese @seventofive · 13 Jan 2019
Replying to

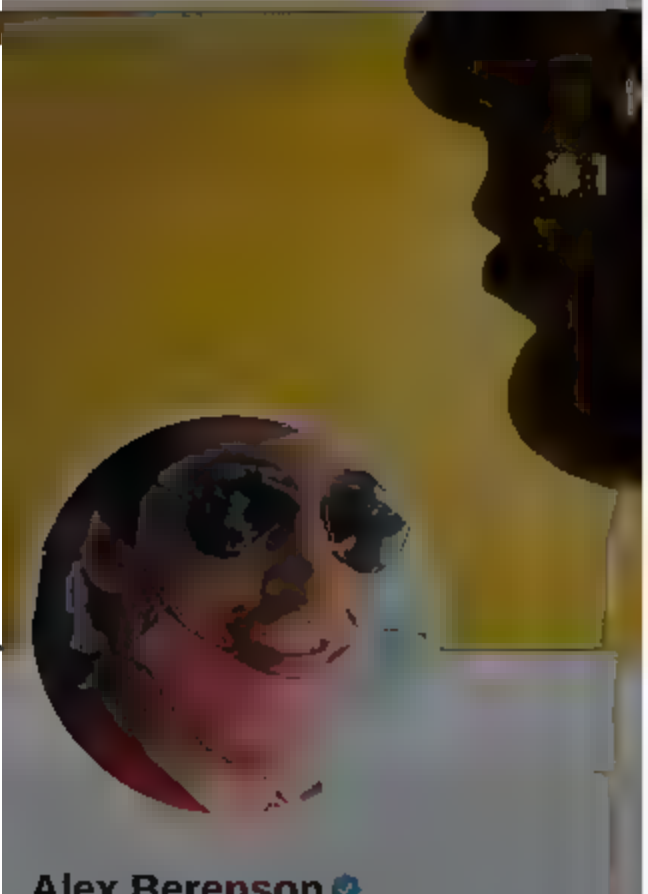


The fact that you are even trying this shows you have no idea who the experts or (or want an expert even is). Keep digging that hole deeper; you just keep looking more and more pathetic.



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 Jan 2019
Replying to

Just fyi - @MarkARKleiman and BOTEC report having "private-sector clients for tobacco- and nicotine-policy work," but he says in answer to this question that they have no private-sector cannabis clients, either directly or indirectly. Glad we



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Darx2yl @c6a3t · 12 Jan 2019

Who is paying you, Alex? I bet you get enough money from pharmaceutical interest groups that you get to maintain this ridiculous position you espouse in your silly book. Alex = wannabe author. Dr. David Nathan = actual expert.

2 1

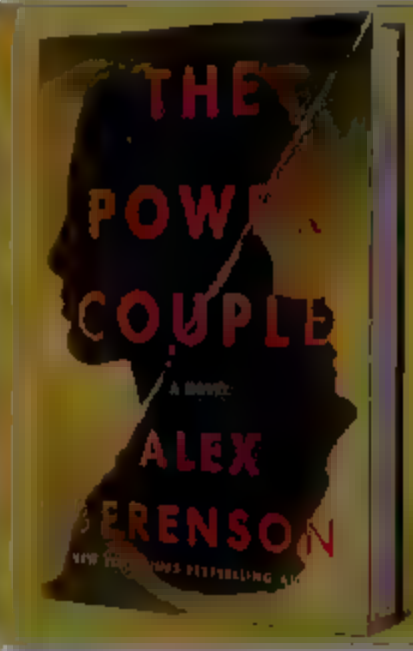
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Yeah, pharma loves me. I'm totally in the tank.

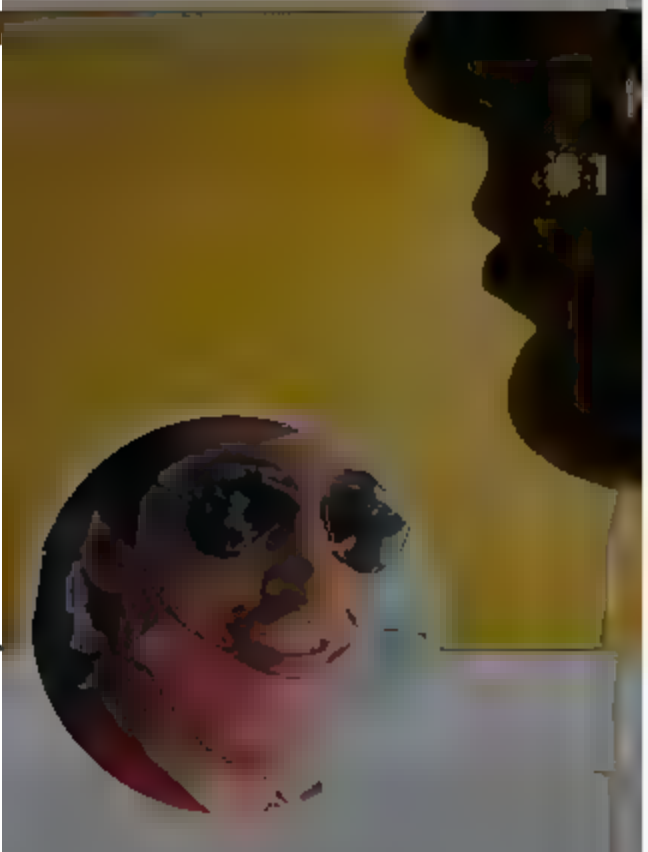
2:12 PM - 12 Jan 2019

4 Likes



1 4

Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 12 Jan 2019



Replying to

Kind of odd to believe there is any money is on the prohibition side of recreational drug use.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 2

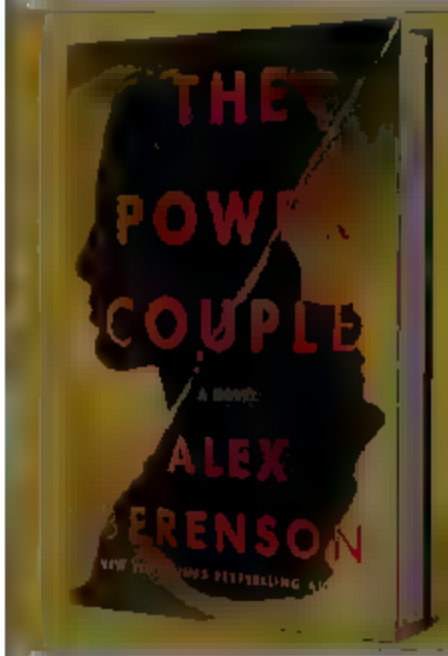
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Here's how I see the question: if someone built a bridge and insisted it were fit for traffic, and no one had checked the claim, and a reporter pointed out that the bridge was visibly listing, would a good engineer immediately insist the reporter was wrong?

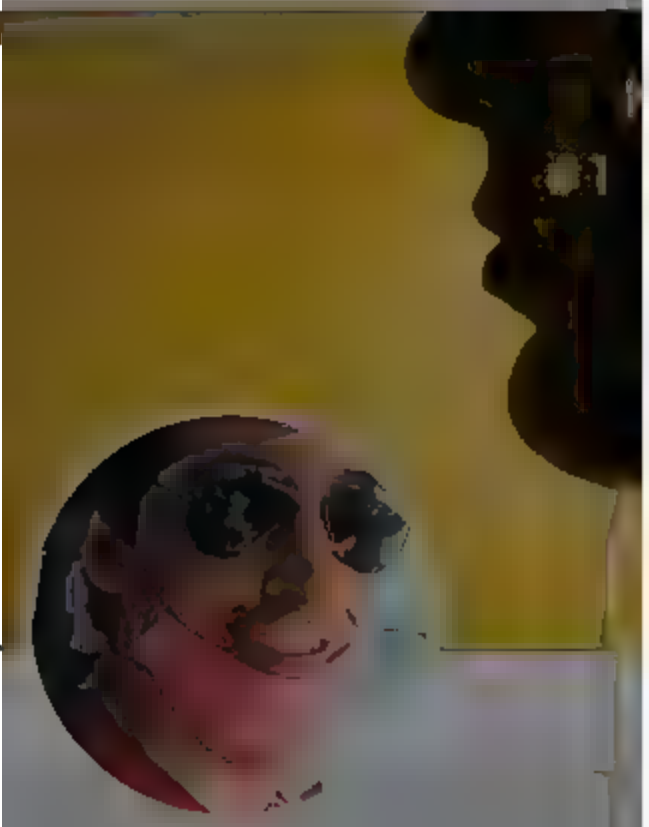
12:23 PM - 12 Jan 2019

7 Likes



8 7

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to
So you're in favor of government agencies inspecting and approving bridges and certifying their engineers, rather than, say, unqualified, criminally-minded people building bridges with zero oversight?



Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to
This is a great debate. Both sides of this argument serve a very useful purpose: to reach an optimal outcome.

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to Excellent Alex

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 3

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I didn't cherry-pick by using other models. I simply wanted to see at the base level if what advocates said before legalization - and afterward - was true. I was surprised it was not. You are correct that I approached the question as a journalist rather than a social scientist.

12:11 PM - 12 Jan 2019

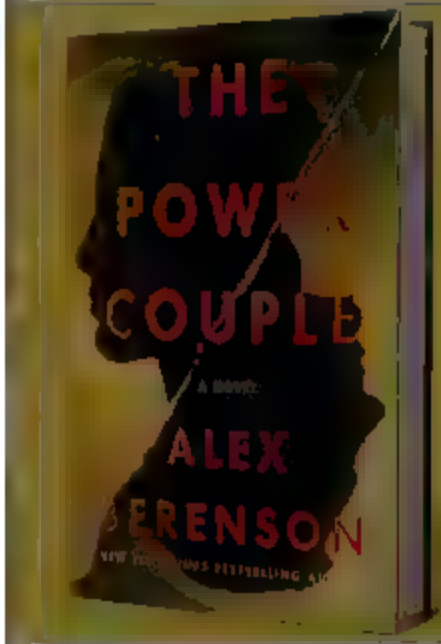
2 Likes

3 2

This Tweet is unavailable.

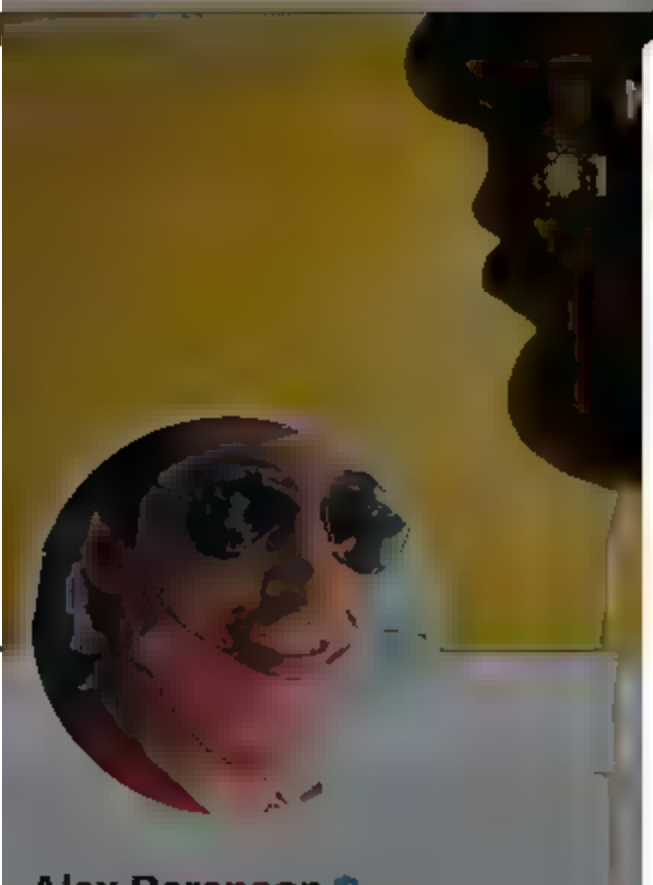
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 12 Jan 2019

Here's how I see the question: if someone built a bridge and insisted it were fit for traffic, and no one had checked the claim, and a reporter pointed out that the bridge was visibly listing, would a good engineer immediately insist the reporter was wrong?



8 7

Mark Atley @mark_atley · 12 Jan 2019



Replying to

Aren't journalist suppose to approach an idea, and represent the numbers? That's what I learned in my stat class for journalism

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ The comparison I make in the book is 2013 base to 2017, comparing all four states to the overall US, normalizing for population growth, and looking at both homicides and agg assaults. It may not be perfect, but it is complete.

12:03 PM - 12 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

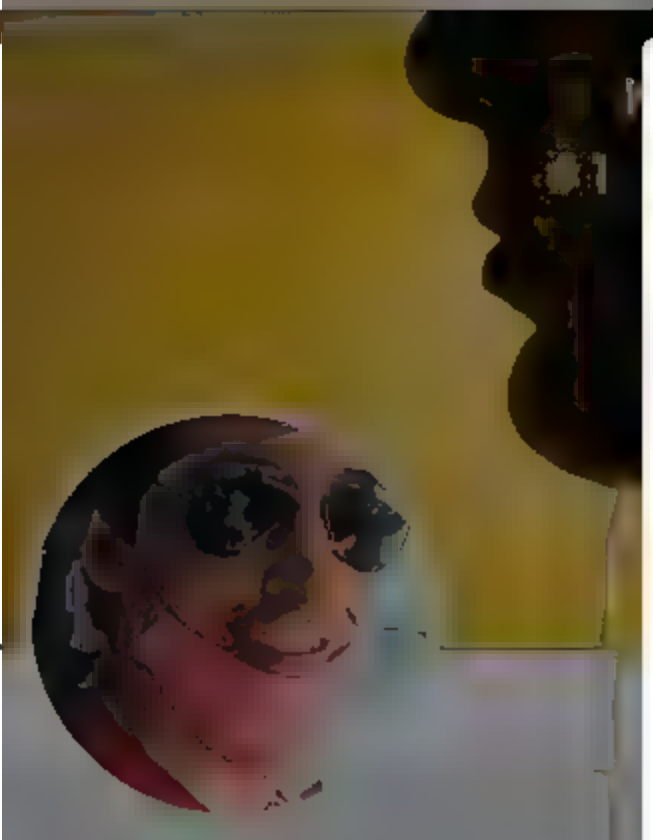
1 3

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 12 Jan 2019

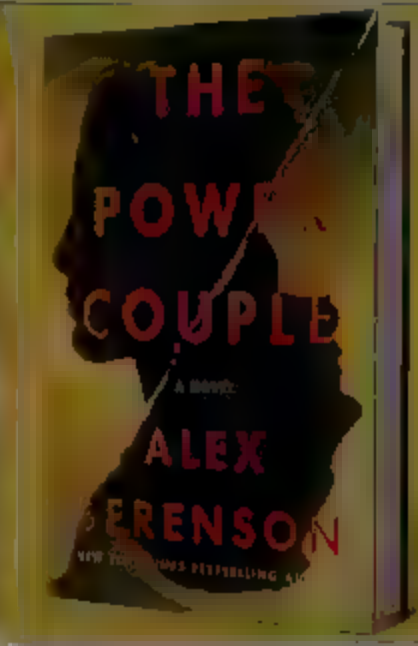


I didn't cherry-pick by using other models. I simply wanted to see at the base level if what advocates said before legalization - and afterward - was true. I was surprised it was not. You are correct that I approached the question as a journalist rather than a social scientist.

3 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ And I don't say legalization necessarily drove the increase. A lot of social science work needs to be done. Crime is multi-factorial. What I do say is that the 2017 Cory Booker claim that legalization LOWERED violent crime is demonstrably untrue.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ The comparison I make in the book is 2013 base to 2017, comparing all four states to the overall US, normalizing for population growth, and looking at both homicides and agg assaults. It may not be perfect, but it is complete.

12:06 PM - 12 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 16 Likes

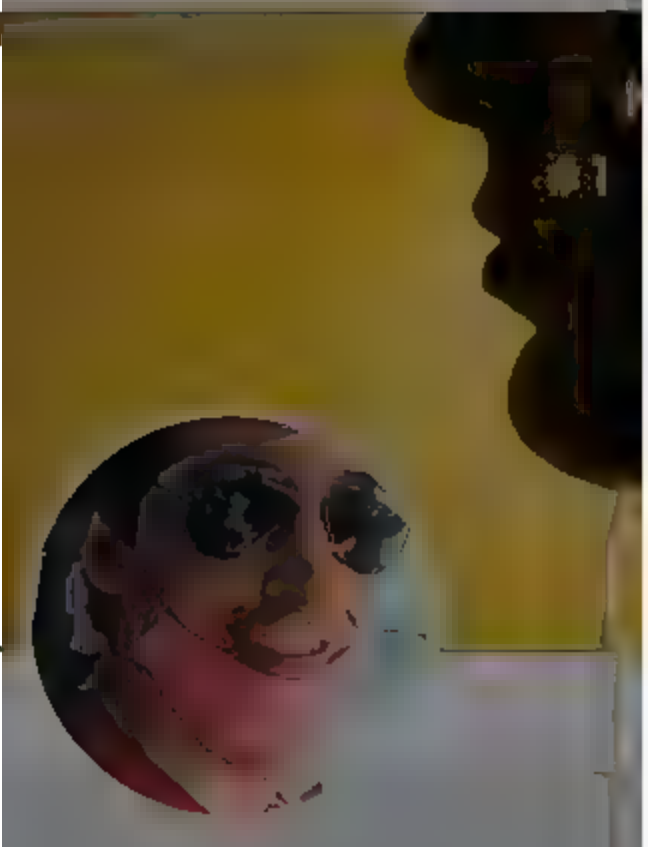
5 1 16

infinite rest @wyspace · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Best part of this is that you don't even know how to thread tweets on twitter.



1 1

Woodshedding Toe-tapper @WSTTVT · 13 Jan 2019
[illegible]

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Are you accounting for systemic crime, opportunity costs, retardation of education, treatment, research, quality control, labeling and harm reduction? Suppose black market violence is more significant than violence stemming from

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

When you have to watch your 17 year old child be held down by 4 police officers because he is in such a psychotic rage due to cannabis use and then visit him in a mental health unit for 6 weeks while he recovers then you can recant your lack of concern.

7 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to and 2 others

I'm terribly sorry to hear about your son. I hope he's getting the help he needs and that you are safe. He and your family have a long road ahead, but with luck and patience he may recover. My thoughts are with you.

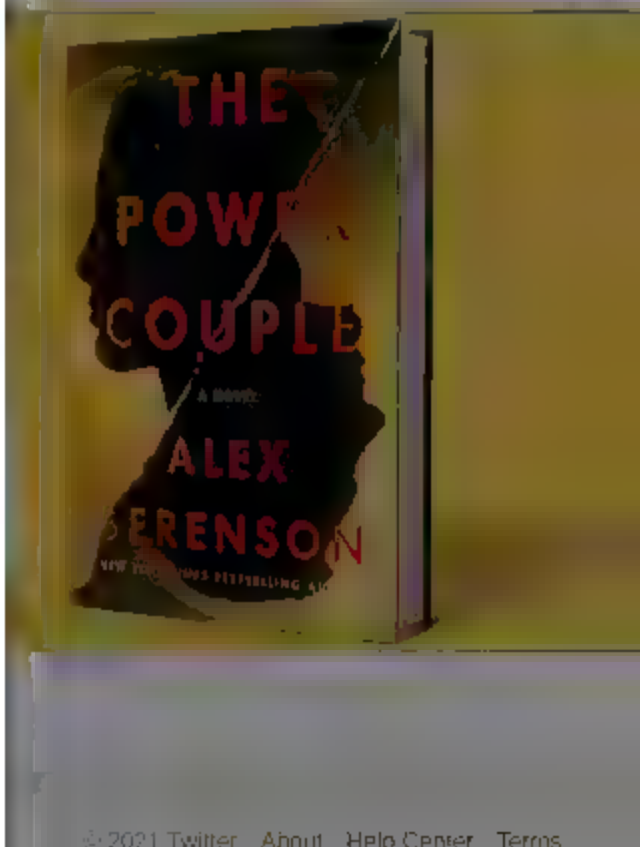
7:42 AM - 12 Jan 2019

2 Likes

1 2

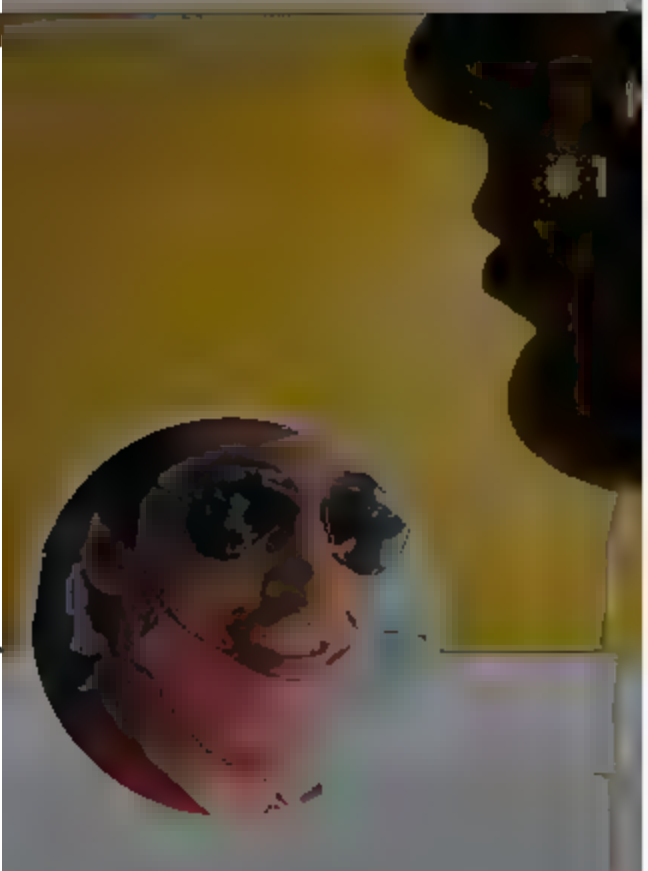
Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 20 Jan 2019

Replying to and 3 others



We recently heard from a dad whose 19-yr-old son used pot 2 years, became psychotic, had hospitalization for 8 days, was released and given Risperdal. Four days after release he went back to pot and committed suicide. Just giving Risperdal is not treatment; 8 days not enough.

3 1



Ben @ben_2350 · 20 Jan 2019

Gotta be a news article related to that. Care to share a link so people can actually see for themselves?

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

can recant your lack of concern.

7 3

Snovak @honeybadgerrox · 12 Jan 2019
Sorry, but cannabis alone did not make your son fly into a psychotic rage. It was either laced or there was some other drug involved.

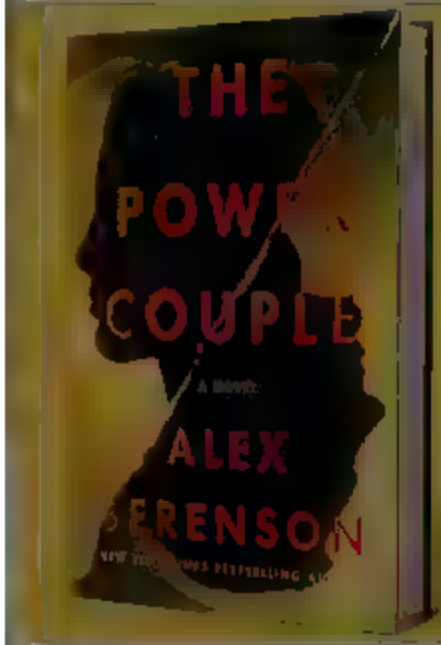
3 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

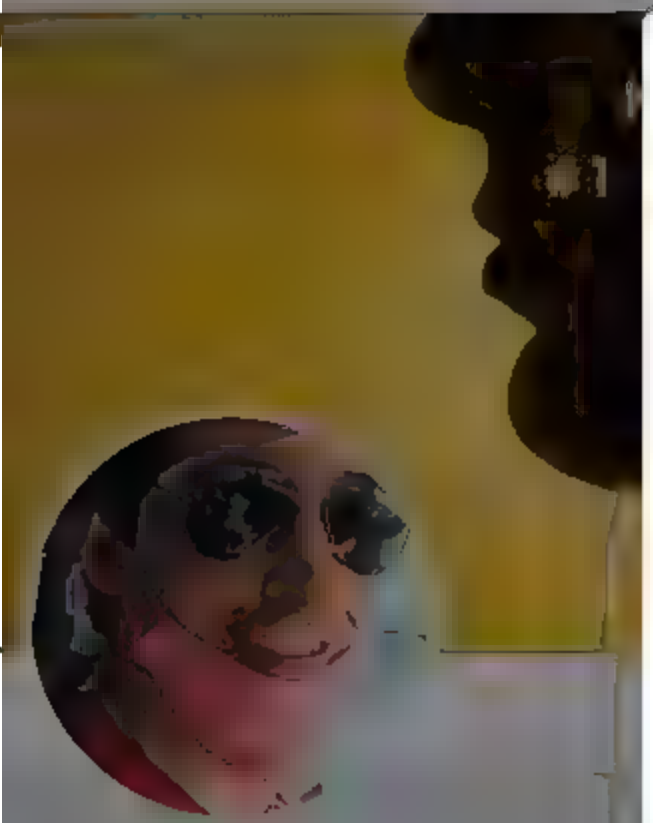
Not only do you have no idea what you're talking about, you are being disrespectful to a woman suffering a family emergency. Please leave her alone.

8:29 AM - 12 Jan 2019



1 Like

3 1

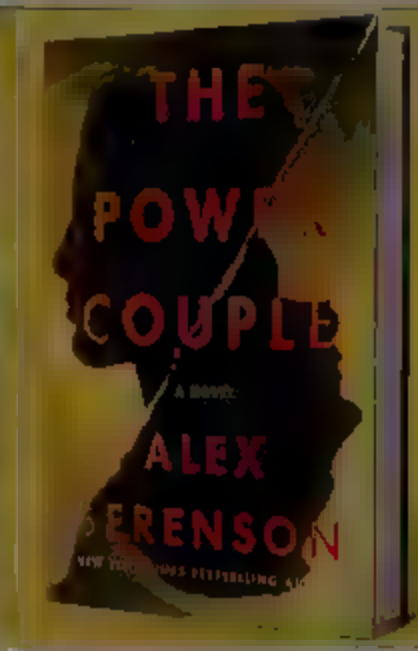


L.A Bowden @bowden2you · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others
Thank you, that was very kind of you. I am used to the ignorance and it is always by me orientated people who subscribe to weed daily instead of clinical research. Most deny the harm until they are faced with it.

1

Have an account? Log in

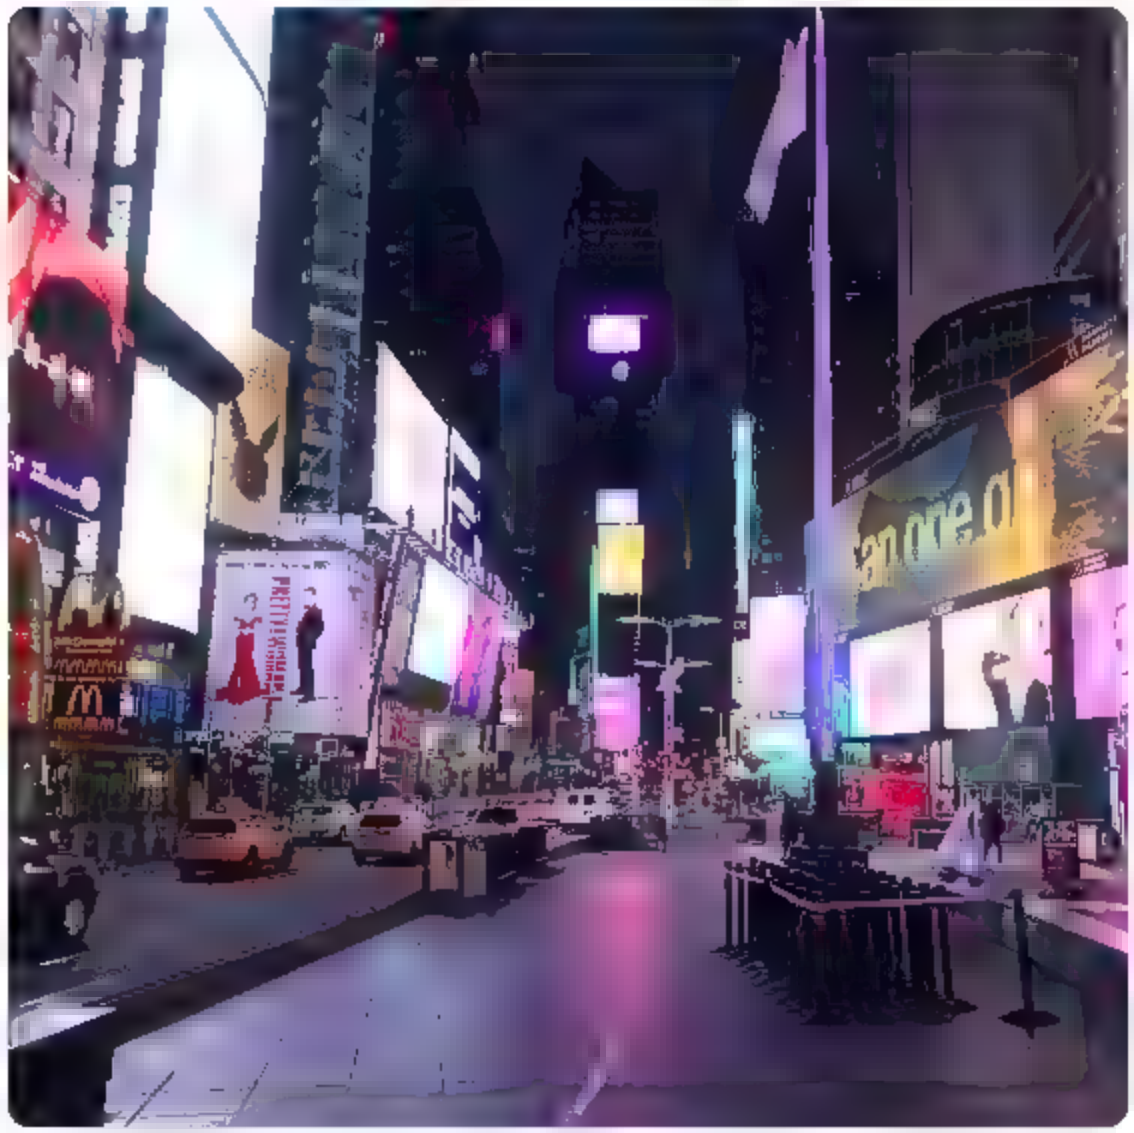
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York



Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Not often you get Times Square almost to yourself. 7 am, 20 degrees, and on my way to @foxandfriends..,

4:03 AM - 12 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 12 Likes

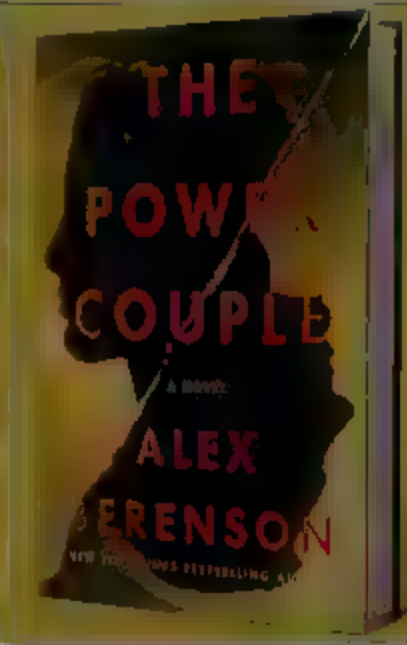
12 1 12



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 11 Jan 2019

1/ From an important book on the issue, in 2016: "Four states have replaced their prohibition policies with commercial legalization, giving us for the first time actual evidence about some of the early consequences of letting companies supply marijuana to any adult."

5 7 19

Rowan Athelas @Rowan_kitsune · 12 Jan 2019

What's the title of the book? I'd like to read it please

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

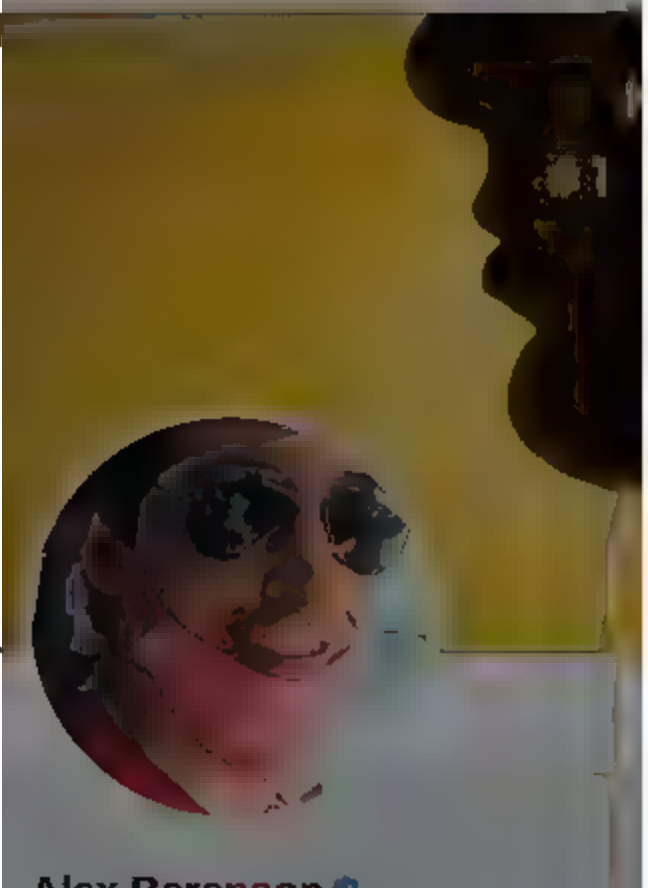
Replying to [redacted]

Tell Your Children

5:45 AM - 12 Jan 2019

2

Life Force Eternal @LifeForceMedia · 12 Jan 2019



Replying to [redacted]

[redacted] I see what you're are doing here. People are on to you buddy

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

their prohibition policies with commercial legalization, giving us for the first time actual evidence about some of the early consequences of letting companies supply marijuana to any adult."

2 3 7

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

3/ So @MarkARKleiman, help me out here. I'm just a journalist, no PhD. I get confused. Was retail recreational legalization a watershed, like you said in your book? Or not, like you said tonight?

9:47 PM - 11 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 8 Likes

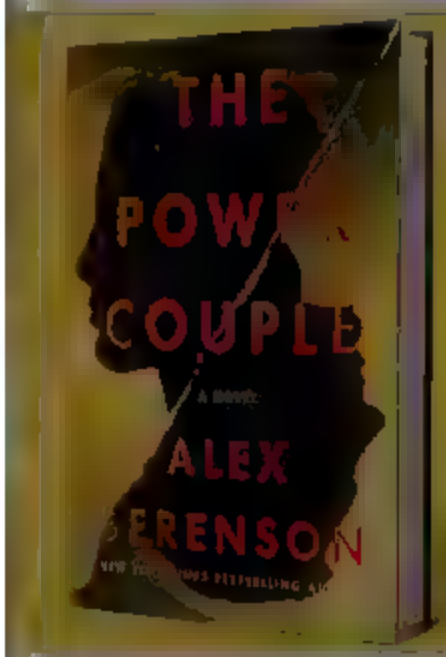
11 1 8

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to
"....help me out here. I'm just a journalist, no PhD. I get confused."

Loving this passive-aggressive bit you keep doing as some sort of pre-victory lap – it doesn't make you look like a child at all. Nope, not at all.

2 1 10



Darx2yl @c6a3t · 12 Jan 2019
Right? His self-aggrandizing positions are not self-serving at all either, Nope. Not at all.

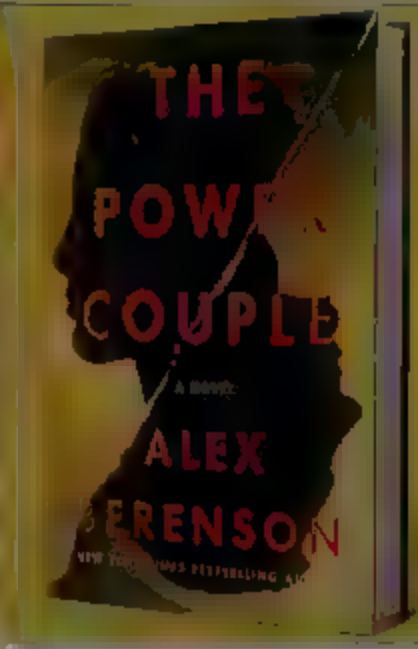
1

This Tweet is unavailable.

Life Force Eternal @LifeForceMedia · 12 Jan 2019
Can we control adults?

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

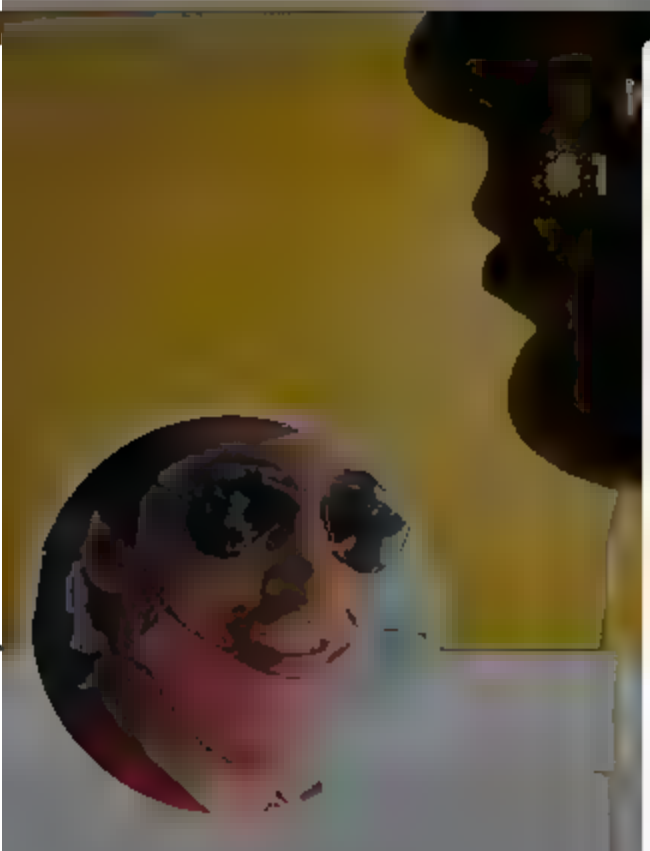
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I don't need to correct him. Just to quote him.

Matt Elrod @melrod42
Replying to @AlexBerenson

Attempt to correct @MarkARKleiman at your peril.



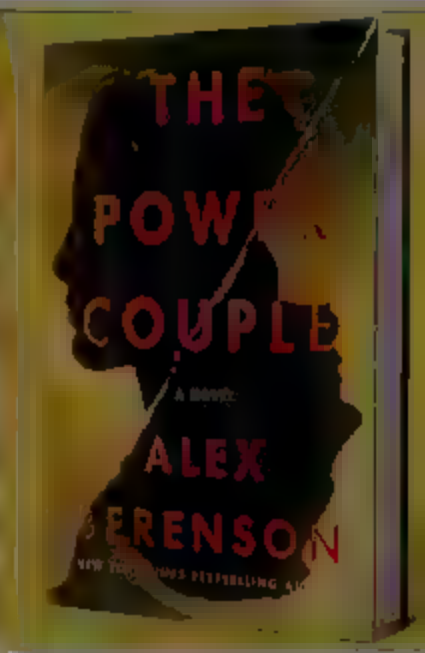
9:40 PM - 11 Jan 2019

5 Likes

1 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ Who wrote those thoughtful words, underscoring the importance of the opening of recreational retail dispensaries? Why, none other than @MarkARKleiman in "Marijuana Legalization: What Everyone Needs to Know."

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ From an important book on the issue, in 2016: "Four states have replaced their prohibition policies with commercial legalization, giving us for the first time actual evidence about some of the early consequences of letting companies supply marijuana to any adult."
>
> 9:37 PM - 11 Jan 2019
>
> 3 Retweets 7 Likes
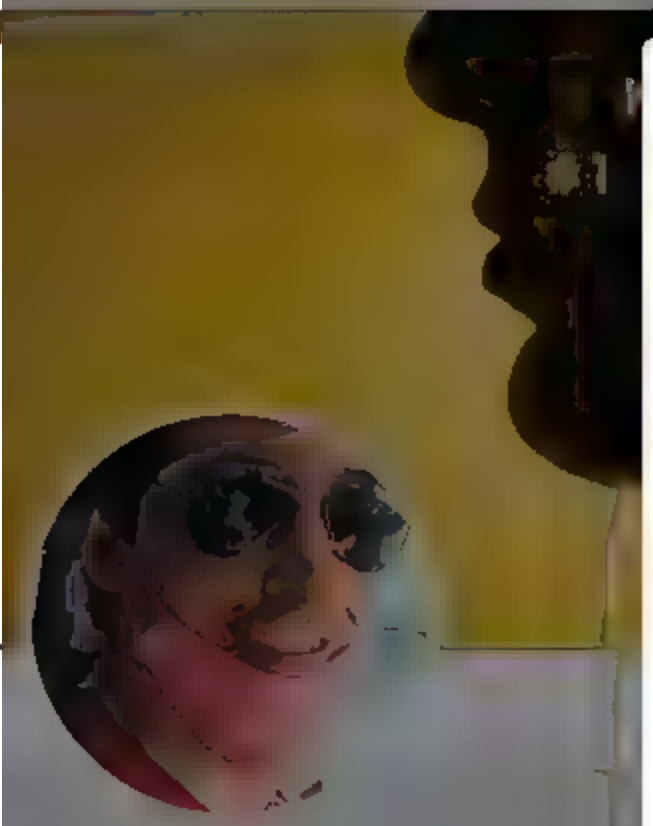
>
> 2 3 7



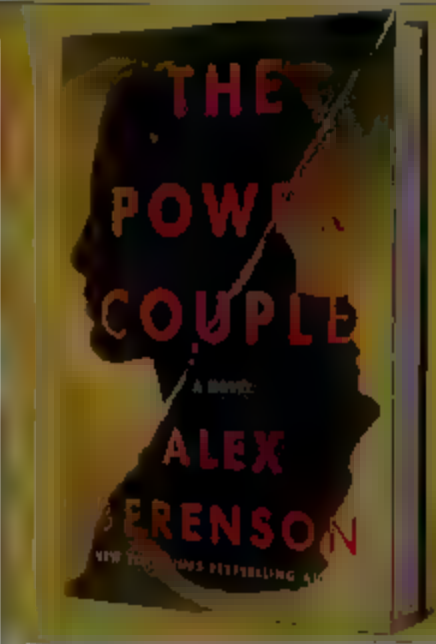
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 11 Jan 2019

3/ So @MarkARKleiman, help me out here. I'm just a journalist, no PhD. I get confused. Was retail recreational legalization a watershed, like you said in your book? Or not, like you said tonight?

11 1 8

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ From an important book on the issue, in 2016: "Four states have replaced their prohibition policies with commercial legalization, giving us for the first time actual evidence about some of the early consequences of letting companies supply marijuana to any adult."

9:34 PM - 11 Jan 2019

7 Retweets 19 Likes

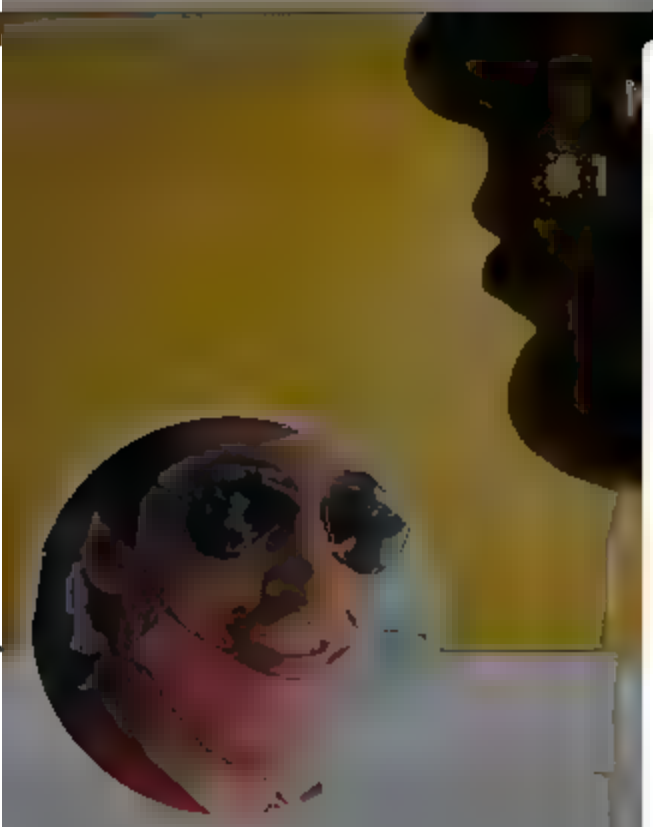
5 7 19

Occupy Reality @Synthdrum · 11 Jan 2019
Replying to

Interesting question.

How many adults who wouldn't be savvy enough to negotiate acquiring marijuana via illegal, Black-market avenues, are now able to enter any establishment and acquire marijuana with a simple ID?

Should we consider the same question for firearms?



1 1

Occupy Reality @Synthdrum · 11 Jan 2019
Furthermore, should we also consider the same question for people purchasing Alcohol?

1 1

Rowan Athelas @Rowan_kitsune · 12 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Allow me to correct Mark: Yes. Retail recreational dispensaries opened in Colorado and Washington for the first time in 2014, allowing residents (and non-residents) to buy marijuana without a medical authorization. This marked a major legal and societal change...

> Bruce Ross @530BruceRoss
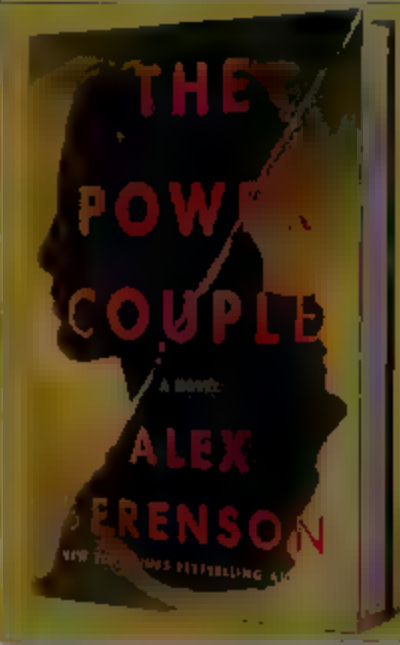
> Gotcha. Thanks.

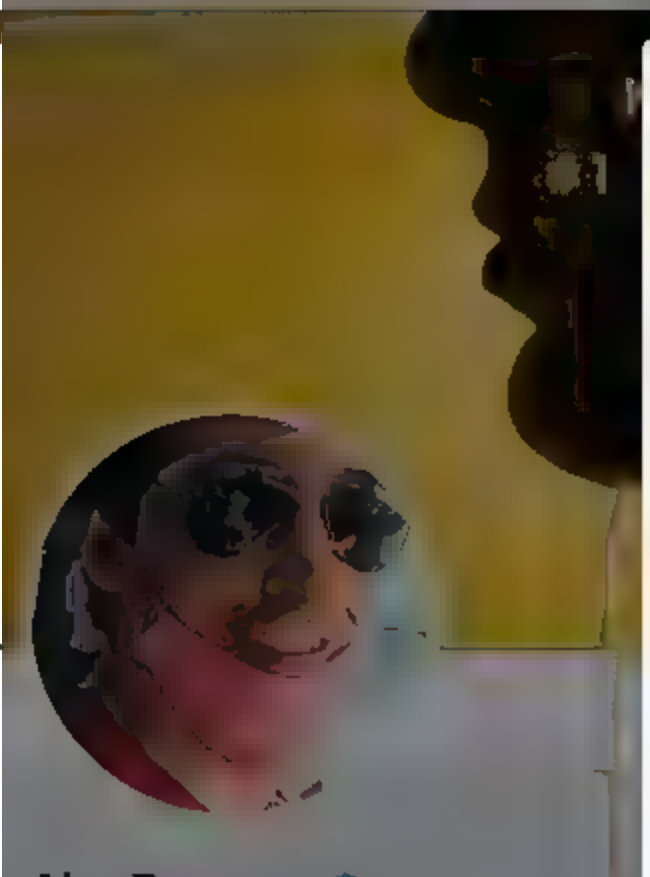
8:54 PM - 11 Jan 2019

3 Likes



2 3

This Tweet is unavailable.



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 11 Jan 2019
Maybe I can help. How do you define "abuse" and the "sides" of the issue.

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 11 Jan 2019
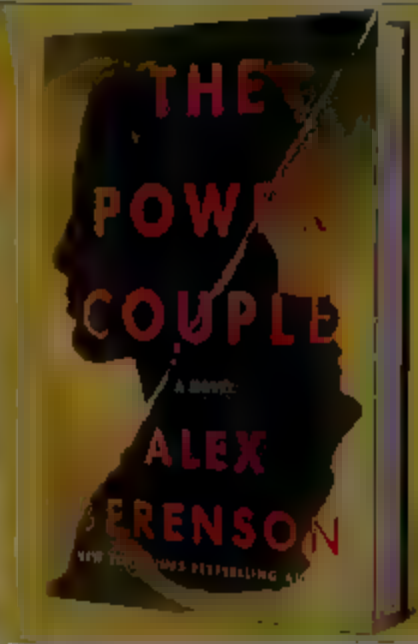
Replying to Attempt to correct @MarkARKleiman at your peril.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

And prices have fallen sharply and heavy use has risen notably since 2014.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Allow me to correct Mark: Yes. Retail recreational dispensaries opened in Colorado and Washington for the first time in 2014, allowing residents (and non-residents) to buy marijuana without a medical authorization. This marked a major legal and societal change... twitter.com/530BruceRoss/s...

8:56 PM - 11 Jan 2019

2 Likes

4 2

Frank Formisano @Po_Tito · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to

Marijuana causes people to think irrationally, turns them into "crazy people" unwilling to converse about all the bad things that are happening to them. I seen it with my own 2 eyes. I voted yes to medical use a few years ago, but now I see what it really does. I made a mistake.

Blah Blah @MernWallace · 13 Jan 2019
Replying to

You got schooled. You wrote this for money and to spread propaganda from 1937. Sickening your lack of empirical data. You are wrong and this other person is 100% spot on right. May God have mercy on your soul.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

paranoid so I stopped using it.

5 1 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 11 Jan 2019

Waseem - I'm sorry to hear that marijuana may have provoked your schizophrenia, but it sounds like you are taking good care of yourself and controlling the disorder instead of letting it control you - congrats!

1 6

Parzival @waseemali3964 · 11 Jan 2019

I forgot to mention that schizophrenia prevents me from finding a job even though I have a college degree. Luckily, I work for my dad and the medication has been working.

3 7

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

I don't mean to make it sound easy - but stay strong, take care of yourself, stick to the meds - and stay away from cannabis. Good luck!

5:50 PM - 11 Jan 2019

8 Likes

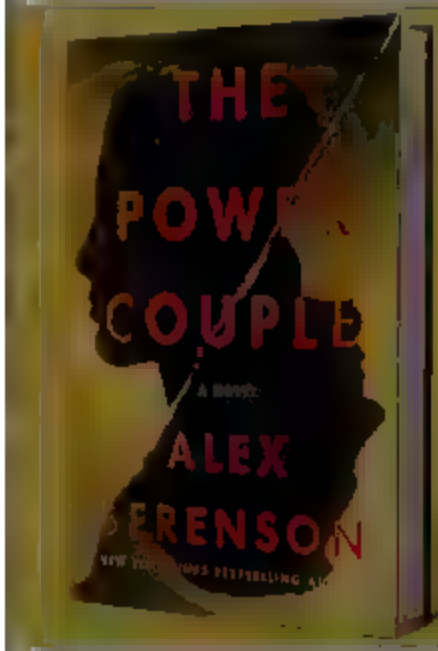
1 8

Parker Jacobs @PJ11986386 · 12 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

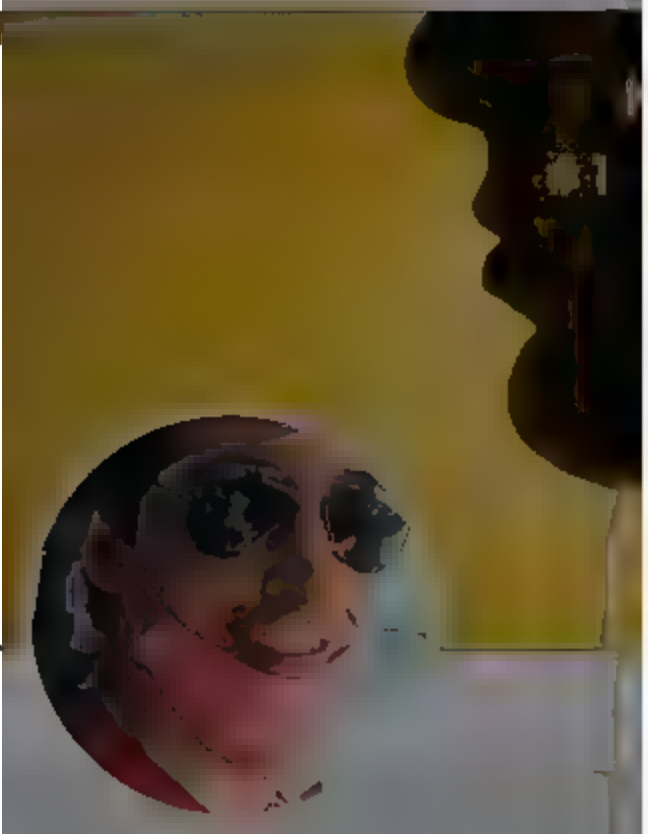
Or he could cut all the narcotics and look for new, SAFE forms of support.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

I have schizophrenia but I only smoked marijuana for 3.5 years in college. Haven't smoked since 2011. I believe marijuana caused my schizophrenia. I don't use marijuana to self medicate. In fact, it started making me a little paranoid so I stopped using it.

5 1 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Waseem - I'm sorry to hear that marijuana may have provoked your schizophrenia, but it sounds like you are taking good care of yourself and controlling the disorder instead of letting it control you - congrats!

5:36 PM - 11 Jan 2019

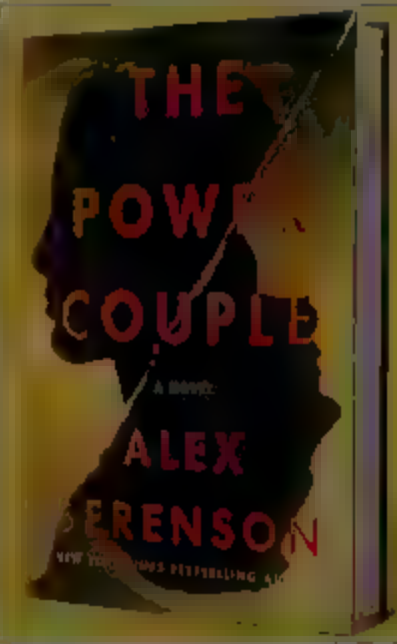
6 Likes

1 6

Parzival @waseemali3964 · 11 Jan 2019

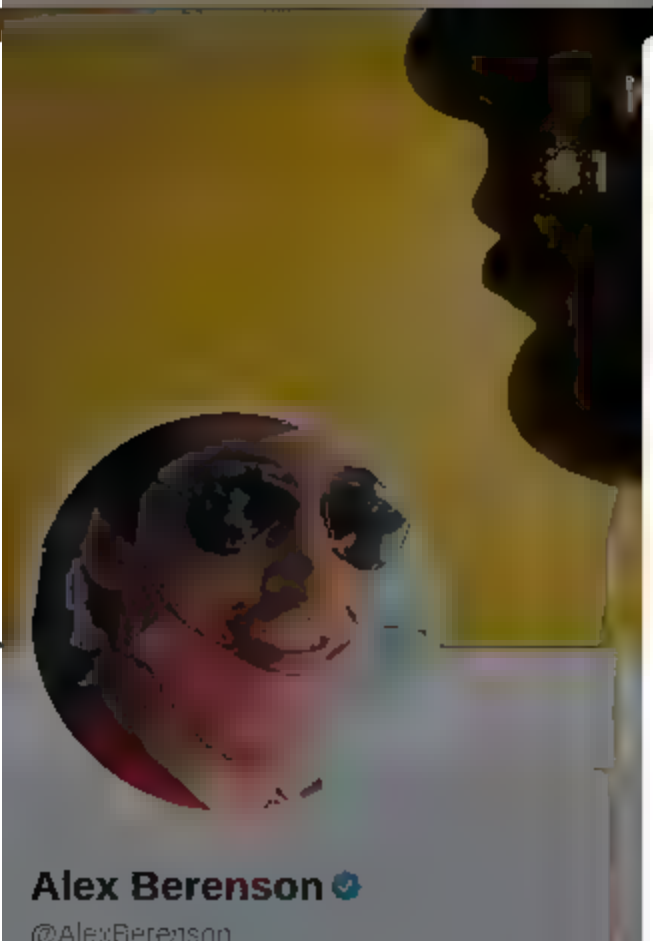
Replying to [redacted]

I forgot to mention that schizophrenia prevents me from finding a job even though I have a college degree. Luckily, I work for my dad and the medication has been working.



3 7

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 11 Jan 2019

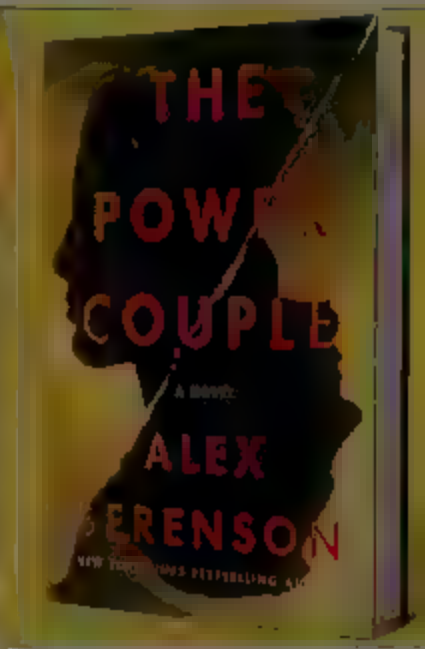


I don't mean to make it sound easy - but stay strong, take care of yourself, stick to the meds - and stay away from cannabis. Good luck!

1 8

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Very typical marijuana-psychosis-murder case here, including the jury's decision to reject the NGRI defense and send the killer to prison:

Posted at 1:39 PM
Updated at 1:42 PM

WORCESTER - A Spencer man convicted of murdering a fellow patient in 2013 in the psychiatric ward at UMass Memorial Medical Center is seeking a new trial.

Aldo W. Dunphe raised an insanity defense to murder and assault charges in the Nov. 7, 2013, death of 31-year-old Ratna Bhattarai, two days after the victim was beaten and choked by Mr. Dunphe in the eighth-floor psychiatric unit at UMass Memorial Medical Center - University Campus. Mr. Dunphe told authorities he attacked Mr. Bhattarai because he believed the victim

5:17 PM - 11 Jan 2019

32 Retweets 80 Likes

34 32 80

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 11 Jan 2019
"Mr. Dunphe was admitted to the psychiatric unit after complaining that he was hearing voices when he smoked marijuana, which he said he had been doing on a daily basis for an extended period of time."

9 2 6

wrong (and frequently am) @wrongfrequently · 11 Jan 2019
Replying to

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

beaten and choked by Mr. Dunphe in the eighth-floor psychiatric unit at UMass Memorial Medical Center - University Campus. Mr. Dunphe told authorities he attacked Mr. Bhattarai because he believed the victim

34 32 80

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

"Mr. Dunphe was admitted to the psychiatric unit after complaining that he was hearing voices when he smoked marijuana, which he said he had been doing on a daily basis for an extended period of time."

5:29 PM - 11 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 6 Likes

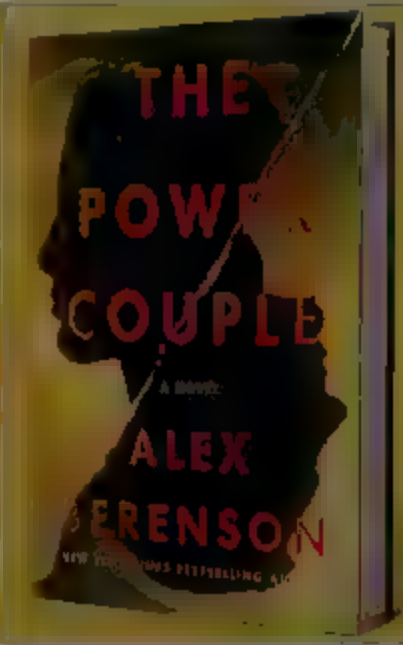
9 2 6

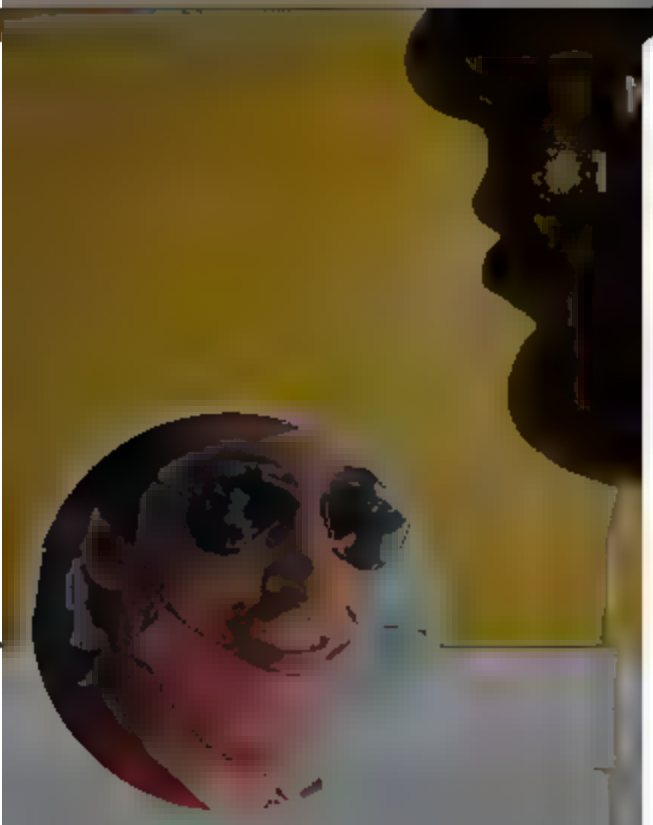
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 11 Jan 2019
Replying to

Cannabis high in THC and low in CBD is contraindicated for schizophrenics, but if murders committed by schizophrenics withdrawing from cannabis in psychiatric hospitals is "very typical" of what concerns you then it is vanishingly rare and not worth arresting millions to prevent.

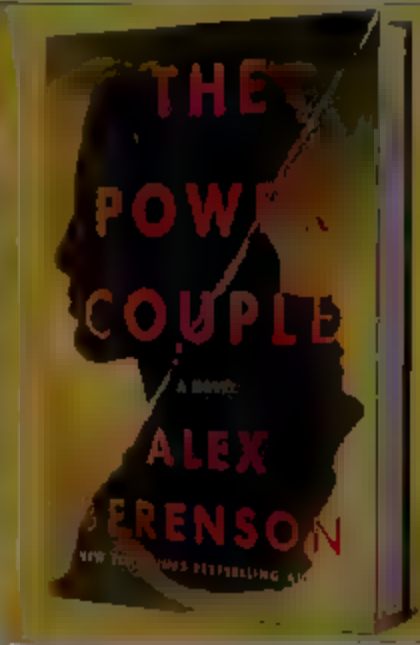


1 4

Will Jones III, MPA @WillVJones · 12 Jan 2019
Where on earth did Alex say arrest people for smoking weed!? He actually says "I am not a prohibitionist. I don't believe we should jail people for possessing marijuana." But your strongest argument is in portraying anyone who doesn't support commercialization as pro war on drugs



2



Scott "Damnatio Memoriae Democraticae" @ScottC20012 · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Krista Hill @dancelikecarmen · 11 Jan 2019

[redacted] I cried during your interview with [redacted]. I was violently assaulted recently by my teenage son, and have since been through a terrifying experience I cannot even begin to describe in a tweet. His change in behavior coincided with his use of the drug.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Following

Replying to [redacted]

I'm so very sorry to hear this. I hope he is getting the help he needs - and that you are safe.

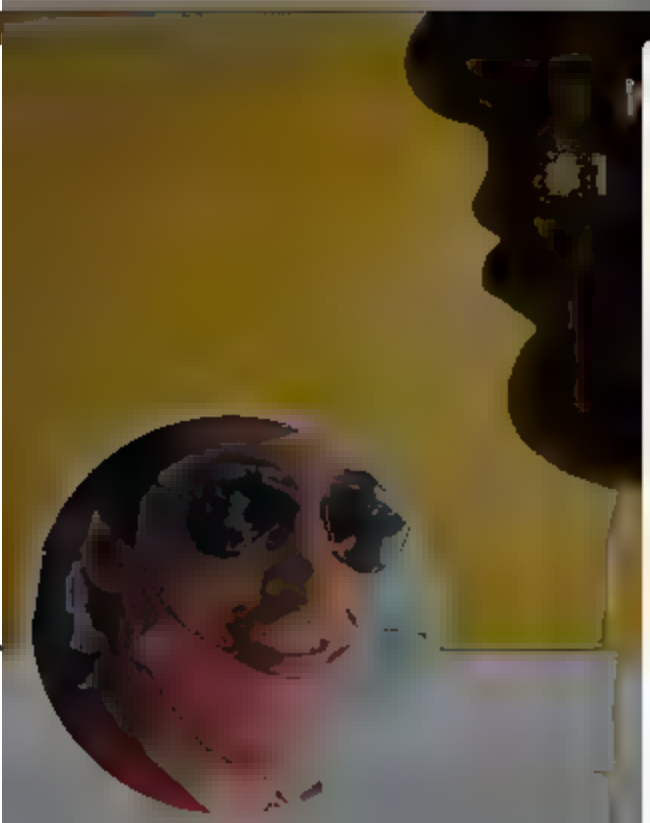
11:17 AM - 11 Jan 2019

1

Krista Hill @dancelikecarmen · 11 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

I am safe. Thank you. He is not getting help, sadly. He has embedded himself with his friends and their parents who think it's fine to smoke pot with their kids. Excuse the pun, but that's not how this mom rolls.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

But let's ignore the horrific statistics on child fatalities where the perpetrators used cannabis and tell parents that consuming a psychoactive intoxicant will make them better caregivers:

5:22 PM - 10 Jan 2019

5 Retweets 12 Likes

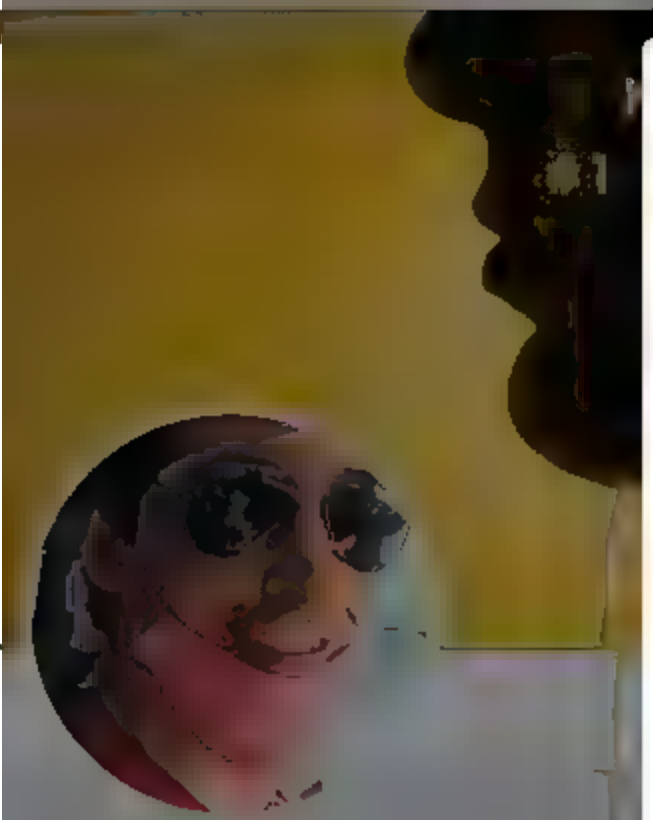
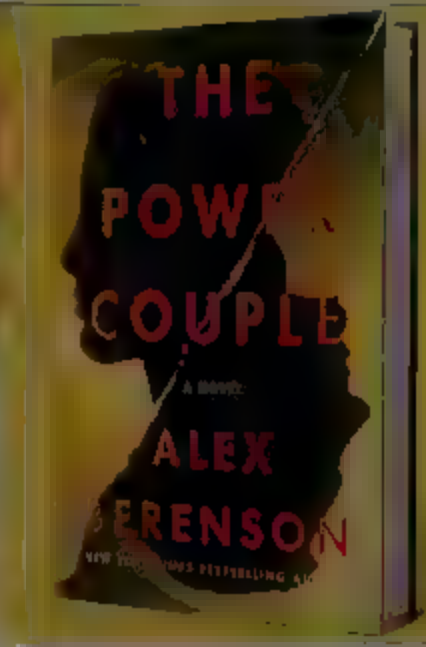
17 5 12



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 10 Jan 2019



Replying to

Better yet, let's find news clippings that support our narrative.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ [redacted]

all over his face.

Later on, the deputy was told by EMT services that the boy had a broken orbital bone, broken sinus cavity, was bleeding in the sinus cavity and had a subdural hematoma between his skull and brain. He also required stitches on his forehead and he had hypothermia.

Polk County had received a phone call from Beenken's cellphone a short time later. Officers found him north of Townhall Road about 30 yards from the road and he was taken into custody.

Officers found a marijuana pipe and 450 grams of marijuana inside the Trade Lake home.

boy was watching TV when she heard him screaming for help.

She went downstairs and saw Beenken allegedly pushing the boy's face into the concrete floor and kneeling over him.

The complaint goes on to explain there was a struggle between the woman and Beenken which led to his hands being around her neck. She also said that Beenken said multiple times that he was going to kill them.

Beenken was also charged with two counts of false imprisonment, a class H felony, physical abuse of a child, a class C felony, two counts of felony bail

5:16 PM - 10 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 4 Likes

2 2 4

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 10 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]

Yes there is violence in the world. Did you know, if we would remove all the cannabis in the world every last spec. we would have no more crime ever. Only because of Marijuana is there any bad actions, murders, robbery, slander, evil speech, evil manner, lack of decorum, jails.

[redacted]

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Thanks to everyone who has bought Tell Your Children so far! A quick update: Amazon is reporting a 1 to 4 week delay on new purchases because of demand. @simonschuster assures me that is not correct, they are printing more to keep up and will be shipping soon.

10:50 AM - 10 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 25 Likes

7 3 25

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 10 Jan 2019
Replying to
It is available right now on AUDIBLE

2 1

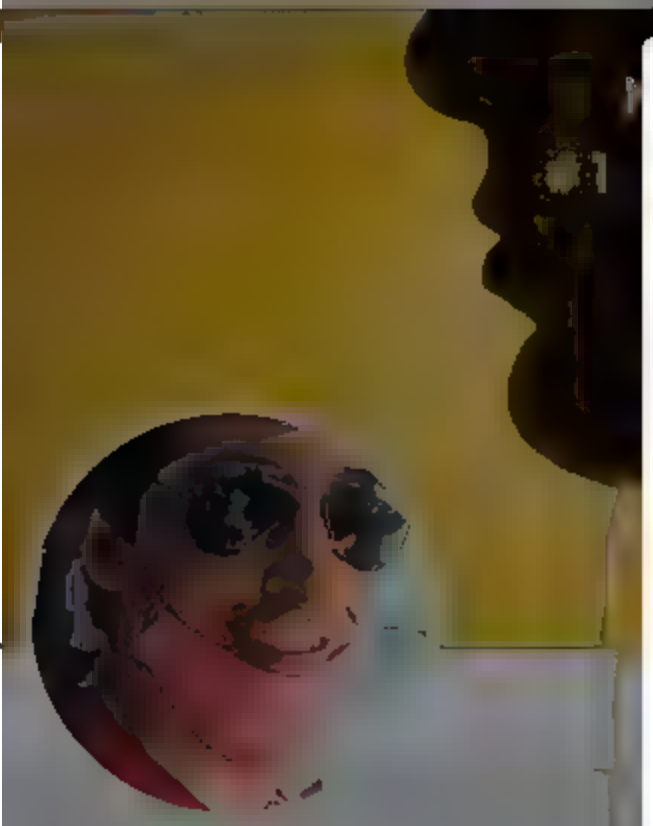
Bruce Conners @bconners · 11 Jan 2019
Why do you like looking at people's pee so much Russ? How much money will you lose when cannabis is legal and the govt contracts dry up?

1

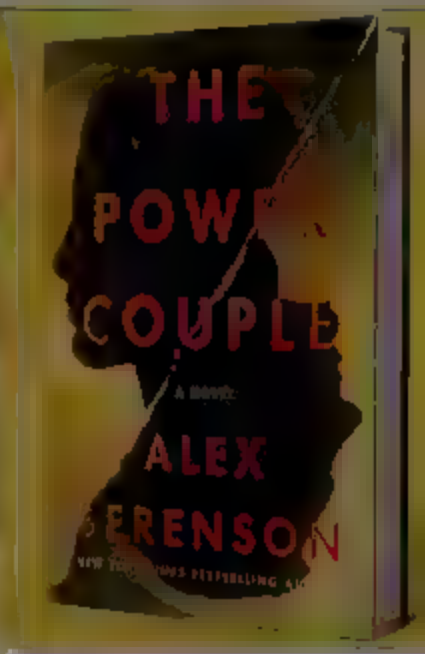
Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 10 Jan 2019
Replying to
Yes if marijuana did not exist there would be no crime no violent or otherwise crime would occur.

1

The Zodiac Thriller @jnaugy · 11 Jan 2019
But,but, making it illegal makes it not exist.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

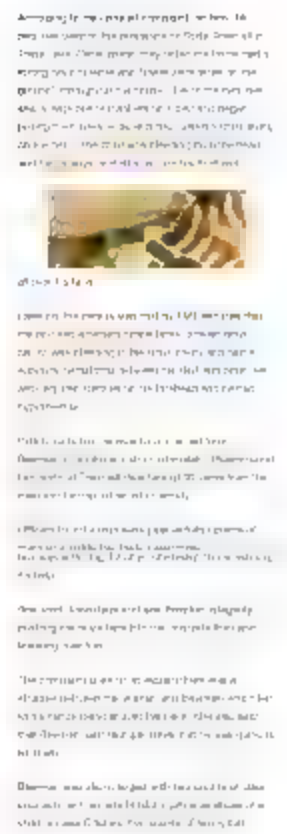


Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Just another nonviolent smoker (allegedly) nonviolently nearly killing his five-year-old son.

Man charged with two counts of attempted homicide

Jan 10, 2019 Updated 6 hrs ago

5:15 PM - 10 Jan 2019

6 Retweets 9 Likes

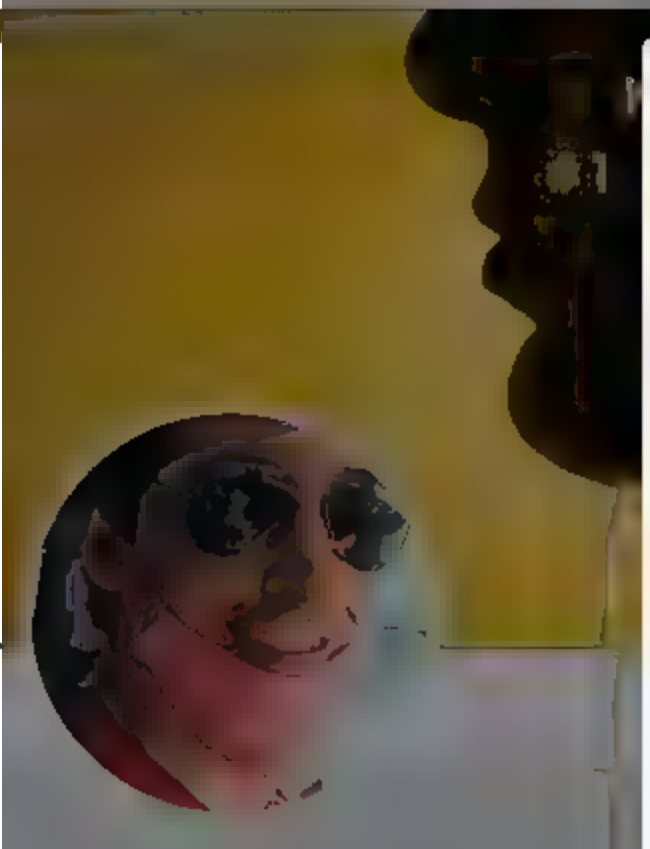
8 6 9

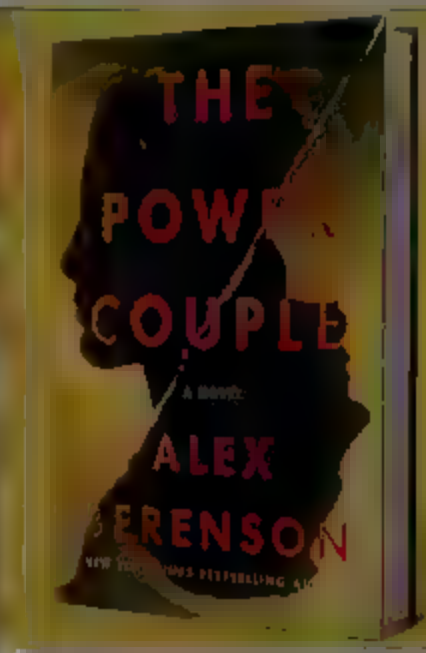
wrong (and frequently am) @wrongfrequently · 10 Jan 2019

Replying to

Lol if you think that marijuana caused that, or that you think it caused a 39 year old to look like he's 70 years old. Dude looks rough, no way pot did that to his face.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

2/ I don't know what states @benconomics chose as controls - and more importantly, his homicide data for CO and WA doesn't seem to match the FBI data. He may have a good reason for the gap. Hopefully, we can figure that out. Meantime, in the real world:
kdvr.com/2018/12/29/cri ..

> Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson
> 1/ I'm not a big fan of "who you gonna believe, your lying eyes or this-control-group-I've-created-that-doesn't-exist-in-reality" research. I've read a lot of terrible social science research around cannabis in the last year.

6:16 AM - 9 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

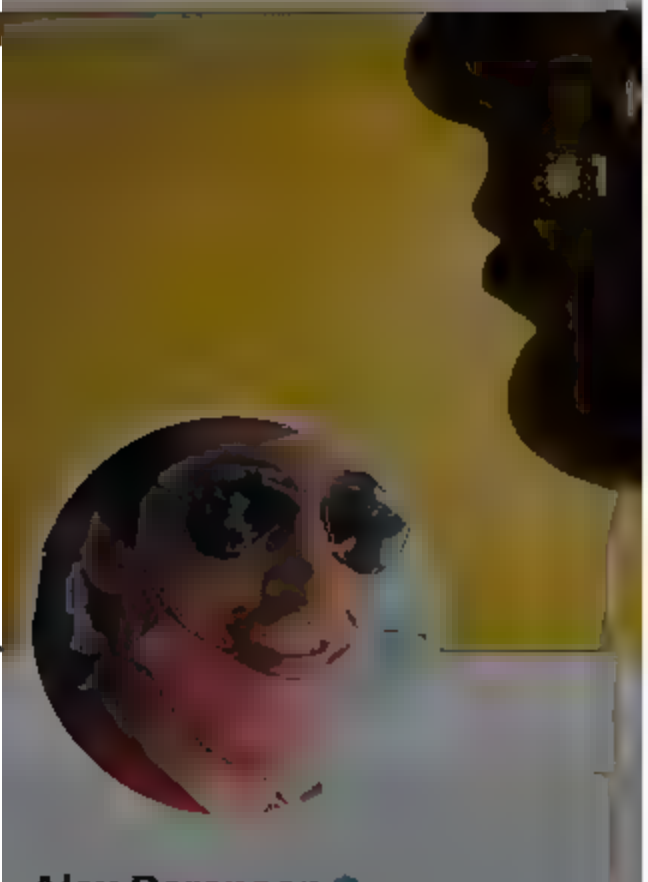
8 1 3



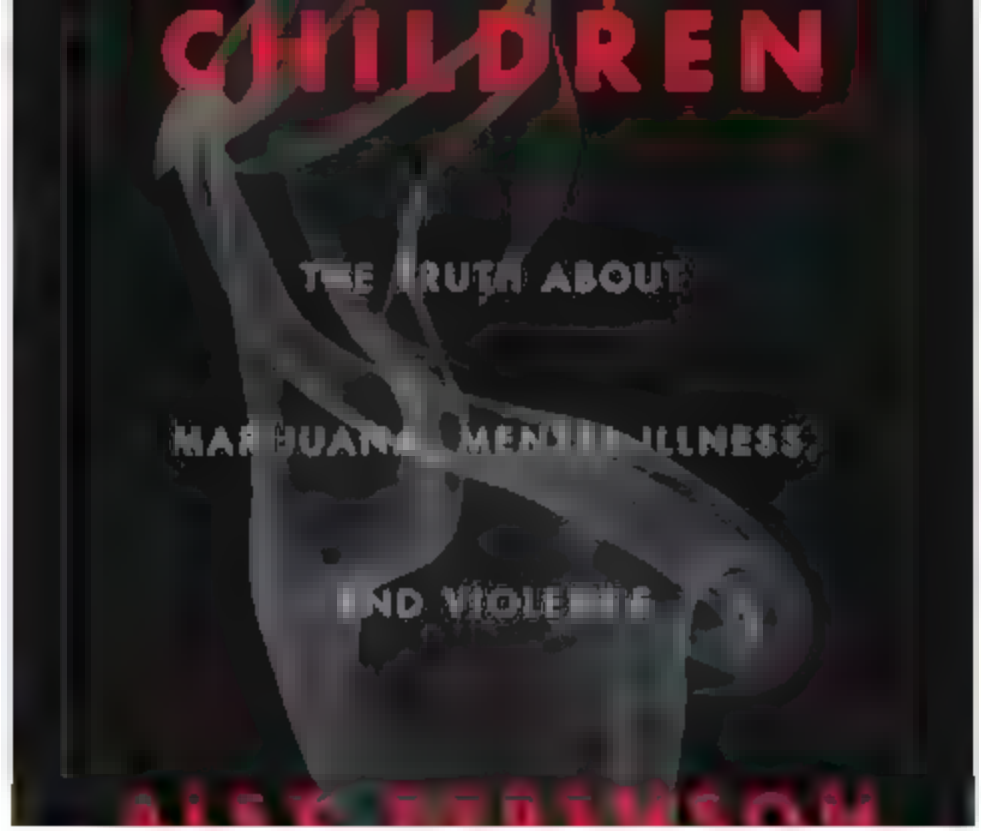
Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 9 Jan 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson
Sorry. Just waking up. Had someone ask to add more years of data last night. The data are from the supplemental homicide data. As such they should include all REPORTED homicides. Most agencies participate but a couple don't. Those with missing years are dropped (FL, AL, DC)

2 1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 9 Jan 2019
The weights are picked based on trends from earlier years. These maps illustrate the weights the synthetic control method pick. A little bit later this afternoon I'll share a public file with the data/code. Then you can play around with the data to your heart's content.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

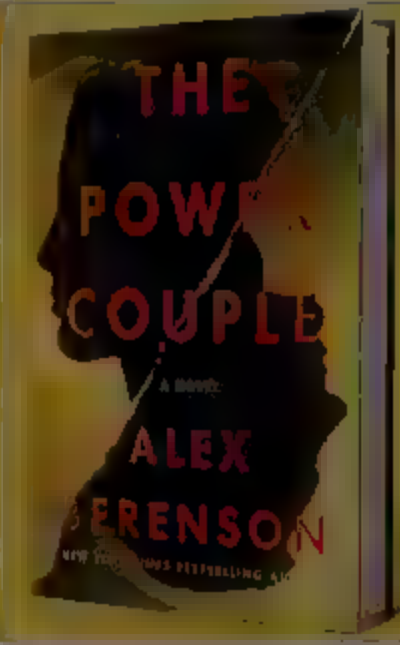
Joined November 2009

14 3 13

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

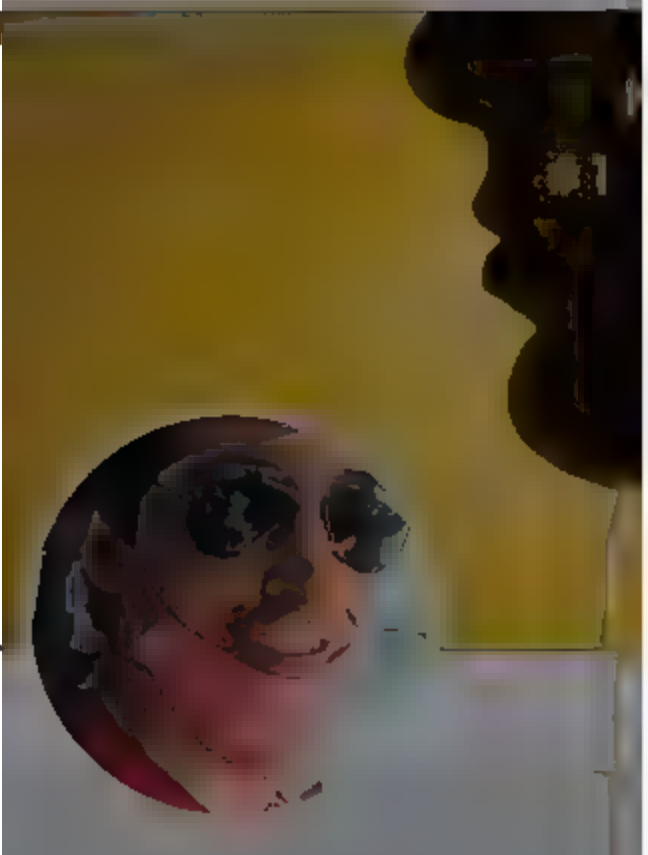
Replying to

Thanks for having me on!



8:32 AM - 10 Jan 2019

1 Like



1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 9 Jan 2019

I am also not entirely clear on where you're getting those "actual" rates, which differ a lot from the real actual rates per 100,000 in the UCRs. (Not saying you're manipulating them! I learned my lesson. Just that I don't get it and this is probably best hashed out off Twitter.)

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

For example, in WA, your chart seems to show a rate of about 3.9 homicides per 100000 in 2013 and 4.4 in 2017, a rise of 12 percent. The actual figures were 2.3 and 3.1 - a rise of 35 percent. So, pretty as the graph looks, I'm not quite sure what you did there.

1:07 AM - 9 Jan 2019

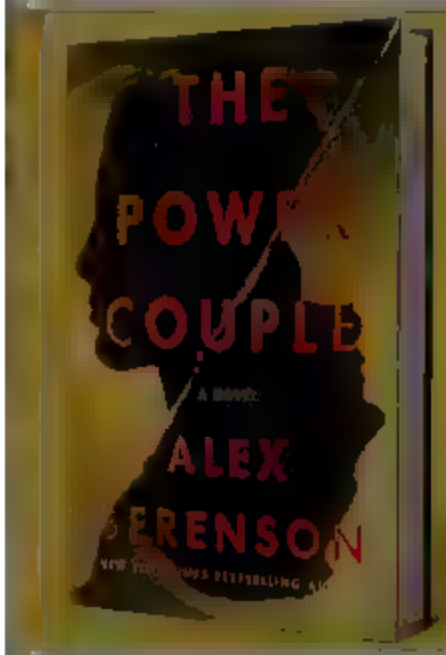
2

Matt Darling @besttrousers · 9 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

You just said there was a 15% increase.

1



David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 10 Jan 2019

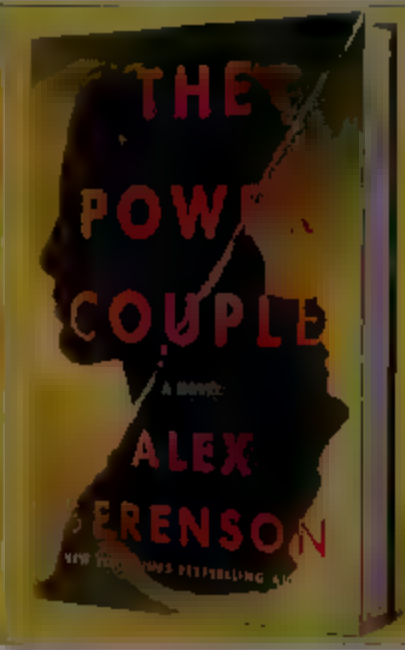
Did we ever get to the bottom of this? Would love to know. Thx!

1

[redacted]

2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

1/ I'm not a big fan of "who you gonna believe, your lying eyes or this-control-group-I've-created-that-doesn't-exist-in-reality" research. I've read a lot of terrible social science research around cannabis in the last year.

6:07 AM - 9 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 4 Likes

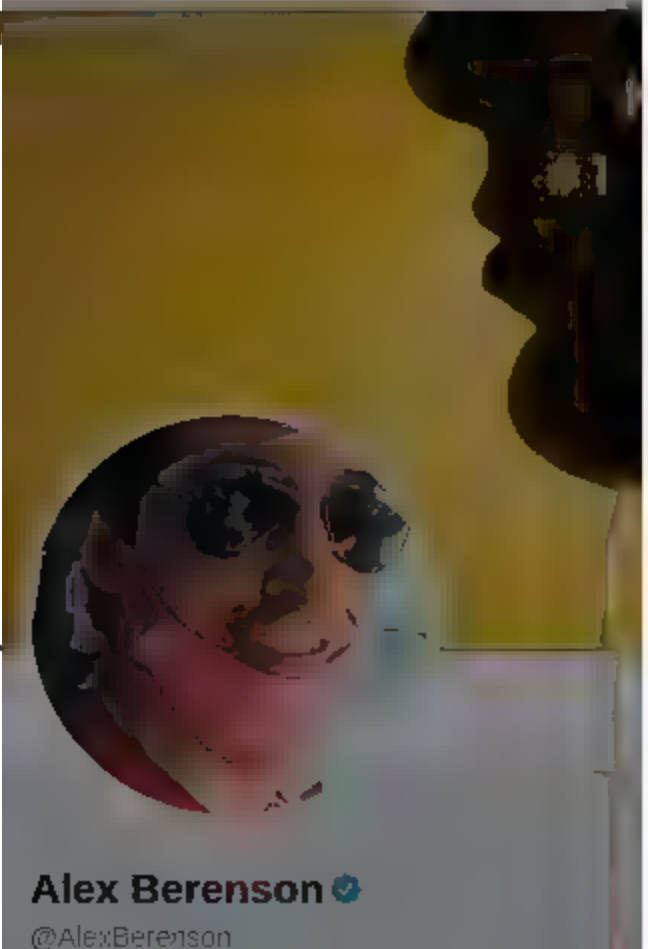
7 2 4

Dan Herman @danbherman · 9 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Who sounds like a climate change denier now?

3

Matt Darling @besttrousers · 9 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
"I don't believe in synthetic controls when they refute me" is a bad look. Synthetic controls are a standard research design.



5

Environmental Coffeehouse @Blueoceanarctic · 12 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
So, Alex, chronic pain patients can't get their medicine because of hysteria, and you are trying to create more on one of the things we can have now? Go Away! You have no idea what harm you are doing. Like other doctors said, people that may have a leaning toward psychosis

1 1

Environmental Coffeehouse @Blueoceanarctic · 12 Jan 2019

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

If there's one thing I've learned in the last 48 hours, it's that denial is the most powerful drug of all.

5 2 11

2 2 44

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Ben - we should talk offline but that cannot be right - there were 195 murders in WA in 2016 and 230 in 2017 - even after adjusting for population growth, that's a 15%+ increase. Your graph reflects no increase.

12:46 AM - 9 Jan 2019

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 9 Jan 2019

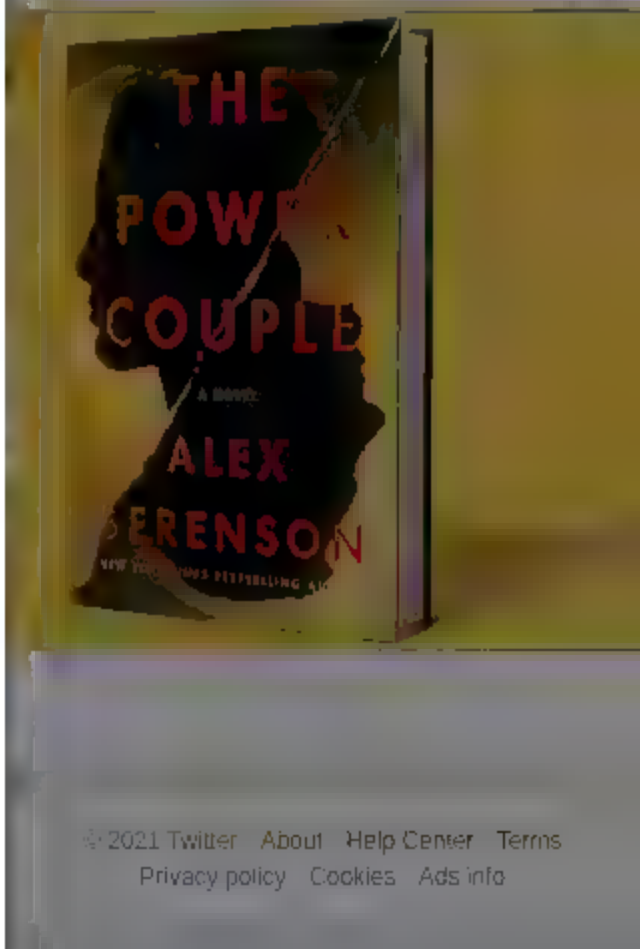
Replying to

I am also not entirely clear on where you're getting those "actual" rates, which differ a lot from the real actual rates per 100,000 in the UCRs. (Not saying you're manipulating them! I learned my lesson. Just that I don't get it and this is probably best hashed out off Twitter.)

1

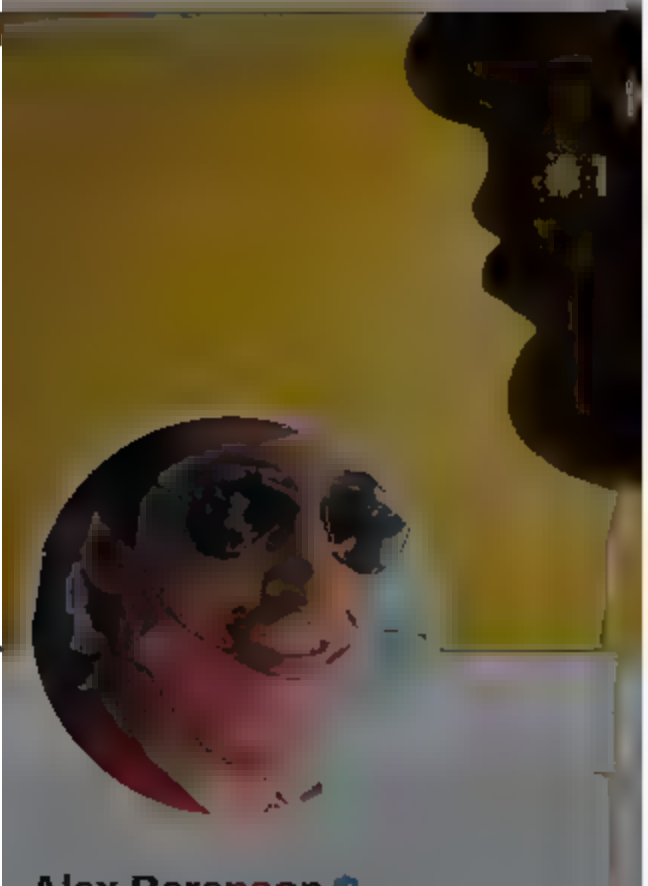
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 9 Jan 2019

For example, in WA, your chart seems to show a rate of about 3.9 homicides per 100000 in 2013 and 4.4 in 2017, a rise of 12 percent. The actual figures were 2.3 and 3.1 - a rise of 35 percent. So, pretty as the graph looks, I'm not quite sure what you did there.



2

David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 9 Jan 2019



Replying to

I would appreciate if we could keep this discussion online, given wide interest. Thanks!

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 9 Jan 2019

Ben - we should talk offline but that cannot be right - there were 195 murders in WA in 2016 and 230 in 2017 - even after adjusting for population growth, that's a 15%+ increase. Your graph reflects no increase.

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

I am also not entirely clear on where you're getting those "actual" rates, which differ a lot from the real actual rates per 100,000 in the UCRs. (Not saying you're manipulating them! I learned my lesson. Just that I don't get it and this is probably best hashed out off Twitter.)

12:55 AM - 9 Jan 2019

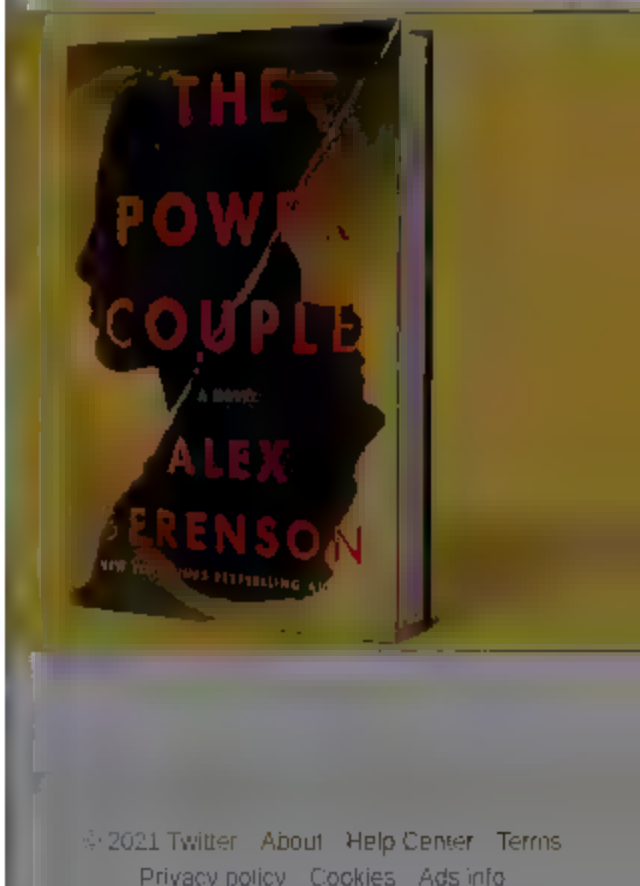
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 9 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

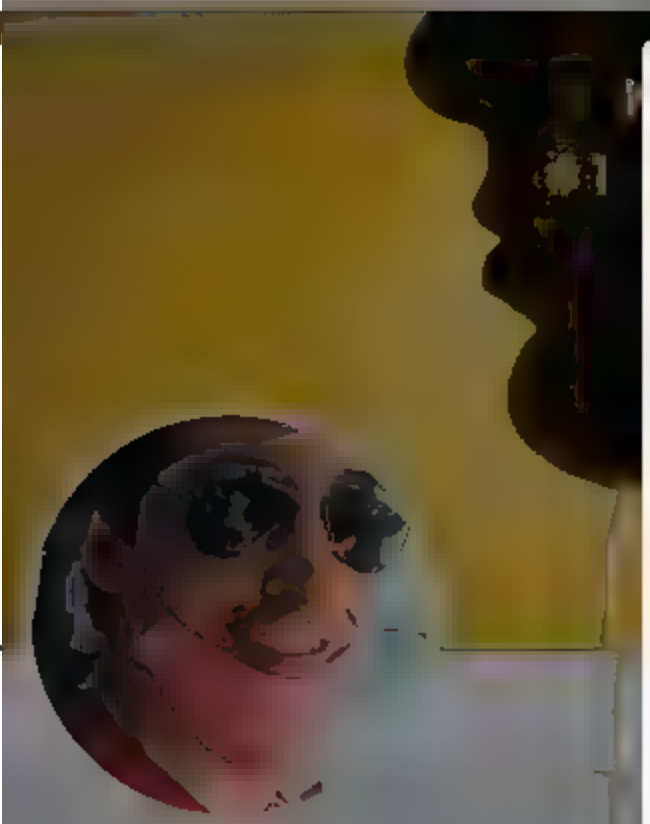
For example, in WA, your chart seems to show a rate of about 3.9 homicides per 100000 in 2013 and 4.4 in 2017, a rise of 12 percent. The actual figures were 2.3 and 3.1 - a rise of 35 percent. So, pretty as the graph looks, I'm not quite sure what you did there.

2

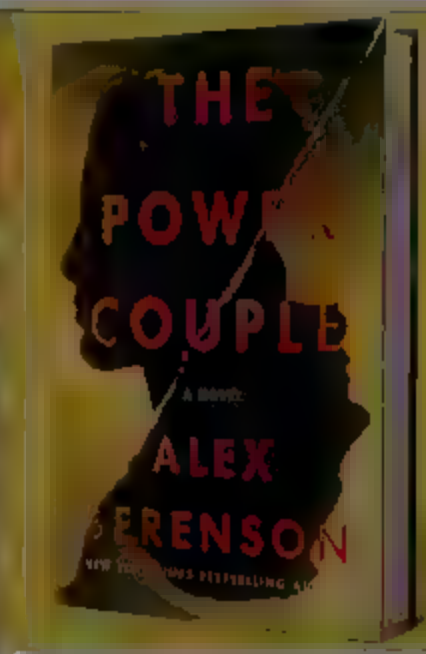


Matt Darling @besttrousers · 9 Jan 2019

You just said there was a 15% increase.



1



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

A dignified silence from @aaronecarroll and @benconomics. I guess we don't get to see charts that aren't cherry-picked after all. Oh well. Those 451 murder victims in 2017 must not have really died.

8:12 PM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

5 1 5

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
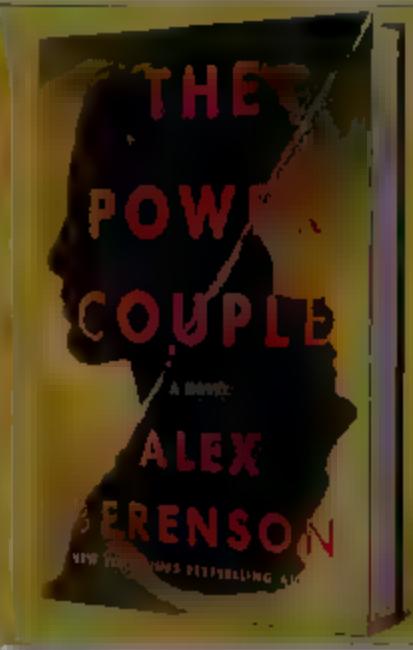
No silence, at least not in my house as I am trying to pick my kids to bed. I'll update the SHR data through 2017 tomorrow and update the figure. No cherry picking here. The weights are what the data from 2000-2012 picked.

2

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
You ignore that violence has its ups and downs. Cities invest in mental health services and other programs where they see good results. There are some programs which take homeless people or people on the margins and stabilize them to housing and jobs outpat therapy. The others

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
don't have this program so have less success the same people there murder. THis is actually the real world because those are the people we need to serve to save their potential victims rather than arresting us and not allowing law abiding people to enjoy themselves. We don't ban

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Meanwhile, back in the real world, Seattle and Denver had roughly 60% more murders and aggravated assaults (okay, agg assaults only went up 45% in Denver) in 2018 than 2013. But I'm sure some there's Sim Denver where violent crime tripled, right?

8:00 PM - 8 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 10 Likes

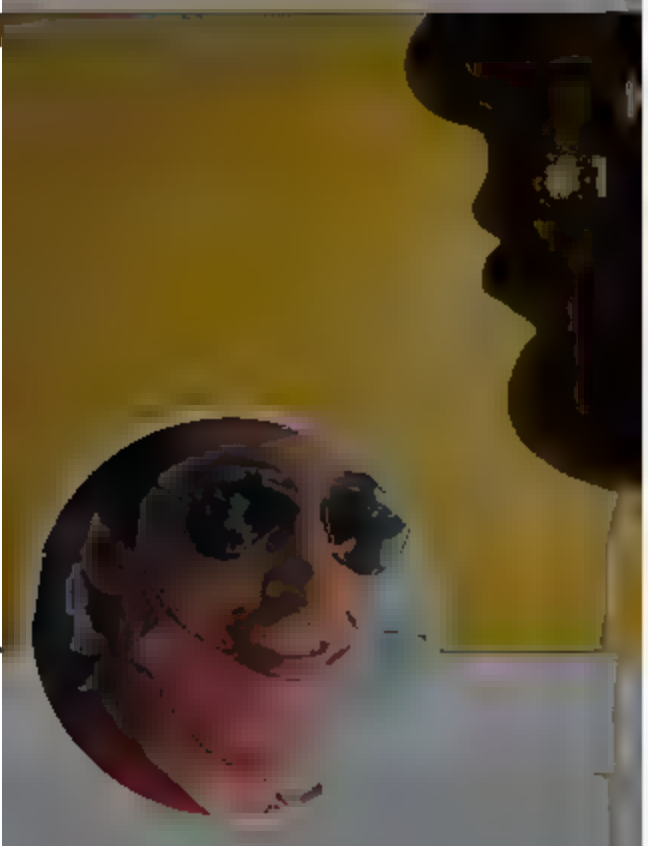
8 4 10

Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Perhaps murders and aggravated assaults went up in Colorado and Seattle because the black market was losing cannabis revenue. The friction from transitioning from a black market to a legal market would likely cause more violence initially.



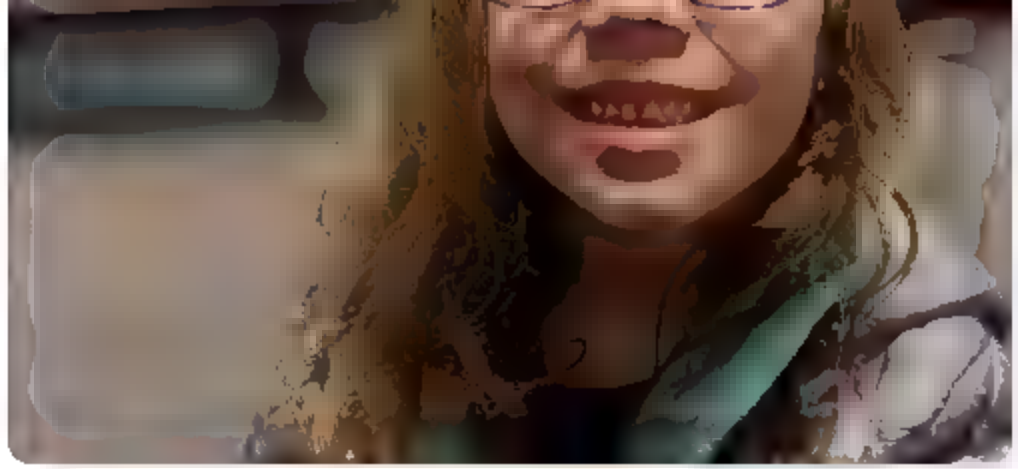
3

David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 8 Jan 2019
Agreed. For example, Netflix's Murder Mountain portrays this transitory effect in real life. Plus, I would imagine the cash sloshing around the system (since they can't bank) is also attracting criminals and violence. Alex, does your data account for these transitory factors?

This Tweet is unavailable.

HM_Denver @NastyWoman303 · 10 Jan 2019
Do you have any data on law enforcement budgets in these states during this time period?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 5

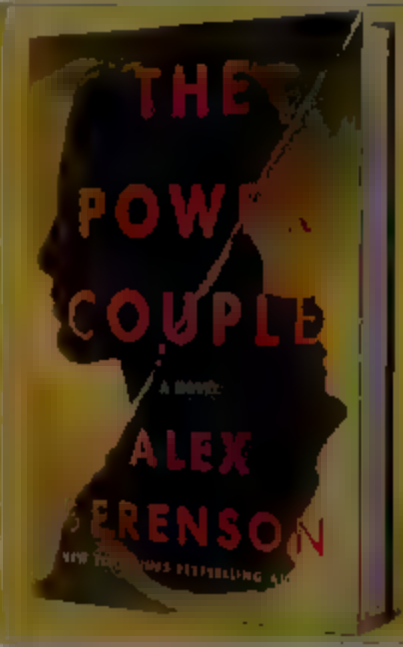
Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Cute kid! Sorry to impugn your motives. You should have waited for 2017, though - it's going to look different.

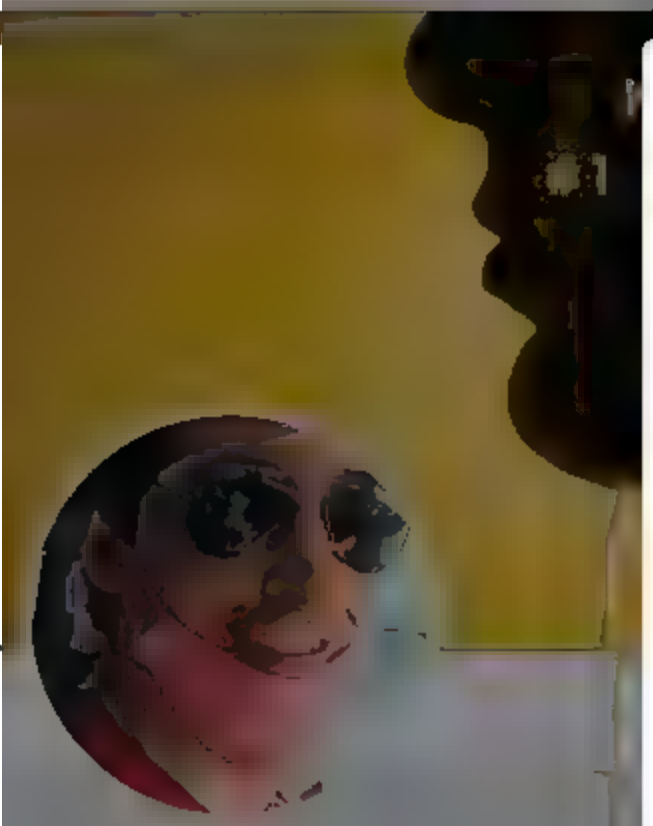
8:38 PM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Like

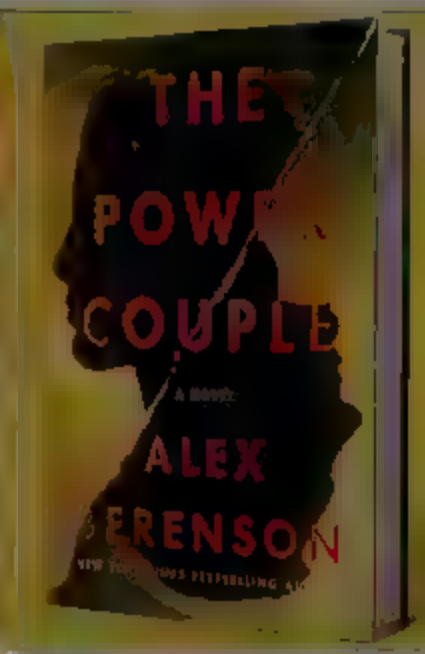


1 1

Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]



It might. But that's what is great about this method. The data picked counterfactuals based on earlier data, and then we can update keep the synthetic group (weights based on other states fixed). If need it now, I'll tell you the weights, and you can calculate them tonight :-)



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hey, @benconomics, did you think I wouldn't notice your graph was missing the most recent and crucial year if you just skipped it and then elided the question of what years you'd studied? It was a nice try, though.

7:49 PM - 8 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 4 Likes

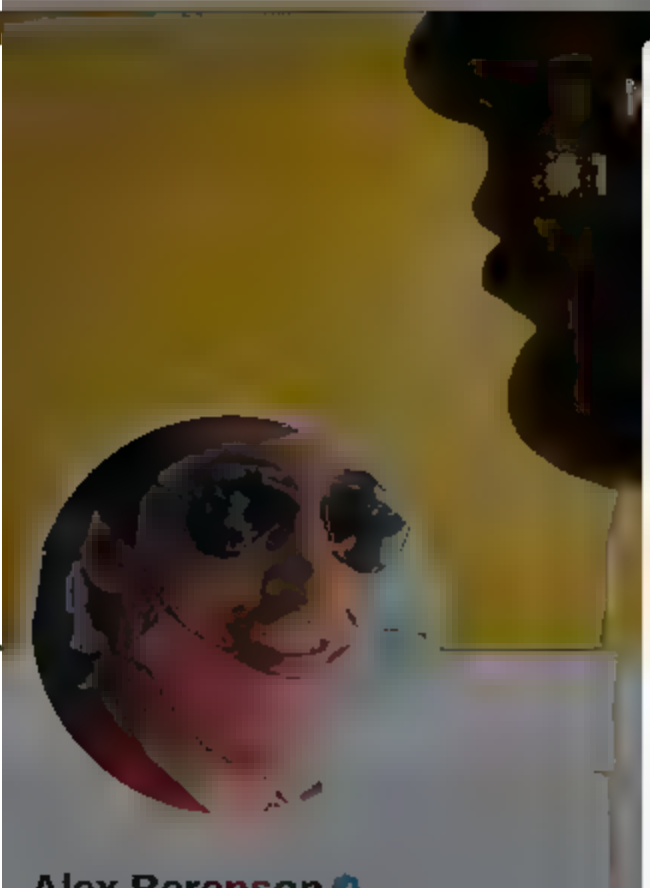
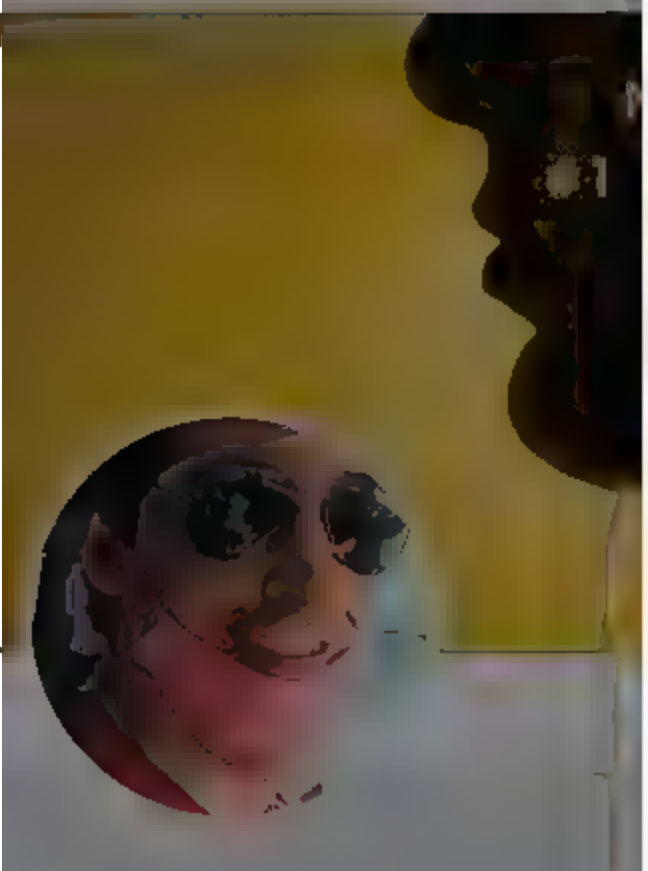
2 2 4



Benjamin Hansen @benconomics · 8 Jan 2019



Replying to

No, actually I took my 6 year old ice skating and just got back. The SHR data I downloaded a couple of months ago went through 2016. I'll add 2017 in tomorrow. The great thing about the synthetic control is the weights are already picked and fixed.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

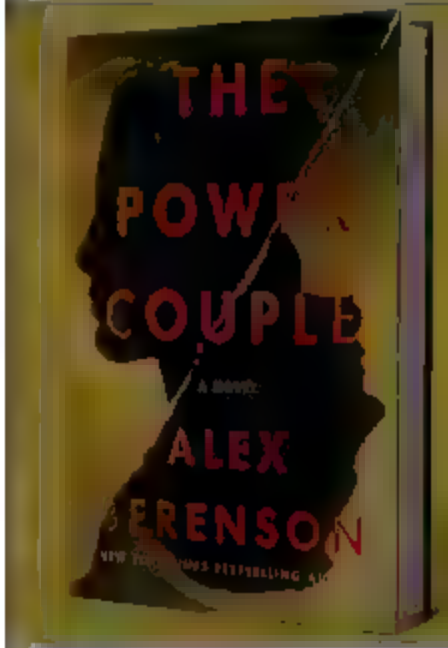
Joined November 2009

My oped in today's USAToday urges states that are legalizing marijuana to require strong concrete warning labels rather than repeat tobacco fiasco where risk was known & hidden leading to death.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



Absolutely. If we are going to legalize we need strong labels - and whether or not we do, we need well-funded ad campaigns ala the anti-tobacco "Truth" campaigns to warn of the risks.

6:45 PM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 3 Likes

1 3

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thrilled to report that TELL YOUR CHILDREN is already headed for a second printing! Thanks to Caitlyn Reuss, Jon Karp and everyone at @simonschuster for all their hard work.

2:40 PM - 8 Jan 2019

4 Retweets 42 Likes

4 4 42

no place for hatred or violence @FabioDL · 8 Jan 2019

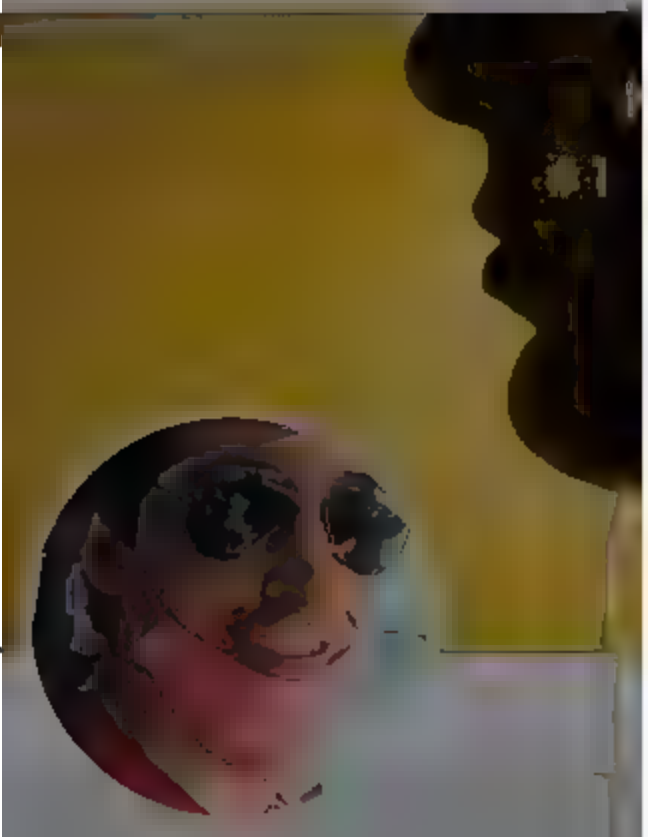
Replying to

Congratulations, Alex!
Your book will be an important tool in this fight to show that marijuana has more cons than pros. Thank you!

Neil schoolnik @Neilschoolnik · 8 Jan 2019

Replying to

Got it today. It is very interesting. Thank you



¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 9 Jan 2019

Replying to

"I called my book about how I think weed makes people into violent crazies "Tell Your Children" but don't you dare tell me I'm peddling..."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4 15 34

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Hey, @beneconomics, I have no idea what states you included. But no matter. Do me a favor, since you've gone to so much trouble. Include 2017 in your synthetic analysis and see how the graphs look...

7:29 PM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Like

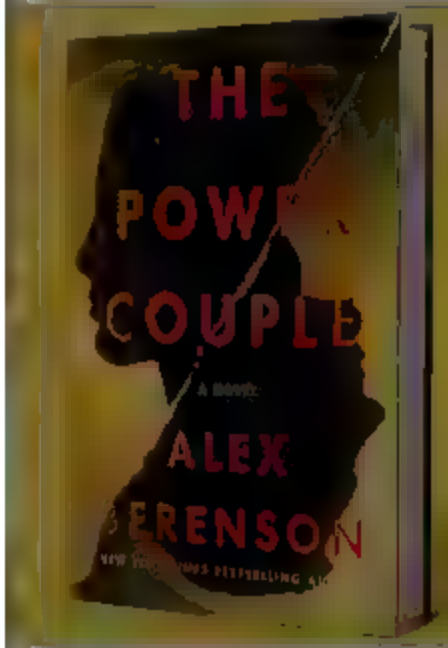
1 1

laurence @the__laurence · 8 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

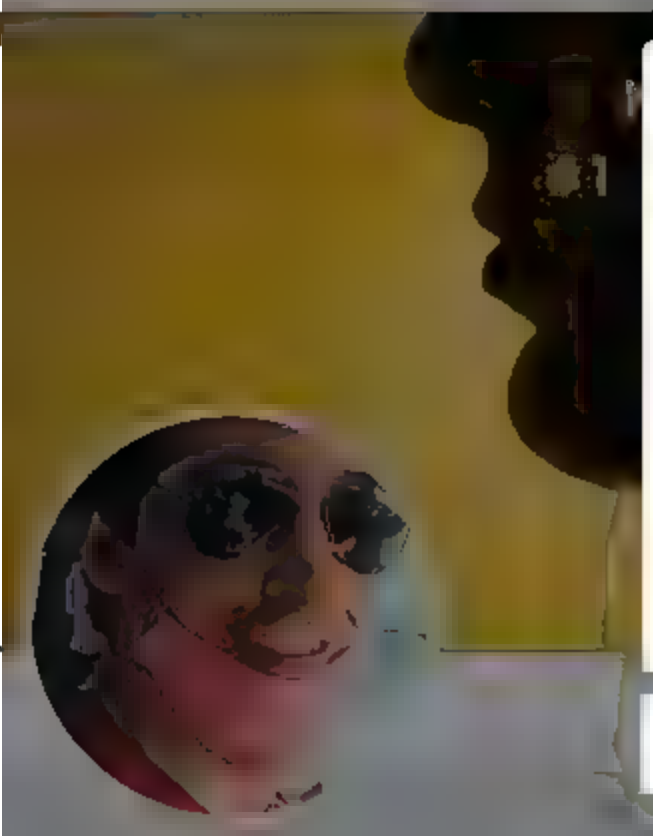
I think [redacted] probably picked 2012 as the end of the trend graphs because it likely was the last year for which data from all the states is available.

1

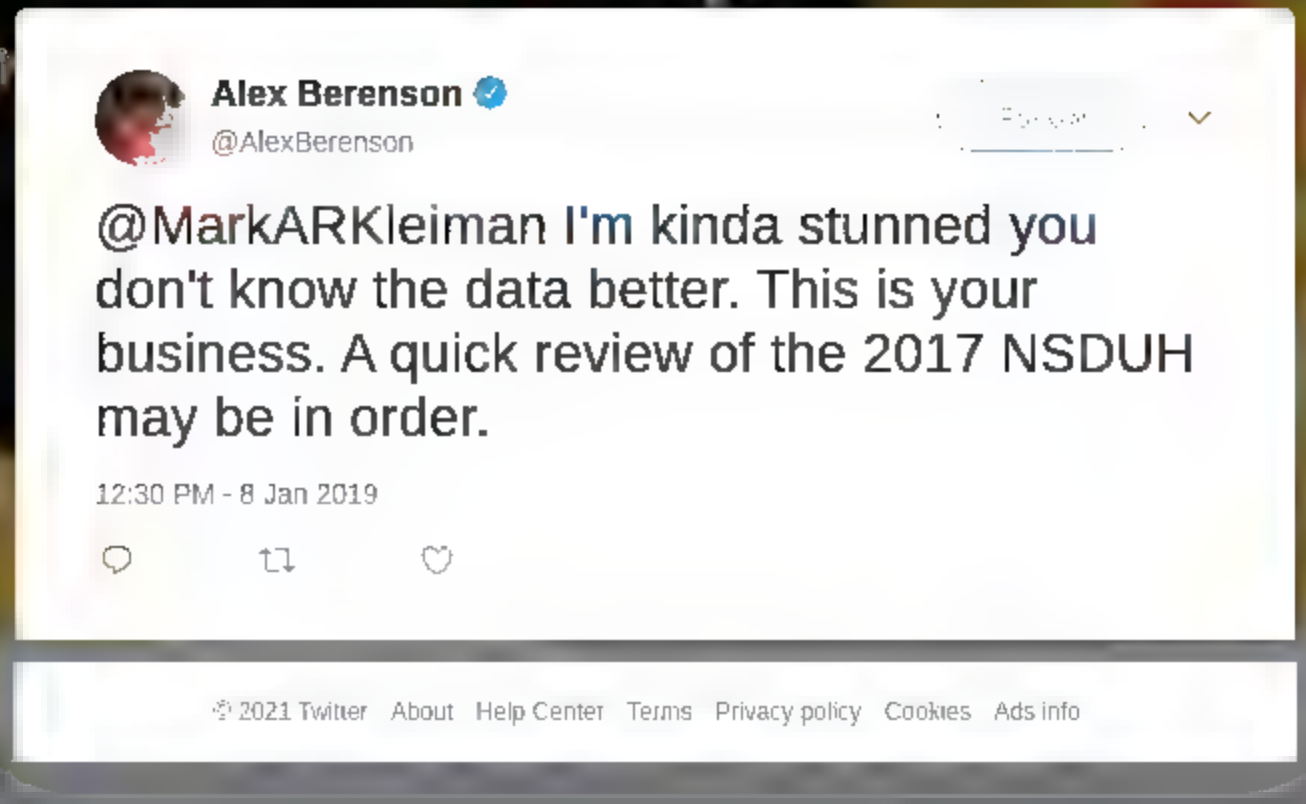


Benjamin Hansen @beneconomics · 8 Jan 2019

I included 2017 in a reply to [redacted]. It doesn't change my original conclusions.



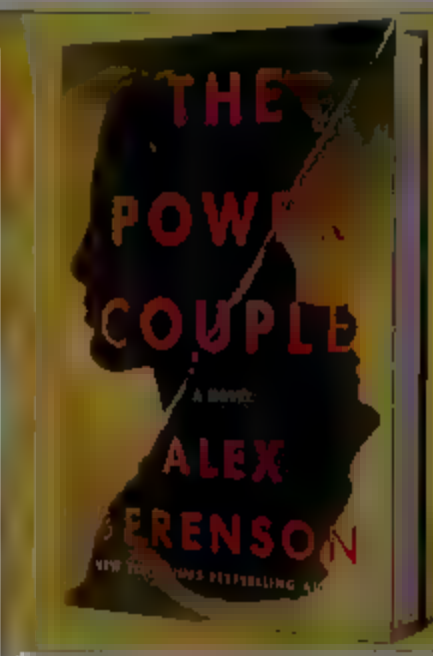
1 1



[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

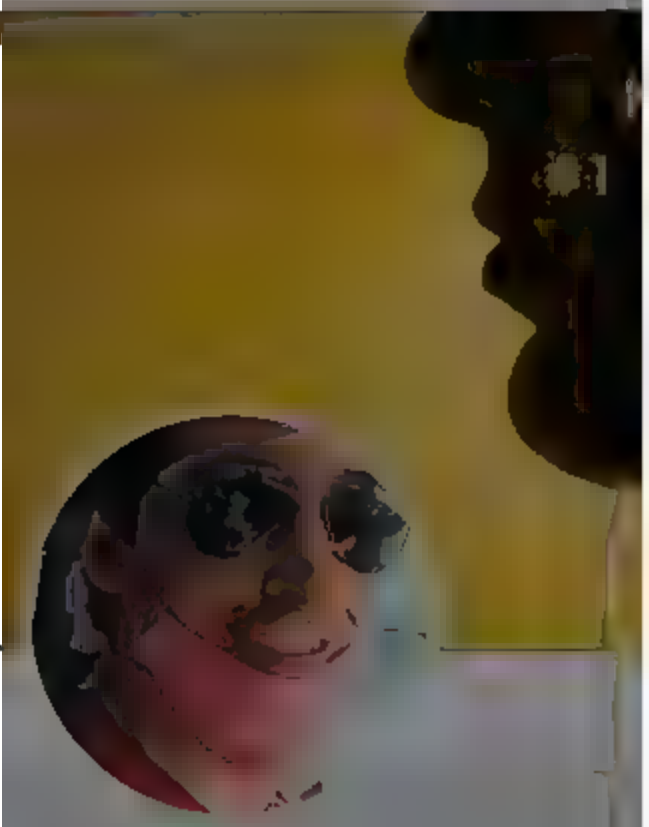


Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

@MarkARKleiman I'm kinda stunned you don't know the data better. This is your business. A quick review of the 2017 NSDUH may be in order.

12:30 PM - 8 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

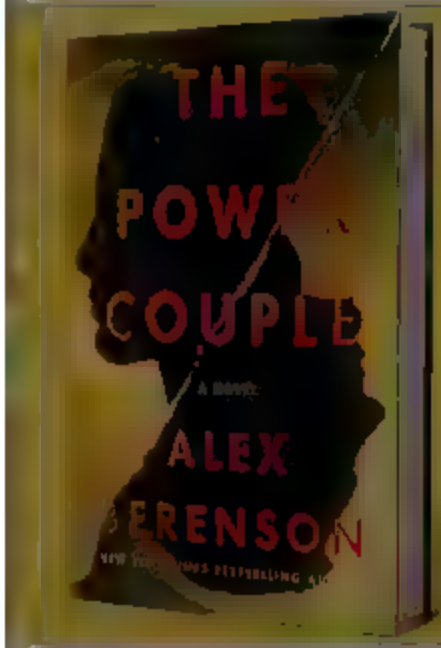
Sorry, wrong. If you're going to be snippy and high-handed, at least know what you're talking about. Heavy use has only taken off since '06, and really '13. Daily use was flat around 3MM from 2002-06. By '13, it was 5.7MM. And in '17, 8.1MM.

12:28 PM - 8 Jan 2019

This Tweet is unavailable.

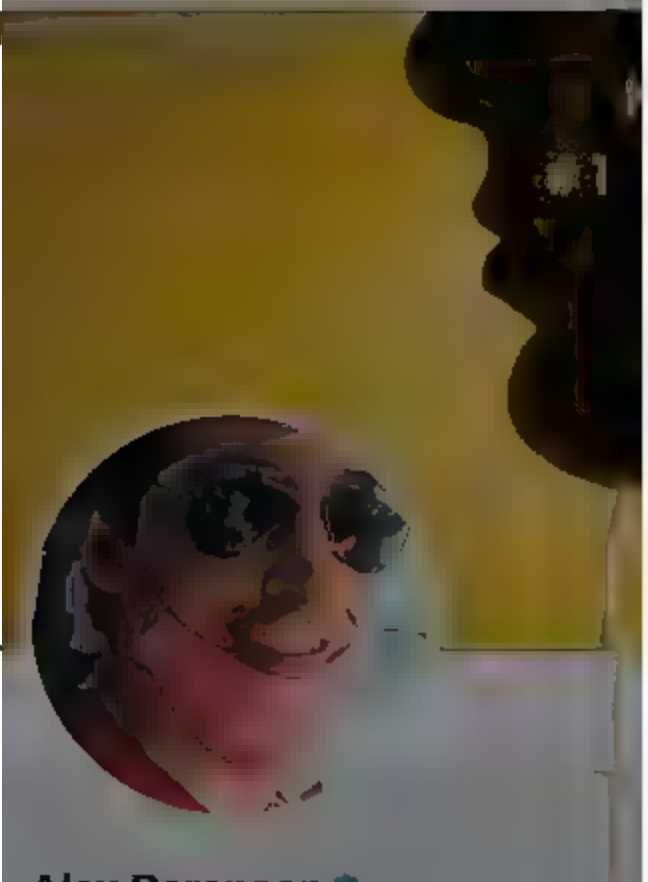
Phil @PhlsphcllySpkng · 9 Jan 2019
Briefly:

1 Correlation is not causation



2 The only violence directly attributed to marijuana is caused by its prohibition

There is zero empirical evidence that marijuana consumption causes violent behavior or psychosis



The rest is just mental masturbation

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019

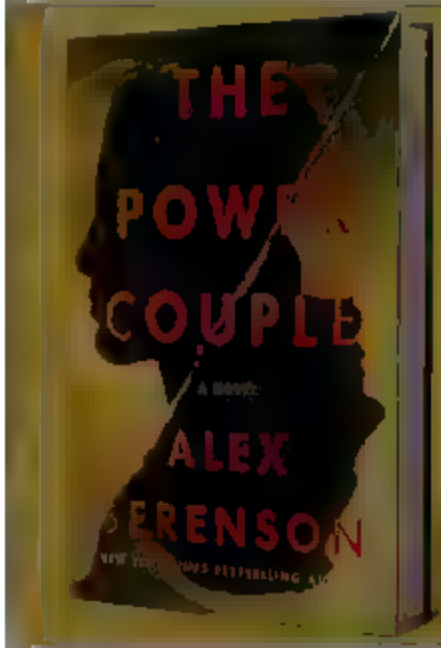
Mark - you know that's not true. Supply has increased, prices have fallen, and more importantly, allowing full legalization drove up use. Heavy use has risen every year since 2014. It was 25+ percent higher in 2017 than 2014.

1

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Sure. But can we agree that that fact is is most marginally relevant to the broader issue of whether use and heavy use increased between 2013 - the last pre-retail legalization year - and 2017?



11:57 AM - 8 Jan 2019

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019

Sorry, wrong. If you're going to be snippy and high-handed, at least know what you're talking about. Heavy use has only taken off since '06, and really '13. Daily use was flat around 3MM from 2002-06. By '13, it was 5.7MM. And in '17, 8.1MM.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in schizophrenia. No caveats. No dodging questions. I know because I asked. I guess they don't understand epidemiology or math either.

2 1

Matt Hill @canna_brain · 8 Jan 2019

This is mind numbing and twitter is not the appropriate venue for the depth this requires. All I am arguing over and over again to you is the relationship is more complicated than the unidirectional bullshit you have diluted it to. Period.

2 9

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019

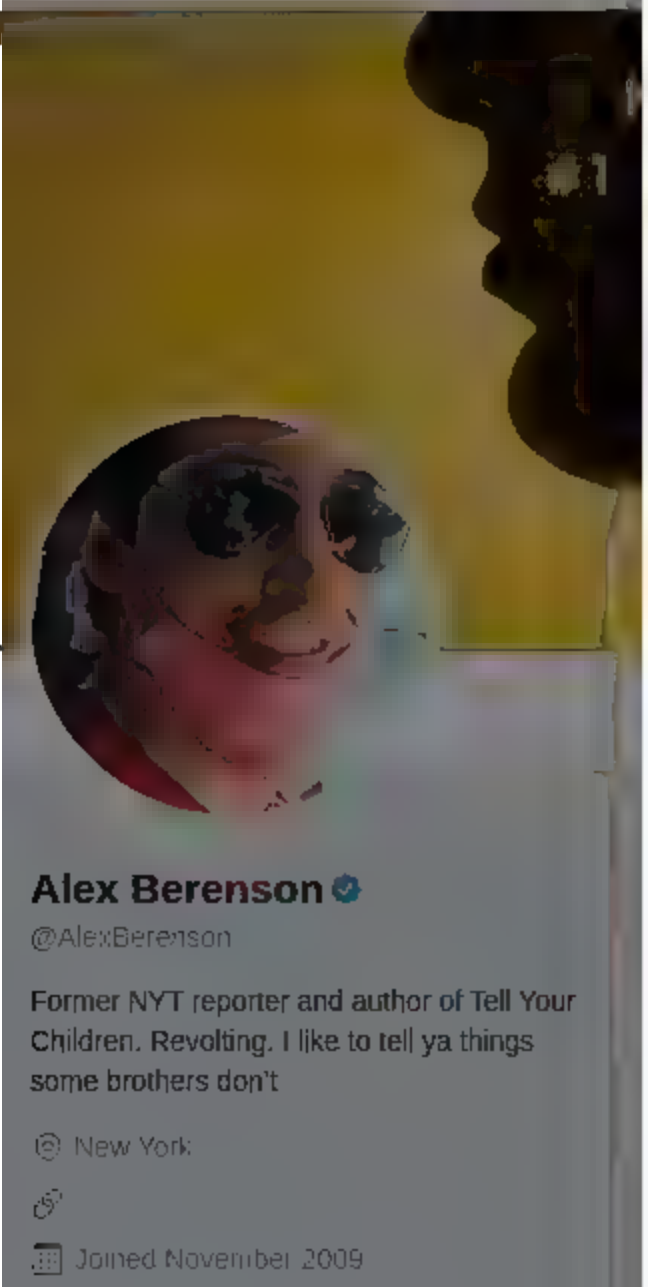
I agree about arguing on Twitter. Again, I'd urge you to read the book. You still won't like it but at least then you can argue with what I say in full.

1 1

Matt Hill @canna_brain · 8 Jan 2019

Well we agree on something. I am happy to read the book, it would be great if you sent me a copy. My email is mnhill@ucalgary.ca drop me an email to follow up, once I have read it we can re-engage, perhaps in a different venue....unless I am fully convinced by your arguments.

1



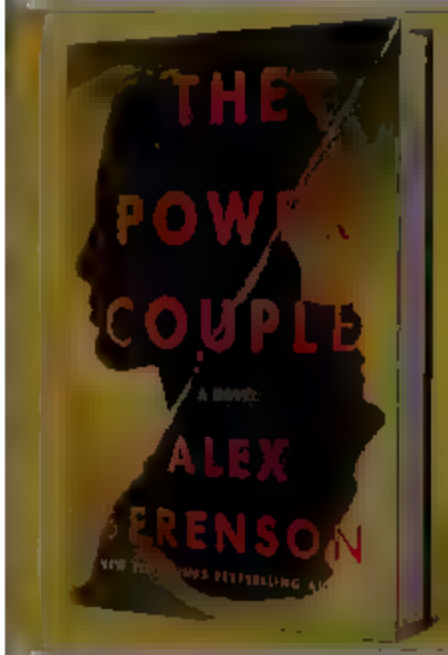
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible]

Done. And btw - I only hope your endocannabinoid research helps lead to new treatments for psychosis. Maybe there's a CBD derivative/analogue out there than can help. Because what we have now doesn't work too well...

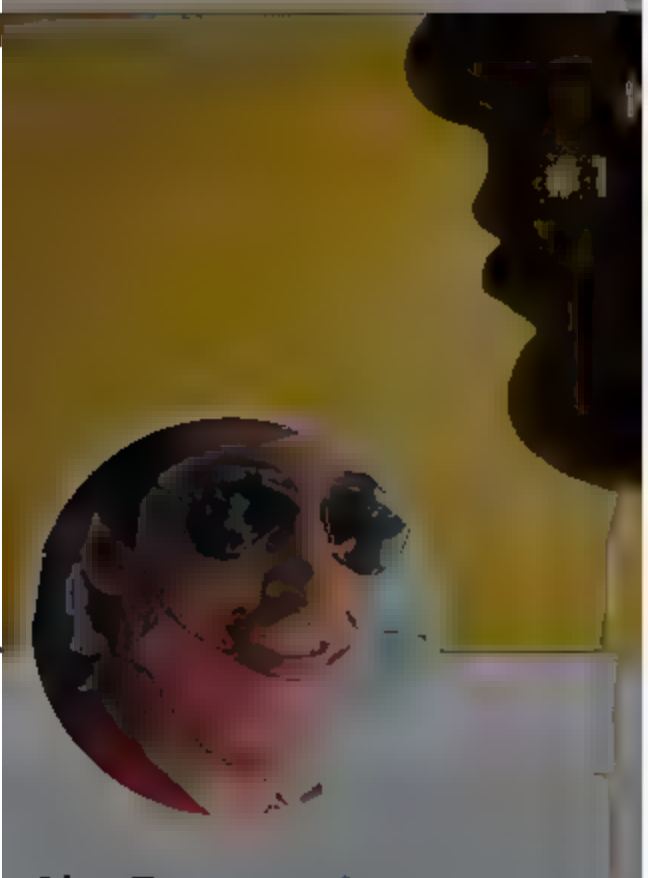
11:53 AM - 8 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Matt Hill @canna_brain · 8 Jan 2019
This is mind numbing and twitter is not the appropriate venue for the depth this requires. All I am arguing over and over again to you is the relationship is more complicated than the unidirectional bullshit you have diluted it to. Period.

2 9

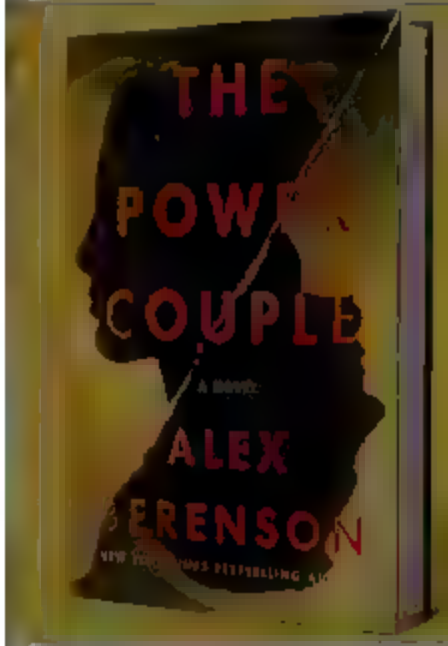
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

I agree about arguing on Twitter. Again, I'd urge you to read the book. You still won't like it but at least then you can argue with what I say in full.

11:41 AM - 8 Jan 2019

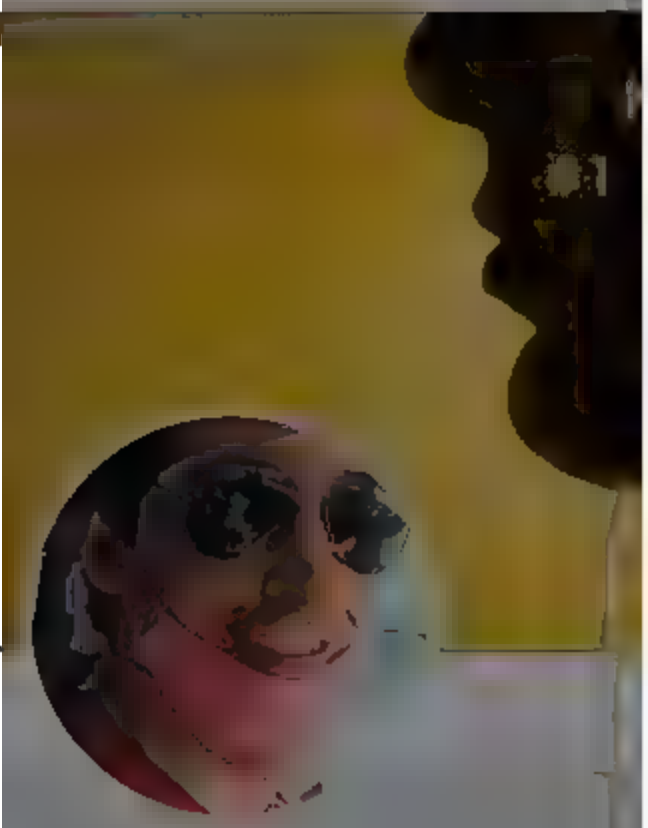
1 Like



1 1

Matt Hill @canna_brain · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Well we agree on something. I am happy to read the book, it would be great if you sent me a copy. My email is mnhill@ucalgary.ca drop me an email to follow up, once I have read it we can re-engage, perhaps in a different venue....unless I am fully convinced by your arguments.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019
Done. And btw - I only hope your endocannabinoid research helps lead to new treatments for psychosis. Maybe there's a CBD derivative/analogue out there than can help. Because what we have now doesn't work too well...

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

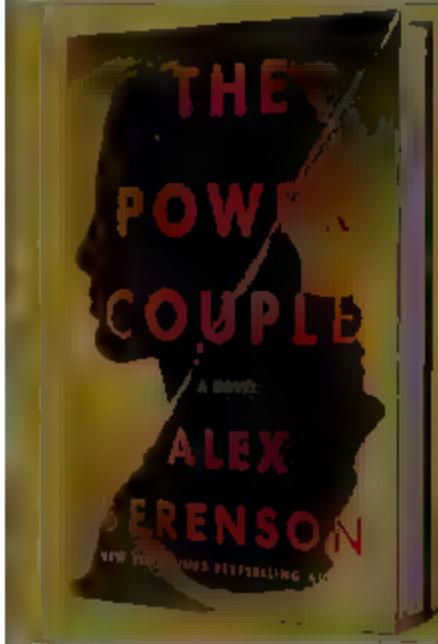
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Mark - you know that's not true. Supply has increased, prices have fallen, and more importantly, allowing full legalization drove up use. Heavy use has risen every year since 2014. It was 25+ percent higher in 2017 than 2014.

colorado.gov/pacific/cdps/... …

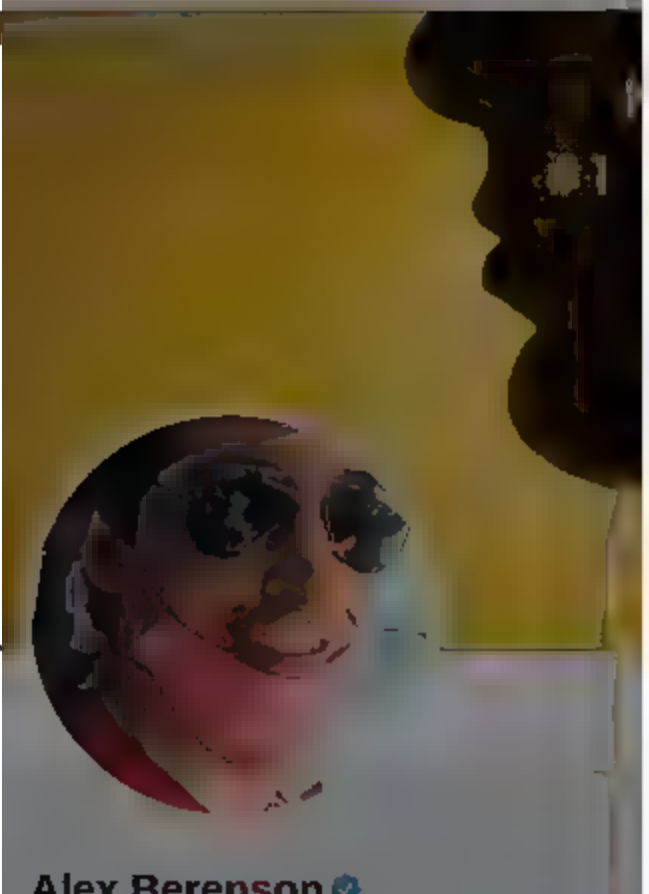
11:40 AM - 8 Jan 2019

1



This Tweet is unavailable.

Randy Philbrick @PDXRandyLee · 8 Jan 2019



Alex, while your op-ed has some very credible information, I have to agree with Mark. I would have used 2008 as the base year since commercialization started in 2009 in Colorado and Washington too. Commercialization did start in Oregon in 2014.

This Tweet is unavailable.

This Tweet is unavailable.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

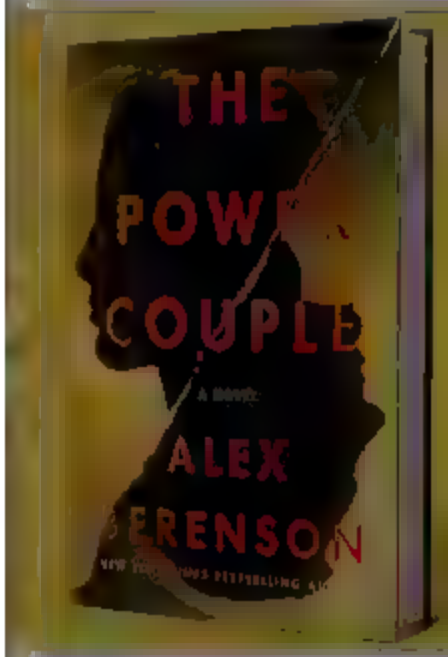
New York

Joined November 2009

6 1 6

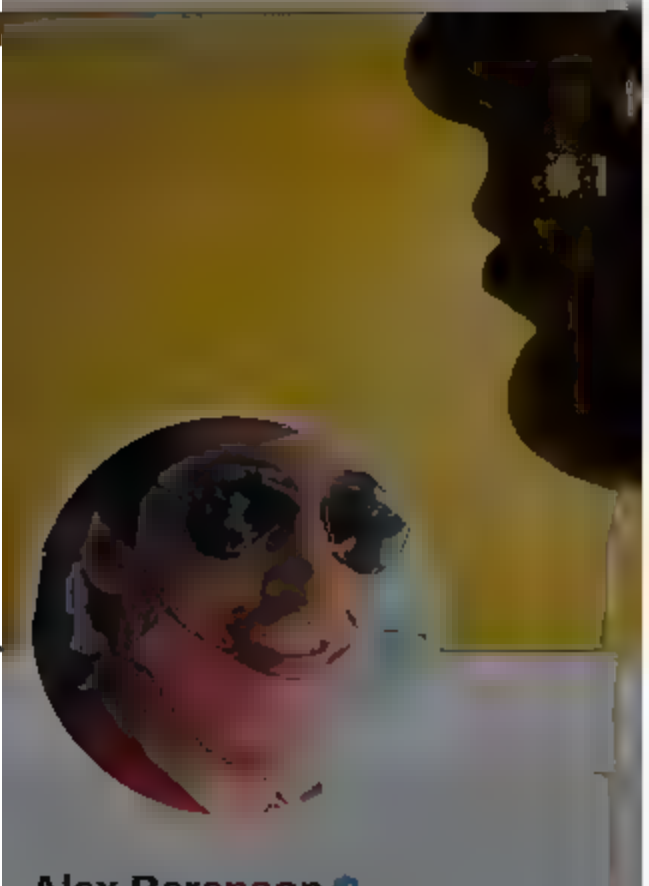
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Nothing important changed in 2014? Now you do sound like an advocate. You're better than this.

11:22 AM - 8 Jan 2019



This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019
Mark - you know that's not true. Supply has increased, prices have fallen, and more importantly, allowing full legalization drove up use. Heavy use has risen every year since 2014. It was 25+ percent higher in 2017 than 2014.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

To make an unabashed statement that because a risk relationship has been established means more cannabis = more cases of schizophrenia you should probably familiarize yourself with the epidemiology of these areas and see that this relationship doesn't exist.

2 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Yet physician-scientists who conducted the research showing the + risk ratio - like Sven Andreasson - do believe cannabis causes de novo cases of schizophrenia. No caveats. No dodging questions. I know because I asked. I guess they don't understand epidemiology or math either.

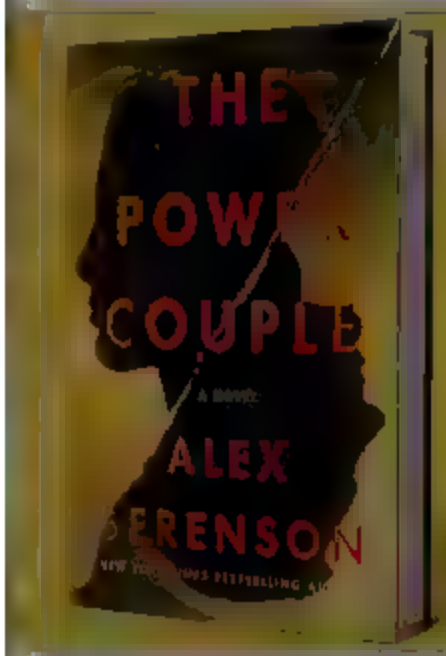
11:31 AM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Like

2 1

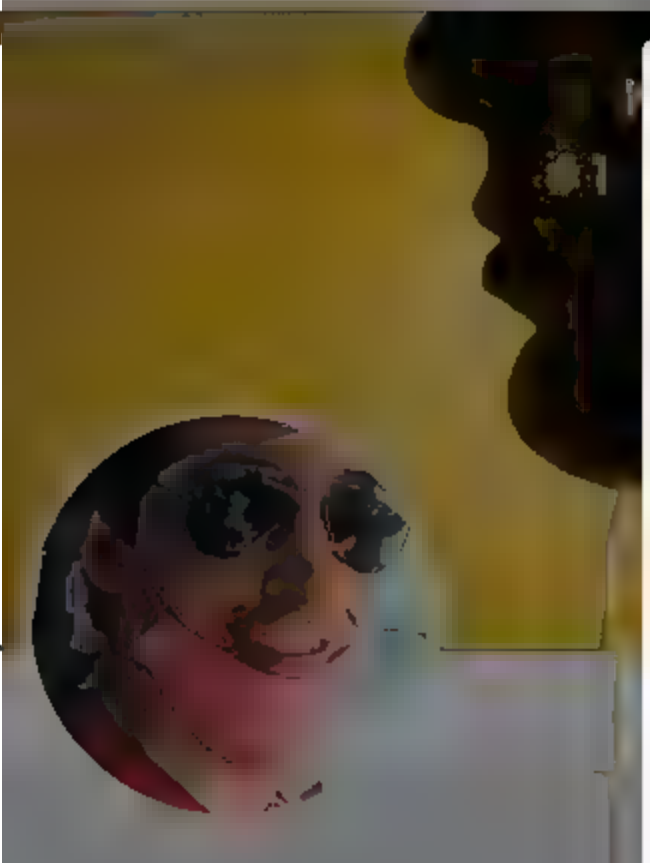
Matt Hill @canna_brain · 8 Jan 2019

Replying to



This is mind numbing and twitter is not the appropriate venue for the depth this requires. All I am arguing over and over again to you is the relationship is more complicated than the unidirectional bullshit you have diluted it to. Period.

2 9

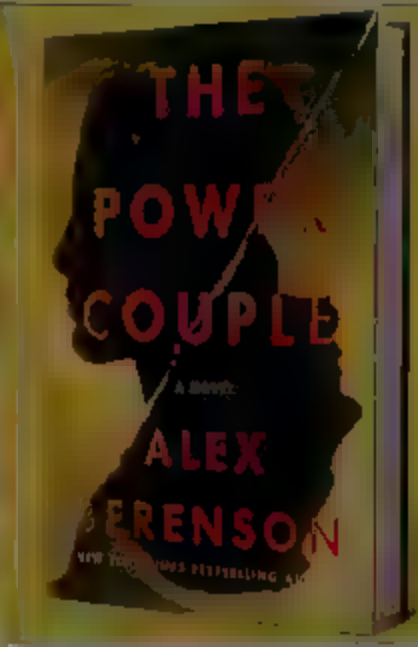


Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019

I agree about arguing on Twitter. Again, I'd urge you to read the book. You still won't like it but at least then you can argue with what I say in full.

1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/Some basic math:

A Pick 4 lottery has 10000 numbers. Each has 0.01% odds of winning. If I play 10 numbers, I will win on average one time in 1000.

A Pick 3 has 1000 numbers. Each has 0.1% odds. Those odds sound similar. They aren't. If I play 10, I will win one time in 100.

11:08 AM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

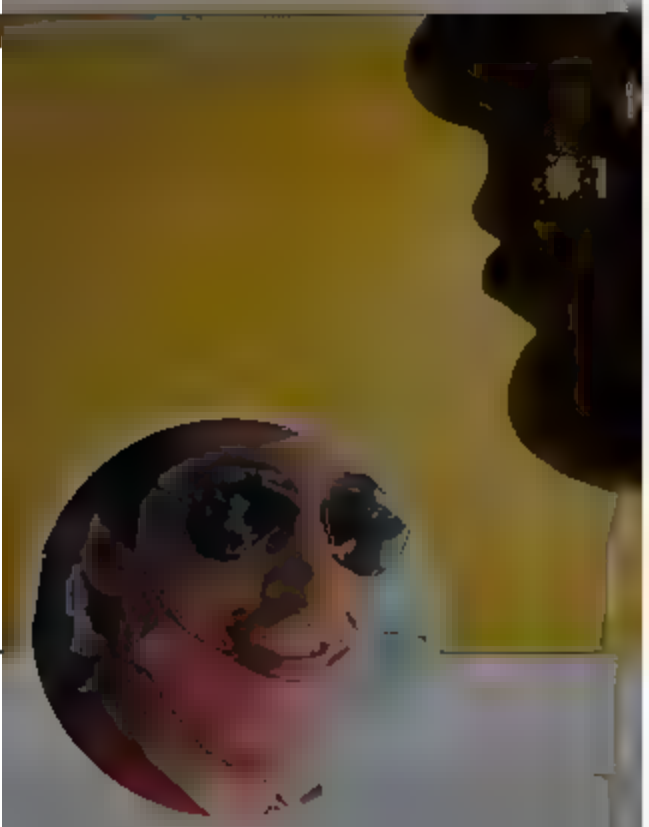
6 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019

2/ When the odds - the risk - of an outcome are increased, that outcome will happen more frequently over the population putting itself at risk. That is probability at its most basic. The math is ineluctable. So, [redacted], I ask again: is the NAM wrong?

7 1 6



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 8 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted]

"To get a sense of the size of the risk, we would need roughly 23,000 people to abstain from ever using cannabis to prevent one of them from becoming psychotic."

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This is not a yes/no question. The risk analysis cannot take into account underlying biological variables that influence this relationship. Do I think cannabis is detrimental in the development or course of schizophrenia, yes. Do I think cannabis causes schizophrenia de novo, no.

2 14

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

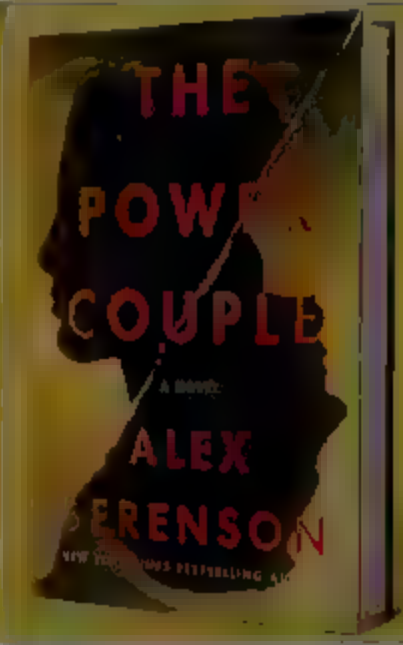
So a higher risk ratio does not translate into de novo cases? That's... interesting math. Or is NAM's assertion of increased risk inaccurate?

These are yes or no questions, no matter how much you might wish they aren't.

10:44 AM - 8 Jan 2019

2 Likes

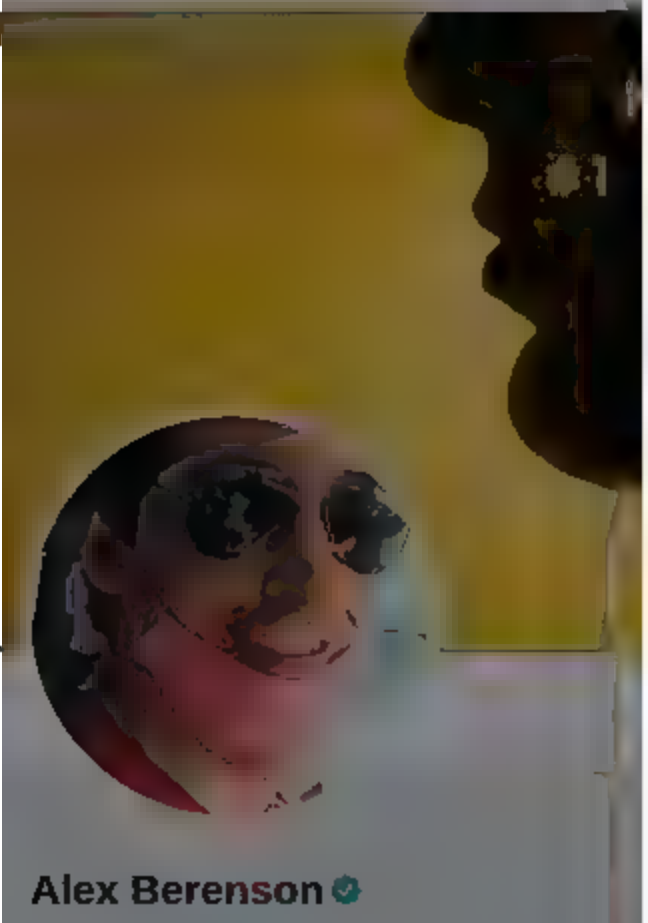
5 2



Matt Hill @canna_brain · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to
What are you talking about "wishing". You are approaching this as a journalist not a scientist and so you want clean digestible pieces of sound bites, but thats not how it works in reality.

1 11

Alex Gertner PhD @gertner_alex · 8 Jan 2019
Mr. Berenson, I believe the point Dr. Hill is making is that the relationship between cannabis use and psychotic disorders is complex as NAM report states, "relationship between cannabis use and cannabis use disorder, and psychoses may be multidirectional and complex."



1 6

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

10 numbers, I will win on average one time in 1000.

A Pick 3 has 1000 numbers. Each has 0.1% odds. Those odds sound similar. They aren't. If I play 10, I will win one time in 100.

6 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ When the odds - the risk - of an outcome are increased, that outcome will happen more frequently over the population putting itself at risk. That is probability at its most basic. The math is ineluctable. So, @canna_brain, I ask again: is the NAM wrong?

11:13 AM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

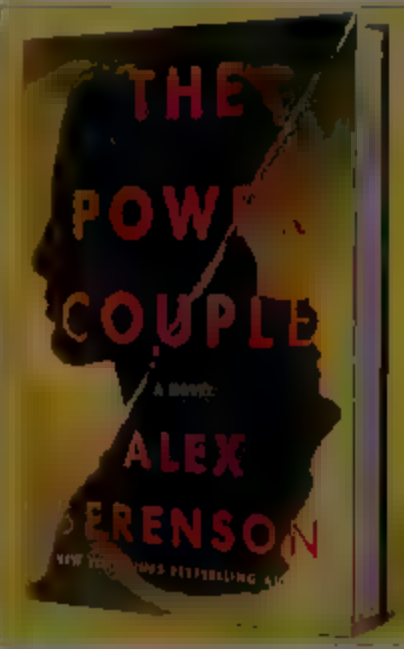
7 1 6

Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to

The fact that cannabis is illegal is the exact force that is driving full-legalization on a state by state basis. Bad policy has forced an irrational over-correction (which results in every kind of edible being available for sale). Instead, we should be starting with research.

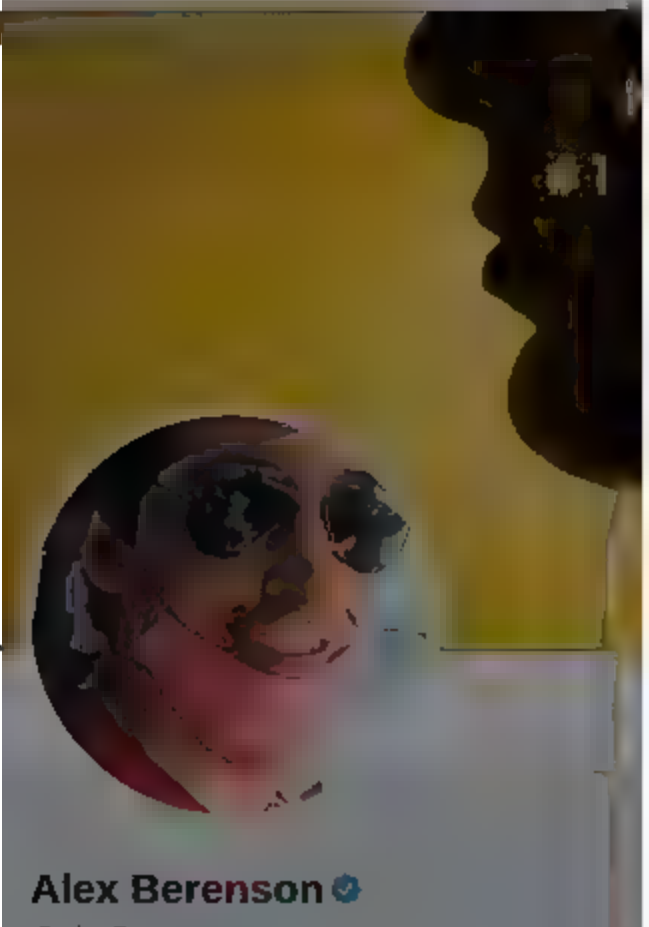


1 1

Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 8 Jan 2019
If you want smarter cannabis policy, you should be advocating FOR "top-down legalization" under the guidance of the FDA, NIH, and NIDA. Instead of "bottom up legalization" on the state level.

2 1

Jamie Bono @jbono · 8 Jan 2019



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

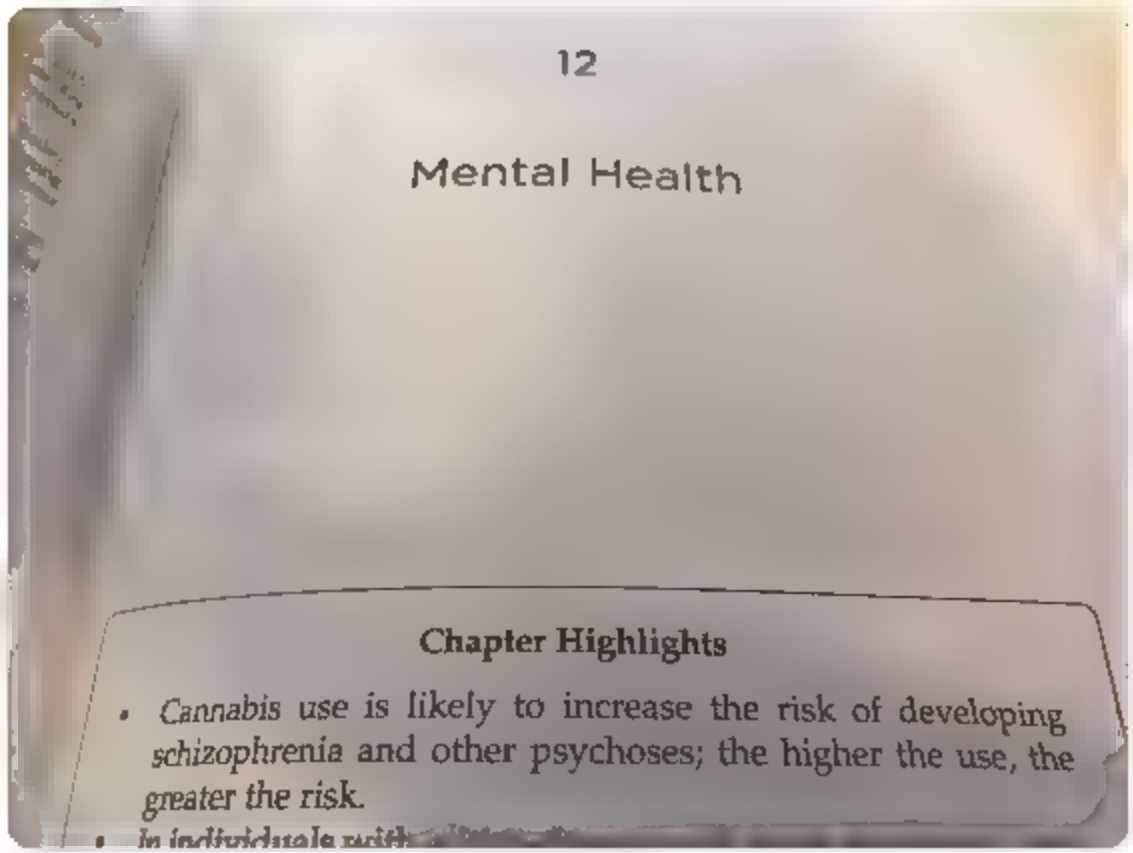
Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



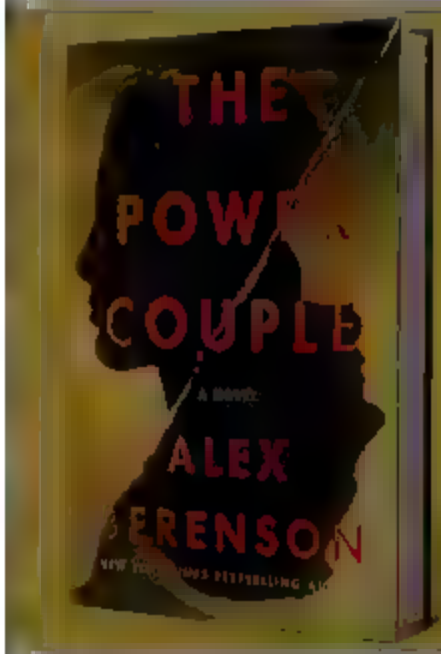
Every scientist I know in the cannabis space, regardless of whether they support or oppose legalization, doesnt believe the claims you are making. This isnt profit seeking CEOs these are advocates of facts and reality. If anyone is profiting here it is you, by marketing hyperbole

3 1 31

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

I don't know who's in the "cannabis space," but apparently the National Academy of Medicine isn't.



10:28 AM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 7 Likes

4 1 7

Matt Hill @canna_brain · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

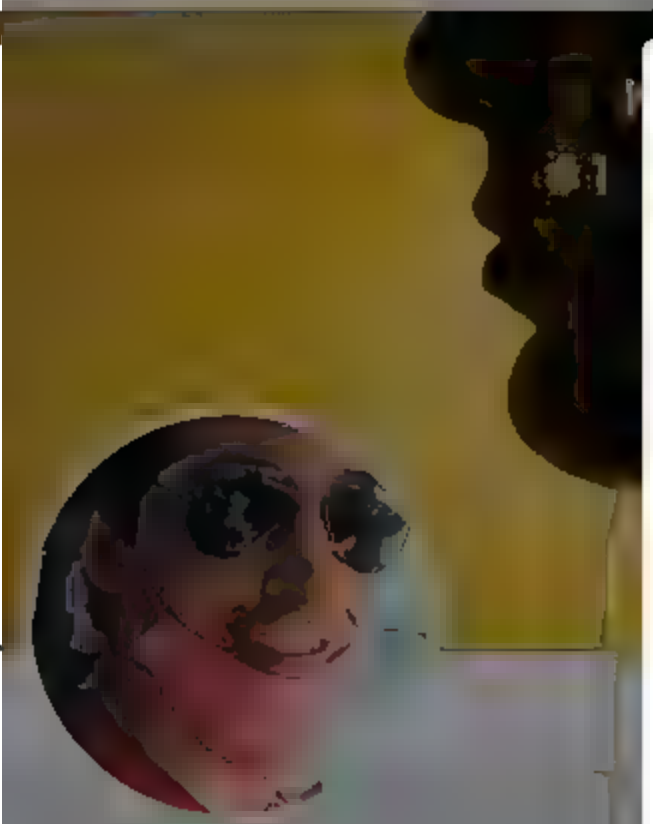
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

The crucial line in the 1994 Times magazine piece about those tobacco executives:

"In other words, if they experience denial as a psychological response, they also use denial as an aggressive tactic."



9:46 AM - 8 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 3 Likes

1 2 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

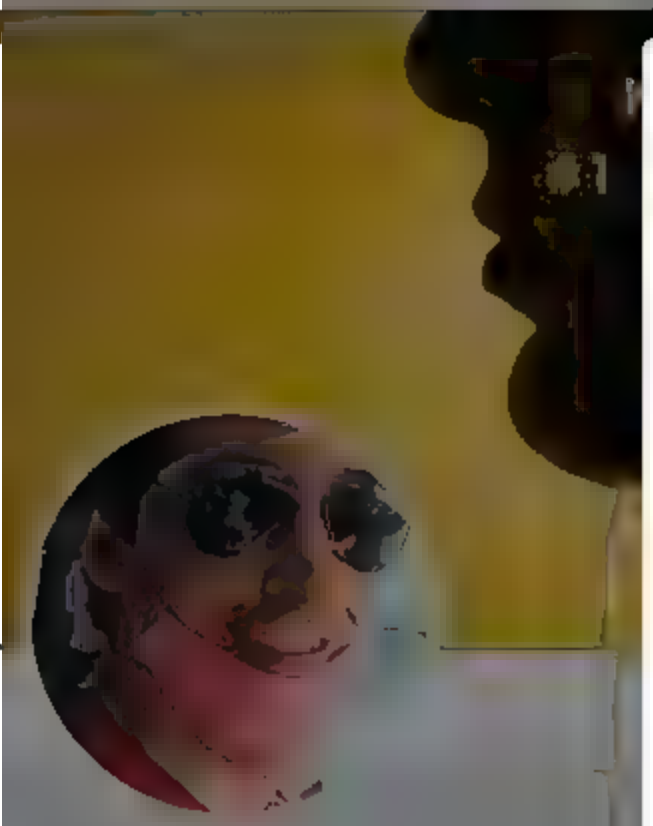
The good news is that Altria is about to bring its scientific expertise to bear on the discussion. What a relief! google.com/amp/s/www.cnbc

9:40 AM - 8 Jan 2019

3 Likes

1 3

Luke Niforatos @LukeNiforatos · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Hey, @_cingraham, you said you "cannot recall the last time the phrase "cannabis-induced madness" was used without irony." I can help! Try the ruling in the case of Raina Thaiday. She unironically stabbed eight children to death in December 2014.

archive.sclqld.org.au/qjudg/ten/2017

9:04 AM - 8 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

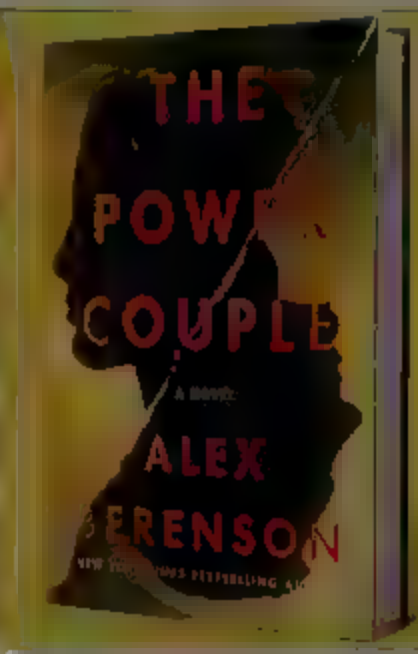
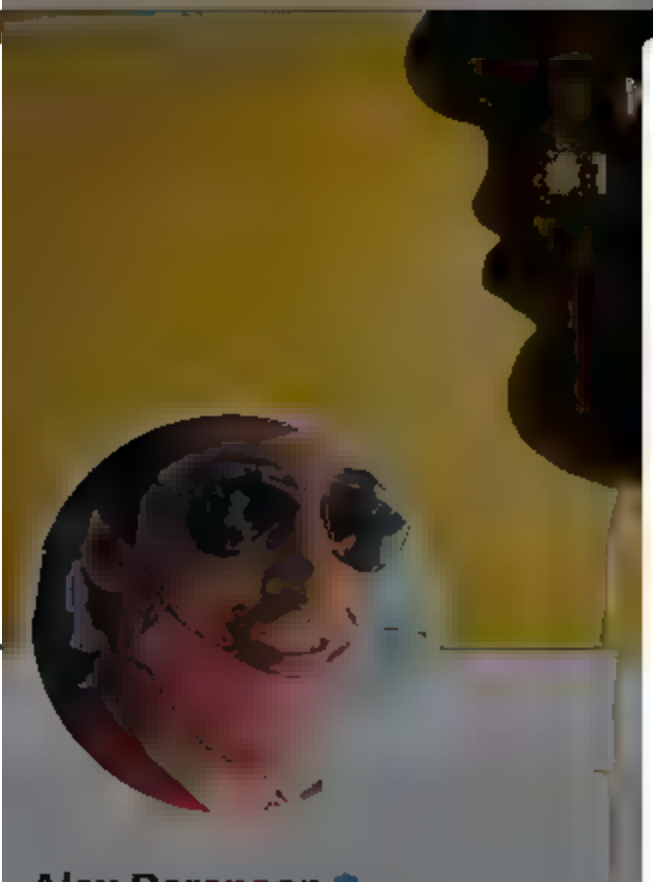
6 1 6



Christopher Ingraham @_cingraham · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to
I don't see that phrase in there?

1 5

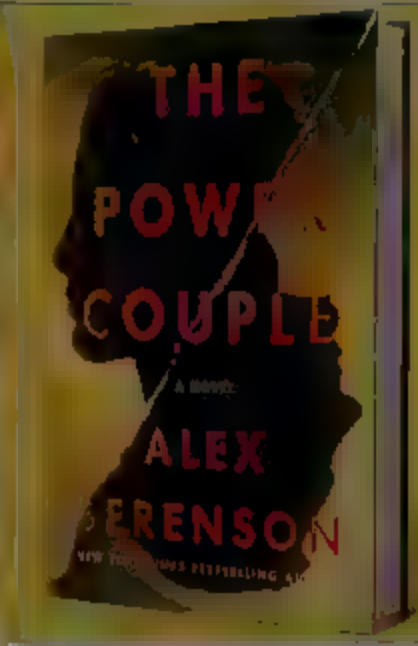


christy brown @mystocean · 8 Jan 2019
In DSM V under Substance induced psychosis you will find the category related to cannabis. This is really serious for those of us whose relatives have had it. Please do not be in denial or ridicule it. It is a real thing.

Ryan D. Anderson @rda205_ · 9 Jan 2019
Replying to
Anybody else notice that her mental illness drastically increased in effect AFTER she stopped consuming cannabis?

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ The judge unironically said:

"Mrs Thaiday gave a history of the use of cannabis since she was in grade 9 at school. And I think all the psychiatrists thought that it is likely that it is this long-term use of cannabis that caused the mental illness schizophrenia to emerge. "

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Hey, @_cingraham, you said you "cannot recall the last time the phrase "cannabis-induced madness" was used without irony." I can help! Try the ruling in the case of Raina Thaiday. She unironically stabbed eight children to death in December…

9:06 AM - 8 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 12 Likes

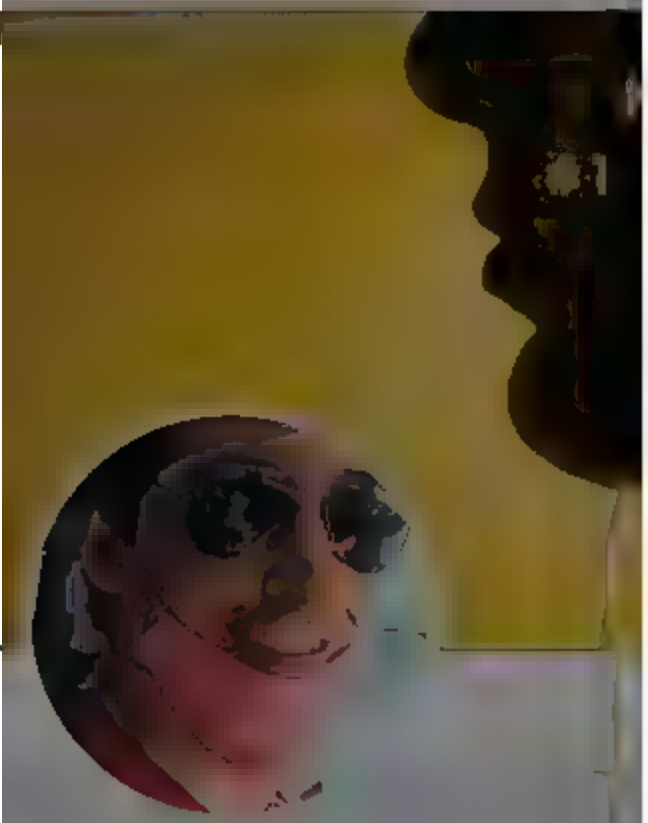
6 3 12



Twas4kids @twas4kids · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to
Congrats on receiving a bestseller on in your first day - this book is amazing and the reviews in The New Yorker etc - It's the beginnings of Mainstream pushback.

1

Adler @TenkLife · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to
Consuming alcohol causes people to commit hundreds if not thousands of murders and assaults every year. We should probably make it illegal!

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

6 1 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

3/ And it's not just 2015 and 2016, the gap widened further in 2017 and based on data from Denver and Seattle and Portland widened even further last year.

8:32 AM - 8 Jan 2019

3 Likes

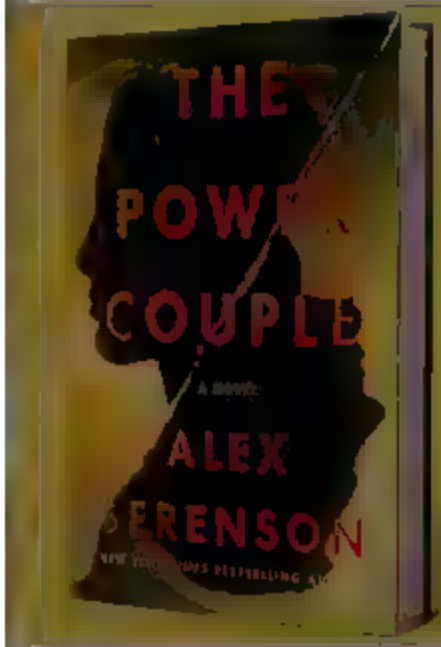
2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019

4/ We can discuss why this is happening. But please stop telling me I picked numbers arbitrarily. I didn't. This is the most complete, fullest, and most honest accounting available. I don't think you're an advocate. Your book was excellent.

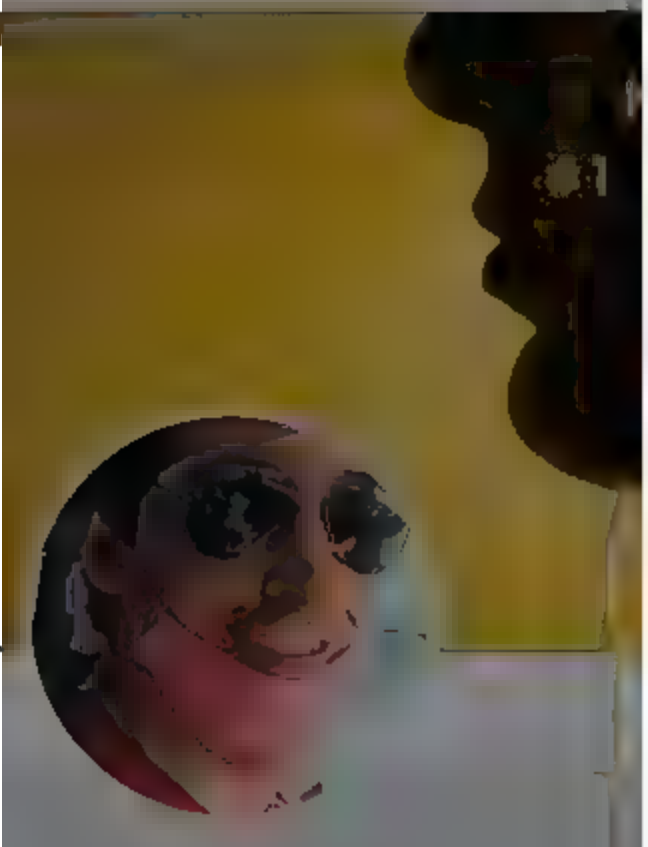
2 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019



5/ But I do think you may be slightly caught off-guard you missed such an obvious trend. The solution is not to argue with the data or pretend it's cherry-picked when it isn't. It's to acknowledge you now know something new. Best, Alex

9



David Bonnier @bonnier_david · 8 Jan 2019

Replying to

I wonder if transitory banking issue is a factor? Given large amounts of "unbankable" cash sloshing around, I would expect it to attract criminals and violence; especially desperate criminals being priced out the illicit market? @MarkARKleiman

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019

4/ We can discuss why this is happening. But please stop telling me I picked numbers arbitrarily. I didn't. This is the most complete, fullest, and most honest accounting available. I don't think you're an advocate. Your book was excellent.

2 6

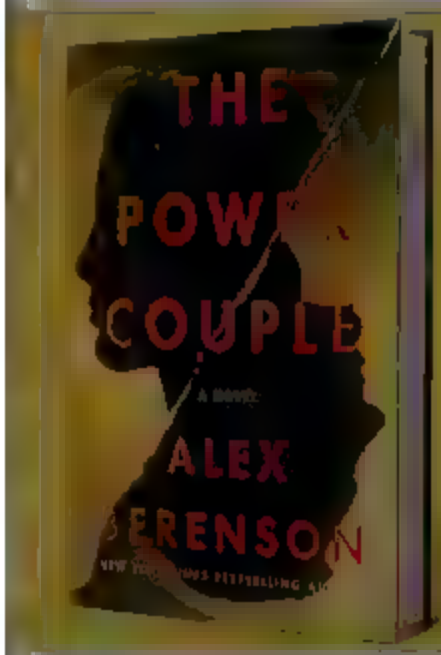
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

5/ But I do think you may be slightly caught off-guard you missed such an obvious trend. The solution is not to argue with the data or pretend it's cherry-picked when it isn't. It's to acknowledge you now know something new. Best, Alex

8:35 AM - 8 Jan 2019

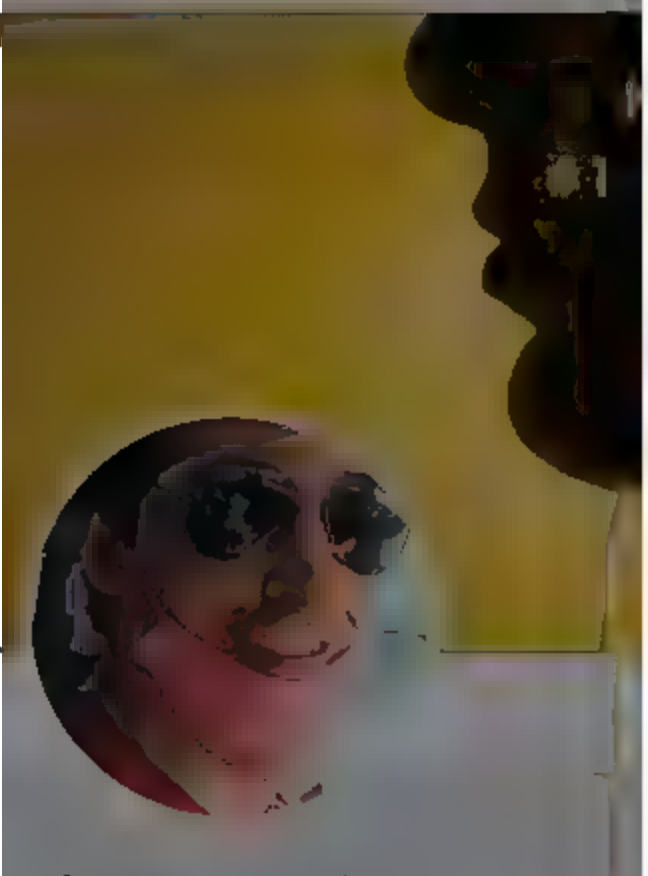
9 Likes

9



This Tweet is unavailable.

Bruce Conners @bconners · 8 Jan 2019



Prediction for you Mark: "Mark, you're doing it wrong. All that stuff you learned in science school was wrong. I, and only I, know how to analyze data. And anybody who questions me is bad and THEY are the ones with Reefer Madness."

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

6 1 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019

3/ And it's not just 2015 and 2016, the gap widened further in 2017 and based on data from Denver and Seattle and Portland widened even further last year.

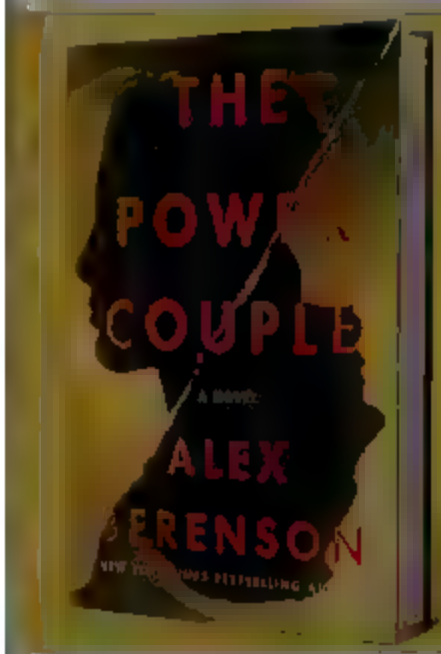
2 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

4/ We can discuss why this is happening. But please stop telling me I picked numbers arbitrarily. I didn't. This is the most complete, fullest, and most honest accounting available. I don't think you're an advocate. Your book was excellent.

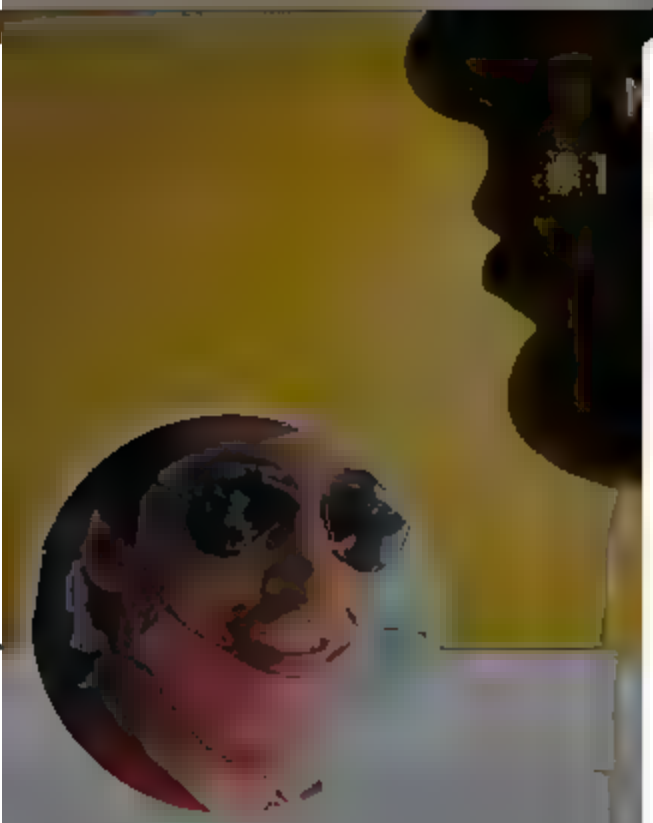
8:33 AM - 8 Jan 2019

6 Likes

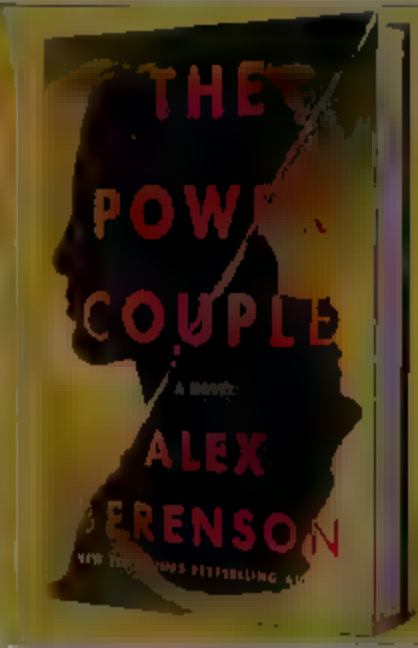


2 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Jan 2019



5/ But I do think you may be slightly caught off-guard you missed such an obvious trend. The solution is not to argue with the data or pretend it's cherry-picked when it isn't. It's to acknowledge you now know something new. Best, Alex



9

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

DianeGoldstein @dianemgoldstein · 7 Jan 2019
I have and I do.

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

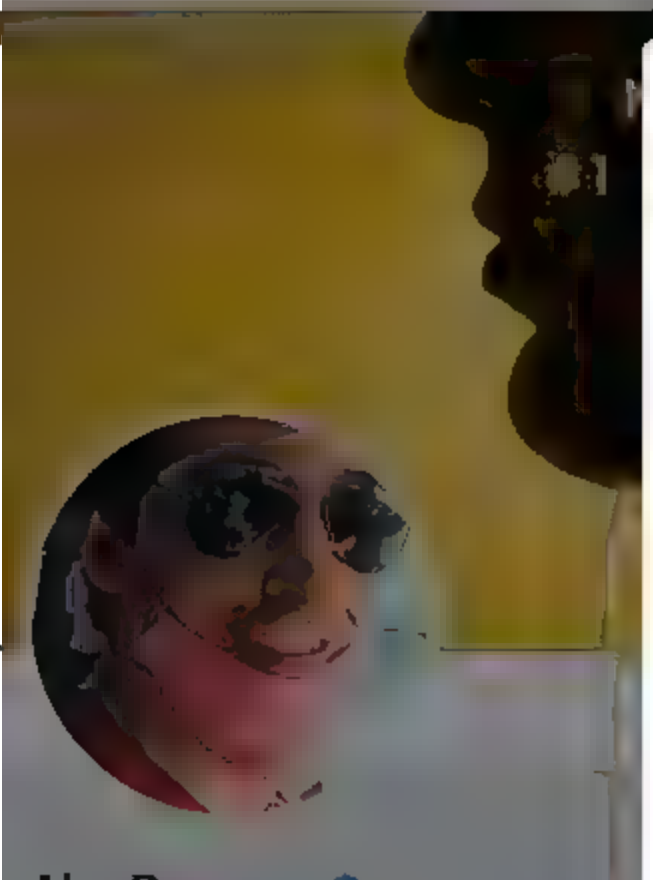
Mark - You don't need to guess with the tax revenue data - you can look at the NSDUH data on daily alcohol users, which show a slow, steady rise since 2005. Either people use both together heavily or the two drugs don't substitute and we have created a new class of heavy users.

2:43 AM - 8 Jan 2019

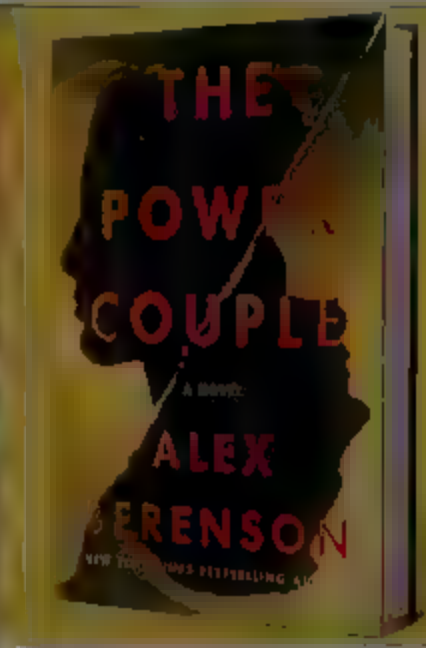
1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

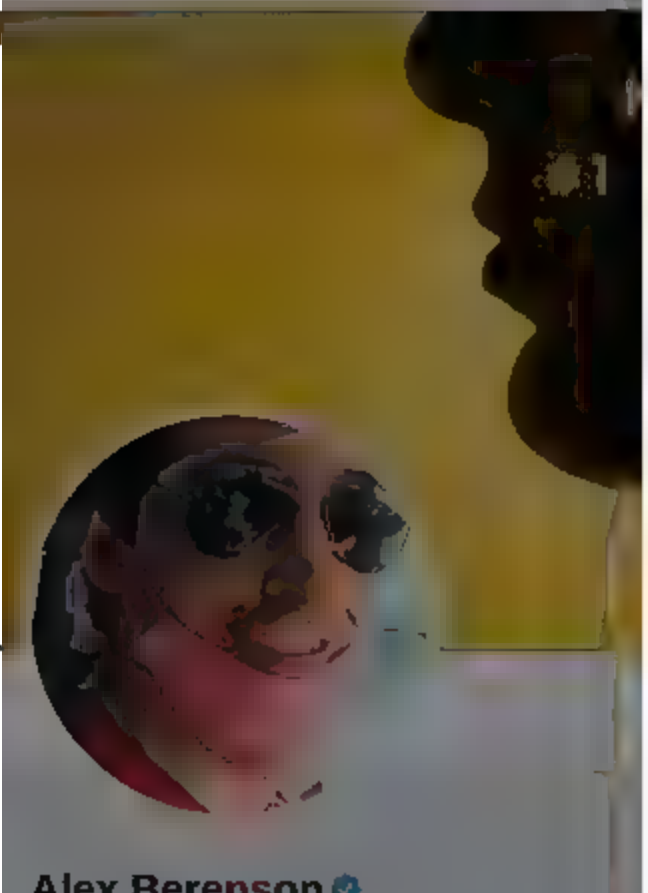
Follow

And by the way, I didn't cherry pick or butcher anything, as I think you will see when you read the book.

2:45 AM - 8 Jan 2019

2 1

Steve Moore @steve4good · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Hello Alex do you have a UK publication date ?



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

There have been studies published on #cannabis & crime since 2011 &...
Show this thread

2 1 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

3/ As I'm sure you know, good national data showing whether people were using drugs or alcohol at the time of their crimes is hard to find. One exception is in child deaths in a handful of states - which consistently show that marijuana was by far the most used drug.

6:44 PM - 7 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 15 Likes

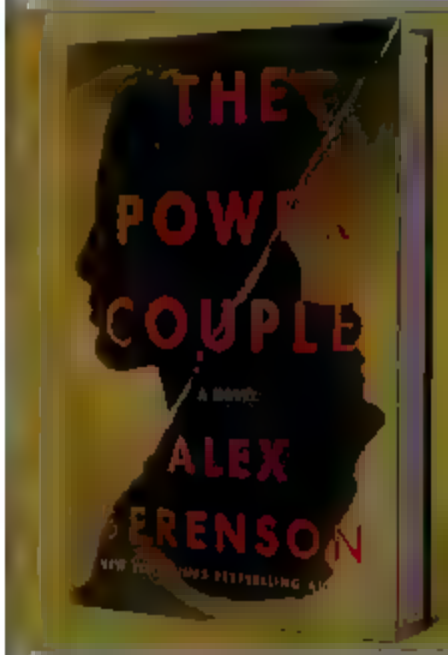
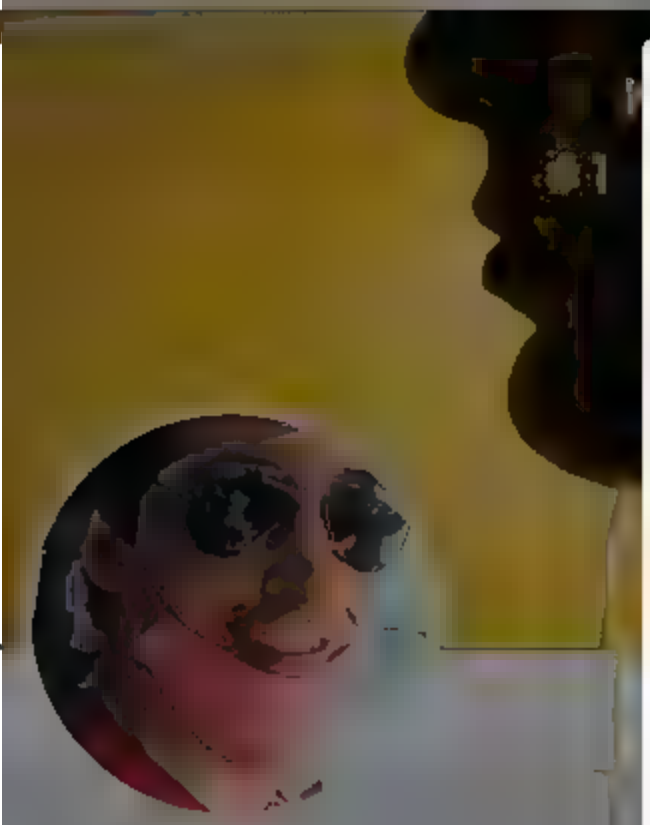
3 2 15

fan @kokondo12 · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to



Would love to see the source on child deaths.

I need clarification on what the definition of 'used' is. It's VERY easy to manipulate data to show 'support'. Especially with MJ due to the long half-life of THC.

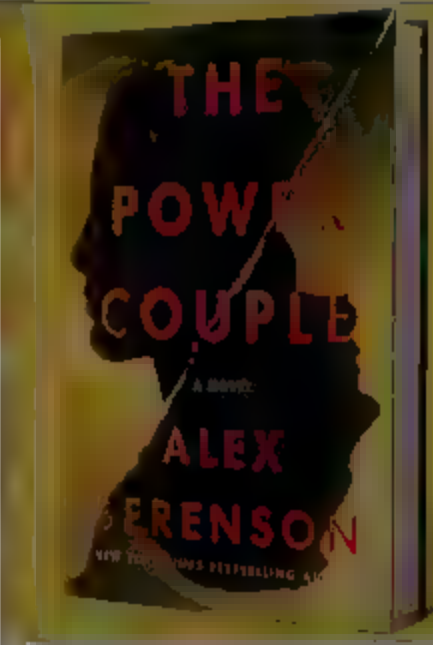


Would be shocked if MJ was implemented in 1/10th the alcohol cases.

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Beau - Don't know if you have read the book yet, but many of the studies that I cite are post-2012. I found few studies before 2010 (your paper cites 9 solid papers in all). As you correctly said, "the literature focused on marijuana use is insufficient."

> Beau Kilmer @BeauKilmer
> Here's the link to the full report obamawhitehouse.archives.gov/sites/default/...
>
> There have been studies published on #cannabis & crime since 2011 &...
> Show this thread

6:40 PM - 7 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 11 Likes

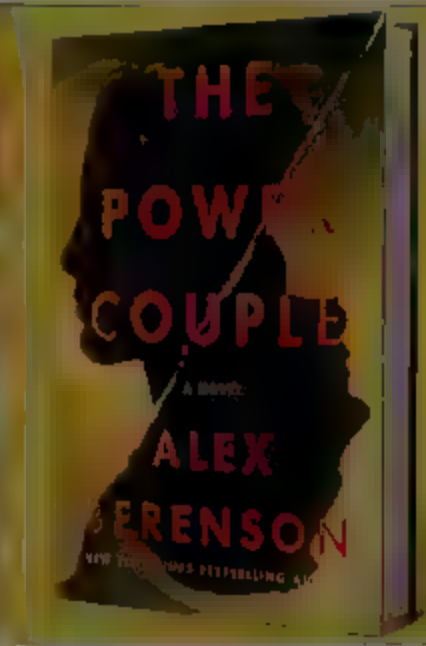
2 1 11

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 7 Jan 2019
3/ As I'm sure you know, good national data showing whether people were using drugs or alcohol at the time of their crimes is hard to find. One exception is in child deaths in a handful of states - which consistently show that marijuana was by far the most used drug.

3 2 15

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 7 Jan 2019
4/ I realize correlation is not necessarily causation, and all of this may be coincidence, but given the known link between psychosis and violence, and the known link between marijuana and psychosis, dismissing it out of hand is even more foolish than assuming it's correct.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

2/ What is very striking is that the papers where a rate ratio is calculated generally show that marijuana is as or more likely to be associated with violence as alcohol. Given that alcohol is known to cause violence, that fact alone calls for a reconsideration.

> Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson
> Beau - Don't know if you have read the book yet, but many of the studies that I cite are post-2012. I found few studies before 2010 (your paper cites 9 solid papers in all). As you correctly said, "the literature focused on marijuana use is insufficient."
> twitter.com/BeauKilmer/sta…
>
> Show this thread

6:42 PM - 7 Jan 2019

3 Retweets 10 Likes

5 3 10

This Tweet is unavailable.

fan @kokondo12 · 7 Jan 2019
This guy will not engage in legitimate dialogue on his 'work'. That, to me, is more telling than any of 'research'.

2

Smellvin Capital @daimondog · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Any stats on the violence suffered by all the kids pushed into the foster care system when their parents get locked up for marijuana charges?

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

An R Key Kid @AKAnarchyKid · 7 Jan 2019
2/2 Second, the article states this is probably due to or at least mediated by substance abuse (not marijuana specifically). It doesn't address whether or not the correlation of substance abuse with homicide could be due to illegality, which seems probable.

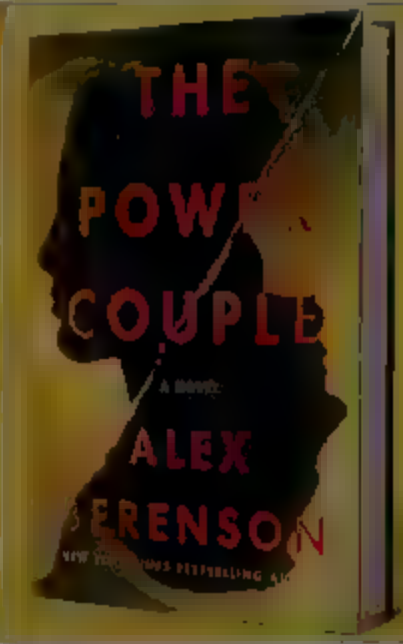
1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

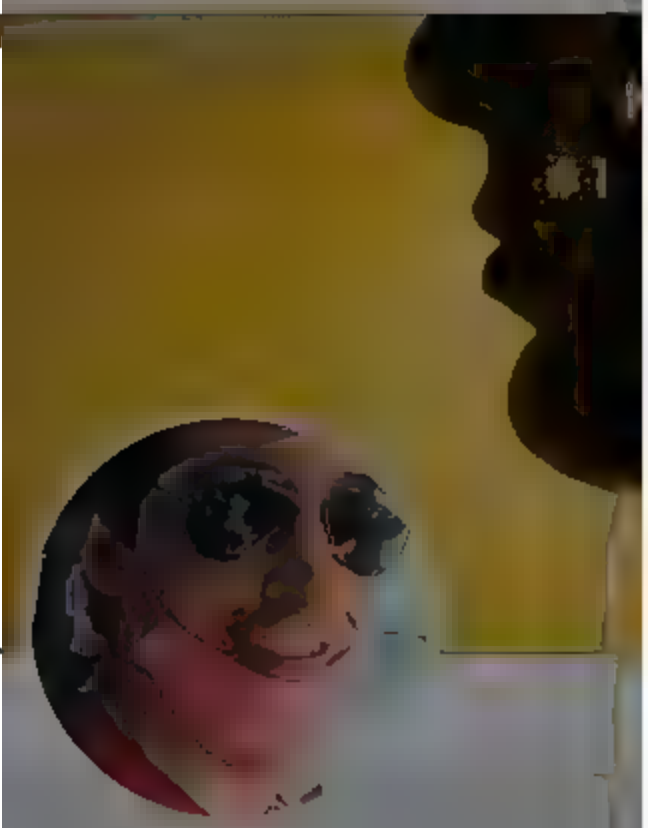
From the intro: "The risk for homicide was increased in individuals with psychosis (with and without comorbid substance abuse) compared with general population controls (random-effects OR=19.5)."
The second issue is more complex, obv - I do get into it in the book.

4:36 PM · 7 Jan 2019



4 Likes

1 4



An R Key Kid @AKAnarchyKid · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to
But you didn't say people w/ psychosis, you said people w/ schizophrenia. That's a very important distinction. While the second issue is more complicated, I have to ask, with all due respect, if you have discussed this issue in any of your articles or, if that is just in the book

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2 11

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Since you ask: The more severe the crime, the greater the excess risk that psychosis confers. Thus homicides have the highest risk ratio. The best estimate is here.

4:24 PM - 7 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 6 Likes

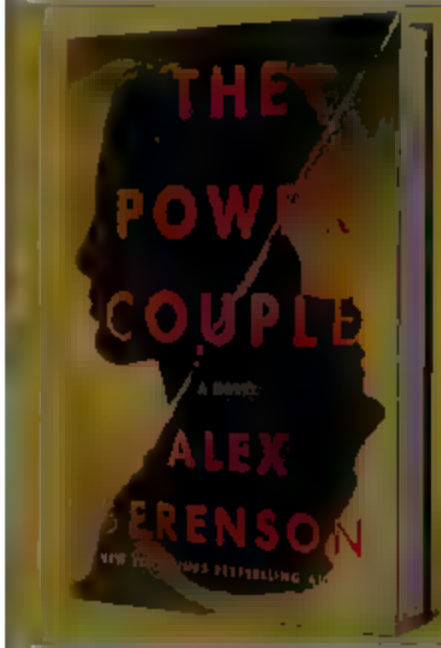
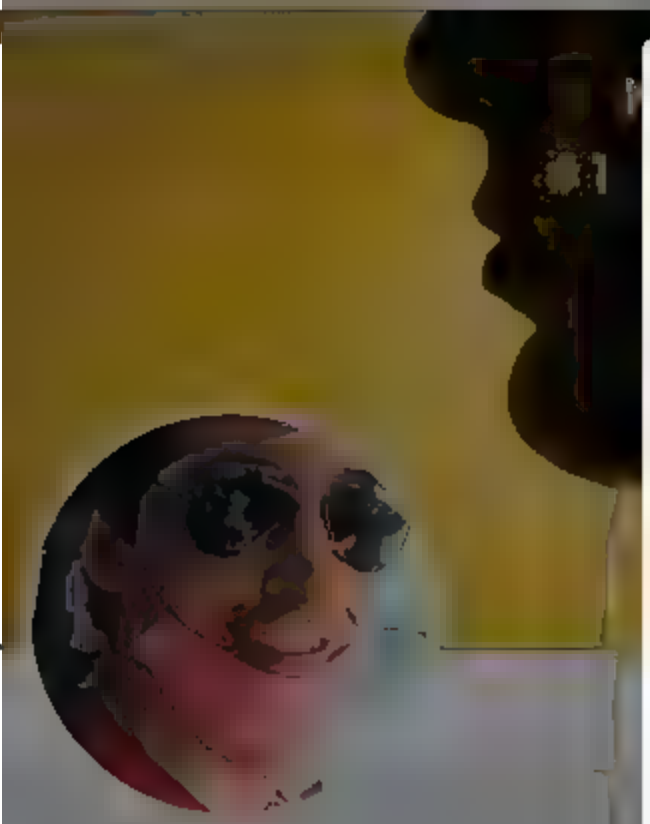
3 2 6



An R Key Kid @AKAnarchyKid · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to
Thanks for replying! I took a look at that study just now (admittedly skimming down to the relevant part), and it still doesn't quite back the 20x claim. Firstly, it states the risk of homicide is .3 w/ schizophrenia vs. 02 in gen pop. That's 15x, not 20. 1/2

1 10



Tony from the block @tony_bicycle · 8 Jan 2019
lol this is the conclusion to the study he posted

This media may contain sensitive material. View

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

5/ So, I know, I know, I don't have a PhD, help me out here: That study says that "failing to reduce cannabis use FAILS to reduce psychosis." Proving what, exactly? Keep using, and you keep having problems? And this is the key paper supposedly disproving the link, amirite?

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
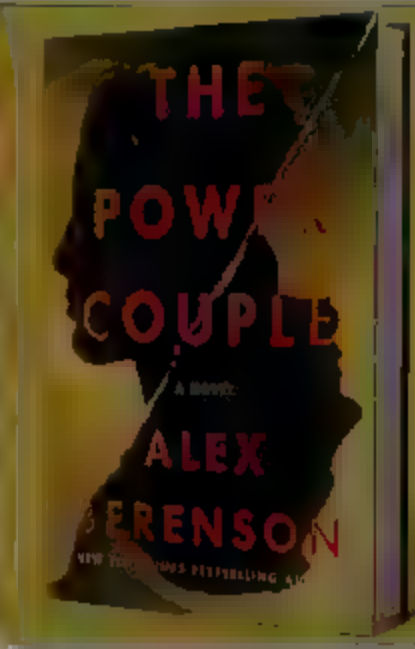
> Replying to @AlexBerenson @zarasnapp and 5 others
>
> 4/ Here's how Dr. Hart describes another paper "of major importance":
> "This well-controlled study examined the effect of an intervention designed to reduce cannabis use, and found no reduction in cannabis use and no effect on clinical outcomes."



2:15 PM - 7 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 10 Likes

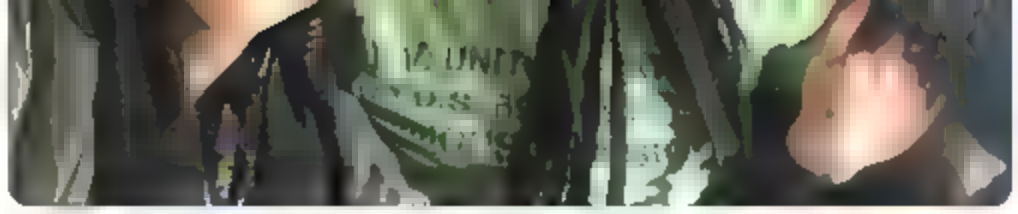
5 2 10

Louis Martí @IAmARobot0101 · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
You didn't need to write you don't have a PhD. It's redundant with the rest of the tweet.

Lee Burnham @TLeeBurnham · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Pot usage in the teen years creates Arrested Adolescent Development. That means a whole lot of Adolescent Soap Opera.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Energy Control, Carl Hart, AccionTécnicaSocial and 2 others

4 28 79

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to and 4 others

3/ And here's how the authors describe their own findings:
"Overall, our results support the hypothesis that cannabis abuse of sufficient severity to be detected in Swedish registries has an appreciable causal impact on future risk for schizophrenia."

2:04 PM - 7 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 6 Likes

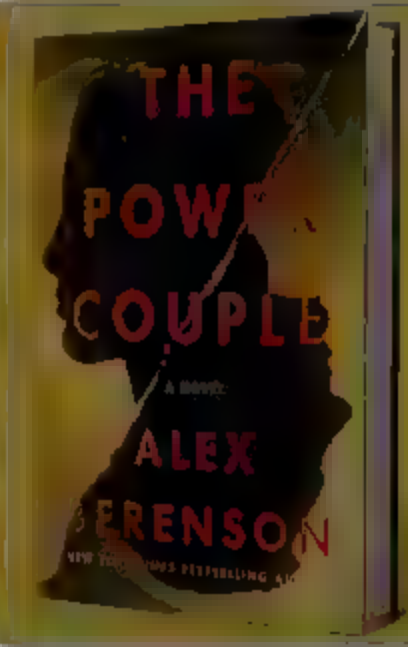
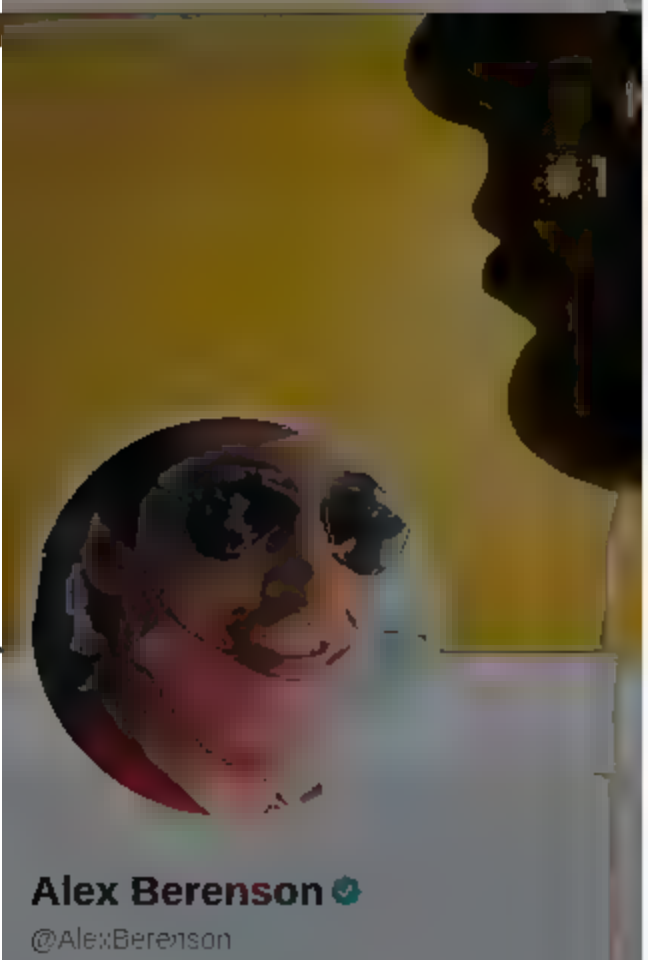
1 1 6



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 7 Jan 2019

Replying to and 5 others



4/ Here's how Dr. Hart describes another paper "of major importance":
"This well-controlled study examined the effect of an intervention designed to reduce cannabis use, and found no reduction in cannabis use and no effect on clinical outcomes."

1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Energy Control, Carl Hart, AccionTécnicaSocial and 2 others

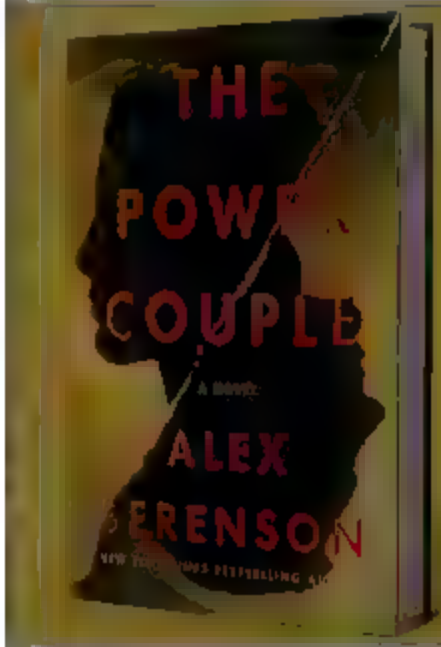
4 28 79

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 7 Jan 2019

3/ And here's how the authors describe their own findings:
"Overall, our results support the hypothesis that cannabis abuse of sufficient severity to be detected in Swedish registries has an appreciable causal impact on future risk for schizophrenia."

1 1 6

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted] and 5 others

4/ Here's how Dr. Hart describes another paper "of major importance":
"This well-controlled study examined the effect of an intervention designed to reduce cannabis use, and found no reduction in cannabis use and no effect on clinical outcomes."

2:11 PM - 7 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 1 Like

1 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Energy Control, Carl Hart, AccionTécnicaSocial and 2 others

4 28 79

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 4 others

1/ Zara: Thanks for pointing me to Dr. Hart's paper showing that the cannabis-psychosis link is unproven ! Silly me, I like to read the original source material, not just the secondary work advocates produce. Sometimes the differences are... interesting.

2:00 PM - 7 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 4 Likes

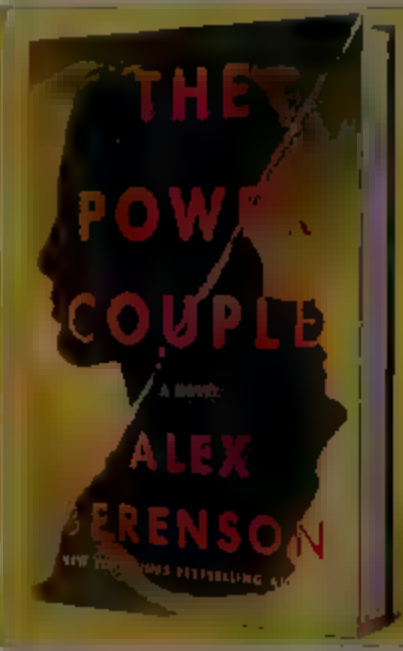
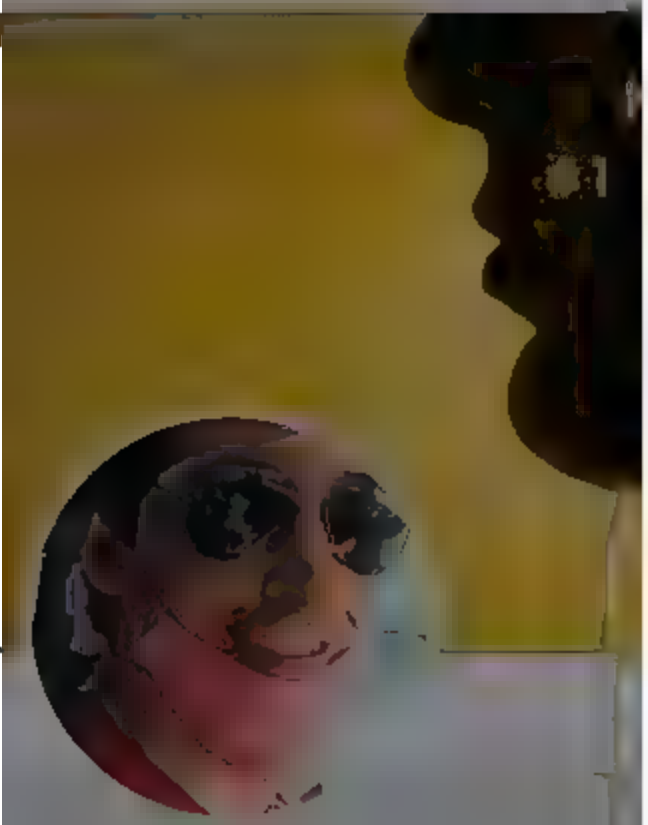
3 1 4



Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 8 Jan 2019

Replying to [redacted] and 5 others



It is good to read the source literature, but given that you do not understand basic concepts such as inclusion/exclusion criteria, I would have concerns about your ability to analyze them properly.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Hi Tom! Afraid to include me in the conversation, I see. Or to discuss the dangers advocates like you have been ignoring for far, far too long. I'm just the messenger. The facts are the problem. twitter.com/tomangell/stat...

4 22 114

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

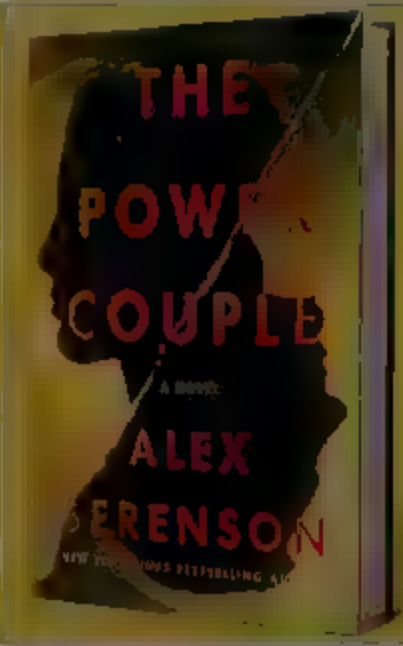
Replying to

You "can only assume?" Is that your approach to science, too, Dr. Hill? Instead of assuming, maybe read the book. Afterwards, if you have questions or comments, or believe I've made factual mistakes, let me know.
Best, Alex

11:00 AM - 7 Jan 2019

7 Likes

5 7



Blake Richards @tyrell_turing · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to
Note that was also commenting on your op-ed, no assumptions there. He was merely assuming that your book is equally bad about trivializing a complex subject. Seems a reasonable assumption...

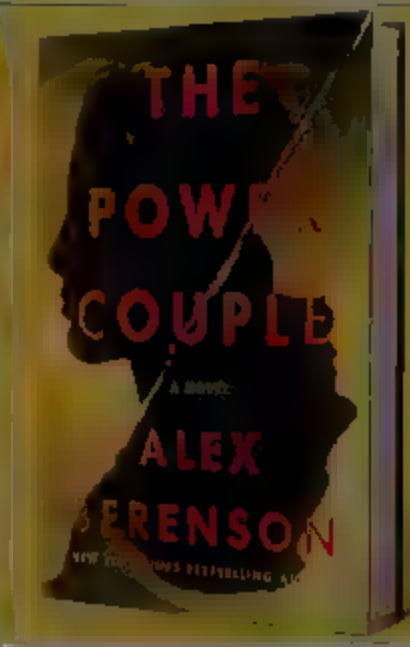
31

Shelagh campbell @CampbellShelagh · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to
'Read a book'? As if books don't have implicit assumptions?

1

Alexandre Fisette @Physettes · 8 Jan 2019
Replying to
Of course, scientist have to be crystal clear when they can « only assume ».

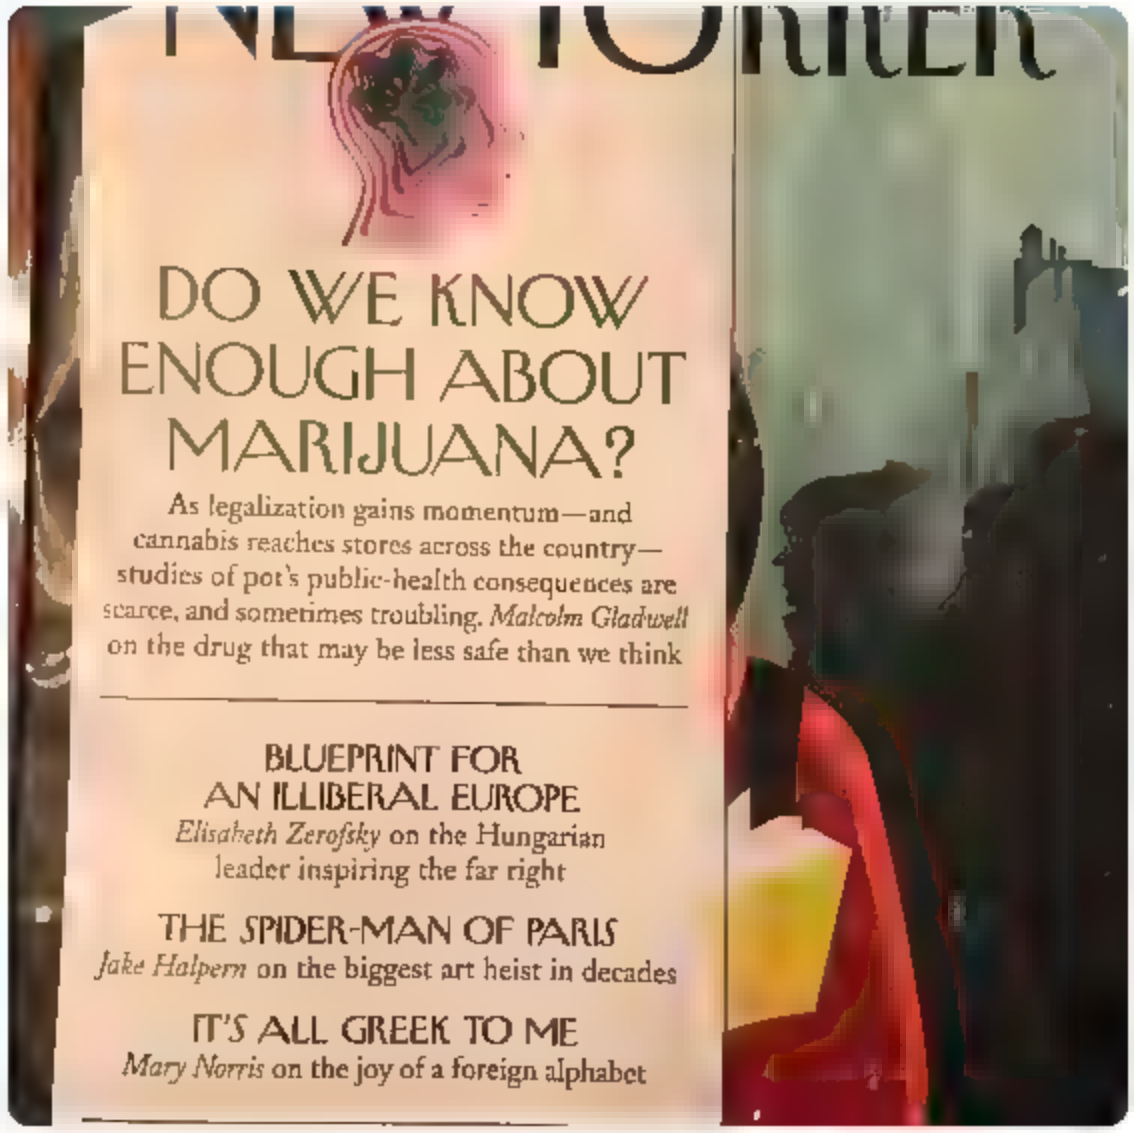
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

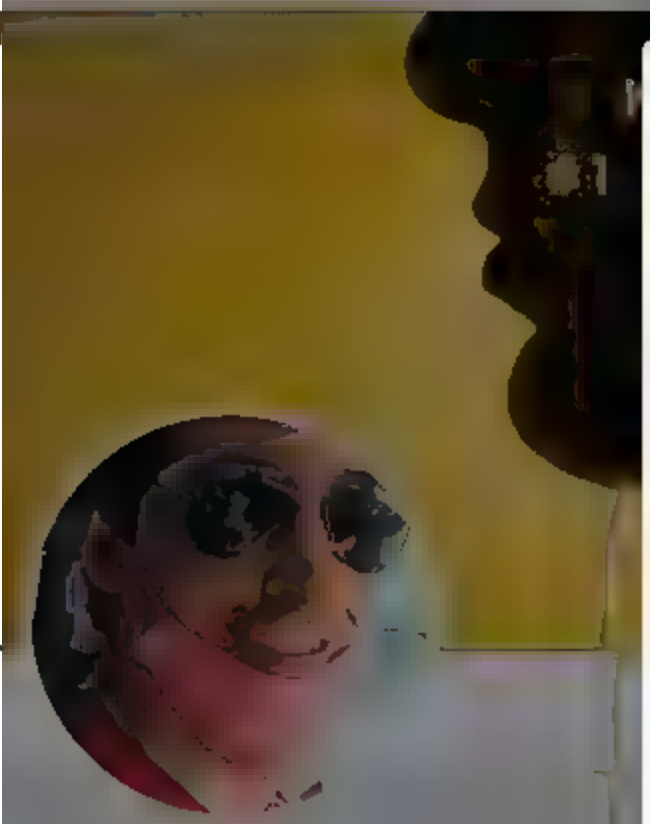


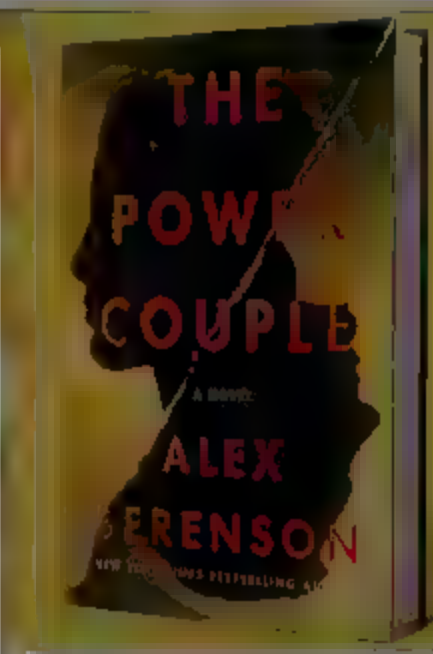
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hey, @Gladwell - thanks for the plug!





5:56 AM - 7 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 21 Likes

13 1 21

Heidi Harris @heidiology · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to @Gladwell

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Thanks for this - glad to hear you can separate the politics and the health issues. I wish more people would do the same! And thanks for the pre-order...

> Nick @Ktm3ten
> @AlexBerenson as a libertarian, I'm all for legalization. As a parent and member of society, I'm obligated to understand the risks that come with it. Thanks for doing this work and hopefully this will open eyes...
> Show this thread

4:40 AM - 7 Jan 2019

2 Retweets 9 Likes

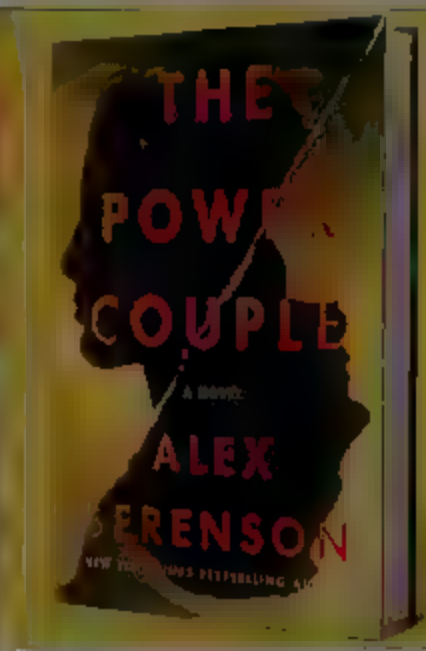
6 2 9

Twas4kids @twas4kids · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
This would be a discussion if we all lived in our own little nutshells - but we don't. People use marijuana and drive, they use marijuana and are responsible for young children's wellbeing, and use marijuana and harm their dna - for future offspring. We pay their health costs.

This Tweet is unavailable.

Nick @Ktm3ten · 7 Jan 2019
Would you be willing to let society off the hook for taking care of you if you chose to use pot? Liberty goes 2 ways. It's ok to want to be able to do whatever you want, but then you have to take care of yourself. Full legalization means giving up all benefits...who's in?



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Must be shocking, finding out that you can't just scream "Reefer Madness" and make me go away. By the way, legalization doesn't and can't end the black market unless you permit teen sales. Which is... not such a good idea.

> Tom Angell @tomangell
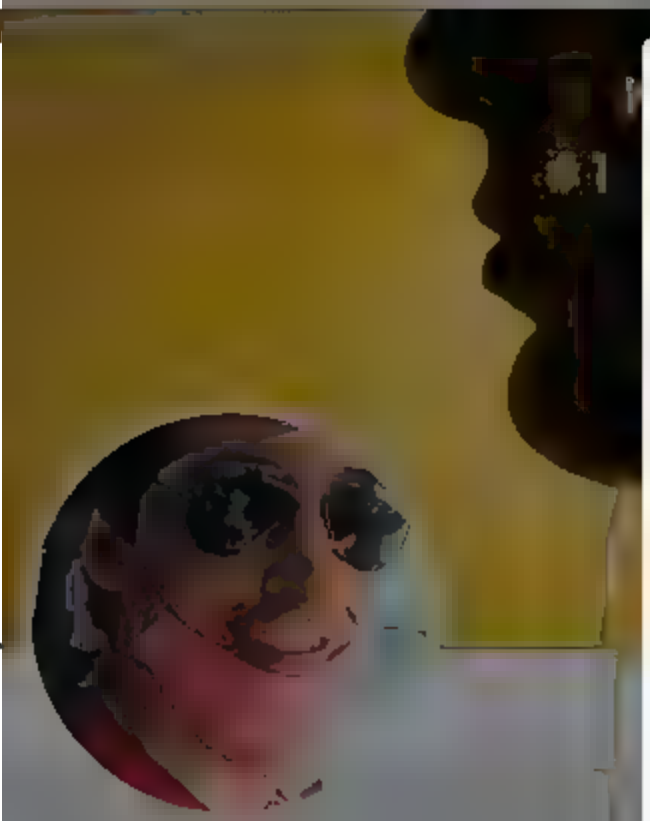
> Don't get tricked by Alex Berenson into arguing whether marijuana is safe or dangerous.
>
> Stay focused: No matter what one thinks of cannabis, prohibition increases all...

2:30 PM - 6 Jan 2019

24 Likes



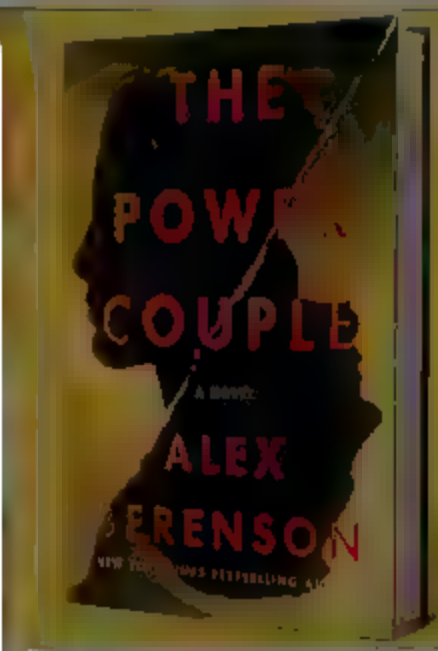
28 24

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 6 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
On the contrary, we have predicted that this book will be on the NY Times best seller list next week and will be in the # 1 position for several months. We also predict this book will end all state legal sales & will put 1 million in jail + 10 people to the beheading gallows.

Sense Offender @PampCapital · 6 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Work for the drug Cartels much or just doing their bidding to keep the black market strong?

¬InvitedInterlocutor @UnInterlocutor · 7 Jan 2019

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hi Tom! Afraid to include me in the conversation, I see. Or to discuss the dangers advocates like you have been ignoring for far, far too long. I'm just the messenger. The facts are the problem.

> Tom Angell @tomangell
> Don't get tricked by Alex Berenson into arguing whether marijuana is safe or dangerous.
>
> Stay focused: No matter what one thinks of cannabis, prohibition increases all...

2:03 PM - 6 Jan 2019

18 Retweets 89 Likes

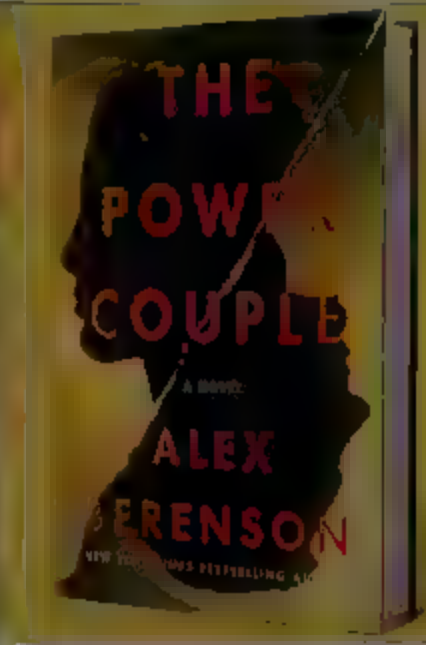
35 18 89

no place for hatred or violence @FabioDL · 6 Jan 2019
Replying to @AlexBerenson
We are already paying dearly with the increasing acceptance, and use, of marijuana. I feel so sad with the consequences, especially to teenagers and adults with psychiatric diseases.

2 2

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 6 Jan 2019
We r seeing better health4more folks bcause marijuana adjusts physiology towards health by lowering inflammation&oxidative damage b4 disease gets hold. Lower risks4cancer-type2diabetes-Alzheimers w/regular use of cannabis, facts documented.

Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 6 Jan 2019



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thanks @smerconish and @MotherJones for this excellent piece! I hope MJ will keep an eye on Altria, Tilray, and the commercialization of Big Weed going forward...

motherjones.com/politics/2019/

8:47 AM - 6 Jan 2019

7 Retweets 30 Likes

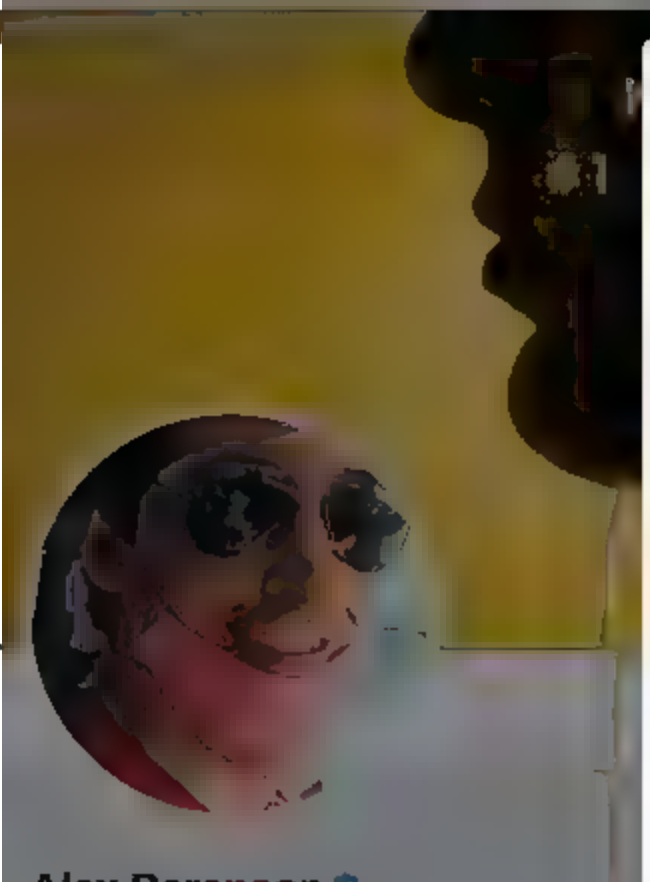
13 7 30

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 6 Jan 2019
Replying to
Utterly dishonest: Alex Berenson cherry-picks, then misrepresents data. Implies non-existent consensus. invokes magical powers of "big " - straw man. Uses false inferences. He flat-out lies about crime statistics. Makes false equivalency to opiates. Shame!

2 1 7

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 6 Jan 2019
Credit to Peter Grinspoon.



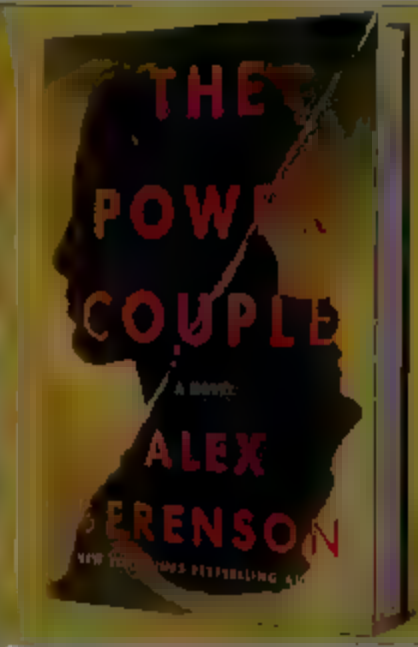
1

Joseph Drum @JDrum84 · 6 Jan 2019
Replying to
Full legalization will allow for home grow. So there's no reason to fear "big weed."

2 1

fan @kokondo12 · 6 Jan 2019
Agreed. That's already played out in Oregon.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Thanks, Commissioner!

> Bill Bratton @CommissBratton
> While the political race to legalize marijuana is accelerating, it's important to stay informed on all sides of the issue. These articles present some perspectives and facts from the 'other side.' nytimes.com/2019/01/04/opi… Via: @AlexBerenson @nytimes @nytopinion
> Show this thread

4:21 PM - 5 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 18 Likes

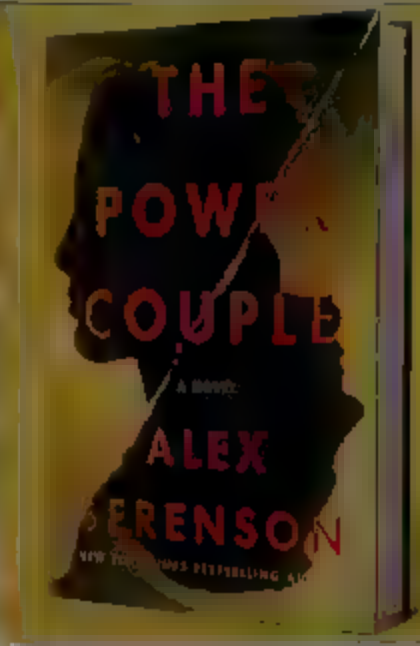
6 1 18



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 6 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
anything positive. Just because most adults have no problems in use, are moderate and responsible he focuses on extreme cases where we don't even know what the effect cannabis itself is on the violence, he shows gangster killing other gangster and had MJ in their system.

ro @roneshsofresh · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
Someday you both will look back on your lives and get very sad about how you spent your energy.

Bruce Barcott @BruceBarcott · 7 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
I once held positions very similar to the ones you're espousing now. Then I lived through legalization in my home state, spent years researching it, wrote a book, and changed my mind. "The other side" had 75 years to prove its case. It failed.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Jamie Wood @JamesEdWood · 6 Jan 2019
[redacted] Did you write an entire book about your concerns with marijuana legalization without applying a racial or economic justice lens?

1 1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Did you spend decades promoting the legalization of a psychomimetic drug without worrying about the misery and violence that psychosis causes? Funny thing about marijuana-induced mental illness - it affects every race.

7:48 AM · 6 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 1 Like

1 1 1

Jamie Wood @JamesEdWood · 6 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
Yikes!! Cringe. Also, my parents say hi.

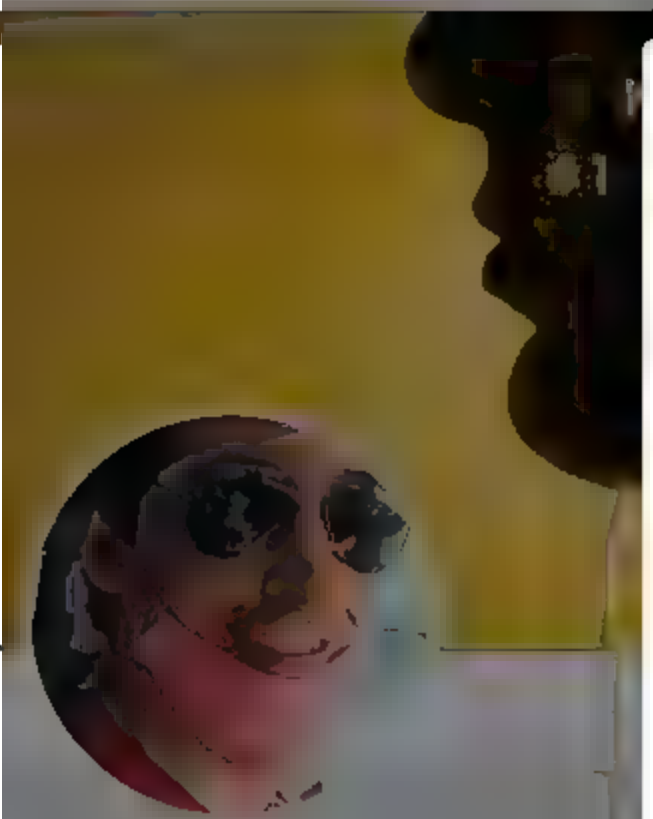
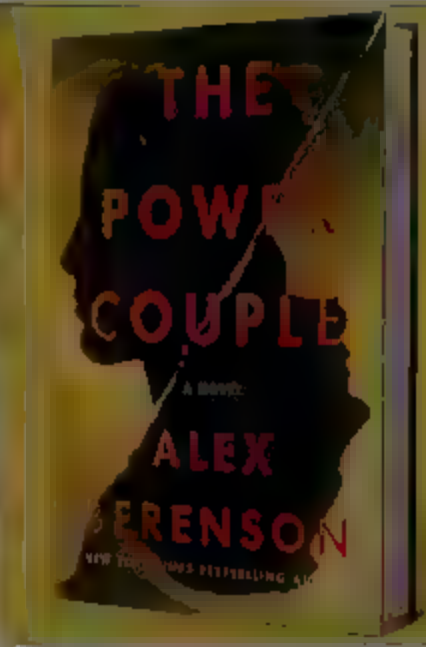
2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just another mellow smoker

> LegalizeNJ2018 @legalize_nj2018
> @AlexBerenson hey fuck you

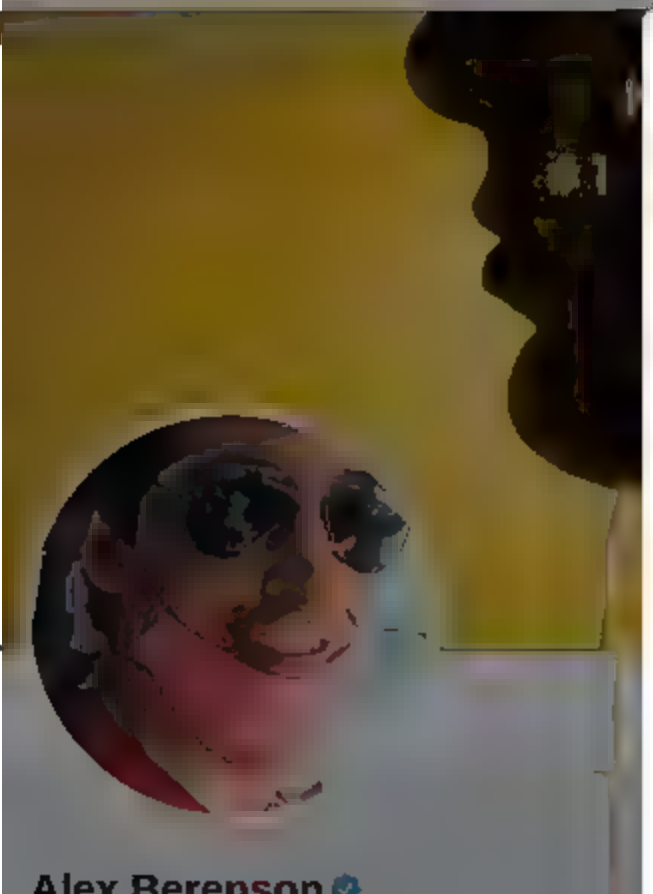
10:12 AM - 5 Jan 2019

21 Likes one

11 21

Chris @SJU56321 · 5 Jan 2019
Replying to
Wow-I don't want what he is smoking!

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 5 Jan 2019
Replying to
Given that "only 15 percent of people over 12 used it even once" and that a majority support legalization, it isn't safe to assume all your critics partake. When you demonize and advocate criminalizing people, you should expect some hostility from them.



5

Scott M. Gagnon @ScottMGagnon · 5 Jan 2019
Replying to and all 15 of his followers

3

Felix Jaramillo @oioifrollix · 5 Jan 2019
Replying to
"Decades ago, many of the same people pressing for marijuana legalization argued that the risks of opioid addiction could be easily managed."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

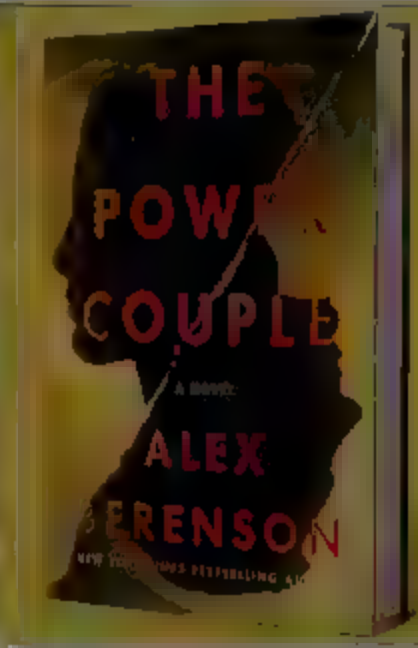
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

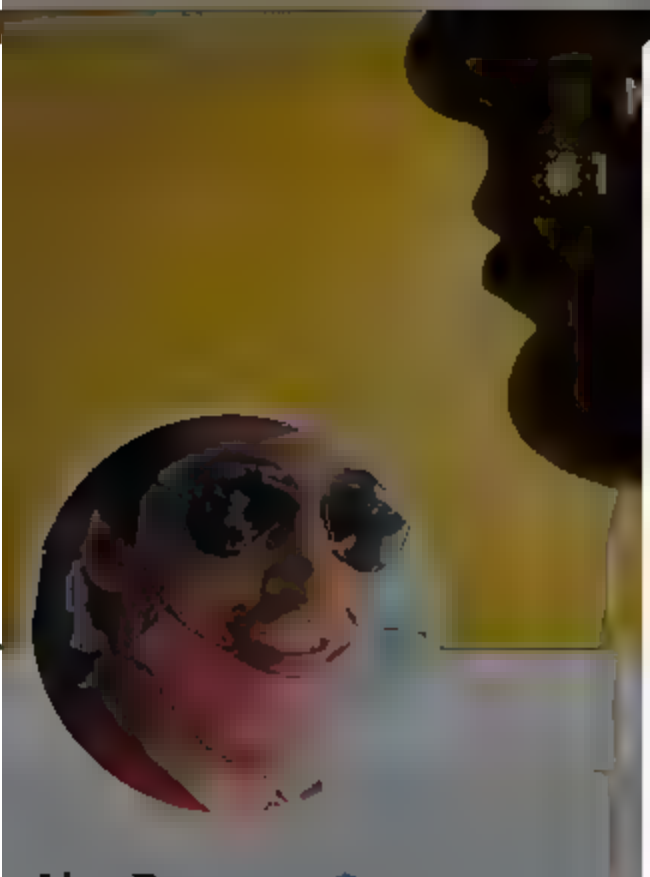
1800 comments in a few hours - I'm kinda sorry the Times closed the piece - I was wondering if we'd get to 5000 today...

editor for publication, write to letters@nytimes.com.

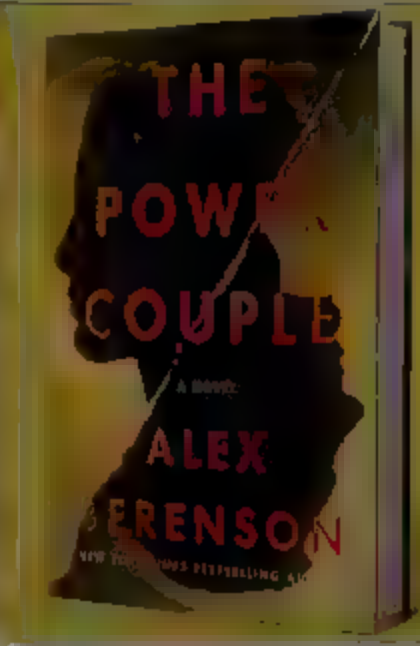


NYT Picks Reader Picks All

Loading...



10:29 AM - 5 Jan 2019



13 Likes

17 13

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 27 Dec 2018

But cannabis gets people off opioids, and British Columbia has some of the world's highest rates of cannabis use. I am soooo confused. Or maybe encouraging people at risk for addiction to use an addictive drug is... incredibly stupid?

Andrea Woo | 吳巍巍 @AndreaWoo

The latest B.C. overdose numbers are out. At least 120 ppl died of illicit drug overdoses in B.C. in Nov., bringing 2018 total, with one month remaining, to at least 1,380 people dead. 2018 total was 1,486. Fentanyl detected in 13 3 12

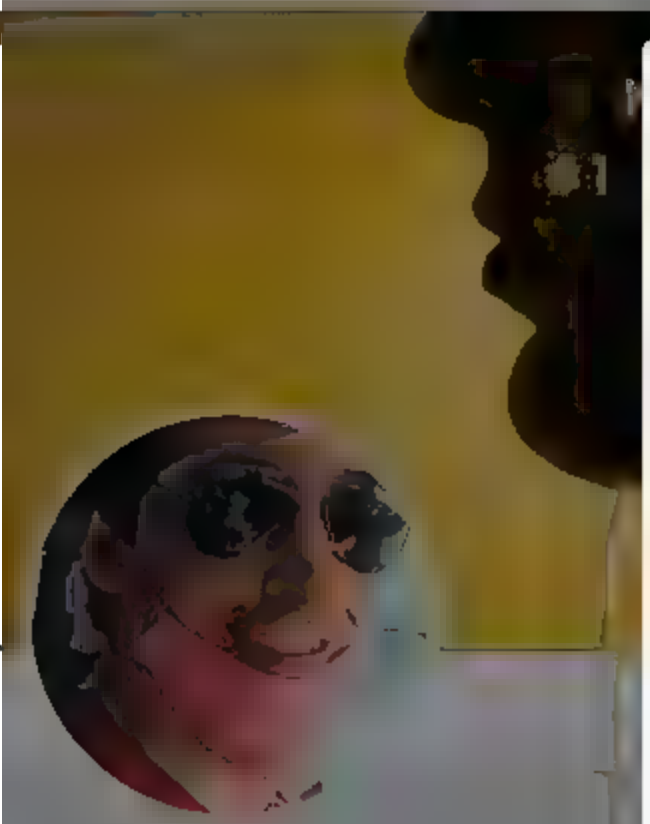
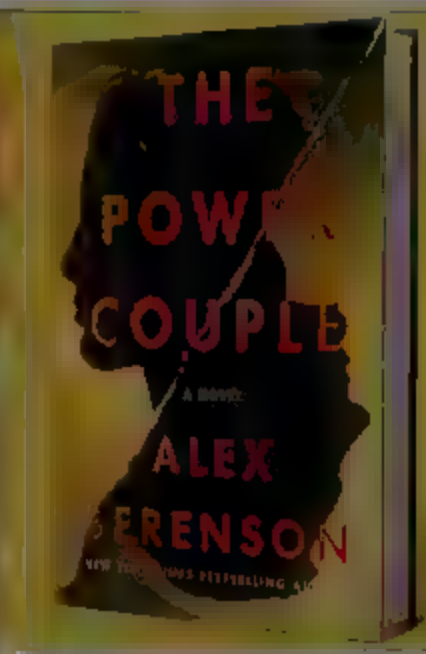
This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]



I'd go on with him any time



10:06 AM - 3 Jan 2019

1 1

Show additional replies, including those that may contain offensive content Show

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Things that make me laugh:
Being told I'm a shill for the drug industry. Ask Eli Lilly about that.
"Cannibus"
Studies in mice being cited to show THC has medicinal value.
Being cursed at by the same people who insist marijuana relaxes them.

T minus 5.

12:49 PM - 3 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 21 Likes

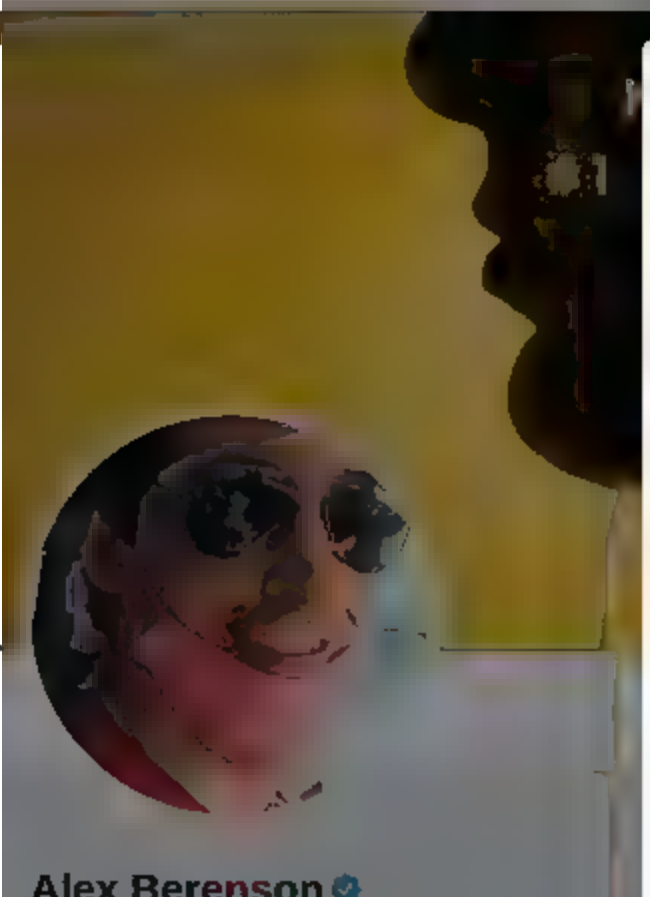
30 1 21

Jerome D. Grazioli @grazioli_jerome · 3 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]
You asked for it.



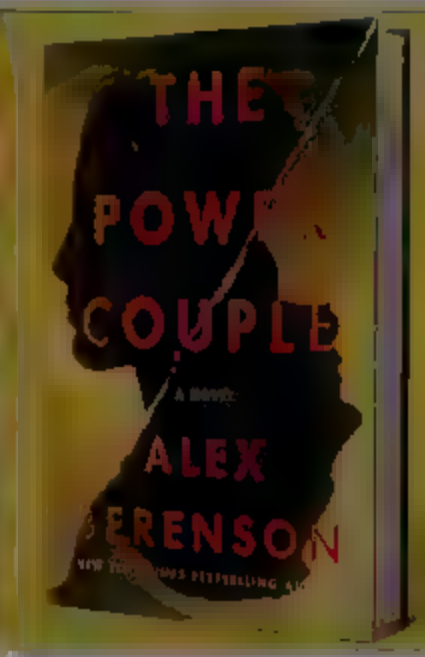
I don't know what your experience has been, so I won't be too harsh, but your arrogance on this topic is very paternalistic- and frankly- the wrong way to approach this issue.

Stay open-minded about the potential benefits, Alex.

1 7

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 3 Jan 2019
I don't know what his experiences have been but from following his Twitter account he seems pretty arrogant and full of himself. He's as nutty as Sabet and that's saying something.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Five days to publication...

7:19 AM - 3 Jan 2019

42 Retweets 81 Likes

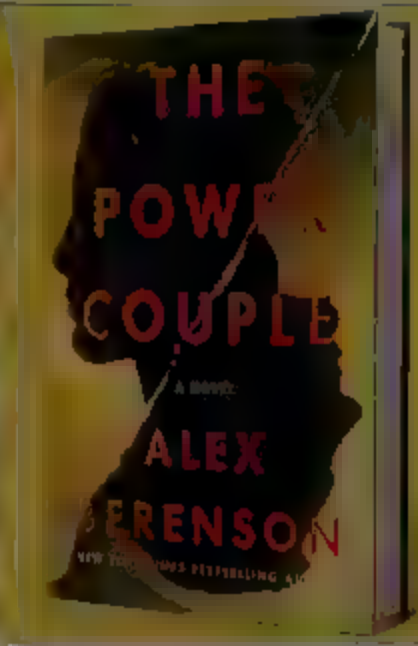
59 42 81

A Crypto Nomad @ACryptoNomad · 3 Jan 2019
Replying to [redacted]
article is wack. It says they have no evidence but lets link it anyway.

10

This Tweet is unavailable.

Neil schoolnik @Neilschoolnik · 3 Jan 2019



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

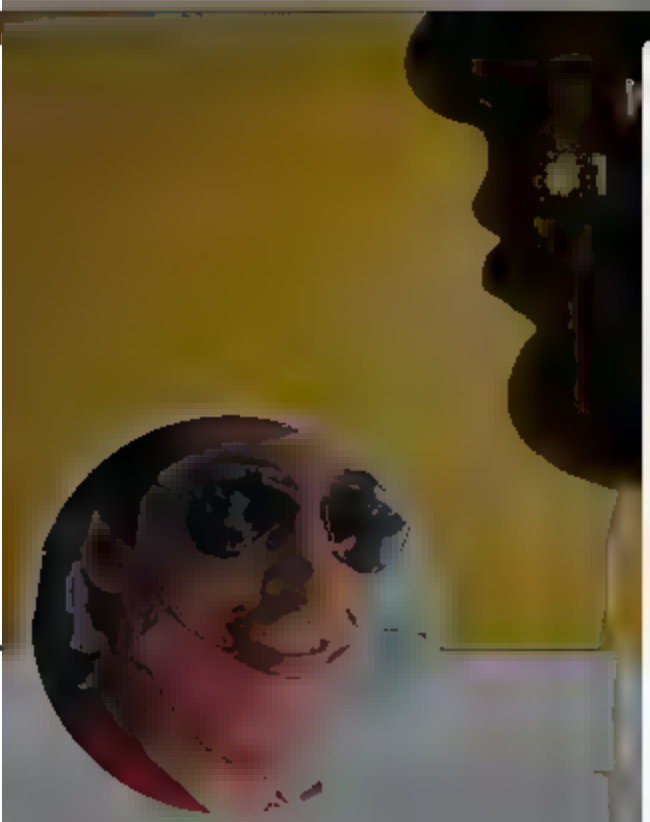
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Happy New Year! One week to Tell Your Children. Much news ahead.

Meanwhile, about that whole legal-cannabis-is-going-to-be-a-giant-market thing:



8:22 AM - 1 Jan 2019

1 Retweet 5 Likes

7 1 5

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 1 Jan 2019
Replying to [illegible]

[illegible] legalization is not about generating funds4kleptocrats 2waste, its about allowing access2 a product w/powerful antitumor-neuroprotective&health-nurturing effects, w/out the risk of arrest, fines&prison. The anti-inflammatory properties=[illegible]

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

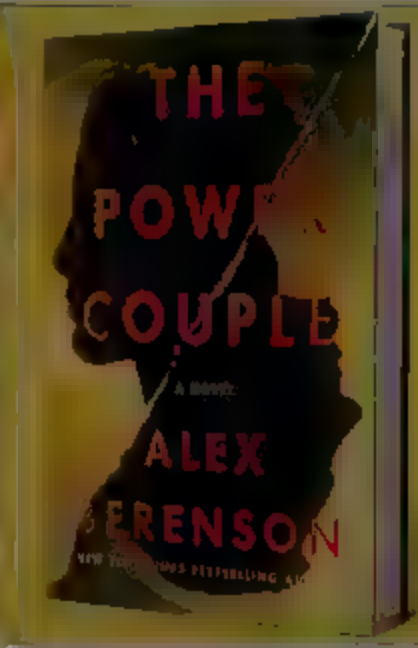
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Anyone who thinks China's sudden slide off an economic cliff benefits the US by increasing our leverage in trade talks is:

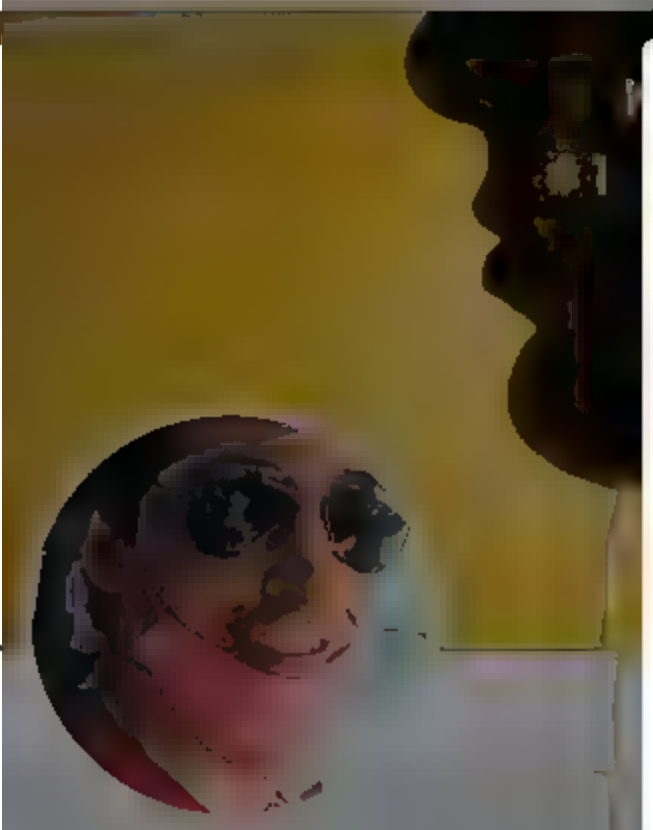
2:09 PM - 2 Jan 2019

1 Like



4 1

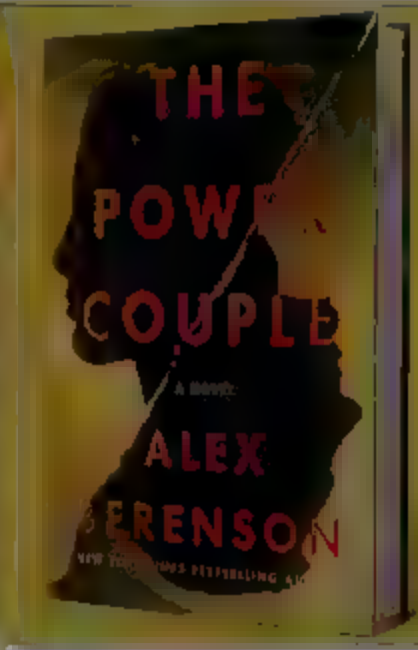
TrumpFansBlog @TrumpFansBlog · 4 Jan 2019



Replying to

You sound like the neo-conservatives from the 1990's. is the term and their endless which was just another war on the American people Trump is correct; of the people

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

I can't wait to hear about all the shootings at liquor stores. I know. That's because alcohol causes violence. Just like cannabis...

11:31 AM - 31 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 11 Likes

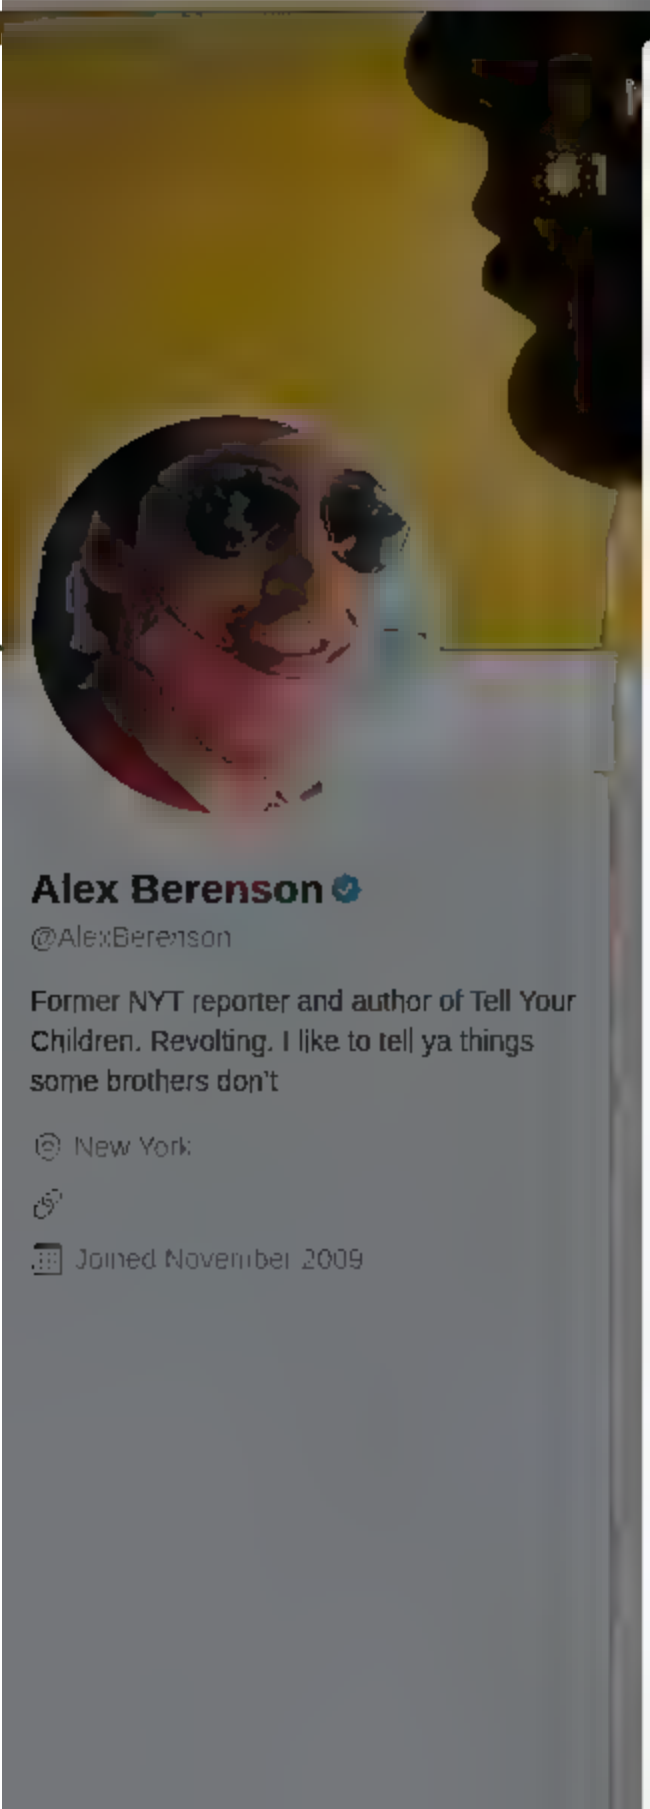
18 1 11

This Tweet is unavailable.

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 1 Jan 2019
"Few people dispute that alcohol contributes to domestic violence. They probably don't flinch if you say methamphetamine is a cause. But they viciously attack anyone who blames the sacred marijuana plant."



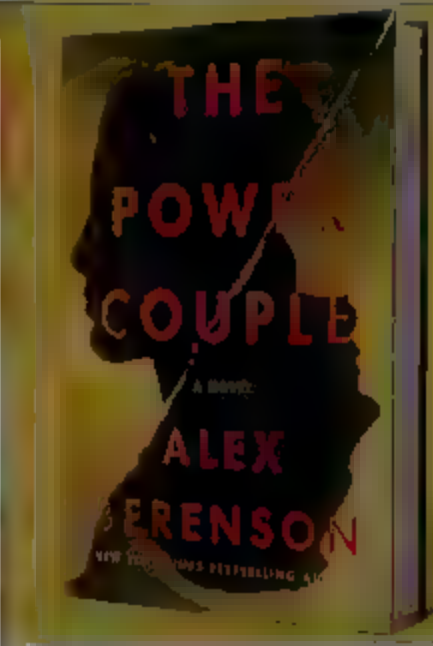
1

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 31 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
So when are you writing the book on booze and going on a podcast to argue in favor or recriminalization of alcohol possession and consumption? How many people are going to be arrested tonight because of alcohol? What are those cop checkpoints for?

1

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 31 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
90000 people a year die in alcohol-related incidents. Perhaps if we could actually study cannabis, like if it was on a lesser schedule or Idon't know, not scheduled, we'd have a more accurate look at just how many deaths it causes but right now everything's heresay.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Can't make it up:

"Police tracked the driver at his home in Federal Way. He told them he had been "really high" and heard shots, but thought they were not from his car."

thenewstribune.com/news/local/art ...

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> About that no-one-ever-gets-shot-at-legal-dispensaries thing...
>
> wxyz.com/news/man-fatal...

11:27 AM - 31 Dec 2018

2 Retweets 5 Likes

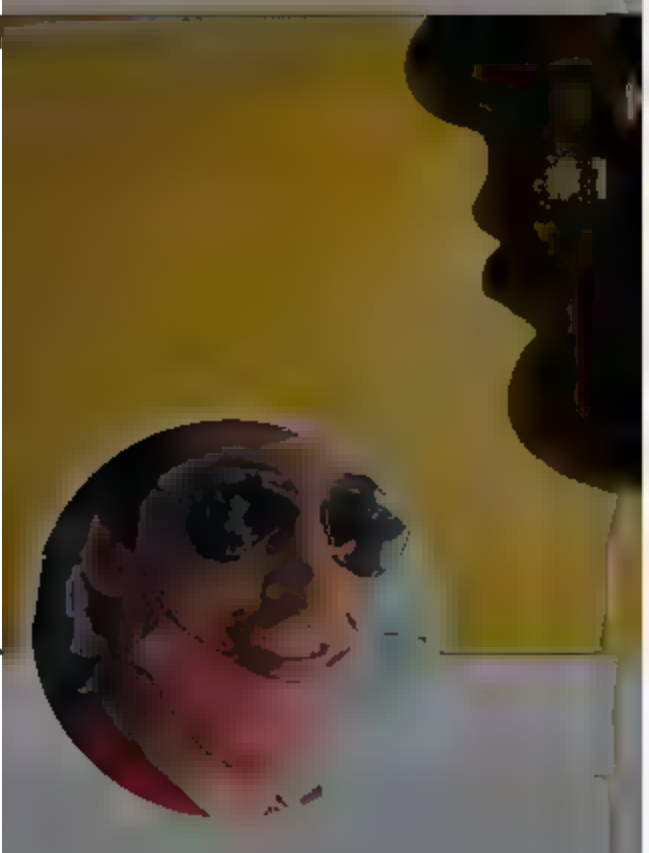
1 2 5

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 31 Dec 2018
Replying to



"When police contacted the 18-year-old, he eventually told them that the people outside the store had harassed him several days before, and that one had showed him a gun in his waistband. On Saturday, the 18-year-old brought a handgun and two of the people in the same group..."

1

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 31 Dec 2018
When someone shoots at you I challenge you to tell me where the shots are coming from. You can be high or sober. I bet you can't tell where they came from

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

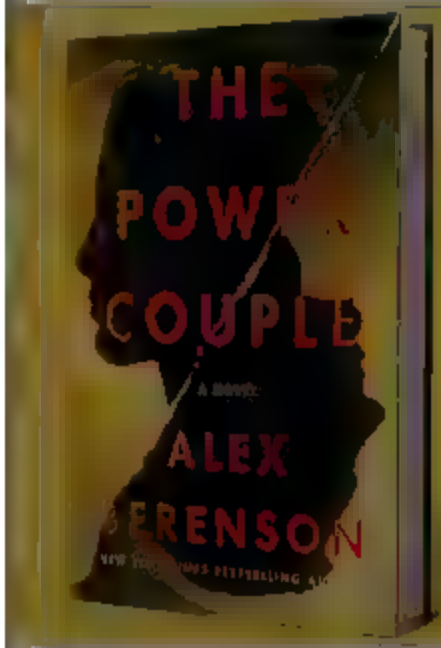
About that no-one-ever-gets-shot-at-legal-dispensaries thing...

wxyz.com/news/man-fata… …

pe.com/2018/05/24/3-p… …

denvernews.com/story/news/loc… …

columbiatribune.com/news/20181… …



reviewjournal.com/crime/shooting… …!

11:26 AM - 31 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 6 Likes

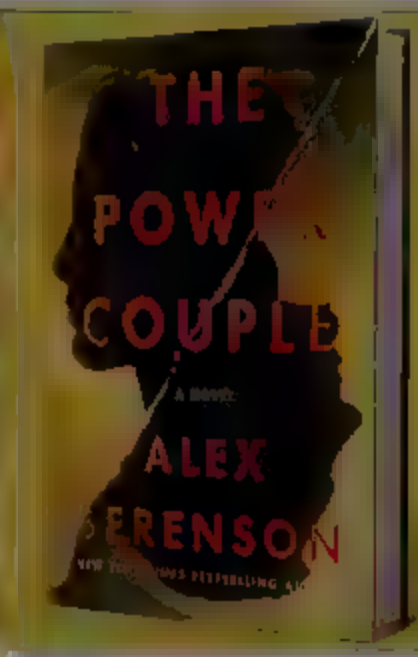
6 1 6

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

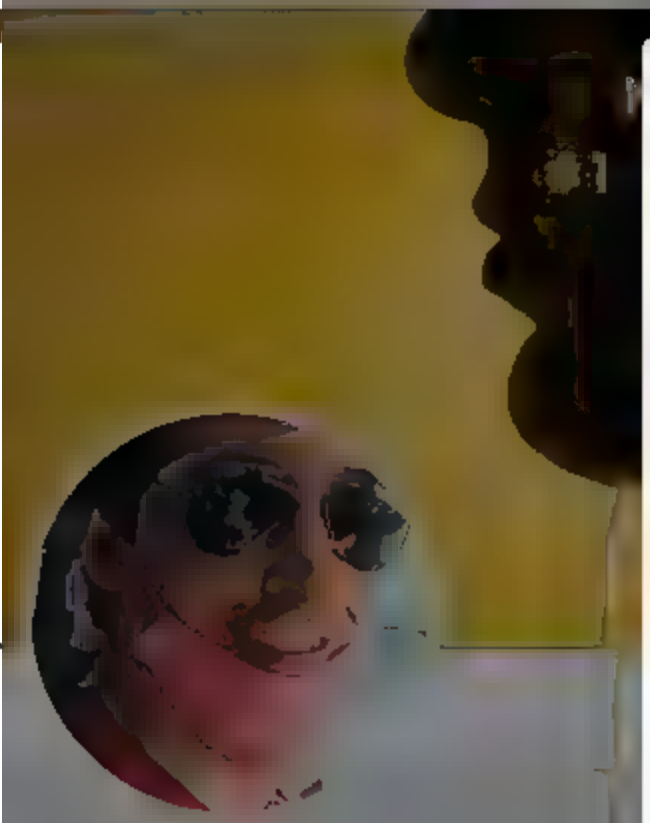
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Actually, to say it's only a matter of time is a misnomer, Murders already happen at grow houses - and during street-level dealing - all the time. But I mean the kind of violence that will get national attention.

3:30 PM - 30 Dec 2018

4 Likes



2 4

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 31 Dec 2018

Replying to

"Witnesses told investigators they saw Coughlin with large amounts of marijuana packaged in a manner consistent with the marijuana owned by the victims, as well as large amounts of cash following the homicides." Your parents must be proud of your total lack of critical thinking.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

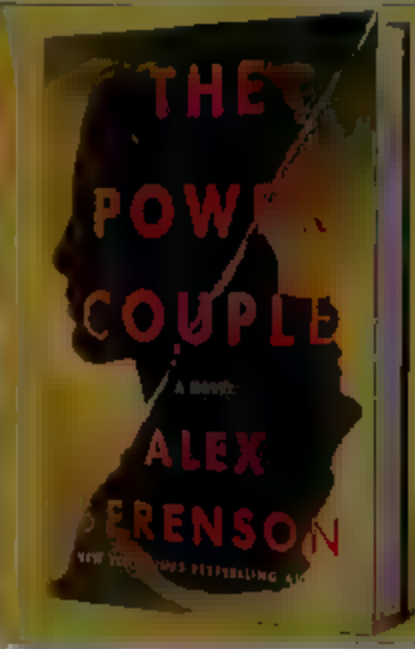
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

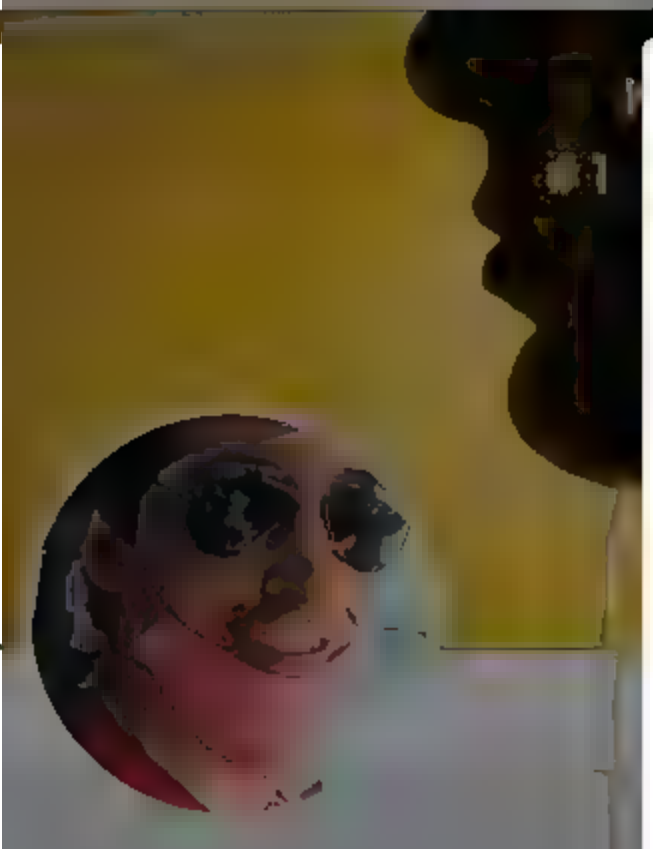
Luckily the police found this non-violent member of the Church of Cannabis before he could "fulfill his prophecy," but it is only a matter of time - and not much time - before something terrible happens at a dispensary or grow house...

3:25 PM - 30 Dec 2018



2 Likes

5 2

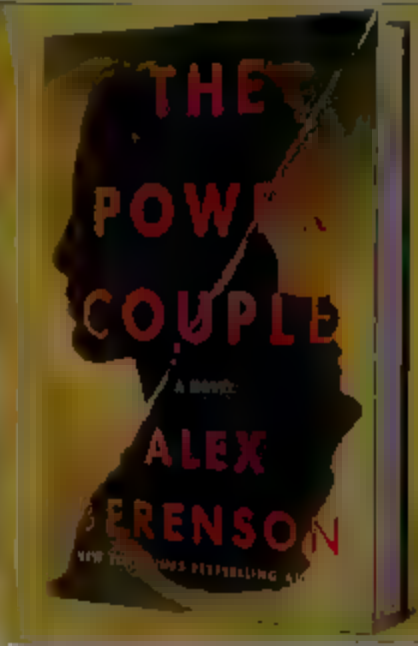


'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 31 Dec 2018

Replying to

So, it would appear that Texas continuing to arrest and imprison perfectly functional adults who use cannabis had absolutely no effect on preventing this

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

But cannabis gets people off opioids, and British Columbia has some of the world's highest rates of cannabis use. I am soooo confused. Or maybe encouraging people at risk for addiction to use an addictive drug is... incredibly stupid?

Andrea Woo | 吳瑞楓 @AndreaWoo
The latest B.C. overdose numbers are out. At least 120 ppl died of illicit drug overdoses in B.C. in Nov., bringing 2018 total, with one month remaining, to at least 1,380 people dead. 2018 total was 1,486. Fentanyl detected in ~85%.

5:12 PM - 27 Dec 2018

3 Retweets 12 Likes

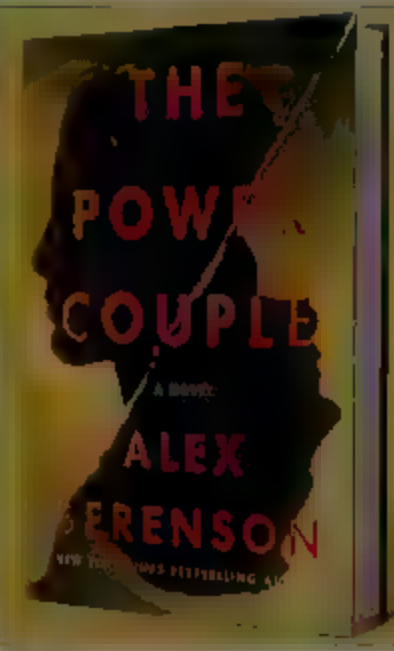
13 3 12

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 27 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
We don't see the majority of Cannabis consumers abusing Cannabis or the opioids. Since we will never remove Cannabis completely what is the point of these end run games. There will always be problems stemming from broken families, lack of mental health family stabilization pgms.

1

Billy Campbell @BillyFCampbell · 28 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
That is a ridiculous and unscientific conclusion. A much more likely reason is the increased usage of fentanyl.

1 1



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

And here's some of what a five-minute search on CL in Denver turned up. I particularly like the third one - but wait! I thought cannabis was a solution to the opioid epidemic. Guess the dealers disagree.

9:55 AM - 26 Dec 2018

8 Retweets 19 Likes

12 8 19

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 26 Dec 2018

Replying to

So are all those people who are saying cannabis helped them kick heroin lying to us? I know of people who said that they were able to get off heroin when they started using cannabis

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Dr. Grinspoon - nice to hear from a man who has firsthand experience with the gateway hypothesis. But then I suppose drug idiocy runs in the family.

6:40 PM - 25 Dec 2018

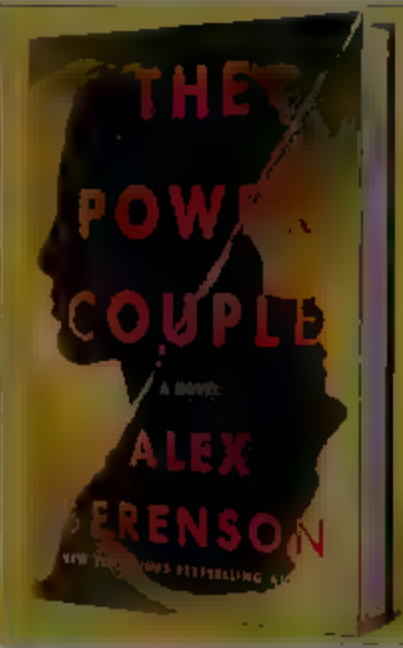
4 Likes

11 4

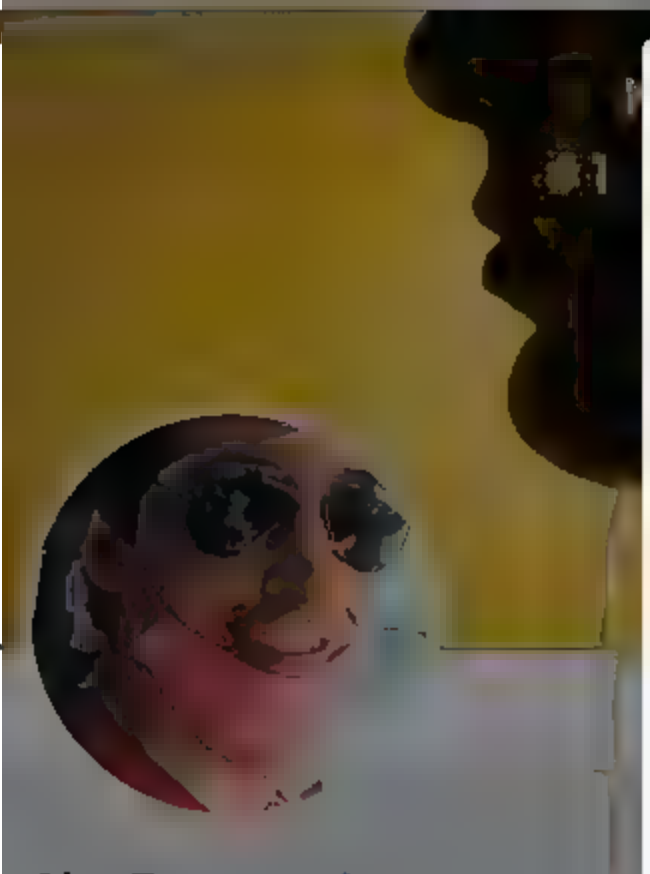
liz a bayley taylor and dana fan aka fpimp @freedompi... · 25 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

What are you talking about dude



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

For what it's worth the polls I've found that break out support by race show that blacks and especially Hispanics support legalization less than whites (though at this point a majority of blacks say they favor it).

> Douglas A. Berman @SLandP
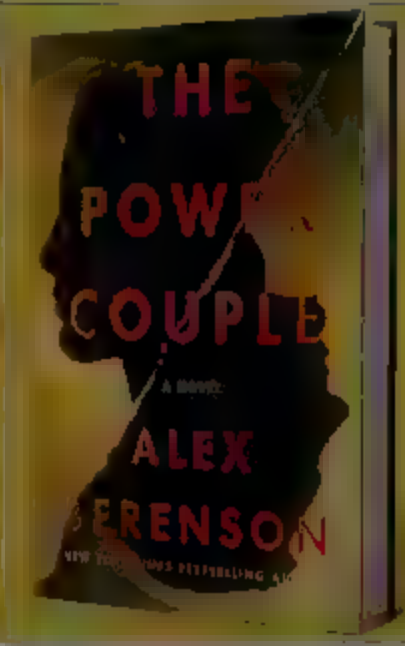
> Replying to @mystocean @AlexBerenson @CoryBooker
> What do communities of color say about balance of harms/benefits. Each community should have say in which risks/harms/benefits matter most.

3:33 PM - 25 Dec 2018

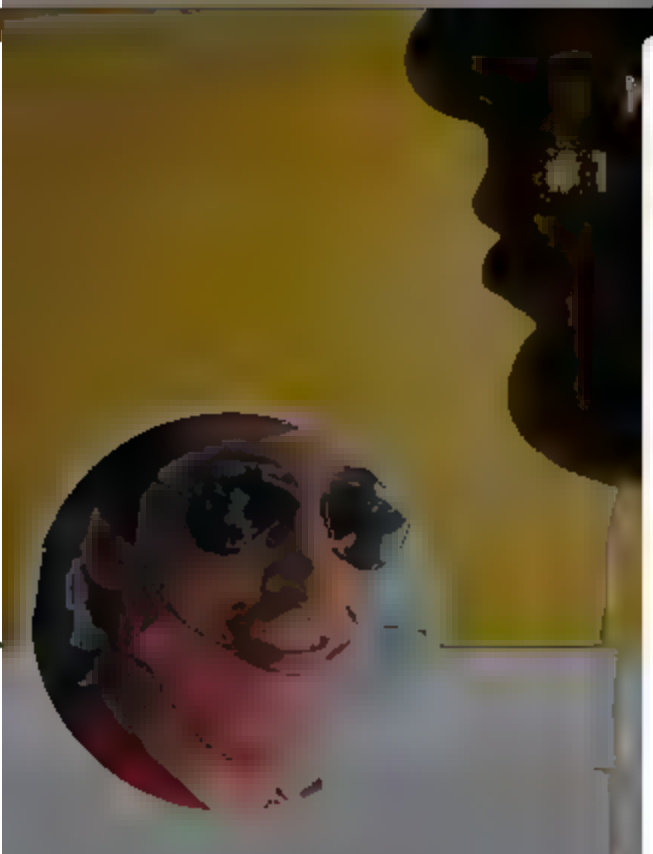
3 Likes

4 3



Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 25 Dec 2018
Replying to

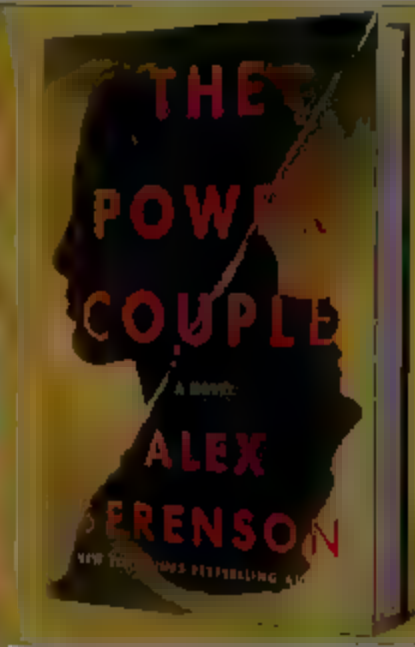
Very true. NY poll showed blacks less + on legal pot than whites. And, when given 3 options including decrim, overall support for legalization dropped from 60% to 40%. Majority favor decrim or status quo.



Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 25 Dec 2018
Replying to

We must change the system. Status quo's not working. Not working at all.

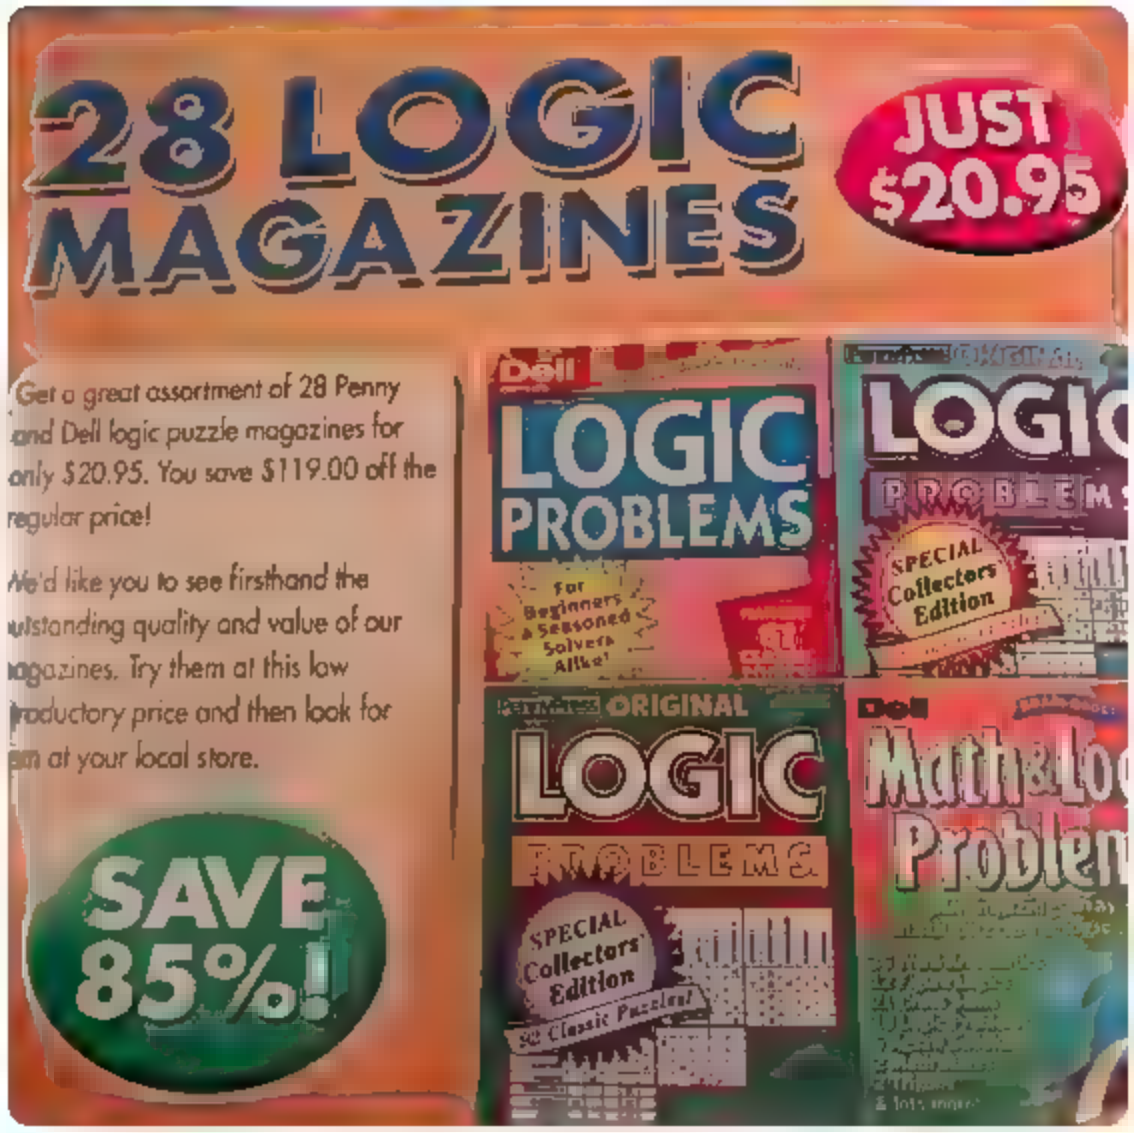
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York



Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hey, @mtaleb - it turns out logic really is cheap!

2:59 PM - 25 Dec 2018

2 Likes

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

prisoners reported using at the time of their crime. And 2013 data in arrestees shows that about 1/2 tested positive for THC.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018

4/ And data from the states that track drug use by people who have killed children from abuse or neglect shows that about 1/3 were using cannabis at the time (sometimes with other drugs).

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

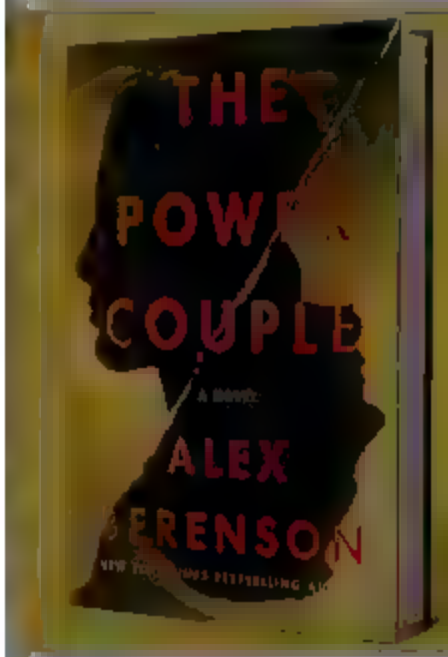
Follow

Replying to [redacted]

5/ I know the response will be that cannabis users skew younger/more male than the general population - thus more violent - so the 6% figure isn't directly comparable. True. But that figure hugely overstates the actual amount of time users are high.

2:41 PM - 24 Dec 2018

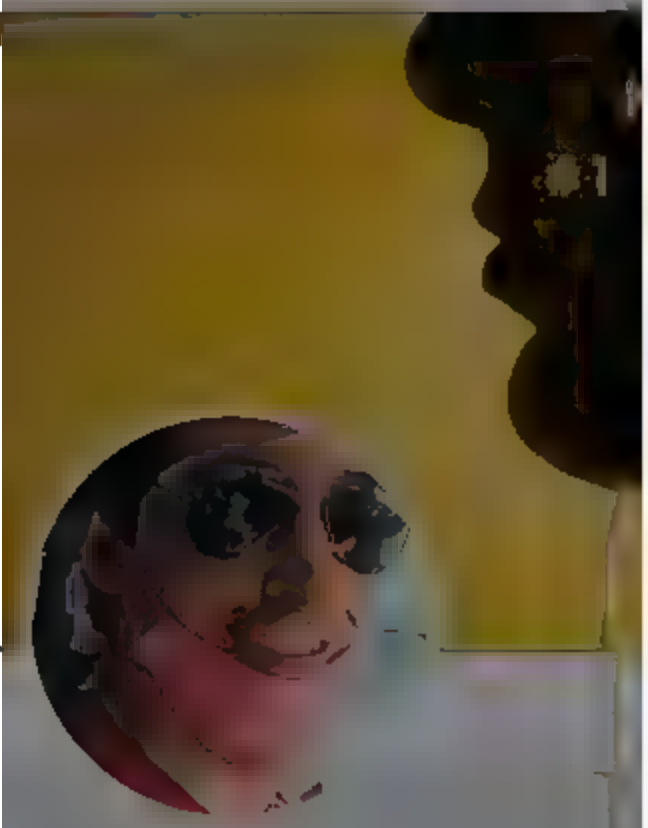
1



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

My question remains.



Suppose cannabis typically makes consumers content, sedentary and mellow. How many violent crimes does it then prevent? Alas, the Daily Mail doesn't report stoners harmlessly playing video games.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018

4/ And data from the states that track drug use by people who have killed children from abuse or neglect shows that about 1/3 were using cannabis at the time (sometimes with other drugs).

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

6/ And even so it is far, far lower than the levels of cannabis use that arrestees and prisoners report. There's no way to squeeze the truth out of the numbers; people committing crime use cannabis far more often than the general population.

2:44 PM - 24 Dec 2018

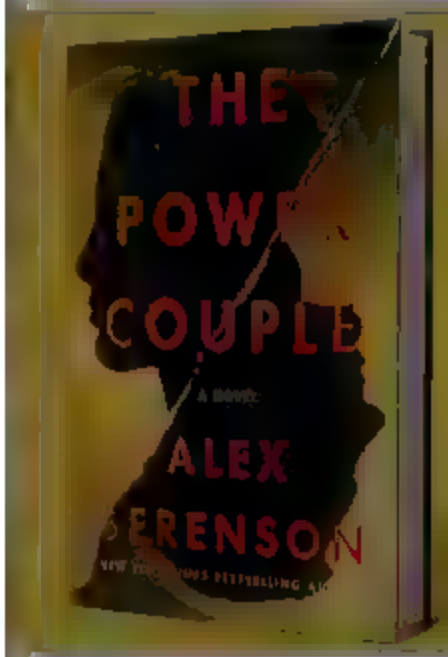
1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Dec 2018

Replying to

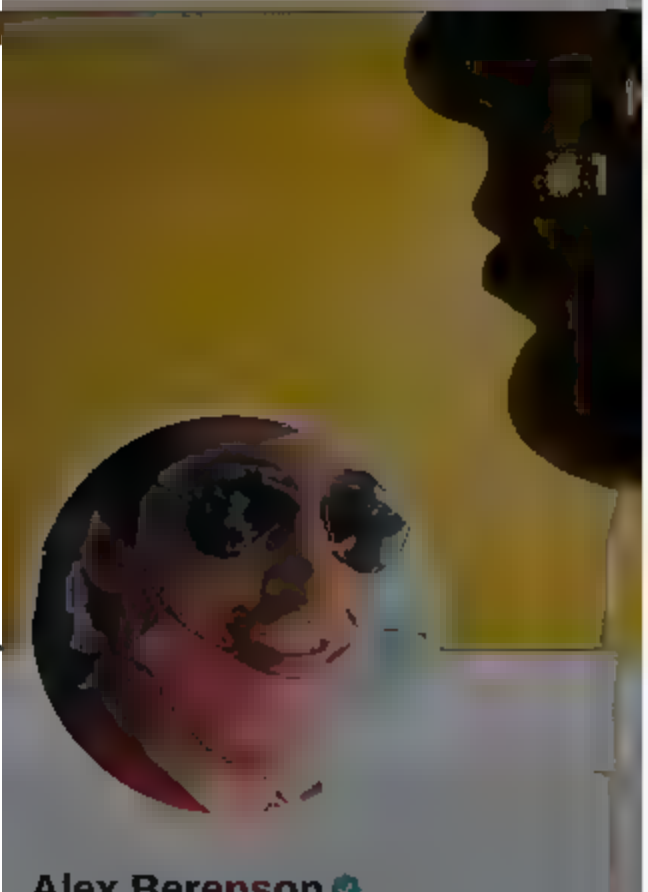
The Supreme Court of Canada concluded that cannabis is not criminogenic. Granted, most people who use cannabis are by definition criminals.

Consider seat belts. Sometimes, but rarely, they contribute to deaths, but on balance they save lives. How about cannabis?



2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018



If that theory were true, then we wouldn't see the huge excess of use among criminals. Alcohol is a good comparator; most people who use it don't become violent, but it is criminogenic nonetheless. I can't find the SCC ruling, btw - can you point me to it?

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

population.

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Dec 2018

The Supreme Court of Canada concluded that cannabis is not criminogenic. Granted, most people who use cannabis are by definition criminals.

Consider seat belts. Sometimes, but rarely, they contribute to deaths, but on balance they save lives. How about cannabis?

2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

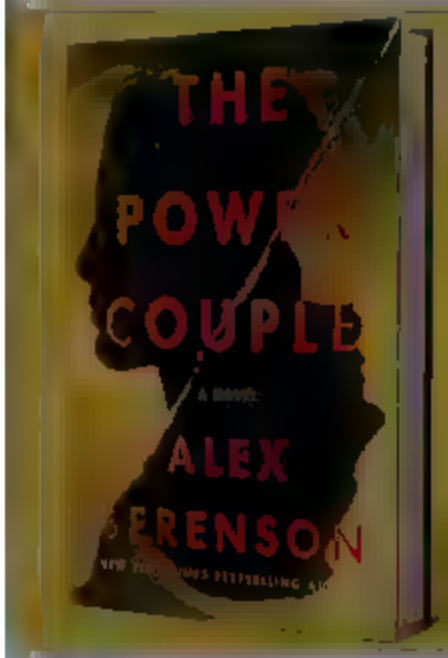
Follow

Replying to [redacted]

If that theory were true, then we wouldn't see the huge excess of use among criminals. Alcohol is a good comparator; most people who use it don't become violent, but it is criminogenic nonetheless. I can't find the SCC ruling, btw - can you point me to it?

3:31 PM - 24 Dec 2018

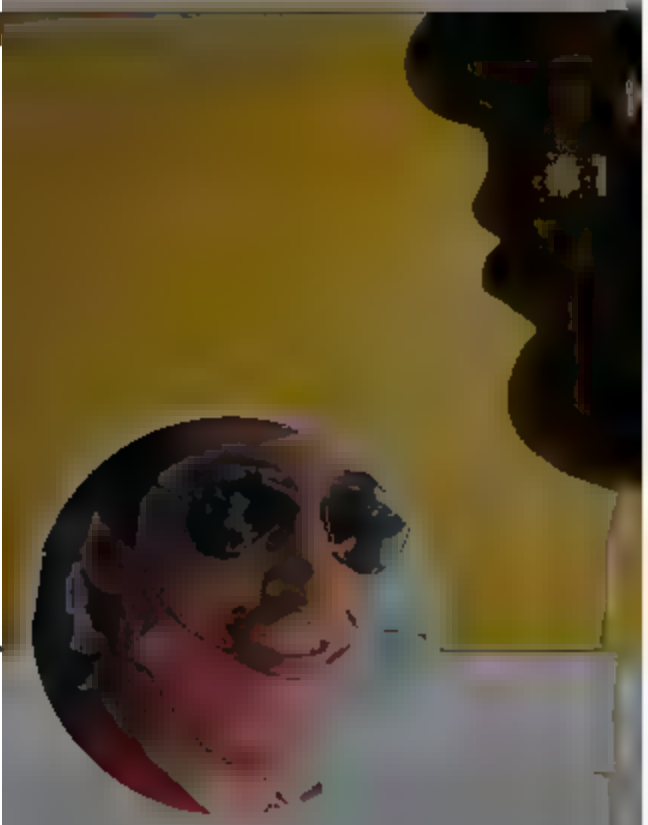
1



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

You're conflating crime with violence. Chronic cannabis use usually stems from childhood trauma. The traumatized tend to be deviant. Alcohol is criminogenic because it lowers inhibitions.



[redacted]

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2/ That's too big an estimate, but for argument's sake it'll work. Then add the 8MM daily users - say they were high all the time too. So - at the very, very top end of the range - 17MM people in all, about 6% of the 12+ population, were high at any moment last year.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

3/ We don't have any data on cannabis use by arrestees or prisoners for 2017. But BJS data from 2004 - when use was MUCH lower - shows that about 20% of prisoners reported using at the time of their crime. And 2013 data in arrestees shows that about 1/2 tested positive for THC.

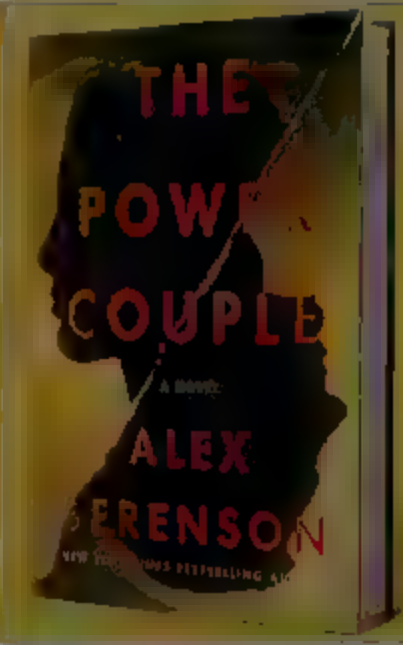
2:03 PM - 24 Dec 2018

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018

Replying to

4/ And data from the states that track drug use by people who have killed children from abuse or neglect shows that about 1/3 were using cannabis at the time (sometimes with other drugs).



2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018

5/ I know the response will be that cannabis users skew younger/more male than the general population - thus more violent - so the 6% figure isn't directly comparable. True. But that figure hugely overstates the actual amount of time users are high.

1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Setting prohibition-related violence aside, there were 1,247,321 violent crimes in the U.S. in 2017. 35 million Americans consume cannabis at least once a month. How many violent crimes should we expect them to commit if cannabis neither increases nor decreases violence?

2

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

2/ That's too big an estimate, but for argument's sake it'll work. Then add the 8MM daily users - say they were high all the time too. So - at the very, very top end of the range - 17MM people in all, about 6% of the 12+ population, were high at any moment last year.

2:01 PM - 24 Dec 2018

1

Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

3/ We don't have any data on cannabis use by arrestees or prisoners for 2017. But BJS data from 2004 - when use was MUCH lower - shows that about 20% of prisoners reported using at the time of their crime. And 2013 data in arrestees shows that about 1/2 tested positive for THC.

1

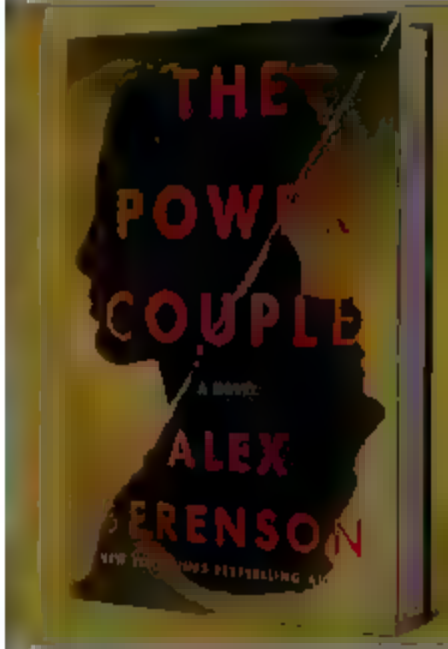
Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018

4/ And data from the states that track drug use by people who have killed children from abuse or neglect shows that about 1/3 were using cannabis at the time (sometimes with other drugs).

2

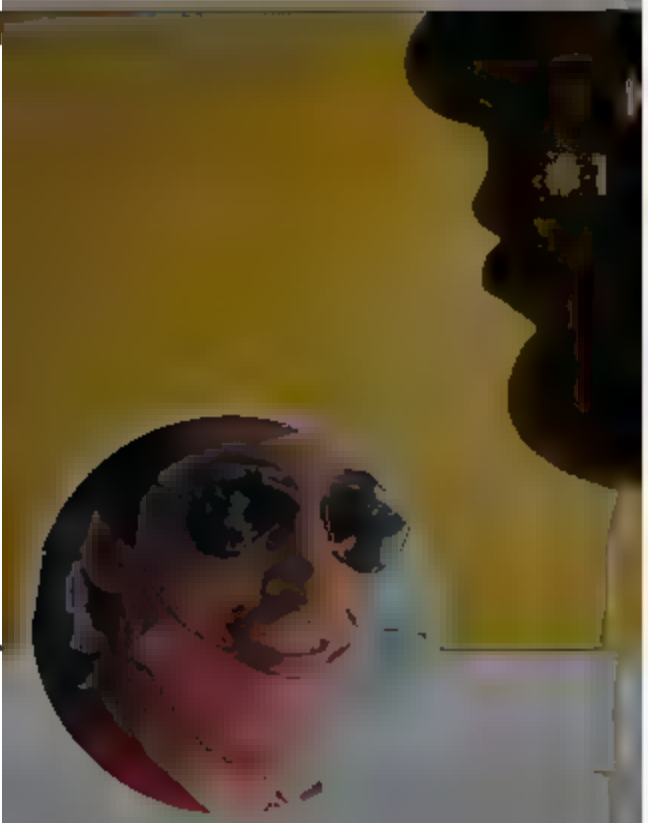
[redacted]

Home About



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ We don't have any data on cannabis use by arrestees or prisoners for 2017. But BJS data from 2004 - when use was MUCH lower - shows that about 20% of prisoners reported using at the time of their crime. And 2013 data in arrestees shows that about 1/2 tested positive for THC.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

4/ And data from the states that track drug use by people who have killed children from abuse or neglect shows that about 1/3 were using cannabis at the time (sometimes with other drugs).

2:07 PM - 24 Dec 2018

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018

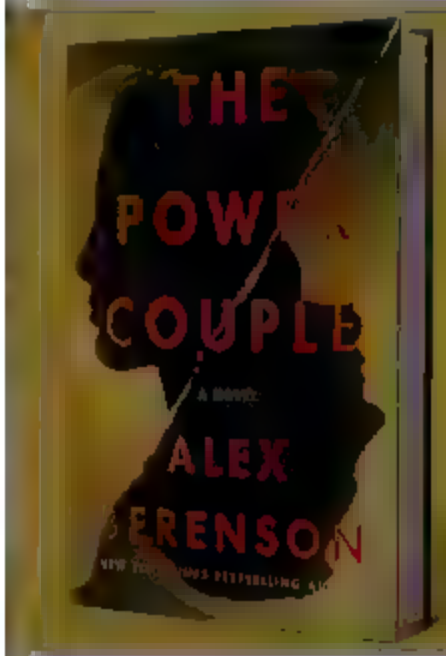
Replying to [redacted]

5/ I know the response will be that cannabis users skew younger/more male than the general population - thus more violent - so the 6% figure isn't directly comparable. True. But that figure hugely overstates the actual amount of time users are high.

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Dec 2018

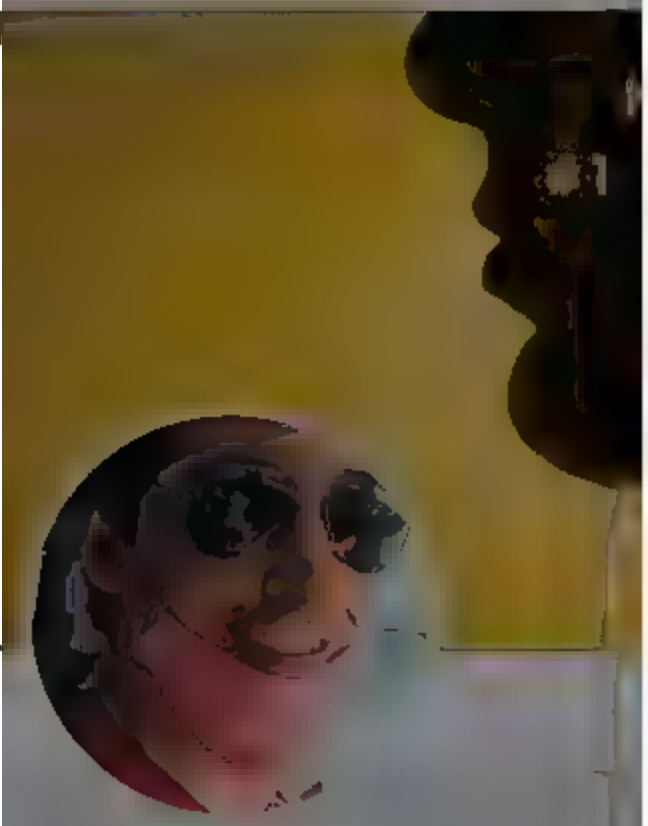
My question remains.



Suppose cannabis typically makes consumers content, sedentary and mellow. How many violent crimes does it then prevent? Alas, the Daily Mail doesn't report stoners harmlessly playing video games.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018



Replying to [redacted]

6/ And even so it is far, far lower than the levels of cannabis use that arrestees and prisoners report. There's no way to squeeze the truth out of the numbers; people committing crime use cannabis far more often than the general population

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

8 4 7

Dana Larsen @DanaLarsen · 24 Dec 2018
This is absurd. Legal cannabis should mean an immediate 10% cut to police budgets nationwide.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Apparently the police department in the fifth-largest city in Canada disagrees. But what would it know?

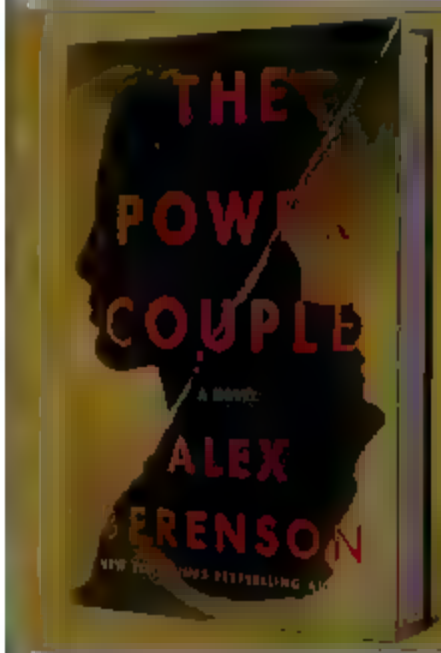
1:48 PM - 24 Dec 2018

1 1

Dana Larsen @DanaLarsen · 24 Dec 2018
Replying to

It would be foolish to expect any police force to ever say they need less staff and a smaller budget.

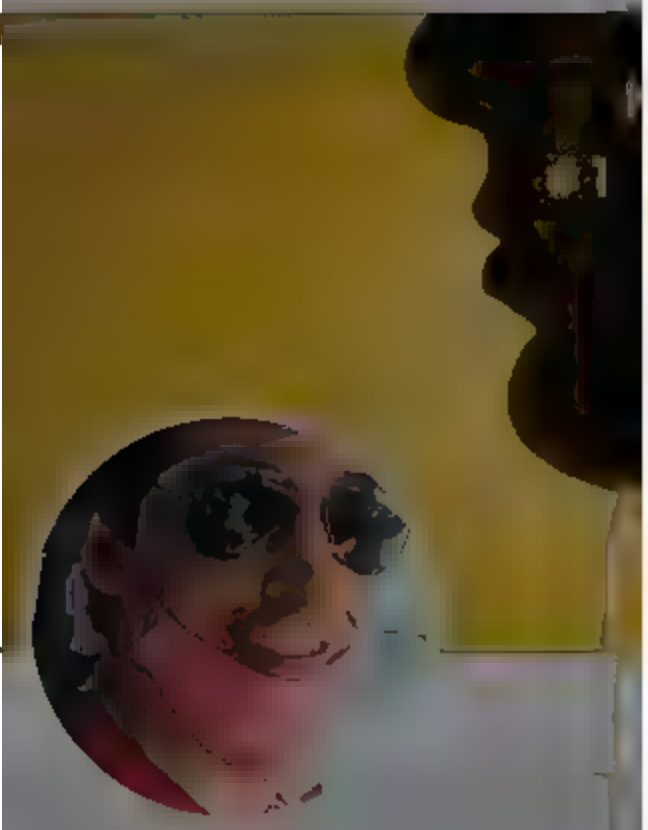
Same goes for pretty much any bureaucracy.



2 1 7

Cannabis Economist @CannabisEcon · 24 Dec 2018
An agency disagrees their budget should be reduced?? What are the chances?! Our guess: About as predictable as a prohibitionist using it as an argument against a safe, legal marketplace. Merry Christmas everyone. We are grateful that fear of this plant is being replaced by wisdom

4



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018

But pretending they're not happening doesn't make them go away. Pretending that cannabis use doesn't come up over and over doesn't change the reality that it does.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Nobody wants to talk about these cases. I understand why. They're horrible. A 19-year-old man (allegedly) beats a 71-year-old woman - and her dog - with a fireplace poker. Many of the psychosis cases have extreme violence against children and the elderly.

3 2 4

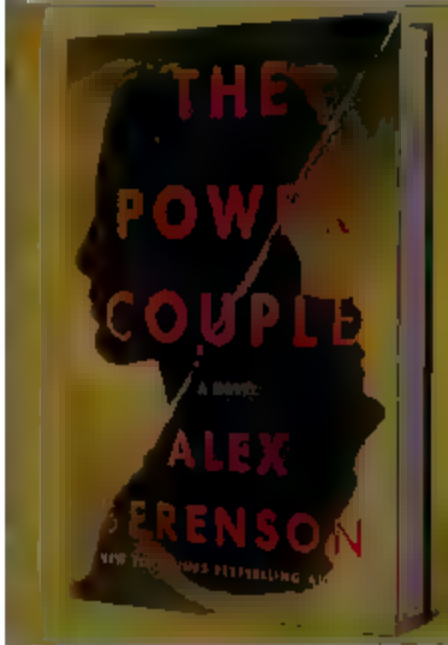
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Dec 2018

Setting prohibition-related violence aside, there were 1,247,321 violent crimes in the U.S. in 2017. 35 million Americans consume cannabis at least once a month. How many violent crimes should we expect them to commit if cannabis neither increases nor decreases violence?

2

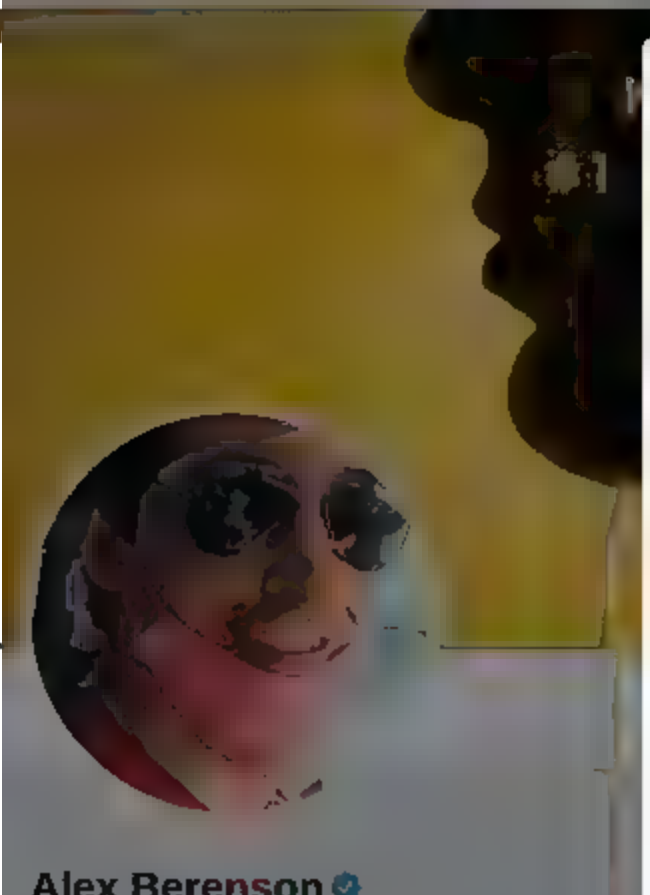
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



1/ Let's take this question seriously. Cannabis use is heavily concentrated - about 41MM Americans used in 2017. Of those, 26MM used in the last month, and 8MM daily. Focus on the 26MM - say that the 18MM used every other day, and were high all the time.

1:57 PM - 24 Dec 2018



1 Like

1 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

About that whole legalization-will-reduce-the-load-on-police thing:

7:59 AM - 24 Dec 2018

4 Retweets 7 Likes

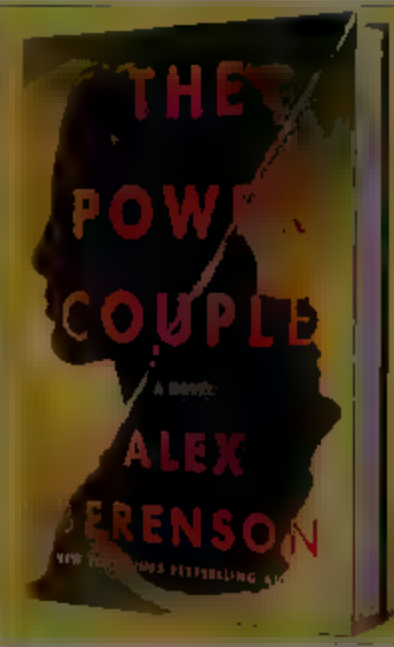
8 4 7

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 24 Dec 2018



Replying to

The problem is, if you're testing for cannabis on the road, unless there are new testing measures I don't know about, you'll find it. It stays in your system long after the high is over. I'm sure some people were driving high—idiots, but can we prove that they were all doing so?

3

Joseph Drum @JDrum84 · 24 Dec 2018

Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

violence/psychosis.

1

Billy Campbell @BillyFCampbell · 23 Dec 2018

You discount the possibility of there being a correlation in psychosis because the US keeps bad healthcare records and you don't know how many Dutch are using. We have good violence statistics in the US though can't you use that?

1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

We have good topline statistics but no one is counting causes in a meaningful way, not even for homicides. They get lumped into several big categories - domestic violence, gang violence, etc, and drug use by the perpetrator is rarely discussed.

5:54 AM · 24 Dec 2018

2 Likes

2 2

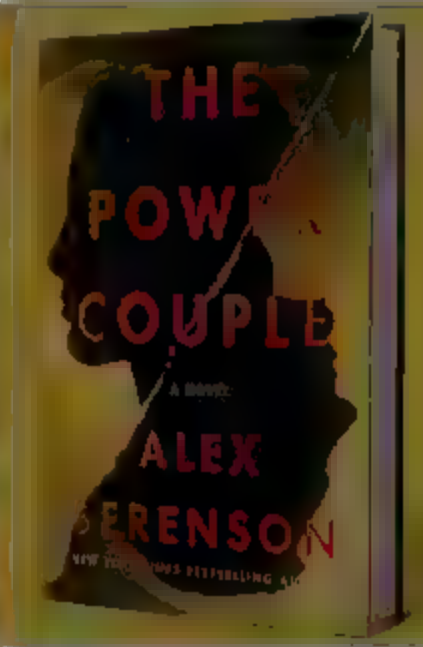
Billy Campbell @BillyFCampbell · 24 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

Understandable. I think overall, your case would be a lot stronger if you had even a small causal sample. That seems like it's not so easy to do though. Thanks for the response!

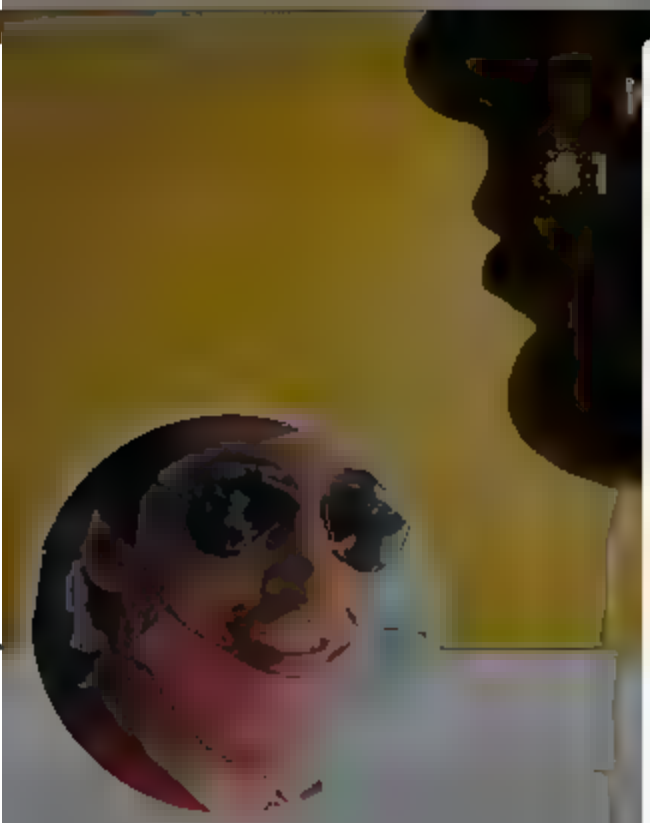
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

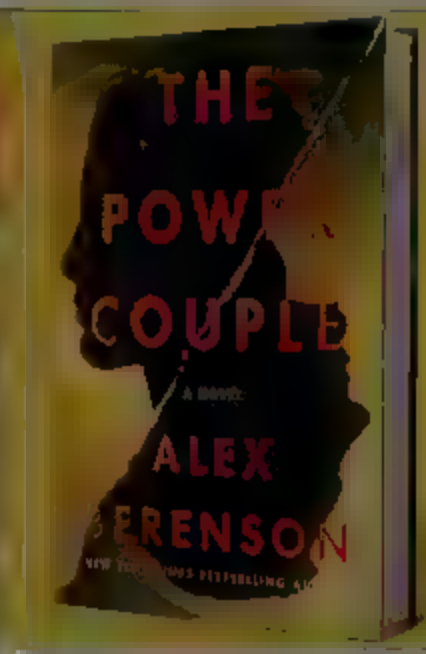


Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

But pretending they're not happening doesn't make them go away. Pretending that cannabis use doesn't come up over and over doesn't change the reality that it does.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Nobody wants to talk about these cases. I understand why. They're horrible. A 19-year-old man (allegedly) beats a 71-year-old woman - and her dog - with a fireplace poker. Many of the psychosis cases have extreme violence against children and the elderly.

5:35 AM - 24 Dec 2018

2 Retweets 4 Likes

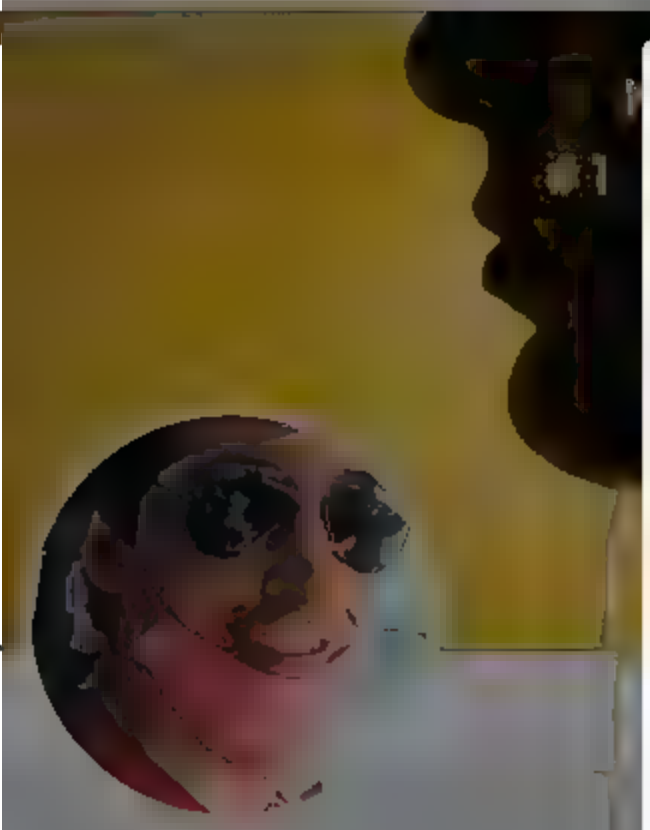
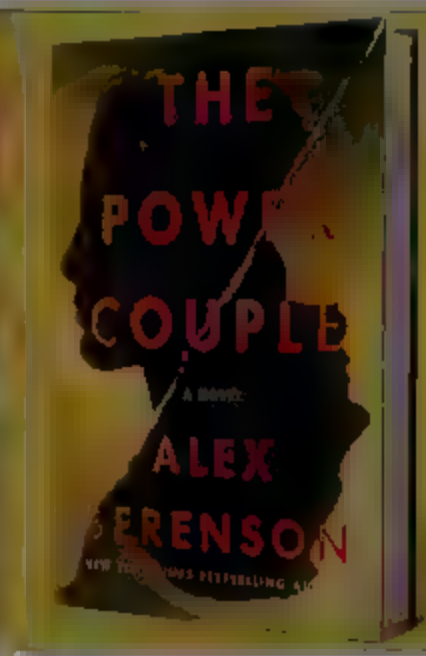
3 2 4

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 24 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
When cannabis use comes up, what other drugs or substances are involved? I can tellyou if you drink and use cannabis at the same time the drunk is more potent and in someone who can't handle it, things may not end well.



1



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 24 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Setting prohibition-related violence aside, there were 1,247,321 violent crimes in the U.S. in 2017. 35 million Americans consume cannabis at least once a month. How many violent crimes should we expect them to commit if cannabis neither increases nor decreases violence?

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 24 Dec 2018
1/ Let's take this question seriously. Cannabis use is heavily concentrated [redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Nobody wants to talk about these cases. I understand why. They're horrible. A 19-year-old man (allegedly) beats a 71-year-old woman - and her dog - with a fireplace poker. Many of the psychosis cases have extreme violence against children and the elderly.

5:33 AM - 24 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 8 Likes

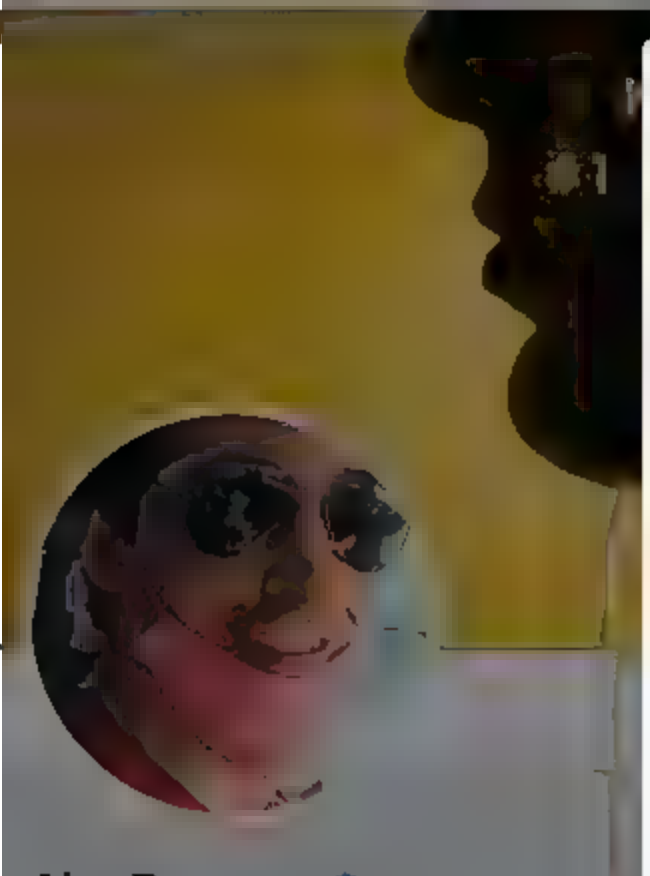
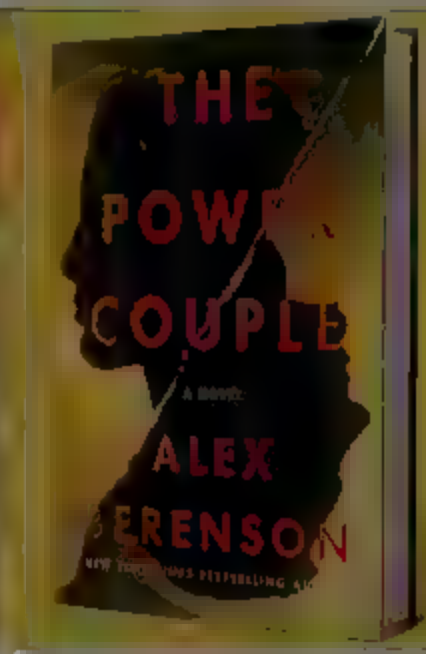
4 1 8

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 24 Dec 2018



Replying to



It's not that we don't want to talk about it. We want to know why and cannabis as the only reason just doesn't wash. I don't know anyone who's ever had a psychotic episode on marijuana. I know and have heard of plenty of people on other drugs or who drink too much getting violent

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Everything is fine. Also, I am definitely, totally not short any of these stocks. Except maybe Wells. I'll get back to you on Wells.

Steven Mnuchin @stevenmnuchin1
Today I convened individual calls with the CEOs of the nation's six largest banks. See attached statement.

4:50 PM - 23 Dec 2018

4 Likes

4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

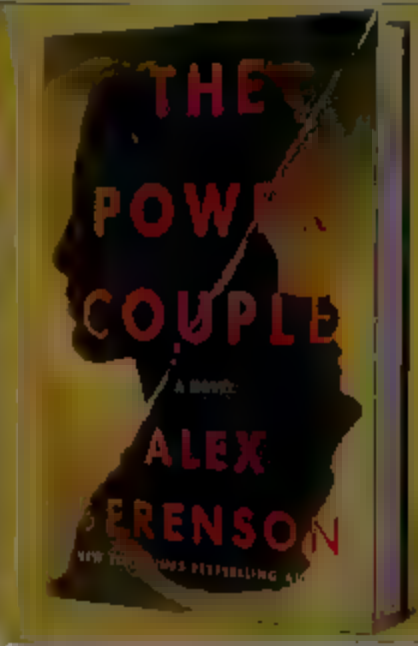
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Dec 2018

2/ Even if cannabis is fully legal, there will be many arrests around it - for DUIs, public intoxication, underage use and the like. There are more than 1MM alcohol-related arrests a year.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
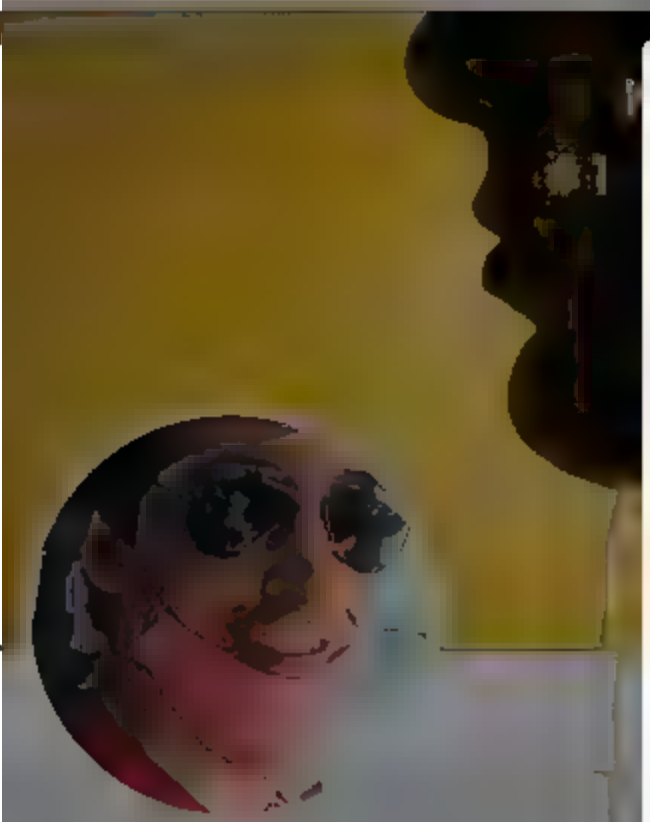
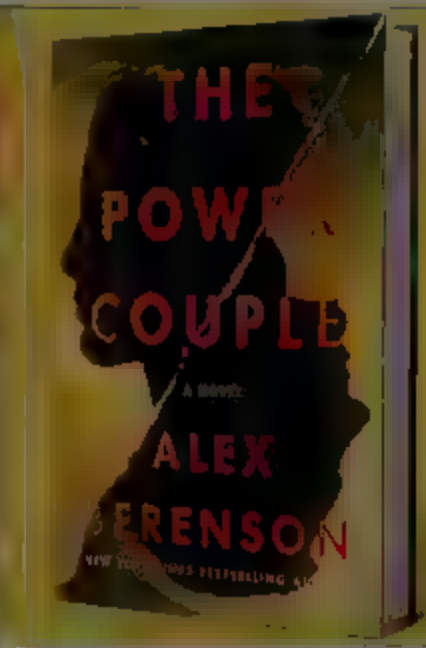
> Replying to @SLandP @CoryBooker
> To me this is a complex question and outside the scope of my book. Three points, though: the gap in marijuana arrests is an EFFECT rather than a cause of racial disparities in the justice system - if they ended tomorrow, the system would be fundamentally unchanged.

4 2



This Tweet is unavailable.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Who said I was?

8:27 AM - 23 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

3/ If cannabis causes psychosis (and it does) and psychosis causes violence (and it does), then we have to discourage its use. The current debate revolves around a false premise - that legalization will be cost-free. This is about harm-balancing; there is no obvious answer.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 2/ Even if cannabis is fully legal, there will be many arrests around it - for DUIs, public intoxication, underage use and the like. There are more than 1MM alcohol-related arrests a year. twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s…

8:26 AM - 23 Dec 2018

4 Retweets 7 Likes

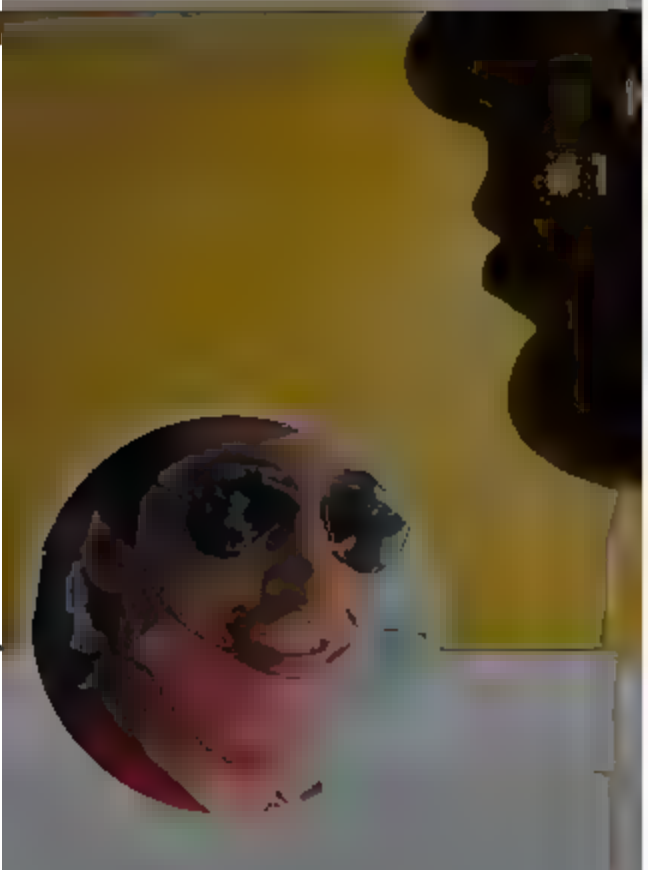
10 4 7

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 23 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
If junk food causes obesity, and it does, then we need to prohibit junk food and criminalize all junk food consumers, fit or fat, to prevent obesity.

Cannabis can trigger psychosis in a very small subset of predisposed consumers, a small subset of whom may become violent.



1 3

Azgeda @IceNation13 · 23 Dec 2018
Project SAFE, Smart Approaches to Fattening Eats.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
Okay, this is a more serious objection. The legal states have historically had lower homicide rates - and higher suicide rates. A lot of demographic/cultural issues are at work, and despite what you seem to think I don't think cannabis - legalized or not - is behind them all. twitter.com/RadicalRuss/st...

2 3 7

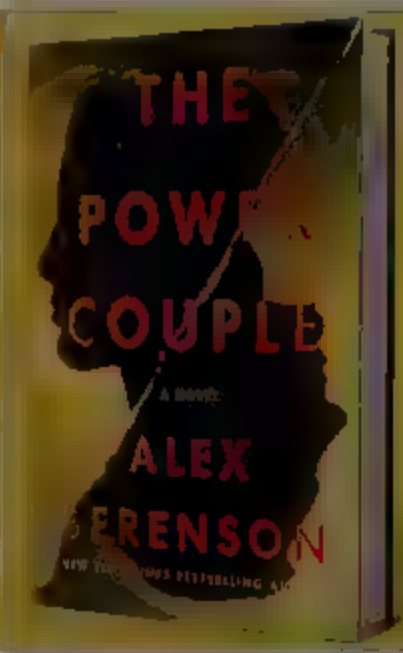
Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 22 Dec 2018
But we know prohibition produces harms in form of arrests/convictions and these harms imposed by the state in racially disparate ways. For many these harms can create lifetime burdens. Saying "let's wait" is saying these state-imposed harms are acceptable.

3 2

Keith Humphreys @KeithNHumphreys · 23 Dec 2018
Of course there are many policy options other than a war on marijuana on one hand and an an addiction-promoting corporate giveaway on the other -- you are smart guys, what do you think of those?

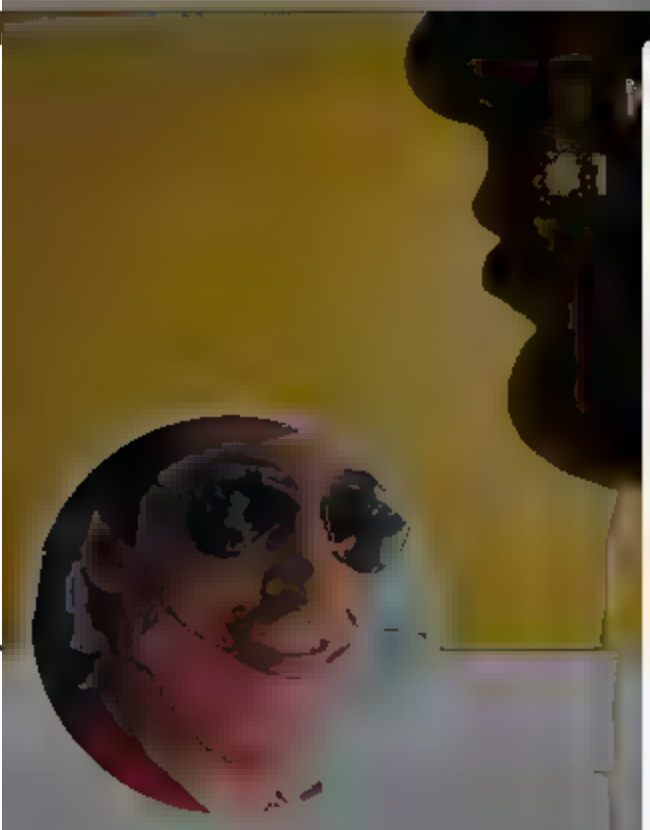
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

I agree. It's hard to avoid an addiction-promoting corporate giveaway with full legalization, though. But if the trade were full legalization for multi-billion dollar annual anti-cannabis marketing campaigns, akin to tobacco, I think that would be better than where we're headed.

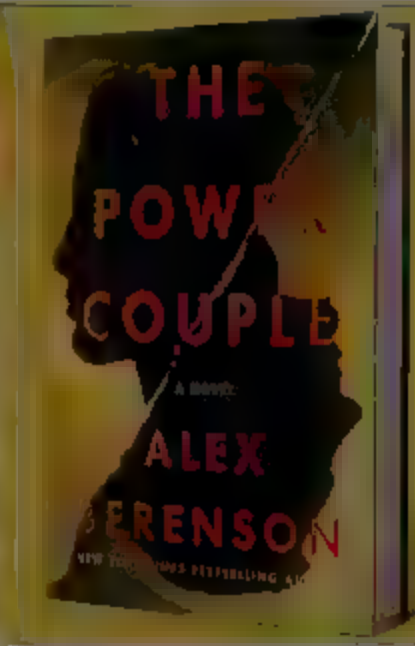


8:17 AM - 23 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ Even if cannabis is fully legal, there will be many arrests around it - for DUIs, public intoxication, underage use and the like. There are more than 1MM alcohol-related arrests a year.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
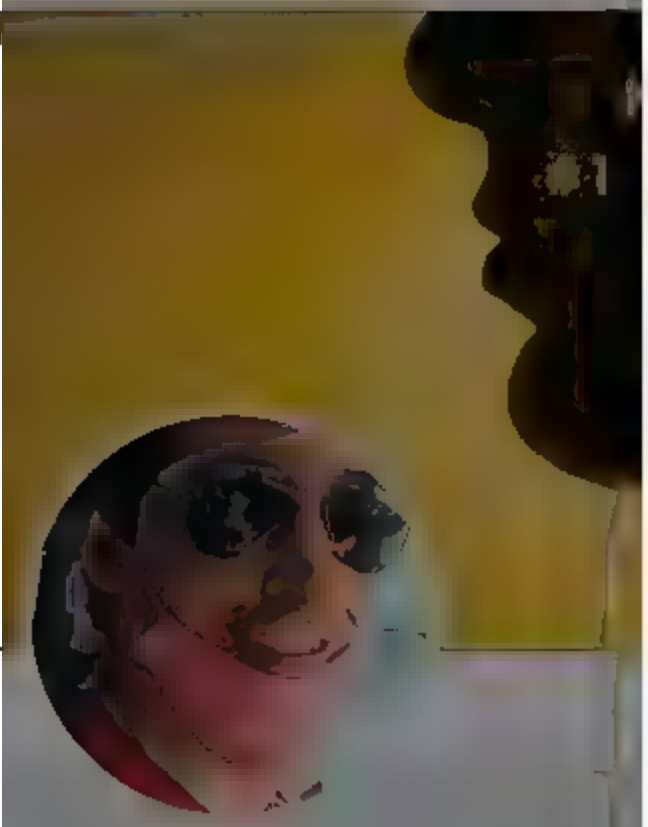
> Replying to @SLandP @CoryBooker
> To me this is a complex question and outside the scope of my book. Three points, though: the gap in marijuana arrests is an EFFECT rather than a cause of racial disparities in the justice system - if they ended tomorrow, the system would be fundamentally unchanged.

8:22 AM - 23 Dec 2018

2 Likes



4 2

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 23 Dec 2018
Who said I was?

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 23 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
False equivalency. Publicly drunk people disturb peace, requiring police interaction. Drunks are terrible drivers, requiring police interaction. 1M alcohol arrests are necessary to keep peace. Tokers don't bother others and rarely drive too impaired to be safe.

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

But we know prohibition produces harms in form of arrests/convictions and these harms imposed by the state in racially disparate ways. For many these harms can create lifetime burdens. Saying "let's wait" is saying these state-imposed harms are acceptable.

3 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

To me this is a complex question and outside the scope of my book. Three points, though: the gap in marijuana arrests is an EFFECT rather than a cause of racial disparities in the justice system - if they ended tomorrow, the system would be fundamentally unchanged.

8:20 AM - 23 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 3 Likes

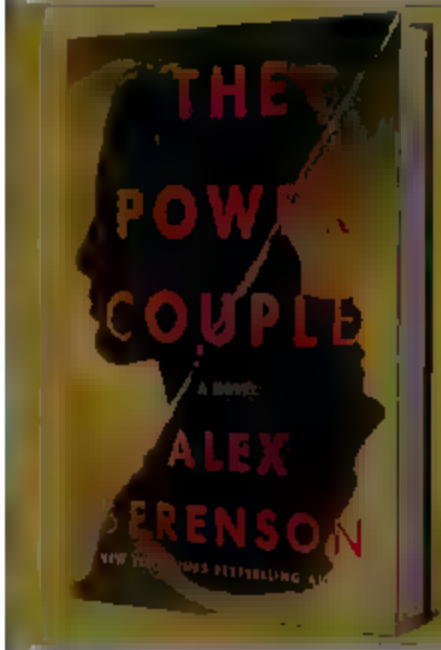
2 1 3

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 23 Dec 2018
Replying to

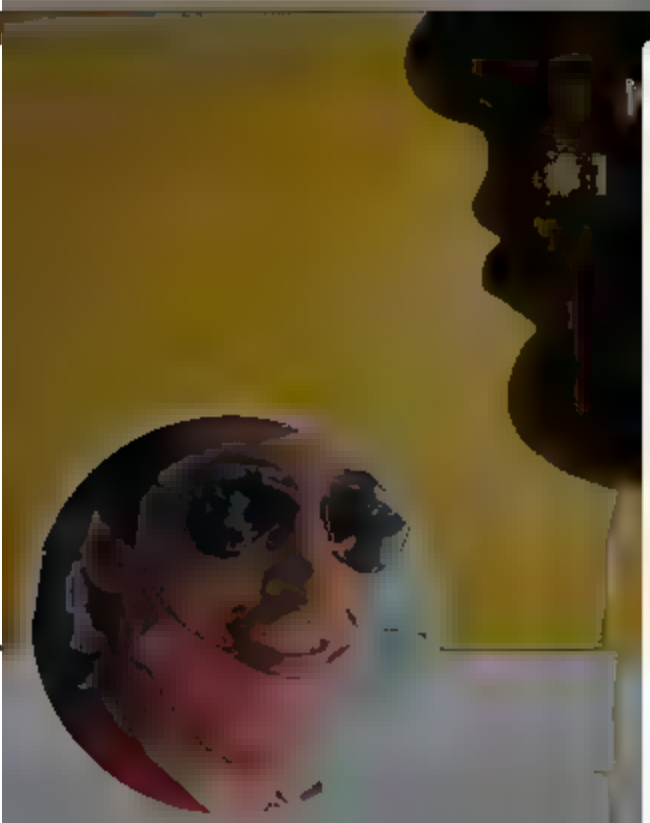
MJ prohibition is used to justify/spread impact of unequal CJ system. Very true ending prohibition doesn't end CJ disparities; but knowing harms/stubbornness of CJ disparities should make those committed to an equal society extra worried about "regulating" MJ via CJ system.

2



Will Jones III, MPA @WillVJones · 24 Dec 2018
Replying to

You'd be hard pressed to find someone today that thinks that jailing someone for marijuana use, (or even other substances) is appropriate. The question is: is a commercial addiction for profit model the best way forward, or should we explore other alternatives building off decrim

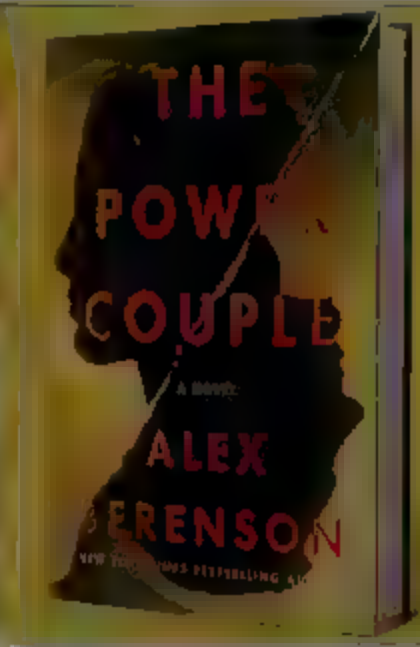


7 2

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 24 Dec 2018

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

The sad fact is that what's happening in Yakima, Washington - a city of 94,000 that averaged 6 homicides a year 2012-2015, had 13 in 2017, and has had 19 so far this year - is far from unique:

5:15 PM - 22 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 3 Likes

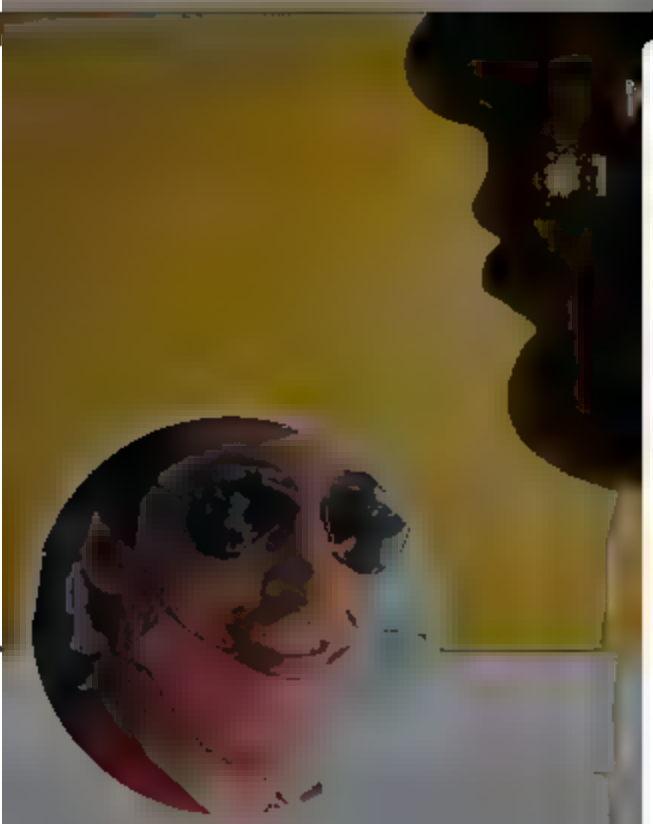
2 1 3



Julie Schauer @InAweofArt · 23 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

Sad. Another place that had an incredible rise in homicides is Humboldt County, California

1

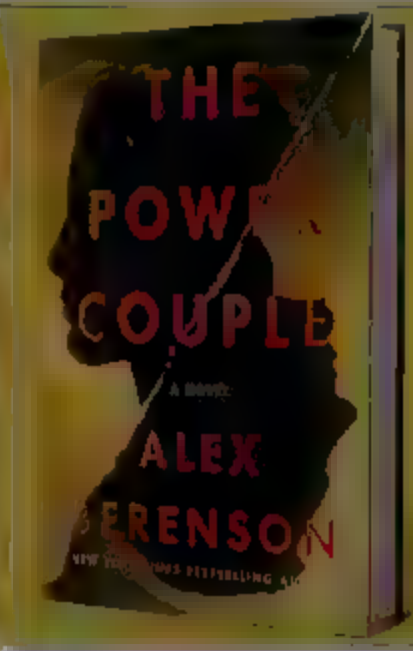
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson



Okay, this is a more serious objection. The legal states have historically had lower homicide rates - and higher suicide rates. A lot of demographic/cultural issues are at work, and despite what you seem to think I don't think cannabis - legalized or not - is behind them all.

> 'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss
> Replying to @RadicalRuss @AlexBerenson
>
> Never mind that we consume way more weed in Oregon than US average - now, 2013, all the way back to 1975 - yet our murder rate is always lower than US average. It's only when you have a weed store that the murder increases apace, I guess.

4:25 PM - 22 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 2 Likes

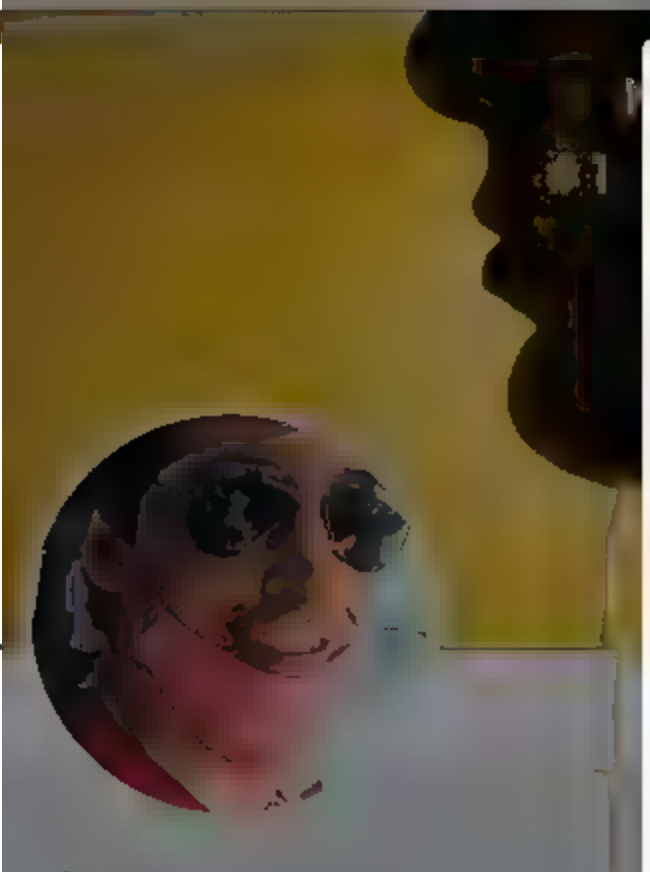
2 1 2



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Randy Philbrick @PDXRandyLee · 22 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]

Russ loves using watered down facts. Does Oregon have a below average murder rate? Yes that's true, but Portland is seeing an uptick in murders of the past few years.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

But what I do think - and what the data shows - is the argument that legalization would lower violent crime is now demonstrably false. People like @corybooker should stop making it. And we ought to figure out what is going on - BEFORE states with higher base crime rates legalize.

> Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson
> Okay, this is a more serious objection. The legal states have historically had lower homicide rates - and higher suicide rates. A lot of demographic/cultural issues are at work, and despite what you seem to think I don't think cannabis - legalized or not - is behind them all. twitter.com/RadicalRuss/st…

4:30 PM - 22 Dec 2018

3 Retweets 7 Likes

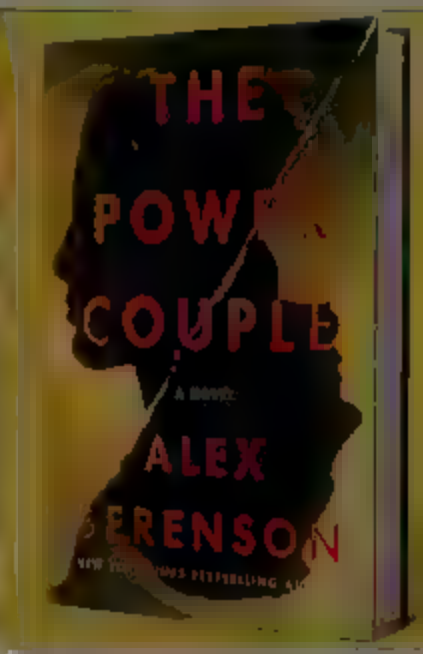
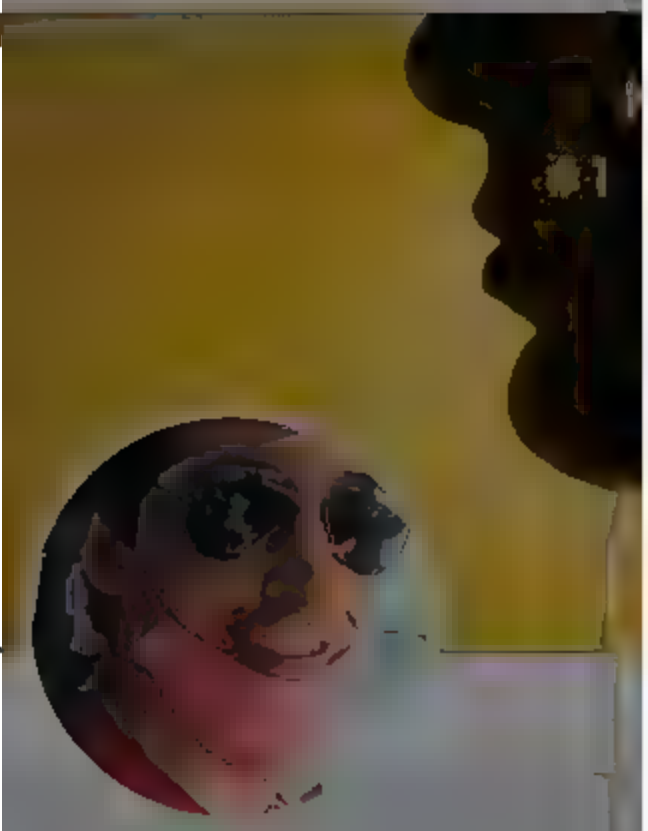
2 3 7



Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 22 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
But we know prohibition produces harms in form of arrests/convictions and these harms imposed by the state in racially disparate ways. For many these harms can create lifetime burdens. Saying "let's wait" is saying these state-imposed harms are acceptable.



3 2

Keith Humphreys ✓ @KeithNHumphreys · 23 Dec 2018
Of course there are many policy options other than a war on marijuana on one hand and an an addiction-promoting corporate giveaway on the other -- you are smart guys, what do you think of those?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

WASHINGTON	7,405,743	230	3.1	+35.3%
TOTAL	17,895,468	617	3.4	+28.9%
		US RATE	5.3	+17.8%
		AVG OF RATES	4.5	+45.5%

2 1 2

Alex Berenson Follow
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

You are correct - 29/18 = about 1.6. I should have said "almost" twice as fast. As for legalization itself - the dates are a little tricky. Retail dispensaries opened 1/14 in CO, 7/14 in WA, 2/15 in AK, 7/15 in OR. It seems easiest to set 2013 as the benchmark...

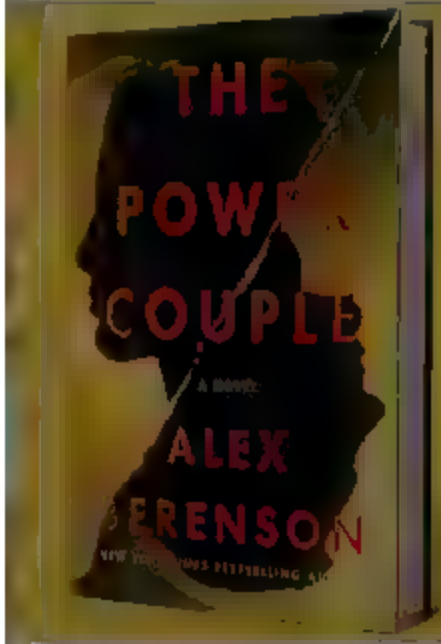
2:13 PM - 22 Dec 2018

3 Likes

1 3

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 22 Dec 2018

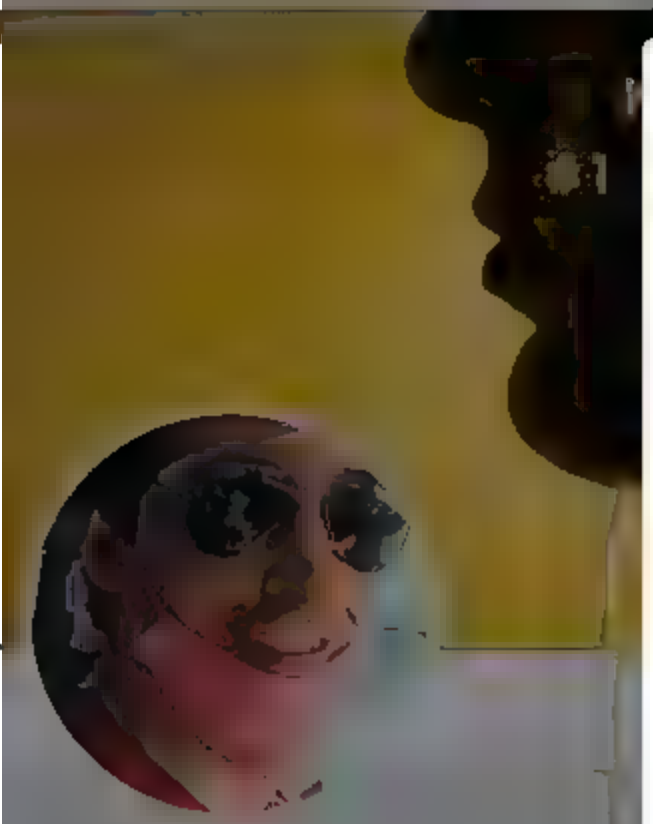
Replying to



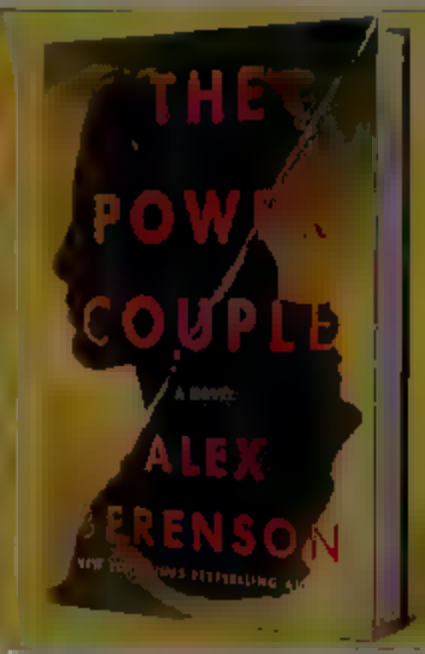
While it is fun to bat around numbers, let's recall it is your argument that Oregon, where I've lived since 2003, went from 80 to 104 murders in the past 4 years because legal weed access leads to psychotic murder. Like, pre-2013, we had no weed access. Then, shops, then, murder!

1 3

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 22 Dec 2018



Never mind that we consume way more weed in Oregon than US average - now, 2013, all the way back to 1975 - yet our murder rate is always lower than US average. It's only when you have a weed store that the murder increases apace, I guess.



3

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

And since crime in the US was basically flat nationally in 13/14 (that was the recent bottom in violent crime), picking one year or the other doesn't make much difference to the national change numbers. I haven't put my thumb on the scale. The numbers are what they are.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
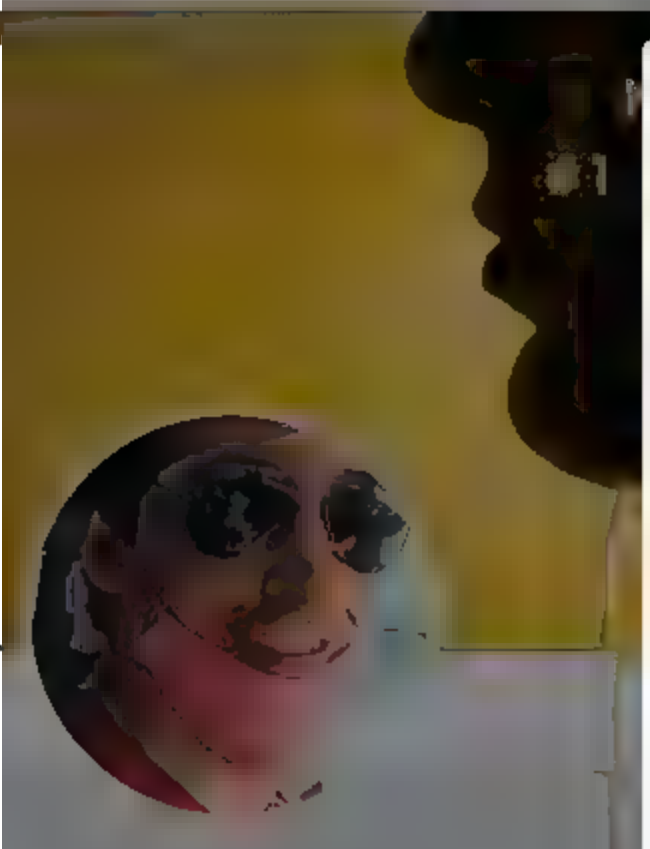
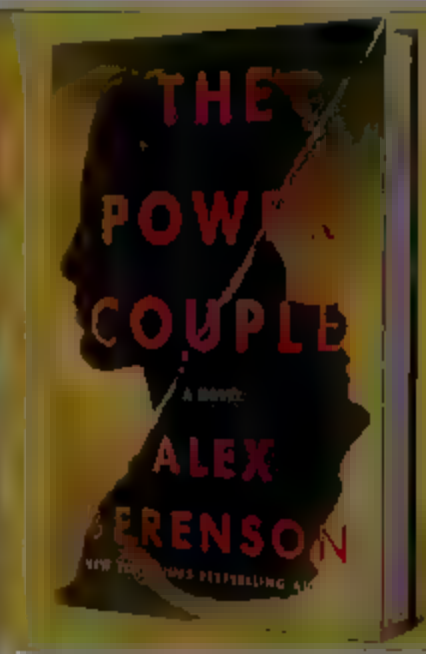
> Replying to @RadicalRuss
>
> You are correct - 29/18 = about 1.6. I should have said "almost" twice as fast. As for legalization itself - the dates are a little tricky. Retail dispensaries opened 1/14 in CO, 7/14 in WA, 2/15 in AK, 7/15 in OR. It seems easiest to set 2013 as the benchmark...



2:16 PM - 22 Dec 2018



3 Likes

3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Which suggests that the gap isn't about policing/reporting but in a real change in what crimes are occurring. (And if cannabis's effect on crime is primarily mediated through psychosis, one would expect property crime rates not to be affected too much.)

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP

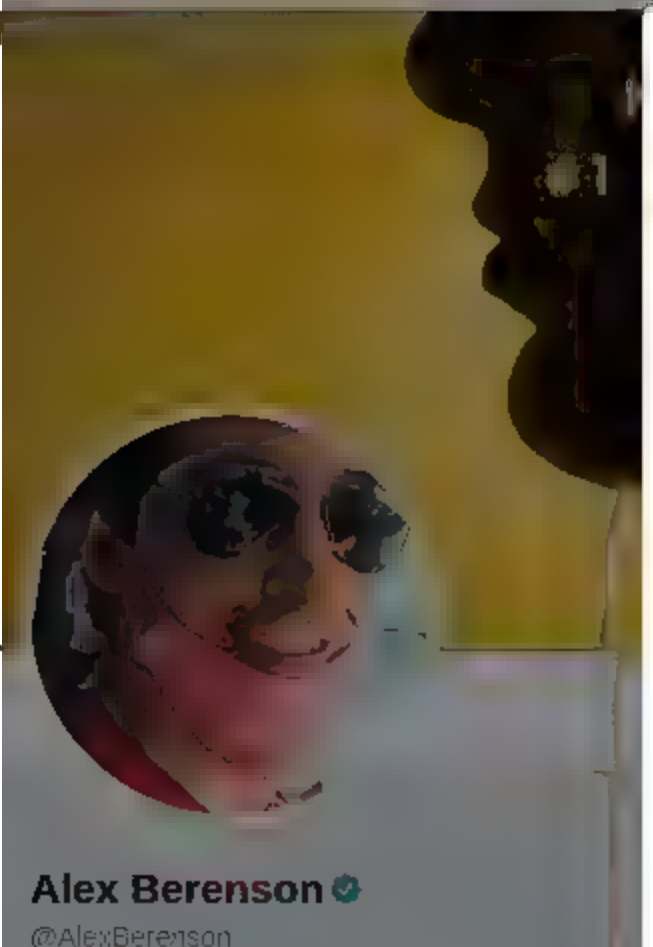
Replying to @AlexBerenson

Could it be that cops is the extra time to investigate (and then arrest) for agg assault? I'd be especially interested in a close look at demographic of who used to get arrested for MJ and who now is getting arrested for other offenses

2:04 PM - 22 Dec 2018

2 Likes

1 2



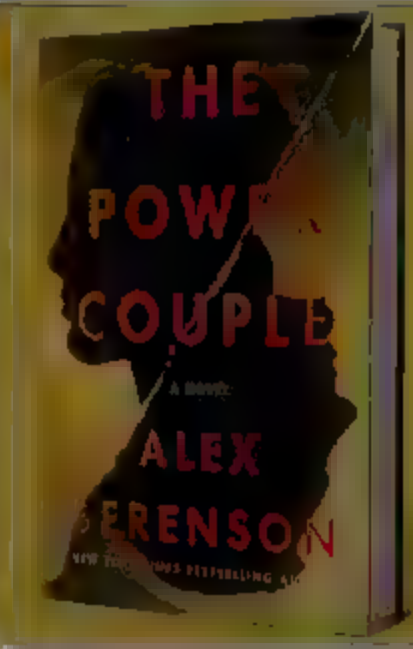
Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 22 Dec 2018

Replying to [illegible]

yes they've stated the 'solve rate' has improved in the legal states. And yes gang activity is on the rise world wide. So how many of those murders are gang related. Inter-gang is a big percent.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 22 Dec 2018

Ending the chart at 29 is a nice graphical trick, but I'll give you a hint: there are 50 states. And btw, advocates promised legalization would REDUCE violent crime, by ending black markets and giving cops more time. Instead we're arguing how much it's risen. So that went well.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
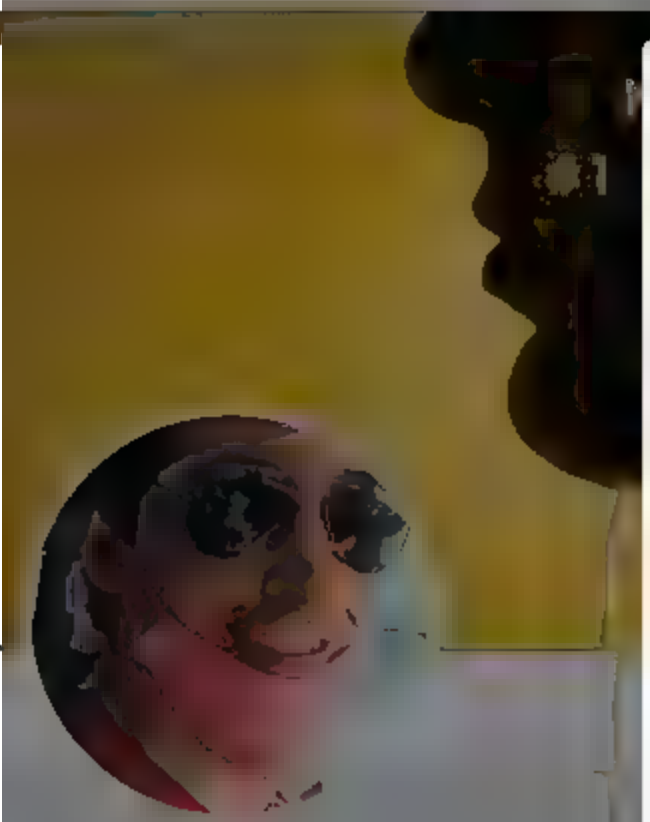
> So we agree. Four states legalized cannabis in 2014/15. All have seen increases in agg assaults faster than the US average; three are in the top 15. Their murder rates collectively have risen at twice the US rate. twitter.com/RadicalRuss/st…

8 4 7

Douglas A. Berman @StLandP · 22 Dec 2018

Could it be that cops is the extra time to investigate (and then arrest) for agg assault? I'd be especially interested in a close look at demographic of who used to get arrested for MJ and who now is getting arrested for other offenses

1 1 2



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

I don't think so, for a couple reasons. These are reported rather than cleared - and cops only clear about 1/2 of agg assaults, so I doubt they're looking for more. Also, from what I can see, the trend is far less clear for non-violent crime...

2:00 PM - 22 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Ending the chart at 29 is a nice graphical trick, but I'll give you a hint: there are 50 states. And btw, advocates promised legalization would REDUCE violent crime, by ending black markets and giving cops more time. Instead we're arguing how much it's risen. So that went well.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> So we agree. Four states legalized cannabis in 2014/15. All have seen increases in agg assaults faster than the US average; three are in the top 15. Their murder rates collectively have risen at twice the US rate. twitter.com/RadicalRuss/st…

10:26 AM - 22 Dec 2018

4 Retweets 7 Likes

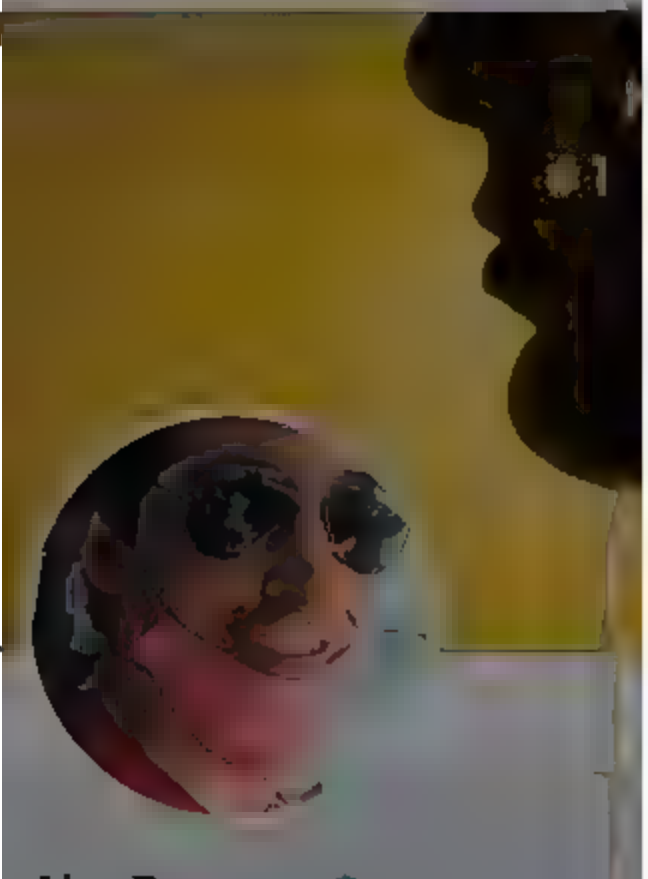
8 4 7

Mark Atley @mark_atley · 22 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
It's risen, because Criminal Organizations are playing both sides of the legal drug game—running black markets on the side—and bringing with them all the illegal elements of organized crime. Criminals feel embolden, because there's no punishment for crime.

2

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 22 Dec 2018
yeah but it's not a crime to prefer something that is less harmful than alcohol.



2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

7 4 9

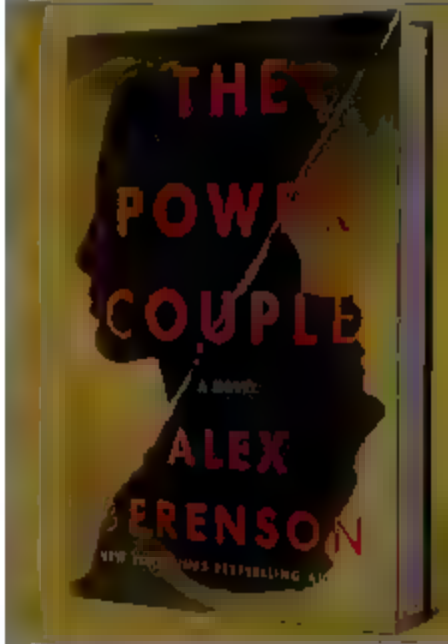
Bismillah Pashtonmi @bpashtonmal · 21 Dec 2018

John Well series?

1

Alex Berenson

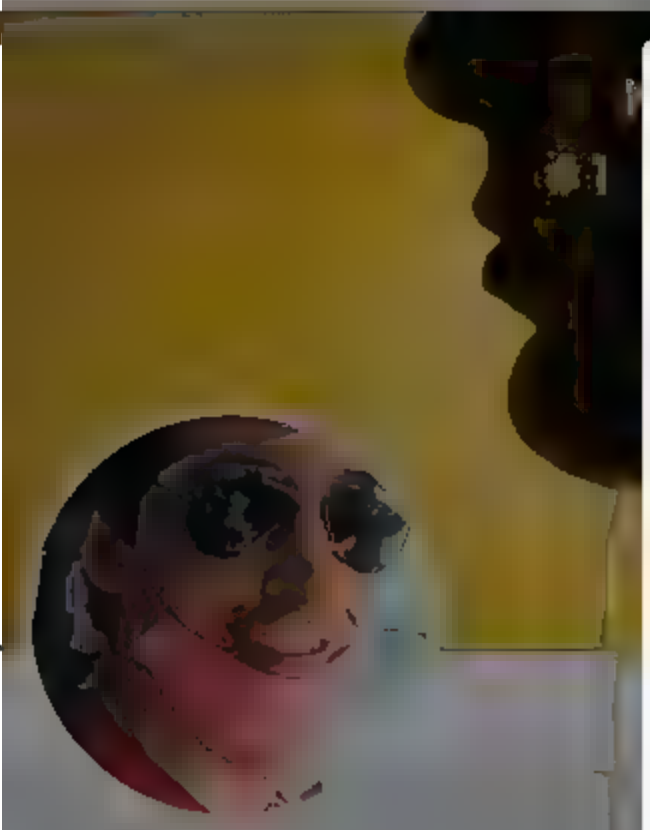
@AlexBerenson



Follow

Replying to

He's taking 2019 off - I apologize! But this book was too important.

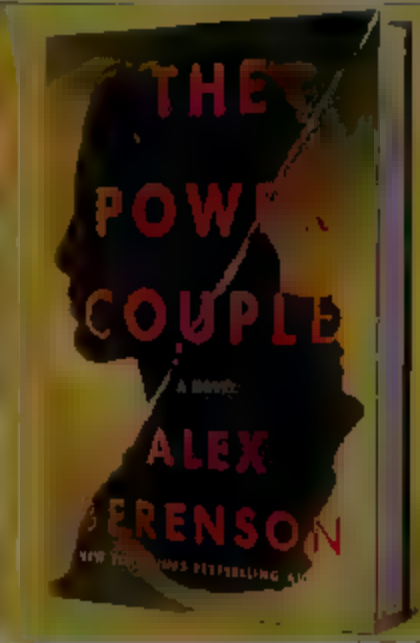


4:35 AM - 22 Dec 2018

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

So we agree. Four states legalized cannabis in 2014/15. All have seen increases in agg assaults faster than the US average; three are in the top 15. Their murder rates collectively have risen at twice the US rate.

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss
Maybe the agg assaults are up compared to US as a whole, though again, only Alaska cracks the Top Ten. This is all from FBI UCR 2013 & 2017 Table 5, Offenses Reported to Law Enforcement. Montana's got medical, but what's up with Alabama & South…

Show this thread

10:23 AM - 22 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 4 Likes

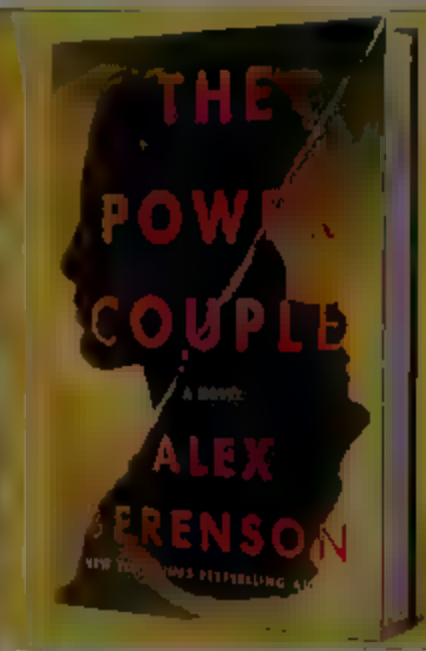
4 1 4



'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 22 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Uh, sure. So why are assaults higher in Alabama and South Dakota, two of the most anti-pot states, with consumption way below national avg, nowhere near a legal state border? Why aren't CO OR AK WA #1-#4?

6

Mark Atley @mark_atley · 22 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Violent crime is up in my area, and I liken it to the relaxed drug laws, and the medical MJ bills that just passed—matter of time until it's legal, and we become the Old West again, especially if Supreme Court/Congress doesn't over turn Circuit Court decision on Indian Country.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

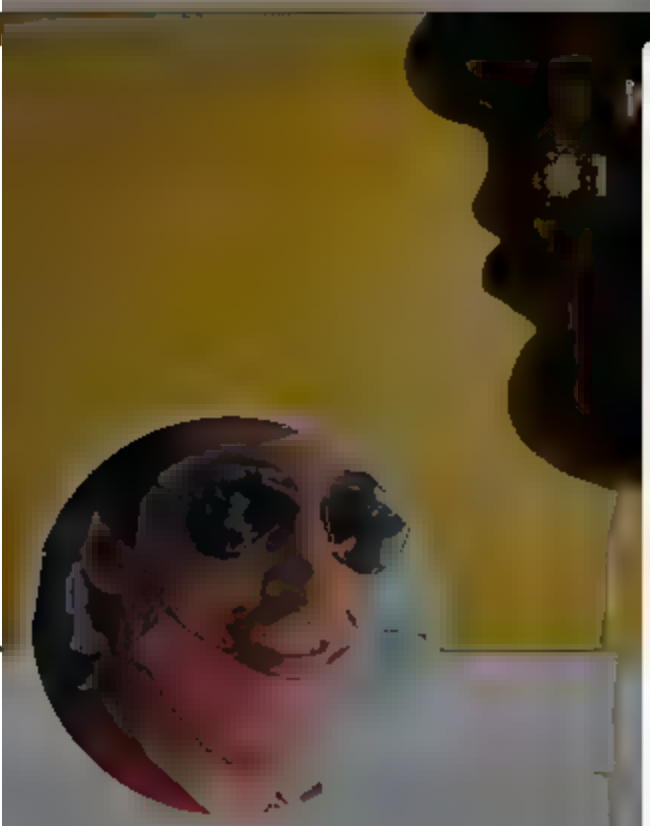
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

Too bad S&S didn't publish TYC before the holidays. The slogans write themselves... "The perfect gift for your favorite pothead." "Read it, then roll with it." "It'll shatter your mind." Yeah, I'll be here all week...



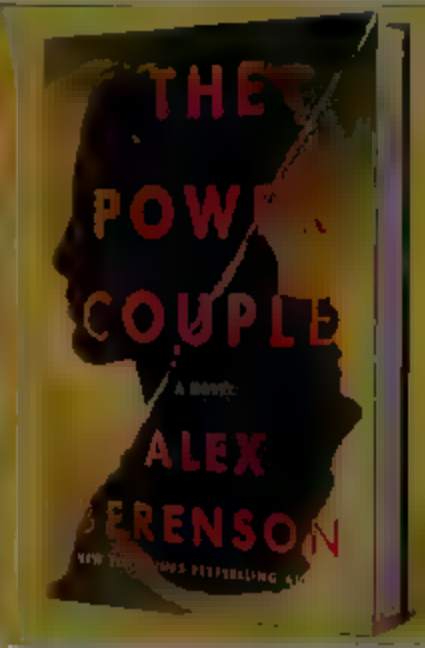
11:50 AM - 21 Dec 2018

1 Like

2 1

Chalink @trinkle_david · 21 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Someone cares!

craig geller @kevinblah · 21 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Should have been printed on rolling paper. If you love it, great. If you hate it, just smoke it.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ They have risen far faster than the US average, even accounting for population growth. Data from major cities like Denver this year suggests the gap is continuing to grow. That's police data, hard numbers. Anyone who says otherwise can't read a chart.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Replying to @RadicalRuss @InAweofArt
>
> 1/ I try not to engage with trolls, as I have learned doing so is a waste of time. But when they put out misinformation I have no choice. In fact, murders and agg assaults have soared in the first four legal states since 2013, the last full pre-legalization year.

12:53 PM - 21 Dec 2018

5 Likes

4 5

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
Did you control for improved clearance rates?

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Funny thing about legalization: violent crime is soaring in legalized states. And funny thing about encouraging people to grow an addictive drug at home: people try to rob them. patch.com/california/con…

3 4 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

1/ I try not to engage with trolls, as I have learned doing so is a waste of time. But when they put out misinformation I have no choice. In fact, murders and agg assaults have soared in the first four legal states since 2013, the last full pre-legalization year.

12:51 PM - 21 Dec 2018

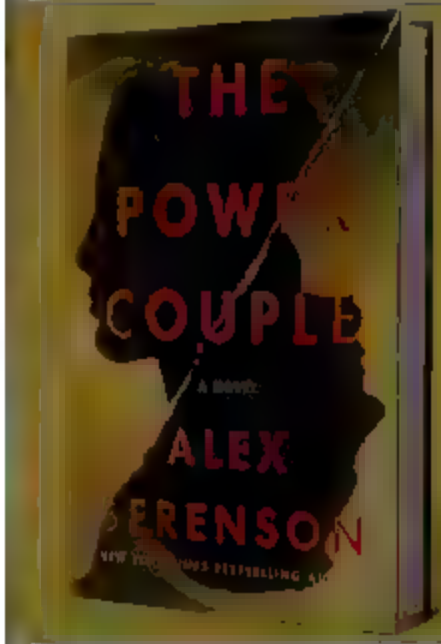
3 Likes

4 3

Babylon System 2.0 @feydhark · 21 Dec 2018

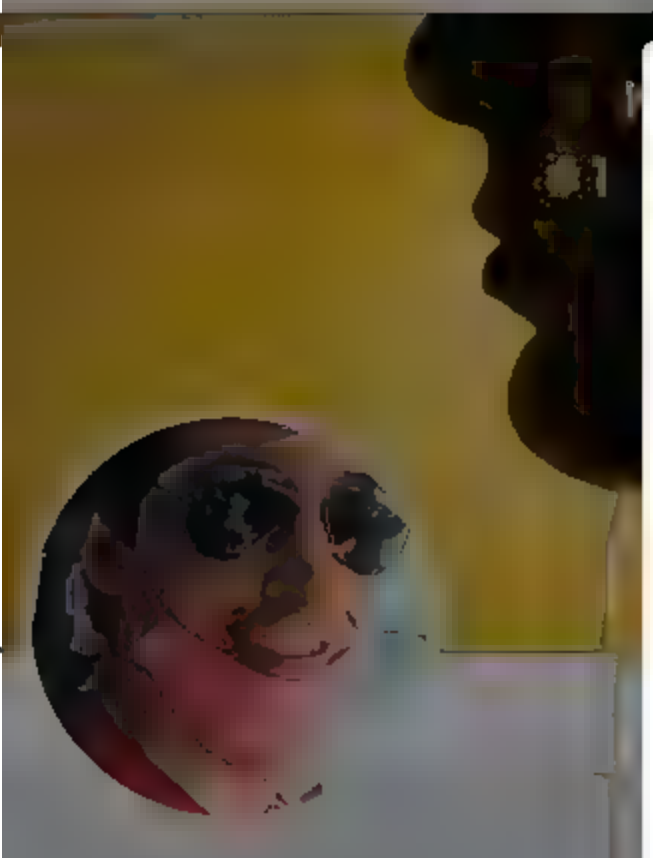
Replying to [redacted]

The best part is that it doesn't matter. He wrote the book for nothing cause we're legalizing anyway.



4

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 22 Dec 2018



Replying to [redacted]

And Russ, he writes a book will probably make at least 250K on his book of lies.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Yuuuge news for TELL YOUR CHILDREN... a review coming in a major, well-respected publication. Don't want to jinx it by mentioning which one... but it's not the one you'd expect.

9:45 AM - 21 Dec 2018

12 Likes

6 12

craig geller @kevinblah · 21 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
All in on High Times.

1

Clint Werner @MJgatewayhealth · 21 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Scientology Digest most likely. No matter. The bulk of evidence continues2show cannabis lowers disease risks-blocking foundation influences of illness, inflammation&oxidative harms. The continuing good news about how marijuana lowers disease risks is making prohibitionists sick.

This Tweet is unavailable.

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 21 Dec 2018
Not really.

> 'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss
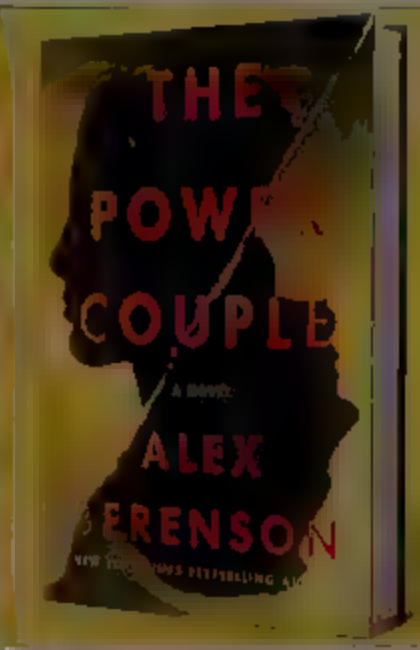
> THREAD: Today, @InAweOfArt's fellow prohibitionist cannabigot @AlexBerenson stated that "violent crime is soaring in legalized states." You know that statements like that forge me to look shit up. So, here we dive into



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

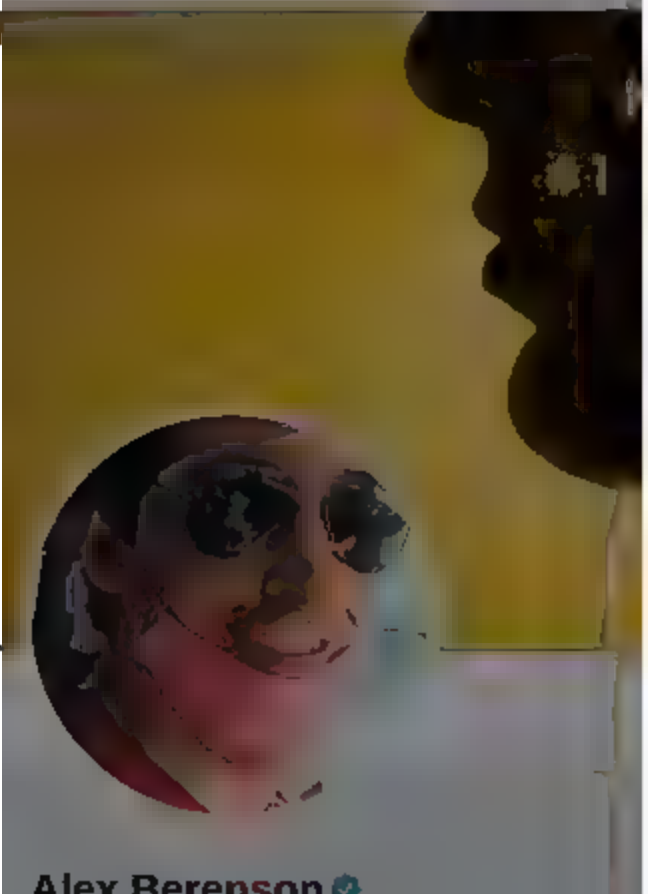
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



18 days to pub. Seriously. Just tell them already...

10:13 AM - 21 Dec 2018

4 Retweets 9 Likes

7 4 9

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

to solve their disputes.

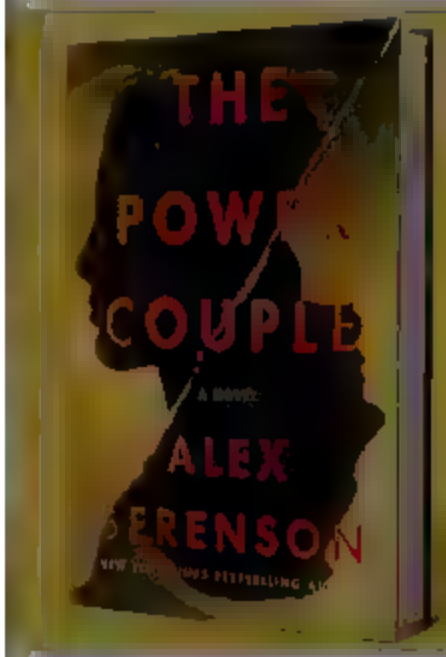
Meanwhile, in Oregon, I just bought some legal weed at a secure store equipped with cameras accessible to law enforcement. Nobody got shot.

1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

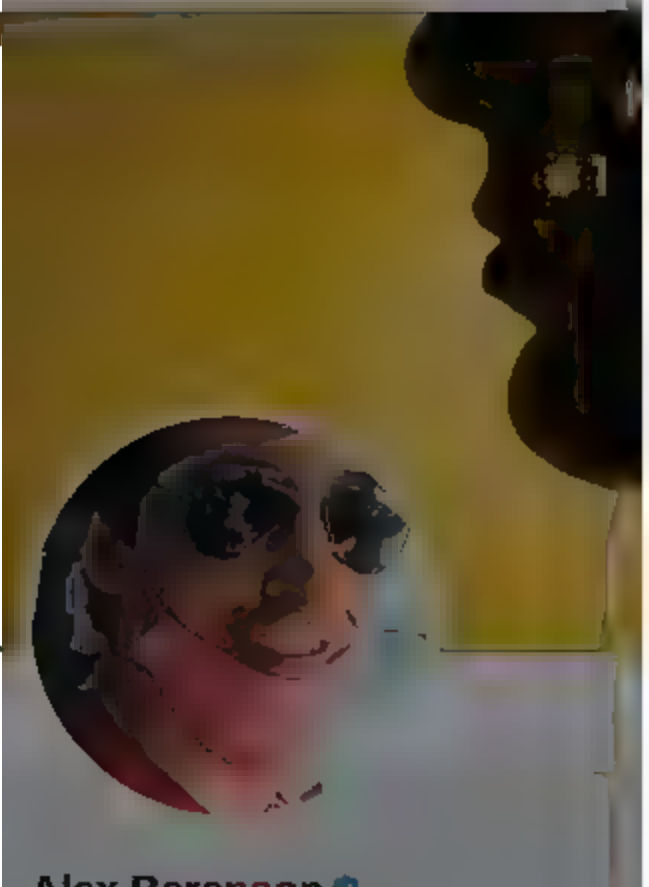
Replying to

Funny thing about legalization: violent crime is soaring in legalized states. And funny thing about encouraging people to grow an addictive drug at home: people try to rob them.



8:48 AM - 21 Dec 2018

2

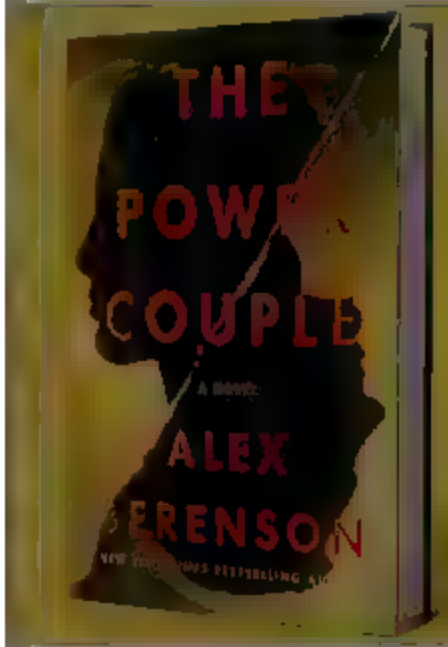


No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 21 Dec 2018

Replying to

Its like dealing with a child Russ. He's incapable of understanding that its still a cash only business that is illegal in some states. The product in question therefore has an artificially high street value in those illegal areas that leads to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



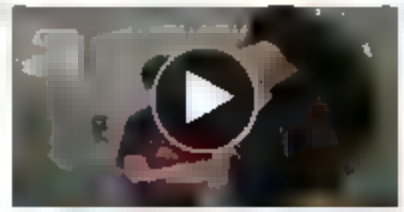
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

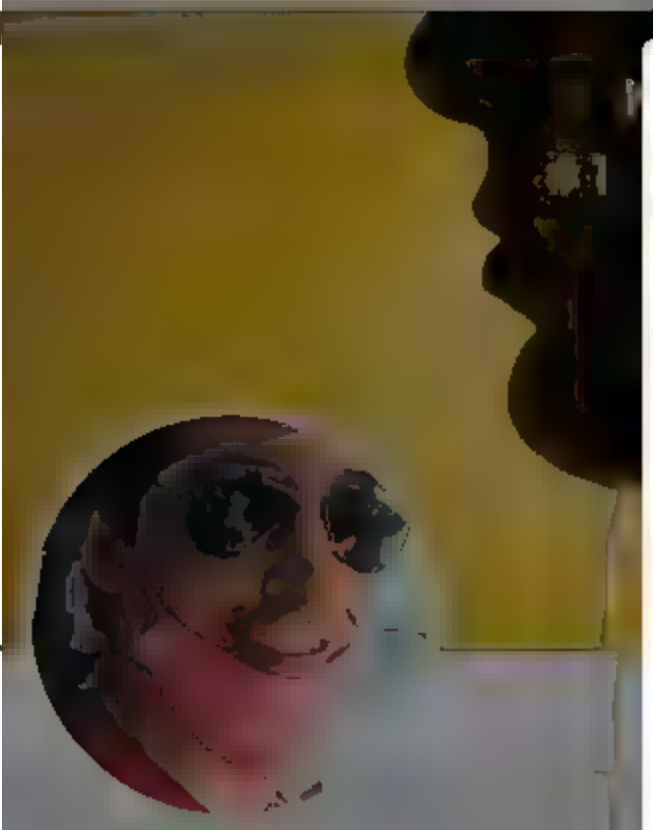
Philadelphia - which has had 333 murders in 2018, the most in a decade - joins Atlanta and LV in publicly linking homicides and cannabis dealing.

Download the FOX 29 News App!
FOX
FREE - On the App Store
VIEW

increased number of killings with motives rooted in narcotics.

"They're up significantly in certain parts of the city. Certainly some of it's driven by the opioid crisis, and the market that's there. But, believe it or not, in certain parts of the city we're seeing an uptick in marijuana-related violence – drug sales of marijuana. And so, some

Philly Youth Talks host forum for kids on violence



Philly's high homicide rate concerns many

8:33 PM - 20 Dec 2018

3 Retweets 7 Likes

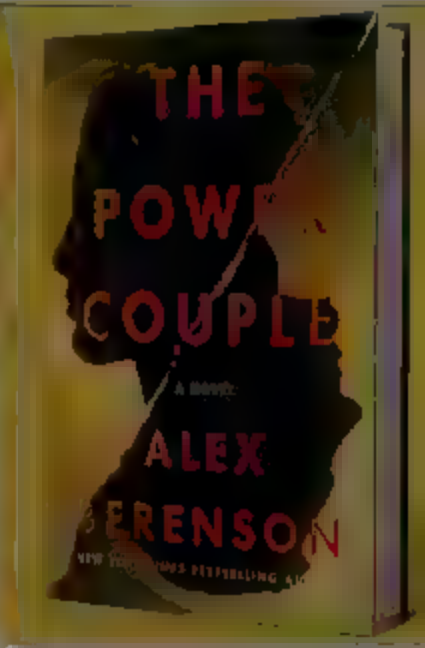
5 3 7



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

A big thanks to @michelleinbklyn for the tough but fair interview - and to @DLeonhardt and @DouthatNYT for #theargument!

7:03 AM - 20 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 4 Likes

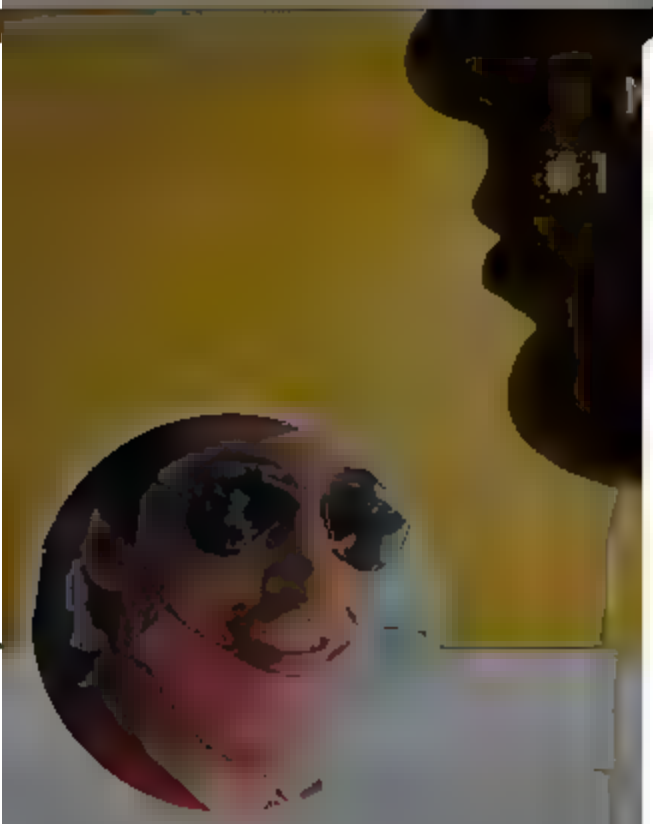
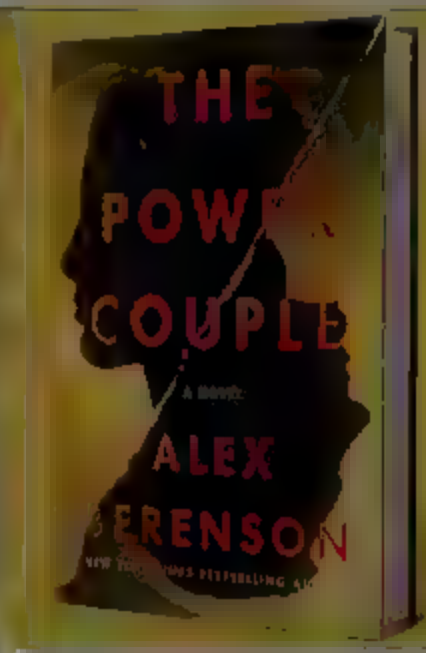
4 1 4

This Tweet is unavailable.

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 20 Dec 2018
How did he get a publisher to fork over an advance for a book whose main point is "don't give non-toxic recreational drugs to children or people with Schizophrenia?" Seems like we didn't need a whole book for that.



Nicon @Nemopunk15 · 20 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible] and 2 others
Great show. Quick question. Those 1000 cannabis sale murders you brought up, were those legal market or black market sales? Is the media covering up 1000 dead budtenders each year?



1

Dan Carroll @dan_l_carroll · 20 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible] and 2 others
Yes we did bc no one else is really saying it. Way too much public treatment of it as a harmless recreational pursuit, which it is not.

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 21 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible] and 2 others

André Picard @picardonhealth · 20 Dec 2018
Should Marijuana Be Legal? by [redacted] via [redacted]
4 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Dec 2018
Andre - has Simon & Schuster gotten you a copy of the book? If you're interested I can ask them to send one.
1

André Picard @picardonhealth · 20 Dec 2018
No, I don't see "Tell Your Children" in my book pile.
1

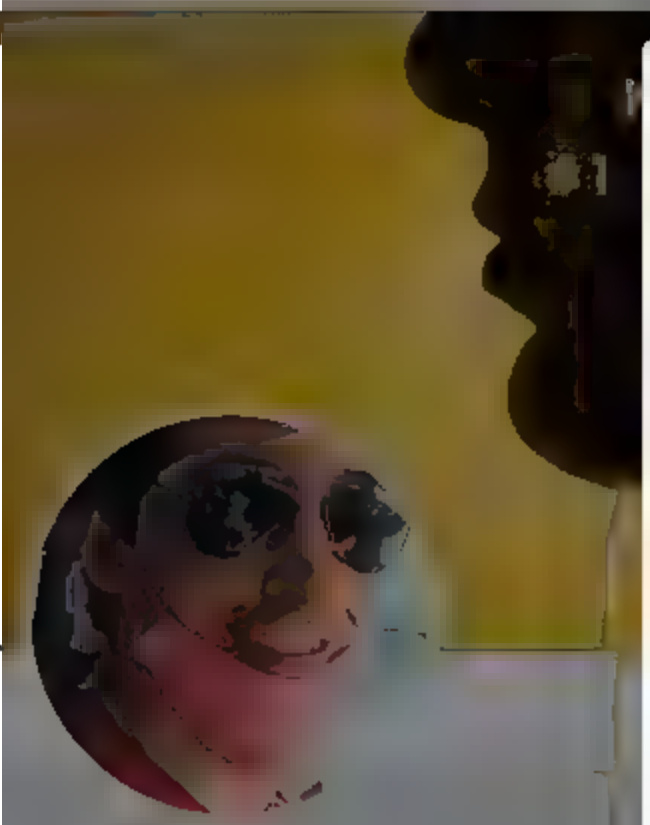
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson
Follow

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

Okay - can you follow me back so I can DM you and get your address and email? I will have them send one today.

5:27 AM - 20 Dec 2018
1

André Picard @picardonhealth · 20 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York
Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

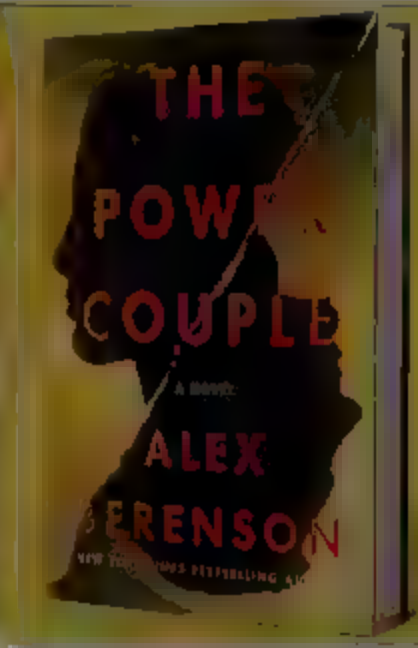
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Just another (alleged) murder during a street deal in a cannabis-legal state. If it feels like you're reading an endless parade of these... it's because you are.

5:19 PM - 19 Dec 2018

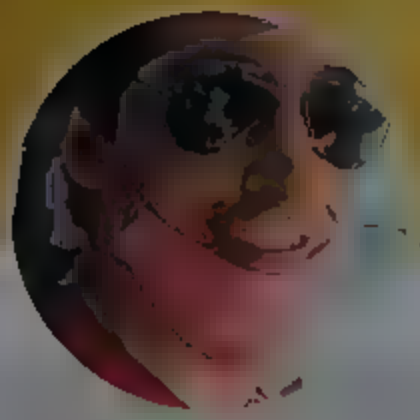
5 Likes

5 5



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 19 Dec 2018

Replying to

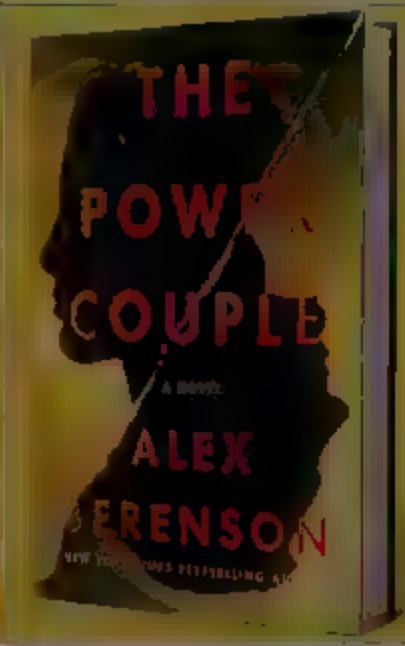


If you are looking for more articles about black market violence, I've been archiving them since 1995 at

1 4

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 19 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

André Picard @picardonhealth · 20 Dec 2018
Should Marijuana Be Legal? by [redacted] via [redacted]

4 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 3 others

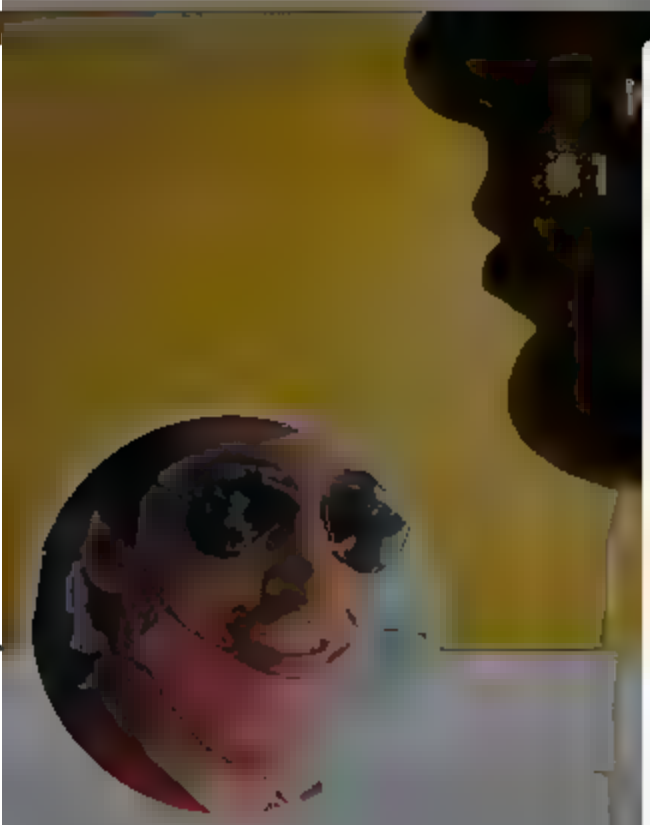
Andre - has Simon & Schuster gotten you a copy of the book? If you're interested I can ask them to send one.

5:04 AM · 20 Dec 2018

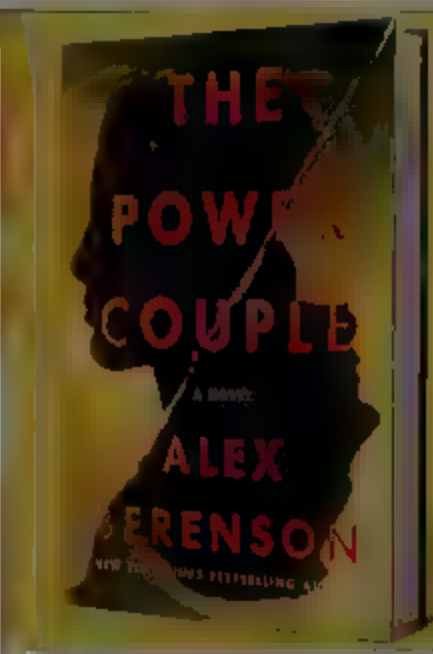
1

André Picard @picardonhealth · 20 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted] and 3 others
No, I don't see "Tell Your Children" in my book pile.

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 20 Dec 2018
Okay - can you follow me back so I can DM you and get your address and email? I will have them send one today.



1

[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ "Yet smoking, drunken driving and seatbeltless riding each created a public health crisis. Once the link became clear and widely understood, people changed their behavior and prevented a whole lot of suffering."
Exactly.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
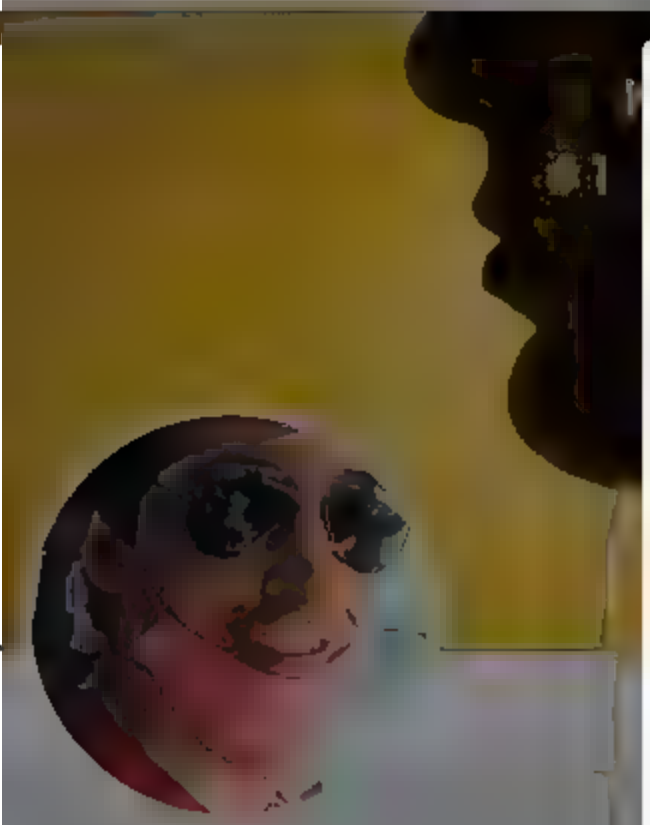
> 1/ My old NYT buddy @DLeonhardt exploded the correlation/causation trap in this piece on hurricanes and climate change:
> nytimes.com/2017/08/29/opi...
> No individual case of lung cancer can be definitively linked to smoking,... few...



11:01 AM - 19 Dec 2018

4 Likes

4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

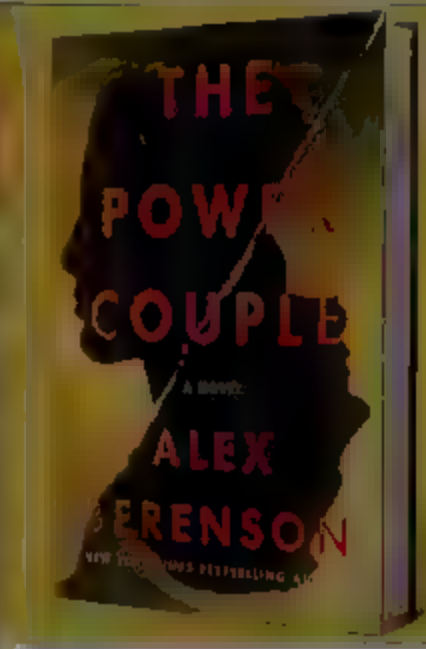
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ My old NYT buddy @DLeonhardt exploded the correlation/causation trap in this piece on hurricanes and climate change: nytimes.com/2017/08/29/opi ...

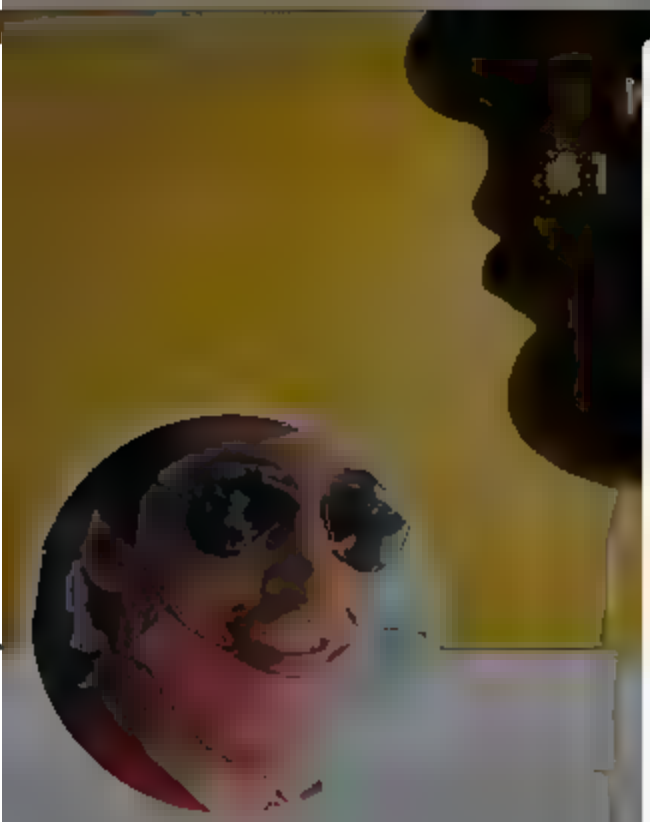
No individual case of lung cancer can be definitively linked to smoking,... few vehicle accidents can be definitely linked to alcohol.

10:59 AM - 19 Dec 2018



6 Likes

4 6

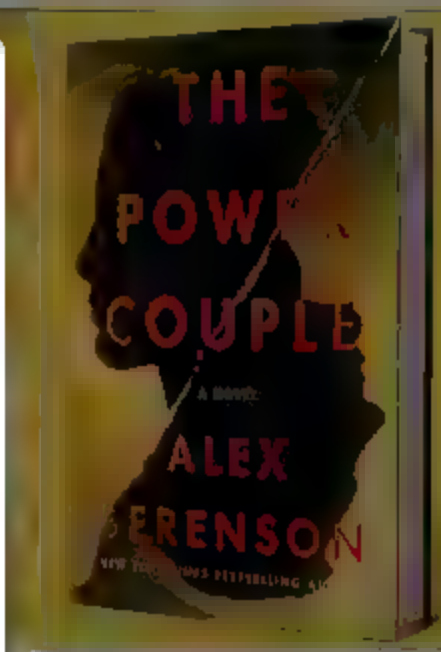


Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 19 Dec 2018

Replying to

Sounds like it would be unwise to link any particular car accident to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/
4) Correlation is not causation. (More studies.)
5) Alcohol is terrible too. (Did I say it wasn't?)
6) Reefer Madness! Reefer Madness!

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Already I've heard from enough cannabis advocates to know exactly what they'll say:
> 1) You're making this up. (I offer studies.)
> 2) Correlation is not causation. (I offer cases where causation is obvious.)...

10:34 AM - 19 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 7 Likes

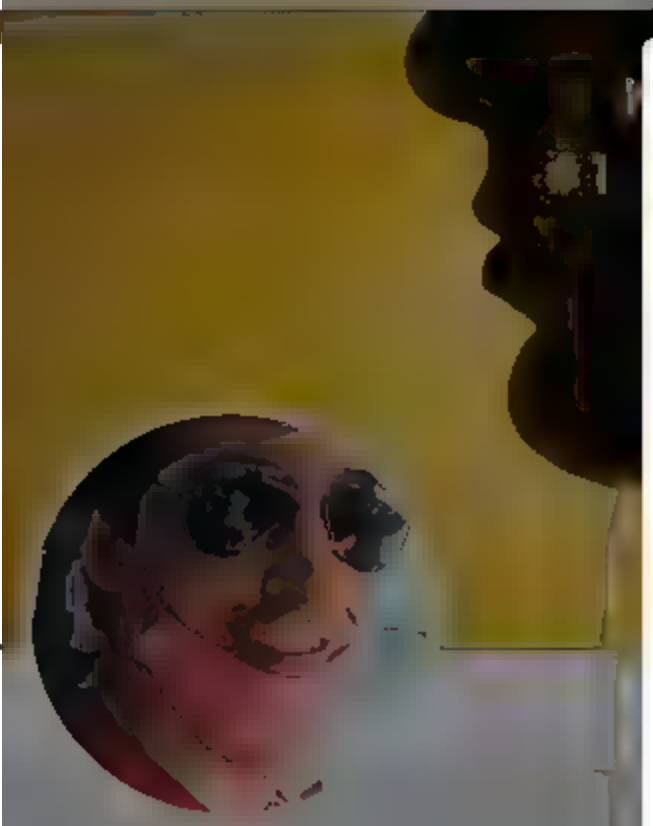
2 1 7



No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 19 Dec 2018
Replying to
I think what rubs people the wrong way is your arrogance and the "I know better than you and everybody else because I'm Alex" attitude. This isn't the first time we've had the correlation/causation convo. Afraid you're gonna have to get used to it until you prove causation.

1

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 19 Dec 2018
It is also quite obvious to most normal people that alcohol is WAY more dangerous than cannabis. And all of us can post articles of alcohol related violence every day all day if we wanted to. But we use our thinking caps.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Already I've heard from enough cannabis advocates to know exactly what they'll say:
1) You're making this up. (I offer studies.)
2) Correlation is not causation. (I offer cases where causation is obvious.)
3) Individual cases are meaningless. (More studies.)

10:26 AM - 19 Dec 2018

3 Retweets 27 Likes

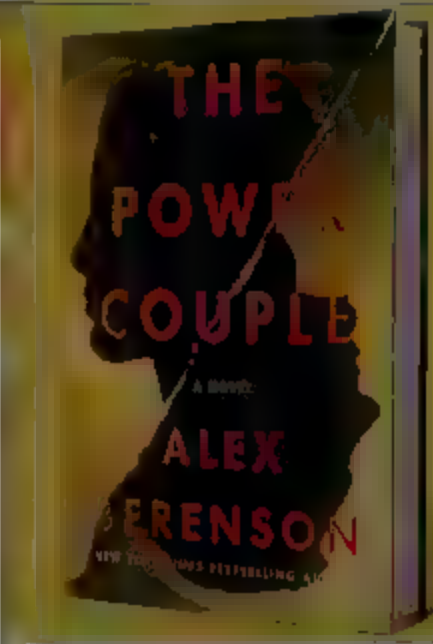
6 3 27

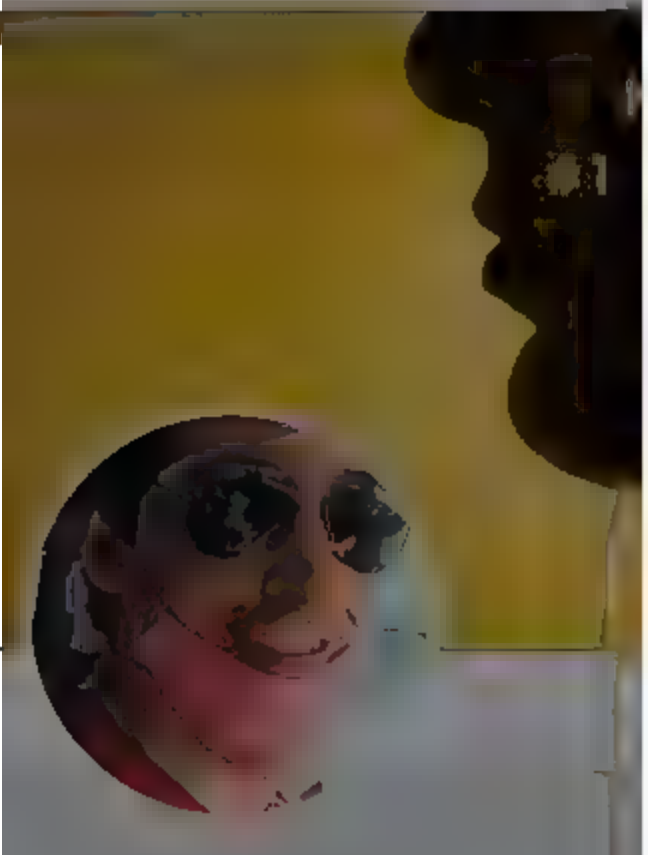
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 19 Dec 2018
Replying to

Aside from systemic violence, I must have missed the studies you've shared where causation was obvious.



I've debated with enough prohibitionists to learn that most think we are arguing over whether or not cannabis should exist, based on how harmful cannabis is or isn't.

1 3



Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 19 Dec 2018
Replying to

In a few weeks, your book will be coming out. We're all going to read it, but if you don't have a bibliography and step by step guide to duplicate your research, we aren't going to take you seriously.

1 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 19 Dec 2018
Post best links here, please

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

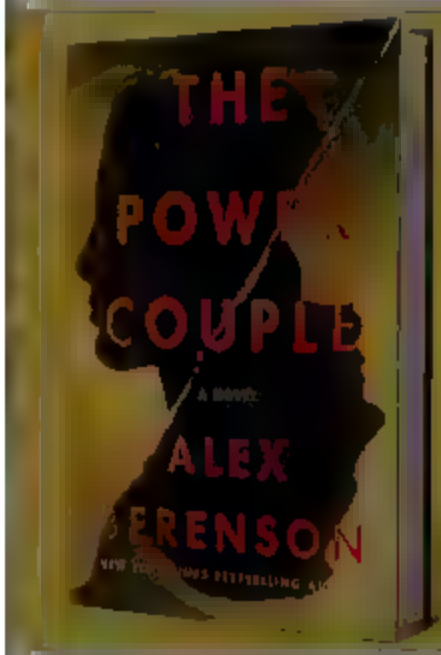
Replying to

Here's a couple:

The Relationship Between Marijuana Use and Intimate Partner Violence
J Interpers Violence . 2012 May.
doi:10.1177/0886260511425787

Predictors of violence in young tourists: Eur. J of Public Health, Vol. 18, No. 6, 569–574

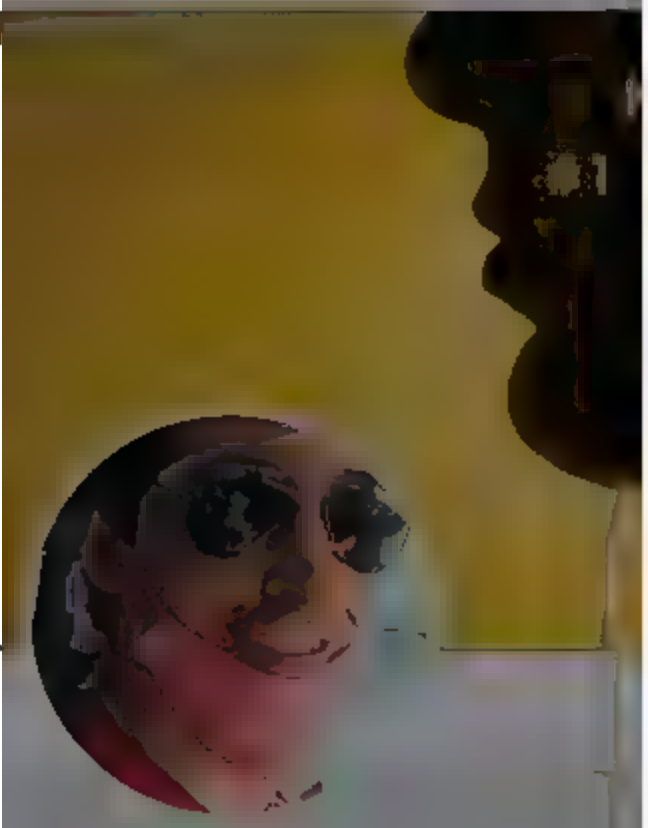
9:26 AM · 19 Dec 2018



1

Neil Boyd @NeilBoydSFU · 19 Dec 2018
Replying to
Yes, as the authors note, their data don't address incidents of cannabis use and their consequences. What they have are data that correlate law-breaking activities of youth with higher rates of intimate partner violence.

1 2



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 19 Dec 2018
Adverse childhood events are "associated with" both cannabis use and IPV, as is

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

I think you mistyped there. You wrote "crazy reefer madness" when you meant "supported by reams of statistical and scientific evidence the advocacy community has tried to shout down." Easy mistake.

1 2 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

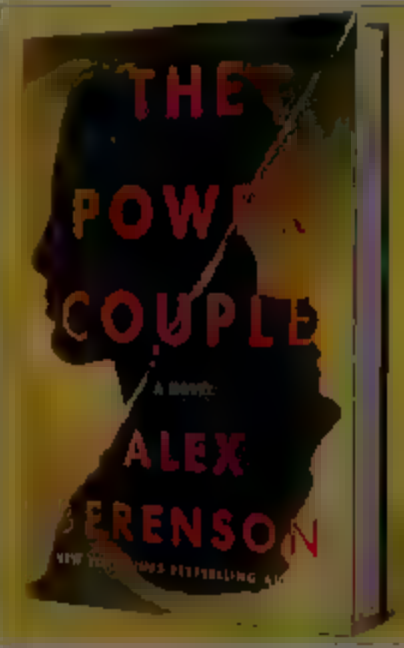
Replying to

Yep. I do. Both in people with psychosis and the general public, large studies show that consumption is highly associated with violence. I'll be glad to point you to them.

7:57 AM - 19 Dec 2018

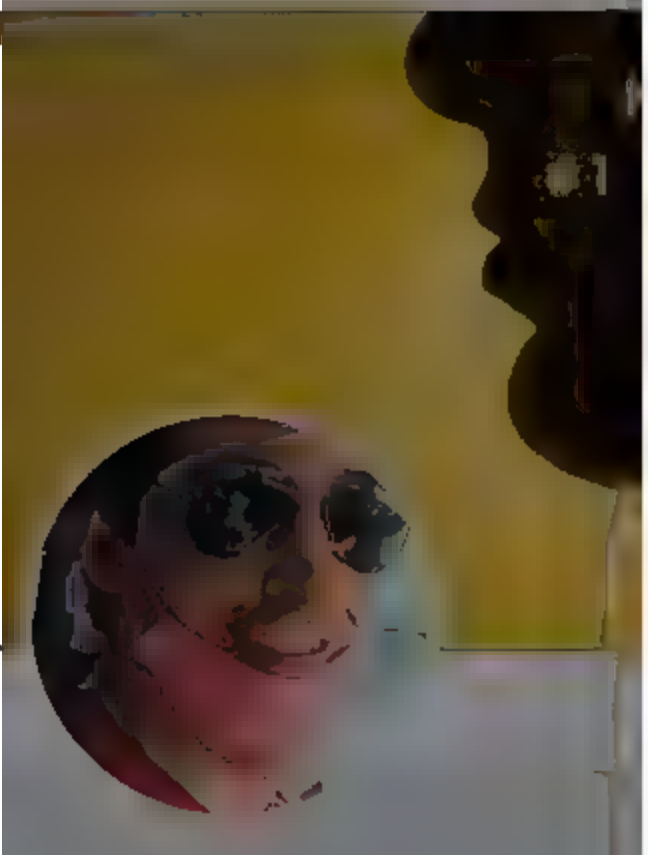
3

Neil Boyd @NeilBoydSFU · 19 Dec 2018
Replying to
Sure...send me the details to nboyd@sfu.ca



1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 19 Dec 2018
Post best links here, please



1

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 19 Dec 2018
Replying to
Jerks who use Cannabis: Brought to you by Alex Berenson in conjunction with Stick Up Bum Productions. Remember folks, use cannabis like any other substance. If you feel strange while using it or have a history of mental disease, stay away. That's an honest plea.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Would suggest that those opposed to legalization begin to craft more logical arguments. The notion that cannabis use leads to more violence is crazy reefer madness from the 1930s.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> Maybe the @seattletimes could rouse itself to look at the reasons that violent crime is soaring in Seattle? Maybe @denverpost could do the same in Denver? Or @Oregonian in Portland? Just a thought.

3 3

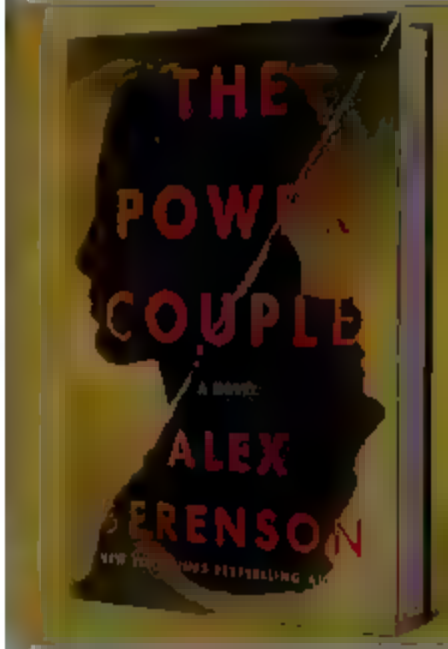
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

I think you mistyped there. You wrote "crazy reefer madness" when you meant "supported by reams of statistical and scientific evidence the advocacy community has tried to shout down." Easy mistake.

5:46 AM - 19 Dec 2018

2 Likes

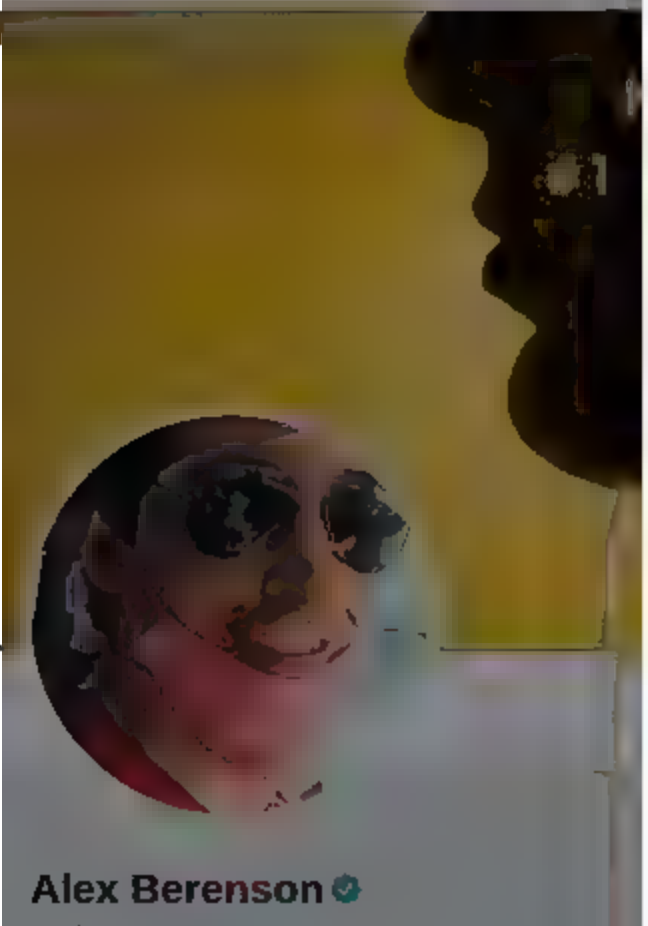


1 2

ADAW @ADAWnews · 19 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

Alex, if by "advocacy community" you mean harm reduction, you must add marijuana industry. What horrid bedfellows.



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

9 3 8

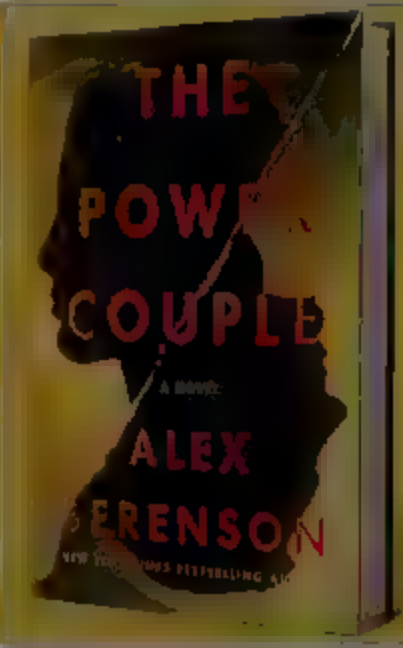
Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 18 Dec 2018
Yet down in nearly all large California cities. And 2018 reduction in murder in LA alone about 3x murder increase in Seattle, Denver and Portland combined according to Brennan Center report drawing from police data. Crime stories always complicated.

1 2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Dec 2018
There was no big year one change in the early states either. Dispensaries are still opening, prices falling, use patterns changing. On top of that cannabis psychosis can take years of use to develop. We'll see where CA is in 2022.

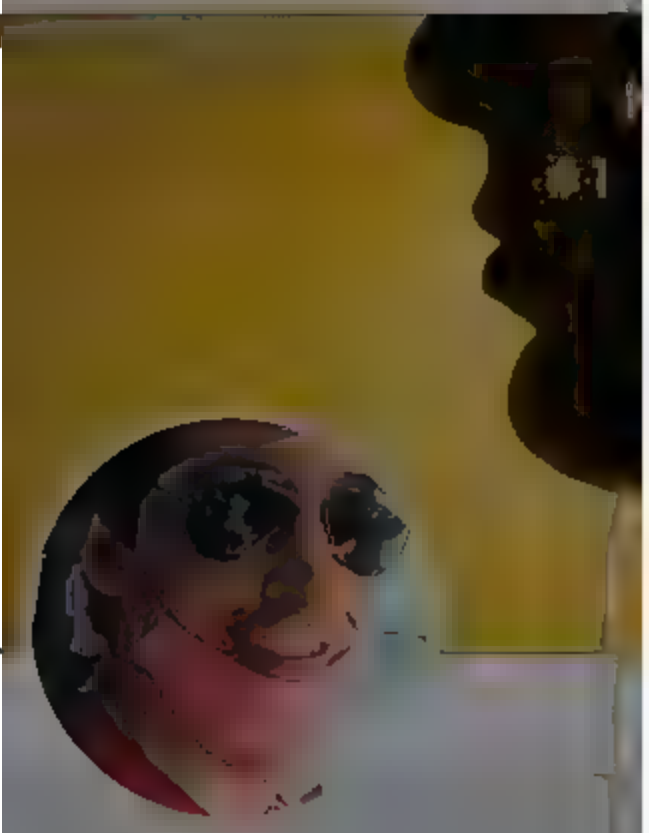
1 1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 19 Dec 2018
Fair response, but do you predict continued crime increases in CO and WA and OR into 2022?



1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Great question. Right now the delta is actually continuing to widen (at least in the cities that offer 2018 data). But the states and cities can also respond, and not necessarily with cannabis-related moves - hiring more cops, say. Time will tell...

4:52 AM - 19 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Yet down in nearly all large California cities. And 2018 reduction in murder in LA alone about 3x murder increase in Seattle, Denver and Portland combined according to Brennan Center report drawing from police data. Crime stories always complicated.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to and 2 others

There was no big year one change in the early states either. Dispensaries are still opening, prices falling, use patterns changing. On top of that cannabis psychosis can take years of use to develop. We'll see where CA is in 2022.

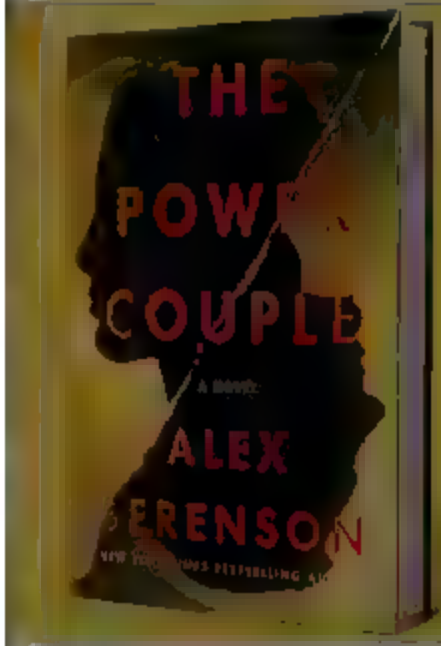
4:13 AM - 19 Dec 2018

1 Like

1 1

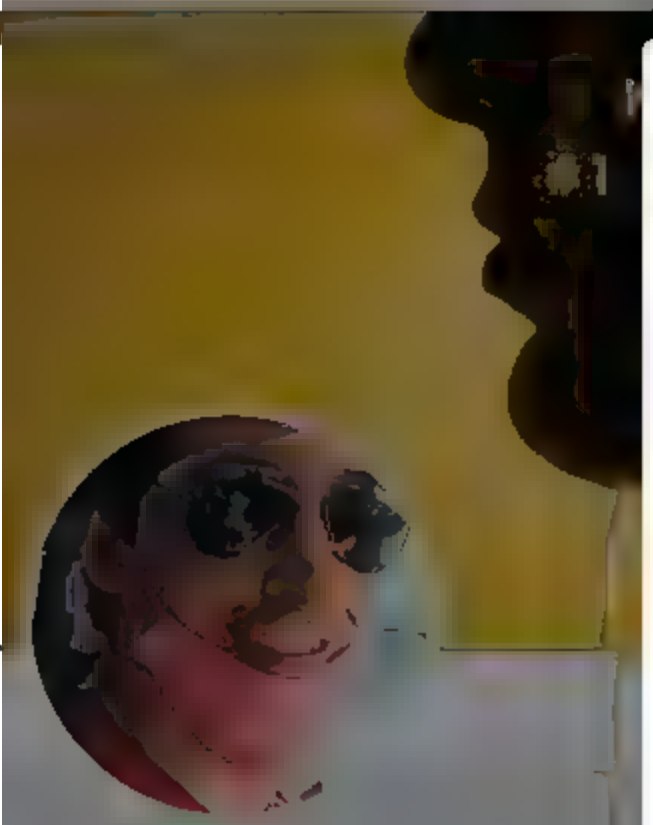
Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 19 Dec 2018

Replying to and 2 others



Fair response, but do you predict continued crime increases in CO and WA and OR into 2022?

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 19 Dec 2018

Great question. Right now the delta is actually continuing to widen (at least in the cities that offer 2018 data). But the states and cities can also respond, and not necessarily with cannabis-related moves - hiring more cops, say. Time will tell...

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Maybe the @seattletimes could rouse itself to look at the reasons that violent crime is soaring in Seattle? Maybe @denverpost could do the same in Denver? Or @Oregonian in Portland? Just a thought.

8:38 PM - 18 Dec 2018

3 Retweets 8 Likes

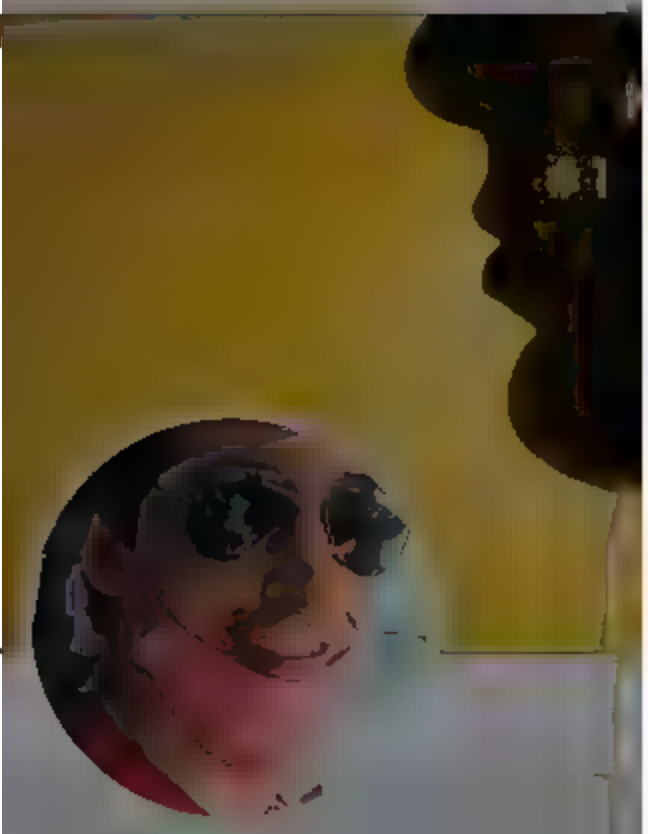
9 3 8

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 18 Dec 2018



Replying to and 2 others

Yet down in nearly all large California cities. And 2018 reduction in murder in LA alone about 3x murder increase in Seattle, Denver and Portland combined according to Brennan Center report drawing from police data. Crime stories always complicated.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Y'hear, Clint? The people who support using police force, seizure of assets, taking of children, shooting of pets, and incarceration of citizens in a futile attempt to stop "druggie losers" from growing a houseplant are tired of your childish bullying and ridicule of people.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Houseplant? I thought it was a miracle cancer cure! Btw believing that people should know the real and serious mental health risks associated with cannabis has nothing to do with shooting pets, but I can see the confusion.

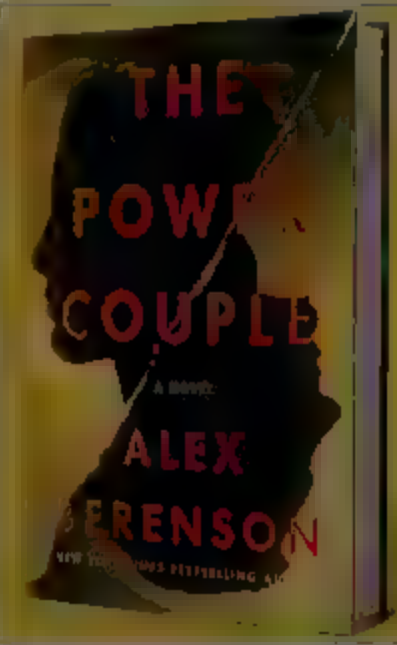
12:59 PM - 18 Dec 2018

3

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 18 Dec 2018

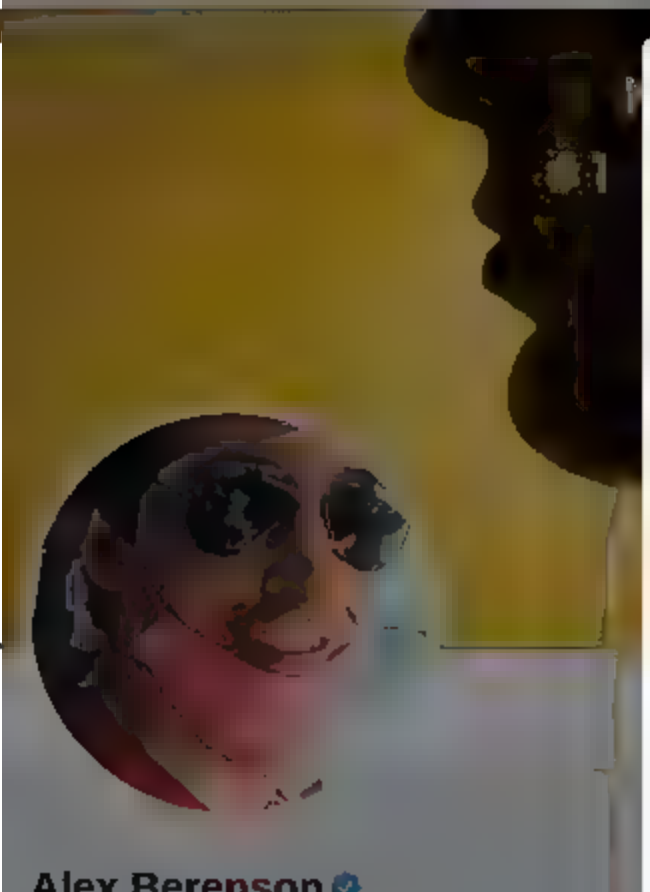
Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

No matter what you tell cannabis consumers it will do to them, a tip that they are growing some is enough to compel police in most states to break down the door and raid them, often times shooting their family pets in the process.



1

'Radical' Russ Belville @RadicalRuss · 18 Dec 2018

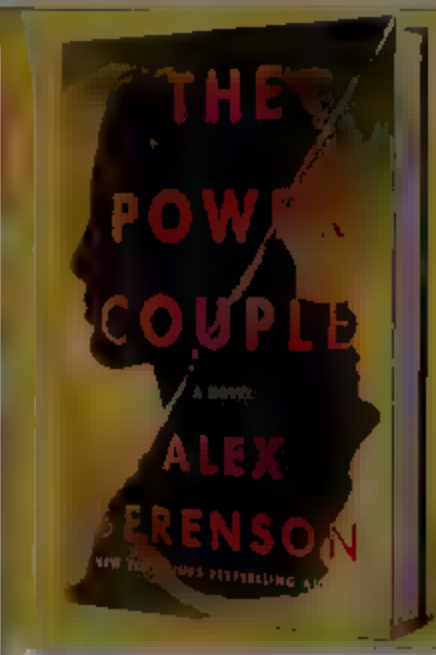


Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

There are numerous studies showing the beneficial effect of cannabinoids in treating cancers. Almost as many as there are videos of SWAT raids over weed where family pets are shot and killed.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

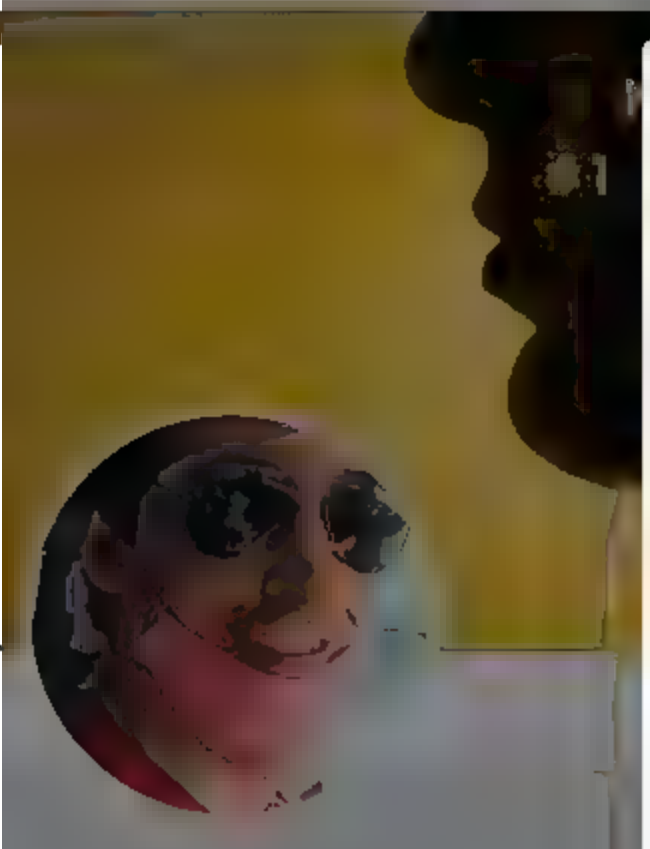
New York

Joined November 2009

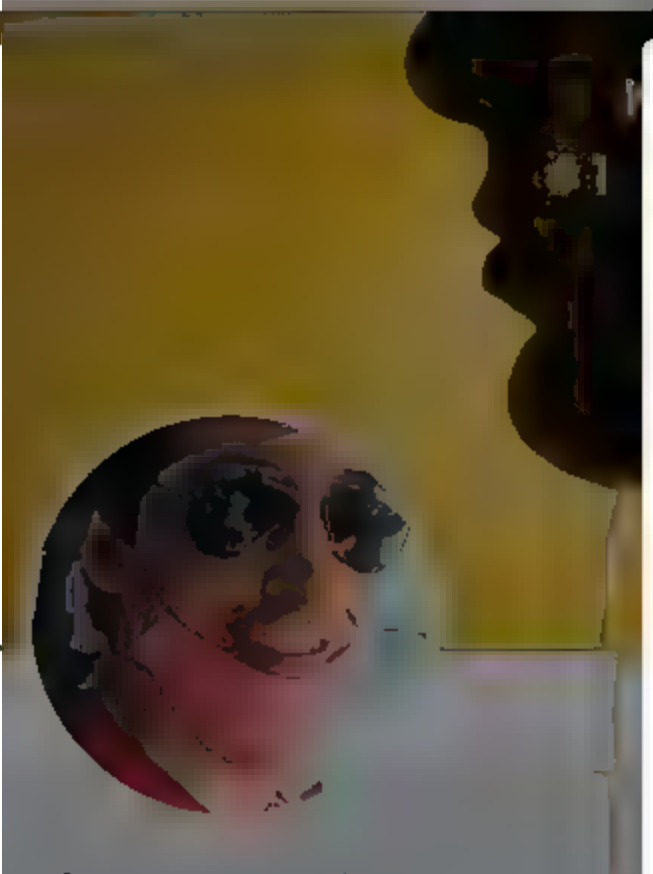
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Just another peaceful cannabis smoker who allegedly peacefully attacked his fiance after she asked him not to smoke and severed arteries in his arm peacefully punching glass.



Definitely unrelated fact: agg assaults in Denver are up 17% this year.



12:12 PM - 18 Dec 2018

6 Retweets 16 Likes

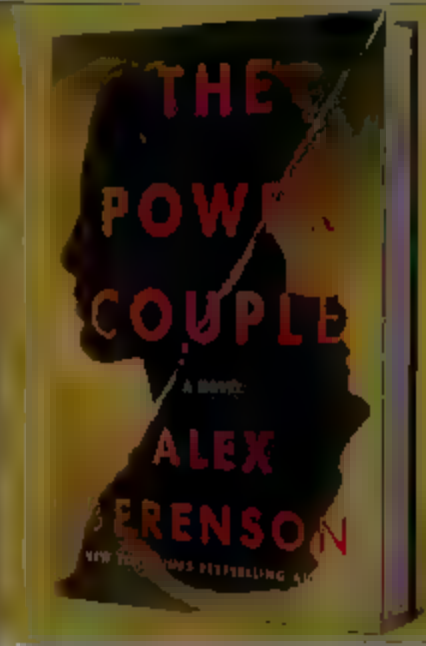
9 6 16

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 18 Dec 2018
Replying to
Let's have a conversation. How did you get so interested in cannabis and you



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ We can't know if little girl would have lived if her mother hadn't been getting high, but I do know this: the marijuana-is-good-for-mommies stories are insane, full stop, and outlets like @washingtonpost are worse than credulous to run them.

washingtonpost.com/national/heal…

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Over and over and over, cannabis use comes up in these stories of kids dead from abuse and neglect. "Video footage shows her leaving the room to smoke marijuana while the children were inside..."

3:38 PM - 17 Dec 2018

6 Likes

2 6

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 17 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
And the women's magazines are running these stories too. It would appear the stories are planted by the excellent PR people who work for the marijuana industry.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 18 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
It's not full stop. Please name any other product that is absolutely only 100% outcomes, never anything negative happens when some people use it. WHy do

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Search Twitter

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

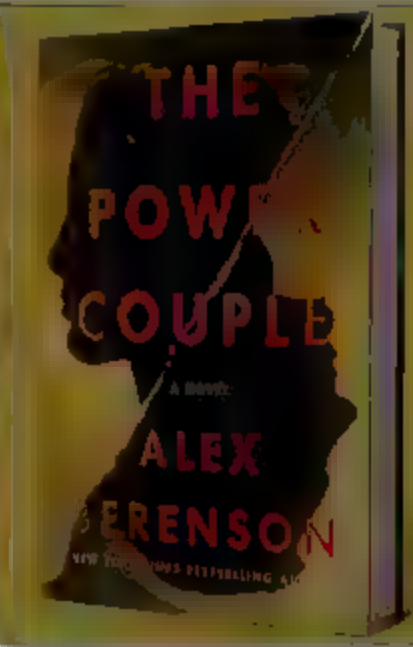
Joined November 2009

Kim Candise @KimCandise · 16 Dec 2018

[redacted] will you be touring in Canada?

1

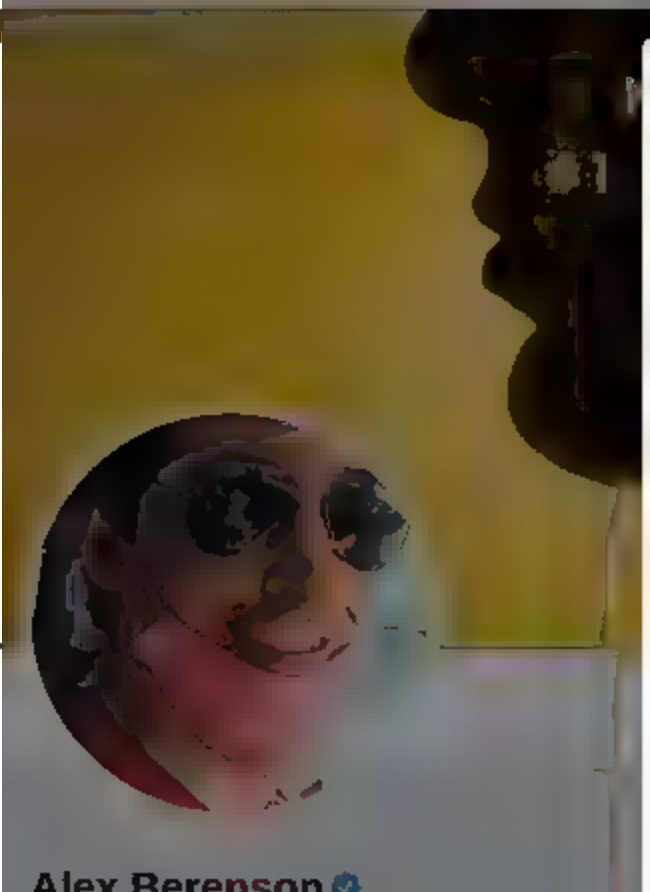
Alex Berenson



@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]



Nothing planned yet for Canada

1:05 PM - 16 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

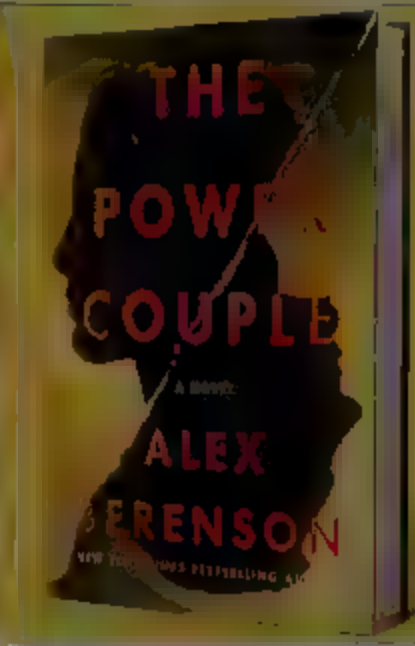
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

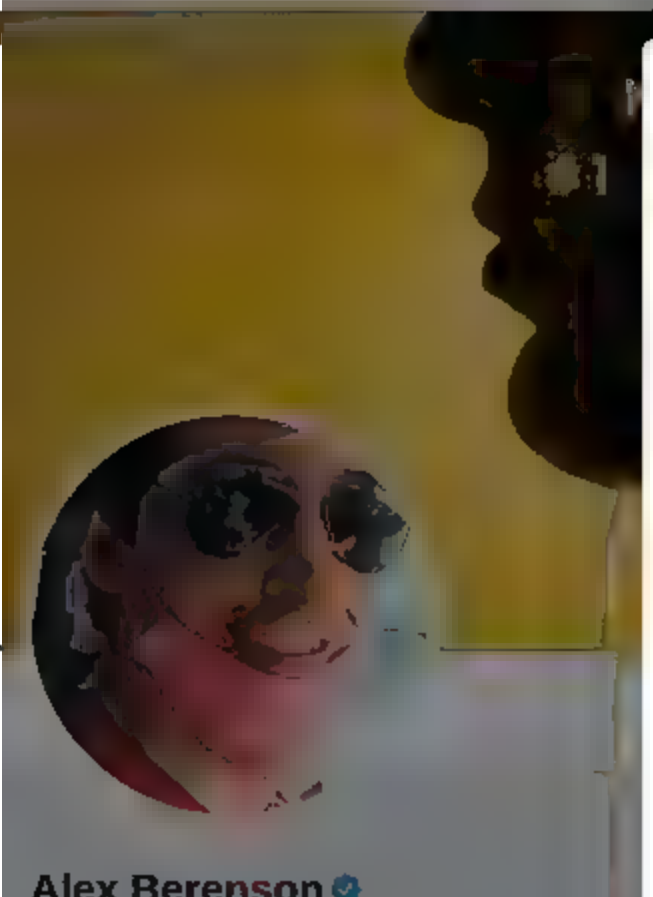
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ Over and over and over, cannabis use comes up in these stories of kids dead from abuse and neglect. "Video footage shows her leaving the room to smoke marijuana while the children were inside..."



3:35 PM - 17 Dec 2018

2 Likes



3 2

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 17 Dec 2018
Replying to

That mother is obviously unfit to be one. It's not because of the cannabis Alex.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

"Marijuana and heroin were found nearby..." Of all the myths cannabis advocates have spread, pretending that cannabis is a solution for the opioid epidemic is the most harmful.

9:00 AM - 16 Dec 2018

8 Retweets 13 Likes

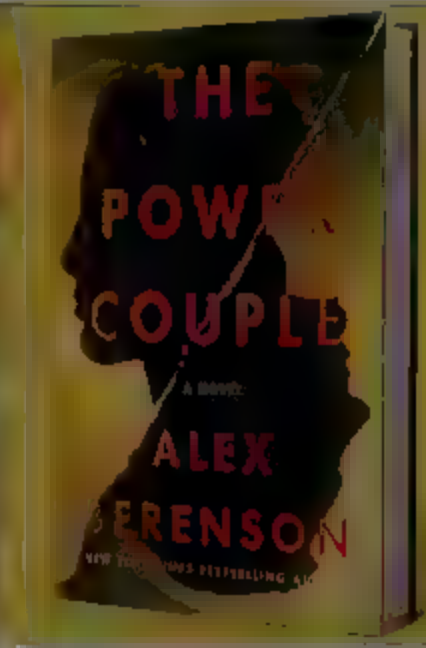
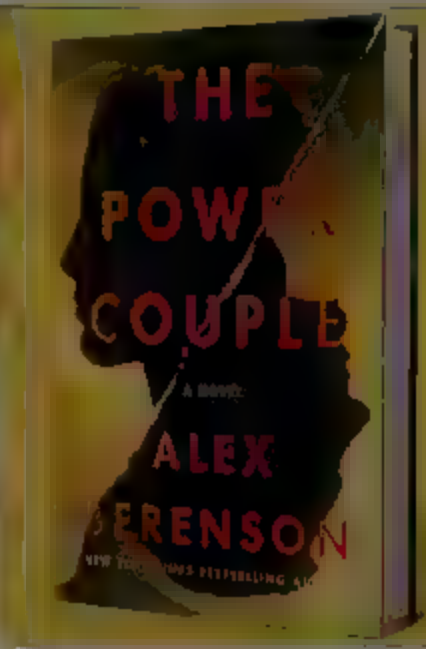
9 8 13



Kevin Krooss @KevinKrooss · 16 Dec 2018
Replying to

1



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Dec 2018
Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Of course - let's talk - alexberenson@gmail.com

Family First New Zealand @familyfirstnz

Replying to @AlexBerenson

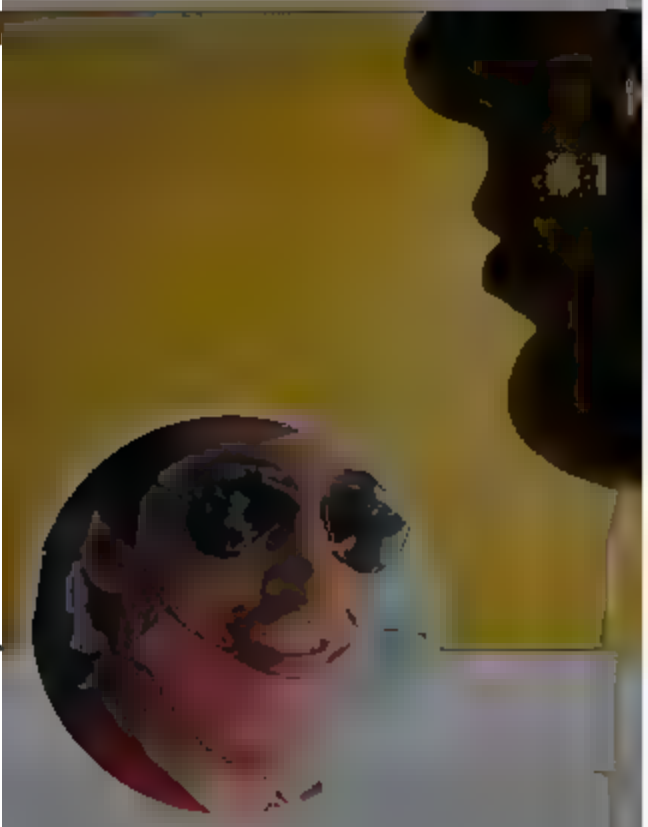
We need you in New Zealand Can we contact you re visit?

10:30 PM - 15 Dec 2018

2 Likes

2 2

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 16 Dec 2018



Replying to

Not sure what you think this guy's going to do for you. He's not a doctor or anything, he's just a man with an opinion like anyone else.

Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 16 Dec 2018

Replying to

Great, you're about to go speak to an anti-gay, anti-trans, pro-physically abusing children advocacy group that only recently got into being anti-marijuana. I'll tell Tony Perkins to drop you a line when you return to the US.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 4

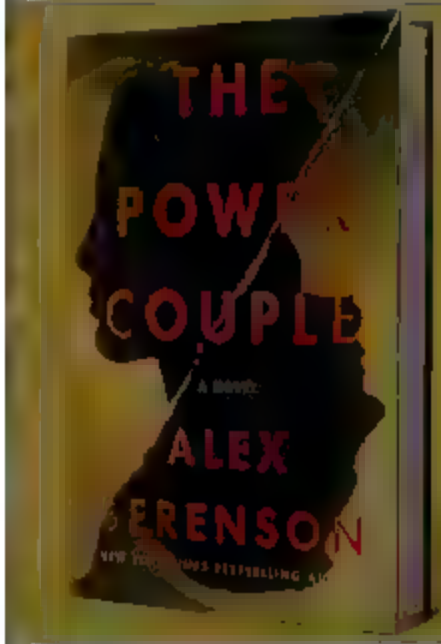
Ripple Man @KingRippleXRP · 15 Dec 2018
I'm sure cannabis was the problem, seriously?

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

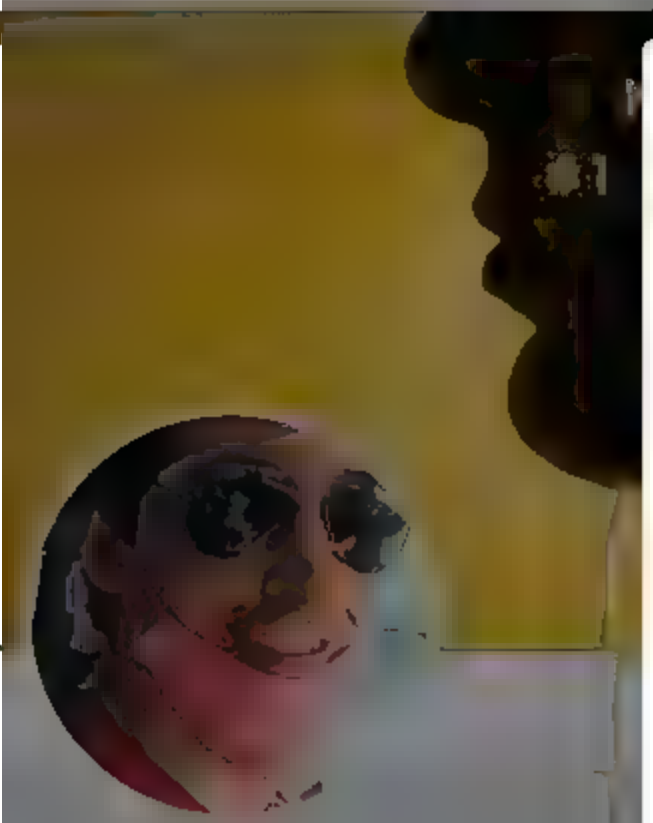
Replying to

He's already been in rehab for it and disclosed having quasi-psychotic episodes on it; it is linked to suicidality in people with bipolar disorder, which he has said psychiatrists said he might have. So, yeah, seriously.



11:55 AM - 15 Dec 2018

2 Likes

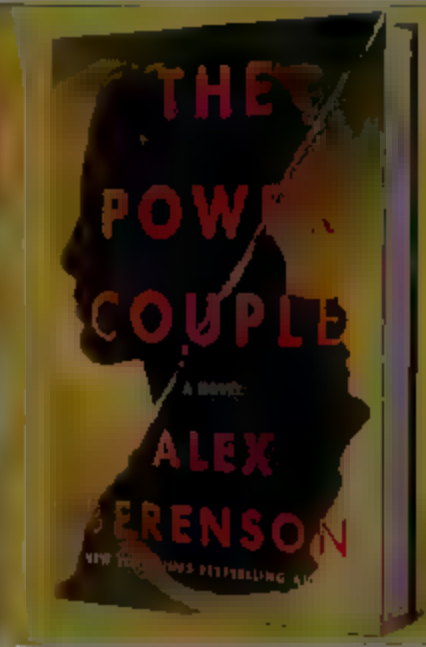


2 2

Ripple Man @KingRippleXRP · 15 Dec 2018
Replying to
Very well.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Dec 2018
Replying to
It is well known that it's not everyone's cup of tea. This is why 4-5 times or more as many people try it than continue to use it. You will always find an example of something imperfect unless you're religious and even then not everyone thinks the divine is perfect.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

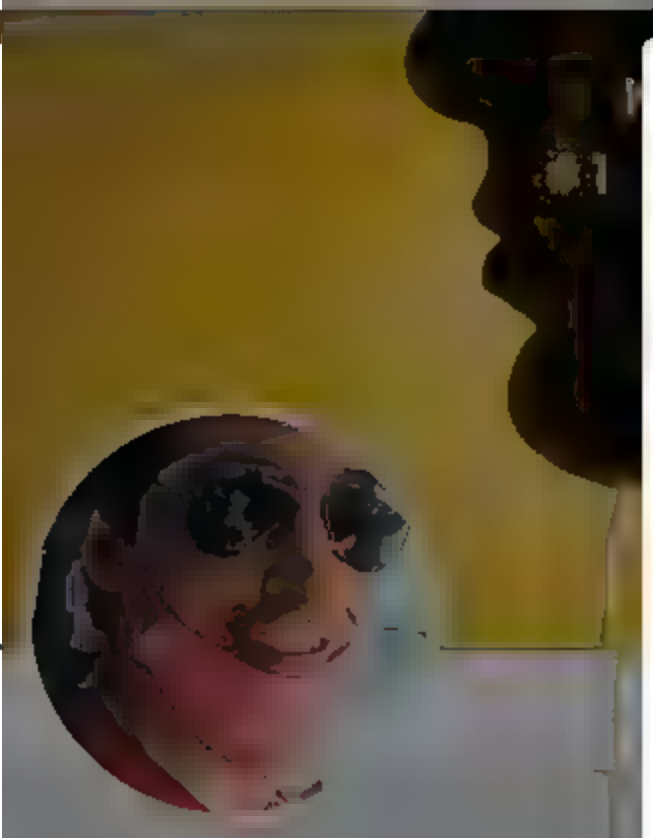
Here's hoping #PeteDavidson - whom I discuss in Tell Your Children - gets the help he needs. Starting with treatment for his cannabis use.

11:49 AM - 15 Dec 2018

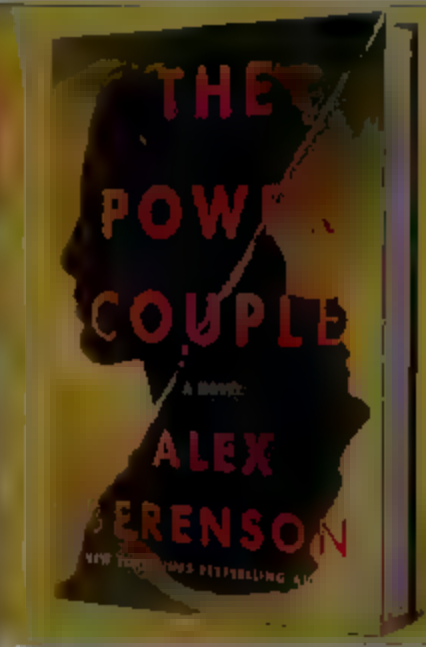
4 Likes

3 4

Ripple Man @KingRippleXRP · 15 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
I'm sure cannabis was the problem, seriously?



2 1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Dec 2018
He's already been in rehab for it and disclosed having quasi-psychotic episodes on it; it is linked to suicidality in people with bipolar disorder, which he has said psychiatrists said he might have. So, yeah, seriously.

2 2

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 15 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Hopefully he does. Hopefully you will one day realize just because some folks shouldn't use cannabis doesn't mean others can't. Just my two cents.

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 16 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Definitely. It's sad. His father was a fire fighter who died in 9/11. He started using cannabis for Crohn's Disease, which is never curative. (There are other

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Other fun facts from the Georgia report: the oldest new inmate was 87 (!), four had PhDs, and 28 reported over 10 dependents. Three were Marines, but 54 (!!) were in the Coast Guard.

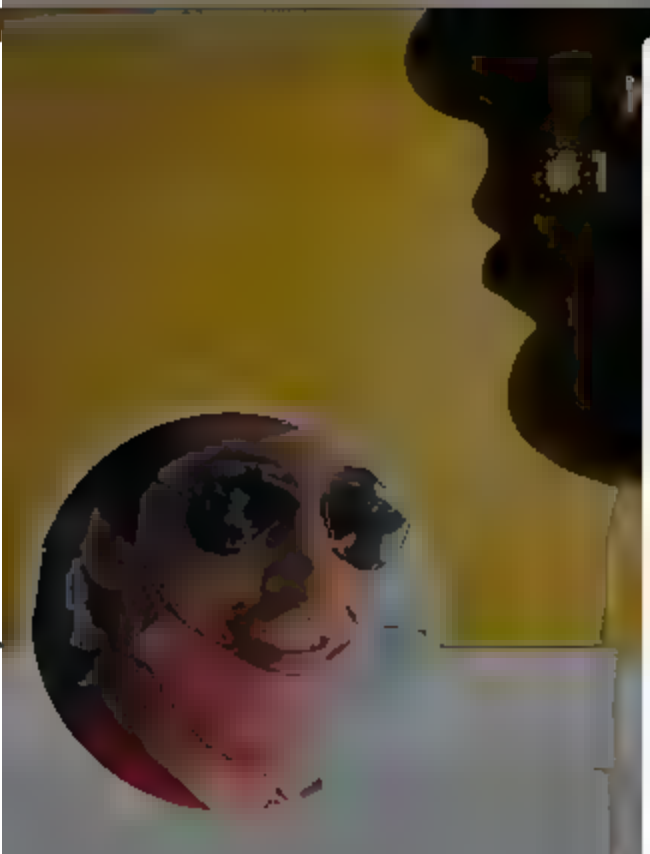
Too bad every state doesn't do this.

2:36 PM - 14 Dec 2018

1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

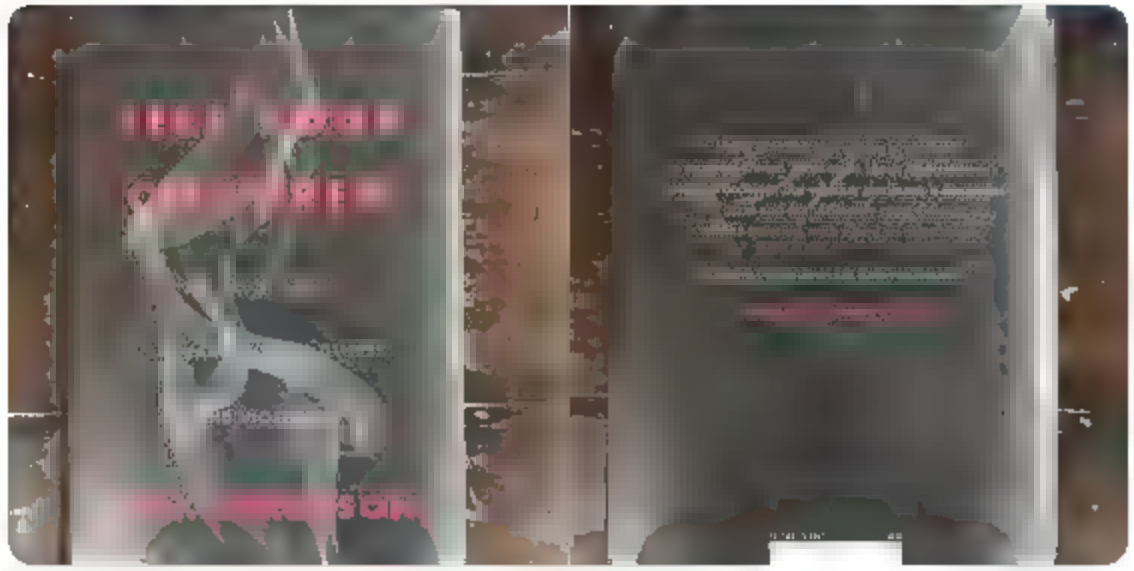
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

The hardbacks are here!

5:54 AM - 15 Dec 2018

4 Retweets 33 Likes

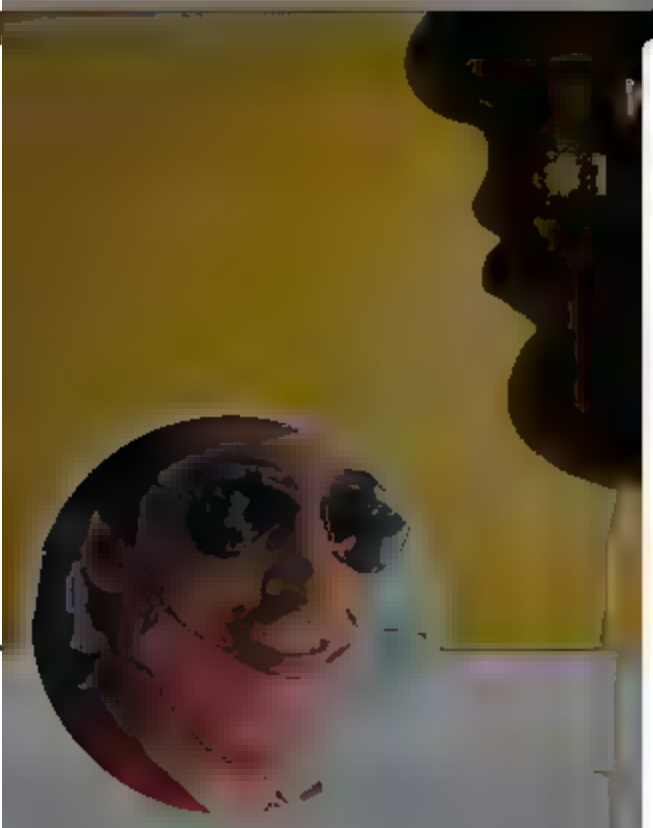
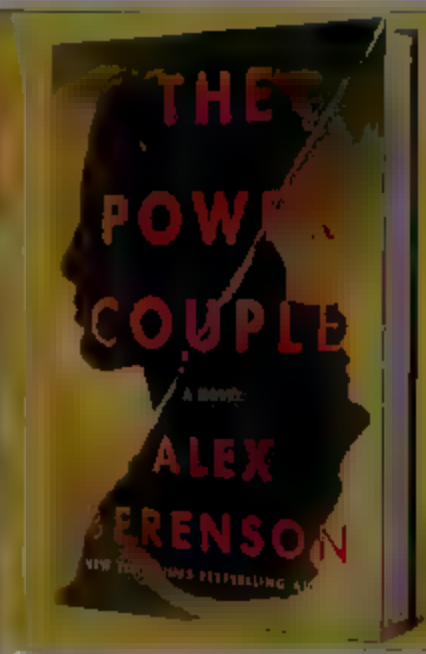
9 4 33



Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 15 Dec 2018
Replying to
No, a stoned nation is a nation that was allowed the choice.



Russ Kamer @RussKamer · 15 Dec 2018
Replying to
Just realized where your book's title came from.

Twas4kids @twas4kids · 15 Dec 2018
Replying to well done Alex - this book needs to ignite a groundswell - of opposition to the advance of big marijuana - it is what we have been waiting for

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

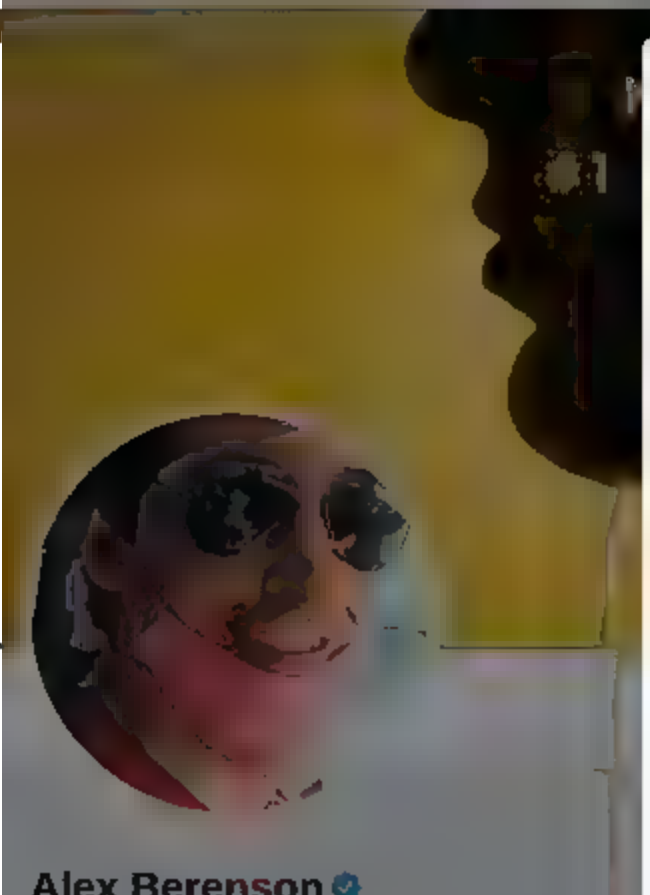
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

In unrelated news, Georgia also reported that one of the new 2017 prisoners was 7'7" - and that the least frequent religious affiliation was "Greek Orthodox," followed by "Taoist."
Just fyi...

2:14 PM - 14 Dec 2018

1 Like

1 1



Christian Alberto Ledesma @MrCLedesma · 16 Dec 2018

Replying to

I wonder what the stats look like nationwide. Are the Taoist numbers proportional to general population or just low due to low numbers?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ Counting all marijuana-related offenses, including trafficking, about 660 Georgians went to state prison - 4% of all new prisoners. It's long past time to for advocates to acknowledge the truth on this issue.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Okay, here's inmate data from a red state that until June had a strict medical marijuana law. In 2017, Georgia admitted 53 people to state prison for marijuana possession - 0.00051% of the state's population.

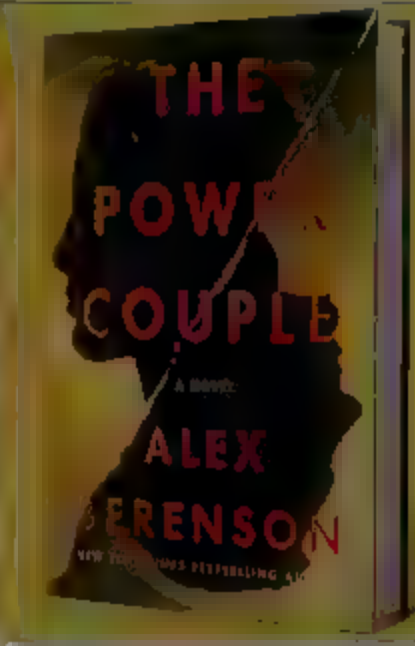
2:11 PM - 14 Dec 2018

1 Like

2 1

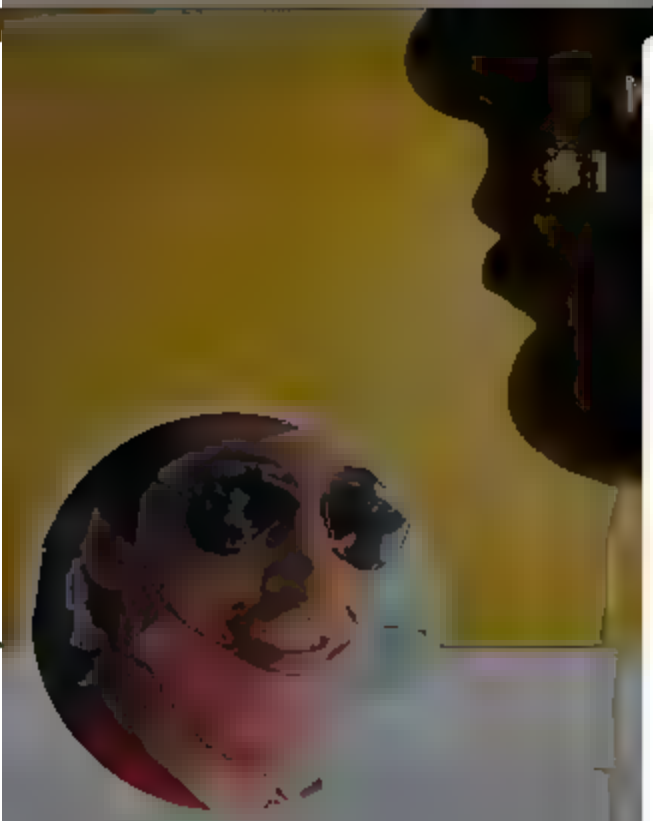
Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 16 Dec 2018

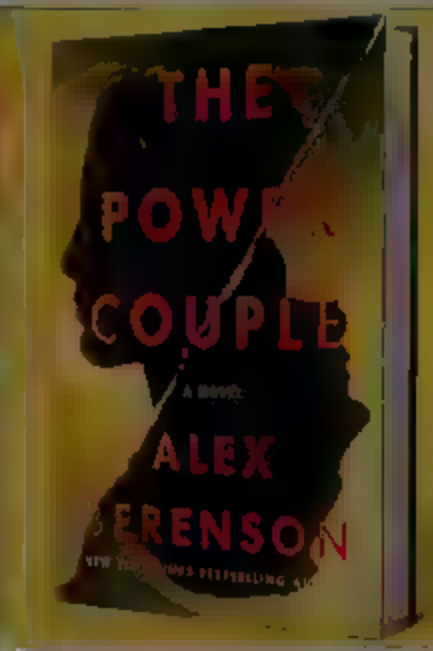
Replying to [illegible]



My friends son was arrested for possession in Jersey. He needed a lawyer to get expungement, only after 2 years. He has to report to one testing for Cannabis after 1-2 months and then he gets of course if caught again it would be more severe. You never count that money or time.

1





Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 17 Dec 2018

And he was caught because fire dept was called to the building and the fireman told the police he saw cannabis. Makes the prohibitionist day to hear how they are keep on slamming us to the ground, arrest, big fines and fees, hassles. Wonderful people.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

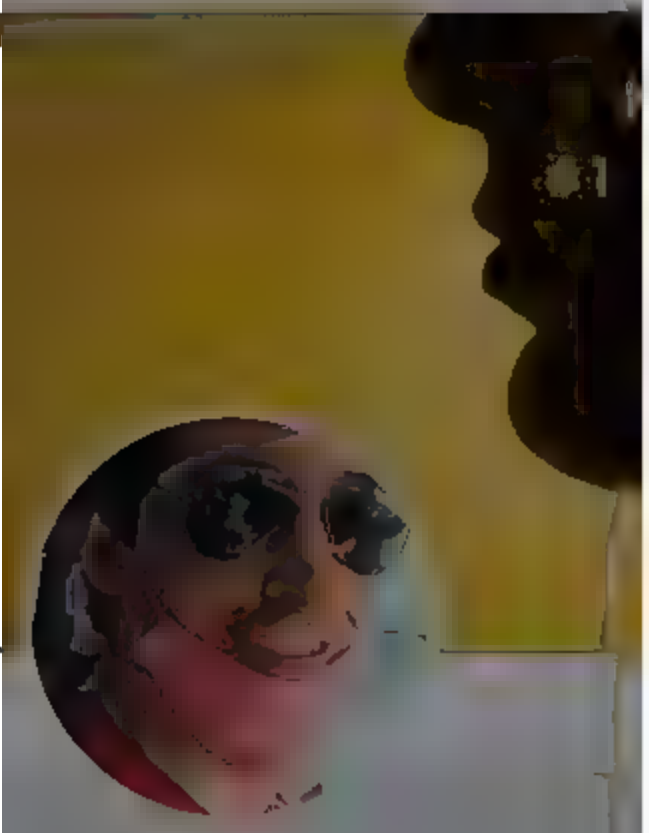
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Following

1/ Okay, here's inmate data from a red state that until June had a strict medical marijuana law. In 2017, Georgia admitted 53 people to state prison for marijuana possession - 0.00051% of the state's population.

[illegible] state ga.us/sites/al/files/en ...

2:06 PM - 14 Dec 2018

1



Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 14 Dec 2018

Replying to [illegible]

Why do all these statistics matter? The overall point's still the same. We want legalization and at this point we really don't care what you say against it. We've had eighty years of your failed policies and oh look, they didn't work. Give us eighty years.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

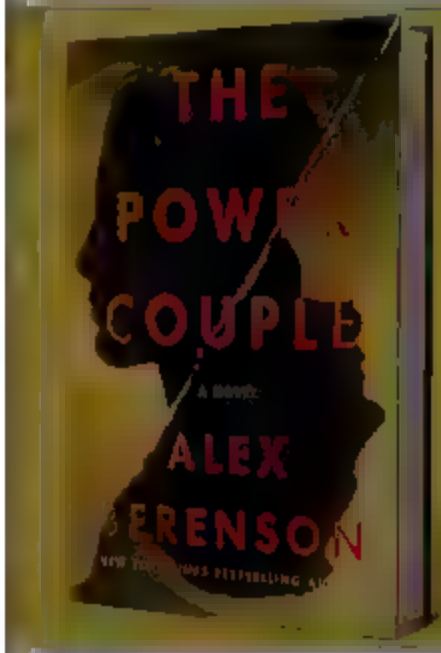
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



From California: More proof of the myth that "prisons are filled with people doing time for cannabis." As of 12/31/2013, the state had 441 inmates - out of 134,000! - for all marijuana crimes. About twice as many were in for forgery.

TOTAL INSTITUTION POPULATION
OFFENDERS BY CONTROLLING OFFENSE GROUP AND GENDER as of DECEMBER 31, 2013

	TOTAL
	Female		Male		TOTAL
	NUMBER	PERCENT	NUMBER	PERCENT	NUMBER	PERCEN
OFFENSE GROUP
PETTY THEFT WITH PRIOR	116	1.9	1,067	0.8	1,183	0
RECEIVING STOLEN PROPERTY	75	1.2	1,170	0.9	1,245	0
VEHICLE THEFT	96	1.6	2,063	1.6	2,159	1
FORGERY/FRAUD	142	2.3	712	0.6	854	0
OTHER PROPERTY OFFENSES	49	0.8	841	0.7	890	0
CS+ POSSESSION	235	3.8	4,245	3.3	4,480	3
CS+ POSSESS FOR SALE, ETC	193	3.1	4,085	3.2	4,278	3
CS+ SALES, ETC.	68	1.1	1,368	1.1	1,436	1
CS+ MANUFACTURING	3	0.0	145	0.1	146	0
CS+ OTHER	40	0.7	467	0.4	507	0
HASHISH POSSESSION	0	0	17	0.0	17	0
MARIJ. POSSESS FOR SALE	3	0.0	206	0.2	209	0
MARIJUANA SALES	3	0.0	153	0.1	156	0
OTHER MARIJUANA OFFENSES	2	0.0	57	0.0	59	0
ESCAPE	22	0.4	96	0.1	118	0

7:21 AM - 14 Dec 2018

12 Retweets 16 Likes

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

This email warmed my heart. Nice to see "the wealthy" profiting from the spread of a psychomimetic drug, and to know that an army of advisors is helping. I'm sure they will be completely honest about the science on the risks, too!

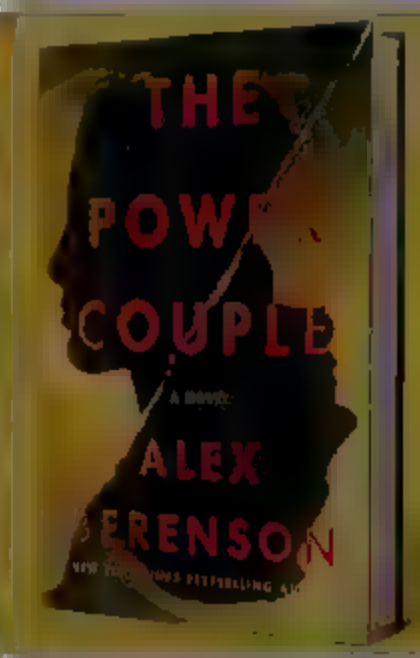
Michael Brosgart
to me
4:03 PM View details

Alex,

In October it was Ebbu.

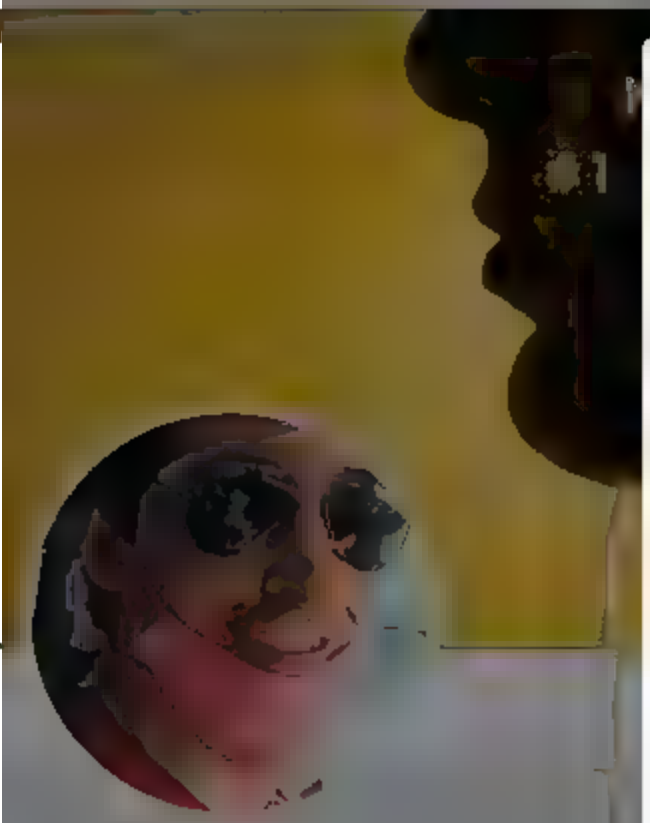
And last month it was 4Front.

I'm referring here to two acquisitions that for the most part passed quietly under the radar. For Arcview investors, however, these marked lucrative exits and validation for their early investment support.



Ebbu is a cannabinoid research company with significant intellectual property. It was acquired by Canopy Growth in a cash and share deal, valuing Ebbu in excess of $300 million.

4Front, a vertically integrated cannabis platform, took a different approach and announced an all share transaction with Cannex, a listed Canadian company, with exciting consolidation plans for the industry.



1:34 PM - 13 Dec 2018

2 Retweets 8 Likes

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

How's legalization and high teen cannabis use working out in Washington state? How about that falling violent crime rate advocates promised?

thenewstribune.com/news/local/...

11:37 AM - 13 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 3 Likes

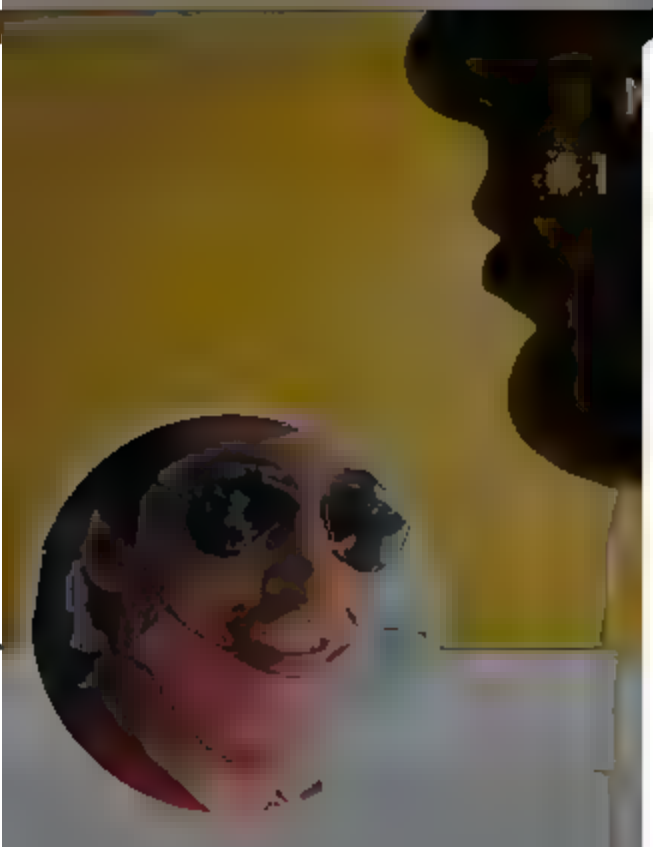
7 1 3



Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 13 Dec 2018

Replying to

Doesn't matter, I'm in Missouri. When it comes here we'll be able to talk about it.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Zack Barnes, Ph.D. @zbarnes · 13 Dec 2018

[redacted] you don't need to put a period in front of username if it is used in the middle of a tweet. Only needs a period if username is first and you want everyone to see.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 Dec 2018

Are you sure? Because my understanding is that Twitter said they would change this but didn't, that without the period it lands in Tweets and replies.

1

Zack Barnes, Ph.D. @zbarnes · 13 Dec 2018

Yep! It's been that way for years now. Only lands in replies if username is first. Check through your feed right now. You will see lots of usernames in the middle of a tweet with no period.

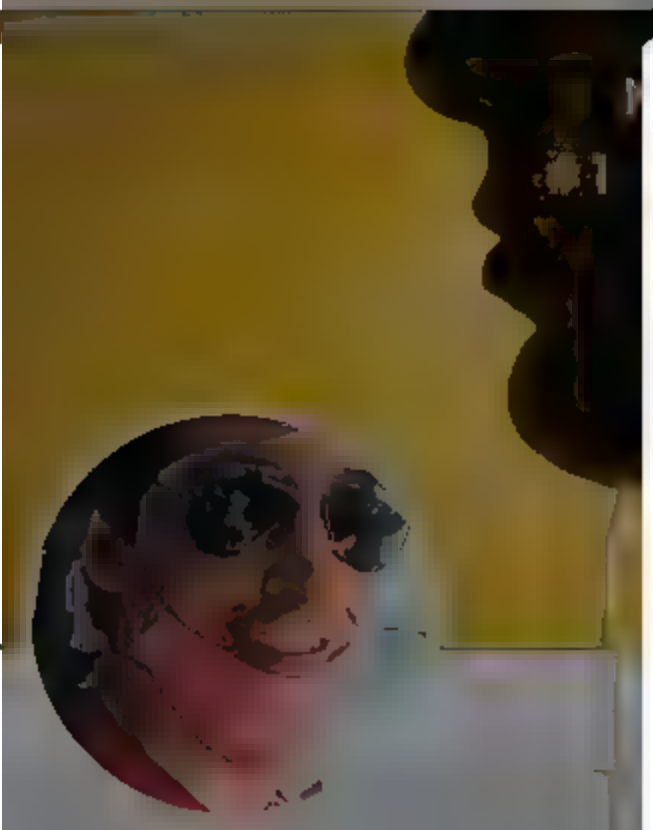
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

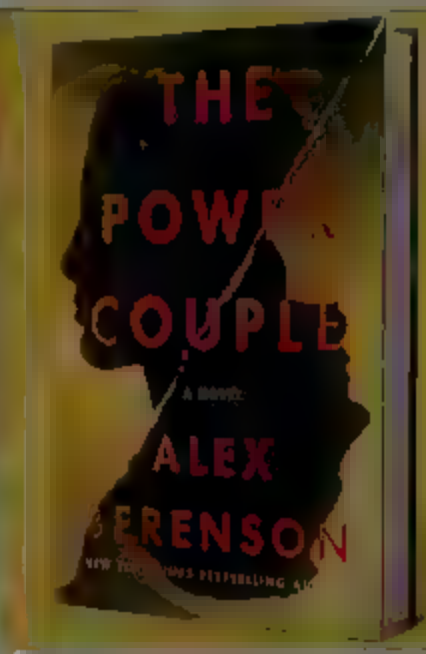
Replying to [redacted]

Ahh - didn't realize that distinction - thanks.

8:01 AM - 13 Dec 2018



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Zack Barnes, Ph.D. @zbarnes · 13 Dec 2018

[redacted] you don't need to put a period in front of username if it is used in the middle of a tweet. Only needs a period if username is first and you want everyone to see.

1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Are you sure? Because my understanding is that Twitter said they would change this but didn't, that without the period it lands in Tweets and replies.

7:49 AM - 13 Dec 2018

1

Zack Barnes, Ph.D. @zbarnes · 13 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

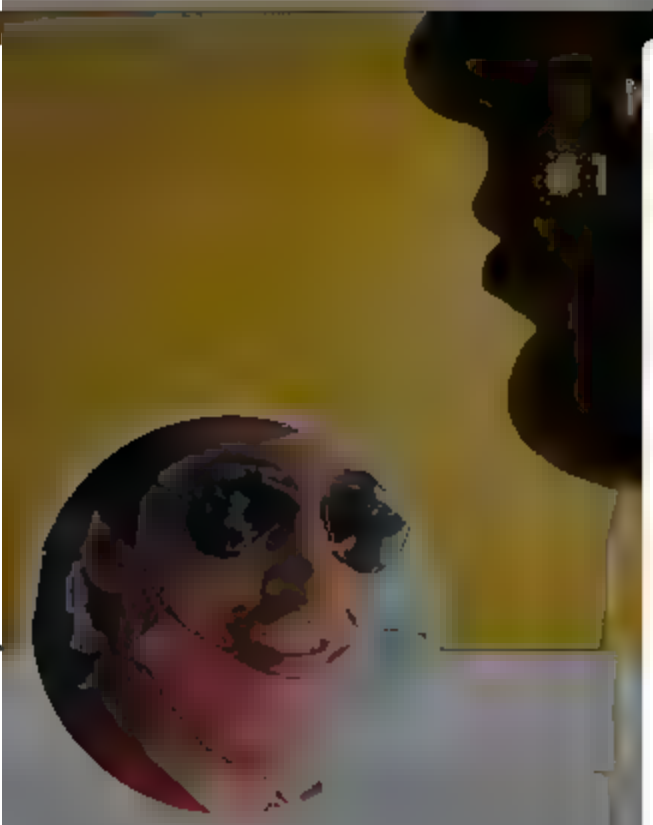
Yep! It's been that way for years now. Only lands in replies if username is first. Check through your feed right now. You will see lots of usernames in the middle of a tweet with no period.

1

Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 13 Dec 2018

Ahh - didn't realize that distinction - thanks.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

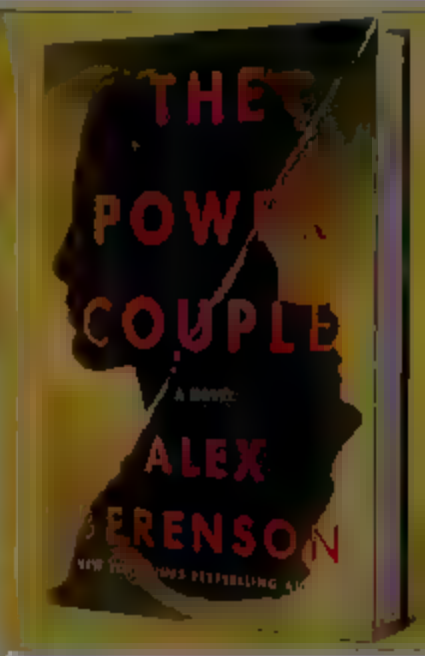
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

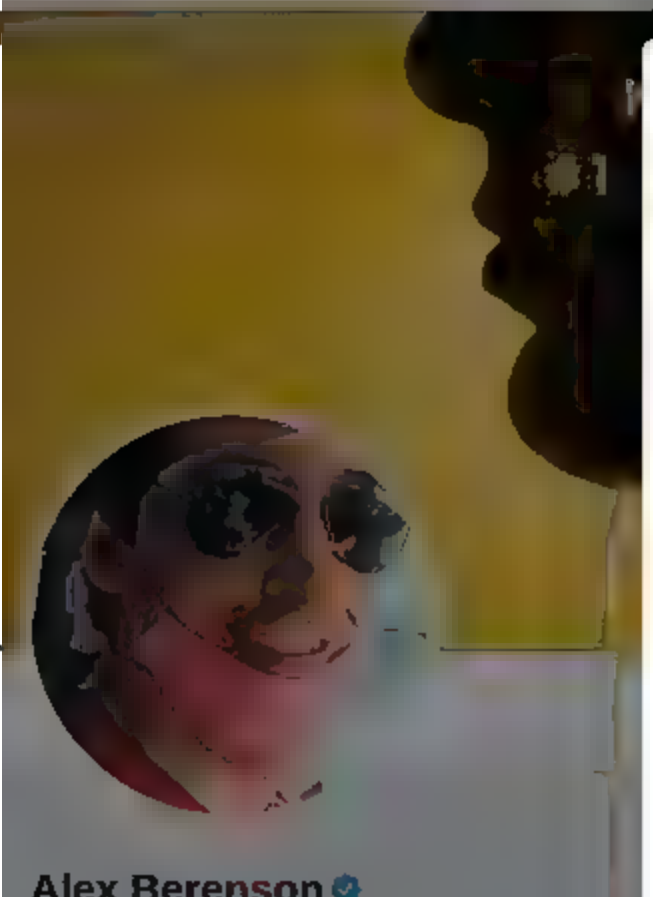
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



This is stunning on a couple of levels, including the revelation that .@taylorswift13 has "hundreds" of "known stalkers."

7:46 AM - 13 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Tonight, from Colorado's PBS affiliate .@rmpbs: "Legalizing recreational marijuana in Colorado was supposed to weaken the illegal market for the drug. An Insight investigation shows just the opposite."

7:06 AM - 13 Dec 2018

7 Retweets 9 Likes

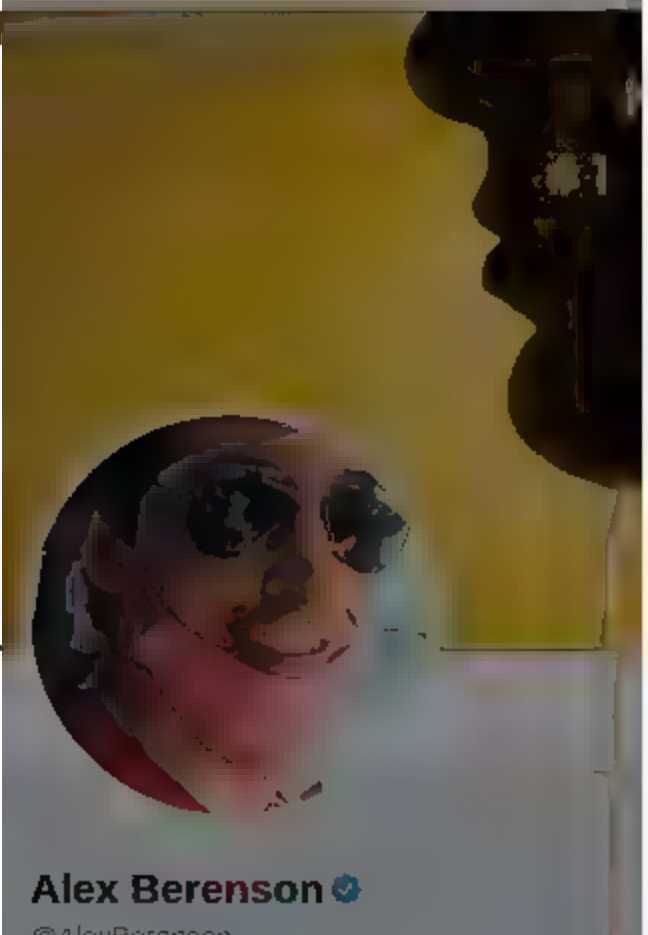
7 7 9

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 13 Dec 2018



Replying to

Are advil and chardonnay legal in all 50 states? Yes and that is why you don't see people driving truckloads of it from one state to the other. When cannabis reaches the correct price (somewhere close to the price of tomatoes per lb) there won't be anymore black market.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

you can't ignore national collected data that shows homicide and suicide rates have dropped by up to 50% in Europe and the US states that have adopted legalisation. If you're going to make claims you need to present your data scientifically not like a tabloid.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

I have no idea what "national collected data" is. You are entirely wrong about homicide and suicide rates in the first four US states to legalize, though - they have risen sharply post-legalization.

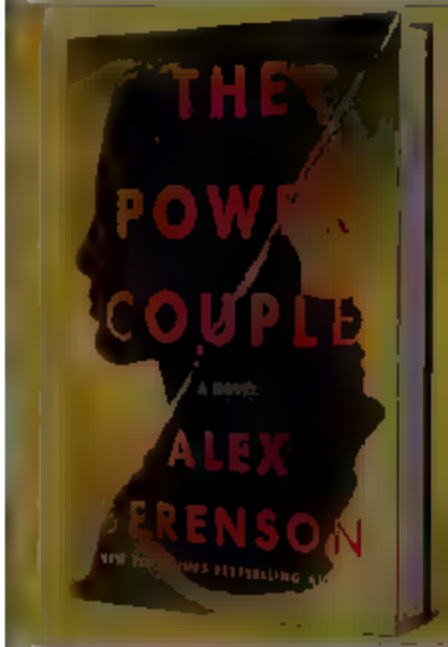
4:46 AM - 13 Dec 2018

2

UK Cannabis Social C @UKCannabisClubs · 13 Dec 2018

Replying to

this was your chance to post the science and statistical data collected by a state or national government or university to support your assertions.



UK Cannabis Social C @UKCannabisClubs · 13 Dec 2018

Replying to

Medical Marijuana Laws and Suicides by Gender and Age - NCBI - NIH
https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC4232164/
by DM Anderson - 2013 - Cited by 68 - Related articles
Conclusions. Suicides among men aged 20 through 39 years fell after medical marijuana legalization compared with those in states that did not legalize

Legal marijuana cuts violence says US study, as medical-use laws ...
https://www.theguardian.com/.../legal-marijuana-medical-use-crime-rate-plummets-us-st...
13 Jan 2015 - According to the study 'Is Legal Pot Crippling Mexican Drug Trafficking Organizations? The Effect of Medical Marijuana Laws on US Crime' when a state on ... Britain's overseas anti-drugs policy 'putting people on death row'

Marijuana Can Help Prevent Suicide, Study Suggests | L.A. Weekly
https://www.laweekly.com/.../marijuana-can-help-prevent-suicide-study-suggests-238 ...
27 Feb 2012 - In Los Angeles, we use it pretty much legally for back pain, nausea and hot ... has become medically legit, rates of suicide have gone down.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Legalization = Commercialization = More use, abuse, problems

1 2

Eric J. Weiner @EricJWeiner1 · 13 Dec 2018

And of course another way to look at that is humane drug laws would punish the damage it causes others and treat damaging personal behavior. By that standard alcohol should be illegal. Pot? Not much crime beyond sale and use.

2

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

And, unfortunately, that's where you're wrong.

6:06 AM - 13 Dec 2018

1 Like

1 1

Eric J. Weiner @EricJWeiner1 · 13 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Nicely arrogant. Unfortunately for you, I'm not. And I'm pretty sure I have more personal experience with the ramifications of alcoholism and drug abuse than anyone chiming in here. But we don't need to go into the body count.

1 2

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 13 Dec 2018

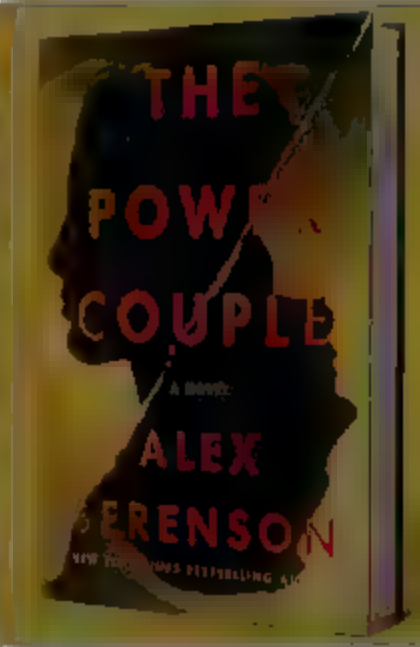
Al thinks when people hold up a dispensary for the cash and product inside that "cannabis causes violence." Don't let that Ivy League exterior fool ya- he's got his MAGA logic working in order to sell his fearmongering book for soccermoms.

1 1

[redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

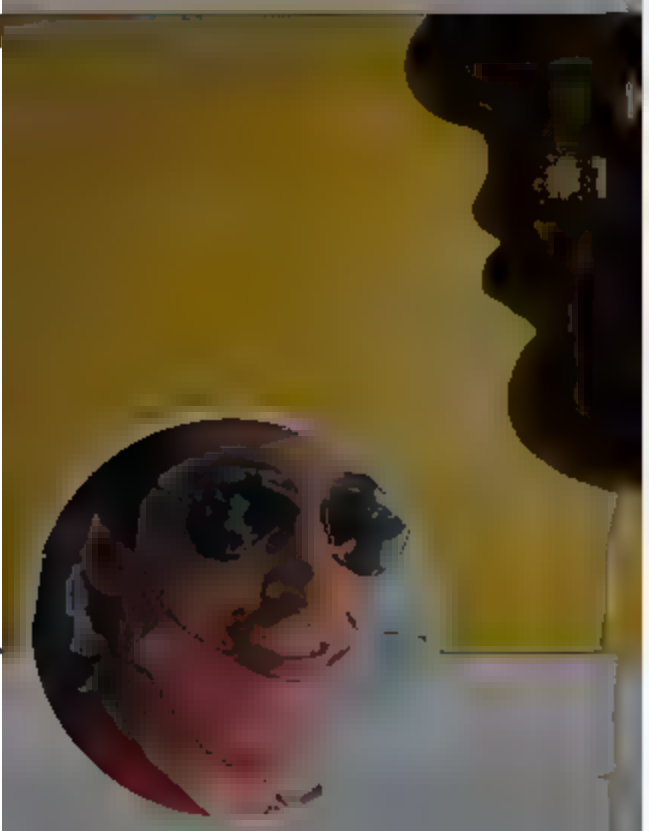


Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

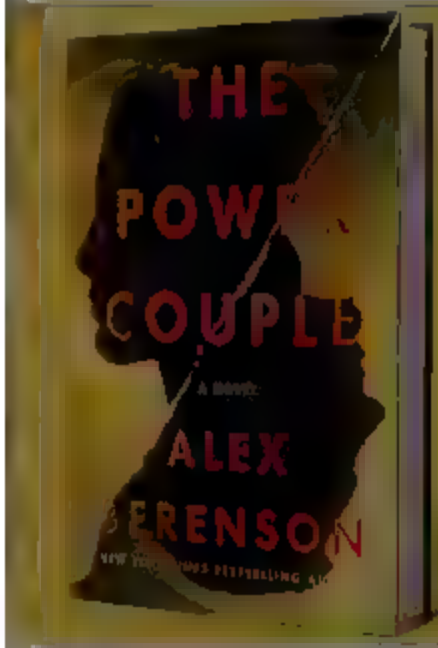


Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

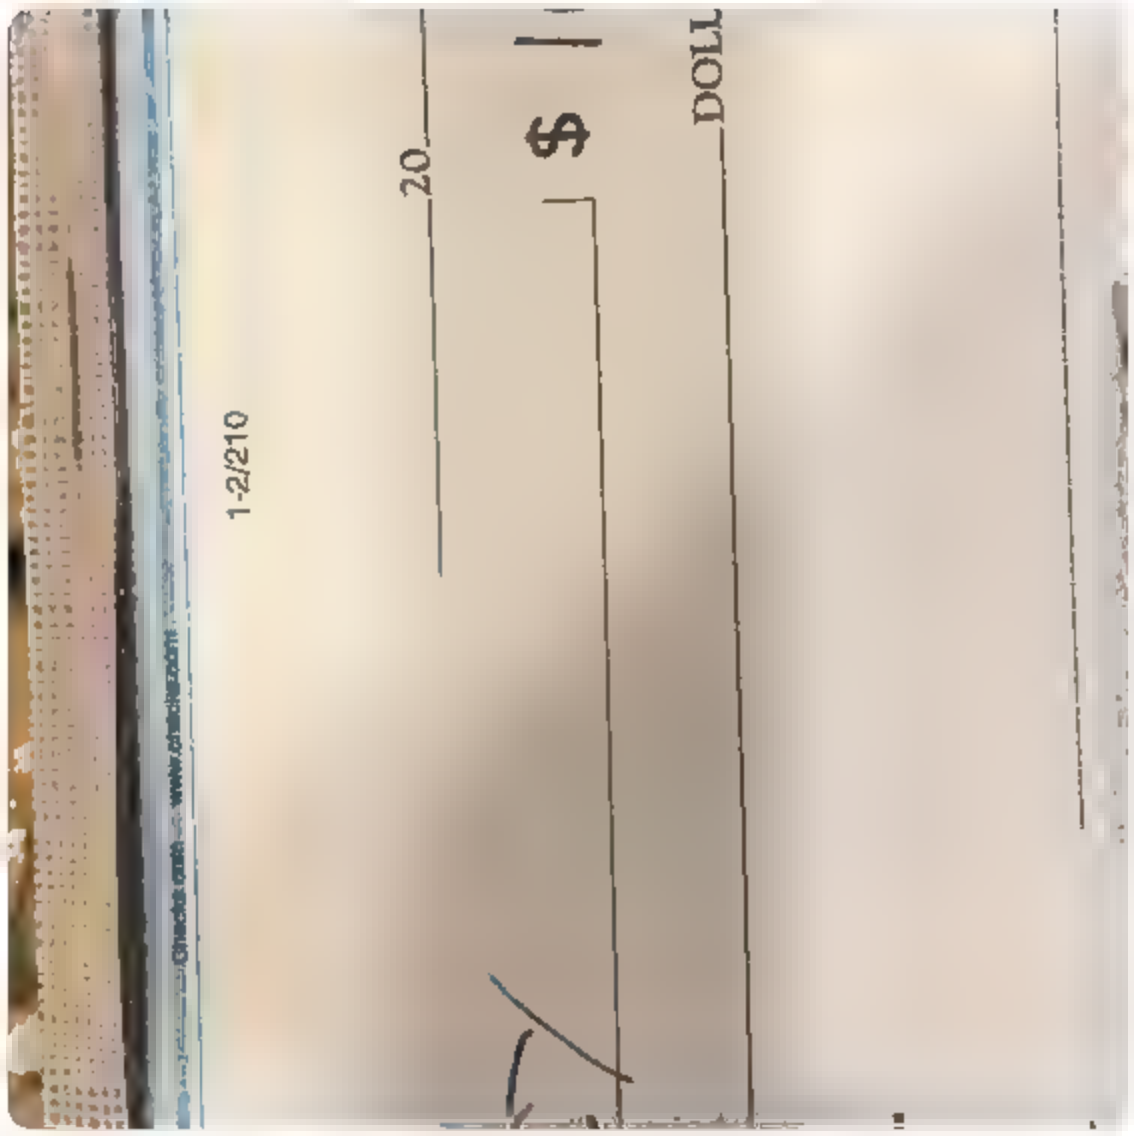
Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

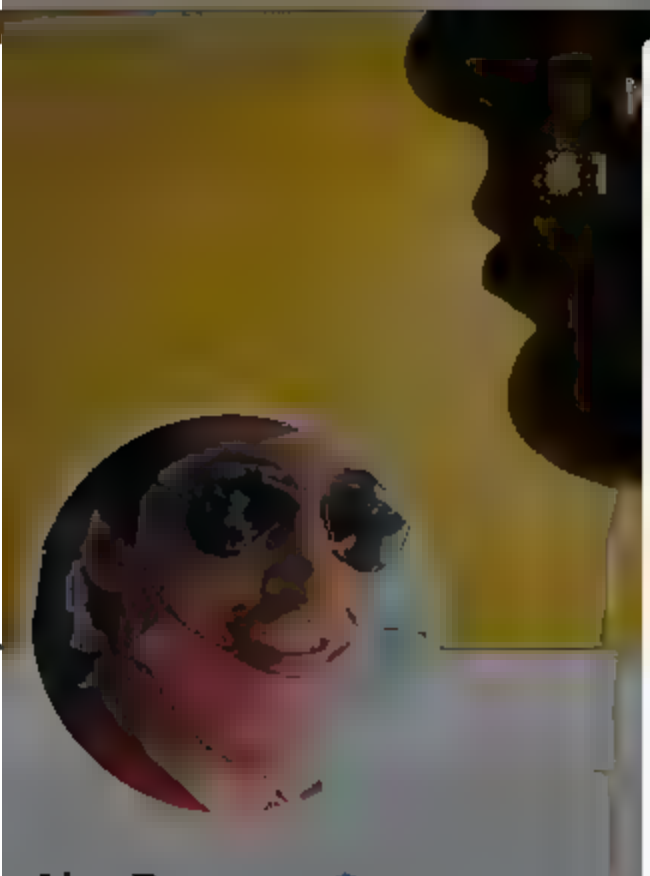
New York



Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



And speaking of white-collar crime, .@eisingerj, my daughter decided to embezzle $100 from my checking account today - she clearly has a future in financial services.

7:05 PM - 12 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 4 Likes

2 1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

That is my mistake. I meant "cannabis," not "drug," in that earlier tweet.

> Eric J. Weiner @EricJWeiner1
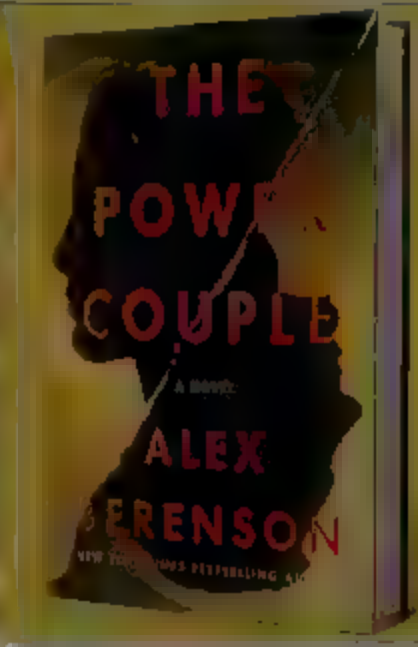
> Replying to @AlexBerenson @eisingerj
> Sorry, thought you said prisons weren't filled with low-level drug offenders. They are. Carry on you 2.

10:33 AM - 12 Dec 2018

1 Like



3 1

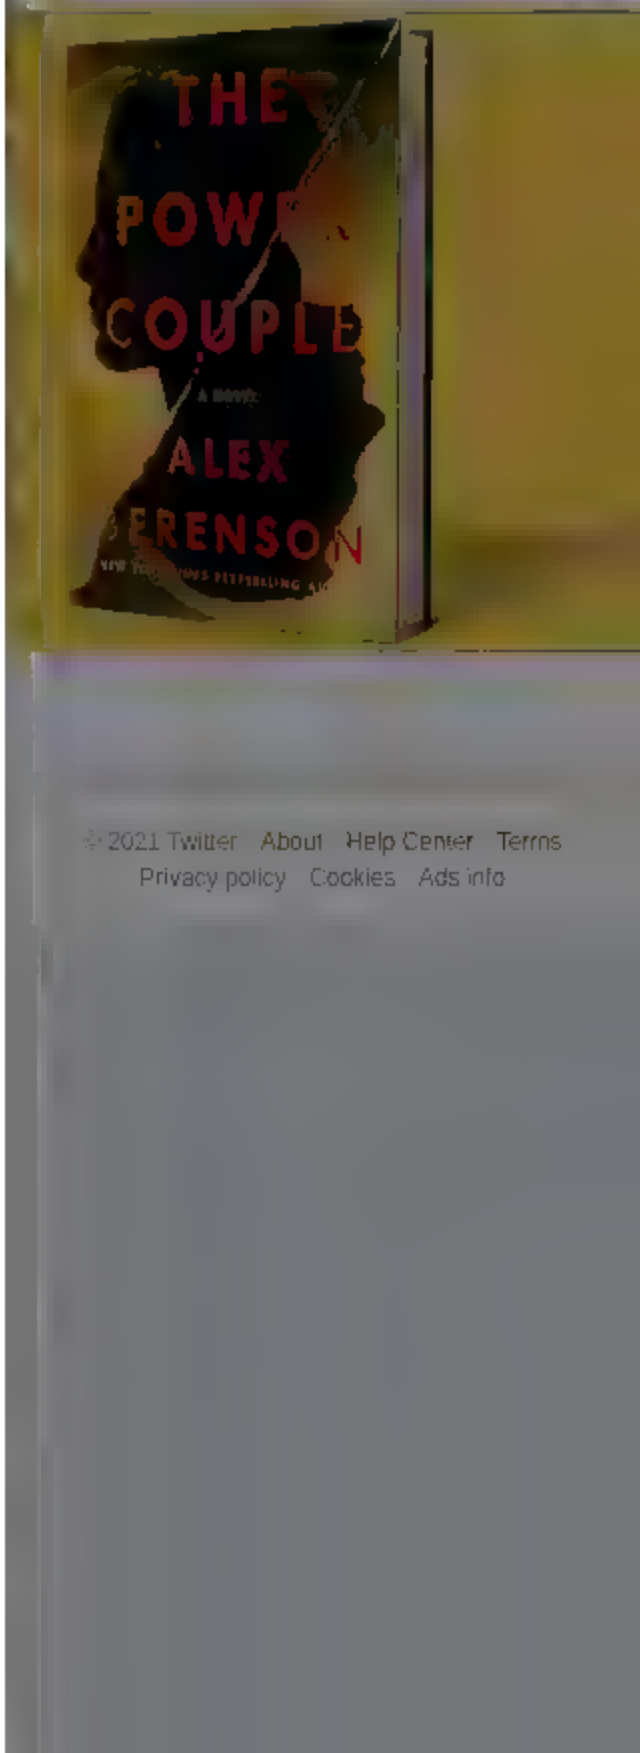
Eric J. Weiner @EricJWeiner1 · 12 Dec 2018
Replying to
Understood, easy mistake to make when typing fast on a platform that doesn't allow you correct.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 12 Dec 2018
Replying to
But for those on the other end of the criminal spectrum—the mere users—different measures are often in order, such as intervention, drug treatment, and the offer of another chance to end their destructive behavior.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

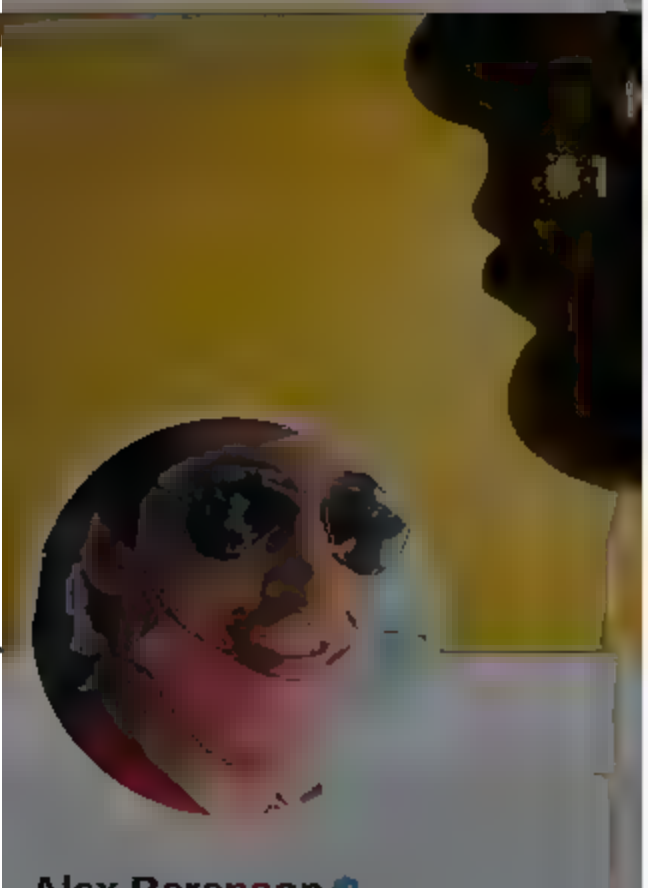
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow



The facts, .@eisingerj - the average federal sentence for marijuana trafficking in 2017 was 27 months. And the average amount trafficked was roughly 200 pounds. Get caught with $300,000 of cannabis, and you do 27 months.

9:38 AM - 12 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 2 Likes

Home About

Alex Berenson

@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Jesse Eisinger @eisingerj · 12 Dec 2018

I understand--well, sort of--your feelings about the demon weed, but I didn't say federal.

1 1

Alex Berenson

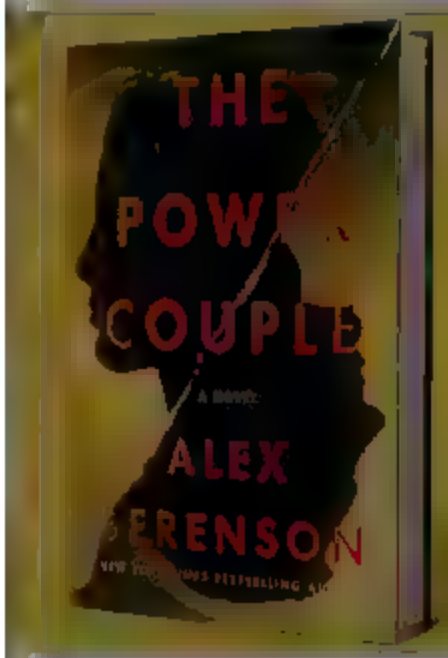
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

You are wrong on the state level, too. There are plenty of cannabis arrests (not just in the US, btw) but our prisons are not filled with low-level drug offenders.

9:42 AM - 12 Dec 2018

3 Likes

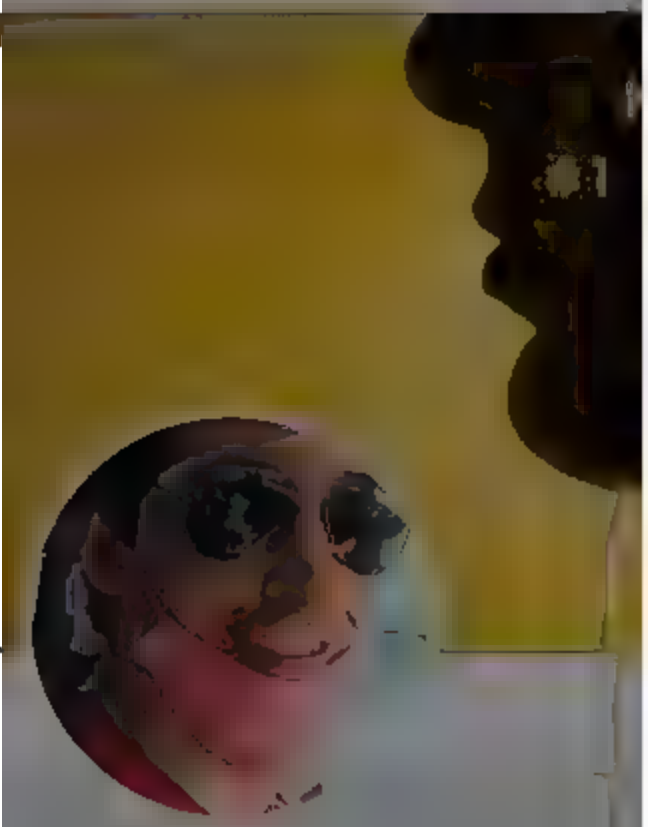


2 3

Eric J. Weiner @EricJWeiner1 · 12 Dec 2018

Replying to

"Alabama law mandates that anyone with certain prior felony convictions be sentenced to life without parole for possessing more than 1 kilogram, or 2.2 pounds, of marijuana, regardless of intent to sell."

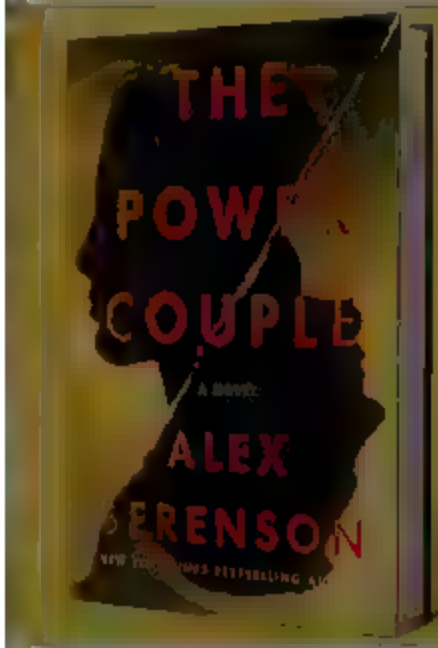


Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Eric J. Weiner @EricJWeiner1 · 12 Dec 2018
Although drug offenders are a very small part of the federal prison population, the explosion at the state level from the 1980s to today isn't really arguable.

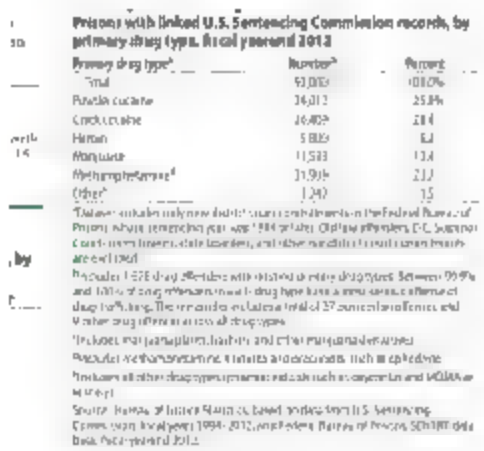
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

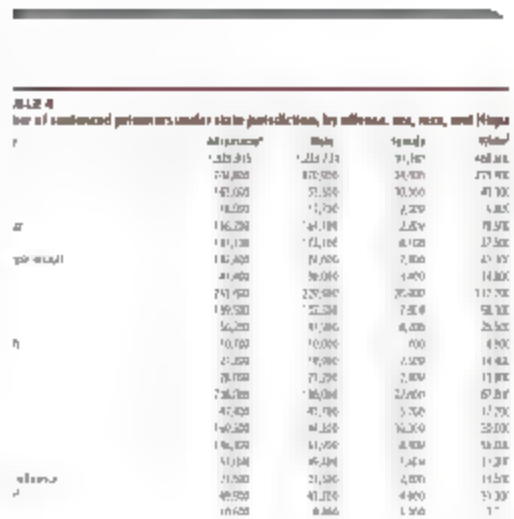
Replying to

Drug, yes. Cannabis not so much.

10:29 AM - 12 Dec 2018

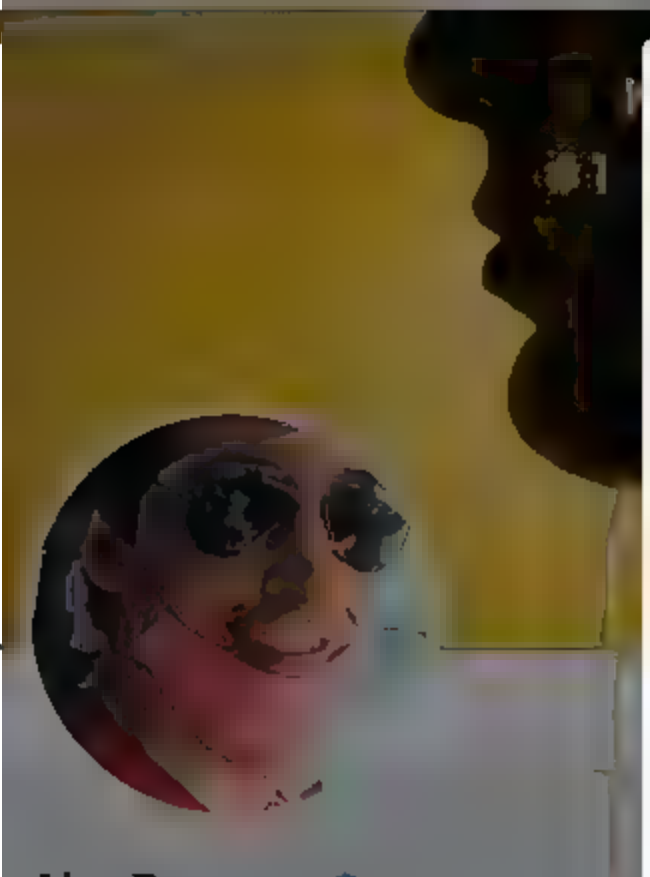


3



Eric J. Weiner @EricJWeiner1 · 12 Dec 2018
Replying to
Sorry, thought you said prisons weren't filled with low-level drug offenders. They are. Carry on you 2.

1



Kevin Sabet @KevinSabet · 12 Dec 2018
According to BJS stats:

1. <3 tenths of 1% of state prisoners had pot as most serious offense
2. On the federal level that number is 12% and is for very high level traffickers
3. ~200k/1.3 M state prisoners there for ANY drug offense (the majority non-possession)

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Another strong early review of Tell Your Children: "If the case studies don't sway you, the statistics will... I think Berenson is right."

> Book and Film Globe @BookPlusFilm
> Think pot is harmless? @AlexBerenson wants to change your mind. A review of his new book: bookandfilmglobe.com/nonfiction/boo…

12:35 PM - 10 Dec 2018

3 Retweets 13 Likes

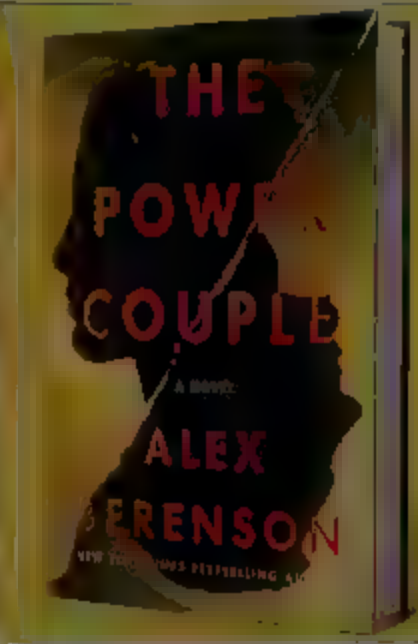
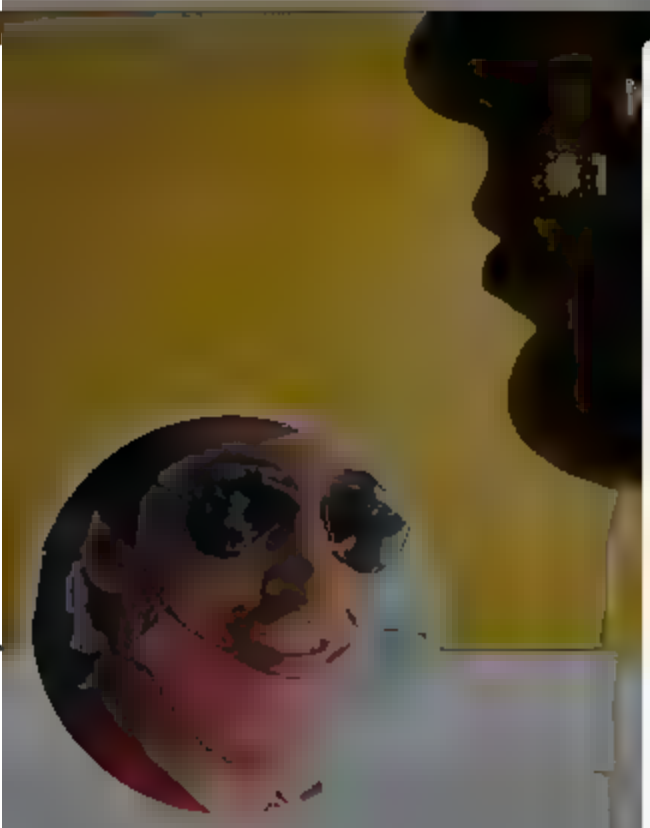
3 3 13

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 10 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Is it available in audio format or electronically? I doubt it'll sway me, but I'm open-minded if nothing else.



1



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 10 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
states, why do we have lower murder rates in the Netherlands than their neighbors. No one says it's harmless, Norml has had in their tag line for years, 'it's not without harms'. There is no justification to arrest and/or force us into rehab (Sabet) or force us to commit a crime

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 10 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Only reason I ask is, I'm blind and can't read it if it's just a hardcover or paperback.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

I understand your feelings about white-collar crime, but that's nonsense, Jesse. If there is one - one! - person in the US serving a three-year federal sentence for marijuana possession, I'd be surprised. Don't spread myths.

> Jesse Eisinger @eisingerj
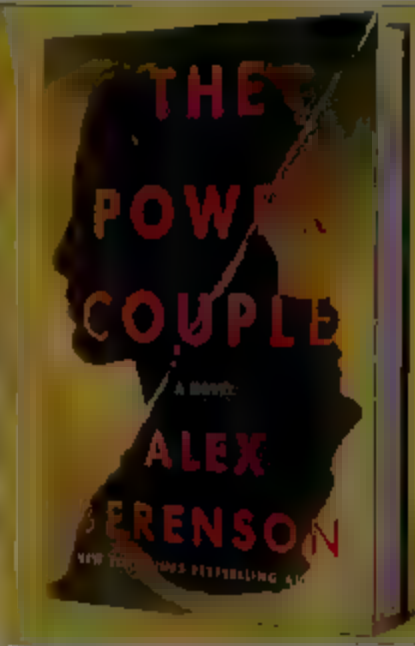
> The personal lawyer who illegally helped the current president cheat in his campaign (and committed bank fraud & tax evasion) gets a sentence that is less than many get for marijuana possession: aclu.org/other/marijuan… The white-collar prosecution crisis continues. twitter.com/TimOBrien/stat...
> Show this thread

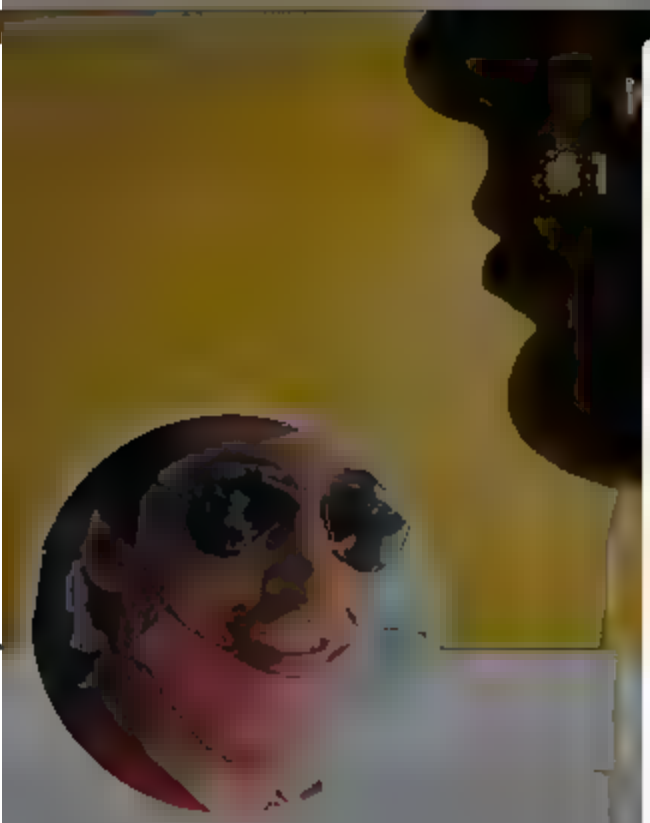
9:33 AM - 12 Dec 2018

3 Likes



4 3

Jesse Eisinger @eisingerj · 12 Dec 2018
Replying to
I understand–well, sort of–your feelings about the demon weed, but I didn't say federal.

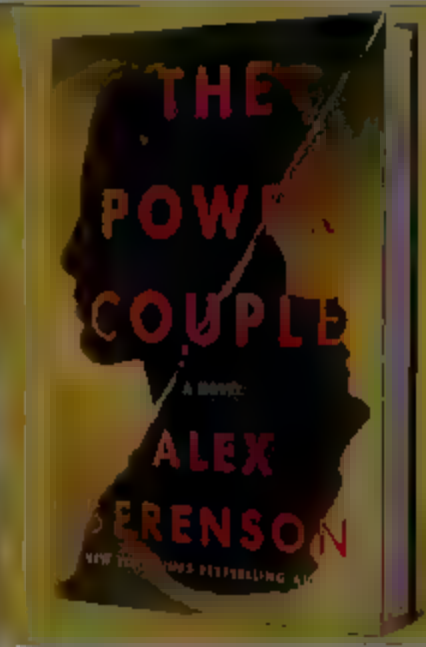


1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 12 Dec 2018
You are wrong on the state level, too. There are plenty of cannabis arrests (not just in the US, btw) but our prisons are not filled with low-level drug offenders.

2 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ I focus on serious violent crime - murders and agg assaults - for two reasons. Those crimes do the most damage and can be counted most accurately (rape is hard to count); and the studies of crime and psychosis show psychosis causes extreme violence at extraordinary rates.

> Douglas A. Berman @SLandP
> Replying to @SLandP @AlexBerenson @CoryBooker
> Sorry to confuse if you only want to focus on certain types of crime, I just want to stress that numbers are complicated and do not readily reveal any obvious patterns.

3:38 PM - 9 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 4 Likes

3 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 9 Dec 2018
2/ Thus, if cannabis causes psychosis and violence, the effect will be obvious in homicides and agg assaults; including other crimes will mask that effect. I don't think the data is confusing at all - violent crime has soared in all four legalized states since 2013.

7 1 3

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
No they've soared in other states as well. Again you're not accounting for prohibition at all. You're not accounting for gangs moving. You're ignoring the FBI

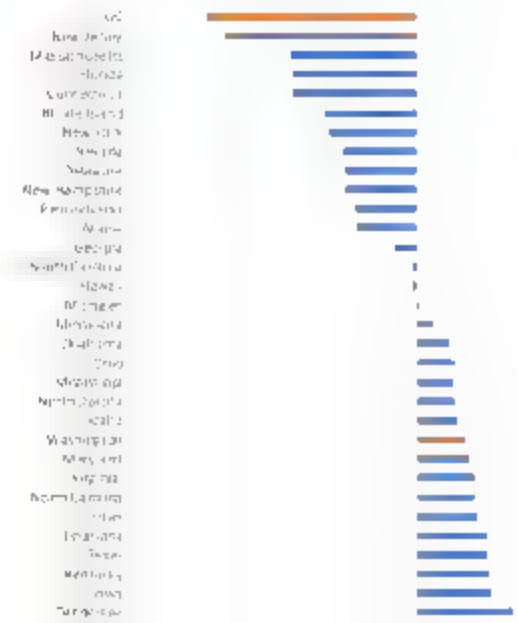
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Sorry to confuse if you only want to focus on certain types of crime, I just want to stress that numbers are complicated and do not readily reveal any obvious patterns.

3 1 4

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ Thus, if cannabis causes psychosis and violence, the effect will be obvious in homicides and agg assaults; including other crimes will mask that effect. I don't think the data is confusing at all - violent crime has soared in all four legalized states since 2013.



3:40 PM - 9 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 3 Likes

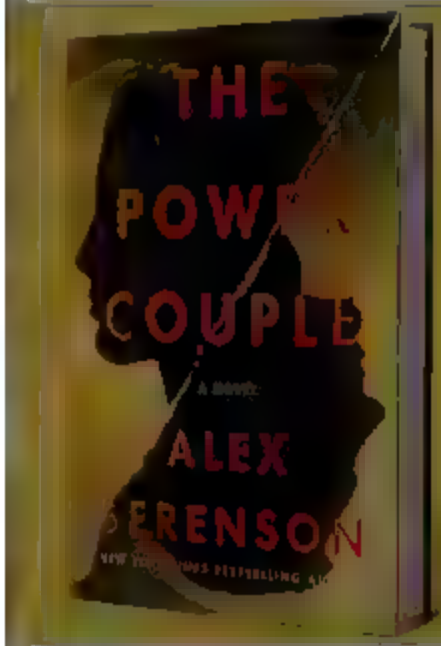
7 1 3

Angela Janis, MD, DFAPA @DrAngelaJanis · 9 Dec 2018

Replying to

Home About

Alex Berenson



@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1 4

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 9 Dec 2018
Brennan Center data for 2018 shows crime falling in Denver and many large CA cities relative to 2017. Do you have data showing crime soaring in rural parts of these states in 2018?

1 1 1

Alex Berenson [redacted]
@AlexBerenson

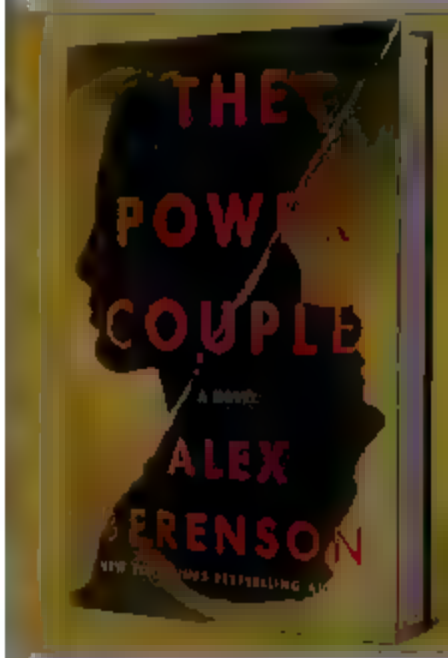
Replying to [redacted]

1/ I don't know what the Brennan Center says, but here's what the Denver police say: through September, agg assaults were up 17% and murders 10% y-o-y compared to 2017 - continuing a nasty four-year run...

2:25 PM - 9 Dec 2018

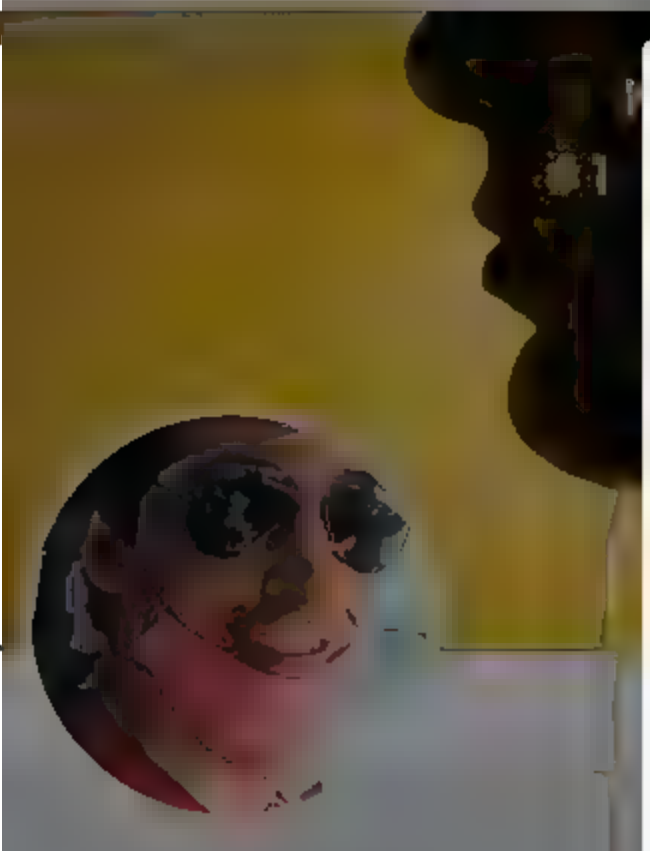
1 1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 9 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Brennan uses police data, and reported 7% overall crime decline and the murder increase you note. But both metric are down in LA and San Diego.



1 1

Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 9 Dec 2018
Sorry to confuse if you only want to focus on certain types of crime, I just want to stress that numbers are complicated and do not readily reveal any obvious patterns.



1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ and that was for homicides only, in one city. No non-police group can possibly count agg assaults or other crime. So are you saying the data itself is suspect, or that you think one year's change (or four, in this case) is not enough to signal a trend?

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
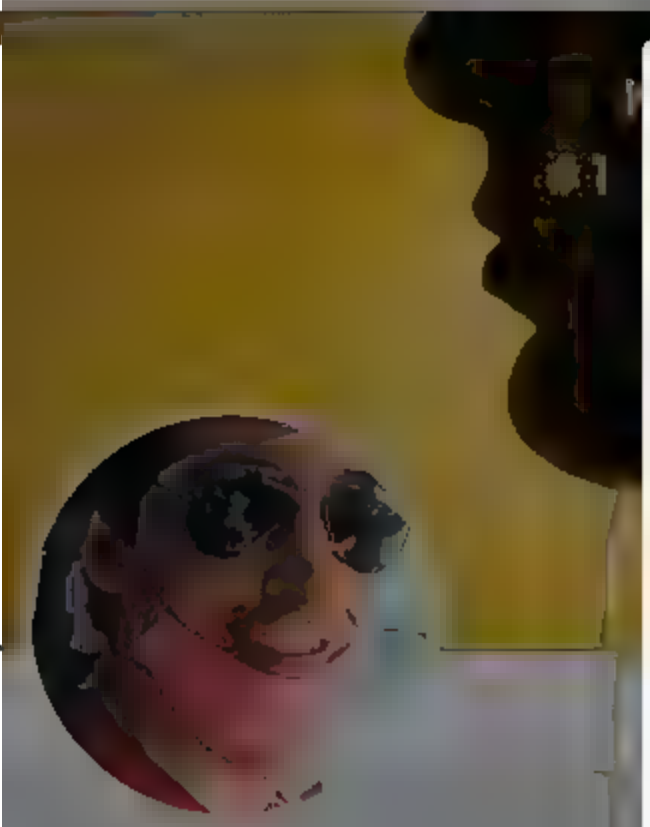
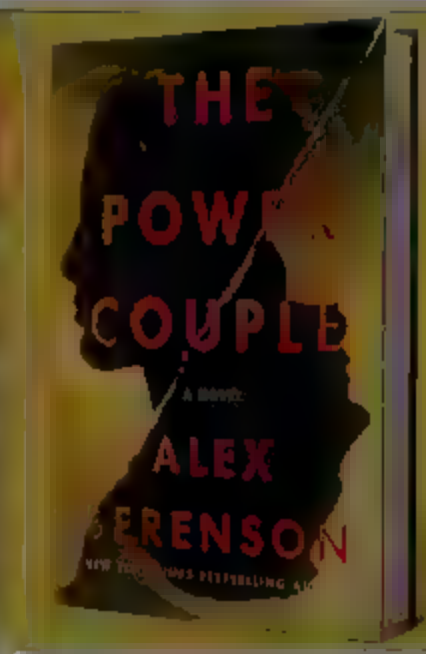
> Replying to @MAlexJohnson
> 1/ Not sure what this means - when the NYT says "crime is up (or down) in NY (or anywhere) this year," it is using figures from police that will become part of the UCR. The only private effort I know of to count crimes came from Jill Leovy

2:22 PM - 9 Dec 2018

1 Like



1 1



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
Increases are in other states as well.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ As for CA, it's far too early to tell. The data from the first four suggests the gap widens over time - no surprise.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
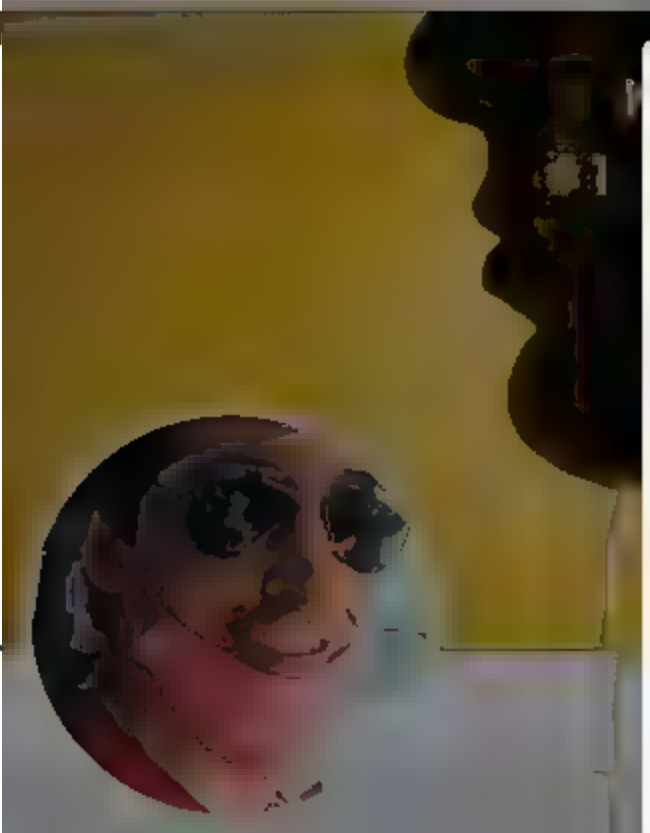
> Replying to @SLandP @CoryBooker
> 1/ I don't know what the Brennan Center says, but here's what the Denver police say: through September, agg assaults were up 17% and murders 10% y-o-y compared to 2017 - continuing a nasty four-year run...

2:27 PM - 9 Dec 2018



1 Like

1 1

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 10 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
Of course police would quote stats like that. They're terribly biased. People can flip things to fit their needs.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Totally agree - the UCR data alone cannot prove causation. What it does prove is that legalizers like .@CoryBooker are wrong to argue that violent crime is falling in legalized states. It is soaring.

> Alex Johnson @MAlexJohnson
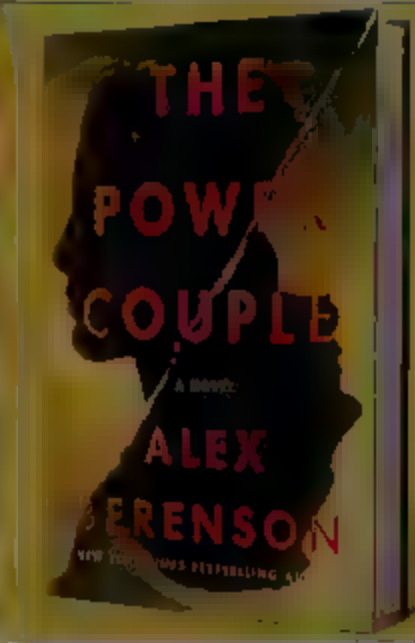
> Replying to @AlexBerenson
> 2/2 Again, I'm not opposite you on the underlying discussion. I'm just raising a caution about the extrapolation of cause from the UCR, when it shows only, and incompletely, a likely correlation.

1:59 PM - 9 Dec 2018

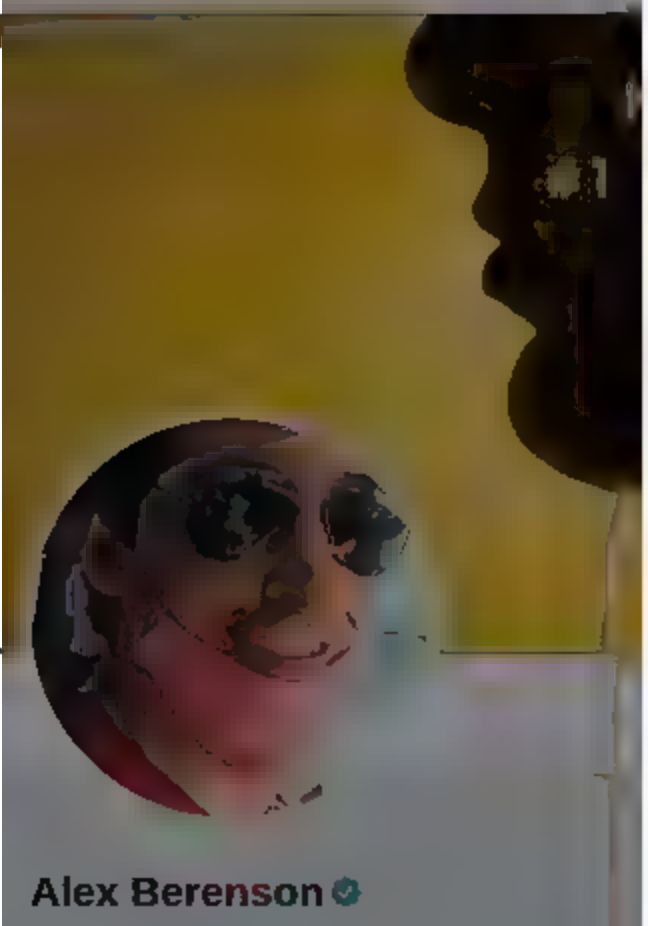
4 Likes

1 4



Douglas A. Berman @SLandP · 9 Dec 2018
Replying to

Brennan Center data for 2018 shows crime falling in Denver and many large CA cities relative to 2017. Do you have data showing crime soaring in rural parts of these states in 2018?



1 1 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 9 Dec 2018
1/ I don't know what the Brennan Center says, but here's what the Denver police say: through September, agg assaults were up 17% and murders 10% y-o-y compared to 2017 - continuing a nasty four-year run...

1 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

FIND. I'M JUST THE ONLY ONE WHO EVER BOTHERED TO LOOK. But I didn't. And the guy nodded like he'd made his point.

15 5 8

Alex Johnson @MAlexJohnson · 8 Dec 2018

3/3 Violent crime may well have increased in Colorado, and my gut says more widely available pot probably would correlate with an uptick in, for example, robberies at ATMs. But you can't use the UCR to support that supposition.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 9 Dec 2018

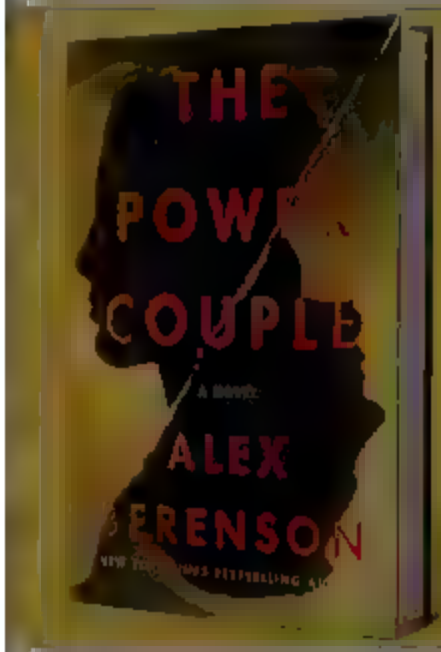
Yes, definitions can change (as they did for rape) - but they haven't for agg assaults and murder. And in any case such a change would be national. So - again - are you actually saying the FBI count of homicides and agg assaults is "worthless"?

4

Alex Johnson @MAlexJohnson · 9 Dec 2018

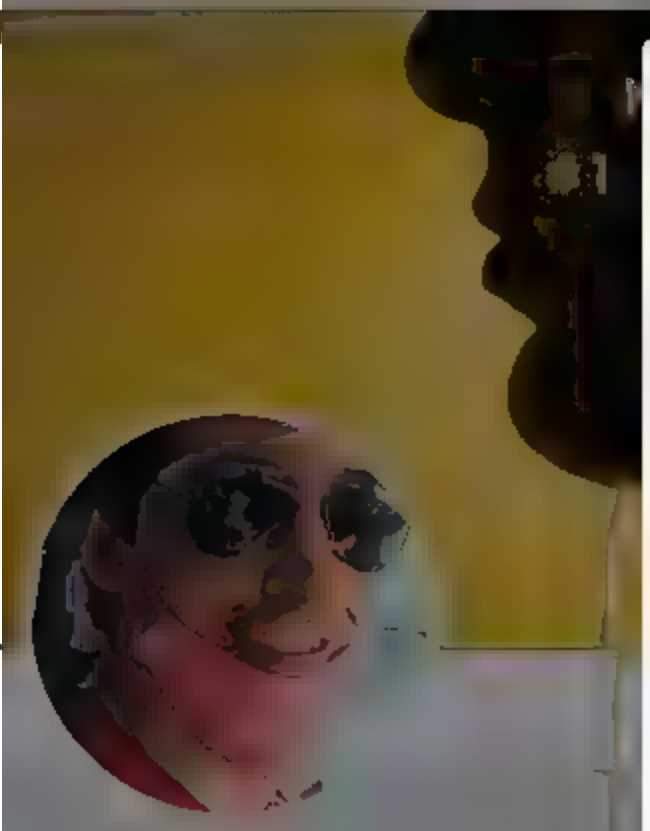
And absolutely, I would have made my point better by phrasing it is "statistically worthless for making year-over-year comparisons."

1



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



1/ Not sure what this means - when the NYT says "crime is up (or down) in NY (or anywhere) this year," it is using figures from police that will become part of the UCR. The only private effort I know of to count crimes came from Jill Leovy

2:19 PM - 9 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

6/ One last point. If violent crime WERE dropping in the legal states, I have zero doubt the media - hi .@wonkblog! - would be trumpeting that fact as more proof of the benefits of legalization. And there wouldn't be lots of "correlation is nooot causation" caveats.

5:21 AM - 8 Dec 2018

2 Retweets 7 Likes

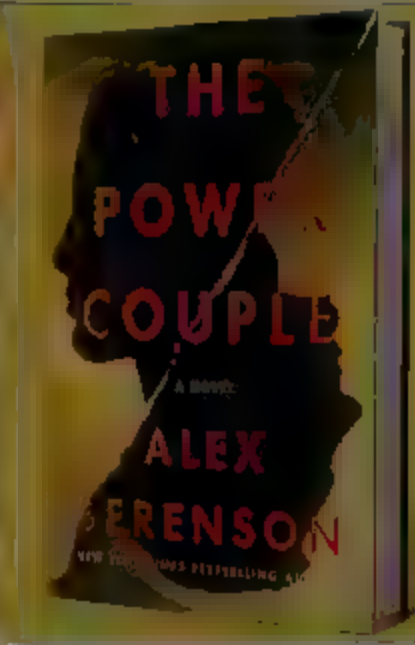
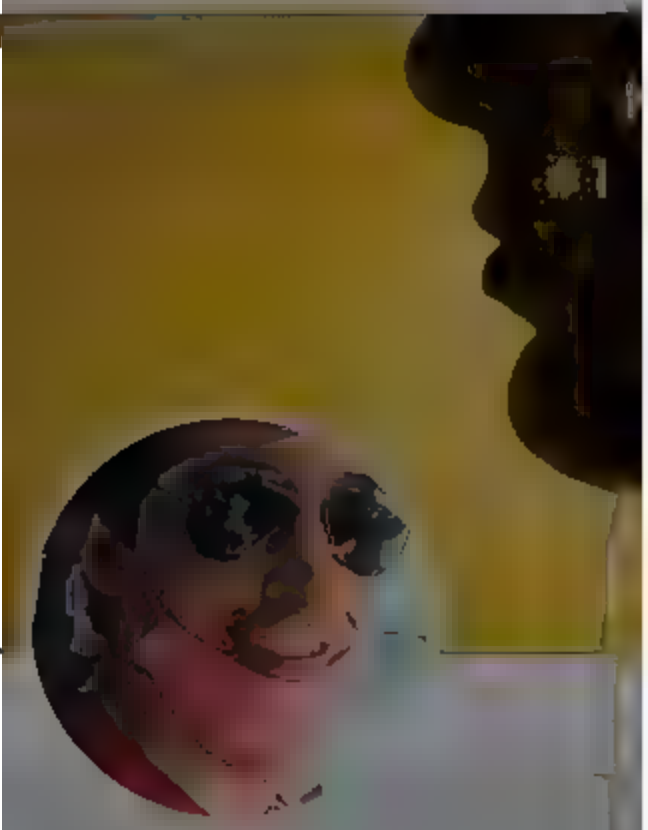
8 2 7



Scott Allen @docscottallen · 8 Dec 2018
Replying to
Let's say there's a small bump in crime and DUIs. If it were a society-wide scourge like people are saying, don't you think the legal states would be rushing to the ballot to change it?

1

Scott M. Gagnon @ScottMGagnon · 8 Dec 2018
Well, given that there isn't exactly a rush to ballots to enact gun control. And obviously gun violence IS a thing. It probably isn't a good measure of whether or not something is happening in the data.



1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 8 Dec 2018
Replying to
It was reported that homeless people had moved to Colorado. Your analysis is incomplete and not really certified. You would have to account for gang

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Johnson @MAlexJohnson · 8 Dec 2018

3/3 Violent crime may well have increased in Colorado, and my gut says more widely available pot probably would correlate with an uptick in, for example, robberies at ATMs. But you can't use the UCR to support that supposition.

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Yes, definitions can change (as they did for rape) - but they haven't for agg assaults and murder. And in any case such a change would be national. So - again - are you actually saying the FBI count of homicides and agg assaults is "worthless"?

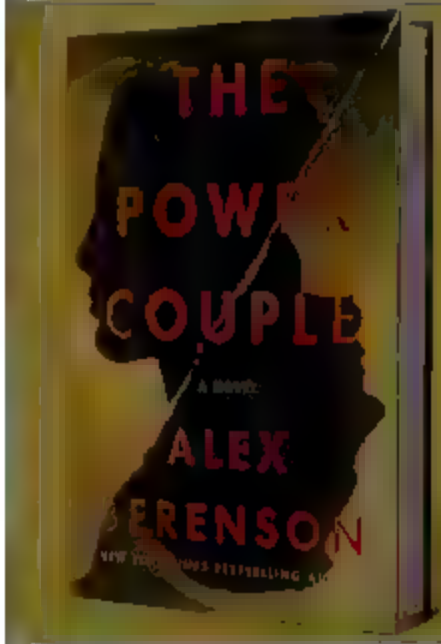
4:14 AM - 9 Dec 2018

4

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Dec 2018

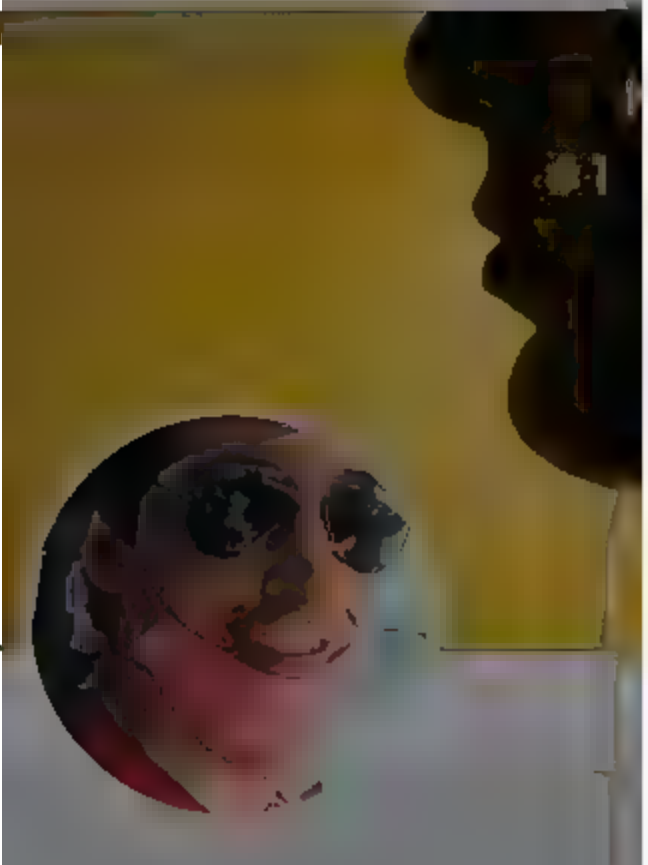
Replying to

There are sharper increases in non legal states as well. The data does not look at the demographics of the population increase. People already committed to violent acts moving to Colorado. But yes there are many consumers in illegal states.



Alex Johnson @MAlexJohnson · 9 Dec 2018

Replying to



1/2 The UCR is valuable for tracking long-term, gross-set data trends. But as the FBI itself says, in "A Word About UCR Data" (available at):

> In a given year more than 18,000 agencies could voluntarily contribute data to the FBI, and most agencies make a good faith effort to comply with established guidelines. However, because of understaffing, underfunding, implementation of a new records management system, or a number of other reasons, some agencies cannot provide data for publication. The FBI appreciates the conscientious efforts made by law enforcement personnel throughout the nation to report accurate and reliable crime data on a monthly basis. Their efforts make it possible for the FBI to provide assessments of the nature and type of crime in the United States.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ But most folks have never heard of FBI UCRs. Most folks get their info from Google. And when someone said, "Well, is that what I'll see if I Google it?" Well, no. Because not one news outlet has bothered to look. NOT ONE. There are scattered stories...

3 4 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018

4/ Including some quoting this nonsense study that uses county-level epidemiology to claim that crime may actually be falling (there is some truly bad epidemology around cannabis, but to understand it you have to read the studies).

4 4 6

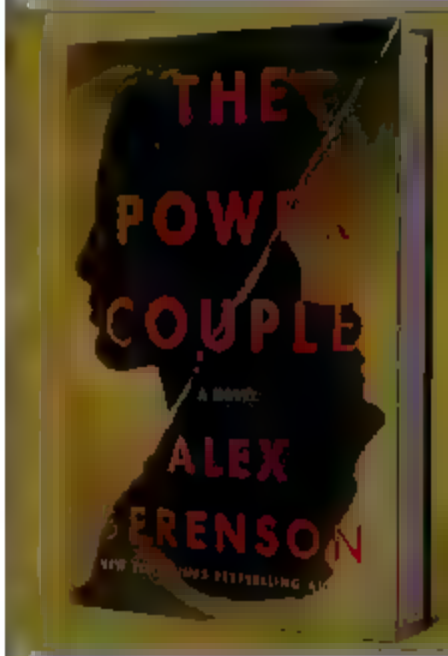
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018

5/ And so I said, "No. That's not what you'll see if you Google it." And I wanted to shout BUT THE FBI ISN'T MAKING IT UP. AND IT'S NOT EVEN HARD TO FIND. I'M JUST THE ONLY ONE WHO EVER BOTHERED TO LOOK. But I didn't. And the guy nodded like he'd made his point.

15 5 8

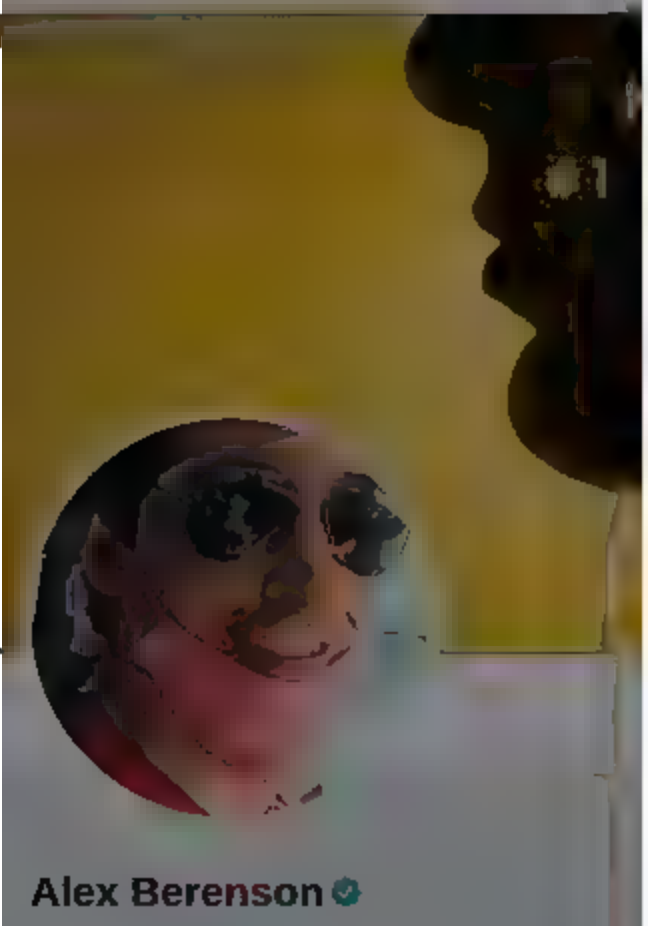
Alex Johnson @MAlexJohnson · 8 Dec 2018

1/1 I truly have no opinion one way or the other on legal pot and no ax to grind. What I do know - as does any cops reporter who has worked with it - is that the FBI's Uniform Crime Report is statistically worthless.



1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to

Just so we're clear on this: you think homicides are not being properly reported in this country? The numbers at issue are homicides and aggravated assaults.

4:03 AM - 9 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 4 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018

4/ Including some quoting this nonsense study that uses county-level epidemiology to claim that crime may actually be falling (there is some truly bad epidemology around cannabis, but to understand it you have to read the studies).

4 4 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018

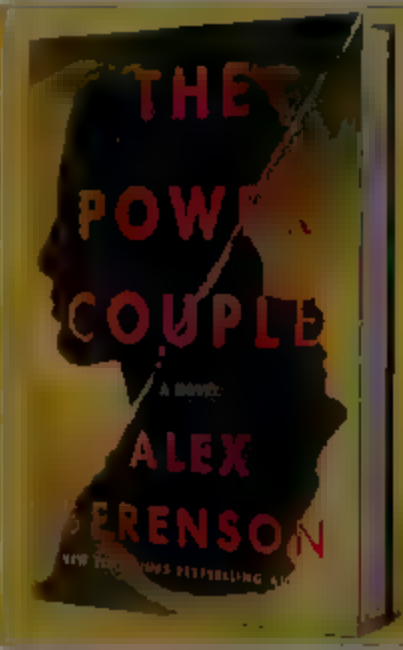
5/ And so I said, "No. That's not what you'll see if you Google it." And I wanted to shout BUT THE FBI ISN'T MAKING IT UP. AND IT'S NOT EVEN HARD TO FIND. I'M JUST THE ONLY ONE WHO EVER BOTHERED TO LOOK. But I didn't. And the guy nodded like he'd made his point.

15 5 8

Alex Johnson @MAlexJohnson · 8 Dec 2018

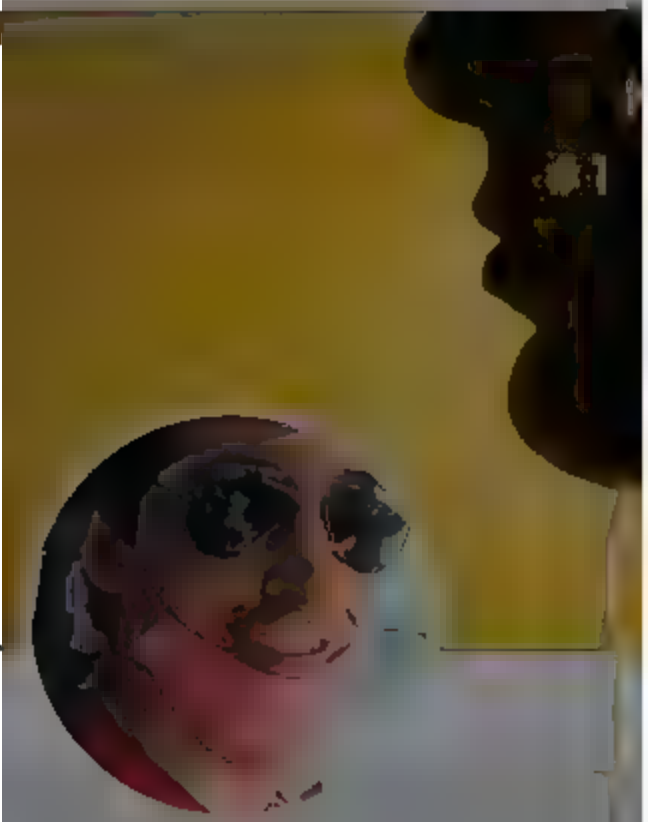
2/3 Its data are self-reported by local LEAs that can choose what to report, what not to report and whether even to report at all. Definitions change from year to year (categorization of rape, for example, dramatically altered from 2016 to 2017).

1



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



Between misleading and flat wrong. PDs covering well over 90 percent of the US report UCR data and many states - including AK/CO/OR/WA - collect from every law enforcement agency before sending to the FBI. The definitions are standardized.

4:12 AM - 9 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4/ Including some quoting this nonsense study that uses county-level epidemiology to claim that crime may actually be falling (there is some truly bad epidemology around cannabis, but to understand it you have to read the studies).

4 4 6

Alex Berenson Follow
@AlexBerenson

5/ And so I said, "No. That's not what you'll see if you Google it." And I wanted to shout BUT THE FBI ISN'T MAKING IT UP. AND IT'S NOT EVEN HARD TO FIND. I'M JUST THE ONLY ONE WHO EVER BOTHERED TO LOOK. But I didn't. And the guy nodded like he'd made his point.

5:15 AM - 8 Dec 2018

5 Retweets 8 Likes

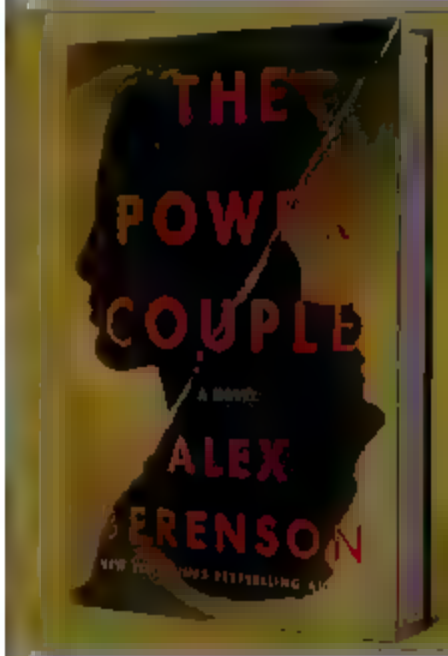
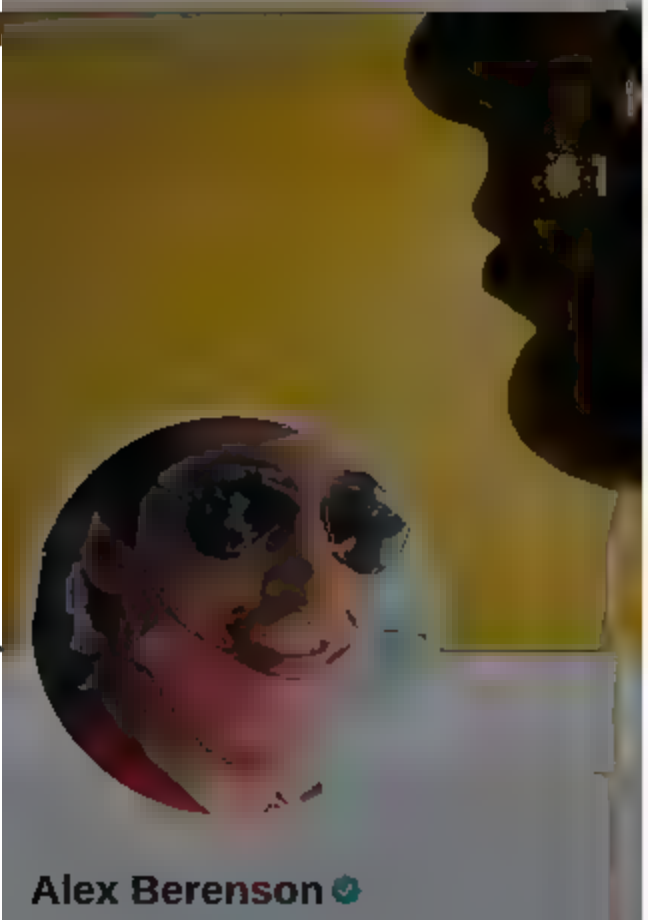
15 5 8



Ilan Cohen @realilancohen · 8 Dec 2018
Replying to
So use bing then?

1



Jeff A @Mithrandir48 · 8 Dec 2018
Replying to
You seem to talk about numbers more than actually using them, which category of crimes are increasing and by what kinds of percentages?

1

Randy Philbrick @PDXRandyLee · 8 Dec 2018
Replying to
When you Google something you will see what the industry wants you to see. They pay big money to have their links pop up first in search engines.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3/ But most folks have never heard of FBI UCRs. Most folks get their info from Google. And when someone said, "Well, Is that what I'll see if I Google it?" Well, no. Because not one news outlet has bothered to look. NOT ONE. There are scattered stories...

3 4 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

4/ Including some quoting this nonsense study that uses county-level epidemiology to claim that crime may actually be falling (there is some truly bad epidemology around cannabis, but to understand it you have to read the studies).

5:11 AM - 8 Dec 2018

4 Retweets 6 Likes

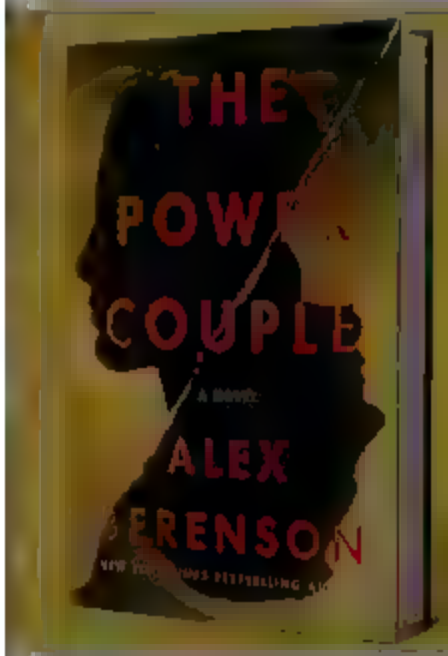
4 4 6

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018

5/ And so I said, "No. That's not what you'll see if you Google it." And I wanted to shout BUT THE FBI ISN'T MAKING IT UP. AND IT'S NOT EVEN HARD TO FIND. I'M JUST THE ONLY ONE WHO EVER BOTHERED TO LOOK. But I didn't. And the guy nodded like he'd made his point.

15 5 8



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 8 Dec 2018

Replying to [illegible]

In your case, you don't have a patient who is better off of opioids. Your trying to build that Cannabis legalization causes violent crimes. We have criminals who like Cannabis. We look at people not only raw data. But you;re hiding behind that should I face jail or have to buy in

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 8 Dec 2018

Replying to [illegible]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

know convincing people about the science on this is tough. It often doesn't match their personal experience on cannabis, and their first response is "Reefer Madness"...

10 14 15

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Follow

3/ But most folks have never heard of FBI UCRs. Most folks get their info from Google. And when someone said, "Well, is that what I'll see if I Google it?" Well, no. Because not one news outlet has bothered to look. NOT ONE. There are scattered stories...

5:07 AM - 8 Dec 2018

4 Retweets 8 Likes

3 4 8

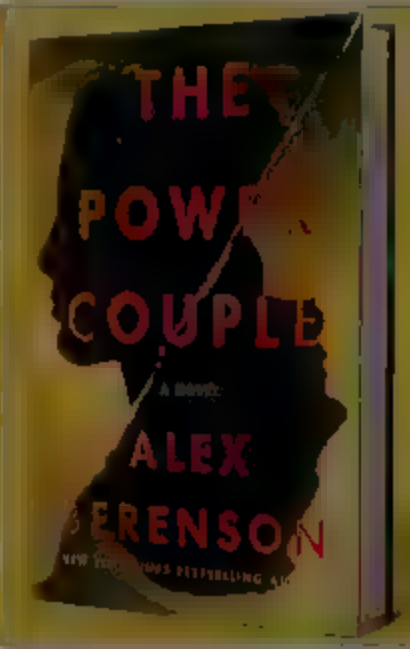
Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018
4/ Including some quoting this nonsense study that uses county-level epidemiology to claim that crime may actually be falling (there is some truly bad epidemology around cannabis, but to understand it you have to read the studies).

4 4 6

Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018
5/ And so I said, "No. That's not what you'll see if you Google it." And I wanted to shout BUT THE FBI ISN'T MAKING IT UP. AND IT'S NOT EVEN HARD TO FIND. I'M JUST THE ONLY ONE WHO EVER BOTHERED TO LOOK. But I didn't. And the guy nodded like he'd made his point.

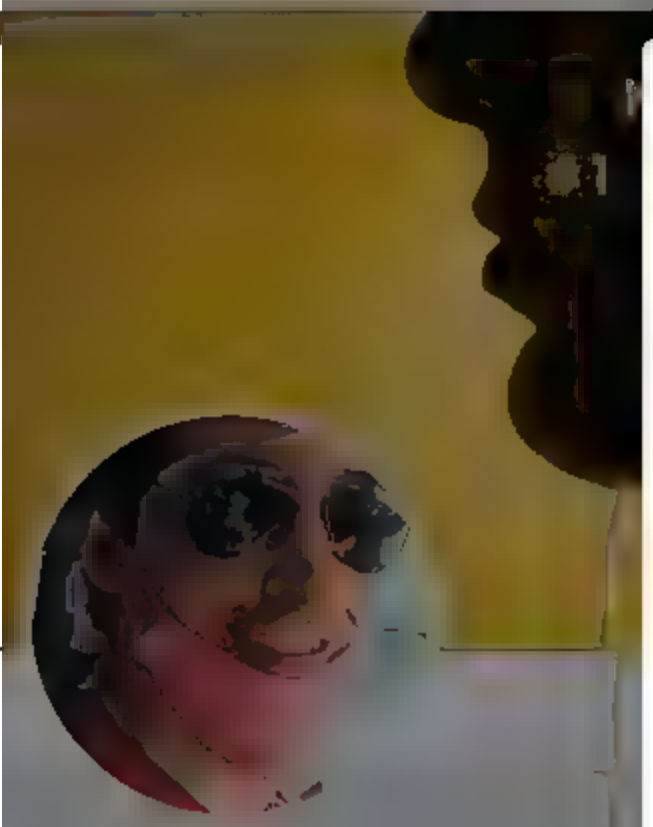
15 5 8

WeeHughie @WeeHughie1973 · 8 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Please tweet the link to the FBI UCR that you are referencing. So we can see it directly and not get the fake Google search.

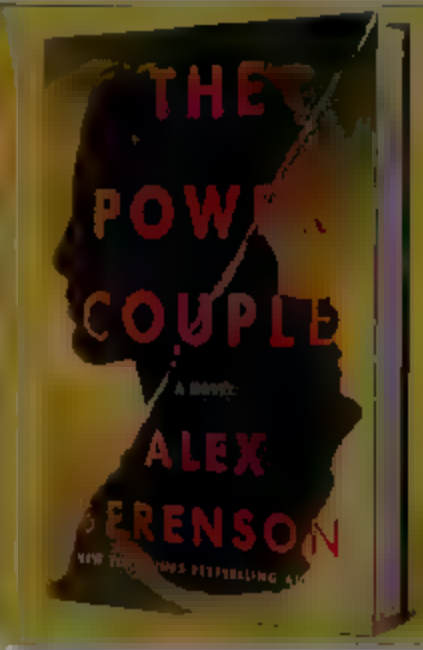


Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York



Joined November 2009

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Last night I was telling a group of skeptical strangers about my book. I know convincing people about the science on this is tough. It often doesn't match their personal experience on cannabis, and their first response is "Reefer Madness"...

5:00 AM - 8 Dec 2018

8 Retweets 13 Likes

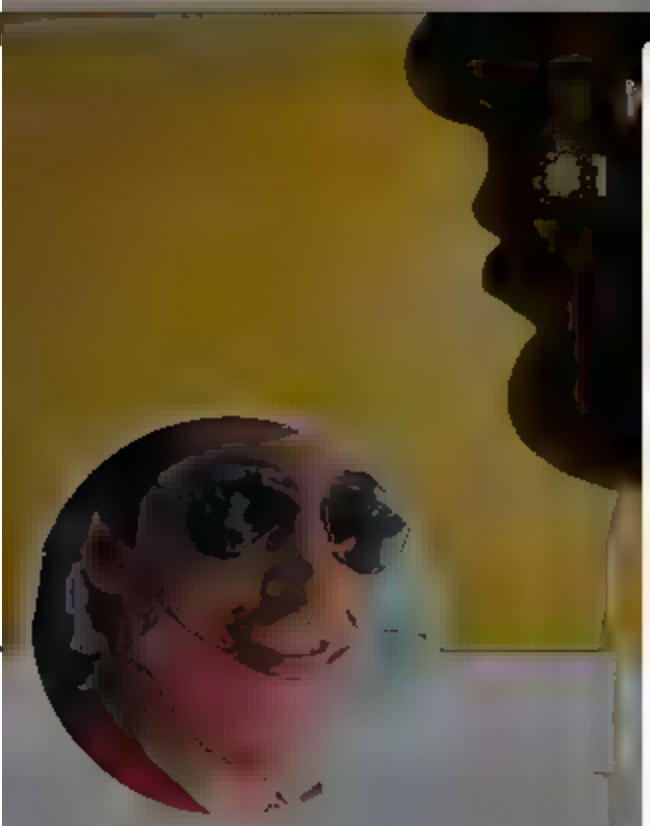
2 8 13

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 8 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

G.Nahas:1st documented evidence that associated chronic hashish use with mental illness came in1895 from the medical director of the Egyptian Hospital,for the Insane in Cairo, Dr. J. Warnock. He reported that the cause of 15% of all admissions to his hospital was due to hash use.

1



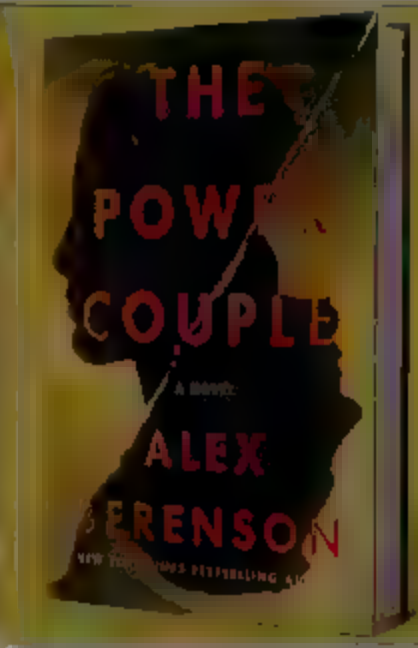
Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

Violent crime is up in illegal states as well. Yes gangs move around as gangs and individuals. Yes, cash businesses in what were empty stores do tend to attract the criminal. Yes, there are consumers in illegal states.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ But explaining the science is made so much harder because the media has failed so badly on the issue. One example: I said, "True story. Violent crime is way up in the first four states to legalize." "No." "Yes." "Where are you getting that?" "The FBI national crime reports."

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Last night I was telling a group of skeptical strangers about my book. I know convincing people about the science on this is tough. It often doesn't match their personal experience on cannabis, and their first response is "Reefer Madness"...

5:03 AM - 8 Dec 2018

14 Retweets 15 Likes

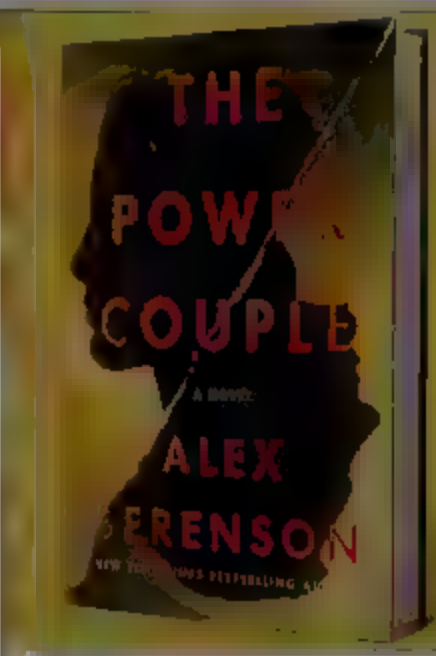
10 14 15

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018
3/ But most folks have never heard of FBI UCRs. Most folks get their info from Google. And when someone said, "Well, is that what I'll see if I Google it?" Well, no. Because not one news outlet has bothered to look. NOT ONE. There are scattered stories...

3 4 8

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 8 Dec 2018
4/ Including some quoting this nonsense study that uses county-level epidemiology to claim that crime may actually be falling (there is some truly bad epidemology around cannabis, but to understand it you have to read the studies).

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Let's be clear on this: it's not Starbucks or P&G or pharma companies investing in Big Weed. It's alcohol and tobacco firms, companies that make addictive products that kill lots of users. I wonder what they see in cannabis.

7:40 AM - 7 Dec 2018

9 Retweets 16 Likes

4 9 16

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 7 Dec 2018

Replying to

Fearmonger all you want. Cannabis is still food, medicine, fuel, clothing, building materials, and carbon farming that grows out of the ground for pennies anywhere

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

This Tweet is unavailable.

Todd Miller @ToddMil78931830 · 7 Dec 2018
In history? Let's push slave trade and other human trafficking to the top of that list.

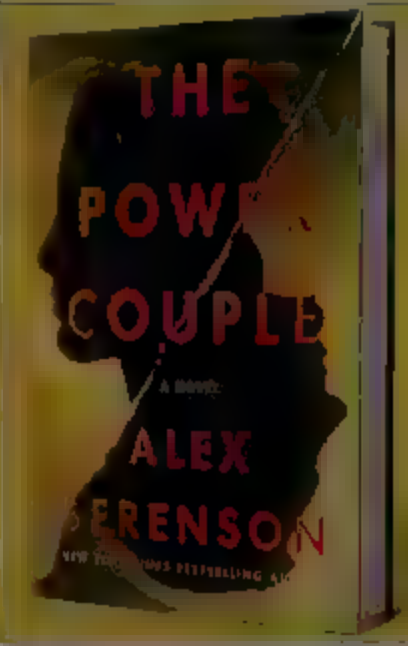
1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 7 Dec 2018
Okay, Big Tobacco isn't as bad as slave traders. That's your argument? Good luck with that...

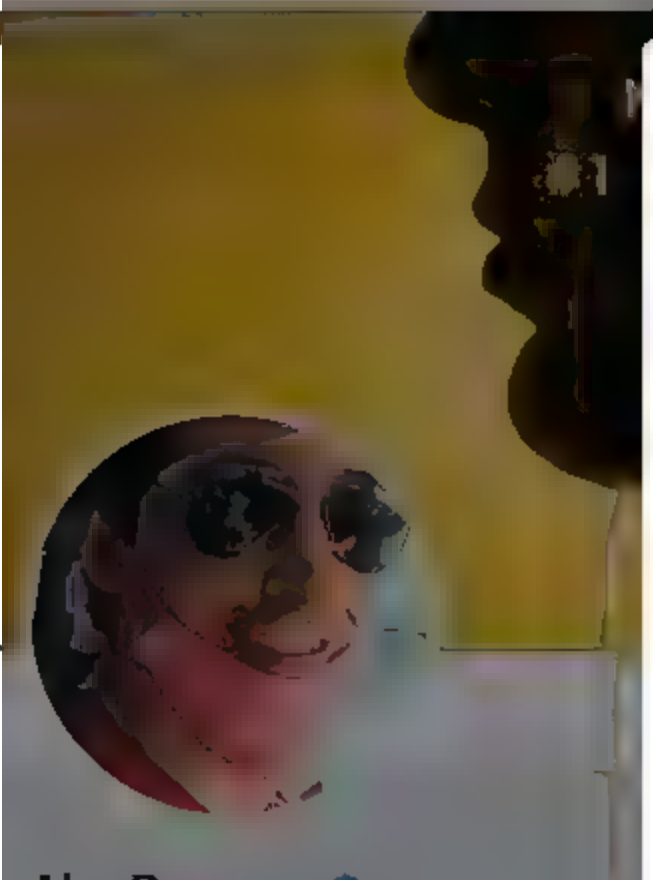
1

Todd Miller @ToddMil78931830 · 7 Dec 2018
Just saying, that's all. Love your books , by the way.

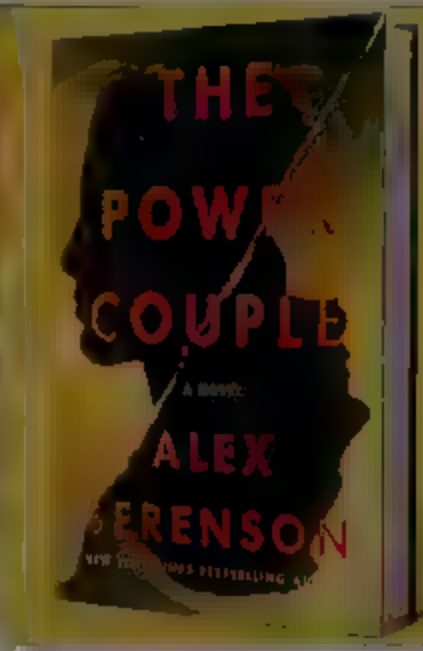
1



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to



Thanks. Unfortunately Tell Your Children kept Wells on the sidelines this year... but he'll be back.

5:50 AM - 7 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Todd Miller @ToddMil78931830 · 7 Dec 2018
In history? Let's push slave trade and other human trafficking to the top of that list.

1

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

Okay, Big Tobacco isn't as bad as slave traders. That's your argument? Good luck with that...

5:40 AM - 7 Dec 2018

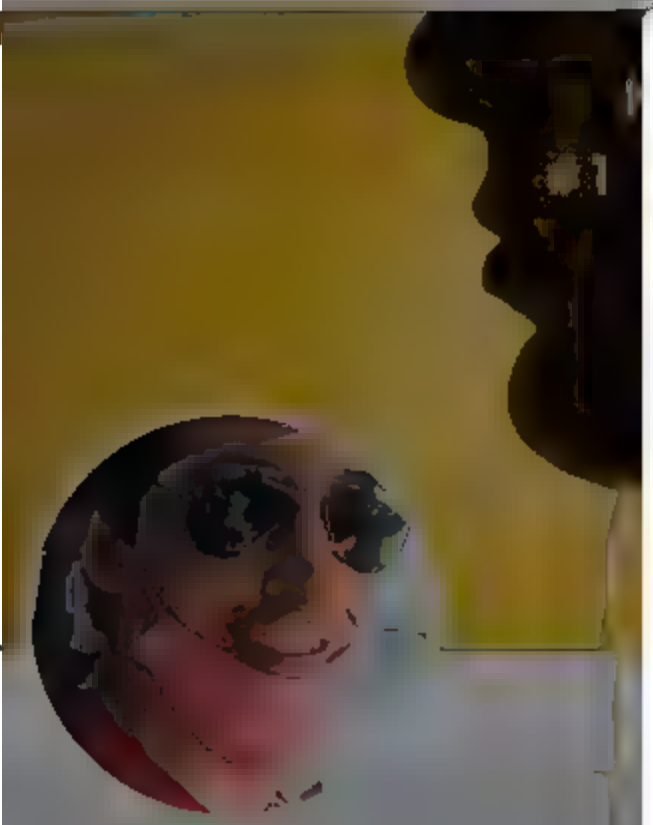
1

Todd Miller @ToddMil78931830 · 7 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Just saying, that's all. Love your books , by the way.

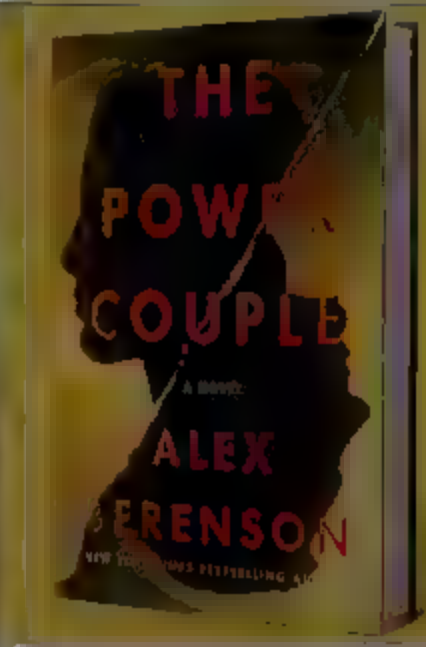
1

Alex Berenson ✓ @AlexBerenson · 7 Dec 2018
Thanks. Unfortunately Tell Your Children kept Wells on the sidelines this year... but he'll be back.

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About Search Twitter Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

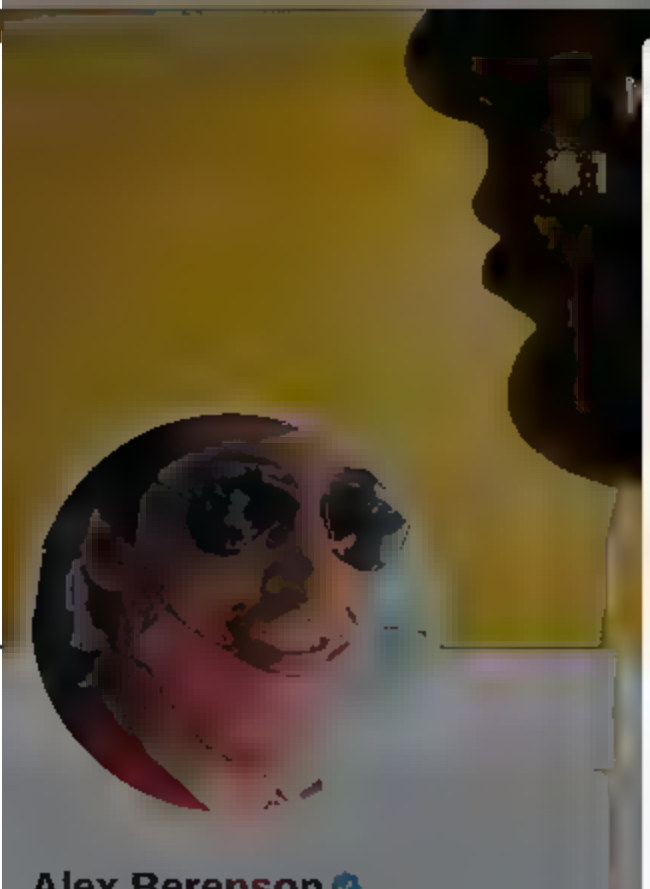
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

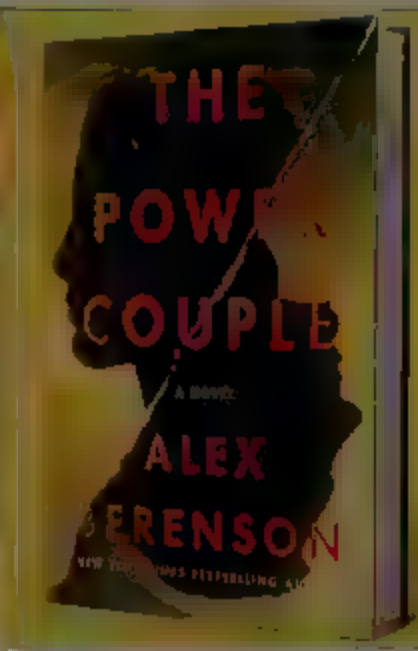


But hey, at least Big Tobacco never had the gall to claim cigarettes were medicine. Oh, wait.

5:30 AM - 7 Dec 2018

7 Likes

4 7



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

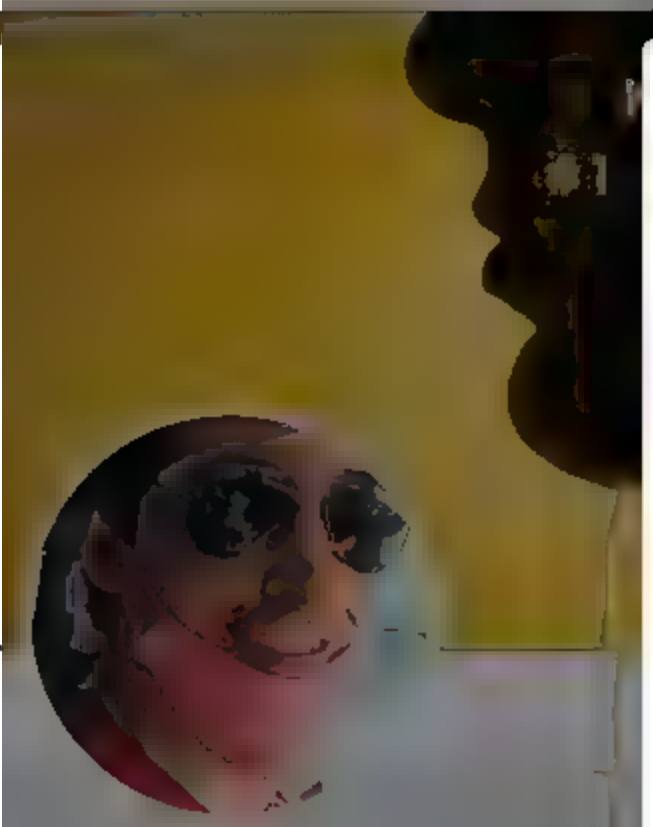
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Great. We can expect the same honesty and concern for public health from the cannabis industry as Big Tobacco.

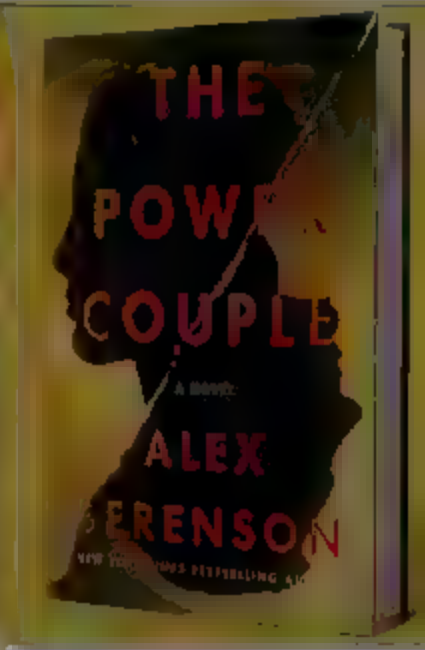


5:21 AM - 7 Dec 2018

2 Likes

1 2

Chalink @trinkle_david · 7 Dec 2018
Replying to
You're funny



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I do wonder what self-professed do-gooders like .@tomangell make of the fact that the most hated industry in history is piling into cannabis. Or do you just see Altria as more potential newsletter subscribers, Tom? Go on, share with the group.

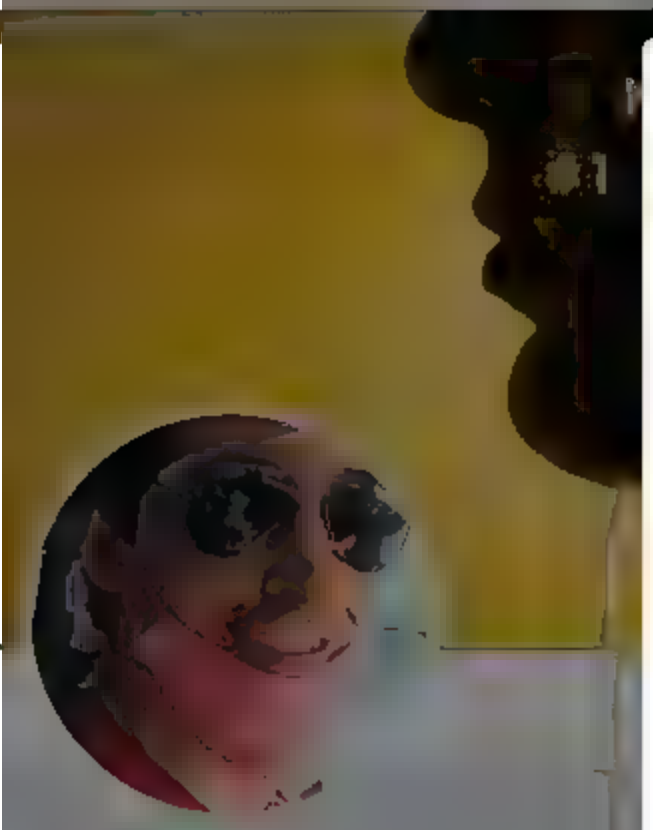
5:39 AM - 7 Dec 2018

9 Likes

3 9

ya boy Deej @deejtweetsgood · 7 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
Altria dedicating resources to a substance demonstrably less harmful than tobacco might actually be a good thing

1



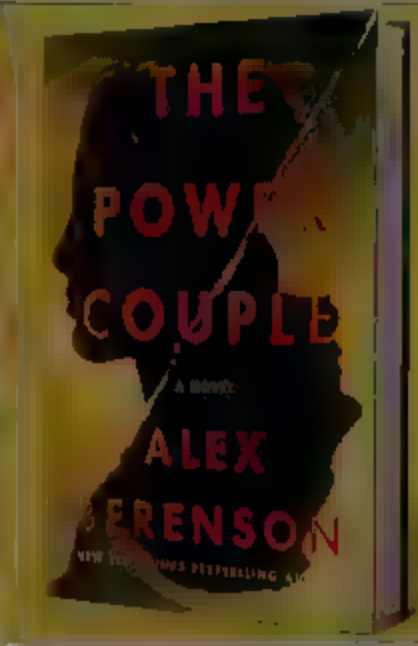
Randy Philbrick @PDXRandyLee · 8 Dec 2018
Even tobacco was less harmful than it is now before Big Tobacco got involved. But let's not forget that "Less harmful" doesn't mean harmless.

Tom will see this as click bait and will play it out. I doubt he will outright denounce the tobacco industry because clicks = $ for him

1

[illegible]

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 9 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
These are also in foods, electronics, sportswear. Does that bother you as well? The play for them is the adults wanting health wellness products with more CBD and terpenses. Commands a higher price which they have. Salves and lotions



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Great to see that US murder rates may be trending down in 2018 - a fact that only makes the continuing spike in violent crime in Denver, Seattle, and the other early legal cities more striking...

nytimes.com/2018/12/06/ops

11:47 AM - 6 Dec 2018

6 Retweets 12 Likes

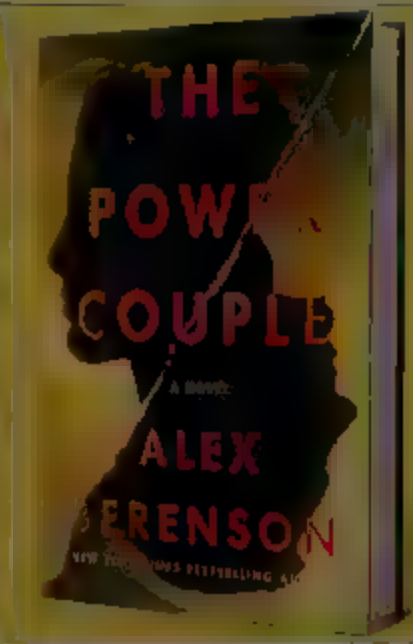
5 6 12



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 6 Dec 2018
Replying to
Lies murder rates highest in illegal states like Texas.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 7 Dec 2018
Replying to
As a journalist can u tell us who funds project Sam do u know Kevin does not list his funders. He has 3 offices & 13 employee but he refuses

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 7 Dec 2018
Replying to
As a journalist can u list a non profit that refuses to tell its funders please alert us who else we have not seen such dishonesty

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 10 Dec 2018

TDCAA @TDCAA · 6 Dec 2018

Goodness gracious, these case facts read like a [illegible] social media news bot made them up:

"Baby in CPS system killed by transgendered pot-smoker dating child's grandfather; DA won't seek death penalty due in part to lack of funding."

••

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> The child death cases are the worst.
>
> RIP Patricia Ann Rader, aged 20 months, murdered in Texas on Sunday.…

1

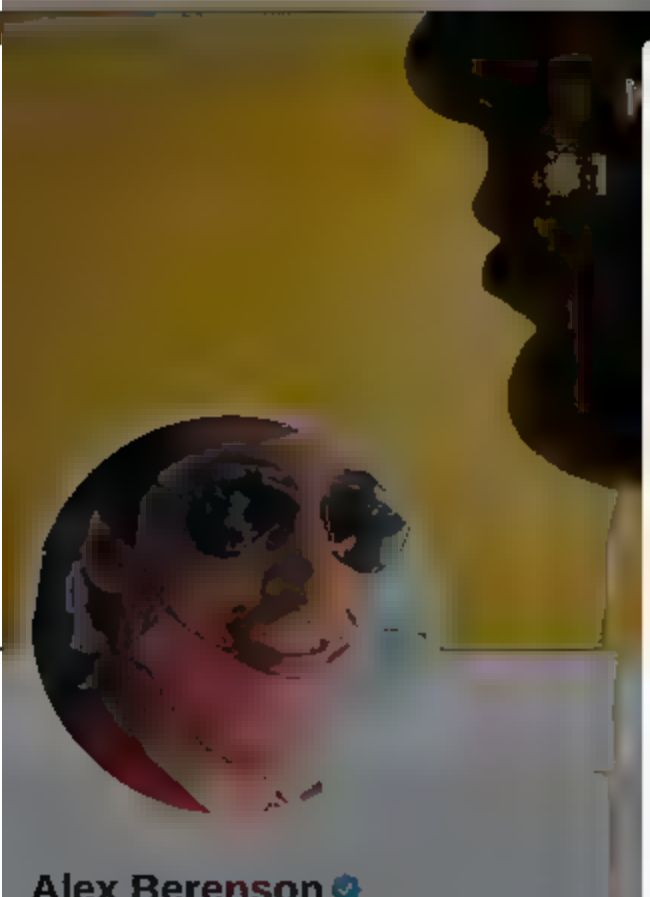
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [illegible]

Yeah, it's all fun and games except for the dead kid. Easy to lose track of what these cases are really about. Like Atticus Finch said, delete the adjectives and (you) have the facts.

11:15 AM - 6 Dec 2018

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

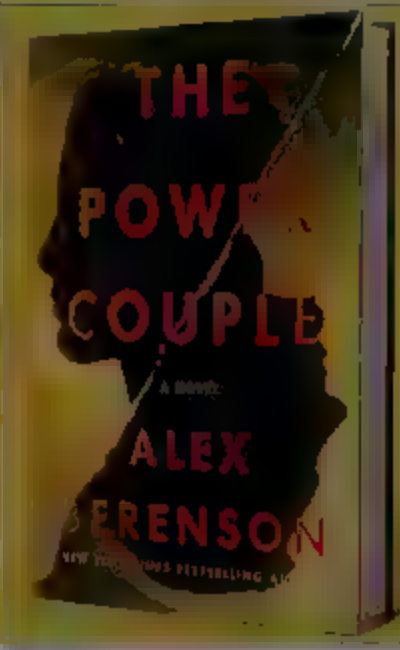
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

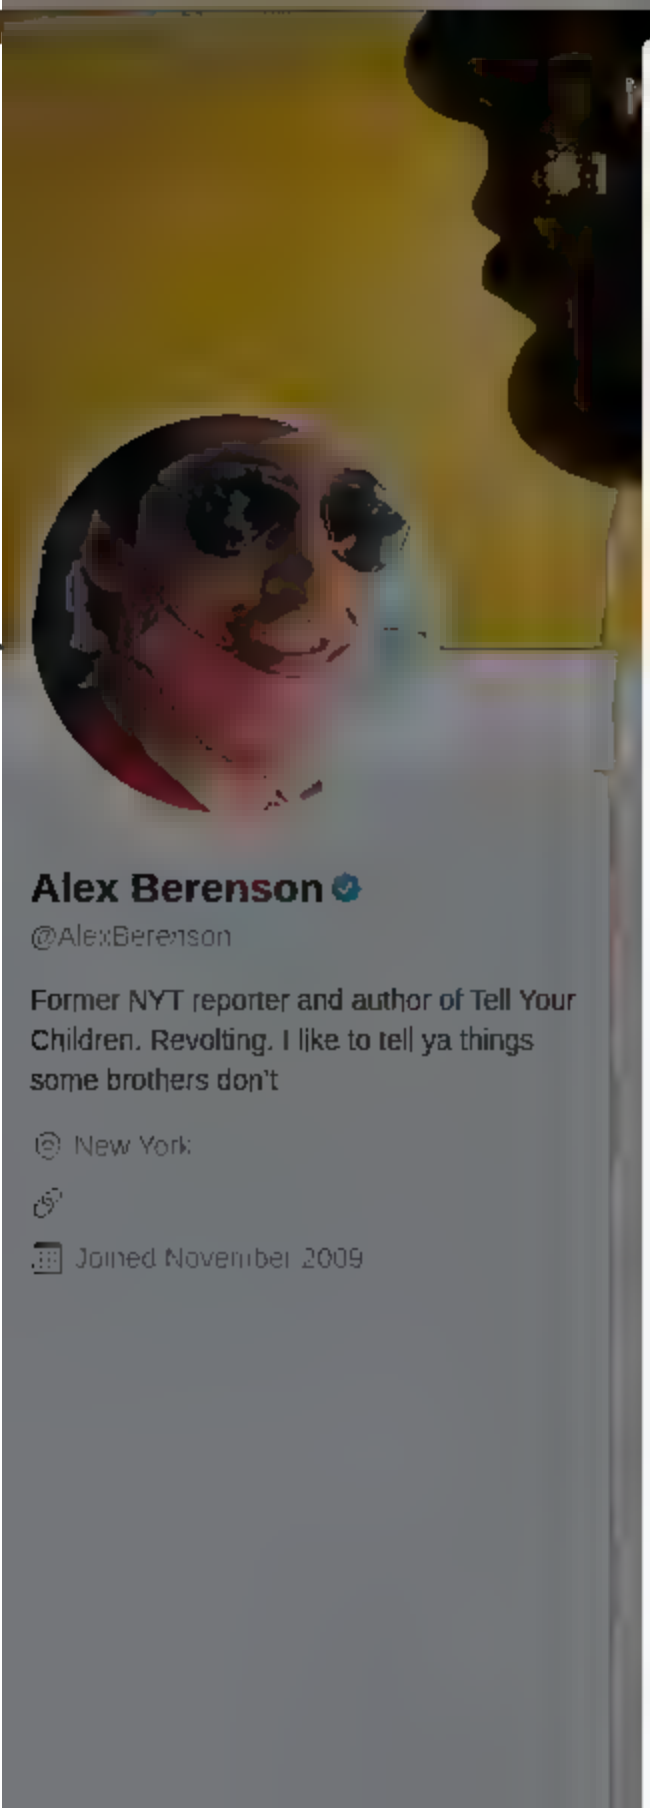
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

The child death cases are the worst.



RIP Patricia Ann Rader, aged 20 months, murdered in Texas on Sunday.

[Boniello] said he killed [Rader] out of anger and frustration... Boniello was smoking marijuana while the child was in the house with him.



5:17 PM - 5 Dec 2018

3 Retweets 2 Likes

4 3 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I notice that even the worst cannabis trolls have nothing to say about this case, no excuses to make. Which is a relief. Though it won't bring Patricia Rader back.

ROCKDALE — A 20-month-old girl died Sunday in Rockdale after Shawn Vincent Boniello reportedly punched, slapped, shook and squeezed her until she didn't move, a probable cause affidavit said.

Boniello, 30, of Albuquerque, N.M., said he killed Patricia Ann Rader out of anger and frustration, an affidavit obtained by the Telegram said. A second affidavit for a charge of abandoning/endangering a child by criminal negligence said Boniello was smoking marijuana while the child was in the house with him.

Boniello, described by Rockdale Police Chief Thomas Harris on Wednesday as a transitioning transgender detailed what happened — after his rights were explained and waived. The suspect said he was angry and frustrated when, at last, he squeezed the girl until she "felt her bones begin to pop and crack," the affidavit said. The squeeze lasted for about three minutes before Boniello at the child go, Boniello told officers.

The investigating officer gave Boniello a stuffed toy animal and asked him to show what happened. A "large amount of force" was used by Boniello while he showed what reportedly happened.

The medical examiner's report said there were multiple internal injuries and broken bones.

A second affidavit gave information about the abandoning or endangering a child charge first filed against Boniello.

Boniello reportedly smoked marijuana in the bathroom while the child was in the house, endangering her life and safety, and the child suffered fatal injuries, the affidavit said.

Then the responding Rockdale Police officer went into the house, he found Patricia in the back bedroom. She was on the floor, wasn't breathing or responsive and Boniello was reportedly trying to do compressions.

After a consent form to search was signed, officers

8:24 AM - 6 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 6 Likes

9 1 6

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 6 Dec 2018

Replying to

"Using the KIDS database in the USA, incidences of 27.5, 27.5 and 32.2 hospitalized cases per 100,000 births were reported for 1997, 2000 and 2003 respectively (Ellingson KD, et al., 2008)."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

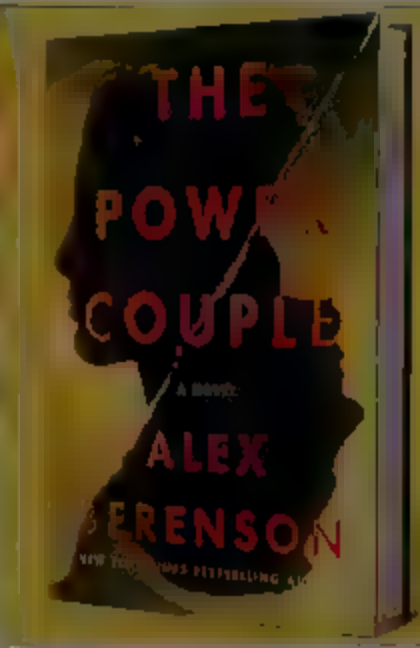
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

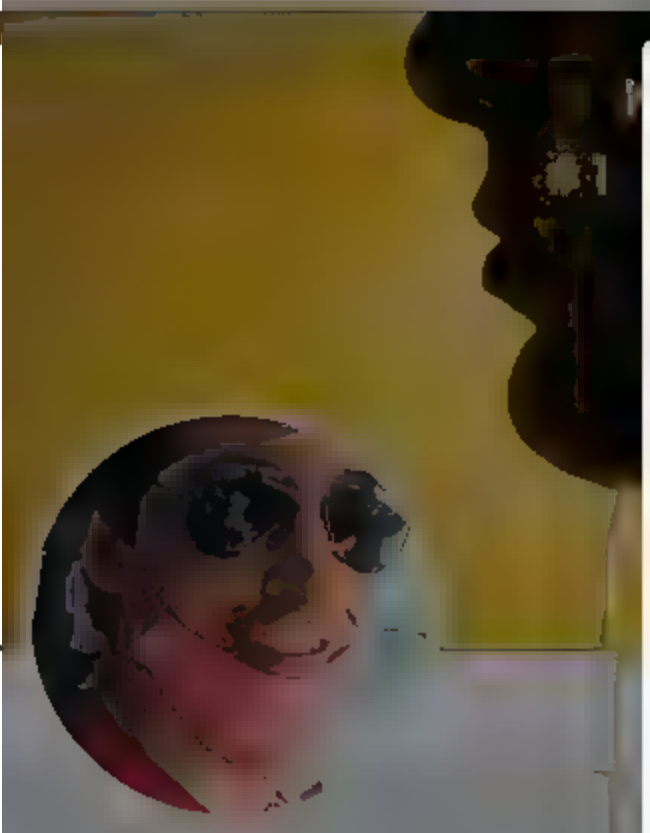
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



A break from cannabis: Winter sunset, 4:30 p.m...

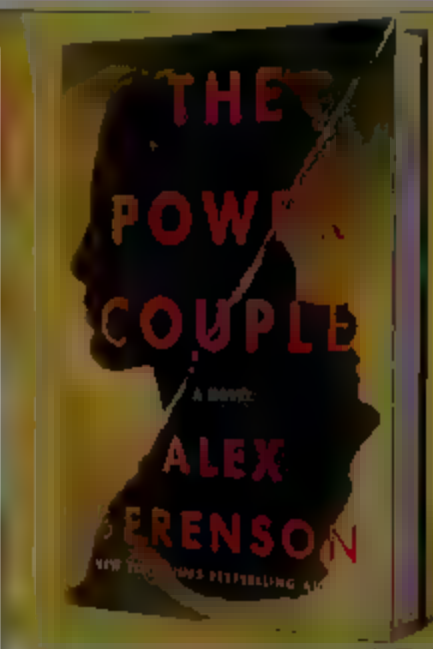


2:59 PM - 5 Dec 2018

10 Likes

1 10

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ One question would be if folks like .@tomangell belong on the list, but I'm thinking more of people who simply have been in the cannabis-media-industrial-complex echo chamber for so long that don't know what they don't know....

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ Wondering if it's time for a list of "well-meaning media" - journalists who think they're doing the right thing by promoting cannabis as a cure for the opioid epidemic, etc, but actually simply don't understand the science...

12:59 PM - 5 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 4 Likes

9 1 4

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 5 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
So when there are medical professionals who concur that cannabis helps opioid patients reduce or remove opioid that's industry blather

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 5 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Its very nice u want 2 play the fair and balanced game but I in illegal jersey still have to buy as a criminal from a criminal. So its not

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 5 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

a link to the resource?
FBI, the murder rates rose between 2013 and 2017 after the legalization of marijuana, in first the 4 states to legalize: Colorado – 24% Oregon -30% Washington 44% Alaska 82%

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Yes, they are correct. The FBI has data by year and state.

Reports from Denver (murders thru Sep. 2018 up 10% compared to 2017, agg assaults up 17%) and other big cities in the first four suggest the trend is actually worsening this year.

ucr.fbi.gov/crime-in-the-u...

10:20 AM - 5 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 1 Like

1 1 1

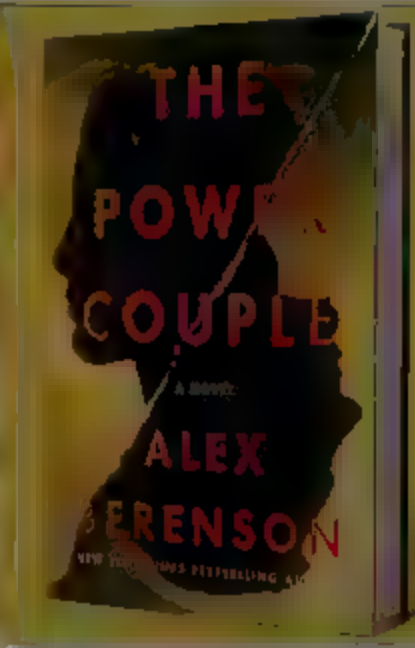
Aubree Adams @AubreeAdams4 · 5 Dec 2018

Replying to

WOW! How sad! I am a witness to the destruction marijuana has caused Colorado. I almost lost my son to suicide after he was out of his mind from dabbing, and a man named Brad Fowler was killed in my neighborhood from selling marijuana. I post videos on Youtube about this. Thanks!

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

1/ Wondering if it's time for a list of "well-meaning media" - journalists who think they're doing the right thing by promoting cannabis as a cure for the opioid epidemic, etc, but actually simply don't understand the science...

12:55 PM - 5 Dec 2018

3 Retweets 15 Likes

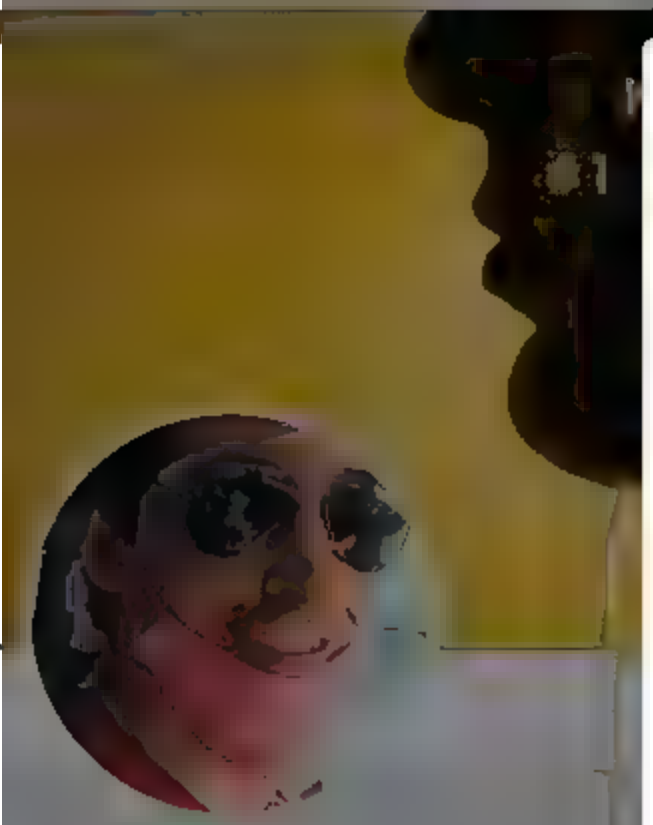
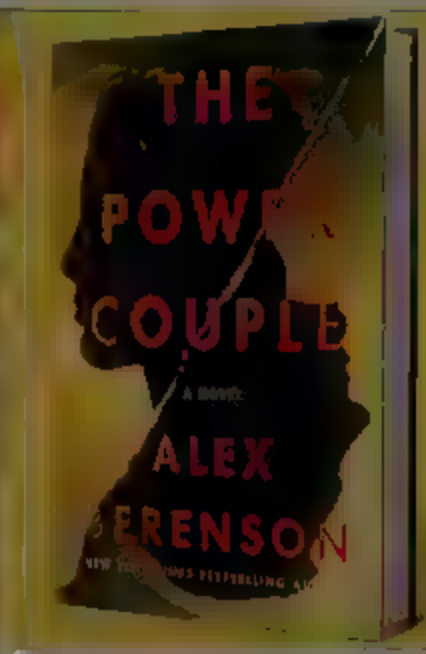
6 3 15

Angela Janis, MD, DFAPA @DrAngelaJanis · 5 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
I wonder if it's time for "well-meaning" authors to learn some basic science, like the difference between correlation and causation, before they start condescendingly lecturing others...



2 1 13



No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 6 Dec 2018
Thanks for the laugh Doc! It has been strange watching him talk down to scientists using middle school level critical thinking skills.

2

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 5 Dec 2018
Replying to [illegible]
Listened to a Marijuana Policy Project video in which one of their officers said there are 2 people working full-time to convince the public and media that marijuana is a solution for the opiate epidemic. Imagine having that much $$$$ for PR.

4 1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Meanwhile, back in the real world, tons of NFL players already use cannabis - often to their detriment...

espn.com/espn/feature/s ...

7:03 AM - 5 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 2 Likes

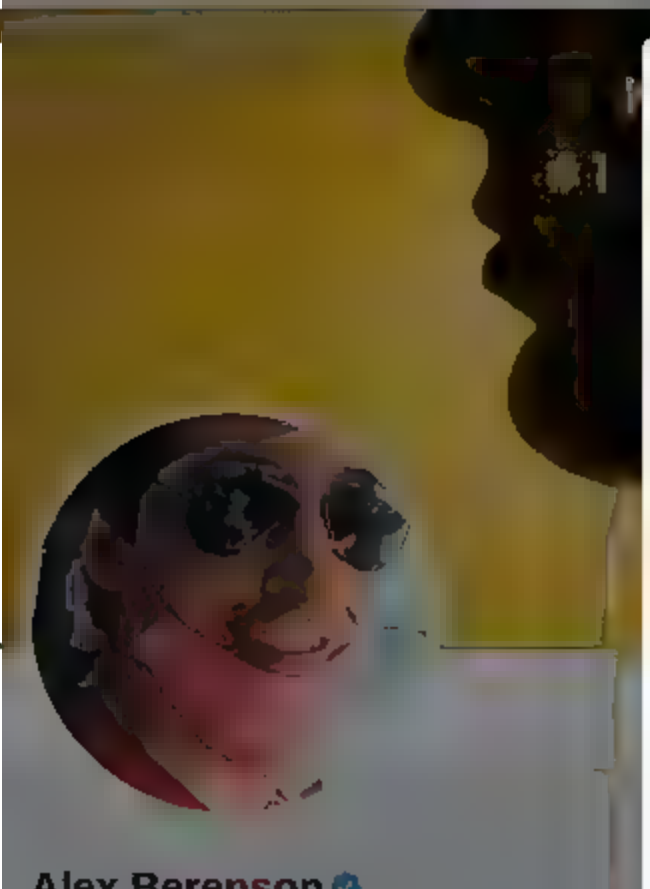
1 1 2



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 5 Dec 2018

Replying to

So when other players Marvin Washington et al do support no they are industry's

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

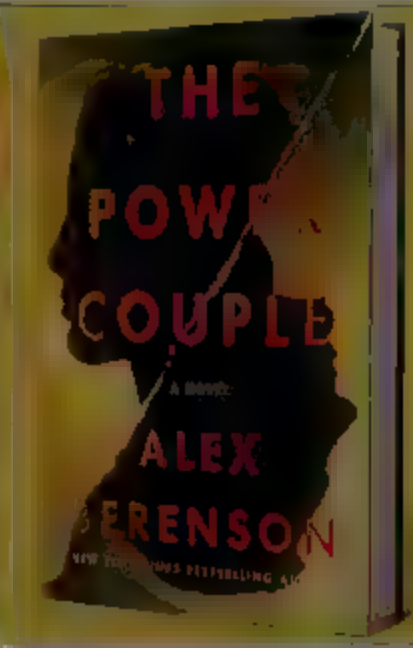
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

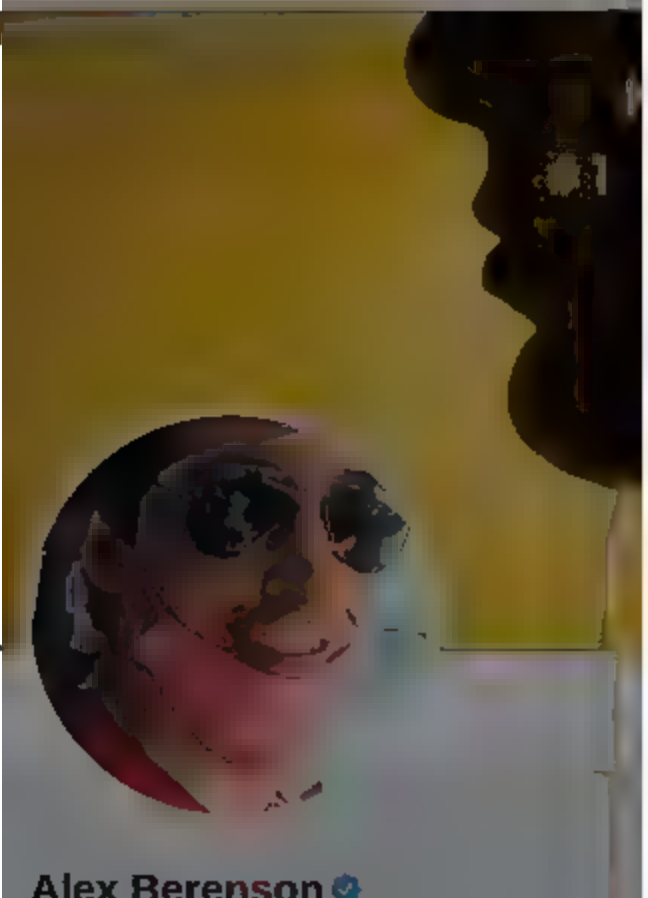
1/ I'm sure .@easterbrookG means well - but this is the same nonsense that journalists who have no idea what the science actually says have parroted for years:

7:01 AM - 5 Dec 2018

4 Likes



2 4



Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 5 Dec 2018

Replying to

So when its doctors advising to try and use cannabis no no no that's industry

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

that examined earlier research that called a death attributable to alcohol if the person's BAC was greater than 0.10 at the time of death,.. twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s...

2 3

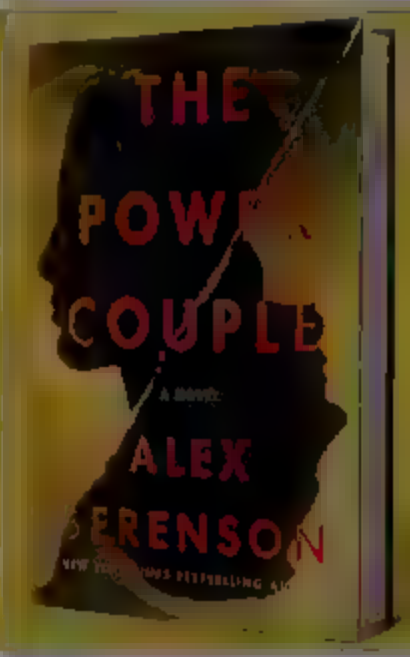
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson Follow

4/ You are welcome to argue that this is a stupid way to count deaths. But then we'd also better stop saying that alcohol kills 90,000 people a year.

1:38 PM - 4 Dec 2018

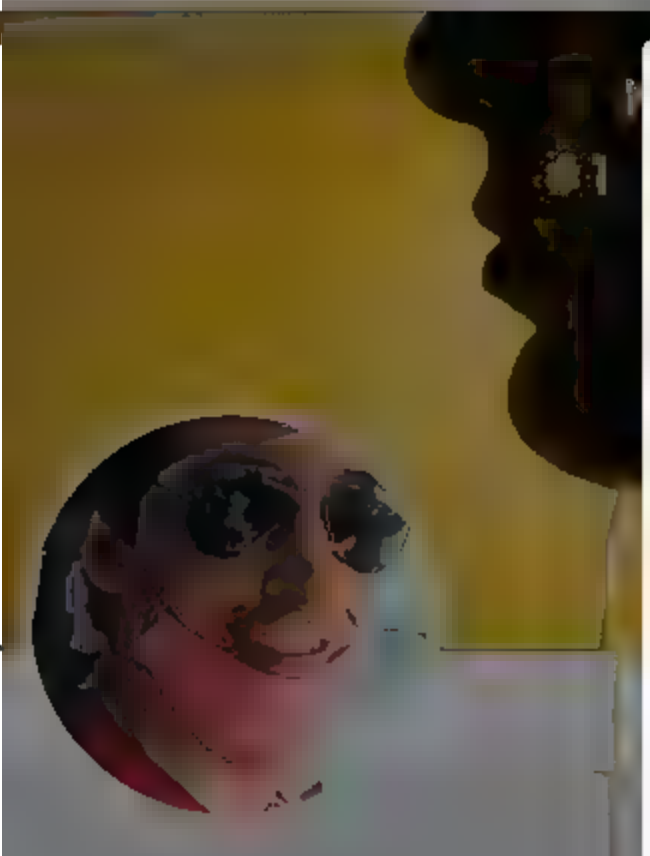
3

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to



The 90k figure refers to deaths in which excessive drinking was found to be a contributing factor.

"Marijuana use in a prepaid health care-based study cohort had little effect on non-AIDS mortality in men and on total mortality in women."

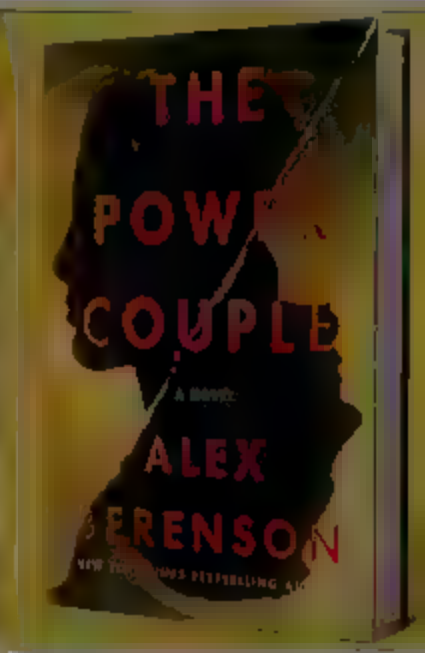


Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to

no because you are saying the people who are thugs, they would not be killing if Cannabis does not exist. And also you are conflating the illegal and legal issue. Those of us who are law abiding simply, want to have this changed so we can be free from the prejudice of u and urs.

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 4 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

3/ I think you know where I'm going with this. If use the same criteria for cannabis-related deaths, we will likely find >10,000 deaths a year from homicide, suicide, and car accidents alone - a big number, considering that alcohol is far more widely used...

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 2/ Those are not directly counted; rather, they are based on a 1999 study that examined earlier research that called a death attributable to alcohol if the person's BAC was greater than 0.10 at the time of death... twitter.com/AlexBerenson/s...

1:38 PM - 4 Dec 2018

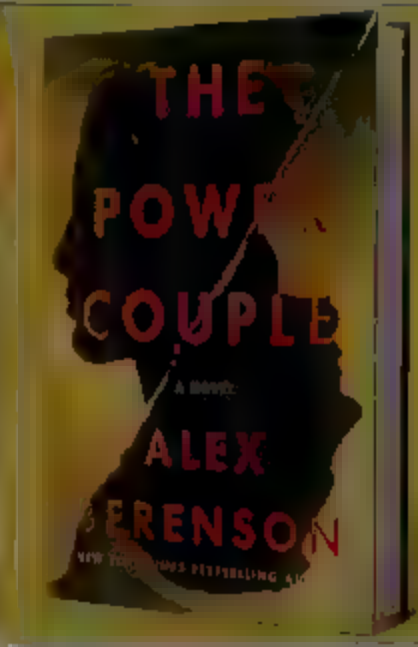
3 Likes

2 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 4 Dec 2018
4/ You are welcome to argue that this is a stupid way to count deaths. But then we'd also better stop saying that alcohol kills 90,000 people a year.

3

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to
The murders you post are from career criminals whereas the alcohol deaths are also but more so are spur of the moment, crimes of passion as it were. Ur research is hobbyist. u downplay the harms of alcohol. For many they could not control their amt of alcohl but can w MJ



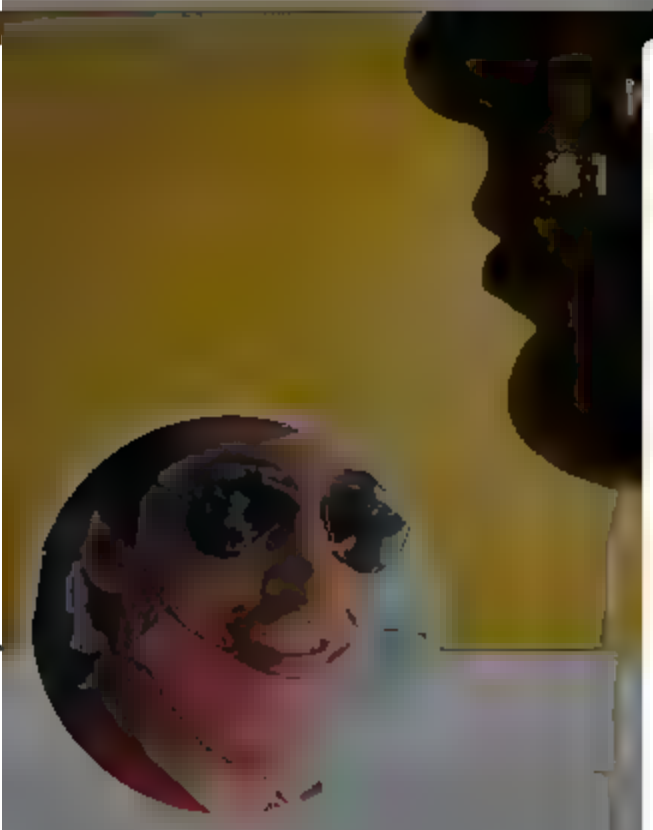
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



2/ Those are not directly counted; rather, they are based on a 1999 study that examined earlier research that called a death attributable to alcohol if the person's BAC was greater than 0.10 at the time of death...

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> 1/ True story: Alcohol is a dangerous drug. We say it kills 90,000 Americans a year. Of those, about 40,000 are direct deaths, mostly liver-related. The other 50,000 are trickier; the big causes are 16,000 homicides and suicides and 12,500 road deaths...

1:35 PM - 4 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ True story: Alcohol is a dangerous drug. We say it kills 90,000 Americans a year. Of those, about 40,000 are direct deaths, mostly liver-related. The other 50,000 are trickier; the big causes are 16,000 homicides and suicides and 12,500 road deaths...

1:34 PM - 4 Dec 2018

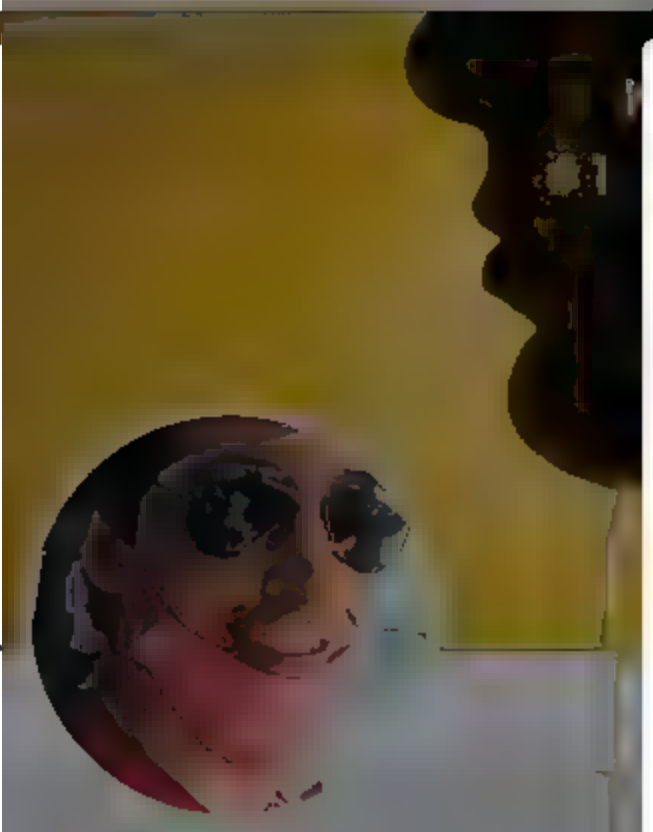
1 Like

2 1

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 4 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

So why all the concern about cannabis, Alex? It doesn't kill nearly that many and doesn't cause people who take it to become homecidal. I know in your upcoming book you're going to talk about a man who swears it made him kill his wife but that's untrue.



Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 4 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

The article I read explained that there were financial and other problems in the marriage. He's not man enough to stand up and say, "You know what? I didn't love my wife, and that's why I killed her."

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

3/ To not merely legalize but encourage the use of a highly psychomimetic drug - especially by people with psychiatric conditions - without acknowledging its toxicity is a recipe for disaster.

The end.

10:31 AM - 4 Dec 2018

2 Retweets 14 Likes

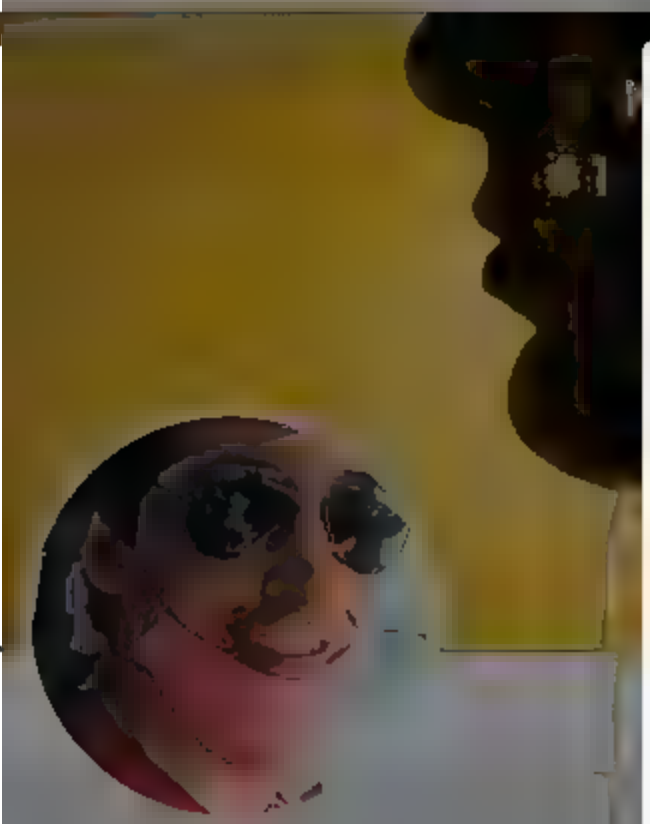
6 2 14

Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
How about legalization alongside education and discouragement? What if marijuana products were required to have a Surgeon General label saying, "Caution-Might Cause X," just like cigarettes? Why are you so convinced that prohibition is the only way to deal with this?



3

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
So we have seen with SSRIs. OTOH, abrogating the manufacturing and distribution of potentially risky drugs to criminals and teenagers, who do not understand, much less acknowledge or warn about the risks, seems to make matters worse.

Kim Candise @KimCandise · 5 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

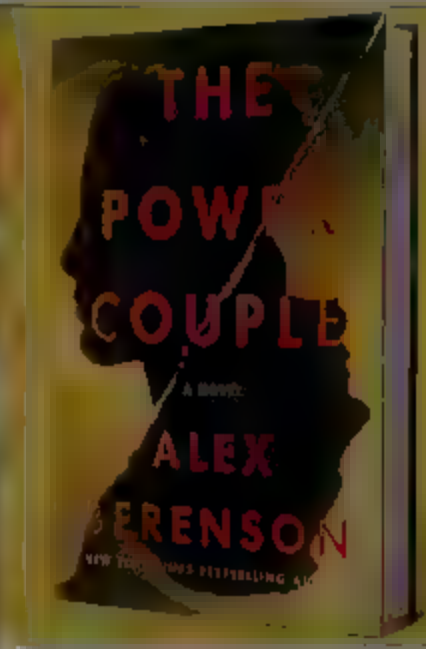
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson



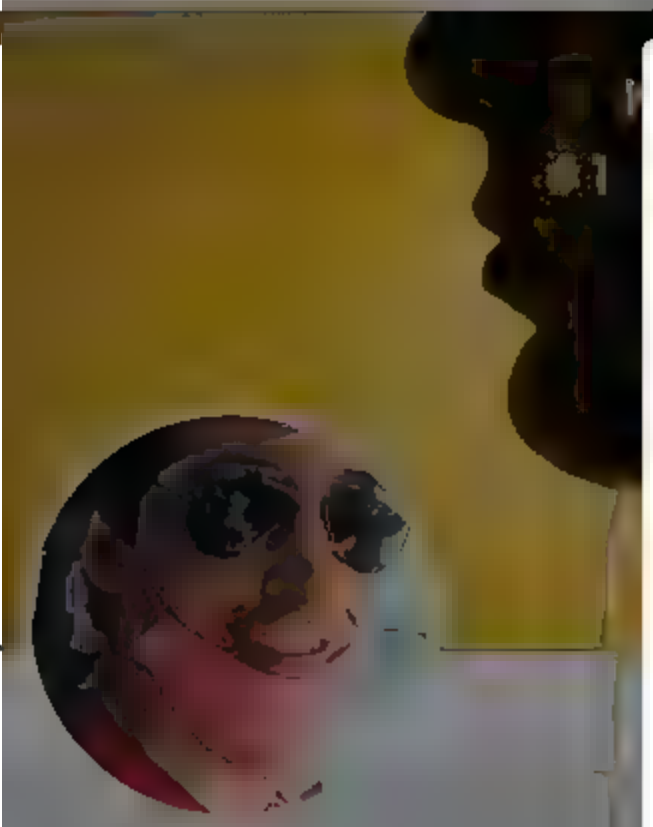
1/Okay: let's try this again.

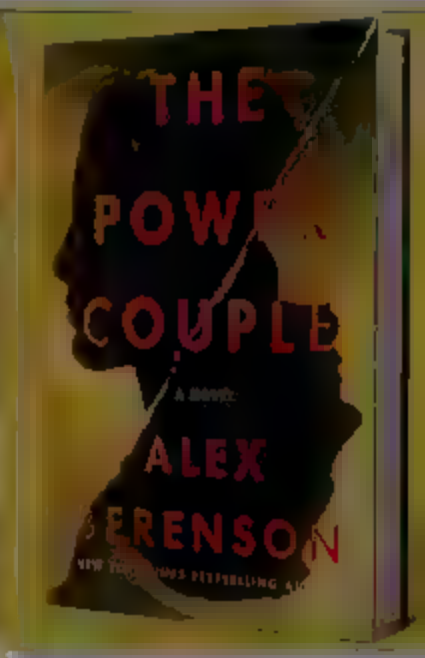
All psychoactive drugs carry risk of psychosis.
That risk varies widely.
A reasonable estimate would be:
caffeine/alcohol/tobacco<benzos<opiates<stimulants (amphetamine<cocaine<meth)<cannabis<synthetic cannabis/PCP

10:28 AM - 4 Dec 2018

3 Likes

3 3





© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to
People at risk of psychosis tend to self-medicate with licit and illicit drugs. Cannabis that is high in THC but low in CBD and some terpenes can trigger psychosis in those so predisposed.

1

Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 16 Dec 2018
Replying to
Not sure what you base this on. Do you have a citation? And why downplay the contribution of tobacco to schizophrenia?

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

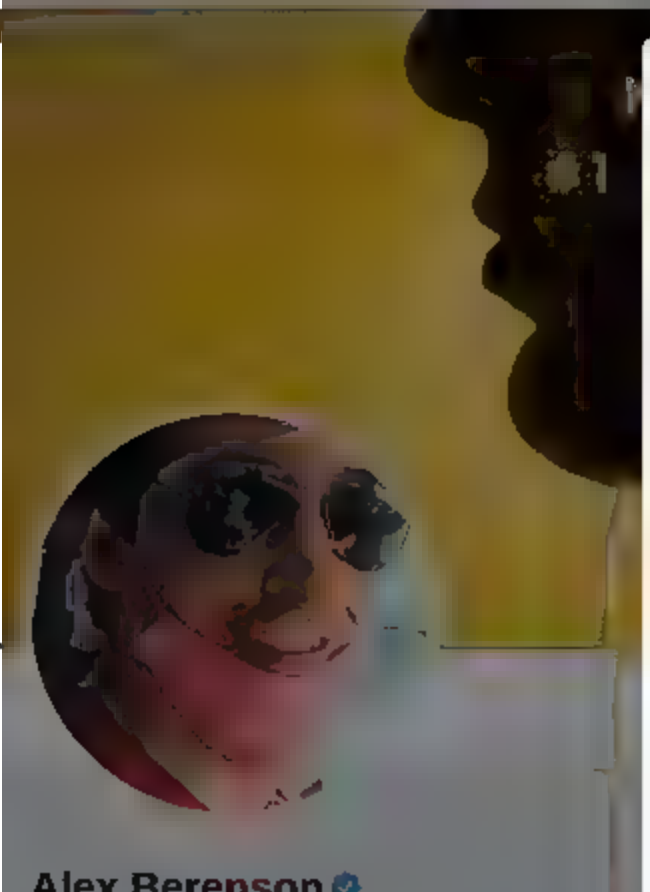
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

2/ It is probably not an accident that the drugs with the lowest risk are legal in most societies, and the ones with the highest are not. That is not to say they are the safest OVERALL - alcohol is highly toxic. But psychosis is a tail risk that frightens people.

10:30 AM - 4 Dec 2018

3 Likes

6 3



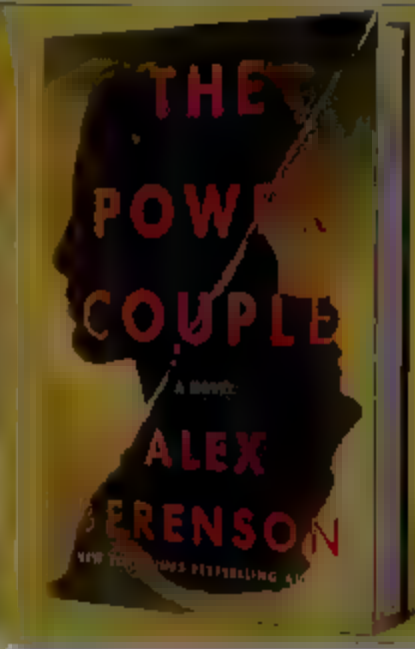
Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Coffee, alcohol and tobacco have been prohibited, however, prohibitions are largely due to moral panics and xenophobia, not psychosis risk. There's no mention of psychosis in the Harrison Narcotics Act, beyond "drug-crazed, sex-mad negroes." [redacted]
3

Bill Thomas @bnaugy · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Smoking cigarettes kills about 500,000 per year and cannabis kills no one.

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Psychosis does scare people. Is that why you talk about cannabis psychosis so much, so you scare people into voting your way?
1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 4 Dec 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Here's a 14-year-old murderer - and even as she blames his use for the crime, his psychologist instinctively protects herself from the cannabis lobby: "I'm not saying that marijuana's a bad drug." You're not?

10:18 AM - 4 Dec 2018

2 Likes

5 2

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 4 Dec 2018

Replying to

The psychologist, hired by the defense, introduced cannabis use as a mitigating factor, but did not want to imply that cannabis is a "bad" drug and thereby hurt the boy's case. I doubt reprisal from the "cannabis lobby" crossed her mind.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

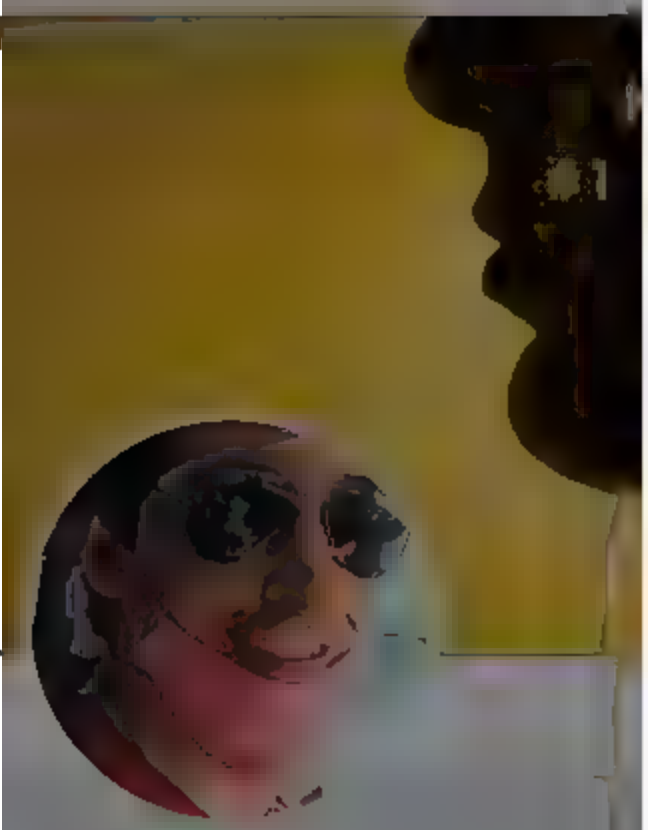
NEVER BELIEVE WHAT HAPPENED NEXT.

Spoiler alert: they (allegedly) shot and killed him. SO WEIRD, since...

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



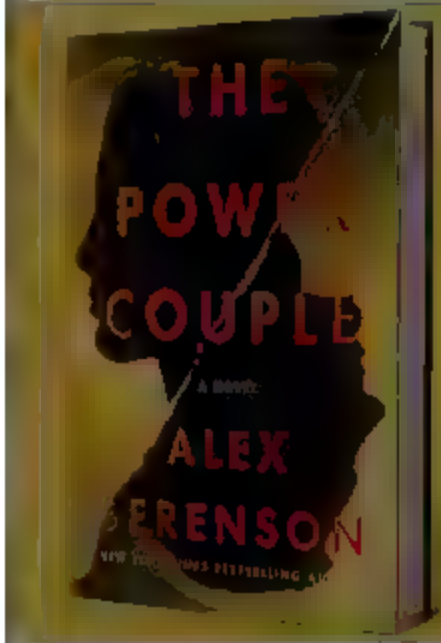
Oh. Perhaps you prefer this one?

You know why I can find marijuana-linked violence happening all the time? Because it happens all the time. But the cannabis lobby shouts Reefer Madness so loudly it has stopped anyone from connecting the dots.

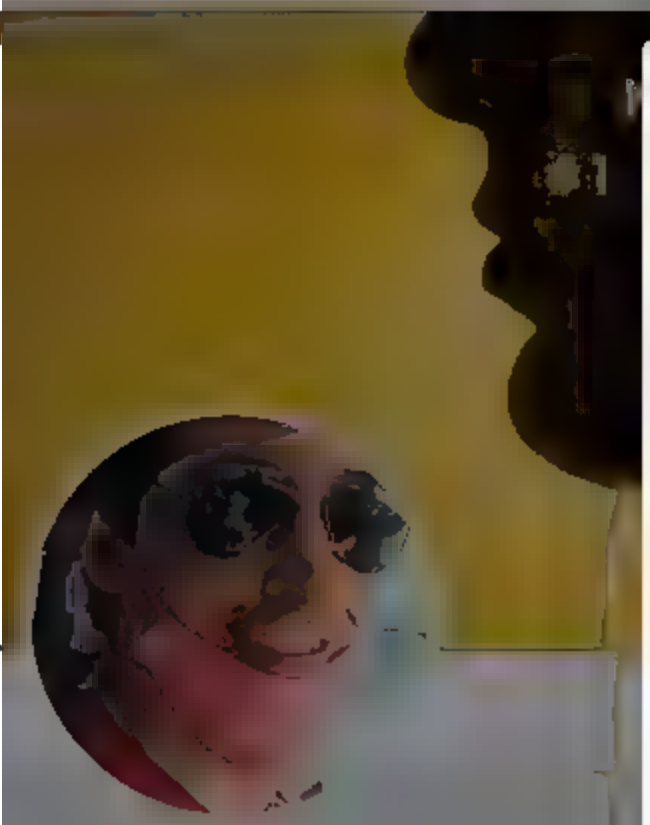
10:14 AM - 4 Dec 2018

2

Drew Hutchinson @DrewHutch13 · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

These four guys got high on their way over to rob their dealer. YOU'LL NEVER BELIEVE WHAT HAPPENED NEXT.

Spoiler alert: they (allegedly) shot and killed him. SO WEIRD, since cannabis never, never causes violence.

9:59 AM - 4 Dec 2018

4 Retweets 11 Likes

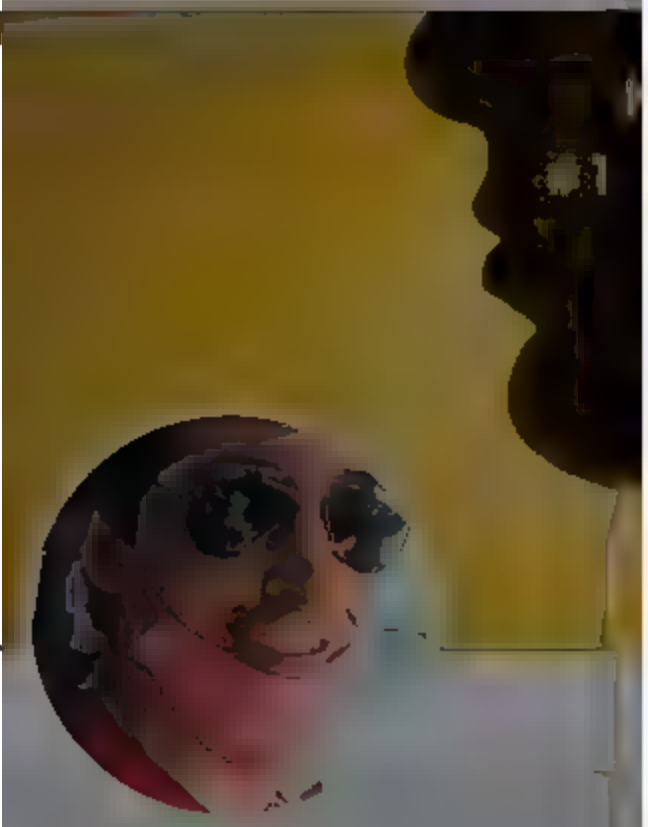
13 4 11

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 4 Dec 2018

Replying to

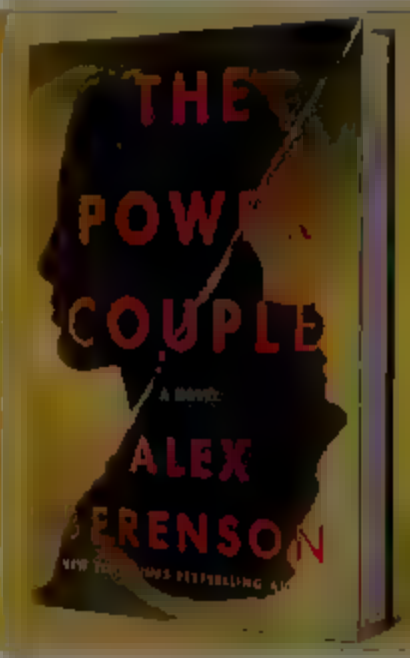


I don't believe anyone here ever said it never caused violence. What you're

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Priesthood holder @LgcOvrReligion · 3 Dec 2018

Reefer Madness is a 1936 American propaganda film revolving around the melodramatic events that ensue when high school students are lured by pushers to try marijuana. You know this. It's your scare tactic.

1 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

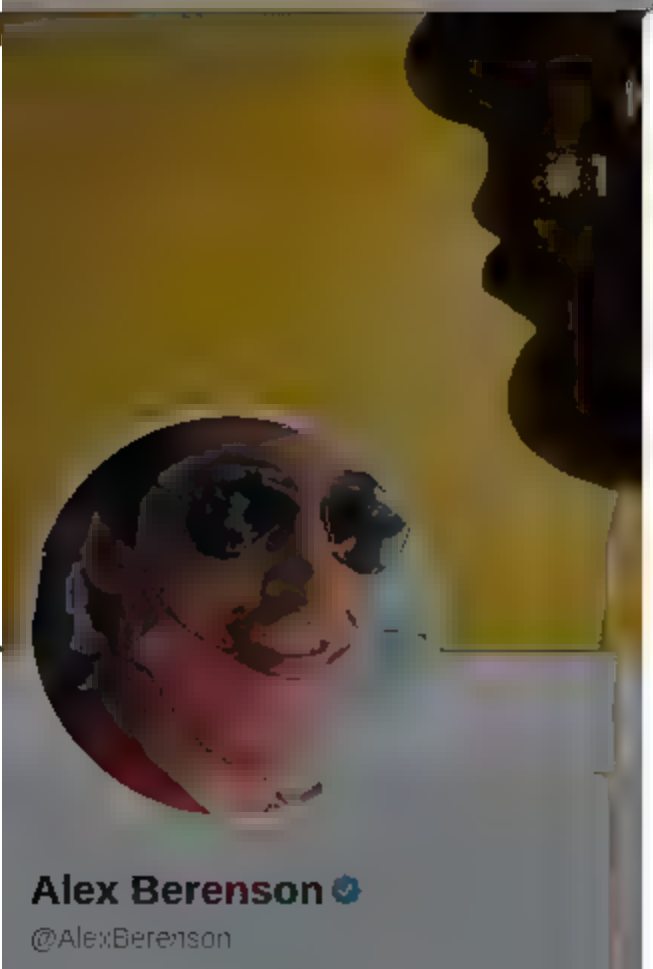
Following

Replying to [redacted]

You mean the movie originally known as Tell Your Children? Never heard of it.

3:30 PM - 3 Dec 2018

1 Like



2 1

Priesthood holder @LgcOvrReligion · 3 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

Show additional replies, including those that may contain offensive content Show

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

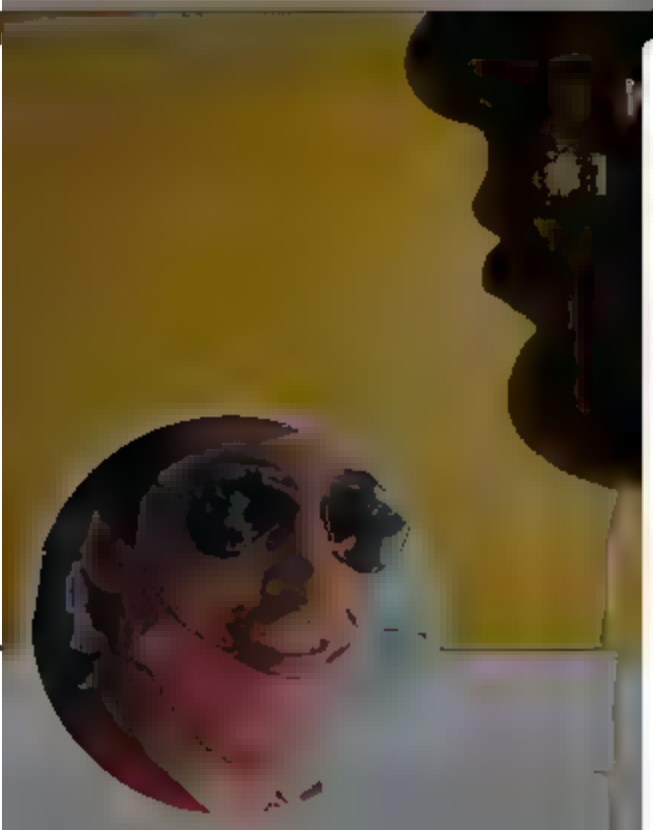
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



A smoker friend of mine (yes, I have smoker friends) adds this to the list of negative side effects of use:

6:41 AM - 4 Dec 2018

2 Likes

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

.@minschwe.ch a particularly nasty case... I didn't mention it in the book, because in part because it's so disgusting - tell .@tomangel! to read after dinner! - but I don't know how anyone could say hashish didn't kill this guy. sciencedirect.com/science/artic! ..

3:29 PM - 3 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 3 Likes

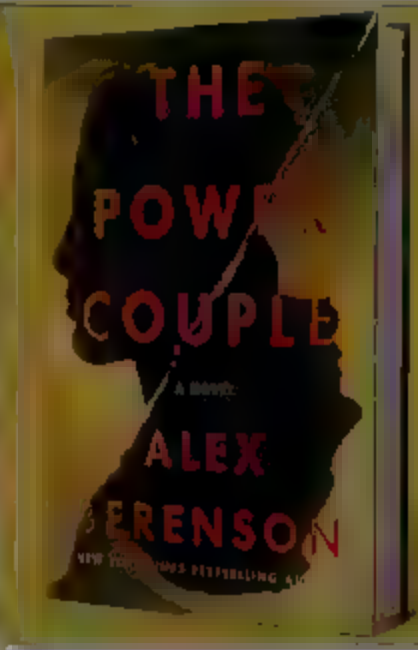
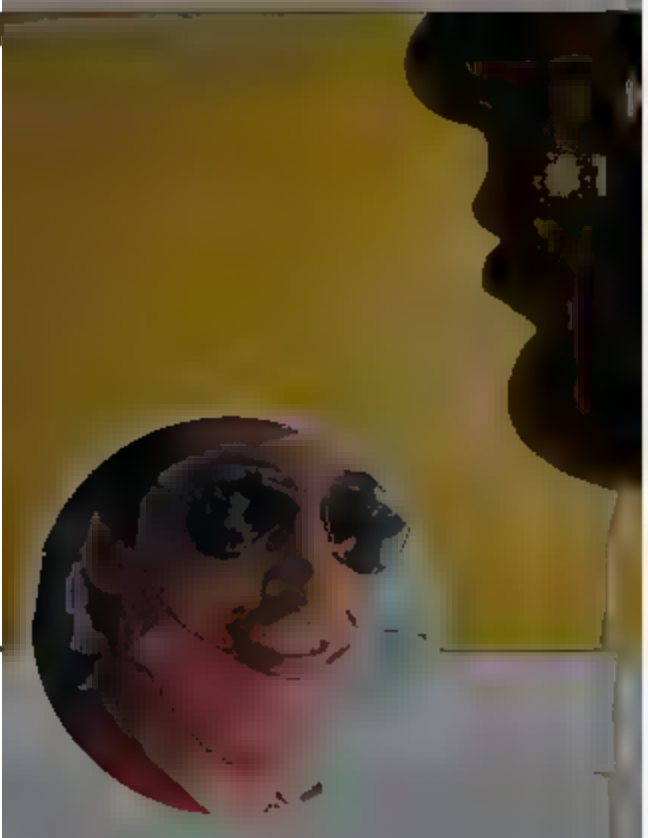
3 1 3



yoleven @outfielding · 3 Dec 2018
Replying to
They don't come any easier... Hemorrhage killed this guy, not hashish!

1



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 3 Dec 2018
Replying to
You lack both an imagination and reading comprehension. "Major self-mutilation ... is frequently associated with psychiatric disorders and/or substance abuse."

1 1

Michael Reese @seventofive · 4 Dec 2018
Also note their argument is that he did not have a history of psych issues, but had been admitted psychiatrically. But since they couldn't discern why, just chalked it up to no psych history... A small minority of people have had a previous psych hospitalization.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Can marijuana use cause cancer?

8 6

Matthew Schweich @mhschweich · 3 Dec 2018
Website specifically says "no one has ever died from a marijuana overdose" which is true.

1 3

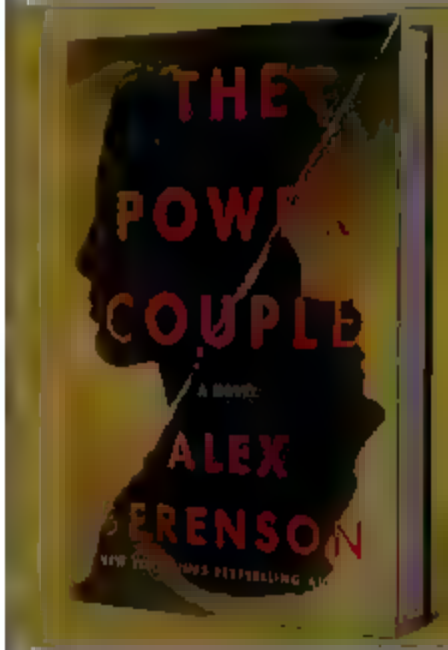
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

So you're saying it's not untrue, only misleading? Okay, I guess.

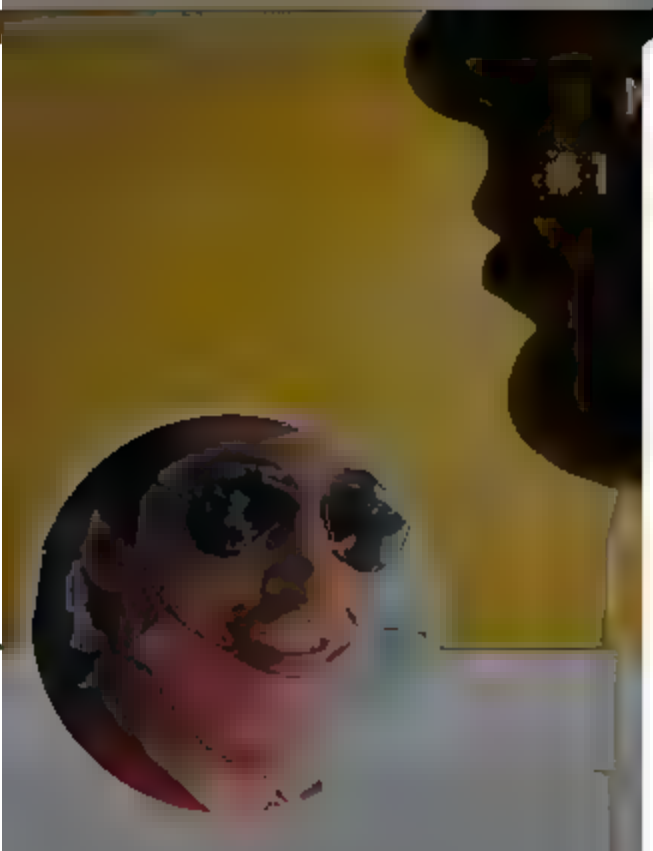
1:53 PM - 3 Dec 2018

3

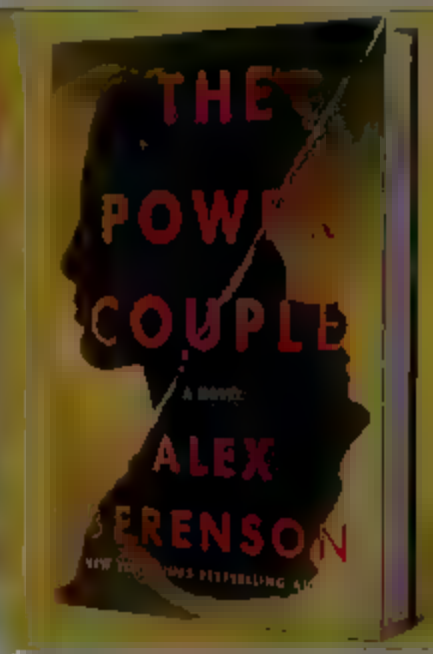


Matthew Schweich @mhschweich · 3 Dec 2018
Replying to
No, just correcting you when you misrepresent the statements on our website.

1 5



Scott Allen @docscottallen · 3 Dec 2018
I think we can all agree that it drives us nuts when people tell half-truths



2 1

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Tom Angell @tomangell · 3 Dec 2018

If you thought Kevin Sabet was the worst person on Twitter when it comes to spreading Reefer Madness myths about marijuana, you clearly haven't seen [redacted]'s feed yet. Wow.

9 4 37

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Hello Tom! I was wondering when I'd hear from you. 36 days to Tell Your Children. I can have S&S send you a copy... you may find it unpleasantly informative.

1:52 PM - 3 Dec 2018

4 Likes

1 4

No Mids, Only Loud @Charles_Williz · 4 Dec 2018

Replying to [redacted]

Correction: you were hoping and praying he'd pay attention to you to draw attention to your "drugs are bad mmkay" book. Are any science journals reviewing it? I'm looking forward to those reviews.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

much the definition of misleading.

2 9

Matthew Schweich @mhschweich · 3 Dec 2018

What report are you referring to? And where is it quoted on the website? I'm open to looking into improving this. Unlike [redacted] and [redacted], we at MPP seek to present the facts and statistics in honest manner 1/2

3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 3 Dec 2018

The 1999 IOM report - which has been superseded by the 2017 NAM report. You know, the one that says marijuana is causally linked to psychosis and the higher the dose, the higher the risk? Weirdly, I can't find that information anywhere on your site...

2 2

Matthew Schweich @mhschweich · 3 Dec 2018

You clearly believe strongly in honesty in policy debate, so I hope you will demand that from [redacted] & [redacted] who, in MI, ran TV ads that were so demonstrably false that TV stations actually pulled them down from the air. That's never happened to any of my campaigns.

2 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted] and 2 others

Kevin speaks for himself - I know he likes the book but I'd never spoken to him until after it was essentially done. (I did interview Ethan and Rob and I quote them at length - I particularly like Ethan, who clearly wasn't trying to get rich off legalization.)

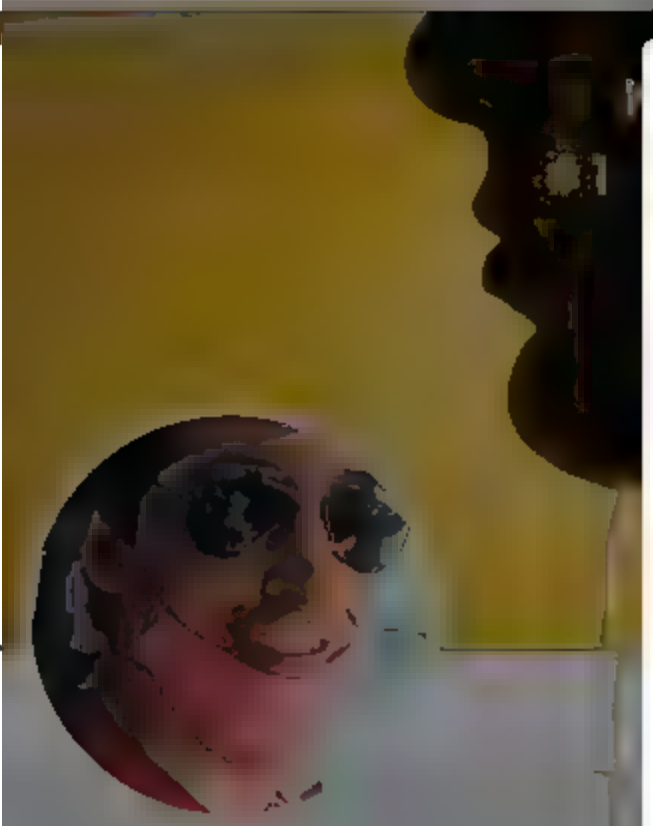
2:36 PM - 3 Dec 2018

Home About

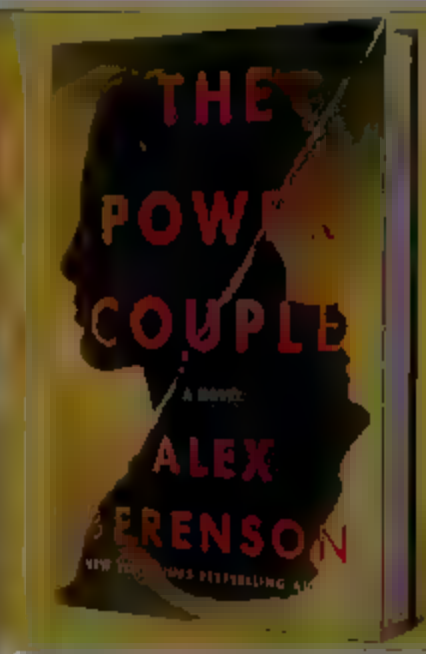
Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York



Joined November 2009

THE POWER COUPLE
A NOVEL
ALEX BERENSON

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

.@mhschweich it is deeply telling that the health section on your site repeatedly quotes sources 15-20 years old - a bit like ExxonMobil insisting on sticking to 1990s science in the discussion of climate change.

1:44 PM - 3 Dec 2018

2 Retweets 7 Likes

3 2 7

Matthew Schweich @mhschweich · 3 Dec 2018

Replying to [illegible]

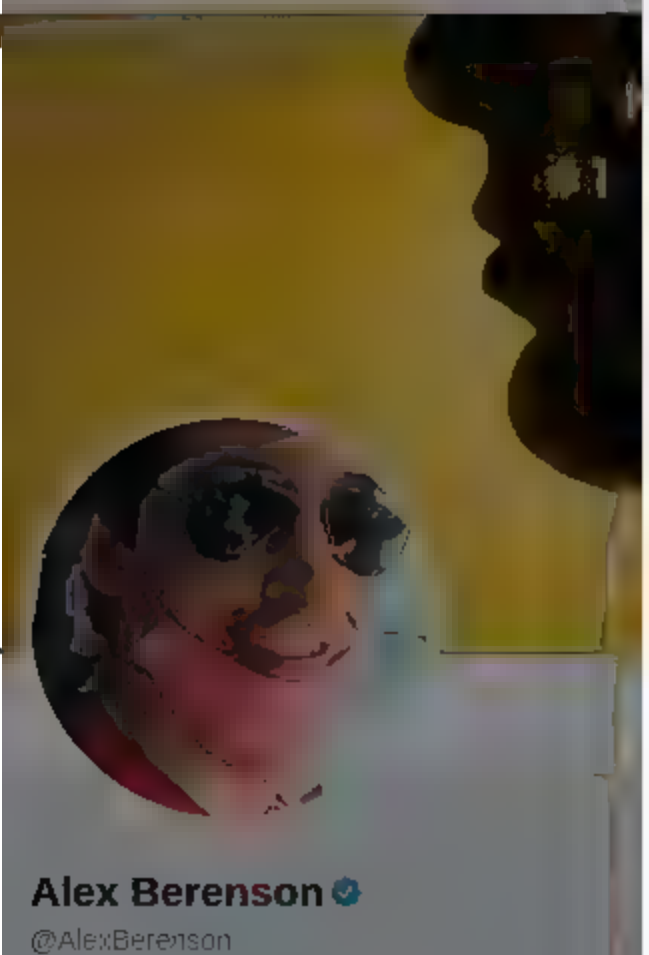
When you say "health section," I assume that you are referring to the FAQ page here? We want to provide good info to supporters, so we'll see if there are ways to improve that page. [illegible]

2

The Daily Dope Show @CtrlAltDel_USA · 3 Dec 2018

Replying to [illegible]

I'm new here, but let me start by saying, if you don't block me it will be bad for you. If you block me it will be worse. Proceed with caution asshole, I'm about to deconstruct your whole existence on Twitter. I'm making your lying ass my new passion. Get ready.



2

[illegible]

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

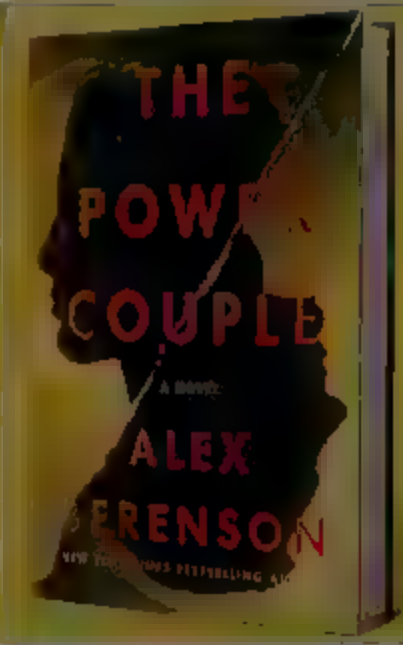
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

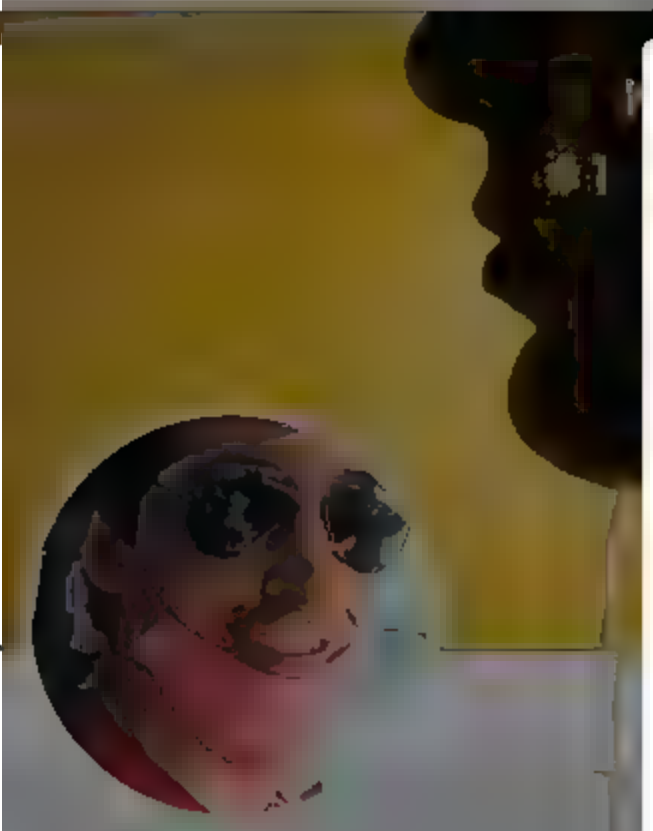
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Follow

.@mnschweich the claim that "no one has ever died from marijuana" is also somewhere between misleading and untrue, based on coroners' and case reports. It deliberately elides death from direct overdose and suicides and homicides that can be causally linked to use.

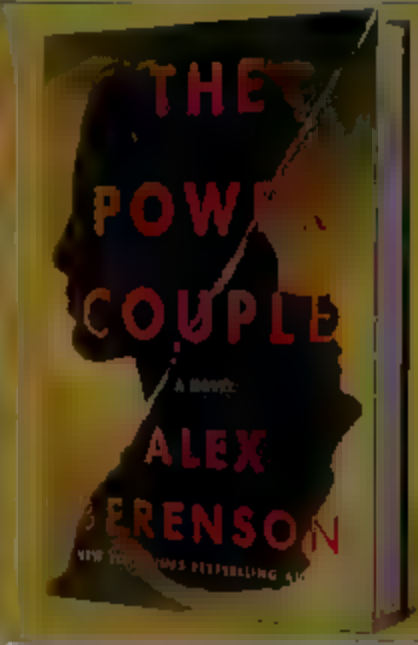


> Has anyone ever died from marijuana?
>
> In all of recorded medical literature, no one has ever died from a marijuana overdose.
>
> In 2001, a detailed examination of the health and psychological effects of marijuana use from the National Drug and Alcohol Centre at the University of New South Wales in Australia noted that marijuana "makes no known contribution to deaths and a minor contribution to morbidity [illness]."
>
> In a 1998 editorial, The Lancet, an esteemed British medical journal, wrote, "On the medical evidence available, moderate indulgence in cannabis has little ill-effect on health."
>
> Can marijuana use cause cancer?

1:41 PM - 3 Dec 2018

6 Likes

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

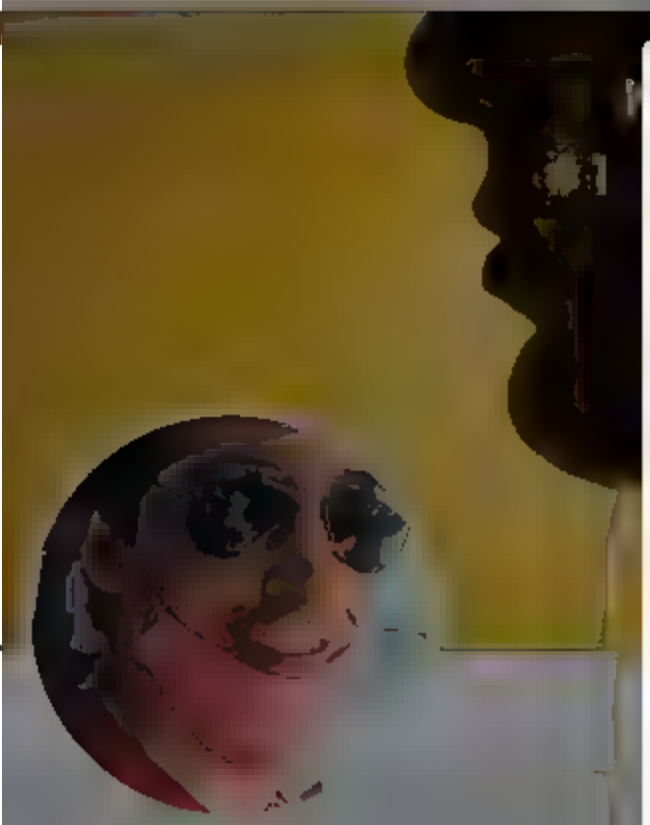
Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

.@mhschweich bc .@MarijuanaPolicy repeatedly quotes on its Website from a 1999 federal report playing down the health risks of marijuana without acknowledging a new and much more critical report from the same group. Pretty much the definition of misleading.

1:35 PM - 3 Dec 2018

9 Likes

2 9



Matthew Schweich @mhschweich · 3 Dec 2018
Replying to
What report are you referring to? And where is it quoted on the website? I'm open to looking into improving this. Unlike and , we at MPP seek to present the facts and statistics in honest manner 1/2

3

Matthew Schweich @mhschweich · 3 Dec 2018
A good example is this page, in which we acknowledge studies that contradict our position (but then also explore why that data might not be directly applicable to question of legalization): 2/2

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 4 Dec 2018
Replying to
No one plays down the health risks. Do you ban fast food, sugar, gambling, video games, smart phones? These cause more harms. But you are afraid to pick on those because you use them. U have here a scapegoat. Classic.

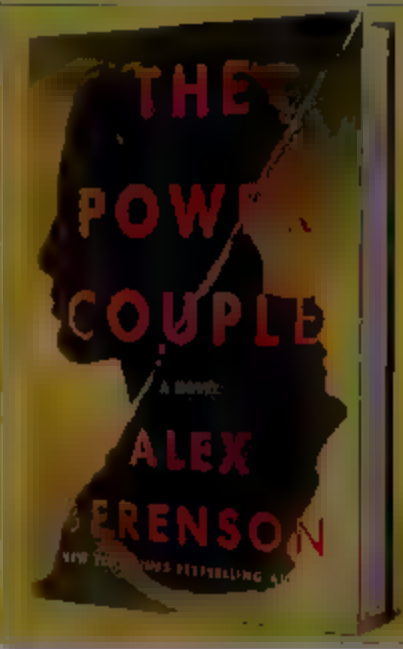
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

From .@PublishersWkly today - the first early review for Tell Your Children. And it's good! "Berenson brings strong persuasive skills... his well-written treatise never descends into Reefer Madness–like hysteria."

6:55 AM - 3 Dec 2018

1 Retweet 4 Likes

1 4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Matthew Goldstein @MattGoldstein26 · 2 Dec 2018
Oh

> New York Post Sports @nypostsports
> The #Mets' expected new closer has a bone spur condition nyp.st/2Rql4iE

3 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Dec 2018
Please tell me you hate this deal as much as I do. Even if the prospects wind up being nothing it's a horrible move. It's indefensible on either an analytics or old-school basis, and those are rare.

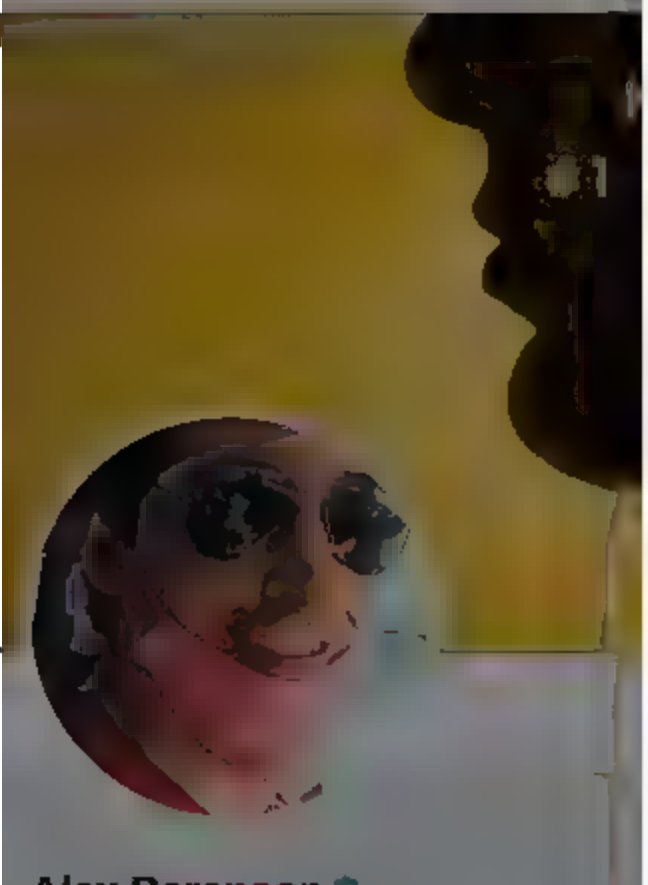
1 1

Matthew Goldstein @MattGoldstein26 · 2 Dec 2018
Yup. I agree. And if they turn around and trade Noah,..argh

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



3/ I mean, this is like when Phil Jackson signed Joakim Noah - an obvious disaster before the ink dries.

6:15 AM - 2 Dec 2018

1 Like

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 1

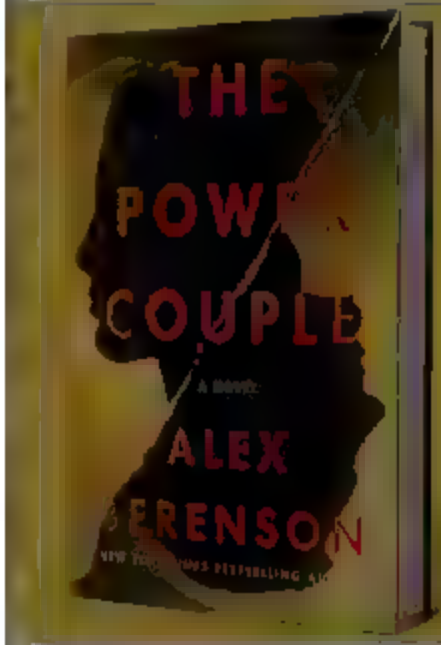
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Dec 2018
Please tell me you hate this deal as much as I do. Even if the prospects wind up being nothing it's a horrible move. It's indefensible on either an analytics or old-school basis, and those are rare.

1 1

Matthew Goldstein @MattGoldstein26 · 2 Dec 2018
Yup. I agree. And if they turn around and trade Noah...argh

3

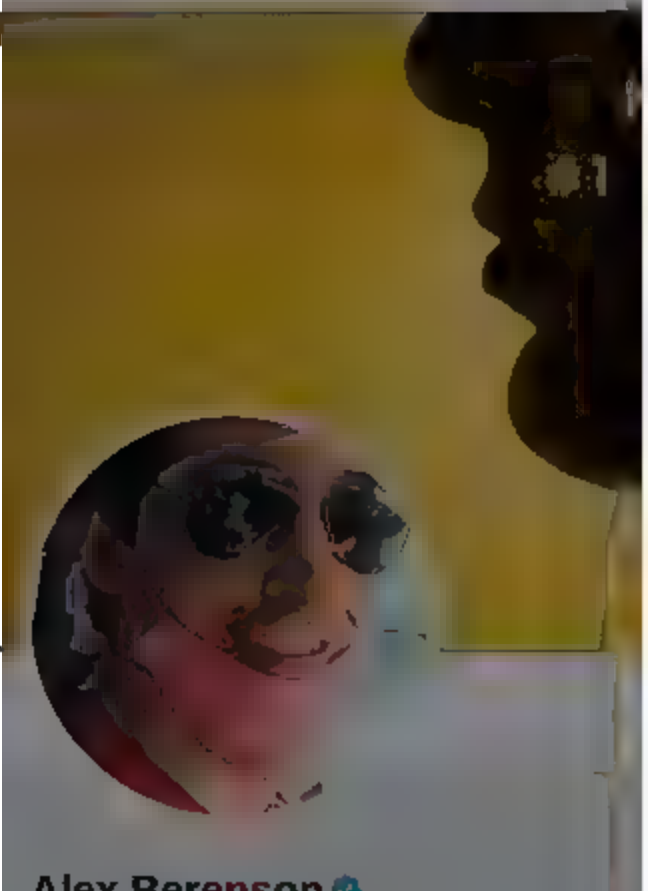
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted]

2/ To get what? A closer? That's the last piece, not the first. Having him hardly made the Mariners contenders. BUT THEY AREN'T EVEN GETTING HIM FOR NOTHING. They're depleting their not-exactly-stocked farm system.

6:13 AM - 2 Dec 2018



1

Matthew Goldstein @MattGoldstein26 · 2 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Yeah. Especially when there are closets on the FA market. The team has so many holes hard to see how a closer is worth trading away prospects for

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

And cannabis psychosis is not real. That's a buzzword you made up when we decided to stop listening to your arguements and legalize anyway. It sounds scary and will stop people who don't know how to do research dead in their tracks.

1 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

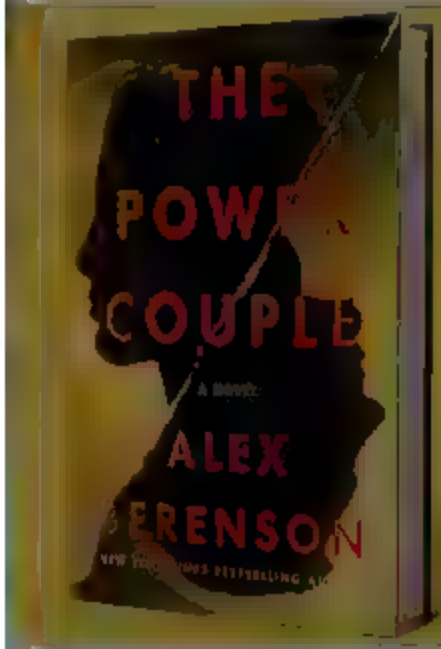
Search All ICD-10

ICD-10-CM Codes › F01–F99 Mental, Behavioral and Neurodevelopmental disorders › F10–F19 Mental and behavioral disorders due to psychoactive substance use › F12– Cannabis related disorders ›

2018/2019 ICD-10-CM Diagnosis Code F12.951

Cannabis use, unspecified with psychotic disorder with hallucinations

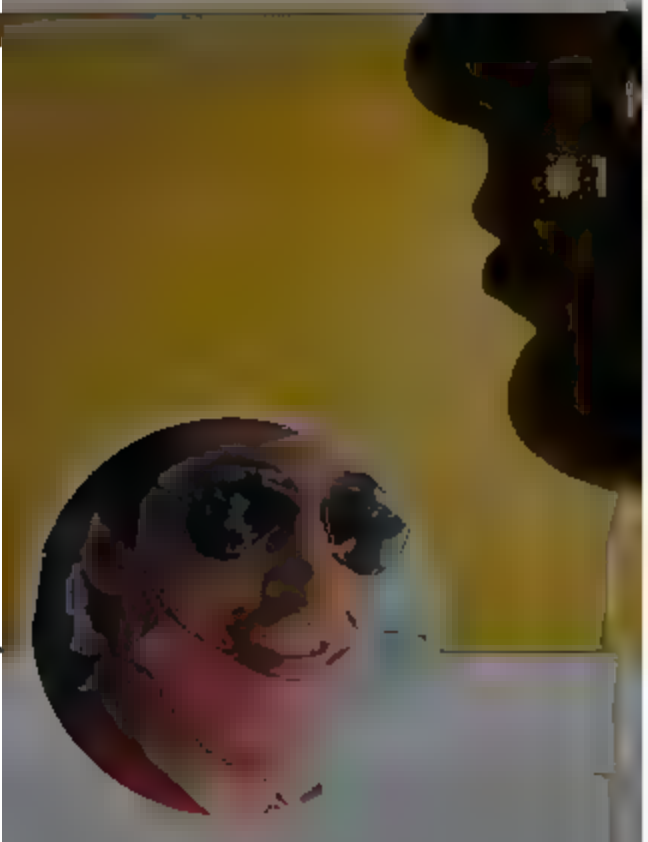
2016 2017 2018 2019 Billable/Specific Code



- F12.951 is a billable/specific ICD-10-CM code that can be used to indicate a diagnosis for reimbursement purposes.
- Short description: Cannabis use, unsp w psychotic disorder with hallucinations
- The 2018/2019 edition of ICD-10-CM F12.951

5:33 PM - 30 Nov 2018

3



Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 30 Nov 2018

Replying to

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

New York Post Sports @nypostsports
The #Mets' expected new closer has a bone spur condition nyp.st/2Rql4iE

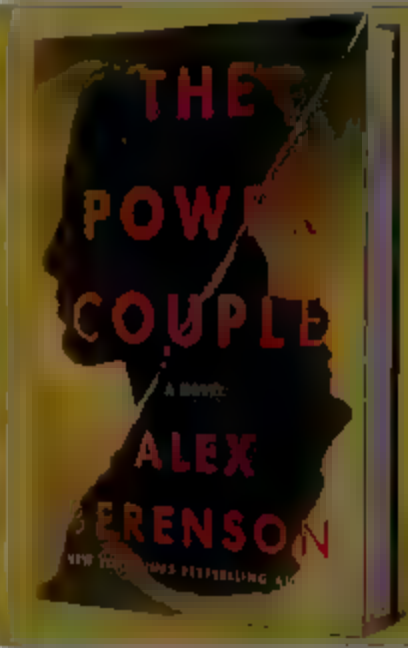
3 1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

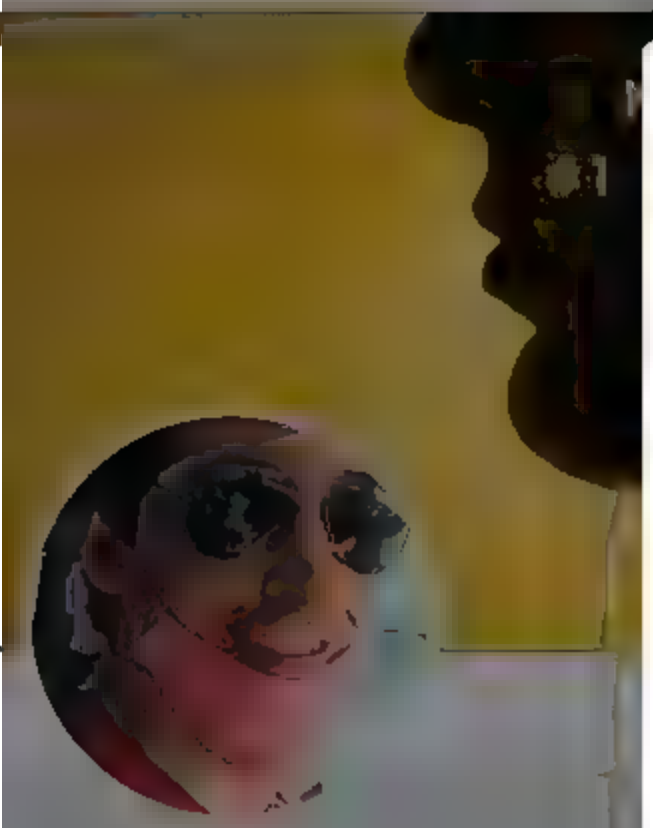
Please tell me you hate this deal as much as I do. Even if the prospects wind up being nothing it's a horrible move. It's indefensible on either an analytics or old-school basis, and those are rare.

5:45 AM - 2 Dec 2018

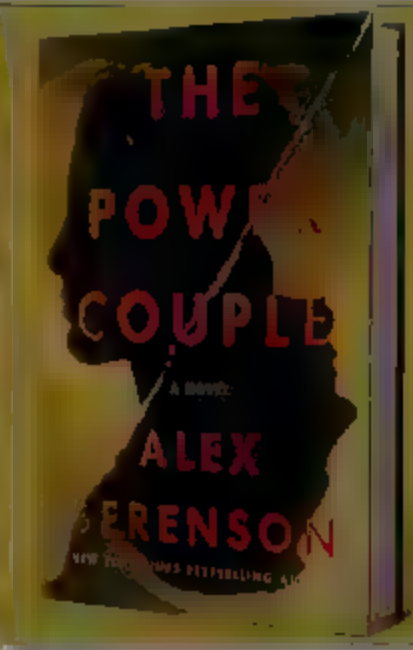


1 Like

1 1



Matthew Goldstein @MattGoldstein26 · 2 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Yup. I agree. And if they turn around and trade Noah...argh



3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Dec 2018
1/ If Cano were a free agent, what would he get, at 35, off a suspension? A 1-year, $10M, prove it deal? So even if the Bruce contract is worthless - and he could bounce back, he's streaky - they are taking on $50+M in extra contract. At a position where they have talent.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Matthew Goldstein @MattGoldstein26 · 2 Dec 2018
Oh

> New York Post Sports @nypostsports
> The #Mets' expected new closer has a bone spur condition nyp.st/2Rql4iE

3 1

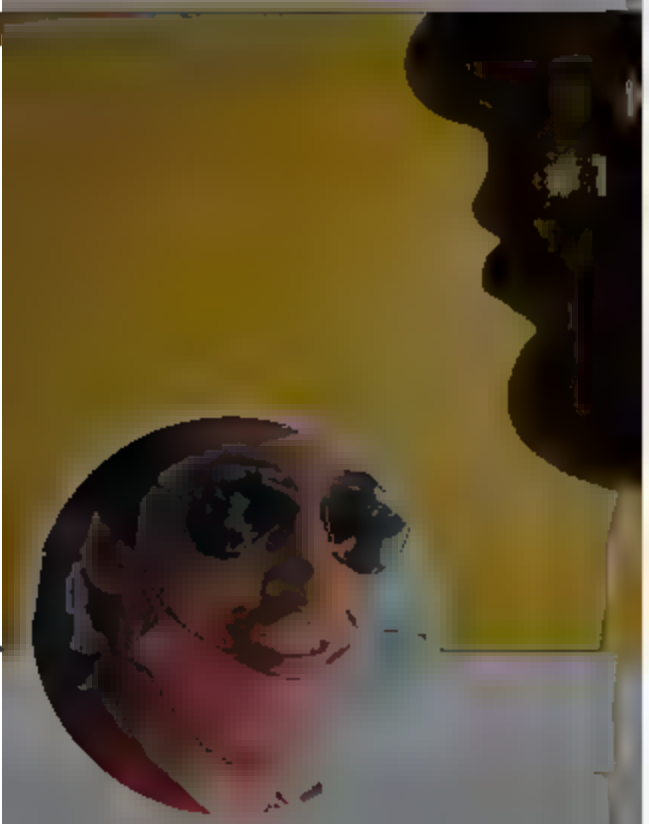
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 2 Dec 2018
Please tell me you hate this deal as much as I do. Even if the prospects wind up being nothing it's a horrible move. It's indefensible on either an analytics or old-school basis, and those are rare.

1 1

Matthew Goldstein @MattGoldstein26 · 2 Dec 2018
Yup. I agree. And if they turn around and trade Noah,..argh

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Replying to [redacted]

1/ If Cano were a free agent, what would he get, at 35, off a suspension? A 1-year, $10M, prove it deal? So even if the Bruce contract is worthless - and he could bounce back, he's streaky - they are taking on $50+M in extra contract. At a position where they have talent.

6:10 AM - 2 Dec 2018

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

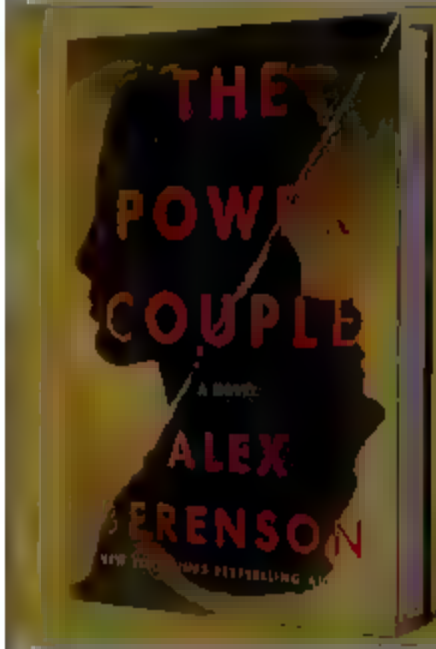
Just the usual case report of a healthy guy with no history of psychosis hallucinating after vaping. So strange that this happens with a safe non-psychomimetic drug...

About Sections

Cannabis and Cannabinoid Research, Vol. 3, No. 1 |

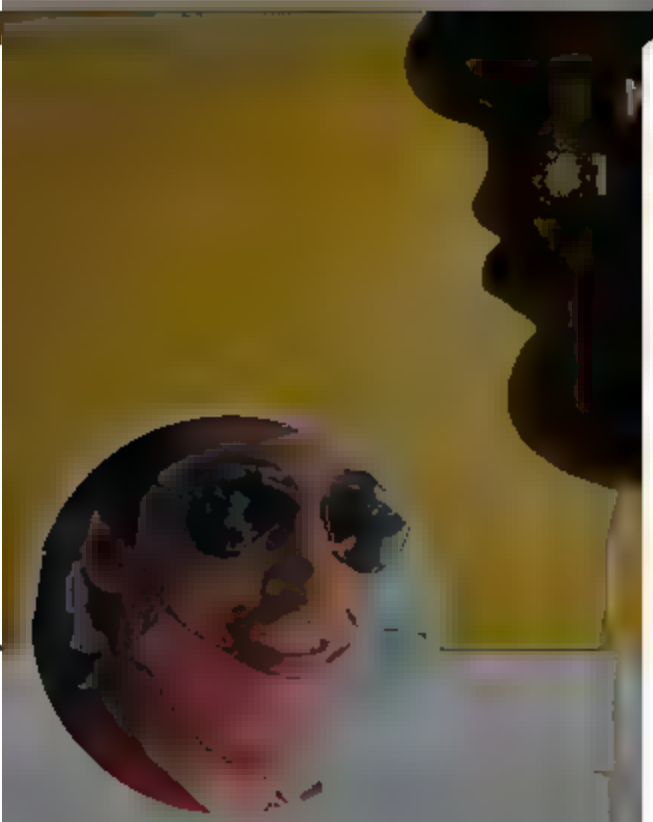
Original Research |

"Hallucinations" Following Acute Cannabis Dosing: A Case Report and Comparison to Oth



PDF

Help



5:22 PM - 30 Nov 2018

1 Retweet 3 Likes

3 1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

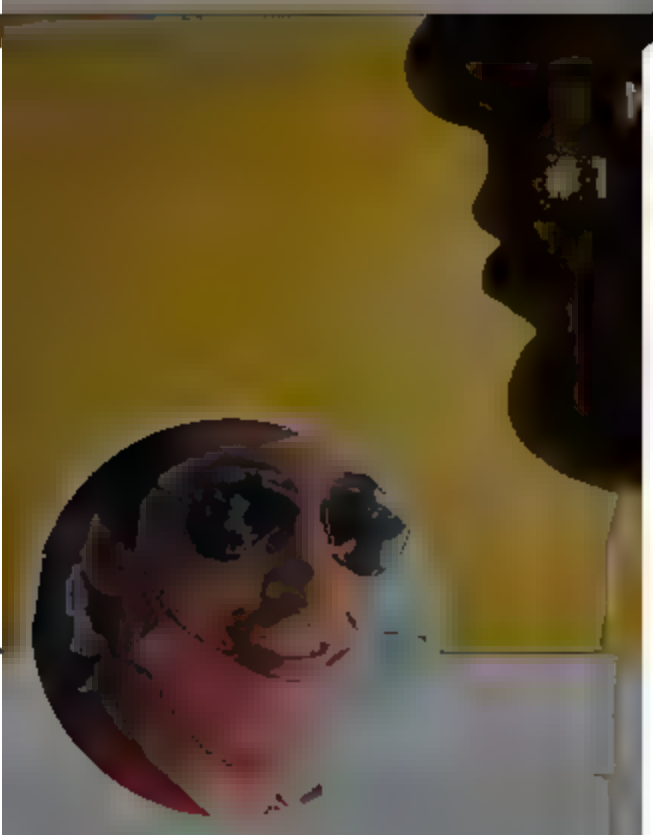
New York

Joined November 2009

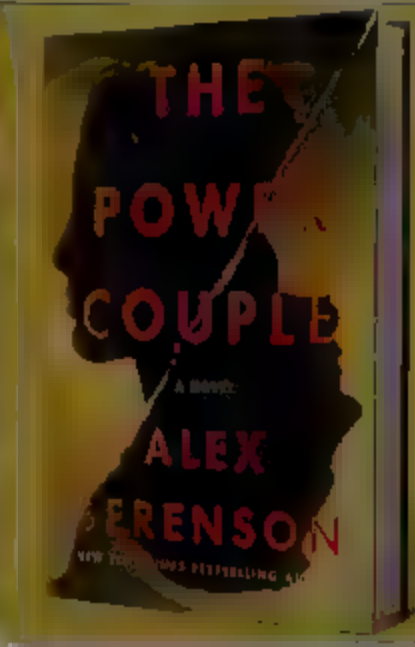
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Nov 2018

1/ Mark Olfson is too polite to say so, but I'm not. His paper is far better than the 2014 JAMA paper that started the cannabis-can-fix-opioids nonsense. But the media (yeah, you, [redacted]) loves the JAMA paper and ignores Olfson's paper...

3 1 4



This Tweet is unavailable.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Sorry, that's exactly wrong. These are surveys of individuals at two time periods; he used statistical analysis to examine the before-and-after differences and calculate rate ratios.

9:07 AM - 29 Nov 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Nov 2018

I'm so confused. We all know cannabis helps mental health and gets people off opioids, and cannabis use in the US is soaring - especially heavy use. So suicides and overdoses in the US must be way down, right?

12 3 11

Twas4kids @twas4kids · 29 Nov 2018

just ordered 100 copies of your book to give out to Canadian decision makers - we will see if they become enlightened.

1 1

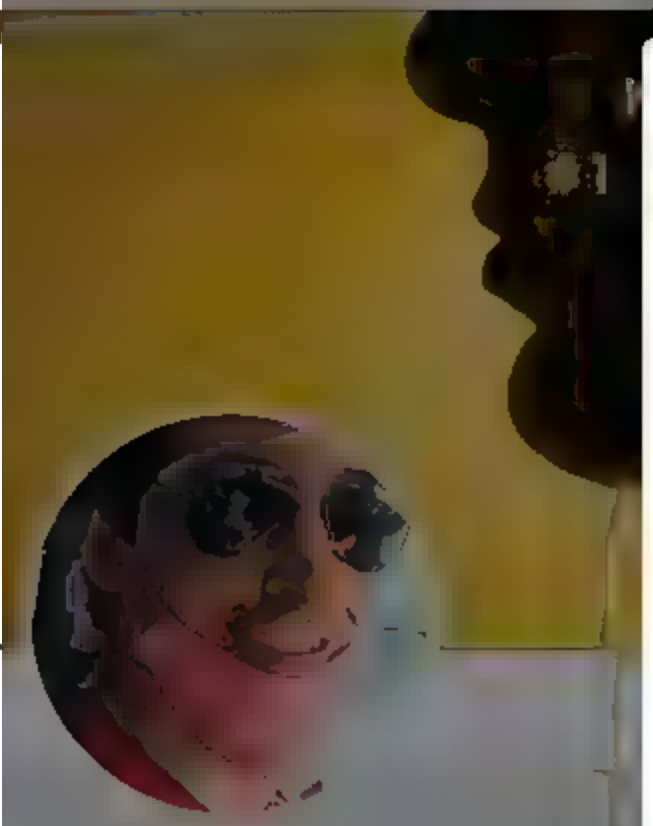
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to

Thank you!

10:44 AM - 29 Nov 2018



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

So @billmaher is afraid to have me on... wish I could say I'm surprised.

10:05 AM - 30 Nov 2018

1 Retweet 10 Likes

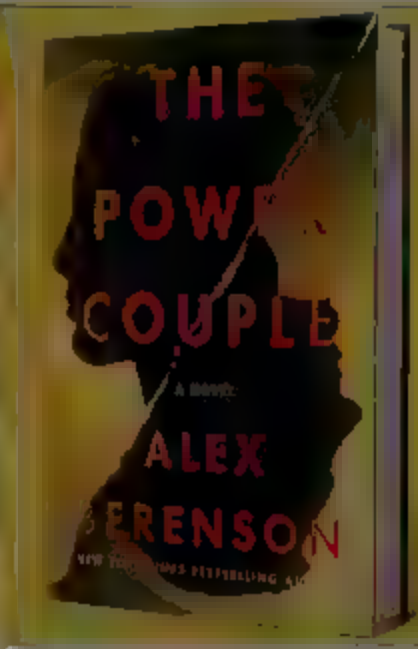
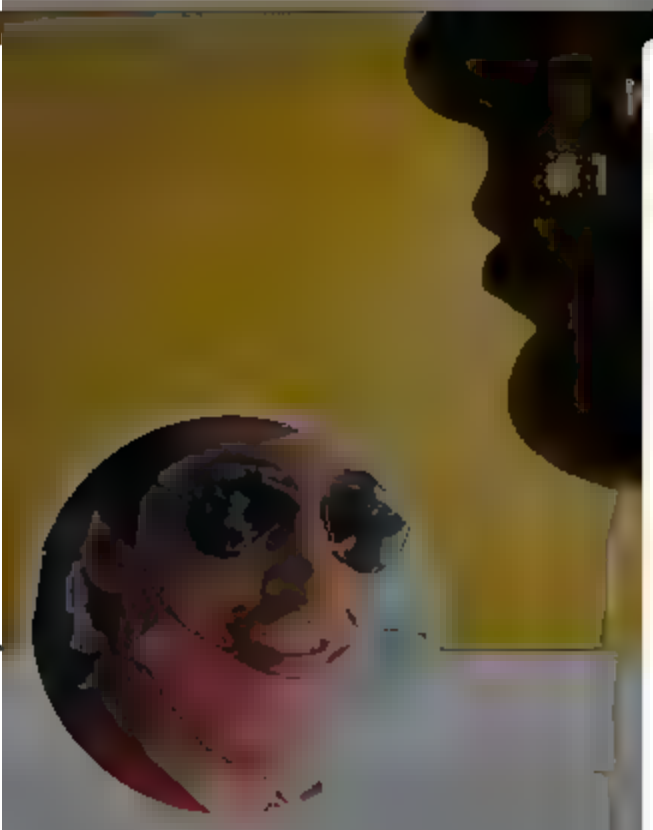
7 1 10

Michael Wright @michaelwright50 · 30 Nov 2018
Replying to
I would watch that.



Neil schoolnik @Neilschoolnik · 30 Nov 2018
Replying to
What the Today show, GMA etc?

Neil schoolnik @Neilschoolnik · 30 Nov 2018
Replying to
You would be a natural for Sunday Today with

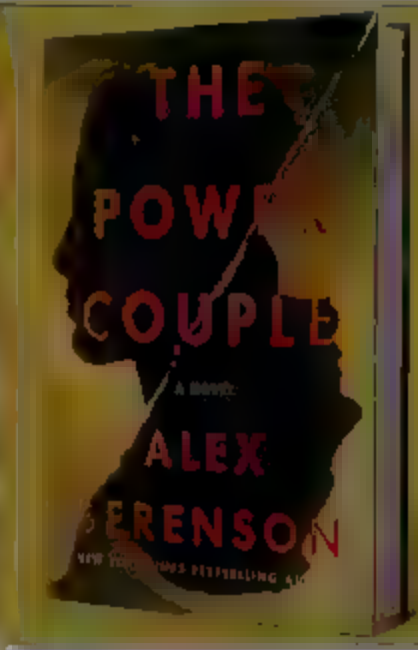


Farhan Arain @FarhanArain · 30 Nov 2018
Replying to
He is? Why?

This Tweet is unavailable.

Hayden Barnes @hayden4421 · 30 Nov 2018
Yes. Bill is scared of you 2 pot narcs

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ I don't blame cannabis advocates for misleading people; that's what advocates do. But the media has failed. Failed to be skeptical, failed to examine the science, failed to confront its own biases on this issue. No wonder the public is so confused.

9:03 AM - 29 Nov 2018

9 Retweets 30 Likes

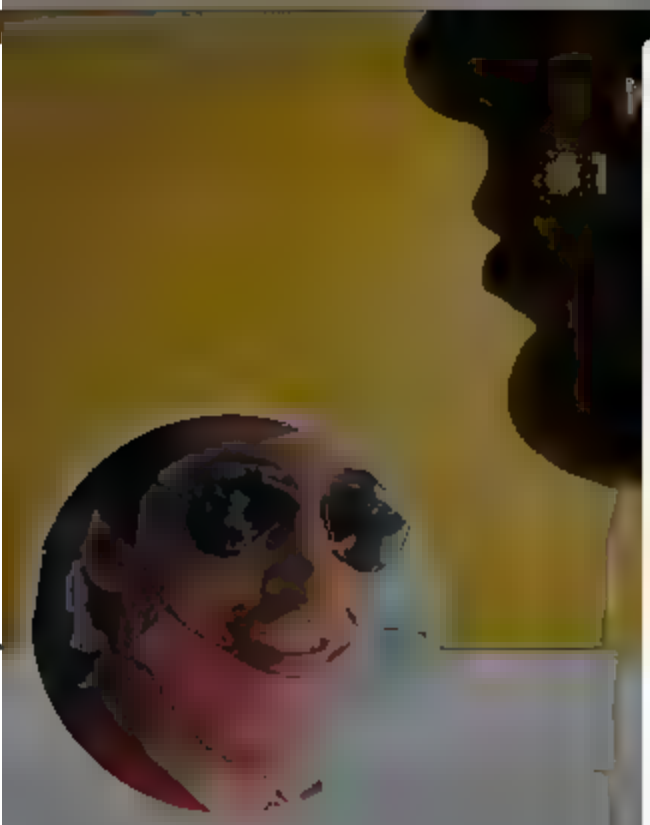
8 9 30

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 29 Nov 2018
Replying to [redacted]

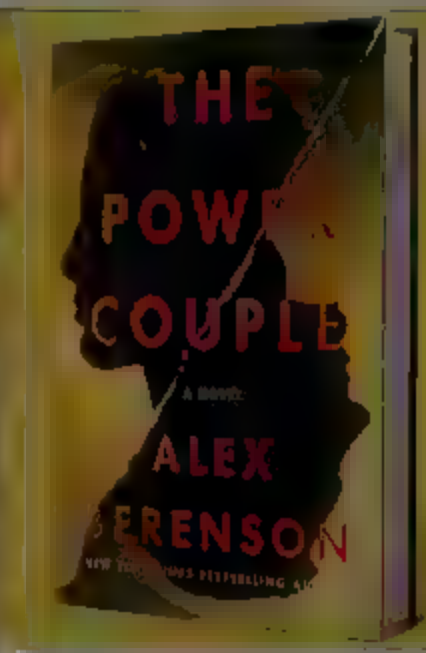
We blame the cannabis advocates because 1) they have this "poor me" "victim" mentality and they only care about themselves. They do not ask, "What is best policy for most people?" 2) They recruit teens, those most likely to be harmed by marijuana.

1 1

Babylon System 2.0 @feydhark · 29 Nov 2018
Can you provide a link for this? I don't really talk about this with teens, let alone try to recruit them. They figure out on their own that adults mislead them about cannabis.



3



[redacted]

GF @canusada · 3 Dec 2018
Replying to [redacted]

Politicians deserve a great deal of criticism too because they have used the cannabis issue as a cheap way to obtain votes. They also realize that users will be very loyal single issue voters. Longterm effects don't bother them because

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

1/ Mark Olfson is too polite to say so, but I'm not. His paper is far better than the 2014 JAMA paper that started the cannabis-can-fix-opioids nonsense. But the media (yeah, you, @wonkblog) loves the JAMA paper and ignores Olfson's paper...

8:58 AM - 29 Nov 2018

1 Retweet 4 Likes

3 1 4

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 29 Nov 2018
Sorry, that's exactly wrong. These are surveys of individuals at two time periods; he used statistical analysis to examine the before-and-after differences and calculate rate ratios.

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 29 Nov 2018
Replying to
Olfson's paper is consistent with the hypothesis, and several studies, that find cannabis and opioids are economic substitutes with cross-price elasticities.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

12 3 11

Scott Allen @docscottallen · 29 Nov 2018
That's not how it works, bro

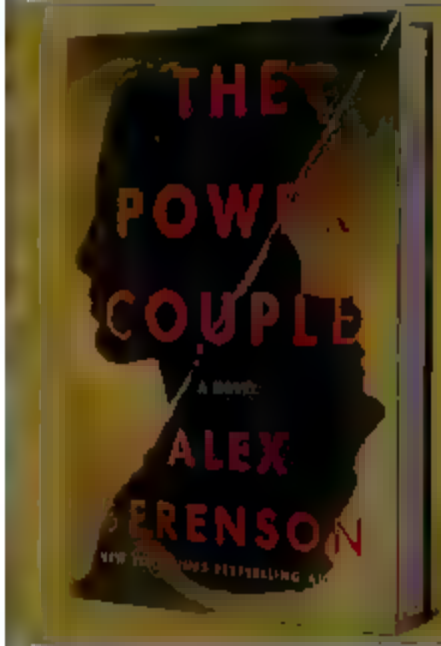
1 4

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

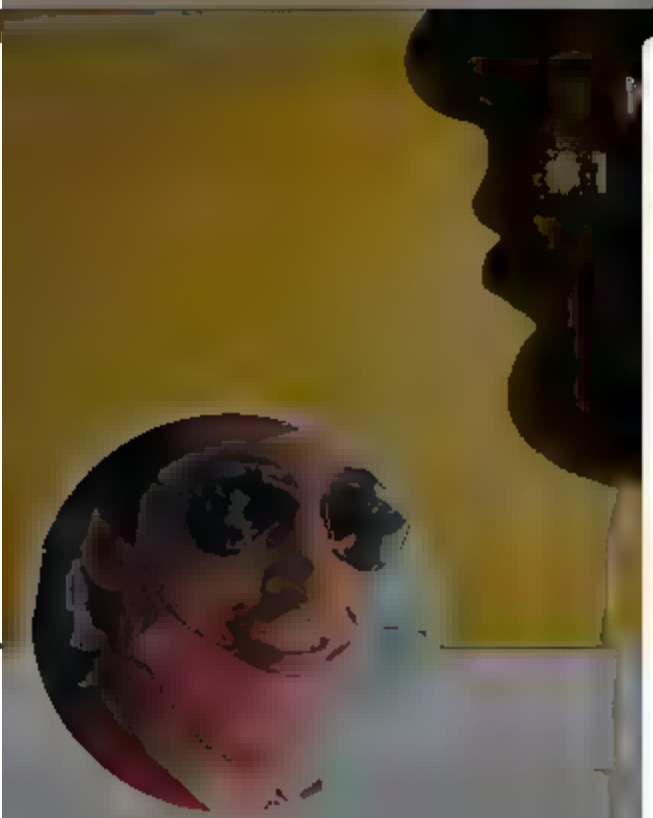
You're absolutely right! The real studies - the ones that track individuals over time and don't rely on state-level data that's confounded a dozen ways - show over and over that other drug use follows cannabis use. That's how it works. Bro.

[redacted]

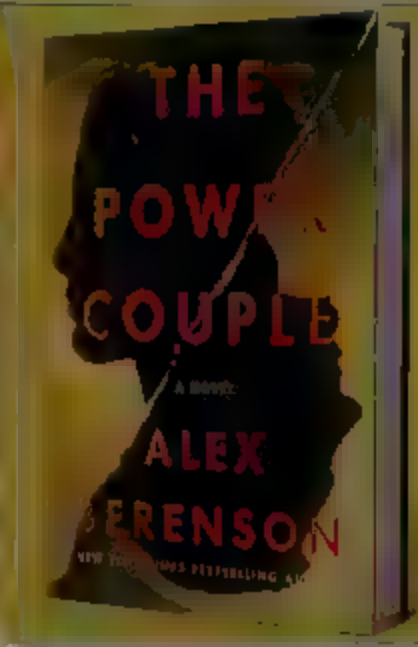


8:48 AM - 29 Nov 2018

1 Like



2 1



Scott Allen @docscottallen · 29 Nov 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Just curious why you're dogmatically opposed to cannabis and will say anything to prove a point?

4

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

I'm so confused. We all know cannabis helps mental health and gets people off opioids, and cannabis use in the US is soaring - especially heavy use. So suicides and overdoses in the US must be way down, right?

pic.twitter.com/V2E3M7xe

7:23 AM - 29 Nov 2018

3 Retweets 11 Likes

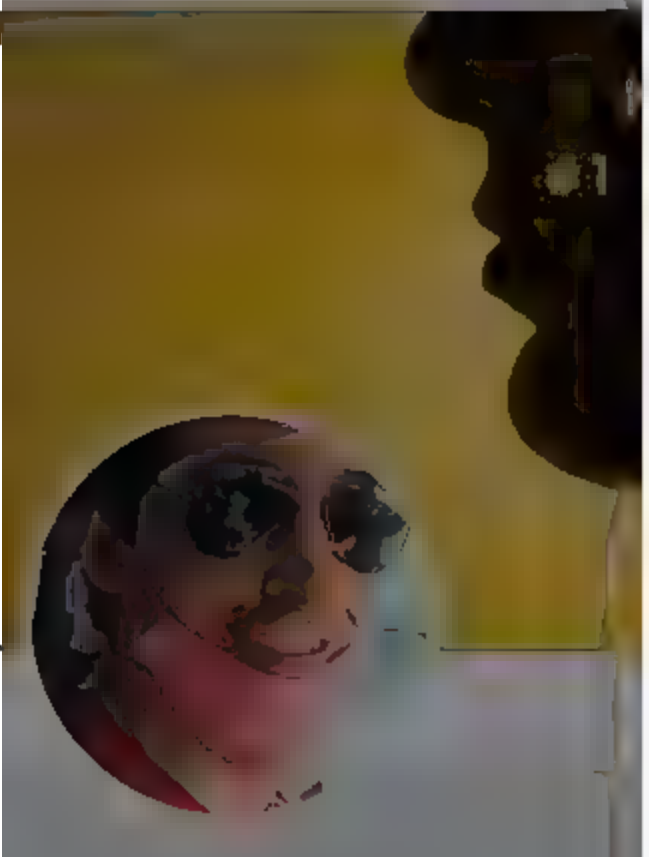
12 3 11

Steve Fox @stevefoxVSS · 29 Nov 2018



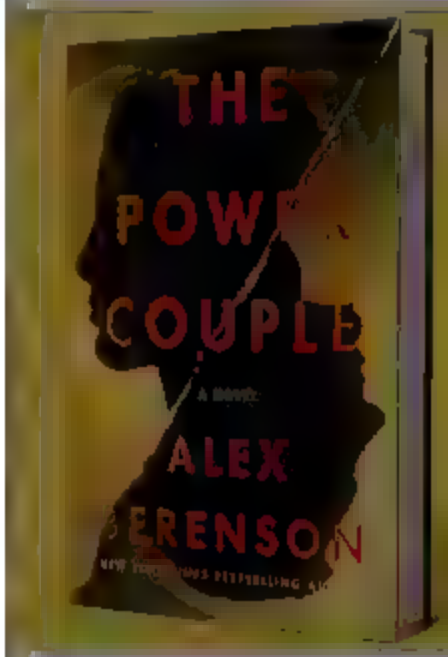
Replying to

If you truly care about opioid overdoses and possible connections to legal cannabis, see this page, showing opioid overdose trends in Colorado and the U.S. Quite a divergence once cannabis became legal.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

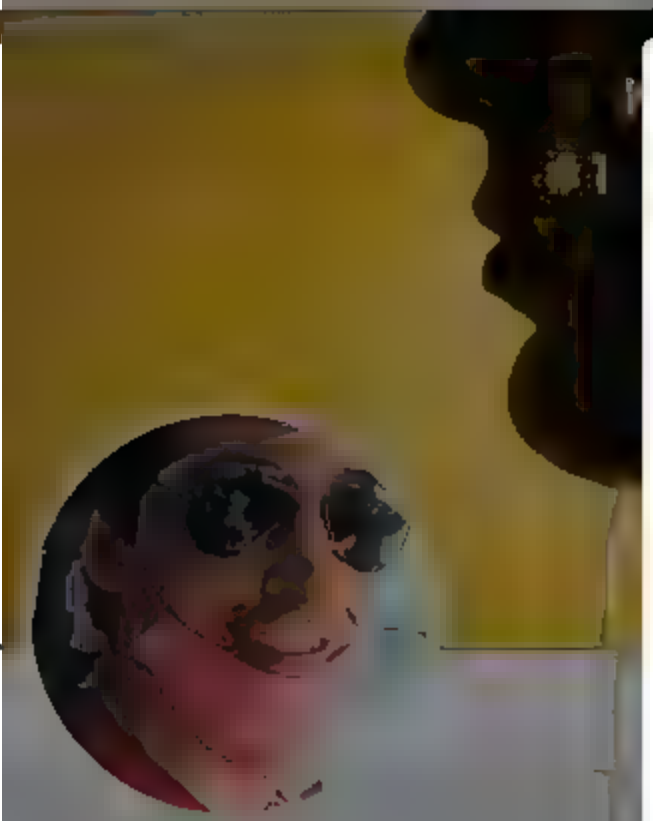
In the category of "PR guys who might want to do a little more background research on me before offering to introduce me to their clients..."

Rich DiGregorio
to me
10:11 AM View details

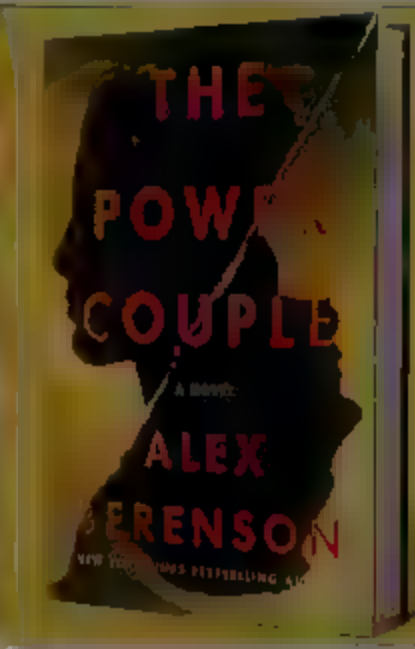
Hi Alex,

I just wanted to check in with you and see if I can help with any cannabis-related reporting you may be working on or considering.

I work with dozens of businesses, experts, and advocates from across the cannabis space and I'd be more than happy to put you in touch with any of them. I'm also available to help you brainstorm story ideas and answer any questions you might have.



Let me know if there's something I can help with.



Thanks,

7:29 AM - 29 Nov 2018

8 Likes

3 8

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

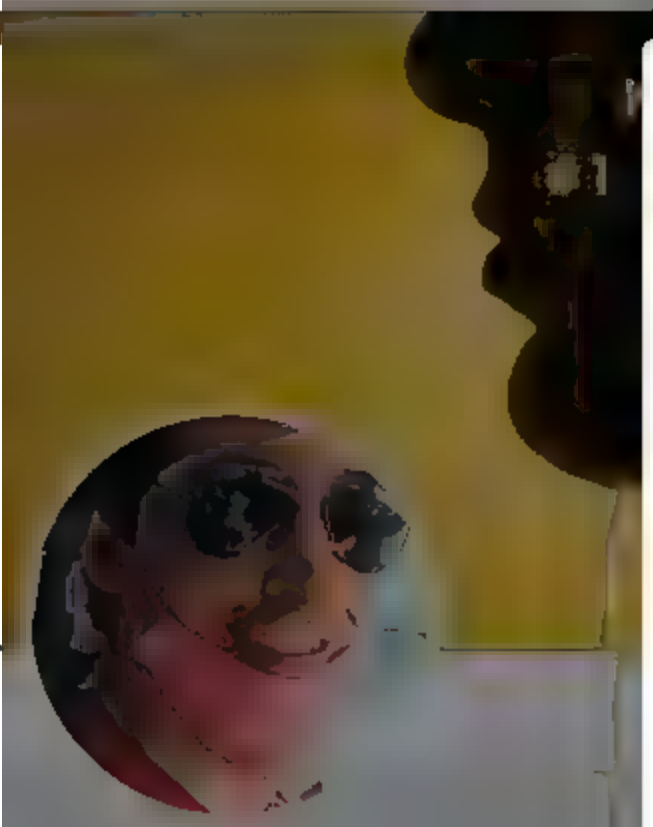
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

The @miamiherald investigation into how sexual predator Jeffrey Epstein escaped justice is deeply disturbing - and it casts prosecutors in FL (and Cy Vance's office) - in a terrible light.
miamiherald.com/news/local/art...



8:30 AM - 28 Nov 2018

1 Retweet 3 Likes

1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

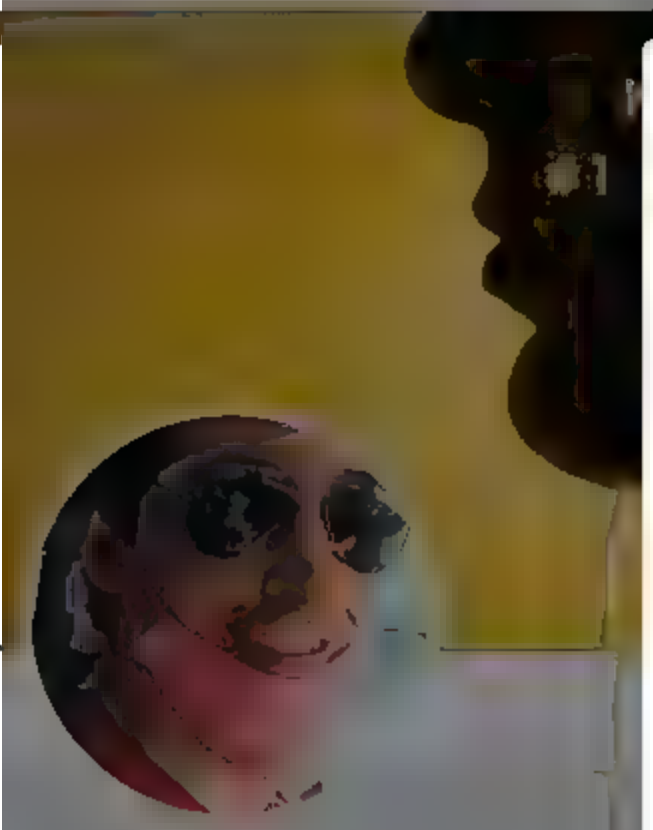
4/ This is happening all over the country, again and again. Lucky for Bynes, she is talented (and wealthy) enough to have lost her twenties and still have a career and life waiting for her post-recovery; also lucky for her she didn't get violent.

6:37 AM - 27 Nov 2018

4 Likes

3 4

Jeff @IrationalOptim · 27 Nov 2018
Replying to
Thank you for what you are doing Alex. We need this counter argument. Your message will be more effective, though, if you thread these tweets.



1 1

yoleven @outfielding · 28 Nov 2018
He smokes too much ganja for that kind of nonsense

1

Twas4kids @twas4kids · 27 Nov 2018
Replying to
and her offspring

Will Jones III, MPA @WillVJones · 27 Nov 2018
Replying to
So sad that the marijuana industry that ppl are celebrating as "social justice" will actually devestate disenfranchised communities bc we don't have the same

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

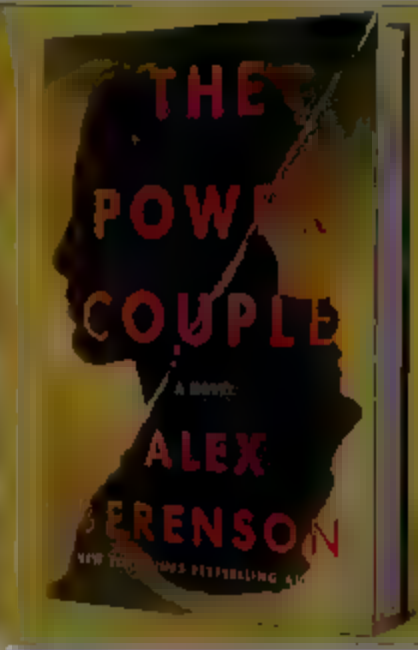
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

3/ Then her usage spiraled. "I would 'wake and bake' and literally be stoned all day long..." By 2014, at 28, her psychosis was so severe that she was involuntarily hospitalized. Now she is sober and apparently much healthier.

6:34 AM - 27 Nov 2018



1 Like

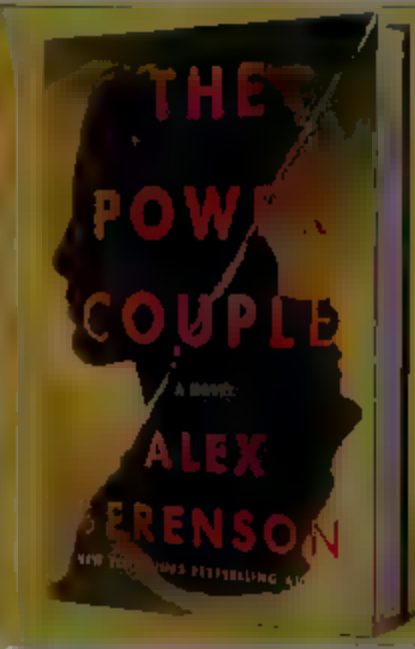
2 1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 27 Nov 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Thankfully she seems to have recovered, but not everyone will recover.

The Zodiac Thriller @jnaugy · 28 Nov 2018
Replying to [redacted]
Thx for more anecdotal stories.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

2/ She describes a pattern of heavy use starting around 2002, at 16, with a descent into drug-induced psychosis by 2010 (eight years is very typical). "It affected my brain in a different way than it affects other people...."

6:33 AM - 27 Nov 2018

1 Retweet 1 Like

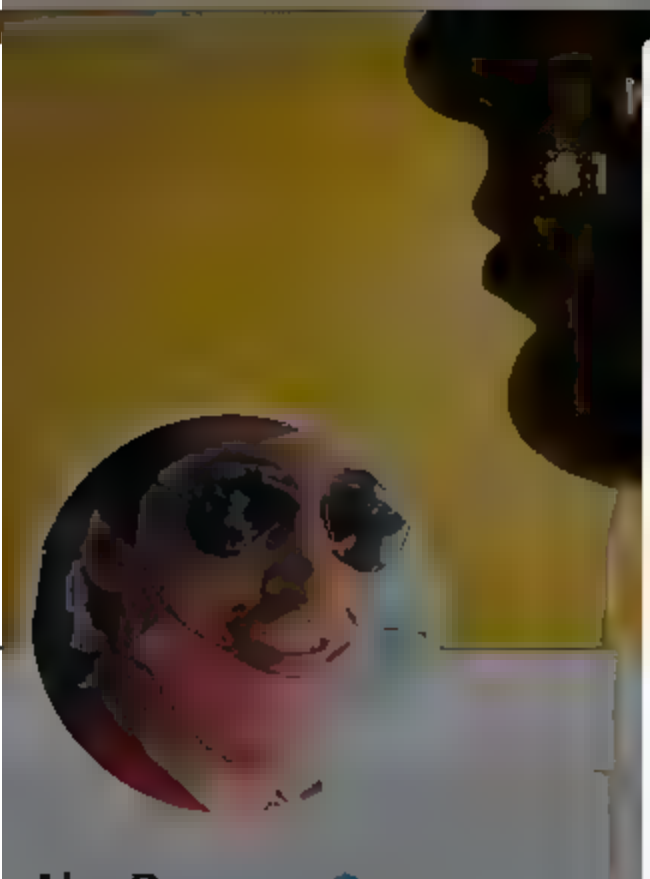
2 1 1



Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 27 Nov 2018
Replying to

This psychotic break seems triggered by Adderal.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 28 Nov 2018
Replying to

Yep legalize for adults please

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

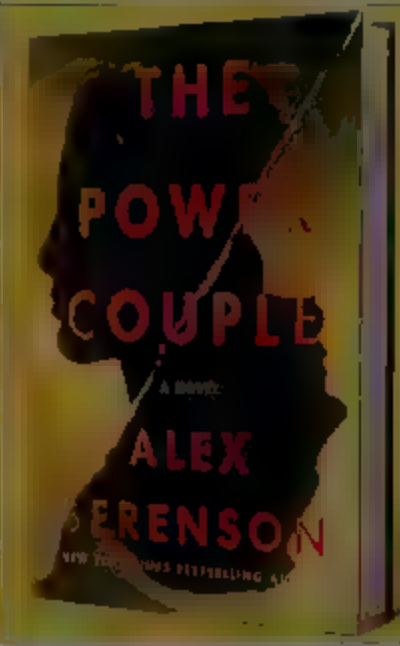
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Amanda Bynes, on how cannabis ruined her life. Striking on many levels:

1/ She mentions other drugs, then says she rarely used anything else but Adderall (many people with CUD do this, bc they don't know why they have problems with a "safe" drug).

pge.sx/27ut3fo



6:31 AM - 27 Nov 2018

2 Likes

2 2

Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 27 Nov 2018
Replying to [illegible]
She chewed Adderal like tic-tacs, an amphetamine, heavily associated with psychosis

Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 27 Nov 2018
Replying to [illegible]
Can you provide a source for your assertion that many people with CUD use Adderall because of their bewilderment? That sounds fictional.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

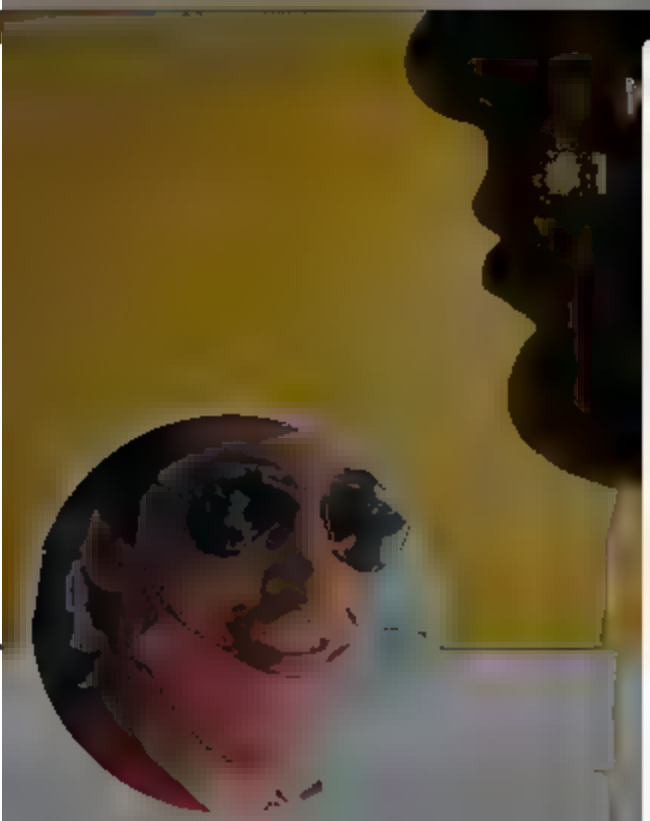
Marijuana can cause psychosis by itself, but it's doubtful that's what happened.

"Hatfield had taken "a cocktail of drugs," including marijuana and prescription medication."

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



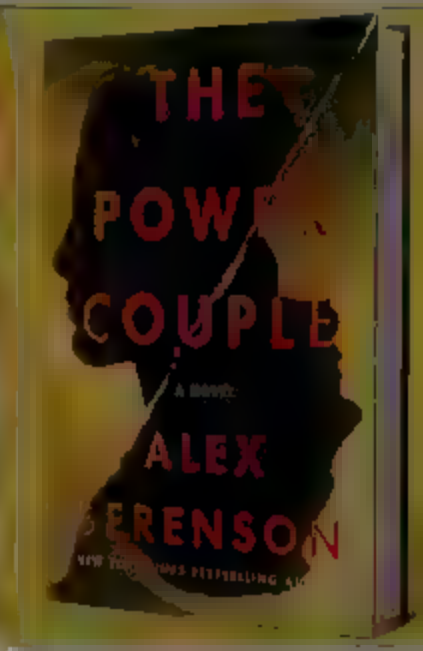
Since you asked: "high from that morning to that night," plus a stimulant and an opioid. Not atypical. The very worst cases are often cannabis plus a stimulant, since both can be psychomimetic and the stimulant undoes the lethargy cannabis can cause.

to me

4:04 PM View details

Hi Alex,

Thanks for reaching out to me. Prosecutors said the prescription medication Hatfield used at the time was Adderall and Suboxone. He had a prescription for the Adderall. I'm not sure about his history of mental illness.
He does have a history of heavy cannabis use, and he and his wife were both high from that morning to that night during the incident.
Hatfield had also been arrested several times since he was a teenager for intoxication, lewdness, drug violations involving marijuana, DUI, trespassing and criminal mischief.
If you have any other questions, feel free to reach out.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Busy morning making up research on the marijuana-violence link! I've put about 20 papers in journals. In this one, I (as Dr. Mercado-Crespo) cannily pretended to expect use wouldn't be linked to physical aggression - then found it would!

10:08 AM - 26 Nov 2018

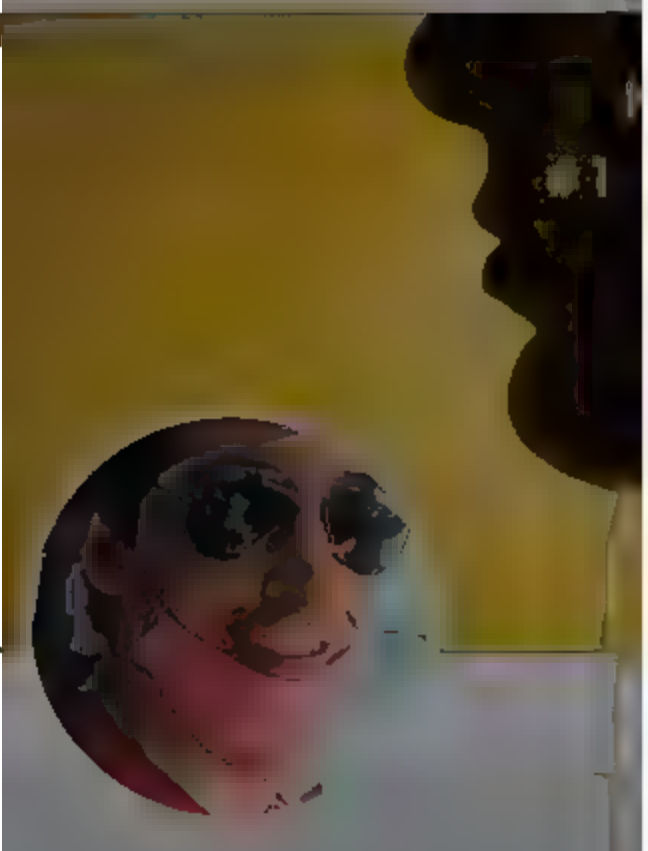
2 Likes

3 2

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 26 Nov 2018
Replying to

No, you've been busy misinterpreting the "link" between cannabis and violence as pharmacological and causal.

2



David Rowe @dvdrowe · 28 Nov 2018
Replying to

"Cannily" on cannabis. Nice!

yoleven @outfielding · 28 Nov 2018
Replying to

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

3 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 25 Nov 2018

2/ Outside of Northern Europe - which has national health care and comprehensive population registers, population-level schizophrenia/psychosis can't be counted with any precision. That's especially true in the US. In other words, these are the only cherries around.

3 1

Neil Boyd @NeilBoydSFU · 26 Nov 2018

2/Would add that there appear to individual vulnerabilities to schizophrenia that are exacerbated by cannabis use, but not yet convinced of changes to population rates.

1

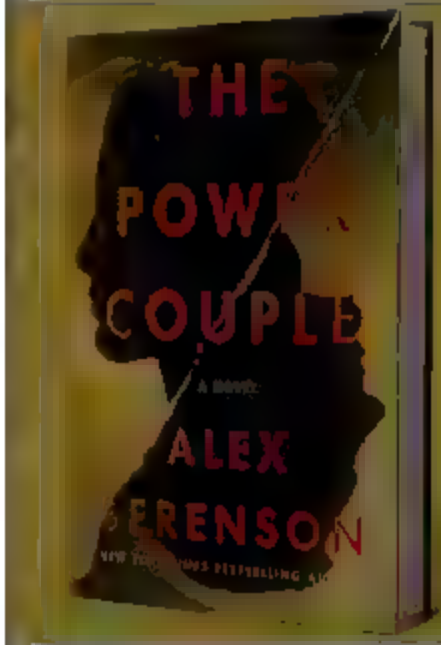
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow

Replying to [redacted]

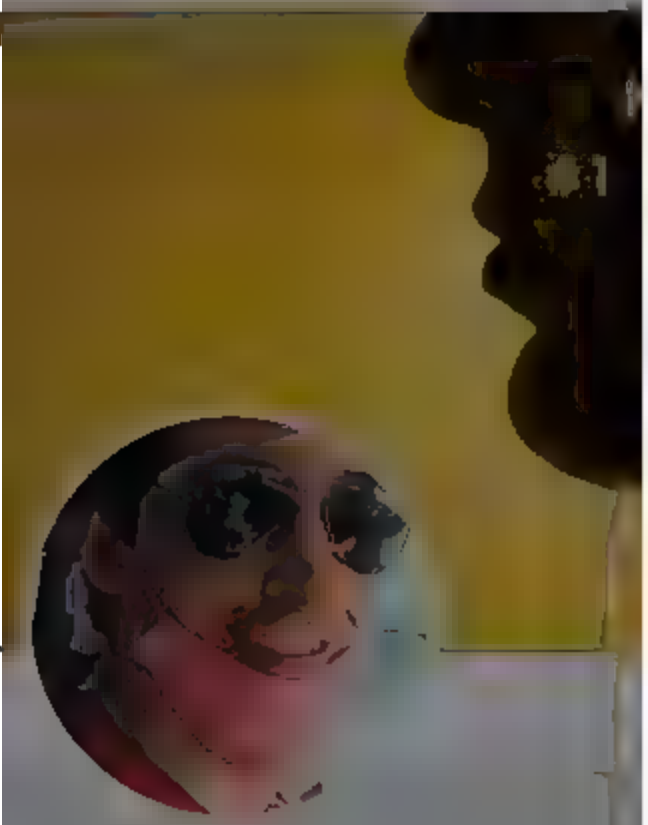
I would agree. The evidence of population-level changes is not definitive. My point is only that to say there is NO evidence is incorrect.

6:41 AM - 26 Nov 2018



1

Neil Boyd @NeilBoydSFU · 26 Nov 2018



Replying to [redacted]

True, a fairly good summary in Caulkins, Kilmer and Kleiman, Marijuana Legalization.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

increases in schizophrenia, sorry. Not true. Denmark and Finland - which, unlike the US, can count cases accurately - have both seen significant increases since 2000.

3 5

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

2/ Outside of Northern Europe - which has national health care and comprehensive population registers, population-level schizophrenia/psychosis can't be counted with any precision. That's especially true in the US. In other words, these are the only cherries around.

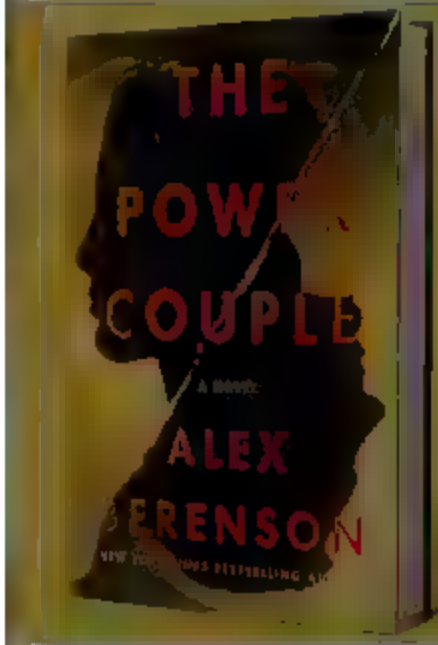
4:50 PM - 25 Nov 2018

1 Like

3 1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 25 Nov 2018

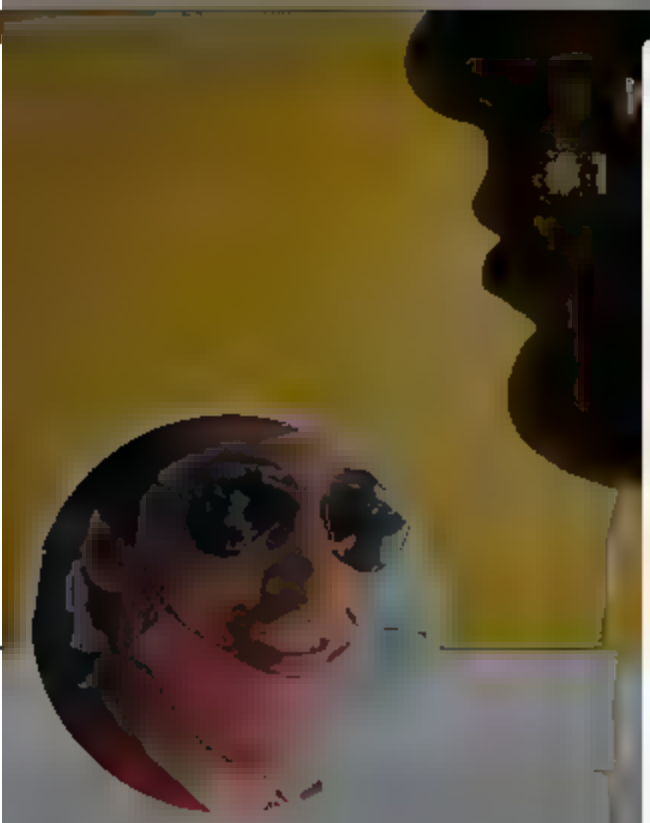
Replying to



Yes, when people constantly say "how come the rates of schizophrenia didn't go up" the next question is "who's tracking it?" Certainly not Colorado, as we asked the Health Department to do. Certainly not other legal states.

Neil Boyd @NeilBoydSFU · 26 Nov 2018

Replying to



Assuming that this is accurate, we still have the problem of comparing the full range of nation states in Northern Europe, along with the issue of jurisdictions outside of the U.S. Canada, for example, has a health care system quite distinct from the U.S.

Neil Boyd @NeilBoydSFU · 26 Nov 2018

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Ladies, if he:

- never texts back

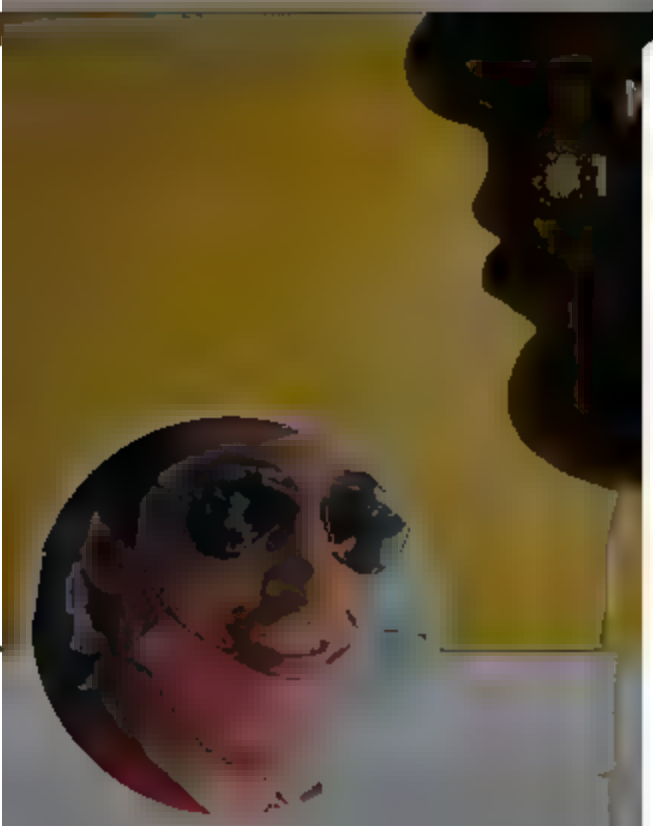
- has tons of pictures on social media

- can be weirdly clingy

- is terrible for your motivation

- makes you craaaazy

He's not your man. He's high-THC marijuana concentrate. Stay away...



4:47 AM - 25 Nov 2018

1 Retweet 5 Likes

1 1 5

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Neil Boyd @NeilBoydSFU · 25 Nov 2018

Not at all compelling. One has to look at prevalence across all nation states and correlate that prevalence globally with the incidence of schizophrenia within each jurisdiction. You can't just cherry pick two countries, both of which have, ironically, low rates of cannabis use.

> Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson
> And before you tell me there's no evidence of recent population-level increases in schizophrenia, sorry. Not true. Denmark and Finland - which, unlike the US, can count cases accurately - have both seen significant increases since 2000.

3 5

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

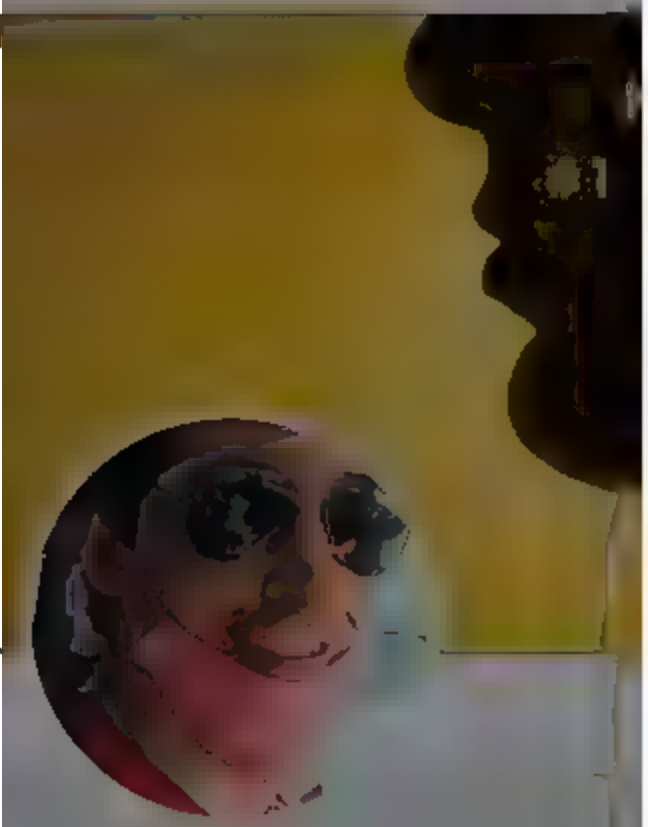
Replying to [illegible]

Not quite. 1/ Both Denmark and Finland saw sharp increases in teen cannabis use in the 1990s and early aughts; their use rates - esp. in Denmark - are low only by US/Canada standards.

4:44 PM - 25 Nov 2018

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

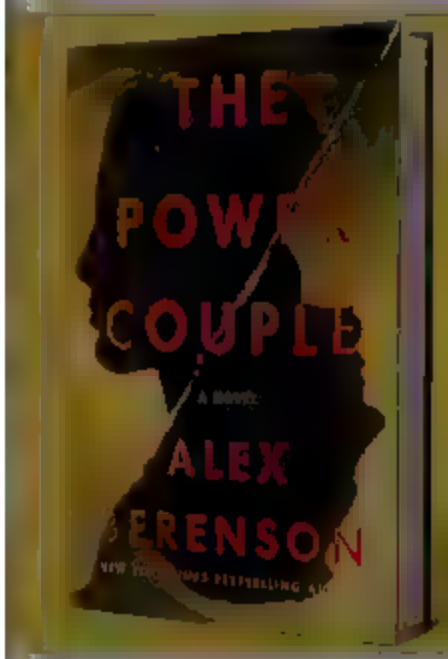
Joined November 2009

And before you tell me there's no evidence of recent population level increases in schizophrenia, sorry. Not true. Denmark and Finland - which, unlike the US, can count cases accurately - have both seen significant increases since 2000.

1 3

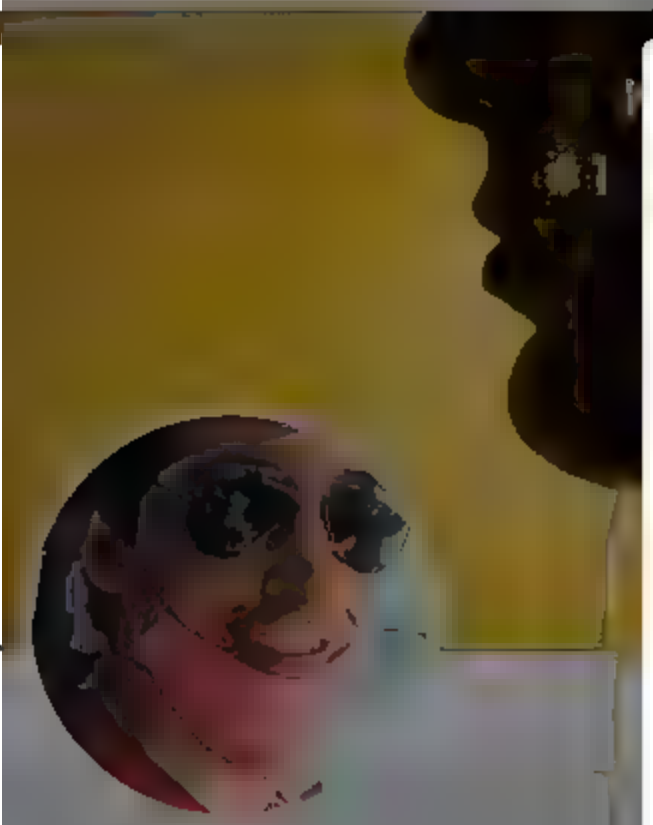
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



Guess again.

ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/m/pubmed/27341...



> the Danish Psychiatric Central Register between 2000 and 2012. Their history of contacts was traced back to 1969. Broad schizophrenia included schizophrenia, schizotypal disorder, persistent delusional disorder, acute and transient psychotic disorders, schizoaffective disorders, and other nonorganic and unspecified psychotic disorders, (ICD 10 codes F20-F29). Narrow schizophrenia was defined with the ICD 10 codes F20.0-F20.9. Incidence rates (IR) and incidence rate ratios (IRR) were calculated using Poisson regression.
>
> RESULTS: The IRR for broad schizophrenia increased by 1.43 (CI 95% 1.34-1.52) for females and 1.26 (CI 95% 1.20-1.33) for males. IRR for narrow schizophrenia increased by 1.36 (CI 95% 1.24-1.48) for females and 1.20 (CI 95% 1.11-1.29) for males. There was a significantly increased

3:58 AM - 25 Nov 2018

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

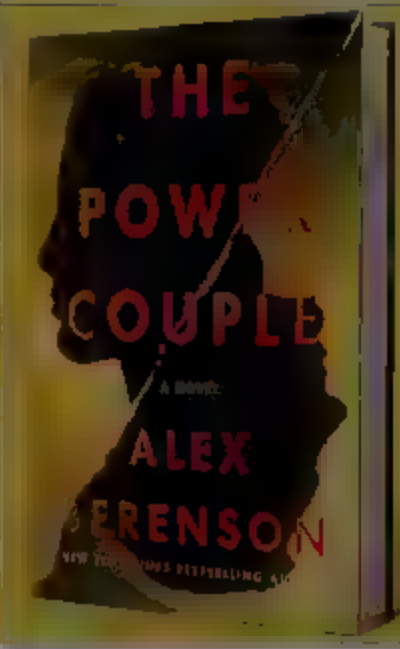
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

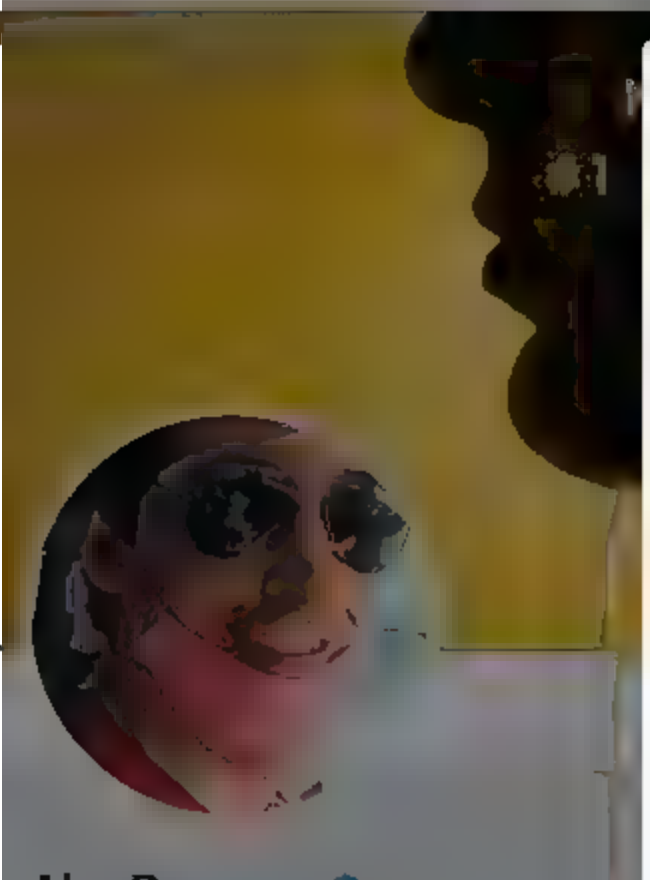
Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



One kind of cannabis-related violence that legalization HAS to reduce is violence around illegal grows, right? I mean, why even bother with an illegal grow when you can buy at a dispensary, right?

2:26 PM - 23 Nov 2018



2 Likes

1 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

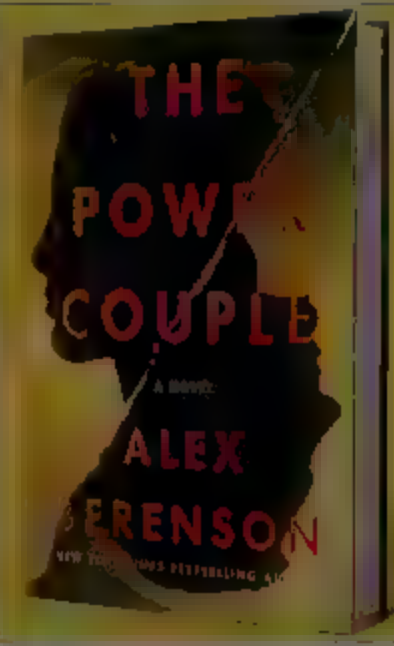
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

And, yeah, in case you're wondering, murders and assaults are up again this year in Seattle. And Portland. And Denver. And Spokane. And...

2:28 PM - 23 Nov 2018

5 Likes

4 5



This Tweet is unavailable.

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 23 Nov 2018
Spokane is not liberal. But it has legalized pot.

Holden @ColorBlindMinja · 24 Nov 2018
Replying to
How is the murder rate being up because of cannabis?

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 25 Nov 2018
Replying to
We are still waiting for your 'reasonable discussion'.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 25 Nov 2018
Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Marijuana can cause psychosis by itself, but it's doubtful that's what happened.

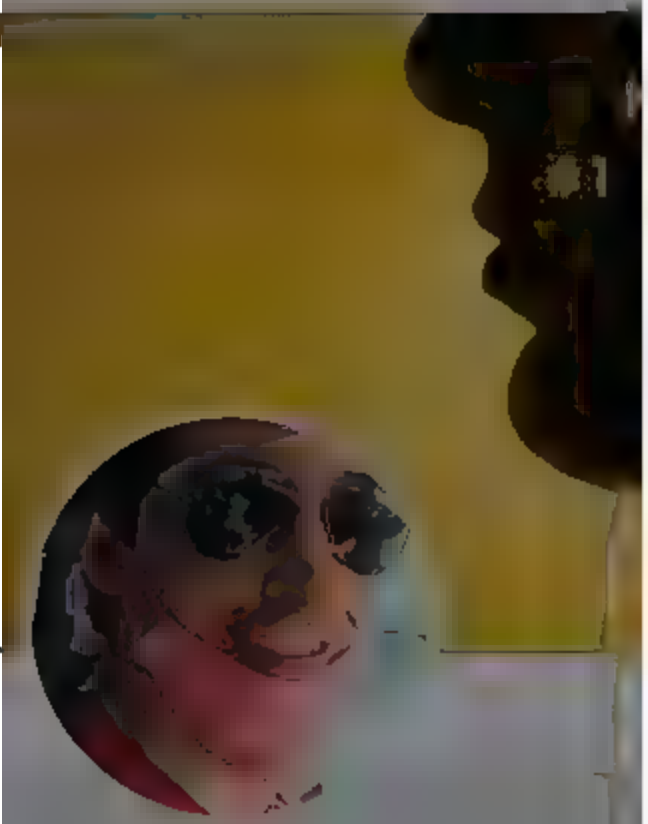
"Hatfield had taken "a cocktail of drugs," including marijuana and prescription medication."

2 2

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Yes, fair point. I've asked the reporter who covered the trial if the specific medicines were mentioned - I'm guessing benzos, possibly opioids. I will update if she lets me know. But no prescription drug (to my knowledge) is nearly as psychomimetic as cannabis.



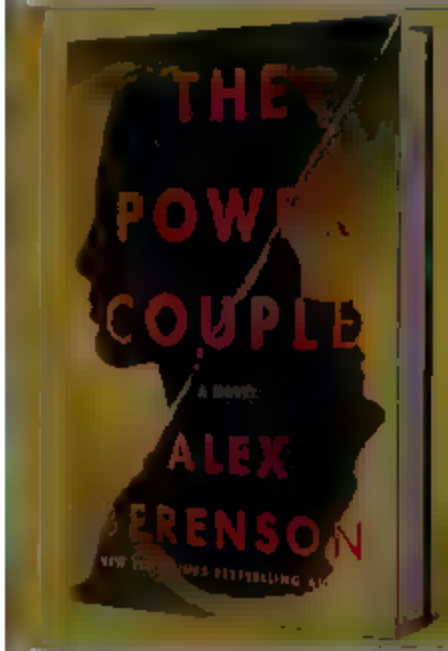
7:02 AM - 23 Nov 2018

3 Likes

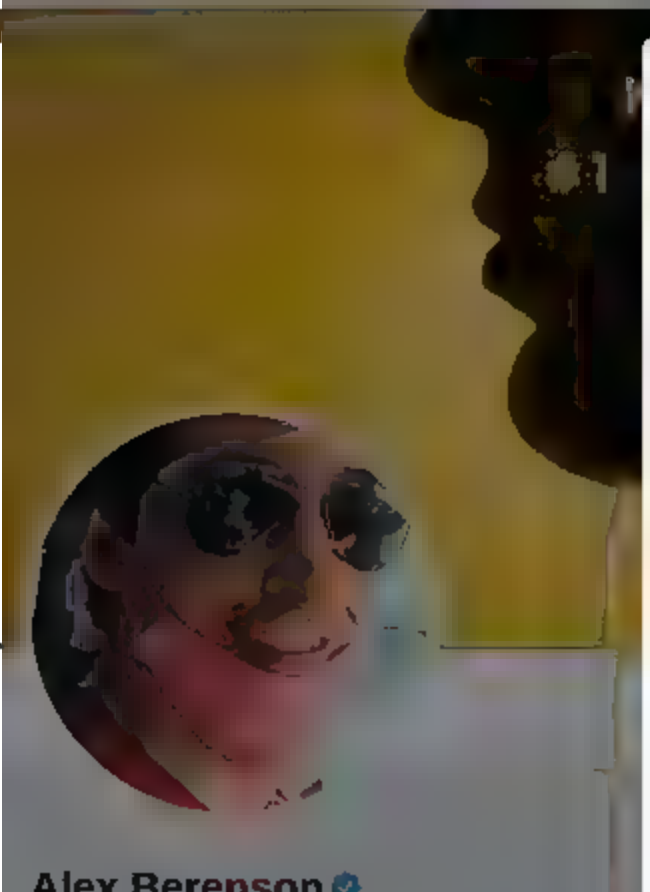
6 3

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 23 Nov 2018
Replying to

Angela Janis, MD, DFAPA @DrAngelaJanis · 23 Nov 2018
Replying to
Um, I think you mean stimulants like methamphetamine.



Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson



Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

And here's the case of a guy in Utah who smoked, got psychotic, and bashed his 4-month-old daughter's head against a concrete wall. Oh, the silly things people do when they're high!

6:41 AM - 23 Nov 2018

6 Retweets 3 Likes

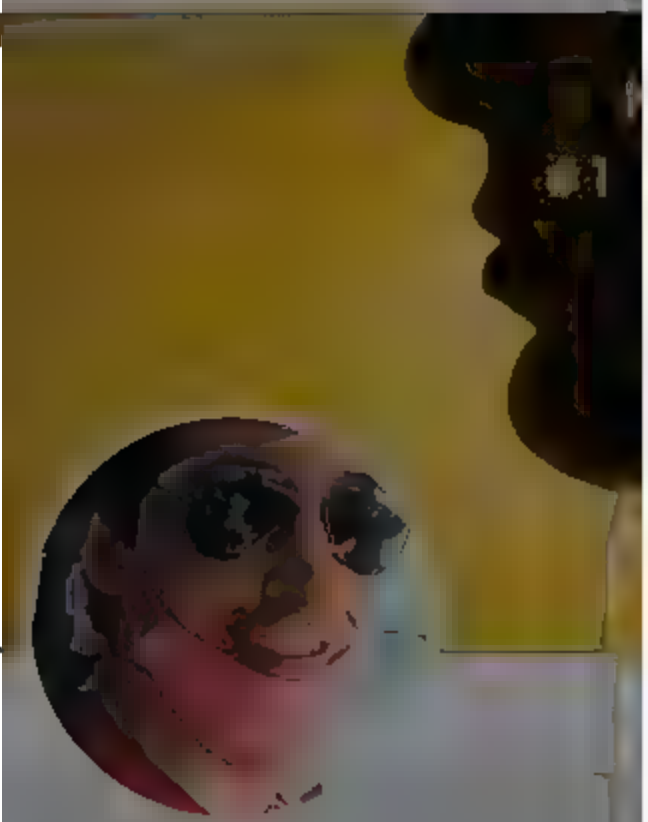
6 6 3

Tim Copeland @TimCopeland · 23 Nov 2018



Replying to

Your characterization is misleading. He did more than just smoke marijuana. Marijuana can cause psychosis by itself, but it's doubtful that's what happened.

"Hatfield had taken "a cocktail of drugs," including marijuana and prescription

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

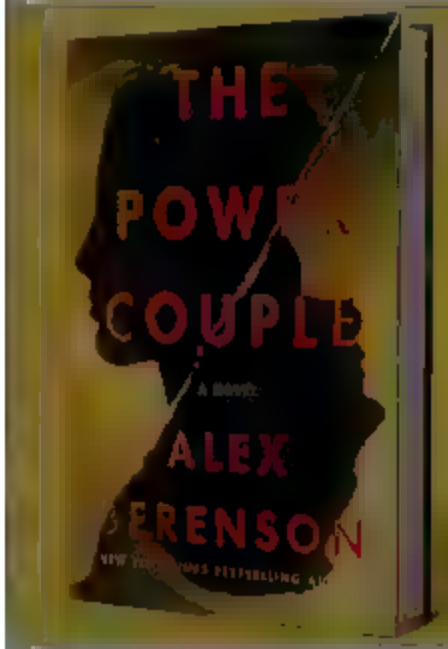
New York

Joined November 2009

2 1 1

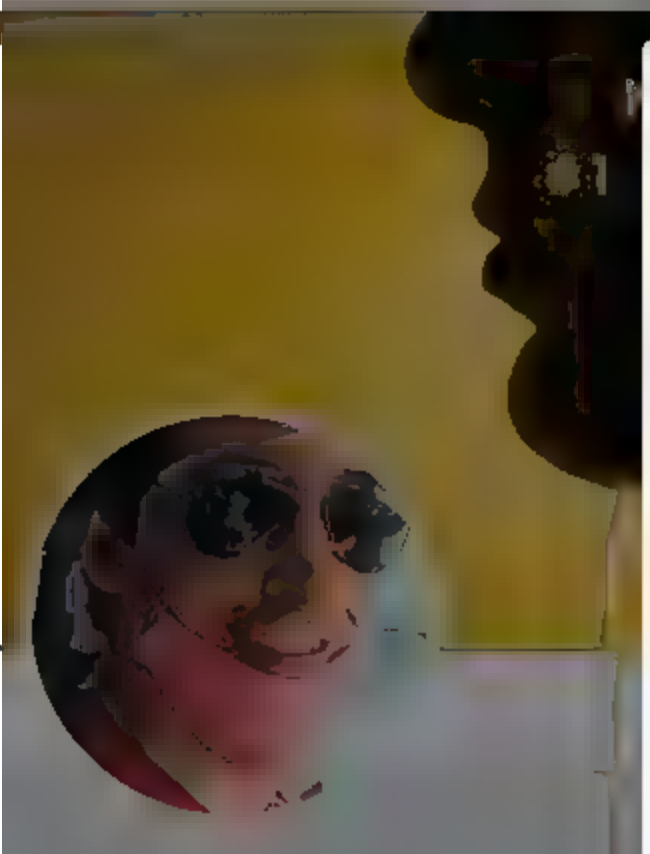
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



Yes, advocates like to dismiss paranoid/psychotic reactions as almost comic, per this piece:
latimes.com/local/ebcarian ..
"As I told the story... I found myself chuckling..."
Just another hilarious moment where a user was involuntarily taken to the ER with cannabis psychosis!

6:33 AM - 23 Nov 2018

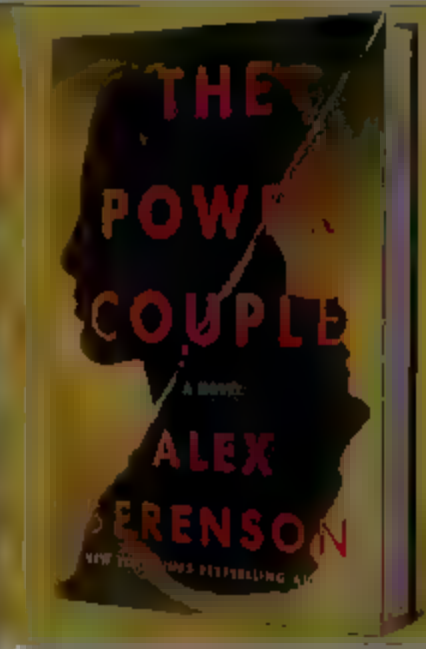


2 Likes

2 2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Yes, I agree. The fact people won't have a reasonable conversation about managing harm - and the hysteria with which they insist cannabis is a magic medicine, not an intoxicant with serious side effects - suggests that in their hearts they know the truth.

Aubree Adams @AubreeAdams4
Replying to @AlexBerenson

There's something stratifying reading all the pro pot crap comments. I think they are starting to feel guilty about promoting a toxic brain chemical that can lead to psychosis and violence. Thanks for speaking the truth Alex Berensen!!

6:05 AM - 23 Nov 2018

11 Likes

18 11

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 23 Nov 2018
Replying to [illegible]

There's also a cruel "shaming" to silence those who cannot put up with the adverse effects of marijuana. Here's someone who finally spoke out:

psychosis caused from high-THC extracts in the last year. Only a matter of time before the population-level increase becomes obvious...
cbc.ca/news/canada/br...

1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

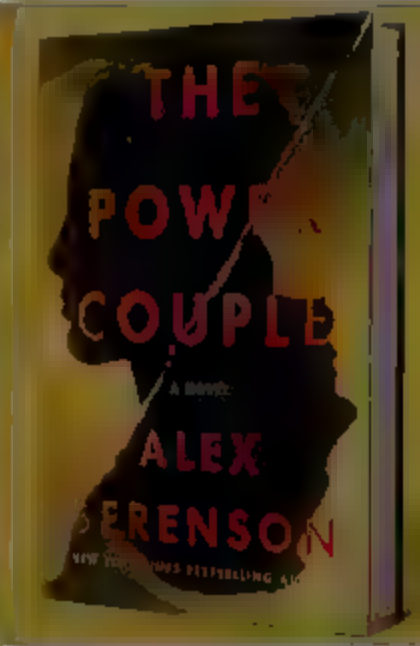
Also worth noting just how sick these folks are; as she notes, pure-THC products can cause psychosis that lasts months and that anti-psychotics hardly touch, more consistent with the synthetics than old-school cannabis psychosis.

1:58 PM - 21 Nov 2018

3 Likes

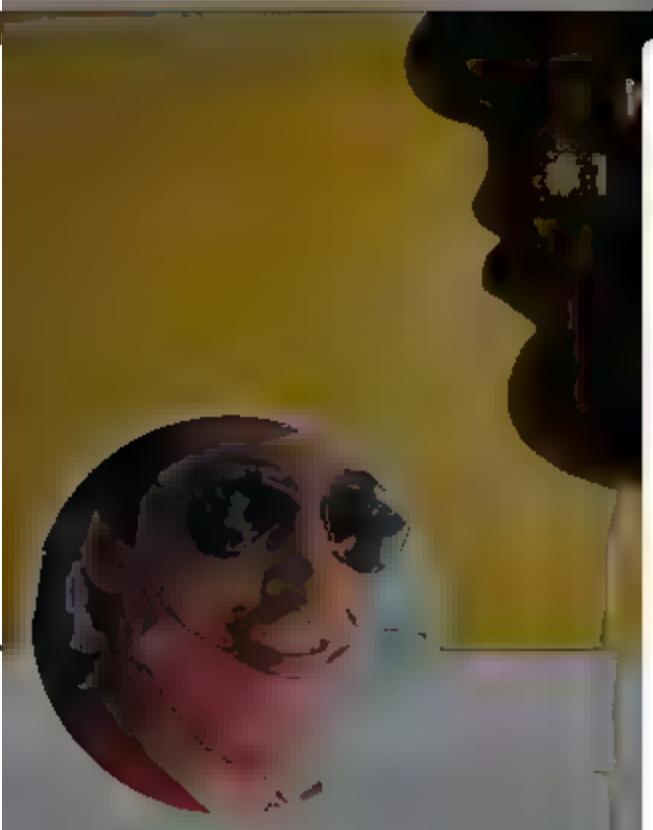
1 3

ChristineTatum @ChristineTatum · 21 Nov 2018
Replying to
My husband tracks the issue/citations on his site here:

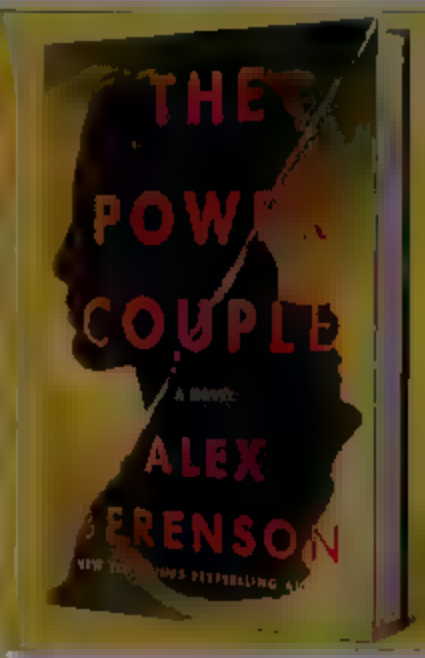


Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York



Joined November 2009

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

And before you tell me there's no evidence of recent population-level increases in schizophrenia, sorry. Not true. Denmark and Finland - which, unlike the US, can count cases accurately - have both seen significant increases since 2000.

1:41 PM - 21 Nov 2018

8 Retweets 12 Likes

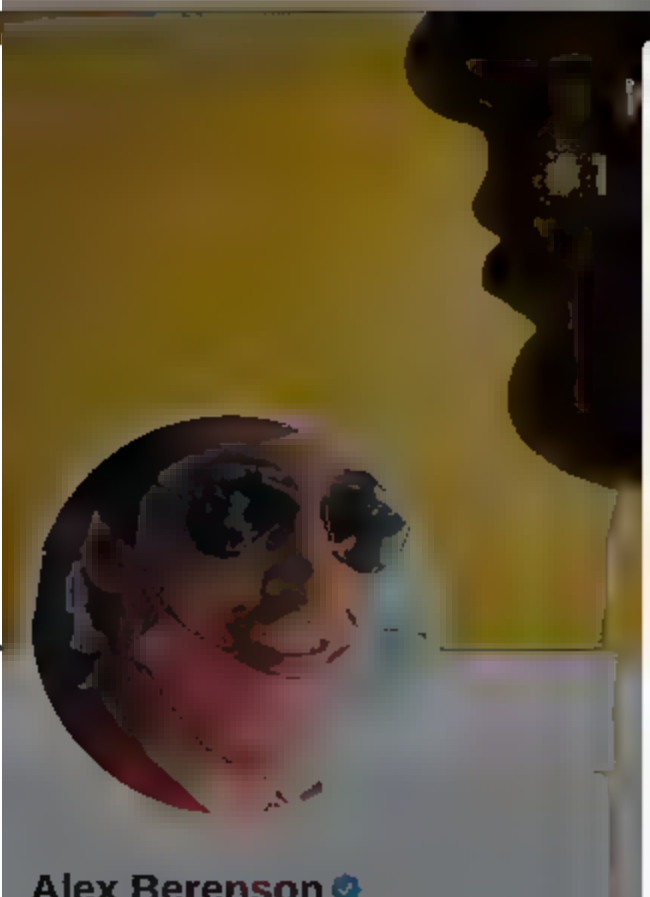
7 8 12



Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 21 Nov 2018
Replying to
Maybe schizophrenia lies dormant in some people? Maybe there are some individuals who only have it activated after exposure to THC?

homeboyC @Cohimbrrra · 21 Nov 2018
Replying to him, and who most

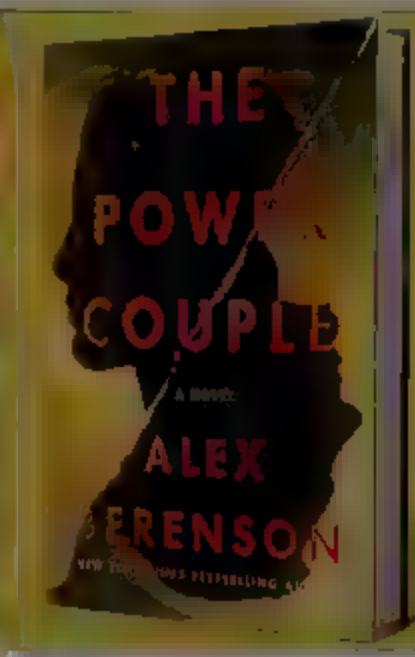
yoleven @outfielding · 21 Nov 2018
Replying to
Third variable much?

1

This Tweet is unavailable.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

This Canadian psychiatrist says she's seen 10 patients with severe psychosis caused from high-THC extracts in the last year. Only a matter of time before the population-level increase becomes obvious...

1:38 PM - 21 Nov 2018

4 Retweets 5 Likes

1 4 5

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 21 Nov 2018
Replying to

You realize this interview is from 2016, right? The sale of extracts are still prohibited in Canada.

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Cannabis causes psychosis. (Look, it only took three!)

> VidCon @VidCon
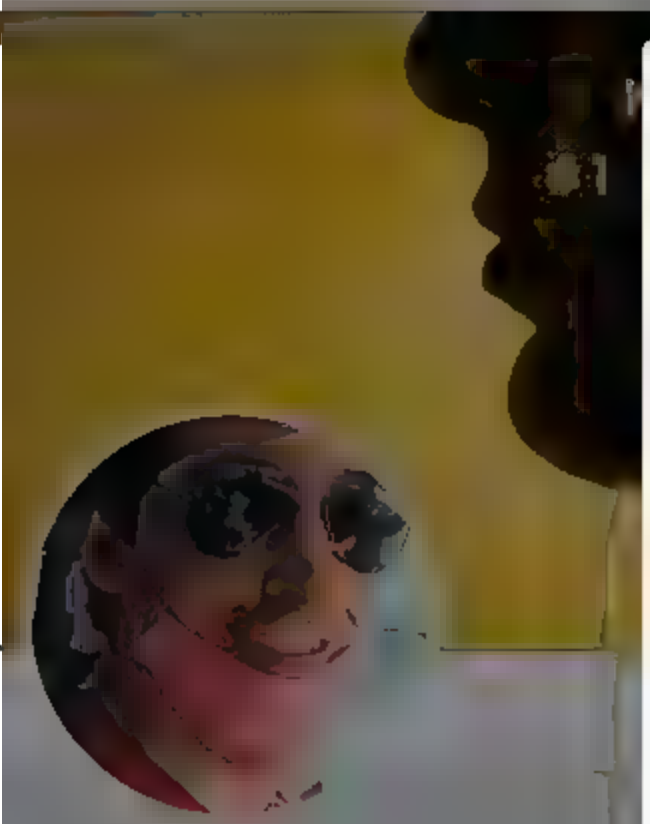
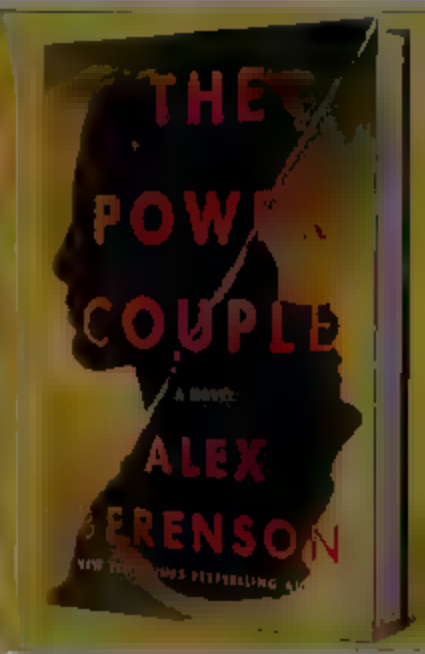
> Ruin Thanksgiving in four words:
>
> — — — —

1:47 PM - 20 Nov 2018



4 Likes



3 4

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 20 Nov 2018
Replying to
Cannabis may trigger psychosis.

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 22 Nov 2018
Replying to
Ask Alex Berenson if you can breathe.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Very sorry to hear this. Met Tim once at an event in Florida years ago - a charming, nice guy who looked like he could have played John Wells. ALS is an awful disease.

> Ace Atkins ✓ @aceatkins
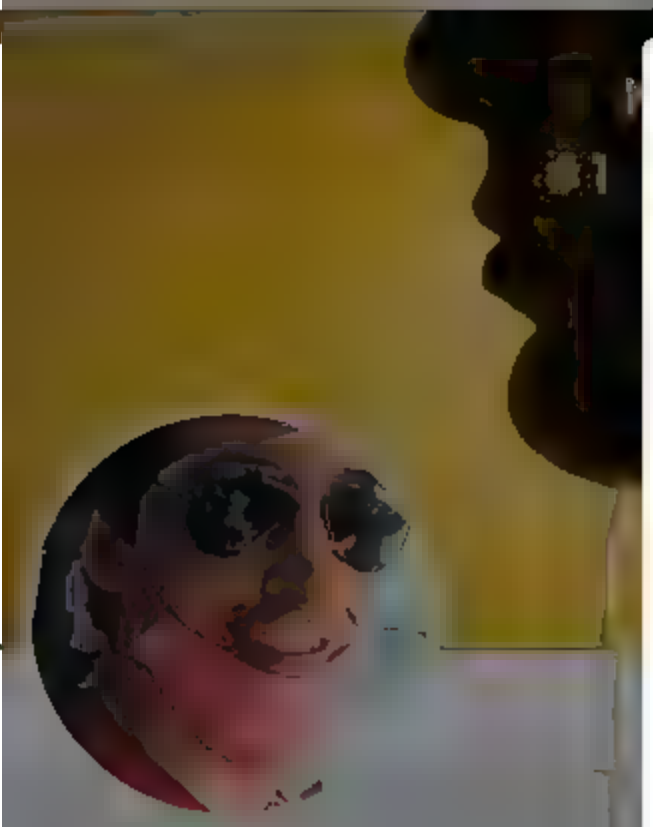
> My great friend @timgreenbooks was on @60Minutes last night to discuss his battle with ALS. Please take a few minutes to watch his story and then go to tackleals.com to help. #TackleALS cbsnews.com/news/tim-green...
> Show this thread

3:17 PM - 19 Nov 2018

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



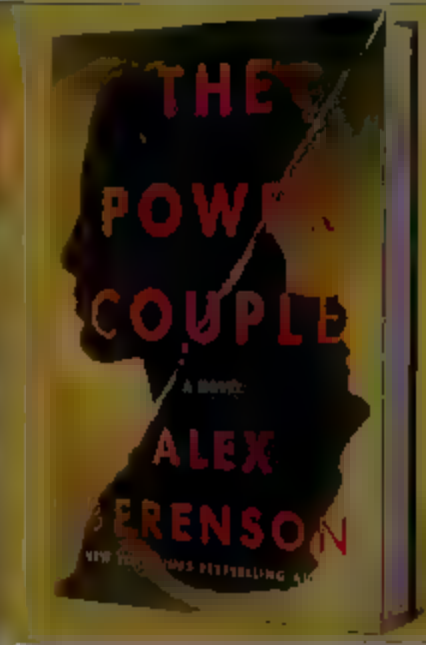
Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

50 days to Tell Your Children... after 25 years of well-funded myths from cannabis activists about marijuana, mental illness and violence. Shout Reefer Madness all you like: the science and statistics don't lie.

amazon.com/Tell-Your-Chil

2:21 PM - 19 Nov 2018

4 Retweets 13 Likes

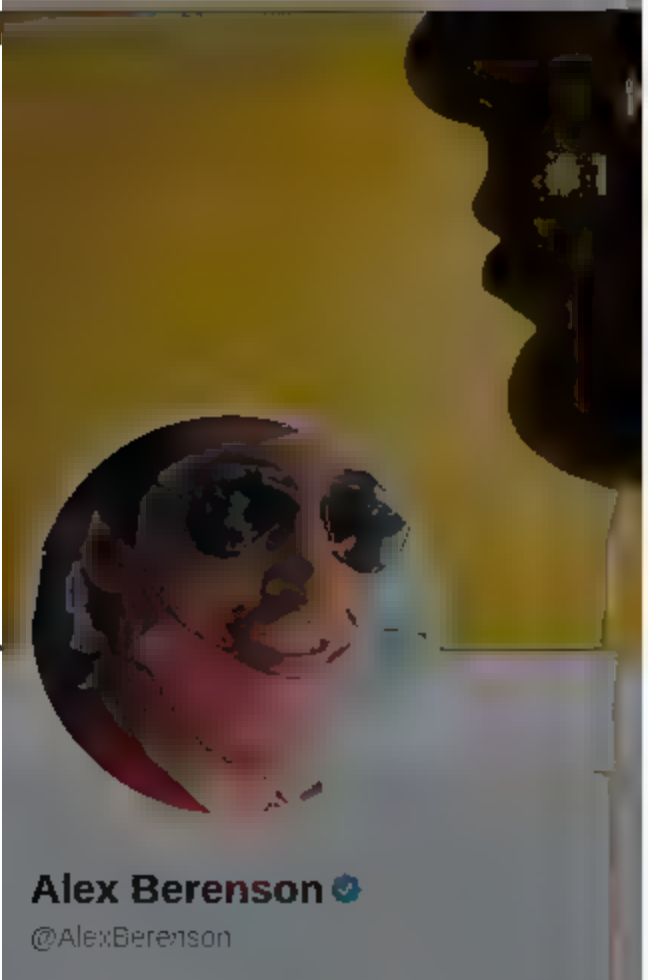
11 4 13

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 19 Nov 2018
Replying to
Cannabis activists have never been "well-funded" relative to prohibitionists, including the UNODC, the ONDCP and the DEA. Most research is approved or funded by NIDA. The "myths" the book "explodes" are strawmen, save cannabis being a substitute for opioids.



1 2

christy brown @mystocean · 19 Nov 2018
Initiatives to legalize mj were funded primarily by 3 out of state billionaires--Soros, Lewis, and Sperling vastly outspent opponents (gov't does not spend on initiatives). DPA, MPP, ACLU, also had major funding. Pre 3 billionaires made little progress.

3 3

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 21 Nov 2018

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

9 12 16

CannaWorld @cannaworldsite · 19 Nov 2018
can you cite the source for that?

2 2

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

[redacted]

11:33 AM - 19 Nov 2018

2

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 19 Nov 2018
Replying to [redacted]
"The overall crude rate has remained relatively stable since 2012. The prevalence of positive marijuana tests increased from 11.8% in 2012 to 22.3% in 2016."

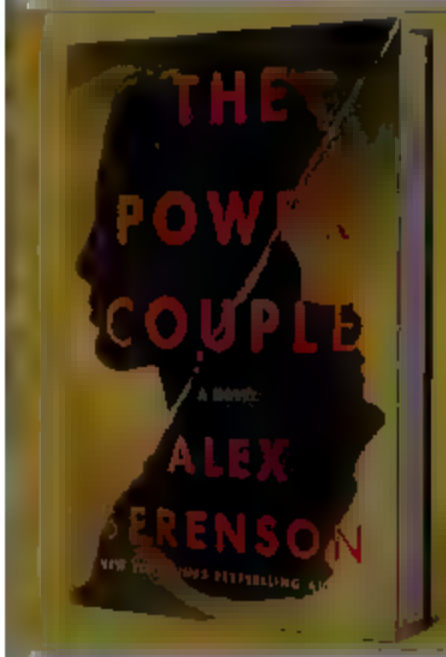
"22.3% testing positive for marijuana in 2016 was nearly identical to the national prevalence (22.4%) ..."

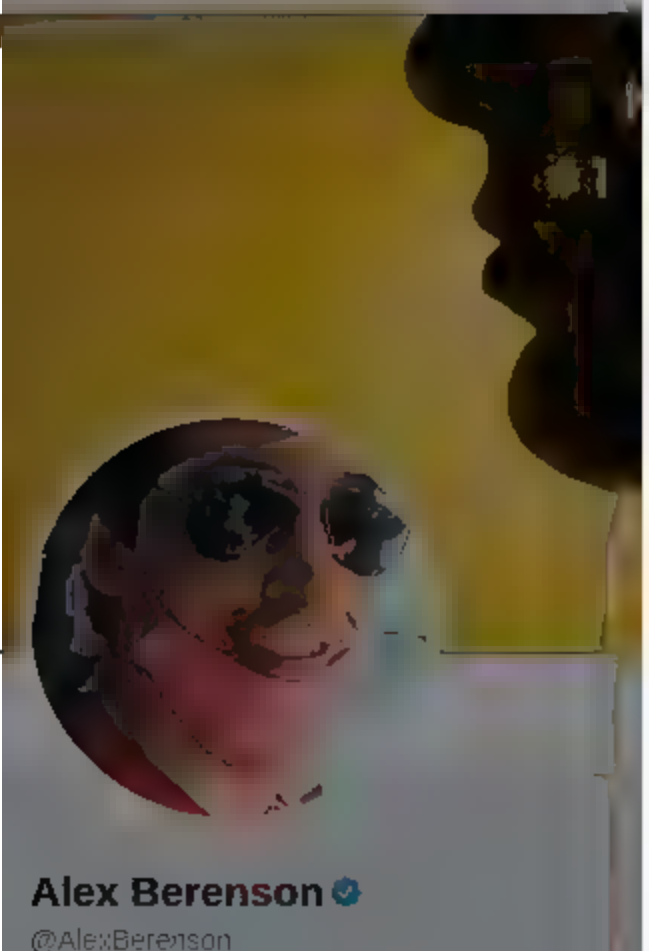


1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 19 Nov 2018
Replying to [redacted]
"The variable "Marijuana Present" could indicate toxicology tests were positive for Delta-9 THC, 11-OH-THC, or THC-COOH (carboxy), so this factor alone is not indicative of intoxication or impairment at time of death, nor can it be interpreted as causal."

2 1 8

CannaWorld @cannaworldsite · 19 Nov 2018
shocker :) and we really thought for a second that cannabis did really kill those people



Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

From the mailbag: just another healthy 28 year old who developed psychosis after regular cannabis use. Fortunately he stopped and doesn't appear to be permanently psychotic.

●●○○○ AT&T LTE 1:39 PM 77%

mail.google.com

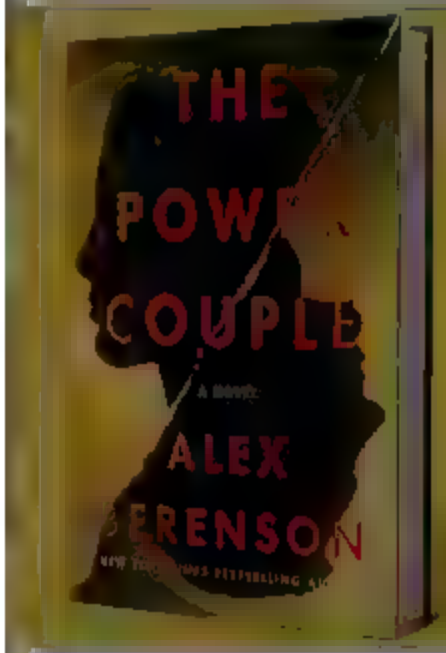
Primary

2 hours ago Details

In a nut shell

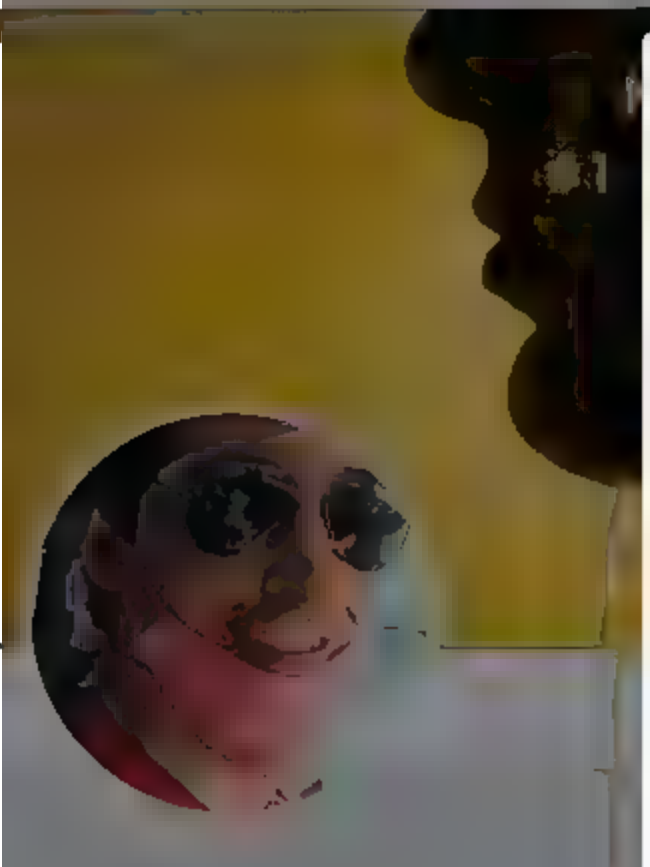
I started smoking at around 28 years old, and it became a daily thing.

I voluntarily admitted myself to hospital after a few months of use, because I thought i was being drugged, the psychosis came out of no where, and I could literally feel reality shift.



The doctors told me I should stop smoking but I couldn't believe marijuana would do that to me and then a few months later I tried it again and it was just as bad if not worse.

I voluntarily admitted myself again and never smoked again after that



10:42 AM - 18 Nov 2018

2 Retweets 6 Likes

1 2 6

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

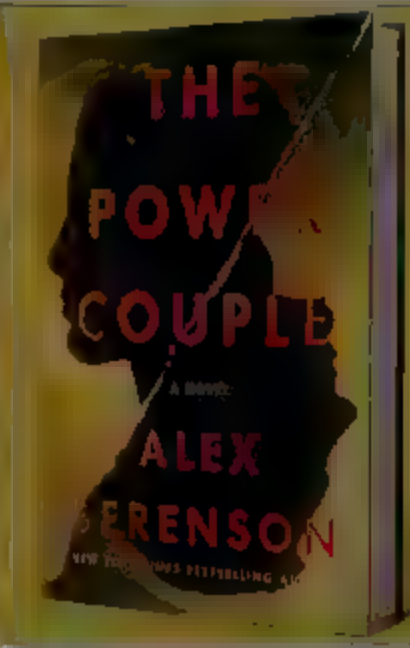
New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Another happy topic: cannabis and suicide. Here's the trend in Colorado since 2006. Suicides are up 50%, suicides with a + THC tox screen are up four-fold, and the percentage of cases where THC is found has tripled (the alcohol percentage has not changed).

Table 31. Suicides in Colorado, by overall crude rate and select toxicology results, 2006-2016



Year	N suicides	Overall crude rate	N with toxicology available	N marijuana present	% marijuana present	N alcohol present	% alcohol present
2006	711	15.0	585	44	7.5%	206	35.2%
2007	807	16.7	767	70	9.1%	273	35.6%
2008	799	16.2	776	58	7.5%	275	35.4%
2009	919	18.3	707	50	7.1%	247	34.9%
2010	850	16.9	821	70	8.5%	268	32.6%
2011	884	17.3	821	62	7.6%	281	34.2%
2012	1,021	19.7	729	86	11.8%	242	33.2%
2013	996	18.9	764	105	13.7%	260	34.0%
2014	1,063	19.9	817	122	14.9%	328	40.1%
2015	1,066	19.6	808	156	19.3%	298	36.9%
2016	1,140	20.5	860	189	22.0%	312	36.3%

Source: Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment, Colorado Violent Death Reporting System, at https://www.colorado.gov/pacific/cdphe/colorado-violent-death-reporting-system
Note: Data obtained from Colorado suicide data dashboard. For additional information on data definitions please visit Colorado Suicide Data Dashboard: Data Definitions and Functionality, at https://drive.google.com/file/d/1UPZoZH3UFJ6naIbx3pak7bEA8CL1KkR/view.
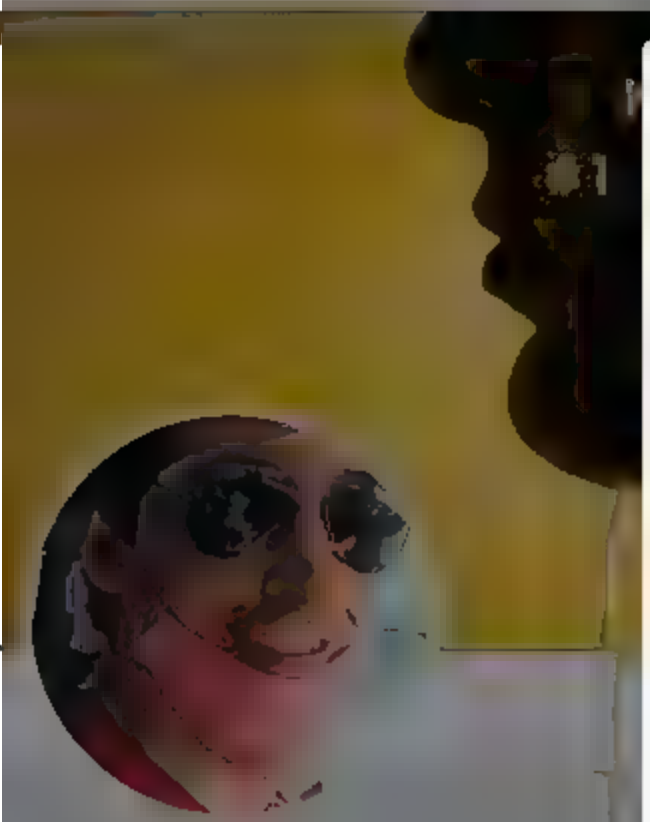
The crude suicide rate is per 100,000 total population and is not adjusted for age.



8:16 AM - 19 Nov 2018

12 Retweets 16 Likes

9 12 16

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Hold on. If I'm reading this correctly, you're telling us you developed psychotic symptoms after using cannabis for years? And you think cannabis was/is good for you?

> Normalisera @Sverige2019
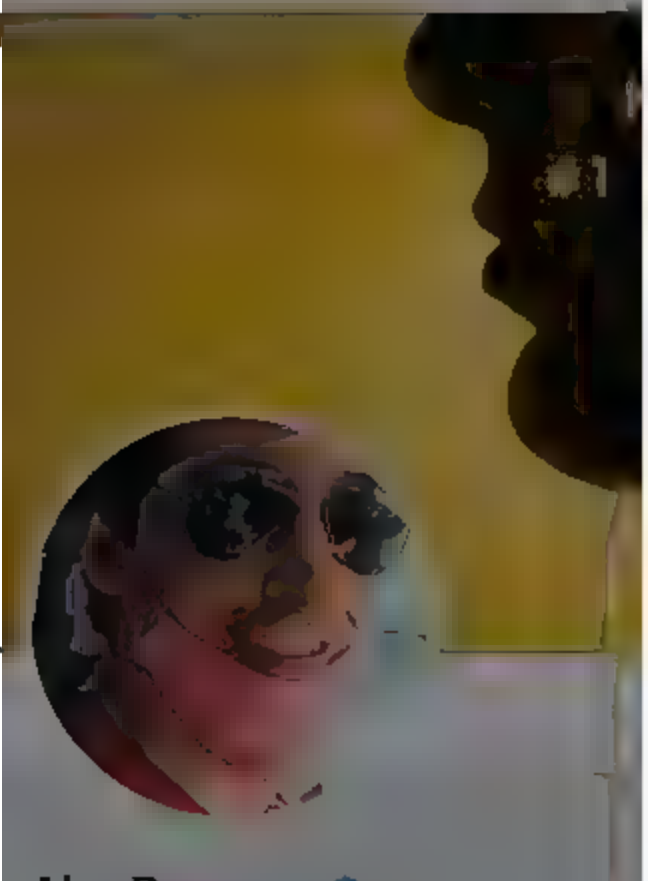
> Replying to @Sverige2019 @mystocean and 3 others
> I have gotten psychosis like symptoms from having severe depression and anxiety... years after I began use cannabis and not gotten any problem.. those with already schizofernia/psychosis tend to use indica or cbd cannabis which helps against those symptoms..

9:14 AM - 18 Nov 2018

5 Likes

2 5



Normalisera @Sverige2019 · 18 Nov 2018
Replying to
No i said I had it before I even began using weed.. I had depression and anxiety and sleep problems etc which causes psychosis like symptoms.. and then years later I got introduced to cannabis and it helped my mental health problems and I haven't gotten any issues

2

Normalisera @Sverige2019 · 18 Nov 2018
Replying to
Sorry English isn't my first languish

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

4 4 12

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

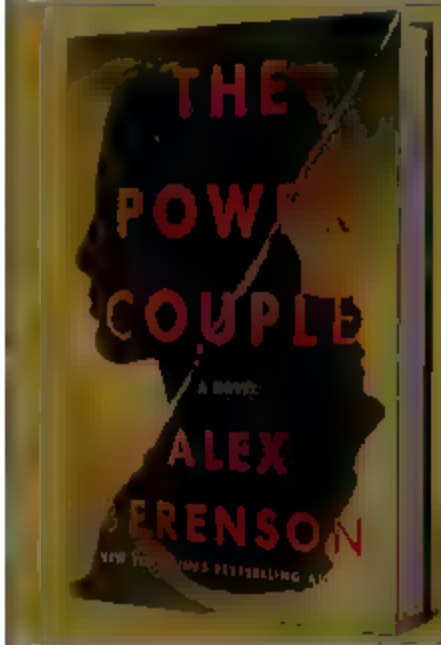
Oh, great. Another garbage study. Even taking it on its own terms - and its self-reported data as accurate - it excluded 96 percent of potential subjects on the way in. Great data, friends. But go on, keep telling people at high risk for coke addiction to use cannabis.

6:25 AM - 18 Nov 2018

2 Likes

2 2

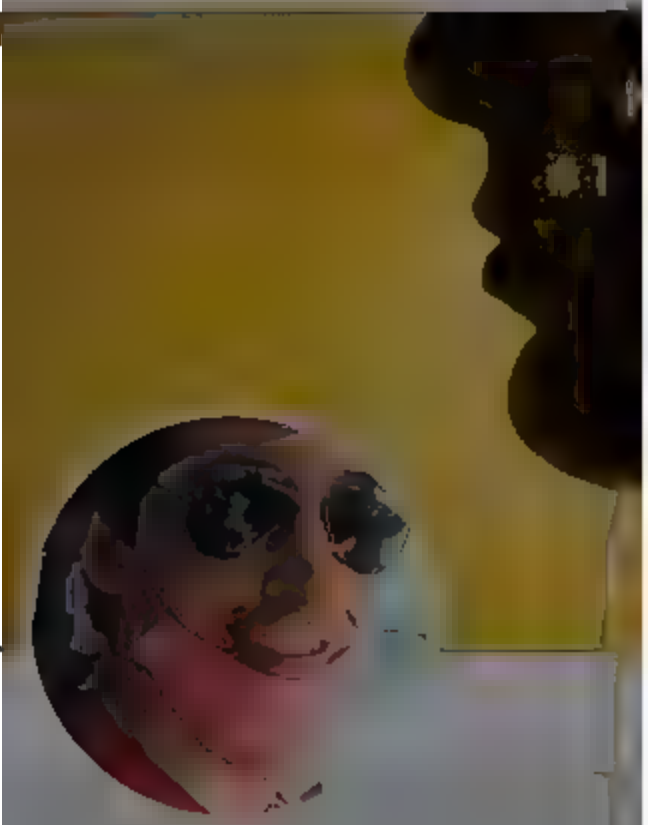
Ian Mitchell @travels2little · 18 Nov 2018



Replying to [redacted]

As a point of accuracy, 96 percent of the potential subjects were not excluded. The study population was those who use cocaine and want to reduce their use with cannabis. Not all potential subjects used cocaine, therefore would be rightly not be in the study. EBM is tricky.

2



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex and I are friends, and he's a very bright man, a terrific reporter, and a very gifted writer. Not sure what your disagreement is -- I just saw the tail end of a discussion -- but I suspect you might be reading him wrong. Probably just the inevitable Twitter confusion.

3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

As for your question about what the precise legal status should be, I think decriminalization works much better than advocates would have you believe. But really, I care much less about status than about making sure everyone who may use knows the MH and violence risks.

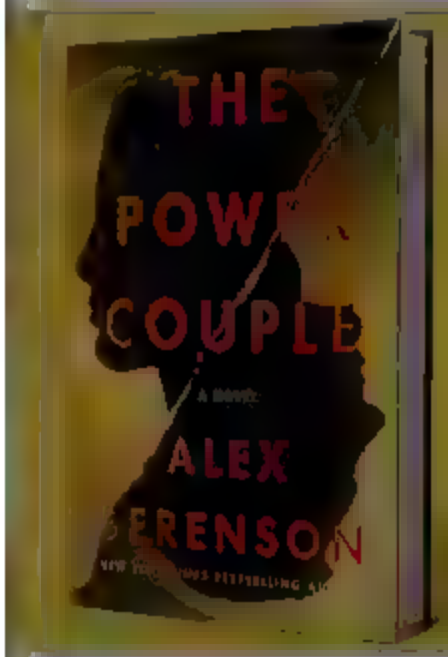
12:48 PM - 17 Nov 2018

1 Like

2 1

David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 17 Nov 2018
Replying to

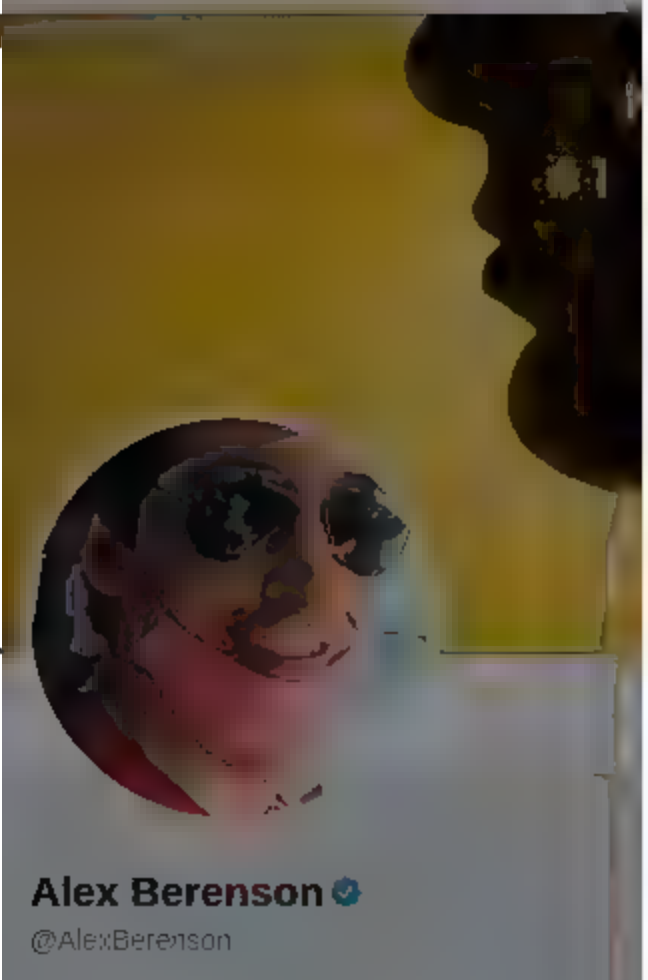
This seems very reasonable to me. When one considers the devastation done by alcohol and tobacco, we have to be careful throwing another log on the fire. We just need to be smart about it. Make sure people know and understand the facts and what the science says.



1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Nov 2018
Your log analogy is misleading. We are not arguing over whether or not cannabis should exist, rather, we are debating how best to regulate it. That said, it is better to put logs in the fireplace than leave them burning on the floor. Prohibition impedes education.

1



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Nov 2018

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

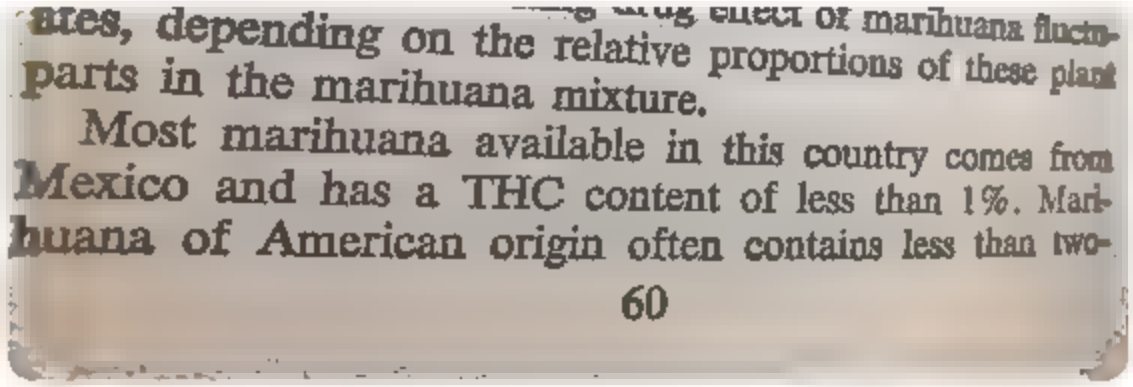
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Nov 2018



Every major study of cannabis policy before and since the Shafer Commission has come to similar conclusions. In a nutshell, cannabis is "relatively harmless" and criminal prohibition is counter-productive anyway.

1 3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

As I'm guessing you know, the Shafer Commission was focused on marijuana with a THC content below 1%. No surprise it found use of the drug to be mostly symbolic.

ates, depending on the relative proportions of these plant parts in the marihuana mixture.

Most marihuana available in this country comes from Mexico and has a THC content of less than 1%. Marihuana of American origin often contains less than two-

60

11:40 AM - 17 Nov 2018

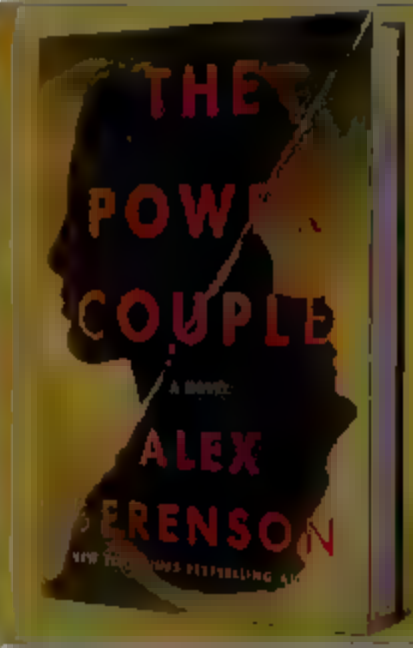
1 Like

2 1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Nov 2018

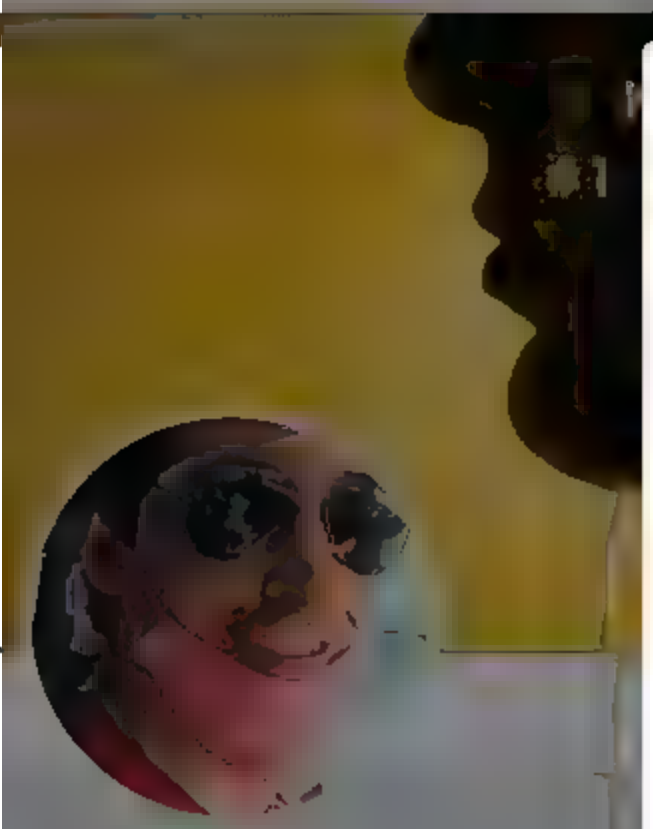
Replying to

Less than 1% THC is hemp. Whole cannabis at the time ranged from about 4% schwag to about 15% sensimilla. Hashish and cannabis oil ranged from about 10% to about 30%. I mentioned every study before and since.



2

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Nov 2018



Replying to

It's worth mentioning at this juncture that black markets favor more potent forms

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

.@JodieEmery I don't know - or particularly care - whether that's because they genuinely don't know the facts or are trying to hide the truth. But it's time we introduced some science and evidence into this debate.

10:49 AM - 17 Nov 2018

4 Likes

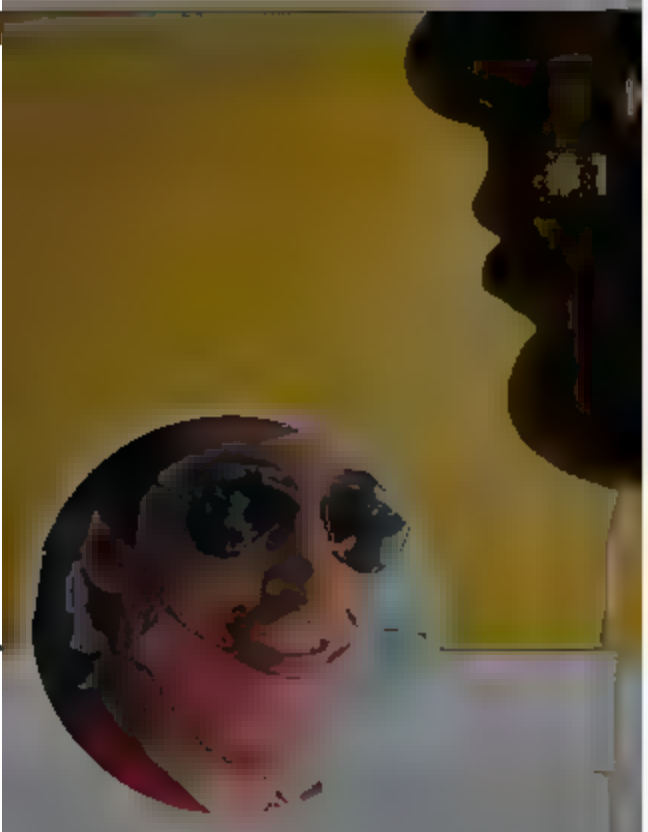
4 4

Jodie Emery @JodieEmery · 17 Nov 2018
Replying to

"It's time"? You might want to connect with advocates & researchers who have been studying cannabis for decades. Or magazine editors who analyze & publish news about cannabis — for decades. The time has long since passed; hundreds of studies already exist:

2 5

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Nov 2018
Replying to



So you know, cherry-picking news articles that mention "marijuana-related" violence - regardless of it being confirmed, systemic, psychiatric or pharmacological - to support your hypothesis, is not scientific or helpful, it's pissing in the well.

4

Babylon System 2.0 @feydhark · 17 Nov 2018
Replying to

Matt, I'm honestly starting to think this guy is an actual moron. That or parody account. Could he really think everybody else in the world with access to the internet is dumber than him? These arguments are so bad even Sabet stays away.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Nov 2018

For the sake of discussion, it is best to assume innocent ignorance, rather than dishonesty or willful ignorance. However, in Alex's case, it's evident he suffers from confirmation bias and a lack of critical thinking skills. I suspect he wants to sell books.

1 3

David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 17 Nov 2018

Alex and I are friends, and he's a very bright man, a terrific reporter, and a very gifted writer. Not sure what your disagreement is -- I just saw the tail end of a discussion -- but I suspect you might be reading him wrong. Probably just the inevitable Twitter confusion.

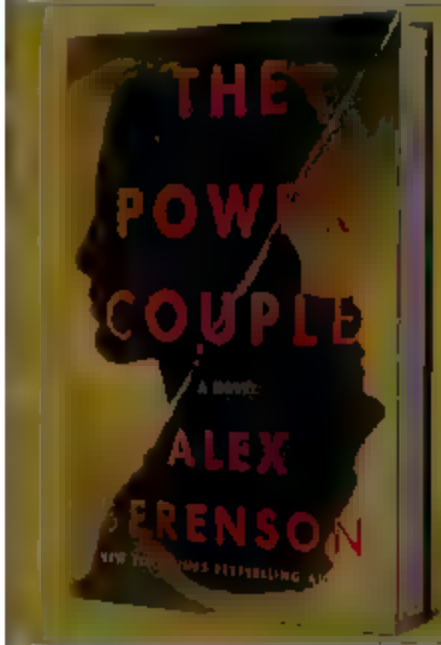
3

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

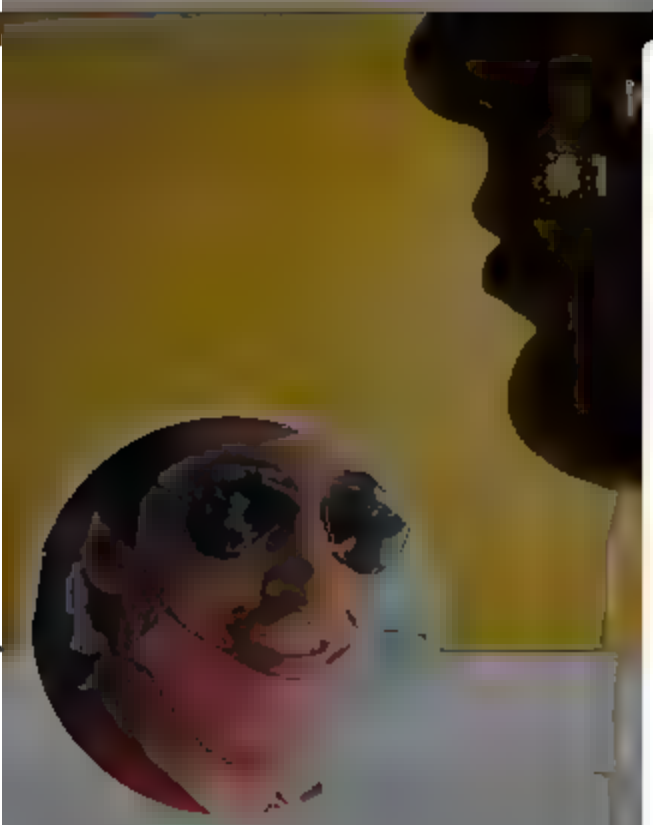
Thanks, David. He's reading me exactly right; the facts just make him uncomfortable. It's okay. He has lots of company.

12:43 PM - 17 Nov 2018



1 Like

1 1



David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 17 Nov 2018

Replying to

Have you done anything on Kratom? That's gonna be the next biggie. (We'll see how good I am at predicting stuff.)

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

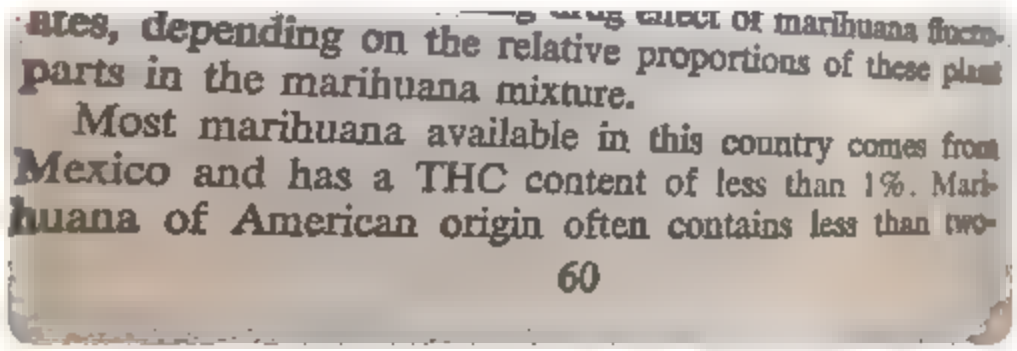
.@JodieEmery here's the truth. Cannabis advocates have cherry-picked a handful of badly designed studies on these issues for years and tried to pass them off as the state of the science.

10:48 AM - 17 Nov 2018

5 Likes

1 5

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 17 Nov 2018



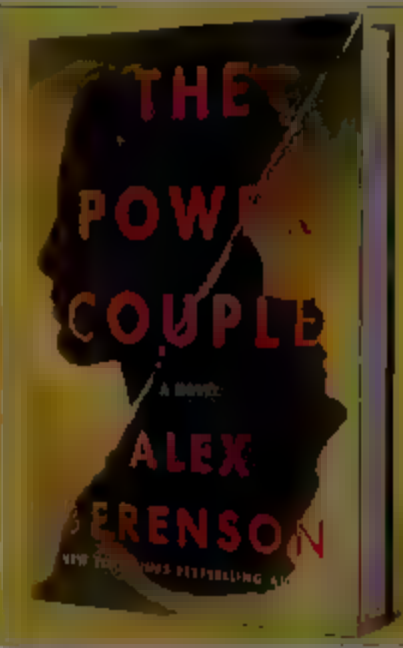
Replying to

Every major study of cannabis policy before and since the Shafer Commission has come to similar conclusions. In a nutshell, cannabis is "relatively harmless" and criminal prohibition is counter-productive anyway.

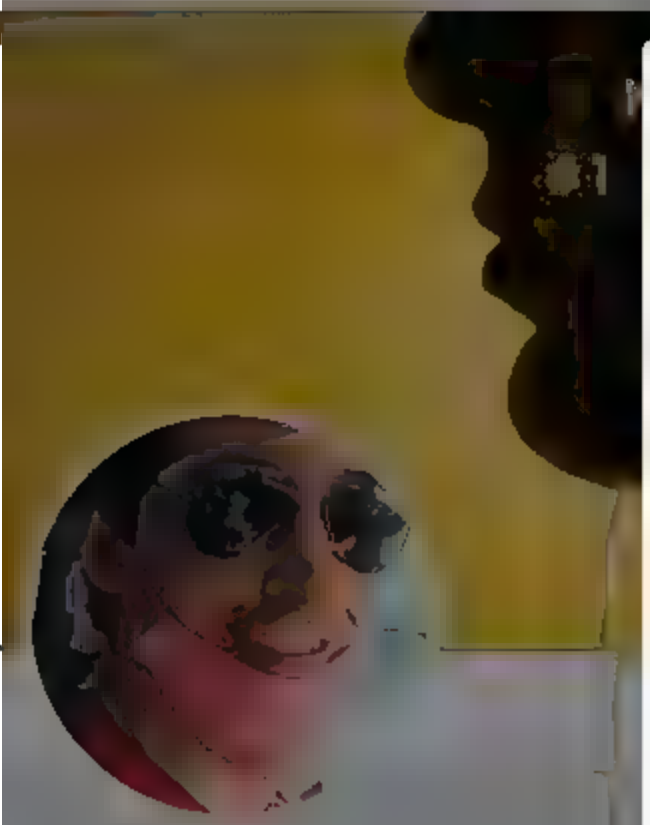
1 3

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 17 Nov 2018

As I'm guessing you know, the Shafer Commission was focused on marijuana with a THC content below 1%. No surprise it found use of the drug to be mostly symbolic.



...ates, depending on the relative proportions of these plant parts in the marihuana mixture.



Most marihuana available in this country comes from Mexico and has a THC content of less than 1%. Marihuana of American origin often contains less than two-

60

2 1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Sure, cannabis and psychosis aren't linked. That's why the National Academy of Medicine, the gold standard for independence in science, found last year that the link was "moderate to large" and "dose-dependent."

> Jodie Emery @JodieEmery
> Replying to @JodieEmery @AlexBerenson
> Cannabis and schizophrenia: psychiatryadvisor.com/schizophrenia-...

10:45 AM - 17 Nov 2018

3 Retweets 10 Likes

5 3 10

Jodie Emery @JodieEmery · 17 Nov 2018
Replying to
I'm going to trust Harvard:

> Jodie Emery @JodieEmery
> "New research from Harvard Medical School, in a comparison between families with a history of schizophrenia and those without, finds little support for marijuana use as a cause of schizophrenia." #CannabisTruth psychcentral.com/news/2013/12/1...

2 3

David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 17 Nov 2018
Replying to
I favor loosening the drug laws, primarily because I don't think the current system works very well. But anyone trying to make the claim that cannabis is perfectly safe is lying

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Sure, cannabis reduces violence. That's why the four states that legalized first in the US have seen a 37% increase in murders and a 25% increase in agg assaults in the last four years. That's why police forces across the US increasingly link marijuana to violence.

> Jodie Emery @JodieEmery
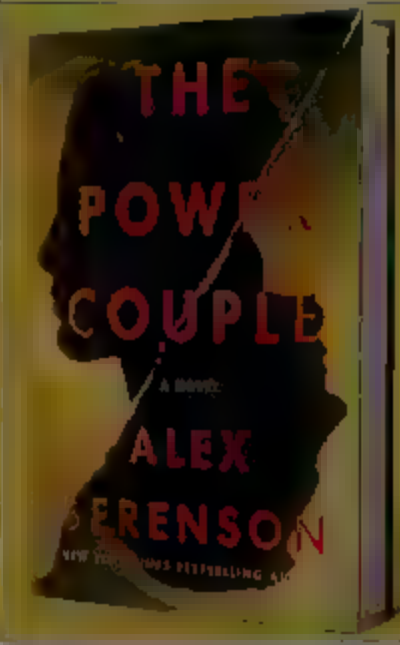
> Replying to @JodieEmery @AlexBerenson
> Violent crime drops where cannabis is more available: twitter.com/jodieemery/sta…

10:43 AM - 17 Nov 2018

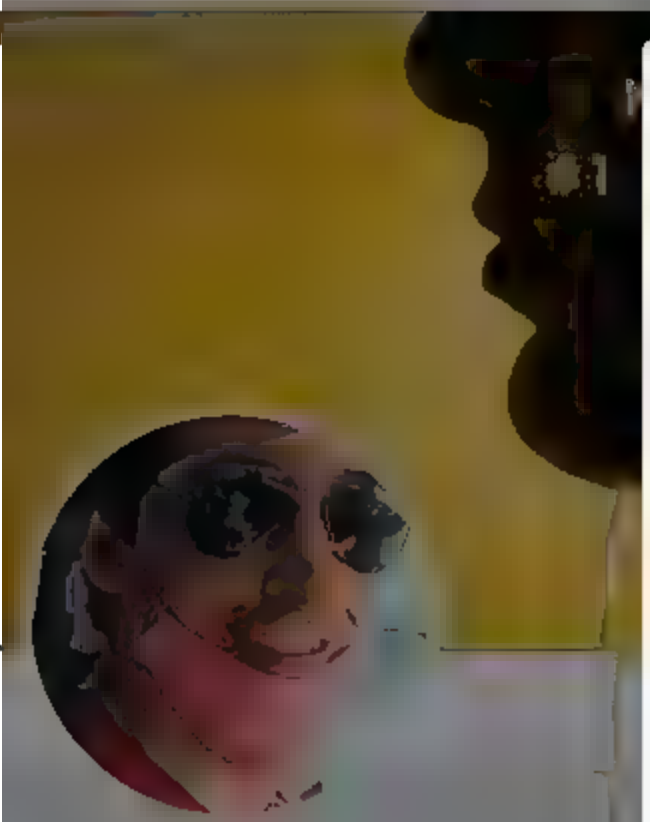
6 Likes

7 6

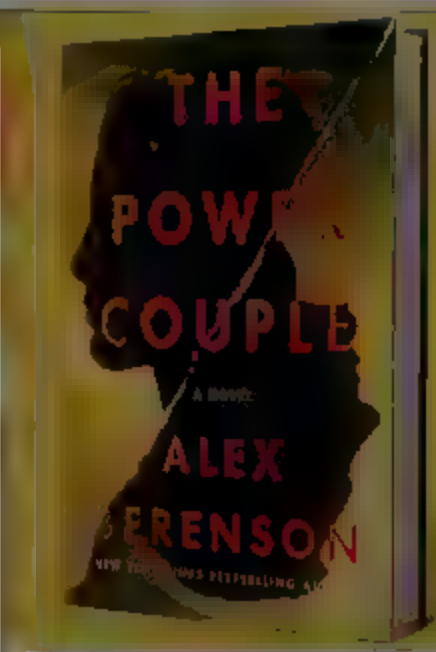


Jodie Emery @JodieEmery · 17 Nov 2018
Replying to

States that legalize cannabis have increases in population because people move to where cannabis is available. That's the reason for any increase — the increased population #. Not about cannabis. Cannabis is a pacifist substance; it does not incite violence in 99.9999% of users.



2 7



Jodie Emery @JodieEmery · 17 Nov 2018
Police link cannabis to violence in order to justify multi-billion $$$ budgets they get for cannabis criminalization. It's a massive cash grab by law enforcement. If you're actually concerned about violence, why don't you call for alcohol prohibition? Booze is an actual threat.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Great. Glad we cleared that up. I'll just tell Simon & Schuster to pulp my book. And delete the hundreds of studies, news articles, and interviews I conducted. Thanks for your input.

> Jodie Emery @JodieEmery
> Replying to @outfielding @AlexBerenson and 3 others
> This is total nonsense.

10:30 AM - 17 Nov 2018

2 Likes

4 2

Jodie Emery @JodieEmery · 17 Nov 2018
Replying to
Cannabis is the

> Jodie Emery @JodieEmery
> "Marijuana users no more likely to experience depression, psychosis or asthma, study says" (Two decades of research) independent.co.uk/life-style/hea...

1 2

Jodie Emery @JodieEmery · 17 Nov 2018
Minimal evidence:

> Jodie Emery @JodieEmery
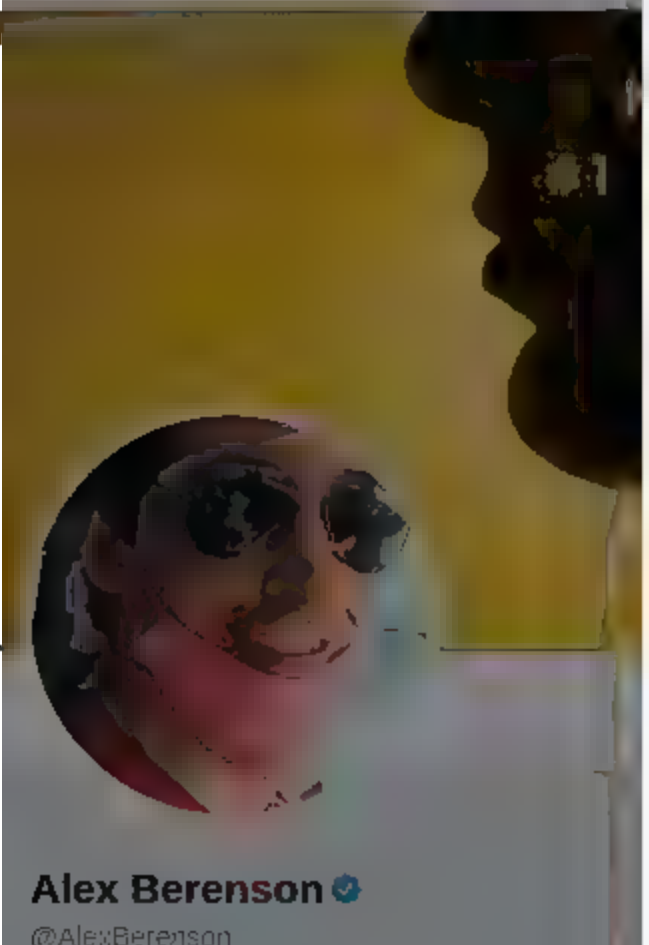
> Journal Adolescent Health @JAdolesHealth "minimal evidence for

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't



New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Have an account? Log in

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

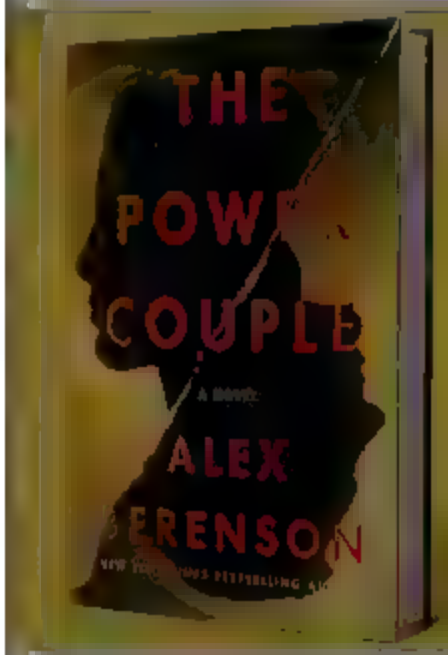
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

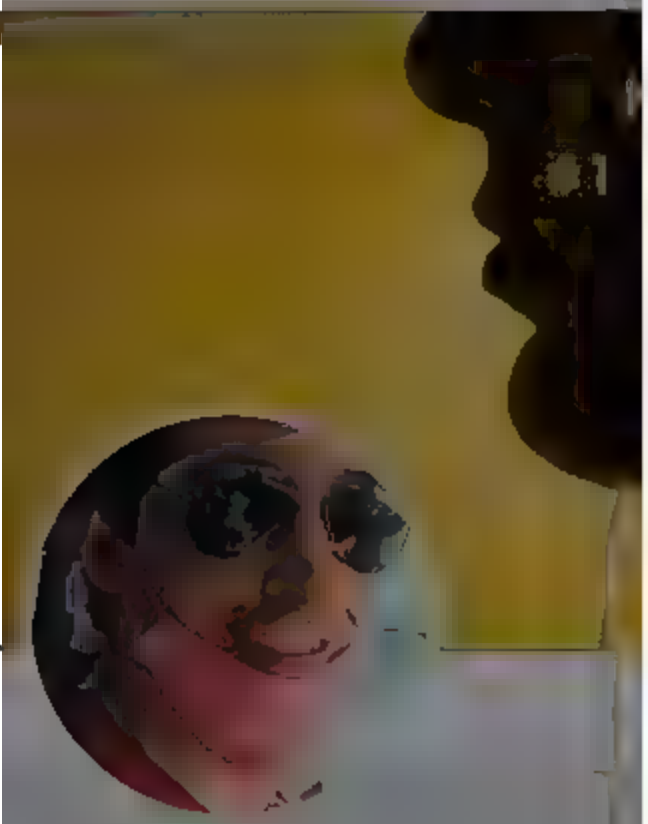
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Follow



Like TX and FL, AZ finds cannabis is the drug most often associated - by far - with child deaths from abuse and neglect. What do those states have in common? They looked.
tucson.com/news/local/ari ...

> substance use by parents and caregivers, and firearms in the home, are among the most significant risk factors for children in Arizona, where 337 children died of preventable causes in 2017.
>
> Marijuana was the drug most commonly found in these cases, according to data in a newly released state report that included in-depth analysis of which drugs were being used by adults at the time of a child's death.
>
> The annual Arizona Child Fatality Review, now in its 25th year, found marijuana — whether being used alone or in combination with other substances — was being used in 46 percent of



9:14 AM - 17 Nov 2018

1 Retweet 3 Likes

4 1 3

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

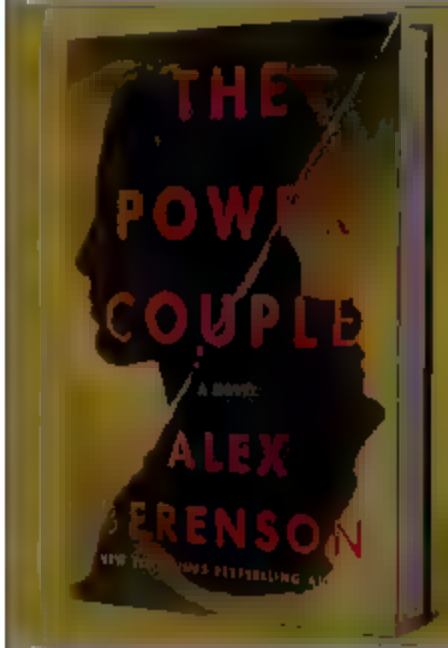
Joined November 2009

2 2

Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 16 Nov 2018
This looks more like organized crime than a psychotic episode. I'm not denying your points about cannabis and mental health. Which country did this happen in?

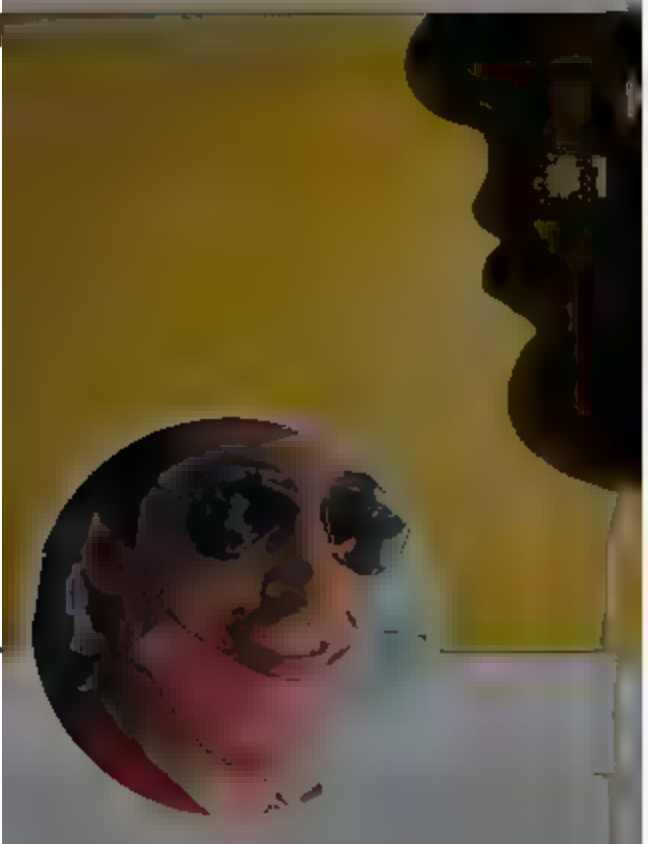
1

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson



Following

Replying to [redacted]



The Netherlands. What's striking about cannabis-related violence is that there's so much of it in EVERY category - psychosis-related, street rips around small-time dealing, and bigger, more organized violence around grows.

7:32 AM - 16 Nov 2018

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

prosecutorial skill & competence. Everyone makes mistakes but there's an overall pattern here.

> Ian MacDougall @i_m_m
> This unfairly deflects blame. It's nobody's job but the AUSA's. Plus, as a practical matter, if you have access to sealed material filed on PACER (a clerk), it's not always obvious what is/isn't sealed. In any event, the EDVa is a top USAO. Its AUSAs shouldn't need babysitters. ...

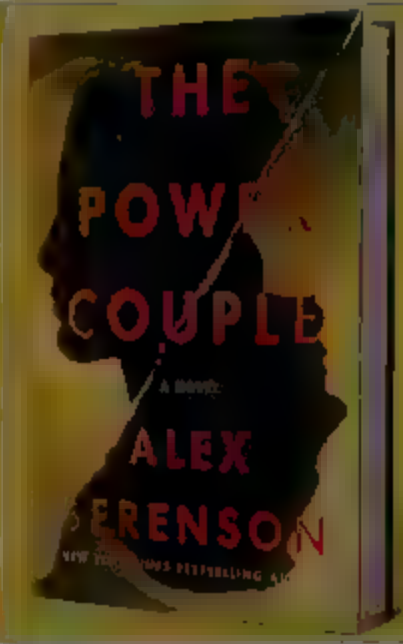
3 1 15

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

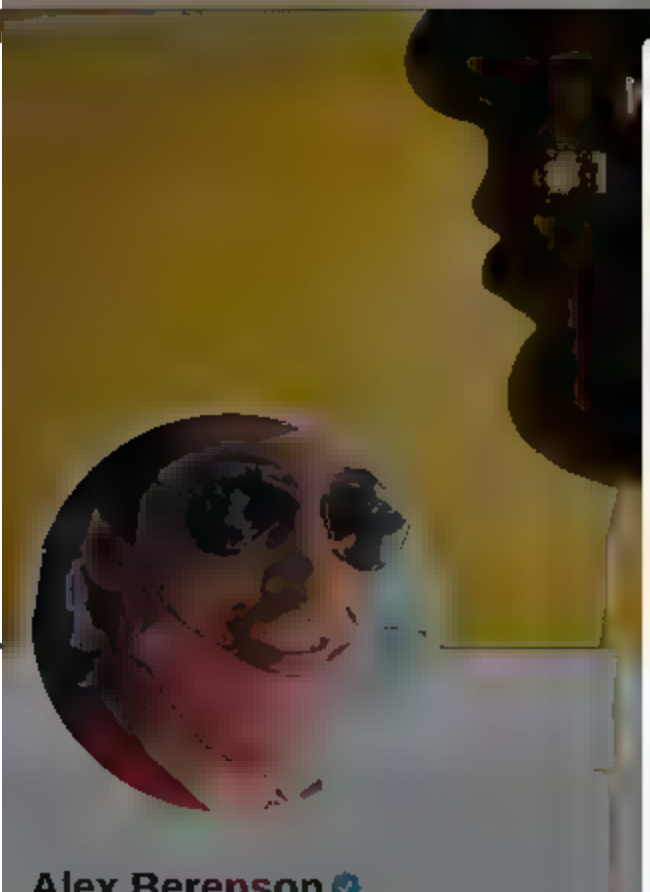
Easy assertion but what's your evidence? Are they losing more cases (which could just mean they're bringing tougher ones)? Have hiring standards dropped? Etc...

9:38 AM - 16 Nov 2018



1

Jesse Eisinger @eisingerj · 16 Nov 2018
Replying to [redacted]
I have a book for you to read



1

David V. Wilson @DavidVWilsonII · 16 Nov 2018
The book does address the very questions you raise. [redacted] does a less thorough job addressing a partial solution: recruiting and retaining experienced prosecutors. In fairness, only lawyers know what attracts/motivates most lawyers, IMHO.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

There's no violence around cannabis, especially in countries that legalize or decriminalize:

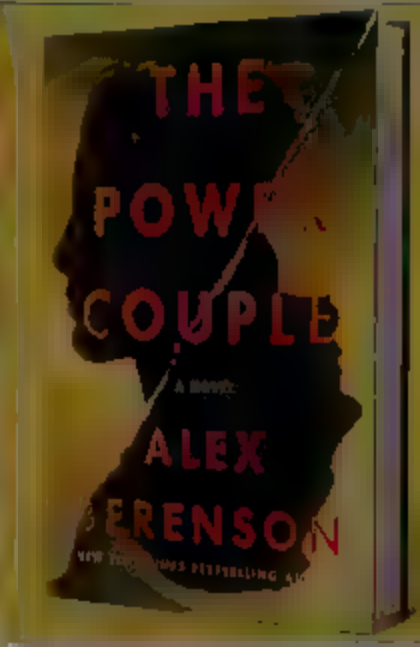
5:33 AM - 16 Nov 2018

2 Likes

2 2

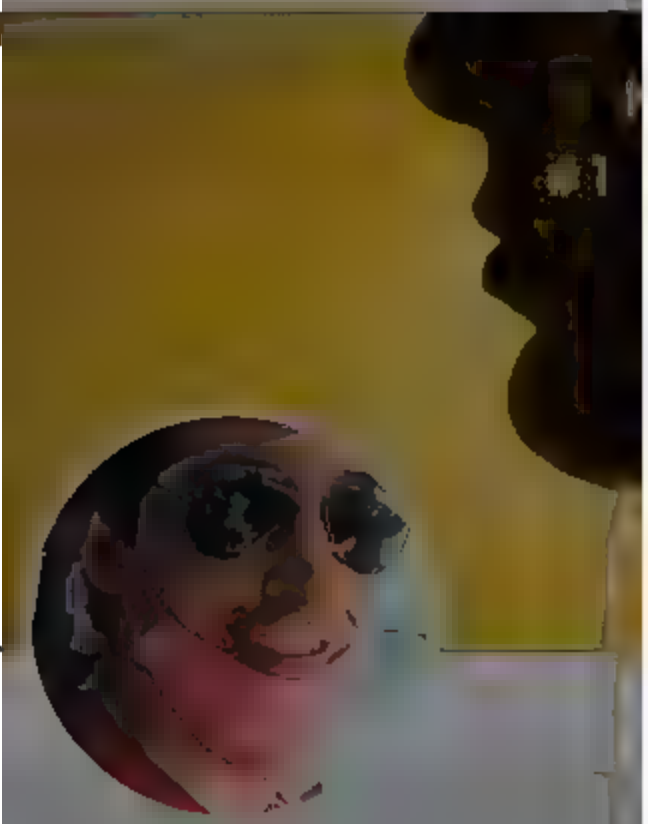
Sean Hastings @4_hastings · 16 Nov 2018

Replying to



This looks more like organized crime than a psychotic episode. I'm not denying your points about cannabis and mental health. Which country did this happen in?

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 16 Nov 2018

The Netherlands. What's striking about cannabis-related violence is that there's so much of it in EVERY category - psychosis-related, street rips around small-

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

THC had not yet been discovered, nor had dronabinol been approved by the FDA.

"…. it will not be necessary to draw a distinction between ganja and charas. The effects of these two drugs have been shown to be similar, though charas is cateris paribus the more potent."

1

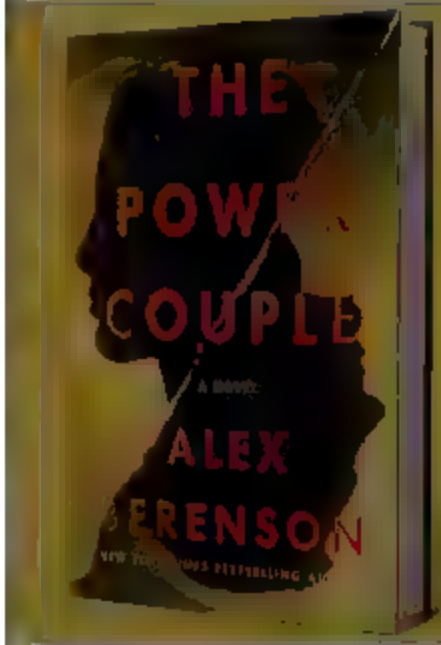
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to

Again: two of the three Indians on the commission wanted to ban both charas and ganja - cultivated cannabis products - and allow only bhang, which was basically a wild hemp product that had only nominal THC.

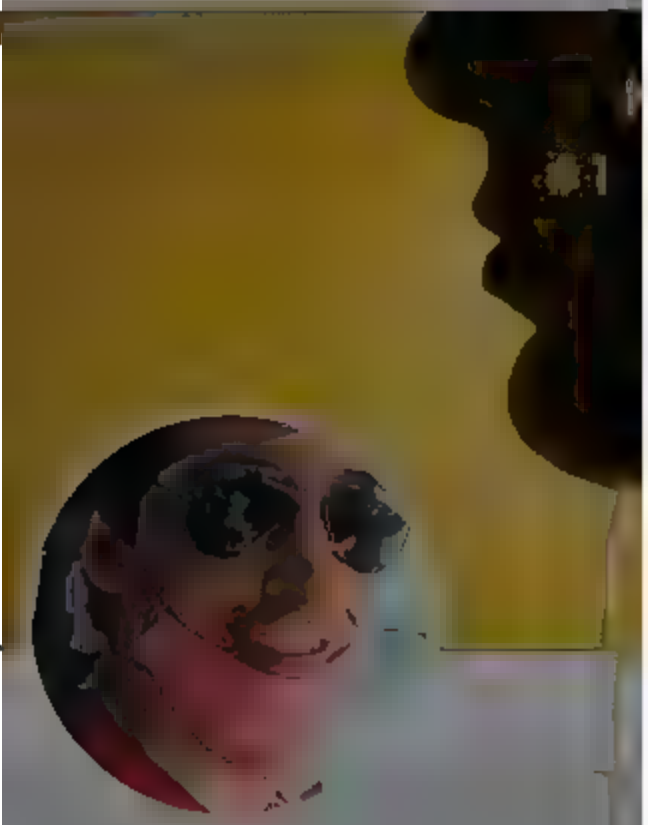
10:33 AM - 15 Nov 2018

2



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 15 Nov 2018

Replying to



Yes, the commission included and heard from prohibitionists.

In 2003, the World Health Organization Expert Committee on Drug Dependence recommended transferring THC to Schedule IV of the Convention, citing its medical uses and low abuse potential.

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

stakeholders and make recommendations for how cannabis should be controlled.

1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to

Matt: you are clearly more serious about discussing this than some of the people trolling me. So here's a fun fact about the Indian Hemp Drugs Commission: 2 of its 3 Indian members recommended banning cannabis with more than nominal THC content. True story.

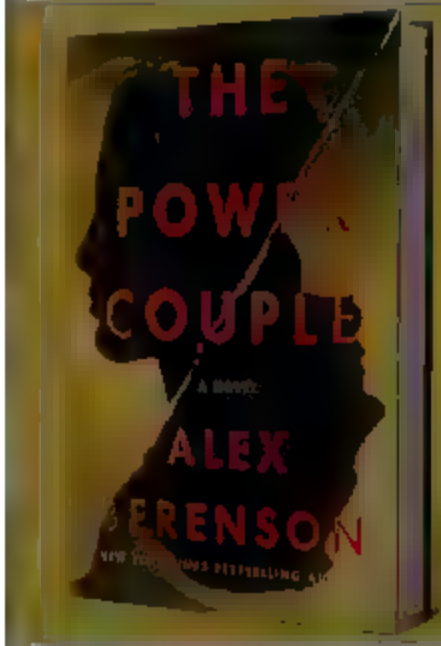
10:05 AM - 15 Nov 2018

1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 15 Nov 2018

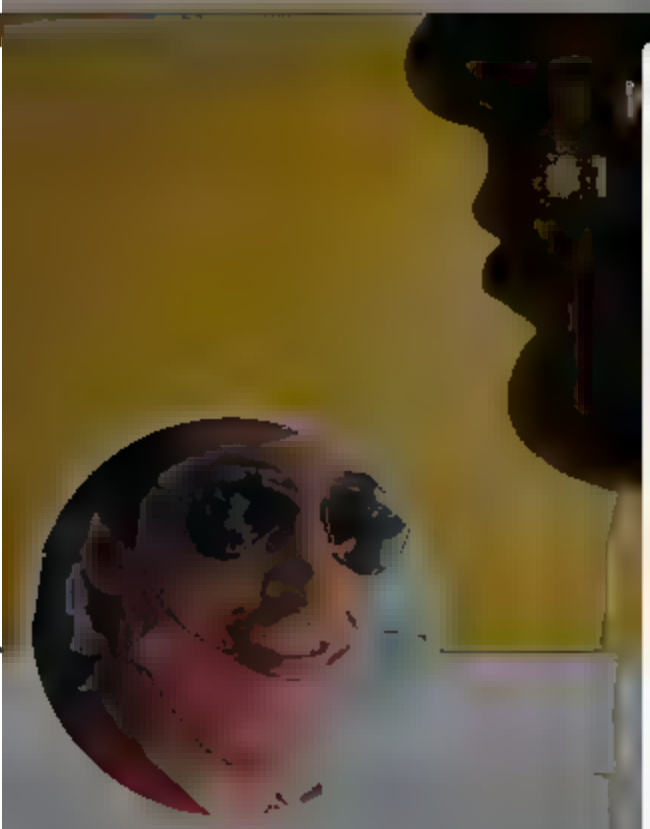
Replying to

THC had not yet been discovered, nor had dronabinol been approved by the FDA.



".... it will not be necessary to draw a distinction between ganja and charas. The effects of these two drugs have been shown to be similar, though charas is cateris paribus the more potent."

1



Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 15 Nov 2018

Again: two of the three Indians on the commission wanted to ban both charas and ganja - cultivated cannabis products - and allow only bhang, which was basically a wild hemp product that had only nominal THC.

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

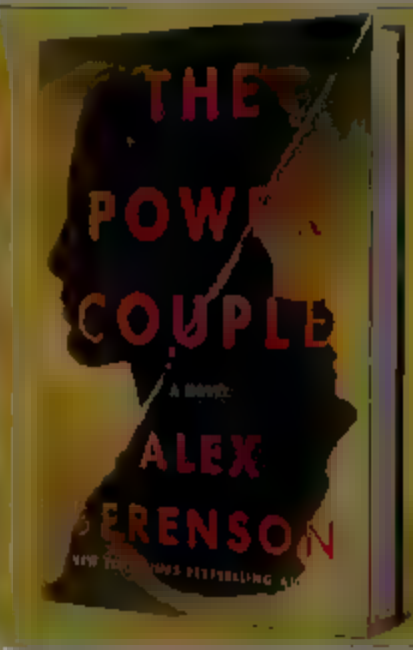
Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · Follow

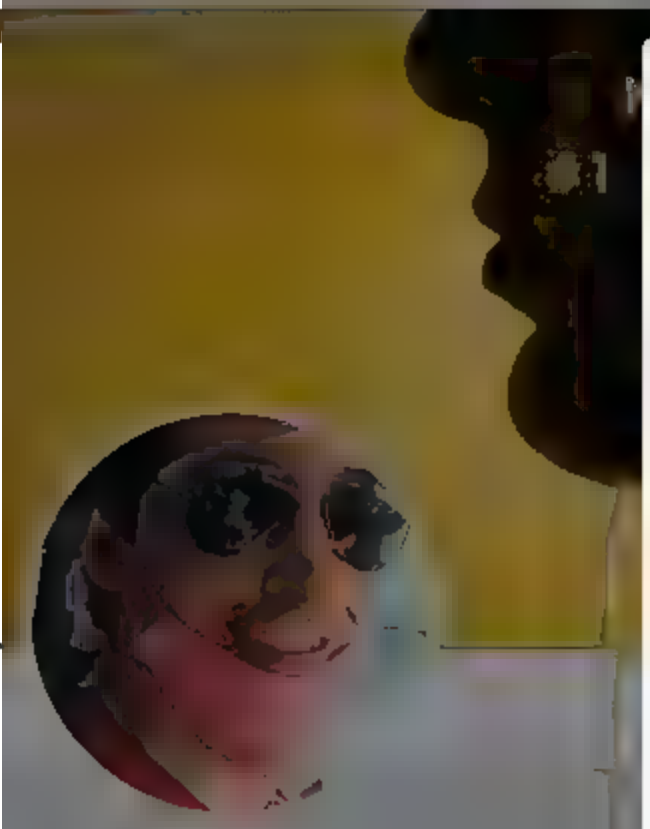
3/ BC cannabis advocates have shouted "Reefer Madness, Reefer Madness" for so long that almost no one believes the pattern can be real. And bc openly acknowledging the violence that mentally ill people commit is uncomfortable.



8:08 AM - 15 Nov 2018

1 1

ya boy Deej @deejtweetsgood · 15 Nov 2018



Replying to [illegible]

Cannabis causes mental illness and mentally ill people are dangerous. That's a socially harmful fallacy twofer. Way to go.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

4/ The irony is that societies with heavy cannabis use knew this connection 100+ years ago. Harry Anslinger didn't make it up (sorry, legalizers). But just as in 1999 we had to learn for ourselves the risks of widespread opioid use, we are now doing the same with cannabis...

8:12 AM - 15 Nov 2018

2 Likes

5 2

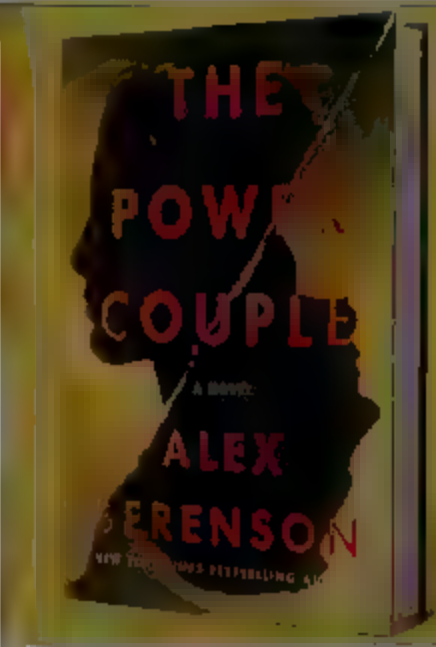
christy brown @mystocean · 17 Nov 2018

Replying to [illegible]

In Homegrown, Isaac Campos cites many Mexican news reports of cannabis induced psychosis 100 yrs ago "deeply influenced how people came to understand this drug in the United States" Mexico banned 1920 pre Anslinger. His pro mj views lead him to doubt the reports he documents,

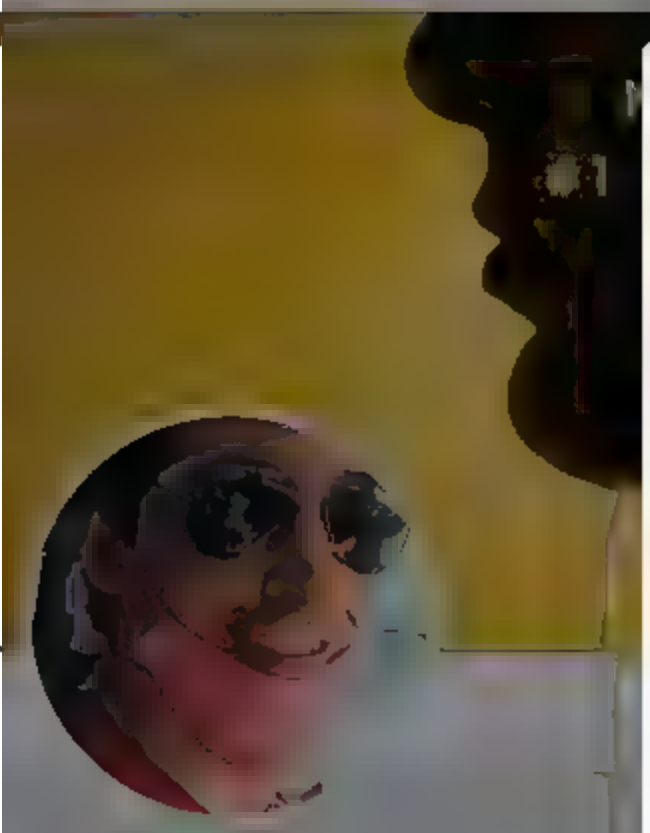
1

David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 17 Nov 2018

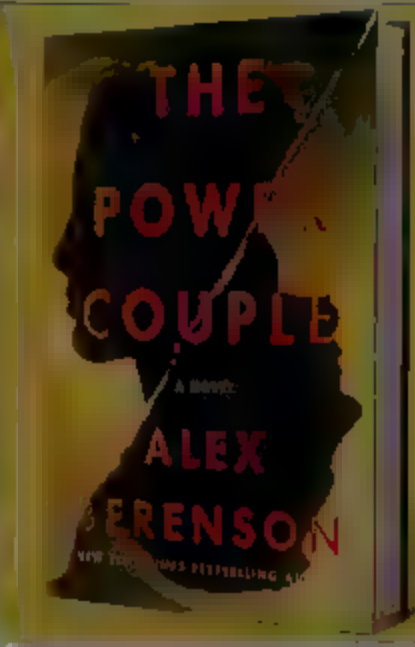


Replying to [illegible]

Hey Alex – Long time, man. Do you think that treatment, rather than imprisonment, is the best solution for cannabis-related problems? (I haven't studied this and don't have solutions. But I don't think the current system works well.)



1



David J. Montgomery "The Third Gentleman" @djmont · 17 Nov 2018

BTW, since we do you write about weed all the time? I always thought of you as a NATSEC guy.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

David Leonhardt @DLeonhardt · 15 Nov 2018

Desperately seeking: A piece that clearly explains what May's Brexit critics want instead of her deal. More autonomy for Britain, even if the economic costs are higher?

(I realize the answer varies for different groups of critics.)

13 3 15

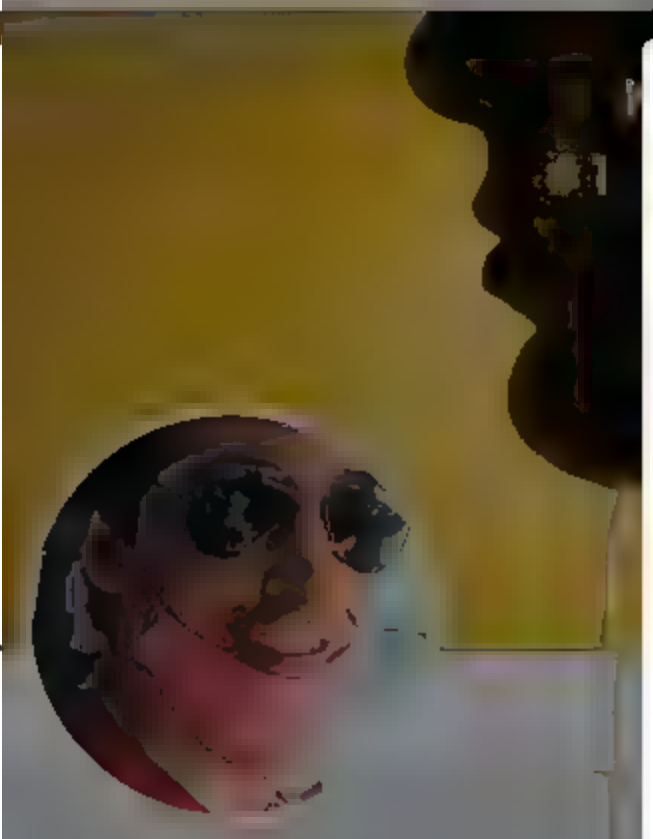
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

Yes! I can't figure out what's been agreed to, what people want, or why her ministers are resigning! The stories don't explain anything.

9:14 AM - 15 Nov 2018

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

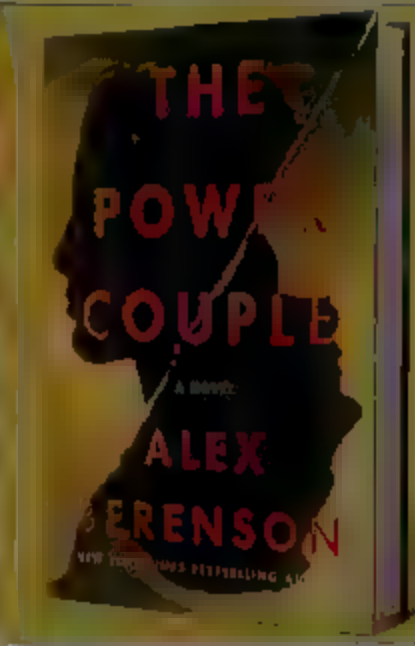
New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

1/ A fine investigation of how Larry Nassar got away with molesting gymnasts for so long - especially interesting to me bc it's really about heuristic bias - about looking at the world in a way that obscures facts that will later seem obvious:



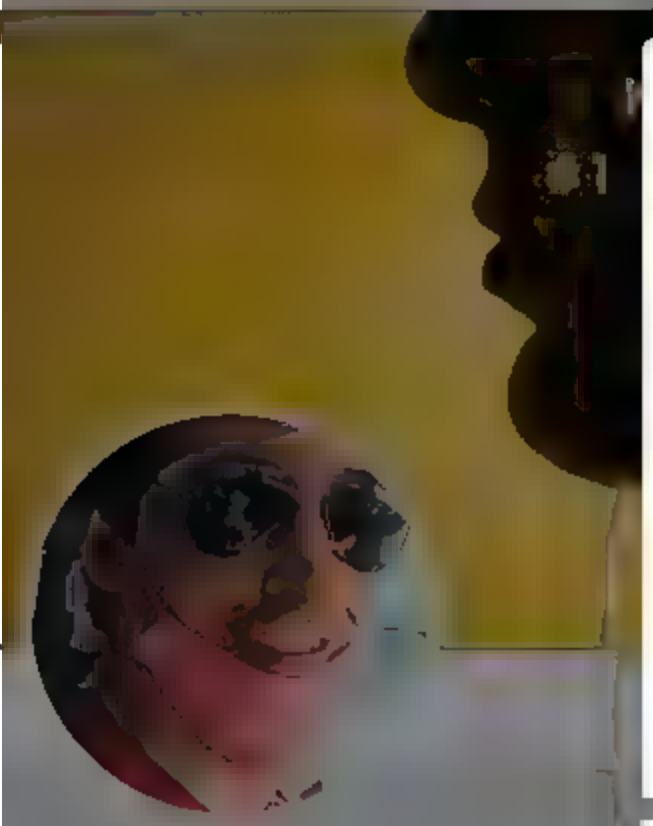
thecut.com/2018/11/how-d...

8:04 AM - 15 Nov 2018

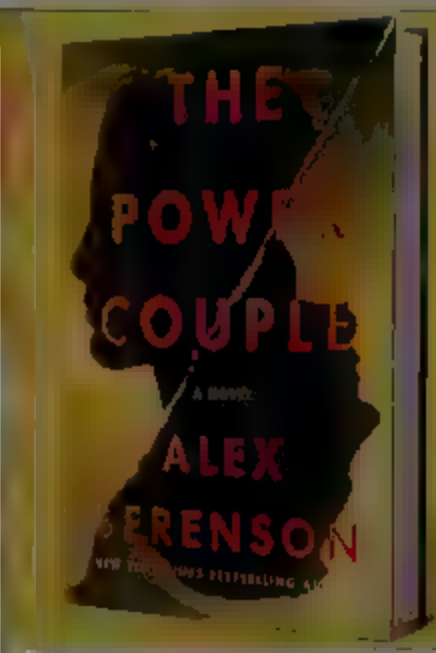
2 Likes

2

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

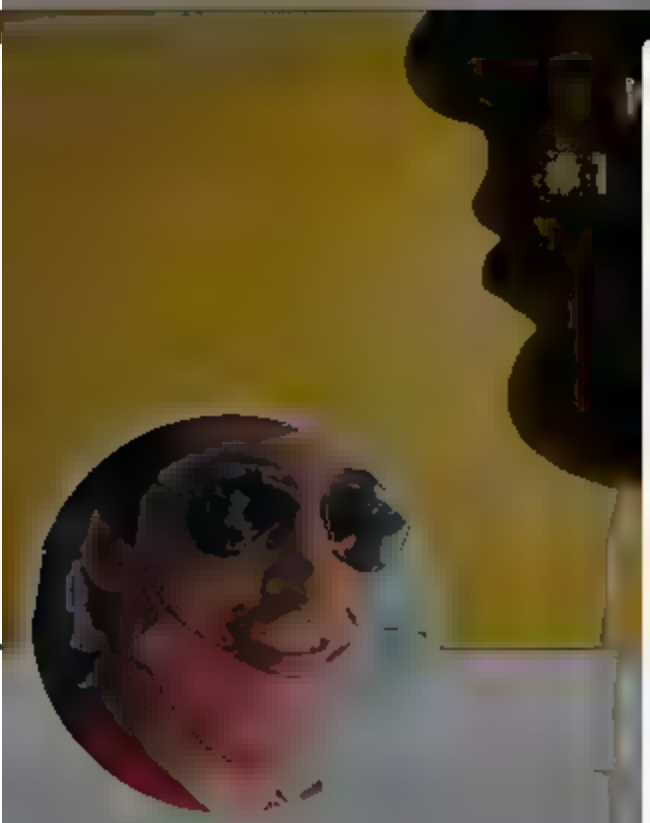
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

2/ Already the link between cannabis and psychosis is far too strong for anyone who comes at the issue with an open mind (as I did) to doubt it; the downstream link between psychosis and violence is even more proven. Yet almost no one discusses these issues...

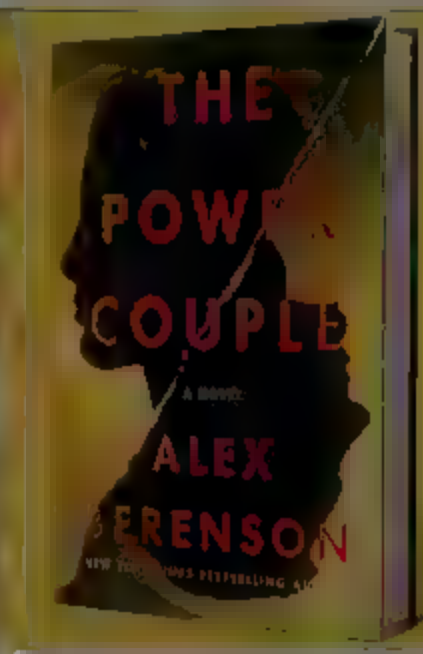
8:06 AM - 15 Nov 2018

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

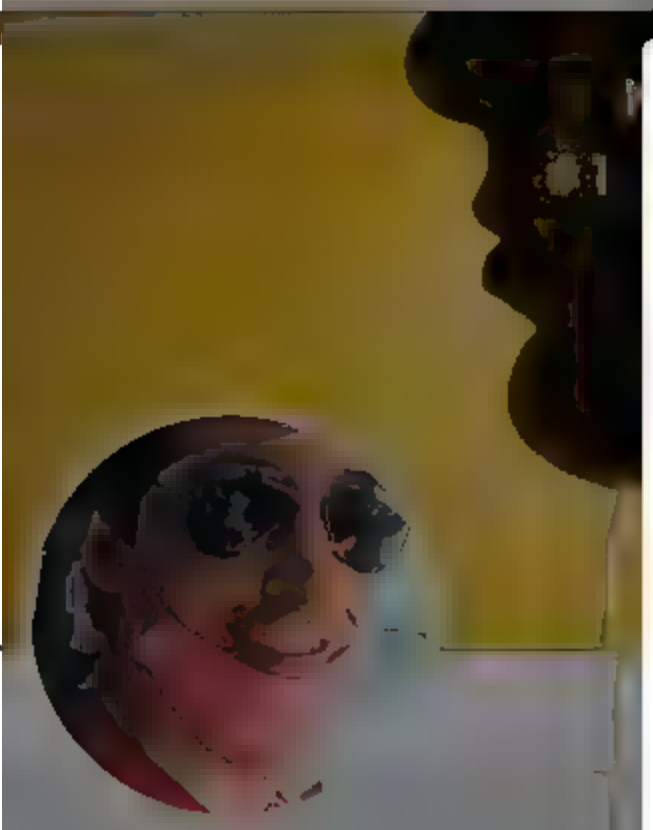
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

In non-cannabis news: my (way better-selling) pal @LeeChildReacher is right, Tom Cruise is "too short" to be Reacher. Seems a little unkind for LC to say it out loud, though... bbc.com/news/entertain ..

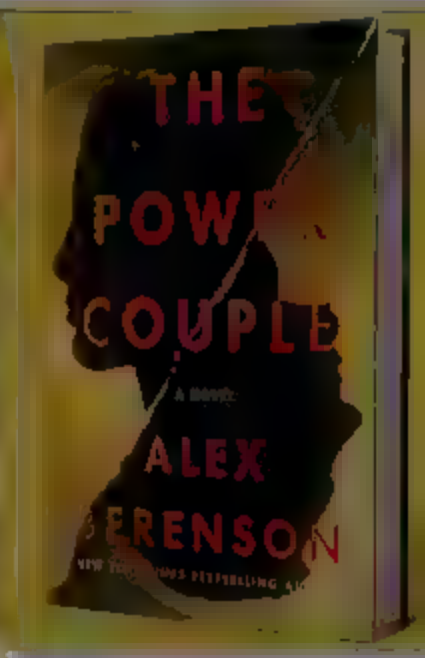
1:46 PM - 14 Nov 2018

11 Likes

9 11



Samuel Collie @Dogboy48 · 14 Nov 2018
Replying to
For Reacher fans, we see the character in our minds when watching the movies. Perhaps a casting call for a better fit?



Mark Dewes @markdewes · 14 Nov 2018
Replying to
But... the right call.

Will T @cosmicdebris65 · 14 Nov 2018
Replying to
Agreed. Never thought he was right for the role.

jmawhineypriest @jmawhineypriest · 14 Nov 2018
Replying to
I completely agree.

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Nope. What this issue is needs is journalists who understand science and have done enough research not to fear a lobby that for 25 years has spread myths about the safety of cannabis and shouted Reefer Madness at anyone who disagrees...

4:57 PM - 14 Nov 2018

1 Retweet 8 Likes

6 1 8

Brad Branan @BradB_Outdoors · 14 Nov 2018

Replying to

I'm not going to argue about whether or not cannabis causes schizophrenia. The fact that you will shows you know nothing about science - or that you chose to ignore what you do know. Correlation ≠ causation.

2 1

Parents Opposed to Pot @PoppotGroup · 14 Nov 2018

simplistic comment. The science is very clear.

1

Bevtor @Bevtor1 · 14 Nov 2018

Replying to

Its not a lobby that is your con. Its people who want equal rights with the wine drinker. You cannot keep people down anymore.

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 15 Nov 2018

Replying to

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

violence. Period. We can argue the relative violence risk of cannabis, alcohol, and other drugs, but the notion that people who are high don't commit violence is nonsense.

2 1

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

It's a tail risk problem, right? Alcohol makes a lot of people somewhat more violent; cannabis makes some people much more violent. And high or pure THC product increases the danger.

1:23 PM - 14 Nov 2018

2 Likes

2 2

yoleven @outfielding · 14 Nov 2018

Replying to [redacted]

Reference?

2

Juliette Perzhinsky, MD, MSc @JPerzsky · 14 Nov 2018

Cannabis-induced psychosis has been cited extensively in the medical literature.

[redacted]

2

[redacted]

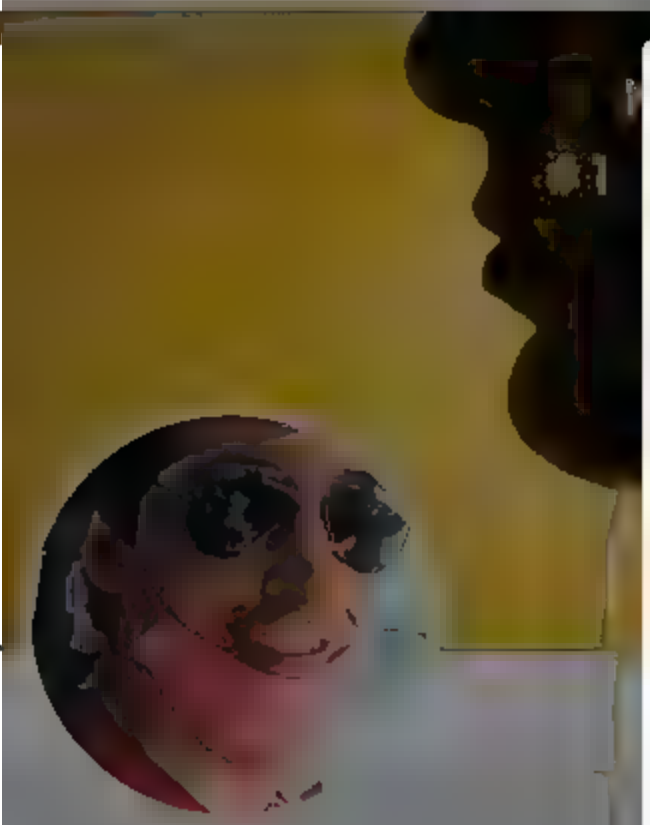
yoleven @outfielding · 14 Nov 2018

Replying to [redacted]

Still waiting on that reference linking cannabis and violence, [redacted]

Home About

Have an account? Log in



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Cannabis causes psychosis. Psychosis causes violence. Cannabis causes violence. Period. We can argue the relative violence risk of cannabis, alcohol, and other drugs, but the notion that people who are high don't commit violence is nonsense.

11:18 AM - 14 Nov 2018

6 Retweets 19 Likes

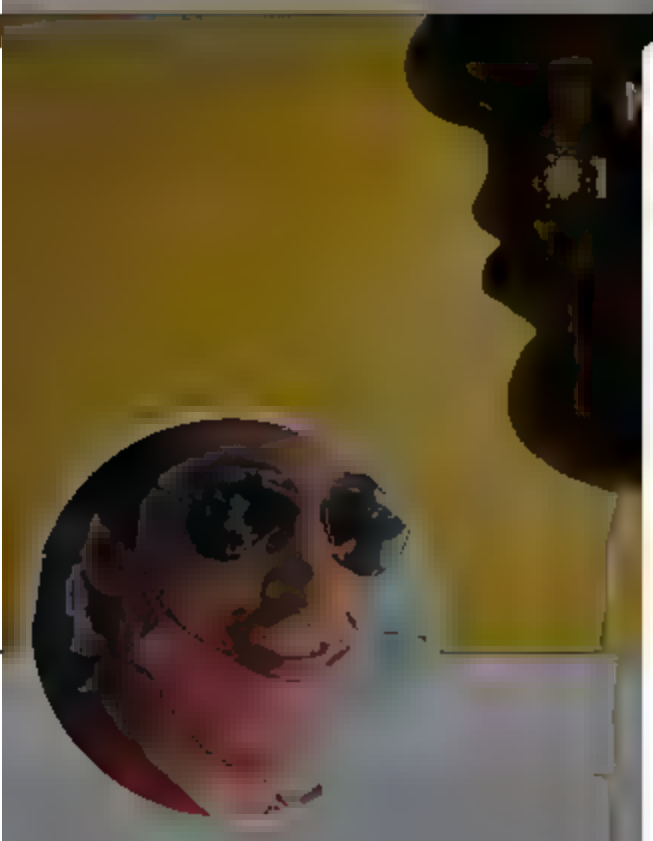
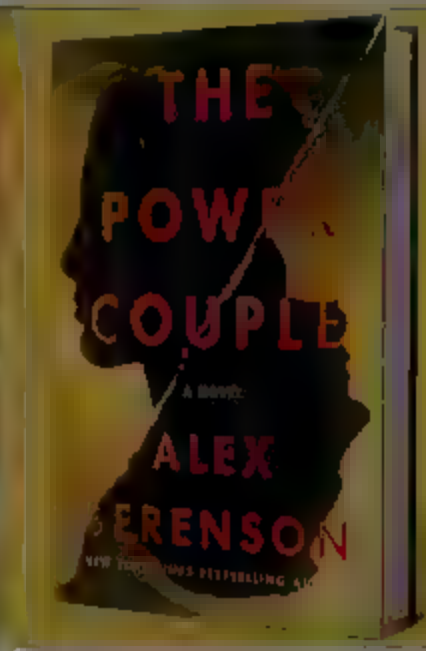
12 6 19



Brad Branan @BradB_Outdoors · 14 Nov 2018



Replying to

You sound like Harry Anslinger. The question of what role cannabis plays in psychosis - much less violence - is very much unsettled. Be a journalist, not a

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson

Replying to [redacted]

I don't even want to rent the libs. Or the cons. Independent now, independent forever!

8:49 AM - 14 Nov 2018

2 Likes

1 2

This Tweet is unavailable.

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Nov 2018

Lotta people on the right agree with you.

1

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

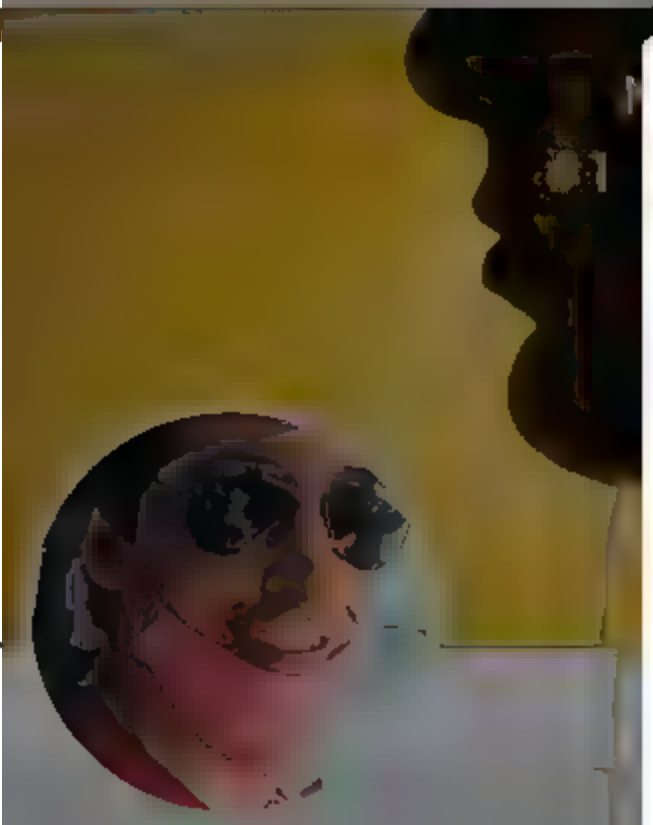
© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

This Tweet is unavailable.

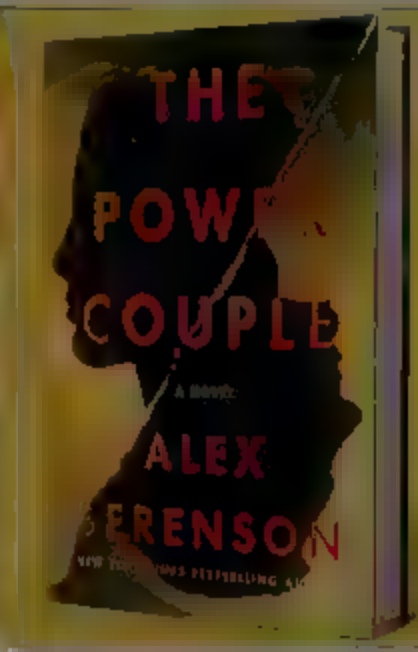
Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 14 Nov 2018
I don't even want to rent the libs. Or the cons. Independent now, independent forever!

1 2

This Tweet is unavailable.



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

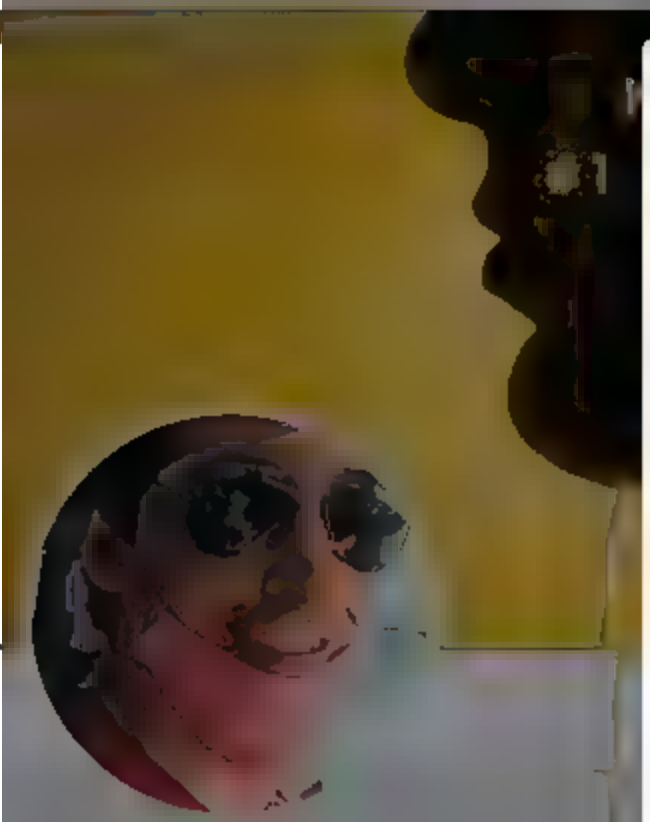


Replying to [redacted]

Lotta people on the right agree with you.

10:44 AM - 14 Nov 2018

1



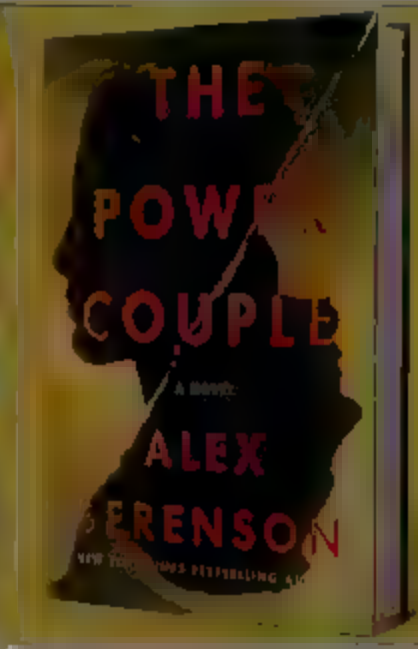
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info



Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

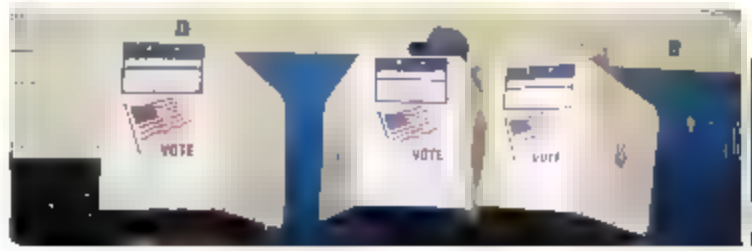
Alex Berenson ✓
@AlexBerenson

Yeah, tons. Try reading your hand right...

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL.

POLITICS ELECTION 2018

U.S. Charges Russian With Trying to Influence 2018 Midterms



U.S. intelligence agencies also say Russia, China and Iran unsuccessfully attempted to intervene in elections

Vox

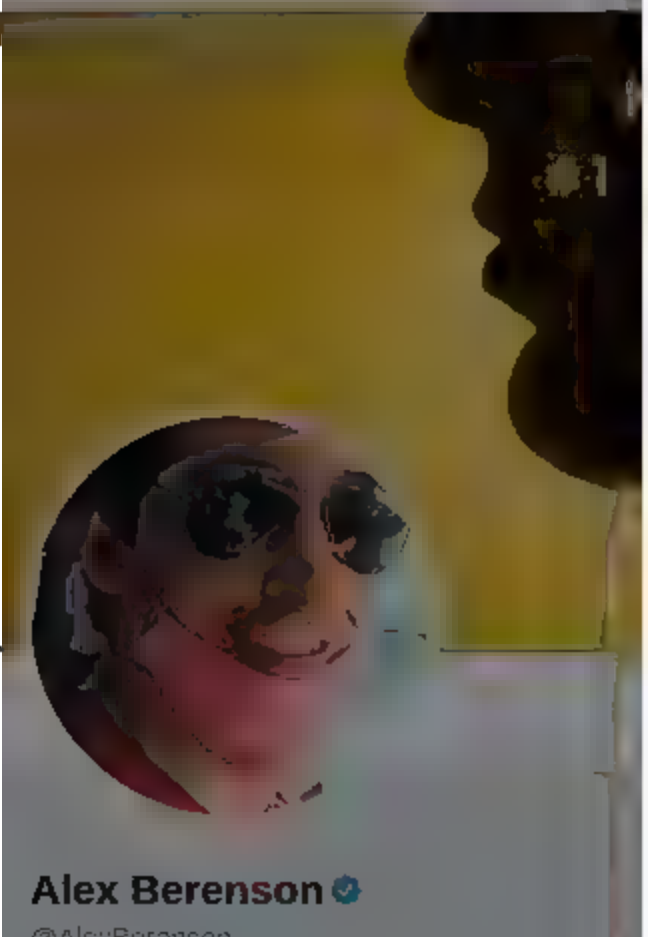
The 2018 midterm election hasn't been hacked — but Russia is still trying to influence it

China, Iran, and "other nations," too.

Justice Dept. Accuses Russians of Interfering in Midterm Elections

7:58 AM - 14 Nov 2018

1



Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 14 Nov 2018

Replying to

So you answered your own question. The trolls influenced 2016 but were less successful in 2018. One difference was the timed release of hacked material via Wikileaks In 2016. Is this the sort of logic and sleuthing we should expect in your book?

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Home About

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

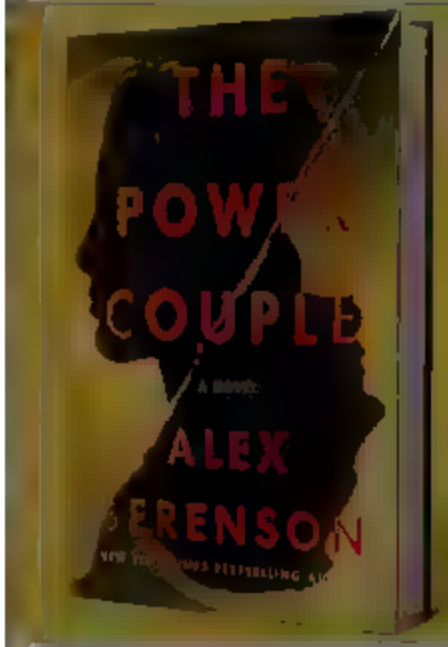
Joined November 2009

Angela Bacca @angelabacca · 14 Nov 2018
It is funny, the racist Harry Anslinger argued cannabis makes people of color both violent and angry and lazy and docile. Lies for money and hate. Alex Berenson, have you heard of Anslinger? History, science and truth matter dude.

1

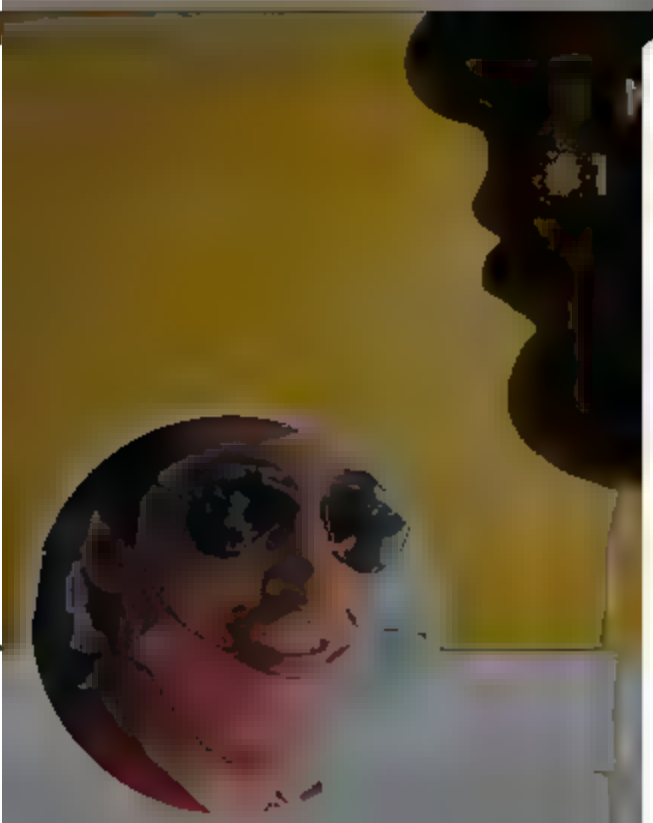
Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Replying to



Yeah, you're right. Science and history and truth matter. So here's a question for you: did the US or Mexico criminalize marijuana first? If you said the US... you're wrong! Mexico became worried about the violence and psychosis that cannabis causes long before the US.

8:09 AM - 14 Nov 2018



1

Matt Elrod @melrod42 · 14 Nov 2018
Replying to
Did Jamaica or Mexico prohibit cannabis first?

Have an account? Log in

© 2021 Twitter About Help Center Terms
Privacy policy Cookies Ads info

Alex Berenson
@AlexBerenson

Former NYT reporter and author of Tell Your Children. Revolting. I like to tell ya things some brothers don't

New York

Joined November 2009

Alex Berenson @AlexBerenson · 13 Nov 2018

Has to be said: amazing that those all-powerful Russian trolls who swung the election for Trump couldn't do anything to help the GOP in 2018. Or maybe that story was just hot air and hysteria all along?

3 1 13

